

Indians Seize Town, Holding 10 Residents

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (AP) — Nearly 200 Indians were in control of this tiny town today, holding about 10 residents hostage and demanding that two U.S. senators come to their reservation to discuss Indian grievances.

VOW TO DIE
A spokesman for the American Indian Movement said the demonstrators had vowed "to die if necessary" unless their demands are met.

The spokesman, Carter Camp of Ponca City, Okla., said in a telephone interview that the hostages had not been hurt and were in no danger "unless the police come in here and try to annihilate us."

He said the Indians would hold the hostages until Sens. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts and J.W. Fulbright of Arkansas, both Democrats, come to the 2,500-square-mile Pine Ridge Reservation, the nation's largest.

About 90 law enforcement officers sealed off the area after the takeover Tuesday night of the southwestern South Dakota town, site of a bloody clash in 1890 between Sioux and U.S. Army troops. Wounded Knee has a population of about 100.

Camp, a national coordinator of AIM, said the Indians were members of AIM and the Oglala Sioux Nation. He said the Indian demands included an investigation of the dealings of the Bureau of Indian Affairs and the Department of the Interior with the Oglala Sioux.

SHOTS FIRED
Some 11,350 Indians are on the reservation, according to the state Department of Indian Affairs. The land consists largely of barren prairie, and nearly half of the work force is unemployed.

Joseph H. Trimbach, special FBI agent in charge of the Minneapolis division, said earlier that the Indians were holding the hostages in the town's four or five buildings and that shots were fired at an approaching car.

Camp said the Indians wanted state and local governments to "become more sensitized to Indian problems."

He said the demands included: "The Senate committee headed by Sen. Ted Kennedy launch an immediate investigation of the Bureau of Indian Affairs and the Department of the Interior for their handling of the Oglala Sioux nation."

"That Sen. William Fulbright investigate the 371 treaties between the federal government and the Indians to show how the government has failed to live up to the terms of the treaties. We can prove the United States never keeps its treaty commitments."

"That the Oglala Sioux be allowed to elect their own officials. Those now in office are just puppets. They need traditionalists."

HOLD IT
Camp said the Indians were holding the priest of a Roman Catholic church among the hostages. "The church sits on high ground and gives a commanding view of the area. We have the men and the weapons to hold it."

Camp said a number of the Indians were armed with "high-powered" rifles. Trimbach said the AIM demands were sent to Washington and added that the FBI was waiting for instructions from the capital.

Camp said it "is symbolic that we have seized Wounded Knee and here is a definite threat that another massacre could occur here. We are not going to give in without a fight."

Wounded Knee was the site in 1890 of a bloody battle between Sioux Indians and federal troops in which some 200 Indian men, women and children were killed. The battle, subject of the recent book "Bury My Heart at Wounded Knee," marked an end to fighting between Indians and white men in the Dakota territories.

Camp said war drums were played throughout the night and they would continue until some of the grievances of the Oglala Sioux have been resolved.

Border Bribe Charges Filed In San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A supervisory U.S. immigration inspector was arrested on duty and moved to San Diego today to face charges of taking bribes to smuggle Mexican aliens across the border.

The charges against James Hinton Graves, returned Tuesday by a federal grand jury, include accusations that he asked for $1,150 and $900 for allowing aliens into the United States illegally. An indictment lists eight bribery counts.

Graves, 41, was arrested a short time later at his station in Calexico. His bond was set at $50,000 during arraignment in that border town.

In another indictment, Leroy Riddlesburger, who resigned a year ago after 20 years as a U.S. immigration and customs inspector, was charged with seeking $2,000 from each of two defendants in a narcotics case.

Riddlesburger, 40, was accused in the indictment of demanding the money to "bump off" witnesses against the two men. He also was charged with offering to hire unidentified persons to get rid of the witnesses.

A resident of San Ysidro, Riddlesburger was no longer a U.S. government officer when the alleged offers were made.

Carson, Vela In City Race

Two local citizens filed yesterday afternoon to run for seats on the City Commission which will be filled in the April 3 election.

W. K. "Kit" Carson, an exchange repairman with Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., said he entered because, "I just feel like I would make a good commissioner."

Carson added he is running because of an interest in good local government and said that, if elected, he would attempt to initiate a number of specific projects.

Carson is a 20-year resident of Big Spring and has three children.

Also joining the race is Eddie Vela, a barber at Webb AFB.

"My decision to file for the City Commission is based on my very strong beliefs in good city government. Big Spring has been my home for the past 12 years. I am interested in community affairs and in the past have been actively involved in the betterment of our city," said Vela.

Vela is district chairman of the American G.I. Forum, a Little League baseball coach, and has served in the past on

Proposal To Exact Lake Fee Nixed By Council

By ANN STEVENS
A proposed $1 per vehicle entry fee at Moss Creek Lake was rejected by the City Commission last night as a means of screening out troublemakers at the municipal site.

Three of the five commissioners voted against the proposed charge although Ronald Robey, lake caretaker, said it would give the city 75 per cent better control of the area.

"A lot of people come in on the weekends just to drive around and drink beer," said Robey. "We're trying to screen these people out. You could call them undesirable."

He explained that 65 per cent of the 106,000 frequenting the lake last year were from out of town.

LAW VIOLATIONS
Robey also reviewed law violations at the lake last year which he said included 51 cases of reckless driving, 76 of minor in possession, two attempted rapes, 42 citations and six cases in which children were turned over to juvenile authorities.

"The destruction of the present facilities is tremendous," he said, citing foul language scrawled on tables, signs torn down and garbage cans thrown into the lake.

"This (the proposed fee) would solve half the problems out at the lake. That will bring your families back in," he added, saying that he would like to see the lake attract more families for recreation.

After lengthy discussion, the commission voted down the fee but agreed to tighten law enforcement at the area and to possibly hire part-time help for Robey.

TRAFFIC MAN
City Manager Harry Nagel was authorized to write an ordinance outlawing hunting, bow-fishing and swimming at the lake. The ordinance will also include a provision to exempt citizens over 65 from paying the daily fishing permit of 50 cents.

Commissioners unanimously approved the hiring of a traffic safety coordinator with salary with out-of-town transportation expenses for him paid with state funds. Nagel said steps will begin immediately to apply for state approval.

Carl Trim, regional representative of the Texas Department of Community Affairs, explained that the state will pay salary for the traffic official for three years while the city must pay his in-town transportation expenses and

"DIRE NEED"
"Every city, regardless of its size, is in dire need of traffic help. This man will be your employee. The city can set the criteria for hiring him. His salary will be up to you," Trim said.

Nine such city traffic coordinators have been hired through the state funding program already. Odessa city fathers approved the hiring of one yesterday.

"I think he could serve a real purpose," said Nagel. "It gives us an opportunity in an inexpensive manner to develop a continuing plan. This way we will quit flying by the seat of our pants," he said, referring to street and thoroughfare planning.

TENNIS MANAGER
In other action the commission approved an ordinance easing zoning restrictions on pool halls, granting a specific use permit to Jim Hughes to sell beer, and hired Donnie Lynn Stewart of Midland as a police patrolman.

Commissioners also approved Aubrey Neighbors' request for a zone change on lot six, block 45, Amended College Heights Addition, in order to build a roller rink. The nod was given for a change from SF-2 to Light Commercial, and a temporary variance was granted.

Permission was given to advertise for bids on four lawnmowers for the cemetery and parks and for carpeting for the pro shop at the municipal golf course.

Nagel was also authorized to begin seeking a manager for the tennis center and to draw up a set of rules for use of the center which is set for a May opening. The booking of functions there, after May 1 was also okayed.

Overpass Will Be Built Here As First Planned

The overpass in Big Spring will be constructed over the Owens Street route as originally planned, according to a report by City Manager Harry Nagel to the council Tuesday night.

Last week, he conferred with Jake Roberts, district highway engineer in Abilene, who outlined the history of the project.

Roberts told Nagel that some $50-$60,000 had already been spent on the project and it would be too late to change it to another route.

Some city officials were advocating Goliad Street for the crossing because it would have a street open across town.

The city officials were told that, originally, the route was approved when the district had a total budget of $5 million.

If the Goliad Street route had been selected, it would have taken $2.5 million for the Big Spring project and the district did not consider it feasible to allot half of their entire district budget to one town, so the other route was selected.

Collective Bargaining Test Today

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Senate overrode the protests of its Republican members today to ask the state attorney general to file suit to get all the federal water pollution control money appropriated by Congress.

Sen. Bob Gammage, D-Houston, said President Nixon is holding back $160 million.

"The dollar is going down like a rock because of the fiscal imbalance in Washington," said Sen. Walter Mengden, R-Houston. Sen. Betty Abudjar, R-Fort Worth, pleaded for "fiscal sanity, fiscal survival."

Sen. H. J. Blanchard, D-Lubbock, said he had talked with Texas Democratic Congressman George Mahon of Lubbock and Bob Poage of Waco about the resolution and they advised him "to get after it."

The resolution, passed on voice vote by the Senate, already has been adopted by the Texas House.

The Senate also adopted a resolution to acquire a bronze bust of former President Lyndon Johnson for display in the Capitol. The proposal goes to the House.

The House planned to take a final vote today on a collective bargaining bill for Houston firemen.

The measure advanced, 84-46, after dark Monday, and final consideration was postponed until today.

Houston city officials would be obligated to bargain collectively with the firefighters' association if the bill passed both the House and the Senate.

A House amendment would require Houston voters to approve collective bargaining in a local option election before June 1, 1974, to put the measure into effect.

THIS WEEK Hanoi Will Release 120 More POWs?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today it now has "every expectation" that Hanoi will release more than 120 additional prisoners of war sometime this week.

However, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Secretary of State William P. Rogers would continue to hold up proceedings at the multi-nation conference in Paris on Vietnam until all arrangements for release of the next group of prisoners have been completed.

Ziegler said Nixon spent much of the morning conferring with Henry A. Kissinger, his chief Vietnam peace negotiator, and that the two men had been in frequent contact with Rogers who met in Paris with North Vietnam's foreign minister, Nguyen Duy Trinh.

It is the U.S. position that more than 120 Americans should have been set free by Hanoi earlier this week under terms of peace agreement protocols covering prisoners and cease-fire arrangements.

Ziegler said the next step in the drama that has sidetracked the Paris conference would be a meeting Thursday morning (Saigon time) of the Joint Military Commission headquartered in the South Vietnamese capital.

This body will be responsible for approving detailed arrangements for the next prisoner release, including an advance list of names of those involved and a precise timetable for the transfer into American hands.

Quake Triggers Phone Calls

By The Associated Press
An earth tremor startled residents of eastern Pennsylvania, and parts of Delaware, Maryland and New Jersey early today, triggering an avalanche of phone calls to police and fire department switch boards.

No injuries were reported, and there were no reports of extensive damage.

The quake, which rattled windows and caused buildings to tremble, lasted six seconds. The seismograph at Fordham University in New York City registered the quake at 3.5 on the Richter scale.

Philadelphia Police Sgt. Calvin Forsythe said 1,829 calls were received by the police radio room between 3:20 and 4 a.m.

There were reports that the rumbling in the Philadelphia area reached as far south as Wilmington, Del., and in a northerly direction some 50 miles to Allentown, Pa.

Only 31 quakes have been recorded in eastern Pennsylvania in the 245 years since records were started in 1727.

The National Earthquake Information Center at Boulder, Colo., said the tremor was not to be connected with the "major earthquake" centered in the Kurile Islands in the northern Pacific at 1:38 a.m. EST. That quake measured 7.5 on the Richter scale, compared to the 6.25 earthquake that devastated Managua, Nicaragua, last December.

Despite the fact the earthquake information center at Boulder discounted any connection between the East Coast tremor and the Kurile Islands quake, a Philadelphia scientist said he thought there was a link between the two.

Citation Means Lot To Airman

A Webb Airman came happily into City Hall this morning to pay a traffic ticket for speeding and asked if he could keep the citation and frame it.

City officials assured him that he could and asked, "Did you think you weren't speeding?" "Oh yes, I was speeding." The Airman cheerfully replied, "I was chasing some girls. I caught them. It was worth it." He then paid the fine and left with his copy of the citation.

Halt Troop Withdrawals From Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — The United States suspended troop withdrawals from Vietnam today because of Hanoi's delay in releasing more American war prisoners, U.S. authorities reported.

The North Vietnamese also got a virtual ultimatum to dismantle an anti-aircraft missile site south of the demilitarized zone. The United States and South Vietnam contended the missiles were brought down from North Vietnam in violation of the cease-fire.

The body charged with supervising the cease-fire, the International Commission of Control and Supervision, grounded all helicopters for its members because of continued ground fire.

A commission source said four helicopters carrying members of the peacekeeping body were fired on the last four days. Two were hit, the source said, an American pilot was reported wounded.

The source said a strong letter of protest drafted by the commission will be delivered Thursday to the Joint Military Commission comprising North and South Vietnam, the Viet Cong and the United States.

Plane Crash Kills Three Teachers From Muleshoe

FRIONA, Tex. (AP) — Three teachers from Muleshoe High School were killed when their light plane crashed Tuesday night near this small town in the Texas Panhandle. A fourth was critically injured.

The four were en route home from Canyon, where they had been at ending night classes at West Texas State University, when the plane came down in Palmer County about 3.5 miles east of here.

The dead were identified as Mr. and Mrs. Wayne La Grone and Mike Pollard. Burl Block, was taken to an Amarillo hospital.

Cyclist Injured In Mishap Here

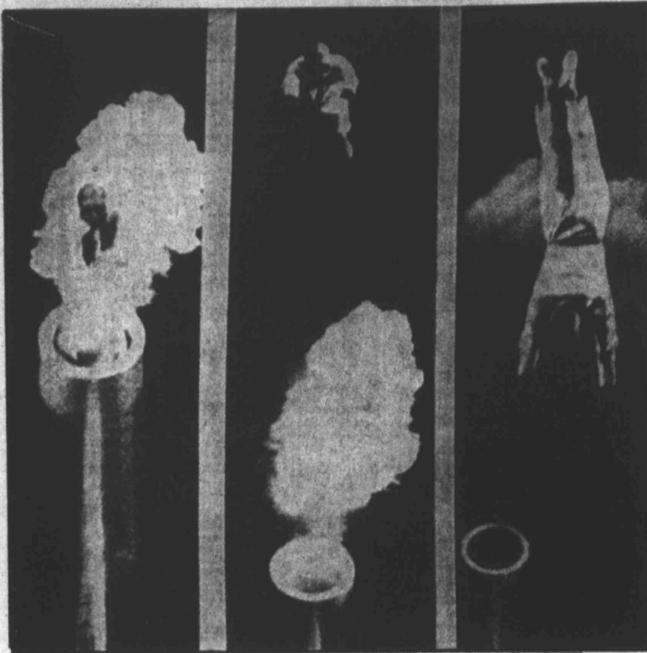

A motorcycle-bus collision this morning on the Lamesa Highway in front of Broughton's Implement sent Terry D. Phillips to a local hospital, suffering from multiple contusions on the face and body.

William Rhoades, 602 Abrams, was driving the Continental Trailways bus to Broughton's for repairs. He was turning to go to the side entrance of the implement company.

The motorcycle apparently collided with the bus about midway on the left-hand side. Police officers were continuing the investigation this morning.

Constitutional Revision Fuss

AUSTIN (AP) — Five House members—all from Houston—have signed a petition to reject the 37 members appointed to the Texas Constitutional Revision Commission Saturday by six top state officials.

No senators have signed the petition.

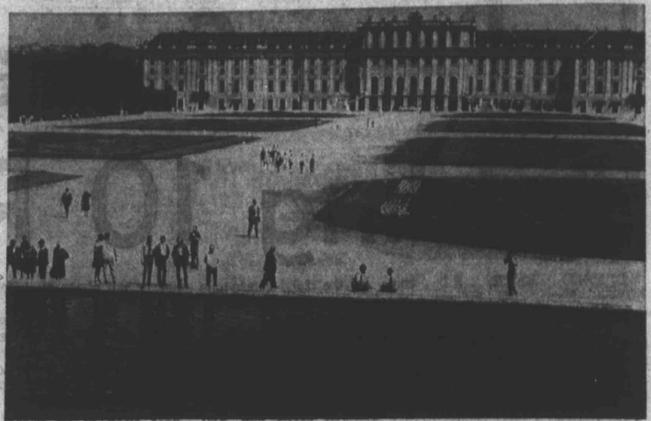

Three Houston Republicans, Reps. Bill Blythe, Ray Barnhart and Don Henderson, signed, in addition to Reps. Mickey Leland and Ben T. Reyes, both Houston Democrats. Leland is a black.

The commission appointments take effect March 9 unless the petition is signed by 16 senators and 76 representatives, a majority of each chamber of the legislature.

Blythe issued a statement saying he signed the petition because "the commission is not representative of the philosophical or political characteristics of the State of Texas."

"Harris County is the largest Republican metropolitan area in the State of Texas and has not one Republican representative serving on the commission. In analyzing the philosophical makeup, it is obvious that the commission is overwhelmingly liberal oriented," Blythe said.

He said that Speaker Price Daniel Jr. and Atty. Gen. John Hill "labored to no avail" to put a Harris County Republican on the commission by voting

Deadline for those desiring to make reservations on the March 31-April 7 Herald-Presto European tour is Thursday.

Interest manifested this week in the trip, which includes stops in both Vienna and Paris, indicates there will be a sizable representation of people from this immediate area.

The tour plan, which costs $549 if he subscribes from Love Field in Dallas and $599 if he or she leaves from the Midland Air Terminal, includes round trip air transportation via Braniff International and Swissair, hotel accommodations, continental breakfast each morning, sight-seeing tours, transportation to and from airports and hotel, tips and other features.

The flight via Braniff to New York is non-stop. Those making the trip will be in Vienna the following morning. The tourists spend three nights in the Austrian capital before flying on to Paris for three nights.

When The Herald, the First National Bank and Presto Tours arranged a flight to Switzerland and Rome last November, 22 Big Spring area people were aboard the Braniff craft when it departed Dallas for New York.

Alabama Bar Unit Gigs Brother Of Wallace

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The Grievance Committee of the Alabama Bar Association has accused Gov. George C. Wallace's brother, Gerald, and two other lawyers of unethical conduct in the handling of bond issues for the state. The Associated Press has learned.

In a report to the association's Board of Commissioners, which has authority to take disciplinary action, the committee charges that Gerald Wallace, state Rep. Rankin Fite and bond lawyer Alford Rose improperly split $280,000 in fees paid by the state for legal work on two bond issues.

The charges contain no allegation of federal or state law violation, only the contention that the handling of the issues was unethical.

Gerald Wallace and Fite declined to comment on the committee action; Rose could not be reached.

Proceedings before the grievance committee are confidential, and the members who made the report have refused to discuss it. So have members of the Board of Commissioners and officials of the bar association.

But it became known 16 months ago that the committee was investigating the payment of the bond fees. Publisher-editor Harold Martin of The Montgomery Advertiser-Alabama Journal was questioned by a committee after he reported that Fite and the governor's brother received part of the $280,000 paid to Rose.

The complaint filed by the committee after its investigation charged that Rose, a Birmingham bond lawyer, paid Fite $80,000 and that Fite in turn gave Gerald Wallace $20,000.

The fees were paid to Rose for work done on a $16 million school bond issue authorized by the legislature in 1965 and a $100 million road bond issue approved in 1967.

IF IT DOESN'T STAND UP Congress To Be Known As 'Withering Heights'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer advocate Ralph Nader told a Senate subcommittee Tuesday that Congress soon will be known as "Withering Heights" if it doesn't start standing up for its rights.

Nader made his comment while testifying before the subcommittee on treasury, postal service and general government on how the Internal Revenue Service could improve its ability to help taxpayers.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., asked Nader if he felt the IRS had erred by not putting the recently enacted political party check-off on the 1940 and 1940A income tax forms.

That checkoff allows taxpayers to stipulate that $1 of their taxes will go to the political party of their choice.

Nader replied that Congress had not been politically astute in passing the bill without some clause stating that the checkoff provision must go on the 1940 form.

He said Congress had brought most of its problems with the executive branch and with the federal bureaucracy on itself by failing to write specific legislation.

FFA, 4-H Groups To Be Invited Here In April

An estimated 11,000 youths are needed to help conduct the event. Those interested in helping may call the SCS Field Office at 267-5331.

Youths will be participating in five categories: land, range and pasture, grass, livestock and crop judging.

In land judging, participants will classify soils in four locations and suggest proper treatment of the soils.

Range and pasture judging will be conducted in four separate locations, also. Youths will determine condition and propose treatment.

Crop judging and the grass contest will be held at Howard County Junior College. Boys and girls will identify 60 grass samples, give details about the varieties and explain their value to livestock and wildlife.

For livestock judging, they will go to the county barns where steers, swine and lambs will be viewed.

Bad Check Given For Plane Here

Big Spring Aircraft Inc. has filed a suit in 118th District Court for a bad check written toward purchase of an airplane.

Norman Marr, Lubbock, the plaintiff's attorney, wrote a $1,600 check from Citizens National Bank, Lubbock, as part of the purchase price.

Big Spring Aircraft contends its representatives have tried repeatedly to obtain credit for the check, "each time payment being refused thereon by said bank."

Progress Noted On Structure

Dirt work has been completed on construction of a new building for the Teachers Credit Union in Big Spring.

Now housed in a two-story building at 1107 Owens, the credit union will move to a Twelfth and Benton Street site in another five or six months, according to Rodney Dummam, assistant manager of the federally insured union.

"We've been growing so fast we are busting the seams on our present building," Dummam said. A $50,000 building permit was taken out for the new facility Jan. 11.

The 1,400-member credit union serves employees of school districts in Big Spring, Sand and Ackerly, Stanton, Sterling City, Colorado City, Westbrook and Coahoma.

The firm Gary and Hohert Architects is handling work of the new building. Dummam said the foundation will soon be poured.

Efforts Of Teen Go For Naught

John W. Palmer of Maynard, Mass., died of an apparent heart attack while in his car on IS 20 at Moss Creek Road early Tuesday but not before 17-year-old Frank Baugh of Big Spring made a determined effort to save him.

Young Baugh, son of M. Sgt. and Mrs. A. F. Baugh of 10 October Crave and Webb AFB, happened upon the scene shortly after Mr. Palmer sustained his attack.

The teen-ager, who is employed by an oil firm near Sand Springs and who was on his way home following a night's work, alighted from his motorcycle to administer mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to the victim and asked another passerby, Oliver Hughes of Monahan, to summon an ambulance.

The young Baugh had learned first aid while his father was stationed at an air base in Florida.

Airline Protest Meeting Slated

A meeting to decide what steps can be taken to fight the pull-out of Texas International Airlines from Howard County has been set for 3 p.m. Monday in the Chamber of Commerce office.

A delegation of local businessmen recently met with Texas Aeronautics Commission director in Austin to discuss TIA's intention to drop service to Big Spring and 13 other Texas cities.

A report on that trip will be given at the meeting, according to Chamber Manager Ron Mercer.

Banks Charged And Released

Lonnell Banks, 34, of 505 NW 4th St., who is charged with theft of a $200 air wrench, was released from county jail Tuesday on $1,000 bond.

Police and the sheriff's office investigated the air wrench taken at 8:45 a.m. Tuesday from Smith and Coleman's service station at 201 N. Benton St., the sheriff's office reported.

$25 Million Damage Suit

HOUSTON (AP) — Friendswood Development Co. and Celanese Corp. have been hit with a $25 million class action suit which alleges the two companies pumped subsurface water in the Bayshore area causing the property to subside.

Attorney Joe Jamail filed the suit in behalf of Smith-Southwest Industries and other land owners along the western bank of Galveston Bay and on the northern and southern shores of Clear Lake.

The suit charges that Friendswood, a subsidiary of Exxon, Co. U.S.A., pumped fresh water from the area, causing the properties to sink and resulting in flooding. The suit also said the subsidence caused the property values and improvement to depreciate.

The suit said that Celanese and other buyers of Friendswood water were negligent because they continued to buy and use the water after being advised of the damage and injury it was causing.

Celanese industrial relations manager Charlie Weaver said he could not comment on the suit. Friendswood officials could not be reached for comment.

Fugitive Shot, Killed After Kidnapings, Rapes

DALLAS (AP) — A three-and-a-half day drama across the South involving a prison escape, abduction and rape has ended in Dallas with the fatal shooting of a man by police.

On the basis of scars and other physical marks, Dallas officers identified the man as Willie James Nelson, 25. They were awaiting final confirmation through a fingerprint check.

Tennessee authorities said Nelson escaped from a Nashville state prison work release center Friday night.

TWO PISTOLS
Nelson was shot while trying to flee an apartment complex in near North Dallas after raping a woman, police said. He was felled with one shot by patrolman Josias Prelow, 33, and died at the scene. Officers said he had two pistols, one of which he had drawn when he was shot.

Police gave this account: They were summoned by salesman Edward Dale Wood, 25, who told them Nelson had forced him Monday night to drive in his car from his office in McComb, Miss., to Dallas.

On arriving Tuesday morning, they first drove up and down Main Street looking for a bank so Wood could cash a check.

Not finding a bank, they drove to the apartment complex where Nelson got out, watched Wood in the car for about 10 minutes and then went inside the building.

Wood said he gunned the car

Pilgreen Named Administrator

MIDLAND — Owners of Parkview Hospital here have named a local man, Jim Pilgreen, as hospital administrator.

He succeeds James Epps, now the administrator of Great Southwest Hospital in Grand Prairie.

Pell Industries of New York City, appointed Pilgreen who has been accountant and business manager at the Midland private hospital since 1970.

Prior to his hospital experience, Pilgreen was accounting supervisor for Globe Universal Sciences at Midland.

He received his accountant degree from Eastern New Mexico University in Portales.

out of the driveway, drove four blocks to a service station and summoned police.

CAUGHT IN ACT
Officers quickly surrounded the building and started a door-to-door search.

They were directed to an apartment where a woman was said to be having lunch.

Getting no response at the door, police knocked it down and simultaneously heard a woman scream in a back room.

The intruder, hearing the door being kicked down, ran onto a small balcony and leaped over an iron railing as he was shot by the officer.

The rape victim, described by police as being in her early 20s, said she was attacked twice. Investigators said she was being raped a second time when they arrived.

Wood was not harmed.

The threat of adventure began to unravel, Tennessee authorities said when Nelson escaped from the work release center, abducted a young medical student and drove to Memphis, Tenn., where he raped her before fleeing in her car Saturday.

The car was later found abandoned on Interstate 55 near Bryam, 10 miles south of Jackson, Miss.

FLAGGED DOWN
Mississippi police subsequently received reports Nelson was seen between Canton and Yazoo City, north of Jackson, after commandeering a car, he flagged down. Thereafter he disappeared until the incident here Tuesday.

Wood said that in Jackson, Miss., Nelson forced him to follow a woman motorist to her home where he hoped to rob her, but the woman refused to open the door and he abandoned the plan.

Tennessee prison warden Jim Rose said Nelson was serving eight to 18 years for a first degree burglary conviction and an assault with intent to commit murder conviction. He had been sentenced in Knoxville, Tenn.

Fraternal Organizations May Be Billed For Taxes

By The Associated Press
Property tax bills may be going out to fraternal organizations throughout Texas as a result of a Texas Supreme Court ruling affecting Masonic lodges at Amarillo.

Historical Group To Meet Saturday

The 15th annual meeting of the Permian Historical Society will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday in the Barn Door, Odessa.

On the program are Wallace R. Jackson, Odessa, talking about broadcasting in the oil patch; Barney Hubbs, Pecos; "Sour Grapes in Ward County;" Woodrow Keith, Odessa; "The historic Man of the Permian Basin;" and Lee Jones Jr., Colorado City; "The Fabulous Foster No. 1 (Mitchell County)."

After a luncheon business session, led by Mrs. Grace King, Odessa, president, Raymond Waters, Hobbs, N.M., will present a paper about "Monument Springs, N.M." Dr. Jesse D. Cone, Odessa, will pay "Tribute to Carl Raht," and Mrs. James (Betty) Orbeck, Odessa, will speak on "Sublett — Evolution of the Legend."

that overturned the Amarillo Court of Appeals, Supreme Court Justice Ruel C. Walker said fraternal organizations which send part of their funds to grand lodges are "not engaged exclusively in charitable activities," and thus are not entitled to claim tax exemption.

A bid to review the decision was denied Jan. 17.

SPOTTY BITES
Amarillo Lodge No. 731 A.F. & A.M. had not paid any property taxes to the city although it has been on the tax roll since 1968.

Jim Nugent, assessor-inspector, said more than $7,000 was involved. Another lodge, the Palo Duro Lodge, owed about $3,000 and was awaiting the court decision. Since it came, both have paid fully, Nugent said.

The taxation of fraternal organizations has been spotty in other sections of the state.

978 LODGES
In Austin, masonic lodges have been paying city taxes and in Houston they haven't sought exemption. But in Dallas, which has the largest membership, and Fort Worth they have never paid. In Waco, the Scottish Rite bodies have paid, but not the grand lodge.

Harvey Byrd, secretary of the Grand Lodge, whose own lodge in Brownwood pays taxes, said it appeared to be up to the taxing bodies whether to tax.

There are 970 masonic lodges in Texas with about 240,000 members. More than 70,000 of these are in the Scottish Rite, with about 32,000 in the four Dallas lodges.

Dallas city assessor Max Noller said fraternal organizations have been exempt from paying taxes.

"However," he said, "we are aware of the Amarillo decision and we are examining exemptions in light of that. I can't say yet what the decision will be. They could still be assessed tax for this year. We have no estimate of how much would be involved."

A Scottish Rite official who declined to be identified said as far as he knew, the Dallas Temple and its parking lot are the only real property owned by the Scottish Rite in the city.

The Texas Scottish Rite hospital for Crippled Crippled Children would keep its tax-exempt status as an entirely charitable institution.

The official said he didn't know what the effect of the ruling would be.

"Of course," he said, "it is going to curtail some percentage of what we can do on educational scholarships, gifts to the hospital and things like that."

Of some 50 lodges in Dallas

County, many own their buildings and some rent parts of the buildings for commercial purposes. Taxes have been paid on these parts.

Tarrant County tax assessor-collector Reed Stewart said he wasn't going to put Fort Worth masonic bodies on the tax rolls unless he had to.

ON THE POLLS
"There's a lot of things running around loose that need jumping on before you get to a fraternal organization," he said.

City tax assessor-collector Bobby L. Reed said that in view of the ruling, he would have masonic properties evaluated and placed on the rolls unless they apply for an exemption before April 30. Those that apply will be referred to City Atty. S. G. Johndroe for a ruling.

Johndroe said he assumed the mason would render their property for taxation. "I don't anticipate any difficulty," he said. The city and the masons though would have to hammer out the assessed valuation, he added.

In Austin, where the city's four lodges have been paying property taxes, the property assessed ranges from a modern four-story office block to an old renovated school building. No tax is paid on the Scottish Rite dormitory on the University of Texas campus.

VALUATION
Last year, the total assessment for the Austin masonic lodges was $460,512 and they paid $9,755 in taxes. The valuation was at 75 per cent market value.

Higher Farm Prices Entirely To Blame For Food Price Pains

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department said today that higher farm prices were entirely to blame for last month's record 2.5-per-cent increase in supermarket food costs. Beef and pork prices hit record highs; eggs were up 18 per cent.

Middlemen, including those who buy farm products, transform them into retail items and sell to consumers, actually absorbed part of the January increase, the department said in a report.

Translated into annual terms, a "market basket" of food—typically enough to feed a family for an entire year—cost a record $1.975 in January. That was $37 more than the annual rate in December.

The 2.5-per-cent increase for the market basket was the largest since the government began gauging costs of take-home groceries in 1962.

The "farm value," or a farmer's share of what consumers pay for food, was $585 in January, up $40 from December. The middleman took $787 in January, down $3 from December.

Compared with a year earlier, the January market basket cost $102 more, including a boost of $85 for farmers and $17 for middlemen.

Today's report dealt only with retail food items which originate on U.S. farms. Imported products and seafood are not included in the market-basket calculations.

The department two weeks ago predicted that supermarket food prices for all of 1973 may go up 6 to 6.5 per cent, with the pressure on consumers expected to ease later in the year as more livestock and other products move to market.

Blonde Faces Murder Count

DALLAS (AP) — The blonde widow of a Fort Worth meat packing company executive was under formal indictment today in connection with last month's switchblade knife killing of her husband.

Archie Y. Sloan was hacked to death with a stiletto at his posh North Dallas mansion Jan. 24. The Dallas County Grand Jury indicted Juliette Pickett Sloan, a five-times-married socialite, on murder charges Monday.

She has been hospitalized since Sloan's death, free under a $10,000 bond.

Mrs. Sloan testified at a pre-trial hearing that Sloan was "drunk...cut my finger off and I stabbed him with a switchblade knife in self defense."

Police said her finger was not severed but did require seven stitches to repair.

$250,000 Contribution Returned By Nixon's Pals

NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon's re-election campaign committee says it returned $250,000 contributed last year by Robert L. Vesco, a financier the Securities and Exchange Commission has charged in connection with a $224 million fraud.

SEC SUES

A spokesman for the Finance Committee to Re-elect the President said in Washington Tuesday the contributions were returned to Vesco Jan. 31, 1973, two months after the SEC sued Vesco and 41 other individuals and companies.

The committee reportedly received a secret $200,000 cash contribution from Vesco last April 10, three days after the new campaign disclosure law went into effect. Vesco, of Boonton, N.J., subsequently made public contributions totaling $50,000.

Maurice Stans, the former commerce secretary who headed the Nixon finance committee, received the $200,000 contribution in his office, according to testimony by New Jersey attorney Harry L. Sears made public here Tuesday.

Sears, who ran the Nixon re-election campaign in New Jersey, testified for two days last week in pre-trial depositions in the SEC's fraud suit filed in U.S. District Court here.

Vesco and eight close associates are charged with draining the $224 million dollars from Investors Overseas Services Ltd., the ailing mutual fund empire Vesco gained control of two years ago.

'CURRENCY'

Vesco, 37, became chairman of IOS in January, 1971, several months after he arranged a $6 million loan to the ailing mutual fund empire founded by Bernie Cornfeld. IOS, although it once controlled $2.5 billion worth of invested capital, was running short of operating capital at the time. Vesco resigned prior to the SEC suit.

A spokesman for the Nixon finance committee said Tuesday that while the $200,000 was received April 10, the money was "constructively in the hands of the campaign committee" April 6, the day it was transferred to New York from a Nassau, Bahamas, bank allegedly controlled by Vesco.

The spokesman also denied Sears' testimony that Stans, a former U.S. secretary of commerce, told Vesco to provide the money in "currency."

Sears said that at one point Edward Nixon, the President's brother, visited Vesco's International Controls Corp. headquarters in Fairfield, N.J., to verify that the contribution was to be made in cash.

Midwest Farm Group Visits

A group of 80 Midwestern farmers and ranchers arrived in Lubbock Saturday to participate in a National Farmers Union program where they visit different agricultural areas throughout the United States.

The group was served lunch and visited the oil mill in Lubbock, then broke into small delegations that went to different counties for three days before returning to Lubbock Wednesday.

Three from the North Dakota area will visit Martin County staying with Ronnie Deatherage, president of the Martin County Farmers union, with Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Howard and Mr. and Mrs. Neville Tate.

The Martin County group plans to tour area cotton gins, a hog farm and the West Texas Compress.

The program is operated on a national basis to build membership in the state Farmers Union organizations and to establish better understanding between the farmers of various states.

Last fall, a Glasscock County farmer was one of the ones who made a trip north under the same plan.

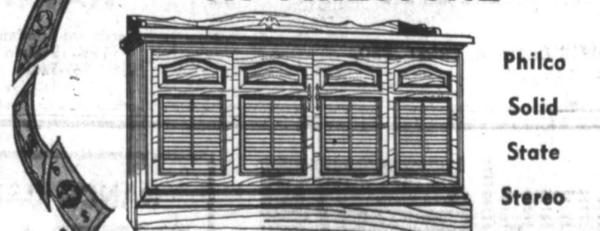

Spelling Book Explains All

LUBBOCK — What is a 45 letter word meaning a disease of the lungs caused by inhaling a very fine silicate dust?

The answer is pneumonoultramicroscopicsilicovolcanolosis. While the word may be just the answer you've been looking for to solve the world's most difficult crossword puzzle, it is also used in an eighth grade spelling book, one of a series co-authored by Dr. Neville H. Bremer, professor of education at Texas Tech University.

Bremer's "Skills in Spelling" series does not use the word as one of the spelling words. It is used as an example of how prefixes and suffixes can build and define a word and how they can be used to break down a word and help one define it. The series of separate books designed for pupils in grades one through eight, is now in its third edition. Emphasis in the series is on writing in reaction to a specific idea and on avoiding meaningless copying of spelling words.

Ex-POW Denies Was Told What To Say To Newsmen

By The Associated Press
Air Force Maj. Robert N. Daughtrey has supported his fellow prisoner of war Col. Robinson Risner by reiterating that returning prisoners had not been briefed on what to say to newsmen.

NO BRAINWASH
"I think Col. Risner said all that needs to be said concerning this so-called brainwashing," Daughtrey said Tuesday at a news at Wichita Falls. "There was absolutely none of this."

Two other POWs, CWO James Hestland and Army Spec. 4 Keith Albert, held a joint news conference Tuesday at Brooke Army Medical Center in San Antonio.

Risner and Daughtrey both were taken to Sheppard Air Force Base at Wichita Falls upon their return to the United States. Risner earlier said none of the POWs had been briefed on what to say and that it was an insult to think they had.

on amnesty for draft evaders or deserters, saying people who break laws and refuse to serve their government in time of need should be punished.

Daughtrey said that he and other prisoners were told of antiwar protests in the United States by their captors. He said he believed the North Vietnamese intended to defeat the United States by dividing it. "I do think the antiwar demonstrations were detrimental to our cause."

CHANGED LIFE
Daughtrey, who was captured in April 1965, said his first plans are for a trip to his hometown Eagle Pass and then to Colorado Springs, Colo.

Hestland and Albert talked of more personal feelings while they were being held prisoner in Vietnam. "I'm sure most of the men in our situation analyzed themselves a lot more than you would normally," Hestland said.

Hestland, who was captured in March 1971, and Albert, both 23 years old, held their news conference before they left Brooke on convalescent leave.

Albert, who is from Thibodaux, La., said "My experience was to get to know myself a little more." He was captured almost three years ago.

"I was pretty easy going at first, before my capture," he went on to say. "I hadn't planned my future before. I had a good chance to think about it and I plan to go back to school and do things I wasn't thinking about before."

Hestland, who entered the Army in Oklahoma City, said he thought the time he had to study himself helped him out quite a bit.

"It changed my life and my way of thinking about a lot of things," he said, adding that he probably will make the military a career.

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The son-in-law of promoter Frank Sharp, W.D. Haden II says in court he lost $1,607,000 in a stock deal as a result of the collapse of the Sharp empire during the Texas stock scandals.

Haden is a defendant in a suit brought by minority stockholders of Olympic Life Insurance Co.

The $1.25 million civil suit seeks cancellation of a 1968 deal in which Haden agreed to buy 1,625,000 shares, or 54 per cent, of Olympic stock for $2,840,625. It alleges Haden never paid the company what he owes it.

Trial of the case enters its third day today.

Joseph Novotny, former president of the now defunct Sharpstown State Bank in Houston, testified Tuesday that Haden had been "duped" into entering the stock transaction. He was the first witness in the proceedings before U.S. District Court Judge Leo Brewster.

Lawyers for two of the plaintiffs, H.W.G. Bishop and C. Robert Young of Dallas, argued that Haden agreed to pay Olympic the $2.8 million and then used the 625,000 shares as collateral to borrow the money from the Sharpstown State Bank, controlled by his father-in-law.

They said Haden provided Olympic certificates of deposit from the Sharpstown bank and later the money was used in several "legally questionable" transactions.

Thinks Nixon Would Veto Price Supports For Milk

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Officials of a 43,000-member dairymen's cooperative, whose political arm put a six-figure amount into President Nixon's campaign coffers, are pessimistic about help from the White House in what they believe is a "milk crisis."

George Mehren, general manager of Associated Milk Producers Inc., says AMPI believes a hike in government price supports for milk will keep the nation's 400,000 milk producers stable in a period of soaring production costs.

PENNY INCREASE
Mehren claims the price support of milk should be raised from about 73 per cent of parity, where it currently sits, to 85 per cent for one year. The government hike, now in the form of proposed legislation, would result in a one-penny increase per quart of milk in the supermarket, he says.

"If it passed, I have a hunch it would be vetoed," said Mehren Tuesday.

He said dairymen are being squeezed by an "astronomical rise in cost against virtually no rise in price." According to Mehren, milk prices rose last year by 3 per cent and feed stuff costs rose by 135 per cent and "are still going up."

He says the rate of liquidation of dairy herds and the rate of dairymen bankruptcies are accelerating at a rate which will endanger the future national milk supply. An increase in price supports to an 85 per cent level is needed to rescue the industry, he said.

SPRING SURPLUS
The annual spring surplus in milk production will drive commercial markets downward and exaggerate the squeeze for dairymen trying to peddle their product, he said. If no governmental steps are taken, the toll in the depression of the industry will lead to an estimated 25 per cent hike in retail milk prices in a year and a half, Mehren said.

A Department of Agriculture official during Democratic administrations of the 1960s, Mehren says President Nixon and his Agriculture Secretary, Earl Butz, are committed to the "straight free market" concept in agriculture products by abandoning federal support programs.

Mehren claims such a concept in the dairy industry is not workable for at least another generation because the dairy industry is still in transition from the small producer to the large producer.

'FOOLISH'
He discounts increased imports as part of a solution, although he says the Nixon administration is not unfriendly to the idea of imported agricultural products in industries which cannot totally sustain themselves in domestic production.

"The thought of imported fluid milk into the United States is foolish," he said.

According to Mehren, the Nixon logic is that feed prices will be brought down because of a lifting of federal crop acreage restrictions and a consequent increase in production. Then, production costs of the dairymen will dip, Mehren says the President believes.

If indeed such happens, even some large dairy producers can not continue to lose $100 to $200 a day while waiting for the market to improve, Mehren said.

"It is a crisis which in all truth threatens the supply of milk in the United States in the future," Mehren said of the cost-price squeeze.

The last increase for milk price supports came in March 1971 through an order of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, rather than legislation. The hike was to 85 per cent of the 1971 parity, but the percentage has eroded in two years to about 73 per cent of parity.

PRICE SUPPORT
The Agriculture Department could announce new price support levels but Mehren says it is believed "they will be set as low as possible and as late as possible" and will not approach the 85 per cent figure.

The 1971 decision on price supports came within two weeks after an announcement that price supports for milk would not be increased. At the time, here were published reports noting the timing of contributions of dairymen organizations to the Nixon re-election campaign and the date of the announcement about increases.

One of the contributors listed was TAPE, a political arm of AMPI, in the amount of $10,000. For all the campaign, TAPE was listed as an $187,500 contributor to Nixon re-election efforts.

AMPI currently is defendant in an federal antitrust suit alleging a monopoly in the sale of milk produced by dairymen in 14 states. Mehren said the litigation is costing $20,000 a day in deposition-taking and "I don't think the suit of the Department of Justice vs. AMPI is helping us any."

Masterpieces by rural French cabinetmakers inspired this furniture, so authentic in design detail you might have discovered it in a chateau! That china cabinet, for example, is patterned after an 18th Century "garderobe" from Provence. The floral garlands, exquisitely carved, are favorite French motifs. That trestle table is a model of informal elegance. And the naturally distressed texture of wormy oak veneers and oak solids enhances the country style. There's a mellow brown Vintage finish, and some pieces are also in accent colors: Calais White; Faded Yellow; Brittany Blue. Come choose your Chateau Provence. It's so nice to come home to!

'WELL, WE CAN'T RELIVE THE PAST' What Bush Is Doing At GOP Helm

By DON McLEOD
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — As head man in a party that carried 49 states in the presidential election but remained a congressional minority for the 10th straight time, Republican National Chairman George Bush has an obvious goal: GOP command of Congress after 1974.

In the month since he took over the GOP chairmanship, the handsome, 48-year-old New Englander-turned-Texan has moved to make that his committee's majority activity, with the congressional races the principal focus for the next 21 months.

“Now, our job is to see that some of those people that never voted Republican before they voted for Nixon will vote for other Republicans,” he said.

Bush was picked for his job by Nixon in the wake of controversy over the way the President conducted the 1972 campaign. Bush moved from the United Nations ambassadorship to replace Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., who was one of those complaining that the White House concentrated on the Nixon campaign to the neglect of other GOP candidates.

“Some say President Nixon is not interested in politics any more . . . That just couldn't be further from the truth,” Bush added.

Acknowledging that the party has diverse elements that may be feuding by 1976, Bush says he will keep the GOP machinery neutral.

“I don't want it to appear that there's a bias toward a philosophy,” Bush said. “The President puts a strong imprint on the party and out of this imprint there will be major positions taken, and they will be defended and articulated by me and others here.”

How To Try

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

BAD YEAR: (Q.) I really like Ronnie. He's really nice. All last year he stared at me — at least I thought he did.

But now I almost never see him in the hall, so I can't say “Hi” to him. I never get to talk to him. I'm a little shy, anyway. How do I get him to ask me out? — Unhappy in Indiana.

(A.) Last year you had schedules that brought you together in the halls. This year your schedules are different. Find out the routes he takes and manage to pass him every day.

When you see him don't let your shyness keep you from smiling at him and speaking to him.

If he seems friendly, give him your telephone number and ask him to call you sometime. If not, look for another boy who is friendly.

SKATING: (Q.) I want to train to be a professional roller skater. My parents are bitterly against the idea. They say it will interfere with school and that I am too intelligent to spend my life skating and getting bumps and bruises and maybe my head split open.

What do you think? — Nearly 16 in Pennsylvania.

NIXON'S PICK

“The President, I think we'll all concede, did remarkably well and got votes from people who had never voted Republican before,” Bush said in an interview.

BALANCING ACT

“Well, we can't relive the past,” Bush said. “Now the President's interests and the party's interests directly coincide. He needs more Republicans in the House and more Republicans in the Senate.”

ARMY ASKS GRADS TO STUDY CAREER

TEACHER TESTS SET APRIL 7

Fewer than two weeks remain for prospective teachers who plan to take the National Teacher Examinations at Howard County Junior College April 7, to submit their registrations for these tests to Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N.J., Dr. Wayne Bonner, director Guidance services, announced today.

NO EASY TASK

“But beyond that we're not going to try to divide the party by defining narrowly what a good Republican is, because a good Republican in New York might have a certain different slant on things than a good Republican in Texas or in Wisconsin or in California . . . We're going to stay out of the presidential thing in '76,” Bush added.

IN HARMONY

A major theater of operations will be the House and Senate Republican Campaign Committee.

Grant For Model City Whacked

HOUSTON (AP) — Mayor Louie Welch says the annual federal grant for Houston's Model City program has been slashed from $13.3 million to $8.038 million.

He said he is not yet ready to recommend what projects would be continued and which should be abandoned.

The federal Model Cities program was designed to rehabilitate inner city neighborhoods.

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) is reducing the grant as part of the Nixon administration's budget cuts.

Gossett New Rotary Prexy

Ralph Gossett was elevated to the club presidency in the regular weekly meeting Tuesday, moving up from the office of vice-president.

The new vice president is Jimmy Taylor. Hold-over officers include Bill McRee, secretary, and Tommy Ross, treasurer.

New directors of the club are Jim Baum, Charles Bell, Frank Hardesty and R. Earl Price. They succeed Oliver Cofer, Dan Wilkins, Jimmy Taylor and Norman Picquet.

Members of the nominating committee included E. P. Driver, Elmo Wasson and Adolph Swartz.

The new officers will formally be installed late in June, at which time Ladies Night will formally be observed.

CEASE-FIRE FRAGILE Viet: War Without End

By The Associated Press

Results to date on the international Paris conference on Vietnam underscore the fragile nature of the cease-fire and the long distance remaining between truce and peace. The conference, in fact, already seems to have illustrated its lack of power to do what it is supposed to do.

FAR, FAR AWAY

In spite of North Vietnam's reneging on the prisoner release schedule, the cease-fire may prove effective enough to get the U.S. military out and perhaps even bring home all acknowledged American POWs. But from the look of things, the odds are that there can be no actual end to this war until either North or South is dominant. That can involve years.

Peace, as distinguished from truce, is stalled by frozen attitudes, and clearly the Paris conference can do little or nothing about it. The conference can hardly hope even to come close to carrying out its announced purpose, under the agreement, to "guarantee the ending of the war, the maintenance of peace in Vietnam and respect of the Vietnam peoples' fundamental right to self-determination."

The 12-party meeting can do little more than give formal approval to the cease-fire pact. Its even division between the Communists and non-Communists promises a repetition of what was produced by such arrangements in the past—paralysis.

The Americans and the North Vietnamese have agreed on how to reconvene the conference to deal with truce violations, but this requires seven votes. It is hardly likely, for example, that if Hanoi objects to a meeting there will be any break in the six-vote Communist side. No vote, no meeting.

The cease-fire pact supposedly guaranteed the "democratic liberties" of all and projected a democratic process to lead to peaceful reunification of Vietnam, but such terms have sharply different meanings for the two sides.

In the estimation of Communists, what they call the "bourgeoisie", no matter what its size and following, is something apart from "the people" and has no right to democratic liberties. In Hanoi's view, for a "democratic" process to produce a decision favoring anti-Communists would be unthinkable.

For its part, Saigon's government and its supporters guard against a possibility that the Communists will come out ahead. President Nguyen Van Thieu cannot see the Viet Cong or Communists as entitled to democratic processes.

POSSESSION

As the two sides jockey for advantage and continue their land-grabbing thrusts, Hanoi may consider its possession of the U.S. prisoners a strong lever for indirect pressure on Saigon. The North's Politburo clings to the conviction that Saigon will do exactly as the Americans say, just as the Americans seek to apply pressure on Hanoi through Peking or Moscow.

That sort of pressure has its limitations. The Vietnamese have been clawing at each other a long time. Even if the huge allies of both genuinely wanted an equitable settlement, circumstances would make such an outcome just about impossible.

Henry Kissinger has said that after 25 years of war and revolution, the aging revolutionaries of the Hanoi Politburo are unlikely to surrender their long-time goal of taking over all Vietnam. The age of the politburo, in fact, can make it all the more anxious.

Weeks after the cease-fire was signed, Pham Van Dong, the North's premier, called the truce simply the beginning of a new phase in the "revolution" that began decades ago. The defense minister, Gen. Vo Nguyen Iap, again referred publicly to the Viet Cong as "the only genuine representative of the South Vietnamese people." That Hanoi position from the outset of the Paris peace talks had been a main cause of five years of deadlock.

All this makes it seem hardly likely that the North wants to enter into commitments looking toward permanent division of authority in the South. It indicates, rather, an intention on both sides to continue fighting in the contestable areas.

Five years ago, when the Vietnam war was at its peak of intensity, some Americans on would probably fade gradually rather than ever come to an abrupt end.

Current developments make it appear that though the war may recede while the belligerents catch their breath, it is unlikely to fade away until the issue of domination is settled. By then Indochina may no longer be regarded by Americans as an issue of any great importance.

Domestic Policy Defense By Nixon Administration

By The Associated Press

The Nixon administration is telling federal administrators in every region of the country to hold special briefings for governors and mayors on the budget, which some state and local officials have sharply criticized for its proposed domestic spending cutbacks.

Meantime, the White House is studying ways to get a greater hearing for those mayors around the country who support the President's budget proposals as an effort to return power from the federal government to state and local governments.

CRITICISM

The two efforts amount to a new administration push to get its side of the story across after a month of criticism from a dozen mayors on the bipartisan U.S. Conference of Mayors. At a congressional hearing Tuesday, several Democratic governors also voiced their criticism of the budget.

On Tuesday, Frederic V. Malek, deputy director of the Office of Management and Budget, issued a memorandum to the chairmen of the 10 federal regional councils to call the budget briefings, but some of them had already heard of it and begun work.

The councils, composed of the regional administrators of seven federal domestic departments, coordinate federal policy in each of 10 areas of the nation.

The New York regional council, which came up with the idea for such meetings two weeks ago, has scheduled them to begin March 6 in New Jersey with later ones in other parts of the region.

HORROR STORIES

The Chicago regional council has telephoned governors and mayors of cities over 500,000 population in its five states inviting them to a briefing March 12 in Chicago. Subsequent meetings for mayors of smaller cities and county executives are planned in each state during March.

"We thought it would be well to acquaint them with the impact of the budget" regional council chairman Norman Erbe said. "Much of the criticism so far has been premature. The attitude has been too negative around the country and in the media. It's time to look at the positive things and what programs are continuing."

Ken Cole, executive director of President Nixon's Domestic Council, said this effort was critical, because "so many of the details have not reached state and local officials."

"There are many horror stories about what we are planning to do to the Office of Economic Opportunity," Cole said. "All of its programs which we think serve the poor are being delegated to other agencies and they will have more money."

FBI 'Boss' Denies Making Political Talks For Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Acting FBI director L. Patrick Gray III today denied that he made political speeches for President Nixon during last fall's election campaign.

Gray told the Senate Judiciary Committee, which is considering his nomination to be permanent FBI director, that his many speeches last year were made in conjunction with department business.

NONPOLITICAL
"I submit, Mr. Chairman, that a fair reading of these speeches will indicate clearly that these were not political or campaign speeches. There was no intent that they be and they were not written to be political or campaign speeches," Gray told the committee. Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said Gray's nomination was a "re-election effort, and as such violated the nonpartisan principles of the FBI."

Gray told the committee that the first principle controlling his conduct during the past 10 months has been that the bureau "will remain completely and absolutely nonpolitical."

"This is one of the pillars of its historic strength," he said. "This is a policy that enables the FBI to perform efficiently regardless of which great political party holds the reins of government... a policy that enables the FBI to carry out its responsibilities without the pull of political allegiance or the thrust of political influence."

Gray said Nixon told him last May, when he was named to replace the late J. Edgar Hoover, and again on Feb. 10 when Nixon nominated him for the permanent position that the FBI and its director must "continue to stay out of politics and to remain free of politics."

A career Navy officer with extensive submarine experience, the 56-year-old Gray became a special assistant to the then-Vice President Nixon upon retirement from the service in 1960 and helped him campaign against John F. Kennedy. As if anticipating questions

CLAREMONT, Calif. (AP) — Nine coeds who admittedly know little about the stock market will receive $50,000 to invest for their college, a gift to teach their financial responsibility.

Draft Lottery Set March 8

WASHINGTON (AP) — A lottery for a standby military draft will be held here on March 8 even though it is unlikely that anyone in the lottery will be drafted.

The Selective Service System said the men receiving lottery numbers will be those reaching age 19 during 1973; that is, all men born in 1954.

"For the first time since the lottery was instituted in 1969, the men receiving lottery numbers will not face the prospect of possible induction into the armed forces," a statement said.

However, it explained that men receiving lottery numbers will be potentially vulnerable to induction for all of 1974. A processing ceiling number will be announced March 8, and those at this number or below will be classified to form a standby pool of "readily inductible men," it said.

He said he has been open-minded in his dealings with the press, some members of which have charged that the FBI has tried to limit its freedom.

FIRSTHAND
He said it is the bureau's policy, to the extent possible, "to furnish information to the news media... to answer questions... to allow them to have a first-hand look at some of our activities, in the hope that such a policy will enable them to understand and to report to the American people the facts regarding FBI operations."

The only committee member who has announced he will vote against the 56-year-old Connecticut lawyer and close friend of President Nixon is Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va.

Byrd, assistant Senate Democratic leader, has called Gray openly partisan and said he has used the FBI for political purposes.

Gray is the first FBI director to be subject to Senate confirmation and his nomination provides an unusual opportunity for a public probing into the role and operations of the agency.

WIRETAPPING
A few of the specific issues expected to be raised include the FBI's priorities in law enforcement, the extent of its wiretapping, and the thoroughness of its investigation into the burglary and wiretapping of Democratic national headquarters.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., the committee chairman, said he had been advised the complete FBI file in the bugging case will be made available to panel members for inspection.

Eastland, who supports Gray's nomination credits him with having done a fine job as director and says he knows of nothing political he has done.

However, witnesses who have asked to testify have indicated that the question of whether Gray has or would attempt to politicize the FBI is likely to be a key issue in the hearings.

Hazardous Travel Alert Out In Texas

By The Associated Press
More than half of Texas was shrouded by fog today and official observers put out a hazardous travel alert for the third straight morning.

Most of the misty cloak descended on areas east of a line from Childress in Northwest Texas to Del Rio on the Mexican border, but there also were patches here and there farther west.

Motorists were warned to drive with care in sections along the coast and in parts of Central Texas, where visibility shrank to zero. It was possible to see for two to three miles over the rest of the fog belt.

The National Weather Service reported fog around such points as Houston, College Station, Longview, Texarkana, Dalhart, Mineral Wells, Dallas, Fort Worth, Waco, Austin, San Antonio, Cotulla, Vitoria, Palacios, Alice and McAllen.

Observers attributed the development of fog to an abundance of moisture in the air and the usual overnight drops in temperatures.

Moist air flowing inland strongly from the Gulf of Mexico prompted forecasts for possible showers or thunderstorms tonight and Thursday in the northeast and north central parts of the state and scattered showers in other sections.

A little cooler weather was promised in most areas by Thursday.

Early morning temperatures went as low as 33 at Waco and 39 at Houston and Texarkana while it was still 60 degrees at Brownsville and Laredo.

Tuesday afternoon's high marks ranged from 77 at El Paso, down to 36 at Mineral Wells and Tyler.

RACE COMPLETELY OPEN

Irish Elections

DUBLIN (AP) — The Irish Republic voted today in a national election to decide its government for the next five years, and the race was completely open.

After 15 years in power, Prime Minister Jack Lynch's Fianna Fail party, the Soldiers of Destiny, has been thrown on the defensive by a 14-point program of social reform produced by a coalition of Fine Gael—the Irish Party—and the smaller Labor Party.

Most of the Dublin pundits were predicting that Lynch would be defeated. However, they made the same prediction in 1969 and were wrong.

The counting of votes starts Thursday and may take 48 hours.

Fine Gael and Labor campaigned together for the first time since 1957. If their supporters use the proportional representation system to their fullest advantage, their chances of winning will be much enhanced.

The one safe prediction was a heavy turnout. The election battle, fought over acres of

Rare Goats Are Found In India

DARJEELING, India (AP) — A herd of Sikkimese wild goats, or shapis, has been sighted for the first time in 30 years, the Sikkim government reported today.

An article in the Sikkim Herald, the government's official newspaper, said members of an expedition from the Sikkim Forest Department spotted six of the animals grazing at Fimpu, on the west bank of the Lachung River in North Sikkim.

Sikkim is an Indian protectorate between India, Tibet, Bhutan and Nepal.

Norbu Lachungpa, Sikkim's wildlife warden, said the shapis scurried away as soon as they were sighted but were photographed from a distance. The shapi, similar to the Himalayan tahr, is said to be native only to Sikkim.

Young People Believe In Old Fashioned Love

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The belief that most young people have rejected all the customs of the past such as marriage is false, psychologist Dr. Joyce Brothers said here Tuesday.

Dr. Brothers told participants at the statewide Texas Baptist Christian Life Commission workshop that a poll of 7 million college students revealed "young people do believe in the old fashioned variety of love that leads to marriage and they want their marriages to last a lifetime."

The noted psychologist said the strength of marriage, despite some opinions to the contrary, outweighs the strength of just living together.

"Marriages represents stability—one unchanging factor in a time of enormous change," Dr. Brothers said.

"Marriage is an interrelationship, interdependency, friendship and liking of each other more than anyone else in the world. That's why many young people are going into marriage," Dr. Brothers said.

She said "chances for achieving this relationship are greater in marriage because nothing is held back."

"Not giving the other persons the security of a lifetime commitment," she said "is holding back and that's not what marriage is about. The point of marriage is a total and utter

Conjugal Visits For Inmates Plea

HOUSTON (AP) — A Harris County jail inmate has filed a federal court suit asking the court to find jail sex segregation unconstitutional.

The suit claimed it is cruel and unusual punishment for prisoners to be kept from the opposite sex.

The suit was filed Thursday by Joseph Elliott Stuart Jr., 27, awaiting trial on theft and burglary charges. He has been locked up since April 25, 1972, unable to make $3,000 in bonds.

The suit seeks conjugal visits for county jail inmates and asks that two-person cells be provided for married couples who get arrested together.

Defendants named in the suit are Sheriff Jack Heard and Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill.

The homeowner is offered a choice of getting the house ready himself with nothing left for the mover but to get it on the moving rig, or he may call the house movers to start from scratch.

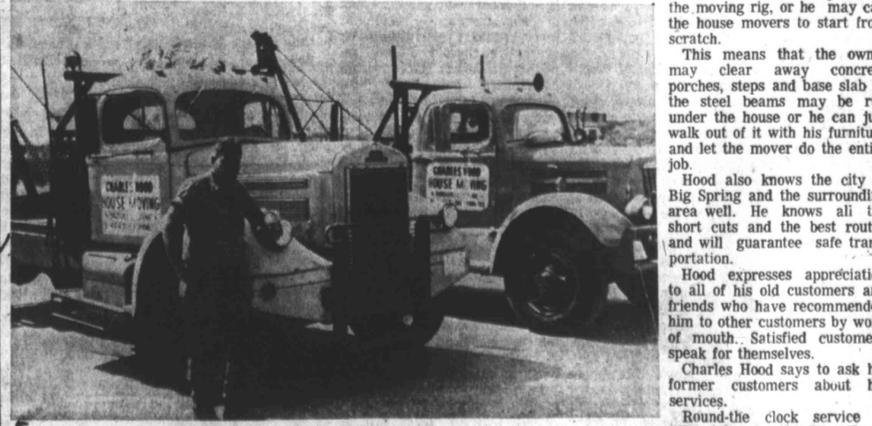

This means that the owner may clear away concrete porches, steps and base slab so the steel beams may be run under the house or he can just walk out of it with his furniture and let the mover do the entire job.

Can Hurt Our College

Considerable pressure is being applied to convert the upper-level-University of the Permian Basin in Odessa to a four-year school before it even opens its doors.

This comes as no surprise to those familiar with the political patterns which resulted in the creation of the school, and later in the precise location of the campus.

If the argument was valid for an upper-level university when UTPB was created, what has happened in the interval to change it? Certainly, there is no operating history to support the claim.

But worse still, from the point of those who have community colleges in the region, is the staggering blow that four-year status for UTPB would deal these institutions. Moreover, there is a strong possibility that the legislature will equalize tuition between the four-year colleges and the two-year colleges. If this comes to pass, whatever competitive value the community college would have had from this point will be bled off.

It may be that UTPB partisans will be willing to sacrifice the virility of their own two-year college, but this does not follow for Midland, Big Spring, Snyder and to some extent, Levelland.

We have just been navigating the shoals of critical readjustment for Howard County Junior College, and we do not want to see anything that will throw up needless reefs in the path, or which, in the alternative (or additionally), will create a heavier local burden of support.

It is our feeling that the campaign for an upper level UTPB was conducted with eyes wide open, and, if its backers were right in their conclusion, to serve a valid need. If it was simply a ruse to permit the camel to stick its nose in the tent, then the justification is questionable.

Explosively Dangerous

The shooting down of an Arab airliner by an Israeli fighter plane is explosively dangerous as it is tragic.

The Israelis have admitted, that the incident was a grave error, but sought to justify it on the basis of misunderstanding. This is hardly acceptable for it strains the bounds of credulity to see how an airliner could jeopardize defenses, let alone significantly violate a territory.

Now there are reports that Arab planes have been prowling Mediterranean skies in quest of Israeli airliners. This reflects the delicate sensitivity of the tinderbox which is the Middle East.

There have been too many of these irresponsible incidents, such as the reprehensible act of Arab terrorist in invading the Israeli quarters at the Olympics in Munich, plus a subsequent kidnapping, plus reprisals by Israel.

Some means must be found to halt this irresponsible striking of matches around the powder keg, else the cataclysm of a mortal struggle could ignite the whole world.

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

With an eye on the calendar, Texas Electric Service Company has issued a joint warning-appeal to young kite fliers. With March around the corner, a word to the wise is appropriate if not sufficient.

THE URBAN setting is not the best for kite flying, and the power line is not the least of the hazards. When the power company pleads with the kites not to try and hook or probe the kite to free it, but instead to call the company, it is giving sound advice. Like being struck by lightning, you seldom get a second chance when you come in contact with a high voltage line.

BUT WHAT I set out to do was reminisce, perhaps out of jealousy of the many handsome and unique kites now available at the stores. Gee, you can pick out any number of fire kites, all ready to be assembled and flown. There are the old types, but now without a tail; there are any number of the box types; there are those which resemble birds and butterflies.

NOT SO when I was a kid. We started out with string, a newspaper, flour paste and something to use for a frame. The latter was a basic problem, for getting something strong enough to take the punishment and yet be light enough to fly was not always the easiest thing.

The ingenious sometimes came up with split bamboo or fishing case which could be assembled in a six-point cross lashed at the center and then bounded by a string to each point.

The newspaper was spread out and lapped over the frame and the connecting strings, and then stuck down with the flour paste.

NEXT CAME the business of fashioning a halter or bridle to which the flying string was attached. This required a certain amount of skill and balance if the kite was to have stability. Finally, there came the business of fashioning a tail to a bridle attached to the bottom two points of the tail.

Using a spool of string was almost unheard of. Instead, the kite string was likely to be an accumulation from all the twine saved since the previous kite season. Every boy was a string saver.

THIS MAKE — SHIFT line was economical, as was the entire project, but occasionally it led to breaks or to a parting of the line where it had been poorly tied or spliced. Consequently, kite flying was frequently a business of running like mad to get the kite in the air, nursing it tenderly as the line was fed out, holding the breath when the apparatus took a dizzy dive, and finally taking out across the pasture after the fluttering kite when the line broke.

OF COURSE, there was some personal pride of authorship in each kite, but the main advantage then was that there were previous few power or phone lines to snag the lines, and a lot more space to get the kite aloft. The wind — ah, there's something that hasn't changed.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

Whenever I hear a person bragging about his possessions, or his accomplishments, I cringe. How can people call themselves Christians and yet lack humility? Would you please tell me your definition of humility? M.E.S. Augustine once said: "It was pride that changed angels into devils; it is humility that makes men as angels."

Now, it's one thing to report factually of possessions you have. It's another when you do it pompously or boastfully. That's what bragging means.

True humility is a simple recognition of what we are. You see, the word "humility" comes from the same root word as "humus" does, so you recognize it has to do with a sort of "groundness," a return to the hardpan of facts.

It's good to remember that God requires us to cherish no views that contradict the truth. He wants from us no false humility. God is not pleased with a cringing sort of self-contempt.

I think of the words of the old hymn, "Naught have I gotten but what I've received." This, then, is the Christian philosophy of life that gives birth to repentance and faith and the true humility.

Paul suggested that arising out of the total commitment of his faith, his "humility" if you please, was a certain discovery. "I have found it to be the only way really to know Christ, and to experience... power." Philippians 3:10.

Don't spend any time checking the humility readings of others. See to your own, for that's all God expects!

Not The Marrying Kind

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — What kind of boy should a girl marry?

That's easy. She should marry the kind she can be reasonably happy with — and whom she can keep reasonably happy.

What kinds of boys should she not marry? Well — lots of kinds. But she should take particular care not to marry the kind of boy who —

Thinks he has a perfect right to snap her garbler half an hour after he buys her a steak.

Is willing to promise her anything, but can't write her a love letter that at least sounds sincere.

Insists on looking in every closet before he leaves her apartment — just to be sure she isn't hiding a rival there.

Doesn't keep her photo in his wallet, so he can show it to old ladies he sits next to on plane trips.

Never wants to go on a stroll with her under a full moon.

Refuses to light the candles if she thinks it would be romantic for them to dine by candlelight.

Is perfectly willing to buy her champagne on the first night of the honeymoon, but not on the second night.

Carries his old pet dog — instead of her — across the threshold when they first enter their new home.

Blows cigar smoke rings in her face to show he's annoyed with her.

Won't launder her stockings if she breaks her arm.

Is jealous even of her girl friends.

Thinks a woman looks out of place except in the kitchen or the bedroom.

Never puts his arms around her or kisses the back of her neck while she is cooking.

Is too prissy to go skinny-dipping with her when they're alone on an empty beach during a vacation.

Rushes out to buy a new toothbrush if she uses his by mistake.

Holds the family umbrella mostly over him, not her, if they have to go out in the rain.

Doesn't mind at all if she makes more on her job than he does on his — particularly if she spends the money on him.

Is unwilling to take out much life insurance on himself because — "well after all, if you women want to be so damn liberated, you should be perfectly willing to look out after yourselves — if a fellow dies."

Wants her to become the second mother of his life.

The big trouble, girls, is that by the time you find out this is the kind of boy you shouldn't marry — well, you and the big bear are about to celebrate your silver wedding anniversary.

WASHINGTON — The international oil cartel, seeking to perpetuate its monopoly in Saudi Arabia, fears that John B. Connally may translate his intimacy with President Nixon into concessions for Occidental Petroleum Co.

ALTHOUGH OCCIDENTAL denies an official connection with Connally, big oil operatives and government officials here are convinced he was seeking concessions for Occidental last December when he met King Faisal in Saudi Arabia. Indeed, it seems hardly coincidental that Connally and Dr. Armand Hammer, Occidental's chairman, were in Saudi Arabia together. The oil cartel fears Faisal might confuse John Connally, emissary for President Nixon, with John Connally, agent for Dr. Hammer.

This typifies Connally's ambivalent status while circling the globe since Mr. Nixon's reelection. Although associates hint that he is traveling on secret presidential missions, there is no doubt he is deeply interested in private business.

The private business in Saudi Arabia concerns the impending rise in crude oil production there. The cartel — specifically Aramco (including Texaco, Exxon, Standard Oil (Calif.) and (Mobil) — wants to keep its monopoly. Occidental, with present production mostly in Libya, wants to break in.

Connally "was not there on Occidental business," an Occidental spokesman told us, adding he believes Connally's main purpose in Saudi Arabia was secret diplomacy aimed toward a Mideast settlement.

BUT SAUDI Arabia is no place for higher-level diplomacy. High administration officials say Connally (like many other American businessmen) sends confidential reports back to Washington. But they add emphatically he was on Occidental business, not on any special mission.

Connally's Houston law firm represents both Permian Corp., an Occidental subsidiary, and El Paso Natural Gas Co., Occidental's partner in seeking Soviet oil concessions. Connally remains close to ex-LBJ aide Marvin Watson, Occidental's executive vice president for corporate affairs.

HOUSE MINORITY leader Gerald Ford tried three times last week — without apparent success — to dissuade his fellow Michigan Republican, Rep. Donald Riegle, from becoming a Democrat.

That reflects surprising dismay high in the Republican establishment over Riegle's imminent conversion. Some low-level Republicans in the House and back in Michigan say good riddance to a troublesome maverick.

BUT MICHIGAN party officials regard Riegle as the best Republican bet for the Senate in 1976. Although the White House was delighted by last year's defection of New York's Rep. Ogdin Reid, presidential aides regretfully regard Riegle as a tough, young political comer. Ford, personally fond of Riegle, abhors a shrunken ideological spectrum forcing liberals out of the party.

RIEGLER FEELS more at home ideologically as a Democrat, his 1972 liberal rating of 94 per cent by the Americans for Democratic Action ranking higher than any Michigan Democrat. His criticism of Mr. Nixon now transcends the war, extending to all policy areas. He has been backing from the United Auto Workers which has urged him to cross the aisle.

Far-Reaching Trial

Marquis Childs

LOS ANGELES — The fate of Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony J. Russo Jr. hangs in the balance here in one of the most complex and far-reaching trials in American judicial history. The government contends that nothing more than criminal charges, espionage, theft and conspiracy are at issue in the copying and distribution by the two defendants of the Pentagon Papers.

YET, NO one can doubt that if Ellsberg and Russo are convicted on one or more of the 15 counts of the indictment and their conviction upheld by the Supreme Court, the shadow of secrecy and suppression will be felt at every level of government. With the halting of reporters for refusing to disclose confidentiality of sources — with two notable cases here in California — state courts are beginning to close their doors to the coverage of trials that would normally be open. Those most concerned with keeping the channels open describe it as a contagion of suppression.

WHAT IS most impressive in the great gray cliff of the Federal Courts Building here is the power of the federal government as it has been marshalled in this case. It is all there — the FBI, the Department of Justice, the top military — felt if not seen in the subdued aqueous light, the careful silence of Courtroom No. 9.

As a manifestation of that power, the defense has just charged the prosecution with deliberately withholding a document that would have refuted testimony on the damage done to national security by release of the Pentagon study of decision-making during the Vietnam war. The document was an affidavit by an analyst for the Central Intelligence Agency stating that figures giving Communist strength at the time of the Tet offensive in 1968 had been fabricated in December of 1967. Lt. Gen. William G. DePuy, a government witness, had previously testified that releasing the Joint Chiefs of Staff study of the Communist order of battle would have helped Hanoi.

THE RECORD piles up in a whole library of volumes. At three a.m. each day the transcript of the day before is available. The young volunteers working for defense counsel collect it and comb it over preparatory to more of the same.

The cost is astronomical. At last report the defense was $60,000 in the hole. Chief defense counsel Leonard B. Bouding has three associates, and Russo has two lawyers. A small army of researchers and secretaries does the spade work. Money to foot the bill is raised by a variety of fund-raising devices always falling behind the need.

THE PROSECUTION having presented the case against the defendants in two months, the defense now takes over. Six to seven weeks will be taken up with a procession of witnesses who will testify not only that no damage was done to the national security but that Ellsberg and Russo served the right to know in exposing the bland optimism of the decision-makers in public as contrasted with their continuing escalation of the war.

THE SERVICE to the nation in the revelation of the Pentagon Papers, the defense will contend, is to show the catastrophe of secret and private presidential wars — in this case an unwinnable war that divided the nation, alienated world opinion and threatened at times a third world holocaust. In a sense the verdict will be passed on the war itself, those who prosecuted it and those who opposed it.

Letter To The Editors

DEAR SIR:

The Meistersinger parents met Monday night to decide if we thought the money to send our Meistersingers to Europe could be raised in the short time we have left to do the job. With a strong drawing on our own pocket-books, a prayer in our hearts, and a great faith that our town will really get behind us and help us raise this money — we decided to go on with the project.

There are 63 very talented young people in the Meistersinger Choir (37 of these are Seniors) and the cost for each person going to Europe is $710 — this does not include any personal spending money or extra expenses. Some of the parents can (and have) paid the entire amount, some can only pay part of the cost, and some can pay none.

The Meistersinger Choir is one of 14 choirs chosen in the United States to attend this musical festival. They auditioned and actually won this honor. They have put the name of Big Spring, Tex., in front of a world organization of cultural development unequal to any other recognition ever before achieved in this town.

We, as parents, are tremendously proud that our young people have accomplished this. We are proud of Mr. Bowers and greatly respect his talents of motivating this choir to achieve this honor. And we want to be proud to say that the County of Howard and the City of Big Spring has had enough pride in the Meistersingers to get behind them and raise this money to send every young person in this choir to Europe to represent our West Texas area.

Thank you,
Sincerely,
MR. AND MRS. R. E. MITCHELL

He was nominated for the award by Mrs. Jimmy Jennings, chapter vice president.

Since moving to Big Spring in January 1956, Hollingsworth has participated in a number of community projects. "Economic Outlook: 1973" was the topic discussed by J. D. Nelson, guest speaker for the banquet, who predicted the United States' economy will show a strong performance in 1973.

"Real economic growth presidential power to delay already appropriated spending, or through enactment of a tax increase." He said it will most likely be a combination of the two, and that U.S. departure from Vietnam may also cut several billions of dollars off the deficit.

"The administration hopes to avoid increasing taxes, said Nelson, "but there is strong feeling across much of the economic and political spectrum that some kind of tax increase may have to be passed in 1973 to avoid a resurgence of inflation and keep the economy from running deeply in the red through 1975."

Don Norman, announcer for KBYG Radio, was master of ceremonies. He was introduced by Mrs. Ruth Harper.

Miss Ramona Molina, the chapter's "woman of the year," gave the vocational talk concerning her responsibilities in the cashier's office at Montgomery Ward and Co.

The Rev. Harland Birdwell, pastor of St. Mary's Episcopal Church and "boss of the year" for 1971, presented the award to Hollingsworth.

Invocation and pledge to the flag were led by Mrs. T. J. Proctor, and the welcoming address was by Mrs. Jennings. Mrs. Kenneth Conner briefly outlined ABWA history, and the organization's creed was read by Mrs. Kenneth Maxwell.

The group concluded the tour by viewing western paintings which are also on display at the museum.

'Purse' Strings?

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: During our 30 years of married life, I worked two jobs so as to provide a good home for my wife and children. Now the kids are married and on their own — or so we thought.

My wife and I saved a little nest egg for our retirement years, but it seems that the style these days is to hand over the money to the kids for down-payments on homes, furniture, or just to help them pay their rent!

I am against this. I say, let them work for it the way we did. When they work for things themselves, they appreciate them more. Why should we dig into our savings to make life easier for them?

My wife is a softy and has started to hand out money to our kids. Of course, there is no such thing as a "loan" or a "note" with your own children. It's just a present. Please print this with your answer. She thinks I am tight and hardhearted when I say, "No more!"

DAD IN HACKENSACK, N.J.
DEAR HACKENSACK: Let the kids hack it themselves — in Hackensack and everywhere else! I'm with you, Dad.

DEAR ABBY: How does a guy go about finding one of those girls who's a sure thing? Know what I mean? The kind who meets a guy, and if they dig each other, she'll have an affair with him without getting too serious. They may even live together without any strings attached.

I've had the marriage bit, thanks, and I played it square, but she sure had me fooled. And when we split up, she took me for all I was good for.

I've thought of running an ad in the paper, but I don't know how to word it without being downright blunt. I'm no bum. I've got a job and I don't wear my hair long. Vital statistics: 34 years old, 6 feet tall, 150 pounds. Have brown eyes and dark hair, and can be amorous. Please publish this. I may get a straight answer. You can skip the sermon. I once believed in love and marriage, but no more. At least this way there's no phony baloney, and everyone knows the score.

LOOKING IN ST. PAUL
DEAR LOOKING: You need me to help you find a "sure thing" like a moose needs a hatrack. The pickup joints in St. Paul are full of them. A word of warning, however, if you are seriously considering such a girl: Make a standing appointment with your physician every morning. You're a cluck to need it.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 88709, Los Angeles, Calif. 90063. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

INITIATED BY WOMEN'S CLUBS Million-Dollar Garden Grows On Texas-Mexico Border

"In 1965, the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs passed a resolution to establish an International Friendship Garden in the Rio Grande Valley of Texas," said Mrs. Hugh Duncan Friday when speaking to the Woman's Forum in the home of Mrs. W. E. Singleton, 511 Lancaster.

She said the garden, located on the border of Texas and Mexico is dedicated to peace for the people of the two countries and that the effort symbolizes that two nations can live together in peace and harmony along an unfortified border.

"The people were drawn together by working on a mutual project," continued Mrs. Duncan. "Mrs. Bryan Campbell, chairman of the movement, went to Brownsville, where the idea was accepted and land valued at $250,000 was offered for the project. Funds became a problem but, eventually, the state legislature appropriated $125,000 on a matching fund basis with the women's federation. The city of Brownsville gave $80,000 and $45,000 was raised by various methods."

Mrs. Duncan said the garden, now having a value of $1 million, is a project all Texans can be proud of "as a symbol of brotherly friendship."

Supplementing the program, Mrs. H. H. Stephens a guest, presented a film recently released by the Texas Highway Department entitled, "Beautiful Texas." The film compares the Texas roads of 1907 with the 70,000 miles of highways in the state today. She said Texas was the first state to build roadside parks (as a part of the beautification project), of which there are now 1,100.

Tree, shrubs and flowers are planted along Texas highways, however, litter is costing the state $4 million each year because it is necessary to expend that amount to keep the roads and right-of-way clean and attractive.

Mrs. C. R. Moad presided for the business session. Refreshments were served from a table on which the hostess used the George Washington motif in red, white and blue with the traditional cherries.

The next meeting will be March 9 in the home of Mrs. W. A. Laswell, 111 E. 16th.

Allen Shakes Shady Image, Helps To Rebuild White Sox

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Just a year ago, Dick Allen was baseball's bad man. No team, it seemed, was willing to put up with his idiosyncracies for very long.

The Chicago White Sox took their turn with the temperamental slugger last season, acquiring him from the Los Angeles Dodgers in exchange for pitcher Tommy John. Now the White Sox are not only willing to put up with Allen, they're paying him more money than any player in the history of the major leagues.

Allen, who changed the White Sox from an also-ran into a solid pennant contender, signed a three-year contract Tuesday for $675,000.

The previous top salary in baseball was negotiated by Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves, who is in the second of a three-year contract for $600,000.

Allen's remark on the contract was: "I can't count that high."

The White Sox' first baseman wasn't the only slugger signed to a six-figure pact Tuesday. Frank Robinson of the California Angels, acquired from the Dodgers in an off-season deal, signed a two-year contract for a reported $300,000.

"We have recognized what he has done in the past and what he can do in the future for us," said Angels General Manager Harry Dalton.

Allen, who will be 31 next month, broke into the majors with the Philadelphia Phillies in 1964. He was traded to the St. Louis Cardinals where he played one year before being traded to the Dodgers for another one-year stint.

When he learned about his trade to the White Sox, Allen reportedly was reluctant to sign. He finally came to terms for $130,000 and turned out to be a bargain.

He led the American League with 37 home runs and 118 runs batted in and his .308 average was only 10 points shy of batting champion Rod Carew of the Minnesota Twins. He was voted the American League's Most Valuable Player and proved to be a boon for the White Sox gate.

"I'm excited about this ball club after the way we played last season," said Allen.

"There's no doubt in my mind that we can win the pennant," Slugger Rusty Staub agreed to a three-year, $330,000 deal with the New York Mets—but General Manager Bob Scheffing said a fringe benefit clause was holding up the contract signing.

Cincinnati Reds' catcher Johnny Bench, who underwent surgery for a benign lesion in his right lung during the offseason, said he could not foresee any problems with his throwing arm.

MEN VS. WOMEN Semi-Mixed Tour Considered

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Now, let's see. Over here, Jack Nicklaus leads Lee Trevino by one and Arnie's well back. Over there, Carol Mann and Kathy Whitworth are tied with Mickey Wright well back. But Arnold Palmer and Mickey Wright are leading in the team competition.

Confusing? Maybe.

But it could happen next year if a unique format now being considered reaches fruition. The plan, now in the talking, planning stage, calls for separate but simultaneous men's and women's pro golf tournaments on adjacent courses and a concurrent mixed team event with a total purse possibly in excess of one-half million dollars.

"We're in phase two," said

John Montgomery, father of the mixed-format tournament and an independent tournament director who runs such rich pro golf tour events as the Jackie Gleason Classic, Doral-Eastern and the Florida Citrus.

"The first phase was the ladies' pro-am at the Gleason. We wanted to see what kind of response it would get. Their response was absolutely outstanding. The ladies were very popular. Some people I know, guys who play in pro-ams all over the country, said they'd rather play with the girls than the men."

Some 12,250 people turned out to watch the pro-am tournament featuring ladies PGA stars and celebrity amateur partners on the Tuesday preceding last week's Jackie Gleason Inverrary National Airlines Classic, a men's event with a total purse of $260,000.

It was that response that prompted Montgomery to propose that the Gleason next year consist of:

A 72-hole men's event on the east course at Inverrary—the present site of the tournament—with a purse of $260,000 or more—probably more, and a 72-hole women's event on the shorter west course at Inverrary with a purse of $75,000, and a team competition with paper pairings of one man and one woman with a purse of $100,000.

That's a starting point.

"I think I could get the total purse over $500,000 without any trouble at all," Montgomery said.

Knicks Did Everything Well As Celtics Tumbled, 123-91

NEW YORK (AP) — "Name anything you want to name about the game of basketball—they did it well," said Boston captain John Havlicek shortly after his Celtics were drubbed by the New York Knicks 123-91 Tuesday night.

The Knicks were at the top of their game, constantly pressuring the Celtics on defense and hitting their outside shots on offense. They broke the contest open by scoring 18 straight points during the first half, then put it away with a 44-point fourth quarter.

By winning, New York took Boston's lead in the National Basketball Association's Atlantic Division race to three games.

"We played good, aggressive defense," declared the Knicks' Dave DeBusschere, who scored eight of those 18 points as New York jumped in front 40-19.

"They had a real frustrating evening," DeBusschere said. "They tried to fast break—and we were back on defense to stop 'em. Bill Bradley did a great job stopping Havlicek, one of Bill's better games."

Havlicek, who's playing despite a painful inflammation in his right knee, sank just four of 21 field goal attempts and was limited to 11 points by Bradley's constant hounding and the Knicks' alert team defense.

Boston Coach Tommy Heinsohn put it succinctly: "They just beat us, that's all."

In other NBA games, Detroit defeated Golden State 114-100, Houston beat Buffalo 112-105, Baltimore edged Cleveland 99-95, Atlanta squeezed by Seattle 131-130, Chicago beat Portland 125-110 and Kansas City-Omaha upended Los Angeles 107-103.

In the night's only American Basketball Association clash, Utah beat Kentucky 103-97.

The Knicks had a balanced scoring attack, with Frazier and Phil Jackson being the top men with 20 apiece. Jackson scored 15 of his points in the final period, when both coaches emptied their benches. Bradley tallied 17, DeBusschere 16, Jerry Lucas 15, Earl Monroe 13 and Dean Meminger 10.

For Boston, Don Chaney was high man with 18 points. Dave Cowens added 15 points and hauled down a game-high 17 rebounds.

It was New York's third consecutive victory over Boston and fourth triumph in six meetings this season. Do the Knicks think they can catch the Celtics?

"They've got a lot of games to lose yet in order to make this game worthwhile," observed Lucas, noting that Boston still holds a five-game lead in the loss column.

"I'd rather we didn't beat them so badly," said Frazier. "They'll be all psyched up next time."

Handballers Eye National Tourney

AUSTIN — Two Big Spring players, Tito Arcibia and Lt. Ron Risenberg of Wcb AFB, will be competing in the National Handball Tournament at the University of Texas this week and the next.

Risenberg's first match will be Saturday, while Arcibia won't play until Sunday or Monday. Action runs through next Sunday's finals.

Sudden Death Idea Has Chance In NFL

DALLAS (AP) — Tex Schramm, long an advocate of sudden death dramatics to decide tied National Football League games, believes the rule has a good chance of approval by owners at the spring meeting in Scottsdale, Ariz.

"We've got a better chance than we had last year and it came fairly close to passing," said Schramm, the general manager of the Dallas Cowboys and chairman of the NFL competition committee.

Schramm said, "There is an attitude in the league that we do have to have progress."

It takes 20 affirmative votes for a rule change and Schramm said that although the measure failed last year "I've felt somewhat of a switch in feelings of some. I feel we have a realistic chance of getting it."

Schramm said "The best odds for a rule change would be sudden death as it now stands in post-season games a coin toss with the first team scoring the winner."

He said other suggestions include both teams getting possession of the football and a specific length of time for the sudden death.

"With the latter suggestions it's more overtime than sudden death," Schramm said. "And you get into complications when you try to decide whether a team had the ball or an opportunity to have the ball—for example a muffed punt or an onside kick."

"Pure sudden death will have the best chance."

He said, "There's still a segment in the league feels strongly about the two-point conversion. I don't know whether sentiment has changed on that. I feel that it wouldn't be necessary to do both. My personal preference is sudden death."

There were six NFL games ending in ties last season—four in the National Conference and two in the American Conference.

Schramm said, "I think professional football has to continually re-examine itself so its game keeps up with the times. The biggest mistake you can make is to say we have a good game and let's not tamper with it. Last year we moved the hash marks and it apparently increased the offense."

Sands Storms Into Regionals

LEVELLAND — Sands Mustangs overcame the early jitters here Tuesday night and whipped Meadow 65-59 for Class B bi-district honors and a spot in this weekend's regional tournament.

Frosty Floyd, the Ponies' outstanding freshman, scored 24 points and grabbed 16 rebounds to pace Bob Davis' team to its 25th victory against six losses. The Mustangs will be among eight teams competing for the Region 1-B title this weekend in Levelland, and face Hedley at 8:30 p.m. Friday in the first game.

Both teams were cold in the first period, and neither team was able to mark until Meadow hit a basket almost four minutes into the contest. Meadow led at the end of the quarter 12-9 before the Ponies were able to get their game together, and Sands held a 29-26 advantage at the intermission.

Danny Coldiron, who ran into foul trouble early and played only a little over a quarter, did most of his damage in the third period as Sands ran to a 50-43 edge. Coldiron, a 6-4 junior, blocked seven shots and scored 10 points.

Meadow cut the Sands advantage to three points with less than two minutes to play, but Floyd hit a pair of free throws in the final minute to help pad the score.

Helping Floyd and Coldiron in the scoring column were David Barnes with 12 points and Ricky Hughes with eight. Davis also had praise for Hughes' ball-handling as he helped crack Meadow's game-long full court press.

For Meadow, Rodriguez was high with 19 points and White hit 14.

SANDS (65) — Ricky Hughes 2-4; Kenneth Schuelke 1-0-2; Randy Cheatham 5-6-5; Danny Coldiron 5-4-10; Frosty Floyd 9-4-24; Bob Davis 5-2-12; David Zaitz 1-1-2; Totals 26-13-65.

MEADOW (59) — Meador 4-4-8; Wright 4-9-8; White 5-4-14; Rodriguez 6-7-19; Lloyd 2-4-4; Wintford 1-2-4; Duncan 1-0-2; Totals 22-15-59.

Longview Pinetree and Rockport-Fulton clash in the other AAA semifinal game. Finals are set for 2:05 p.m. Saturday.

Lamesa, 28-3 on the year, earned the state berth by topping previously unbeaten Levelland 41-35 in regional meet finals, avenging a pair of earlier losses to the Lobos. The Dist. 3-AAA champs brushed aside Burk Burnett 75-57 in the opener.

Here are the pairings for the first part of the Boy's state basketball playoffs this Friday and Saturday in Austin:

Typical SWC Thriller Wins Crown For Tech

BY The Associated Press

All hail Texas Tech—kings of the Southwest Conference basketball race and masters of the cliffhanger.

The Red Raiders, thanks to ball-thieving guard Richard Little, clinched the title 64-63 Tuesday night over Arkansas in Fayetteville.

The one-point victory was so typical of the Tech season in which the Red Raiders captured three games in overtime.

"I really feel drained right now, but I'm happy," said Tech Coach Gerald Myers, who was dumped along with assistant George Davidson in the shower after the game.

Little, who made four second half layups after stripping the ball from unwary Razorbacks, said, "We take them all down to the wire like this it seems."

Little did a superb job of holding the SWC's leading scorer, Martin Terry, in check.

Terry, who scored 24 points, said "Rich Little is the best defensive player I've faced since I've been here at Arkansas."

Davidson said, "Little did as fine a defensive job on Terry in the second half as is humanly possible."

Arkansas Coach Lanny Van Eman said, "I'm not sure that we ever did enough to stop him (Little). He was a crucial factor in tonight's outcome."

Van Eman said of Tech, "I don't think I've seen a team this year that has their patience in moving the ball to find a shot. I think Tech feels very fortunate to get out of here alive, and I also think that they'll represent the Southwest Conference in the NCAA playoffs as well as any team could. Tech had a lot of heart right through to the end."

Tech, now 11-2, has a fat three-game lead with only Saturday afternoon's game in Lubbock against Baylor on the schedule.

The Red Raiders play in the first-round NCAA Midwest Regional game at Wichita State University March 10.

In other SWC action, Baylor shaved Rice 72-71, Texas A&M drummed Southern Methodist 78-75 and Texas crushed Texas Christian 89-69.

Tech reeled off 10 straight points in the second half as Little ran wild but Arkansas still had a chance to save the game. Trailing 64-62, Dean Tolson went to the free throw line with 33 seconds to play on a one-and-one situation. He made the first free throw but missed the second. Jody Bass got the rebound and missed.

The Red Raiders grabbed the ball and that was the game. Little finished with 18 points.

Arkansas, Baylor and Texas A&M were tied for second place with 8-5 records after Tuesday night's action.

Jerry Ahart scored 26 points, including a clutch basket in the final minute to pace Baylor over Rice. It was the final home game for Baylor Coach Bill Menefee, who retires at the end of the current season.

Senior Mario Brown scored 24 points as the Aggies outlasted SMU. Brown's last field goal with 2:03 left put A&M ahead to stay 75-74. SMU is now 7-6 in SWC play.

YEAR AFTER HEARING OF 'PROBLEM' Recalling Sugar Solution

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Food and Drug Administration official is recalling thousands of bottles of a sugar solution that, an authority on its use says, is linked to several patient deaths and injuries.

Campaign Begins To Save Site

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP) — A campaign to raise $8 million to save one of the world's rarest archeological sites is taking place in Rawalpindi this weekend.

The site—the town of Mohenjodaro, which thrived on the banks of the Indus River 40 centuries ago—now faces extinction just as its people did, and possibly for the same reason.

One theory for the town's death was that it was caused by flood waters from the Indus.

Now the river's rising water table threatens to drown the ruins, which are also slowly being eaten away by salt in the local soil.

U. N. experts believe the ruins could crumble within 20-30 years if not protective measures are taken.

Pakistanis who claim they cannot afford to raise the money needed to save the ruins, say Mohenjodaro deserves the same treatment and world concern as Egypt's Abu Simbel, where an international effort saved the giant statues from being drowned by the waters of the Aswan Dam.

Medical experts say the 7-per-cent dextrose solution, when improperly administered in peritoneal dialysis, can lead to rapid dehydration, shock, coma, convulsions and death.

Peritoneal dialysis involves discharging the sugar solution into a patient's abdominal cavity and then draining it, to remove wastes when his kidneys fail to do the job.

11,000 BOTTLES

The recall limited largely to hospitals, involves existing stocks of the 7-per-cent solution manufactured by Abbott, Traveler, McGaw and Cutter laboratories.

The FDA said it believes about 11,000 bottles remain in national and international markets, plus another 17,000 frozen at Cutter outlets in the United States, Canada and the Dominican Republic.

The recall amounts to a virtual ban because "there is no justification for approving continued marketing," the FDA said.

Most companies stopped manufacturing the 7-per-cent solution, the agency said, after an informal meeting in Chicago early last year of FDA and industry representatives and physicians concerned with kidney and peritoneal dialysis.

ate professor at the University of Washington School of Medicine in Seattle, said there have been "a number of reports of deaths clearly related to inappropriate administration of these solutions."

Dr. Tenckhoff ranks as a leading U.S. authority on peritoneal dialysis.

Dr. Henry Tenckhoff, associate professor at the University of Washington School of Medicine in Seattle, said there have been "a number of reports of deaths clearly related to inappropriate administration of these solutions."

Plane Tragedy Investigation

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. aviation agency debates today whether to condemn Israel for shooting down a Libyan airliner and at the same time launches a fact-finding investigation into the Sinai Desert tragedy last week.

Egypt, Yugoslavia and 18 African or Asian countries demanded both condemnation of the Jewish state and an immediate investigation in a resolution submitted late Tuesday to an assembly of the International Civil Aviation Organization.

The session Tuesday of the 125-nation body showed that an investigation was agreeable to all. Israel itself approved, asking for an impartial, "calm and sober" probe into why its jet pilots fired on the airliner over the territory east of the Suez Canal that it has occupied since 1967.

American and some other Western delegates sought to temper the condemnation part of the resolution in the interests of cooling Middle East tension. They hoped for a compromise resolution deploring the loss of 106 lives in the tragedy and urging efforts to avert such incidents in the future.

However, countries critical of Israel hold a commanding ma-

Airport Garbage Becomes Sexier

DETROIT (AP) — Tightened security precautions at Detroit Metropolitan Airport seem to be making the airport's garbage sexier.

Authorities say indulging passengers are apparently discarding their pornography rather than face the inquisitive glances of antiskidjack officials. "I suppose people don't want the security guards to discover they have dirty books or magazines," an airport spokesman said.

The Federal Aviation Administration would have no reason to detain anyone carrying pornography, a spokesman said. "We're looking for weapons or other law violations," he said. "Pornography is petty stuff."

Subpoenas For Newsmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eleven reporters and officials of The Washington Post, The Washington Star-News, The New York Times and Time magazine have been subpoenaed for testimony and notes by Republican attorneys in three civil suits stemming from the break-in and bugging of Democratic national headquarters.

The suits grew out of the indictment of seven men who were charged with conspiracy, burglary and illegal wiretapping in connection with the break-in June 17, 1972, at the Democratic offices in the Watergate complex. Five of the seven pleaded guilty; the other two were convicted.

Former Democratic party chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien seeks $3.2 million in damages from two of the defendants and from Maurice H. Stans, former secretary of commerce and the finance chairman of the Committee for the Re-Election of the President. Stans has filed a $5 million countersuit accusing O'Brien of libel, and a $2.5-million suit alleging willful and malicious abuse of power.

The subpoenas were issued for Katherine Graham, publisher of the Post; its managing editor, Howard Simons, and Post reporters Carl Bernstein and Bob Woodward and former reporter Jim Mann.

Also subpoenaed were reporters Jeremiah O'Leary, James R. Polk, Patrick Collins and Joseph Volz of the Star-News; John Crewdson of The New York Times, and Dean Fischer of Time.

East promoted a vital trick for his side in defending against South's four spade contract by inducing his opponent to take a false step before the latter had time to marshal his own forces.

West opened the deuce of hearts and the ace was played from dummy. Trumps were drawn in three rounds ending up in the closed hand and South led the queen of clubs for a finesse. East won the trick with the king and paused to consider his course before making a return.

It was rather apparent from the play to the first trick that West had three hearts and South a singleton. Therefore, except for the king of clubs, the defense must rely on the diamond suit for any further tricks.

The only chance to set the contract then was to find the declarer with three diamonds. East can cash two tricks with the ace and king and it appears, therefore, that he must find his partner with the queen, or else the contest is over.

East observed an additional prospect which hinged on his partner's having the jack of diamonds. By putting South to an immediate guess in the suit, the latter might be induced to make the wrong play—if the high cards were not yet clearly located for him.

At trick four, East returned the deuce of diamonds, South had no apparent reason for placing his opponent with both of the top honors and he put in the nine of diamonds from his hand, playing East to have led away from a holding headed by either the ace-jack or king-jack.

West won the trick with the jack of diamonds and on the return East cashed out to set declarer down by one. Had South been left entirely to his own devices, he would have routinely taken ten tricks by merely discarding one of his diamonds on North's long club.

Ex-Big Springer Given Plaque At Eagle Pass

Ed Fisher, a native of Big Spring who now is a professor of economics at Angelo State University, has been honored with the presentation of a plaque by the Eagle Pass Chamber of Commerce.

Fisher, who received the award in absentia, was praised for his contribution to the economy of the Eagle Pass community at the annual Eagle Pass Chamber banquet Feb. 22.

Fisher, son of a pioneer Big Spring merchant, Albert M. Fisher, was unable to receive the award in person due to his teaching duties at Angelo State.

The presentation stated, "In appreciation for your contribution to the economy of Eagle Pass, Texas."

Fisher has been personally interested in the over-all development of the border area, and in Eagle Pass in particular, having made many trips at his own initiative to visit and study this booming border area.

He also has written an in-depth study on the feasibility of the manufacture of evaporative coolers, which assisted in the search for new industries to alleviate the high percentage of unemployment in the area.

In the past three years the unemployment has dropped from 14.3 per cent to 11.1 per cent and over 30 new businesses have been started or expanded in the area.

Several new plant locations have resulted in the combined effort of the Maverick County Development Corporation and interested people such as Fisher.

Attending the function were guests from Mexico City, officials of Piedras Negras, Coahuila, Zacatecas, Chicago, Milwaukee and Paramus, N.J. The Fort Duncan Club banquet hall was filled to overflowing by a record attendance of local citizens and guests.
