> SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. delegation announced tonight North Vietnam has informed it that 106 American prisoners will be released in Hanoi on Sunday, but that the Viet Cong apparently have threatened to withhold release of 30 U.S. POWs captured in South Vietnam in a dispute over exchange of Vietnamese prisoners.

> A statement from the U.S. delegation to the four-party Joint Military Commission said the Viet Cong notified the U.S. side that the 30 American prisoners previously listed would be released also in Hanoi but refused to give the date of release. A spokesman said this means the Viet Cong were

> The U.S. delegation said arrangments for the release of 106 Americans and two Thais held by the North Vietnamese "will go forward."

> The Viet Cong had actually handed me United States a list of 34 prisoners captured in South Vietnam, including two Filipinos and two Germans. The U.S. statement was issued shortly after the second of two meetings today by the four-party Joint Military Commission's subcommission on prisoners. Spokesmen for both sides reported no > progress in resolving the dispute. Another meeting is scheduled for Saturday, the U.S. spokesman said.

Earlier, the Viet Cong delegation had announced to newsmen that it would release the 34 persons captured in South Vietnam on Sunday at Hanoi's Gia Lam airport at the same time North Vietnam released its 108 prisoners.

Later a Communist spokesman said an impasse had developed over Vietnamese prisoner exchanges and threatened to block release of the 30

POINT OF VIEW The spokesman indicated the dispute between the Saigon government and the Viet Cong would not affect the release of 106 American servicemen and two Thais by North Vietnam.

"From the point of view of the Provisional Revolutionary Government, the release of POWs is blocked by this issue," the spokesman said. He said this includes American and other foreign prisoners of the Viet Cong as well as Vietnamese. He added that efforts were being made to resolve the dispute,

U.S. spokesmen were not immediately available for comment.

A dispute over the exchange of Vietnamese prisoners delayed the release of the first American POWs handed over by the Viet Cong on Feb. 12. Then the delay lasted 12 hours, and the men were delivered at dusk instead of early in the morning. Earlier today, Bui Tun, the chief spokesman for the North Vietnamese delegation, said the transfer of POWs in Hanoi would begin Sunday at 11 a.m., Saigon time, or 10 p.m. EST Saturday.

The Communist delegations in Saigon delivered to U.S. representatives the names of those to be freed. The names were flashed to Washington for notification of the families. Some had waited nearly

Guerrillas Demand Freedom For Sirhan

The Middle East News Agency said today the Sudanese government has agreed to provide a plane to fly Arab guerrillas and their hostages to the United States from Khartoum.

The Egyptian agency said in its dispatch from Khartoum that the guerrillas, holding the U.S. ambassador and four other diplomats, also demanded that two members of Sudan's Cabinet go with them on the flight to the United States. This was refused, the agency reported.

The dispatch was filed about an hour after the deadline set by the guerrillas, members of the Palestinian Black September organization, for the execution of their hostages if their

New Runway Is Planned

LAMESA - Dawson County Commissioners approved help in financing improvements Lamesa's Airport facility.

The request, submitted Bob Brown, president of the airport board, asked county approval of a $140,282 improvement project at the airport and funding of $10,070.50 of the total construction cost.

The improvement project will include the construction of a new runway, just west of the existing runway, in order to alleviate "a dangerous situation" by turning the old runway into a taxi-way for airplanes.

Study on the project has been in progress by local, state and federal agencies. The county's cost will be matched by the City of Lamesa honored at a surprise birthday coffee Sunday in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Helen Dawson, 605 Colgate. Friends and relatives are invited to call between 3 and 5 p.m. Mrs. Huling will be 90 years old Wednesday.

It is estimated that $70,141 will be paid by the Federal Aviation Agency and $50,000 by the Texas Aviation Commission.

Mrs. Huling, the former Nan Nolen, was born March 7, 1883 in Sweden and moved with her family to Sioux City, Iowa when she was two years old. She was reared in that city and, in August, 1904, she married C. Floyd Huling. He died in 1931. Mrs. Huling moved to Big Spring in 1957, and now resides with Mrs. Daw-

In addition to her daughter, the honoree has two sons, Robert M. Huling, Los Angeles, Calif.; and Alexander K. Huling, Louisville, Ky. There are 11 grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

The refreshment table at Sunday's event will be covered with a white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of assorted mums in spring colors. Mrs. Huling will receive an orchid corsage. Mrs. Huling is a member of the Federated Study Club of Stanton and attends St. Mary's Episcopal Church, She still plays bridge and enjoys traveling around town. She is an avid reader, but dislikes television. In the past, she has done a lot of sewing and handwork.

Cohostesses for the coffee will be Mrs. Rendal Hamby of Frederick, Okla.; and Miss Catherine Dawson, a student at the University of Texas Austin, both granddaughters of the honoree; Mrs. Jerry Mancill and

Disturbingly Familiar

The almost universal impact of drug abuse among the nation's school children and young people is impressed on us more emphatically than ever by the results of a survey in Alaska. That state's geographical isolation from the rest of the country might have been thought to safeguard Alaska's youngsters. On the contrary, the findings show that in this respect it is "well within the mainstream of American society."

That phrase from a report in the Journal of the American Medical Association further underscores the widespread nature of this problem. It is a bitter thing to have to admit, but the data support it: Misuse of all sorts of drugs by junior and senior high school students, and even some younger children, has indeed become a "mainstream" aspect of American society.

The questionnaires in the Alaska survey were similar to those employed earlier in Dallas and San Mateo, Calif. It was found that slightly more than 26 per cent of students in grades 6 through 12 said they had used other drugs than alcohol and tobacco, and most of those also had used both alcohol and tobacco. Only 26.6 per cent said they did not use drugs of any kind. The substance used ranged from such "sniffing" drugs as paint thinner, glue and nail polish remover to marijuana and a wide variety of ingested drugs: Diet or pep pills, amphetamines, and so on.

The most disheartening thing about this is not that it is unusual, but that the pattern among school children in Alaska is so depressingly similar to the pattern elsewhere. An AMA Journal commentary by Dr. Robert Straus of the University of Kentucky College of Medicine notes that the findings "show how pervasive the use of chemicals has become, how many different kinds of drugs are involved and how the use of drugs has progressively involved younger and young age groups." The harrowing familiarity of this is the worst aspect of it.

Not Ample Reasons

There will be few that will argue that we have treated our American natives fairly, at least by today's standards. They were driven out of their homeland in a time when this was the accepted principle. In few instances were they compensated anything like adequately for their have legitimate grievances. But this does not give them a right to sieze property and to kidnap and hold hostage other individuals. If we are to have government by law, the law must be respected. Neither wealth or power, nor are poverty and abuse ample reason to take the law into one's own hands.

Walking On Eggshells

By Rowland Evans And Robert Novak

WASHINGTON - Despite rising hostility in Congress to U.S. aid for reconstruction of North Vietnam, President Nixon is moving toward a most unpopular decision; asking Congress for direct U.S. aid money, not funnelled through the World Bank or any other multi-lateral source.

THAT BOLD, but still tentative, decision shows just how confident Mr. Nixon is that, when the issue is sharply drawn, enough liberals maybe even Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, the defeated 1972 Democratic presidential nominee will have to go along.

Hard-line anti-foreign aid conservatives, such as Senate Democratic whip Robert Byrd of West Virginia, seem unalterably opposed to aiding Hanoi in any shape or form. Some liberals, such as Sen. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, are just as unalterably opposed unless the aid is multilateral. But the President is hoping that McGovern and other super-doves, now opposed to direct aid, ultimately will support it rather than risk collapse of the fragile peace

THE STRONG inclination of State Department and White House officials to push direct aid is based on longrange political factors, which can be summed up in this question:

Why should the U.S. spend up to $1.5 billion over five years to help reconstruct Hanoi and other wardamaged parts of North Vietnam without reaping political and economic benefits?

IF ALL aid were funnelled through the Asian Bank or some new international consortium, the U.S. hand would be hidden. But with most U.S. aid bearing a prominent Made-in-America sign, Washington could gradually build real political influence

Demise Of OEO

That is surely also the explanation for Hanoi's demand, which first publicly surfaced this week, that American aid be "direct." Hanoi, too, looks on aid not just as bricks and mortar and machinery, but as opening up a political option in Washington for possible future use. Rep. Otto Passman of Louisiana, chairman of the Hous Appropriations subcommittee handling Hanoi aid, would much prefer 40-year, no-interest loans for Hanoi. But he did not rule out direct grants, if no third countries were involved.

Sen. McGovern today hedges on aid for North Vietnam. He recently said he would vote for aid money only if it was not direct. Other liberals, angry at the President's impoundment of social-welfare funds and his budget ceiling, are similarly threatening to block any direct aid request by Mr. The screams from congressional liberals that greeted the first reports of U.S. aid for Hanoi surprised the White House, deeply worrying top officials, who know that Hanoi feels it was given a hard commitment in Paris for direct reconstruction aid. Every indication that Congress might actually refuse to vote what Hanoi ficial worry. In short, once the Hanoi politburo suspects Mr. Nixon cannot or will not deliver on that kay element in the agreement ending the war, the Communists might wreck the whole agreement.

WASHINGTON - Mark Twain once said that his mother was so kindhearted she always warmed the water wher, she had to drown a litter of unwanted kittens. At the Office of Economic Opportunity the drowning of an unwanted agency is being done with singular brutality and, what seems to those caught up in the process, total disregard for human

THE HIGHLY articulate acting director of OEO, Howard Jay Phillips, named by the President to be chief executioner, is recruiting hatchet men out of Young Americans for Freedom, the conservative student organization of which, while at Harvard, he was a founder. Help in the recruiting drive has come from the offices of Conservative Sen. James Buckley of New York and Texas Sen. John Tower.

The new recruits know little about the operation of OEO and care less. The result, in the view of those who over the years have been dedicated to the objectives of the agency, is organized chaos. That may be the game plan.

PHILLIPS' MEN are being sent out to take over the regional offices of OEO. Within the agency, among those who are about to be liquidated, they are known as the commissars.

The point made by those who believe Phillips' storm technique is needlessly wasteful and damaging is not that OEO should necessarily survive as it is. But it could be done in an orderly and clean-cut way.

THE CONCERN is not over OEO's bureaucrats. They can probably take care of themselves. A bureaucrat is always fair game. The concern is for the 189,000 working directly on poverty programs at minimal salaries. These men and women know at firsthand the problems of those living below the poverty line. Dispersing them, even though they might be taken on by another agency, will contribute to the chaos. As evidence of the high velocity of the operation, the former director, Phillip V. Sanchez, was told half an hour after Phillips walked in as acting director to be cleared out with his secretary by morning. Since Sanchez was the highest-ranking Chicano in the Administration, and since the Chicanos gave President Nixon a better shake in the vote than ever before, this rough exit caused a certain embarrassment.

ONE COMPENSATION reported under study is to name him Ambassador to Panama. A career officer, Robert M. Sayre, holds that post, although he had been slated to be moved out in favor of a political appointee, Ohio Congressman Frank T. Bow. Bow died after he had been confirmed by the Senate. As Panama is perhaps the most sensitive post in Latin America the uncertainty over the ambassadorship is causing acute unhappiness in the State Department.

OEO UNDOUBTEDLY suffered from a variety of faults. In some areas it was badly administered and subject to corruption. But the services it performed of unquestioned value to millions of the poor are lost sight of in the uproar over its demise.

Nuclear Power

Garth Jones

By PAUL RECER (Substituting For Garth Jones

AUSTIN Tex. (AP) - Nuclear power stations can operate safely if they are designed with care and monitored with vigilance, but they can never be completely free of risks, a group of experts said at a conference here Thursday.

A shortage of oil and natural gas and environmental restrictions on the use of coal are forcing utility companies to build nuclear-fired power plants, the speakers said, and atomic energy will supply up to 60 per cent of the nation's power requirements by the year 2000.

CAN SUCH plants - powered by the same energy which gives boom to the atomic bomb — be considered

"Yes," said Ms. Dixy Lee Ray, chairperson of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, the agency charged with licensing nuclear plants.

"There is no such thing as 100 per cent no-risk anything," said Ms. Ray, one of five speakers to talk about atomic power plant safety and regulation at a conference here on the implications of nuclear power in

"In everything that human beings construct and use there are risks,' nuclear energy is a safe industry if built and operated properly."

OTHER SPEAKERS explained that these risks include the potential for a runaway atomic reactor; leaking radiation, and the hazardous chore of managing atomic wastes.

Dr. Herbert S. Isbin, a University of Minnesota professor and an expert on atomic plant safety, said atomic power plants create "concerns which must be recognized" no matter how seemingly remote.

"There is never a complete elimination of risks in our technology, said Isbin, but he concluded that because of designed safeguards 'Nuclear power reactors are safe."

The heart of an atomic power plant is the uranium fuel core where the fission of atoms throws off an immense amount of heat. This reaction the same as in the atomic bomb, is controlled by rods which absorb radiation and dampen the speed of RADIATION from the core, said Isbin, is contained by three enclosures, one inside the other, and each composed of several feet of concrete or several inches of steel. The core, at the center of the three enclosures is kept cool by a constant flow of either water or gas. Should the primary system fail, said Isbin, an emergency core cooling system is activated. This floods the second of the three containment vessels with

Other design safeguards, he said, include triple redundancy in the power supply controlling the cooling system; extremely high standards for construction and testing of water and steam lines and a continuous monitoring of the system by plant

Isbin said public concern also forms a safeguard.

"The system of licensing nuclear plants is sensitive to public comment,' he said, and as a result "More conservative restrictions" are imposed in the licensing process.

Dr Frank K. Pittman, an AEC executive in charge of atomic waste management, said managing nuclear power plant radioactive wastes will become a major activity as more and more atomic plants are built

EACH YEAR, he said, a quarter to one-half of the fuel core in each power plant will have to be removed as waste. This waste is highl radioactive and extremely hazardous. Some elements in the wastes he said, will have a dangerous radiation halflife of up to 250,000 years.

The wastes, he said, must be kept cool or they will melt the vessel containing them.

Pittman said that most nuclear plant power cores are tubes one foot in diameter and 10 feet long. He said the United States is expected to accumulate 80,000 of these - each containing the hazardous wastes - by

Shellfish Loot

SEATTLE (AP) - The remains of shellfish, which have long presented the seafood industry with a waste product disposal problem, are being salvaged to produce a commercial product for a variety of industries.

A small pilot plant operated near here by Food, Chemical and Research Laboratories turns out the celluloselike substance called chitin and offers it to researchers who have found possibilities in it for use in paper, medicine, baby food, textile, paint, fabric, food, adhesive, film and other industries.

Backed by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, the new process will go a long way, hopefully, toward providing an alternative to dumpng the remains of lobsters, shrimp and crabs in the ocean and thus causing pollution.

Jack Cowan

It's blasphemy, that's what it is. A guy knocks himself out trying to keep sports pure and clean around here, fighting the good fight with volleyball mothers and teenage baseball fathers, and then this sort of thing comes along. It's terrible . . . it's criminal . . . it's, it's rugby - that's

The guy who brought rugby, that wierdo limey game, into the United States must have been some sort of radical sociallist pinko. He probably couldn't get a job in the Cold War so he decided to disrupt the U.S. internally single-handed. First he hit the New England states, then the Whole East Coast, and now it's spreading across the nation like a herd of hungry locusts.

The foreign "sport" hit Texas a short while back, but it was only in the more remote areas. When it reached Odessa Saturday, it reached civilization, and it was all over but the shouting. Next thing you know they'll be playing crickets and squish. It's just like they say, if you don't stop them somewhere, they'll end up on your doorstep. Wait

The University of Texas of the Permian Basin lost a 24-20 decision to the Alpine Rugby Club Saturday in UTPB's first sporting event. Naturally, some plants stood around in the crowd saying words like scrum, front-row prop, hooker, in-goal, etc. just to get the people used to the "sport." That's the way they do those things, you know.

Folks, we've got to stop them now, before they get too strong. If we don't, it won't be long before we're watching two teams of, ugh, ruggers scrumming and mauling and hooking in the Super Bowl. Who would have thunk it . .

Speaking of wierd sports, my fly-guy neighbor who is rapidly becoming some sort of evil pain, has been giving me several quizzes on why The Herald hasn't been running hockey results. He asked me if I'd run them if he got a petition with 100 names on it. So, nice guy that I am, I told him Roger, over and out. Hockey, huh . . .

The Pizza Hut Basketball Classic. You'd expect to hear names like Cecil Anchove and Pete Pepperoni playing for a 16-inch prize, to be administered with a foamy brew at the end of the event. Not so. It's an East-West all-star game set April 14, and players are voted on by customers at you guessed it. Currently, Southern Methodist's Ruben Triplett is leading such stars as Rich Fugua of Oral Roberts University and James Lister of Sam Houston in the West, while Dwight Lamar, of Southwest Louisiana, is leading as expected in the East. Opening lead: Ace of \Diamond Failure to provide against adverse distribution in the opponents' suit cost South a vulnerable game contract.

West's jump overcall of three diamonds is based on a good suit and the reasonable expectation of being able to win six or seven tricks in his own hand, inasmuch as the bidder should be able to limit his loss to 500 points if he is doubled.

When North passed three diamonds, South was reluctant to merely rebid three hearts, which would not be forcing. Since he held 13 high card points and a good suit facing an opening bid, he took the bull by the horns and proceeded to game with-

West opened the ace of diamonds and continued with the queen. Declarer covered with dummy's king, and East ruffed with the five of hearts. The latter switched to a small spade and South finessed the queen, which lost to West's king. The eight of spades was returned and declarer was in with the long-time enemy tribes.

Trumps were drawn in two rounds and then a club was led and dummy's jack was finessed. When East turned up with the king, South's contract went on the Finding both black kings offside and encountering a seven-one division in diamonds was admittedly unfortunate; however, declarer could have taken measures to protect himself against such extreme adversity.

If he permits West to hold the second trick with the queen of diamonds, East is unable to obtain the lead in time to make the fatal spade shift. If West continues with a third diamond, South can overruff East, draw trump, and then take the club finesse with the assurance that even if it loses, North's suit will provide the necessary discard to dispose of the queen of spades. His losses are restricted to two diamonds and one club.

Withholding the king of diamonds sacrifices a potential overtrick, but it provides declarer with control over the subsequent play and keeps the danger hand out of the lead. South should have paid greater heed to West's three diamond bid. The possibility of a seven card suit was by no means remote.
