Community Hit By Tornadic Winds

By JOHN EDWARDS

A tornado funnel was sighted at 8:30 a.m. today about the same time strong winds turned over two mobile homes, pushed another off its supports and ripped off part of the roof to the American Legion and knocked down a large stained glass window in a church.

Mrs. Thomas Cooper, 25, wife of an Air Force sergeant, and her son, Thad, 4, were in the mobile home behind the American Legion when wind turned it upside down.

Webb Air Force Base spokesman said the child was not injured, and the mother was released with minor injuries later this morning.

Cooper, a jet mechanic technician, said: "The wind came up real strong and the house trailer started to go over and she grabbed the child and tried to protect him."

Afterwards, his wife told him they caught a ride and called him from a friend's home nearby.

ROOF DAMAGED

Wind tore the roof of the American Legion women's auxiliary room and a storage room next door to the mobile home.

Mrs. Eddie McCormick told the sheriff's office she and her son were temporarily trapped inside of a mobile home blown off its bricks east of the KOA area.

A third trailer house two miles east of the Berkley Homes factory turned over but was unoccupied at the time, according to the sheriff's office.

Three storage buildings were blown over at Crestwood Trailer Park.

A group of about 75 children and adults were attending morning worship services at the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church when a "tremendous roar" was heard, the Rev. Louis Moeller said.

The large stained-glass window crashed down on the choir pews above the entrance way.

Those worshipping in the front of the sanctuary were not hurt.

"We kind of gathered around the altar and calmed the children down," Father Moeller said. They sang songs and had a "mass of thanksgiving."

Lighting fixtures were damaged and some shingles blown off.

A "puff of wind" tore up a horse shed, cattle shed and air conditioner at Dalton White's Dairy in the Silver Heels Addition.

"Then, we decided we better pick up wheels and leave," White said. They ran to a pickup, tried to start it and the high wind subsided after about 30 seconds.

At the right angle corner of Boykin Road lines but no poles were broken.

CARRIED TO FIELD

In the overnight mobile park at Comanche Trail Park, one trailer was pushed four feet and a tent blown away, Sheriff A. N. Standard said. His office sent three patrol cars out to follow up on the weather incident.

An air conditioner was blown loose from one roof, a fence blown down and a shed roof carried into a field by a residential section south of Comanche Trail Park.

Mrs. J. C. Eudy of the South U.S. 87 Grocery reported seeing a funnel cloud near Cosden Lake.

Sky in the northwest was black when a rush of wind and rain swept into Big Spring followed by sunshine minutes later.

Sheriff Standard said the wind came from the southwest and blew northeasterly.

On the north city limits, the Big Spring Experiment Station recorded a peak of 61 mile per hour winds at about 8:30 a.m. Later in the morning, wind speed averaged 35 miles per hour with gusts to 45 miles per hour.

High winds came to Big Spring as a part of a front from El Paso. Cloudcroft, N.M., got five inches of snow and Guadalupe Pass, Texas, measured one inch.

Westerly winds from 25 to 35 miles per hour with gusts of 50 miles per hour are forecast for West Texas today. And thundershowers were predicted.

Additional damage was reported in Snyder and Hermleigh. Wind turned over a truck on the Lamesa Highway near Lamesa.

Kidnaped Girl's Dad Says Prayers Helped

Train Smashup

HORTENSE, Ga. (AP) — An auto-passenger train headed for Florida with 325 passengers aboard collided with a lumber truck and derailed today. Authorities said the truck driver was killed and about 10 persons were injured.

A spokesman for the Seaboard Coast Line Railroad said 14 of the 30 auto-carrying cars in the train were derailed, along with one of its two diesel units, two diners, one kitchen dormitory where the dining crew slept and several passenger coaches and sleepers.

The spokesman said preliminary reports indicated one of the diesel units and one auto-carrying car caught fire.

Chisum Undergoes Heart Surgery

Police Chief Vance Chisum underwent surgery this morning at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Albuquerque, N.M., for two blocked arteries and a heart valve stoppage.

No word had been received at noon as to whether he was out of surgery. Asst. Chief Stanley Bogard, Sherrill Farmer, and James Campbell planned to fly with Clyde McMahon later today to check on Chisum's condition "if weather conditions cleared up in New Mexico."

WHO? ME?

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — Midland police have tracked down the "culprit" who is conducting a crime survey in this city.

It is the U.S. Census Bureau. The bureau has conducted the survey each six months for more than a decade, but police for the first time received complaints.

The complaints said the woman making the survey had identification from the Chamber of Commerce.

The identification was issued instead by the Department of Commerce, according to Mrs. Anita Windham, who has worked for the Census Bureau since 1960.

DALLAS (AP) — Leslie Janice Ward — young, brownhaired and free, was home today. Home. Home. Home.

"There was one goal in everybody's mind, and that was to get my daughter back alive," said Fletcher Ward, prominent Dallas businessman whose 14-year-old daughter had remained a hostage for 77 hours.

The young girl was found Sunday, bound and gagged, lying on a bed in a modest frame house on Dallas' south side. It was a starkly different environment from her family's posh North Dallas mansion.

Police also said they found a wooden coffin by the bed.

Just minutes before, Raymond C. Beckley, 45, was arrested on the street about two miles from where Leslie lay imprisoned.

He is jailed under $250,000 bond on extortion charges.

"Unless you've been involved in something like this, you don't realize the millions of prayers that have helped," Leslie's dad told newsmen. Ward said the girl was crying "but crying with happiness" when police took her home. "She just kept looking around her room."

The girl was, according to police, dragged from the street by a haggard-looking man Thursday morning while she walked to school.

High Winds

High wind warnings for this afternoon, winds expected westerly 30-40 miles per hour with gusts near 60 mph, diminishing tonight. Partly cloudy and mild Wednesday. High this afternoon and Wednesday in lows 60s with low tonight near 40.

Three Men In Stennis Case Jailed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three young men were held under $100,000 bond today, charged in the holdup-shooting of Sen. John C. Stennis last January.

The arrests of Tyrone Marshall, 19, John S. Marshall, 21, and Derrick Holloway, 18, all of Northeast Washington, were announced Monday night after one of the most intensive man-hunts in District of Columbia history. A 30-man team of police and FBI agents had questioned hundreds of persons.

The three men were charged with armed robbery and violating a 1971 law making it a federal crime to attack a member of Congress. They were scheduled for arraignment today before a U.S. magistrate.

Four Voting Boxes OKed

By MARJ CARPENTER
A lengthy discussion about how many voting boxes the school district needs followed a plea by north side citizens for a voting box again this year.

Gus Ochotorena, local justice of the peace, spoke for the group stating, "I really don't know why we had to come back this year. We were told last year that the reason for one central voting box was to save money and we offered to man our box free."

"Then the board told us that they would finance the box, and that if we had a large enough vote turnout that we could keep it. Well, we had over 500 votes, which was a third of the total vote, so I don't think there should have been any question as to the voting box being a success."

At this point, Roy Watkins, board chairman, said "I think you know that I believe we should have a lot of voting boxes." Dan Wilkins, who voted in the first discussion of polling places this year for keeping the north side box, said, "I think they have special transportation problems on the north side. They have also showed they really want one by offering to work the box and they have had a good turnout there. I think we should provide a voting box there."

Eddie Acri, city councilman, also representing the north side voters, reviewed the cost of last year's boxes.

Delnor Poss injected "I think we have a unique situation and should provide them a box." Ralph McLaughlin then stated, "If we think that a box makes a larger turnout of voters, let's have 10 boxes."

Following additional discussion, McLaughlin suggested and then made a motion that "The schools have five voting boxes and if the turnout isn't larger than it was last year, we revert to one box."

Jerry Jenkins seconded this motion and stated, "I really do not think there is a correlation between the number of boxes and number of votes."

One citizen pointed out that this was regulating the north side box to the action of other voters and that he thought that each box should be judged on its own voter turnout, not all lumped together.

The motion was withdrawn

BACK IN NEWS — Bobby Joe Keesee, the lone civilian to be released in Hanoi today, wound up in North Vietnam 2 1/2 years ago after hijacking a Thai aircraft and forcing the pilot to fly him there. Keesee, left, is shown under arrest in Miami, in May, 1962, after being returned from Cuba where he had flown in a stolen plane. He's also an Army deserter with a prison record in Arizona.

DISAPPEARED UNTIL POW LIST RELEASED

Soldier Of Misfortune

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Relatives learned Monday why Bobby Joe Keesee, a onetime airplane hijacker whom they picture as a close-mouthed soldier of fortune, dropped from sight four years ago.

He was listed by the State Department among 108 American prisoners of war to be freed Wednesday by the North Vietnamese, and that was the first word of him received since 1969 by his father and a brother in Phoenix, Ariz., and two sisters in Albuquerque, N.M.

Keesee, a native of Wheeler in the Texas Panhandle, is a lone and mysterious civilian in the group.

HELD HOSTAGE — When the family last heard from him he was on his way to Israel—a trip interrupted while he was seized and held hostage for 36 hours during a sight-seeing stop in Amman, Jordan. He wrote that he was going on to Jerusalem to take an oil company job after Arab guerrillas turned him loose unharmed.

Prior to that, Keesee had been convicted at Austin, Tex., in 1962 of transporting a stolen car across state lines and at Albuquerque in 1964 of flying a stolen airplane to Cuba.

Tex., later that year on a charge of stealing 16 Army parachutes and other items from a Ft. Bliss warehouse. There apparently is no further record of that case, in which military police arrested him after a 30-mile chase leading south from El Paso.

HELD HOSTAGE — Before enlisting as a paratrooper in 1951, Keesee moved from Wheeler to Pampa and Amarillo, Tex., and his story is a long one. He won the Purple Heart for a head wound suffered in Korea. Doctors used a metal plate to repair it.

Known for a ready grin, Keesee earned a sergeant's stripes and planned an Army career. Then he went A.W.O.L. and disappeared in 1962 while stationed at Ft. Huachuca, Ariz., and running a parachute training ground at nearby Nogales.

In March of the same year he rented an airplane in Albuquerque, flew to Cuba and asked political asylum. He was imprisoned 49 days before being sent back to this country, where he was arrested on arrival in Miami, Fla.

CIA TIP? — Federal authorities lodged 152 charges against him ranging from theft of the plane to interstate transportation of a stolen rental car and passing worthless checks in 16 cities.

At his trial Keesee testified that the Central Intelligence Agency had hired him to fly two spies into Cuba. He admitted driving the car through 27 states while on a hot check writing spree but claimed he did this on instructions from a CIA agent named Buddy Carson, who told him to build a reputation as "a criminal."

They rented the aircraft in Albuquerque and Keesee, an able pilot, flew Carson and a fellow agent to Cuba where the two men bailed out over a jungle, he said.

He had been sentenced to five years in prison in 1962 on the auto theft charge, and a federal judge in Albuquerque made a second five-year term for stealing the plane run concurrently.

As the 1964 trial ended, Keesee still maintained, "I thought all the time I was working for my country, and I still believe I was."

He was paroled in 1965 but got into trouble later that year in the case involving theft of Army parachutes at Ft. Bliss.

One of his sisters, Clea Brangle, said he came there for a visit in 1969 and displayed an Israeli passport, explaining that he had been offered an oil company job in Israel.

"He came over one way and we sat around and visited a couple of hours," Mrs. Brangle said. "I cooked dinner. He said he was going to run down to get his car serviced and would be back in an hour or so. And you know what? That was the last we saw of him."

Their father, Payton Keesee, said in Phoenix he was told at the time that Bobby Joe was studying Hebrew and had a contract to go to Israel.

"He never tells anyone anything, but I sure was surprised to learn where he has been this time," said the elder Keesee after being notified that his son was among the POWs to be freed.

DISAPPEARED — "He just disappeared... but he's done this all his life. He'd be gone two to four years at a time and we wouldn't know where he was. We saw a picture in a newspaper about two years ago of an unknown sergeant in Vietnam that sure looked like Bobby."

"But Bobby never did any talking, and if you asked him something it wouldn't do any good. He just wouldn't tell you anything."

Mrs. Brangle recalled that her brother's luggage arrived in Albuquerque without explanation in July of 1969.

Killer Puts Blame On Ex-UMW Boss

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — Paul E. Yablonski was trying to break Gilly, convicted middleman in the murders of United Mine Workers insurgent Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski and his wife and daughter, testified today that another defendant in the case told him deposed UMW President W. A. "Tony" Boyle was behind the slayings.

Gilly, 38, sentenced to die in the electric chair after he was convicted of murder in the slayings a year ago, was a surprise prosecution witness in the trial here of William J. Prater, one of seven persons arrested in the killings thus far.

Gilly, frequently stuttering or stopping to moisten his lips, told the court of a meeting he had with Prater prior to the murders, committed on New Year's Eve 1969.

"What did Mr. Prater tell you at the meeting?" Special Prosecutor Richard Sprague asked.

"At this time I was told Mr. Boyle defeated Yablonski for the union presidency in a bitterly fought contest in December of 1969. He was defeated in a court-ordered rerun of the election.

FOUR BOXES

(Continued from Page 1) and following additional discussion, the board finally agreed to have four voting places, one in each county precinct with a special meeting called Thursday at 5:15 p.m. to set the four voting places. It was tentatively agreed that one of them would be at the high school, one on the north side and at two other locations.

The regular business, in what is termed by the faculty as the most important meeting of the year, was almost anti-climatic to the election box discussion.

TEACHERS REHIRED — All faculty members in all schools as well as special service individualized program, head start teachers, the tax assessor collector and the director of school maintenance were re-hired as listed by their school administrators.

The board also approved an annual local increment of $650 for local teachers, as they have done for a number of years. They also reviewed and approved waivers for some of the teachers retiring.

The administrators were asked by the board if Big Spring was needing to employ less teachers, due to a fall-off in enrollment. They were told that the administration expected the normal amount of resignations to cover the problem.

Selection of the assistant coaches and a decision on those still here will be announced next month by the new head coach and the high school principal. Junior high coaches have been re-assigned and at the high school level, the head coach has approved Royce Cox, golf; Ronald D. Plumlee, basketball; Novice Kniffe, tennis and the two women coaches, Miss Susie Lynch and Miss Mary Stephens.

Mrs. Danielle Greene was hired for the remainder of this year as a sixth grade teacher at Washington Elementary.

ADOPT BOOKS — The board officially adopted the textbooks approved by the local textbook committee. They also amended the 1971-72 Title I budget to include a pro-rata share of money sent from the state.

They also approved donating $500 to tear out the stage at Airport Elementary following a request from the P-TA of that school to take such an action to allow more room in the cafeteria. The P-TA is purchasing 10 foldout tables with attached seats at a total cost of $1,850 to donate to the school.

The Airport P-TA was commended by the board for continuous contributions to the school.

Pinch Of Fuel Crisis Apparent To Council

County, city and school governments here felt the pinch of the fuel crisis when they received no bids for grease and oil Monday afternoon.

Pat Boatler, a Fina distributor, explained: "They're just like I am (the other oil companies). They don't know what's going to happen (to wholesale prices)."

County Judge A. G. Mitchell said the court would buy petroleum products from Boatler without a contract "until something pops or gets better."

He expressed concern that Howard County, which burns 44,000 gallons of diesel fuel yearly, would find itself without oil or a diesel fuel.

Little of Howard County's road equipment uses gasoline. Officials were surprised of an approximately 100 per cent increase proposed for some motor oils by Boatler.

Fina has been rebating 35 cents per gallon of oil sold to the city under a contract for less than the going price. But he expected the rebates to end soon. The contract expires April 1.

The city has been buying HD motor oil, which is used for gasoline engines, for 53 cents per gallon in 55-gallon drums. S-3 series oil, which is designed for diesel, was more costly being 63 cents per gallon.

Now, Boatler wants 92 cents plus 15 per cent for HD and not discussed.

Tubb first brought the matter before Commissioners Court on Oct. 2, 1972. Commissioner Bill Crooker, in whose precinct the subdivision falls, was to help Tubb prepare the matter for a later vote.

In other business Monday, the court voted to contact department heads about safety measures proposed by an insurance agency.

The road and bridge department is to incorporate within its schedule clearing and laying caliche for one mile of the now dedicated road. This one-mile segment leads to a house under construction.

TREES AND CALICHE
Commissioner Bill Bennett suggested they ask Tubb to burn the trees cleared off and to supply the caliche.

Under state law, the court could have required Tubb to post bond insuring that Tubb, the developer, properly construct his own roads in the subdivision. This possibility was

Manufacturers Of Pain Killers Have Headache

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three of the nation's biggest manufacturers of nonprescription pain killers have a headache of their own: government complaints that the products don't match up to their advertising claims.

Named in the complaints brought by the Federal Trade Commission were the makers of Anacin, Bufferin, Excedrin, Excedrin PM, Bayer Aspirin, Bayer Children's Aspirin, Cope, Vanquish and Midol.

The FTC said Monday it could find no proof of advertising claims made for the pain killers and that 11 months of negotiations with the three companies involved have failed to result in agreement to alter the advertising.

In the absence of this agreement, the FTC said it was turning the complaints over to an administrative law judge within the commission. That judge will rule on the fairness of the advertising. After which the five FTC commissioners may be asked to handle the case on an appeal.

Tyler School Bus Smashup

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — Nine or 10 pupils suffered injuries today when a school bus and a passenger vehicle collided seven miles east of Tyler.

School officials said injuries were minor, mostly cuts, but all the 70 or so pupils on the bus were taken to a hospital for precautionary checks.

The bus turned on its side because of the impact but neither it nor the car suffered extensive damage.

The highway was slick because of rain at the time of the 7:50 a.m. accident.

The bus was carrying pupils within the Chapel Hill Independent School District.

It had left the junior high school to make its usual rounds to the elementary and high school.

Growth Of Child Abuse

It's a chilling assessment to learn that child abuse in America has been classified as a "national epidemic."

Yet local statistics support that assessment and only in recent years has there been a concerted attempt to rescue the victims through several programs. In Texas, the Legislature has granted immunity from prosecution to doctors and hospital officials who report instances of "battered" children. Those reports are essential if children are to be protected from their parents.

More will have to be done to deal with the "epidemic," however. The epidemic characterization was applied by the American Academy of Pediatrics, so it bears a stamp of authority.

One proposal was advanced at the U.S. Army Academy of Health Sciences' week-long seminar on trauma. Maj. Ronald E. Keeney, a pediatrician, said 80 per cent of parents who abuse children can be rehabilitated through a good program. He suggested regional centers to deal with the problem.

Regional centers make sense because they can more nearly afford the kind of counselors and services necessary to change an abuser into a competent parent. Alternate is the present system wherein parents are usually dealt with through the courts, the child being removed from the home, sometimes for good.

Regional centers, properly staffed, will fill a gap created, in Dr. Keeney's view, by America's changed family patterns — the "nuclear family" in which new parents lack a parent or grandparent nearby to guide them; or the new experience of child-raising. Immature or emotionally-weak parents are ill-equipped to deal with the tensions of handling children.

Dealing with the problem is one society has to face. There are at least two ways to deal with it. One is to attempt to stop it, or minimize it. The other, probably more expensive and surely far more damaging, is to handle the problem as a police-courts matter. That's the short-sighted way.

Joining In The Effort

The Howard County Commissioners Court Monday voted to become a member of the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission on a year's trial.

We long have felt that there are many advantages to our community to being a part of the regional council, not alone because we stand to get a better shake in participation in program funds, but because we are part of the Basin area. We have a vested interest in its progress, and it, we believe, has an interest in our progress as part of the whole.

This opens the way for other political subdivisions to take part, and they, too, can reverse their role of being on the outside looking in. There may be some apprehension about councils and commissions being a super-government imposed upon the local level, but we do feel that this is more theoretical than potential. The community of interest, in this modern day, has had its boundaries pushed out further and further, and some agency needs to furnish a forum or a screen for coordinating efforts.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

I have a husband who cannot keep his eyes off other women. He will even walk two or three feet back of me at times, so he can feast his eyes on attractive girls without me noticing. I didn't know he was like this when I married him four years ago, but it is driving me mad. What advice can you give?
L.C.

Many a current authority recognizes that "marriage on the rocks" is America's number one sociological problem. Companion to that is the peril in which the structure of the family now stands. Your question, however, suggests several principles that need now to be re-emphasized.

First, the nature of marriage. It is an arrangement God intended to be holy, lifelong and exclusive. Both partners need to channel their attention and interest to each other, if the vows are to be honored. There's all too much frivolous flirting today by married people. Even if it doesn't lead to extramarital sex, such conduct fractures the bond of unity. Christ, of course, was very plain on this point, indicating in Matthew 5, that a lustful look was the same as the adulterous act.

Secondly, I think you could use a great measure of understanding. Perhaps this is more a device to hurt you, than it is an immoral tendency. The only thing you've done to handle this problem is to judge your husband. Try a bit of humor, and above all, be above reproach in your own attractiveness and care for his welfare.

Thirdly, sharpen up your communication with him. In a marriage that's working, this means each is ready to listen, understand and respond. Your children and your friends need to see that you are not overcome by this behavior of your husband, but rather meeting it with the love and patience that faith in God can provide.

Food Makes The Artist

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks an avant-garde artist gets tired of hearing. "Renfro, the landlady says that if you don't at least make a down payment on the back rent by noon, we'll be thrown out into the street by nightfall."

"Yeah, it's a nice painting. What's it a painting of?"
"They say the greatest art comes from the greatest suffering. Renfro, maybe you don't have enough trouble in your life."

"Quaintness comes too high here in Greenwich Village, kid. For what this garret dump costs you, I could get a four-room apartment off Park Avenue with two baths."

"The grocer says he doesn't care if you are another Rembrandt, Renfro. He says it's cash on the line now or you don't get any more groceries."

"They say that Norman Rockwell can still get thousands of dollars for those old paintings of his they used to put on the cover of the Saturday Evening Post."

"I've seen some of the landscapes you've painted. Have you ever painted houses and barns? I mean for a living."
"Some say he's a cubist. Some say he's an expressionist. But I just think he's another nutty exhibitionist."

"Well, to me they look kind of like you've been imitating the finger paintings that chimpanzee at the zoo does. You did want me to speak frankly, didn't you?"

"I've already been down to the mailbox three times, Renfro. The welfare check can't possibly get here before the day after tomorrow."
"Maybe it would help if you started like most artists throughout history — started, Renfro — with some talent?"

"Are you sure that one is hanging rightside up? How can you really tell?"

"All I know about art is what I like, and what I don't like about this art, if that's what you call it, is that I just don't like it."

"Where did you put that tea bag we used last night, Renfro? We have to use it again — or we can't have any tea for breakfast."

"If we eat the last two apples, Renfro, what will you have left for the still life you planned to paint today?"
"The only canvas we have left is on that old army cot I use for a bed, honey. But if you think I'm going to sleep on the floor for art, you're out of your mind."
"My kid in kindergarten can draw better than that."

"The only thing left on the shelf is a can of dog food, Renfro. I tell you what I'll do. I'll split it three ways — between you, me and the dog — if you'll agree to go and apply for that job with the sanitation department, like you promised."

Just Doesn't Make Sense

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Some time would you describe floaters in eyes? I got one this summer and understand that I'll have it all my life. Am I apt to get more? — D.S.

In most cases these floaters, or little black dots which seem to swim around in the eyes, are perfectly harmless except that, in some cases, they are a nuisance. They are called "vitreous floaters," being small specks which form in the fluid-like substance that fills the eyeball.

It is going much too far to say that you will "have it all your life," because the blooming things can come and go without explanation. Whether you will get any more as time passes is just as unpredictable.

It is true that in some instances — not very many — floaters may accompany serious eye defects, but that's a far cry from saying that having floaters mean you have, or will have, any such troubles.

Safest rule is to have an eye examination. If the diagnosis is ordinary floaters, just learn not to let them worry you.

Of course this means that if my suggestion "having an eye examination" is followed, a lot of people will have sub-examinations and discover that nothing is seriously wrong. However, by the time folks reach the age of having floaters, it's high time their eyes were examined to see whether such dangerous conditions as glaucoma may be developing. Too many folks don't have such checkups early enough, so if floaters merely prove to be an excuse for necessary examinations, I can't see anything wrong about that.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please send me your booklet, "How To Control Arthritis," for which I enclose 35 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Also any booklet you may have on "osteoarthritis," as my doctor has diagnosed my ailment as that. — J.M.

Osteoarthritis, the most prevalent of the various types of arthritis (and not the worst type, either) is discussed at length in the booklet, so you don't need a special booklet.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was told that a drug called dolophine was being used to treat heroin addicts. Have you heard anything about it? — J.P.

That's just one of the names used for methadone, which I'm sure you know about.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Recently I heard there is such a disease as "water diabetes." What is it? Is it anything like sugar diabetes? — Mrs. F.

There are two kinds of diabetes which are alike in that in both of them (unless the condition is under control) the patient has excessive thirst, and hence excessive urination.

But that is the only way the two diseases are alike. Sugar diabetes is diabetes mellitus. The body is unable to utilize sugar efficiently, and the excessive thirst apparently is nature's effort to get rid of the sugar — to wash it away through the kidneys. It's a losing battle. The only answer is to reduce your sugar intake, or to use medication (insulin or oral drugs) to reduce sugar, or both.

Never take a chance on diabetes. For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

'Beloved Children'

Around The Rim

Jo Bright

I have a beautiful friend named Gordon Baxter, and I'll tell you about him next week. Right now, space is limited (and Gordon is not), and I want you to read a letter which he wrote to his children. It has been published in Volume IV of "The Best Of Baz."

"My Beloved Children: "I AM DEEPLY troubled in my heart. We are not getting along with each other. We are splitting off into little groups, and cliques and snide and catty things are being said behind each other's backs.

"There was once a time when you were little, all stair-stepped down, that I could have handled this differently. Then I was the all good, all powerful Daddy, and you knew the weight of my arm. I could have just lined you all up, big eyed, and told you how it was going to be.

"BUT MUCH has changed in so short a time. Now, you are all grown and with families of your own. And now you see through the disguise of my authority from the days of your youth. You see my own feet of clay, (and lots of muddy tracks). I can only come to you now with whatever wisdom my years and mistakes have given me.

"And though you are no longer my little kids, you have grown into something more dear, something I never expected to happen. You have become my dearest and closest friends. I need you. And what you don't know yet is that you need each other. So, friends of my innermost heart, listen once more to the Ole Man.

"THE TROUBLES stem from the fact that you are different. Should that surprise you? You always were. Some of you were solitary, some dreamers, some real, some played ball, some were moody, some were sunshine. Add to this now the influence of your marriages. This changes you even more as you become more like the one you have chosen to love for life. Is there any one of you who would say this is not as it should be? Respect those differences that marriage brought, too.

"AS KIDS, if there was any one thing that all of you had in common it was your great capacity to love and the way you took up for each other. Now I ask you to use that part of God in man, to continue to love one another and us.

"Let us cease our wagging tongues. Put aside our petty pride about who offended who last. Reach out again in love as we used to, but it helped Grace. It wasn't too much, but it helped to still that day's fights, even if you didn't really want to hold hands with that little creep.

"ACCEPT THAT you now have different standards, and that you have gone different ways. Accept even that your parents are different from each other, for we always were. To do this takes only a phone call, a coffee visit, a letter to the ones out of town. Great love and respect is kept alive in the doing of small things.

"To ignore this is to repeat the mistakes of two generations before you. I saw my father's family come apart, even as you have begun. I saw them grow old, not speaking. Saw them, or heard of them, as they died off one by one in loneliness. There were last minute rushings, but too late. How different it could have been but for a few stiff necks.

"YOUR MOTHER and I only gave you the wealth of each other. Nourish it with tolerance, and yes, Christian charity, lest we lose it and become paupers in some hidden corner of our souls. Please.

"With all my love and affection, Daddy (the wild ole man)."

Heat On Spiro?

By Rowland Evans

And Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — The fact that Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, facing increasing hostility at the White House, is entering a personal political crisis was indirectly but bluntly conveyed to him by one of President Nixon's senior staffers last week.

THE WHITE House staffer asked an Agnew aide this question: What can you honestly say the Vice President is doing in behalf of the President and the President's program?

Well, the Agnew man replied, we're improving our liaison with Congress and that ought to benefit the President's program on Capitol Hill. Not good enough, snapped back the Nixon aide. Agnew, he pointed out, has been almost totally silent of late, failing to speak up in behalf of the President in his great battles — on impoundment of funds, on reduction of federal social services, on attempts to curb congressional power. No, he concluded, Agnew has been no help at all.

A WHITE HOUSE staffer would not dare criticize the Vice President in such remarkably outspoken terms without assurance that the President would not object. Moreover, the Nixon staff has seemed eager that this disapproving attitude be made known outside the White House gates — an attitude lethally corrosive to Agnew's still strong base among the Republican party faithful.

Among those conservative state leaders who comprise the backbone of the Republican party, Agnew remains the clear early frontrunner for 1976. John B. Connally, not yet turned Republican at this writing, is a distant second in their eyes.

BUT AGNEW'S strength at the grass roots derives almost wholly from Mr. Nixon's. Having failed to build up party alliances and friendships over the past four years, Agnew's prestige at the grass roots is now imperiled by the proliferating message of Agnew's low esteem at the White House.

Agnew's close advisers believe he has made a tentative decision to seek the 1976 nomination, which explains his refraining from the strident rhetoric that he must eliminate as his trademark in order to widen his political base.

The Steak Loan

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — With the price of food going up every day, it is not inconceivable that banks will soon be making loans on an "Eat Now, Pay Later Plan."

THIS IS how it would work.

Mr. and Mrs. Kalabush go to their local bank and are escorted to one of the assistant vice presidents. "What can I do for you?" the vice president asks.

"We'd like to make a loan," Mr. Kalabush says.

"For what purpose?"
"We'd like to borrow the money to buy five steaks for a dinner party we're having tomorrow night."

THE VICE president says, "That sounds rather expensive. We can make you a loan on hamburger or chicken without too much difficulty, but a steak loan is something else again. How much do you make a year?"

"$18,000," Mr. Kalabush says. "The reason we want to buy steak is that my mother-in-law and father-in-law are coming over and we consider it a good investment."

"I see," the vice president says. "What kind of collateral would you be willing to put up?"

"We have a 1971 Mercury that's all paid for."

THE VICE president checks in his Blue Book. "But that would only pay for two steaks."

Mrs. Kalabush says, "I have here some stocks and bonds."

The vice president looks them over.

"The car and the stocks and bonds are fine, but we're talking about beef now, and I'm afraid they just wouldn't cover the expenses of the dinner. How much is your house worth?"

"It's worth $30,000."

THE VICE president does some fast figuring with a calculator.

"That should cover a steak loan of this size. Of course you understand we couldn't give you the money for baked potatoes or a salad."

"That's all right," Mrs. Kalabush says. "We were going to sell our cabin on the lake to pay for the rest of the meal."

THE VICE president says, "We'll send our meat appraiser out to your butcher shop this afternoon to look over the steaks and make sure they are as you described them."

"You won't take our word for it?" Mr. Kalabush asks.

"The banks have been burned very badly on steak loans. Under our steak loan plan we require that you put 25 per cent down in cash and pay the rest over a 10-year period at 8 per cent interest."

"I didn't realize you had to put down that much cash," Mr. Kalabush says.

"Oh yes," the vice president replies. "We believe in this way we know you're serious about wanting to eat steak. Now if you wanted to make a catfish loan you wouldn't have to put down any cash."

A Devotion For Today

After the earthquake a fire; but the Lord was not in the fire; and after the fire a still small voice. (1 Kings, 19:12)

Bruins Voted No. 1 College Team -- Again

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For the fifth time, UCLA has been voted the No. 1 college basketball team in the land in The Associated Press' final poll and for the fifth time John Wooden says: "It's very pleasing, but you know the real national championship will be decided on the court."

HCJC Whips Frank Phillips

Howard County Junior College's net squad opened Western Conference play here Monday with an easy 6-1 victory over Frank Phillips College of Borger.

Wooden said going through a regular season unbeaten is a tough task but he said going through the Pacific-8 campaign unbeaten eight different times is an equally rewarding accomplishment to any his teams have recorded. Wooden acknowledged the marks of 71 straight victories and 32 straight NCAA tournament victories, but noted, "in our conference you play teams that are familiar with your style of play and you have to play half of them on the road."

FRISCH SHOWS FORM — Hall of Fame member Frankie Frisch, who died Monday, was a brilliant player and later a great player-manager when he headed the St. Louis Cardinals' "Gas House Gang." He's shown in 1934, when St. Louis won the World Series in his first full season with the Cardinals.

Frisch Never Got Home After Crash

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — "These are the nicest people in the world," Frankie Frisch was telling visitors last week as he began sitting up in his hospital bed. "But I'm lonely and when you're at home you feel better."

Sports... In Brief

GENERAL
WILMINGTON, Del. — Frankie Frisch, a member of baseball's Hall of Fame and former manager of the St. Louis Cardinals "Gas House Gang," died of cardiac arrest five weeks after suffering critical injuries in an auto accident.

MILLER ON WARPATH Durocher Breaks Treaty

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Manager Leo Durocher pulled the Houston Astros out of a scheduled briefing with baseball negotiator Marvin Miller Monday and an angry Miller countered by saying the players would not ratify their recent agreement with the owners "until this matter is cleared up."

session during which Miller was to explain the new basic agreement and pension plan, but after only 25 minutes Durocher told his team, "Come on fellows — time to hit."

"I don't want to say anything more," he answered. "The players are not going to vote to ratify any agreement when they haven't been briefed," Miller told Houston General Manager Spec Richardson. "That's basic."

Weird Happenings Hit Baseball Camps

Everything seems to be normal in baseball's spring training camps... normally wacky, that is.

Members of the Astros and Texas Rangers gathered in center field for the scheduled 1 1/2-hour session during which Miller was to explain the new basic agreement and pension plan, but after only 25 minutes Durocher told his team, "Come on, fellows, time to hit."

Mu Zetas Are Urged To 'Think'

"Thinking refers to how people organize and use their past experiences to cope with present situations," said Mrs. Joe Thurman Monday when she spoke to Mu Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi.

"Thinking occurs between perceiving a problem and producing a response," the speaker continued. She said some types of thinking include realistic, creative, problem-solving and concept of attainment.

Mrs. Olin Gilliam continued describing several types of mental activity based on thinking. Some of these were remembering, day-dreaming and unconscious intuitive thinking. A group discussion followed the program.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Harry Klepko, 801 Marcy, No. 15, with Mrs. Douglas Schuetter as cohostess. The chapter-sponsored puppet show, "Aladdin and his Lamp," given by the Nicolo Marionette Puppets, will be held at 3:30 p.m., March 23 at Municipal Auditorium. Tickets, at 75 cents each, are being sold at local elementary schools and will also be available at the door.

A chapter party is scheduled at 6:30 p.m., March 24 in the home of Mrs. Kent Herrington, with Mrs. Schuetter as cohostess. The group will have a fondue party, and then go to the Rattlesnake Roundup dance. The next regular meeting will be at 6:30 p.m., March 26 in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room, featuring a covered-dish buffet and a Ritual of Jewels ceremony for pledges.

He's Not Ready

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have a boss who is more than ready for retirement. Nobody knows how old he is, but he's been with this company for nearly 40 years.

About four months ago he announced that he would retire on a certain date. He kept saying, "Well, 120 days before I leave, 110 days, 90 days, etc."

We co-workers planned a farewell dinner for him, and I collected the money for his retirement gift.

The morning of the farewell dinner he told us he changed his mind. He is not leaving!

We decided to go through with the dinner and give him the gift anyway. Nobody knows how much longer he will be here.

Have you ever heard of anything so crazy? And what can we do about it?

DEAR STEAMED: What's so crazy about a man changing his mind? When he retires, just say, "Goodbye."

DEAR ABBY: Over a year ago I had some serious emotional problems, and because of my bad behavior my wife left me. Then I did something right for a change. I went to a psychologist. She saw me three times a week, which helped me tremendously. Now I am seeing her only once a week. My psychologist is a single woman, about 40 years old. She is a very understanding person. My problem now is that I am stuck on her!

I would like to see her outside her office. Don't get me wrong. She never did anything to encourage my feelings for her. Should I tell her how I feel about her? I want to, but what if she gets mad at me? Then she wouldn't even see me in her office, and I couldn't stand that. Please tell me what to do.

UNDECIDED
DEAR UNDECIDED: Tell your psychologist how you feel. She'll know how to handle it, and she'll help you deal with your feelings. That's what you're paying her for.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

The bidding:
West North East South
1 Pass 2 2 4
3 3 Pass 4 4
Pass Pass Pass
Opening lead: King of 4

Skillful technique by South, the declarer at four spades, enabled him to overcome a roadblock created by nature as well as a stout defense waged by the opposition. West opened the bidding with one heart and East raised to two. Despite the fact that he was well-beeled in the opponent's suit, South overcalled with two spades. North was obviously short in hearts and if he held a good fit for South's suit, then a game contract might be a virtual laydown. West persisted to three hearts and North competed by bidding three spades. This was all South was waiting for and he carried on to game. West opened the king of clubs which declarer ruffed. South observed that if he cross-ruffed hearts and clubs, he could never come to more than nine tricks—eight spades and the ace of diamonds. The only chance to make his contract appeared to hinge on bringing in dummy's diamond suit. The ace of diamonds was cashed followed by the ten as both opponents obligingly followed suit each time and East went in on the second round with the king. The diamond suit was now ready to run as soon as declarer unlocked the nine from his hand. In an effort to attack dummy's side entry in the trump suit, East switched to the jack of hearts. South covered with the king and West played the ace. Declarer observed that, if he ruffed in dummy, North would no longer have enough spades to pull trumps, and access to the diamond suit would, therefore, be eliminated. West was permitted to hold the trick with the heart ace as North discarded a club. West had no effective return. He actually chose to continue his partner's line of defense by continuing with the queen of hearts which was ruffed by North with the ten of spades. With the ten of hearts now established in South's hand, the latter had his 10th trick. He ruffed himself in with a club, cashed the high heart and proceeded to trump two more hearts in dummy with the jack and ace of spades, returning to his hand by ruffing a club. He made all eight of his trumps separately as well as one trick in each red suit. If West had shifted back to clubs when he was in with the ace of hearts, the final result would have been the same. South ruffs in his hand, draws two rounds of trump with the king and jack and then leads a third round of diamonds to clear up the block in that suit. East may ruff in with the eight of spades if he chooses, however, that is the third and final trick for the defense on the deal. North still has the ace of spades as an entry to run the diamonds, for the rest of the tricks. The count is five spade tricks, one heart ruff in dummy and four diamonds. If East refuses to ruff when the third diamond is led, South can draw the last trump by leading over the ace and then run the diamonds. His winners are five spades and five diamonds.

Big Spring Employment Selects Jobs With Care

When Big Spring citizens are in need of finding a job that is right for their talent and skills, they should drop by Big Spring Employment Agency in the Permian Building or call 267-2535.

Finding the right person for the right job is the duty of Mrs. Sue Brown and Mrs. Ruby Taroni, the experienced personnel counselors at Big Spring Employment.

Matching the right person to the right job is an art that takes experience and know-how. Each employer has the right to demand the person best qualified for the job, considering the requirements of the work, the salary to be offered and the availability of applicants.

With these things in mind, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Taroni carefully evaluate each applicant before he or she is sent for an interview. The agency spends many hours screening job applicants so employers do not waste time interviewing persons not qualified for the particular job opening. The agency refers only those who measure up to the job requirements.

By this method of careful selection, fewer rejections plague either the employer or the applicant. By this method, there is a smaller personnel turnover and the efficiency of employees tends to rise.

Many highly qualified job applicants prefer to use the services of a private employment agency, thus protecting their own identity.

The agency also carries on an extensive testing program in the area of office skills, giving applicants personnel tests in business and industrial situations.

Both counselors and employers may refer to these tests as an indicator of future possibilities. All services are handled on a confidential basis.

From the $75-a-week clerk to the $25,000 a year executive, job applicants come to Big Spring Employment because they know private agencies are specialists in job-hunting and can, because of experience and contacts place them in desirable jobs sooner than they could locate jobs themselves.

Applicants desiring employment in other parts of the state or in other states can be referred for interview through associated agencies.

Want A Good Clean-Up Job?

One of the newest businesses in Big Spring is the Commercial Janitorial Service at 1509 Sunset. Don Templeton began on a small scale, doing janitorial service for two local businesses and decided to pick up additional customers. Anyone interested in his services may call 3-6425 after 6 p.m.

READY FOR SERVICE
 ... call Don Templeton

Templeton is willing to tackle a regular daily janitorial service, or weekly or a one-time shot. If somebody at a residence wants windows washed or some other specific job, call Don. He's ready to help.

They are also willing to clean up after events and remind Big Spring citizens that they will serve either commercial businesses or the homeowners. Anyone desiring information should call the phone number after 6 p.m.

Templeton operates out of his pickup truck and is willing to tackle any clean-up job that doesn't interfere with one that he has already scheduled.

"We clean up everything," The Commercial Janitorial Service is offering their best efforts to Big Spring.

Workmen's Bill Is Defended

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A workmen's compensation bill that was defended as a boon to the disabled and attacked as an "absurdity" of meager proportions was heard by a Senate committee Monday.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Grant Jones, D-Abilene, would extend compensation benefits in some areas but would alter methods of payment and procedures for recovery.

Appearing for Jones' proposal was James Yancy Jr. of the Texas Manufacturers Association, who brought over a dozen representatives of large industries to the hearing to be seen but not heard.

As Yancy outlined it, the bill would increase maximum permanent disability payments from $49 to $63 a week and extend them for life, would prohibit lump sum payments, and would make an employee choose a doctor from a panel drawn up by the state.

Yancy said workmen's compensation is "inadequate," but he said the raise to $63 per week showed the association's concern. He said the proposal to stop lump sum payments and instead put them on an installment basis was an attempt to "ingrain this as a wage insurance plan instead of just another damage suit."

Nalley-Pickle Has Considerate Service

No person wants to have to seek the services of a funeral home, but it is a service that becomes necessary to every family.

When the need arises, thoughtfulness and consideration are of the greatest importance. And this is the kind of service that Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home offers.

Their service is complete and dignified with experience as their trademark.

Long years of service have become the symbol of comfort during the hour of bereavement. Complete confidence in the trained men and women of Nalley-Pickle has led to a long-standing custom of simply turning all arrangements over to them, with the assurance that everything will be carried out perfectly to the last detail.

The serene atmosphere of the Rosewood Chapel is designed to provide privacy for the family during the service as well as comfort for others attending. This is the reason that so many families select Rosewood Chapel for the final services for their loved ones.

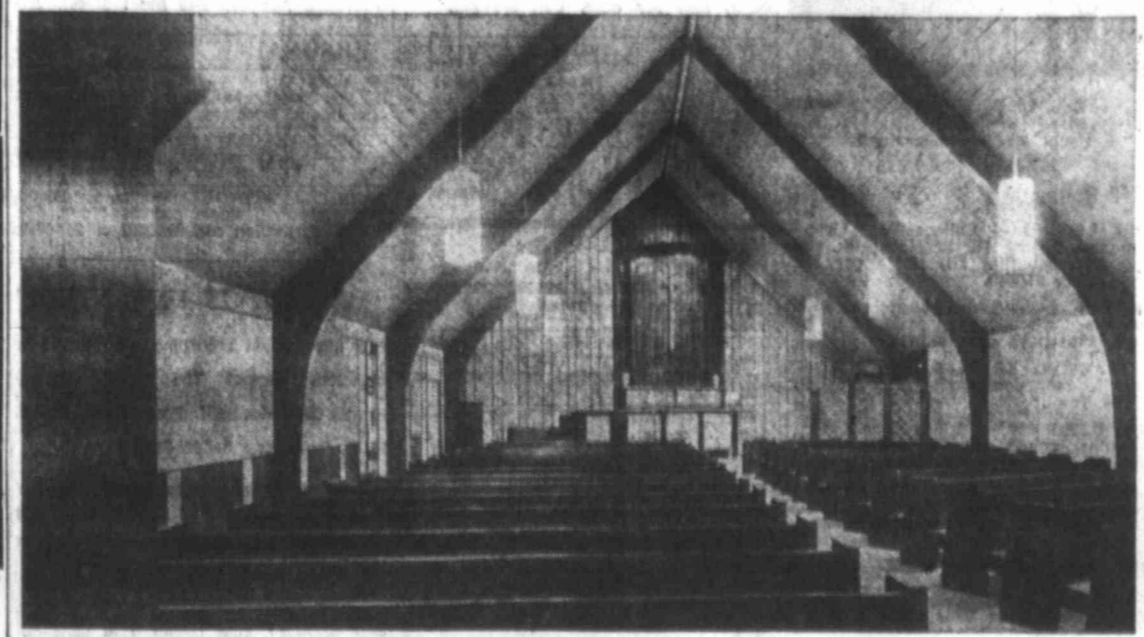

The covered entrance provides shelter during inclement weather. The chapel is air conditioned during the warm months and heated centrally during the winter months.

There is also a large parking lot beside the chapel for convenience.

Any needed information may be secured by calling the owners or professional employees of Nalley-Pickle a 267-6331.

In a lifetime, there are few occasions as serious as the times that a funeral home service is needed. That is why it is so important that the service they offer include kindness, thoughtfulness and concern — like they offer at Nalley-Pickle.

HOROSCOPE

Carroll Righter

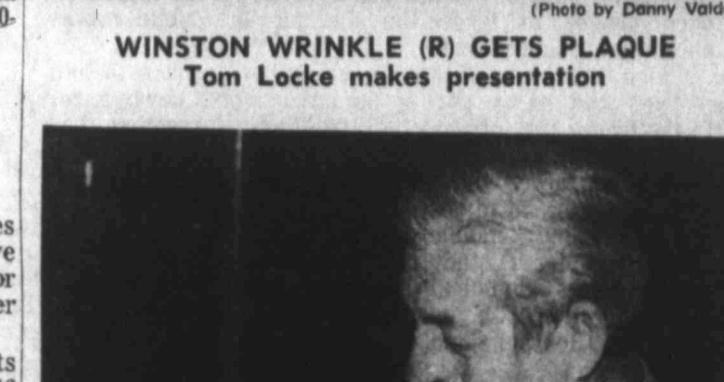

Wednesday, March 14, 1973
GENERAL TENDENCIES: This should be a most active day and evening with a number of interesting changes in relationships taking place. Other persons which you need to be alert to are those who have the advantage that can flow from them. Charm others and get bigwigs' standpoints which you can follow with real gain to yourself.
ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You are in the mood for amusement, but get into something new and interesting and forget the same old routine. You have been looking more to much for granted recently; give more attention to your own interests.
TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Give more attention to home and family today and have more harmony and comfort there than for some time past. Show you are highly skilled in your particular work. Get more benefits therefrom.

Company Pickup Used In Theft

Burglars broke into Dryer Music Co. at 3500 W. Highway 80 over the weekend and hauled off the safe. To add insult to injury, they stole the company pickup to take the strong box away.
Police detectives are investigating the burglary, seeking an undetermined amount of cash and checks taken from the safe. The pickup and the three-foot safe were located near the Sahara Drive-In. The safe had a hole in the bottom and everything was missing.
Entry to the building was gained through an air conditioner duct on the roof. The safe, which was on wheels, was rolled out the side door.

Fitness Tests Under Way

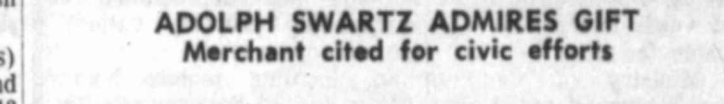

Several hundred junior and senior high school students are in the process of testing against the President's Physical Fitness test.
Within about a week, boy and girl winners in all grades starting with the seventh and up will be named, said Oakley Hagood, who is coordinating the program for the PE department.
Winners will be recognized at the opening of the Walt Disney Film, "The Greatest Athlete," here March 28 at the Ritz Theatre. Ike Robb, manager, will present them with plaques and certificates.
Results from the scoring will be evaluated by March 23, said Hagood. The testing is about at the halfway point now.
Each individual (only varsity athletes are barred) may compete against the national percentiles for these events:
Pull ups, sit ups, shuttle run, standing broad jump, softball throw, 5-yard dash and the 600-yard run.

Mobile Home Owners Urged To Move To Special Areas

(Last of a series)
By ANN STEVENS

In the 1930s trailers, or "travel coaches" as they were then called, were mainly for tourists. In the '40s, during and after WWII, they served as housing chiefly for military persons and migrants. Trailer parks in those early years were usually located in commercial or industrial zones on the outskirts of cities and were sometimes considered "eyesores" by members of the residential community. While the views of the residential community have not changed significantly since then, mobile homes and parks have been greatly upgraded.

COMING TO GRIPS
Municipal governments which could once choose to ignore trailer parks and their residents are now having to come to grips with problems and needs particular to the trailer way of life. Through the exercise of municipal policing power cities have come up with four major ways of regulating mobile homes, according to a study made by the Texas Municipal League in cooperation with the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The four methods are 1) limiting the time mobile homes may remain within city limits outside of special mobile home parks, 2) restricting mobile homes outright to special parks, 3) zoning and 4) prohibiting all mobile homes from locating within city limits.

URGES PARK SITING
The City of Big Spring does

Eavesdropping

TEL AVIV (AP) — Premier Golda Meir was speaking recently by telephone in Jerusalem to her ambassador in Washington about an article appearing in an American paper. "Which newspaper was it in?" asked Yitzhak Rabin. Before Mrs. Meir could reply, a third voice interjected: "In the Washington Post." The Ministry of Communications confirmed today that two international telephone operators in Tel Aviv were fired for eavesdropping.

not seem to strictly follow one of the four methods, but it basically controls location of mobile homes through the zoning process. Mobile homes may be located, according to the zoning ordinance, in areas zoned "General Residential," "Light Commercial," or "Heavy Commercial."

Besides the provisions in the zoning ordinance, the city has a mobile home ordinance, one portion of which reads: "It shall be unlawful for any person to locate a mobile home or travel trailer on any lot, tract or parcel of land in the city located outside a mobile home or travel trailer park as a fixed residential dwelling unless he holds a valid permit issued by the director of public works..."

Under authority given to him by the public works department, the building inspector has issued 13 such permits at $10 apiece. Like the ordinances of many other cities, Big Spring's ordinance seems to encourage mobile home owners to set up their units within special parks for the good of both the city and the mobile home owners themselves.

MUTUAL GOOD
A statement put out by the Mobile Home Manufacturers Association explains the mutual advantage of keeping mobile homes within parks. "Much of the public hostility to mobile homes arises from their abuse for residences in conventional residential areas. The mobile home does not belong as a separate independent dwelling or as a backyard dependent to a conventional building."

ON ITS OWN
"Used on its own, the cost of providing facilities which are available as a matter of course in parks becomes very high. The result is a deteriorating effect on the entire neighborhood and depreciation of surrounding property values," the statement read.

So, locating mobile homes within special parks saves the city and the owners the higher cost of individual utility hookups and other service facilities, as well as sparing mobile residents the hostility and social discrimination often wrought on them by irate residential home owners. Conventional house residents are often irked by the belief that mobile home residents, due to their mobility, escape the fair tax load.

TAXATION

While it seems to be true that many trailer owners do escape paying property taxes because of their higher rate of transiency, it must also be taken into consideration that trailer park owners pay fairly high taxes on their park acreage.

Another factor to be considered is that provisions for taxation vary from city to city. "The mobile home can be made to pay its way in a community if the city uses the means available," according to the MHMA.

Mobile homes in Big Spring, 240 of which were carried on city tax rolls last year, are taxed as personal property once a year at the city-wide rate of $1.40 per $100 valuation. Taxable value is set at 60 per cent.

APPRAISAL DATE
Only mobile homes which were in the city on Jan. 1 of the tax year may be carried on the tax rolls. City tax appraisers survey the area immediately before and on that date and only homes they can prove were there then may be taxed.

Due to transiency, some mobile home residents move into the city after Jan. 1 of one tax year and move out again before the next Jan. 1. Thus, they are never eligible for property taxes.

In spite of the transiency factor, one taxing official said that a greater number of trailer owners than had been originally expected do pay their property taxes.

TEEN FORUM

LATE: (Q.) Until last December Paul and I were deeply involved. After 40 days after my period I got scared and told my parents what Paul and I had been doing.

On the 48th day I found out I wasn't pregnant. (The doctor said it was a hormone imbalance.) But Paul and I have listened to at least 50 lectures, and my parents have told us we must not see each other again.

But we love each other and I have prayed about this and am convinced it won't happen again. Paul also is determined that it won't.

We want to date again, so much. What do you think? — 16 and Unhappy in Oklahoma.

(A.) After experiences such as you and Paul have had, it is not easy to be close together and keep full control. It is very hard. The boy has especially bad times. If he loves a girl and knows all about her, she becomes very, very sweet to him.

You must be very sure of yourself, and of Paul. If you ARE sure, tell your parents you are and ask them to trust you. If they do agree to trust you, don't let them — and yourself — down.

AT 12: (Q.) At our school we had models to come in and tell us about hair care and makeup. They told us a little eye makeup was all right. I am 12. At home I tried it and my dad didn't like it.

He said he hoped I would NEVER use eye makeup. I said it was just for dances and things like that. He still said no. How can I get him to say yes? — Discouraged in Pennsylvania.

(A.) Be patient with your father. Some 12-year-old girls do use eye makeup but it is not really necessary. In another year or so your father will probably get used to seeing it on your friends and approve it for you.

Tips to help you use electricity more efficiently for cooking.

You can get the most value from your electric range by following these tips.

Use flat-bottomed pans

The flatter the pan the better the contact with the electric unit. Also, be sure the pans have tight-fitting lids to reduce cooking time and moisture loss. And match pan size to unit size to avoid heat loss.

Don't open the oven door unnecessarily

Opening the oven door when the oven is hot can cause heat loss and extended cooking time. It also can result in undercooking.

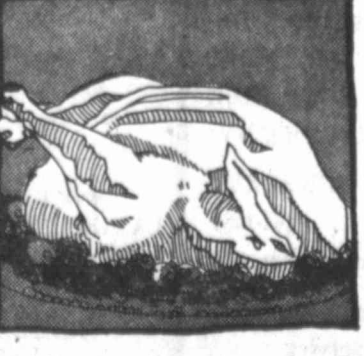

Use minimum amount of water

The more water you use, the longer it takes to get it hot. Many foods can be cooked with little or no water. Once water starts to boil, use the lowest heat setting that will keep it boiling.

Cook and freeze

Bake two cakes or pies, or make double recipes of such foods as stews and spaghetti sauce. Then freeze one for future use. Also, when you're baking, prepare an oven meal at the same time so no surface cooking is necessary—simply choose foods that will cook at the same temperature.

Thaw before cooking

Thawing meats before cooking reduces cooking time. Also, when recipes call for a preheated oven, don't turn it on too far in advance—usually 10 to 15 minutes will do.
