Local Property Taxes To Fund Schools Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today approved local property taxes for financing public schools, holding in a 5 to 4 decision that education is not among the rights afforded explicit protection under the Constitution.

TEXAS TEST
The majority reversed a lower court decision which had held the Texas system of financing schools unconstitutional. The lower court said the system made the quality of education dependent on local, rather than state wealth.

Justice Thurgood Marshall, in a dissent to today's majority opinion, said the decision "can only be seen as a retreat from our historic commitment to equality of educational opportunity and as an unsupportable acquiescence in a system which deprives children in their earliest years of the chance to reach their full potential as citizens."

EQUAL START
"In my judgment, the right of every American to an equal start in life, so far as the provision of a state service as important as education is concerned, is far too vital to permit state discrimination on grounds as tenuous as those presented by this record," he said.

All states except Hawaii depend in large part on the property tax to finance schools. Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr., writing for the majority, noted that the court was not endorsing the status quo. "The need is apparent for reform in tax systems which may well have relied too long and too heavily on the local property tax," Powell wrote. "But the ultimate solution must come from the lawmakers and from the democratic pressures of those who elect them."

Also in the majority were Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, and Justices Potter Stewart, Harry A. Blackmun and William H. Rehnquist. Critics of the lower court decision had predicted that Supreme Court approval of it would bring not only a reshaping of school finance across the nation, but also "a generation of litigation" aimed at such other services as police protection and health care.

Cop Bargaining Bill Rushed To Governor

Fighter Planes Wreckage

HOLBROOK, Ariz. (AP) — Searchers today recovered the bodies of all four Air Force officers killed in the crash of two F111 swing-wing fighter jets during a night training mission.

The $15 million planes, which were the focus of controversy during the Vietnam war, fell about 3 1/2 miles apart near Holbrook Municipal Airport on Tuesday night.

A spokesman at Cannon Air Force Base at Clovis, N.M., where the planes were assigned identified the victims as Maj. William W. Gude, 39, Colorado Springs, Colo.; Maj. Richard L. Brehm, 37, Omaha, Neb.; Capt. William T. Halloran, 25, Brownsville, Tex.; and Capt. David C. Blackledge, 30, Cresskill, N.J.

The first plane and the bodies of Halloran and Brehm were recovered Tuesday night and searchers found the bodies of Gude and Blackledge near the wreckage of their plane today.

Half Of Vehicles Have Old Tags

There are only seven days left to purchase car tags before the deadline in the county tax collector's office. The office will not be open on Saturdays, according to Mrs. Zirah Bednar, tax collector.

Friday, March 30, will be the last day. As of this morning, the total money collected this year for tags is $333,688 in comparison to $322,045 at the same period last year.

However, an informal check on the city streets show that almost half of the vehicles are still bearing the 1972 tags.

Car owners are urged to avoid the rush during the final days by purchasing their tags as soon as possible.

BANDIT USES BROOM TO SWEEP UP CASH

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Fear reigned supreme. Employees of the Equitable Savings and Loan Co. listened Tuesday while the robber threatened to blow up the office.

He held an ominous-looking bundle he said was dynamite. Employees handed him an undetermined amount of cash.

He fled. Police grinned — but not too much. The "dynamite sticks" were four pieces of broom handle wrapped in paper.

More POWs To Be Freed

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong delegation announced tonight that the last group of American prisoners held by the Communist side will be released Saturday and Sunday at Hanoi's Gia Lam airport.

Court Orders New Trial For Suspect

The criminal sentence against Jody Hilliard for armed robbery in Howard County was reversed and remanded by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals today.

Hilliard is in the local jail and will now await a new trial. The same reversal and remanding of the trial was handed down by the court of criminal appeals a few months ago against Howard Franklin, also in jail here.

Both men were charged with the armed robbery of an Enco station in Big Spring at which time the attendant was shot in the face and the back, but was not killed.

The court of criminal appeals decision was based on what they referred to as extraneous evidence in connection with another armed robbery 15 minutes earlier.

Judge R. W. Caton of the 118th District Court indicated that the two men will now be retried with their cases placed on the criminal docket of the court here.

Food Costs Pace Increase In Consumer Price Index

WASHINGTON (AP) — Led by a record one-month increase in grocery prices, consumer prices went up in February at the steepest rate since the Korean War, the government said today.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the Consumer Price Index surged by eight-tenths of one per cent on a seasonally adjusted basis last month, marking the biggest monthly increase in the cost of living since February 1951.

The increase in meats, poultry and fish bought at grocery stores accelerated, rising by 5 per cent in one month.

The price report was a stunning blow to President Nixon's inflation fighters, and reflected the sharp increases in food at the wholesale level in recent months.

But even without the big increase in food prices, the consumer price report was bad. There were sizable increases also in non-food commodities and services.

On an unadjusted basis, consumer prices surged by seven-tenths of one per cent, the highest monthly increase since March 1969. Food prices, on the same basis, increased by a sharp 1.9 per cent, the biggest since January's 2.1 per cent.

Nab Aliens In Decatur

DECATUR, Tex. (AP) — A reluctant sheriff today was playing host to 27 Mexicans in his jail, rounded up in an early morning raid by federal and local agents.

"(Wise County Constable Jerry) McGee had no business conducting the raid in my county without my permission and I intend to see this type of business stopped," said Wise County Sheriff Eldon Moyers.

The aliens, all employed at a Decatur manufacturing firm, were hauled to jail early Tuesday following a raid on several houses here by McGee and U.S. Immigration officers.

McGee said he picked up the Mexicans because "I believe that local people should be given local jobs and I intend to see that all illegal aliens employed by manufacturing concerns are removed from this county."

McGee took the prisoners to the Wise County Jail but Moyers balked at housing them.

"I was surprised when the sheriff refused to house the prisoners for me," said McGee. "But I was shocked when he refused to house them for federal agents."

Federal officials talked to Moyers. He decided to permit the prisoners to be jailed here.

Plans are being made to deport the Mexicans.

West Virginia Inmates End Deadly Rebellion

MOONSVILLE, W.Va. (AP) — Inmates who had taken five guards hostage ended their rebellion at West Virginia Penitentiary today, Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. reported. One inmate was fatally stabbed and two others wounded during the 24-hour uprising.

The five hostages walked out of the prison with Moore. They looked pale but did not appear to have been roughed up.

The end came after a morning of talks between representatives of 200 rebellious inmates and state and prison officials.

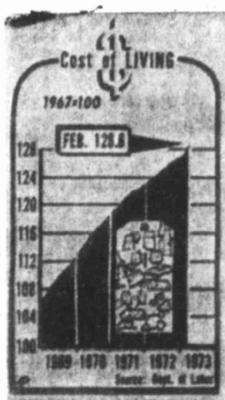

Moore identified the dead inmate as Willy Hale of Charleston, but would not disclose the circumstances of his death. Prison officials said earlier that the two injured inmates apparently were stabbed in scuffles with fellow inmates at the maximum security prison.

The uprising began before noon Tuesday as about 20 to 30 inmates were being led to a bathing area. After the guards were seized, windows were smashed and fires set in the century-old prison, located in a residential area.

Moore said the inmates' list of demands presented at this morning's negotiations totaled 15, but there were two which "under no circumstances could I agree to."

He said those two demands were for freedom from prosecution in connection with the disturbance, and for the right to carry as much money or cash with them in the prison as they wanted to.

The governor described the remaining demands posed by the inmates as "only humane and fair, in some respects."

The January unadjusted increase was the biggest in more than 20 years.

EGGS, BREAD
The BLS said that with the exception of eggs, prices of most kinds of food rose substantially in February. Meat, poultry, cereal and bakery products rose more than usual. There were also sharp increases in dairy products and fresh vegetables.

The prices of non-food commodities increased by three-tenths of one per cent after a decline in January. On an adjusted basis, the bureau said, the increase was even sharper—five-tenths of one per cent.

Prices of services also accelerated, increasing at a four-tenths of one per cent rate, double the previous month.

Even as the latest report was being released by the bureau, Herbert Stein, Nixon's chief economic adviser, said consumer prices will show increases in March and April.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Libyan Air Force plane fired on a U.S. Air Force transport plane over the Mediterranean today, military sources reported. The U.S. plane was not hit.

Thieves Prone To Take Anything That's Loose

Big Spring went 24 hours without a single car accident here Tuesday.

But the police found plenty of other items to keep them occupied. The Kent Station on the Lamesa Highway reported that somebody used a stolen key to open their safe and make off with close to $1,000 in cash and checks.

Quality Volkswagon reported two tires and wheels, valued at $225 stolen. Rip Griffin's Truck Stop reported two 1000 by 22 truck tires and rims taken off a truck, valued at $400.

The Sands Motel said somebody made off with a $400 colored television set and Eleanor Morrison at 218 N. Johnson said that somebody broke a window, entered her residence and took $33 in cash.

STOLEN COW FEED
Leon McGregor, 907 N. Gregg reported a .22 caliber pistol stolen and up at Phillips 66, somebody took six blocks of cow feed and some empty soda pop bottles out of Mrs. Bonnie Bennett's pickup.

At 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, a 17 year old girl shopping for groceries was attacked in the parking lot of a local grocery store by a middle-aged man who used obscene language and grabbed at her arm and then fled, according to her report to the police.

At 3:14 a.m., a pickup driving down the wrong side of the street on west Highway 80 whipped around on to Frazier Street and the driver jumped out and fled.

The pickup turned out to have been stolen from Gilbert Paredes, 1308 Lamont, only he was peacefully sleeping and didn't know it was missing.

On top of everything else, a woman at the Trails Inn Motel called at 4:50 p.m. and reported there were kids running around on her roof.

HC-Chamber Survey Set

A survey to determine what vocational courses need to be offered by Howard County Junior College will be jointly undertaken soon by the college and the Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Thomas Salter, HCJC president, said the Texas Education Agency recommends that community colleges conduct such surveys to discover the needs of their own areas. He said that the college has no record of any such survey being done in the past.

"We want to be sure our vocational-technical programs are tailored to the needs of this area. Interest in our vocational programs is lower than I'd like it to be, but we don't yet know what the community wants and what the industries need," Dr. Salter said.

Whereas on a statewide basis the enrollment percentage of junior college students in vocational-technical courses averages 50 per cent, the percentage at HCJC is only 10 per cent, Dr. Salter noted.

Ellis Britton, who serves along with Bob Goodwin on the Chamber's manpower-labor division of the Economic Development Council, said questionnaires will be devised for employers as to what type of job openings local industries and businesses have.

Other questionnaires will be drawn up, Britton said, for distribution among local citizens to see what type of training courses they would be interested in taking if offered at the college.

Dr. Salter specifically mentioned the allied health field as one in which the college may need to expand its offerings. It now offers a one-year nursing program and a medical assistant program.

He said he personally believes there is a need to train inhalation therapists, X-ray technicians, nursing home administrators, nurses aides and physical therapists. He also cited a possible two-year program in nursing leading to an associate degree in nursing.

Downing Talks Here Friday

Delbert Downing of Midland will be speaker at the Cabot Corporation Dixon Plant Safety Banquet to be held at 6:30 p.m., Friday at the Big Spring Country Club.

Downing, who has become known as one of the most versatile speakers in the southwest, has been a chain store manager, a chamber of commerce manager and is now a consultant to chambers in small cities.

He has won many honors through the years and is an honorary Future Homemaker of America, a State Farmer, has received the Silver Beaver Boy Scout award and is an honorary Lion and an active Rotarian.

He is also a past president of the Christian Men's Fellowship of the State of Texas.

Sometimes referred to as a humorist, sometimes a philosopher, he calls himself simply a "country talker."

Longevity Tips: Whisky, Cigars

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — John Jefferson, celebrated his 106th birthday anniversary earlier this month and offered this recipe for longevity:

"Drink a fifth of whisky twice a month—the 1st and the 15th."

He also said that for good measure he smokes his pipe and about 10 cigars a month.

Jefferson also reported he participates in a Bible study once a week with a minister who visits his home. He has nine children—surviving from a total of 14—39 grandchildren, 66 great-grandchildren and 17 great-great-grandchildren.

Rumanian Defector Seeks Asylum In United States

HOUSTON (AP) — A 6-foot-4-inch former Rumanian professional basketball player has appealed to the U.S. State Department for asylum in the United States after jumping the merchant ship Lasi.

Alex Filip, 24, who was third mate aboard the ship, slipped ashore here Jan. 28 and has been staying with Michael and Charlene Crawley, whom he met at a church function aboard the ship.

Filip is now stateless and he wants asylum. State Department authorities say they need proof that Filip would be punished—a condition for asylum—if he is returned to Rumania.

American friends of Filip asked Rep. Bob Eckhardt, D-Tex., to help.

Eckhardt said to refuse Filip asylum because of the possibility of persecution could not be proved would be "to deny the very nature of totalitarianism in which the state is all important and those who demonstrate against it must be punished severely to set an example."

Filip, a graduate of the Rumanian Naval Academy, said he'd like to play professional basketball again and also pursue a physics degree in the United States.

"I have only one life to live and I must offer a free future to the children I want to have someday," said Filip, who speaks English. "I don't want them to believe all the propaganda that children are taught over there."

Eckhardt said refusing asylum to Filip could cause "another embarrassing incident to the United States."

Eckhardt referred to an incident in November 1970 when a Lithuanian seaman on a Russian fishing vessel leaped aboard a U.S. Coast Guard cutter off Massachusetts and begged for asylum.

The Coast Guard allowed the Russians to board the cutter and seize the seaman. A Lithuanian court later sentenced the seaman to 10 years in prison. In the U.S. a Coast Guard admiral was reprimanded and retired.

Army Exercise Proves Fatal

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Two U.S. Army paratroopers were killed and five others injured Tuesday in a live combat training exercise at a National Guard camp near Salinas, the military said.

The accident occurred shortly before noon during an exercise carried out by 400 to 500 paratroopers, part of the 82nd Airborne Division based in Ft. Bragg, N.C., an Army spokesman said.

"I understand that a mortar firing accident occurred," he said. "I have no verification of what exactly happened."

Police on Puerto Rico's south coast, near the Salinas training camp, said that a "malfunction" caused a mortar shell to fall short into a group of the soldiers.

Identification of the victims was withheld pending notification of relatives. An Army spokesman said their names probably would be made public in North Carolina.

The dead and wounded were taken to the Roosevelt Roads naval station on the eastern end of the island. One wounded man was said to be in critical condition.

The Army spokesman in San Juan said the soldiers came from Ft. Bragg "three or four days ago. They flew in direct and made a parachute drop at the training ground."

He said they were expected to be in Puerto Rico a total of seven to 10 days as part of a routine training program.

Man Is Arrested On Houston Rap

Terry D. Watkins, 32, of 1410 Dixie, was released on $1,000 bond yesterday after being arrested by sheriff's officers on a Houston child support warrant.

Sheriff's department spokesman said law enforcement officials in Houston had asked the local officers to arrest Watkins. Bond was set by Peace Justice Gus Ochotorena.

Senate Adds Restricted Rent-Control Provision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has added federal rent controls for some metropolitan areas but otherwise agreed essentially with President Nixon's inflation-fighting program.

It passed late Tuesday, 85 to 2, a bill extending Nixon's authority to freeze and regulate wages and prices for another year—to April 30, 1974. The bill now goes to the House.

Senators approved rent control, 50 to 38. Sen. Clifford Case, R-N.J., who offered the amendment, said rent increases in urban areas have soared since Jan. 11 when Nixon dropped his mandatory Phase 2 controls in favor of the largely voluntary Phase 3 program.

Case estimated some 60 metropolitan areas could be affected by his amendment.

Basically, rents would be limited to a 2.5-per-cent rise annually where a vacancy rate of 5.5 per cent or less is found.

Landlords could add to the increase their higher costs for utilities, maintenance and improvements.

The president could lift controls in any area after a hearing in the area to reassess the situation.

The controls apply to low and moderate housing. Luxury units—that is, a monthly rental of $500 or higher—and new buildings are exempted.

Each city would have to be studied before controls were imposed. Based on old statistics, Case aides said, some likely areas would be Los Angeles; San Francisco; Denver; Honolulu; Boise, Idaho, and most urban areas of New York; Pennsylvania, and New Jersey.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said that as things look now the future holds "tight money, high interest, a recession."

"The only sensible thing to do is to take this rather drastic step and provide the shock the economy needs so badly," Jackson said.

Sens. John Tower, R-Tex., and John Sparkman, D-Ala., argued against a general freeze. They said the president needs flexibility to combat inflation and unemployment and contended food prices show signs of leveling off.

When debate and voting were over, the Senate also had shelved or rejected:

- A 90-day freeze on retail food prices, 66 to 21.
- A freeze on agricultural products at their March 1 levels, 78 to 9.
- Requiring federal approval of major union and corporation wage and price hikes, 49 to 41.
- Rolling back to 6 per cent the 6 1/2-per-cent prime interest rate charged by many banks, 45 to 41.
- With all the key tests out of the way, the bill was passed with only Sens. Marlow Cook, R-Ky., and Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., voting against.

Enrollment Has Gain Of Four

A sharp gain in elementary enrollments more than offset losses in secondary and special areas to leave Big Spring schools with a net gain of four pupils for last week. The 6,650 on roll were 284 less than the comparable date a year ago. The elementary total of 3,486 was up 19, secondary total of 3,089 down six and special enrollment of 75 down nine.

KEY TEST

The last key test before final passage of the bill came on an amendment by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., to freeze wages, prices, rents and interest for six months. It lost 51 to 36.

A supporter of the freeze.

Odessa Counselor Hired For Out-Patient Work

Funds approved in recent months by the Permian Basin planning commission for outpatient work in alcoholism through the Big Spring State Hospital went to a counselor to be hired for the Mental Health and Mental Retardation Center in Odessa.

Gerald Choate of Odessa was hired for the new position and he will receive a salary of $794 a month.

It is hoped by some local workers that Big Spring might obtain a dehydration unit of some type through the planning commission's approval.

"The Board of Trustees of the Permian Basin Community Centers for Mental Health and Mental Retardation approved a $17,000 service contract with the Big Spring State Hospital to "shore up our services" expected to save the community welfare costs in the long run, according to Clyde McLean, staff services officer of the Midland MH-MR center.

Purpose of the contract is to have the services of the board reduce the number of patients placed in the Big Spring State Hospital.

Earley Released On $2,000 Bond

Johnny Earley, Coahoma, is out on $2,000 bond after being arrested Tuesday night by city police and charged with robbery by assault.

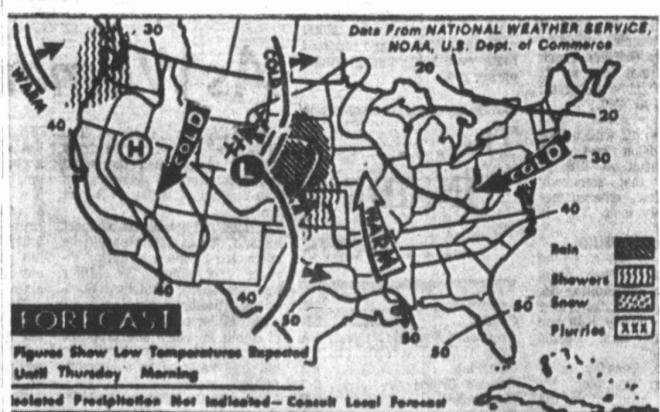

Earley was the third person arrested in connection with a break-in, beating and robbery at 1602 Scurry earlier this month. Two were arrested the following week and two were still sought. There is still one person at large in connection with the incident. Earley's bond was set by Justice of the Peace Walter Grice.

Says ITT Tried To Spark Economic Chaos In Chile

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank Church says it is clear that International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. tried in 1971 to promote economic chaos in Chile.

ELECT MARXIST
Church, D-Idaho, heads the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee probing allegations that ITT first sought to prevent the election of Marxist Salvador Allende as president of Chile in 1970 and then asked U.S. government help in causing him havoc during his first six months in office. Church said his assessment was based on testimony Tuesday by officials of ITT's Washington office and their memoranda about contacts in high government places during 1970 and 1971.

The subcommittee today summoned ITT Latin American operatives and John J. McCone, an ITT director and former head of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Jack D. Neal, ITT's Washington director of international relations, rejected suggestions that his 18-point action program submitted to the White House in 1971 advocated efforts to disrupt the Chilean economy.

Neal, a former State Department official for 35 years, said his proposals were designed to support both the company and the U.S. position that property expropriated by the Allende government should be paid for fairly and promptly.

Company officials said the Neal memo was sent to Peter Peterson, White House staff assistant for international economic affairs and later secretary of commerce.

Board To Meet

Nixonite Says Increase In Food Prices Near End

WASHINGTON (AP) — Herbert Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said Tuesday the increase in food prices is near its end.

Stein told a group of executives at a conference here that farm prices should be no higher at the end of this year than they were at the end of 1972.

He said the reduction in farm prices should "at least slow down markedly the rise in food prices at retail."

Conceding that the food price increase has come at an awkward time for the Nixon administration during its battle against inflation Stein said the rise in food prices is coming to an end because of the administration's action to increase supplies, as well as action by producers.

He said he found encouraging a drop in the price of hogs and cattle. "It's a comfort to see something decline if it's only for a day," Stein said.

He predicted that the food crisis would go away, just as he said international monetary crisis have disappeared.

The White House meanwhile produced figures to indicate the problem of high food prices is worse in other nations.

Statistics were offered at an expanded meeting between President Nixon and eight Republican congressional leaders to compare food prices changes here and abroad last year.

A document prepared by the Council of Economic Advisers indicated inflation of food prices was less in the United States last year than in Canada, Japan, France, Germany, Italy and the United Kingdom.

Whereas consumer food prices here increased by 4.8 percent last year increases of 8 percent or more were registered in France, Germany and Italy, according to the statistics, and nearly matched that level in Canada and Britain.

QUIT LIKE
The memo urged that "everything should be done quietly but effectively to see that Allende does not get through the crucial next six months."

Neal said ITT has done "not one thing" illegal in its activities relating to Chile and efforts to get compensation for the Chile Telephone Company, an ITT subsidiary, taken over by the Allende government in September 1971.

"We would have been remiss not to keep the government informed," he said, noting that the government-financed Over-

Military Science Program Study Approved By Board

Forty-one full-time faculty members of Howard County Junior College were re-elected for the 1973-74 school year by trustees at the board meeting Tuesday in college student union building.

Trustees also accepted a recommendation that a personnel office be set up, and they accepted a request from W. T. Rutledge Jr., that he be relieved of his administrative duties in the business education department.

A study as to the feasibility of a military science program, under which students could obtain the first two years of ROTC, was authorized. An informal student poll had indicated a strong sentiment for this Dr. Thomas Salter, reported.

Approved was a proposal for the establishment of a television laboratory. Jim Lancaster of Cable TV, pledged in a letter that students would have an hour's program a day. Dr. Salter noted that this entailed a similar pledge from the students, under Dal Herring, to come up with this much sound programming. Expenditures of $500 for supplemental equipment were approved. Purchase of an IBM typewriter for the administrative office of arts and sciences was also sanctioned in the approximate amount of $550.

OFFER DECLINED
An offer by Olen L. Puckett, who is retiring as an architect, to sell college building plans was declined because the college has a complete set of all building plans.

A request from the Faculty Association that it be furnished copies of the agenda and copies of the minutes was declined on the grounds that this information was available to all who wanted it.

Board members noted that the association indicated it wanted to have three faculty members present at each board meeting, and welcomed them, as well as any others who want to attend.

Ralph Smith, business manager, reported that one firm had estimated that the installation of a sprinkler system at the gymnasium would cost $12,779 but trustees asked that underwriters be contacted to see if this project will save that much money. Smith also reported on the drafting of a number of personnel forms for applicants, entering employees, student employees, change in status and termination of employment, along with several other miscellaneous forms.

Dr. P. W. Malone reported on the meeting of the American Association of Community College recently in California.

Trustees, he said, will face increasing responsibility in years to come, adding that federal regulations are increasing rapidly. He also saw the need of a public relations service.

PROTESTS
W. T. (Tommy) Rutledge, who had been named head of the business education upon the recommendation of Dr. Salter at a previous board meeting, asked that he be relieved of these duties. Several women faculty members, bristling at what they said they felt was inequitable treatment because of longer tenure in the department had protested. Rutledge said in his letter to Dr. Salter that "it has been my impression that the morale of our college may have suffered from my recent appointment to the chairmanship. So long as this possibility exists, I could not personally justify remaining in this present position." This request, he added, was not to be taken as any personal lack of confidence in his aptitude or willingness to work. The board honored his request with regret.

Dr. Larry Key, vocational technical dean, will be asked to serve as acting head of the department until Rutledge's successor is named.

In accepting the recommendation to re-elect the full-time faculty members, the board noted one arts and science position did not have a minimum of a masters degree, and the election was with the provision that Dr.

Salter seek to encourage completion of the master's work. Trustees said they would re-examine the salary schedules prior to the time that salaries are fixed at a later date when the legislative appropriation is known. Election of administrative personnel was deferred to a later meeting.

LEFT OPEN
As to the personnel office, Dr. Salter said that the information required to be kept and reported on personnel had mounted to the extent the business office could no longer keep up with it. The matter of salary was left open, though the range may be between $5,000 and $8,000. Some trustees questioned if duties could be lightened once the filing system was set up or duties reduced to clerical status.

On the ROTC proposal, Tony Wynn, vice president administration, Dean Ben Johnson, and from the board, Donald McKinney, will comprise the study committee. If recommended and then approved by the board, the program likely would not take effect until the 1974-75 school year. An officer and non-commissioned officer would be stationed here, and the program would offer a maximum of seven semester hours of credit, according to Col. Albert J. Geraci, USA.

Trustees, by consensus, asked that the faculty handbook be revised to insert the word full-time faculty members in indicating those who would become eligible for tenure.

Study Club Announces New Slate

Officers for the coming year were elected when the Forsan Study Club met Monday in the school home economics room at Forsan.

Mrs. Jack Woodley will head the slate as president, and working with her will be Mrs. Garner Thixton, vice president; Mrs. Bill Mims, recording secretary; Mrs. M. M. Fairchild, corresponding secretary; Mrs. H. H. Story, treasurer; Mrs. Delmar Hartin, historian; Mrs. H. D. Smith, parliamentarian; and Mrs. Raymond Moore, reporter.

Named as delegates to the Western District convention of Texas Federation of Women's Clubs were Mrs. Woodley, Mrs. Murphy and Mrs. Thixton. The convention will be held Friday and Saturday in Midland.

Mrs. Thixton and Mrs. Mims screened a film entitled "Texas — Land of Contrast" which depicted various beauty spots and the variety of scenery available in Texas.

Refreshments were served from a table which held scenes of Texas. Hostesses were Mrs. L. B. McElrath and Mrs. Bill Chadwell. The door prize was won by Mrs. Woodley.

The next meeting will be held April 2 in the home economics room with Mrs. C. V. Wash showing slides of her recent trip to the Holy Land.

University Women's Group Studies Educational Plan A

"What's Right with Education — Plan A", was explored by members of the American Association of University Women Tuesday when a general meeting was held in First Federal Community Room. Mrs. Lyndon Gladden introduced the program topic.

"The principles underlying the program of special education do not differ from those that guide the work in the regular program of education," said Mrs. Gladden. "The exceptional child is basically like other children, with fundamental drives common to all children. More emphasis is given to a study of the child in the light of his handicap, but essential principles are the same".

Mrs. Mary Brown, psychologist for Big Spring schools, explained how children in Plan A are identified and screened. Various testing devices were presented. She stressed the importance of parent-teacher counselor conferences and team approaches.

Mrs. Cecil Stephens, resource teacher in the Big Spring schools, discussed the practical application of individualized instruction, methods and procedures involved in resource rooms. She cited advantages of Plan A as helping to individualize all areas of education, building a healthy self concept, stopping the failure cycle and reaching a greater number of children.

A question-answer period followed and panelists discussed such areas as federal funding, Plan A at junior high and senior high levels, student attitudes, parents' acceptance and the certification of teachers.

Mrs. Paul Klonka announced that the day study group will meet in the home of Mrs. C. R. Wiley at 9:30 a.m., April 2. At that time, the local welfare system will be reviewed and explored.

Mrs. Bruce McDonald presided for the general meeting, and AAUW resolutions dealing with education were presented by Mrs. Gladden.

The next meeting will be April 16 at First Federal Community Room. The AAUW and its international resolutions will be the topic of discussion.

Dr. Gwen Hall Receives Honor

Dr. Gwen L. Hall, assistant dean of students at El Centro College, Dallas, has been chosen by a faculty committee as one of five outstanding educators of America for 1973.

Dr. Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Oglesby of Forsan, graduated from high school at Forsan. She completed her doctoral work at East Texas State University in 1969 and received both her bachelor's degree in business administration and her education from Sul Ross.

Before going to El Centro in 1970, Dr. Hall was employed at the West Texas Education Center in Midland where she was administrator for pupil appraisal and diagnostics. She also served as dean of women at Odessa College for two years.

Dr. Hall has four children, Gary, 19; Al, 16; Kim, 13; and Kelly, 11.

St. Patrick's Day Party Honors BSP Rushees

Rushees of Alpha Beta Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, were honored Saturday afternoon at a Wearin' of the Green party in the home of Mrs. Larry Harp, Dogwood Street.

Mrs. Don Cunningham discussed activities of the six BSP chapters in the area. Guests were Mrs. Mark Barr, Mrs. Ronny Jones, Mrs. David Knezek, Mrs. Bobby Nicholson and Mrs. Dan Whitaker.

A St. Patrick's day theme was used in decorations, with four-leaf clovers used as name tags and in the cake design. A green linen cloth covered the serving table which was centered with an arrangement of green carnations and a white orchid.

Mrs. Jack Parrott announced there will be a couples party at 7:30 p.m., March 31 in the home of Mrs. Clarence Hays, Sand Springs. The next business meeting will be at 7:30 p.m., March 27 in the home of Mrs. John Phillips.

Senior Citizens Meet For Games

FORSAN (SC) — Senior citizens of Forsan met recently for their monthly get-together. The 17 present played "42" and dominoes. A covered-dish buffet was served. The group meets at 6:30 p.m. the third Thursday of each month.

The Louis Huffs of returned home following a Louisville, Ky., have returned home following a visit with his mother, Mrs. Frank Swiger.

A LOVELIER YOU Trim Shoulderlines: It's Not Really Hard

By MARY SUE MILLER

Trimming the upper back is not so difficult as it is reputed to be. Shoulderlines smooth down in a reasonable time — in time for incoming low-back dresses, let's say — when you perform the following routines:

1. Stand erect, tough fingertips to ends of shoulders, elbows out to sides. Very slowly rotate elbows in wide circles from back to front, 20 times. Aim for rhythmic movement, avoid broken or uneven motions.

2. Standing tall, shoulders down and head high; grasp thumbs to the front. Now, very slowly move elbows this way: straight up — straight down to shoulder level again — forward to touch each other — straight out to sides. Without stopping, repeat 10 times, slowly and deliberately.

3. Stretch out on floor, back down. Raise arms perpendicular to floor, with fingers pointing toward ceiling. Clap hands briskly together and immediately swing arms, palms down, to floor at shoulder level; without hesitation, swing arms up and clap hands. Repeat this one rapidly for 20 non-stop counts; rest and repeat once again.

As a dividend, these routines give relief from muscular tension in the upper back. Thus, the face and throat gain in relaxation. You not only feel, but look a great deal better.

Spade Club Award To J. Johansen

Johnny Johansen was presented a "spade club award" Tuesday evening at the U.S. Experiment Station for enrolling three new members into Men's Garden Club. The award will also be presented by the national organization.

New members are Will Johnson, Joe B. Johnson and Bob Butler. Phillip Edwards was a guest.

Terrariums, how they are planted and cared for, were discussed by Mrs. Jessie Crane and Mrs. John Edgar, guest speakers from D & M Garden Center. The women made two terrariums and led a discussion period.

A national convention is scheduled April 29-May 3 in Dallas, and members agreed to pay partial expenses to send Bill Sneed as a delegate. It was announced the club will hold a plant sale April 21 at Highland Center Mall.

Dr. Paul Koshi will do soil testing for members at the next meeting, 7:30 p.m., April 17 at the experiment station.

Sister Wolf Tells Of Changes In Catholic Church

Changes in the Roman Catholic Church from medieval times to the present were discussed Monday by Sister Emille Wolf, religious education director at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, during a meeting of the church guild.

Sister Wolf said there have been many changes in the Catholic church's liturgy and in the sisters' way of living. The liturgy is now spoken in English rather than Latin. She said the dress and privileges of sisters have been modified and modernized.

Although she is a member of the order of Missionary Sisters of Immaculate Conception within the Roman Catholic Church, Sister Wolf is employed at the local Episcopal Church. She received her bachelor's degree in sociology and a master's degree in missionary studies.

Hostess for the meeting was Mrs. Elsie Thorp. Miss Ione McAlister presided, and devotion was by Mrs. Florence Lenox. The guild will meet again at 2 p.m., April 16 at the church parish hall.

'Aces' Capture Vanderbilt Cup In Bridge Play

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The world champion Aces captured the Vanderbilt Cup of the American Contract Bridge League's Spring Nationals Tuesday.

The Aces downed a team captained by Bud Reinhold of Highland Park, Ill., by 92 points to gain the crown.

The new champions steadily pulled away from their opponents during a nine-hour match which ended just before 1 a.m. Members of the winning team are Ira Corn, Mike Lawrence, Robert Wolff, Robert Goldman, Robert Hamman and Mark Blumenthal, all of Dallas.

Report The Kook

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have always had a great deal of faith in chiropractic treatment, so naturally when my 15-year-old daughter suffered a bad whiplash in an auto accident I took her to a local chiropractic clinic where I paid in advance for a series of treatments. (She still has six to go.)

She was an hour late getting home from her last treatment and I was worried sick. When she got home I asked her some questions and she started to cry. Then she told me everything (I hope).

She said the chiropractor insisted on showing her his new apartment near the clinic. She said all the walls were covered with pictures of nudes from Playboy magazine. She told me he showed her his bedroom in which he had a huge waterbed, and he asked her to bounce on it a few times just to get the feel of it. She said he kept touching her and she could tell he was getting aroused, so she ran out, saying she had to get home.

If my husband were alive he'd know what to do about this nut. I can't let her go back there. What should I do? I trust you.

HEARTSICK IN FLORIDA
DEAR HEARTSICK: This "nut" is accountable to the state Chiropractic Association. Report him. And for good measure, report him to the American Chiropractic Association, 2200 Grand Ave., Des Moines, Ia. 50312. There are a few kooks in every profession and the ethical ones will appreciate your reporting the clinkers.

DEAR ABBY: Last year I was a volunteer for the American Cancer Society Crusade. While working on the campaign I learned more about the "danger signals" and made an appointment for my husband to see a doctor. Immediately following the examination he was operated on for cancer. Thank God they caught it in the early stages. And thank God I volunteered. Believe me, when they called me again this year I said yes.

GOT MORE THAN I GAVE

DEAR ABBY: If you had friends who used your expensive cocktail table for a footstool, what would you say or do?

BUGGED

Stolen Goods Are Often Sold To Unsuspecting

(Second in a Series)
 This is the story of Bill Jones, a hard-working, law-abiding young store clerk with two small children and a salary of less than $9,000 per year. He and his wife, Beth, saved for four years for enough cash for a new car because the family budget wouldn't allow quick credit or an easy loan. When Bill came home excited one night about an "almost new" auto he had discovered on the recently opened used car lot down the street, his wife went along with the purchase. They bought the car and for one week were in seventh heaven. Then, Saturday afternoon, a uniformed officer knocked on the door, asking whose auto was sitting in the driveway. "It's mine," said Bill. "I'm sorry," the officer replied, "but that car is a stolen vehicle, and we have to impound it." Bill and Beth were stunned. They couldn't produce papers because the title, to be mailed, had not yet arrived. A quick check with the used car dealer revealed he, too, was awaiting return of papers from the "original owner."

BOGUS PAPERS
 But that "original owner," it turned out, had used bogus papers and license plates when the automobile was sold to the used car dealer. Bill and Beth were left holding the bag — their dream exploded — the victims of a sophisticated organized crime car theft ring. Organized auto theft and theft of personal and household property pours millions of dollars yearly into pockets of Texas mobsters. Autos and other vehicles head the list, but thieves also make off with everything from television sets to hair brushes from Texans each year. One officer recalled not long ago "the hardest thing I ever had to do in my life was go into the small home of a low-income family and take away the television set a hard-working mother had finally been able to bring home for the kids. "She bought it from a shady dealer, and it turned out to be stolen goods. It wasn't easy to walk out with all those kids crying for something they had waited for all their lives," he added. The Texas Organized Crime Prevention Council, co-chaired by Attorney Gen. John Hill and Col. Wilson E. Speir, director of the Department of Public Safety, reports motor vehicles are prime targets for organized thieves.

MISSING AUTOS
 Using Dallas as an example, criminals stole property valued at $15.7 million last year. More than $6 million of that total was cars — although ultimately $4.4 million worth of autos were recovered. And end-of-the-year tally for 1971 estimated $50 million or more worth of motor vehicles were reported stolen in Texas. That figure represents an estimated 48,323 vehicles stolen in the state during 1971.

'Oh, Well Back To Hamburger'
 INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — "Oh well, back to hamburger," said a disheartened would-be customer after FBI agents confiscated 6,000 pounds of hijacked beef at a southside parking lot. The shipment of beef, stolen en route from a packing house in Kansas City, Mo., to an A&P warehouse in Charlotte, N.C., was being sold here for $1 a pound, the FBI said. It was believed to be part of a 25,000-pound cargo hijacked March 9. Acting on a tip, the FBI found the beef in a 40-foot semi-trailer truck. "I knew it was too good to be true," the would-be buyer said. "By the time it gets to the supermarket it will cost a fortune."

Many average Texans conclude the absence of complaints means the absence of organized crime in the car theft racket. Nothing could be further from the truth. "At the present time, 80 to 85 per cent of all stolen vehicles are recovered," said Col. Speir, "but many of those not salvaged are taken by professional thieves and organized theft rings." Car theft, as a matter of record, often is the "kindergarten" for a young thug. Underworld bosses, especially "fence" (the receiver of stolen goods), often sponsor fledglings in "lower level" crimes such as home burglary, hijackings and auto theft. By bankrolling prospective employees, whom they are actually training and testing, the organized criminal element is the catalyst for street crime. The thefts cleared in this case involved the use of salvage General John Mitchell has said, "When you read of housebreakings, shoplifting and industrial thefts, you should realize that organized crime provides a major network for the disposal of these stolen goods." The DPS Criminal Law Enforcement Division and local authorities have uncovered evidence on more than 40 auto theft rings. In 34 instances, positive identification of the leader was made and names of members and method of operation discovered. Many arrests have resulted.

RING DISRUPTED
 Lawmen in North Texas recently disrupted a multi-city car theft ring employing one of the more common methods used to steal a car. In the raids and resulting arrests, officers recovered 13 stolen cars which had illegally obtained salvage titles and salvage vehicle identification numbers (VIN) and license tags. Col. Speir explained the tags, certificate of title and identification plates from a vehicle which has either been wrecked or totally destroyed. Such items find their way into pawn shops or to the "friendly neighborhood fence" — for the thief, that is — and are unloaded or resold. Many homeowners now are using electric pencil devices to mark the more valuable items within their homes. Of course, the more obvious precautions such as locking your car when you leave it or

DEVALUATION Impact Cited
 WASHINGTON (AP) — The most recent devaluation of the dollar touched off a complex series of international financial transactions that will require a new appropriation of $2.25 billion, Congress was told. Paul A. Volcker, undersecretary of the Treasury for financial affairs, said assets and liabilities flowing from the recent 10-per-cent devaluation roughly offset each other. Volcker told the Senate Appropriations Committee the total increase in assets amounts to $2.5 billion. "The total amount of obligations requiring appropriations resulting from the par-value change now before you amounts to $2.225 billion," Volcker said. He said the appropriations request is being rounded off at a higher figure to meet contingencies and past experience suggests a slightly lesser amount eventually may be needed. "There is a rough offsetting between increases in assets and liabilities as a consequence of devaluation," Volcker said. "Most of the liabilities involve either exchanges of assets with the International Monetary Fund or remote contingent liabilities."

Dealing With Crime

The President gave vent to his frustrations on crime in America last week as a prelude to a request to Congress for a program on law enforcement and drug abuse. He laid into "permissive judges" and "soft-headed judges and probation officers" and called for tougher punishment for criminals. He said he would propose a new death-penalty bill "for certain federal crimes."

Those crimes, he said, would include kidnaping, fire bombing, hijacking, treason and attacks on police officers.

Whether he can write a constitutional death-penalty law is one question for if we are to have a death penalty for one the equitable thing is to make it applicable to all. Whether the Congress would pass one is another. The issue is emotional. Indeed, at the time the Supreme Court struck down the penalty, the trend was toward writing it out of law.

Tough penalties on the law books is not the real issue in crime-fighting in America. The real issue is even-handed and effective application of the laws we have.

Texas has a chance to set the national pace on fair, effective and practical criminal procedure that will do what criminal law is supposed to do — if the Legislature will do the necessary things to implement the plan.

First, there is a proposal to clarify criminal law so that the art of the loophole in the courtroom will be diminished. That revision will include judicial sentencing, instead of jury sentencing. It will include provision for indeterminate sentencing, whereby a convict may be kept in prison for as long as necessary to persuade him that crime is serious business.

Judicial sentencing would avoid the present wide differences of penalties assessed to various persons convicted of the same kind of crime.

Second, there is a judicial reform system being worked out by the Calvert Task Force. That task force, headed by former Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert, aims at insuring a workable system of courts.

Such a system can more nearly guarantee a speedy trial. All authorities on criminal law agree that the greatest deterrent to crime is the certainty of a speedy trial.

Third, continuing improvement of police training and manpower are essential. Many communities offer police education as a crime-fighting aid.

At the level of juvenile delinquency, which was the focal point of crime fighting a decade ago, some progress is being made. Detention centers are attempting corrective work. There's still need for even sooner intervention by the legal and social systems to ameliorate crime-breeding situations.

The Drunken Driver

Stepped up pressure on the drunk driver is not a provincial or even a national thing.

Malaya not only sends drunk drivers to jail but their spouses also. In South Africa the conviction brings a 10-year prison term and possibly a $2,800 fine. Turkish authorities drive violators 20 miles out of town and have them walk back — under escort. Second offenders in Norway have their licenses revoked for life. Finland imposes three weeks of hard labor. San Salvador has the harshest penalty — execution by a firing squad.

Still the problem persists. It may not be so much how the individual is dealt with upon conviction, but more importantly that he is dealt with promptly after being charged. Certainty of an expeditious trial may be the most effective way to face up to this critical matter.

Paseo Del Rio

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

I confess a warm spot for San Antonio, from whence I have just returned. This is for a number of reasons — one it is rated as one of four distinctive cities of the nation, and with ample reason. It has a flavor all of its own. Second, San Antonio dared the impossible to stage a "world's fair" in the 1968 Hemisfair, which focussed global attention upon Texas as nothing else could have done.

THE UNIQUENESS stems from its confluence of the Americas, as the Hemisfair theme proclaimed and accentuated by the development of the picturesque San Antonio River which meanders through the heart of the downtown structures. Some genius back in the WPA days had the foresight to line the channel with limestone blocks and to provide walkways with similar materials. Paseo del Rio, they call it.

OVER THE YEARS adjacent buildings have been adapted to it, or the newer ones to capitalize upon it. Sidewalk cafes line parts of the paseo, and clubs, markets, etc. open on to the walk, while motels, apartments, hotels overlook it. Banks are lined with giant cypress, oaks, pecans and assorted other trees, along with a profusion of vines and flowers.

PADDLE BOATS or passenger barges, frequently with dining parties aboard, glide up and down the narrow channel. At one moment you are in a canyon lined by towering buildings; in another you feel far removed with the trees furnishing a curtain of lace between you and the sky. Around the bend rises a magnificently lighted tower. Walkways arch over the river as do street bridges.

As part of Hemisfair, a channel was cut from the downtown horseshoe of the river, going east between Commerce and Market Streets to the Hemisfair Plaza. This goes past the Chamber of Commerce building, the convention center, and bends back to a basin where once there were water skiing exhibitions, and near the distinctive domed needle — Tower of the Americas, the Hemisfair trademark.

THE POINT is that all of this was not merely a big-show promotion, but something that remained, besides the Hemisfair, deficit to further invigorate San Antonio as a picturesque tourist and convention point.

Moreover, it has become the platform for another ambitious step. In conjunction with an urban renewal program, the City of San Antonio is planning to cut a two-block channel from the northeast corner of the downtown river loop and carry it east to the front of Alamo Plaza, and the shrine of Texas liberty. In the triangle cut off and lying south of the triangle, one national hotel chain has agreed to raise a 1,000-room hotel. You may be sure that there will be other development to fit into the pattern.

THAT WILL take nerve, money and vision, but it likely will pay dividends. Most metropolitan points have downtown problems, but San Antonio is doing a better job of preserving its core than most.

And now for an epilogue: We don't have a downtown creek, and a convention center, etc., but we do have a creek which meanders in a horseshoe through Comanche Trail park. It wouldn't take a lot to dam the lower end and pump back the modest flow to a point above the main park. In the process we would have a freshlet through the park.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

What is wrong with a family where there is continual argument? I'm 16, and my parents both work, but when all of us are together, we can't seem to get along. My sister and I are the only ones who go to church, and don't argue.

D.S. No doubt, you've learned the origin of the family from the teaching in your church. In the first Bible book, you have the statement by God "It isn't good for man to be alone." From that has come the whole structure of the family as the basic unit in society. Where its function is impaired, it's more than a loss, it's a distinct liability that can evolve into a tragedy.

In a recent survey, "immaturity" was given as the chief cause for marital disharmony. Whatever may be the reason for the conflict between your parents, you must let God help you in two ways. First, to develop an immunity to their bickering, and secondly, to watch for ways to help them correct it.

The record of human progress is that very often advances are made in the face of the greatest obstacles. The apostle Paul, who experienced a few hurdles of his own, said: "I can do everything . . . with the help of Christ, who gives me the strength and power." You'll need massive doses of patience, love, and compassion, but faith can help you make it. Keep the communication lines open with your sister, and pray for the spiritual health of your parents, for this is the only remedy to rejuvenate a sick home.

Gunfighter Named Willy

Hal Boyle

By JEFFREY D. ALDERMAN
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — Little Willy Undermeyer may not have been much good at sandlot baseball. He may not have been able to balance his bike without training wheels. But he played one hell of a game of cowboys.

Not that his style was particularly flashy. No, Willy was not the white stallion kind of cowboy. Nor was he especially good at outdriving the other preschool gunslings in the neighborhood. Willy's specialty was "circling around" and there wasn't a 6-year-old in town who was better.

Maybe Willy was the best because he had the most patience. It took awhile for circling around to pay off. A kid of less durability might make a mad rush up the hill at the enemy. Maybe the kid would end up getting everybody with a flurry of verbalized gunshots. Maybe not, Jackie Sheehy was such a rash player.

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 37 years old, 5 feet 5, and weigh 135, which my doctor admits doesn't make me look heavy or overweight.

I recently had a three-hour sugar-tolerance test which showed 191 at one hour, 160 at two hours and 130 at three hours, indicating diabetes.

However my doctor won't start me on medication, which doesn't make sense to me, as my sugar was also high last year. His only advice is to lose 25 pounds.

Do you think this wise, or should I consult another doctor? — N.I.

Doubtless you can shop around and find somebody who will put you on diabetes medication instead of telling you what you ought to do — lose some poundage. But I hope you won't.

Your sugar tolerance test is, as you realize, indicative of diabetes. The question, however, is whether the diabetes is mild enough, at this stage, to be controlled by proper diet. It's better to control it, if possible, without medication. At 37, you have a good many years ahead of you, and if you can keep the diabetes under control by diet instead of medication for some of those

"Dah! Dah! I got you" Jackie, playing a fierce Geronimo, would shout as he bounded for a fortress of empty milk crates held by Terry Maher and four fellow members of the U.S. Cavalry, Toddler Division. "Yah did not," came Terry's inevitable retort. "You weren't pointing your gun at me."

"Was so." Then Pee Wee Ruggles, a 5-year-old who sucked his trigger finger, would whiningly interject: "You're wrong, Jackie Sheehy, you're wrong. You're supposed to say 'bang, bang,' not 'dah, dah.' Who ever heard a gun go 'dah, dah' anyhow?"

While the others argued the pros and cons of "dah, dah" and "bang, bang," Willy would begin circling around. He would take them so completely by surprise that he would be able to say both "bang, bang" and "dah, dah" before anybody could get his genuine Roy Rodgers six-shooter out of its plastic holster.

There had been disasters. Once he emerged triumphantly from the underbrush, reached for his trusty repeater and found he had lost it while circling. Another time, just as he was about to capture some ferocious, three-foot dangerous desperadoes near Harry Billips' sandbox, his mother called him for dinner. Willy obediently answered "Coming, mother," blew his cover and took three slugs from Terry Maher.

But on this particular day, everything was working perfectly. Willy's firearms were scraped raw by the brambles he had crawled through. His face was covered with dirt and his nose was running. He had torn his new corduroys at one knee.

"Dah! Dah! Bang! Bang!" he screamed. "Got you, got you all!"

It was a masterful job of circling around. Four outlaws had bit the dust.

Just another day for a gun-fighter named Little Willy Undermeyer.

Heed Your Doctor

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

usually render you sterile totally? And what kind of care is needed to get rid of this problem? — J.S.

The single undescended testicle should have very little effect on your fertility. You would be in a position comparable to the young woman with a single ovary.

In both single or bilateral cases, measures can be attempted to correct the situation if detected early enough. This can either surgical correction or use of hormone.

At your age, it is too late, I would think, to attempt hormone therapy.

I do strongly urge you to have the undescended testicle removed since there is a chance that it could cause serious problems later on, including malignancy.

You can lose weight if you really want to! Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," tells you how — naturally and without gimmicks — to the level that best suits your individual needs. For a copy, write to him, care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope.

Stretching Limits

By Rowland Evans
And Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Within a week of the unprecedented refusal to allow his White House aides, past or present, to appear before any "formal" congressional committee, President Nixon is under heavy — but still private — criticism from leading legal scholars and politicians in his own party.

INDEED, MR. NIXON'S extraordinary claim of an "executive privilege" that covers White House aides who left his employ years ago has engendered deep unease and anger among some of those very staffers.

Some feel Mr. Nixon has badly stretched and thereby endangered the fuzzy but invaluable doctrine that permits a President to conduct the congressional harassment of intimate presidential business. That doctrine functions best by tacit mutual consent of the executive and legislative branches. But other Republican lawyers — who feel the courts ultimately would uphold the Nixon interpretation — fear its political impact is giving the nation the strong impression Mr. Nixon has much to conceal in the Watergate case.

PRESENT PRESIDENTIAL aides as well as Nixon allies looking into the White House from the outside concentrate their anger against White House counsel John W. Dean III, whom they hold responsible for the spectacularly broad Nixon policy based on the separation of powers. When the executive privilege issue heated up during confirmation hearings of L. Patrick Gray to be FBI director, Dean did a study for the President. Dean consulted with lawyers from New York and elsewhere, many of whom strongly urged a limited interpretation of executive privilege.

NEVERTHELESS, the 34-year-old former counsel for the House Judiciary Committee wrote a legal brief ("competent, but not outstanding" according to one Nixon aide) suggesting that the President had legal powers to claim about as much "executive privilege" as he wanted.

But some Republicans believe Mr. Nixon had already decided to claim the outer limits of executive privilege — but that there was no one in the White House to say no to him.

TWO STRONG figures of the first Nixon administration, former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former presidential counselor Bryce Harlow, are both back in their old jobs far from the Oval Office. Thus, the White House no longer has a "Mr. No" to perform the distasteful chore of telling the President he may be very wrong. The two foremost powers on the President's staff, H. R. (Bob) Haldeman and John Ehrlichman, have played little part in the debilitating struggle over executive privilege.

Deep Feelings

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — On the highly emotional issue of amnesty for draft evaders President Nixon has overwhelming support for his adamant refusal to compromise. No poll is required to show how deep the feeling runs.

IN RESPONSE to a column suggesting that in accord with past precedent a way might be found to allow the evaders who fled abroad to be rehabilitated, letters have come from around the country. By as much as three to one they take a stern stand against any compromise. Those who fled must pay the penalty under the law.

Thank goodness, we have a strong President and not a weak one, a woman writes from Pennsylvania. She goes on:

"MY YOUNGEST son went when his country called, as his father and I taught him, 'God and country first.' He lay in hospitals overseas for four months and then came home for two more operations. Yes, he is fine now, but will always carry the wounds of war with him."

From Kentucky a reader writes, challenging any precedent between the amnesty granted by Lincoln for the Confederate forces at the end of the Civil War and amnesty for Vietnam evaders:

"My people were Kentucky Unionists but would have resented, even as I do, your comparison of amnesty for the South with amnesty for the yellow so-and-so's who cut and run for Canada and elsewhere when faced with duty to their country."

OTHERS REACTED differently. A woman reader in San Diego, who lost a son in Vietnam, phoned to ask how she could help persuade the President to modify his stand against any compromises. And she said she spoke for a friend who had also lost a son.

A letter from a reader in Buffalo endorsed the statement in my column that a way must be found to insure that the thousands of young who fled shall not forever be barred from the United States or returned to face the certainty of long prison terms. He writes:

"What I can't understand is the utter vindictiveness of President Nixon who occasionally speaks of himself as a birthright Quaker, and yet I've seen a few news accounts in which Philadelphia Quakers questioned the standing of Mr. Nixon."

A Devotion For Today . . .

If ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses. (Matthew 6:15)
PRAYER: O God, help me to forgive when others wrong me, and never to forget Thy forgiveness of my sins against Thee. I ask in the name of Jesus, who has taught mankind to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

Texas Wins Sabine Boundary Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you jump into the Sabine River from the Texas bank today, swim to the middle and return, the U.S. Supreme Court says you'll never have left Texas. The issue is more weighty, however, than whether one is swimming in Texas or Louisiana. At stake is oil property valued at a billion dollars. The high court in its ruling Tuesday left unsettled ownership of islands in the western half of the river. The ruling, however, did settle a long-standing dispute between Texas and Louisiana over ownership of the lands beneath the Sabine River which serves as a boundary for those two Southern states.

DISAPPOINTED
"Naturally, we're disappointed with the decision but I'd like to say the decision is not the end of litigation. It's actually only the beginning of the tidelands case," commented Louisiana Atty. Gen. William Guste. Congressional spokesmen said they were uncertain of the effects of the court's failure to rule on ownership of the islands. The court had refused a recommendation by Special Master Robert Van Pelt that the islands be regarded as Texas property. Instead, the court ordered further studies to see if U.S. may own the islands. The dispute over where the exact boundary between the states lies is based on treaties and land agreements dating back to 1812 when Louisiana entered the Union. It was more tongue-in-cheek, good humored ribbing until oil was discovered in the western half, or Texas side, of the river.

NOT FUNNY
The boundary dispute suddenly was no longer funny. The court said Louisiana owns all the islands in the eastern half of the state but "we shall withhold judgment with respect to the ownership of islands in the western half of the Sabine River."

When Louisiana entered the Union in 1812, the U.S. signed a treaty with Spain making the western bank the international boundary and the middle of the river was the Louisiana state line. Texas entered the U.S. in 1845 and in 1848 was permitted to extend its eastern boundary to the center of the Sabine River, presumably encompassing all islands in the western half of the river. But, therein lies the rub. The high court says it will continue studying agreements and treaties to determine if Texas was conveyed the islands, also, or just the submerged land around them.

Personal Income Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — National personal income jumped by $8.3 billion last month, mainly because of another sizable increase in private payrolls and a boost in social security benefits, the government said today.

The Commerce Department said the gain, at a seasonally adjusted annual rate, brought personal income to an annual pace of $993.9 billion in February. This compared with a $2.7 billion increase a month earlier. Special factors held down the January increase and helped expand the February boost, the department said.

Good Ship Hope Discussed Here

Over 120 medically-oriented people met Tuesday night at the Country Club to hear Dr. Jack Turner, Fort Worth gynecologist, speak on the project HOPE.

DR. JACK TURNER

HOPE is a ship sponsored by the People-to-People Health Foundation Inc. on a non-profit, non-sectarian basis that goes to needy parts of the world and docks to help teach medicine to the area.

The ship is served by volunteer medical doctors, dentists, nurses, pharmacists and others in addition to a regular staff.

Their main purpose is teaching and they donate no medical equipment or other financial donations. They donate their abilities and time to help teach medicine in needy parts of the world.

Dr. Turner, who is a longtime personal friend of Dr. William B. Allensworth of Big Spring, has donated four separate two-month periods to the project and plans two more in the immediate future.

He told the group in detail of his recent tour of duty in Brazil and the needs and service of the medical group in that part of the world.

The dinner was in conjunction with the regular meeting of the local medical society. Dr. Carl Marcum, president, presided. Others at the head table included Mrs. Marcum, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Tinley, Dr. and Mrs. Robert S. Griffin, and Dr. and Mrs. Pete Rhymes. Dr. Tinley is vice president of the local association. Dr. Griffin, secretary and Dr. Rhymes, delegate to the Texas Medical Association. Dr. and Mrs. Allensworth were also head table guests. The doctors held a short meeting following the dinner and program. Dr. P. W. Malone gave the invocation preceding the dinner. Guests were introduced including nurses, dentists, pharmacists, and hospital administrators invited for the occasion.

Photos Of Battered Body Shown To Kountze Jury

KOUNTZE, Tex. (AP) — A jury the defense claims is being inflamed against the defendant but during opening testimony Tuesday he protested introduction of photographs as prosecution exhibits on grounds they were inflammatory.

PICTURES
The pictures were those of the bloody corpses of Mabel McCormick and her granddaughter, Leslie Bowman, 3. The pair was found last year in Mrs. McCormick's smoldering antique shop-home here. The child's head was crammed into a toilet bowl.

FAST TRIAL
"But I feel as good about this case as any I've had," Goodwin said. He said any appeal would be based on his failure to be given a change of venue in the trial.

"I expect the trial to end much earlier than anticipated before the end of the week," he said. In a telephone interview Goodwin Tuesday night refused to say he thought the jury is being inflamed against Young.

to say he thought the jury is being inflamed against Young during opening testimony Tuesday he protested introduction of photographs as prosecution exhibits on grounds they were inflammatory.

The pictures were those of the bloody corpses of Mabel McCormick and her granddaughter, Leslie Bowman, 3. The pair was found last year in Mrs. McCormick's smoldering antique shop-home here. The child's head was crammed into a toilet bowl.

The arson charges against Young stem from the twin deaths. In two earlier trials Young narrowly escaped when tried at Belton in Mrs. McCormick's death and again at Tyler where he was tried in the child's death. Both times he received probation.

FIND BONES OF WOMAN NOT MISSED FOR YEAR

HOUSTON (AP) — The skeleton of a 76-year-old woman whom nobody had missed for a year was found in a garage apartment.

Police said Emma J. Banks apparently died in her sleep a year ago in the apartment where she lived for years while working as a maid.

Mrs. W. T. Jeanes, her past employer and owner of the apartment, said Mrs. Banks had retired but frequently visited the Jeanes home when she was not living with her own family in Sealy, Tex.

The apartment in which she died behind Mrs. Jeanes' former home, now is used as rental property. It is in the densely populated Montrose area of Houston.

Mrs. Jeanes said she had assumed Mrs. Banks had returned to her family in Sealy and family members said they thought Mrs. Banks was staying in Houston.

The bones were discovered by a 9-year-old boy.

SS Agents Plan Visits

During April, May and June, regular visits will be made by representatives of the district Social Security office to several area towns.

A Big Spring Representative will be in Snyder every Tuesday in the three-month period to help citizens apply for benefits and Social Security numbers and to answer questions.

He will be stationed on the third floor of the county courthouse from 10 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 2 p.m.

A representative will be in Colorado City every Wednesday during the time span from 10 a.m. to noon at the Chamber of Commerce office.

He will visit Lawesa every Thursday from 10 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 2 p.m. at the county library conference room, Houston Street entrance.

Two visits will be made by an SS agent to Stanton on April 23 and June 25, both from 2 to 3 p.m. at the county judge's office in the courthouse there.

Spokesmen from the SS office said citizens needing advice or information are encouraged to telephone the office for faster service. The number is AC915-267-5226. The office is located in the Federal Building, 501 Main St. in Big Spring.

County's Paving To Be Discussed

County Commissioners Court will meet at 3:15 p.m. Thursday to plan paving and seal-coating for 1973. County Judge A. G. Mitchell said paving will be limited because of the large amount of seal-coating needed to protect existing county paved roads.

Texas Colonel Hails Nixon's Bomb Raids

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — amount of anti-aircraft fire in the Hanoi area. He was captured about five years ago.

McMurray, whose wife lived in Fayetteville, N.C., during his captivity, indicated he believed the bombing policies of President Nixon led to his release.

McMurray, M.Sgt. John Anderson, 43, of El Paso, Tex., Spec. 6 Robert Lewis III, 25, of Houston, Tex., spent the last years as POWs in facilities in and around Hanoi.

WE WERE THERE

As an explanation to McMurray saying "it was scary," Anderson added, "We were there."

Anderson said he saw some evidence of bomb damage, but witnesses no actual bombings while being moved around Hanoi. POWs in cells could see "flashes of light" from bombs, he said.

Like McMurray, Anderson and Lewis were captured in the South and all three agreed prison conditions in the North were better.

"It was much better in the North than the South," said McMurray. "We ate more rice in the South. When we got up North, we got rice only maybe at Tet and every Sunday morning."

Lewis, also a captive for about five years, said "Activity in the South was somewhat different. We had more things to do. We carried some of our food and wood for a matter of survival and in the North, we didn't do anything of this nature."

Although he was told several days in advance that he was to be freed, Lewis said, "We waited until the day the gate was open."

SMILES

Anderson said the attitude of POWs he knew was "surprisingly good" and they kept it that way with various antics.

"I don't think the guards ever quite got used to the idea of people walking out with a smile on their face after we'd been up there five years. As things got a little closer, we'd come out and start laughing."

"They never did get used to that. That kind of took them by storm. I think that was part of the thing that kept them off balance as much as they tried to keep us."

Preliminary OK Is Given For Safety Coordinator

Preliminary approval has been given by the Texas Department of Public Affairs for state funding of a traffic safety coordinator for Big Spring.

Through that department, the state has so far paid the salaries and out-of-town travel expenses for nine coordinators in cities throughout Texas.

Big Spring city commissioners in February okayed the hiring of such a man with the city paying his in-town travel expenses and fringe benefits such as hospitalization insurance.

City Manager Harry Nagel said a preliminary application was made by the city. Since it was accepted, Big Spring will now submit a formal application for review. Nagel said results of that review will be received probably within several weeks.

If hired, the coordinator would help local governments develop traffic safety plans and could aid in formulation of over-all street plan, according to Nagel.

Yeah, Run Like Mad, That's What

DALLAS (AP) — What would you do if you were carrying a six-foot-plus, 500-pound gorilla and he was coming out of his drug-tranquilized state? Would racing at 80 miles an hour seem sensible?

That appeared the smart thing to do as far as the police force and Marsalis Park Zoo administrators and attendants were concerned.

And that's how Om Bom reached his new home Tuesday. Om Bom was given his tranquilizer shot at 7:30 a.m. in St. Louis and laid out on the floor of a plane en route to Dallas.

About the hour the DC3 touched down shortly after noon, the time also had arrived for the sedative to begin wearing off.

Six husky men picked up a net underneath Om Bom, rushed him to a large van, and, with a three-car police escort, sped at 80 m.p.h. to the zoo about 10 miles away.

Just as he entered his cage, Om Bom began opening and shutting his eyes as he began coming back into the world of the conscious.

Attendants gave him another shot to allow a medical examination.

Om Bom, 19 years old, will become the mate of two female gorillas in the zoo, it is hoped, resulting in a lot of little gorillas.

The zoo in Dallas bought him for $7,500. He was captured in a jungle at the age of 2.

Brothers Again Charged Here

Two Big Spring brothers, Elbert Ernest Turner and John Roger Turner, were arrested by sheriff's officers for the second time in two days yesterday for passing of worthless checks.

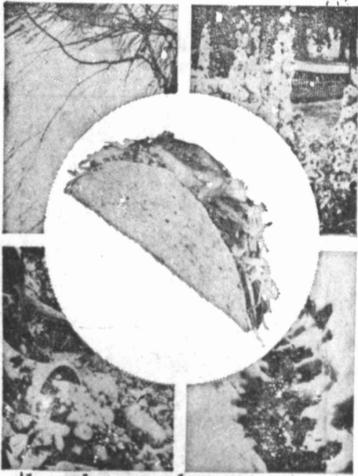

The brothers, both of 402 State St., were still in county jail this morning. John Roger Turner, 22, was arrested at 9:40 a.m. yesterday on a misdemeanor charge and bond was set by Peace Justice Walter Grice at $500.

Ernest Turner, 26, was arrested at 4:15 p.m. yesterday on a felony charge with bond set by Peace Justice Gus Ochotorena at $3,500.

Both were charged Monday with felony offenses of defrauding by worthless check and were released after posting a total of $5,000 in bonds.

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Some day that huge Boeing 747 booming you through the sky may be quietly checking up on air pollution as it goes.

Under a National Aeronautics and Space Administration project titled GASP (Global Air Sampling Program), a 747 will be fitted with instruments to monitor air pollution in the upper atmosphere.

Ultimately, according to NASA officials at the Lewis Research Center in Cleveland, 10 to 15 foreign and domestic commercial planes will carry similar equipment, maintaining global surveillance of pollution in the airlines.

NASA announced this weekend that airlines airframes manufacturers and avionics system companies have until April 2 to submit bids on the equipment itself, installation and flight testing.

Bill To Shield Newsmen Moves

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A bill to protect newsmen's confidential sources has been approved by a Senate subcommittee, which agreed with the sponsor, however, that the Texas Supreme Court should be allowed to force those sources into the open under certain circumstances.

The bill, amended numerous times from the way it came over from the House, was recommended on a 4-0 vote to the full Senate Jurisprudence Committee.

It could be considered at the committee's next regular Tuesday meeting.

The bill specifies that "professional newsmen" shall not be compelled to disclose any news-related information, or the source of the information, in any legal proceeding or an investigation by a court, grand jury or legislative committee or to a state, county or city body.

It states, however, that a person seeking the information or source may petition the Texas Supreme Court to compel disclosure, and the court may issue such an order "if it is proven by a preponderance of the evidence that the information cannot be obtained by any alternative means and that the withholding of such information would cause or threaten substantial harm or injury, endanger public health and welfare, or cause substantial injustice."

Pilot Not Hurt In Plane Mishap

Pilot of a Navy fighter jet sustained no injuries after the plane blew its nosegear tire and left the main runway at Webb AFB late yesterday afternoon. Webb spokesmen said the plane, a Navy A-4, blew its nosegear tire, broke through a net barrier on the runway, hit a runway light post, and went off the asphalt onto a grassy area. The nosegear collapsed. The pilot was a Marine major on a cross-country flight from El Toro Marine Air Station in California.

Deaths Of 15 In America Linked To 'Germ Killers'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The deaths of 15 persons in the United States have been associated with the external use of medical cleansing agents containing the germ killer hexachlorophene, according to federal records.

In most instances, the cleansing agent was pHisoHex which contains 3 per cent hexachlorophene, the records show. The manufacturer said the deaths were "not pHisoHex deaths."

The Food and Drug Administration in September banned hexachlorophene (HCP) from all but prescription products, but did not tell newsmen of HCP's association with the 15 U.S. deaths although it was aware of them.

FRENCH INFANTS
The FDA did cite the deaths of 39 French infants and a university study correlating frequent bathtubs with HCP solutions and brain lesions. The ban covered over-the-counter sale of popular deodorant products containing HCP.

Asked why the FDA did not cite the 15 U.S. deaths, an agency spokesman said the French and university reports formed "the important data."

"Our action was fully responsive on the basis of the data as it was being developed," the spokesman said.

At no point do FDA records list the germ killer as cause of the 15 deaths which occurred between 1954-71. They are reported in a September 1972 FDA summary under a category entitled, "Fatal Reactions Associated With Topical Use" of HCP.

The summary also lists several nonfatal reactions and other deaths associated with accidental swallowing of products containing HCP.

Many of the 15 deaths occurred during a period when Winthrop Laboratories, manufacturer of pHisoHex, was not reporting to the FDA any adverse reactions to the product. Asked about the deaths, an official of Sterling Drug, Inc., which owns Winthrop Laboratories, said in a telephone interview that the deaths noted in the FDA report "are not pHisoHex deaths."

"Just because someone happens to be bathing with hexachlorophene at the time he dies doesn't mean he dies from hexachlorophene," said Dr. Monroe Trout, Sterling's medical director.

FATAL REACTIONS
The FDA records on fatal reactions associated with HCP cite instances in hospitals of the use of pHisoHex on burns and in enemas and vaginal packs.

In taking action against HCP in September, the FDA noted reports that said the French infants died as a result of baby powder accidentally containing 6 per cent HCP, double the intended dose.

The FDA also cited a University of Washington report which showed "a positive correlation between three or more exposures to hexachlorophene bathing with 3 per cent hexachlorophene emulsion and lesions found in the brain stem in premature infants who died of unrelated causes."

Widely used in hospitals for more than 20 years, HCP increasingly in recent years came into use in a variety of deodorant cosmetics and soaps.

In December 1971 the FDA sent a drug bulletin to 600,000 doctors and other health professionals, warning them to discontinue use of products such as pHisoHex in routine bathing of infants and adults.

BULLETIN
The bulletin cited studies by Winthrop which showed that monkeys bathed in a 3 per cent HCP solution for 90 days had developed brain lesions.

In January 1972, the FDA announced in a press release that

Asked for clarification of this statement in light of the deaths, FDA spokesman Donald A. Berreth said Edwards was "talking of home use." Berreth said also that the FDA didn't have the death records at that time.

Ten deaths associated with the antibacterial chemical were reported by Winthrop in January 1972 and others came to light as a result of FDA research, he said.

Is Nixon Trying To Muzzle Gray?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has reaffirmed its support of L. Patrick Gray III to be director of the FBI, amid Democratic accusations that the Nixon administration is muzzling the nominee.

Gray was called before the Senate Judiciary Committee today for a seventh day of questioning and even though Gray said some action is in order there was no indication when a vote might be taken on his nomination to succeed the late J. Edgar Hoover.

NEW TWIST
Gray's testimony took a new turn Tuesday. He said that under orders of Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst he could no longer talk about substantive matters in the FBI investigation of last year's bugging of Democratic national headquarters in the Watergate building.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., another committee member, told newsmen Gray is being muzzled and called this a disservice to Gray's chances of winning Senate confirmation.

However, Republican Leader Hugh Scott, also a member of the committee, said "the White House has absolutely nothing to conceal."

The extent of the FBI investigation of the Watergate bugging, and the question of whether the White House tried to influence it, has been among issues raised at the hearings.

Gray, acting FBI director since last May 3, has repeatedly testified that the agency conducted an all-out, no-holds-barred investigation.

NO CHANGE
Meanwhile, asked Tuesday if Gray's nomination is being abandoned, White House Press Secretary Ziegler replied, "absolutely not."

And Scott said: "I have the impression that the President's support is exactly the same as when he sent it (the nomination) up, and that is full."

The Senate Republican Leader said the Nixon administration is determined to resist any attempt by Democrats to make political hay out of the Gray nomination and a special hearing on the Watergate case later this year.

Bulldogs' Beal Chooses HC Cage Career

Coahoma standout athlete Roland "Snicker" Beal signed an application for admission with Howard County Junior College Tuesday night, and his decision to play basketball with the Jayhawks ended a long talent hunt by more than 50 football teams.

Beal, who starred as a quarterback and defensive back for the two-time Dist. 7-AA Champion Bulldogs, was inked by Howard County coach Harold Wilder at his home.

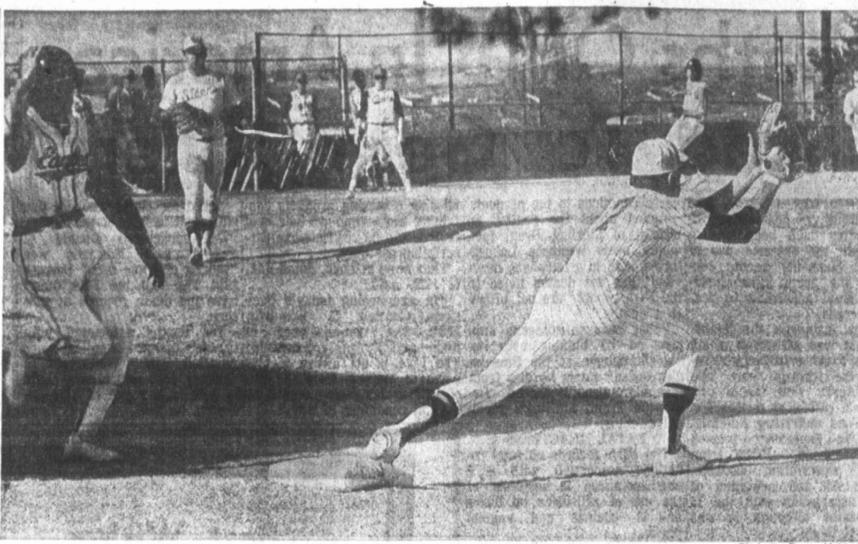

"He's the type person we like to have in our program," Wilder said of his first recruit of the year. "He's got real high character and plenty of good physical ability. He should fit right in at HCJC."

"He has plenty of speed, and when he starts to concentrate on basketball year round, he should be able to develop his ability even more," said Wilder. The Jayhawks finished the year at 27-13, and lost three sophomores off the squad, including starting guard Herbie Lee.

Beal, a 6-1 180-pounder, was named to the Class AA all-state basketball team as a junior when he averaged 19 points a game. That season he also made the Andrews, Robert Lee and Reagan County all-tournament teams, as well as being named to the 7-AA all-district unit.

Last season he helped coach Jody Sory's Bulldogs to the 7-AA cage crown, and was an all-regional pick as the "Dogs advanced to the finals before falling to defending state champion Morton, 64-50. The Coahoma crew had a 21-6 season mark, after posting a 9-1 reading in district, with Beal averaging 14 points a game.

Beal's main sport had been football, however, and he had even more honors heaped on him from the gridiron. The talented senior was named all-district, all-area and all-West Texas both his junior and senior years as he led the Bulldogs

DOUBLE PLAY — Abilene's Brad Mann is out at first at the close of a clutch double play by the Big Spring Steers Tuesday during the third inning of the Steers' 5-4 Dist. 5-AAAA victory. With the bases loaded and one away, Mann grounded to second baseman Willie Williams, who flipped the ball to shortstop Ricky Steen for a force out at second and then Steen threw to first baseman Mike Tredaway to get out of the jam.

Steers Trim Abilene, 5-4 With Help Of Late Error

By JACK COWAN

It wasn't exactly the cleanest of victories, but the Big Spring Steers' 5-4 Dist. 5-AAAA win over Abilene High Tuesday at Steer Park will probably be welcomed just like any other dearly-loved member of the family.

Maybe even more. Ricky Steen scored on an error in the bottom of the seventh inning to give the Steers a triumph in the loop opener for both teams, overcoming three Eagle home runs along the way.

With the win the Steers, picked to finish seventh in the Dist. 5-AAAA race, moved their season record to 6-4 and they seek their second league win Saturday against highly-regarded Midland High.

The Steers will be in Lubbock today for a 4 p.m. battle with defending state champion Monterey at Lowery Field. The Plainsmen defeated Coach Larry Horton's Steers last week, 10-7. Willie Williams laid down a bunt single, and Gilliland grounded out to the shortstop to left and was ruled out.

Abilene had taken a one-run lead in the top half of the frame on a home run by catcher Chuck Chapman on the first pitch, and Gilliland performed the same feat in the third inning. The Eagles took advantage of a pair of errors by Steer third baseman Greg Crawford for their third run in the third inning.

Gary Stirman finally tied the game at 4-4 in the fifth with a round-tripper over the left-center field fence, same place sent into the trap. And though he was pretty much ineffective stopping the Steers later on, he couldn't get out of his first double with two outs and then stole third, but Williams grounded out to the shortstop to end that move.

Gilliland shut down Williams and Knoepfel to start off the last half of the seventh inning, and it looked like the game might go into extra innings before Steen got on by an error on shortstop Monte Harris. He stole second, and when he took third two pitches later, Chapman overthrew third baseman Larry Tatum and Steen sped home with the winning run as the ball rolled into left field.

Midland, Cougars Win Loop Openers

Odessa Permian's first defeat of the year was a crucial one. Midland upset the Panthers, Dist. 5-AAAA favorites, 4-2 Tuesday in Odessa in the league opener, avenging a loss to the PHS lads over the weekend in the finals of the Hobbs, N.M. tournament.

In other action Tuesday, Abilene Cooper toppled San Angelo Central 7-5 and Odessa and Midland Lee battled into the darkness before the game was halted without a winner decided.

It took a three-run burst in the top of the seventh inning to win for the Bulldogs, picked to finish second in the loop race. Permian had gone ahead 2-0 in the first inning, and Midland had scored a run in the sixth.

Robert Shaeffer was the winning hurler, giving up eight hits as he went the distance, and Don Patterson took the loss for Permian, his first of the year against four wins. The Bulldogs now stand 9-5 on the year and Permian is 9-1.

Don Lawson relieved for Cooper starter Alan Lakatta and held the Central Bobcats to a run as the Cougars ran their season mark to 5-5. Larry Layman, also in relief, suffered the loss.

Cooper third baseman Glen Field stroked two hits, including a clutch triple that sent home

CLEMENTE AWARD — Mrs. Roberto Clemente wipes away a tear during the 27th annual Governor's Baseball Dinner in St. Petersburg, Fla., Tuesday. Mrs. Clemente, widow of Pittsburgh Pirates all-time great, presented the first Roberto Clemente Award to Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers.

Clemente's Widow 'Proud' Of Hall Of Fame Induction

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. Roberto Clemente wasn't sure just how she would react to the overwhelming election of her late husband to baseball's Hall of Fame.

The dark-haired beauty from Puerto Rico grouped for the right words after she was informed Tuesday that the Baseball Writers' Association of America had approved the election of Roberto Clemente to the Hall with 99 per cent of the largest return in the history of the balloting.

"I don't know if I can say I'm happy," said Mrs. Clemente in a low voice, carefully enunciating her words. "Make it proud," she decided after a moment of thought.

Association President Joe Helling of the Houston Post made the announcement that of 424 ballots cast by veteran writ-

Wooden Named Cage Coach Of The Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Taciturn John Wooden, who keeps winning at UCLA despite the odds and the pressure, was named today the Associated Press college basketball Coach of the Year for 1972-73.

The highly-successful Wooden won the award for the sixth time in a relatively close battle with Norm Sloan of North Carolina State.

Previously, the UCLA coach took the honor in 1964, 1967, 1969, 1970 and 1972.

Wooden's fiercest rivals conceded him the award.

"He's unique," said Coach Jerry Tarkanian of Long Beach State, one of UCLA's closest rivals. "His theories wouldn't work for everyone, but he does a tremendous job of organizing and getting teams ready to play."

"Sure, he's had the players," said Coach Bob Boyd of cross-town rival Southern California, "but coaches often cite players as a crutch for something they haven't done themselves."

"It's a helluva lot easier sometimes to surprise and do what is NOT expected. Even with the players UCLA has had, a lesser coach could have fouled it up. John hasn't overreacted to changing attitudes, lifestyles and times."

Wooden's Bruins, who have won the NCAA championship six straight seasons, are in the playoffs for the seventh year in a row. En route to his seventh straight Pacific-8 Conference title, Wooden's Bruins eclipsed San Francisco's all-time winning streak.

At the end of the regular season, the Bruins had won 71 in a row — 11 more than the Dons did in the fabled years of Bill Russell during the 1950s. And with two NCAA tourney victories their streak has reached 73. Sloan gave Wooden a battle in the voting by the nation's sports writers and broadcasters, pulling far in front of the rest of the field. Wooden had 276 votes and Sloan 204.

UCLA'S JOHN WOODEN Named Coach Of The Year

Notre Dame Advances To Semifinals In NIT

NEW YORK (AP) — Yes, Virginia Tech, Notre Dame does belong in this year's National Invitation Tournament.

The Fighting Irish, scored by some for their 11 losses during the regular season, continued to make believers of the cynics with their second straight victory in the 36th annual basketball classic Tuesday night.

"We're as good as any team in the field," said Notre Dame center John Shumate after scoring 19 points in a 79-71 triumph over Louisville in the quarterfinals Tuesday night.

"I think that Notre Dame can handle North Carolina in the semifinals," offered Louisville forward Ken Bradley, adding a voice in Notre Dame's behalf.

If there was a voice boosting the Fighting Irish when they were first invited to the nation's oldest post-season tournament, it wasn't very loud.

The NIT selection committee was rapped in some quarters for picking a school with a 15-11 record. Now the record is 17-11 with a distinct possibility of getting healthier.

Notre Dame's triumph before an unusually apathetic crowd at Madison Square Garden moved the Fighting Irish into Saturday's semis against North Carolina, an earlier 73-63 victor over Massachusetts.

The Fighting Irish, playing with only five men until the last second when Gary Brokaw fouled out, had a tenuous 33-31 lead at the half and had their hands full with the Cardinals.

Despite the lack of crowd support, it didn't take the Fighting Irish long to inspire themselves in the second half.

With 10 minutes gone, Notre Dame ripped off 10 straight points while shutting out Louisville for six minutes and gained a 60-51 advantage. It was all over for the Missouri Valley Conference visitors at that point.

"We had to give it all we had," said Notre Dame Coach Digger Phelps, whose well-conditioned starters include Shumate, Brokaw, Gary Novak, Pete Crotty and Dwight Clay.

SWC Game 'Cancelled'

HOUSTON (AP) — Rice and University of Houston, cross-town rivals in the Southwest Conference baseball chase, have the rare distinction of having one of their SWC games cancelled after the game was played.

UH, competing for the first time this year in the SWC race, defeated Rice 11-10 in a Monday makeup game but on Tuesday SWC Executive Secretary Howard Grubbs deleted the game from the SWC standings because it violated a league makeup rule.

The rule specifies that no Saturday-Monday makeup games can be played during a three-game SWC baseball series. Grubbs said the reason for the rule was to allow all SWC members an equal opportunity for making up rained out games.

He said teams like Rice and Texas Tech could not make games up on a Monday after a Saturday doubleheader because of the travel distance.

Shumate's scoring led the Irish while Clay, who had three straight field goals in the 10-point streak, contributed 18 points. Novak connected for 16 in the balanced Notre Dame attack.

Junior Bridgeman and Bill Butler had 17 points apiece for Louisville, which goes home to Kentucky with a 25-7 season's record.

While Notre Dame never went to its bench strength, North Carolina made 52 substitutions while beating shorter Massachusetts. After a while, the waves of reserve strength just wore out the Yankee Conference champs.

North Carolina eventually ran away from the stubborn Minutemen, but not until after a tough early battle.

The teams were tied 30-30 at the half and the Tar Heels needed a 15-4 spurt in the second half to beat back their upset-gearred opponents. The scoring tear moved North Carolina from a 36-35 lead to 51-41, their widest lead of the game to that point. The Minutemen never could get closer than six points.

McDOWELL HAVING PROBLEMS Carlton, Seaver Hurl Well

By The Associated Press

From Philadelphia's Cy Young Award winner Steve Carlton and New York Mets ace Tom Seaver there were expressions of satisfaction. But from Sam McDowell of San Francisco there was silence.

The 28-year-old Carlton who had been suffering from bronchitis that almost put him in the hospital, went four innings against Los Angeles Tuesday, allowing one run, two hits, Carlton and New York Mets ace Tom Seaver there were expressions of satisfaction. But from Sam McDowell of San Francisco there was silence.

the hospital, went four innings against Los Angeles Tuesday, allowing one run, two hits, Carlton and New York Mets ace Tom Seaver there were expressions of satisfaction. But from Sam McDowell of San Francisco there was silence.

"I was real pleased," said Carlton, the best pitcher in the National League last year with 27 victories, 310 strikeouts and 1.98 earned run average.

Carlton, who had been suffering from bronchitis that almost put him in the hospital, went four innings against Los Angeles Tuesday, allowing one run, two hits, Carlton and New York Mets ace Tom Seaver there were expressions of satisfaction. But from Sam McDowell of San Francisco there was silence.

Tom Seaver, who had been bothered by a persistent sore throat fired four innings of one-hit ball as the Mets beat St. Louis 7-5 in a "B" squad game. "I'm kind of happy about the way things turned out," Seaver said. "I threw some good pitches and that's encouraging to me."

McDowell, meanwhile, apparently experiencing back problems, was given two days off by Giants Manager Charlie Fox amid reports he might be considering retirement.

Horace Stoneham, Giants president, said, "We have taken the position that he has left the team, perhaps temporarily. He told Fox his back was hurting." Last year he missed six weeks in midseason with arm problems.

The game's biggest event Tuesday, however, took place in the ballroom of the Hilton Hotel in St. Petersburg, Fla., where the late Roberto Clemente was overwhelmingly voted into the Hall of Fame in the first waiving of the five-year waiting period by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

"I threw as hard as I could and I threw for strikes," Carlton said after facing the Dodgers. "I think I'm ahead of last year's spring training."

Andy Messersmith stole Carlton's thunder by limiting the Phillies to two hits in six innings. The veteran right-hander acquired from California struck out four and walked only one batter.

McDowell apparently wasn't talking to anyone. His wife, Carol, reached by telephone at their home in Pittsburgh, said Sudden Sam had said nothing to her about retiring. "I'm expecting a call from him tonight," she said. "And, oh, I know, he is getting his back checked by a doctor. It was my understanding that the Giants were giving him a couple days off."

Mike Kekich and Lindy McDaniel limited Cincinnati to four singles and Roy White slapped a run-scoring single in the eighth inning as the New York Yankees shaded the Reds 1-0.

Mark Belanger and Boog Powell drilled home runs to back Dave McNally's five innings of four-hit ball as the Baltimore Orioles blanked Pittsburgh 6-0.

Frank Howard drove in three runs with a homer and a sacrifice fly and John Hiller pitched five strong innings as Detroit beat the New York Mets 6-2.

Rick Miller singled and scored on a couple of bunts and Lee May's throwing error in the 10th inning, lifting the Boston Red Sox to a 4-3 victory over Houston. Pepe Mangual collected three of Montreal's 20 hits—one of them a homer—drove in four runs and scored four to lead the Expos past Texas 16-10. Elliot Maddox had a grand slam for the Rangers.

Carmen Fanzone drove in three runs with a double and single as the Chicago Cubs romped to a 7-1 victory over San Diego. San Francisco took advantage of two errors by outfielder Reggie Jackson, one of them in a six-run third inning, to beat Oakland 7-2.

Larry Hise singled twice, scored a run and drove in another to lead Minnesota past St. Louis 5-2. Kurt Bevacqua slammed a two-run homer in the bottom of the ninth inning, propelling the Kansas City Royals to a 4-3 triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

Bob Oliver, playing as California's designated hitter, led a 10-hit assault as the Angels beat the Cleveland Indians 6-2 tonight. "And, oh, I know, he is getting his back checked by a doctor. It was my understanding that the Giants were giving him a couple days off."

Three players are battling for the left field post, Gene Clines, .334; Bob Robertson, a much better hitter than his wuefl .193, and rookie Richie Zisk, a .311 hitter for Charleston last year. There is also in stand-out super pinch hitter Vic Davalillo, .318.

Willie Stargell, .293 with 33 home runs and 112 RBI, anchors the infield at first base. Steady Dave Cash, .282, is at second, with 31-year-old Gene Alley, still getting about on damaged knees, holding forth at shortstop. Rich Hebner has a lock on third base. He hit .300 and was the second best fielder at his position in league with only nine errors.

Should Alley continue to have physical problems, Virdon has capable replacements in Jackie Hernandez and rookie Frank Taveras, rated the best fielding shortstop in the minors last season. Then there is Rennie Stennett, a second baseman who can play short and the outfield. He hit .286 last season.

Some people malign the Pirates' pitching staff, but not the teams who face this deep, talented group. Right-hander Steve Blass, 19-8, with a 2.40 ERA is the No. 1 starter. Then there are Dock Ellis, 15-7, with a 2.71 ERA; Nelson Briles, 14-11, 3.08, and Bob Moose, 13-10, 2.91. Other starters include Bob Johnson, Bruce Kison, and leadership role, is the center Luke Walker.

Virdon has such depth that he is experimenting with Manny Sanguillen, one of the league's best catchers, as the replacement for Clemente in right field. Sanguillen's job behind the plate falls to Milt May, a strong-armed youngster, capable receiver and a .218 hitter last season.

Al Oliver, a supremely confident, brash young star who could be the heir to Clemente's leadership role, is the center Luke Walker.

the hospital, went four innings against Los Angeles Tuesday, allowing one run, two hits, Carlton and New York Mets ace Tom Seaver there were expressions of satisfaction. But from Sam McDowell of San Francisco there was silence.

"I was real pleased," said Carlton, the best pitcher in the National League last year with 27 victories, 310 strikeouts and 1.98 earned run average.

Carlton, who had been suffering from bronchitis that almost put him in the hospital, went four innings against Los Angeles Tuesday, allowing one run, two hits, Carlton and New York Mets ace Tom Seaver there were expressions of satisfaction. But from Sam McDowell of San Francisco there was silence.

Tom Seaver, who had been bothered by a persistent sore throat fired four innings of one-hit ball as the Mets beat St. Louis 7-5 in a "B" squad game. "I'm kind of happy about the way things turned out," Seaver said. "I threw some good pitches and that's encouraging to me."

McDowell, meanwhile, apparently experiencing back problems, was given two days off by Giants Manager Charlie Fox amid reports he might be considering retirement.

Horace Stoneham, Giants president, said, "We have taken the position that he has left the team, perhaps temporarily. He told Fox his back was hurting." Last year he missed six weeks in midseason with arm problems.

The game's biggest event Tuesday, however, took place in the ballroom of the Hilton Hotel in St. Petersburg, Fla., where the late Roberto Clemente was overwhelmingly voted into the Hall of Fame in the first waiving of the five-year waiting period by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

"I threw as hard as I could and I threw for strikes," Carlton said after facing the Dodgers. "I think I'm ahead of last year's spring training."

Andy Messersmith stole Carlton's thunder by limiting the Phillies to two hits in six innings. The veteran right-hander acquired from California struck out four and walked only one batter.

McDowell apparently wasn't talking to anyone. His wife, Carol, reached by telephone at their home in Pittsburgh, said Sudden Sam had said nothing to her about retiring. "I'm expecting a call from him tonight," she said. "And, oh, I know, he is getting his back checked by a doctor. It was my understanding that the Giants were giving him a couple days off."

Mike Kekich and Lindy McDaniel limited Cincinnati to four singles and Roy White slapped a run-scoring single in the eighth inning as the New York Yankees shaded the Reds 1-0.

Mark Belanger and Boog Powell drilled home runs to back Dave McNally's five innings of four-hit ball as the Baltimore Orioles blanked Pittsburgh 6-0.

Lemons Said Pan AM-Bound

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Oklahoma City University Coach Abe Lemons "is on the verge of becoming basketball coach and athletic director at Pan American University in Edinburg, Tex.," an Oklahoma City newspaper said today.

Lemons said in a telephone interview Tuesday he "absolutely would take the job" if it is offered, the Daily Oklahoman said.

A decision is expected today, the newspaper said. Lemons reportedly was in Edinburg talking about the job with Dr. Ralph Schilling, Pan American president and a former assistant coach at OCU.

Pan American's basketball coach and athletic director were fired after the past season.

Lemons has been at OCU 18 years and compiled a record of 309 victories and 179 losses.

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

It's sort of ironic. A year and a half ago, when I was tramping through West Texas on a whirlwind pre-season football picture-taking tour, one stop found me in Stanton where I was prompted to say "Lots of luck, coach," and meant it.

And now, 20 football games and numerous sporting events later, I hear Stanton athletic director Bill Young saying "If you had told me two years ago that these kids would win a track meet or anything else, I wouldn't have believed you. But they sure did."

I suppose that just goes to show you that either I'm a terrible judge of athletic prowess, or Bill Young is some kind of coach. I'm inclined to heap the praise on Young, myself.

Most were awed when the Stanton Buffaloes, after years of wallowing in the depths of an athletic depression, won five football games in 1972 for a more than respectable year. And when the basketball team almost won the District 7-AA title this past season, there were probably some suspicious souls who wondered if scandals reached down into the high school ranks.

That's why Young was more than just a little upset when his team of Buffalo tracksters were denied the Division II team title at Odessa's West Texas Relays last weekend. Actually, he's not really arguing about it. He's just claiming the title outright, whether it's official or not. You see, he figures it's rightfully his kids' crown.

The Buffaloes, with a 12-member entry, rolled up 93 points en route to their first track win in who knows how long, and promptly began celebrating. But after the last event, Denver City officials protested a ruling in the 440-yard relay so long and so loud that meet officials finally relented and proclaimed the two teams co-champions. And that, understandably, isn't setting too well in Stanton.

With only five entries in the 440-yard relay, Stanton finished second in the event and Denver City finished last. Under UIL and NCAA Rules, a team doesn't get points for a last place finish unless preliminaries were held in the event or there are more than six teams competing. Denver City didn't qualify in either case, and they weren't allowed the points.

However, after Denver City failed to tie it legitimately in the mile relay (a win would have done it), the coaches went to work on the weary meet referee, who probably was tired and would have given them a key to the stadium if it would get him home any faster. He said OK, and they ordered another trophy for the pseudo-champs.

That's when Young and his group pointed out the rules once again, and the WT Relays brass said they'd review it and come to a decision. But, chances are the whole thing will be forgotten and the only place the victory will be recognized is in Stanton High School.

"I wouldn't mind sharing it if we had tied, but according to the rules we won it outright," Young said. He seemed exasperated, and for good reason. "Nobody knows when we won a track meet last." And when you think about it, depriving those kids of this long-overdue honor would be sort of dumb. I mean, what's the meet all about, anyway?

Stanton did all its scoring with seven athletes, and the fact that only two of them are seniors makes Young pretty happy. Rick Wilson is one of the last-year men, and he scored first place finishes in the discus (136-3 1/2) and the shot put (47-7 1/2). Neither were his best performances of the year but Wilson, who was the Buffs' quarterback in football, did just well enough to win.

Two young brothers, Vernon and Elvin Brown, placed first and second in the 120-yard high hurdles in 15.4 and 15.7, and Vernon also won the 330-yard intermediate hurdles in 42.4. Vernon is a sophomore and Elvin a freshman, chuckles Young. Another sophomore is Joe Hernandez, who won the 880-yard dash in 2:02.7.

Dwayne McMeans, one of the best all-around athletes to come out of the school, was third in the 100-yard dash in 10.1 and second in the 220-yard dash in 22.9, and also ran on the Buff relay teams. The Stanton 440-yard relay team ran a 44.9 for second place, the best time for a Buff quartet since one of the present school board members was on the track team in the late 1950s.

The Buffaloes must have some fine performances if they are to get out of district, however, since 7-AA is ultra-strong this year. While the Buffs were cleaning up in Odessa, McCamey was busy winning the Plateau Relays in Eldorado and Ozona, the loop favorite, was grabbing the high school honors in the Sul Ross Invitational.

The three are expected to run for the prize when district rolls around April 5 in McCamey.

Pirates Remain NL East Choice

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — Despite the tragic death of Roberto Clemente, the Pittsburgh Pirates should repeat as champions in the National League East.

The Pirates took the title by 11 games last season. It could be easier this season for a team that has first-rate pitching, consistent power, adequate defense and tremendous depth.

Manager Bill Virdon admits, "There is just no way to replace a Clemente." But the team has enough talent to overcome the loss of its great outfielder who died in a plane crash last New Year's Eve.

Pittsburgh won 96 games last season, the most in baseball, and led the major leagues with a .274 batting average. Pirates' hitters were the best in almost every hitting category in the National League. It's a team that averages 26 years and is in its prime. The attack is complemented by a pitching staff that allowed fewer runs than any team in the league and was second in earned run average with a 2.81 mark.

Virdon has such depth that he is experimenting with Manny Sanguillen, one of the league's best catchers, as the replacement for Clemente in right field. Sanguillen's job behind the plate falls to Milt May, a strong-armed youngster, capable receiver and a .218 hitter last season.

Al Oliver, a supremely confident, brash young star who could be the heir to Clemente's leadership role, is the center Luke Walker.

Should Alley continue to have physical problems, Virdon has capable replacements in Jackie Hernandez and rookie Frank Taveras, rated the best fielding shortstop in the minors last season. Then there is Rennie Stennett, a second baseman who can play short and the outfield. He hit .286 last season.

Then there are Dock Ellis, 15-7, with a 2.71 ERA; Nelson Briles, 14-11, 3.08, and Bob Moose, 13-10, 2.91. Other starters include Bob Johnson, Bruce Kison, and leadership role, is the center Luke Walker.

Final Arguments By Waggoner Carr

DALLAS (AP) — Former Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr was making a last plea to the eight-woman four-man jury today to find him innocent of federal mail and wire fraud charges stemming from a Texas stock scandal.

13TH DAY
Carr was to present final arguments in his own defense this afternoon on the 13th day of the long-drawn trial, now hearing its end.

Emmett Colvin Jr., distinguished Dallas criminal lawyer, was presenting the case for Carr's onetime Austin law partner, John Osorio, who stands accused alongside him.

U.S. District Court Judge William M. Taylor Jr. was not to summon the jury until after noon. The entire morning was to be spent in a conference of lawyers in chambers to consider the charge to the jury and last-minute additions to defense motions, which were filed—and over-ruled—earlier in the trial.

U.S. Atty. Frank McCown asked the judge for two hours to present his final argument. Both Carr and Osorio then sought two hours, also.

The judge did not rule out the requests, but he indicated that he hoped the attorneys could get through in less time.

Some facts in the case—that Carr and Osorio obtained a $550,000 loan to purchase stock and did not pay it off when due—are not disputed. But there is a great difference of opinion between prosecution and defense on whether the two had fraudulent intent or were, indeed, really liable for the debt at all.

LIABILITY
Carr and Osorio claim that the loan became a liability of Frank W. Sharp's Sharpstown Realty Co. when it took over their companies and the loan settlement was made a condition. However, Sharpstown did not pay the loan and it finally had to be settled by National Bankers Life Insurance Co. under the terms of a commitment letter which the insurance company furnished the bank at a time when Osorio was NBL president.

Carr, who produced a shining array of lawyers, bankers, academics and even students to testify as character witnesses,

Water Legislation To Be Discussed

LUBBOCK — Texas Representative Bill Clayton will present a review of proposed water legislation at the state level at the luncheon of the 11th annual West Texas Water Conference at the Koko Inn Friday starting at 9 a.m.

The West Texas Water Conference is sponsored by the West Texas Water Institute (WTWI), a regional organization of more than 30 agencies emphasizing wise use of water resources, promoting research and encouraging better educational programs on the value and utilization of water.

Rep. Clayton, Spring Lake, authored or co-authored every piece of water legislation during his tenure in the Texas House of Representatives since 1962. Currently, Clayton serves on the Interim Water Study Committee, is chairman of the Livestock Committee and a member of the Aeronautics and Counties committees.

Large Variety Of Wild Life Inhabit BS Area

By JOHN EDWARDS
Located at the juncture of four different terrains, Howard County has one of the largest varieties of wild life of any county in Texas, said Herbert Kothmann, local game biologist for Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The Edwards Plateau, Trans-Pecos, High Plains and Red Rolling Plains meet in Howard County. Kothmann mentioned three other counties in the area which also contain widely diverse wild life — Mitchell, Sterling, Glasscock and Midland counties.

UNUSUAL COMBINATION
Finding antelope, creatures of the plains, and wild turkey — woodland animals — in the same spot is in itself unusual, Kothmann said.

Some of the 55 antelope here in three herds were imported through the department last November. Turkeys came here along from the Colorado River, up Beals Creek and gradually into smaller draws.

SANCTUARY FOUND
Without timber, they have used power line supports, oil field equipment and trees behind rural homes as roosts.

Land owners here have protected deer and turkey from all but family and close friends. Kothmann knew of only two land owners who leased for deer and turkey hunting. Hunters legally killed about 25 bucks during the season.

He estimated 900 wild turkeys and 1,325 White Tail deer were living here during the last hunting season.

Maximum deer population for Howard County could be 5,000 animals, Kothmann believed.

White tail deer population has grown to the present level from 75 the department stocked here in 1959. In February, a 15-year-old deer from the original 75 was found where it had been caught in a fence and died. To Kothmann, this deer's age indicates deer can prosper in Howard County.

Most wide-spread, numerous and popular game animals here are Bob White and Scaled Quails or "Blues". How many there is hard to estimate. Blues live off semi-desert and Bob Whites prefer tall grass, brush and more moisture.

Mourning doves make the most shot-at list here, too.

HALF TIME ACTIVITY
Numerous but ignored by hunters are ducks and geese who visit playa or salt lakes and rural ponds. You can leave the television and pro football, drive up to 100 yards of a pond, walk over, shoot a few when they fly and be back home in 15 minutes, Kothmann said.

Pintails fly no farther south than Howard County and spend the winter in this area.

"SUPER-COYOTE"
Other denizens of the salt lakes are sandhill cranes, coyotes and Blues. Wildlife like vegetation is limited because of salt that has washed from the soil into these "blow-outs" for thousands of years.

Coyotes live mostly in the northern part of the county on farm land, Kothmann said. By feeding on rats and mice, the sheep raisers' foe benefit farmers who raise few chickens or small livestock.

"Here's an animal with practically no protection for . . . however long man has been out here," Kothmann explains. Coyotes have been trapped, snared, poisoned and shot. They are more prolific today.

Some say that, through killing stupid coyotes, man has developed a "super-coyote," Kothmann said. Coyotes adapt well and show intelligence, he said.

"COONS, CATS, FOXES

Bobcat, badger, striped, hog-nose and Chivet skunk, opossum, raccoon, ring-tailed cat, and red and grey fox lurk in rural Howard County. Red fox poses a bigger predator problem for sheep ranchers than coyote, Kothmann said.

Causing problems for pond owners are nutria, an import from South America once raised for pelts in Louisiana. Nutria dig into pond dams and banks causing them to collapse. By digging, they may increase septic tank pollution in ponds.

Kothmann listed prairie dog, jack rabbit and cotton tail rabbit, rock squirrel, the thirteen-line squirrel and the fox squirrel. Fox squirrel, the only edible variety of squirrel here, are found around Beals Creek.

And he mentioned three reliable reports of Mule Deer and a small representation of javelina.

Despite the variety, Howard County does not draw many hunters, Kothmann explained. Possibly because of oil money, ranchers here show little interest in profits from hunting leases.

Soviet Union May Try To Overshadow Skylab

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Russians may try to overshadow the launching of the first U.S. Skylab by orbiting a space station of their own a month or so earlier, some Pentagon specialists say.

They make their assessment on the basis of two Soviet instrument ships deploying into the Atlantic recently.

The Gagarin and the Komarov, described by U.S. experts as Russian space-support ships, were sighted sailing from the Black Sea and were tracked by U.S. patrol planes as they steamed through the Mediterranean.

Dish-type antennae and other special electronic gear identify.

Reports said the ships traveled at high speed, suggesting they were on an urgent mission.

Pentagon specialists noted the Gagarin and Komarov have performed monitoring and command roles during past Soviet man-in-space missions.

This could indicate that the Soviets are planning a space voyage soon, perhaps in April, to claim the world's interest before the first Skylab is fired into earth orbit in mid-May.

That Skylab is planned to stay in orbit for 28 days while American astronauts perform various scientific projects in a shirt-sleeve environment. Two Skylab voyages of 56 days each are to be flown later, if all goes well.

Opening lead: King of ♠ Today's hand produced considerable discussion when it was dealt in a National Team-of-Four Championship. Altho North-South can take all 13 tricks at a club contract, neither of the pairs who played the deal ever bid the suit.

At one table the bidding proceeded as depicted in the diagram. North chose to pass his hand altho he had 13 points and two defensive tricks. It has been our experience that, with a distributional holding where a convenient rebid is available, strategic considerations dictate a quick entry into the auction before the level of bidding becomes too advanced.

East's opening bid of two spades is a preemptive call employed by some tournament players to designate a holding that includes a good six card suit with little outside values and less than opening bid strength. It is similar in principle to an opening three bid; however, the latter is usually based on a seven card suit.

Britain's Blueprint For Northern Ireland

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Britain's blueprint for Northern Ireland offers something for everyone—and demands something from everyone.

Most of all, it makes a heavy demand on the Irish republic in a bid to take the heat out of Northern Ireland's communal strife.

POLICE POWER
To Ulster's Protestants, the British plan offers a return of their prized provincial Parliament, though in emasculated form. Power over police and security will stay with Britain.

To Roman Catholics, the plan offers guarantees of equal status and a recognition of their nationalist tradition. A man seeking a job as a roadsweeper will no longer have to swallow his republicanism and take an oath of allegiance to Queen Elizabeth II.

Protestants are assured that they will remain inside the United Kingdom so long as a majority in Northern Ireland wants to.

accept an electoral and administrative system designed to weaken the power monopoly which was theirs under the straight vote system.

ACCEPT IT
Northern Catholics and their fellow nationalists in the Irish republic are asked to accept that Northern Ireland for the time being remains in the United Kingdom and to cooperate with it on that basis.

Northern Protestants are asked to accept that one day the situation may change and to cooperate with the republic with that possibility in mind.

This double demand is underlined by the British terms for an All-Ireland Council of the type first envisaged when Ireland was partitioned half a century ago.

Once the new provincial parliament is set up, Britain plans to call a three-party conference—London, Dublin and Belfast—to discuss three objectives:

1. "The acceptance of the present status of Northern Ireland, and of the possibility—which would have to be compatible with the principle of consent—of subsequent change in that status."

2. "Effective consultation and cooperation Ireland for the benefit of North and South alike."
3. "The provision of a firm basis for concerted government."

mental and community action against terrorist organizations."

The first point will be a tricky one for any Dublin government to accept. The reason is that the Irish republic's constitution lays claim to jurisdiction over "the whole of Ireland, its islands and territorial seas."

Any Dublin administration that went into a conference on the British terms would be open to charges of betraying the constitution.

Library Wall Is To Be Moved

Road and bridge department employees are to knock out part of a tile wall in the basement of the Howard County Library.

Larry Justiss, librarian, said he wants the alteration to allow for a magazine and newspaper room. He mentioned having some professional worker put finishing touches on the new doorway.

He mentioned the Texas Surplus Property Agency as a possible source of shelving.
