MILITARY INTERVENTION COST 46,000 AMERICAN LIVES

Last U.S. Troops Leave South Viet

SAIGON (AP) — The last American forces pulled out of South Vietnam today after more than a decade of military intervention that cost 46,000 U.S. lives. The departing commander said the United States had accomplished its mission of stopping a Communist takeover.

As the last 2,500 GIs flew home or to other bases in Southeast Asia, strong American air and naval forces remained on the perimeters of Indochina to keep the war in Cambodia and to discourage a resumption of major fighting in South Vietnam and Laos.

STRIKE PLANES
The 7th Fleet was reported to have four carriers with a total of 200 strike planes within range of Vietnam, and the Pentagon said there are 202 B52 bombers at Guam and Thailand and more than 400 Air Force and Marine fighter-bombers in Thailand.

Today's departures left a total of 1,034 uniformed American military men in Vietnam, including 825 members of the U.S. delegation to the Joint Military Commission, 159 Marine guards at the U.S. Embassy and 50 military attaches at the Embassy.

The Joint Military Commission made up of the United States, North and South Vietnam and the Viet Cong was replaced today by a commission made up of South Vietnam and the Viet Cong. The 825 men of the U.S. delegation are scheduled to leave the country Friday and Saturday. The United States tried to extend the life of the four-party group, but nobody else agreed.

At a 20-minute ceremony closing down the U.S. Command after more than 11 years of operations in Vietnam, the departing commander, Gen. Frederick C. Weyand, declared:

HAPPY DAY

"The rights of the people of the Republic of Vietnam to shape their own destiny and to provide for their self-defense have been upheld."

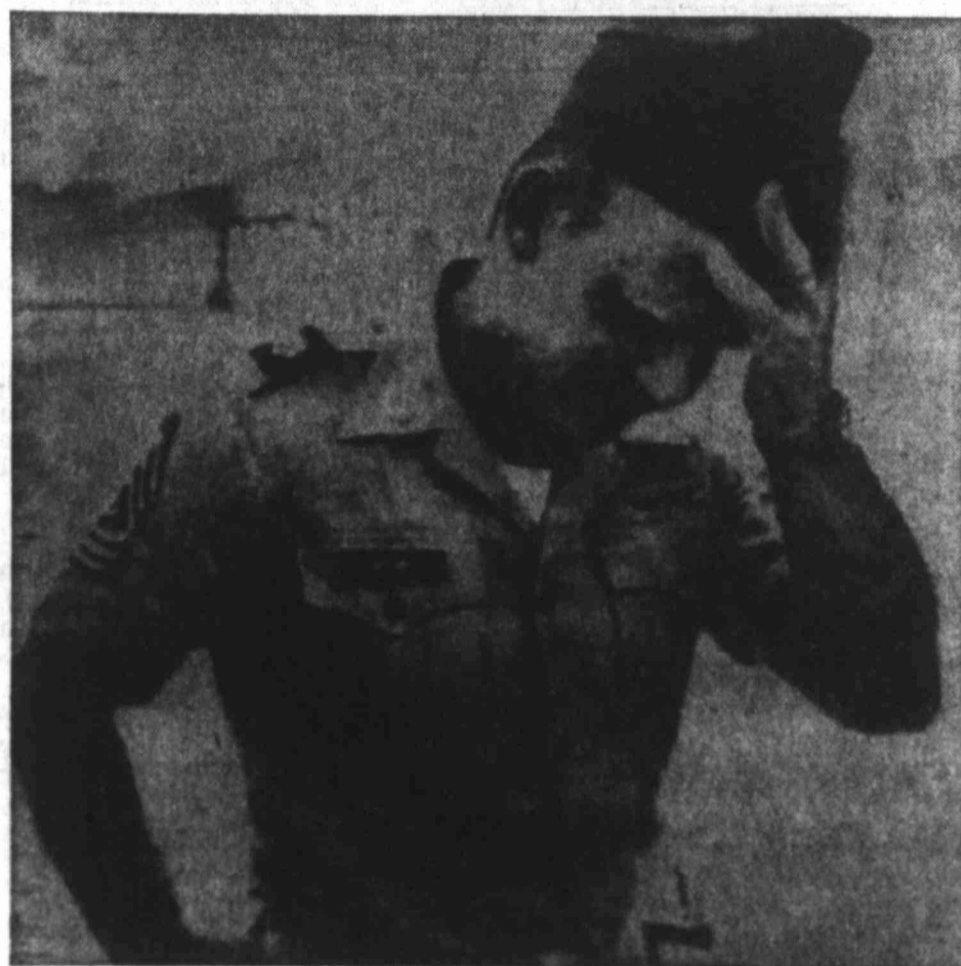

Order No. 1290 was read officially, inactivating the Military Assistance Command Vietnam, or MACV. The colors were cased at 1:20 p.m.

A C141 Starlifter roared overhead in the blazing sun, carrying some of the last American soldiers homeward.

Weyand shook the hands of the color guard—one man each from the Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force—and then declared: "For all of us, it is a happy day and one we have been waiting for a long time."

Several cables were read during the ceremony, including one from Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who said 2½ million Americans had served in Vietnam but "did not enjoy the full measure of public support they deserved."

MESS HALL LOOTED — Army Sgt. James Owenby of Cleveland, Tenn., ponders the results of a looting spree by several hundred Vietnamese civilians, who grabbed food, furniture and utensils from the mess hall at Camp Alpha on Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Air Base today. The mob invaded the mess hall on the last day of the U.S. troop withdrawal from Vietnam. GIs waiting for planes home drove them away.

Vote On Car Insurance Bill

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas senators finally approved and sent to the House today a bill that would move party primary elections from spring to late summer.

The vote was 25-5. The House, which scheduled an afternoon session, was set for a final vote on a group car insurance bill.

Rep. Jim Clark, D-Houston, won easy preliminary approval Wednesday of his bill allowing group car insurance in Texas.

A key vote for Clark, an officer of the International Longshoremen's Association, came on an amendment by Rep. Frank Calhoun, D-Abilene. Calhoun wanted to bar the use of group insurance as a subject for labor-management negotiations.

Calhoun called the bill a potential "club to beat an employer over the head with." His amendment was tabled, 75-33.

Youth Practices Craft In Court

A 12-year-old accused of stealing vehicles and other items proved the case against him in a juvenile court hearing Tuesday.

After admitting his guilt, he made sure the prosecution got the facts right, witnesses said. Then, as if to affirm to court's wisdom in ordering him to Gatesville, the youth stole the juvenile probation officer's cigarettes.

ART THINKS RED; TULIPS YELLOW

LAMESA — Lamesa citizens were prone to worry about their chamber manager. They think he might be color blind.

Art Roberts, chamber manager, who has backed a beautification project in Lamesa the past year, last week told Lamesans that they were finally going to see the "fruits of their labors." He requested them to "think red" and told them the red tulips in the planter corners around the courthouse square were getting ready to bloom.

Two days later, hundreds of yellow daffodils burst into bloom. Roberts was right about one thing — they're beautiful. But the only thing red on the downtown square at this point are Robert's cheeks.

67 POWs

'Day Of Joy And Pride'

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (AP) — North Vietnam freed its last 67 U.S. prisoners of war today, and two giant C141 transports brought them to Clark Air Base for their first stop on the way home.

The release of the 67 cleared the Communist prisons in Indochina of the 587 Americans Hanoi had reported were captives at the signing of the ceasefire agreement two months ago. But the Viet Cong turned up another man who will be freed this weekend.

CHEERING
The first C141 from Hanoi landed 40 men early tonight in a drizzle that failed to dampen the enthusiasm of a cheering crowd of 600 Americans.

The second C141 touched down 42 minutes later with the other 27.

"This is a day of joy and pride," the senior man on the first flight, Air Force Lt. Col. James W. O'Neill, 42, of Las Vegas, Nev., told the exuberant crowd. "What could be more joyous than to be delivered from your enemies and return to your friends."

INJURED
"The pride we have in our nation and our government could not be greater. And this day justifies our faith. POWs never have a nice day, but we get one great day. Each of us thanks all of you for this unforgettable day."

All the men on the first flight appeared healthy and smiled broadly, but several had been injured and saluted with their left hands. One of them, Air Force Capt. Keith H. Lewis, 33, of Goldsboro, N.C., was on crutches.

Security was more relaxed, and a number of teen-age girls were allowed to rush up to the prisoners and hand them bracelets bearing their names.

Another 82 POWs released Tuesday and Wednesday in the final phase of the prisoner repatriation were already at Clark.

Military officials said they would begin leaving for home Friday, with 27 military men and five civilians freed by the Viet Cong to depart first.

NOT ON LISTS
Although Hanoi said earlier that the men freed today were the last American POWs held by the Communists, the Viet Cong announced that one more American, Capt. Robert White of Newport News, Va., would be freed on Sunday or Monday.

White, whose name had not been on any earlier POW lists, was expected to be turned over in the Mekong Delta South of Saigon, where he reportedly was captured in 1969 after his airplane was shot down.

"It's one hell of a surprise," said his wife in Williamsburg, Va.

These planes will be on display through Saturday. Gates will open to the public at 2 p.m. both days.

Four vintage aircraft from World War II days will be flown in at 9:30 a.m. Saturday for afternoon showing by local rancher and aircraft collector, Connie Edwards.

Displaying of aircraft will be highlighted at 3:30 p.m. Saturday by an aerial demonstration of the Thunderbirds, world famous U.S. Aerial Demonstration Team.

PROCLAMATION CEREMONY — In a double announcement this morning, April was proclaimed by Mayor Wade Choate, center, as Beautification Month and April 1-7 as Industry Appreciation Week. Dearl Pittman, left, is heading up the industrial activities while Ray Perkins, right, is leading beautification projects.

Clean-Up Month, Industry Praised Here By Chamber

By ANN STEVENS
April was proclaimed "Beautification Month" and the first week of the month was declared "Industry Appreciation Week" in a joint announcement this morning at the Chamber of Commerce.

Big Spring Mayor Wade Choate signed proclamations officially establishing the special week and month, both sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Big Spring Jaycees will kick off the clean-up month Friday with a trash-collection project at the original Big Spring near Comanche Trail Park. Jaycee President Don Worthan said members will begin gathering trash at the site around 5 p.m.

'RE-PAINT, PLANT'
In the proclamation, Choate called upon local citizens to "consider their civic responsibility by clearing their properties of weeds and debris, by re-painting weatherbeaten structures and by planting flowers, shrubs, trees, lawns."

Chamber Manager Ron Mercer said citizens are encouraged to clean their property during the first week of the month and to call the Chamber to report where piles of trash and junk can be picked up.

City sanitation crews will collect piled-up debris during the second week of April. This will be in addition to regular trash collection.

AT ELEMENTARIES
During the third week of April, cotton trailers will be parked at each elementary school and students will be asked to gather trash from the school campuses and surrounding neighborhoods.

Plastic trash bags will be provided for the gathering of debris and high school Key Club members will make sure that bags are available and that the project runs smoothly.

The last week of the month will be capped off with the nationwide Save Our American Resources Day, a project of Boy and Girl Scouts.

Every Saturday during the month, members of the Boys Club will clear trash from the downtown and business areas. Businesses are being asked to make a minimum donation of $10 each to the club for its service.

'DAILY EFFORT'
Ray Perkins, beautification committee chairman, said First National Bank has already kicked off the downtown clean-up by donating $50 to the Boys Club.

"If we can't get the people of Big Spring oriented toward cleaning up their own property, we won't be able to tell anything was done come May," stressed Perkins calling beautification a "daily effort."

The week of salutation to local industry, sponsored by the Chamber Industrial Team, is planned in conjunction with the statewide industry week of the governor's Texas Industrial Commission.

PLANT TOURS
Three plant tours have been arranged for the public during the week, April 1-7. They are Berkeley Homes, at 3:30 p.m. April 3; Coca Cola Bottling Co., 1-3 p.m. April 4; and Cosden, from the personnel office 2-4 p.m. April 5.

An "Our Local Industry" poster contest is being held at each elementary in conjunction with the special week. Three winners from each school will compete for city-wide first place and a savings bond.

Two city-wide runners-up will also be named and will receive plaques.

In his proclamation, Mayor Choate urged citizens to "visit our industries, to see the many different types of products which are being manufactured and to again renew their support of all efforts to extend and further advance our industrial development."

Dearl Pittman is heading up activities for Industry Appreciation Week during which a breakfast will be hosted for industry managers and medical personnel at 7:30 a.m. April 5 at the Holiday Inn.

Mitchell Labels Wiretap Accusation 'Slanderous'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell denied today what he called "slanderous and false statements" that he approved plans to wiretap the Democratic national headquarters.

FALSE REMARK?

The Washington Post said in its Thursday editions that James W. McCord Jr., a convicted Watergate conspirator, told a Senate subcommittee Wednesday that his information concerning Mitchell came from G. Gordon Liddy, a former White House aide.

Mitchell denied the accusation in a statement issued through the committee for the Re-election of President Nixon. Mitchell, a former chairman of the committee said in his statement:

"I deeply resent the slanderous and false statements about me concerning the Watergate matter reported as being based on hearsay and leaked out of the Ervin committee.

"I have previously denied any prior knowledge of, or involvement in, the Watergate affair and I again reaffirm such denials."

The special Senate committee that heard McCord's testimony behind closed doors Wednesday is headed by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C.

INFORMATION

The Post, quoting Senate sources, said McCord testified that Liddy told him Mitchell approved plans and budget for the Watergate operation in February 1972 while he was still attorney general.

Liddy, who has been described as chief engineer of the wiretap, has been convicted for his part in the Watergate incident and sentenced up to 20 years in prison and fined $40,000.

A spokesman for the Senate committee would say only that McCord gave "a great deal of information on a wide range of subjects."

The Post story said: "According to the sources, McCord indicated that he knew of additional illegal wiretaps but would not discuss them with the Senate Watergate committee unless he is granted immunity from further prosecution."

Pioneer Physicians Will Be Honored In Exhibit

Doctor's Day will mark the beginning Friday morning of a special exhibit at Heritage Museum honoring pioneer physicians and spotlighting the history of medical science. The exhibit, arranged by Mrs. William B. Allensworth and her committee from the Permian Basin Medical Auxiliary, will remain up for two weeks. The museum will be open Saturday afternoon and Sunday afternoon, also for the succeeding weekend as well as through week days. Friday has been proclaimed Doctor's Day, in keeping with a custom dating back to 1833 when the Barrow County, Ga., auxiliary memorialized the first use of ether as an anesthetic agent in surgery by Dr. Crawford W. Long in 1842. Most of the exhibit was in place today, but other materials featuring early-day physicians, are expected. "The auxiliary invites you to see the exhibit at Heritage Museum," said Mrs. Allensworth. "You will be interested and surprised at what you will see." The auxiliary also has completed landscaping the front of the Dora Roberts

Schools' Future Action On Edict To Be Decided

The Big Spring School board will meet in special session today at 5:15 p.m. to further determine directives to the school attorney in regard to action in answer to a question of compliance with the Civil Rights Act of 1964. The immediate problem revolves around a notification from HEW in regard to the Swann decision in Washington D.C. on Feb. 10, at which time HEW was the defendant in a court case. HEW has indicated that Big Spring, one of six in Texas and 25 school districts in the United States, must submit new desegregation plans by April 10 or risk the loss of federal funds. The letters to the schools came from Peter E. Holmes, acting director of HEW's Office for Civil Rights. His letter, in essence, tells the districts to "develop a plan which will eliminate the vestiges of your former dual school system by the opening of the school term beginning in the fall of 1973." In Big Spring, a change that will satisfy the HEW rules would probably involve busing and the board has tentatively planned a questionnaire to school patrons to determine their feelings on this subject. The schools in question in Big Spring, which do not achieve satisfactory racial balance, are apparently Bauer and Lake View although no answer or

Crime Data Discloses First Dip In 17 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first decrease in serious crime in 17 years has been reported by the FBI in its Uniform Crime Reports for 1972, although the agency said rapes and murders increased. Crimes classified as serious were down by 3 per cent overall. FBI records show that the last measurable decrease in crime was 2 per cent, in 1955.

"This is the day that we have been looking forward to for many years," said Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst. "It is an important milestone in the fight to reduce crime and is directly attributable to the strong efforts of law enforcement officers throughout the nation to turn back the wave of crime that rolled up in the 1960s."

Forcible rape, however, was up 11 per cent for the year. Murders increased by 4 per cent and aggravated assault by 6 per cent. But a 4 per cent decrease was recorded for robberies, which make up the large number of crimes in the violent category.

The report, released by FBI Acting Director L. Patrick Gray III, said that crimes of violence increased by 1 per cent, down from a 9 per cent increase the previous year. Decreases in the number of serious crimes were reported by 94 major cities in 1972. This compared with 53 cities in 1971, 22 in 1970, and 17 in 1969.

Others wait their turn outside the store.

Fog Fatality

HOUSTON (AP) — James Ramey, 76, of Houston was killed as he walked along the road after his car broke down in thick fog on the north loop Wednesday night. Two vehicles hit him.

LAKEVIEW'S BEST — Dickie Wrightsil survived competition in Lakeview School's spelling bee to win a place in the April 5 county competition, which takes place at Howard County JC. No alternative was chosen.

Scurry Plans Huge Party

SNYDER — Scurry County is planning its biggest party ever in October to celebrate the production of the one billionth barrel of oil from the county's fields.

C. T. McLaughlin, Roger Mize and E. W. Schrader will be co-chairmen of the big celebration. A budget of $10,000 has been set up for the party and will be raised by popular subscription.

Preliminary plans call for tours of interest, an oil show at the coliseum showing equipment of the past and today's modern production technology. The affair will be climaxed with a massive banquet spotlighting officials of oil companies, also governmental officials and show business personalities.

Sub-committee chairmen include Pete Nikias and Ike Dolan, oil exhibits; H. W. Cargile, finance; Bill Gilliland and John Thomas, banquet; Dave Harlin and Bill Vestal, special activities; Bassett Keller, publicity; Mel Gilbert, entertainments.

Movie Boom In Texas

That good looking young woman you may have seen on a Texas street recently could have been Goldie Hawn. A goodly number of movie stars have visited Texas within the last several months.

In fact Texas is having a movie boom!

The Texas Star, the weekly newspaper magazine supplement, takes a look at this industry in its cover story this Sunday. Last year 22 movies were made in Texas bringing in $6 million to the state, according to the Star.

Also to be found in the Star this week are color pictures of Dogwood blossoms and the story of the famous East Texas celebration that proclaims the passing winter and the coming of spring.

A bit of history is included in the issue this week — Les Beitz tells the story of how the Younger Boys defied the Texas Rangers in a heist 20 miles outside of Austin.

Sportswriter L. A. Wilke tells the story of Port Aransas — where they bite everyday.

Police Officer Resigns Post

One of six patrol sergeants at the city police submitted his resignation to the police chief here today.

Asst. Chief Stanley Bogard announced that John B. Scott's resignation became effective immediately.

The letter to Chief of Police Vance Chisum stated, "I submit to you my resignation as a sergeant of the Big Spring Police Department. As you are aware, the full load of college courses at Hardin-Simmons and McMurry College in Abilene requires a great deal of time away from my family. In an effort to spend more time on my education and with my family, I deem this decision wise. I will miss the constant friendship of the department."

Rolling Vehicle Causes Havoc

A parked vehicle belonging to Melvin Mead McNew of Arlington apparently had its brakes fail. It rolled down a hill and struck a parked car belonging to Jackie Hopper which struck another vehicle belonging to Hopper, which, in turn, ran over five motorcycles at the House of Suzuki and came to rest against the wall of the building where it took out a plate glass window. Damage was reported to be extensive.

$24,000 FAMILY PINCHED

Taxes Withheld Equal Total Pay 12 Years Ago

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — When she recently looked over last year's family expenses, Barbara Hayes discovered to her surprise that the taxes withheld from her husband's paychecks equalled his total salary 12 years ago.

"But I don't feel I have much more money to spend now than then," she said. "Joe's salary has gone up steadily, but our standard of living hasn't. The cost of living has taken care of the extra money."

Starting this week Hayes, 37, will make approximately $26,000 a year in his new job as director of training and management development for Eastern Air Lines. His salary now is about $24,000.

Despite the raise, the Hayeses, who say they've always been careful with money, are cutting back where they can.

At the same time, they insist on keeping nonessentials in their budget which they feel are important for the development of their family: a private school for one daughter, travel and more hobbies.

Hayes, his 35-year-old wife and their two daughters, Laurie, 12, and Wendy, 9, live in a $43,000, four-bedroom home in an upper middle-class neighborhood in southwest Miami.

The ranch-style, split-level house, which looks out on a golf course, is furnished simply but stylishly, with heavy Mediterranean furniture and thick shag carpeting.

NO POOL

A black and white television set sits in one corner of the living room. "We've deferred buying a color TV because of the price," Hayes said.

Carrying the house costs $350 a month for the mortgage and taxes. "The rooms are small and we have no pool. We really thought we could get more for our money," Mrs. Hayes said.

Yet homes like theirs, which they bought 13 months ago, are now selling for $3,000 more than they paid, Hayes said.

An even greater shock to Mrs. Hayes has been the skyrocketing cost of food.

She said her weekly food budget of a tight $45 is a little more than she spent last year, but at the same time she's buying fewer groceries.

"I'm boycotting the meat counter — roast beef, steaks and even hot dogs, which went up 20 cents a package the last time I looked at them," she said. "I'm buying more chicken, fish, macaroni and cheese, and spaghetti."

CALCULATOR

Mrs. Hayes usually makes a couple of shopping trips a week to two nearby supermarkets, buying most of her meat and produce at one and the rest of her groceries at the other.

With her grocery list and a pocket calculator in hand, she pushed her cart down the supermarket aisles on a recent shopping trip.

She watched carefully for sale items, breaking her meat boycott to buy a canned ham, normally $6, but on sale for $4.99. She picked up some packages of frozen perch — three for a dollar — and several cans of tuna fish, on special for 39 cents.

She said she also tries to save money by not bringing her daughters shopping with her. "They talk me into buying things I wouldn't buy otherwise."

She buys few desserts or snack foods because of their cost and because "Joe, I and Laurie are perpetually on a diet." Mrs. Hayes said she usually buys name brands of groceries rather than the cheaper, house brands because of "the big difference in quality," Hayes said.

The Hayeses hope to cut their transportation costs by keeping their cars — a 1970 Maverick and a 1972 Plymouth — for at least six years or "until they fall apart," Mrs. Hayes said.

"What we would like to do is save for the purchase of our next cars after we finish paying our present ones off," Hayes added. "But we just can't do it. The money's not there."

Clothing is a budget item where the family also skimps, probably too much, Mrs. Hayes said.

"The girls wear shorts all year round, and I wear pants and shirts," she said. "Most of the dresses and pant suits I buy are in the $20-$40 range. The most expensive thing I own is a $75 pant suit."

Hayes buys his clothes at a factory outlet or from an importer who has suits made in Hong Kong.

"I was a little upset recently," he said, "because I broke my own rule and bought a suit over $100. I only buy clothes when I run out of them."

"The four of us used to go out to eat once a week, Mrs. Hayes said. "Now we go out about twice a month."

Their entertaining consists of having several couples over for cards, snacks and drinks.

Hayes buys little liquor. "We bought five fifths of booze in the Virgin Islands last year and we still have some of it," Mrs. Hayes said.

The Hayeses said they have tried to economize on little expenses as well as large ones.

Mrs. Hayes stopped going to the beauty parlor each week "because it bothered me to look at that $5 stub in the checkbook and know that the product lasted only one day."

CREDIT CARD

Hayes is also trying to keep the family's credit card and charge account spending to a minimum. Because American Express charges $15 a year for membership, he dropped that card in favor of Master Charge, which has no fee.

His wife had accounts at three department stores, but Hayes has stopped one temporarily.

Despite the burgeoning cost of practically everything, Hayes tries to save between 15 and 20 per cent of his gross income.

His company's credit union takes out a certain amount every month for his savings account and savings bonds. He also has several life insurance policies.

Bluebonnet Queen Is Miss Crooker

SALADO, Tex. (AP) — Miss Linda Ann Crooker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Crooker Jr., Houston, has been named Texas Bluebonnet Queen by The Texas Bluebonnet Festival Committee Inc.

She succeeds Miss Mahala Sibley, Austin and Fort Stockton.

Miss Crooker will be crowned April 4 in a ceremony in the garden at the governor's mansion by Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

The Bluebonnet Festival Committee is a non-profit organization which chooses the queen and cooperates with civic groups in presenting bluebonnet trails and celebrations. Briscoe has named March, April and May as Bluebonnet Months in Texas.

Cancel Warrants For Solon Aides

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Speaker Price Daniel Jr. announced to the House Wednesday that state district court judge Ernest Coker had cancelled arrest warrants for four legislative aides to appear before the Waller County grand jury.

But Daniel said the aides would appear voluntarily Thursday morning.

The grand jury wanted them to answer questions about a current legislative investigation into "problems" of Prairie View A&M College which is in Waller County.

Daniel told the House Coker had said he did not sign the warrants "and as far as he was concerned they are a complete nullity."

Coker, Daniel said, also believed it was unconstitutional for a grand jury to subpoena legislative aides.

The judge informed Daniel that he had ordered the warrants cancelled and the bonds posted for three of the aides set aside. A fourth aide had refused to accept her warrant because her name was misspelled.

Daniel said the aides would appear voluntarily "in an effort to show the people of Waller County, those involved at Prairie View" and local officials that they "desire to cooperate with the authorities there."

In return, Daniel said, he hoped that "this cooperation will flow back" to the investigating committee.

Rep. Craig Washington, D-Houston, a member of the committee, said Coker's action was "an honest exercise of judicial restraint and discretion."

Arrest warrants were issued Monday to Mrs. Grace Curtis, secretary of Rep. Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale, chairman of the House Education Committee; Jim Cline, assistant to Rep. Paul Ragsdale, D-Dallas, Carlton Car, Daniels executive assistant; and Mrs. Jo Baylor, aide to Rep. Eddie Bernice Johnson, D-Dallas.

Mrs. Baylor refused her warrant because her first name was shown as "Joe."

Adultery Damages Decision Returned

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A husband has the right to bring suit for money damages against a man who has had sexual intercourse with his wife, the Texas Supreme Court ruled Wednesday.

Wives have a similar right to sue their husbands' mistresses or other women with whom they have had relations, the court said.

The court split 5-4 on the issue. The dissenters said such suits could serve no useful purpose and might further endanger an already shaky marriage.

SURELY INJURED
In the majority opinion, the court said Texas had adopted the "tort of criminal conversation" along with the rest of the common law.

The decision sent back to a Longview district court for trial Billy Wayne McMillan's suit against Daniel I. Feisenthal, which the lower court had thrown out.

"The aggrieved spouse is surely injured whether or not the affections of the conversing (adulterous) spouse have been alienated," said the majority opinion by Chief Justice Joe Greenhill.

Greenhill said "the mental anguish and other injuries to the offended spouse may be quite real."

"We have found no court which has abolished the tort or refused to recognize it as part of the common law, and we decline to do so. If the legislature, which is now in session, desires to act in the matter, that, of course, is its prerogative," the opinion said.

Associate Justice Zollie Steakley wrote the dissenting opinion.

LOVED HIM
He quoted Mrs. McMillan as saying she had had relations on one occasion with Feisenthal, but Feisenthal denied it. Mrs. McMillan stated in a deposition that she still loved her husband and wanted to stay with him, Steakley said.

Steakley said such a suit "has no place in our legal system."

"While the innocent spouse as well as the marriage suffer from an act of infidelity, an award of damages will neither alleviate emotional distress nor strengthen marital ties. . . . After the vent, any effort by the husband to recover damages from the wrongdoer, whether successful or unsuccessful, or in open court, could endanger, and certainly will not serve to sustain or restore the marriage," Steakley said.

Spotlight Lounge Now Baptist Church In Big D

DALLAS (AP) — The Golden Chain Baptist Church was once the Spotlight Lounge. The transformation was made by the pastor, Rev. B. L. Horn.

Before organizing his church for services, Horn took down the neon sign that decorated the roof of the single-story wood building and in its place nailed two wooden crosses.

He replaced the blinking electric beer advertising signs which had adorned the walls with the church covenant and a religious picture.

"A plain wooden pulpit now stands where once men leaned against a bar."

Horn's familiarity with the building goes beyond the restoration. "Yes, it sort of ironic. I've drunk a few beers in here myself. This is something a lot of ministers try to hide but according to my Bible, we never reach perfection," he said.

"I don't believe in preaching against it. Isn't that strange? I teach the Bible and preach the gospel. That's all I'm supposed to do," he said.

The two wooden crosses outside the building remain unadorned.

"If I had my way I'd paint them black but a lot of people don't like this. As the church is in a predominantly black neighborhood I believe black would be the appropriate color," Horn said.

"I would like to see the black man see himself as black and not any other color. Wasn't Simon, who helped the Lord carry the cross, a black man?" Horn now fears that the City of Dallas may take away his church. "Someone told me that in five years or so the city will want the land this church is on for a highway. I would like to keep the church here. After all, it's an excellent location," he said.

Farmers Should Seek New Markets For Cottonseed

By MARJ CARPENTER
Donnell Echols, Lamesa, a first-time member of the board of directors of Cotton Incorporated, spoke up for the farmers in his first board meeting in Dallas this week stating that "Cotton growers seeking ways to increase total profits, might look to new markets for cottonseed."

Echols voiced the growing concern of producers over a marketing system that keeps cottonseed income to growers low, while prices paid for cottonseed products are on the rise.

"There was a day, in Dawson County, that the cottonseed paid for the ginning of the crop and that day is gone," Echols told the board and cotton leaders from throughout the nation. Echols told them that official market reports show that cotton producers are getting the same price for cottonseed that they got last September $42-$50 per ton.

Yet cottonseed meal containing 41 per cent protein is bringing $120-$175 per ton today, a substantial increase over the $90-$95 price last September. And prices paid for hulls have doubled since September — from $11-$13 per ton to $22-$27 per ton.

"We are distressed," said Echols, "both as producers and as members of the board of directors of Cotton, Inc. which represents all producers in America."

Cotton Incorporated is the research, sales and marketing company sponsored by cotton growers through their dollar-per-bale program.

Echols, who serves on the processing, handling and services committee of the board, said cotton producers will underwrite $300,000 worth of cottonseed research in the coming year.

"That is more than 10 times the amount the cottonseed industry is spending, based on information available to us, and obviously, producers are not getting a fair return on their research investment."

The Dawson County grower said that cotton producers have concentrated on cutting costs and increasing profits in marketing fiber and have tended to ignore cottonseed. "But all that is changing," he added. "We producers must realize that cotton is the only plant known to man that produces both food and fiber."

Lamesa and Dawson County farmers believe in research and they also believe in fighting for legislation that helps the farmer.

COTTON GROWERS MEET
At a meeting of the Lamesa Cotton Growers last week, the farmers also heard reports on two pieces of legislation down at Austin that they oppose and went on record as saying they were against them.
A Spring Lake legislator is trying to push through a bill that would require cotton contractors to post full performance bonds.

Many cotton farmers contract their cotton crop before maturity, gambling on the market and they like the practice which gives them a foundation of safety. They bitterly opposed any legislation that would discourage cotton contracting.

They also came out against legislation that has been introduced which would require a special type of secondary safety hitch on all trailers. They were told in their meeting that this legislation was primarily being pushed by the man who devised the hitch.

DONATE GRANTS
During the meeting, the directors, headed by the president of the organization, Eddie Carpenter, approved the continuation of a $5,000 research grant from the local organization to the Texas A&M Research Station in Lubbock, as well as a $1,000 research grant to the local county extension research program.

County Agent Lee Roy Colgan told the group that the equipment loaned to Dawson County farmers this past season by the Lubbock extension service, because of the grant, had been very beneficial. This had included planters, harvesters and cotton rickers and the cotton rick became very important in this year's crop after the inclement weather during the winter.

Dawson County cotton crop passed all expectations last year and a week ago had already reached 216,000 bales, with more to come from the ricks to the gin.

In fact, Dawson County may yet end up the top cotton producing county in the nation for 1972 and their farmers are battling in every way possible to not only keep a good cotton crop in Dawson County, but also continue to have a good profit.

Representing Coahoma will be a group of students who placed third in area talent skit competition. They include Teresa Cooper, Darlene Jacobs, Cindy Parrish, Charles Gizzard and Rose Thixton.

Their skit depicts office procedure in job application and interviewing. Sally Echols, Coahoma, is going as area vice president.

Voting delegates from Big Spring will be Lisa Gautreaux, who also will compete in short-hand level one competition, and Gaylynn Bledsoe.

Sally Moran will enter the information communication level two category, and Kay Morehead, spelling.

Carol Hollingsworth is vying for both business math and accounting honors.

Those competing at San Antonio from Big Spring won fourths in area competition earlier at Big Spring.

'HIPPIE HOLLOW' NUDE SWIMMERS

AUSTIN (AP) — Travis County Sheriff Raymond Frank says he will have no part in any "harassment activities" against naked swimmers at nearby Lake Travis.

Frank told a group of complaining women that he would enforce laws concerning nudity, traffic and littering, "when I find out what the laws are in regard to all this," but he would not take part in any "harassment activities."

Frank said the women, led by Mrs. Charles LeMaistre, wife of the University of Texas System chancellor, told him that nude bathing has spread beyond the "Hippie Hollow" area on the southeast rim of Lake Travis, which is 20 miles northwest of Austin.

The sheriff said he did not know if his department could do anything beyond ticketing cars parked in the no-parking zone declared along the county road through the area.

Assistant County Atty. Mike Renfrow said the 1969 legislature rescinded the indecent exposure laws and there is now no law regarding nude bathing in public.

The sheriff said the women left his office and headed for the County commissioners chamber.

Tax Preparer Gets Cell Time

DALLAS (AP) — An income tax preparer, Meivin Threadgill, who pleaded guilty to preparing false returns for his clients, has drawn a 40-month prison term.

The former Dallasite, 48, operated the United Threadgill Income Tax Service.

Threadgill told U.S. District Judge Sarah T. Hughes that the U.S. tax laws and tax structure encouraged the situation and blamed the government for his predicament.

Judge Hughes suggested Threadgill get out of the income tax business after he is released from prison. Threadgill was operating his income tax preparation business in California when arrested.

A crafty defender capitalized on declarer's faulty technique to upset South's six heart contract.

The auction was direct. South, having 25 points in high cards and distribution—including an extra point for all four aces, opened with a demand bid of two hearts. North properly raised to three hearts with eight points in support.

With the trump fit confirmed, South was now bent on reaching at least a small slam, and in an effort to try for even bigger things he bid three spades to show first round control of that suit. When North signed off by bidding three no trump, South proceeded without further ado to six hearts.

Altho a spade lead would have assured defeat of the contract, West chose a passive defense by opening the ten of hearts and South won the trick in his hand with the queen. He cashed the ace next and when West discarded a diamond, declarer switched to the ace of diamonds before leading a third round of trumps to North's jack.

The queen of clubs was led and finessed. If West wins the trick with the king, South is in position to claim, for he can discard one spade on the king of diamonds and the other on dummy's long club. West realized, however, that it would not be prudent to release his club control too quickly, and he followed suit smoothly with the four.

The king of diamonds was cashed as South discarded the ten of spades and then the jack of clubs was led to repeat the finesse in that suit. West produced the king and exited with a club, placing the declarer back in his hand with the ace. There was no way to reach dummy's long club, and, at the end, South was obliged to surrender a spade for the setting trick.

Declarer's timing was faulty. He should be willing to give up a club trick early in the play in order to retain full control of the proceedings. It is suggested that the five of clubs be led at trick two. If West puts up the king, it is the only trick that he can take. South draws trumps when he regains the lead and discards his spades on the king of diamonds and the queen of clubs.

If West plays a small club when South leads the suit, dummy's ten will win the trick. A spade is returned and declarer puts in the ten, losing to West's queen. South wins the return, cashes the ace of diamonds and the ace of spades and then ruffs a spade in dummy. The six of clubs is discarded on the king of diamonds, trumps are drawn and declarer claims his slam, having lost only one spade trick.

Government's Financial Squeeze Looms Greater

By OMAR BURLISON, M.C.
17th District, Texas
WASHINGTON, D.C. — Until determined steps are taken to closely relate expenditures to income on a current yearly basis, the financial squeeze on the federal government will become greater.

To this end several of us in the Congress have introduced a constitutional amendment which will prevent spending more money than the Government takes in, as projected in the Treasury's income estimate on a year-to-year basis. The only exception in the proposal is in case of war time or in time of a national emergency declared by Congress.

Too many members of Congress find it politically convenient to vote for all appropriations and against all taxes. It is natural to want to please everyone back home by voting for those things of special interest, but this may increase the national debt and eat away at the value of the dollar.

Our government has been so reckless with its spending that it lacks the confidence of its people at home and its friends abroad. A question was posed last week by one of my colleagues when we introduced the legislation. "Would anybody really be expected to buy stock in a company that has operated in the red for years?" Since we are not raising taxes commensurate with spending, our public debt has jumped from $382.6 billion on June 30, 1970, to an estimated $505.5 billion on June 30, 1974.

The President has sent a budget to Congress, (and an incomplete one at that, which calls for spending some $20 billion more than estimated income. The budget is incomplete because certain existing obligations in the future have been understated. As an example, the budget for veterans benefits lacks $100 million covering what the program cost last year. Even in the matter of Revenue Sharing, the budget calls for less than committed by the federal government last year to aid states and cities.

The constitutional amendment introduced by us puts the federal government on a "pay-as-you-go basis" similar to our own Texas State Constitution. Needed further is a system of "price tagging" recommended two years ago by the Texas Research League and referred to in the above-mentioned editorial. The purpose of price tagging is to make projections on the cost of legislation over both a short-term and long-range period.

The reason we have made our proposal in the form of a constitutional amendment is to attain permanency, since a law passed by one Congress can be changed by a succeeding Congress.

Everts' Foe Not Confident

NEW YORK (AP) — "I'm not going to say I've lost before I've played, but Chris is too strong and she has a game that's not mine. I'll have to go to the net."

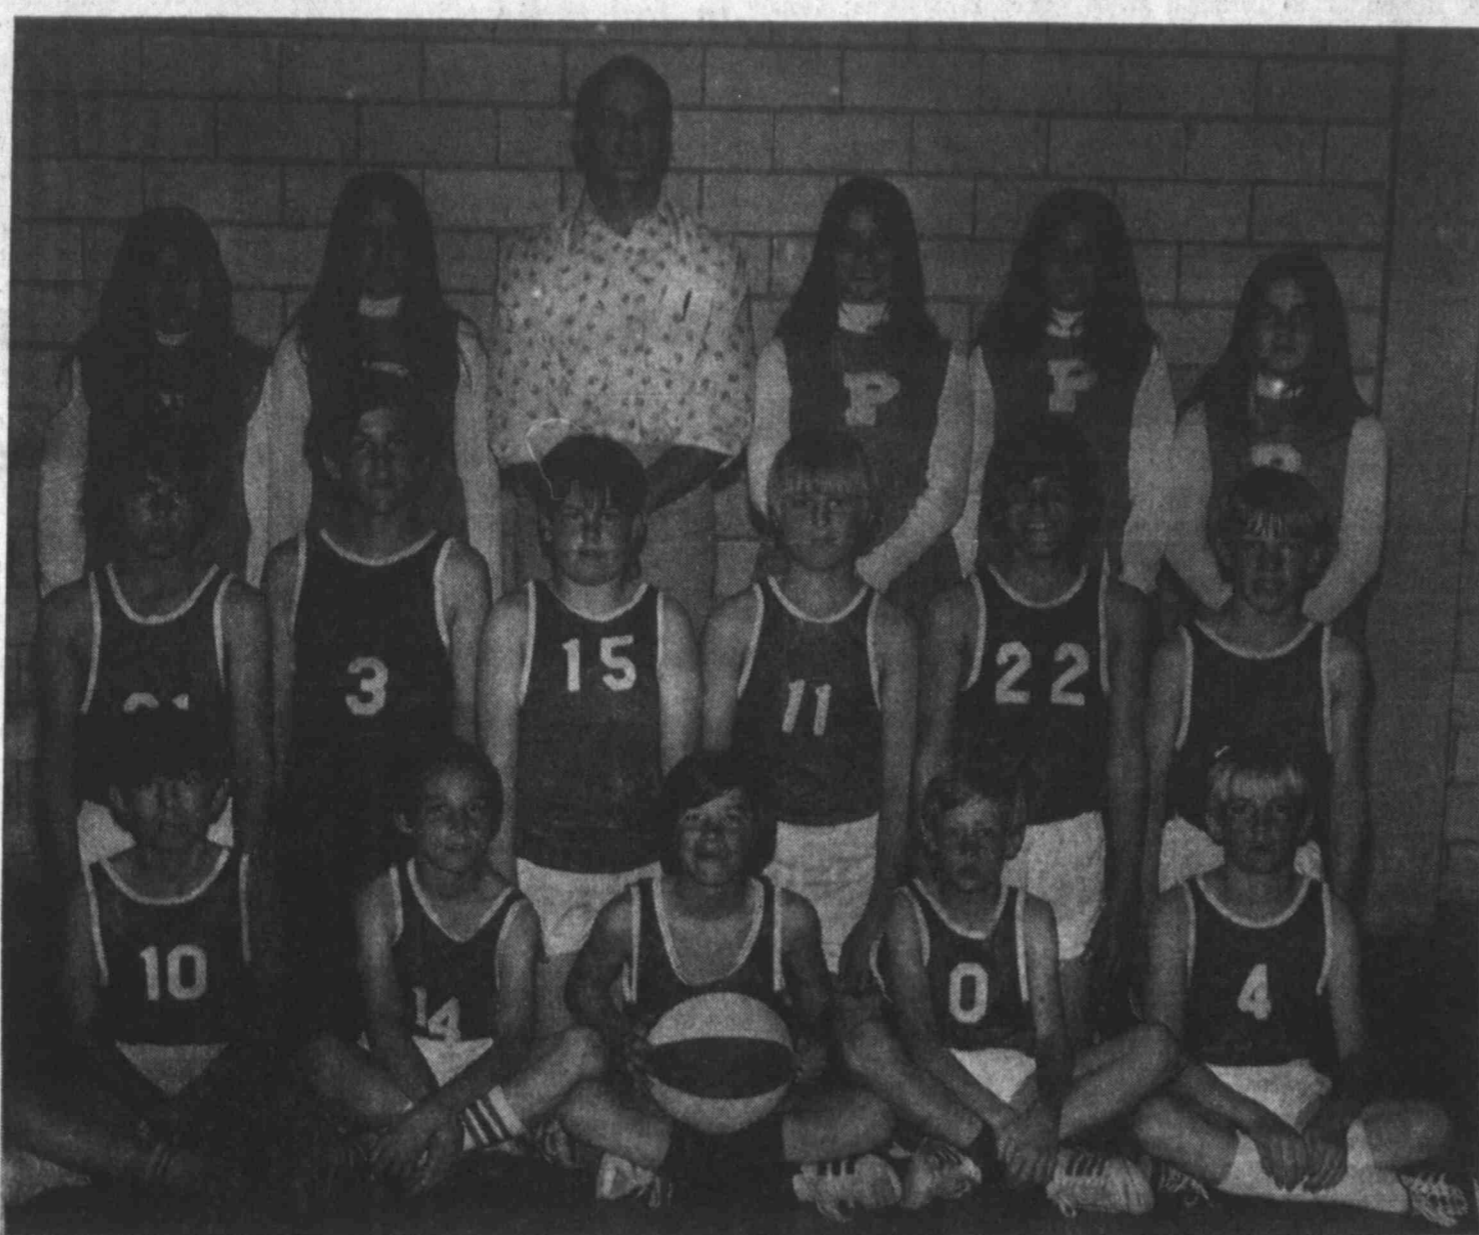

Isabel Fernandez, a 22-year-old Colombian, was talking about her quarter-finals match against Chris Evert in the $30,000 Lady Gotham Classic.

Miss Fernandez earned a Friday night berth against the teenage tennis idol from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., with a 6-2, 4-6, 6-3 triumph over Maryka Schaar, a Dutch girl who has two forehands.

Miss Evert, known for her two-fisted backhand, moved out of Wednesday night's first round of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association event with an easy 6-4, 6-2 victory over Sharon Walsh of San Rafael, Calif.

Chris, who has won two of her first three professional tournaments, was seeded second to Virginia Wade of England, but Miss Wade withdrew with a strained muscle in her right arm.

In other Wednesday night matches, fourth-seeded Linda Tuero of Metairie, La., who has many of Chris's feminine qualities but not her killer instinct at the net, beat Maria Neumanova of Czechoslovakia 7-6, 6-3 while Katja Ebbinghaus of West Germany ousted Gail Chanfreau of France 6-1, 6-2.

STATE QUALIFIERS — The GrAY Panthers finished with a 1-2 record this season and qualified for the State GrAY tournament in Waco. Team members are (front) Angel Miranda, Ray Rhymes, Oren Craig, Barry Fish and Dale Earnest; (middle) Jim Robinson, Byron Harris, Jim Griffin, Mark Poss, Billy Ray Johnson and Randy Cregar. In back are cheerleaders Cruz Rocha, Carol Meek, Gena Tonn, Lisa Warren and Windi Hamby. Delnor Poss, back, was the coach of the Panthers, who finished in second place in the Big Spring league and second in the city tourney.

Cincinnati Favored In National League

By KEN RAPPOPORT Associated Press Sports Writer
If you're tired of hearing that "Big Red Machine" cliché, you'll be sick of it after this summer of National League baseball.

The Cincinnati Reds appear to have enough wheels and power to motor through the West, and then some.

How good are the Reds? Well, they're good enough to acquire an All-Star outfielder from the American League and think about keeping him on the shelf.

Richie Scheinblum, who hit .300 for the Kansas City Royals last season, is one of the new Redlegs—and according to Manager Sparky Anderson, won't have a regular job this year.

Of course, Cincinnati's new Rich kid could have a red-hot hand and beat out Cesar Geronimo in right field. But that may be the only tenuous position in a talent-laden lineup that conquered the National League last year.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, defending East champions, may be hurt emotionally by the tragic loss of Roberto Clemente but still have enough muscles to be classified as heavyweights in their division.

Teams challenging the apparent front-runners should be the Houston Astros in the West and Chicago Cubs in the East. If the Reds and Pirates play up to potential, though, it'll be all over by early September.

Cincinnati has a two-time Most Valuable Player in catcher Johnny Bench, a base stealer supreme in second baseman Joe Morgan, a fence-breaker in first baseman Tony Perez and several other diamond sparklers like left fielder Pete Rose and center fielder Bobby Tolan.

If anyone can match this team in potential, the Astros might. Trouble is, they have never played up to potential. Perhaps Leo Durocher, in his first full season as the Houston manager, can get the team to do so in 1973.

The Atlanta Braves improved themselves tremendously with off-season trades and could make a run at the Reds, although not as strong as the Astros.

A poor fourth in the West last season, 25 games off the pace, the Braves have acquired pitching and defense and filled plenty of holes.

The Los Angeles Dodgers have their perennial strength, a strong pitching staff. But a lack of power will probably short-circuit their pennant drive and keep them behind the Reds, Astros and Braves.

San Francisco's Giants have a young club of potential with outfielder Bobby Bonds, shortstop Chris Speier, third baseman Dave Kingman, catcher Willie McCovey. But their lack of pitching depth will hurt the Giants and probably doom them to a fifth-place finish.

Holding up the West, as usual, will be the San Diego Padres, who have slugger Nate Colbert and plenty of baseball babies.

There's some doubt about the Pittsburgh machine this year because of the absence of Roberto Clemente, considered by some to be the best all-around player in baseball in his time. The Pirates may miss the leadership of their veteran, killed in a plane crash on New Year's Eve, but still have enough brute strength to bully the East race for the fourth straight year.

The Chicago Cubs appear to be locked into second place this year — as they have been perennially. Despite the presence of 20-game winner Ferguson Jenkins and no-hit pitcher Nito Pappas, the Cubs' staff is not that deep and will probably be their downfall this year.

The St. Louis Cardinals and New York Mets appear fated to battle for third in the East. Bob Gibson and Rick Wise head a shaky pitching staff and third baseman Joe Torre and outfielder Lou Brock are the everyday stars of a Cardinal team that appears to have too many holes to be classified as a threat to the front-runners.

In New York, Tom Seaver and Jon Matlack are two solid starters on an otherwise questionable pitching staff. Rusty Staub is the leading hitter, but he doesn't hit too many home runs—and that is another Met problem. They failed to finish higher than third last year because of little long-ball punch and will no doubt fail to finish higher than fourth this year for the same reason.

Steve Carlton, the best pitcher in baseball last season, will have some help this year—and for that reason, the Philadelphia Phillies should move up a notch to fifth in the East. The Phillies made some savvy, off-season trades, bringing pitcher Jim Lonborg and infielder-outfielder Cesar Tovar to town.

'Busy' Seaver Silences Reds

By The Associated Press
The New Mets' pitching staff revolves around Tom Seaver and one of the issues in their spring training camp also revolves around Tom Seaver.

The issue: Should Seaver pitch as much as possible, despite the unhappy feelings of others?

"I'm going to pitch whenever the pitching coach and the manager put my name in the lineup," says Seaver.

Seaver pitched six innings of two-hit ball Wednesday as the Mets beat the Cincinnati Reds 8-0, but his brilliance didn't overshadow the issue recently brought to the surface by Jerry Kosman.

Kosman, the No. 4 starter on the staff, had complained about Seaver receiving preferential treatment.

Bob Scheffing, the Mets' general manager, stepped into the discussion rather forcefully Wednesday.

"Tom is going to pitch whenever he's ready," exclaimed Scheffing.

In the other exhibition games, the Oakland A's ripped the Chicago Cubs 13-3; the Chicago White Sox slugged the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-0; the Boston Red Sox trimmed the St. Louis Cardinals 3-0; the Los Angeles Dodgers topped the Montreal Expos 5-3; the Philadelphia Phillies nipped the Atlanta Braves 2-1; the Kansas City Royals downed the Texas Rangers 8-2; the Milwaukee Brewers beat the San Diego Padres 9-4; the Houston Astros whipped the Detroit Tigers 4-2; the San Francisco Giants trounced the California Angels 3-2 in 11 innings and the Baltimore Orioles defeated the New York Yankees 4-3.

After Seaver pitched the first six innings, Phil Hennigan wrapped up the shutout with three scoreless frames. Cleon Jones walloped a three-run homer for the Mets.

Vida Blue made his first start since signing his 1973 baseball contract last Monday, but didn't stick around long enough to get the decision as Oakland walloped Chicago.

Wilbur Wood pitched seven scoreless innings, his longest stretch of the spring, as the Chicago White Sox whipped the Pirates. Rick Reichardt knocked in two runs for the winners.

Manny Mota and Lee Lacy collected three hits apiece and knocked in a total of three runs to lead the Dodgers over the Expos. Mota had three singles while Lacy collected a triple and two singles.

Bill Robinson, spilling an intentional walk, swung at the fourth pitch and drove in the winning run with an eighth-inning single as Philadelphia nipped Atlanta.

Kansas City downed Texas as Ed Kirkpatrick and Amos Otis hit home runs; Don Money's three-run triple keyed a five-run third inning for Milwaukee that carried the Brewers past San Diego; Doug Rader hit a homer to help Houston beat Detroit; Ken Berry dropped a fly ball with two out in the 11th inning, allowing the winning run to score as San Francisco defeated California and Mike Cuellar and Doyle Alexander combined to pitch Baltimore over the Yankees.

Weir Enters Cycle Series

Big Spring cyclist Danny Weir makes his first showing as a professional Sunday when he enters the Texas State Motocross Motorcycle Championships at Odessa's Raceway Park, and he'll be shooting for part of a $3,000 purse.

It's the second leg of the TEXAMA series, worth $25,000. Action gets under way for the motocrossers at 1 p.m., but the show opens at 8 a.m. with a drag racing meet.

The six-stop tour opened last week in Houston, and after Sunday's run, it'll go to Dallas, Lockhart, Houston and Dallas.

Weir will be competing against such cyclists as Bob Grossi, last week's winner, in the 250cc action Sunday. Grossi, from Brookdale, Calif., will also get stiff competition from Brad Lackey of Pinole, Calif., Pierre Karsmakers of Holland and Peter Lamppu of Finland.

Tickets are available at A-1 Cycle Shop, 906 E. Fourth. Races will not be held here Sunday due to the Odessa event.

Fourth 5-4A Golf Scheduled Friday

ODESSA — San Angelo tries to pad its District 5-AAAA golf lead before a final homecoming here Friday as the 16 league links teams gather at Odessa Country Club for the fourth stop on the 5-AAAA tour. Play begins at 9 a.m.

The No. 1 Bobcat squad holds a seven-shot edge over second place Abilene Cooper, who led the action through 36 holes. San Angelo fired a 298 at Midland's Hogan Park last week for an 898 total, with action scheduled to move to San Angelo Country Club for next week's final round.

Big Spring No. 1 stands sixth in the group with a 926 total behind San Angelo, Cooper (965), Odessa Permian (912), Midland (920), and Midland Lee (923).

Cooper's Lee Baird is low man so far with a 223, while San Angelo's Grant Collyns and Robin Bruner of Midland are a stroke back. In at 225 are Randy Waterhouse of San Angelo, Ronnie Wilson of Permian and Ken Walter of Cooper.

Big Spring's low scorer is Jimmy Stewart, who owns a 229 score. Randy Grimo is next at 233, Terry Pate has a 235, Bennett Robb 236 and Grady Harris 243.

For the Steers' No. 2 unit, Steve Corson has covered the 54 holes in 259, while Bob Shaffer has a 267 count and Corky Burchell is at 262. The other two players will come from either Tye Stewart, Jim Maupin, Larry Shanks or Craig Medley.

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

You'd think he'd at least have saved a copy of it, for crying out loud. I mean it isn't every day a guy gets gigged by a magazine like Sports Illustrated. But his pride, or something like that, wouldn't let him.

Larry Horton, Big Spring High School's new baseball mentor, felt he was journalistically maligned, and wouldn't be caught using a particular June, 1969 issue of SI for kiddy litter. As a matter of fact, he still gets a little cranky when talking about it.

The excitement occurred at the NCAA baseball finals in Omaha three years back, but for Horton, who was a University of Texas hurler at the time, it must seem like it happened yesterday. The article, entitled "Odd-One for the Sun Devils" and written by Peter Carry, was mostly about Arizona State.

They won it, you see. And the first, oh, about three-fourths of the article is about ASU coach Bobby Winkles and all about how he's a combination of Vince Lombardi and a priest. I think. Then it gets into the good part:

"After losing 3-2 to New York University's No. 4 starter in a game that ended with a close call at first, the Longhorns put on a boorish display that was remarkable in a series that otherwise was a model of old-fashioned, cheer-your-opponent good sportsmanship. Larry Horton, Texas' barrel-shaped relief pitcher, charged the first base umpire after the call which ended the game.

"As the two teams left the park one Longhorn yelled at the NYU players, 'I hope you guys lose real bad. You don't deserve to be where you are anyhow.' Then came a joke that I didn't completely understand, something about what a lady Longhorn fan said to the NYU coach and his reply. Well, Horton admits to being a little overweight, but that was the only thing truthfully represented, he'll tell you. Here's his story:

"It was a bum rap. I didn't do anything more than any of the other 15 guys who ran out on the field. I wasn't the instigator. Besides, the ump really missed it. Horton explained.

"We were behind 3-2 in the bottom of the ninth in the semifinals with NYU, with two outs and a man on second. The batter hit a ball in between first and second base, and the first baseman fielded it. They had a foot race to the bag, and it was that close." He made two quick clapping signs to get his point across.

"The runner was out, we weren't arguing about that. But when they stepped on the bag they ran into each other and the ball flew down the right field fence about 25 yards. The umpire was in good position, watching the feet and all, and he made the right call.

"But after he made it, he turned and started running for the dugout because he knew it was a controversial call and he didn't want to get into an argument. He never saw the ball fly loose, and neither did the rest of the officials. All this time the guy at second base was running and he scored. It would have tied the game.

"We would have had (Burt) Hooton pitching the next game, and he was 13-0. We had the national championship wrapped up." he moaned. "It's the only time I ever really charged an umpire. Coach (Cliff) Gustafson even went out on the field, and he never got upset over a bad call."

What can I say, except to add that I found out that that joke was nasty and we certainly won't have that sort of thing in our family-type newspaper, no sir. Besides, it wasn't funny.

The Squires twice fell behind by as much as 13 points in the first period, but got going in the second half and pulled away to a 121-106 decision over the Nets.

Lakers, Bucks May Not Play Extra Contest

By The Associated Press
By beating Golden State 96-89 in their regular season finale Wednesday night, the Los Angeles Lakers made their long National Basketball Association season one game longer. Or did they?

The victory gave Los Angeles, the defending NBA champions, a 60-22 record for the regular season, the same mark as Milwaukee.

Under the revised NBA playoff rules, the team with the best record in each conference plays the team with the fourth-best record, while No. 2 plays No. 3. The NBA had announced that in the event of a tie, Los Angeles and Milwaukee would meet in a one-game playoff Friday in Milwaukee to determine who finishes No. 1 and gets to play Golden State and who is No. 2 and draws Chicago.

But following Wednesday night's game, doubt was cast as to whether the playoff would be played.

After a 15-minute team meeting, Lakers' player representative Keith Erickson said he had consulted with Larry Fleischer, attorney for the NBA Players Association, and been told that the league could not require them to play the extra game.

"Fleischer is going to poll the players," Erickson explained. "The ultimate decision on what to do will be made by two people, Fleischer and (NBA Commissioner) Walter Kennedy."

Erickson noted that instead of playing an extra game, a coin toss could determine the playoff pairing and the teams could split the $10,000 involved.

In other NBA regular season finales, Boston whipped Baltimore 120-101, Houston beat Buffalo 138-122, Detroit defeated Cleveland 131-119 in overtime and Phoenix edged Seattle 127-125.

Gall Goodrich scored 13 of his game-high 26 points in the third quarter, when Los Angeles outscored Golden State 29-16 to erase a seven-point halftime deficit.

Lakers center Wilt Chamberlain took only one shot against the Warriors—after not taking a single shot against Milwaukee Tuesday night—and finished the regular season with a record 72 per cent shooting mark from the field, the first man ever to better 70.

Dave Cowens scored 13 of his 23 points in the third period as Boston overcame a 10-point halftime deficit to beat Baltimore.

Boston played without two regulars, Paul Silas and Don Chaney, both sidelined with injuries. Silas is expected to be ready for the playoffs but Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn called Chaney "doubtful."

A basket by Detroit's Dave Bing sent that game into overtime, and the Pistons decided the issue by scoring 22 points in the five-minute extra period.

Calvin Murphy scored 31 points to spark Houston to victory, but Buffalo's Bob McAdoo closed out his rookie season by taking scoring honors with 45 points.

Clem Haskins' 25-footer with seven seconds showing on the clock lifted Phoenix to victory. John Brisker had 39 points and Spencer Haywood 37 for Seattle.

THE MVP — Boston Celtic standout Dave Cowens gives a happy smile this morning after hearing some good news. Cowens, who led the Celts into the NBA playoffs, was named the Most Valuable Player in the National Basketball Association.

Celts' Cowens Named NBA's Most Valuable

NEW YORK (AP) — Dave Cowens, the Boston Celtics' mobile giant, outpooled Milwaukee superstar Kareem Abdul-Jabbar today and was named most valuable player in the National Basketball Association.

Abdul-Jabbar won the MVP award in both 1970-71 and 1971-72, but the 6-foot-9 Cowens stole the thunder of the Bucks' 7-foot-2 ace by leading the Celtics to a record victory total this season.

In a poll of NBA players, Cowens received 67 first place votes to 33 for Abdul-Jabbar. The Celtic speedster got 444 points to Jabbar's 339.

Cowens is averaging 21 points and 17 rebounds a game for a Celtic team which has already won more games than any in Boston's glorious NBA history.

Nate Archibald, the incredible 6-foot-1 performer of the Kansas City-Omaha Kings, was a close third with 44 votes for first and a total of 319 points.

Los Angeles' 7-foot-1 Wilt Chamberlain, a four-time MVP, was a distant fourth with 12 first-place nominations and 123 total points.

Cowens' teammate at Boston, high-scoring John Havlicek, was fifth with five firsts and 88 points and Laker veteran Jerry West sixth with two votes for first and 70 points.

Cowens, a red-haired former Florida State University star, has brought unprecedented mobility into the center position in the NBA. His quickness and intensity has erased any size advantage the Kentucky might have.

He is the first Celtic to become MVP since five-time honoree Bill Russell last won it in the 1964-65 season.

FOR AMATEURS Laws Might Be Needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Olympic gold medalist has told a House subcommittee the federal government should not get involved in sports.

"But, if the well-being of the athletes is not being served by the amateur athletic organizations, whoever they might be, then I believe legislation should be presented to do just this," Rep. Bob Mathias, R-Calif., said Wednesday.

Olympic decathlon champion in both 1948 and 1952, Mathias testified before a special House education subcommittee which is considering two bills designed to end the controversy between the Amateur Athletic Union and the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

"The recent episode of the forbidding of our athletes from competing against the Russians in an international meeting in Richmond, Va., March 16 is an act that is not justifiable in any way," Mathias said.

"This episode clearly shows that somebody... must get some legislation and clear this thing up."

Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., subcommittee chairman and co-sponsor of one of the bills, agreed the government should act only as a last resort.

"The very idea of a federal sports bureaucracy makes your blood run cold," he said.

Bill Wall, executive director of the National Association of Basketball Coaches, told the legislators they should not attempt to force amateur players to participate in the upcoming basketball series between the United States and the Soviet Union.

The resolution drawn up by the basketball coaches and presented by Wall, drew immediate reaction from Rep. Peter Peyser, R-N.Y.

"There is nothing in either piece of legislation that would force anything on anybody," Peyser said.

"Here are two organizations acting like five-year-olds fighting over a little piece of pie."

Sen. Marlow W. Cook, R-Ky., said the NCAA is "big business" and there "is no truth" that the organization operates in the best interests of the collegiate athlete.

"The NCAA is a body primarily designed to protect and defend its member institutions from the professional sports world and to make sure that collegiate sports gets its share of the sports business pie," he said.

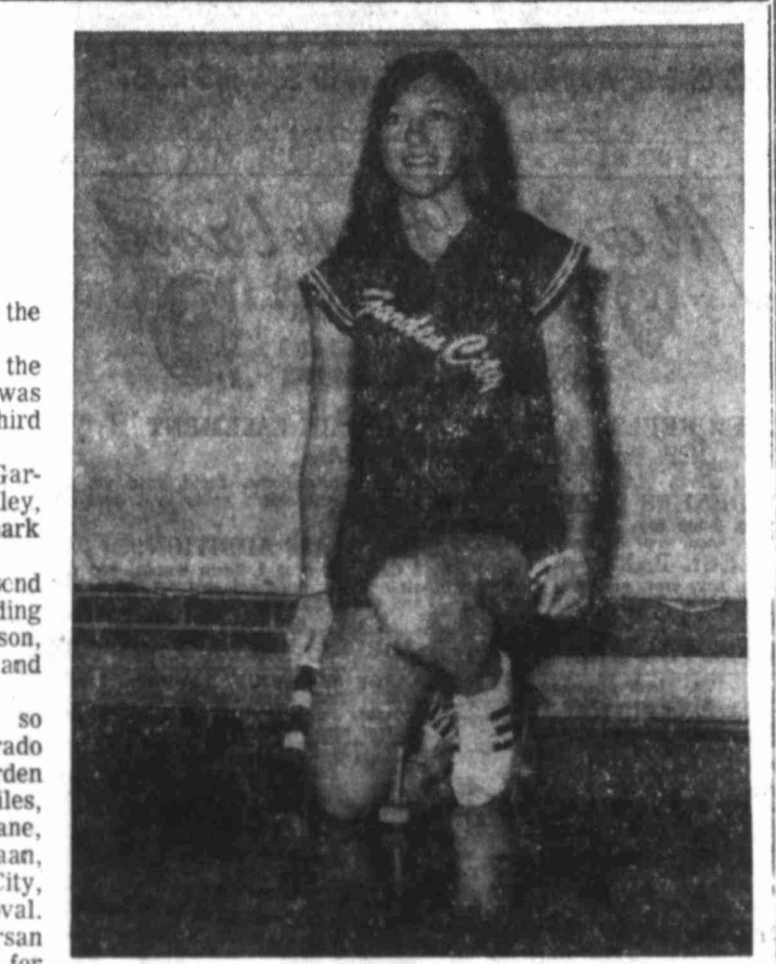

'Belle' Relays Field Growing

The field for the annual Permian Basin Belle Relays continues to grow, with over 20 schools already entered in the Saturday meet at Memorial Stadium.

Action begins at 10 a.m. with field events, while track preliminaries have a 1 p.m. starting time. Track finals are set for 6:30 p.m.

San Angelo Lake View, Coahoma, Abilene Wylie, Garden City, McCamey and defending champion New Deal rate as the favorites for the team title, and several individual standouts will also be on hand.

Coahoma's main threat will be Theresa Beal, an all-around star. Beal is the record holder in the high jump with a 5-2½ effort in 1971. She won't enter that event this year, however, concentrating on the 220 and Lake View will also send a lot of talent, including high jumper Trudi Jackson, hurdler Lonn Phillips and sprinter Jalown Park.

Other teams entered so far are Odessa, Colorado City, Sanderson, Borden County, Stanton, Miles, Water Valley, Crane, Rankin, Greenwood, Iraan, Sterling City, Denver City, Fluvanna and Christoval.

Esposito Rebounds, Scores Big Night Against Rangers

NEW YORK (AP) — Boston's Phil Esposito was flat on the ice with defenseman Brad Park of the New York Rangers draped over him. The National Hockey League's leading scorer looked downright funny laying there and an unfriendly fan let him know it.

Esposito looked up from his prone position, smiled and gave a friendly wink to the paying customer. It was almost as if he was saying, "stick around, I've got something to show you."

Esposito showed the Rangers something Wednesday night, scoring four goals, three of them in the final period and leading the Bruins to a 6-3 victory that clinched second place in the NHL East for Boston. It was the 10th consecutive victory for the Bruins, defending Stanley Cup champions, who'll open the playoffs at home next

PRO CAGERS

Elsewhere in the NHL Wednesday night, Montreal edged Chicago 4-3, Pittsburgh dumped Atlanta 6-3, Buffalo ripped Philadelphia 6-3 in a penalty-filled game, St. Louis tied Minnesota 3-3 and California trimmed Los Angeles 3-2.

In the World Hockey Association, Alberta edged Philadelphia 2-1, and Winnipeg topped Chicago 4-3 in overtime.

Esposito exploded for five scoring points, increasing his league leading total to 127. His four goals came in every conceivable manpower situation. First, he scored a shorthanded goal. Next, he hit with the sides playing five skaters each. Then he connected on a power play. And he completed his virtuoso performance with an empty net goal in the final minute.

Two goals apiece by Gil Perreault and Don Luce led Buffalo to its wild victory over Philadelphia. Referee Bruce Hood whistled 130 penalty minutes including 104 minutes in the first period when four players—Buffalo's Jim Lorentz and Tracy Pratt and Philadelphia's Don Salesski and Dave Schultz—were ejected from the game.

Dean Prentice's third period goal gave Minnesota its tie with St. Louis. The Blues remained fourth in the West, three points ahead of Los Angeles and Pittsburgh.

Frank Mahovlich's third period goal gave Montreal its victory over Chicago in a match of the two NHL division champions. The victory assured the Canadiens of setting an NHL record for fewest losses in a season. Montreal has dropped 10 games and has just two remaining.

Pittsburgh kept its slim playoff hopes alive in the NHL West by whipping Atlanta. Al McDonough had two goals and Syl Aps picked up three assists for the Penguins.

Rookie Hilliard Graves scored the winning goal for California midway through the third period and California goalie Gilles Meloche turned aside 39 Los Angeles shots.

Jim Harrison's shorthanded goal gave Alberta its victory over Philadelphia in the WHA. The victory moved the Oilers within one point of the fourth and final playoff berth in the WHA West.

Bobby Hull's second goal of the game and 51st of the season gave Winnipeg its victory over Chicago in overtime. It marked the sixth time in his professional career that Hull has hit the 50-goal mark.

Colleg Division Returns To Angelo Runs Saturday

SAN ANGELO — The 15th annual San Angelo Relays opens here Friday, with competition in four high school divisions, and on Saturday, 11 college teams will open action as college competition returns to the meet for the first time since 1964.

In the first six years of existence, the Relays hosted a University Division, with Abilene Christian and the University of Texas dominating the action. That division was dropped in 1965, but now, nine LSC teams along with Trinity College and Wayland Baptist will be on hand for the College Division.

Besides the host Rams, Howard Payne, Sul Ross, Texas A&I, Southwest Texas State, Sam Houston, Stephen F. Austin, McMurry, Trinity and Wayland will battle for honors Saturday. Only East Texas is missing from the LSC field.

The Rams, SFA and powerful

HPC should all be strong in the meet.

HPC already owns one meet win, at Sul Ross, while the Rams captured the Corpus Christi meet last week.

Head coach David Noble will have some of the league's top sprinters in action Saturday, along with the top 440-yard relay group. K. O. Okyir, who has a 9.4 in the 100 and 21.4 in the 220, Harry Griffin, who was second in the 100 and third in the 220 in the LSC meet last year, and Richard Vaughn of Lamesa, who has covered the century in 9.6 this year, will also be entered.

Okyir and Vaughn will be on the 440 team, along with Josh Owens and either Griffin or D. D. Hines. On the mile unit, Griffin, Owens, Okyir and Steve Langebartel are the prospects.

The Big Spring Steers will be among 13 Class AAAA teams entered in the high school division. Action gets under way at 2:30 p.m. Saturday at San Angelo Stadium.

Reporters' Shield Bill Moves Along

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A House-passed reporters' shield bill has been approved by the Senate Jurisprudence Committee and is ready for debate by the full Senate.

The bill no longer carries the absolute privilege—except for libel cases—against disclosure of confidential sources that the House approved.

A Senate committee amendment allows the Texas Supreme Court to force disclosure if the information cannot be obtained any other way and if failure to disclose would threaten substantial harm or injury, endanger public health and welfare or cause substantial injustice.

The House sponsor of the bill, Rep. Dave Allred, D-Wichita Falls, said he will not accept that amendment and will ask the House to request a joint House-Senate committee to work out differences in versions of the bill as passed by the two chambers.

The vote in the Senate committee Tuesday was 10-1, with Sen. Walter Mengden, R-Houston, casting the negative vote on the ground that shield legislation would lead ultimately to federal control of the press through other legislation involving news media.

EQUAL RIGHTS—WHAT DOES IT MEAN? Will Women Be Drafted?

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Will women be drafted? Can a husband demand alimony? What will happen to separate rest rooms?

Questions like these are confusing opponents and supporters of the equal rights amendment (ERA).

The amendment is short and simple: "Equality of rights under the amendment shall not be denied or abridged by the United States, or any state, on account of sex."

BOARD ISSUE

"The Congress shall have the power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article. This amendment shall take effect two years after the date of ratification."

The very simplicity of the language has caused some of the confusion. It is so broad that most observers feel specific issues will have to be decided in the courts.

"No one is sure exactly what it would do," said State Rep. Arthur Wilkowski, a Democrat from Ohio, where the amendment is pending. "If it passes, all we can do is wait for the court decisions on the constitutionality of present laws."

ARGUMENT

The amendment must be approved by 38 states within seven years of its 1972 passage by Congress to become law. It has been approved by 29 states. It has been rejected by nine states — including Nebraska, which reversed an earlier ratification vote.

The reversal itself is open to argument. No one seems sure whether its legal.

Nebraska State Sen. John de Camp told the legislature he had been in touch with the U.S. Senate Judiciary Committee and had been told the legality issue won't be considered until 37 other states have ratified the ERA.

Key issues in the arguments over what the amendment means are military service, so-called "protective labor laws," the family and the rights of privacy.

Former Selective Service Director Curtis Tarr said there was "no question" that women could be drafted if the amendment were ratified.

WON'T COUNT

The draft also featured in debate in Tennessee, where five Republican senators have introduced a resolution to rescind last year's ratification vote.

The Arkansas Senate amended the amendment to exclude women from military service. The bill still is pending; but even if it's passed, it won't count toward ratification because of the change.

A spokesman for the AFL-CIO, one of the leaders in the fight against the ERA, said the amendment "would nullify a good deal of protective legislation for women workers."

Supporters of the amendment argue, however, that many of these laws were invalidated anyway by recent civil rights legislation.

Local PTA Units Get District Level Awards

About 40 Parent-Teacher Association members from local schools attended the 27th annual District 16 conference Monday and Tuesday in San Angelo and Miles.

Local units walked off with several awards at the conference, including a first place evaluation award for Airport PTA. The Boydston group received a publication award, and Gay Hill PTA won the attendance award. Also recognized were the Sterling City school for a 25 per cent increase in membership, and Moss Elementary School for a 10 per cent membership increase.

Highlight of the conference was a talk by Dr. Clarence D. Kron, Odessa, educational director at the University of Texas at the Permian Basin. Dr. Kron lauded the concept of special education schools where students are no longer labeled with tags like "slow learner" or "above average."

Dr. Kron said the UTPB is using the open-classroom concept which is new in the field of higher learning. The idea allows students to move from one section to another and puts slow workers with fast workers in order that they may assist each other.

The speaker also said hereditary factors and environmental and cultural circumstances can effect a student's educational learning abilities.

Among the guests at the meeting were Mrs. W. H. (Jolly) DeLany Jr., Houston, regional state vice president, who spoke to the group concerning the influence of PTA's in schools. She said the PTA is beginning to take a more important role in school legislation without interfering with the curriculum. She encouraged Parent-Teacher-Student Associations as a means of maintaining the "personal touch" between parents and teachers that is often lost when a student reaches high school.

Mrs. Roger Coffman, Big Spring, district vice president, presided at the conference, and she received a state life membership on the recommendation of Big Spring City Council PTA. Mrs. Dwight McCann, Big Spring, district president, was unable to attend, but she was awarded a national life membership.

Other local women who received state life memberships were Mrs. Charles Demmon, Marcy PTA; Mrs. J. M. Wilson, Gay Hill PTA; and Mrs. Helda Klattenhoff, Moss PTA.

The conference was hosted by Miles School PTA which decorated with posters depicting the theme "Multiplication of Membership." One skit used women dressed as rabbits to stress the importance of increasing membership. Other activities included workshops about various aspects of the PTA organization, and an awards banquet.

Sands High School Selects 'Homemaker'

Miss Anita Jones, a senior student at Sands High School, Ackerly, has been selected as the school's "American Homemaker of Tomorrow" in the national Betty Crocker contest.

Miss Jones is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Jones, Ackerly. At the school she is active as social chairman for Future Homemakers of America and as a member of Beta Club, Pep Squad, basketball team manager and school reporter.

Miss Jones was chosen based on results of a written test dealing with all phases of homemaking including child rearing, financial management, problem solving, meal planning and sewing. She scored the highest over-all grade, and at a recent school awards banquet she received a charm presented by the Betty Crocker organization.

All school winners are eligible to enter the state competition for "homemaker of tomorrow." Winners at the state level will receive a $1,500 scholarship and an educational tour from General Mills. The national winner will receive a $5,000 scholarship.

Bride-Elect Honored At Shower

Miss Debbie Davis, Odessa, was honored Friday at a bridal shower in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room, Big Spring. She is bride-elect of Joe West.

Attired in a floor-length yellow dress, the honoree was presented a corsage of yellow orchids. Also receiving corsages were her mother, Mrs. L. C. Davis of Odessa, the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Leonard West, and his grandmother, Mrs. J. E. Griffin.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a pink linen cloth and overlaid with white lace. Milk glass appointments were used, and the centerpiece was an arrangement of pink spring flowers around pink candles.

Hostesses for the event were Mrs. J. B. Price, Mrs. Avery Falkner, Mrs. Bennie McChristian, Mrs. Bill Reed, Mrs. Frank Mulican, Mrs. Carl Coleman, Mrs. Hervey Perry, Mrs. David Lewis, Mrs. Cecil Peurifoy and Mrs. Charlie Shanks.

Miss Davis and West will be married Saturday in the First Presbyterian Church of Odessa.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:
I recently converted six out-of-date big-style necklaces into single strands and they are beautiful.

Before cutting them apart, place a bath towel (folded the long way several times) on a table making a sort of groove to lay the beads in.

Then cut the strands out at a time starting with the largest beads, if they are graduated.

With a three-strand necklace you would have three large beads in the center of the towel. Then add to them on each side until all of the beads have been used.

I used regular nylon bead thread that I got at a hobby store. A small spool, shaped much like a sewing bobbin cost about 25 cents and was plenty for the six strands.

Since these slip over your head you don't need a clasp. Just tie with a good firm knot leaving about an inch of thread to be pulled back through the last beads on each side. Then put a drop of nail polish on the knot.

so it will not come untied. ... Carmelita

Dear Folks:
Each year I attend a three-day school and seminar where I learn about home appliances. It's the greatest. I finally grabbed the president, Mr. Guenther Baumgart, by the ears and told him all about our complaints and that you had no place to turn with them.

He grabbed me by the head of my hair, I got a real sad look on my face, shed a few artificial tears, dropped an eyelash and got down on my knees shouting, "Listen to us unfortunate slob as we have nowhere to turn and no one seems to listen."

He has agreed to help you and me when it comes to getting satisfactory service on our appliances! Imagine? Someone who will listen! And follow up on it too!

So look for an envelope and a pencil and put it aside so you will be ready to write when tomorrow's paper comes. ... Love always, Heloise

He Never Saw Bride Until After Ceremony

Marriage traditions and religious beliefs in Pakistan were told Tuesday evening by Rasheed Quadri, guests speaker for Spring City Chapter, American Business Women's Association, at the Holiday Inn.

Quadri, who has been employed as a physical therapist at Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center for about a year, returned to Pakistan in January to be married, and is now living here with his bride.

In Pakistan, Quadri said a man's wife is chosen by his family, and the parents usually try to find a distant cousin. In Quadri's case, his uncle recommended a close friend for Quadri. His entire family, except himself, went to visit her and agreed she would make him a good wife. Quadri never saw his wife until after the ceremony when they were in their room and he removed her veil.

A woman must be 18 before she marries, and a man must be financially able to support her. Quadri said the wedding cost each family about $4,000.

The principal religion in Pakistan is Moslem, and Quadri said people from all over the world make up Pakistan's population. The Moslem religion is 1,500 years old. Its followers worship one god, Mohammed is the holiest of the prophets, and Jesus Christ is recognized as one of four great prophets.

Moslems (also called Muslims) do not believe Jesus was crucified, but do believe he was raised physically and spiritually, and that he will return to earth as a follower of Mohammed in not more than 450 to 500 years.

Quadri said people of Pakistan face east to pray in order to face the "House of God," which is a place of worship in eastern Pakistan. The "House" is a basement believed to have been built by Abraham.

Islam must fast for one month out of every 12. The fasting begins one hour before sunrise and ends after sunset. People are now allowed to eat, drink or smoke during this 12 to 14 hour period. Quadri said the purpose of the fasting is so people will experience the feelings of thirst and hunger and become more aware of the many people who suffer these feelings.

When the fasting is ended, the day is called the "happiest day of the year," and Quadri said it is celebrated like our Christmas. Every adult must pray five times each day. He believes religion is an important means of teaching people how to live.

Next to God, Mohammed and the prophets, Quadri said the most respected person in his country is the mother. Whatever she says is law, and she is given full respect by the family.

During the business meeting, four new members were initiated into the chapter. They were Mrs. Wayne Wallace, Mrs. L. M.

Maggard, Mrs. James Craver and Mrs. June Bristol. Guests were Mrs. Quadri, Mrs. L. Q. Rudick and Mrs. Ray Dabney.

The vocational talk was by Mrs. Melvin Darrat, supervisor of telephones at Webb Air Force Base. Invocation was by Mrs. Robert Lowe, and benediction was by Mrs. Margie Marques.

Members agreed to provide a scholarship to Brenda Rudick, a senior at Big Spring High School who plans to attend Howard County Junior College. In other business, Miss Olen McShan, formerly a member of Cactus Chapter, was accepted as a transfer member.

A report on the recent state convention in El Paso was given by Mrs. Robert Lowe, Mrs. Jimmy Jennings, Mrs. E. Roy Cawthron, Mrs. William Jackson and Mrs. Fred Butler.

"Patience, Motivation That's All You Need"

By BARBARA LORD
"I don't have talent, just motivation and persistence," says Mrs. Warren (Kae) Wise as she displayed an array of arts and crafts items she has made.

Despite her claims, it's apparent that Mrs. Wise does have talent, plus an unlimited imagination that gives her decorating ideas for every room of her home at 4048 Vicky. She paints, decoupages, tole paints, makes purses, antiques and sculpts. Add these hobbies to a natural fervor for interior decorating, and you have a home filled with original designs and objects of art.

In addition to her home hobbies, Mrs. Wise works full-time as a secretary to the manager of chemical manufacturing at Cosden Oil and Chemical Co. Her husband is co-owner of Broughton Truck and Implement Company and also has interest in several farms in the area. The couple has one daughter, Kristi, 6.

Mrs. Wise doesn't agree with women who say they don't have the talent to do all of the things she does.

"What they don't have is the patience to sit down and do it," she said. "The ability is there if they would let it come out."

Since the Wises moved into their home about six years ago, Mrs. Wise has changed about everything there is to change. She arranges and rearranges furniture often, and her hobbies provide an ever-changing selection of decorative accents. When Christmas season approaches, the home turns into a workshop where she makes all of the family's gifts.

ADVANTAGES
"I can't stand to be idle," said the busy homemaker. "Even when I'm watching television, I have my easel in the living room so I can paint at the same time." Mrs. Wise is currently taking painting lessons. Although she enjoyed art classes in high school, she said she never picked up a brush or piece of charcoal until two years ago. Since then it has been her favorite pastime.

Working full time is an advantage for Mrs. Wise, because she said she is more organized than she would be if she were home all day. Also, she said her husband is excellent about helping with household chores, and she is training Kristi to do a lot of little things that save her time and energy.

Family meals are by no means hindered with her many other activities. Wise, whose day seldom follows an 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. schedule, can usually count on a hot meal when he arrives home. The family starts every day with a big breakfast, snacks for lunch, and eats dinner whenever the routine allows.

"I'm all for anything that makes homemaking simpler," said Mrs. Wise. "That's why I use my pressure cooker a lot for meals. I like to try new recipes, and there's sort of an exchange program for recipes between the women at work. Of course, I'm always looking for recipes that are quick but good."

Mrs. Wise is also a talented vocalist and athlete. She began studying voice when she was 10 years old, and used to sing on television in Amarillo, as well as entertain for private functions. Currently, most of her singing is done through the choir at First Baptist Church, plus an occasional wedding.

SCHOLARSHIP

An athletic scholarship to Howard County Junior College first drew Mrs. Wise to Big Spring. She came in 1958 to play volleyball for the college team, and the sport still ranks among her favorites. Currently, she and her husband are enthusiastic racket ball players at the YMCA. Kristi also uses the Y for ballet and swimming lessons.

"I think it's important to encourage Kristi to participate in a lot of things. It's too early to tell what her voice or art qualities are, but she already enjoys them, and that's the important thing." Mrs. Wise was born in Phillips, and her husband is a native Big Springer. He graduated from Midwestern University, Wichita Falls, and spent two years in the Army at Ft. Lawton, Okla. The couple lived in San Angelo and Hobbs, N.M., before settling here.

PUT CELERY BACK ON THE TABLE
Serve braised with cream sauce

Fresh Cooked Celery Forgotten Vegetable

Celery is a vegetable as common in the home as onions and potatoes. And yet, it is often neglected as a cooked vegetable. Most of us keep it on hand to chop into tuna or potato salad, or perhaps the poultry dressing. But when was the last time you served your family cooked celery?

Braised, Fresh Celery Medley combines fresh celery with other vegetables in a delicate cream sauce. Buttery crumbs and shredded Cheddar cheese adds extra flavor and texture. This handsome dish is a perfect vegetable accompaniment to your next roast leg of lamb or standing rib of beef.

- 4 tbsps. butter or margarine, divided
- 1 cup beef bouillon
- 3 cups julienne strips celery
- 1 cup julienne strips carrot
- 1 cup fresh green beans, halved
- 1 cup soft bread crumbs

1/2 cup shredded Cheddar cheese

Melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine in a saucepan. Add beef bouillon and bring to a boil. Add celery and carrot strips. Cover and cook 5 minutes. Add green beans. Cover and cook 5 minutes longer. Drain, reserving liquid for sauce. Place vegetables in a 1-quart casserole. Add Cream Sauce. Mix remaining 2 tablespoons butter with bread crumbs and sprinkle over top. Bake in 350 degree oven for 15 minutes. Sprinkle with cheese and bake another 5 to 10 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

- 2 tbsps. butter or margarine
 - 2 tbsps. flour
 - Vegetable liquid plus milk to make 1 cup
 - 1/2 tsp. salt
 - 1/16 tsp. pepper
- Melt butter in saucepan. Blend in flour. Stir in vegetable liquid and milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Season with salt and pepper.

Facing The Lick-Log

Big Spring, along with numerous other school districts, is under fire from the HEW (Department of Health, Education and Welfare) to come up with an acceptable plan to minimize what HEW assumes to be discriminatory segregation.

In all probability, this boils down to cross-town busing. It makes little difference whether such practices or patterns are logical, or even desired by those affected in such transfers it seems that HEW is after more even mix than is now attained in Lakeview and Bauer schools. Closing of certain schools not only is infeasible, but it would mean transporting of pupils from one area of the city. The question immediately would be raised: Why transfer us and not children from other areas of town?

There is no arguing that there is a preponderance of racial minorities in two schools; this has never been a question. The question is what should be done to provide these children the very best in education. HEW seems to believe this is best achieved by mixing school populations. Locally, the philosophy seems to have been that this is best done by constantly upgrading the quality of instruction and instructional materials. To this end, the two schools in question appear to have had preferential treatment in allocations of funds and equipment to bring about this increased quality.

It is somewhat ironic that the new pressure from HEW comes after a modification of stand on busing by such groups as the National Association of Colored People. Speaking of the busing issue in Atlanta, Roy Wilkins, executive director, said:

"Our general position has been (that) there is no sacrifice of racial pride or loss of education if blacks go to school with blacks. If the (Atlanta) school board agrees to the improvement in education and a program that leads to meaningful equalization of the educational process, black children will not suffer by attending an all-black school."

Where Do They Come From?

In these days of frankness about sex — in books, movies, conversation — there are still some gaps in information.

Jill Kenner, a school counselor in London, made such a finding recently. She surveyed a number of 10- and 11-year-olds about their views of sex. All the youngsters had had sex education courses.

Sex education or not, the kids had their own ideas where babies come from.

One girl thinks she came with the laundry.

Another thinks a bee sting causes pregnancy. Still others favored the old stork, or thought babies were found under gooseberry bushes or came in the doctor's black bag.

Then there were some originals: "I was baked in an oven." "I was found in a car park."

The mystery of sex remains just that to these and other youngsters. The facts of life generally become clear when they have more meaning as the youngsters mature.

Good Samaritan

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

That's about the way we think of them. We all hate rattlesnakes. Nobody particularly loves dentists at the office.

AND EVERYBODY cringes when they catch a glimpse of the poor highway patrolman in the rear view mirror.

Their's is a thankless task. The worst wrecks are often in the worst weather. And the patrolmen have to go. If the highways are impassable, they are the ones who have to stay out in the inclement weather to warn the motorists.

And their feet slip on ice, just like anybody else's. This past winter, on the overpass near Stanton, a highway patrolman slipped and broke his arm. He was the only casualty in that wreck.

When you work wrecks for a newspaper, you quickly learn to sympathize with the investigating patrolman.

I've seen them fighting to try to get trapped motorists out before a fire starts and I've seen them stand helplessly by when a vehicle is already afire with somebody trapped inside.

The other day when the sand was blowing so badly, I decided to drive over to Andrews by Midland across by Telephone Road instead of through the moving dirt around Tarzan and Lenorah.

TELEPHONE ROAD is one of those highways that has had far too many wrecks and is finally scheduled to be widened. As I drove along it, I thought about all those wrecks. I thought you slow up, I thought, here is the spot where the two men ran together and killed them both.

And here is the spot where the woman from the phone company flipped over and broke her back, and here is the spot where the boy from Denver City flipped his car and lay trapped in it in the dark for five hours, and here is the spot that the Midland man missed the curve, was thrown out and decapitated.

I know patrolmen must travel down highways with some of the same feelings. When they work a bad wreck at a certain spot, they can never pass it again without recalling the tragedy.

The old Salt Draw bridge between Pecos and Toyah was a death trap. Wreck after wreck occurred on that bridge, usually involving at least one truck, and many were killed. Finally I started yammering about that bridge.

The highway department split the highway and made it a one-way bridge and that year the National Safety Council sent me a plaque. I never look at the plaque that I don't think of a truck driver that died screaming in a fire on that bridge.

I remember one funny thing among all those tragic meat-grinding accidents. There was a wreck on Old Highway 80 with three vehicles involved and several hurt and I had used up all my film. I knelt down beside the highway to reload the camera.

IT WAS THEN I heard this helpful motorist complaining to the patrolman, "Why doesn't somebody help that poor woman over there. Look at her . . . she can't even get up."

The highway patrolman looked over in my direction and grinned, "Tough about her," he laughed.

And then there was the time that I went out to an early-morning fire where a truckload of whiskey blew up and burned. The prohibitionists would have rejoiced over those colorful, blue, green, purple and yellow flames.

The driver had some injuries and a call failed to produce an ambulance. When I turned to go back to town, the driver asked if I'd take him to the hospital, so away we went.

But my moment of triumph came when I wheeled up in the emergency drive of the hospital and a nurse snarled, "Marj, get out of the way . . . we have a wreck victim coming in."

"I have the wreck victim," I answered, "if you'll get him out of the car."

"You had no right to bring him," she snarled. "The patrolmen shouldn't have let you." Let's face it. The Good Samaritan would have a tough old time nowadays. And so do the patrolmen.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

Someone told me recently that God has a plan for every life. What concerns me is how to know it and do it. I must say I find it hard to understand that the God of the universe would counsel me in choosing a college. Give me some guidelines, please! O.P.

The marvel of the Gospel is not so much that it took place, but why it took place. What amazing rationale prompted the infinite God to become the Savior-Friend of finite man! Yes, O. P., the same One who keeps Jupiter in orbit is anxious to help you make right choices.

Let me suggest a four-way program for discovering God's will. The key, of course, is to be initially in a right relationship to God through faith in Christ.

First, look for clues in Bible reading! Often, certain statements will grab you with new insight. Even in the writings of the old prophet Isaiah, he discerned this: "He will be with you to teach you . . . This is the way; walk here." Isaiah 30:20, 21.

Then, there's the conditioning of circumstance. The developments of life sometimes push us in a certain direction. Thirdly, you have the counsel of family and friends. Their estimate of your abilities and interests contribute much by way of assessing right choices. The Bible shows that God can speak effectively through the lips of others.

Lastly, give credibility to your own convictions. The Apostle Paul said, "Woe is me if I preach not the Gospel." Evidently there was an overwhelming compulsion that he wisely did not deny.

You practice these principles, and you'll have the lifelong advantage of counsel by One who knows the end from the beginning. Where else can you find that?

Quotable Notables

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

You had to be a masochist to submit to tattooing before the invention of the electric needle. The tattoo artist did his work with sharp pointed sticks and wooden mallets, just as sculptors use hammers and chisels. Sometimes it took several days to complete the design on the suffering victim.

Be wary of letting yourself be hypnotized by an amateur. Under the spell of an unscrupulous hypnotist, people have been known to commit crimes or withdraw their life savings from banks and hand them over to the persons who put them in a trance.

Quotable notables: "Always remember that I have taken more out of alcohol than alcohol has taken out of me." — Winston Churchill.

Forgotten heroes: Who was James Hoban? He was the Georgian architect who won a government competition to design a residence for the presidents of the United States.

After completing the plans for the White House, Hoban also supervised its construction. To compensate him, Congress voted him either $500 or a gold medal. Hoban had a wife and 10 children. So he took the $500.

Headstrong: The woodpecker is the champion feathered drill-er. It can beat its beak against a tree 20 times a second for almost an hour at a time, and dig holes more than a foot deep. These cranial vibrations would probably kill any other bird. If you would like to know how it feels, clench a nail in your teeth and try to drive it in and out of a backyard elm. If that proves too easy, try an oak.

Worth remembering: "There was one nice thing about polygamy. If a man married two sisters, he didn't have to break in but one mother-in-law."

Rockefeller Fumble

William F. Buckley Jr.

There was something wonderfully refreshing about Robert Wagner's fiasco to the New York Republican Party. It is very seldom that a politician tells a political party to go jump in the lake. To have said this, moreover, to a political party dominated by Nelson Rockefeller gives not only spiritual satisfaction, but causes the flesh to tingle with delight. Meanwhile, the New York political situation is in chaos.

EVERYONE KNOWS how the script was to have read. Nelson Rockefeller sought to accomplish two things. In diminishing order of importance, he sought to guarantee that John Lindsay could not run again for mayor of New York, and that New York should be better governed. To this end he made the deal with Alex Rose, Autocrat of the Liberal Party. Rockefeller persuaded Rose that if Wagner got the Liberal designation and also the Republican designation, he would almost certainly be elected mayor, guaranteeing a continuation of Liberal patronage in City Hall, a weathered hand at the helm of City politics, and a mayor deeply indebted to — Alex Rose and Nelson Rockefeller.

NOW THE reason for all this intricate maneuvering is that it is altogether possible that the winner in the forthcoming Democratic primary will be, loosely speaking, a conservative.

The Conservatives, meanwhile, have nominated Mario Biaggi, a law-and-order candidate in the tradition of Frank Rizzo of Philadelphia. John Marchi, the respected and conservative state senator, has now announced that he will run for the Republican designation, which can hardly be denied to the man who beat Lindsay four years ago. That leaves the Liberals pledged to nominate Robert Wagner in mid-April. But Wagner is not, so far as one can tell, pledged to accept the Liberal designation, and now that the Rockefeller Plan has fallen apart, the old enticements re-appear.

GOV. ROCKEFELLER has a wonderful ho-ho way of managing personal defeats, a technique he perfected after his loss in 1964 to Barry Goldwater. But his heartiness is likely to be synthetic for a little while now. He was prepared to back, after all, a man whose conduct of New York City's affairs over 12 years Rockefeller denounced in 1965 as having been catastrophic. He was prepared to make a deal with the Liberal Party after taking the historical position that Third Parties should be ostracized.

HE SUCCEEDED in humiliating his closest Republican associates whom he conscripted into acting as musclemen for Boss Rockefeller's cousin of Wagner, whose previous political mission on earth was to lead, and champion, the cause of George McGovern for president in New York State. He has, presumably, estranged Sen. John Marchi, who was understandably outraged at Rockefeller's attempt to impose a liberal Democrat — this is Wagner's self-designation — on the Republican Party of New York.

This is an expensive package of offenses even for Nelson Rockefeller to commit. And no one knows better than he that nothing succeeds like success. The opposite of that maxim is that nothing hurts more than defeat. He will be lying low now for quite a while.

ESP Confab

STAUNTON, Va. (AP) — April 19 isn't a good day for sailing the Atlantic. Psychic David Hoy, personal consultant to Sonny and Cher, says, "On April 19 one of the largest reported icebergs will be sighted in the North Atlantic."

Hoy was speaking to an ESP Conference held at Mary Baldwin College here. He also forecast that President Nixon will visit Cuba within four months and that neither Spiro Agnew nor Teddy Kennedy will be nominated for President in 1976.

Exploding Exposure Myths

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you set my mind at ease regarding X-rays? I work in a hospital and must have a yearly X-ray — a "flat chest plate."

A little knowledge may be a dangerous thing in my case, since I know barely enough about X-rays to make me scared stiff of a yearly X-ray. I also resent having to have X-rays for dental purposes.

Today I had my yearly X-ray and the technician goofed and it had to be repeated. Two in one day really upsets me. Will this have any long-range effects? — T.M.

Well, of course X-ray exposure shouldn't be overdone, and shouldn't be given without good reason. But one chest X-ray a year, or even an extra now and then, certainly isn't "overdoing it."

Maybe this will settle your worrying mind a bit. While it takes a bit of time to get you placed properly for a chest plate, and although the technician automatically tells you when to hold still, the time of the actual exposure to the rays is roughly equivalent to the time it requires to take a picture with an ordinary camera. Specifically, it's about 1-30 of a second.

Now lets put it another way. X-ray exposure is measured in roentgens (after Wilhelm Roentgen, who discovered X-ray). For fine distinctions of small amounts, this is converted to milliroentgens, or thousandths of a roentgen.

The government has suggested 150 milliroentgens per year as a reasonable tolerance for an individual. A chest X-ray measures about 8 milliroentgens, so even if you had 20 of them a year, you would still be within safe limits.

A dental film would require a bit more exposure than a chest X-ray but small compared to the 150 milliroentgens.

So on the basis of that, you have no need to be alarmed even with the extra plate that you had.

On the other side of the picture, the reason for annual chest X-rays in a hospital is to screen employes for tuberculosis — and to detect it early.

This is to protect patients (and other staff members) from the risk of being exposed to T.B., but it also is an important protection for you, too, since T.B. is most effectively treated if it is discovered and treated early.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it unusual for a teenage girl to

To Prevent Plagiarism

WELLINGTON (AP) — The New Zealand government has prepared legislation to enable horticulturists to patent new plant varieties.

The Plant Varieties Bill has been introduced in the House of Representatives for study by a committee during the southern summer recess.

Plant breeders have demanded the patent protection to prevent overseas interests from plagiarizing their work.

have veins showing in the breasts? — S.T.

Not at all unusual. Thickness and texture of the skin has a good deal to do with it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Why is it when some people have gall stone surgery they have no more trouble, while others do? My sister had surgery two years ago and can eat anything she wants. I had surgery three years ago and can't eat much better than before. — Mrs. R.H.

This does occur, and sometimes it takes some detective work to find out why.

One cause is that people don't have the same tastes in foods. Some who habitually get too much fat in the diet suffer because the supply of bile may not be sufficient for digestion. Others who eat less fat have no trouble.

But another, and very common cause, is that some condition, not related to gall stones, may be producing similar symptoms. Likeliest possibilities are ulcer, hiatal hernia, or some functional situation causing spasm. Further investigation by your doctor, and analysis of your symptoms, is in order.

Are you having a gall bladder problem? To find out how the gall bladder works and what types of trouble to look for, send for Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "You and Your Gall Bladder." Write him in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy, enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

Counterattack

By Rowland Evans
And Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Confronting new exposures in the poisonous Watergate scandal, the White House — using former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell as a secret intermediary — has ordered the Committee to Re-elect the President (CRP) to open up a new counterattack.

AT LEAST six new legal and public affairs aides, possibly more, are being hired to give CRP — usually called Creep — added muscle to take over the main chore of what could be a decisive political battle between the administration and its legion of critics, including growing numbers of high-level Republican politicians, on the political espionage issue.

Thus, nothing has changed in the Nixon strategy in handling the Watergate scandal. Creep, financed by funds contributed to re-elect Mr. Nixon, should have lost its reason for being last November. Mitchell quit as Creep's director immediately after the bugging and break-in at Democratic headquarters in the Watergate last June 17 and has had no formal political position since. But Creep and Mitchell are used by the White House to keep its hard-nosed reaction to the scandal rigid and unbending.

THE THREAT of convicted Watergate bugger James W. McCord Jr. to implicate higher-ups in the scandal has generated appeals from some highly placed Republicans that the White House make a clean breast of the whole sordid business, no matter who is involved. To the contrary, Creep's orders from the White House, relayed by Mitchell, are just the opposite: counterattack.

"That doesn't mean Creep will counterattack the Senate's investigating committee" (headed by Democratic Sen. Sam Ervin Jr., of North Carolina), an authoritative source told us. "It means Creep has been ordered to counterattack with its own facts."

Watergate & Sausage

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Did you know that the price of meat has a direct bearing on the Watergate bugging scandal? I didn't until I saw Helmut Dragonfield at the supermarket the other day.

WE WERE standing in the checkout line and Helmut said to me, "This Watergate case smells to high heaven. It really boils me that men in high office can lie through their teeth about matters that affect the very fabric of American democracy."

"Helmut," I reminded him, "you didn't seem very excited about the Watergate last November during the elections."

"That," said my friend, "was because you could still get a decent steak for $1.50."

"Are you trying to tell me the only reason you are appalled at what happened at the Watergate is because the price of steak has gone up?"

"Not only steak," Helmut said, "what about eggs and fish and cheese and fruit and vegetables?"

"Helmut, if it is a moral issue now, it was a moral issue then. You can't get mad about the Watergate because food prices have gone up."

"Do you think if food prices went down the Watergate affair would blow over?"

"I'm certain of it. All Nixon has to do is get bacon down to 85 cents a pound and I'll give his staff the benefit of the doubt on anything they say about their role in the Watergate. But as long as corn is selling for 50 cents a can, I say let the grand jury indict them all."

"I can't think of a better reason for the President to lower food prices," I said.

Helmut pushed his cart up to the counter. As the clerk rang up each item on his cash register, Helmut mumbled, "I want to hear what John Dean III has to say . . . Why are they hiding Donald Segretti? . . . John Mitchell knows more than he's telling . . . Maurice Stans, when are you going to tell us the truth? . . . I. Patrick Gray, where were you when we needed you? . . ."

I was terribly embarrassed when it came my turn to pay for my basket of food, and I apologized to the cashier for Helmut's behavior. The clerk shrugged it off: "Everyone's been talking to himself about Watergate since sausage went to 85 cents a pound."

Good, Bad News About Drop In Cattle Prices

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) - Want the good news first? Prices paid for steers at the Union Stock Yards here dropped as much as five dollars Wednesday in what a market reporter said was the first substantial drop of the year.

Now the not so good news. The market reporter, Allen Cloud of the Federal-State Market News Service, said most of the cattle sold at the stock yards are feeders, rather than slaughter beef. He estimates the feeders will be ready for slaughter in 120 to 140 days. That means, he said, that housewives should not expect such drops to have an immediate effect on beef prices.

Cloud said prices for steers dipped two to five dollars Wednesday, mostly on those under 450 pounds, while heifer prices were down two to three dollars in all weight classes.

Although he said there were not enough hogs for sale Wednesday to give an adequate picture, Cloud said Monday's hog prices reflected a $3 per hundredweight drop from those of last week.

Paper's Sale Is Announced

SWEETWATER - Officials of the Donrey Media Group Wednesday said that the firm has reached an agreement on the purchase of the Sweetwater Reporter.

Ross Pendergrast, vice president of Donrey's Eastern Division, revealed his group hopes to sign the final agreement this weekend and begin operating the Sweetwater newspaper no later than April 1.

S. J. McBeath, publisher of the Reporter, had no comment on the statement.

An official of the Donrey Group, with headquarters in Fort Smith, Ark., said the group owns 23 daily newspapers and has television interests.

A majority of the Donrey-owned newspapers are in Oklahoma. The group also owns papers in Arkansas, California, Hawaii, Missouri, Nevada and Texas.

The Weatherford Democrat is the Texas newspaper in the chain, which is also affiliated with the Levelland Daily Sun News.

The Donrey Group also owns the television station in Laredo.

Lions Gracious, At What Cost?

Downtown Lions did the gracious - or foolish - thing Wednesday. They entertained their wives with a fashion show.

It may cost them for putting ideas in female minds, but Lions learned that pastels are great this spring, along with smart ensembles with numerous shades of all weather coats; that plaid suits, table-top check skirts, patch-work blouses, various types of sweaters are all the "in" thing. Hats, too, are coming back, particularly in striking straws.

The show was arranged by Patsey Stanfield of Hemphill-Wells, narrated by Sue Ballios, and with Lobby Sharp, Joy Clark and Dona Spence as models.

Clyde McMahon Jr. was in charge, and Jim Lemons, president, reminded about the upcoming district convention April 6-7 in San Angelo. Big Spring Lions and wives entertained Odessa Lions and wives at the Big Spring Country Club Friday evening.

RETURN: (Q) I thought living with dope users and pushers would be fun, so I left home.

This guy found out where I was and came and told me to go home. I love him, see, so I went home.

I am home now, but my mother will not accept him. She thinks he is mixed up with dope. He knows about me and the stuff, but he had nothing to do with it. How can I get my mother to see that?

He's 19 and I'm 18. I love my mother very much, and my dad too. — Misunderstood in North Carolina.

(A) You took a route which almost guarantees some bad experiences. You are fortunate to have had as few as you did.

You want your parents to trust you again. I believe they should and will eventually do so. But probably not right away. Keep telling them nothing but the truth, including the facts about your boy friend. When they decide they can trust you again, they will probably decide they can trust your friend too. I am sorry I can't offer you an instant solution. There just isn't one.

GOING AROUND: (Q) I have a girl friend. She is 15 and so am I. My mother insists I am too young to go around with her. I really love this girl. She is special. I would like to know about what age should be right for a boy to start going around with a girl.

(A) You are definitely not too young to be interested in girls. Social experience with the opposite sex in the form of chaperoned parties, movies, some sports activity like skating, etc., is a healthy way to develop social rapport for anyone 12 and over.

By the time they are 15, most boys and girls are ready for double dating, and in some cases for single dating.

Says Blacks Must Learn To Live In Two Worlds

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — The president of Prairie View University, a predominantly Negro school, says that black Americans must learn to live in two worlds.

Diversity, said President Alvin I. Thomas, is what democracy encourages and thrives on. He spoke on the "great issue" program of Texas A&M University Tuesday night.

Blacks cannot exist separately and expect to function in the majority white system, Thomas said.

"Diversity is what America is all about. It has allowed and encouraged each in his own uniqueness," Thomas said.

"Blacks must be allowed to become part of the whole but maintain their identity and retain their pride," the president commented.

"Black leaders have several responsibilities to help the pluralistic concept become reality," Thomas added. "We must build competitive educational institutions, playing the competitive game by rules of the majority system," he said.

He also challenged black leaders to help black young people "learn to respond positively to things they encounter, help them recognize how to be black in a majority white culture and help them know that both black and white will exploit them."

"I tell our young people they can't afford to dissipate themselves on drugs, alcohol or the rhetoric of emotion—a sort of narcotic—because they are too far behind," Thomas commented.

He charged that blacks as well as whites have and will attempt to exploit black young and that it has historical precedent. The Prairie View president said it was not whites, but "our brothers who betrayed the black, rounding them up in Africa and loading them on the boat for America."

He emphasized that "blacks must live and function in a pluralistic society," and "the more quickly he learns to do it competently, the better off he will be. There is no place, for example, for an incompetent black engineer. If a 'C' bridge. An 'A' engineer will produce an 'A' product."

Thomas warned about the competitive nature of society. "When blacks face this competition, they must realize it is not necessarily discrimination," he commented.
