DEMOS SHOUT: TOO LITTLE, TOO LATE

Nixon Puts Lid On Meat

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Nixon has imposed a ceiling on supermarket and wholesale meat prices, effective now, while he seeks a permanent cure to soaring food costs.

Spurred by housewife unhappiness and meat-counter boycotts, the President told the nation Thursday night he was switching economic signals and in effect freezing beef, pork and lamb prices at about their current levels.

Disclosure of the meat-price ceiling was tucked into a televised address hailing the end of U.S. involvement in Vietnam, sternly warning Hanoi to quit violating the peace agreement, and calling for public

Members of Congress generally supported Nixon's economic move. But some Democrat raised a cry of "too little, too late" and said they would continue to push for a freeze on all prices. And leaders of a nationwide consumers' boycott said they intend to carry out their plans despite the presidential

"This is not enough. We boycott," said June Donovan of Los Angeles, one of the planners of the week-long boycott of meat and poultry scheduled to begin on Sunday.

was making progress in the over-all fight against inflation, then conceded that positive statistics "are no comfort at all to the housewife who sees meat prices soaring every time she goes to the market.

'What we need is action that will stop the rise in meat prices now," he said after recounting recent steps to increase supplies and bring prices down later this year.

"That is why I have today ordered the Cost of Living Council to impose a ceiling on prices of beef, pork and lamb," the President said, adding:

The ceiling will remain in effect as long as is necessary to (See MEAT, Page 2-A, Col. 6)

DOING FINE AFTER BRAIN SURGERY - Mrs. Rosario Proto plays with her 22-month-old son, Marcello, at Children's Memorial Hospital in Chicago Thursday where the child is recovering from brain surgery. The child and his mother were flown here from Brindisi, Italy, last November. Rare surgery was performed to correct an aneurysm that prevented blood from flowing properly through the youngster's brain. Doctors in Europe said that such an operation was impossible. The boy is expected to return home soon.

House Okays To No-Fault

AUSTIN (AP) - Texas House members approved tentatively an optional no-fault insurance bill today.

A final vote will be required, probably Monday, before the measure advances to the Sen-

LITTLE DEBATE

The vote on preliminary approval of the insurance bill was 109 to 11. There was little debate with most of the controversy apparently ironed out in committee action.

Jon P. Newton, D-Beestressed the optional angle, which was attractive to many legislators.

"Not a single driver in Texas would be compelled to buy this insurance if he did not want to," Newton said.

Reps. Ray Barnhart, R-Pasadena, and Frank Gaston, R-Dallas, complained that action on Newton's measure would cut off debate on three other no-fault insurance bills still in House committee, including one by Gaston.

The House, holding only its second Friday session of this legislature, also approved 60-54 a bill designating Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday for annual observance. There was no debate. The measure, if approved by the Senate, would make Jan. 15 a day of honor but not a state holiday.

$100 A WEEK

The no-fault insurance bill, which had been endorsed by the State Bar of Texas provides up to $2,500 for medical expenses and $100 a week for lost income for car accident victims, regardless of fault.

Bandit Takes $428.49 Here

A masked armed robber with a butcher knife took $428.49 worth of cash and checks from the Exxon Station at the intersection of IS 20 and US 87 around 1:15 a.m. and apparently fled on foot.

Bobby Vaught, lone attendant at the station, said the man went in the restroom, came out with a stocking mask over his face, grabbed him and threatened him with a butcher

The armed robber shoved Vaught into the restroom before fleeing. Vaught said he was either on foot or came from a car parked away from the scene.

He was described by the attendant as a Mexican male between 25-28 weighing around 185 pounds with shoulder length black hair, wearing dark clothing and a leather jacket with fringe.

Anderson, Jones Slate Talks With HEW People

The Big Spring school board authorized Supt. Sam Anderson and Guilford Jones, school attorney, to go to Washington to confer with HEW officials and politicians in connection with the ruling against the Big Spring Schools for allegedly failing to comply to government regulations on integration.

Appointments have been set up in Washington on April 5, and 6 with the necessary of ficials. The delegates will report back to the trustees Monday, April 9, at the regular board meeting, just one day short of the date set by a Washington D.C. federal judge when Big Spring must file a suitable answer of compliance.

The board decided not to act on a possible questionaire or any other possible action until Anderson and Jones return from Washington.

They are not even sure which schools are involved since a HEW investigating committee which visited Big Spring last June never sent them a report. When they asked this week for the report, they were informed that it was not complete.

They believe that the schools involved are Bauer and Lakeview and possibly Cedar

All board members were present at the meeting here Thursday and they closed the meeting following a 10 minute open meeting to discuss with their school attorney legal questions involved.

Loyalty To T-Birds Extends To Families Of Air Aces

One of the Thunderbird team stated here last fall, following their performance, "We do this because we like it and we are proud of what the team accomplishes for the Air Force."

Loyalty to the T-Birds apparently even applies to the members of their families. Last Sept. 25, Capt. Jerry Bolt alighted at Webb as one of the members of the team and his mother, Mrs. W. T. Bolt came

He was buried at the Air Force Academy on Dec. 27 and memorial services were held in Las Vegas, where the team headquarters on Dec. 30.

He left a wife and two small children, in addition to his parents, who at one time resided in Big Spring. At the end of February, the T-Bird Air Show, first for the '73 season was held in Las Vegas.

MASSACRE OF VIETNAMESE, LAOTIAN POWS

'I Saw Them Executed In A Ditch'

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)— M.Sgt. Harvey G. Brande lived to tell about his prisoner of war experiences. He says he personally knows of scores of South Vietnamese POWs and Laotions who did not. "I saw them executed in a ditch, approximately 50. I'm only estimating," Brande said Thursday of the South Vietnamese victims. The Communist captors, fresh from battle, "were sorting them there. They were taking the wounded and putting them in the ditch. The nonwounded, they were marching them off in groups of five and camp in Laos, he said. "After I was in the prisoner of war camp in Laos for a short period of time," Brande related," they brought in 40 Laotian soldiers. They took them down into a ditch just below the hooch that I was staying in and started firing at them with automatic weapons. "I don't know how many they killed.' The 36-year-old Silver Star recipient from Long Beach, Calif., appeared at a news conference with Sgt. Ken Wallingford,

The two, who were held in the same Viet Cong jungle camp in Cambodia, were captured during a Communist spring offensive last year. Asked why American POW lives were spared, Ray said, "I was told once by one of the interrogators that they kept us alive out of the goodness of their heart. I think we were their ace in the hole, their dealing power." Brande agreed.

ESCAPE ATTEMPT However, he said he was being led to execution the day after his capture because he, like the South Vietnamese POWs in the ditch, was wounded. He said he knew of the Communists' intentions for him because "I speak a little Vietnamese and I understood

After an escape attempt ended in more wounds, the execution plans for him were canceled because of a "responsible North Vietnamese officer," said Brande, a U.S. Special Forces team member. Of his intended execution, Brande said, "I think the officer that ordered it was irresponsible and he was very angry and he had a terrific amount of hate toward all Americans." Brande's escape attempt ended in a field of elephant grass when a hand grenade fragment caught "the top of my head." "They were firing through the elephant grass and I was down on the ground and finally they decided they were shooting at each other. They were on both sides of the elephant grass. So they stopped firing

MEASURE TO LOWER LEGAL DRINKING AGE TO 19 AXED

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) - Gov. Bruce King vetoed Thursday a bill that would have lowered the legal drinking age in New Mexico from 21 to 19.

"In light of the demonstrated seriousness of the drinking problem and the widespread parental concern over excessive drinking by young people, I cannot sign into law a measure which will make alcoholic beverages more accessible to young people," the governor said in his veto message.

King also announced at a news conference that he had vetoed a Senate bill that would have required mandatory life sentences for persons convicted of trafficing in hard

"I feel any bill which requires a mandatory life imprisonment sentence should be very explicit in its application, and I am concerned that this measure might be used against the wrong persons," he said. King, a nondrinker, said the 19-year-old drinking issue without question has received the most comment from the general public of any bill passed by the 1973 legislative He exhibited packets of correspondence his office has received on the bill, and said the expressed public attitude has run about 2 to 1 in favor of veto. King said one reason for the action was an article in a Chicago newspaper that said traffic accidents in Michigan increased by about 125 per cent in the year after the drinking age was lowered in that state.

The No. 1 peace-keeping body, the International Commission of Control and Supervision has fared no better. It remains on dead center split along East-West lines on every vote - Poland and Hungary on one side, Canada and Indonesia on the other. Even a mild Canadian proposal which merely asked all parties to cease fighting and assessed no blame failed to pass.

Meanwhile the North Vietnamese have been funneling troops and material into the South apparently in violation of the truce agreement. South Vietnamese violations including assaults on some areas held by Communists at the time the ceasefire was signed also have been reported. And President Nixon has voiced this government's concern with the state of affairs hinting threatingly we might resume bombing if the agreement reached in Paris is not honored.

It's turning out to be a dreary business; hardly a soul expects real unbroken peace in Indochina is around the corner.

But we have almost extricated ourselves. Most of our prisoners are home. Virtually all of our ground forces are now out of Vietnam although "civilian" 'advisers remain and apparently additional ones are being recruited to assist Saigon. And it would appear the American people will settle for that - for getting ourselves out of Vietnam period. There is little reason to suspect the American people would support a resumption of the bombing or other American military activity in Indochina whatever the rovocation short of open attack on our own men. We traveled that road for a bloody and devisive decade already.

Inevitable Test

It was inevitable that signing of the anithijacking agreement with Cuba would one day present us with a hard choice. That time is now at hand.

Two Cubans are in custody in Florida charged with illegal entry into this country. If the United States follows through in enforcement of its new antihijacking agreement they will be returned to Cuba — where they face an unhappy fate.

The Coast Guard took the boat in tow but the two Cubans jumped overboard a mile from Key West and swam ashore. They then turned themselves over to immigration authorities.

Thus the issue is not clear-cut legally; they hijacked a vessel but were not in command of it when it entered U.S. waters or aboard it when they reached our shores.

That compounds this nation's dilemma. If we return the Cubans denying their asylum request we will be condemning them to prison, perhaps even to death. If we seize upon the legal technicalities to declare the incident is not a hijacking and thus do not return the men then the hijacking treaty finally agreed upon will be in serious jeopardy on its first hard test.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - A lot of Texas legislators gave a sign of relief when the U.S. Supreme Court held that Texas' present method of school financing is legal.

But a lot of other legislators, and state officials, are still holding their breath over the state's public welfare system.

EITHER ONE of the two big problems - school financing and public welfare - could have, and still can, cause a special legislative session later this year or early in

The public welfare issue in many ways is the more puzzling of the problems. Recently Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby asked the State Department of Public Welfare that since the federal government is taking over big portions of state aid to the aged, blind and disabled on next Jan. 1, why is the state department asking for more money and more employes. Th department's answer was that the federal government's takeover of the state programs was not all it seemed to be.

IN FACT, on Jan. 12 a task force appointed by former Gov. Preston Smith to investigate the effect in Texas of recent Social Security amendments reported:

-That due to the various options and possible federal bureau interpretations Texas could save $5.2 million in fiscal 1974 on the federal takeover or it might have to spend up to $40.9 million more that year.

-That in 1975 there could be a decrease of $7.2 million or an increase up to $66.5 million.

Add to that the fact that the State Department of Public Welfare has taken over food stamp distribution because the U.S. Postal system failed and disabled. These three existing programs will be transfered from the state into a new program "Supplemental Security Income" for the aged, blind and disabled which will be totally federal administered and HOWEVER, TEXAS will continue to be jointly responsible with the federal government for the most controversial, and fastest growing, public assistance program - Aid to Families of Dependent Children. Texas also will continue to be responsible for its Medical Assistance Program or Medicaid, not only for AFDC recipients but for all the newly eligible aged, blind and disabled under the new federal program.

In fact, Gov. Smith's task force estimated the number of those receiving old age assistance in Texas will double the next two years and the number receiving disabled and blind benefits will triple Currently about 239,000 elderiv

Texans receive old age assistance payments. This is expected to jump to 311,000 next Jan, 1 under the new federal regulations and grow to 427,000 by 1975.

The approximately 34,000 disabled and blind recepients will increase to about 60,000 next Jan. 1 and more than 100,000 a year later. Texas will save $42 million annually by no longer paying its share of public assistance grants.

Corruption

corruption in this city must set some kind of world's record. It runs the gamut from big-time organized crime to the petty heist of the cop on the

THE BREAKDOWN of the system of criminal justice, the police and the courts are the root of the trouble. In 1970 there were about 100,000 felony arrests. The courts can on the average handle about 500 cases a year. That means, bribes and the fix to one side, thousands of accused felons are walking the streets either out on bail or their cases dismissed after long delay.

NOT SURPRISINGLY, therefore, walking the streets is hazardous. Riding the subways at night is considered by New Yorkers to be an equal hazard. So, except for the very rich with private limousines or even in some instances private security guards, life is increasingly restricted and theaters, restaurants, the attractions for visitors from outside all

In an effort to break the deadly cycle of the nonfunctioning court system and the rise in street crime, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller appointed a deputy attorney general empowered to use continuing grand juries to uncover the sources of corruption and concealment. Maurice H. Nadjari is in the old Mr. District Attorney-Thomas E. Dewey tradition of the tough prosecutor. He is just beginning to wade into the quagmire.

INDICTMENTS were returned the other day against three top city officials, one of them being Norman Levy, Mayor John V. Lindsay's tax commissioner. They are charged with engineerng a ring fixing thousands of parking tickets. Nadjari believes that it will be shown when the cases come to trial that the payoff goes nearly all the way to the top. An investigation is currently going forward into the relationship between Jay Kriegel, one of the bright young men Lindsay brought into the mayor's office, and the Police Department. Kriegel accused of perjury in his testimony before the Knapp Commission, one of the long series of commissions investigating corruption.

New Yorkers have had many shocks in recent months, one of the worst being the disclosure of the theft of 200 pounds of heroin from a safe in the police property office. The clever thief or theieves had substituted milk sugar for the heroin, which had a retail value for the street pushers of $73 million. No arrests have been made. Those familiar with the police property office describe it as a cross between a dubious pawnshop and a thieves' market.

IN NADJARI'S drive, which is beginning to hit at Lindsay men, the enmity between Gov. Rockefeller and the mayor cannot be discounted. Lindsay announced the other day that he would not be a candidate for reelection to a third four-year term. Rockefeller is now moving to build Republican-Liberal coalition around former Mayor Robert F. Wagner, a

AS IT IS proving once again, New York City is the graveyard of political ambition. Men of ability and appeal have been buried beneath a turbulent cosmopolitanism widely reported if only because so many news-gathering agencies are centered here.

Uneasy Truce

By Rowland Evans And Robert Novak

WASHINGTON - While chairman Robert S. Strauss was masterfully balancing opposing interests at last week's meeting of the Democratic National Committee, organized labor's ideological schism over political action visibly deepened.

NEVER BEFORE had the National Committee been the target of such open lobbying from bitterly opposed factions of labor. For three days, the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education (COPE) struggled with liberal-led unions increasingly hostile to COPE's policies. Strauss's compromises prevented bloody confrontations but failed to mollify either side or prevent new resentments.

Thoughtful union officials from both camps are apprehensive about this divided state of labor's political action at a time when President Nixon is deadly serious about his courtship of working people, a majority of whom supported him against Sen. George McGovern. It is not altogether fanciful to think that Mr. Nixon, aided by the big, rich Teamsters union, could take advantage of the schism and consolidate Republican support in labor's ranks.

THAT SPLIT has long been building. Under the hard-boiled leadership of Al Barkan, COPE has viewed the Democratic party's leftward drift as ruinous to the traditional Democratic loyalties of workers and a road to political oblivion. But yo un ger, more liberal labor politicians, refusing to follow COPE's direction, have been allying themselves with the party's reformist left

The break was sealed with McGovern's candidacy. COPE withdrew into non-benevolent neutrality, but 33 AFL-CIO unions joined the independent United Auto Workers (UAW) in endorsing the Democratic ticket. It widened after the election when COPE successfully promoted, without support from several individual AFL-CIO unions, Strauss for national chairman.

STRAUSS PLEDGED to name eight fire authorities.

labor leaders among 25 new at-large members of the National Committee. Barkan insisted on eight AFL-CIO stalwarts, seven of whom had not endorsed McGovern. The liberal unions retaliated with a slate of four pro-McGovern uni o n presidents. Strauss was in a seemingly impossible dilemma. He owed his election to COPE and, as he informed the party's executive committee last week, COPE had promised 200 members of the Sponsors Club at $1,200 a head a quarter-million-dollar nestegg for the impoverished party. But a confrontation would threaten Strauss with defeat or, at best, a bloody victory STRAUSS BEGAN casting around for places on the committee for two leading non-COPE labor candidates, Floyd (Red) Smith of the Machinists and Joseph Beirne of the Communications Workers. Both live in Maryland. but both refused Strauss's offer (cleared with Gov. Marvin Mandel) to become a national committeeman from that state. They demanded the prestige of being at-large members.

SQ STRAUSS replaced a non-labor member of his slate of 25 (southern California party chairman Charles Manatt) with Smith. That was still not-enough. Communications Workers, cranking up their political action machinery newly seceded from COPE, applied intense pressure on the committee to select Beirne. Consequently, Strauss scratched another non-labor candidate (Miami Dolphins owner Joe Robbie) and replaced him with Beirne. But COPE initialed a purge campaign that, at best, was a standoff.

MY ANSWER

Billy Graham

I am 17 years old. Sometime ago, I made a decision for Christ, but I never joined a church. Lately, however, I've felt the need to attend church, and to hear gospel music. I don't want to get caught though, in the institutional drag. What should I do?

In the turbulent sixties, organized religion came in for sharp criticism some justifiable, some not. Recently, however, the church, in certain quarters, has had great vitality. Notably, this has occurred a mong the more evangelical congregations, and particularly, where young people are concerned.

Now, my position on the church is well documented and quite clear. In fact, the task of evangelism is not complete in introducing people to Christ. They must be trained in-Christian discipleship. In this follow up work, the local church has the ultimate responsibility.

I believe you have been led of God's Spirit to get involved with a local congregation. God's plan for the church is that it provide just what you're looking for - meeting friends whose companionship you can enjoy, and whose help you can count on! It also affords the learning situation in which your faith can mature.

Sure, the church has problems. What organization doesn't that has people in it? But God supplies answers! I know that when we let "administrivia" consume too much time, the church is self-defeated in its purpose. But look, why not be a committee of one to offset "institutional drag"? Pray for your pastor, volunteer for witness opportunities, attend stated services, and always come with an expectant air for a productive meeting with God. If enough people do that, the problem won't be a drag, but how to keep pace with what God is doing.

A Devotion For Today . .

Hanoi Not Living Up To Agreement

WASHINGTON Speaking to the nation on the very day the United States ended its direct military role in Vietnam, President Nixon pointed with pride to the fulfillment of his major objectives. But he said there is growing evidence Hanoi is not living up to the cease-fire agreement.

The President said the goal he had set for himself upon entering the White House in 1969winning "an honorable peace"—had been mei.

"For the first time in 12 years, no American military forces are stationed in Vietnam," he said. And, "All of our American troops came home, he also recited the negative: Washington has amassed growing evidence that North Vietnam is not living up to the Jan. 27 Paris cease-fire agreement.

Once again, Nixon leveled a warning at the Communists.

He said the United States would insist that Hanoi comply with the Paris terms and that the leaders of North Vietnam should have no doubt there will be consequences if they do not comply.

However, Nixon did not speci-fy what these consequences could be. And the Communists have heard the same kind of warning before, with no apparent sign that the infiltration has slowed down.

TROOPS OUT Before Nixon went on the air, the last U.S. combat troops had pulled out of Vietnam after more than a decade of fighting which cost nearly 46,000 American lives; the last of almost 600 U.S. prisoners had been freed by North Vietnam.

He congratulated "the overwhelming majority of Americans" for eschewing "peace at firm "for doing what was right."

Looking ahead, Nixon cautioned against cuts in the defense budget, saying that or a unilateral reduction of U.S. forces in Europe would destroy any chance for successful negotiations with the Soviet Union later this year on further nuclear-arms limitations and a mutual reduction in troops. "If the United States reduces its defenses and others do not, it increases the danger of war,' 'he added.

Clearly, the President was trying to rally the public to support him in a fight with congressional budget cutters and those who would try to economize by bringing major military contingents in Europe home right away.

There was no mention in the President's speech of the continued U.S. bombing raids over Cambodia.

BUCS TO WEAR PATCHES IN MEMORY OF CLEMENTE

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) - The Pittsburgh Pirates will pay tribute to the late Roberto Clemente this season by wearing a black-bordered shoulder patch emblazoned with the star outfielder's uniform number "21," the ball club

Pirate President Daniel M. Galbreath said the three-inch memorial emblem will be worn on the left sleeve of both home and road uniforms throughout the 1973 season.

"We have already announced that Roberto's uniform number will be retired on opening day," Galbreath said. "But by wearing on the sleeve the number 21 encircled in black, each player will, in effect, be perpetuating the number and memory of Roberto."

Galbreath said the emblem will replace a black ribbon being worn by players in spring training.

Clemente, just elected to the baseball Hall of Fame after it waived the traditional waiting period, was killed Dec. 31 on a mercy flight aiding disaster victims in the Nicaraguan earthquake last Christmas...

BILLY GRAHAM about the new motion picture

There is no doubt that today we see the family unit being attacked from every side, torn apart and fragmented. TIME TO RUN is a motion picture about a family, about listening, about the silences between people, the unspoken moments, and the moments of anger that don't really accomplish anything TIME TO RUN openly offers the reality of Jesus Christ as an answer to the human dilemma.

I feel that thousands of people will see a part of themselves in the film. Hopefully, families seeing it will be brought closer together in real understanding and communication.

I urge you to take your children . . . or your parents . . . to see TIME TO RUN when it comes to your community. You may find it more of a mirror than a motion picture! BILLY GRAHAM

TIME TO RUN will be shown at the Ritz Theater April 11th through 17th with two shows nightly! also matinees Saturday and Sunday. Watch for time listings!

Rosebud Club Plans District Luncheon

The "Hows and Whys" of grooming horticulture for flower shows were explained Tuesday for Rosebud Garden Club by Mrs. Odell Womack in her home at 1601 Tucson. Mrs. Womack is a national amateur flower show judge.

Mrs. G. P. Morrison presided, and plans were completed for the club's activities in the District 1 spring convention of Texas Garden Clubs, Inc., scheduled April 5-6 at the Settles Hotel, Rosebud and Oasis Garden Clubs are handling arrangements for a luncheon scheduled at 12:15 April 6. Reservations must be made by Sunday by calling Mrs. J. C. Pickle at 267-7871.

It was announced that Mrs. Howard Kittel, Fort Worth, president of the cohostess.

proved, will utilize the older Julian Patterson, chairbuilding which belongs to the community center, and will accommodate 30 preschool children.

It was announced the area south of the center's new building has been leveled and surfaced with concrete for outdoor activities. Funds were provided through the Dora Roberts Foundation. The Optimists Club has agreed to contribute basketball equipment for the Several contributions for landscaping at the center have been received, but more money is needed for shrubs, fertilizer, peat moss, water hose and labor to complete the project. Anyone able to assist may contact Mrs. Ernest Bauch, center director, at 267-6680, or Mrs. John Hogan at 267-

Donations already received for the landscaping project include $10 from Washington Place School Girl Scouts, an anonymous gift of $50, and a pledge for both monetary and labor assistance from the Men's Garden Club.

In other business, Jim Armstrong, field director of the Buffalo Boy Scout Council, requested the board to sponsor a Scout troop. Guy Griffith, a local Scout executive was also present. No action was taken on the
