SAIGON (AP) — Thousands of U.S. civilians remain in Vietnam exercising military-related skills, their operations masked by official secrecy and confusion.

The green, blue and khaki U.S. military uniforms have gone, making the men in gray coveralls and sport shirts all the more noticeable around South Vietnam's military bases and civilian bars.

Official U.S. advisers are prohibited by the Paris accords. But as far as can be determined, 6,000 to 7,000 American civilians — many recently in military service — are directly or indirectly supporting South Vietnam's million-man military machine. That is about 2,000 more than the figure at the end of last year, although no precise official statistics are available.

HOW MANY?
Exactly how many are there? What are they doing that they weren't doing before the Jan. 28 cease-fire?

Civilian contractors refer queries like that to the U.S. Defense Attache Office, successor to the U.S. Military Command. And the Defense Attache Office says it doesn't know.

The bulk of the civilians are employed by a dozen major and more than 100 minor contractors. Ostensibly their main job is teaching, mainly mechanical and electronic skills. But some are reported to be actually maintaining aircraft and communications gear.

About 800 are assigned to the Defense Attache Office, which has an allotment for 400 more civilians along with its 50 military personnel. It has taken over former U.S. Command headquarters at Tan Son Nhut air base at Saigon.

The spokeswoman for the Defense Attache Office, An Bottorff, said the office's business includes overseeing the performance of contractors, eventually turning over contractor equipment — most of it formerly owned by the U.S. military — to the South Vietnamese, disposing of U.S. property, running the one-for-one replacement of war materials allowed under the peace accords and developing Vietnamese self-sufficiency.

An undisclosed number of the office's civilian contingent have military backgrounds, but Mrs. Bottorff said the Pentagon is hiring nobody less than three years out of uniform except under waivers granted only in extraordinary circumstances.

NO BREAKDOWN
The spokeswoman said she had no breakdown on how many of the office's civilians will be performing what types of duties. She acknowledged that some will, in effect, be giving advice to the Vietnamese on military matters, but "in the technical assistance sense, not in the adviser sense." This presumably would cover those who she said will be checking out Vietnamese pilots for new aircraft.

DIVIDED ATTENTION — While a mother points out something of interest during Webb AFB's Open House Saturday, two children exchange banter on a matter that obviously seems more important to them. Time later to talk about the mundane things that seem to interest adults, they seem to be saying.

R. W. Whipkey Dies; Titan In Civic Work

Robert W. Whipkey, 66, a tireless civic worker and a giant in the newspaper industry for four decades, collapsed and died at the Officer's Club at Webb AFB Saturday night shortly before he was to emceed the "Accent on Youth" program which honored four first-term airmen of the base.

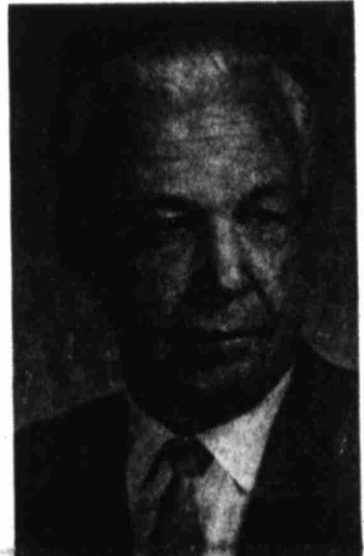

Whipkey, who retired as publisher of the Big Spring Herald a year ago last August, was a native of Colorado City but had spent most of his adult life in Big Spring.

He had a history of heart trouble but fought back from a serious attack suffered several years prior to his retirement from the paper and seemed in excellent physical condition in recent months.

He gave unceasingly of his time following his retirement, working for the betterment of the community.

The body was taken to Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home, where rites are pending.

DAD IN BUSINESS
Whipkey "grew up" in a print shop in Colorado City where his father, A. L. Whipkey, and his uncle, F. B. Whipkey (both deceased) were co-owners of the Colorado Record, which they established in 1905 and operated for many years.

ROBERT W. WHIPKEY

As a boy, the former publisher took his turn as a "printer's devil," the sorting of hand types into proper cases, the helping with press and on the publication day of the weekly publication.

He also got experience as a typesetter and linotype operator.

Whipkey went to Hardin-Simmons University (known then only as Simmons) in Abilene, almost immediately became a freshman staff member for the college paper, the "Brand." He continued to work for that publication during his college years and wound up as its editor his senior year. He did this while playing with the school's famed Cowboy Band and serving as president of the Student Association.

After taking a degree in English and History, he spent some time with weekly newspapers in Alpine and Odessa, took a brief flyer to New York only to decide that Texas looked better.

He joined the news staff of the Abilene Reporter-News in 1929 and remained there six years, serving as a reporter and wire news editor. It was in Abilene he met Ruby Saylor, a girl he married in 1933. She survives him and had accompanied him to the ceremony Saturday night.

HERE IN 1935
Whipkey came to Big Spring in 1935 to accept "temporary employment" as The Herald's managing editor. It proved to be a permanent arrangement.

He became publisher of the paper in April, 1940, and remained in that capacity until his retirement, with exception of some 2½ years spent in Intelligence work with the Navy during World War II.

Until the day he retired, he was known for taking off his coat, rolling up his sleeves and tackling almost any chore in the news plant. He was a regular member of the Herald's Kim writing team until he called it a career.

In the early days of WW II, when the manpower power decimated the paper's personnel, Whipkey often helped in circulation and delivered "kicks" on Sunday mornings.

He watched the paper's circulation grow from some 1,500 (not all of whom paid) to more than 11,000. The working force quadrupled and he shepherded the force when twice it moved to larger quarters.

Numerous honors came Whipkey's way. He was selected as one of the lay members of the State Judicial Qualifications Committee by John Connally, then governor of the state.

He served on the executive committee of the Texas Daily Press Association and the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, was a vice president of the HSU Development Board, headed the United Fund (now United Way) campaign and the Chamber of Commerce, and held numerous other executive positions with both organizations.

He was also a long-time member of the YMCA board and was co-chairman of its building committee, was one of the founders and a long-time member of the Howard County Rehabilitation Board, a board member of the Hall and Bennett Memorial Hospital Foundation and remained active in many other civic activities.

When the Chamber of Commerce found itself without a manager a couple of years ago, Mr. Whipkey guided its destinies on condition that he not be publicly credited with the chore.

His great friend, Cong. George Mahon, offered him employment as his aide and speech-writer as recently as 1972. He lent considerable thought to the proposal but ultimately turned it down, deciding his place was with the people he knew and loved.

He was named Citizen of the Year in Big Spring two years ago.

He was once described at a testimonial given his honor as "a man who has the interest of his fellow man at heart... and who believed in good government, good law enforcement and the welfare of human beings."

Travel Films Here Friday

People planning to attend the Eastman Kodak's wide-screen travel extravaganza, "Mexico, a Photo Adventure," should and can pick up tickets in advance either at The Herald or the First National Bank.

The multi-media show, which can be seen without charge if the patrons show their tickets at the entrance, gets under way at 8 p.m., Friday in the Municipal Auditorium.

The film clips to be shown were edited from more than 2,000 color slides and 25,000 feet of color film movie film.

The multi-image spectacular fills a 12X36 foot screen alternately with the sweep of a single scenic panorama and as many as 12 pictures at one time.

Those who saw a similar Eastman showing about the wonders of Asia here a year ago are certain to be present for this event. Rarely have Big Springers been privileged to witness a showing such as this.

Except in unusual instances, no more than four tickets will be given to any one individual.

'Systems Are Go' For Meat Boycott

By The Associated Press
"All systems are go." That was the word on Saturday from one of the consumer groups sponsoring a nationwide meat boycott that begins Sunday despite newly imposed price ceilings on beef, lamb and pork.

Announcing that plans for the boycott were unchanged, Carolyn Haskell, chairman of the Atlanta, Ga., chapter of FIT — Fight Inflation Together — said, "The ceiling is a mixed blessing. We're delighted that the President has recognized the force of consumer action. But meat prices are still too high for the average consumer."

The farmers weren't happy with the ceiling either. Devon Woodland, vice president of the National Farmers Organization, said, "The farmer is at the bottom of the totem pole as usual and will wind up with whatever is left after all other segments of the monopolistic food industry grab off big margins and assure themselves of a good profit."

NFO members withheld some livestock from market early last week because of lower hog and cattle prices, but agreed Friday to suspend their action temporarily. The ceiling ordered by President Nixon on Thursday involves only processors, wholesalers and retailers of meat; it does not affect the farmer and cattleman, nor does it cover poultry or fish.

"I just took our last piece of meat for the week out of the freezer," said Louise Aipert of New York. She said she bought the meat — veal — two weeks ago.

CITY ELECTION Voters Charge Polls Tuesday

Voters go to the polls Tuesday to elect two members to the City Commission. Ten names will appear on the ballot, although one, Jim Abreo, officially withdrew from the race last week.

In the order of their appearance on the ballot, candidates are H. V. Crocker, Jim L. Abreo, T. E. Wilcox, Eddie Vela, Mrs. Floyd Mays, Boyce Hale, Mrs. Dannie Botros, Charles F. Tompkins, M. K. Carson and Eli Guinn.

At the 5 p.m. deadline Friday for absentee voting, 54 ballots had been cast. Mrs. Maxine Shaffer of the city secretary's office reported that only one ballot sent out by mail has not come in yet. Ballots mailed in must be received at City Hall by 10 a.m. Monday.

Polling places and election judges will be Pct. 1, Northside Fire Station, Sally Rodriguez; Pct. 2, Eleventh and Birdwell Fire Station, Rayford Dunagan; Pct. 3, Eighteenth and Main Fire Station, Don Conley; Pct. 4, Central Fire Station, W. J. Sheppard; and Pct. 5, Airport School, L. R. Mundt.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. After ballots have been counted by the precinct election judges, they will be turned in to City Hall to be officially tabulated in the water department office.

Results of the voting should be available by 10 p.m., according to City Attorney Jim Gregg.

Reviewing the... Big Spring Week ... with Joe Pickle

This has been a great week at Webb AFB with the accent on youth. Starting with a reception honoring four outstanding young airmen, activities proceeded to a climax Saturday with the appearance of the unbelievable Thunderbirds aerial precision team and an address by Buzz Aldrin, second man to walk upon the moon. All this was not only enough to capture the hearts of the young, but to stir those young in heart.

Don't forget — you have a heavy date at the polls Tuesday, when we select two commissioners, and Saturday when we name a pair of school trustees. Nine have offered to serve you; the least you can do is to honor their offer by voting. Good citizens will take the time to do it, and encourage their friends to vote.

The City of Big Spring, incidentally, got good news when the check came in for the fourth quarter's city sales tax. The $129,299 set a record for a quarter and was up 7 per cent over the $129,927 for the fourth quarter of the previous year. Receipts for 1973 were $47,176, up from $439,900.

Judge: Meat More Precious Than Gems

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Judge Harry T. Marshall has told a man accused of stealing beef that he considers meat "more precious than jewels."

William R. Smyre, 54, pleaded innocent Friday during arraignment in Cuyahoga Common Pleas Court on a charge of stealing 77½ pounds of sirloin steaks from the Brown Derby restaurant earlier this year. The restaurant valued the steaks at $156.55.

Judge Marshall set bond at $3,000.

"At a date and time when even the President has become aware of the horrible situation for the housewife with regard to the price of meat, this should be a warning to the public generally that society will not countenance the stealing of meat, which is more precious than jewels," the judge said.

CONCERT'S STAR REAL LIFE DRAMA Terminal Cancer Case No Longer Disease Victim

By TOMMY HART
Credit divine intervention, the wonders of medicine or simply response to love and fealty, the story of six-year-old James Kole is truly inspirational and borders on the miraculous.

James is the adopted son of Ronnie Kole, who arrived in Big Spring Saturday for the last of the season's Community Concert shows at the Municipal Auditorium. The show took place before a packed house last night.

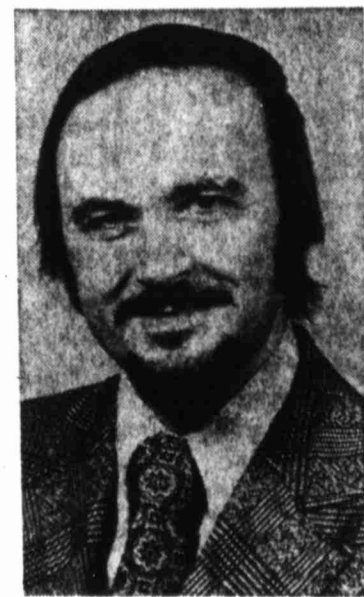

At the age of six months, James was confined to the New Orleans Charity Hospital, suffering from what doctors diagnosed as terminal cancer.

James' case attracted the attention of a hospital candy-striper (volunteer worker) named Rhonda Kole, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Kole. Rhonda fell for the baby like the proverbial ton of bricks. She soon set about to sell her parents on the idea of bringing the plucky little cancer victim into their home for a visit.

James might have been on his way back to recovery at that time but the love and care shown him in the Kole home, no doubt, did much to improve his condition.

ASKED COURTS
Ronnie Kole and his wife ultimately asked the courts to permit them to adopt the boy, a request that was granted. The boy's condition has since improved to the extent that he is considered completely well. He is now six years of age and in school.

His story was told on a 30-minute television film entitled "He Wanted To Live," a movie that was narrated by famed actress Joan Crawford and released nationally under the auspices of the Cancer Crusade organization.

RONNIE KOLE

No professional actors were used in the film, which was put together by Tri Productions of New York. The doctors, nurses and members of the Kole family who actually had parts in the real-life drama re-created their roles before the cameras, with one exception. The Koles' grandson, Russell Viola, took the role of James as a six-month-old baby.

Ronnie concedes the film can still bring tears to his eyes when he sees it. The Koles have six children, including James. The oldest is about 23.

Ronnie, who maintains a schedule that probably would kill the ordinary man, is only 43 and looks younger. He and the other two members of his musical combo, Richard Taylor (drums) and Everett Linn (base fiddle), tour about seven weeks a year to fulfill Community Concert contracts.

Most of the time, the trio provides delightful music at Kole's Corner at the Chateau LeMoyné Motor Hotel in the city Ronnie — a native Chicagoan — has grown to love.

HIS KIND OF TOWN
Kole says that all musicians, in fact all people who visit New Orleans for any length of time, develop a longing to live there on a permanent basis. He wouldn't trade his place in it for any other spot on earth.

Ronnie has worked with such well known personalities as Al Hirt and Pete Fountain, although he has never been in their bands.

The trio motors today to Liberal, Kan., for another appearance tonight. On their current tour, they will have appeared in 38 cities across the continent and will wind up in the Lake Tahoe, San Francisco Bay and British Columbia areas before returning home.

Ronnie, a wholesome looking midwesterner, recalls he gave a musical program at the local air force base around 1952 but doesn't recall it was referred to as Webb AFB at the time.

In his adopted home town, Ronnie stays busy in civic work and emphasizes it is a labor of love. He has served as chairman of the Easter Seal campaign in Southern Louisiana and is on the New Orleans Tours Commission.

Kole served as emcee of the program here last night. He never works from a prepared script, says it turns out better that way. His patter is delightful and refreshing.

The music his trio offers varies from pop classic to boogie woogie and jazz — "a little something for everyone" is the way he puts it.

The trio has been together for eight years and Ronnie himself has been working professionally as a musician since he was 14.

Army Field Band To Appear Here

The Herald will sponsor the May 4 appearance in the City Auditorium of the famed United States Army Field Band and 25-member Soldiers' Chorus of Washington, D. C.

Harold Shultz, base commander.

Pieces In Spying Puzzle Are Falling Into Place

WASHINGTON (AP) — After nine months of speculation, charges and denials and painfully little hard knowledge, pieces of the Watergate puzzle are tumbling into place with the speed and impact that has Republican politicians worrying out loud.

And developments of the past week, with some of the men closest to President Nixon being named, brought the first stacking of the administration's inside sources, one of the wa-

O. C. Harper

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP)—O. C. "Kip" Harper, a pioneer West Texas geologist who discovered nine oil fields in the Permian Basin, died in a hospital Saturday after a long illness.

He had lived in Midland since the mid-1920s.

Harper, a native of Chicago, Ill., majored in Geology at the University of Chicago. He went to work for Empire Gas and Fuel Co., now Cities Service Oil Co., after serving as a pilot in the Army Air Corps during World War I.

He began working for Gulf Production Co. at Sweetwater in 1922, and oilmen credited his early regional evaluations as the basis for the development of the vast oil region.

Harper was a charter member of the West Texas Geological Society. He was inducted into the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum's Hall of Fame in 1972.

Services will be at 10:30 a.m. Monday at Resthaven Memorial Park.

Survivors include his widow and a daughter, Mrs. Frank B. Essex Jr.

THE WEEK

the year before. This revenue, is equivalent to some $22.5 million additional tax values, or without it, you might pay a third more.

HEW (Health, Education and Welfare) casually dropped a by-the-way note to the Big Spring School District — by the way, where's that plan for further integrating Bauer and Lakeview schools. That sent the board into a series of meetings with administrators and the attorney trying to meet an April 10 deadline. More than likely, there will be inter-school busing next year.

Texas Electric Service Company opened bids last week on a new office building, and construction is due to start on this quarter-of-a-million dollar project soon. By the end of the year, TESCO hopes to get into the new facility, which will have parking, drive-in windows, modern meeting room, etc. In a sense, TESCO gives Big Spring a strong vote of confidence.

March went out like a typical blustery. Most of the week was sand storms, plus several showers. On the whole the temperatures were mild to warm, despite some incense-quential frost Monday. If we can get by this week without a killing frost, it will be a crucial one. The second week in April will still bear a possible chance of a freeze, but after that — despite the old Easter snan legend — the odds are against it. If we get a good shower, make way for the best-pest show of wildflowers in years. Already bitterweed is slashing gold.

The City Commission has instructed City Attorney Jim Grege to draft a proposed ordinance granting a $3,000 homestead exemption to those over 65 years of age. It will mean a saving of about $25 a year. Gosh, you could get a couple of steaks for that!

Although the weather was atrocious, Jaycees counted their annual Rattlesnake Roundup a success with a ton and a half of these creatures captured. The world can't help but be better.

Lt. Col. William M. King Jr. ended his Air Force career last week with traditional retreat ceremonies. A fine civic worker as well as a real gentleman, Bill King is settling down on a place in the hill country just northwest of New Braunfels.

Local People Europe-Bound

Eight Big Spring citizens left Midland Saturday morning for Vienna, Austria, as part of an eight-day European trip sponsored by Presto-Herald tours and First National Bank.

They were joined in Dallas by several other local and area residents who drove to that city Friday to visit friends and relatives before boarding a Braniff International plane shortly after noon Saturday. The Braniff craft was a fly non-stop to New York where the tourists were to switch to Swiss Airways for an overnight flight to Europe.

The group was scheduled to arrive in Vienna this morning for a three-day visit and will then leave for Paris, France.

Aldrin: Trip In Space Changed Lifestyle

By ANN STEVENS
Col. Edwin E. "Buzz" Aldrin had walked in space. He had walked on the moon.

Saturday afternoon in a gold flight suit he walked into a press conference at Webb AFB at which he was asked to recall a killing frost, it will be a crucial one. The second week in April will still bear a possible chance of a freeze, but after that — despite the old Easter snan legend — the odds are against it. If we get a good shower, make way for the best-pest show of wildflowers in years. Already bitterweed is slashing gold.

Col. Aldrin, now a retired Air Force officer involved in a consulting engineering firm, revealed that he is writing a book, "Return to Earth," which he said, "It's rather remote. The only logical candidate would be Mars, and if there is anything there it is a very low form of life."

Asked whether he believes there may be life on planets, he said, "It's rather remote. The only logical candidate would be Mars, and if there is anything there it is a very low form of life."

Camp Commander Erred In Guess

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Col. Joseph W. Kittinger Jr. and 17 other returning POWs stepped off their freedom plane Saturday, and contrary to what Kittinger said his prison camp commander predicted, were not met by rocks.

The crowd greeted Kittinger a record-holding daredevil parachutist, and the other men with cheers, banners and kisses. Military men saluted and relatives cried when the ex-POWs landed at Kelly Air Force Base.

The 18 men—17 from the Air Force and one from the Navy were either pilots or navigators in Vietnam, a spokesman said.

Those aboard the flight included Lt. Col. Walter Stischer of Austin, Tex., and Capt. Timothy R. Ayers of Houston.

"About a month ago," said Kittinger, 44, of Orlando, Fla., "the camp commander had me in for a little 'sit-to' and he told me, 'When you prisoners get back to the United States, they're going to be throwing rocks at you.'"

"I sure wish he were here today to see all you wonderful folks," said the beaming, red-haired Kittinger.

On Nov. 16, 1959, Kittinger made a 76,400-foot parachute jump from a balloon which still stands as the world record for such a feat, an Air Force spokesman said.

On an escort mission for a strike force over Hanoi May 11, 1972, Kittinger's aircraft was hit by an air-to-air missile and he ejected.

Like nine other men on the flight which brought him home directly to Kelly from Clark AFB in the Philippines, Kittinger changed planes at Kelly for Maxwell AFB, Ala., his destination for ex-POW processing.

Will humans ever set up permanent residence on the moon? "I wouldn't be surprised," he remarked. He said the moon might be utilized as living quarters for some on a rotating basis, as bases are now.

"We're always asking too much of ourselves," he noted. "On the same token, we always end up doing more in a 15 or 20-year period than we ever thought we would do."

"Without a doubt, we made the right decision back in '63. The Russians were trying right up to the last to beat us," he said of the "space race." "We elected to go the manned route because we thought the return would be so much greater. We're too close to it now to really evaluate the significance of what we're doing."

May 14, he mentioned, is the date of the first of three Skylab missions, and he said unmanned trips to Mars and Venus are already planned.

He said he got out of the space program to allow someone else the opportunity to participate in the flights, pointing out that too many are being trained that will be used in the space program.

Asked whether he believes there may be life on planets, he said, "It's rather remote. The only logical candidate would be Mars, and if there is anything there it is a very low form of life."

Meat Ceilings Likely To Go By Early Fall

WASHINGTON (AP) — The ceiling on meat prices imposed by President Nixon will probably be abolished by late summer or early fall and is not expected to be extended to cover other food products, Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz said Saturday.

Butz also said current negative reaction to high meat prices in the form of boycotts has worked to reduce prices at least temporarily. But he said he doubts the negative reaction by consumers will last.

Asked his opinion of various groups' plans for a meat boycott beginning Sunday, Butz said, "The question is, do you really change your eating habits" over the long term? "Probably very little. You live out of the top half of your refrigerator and eat canned goods for a week."

"Most Americans have a week's reserve of food" in their freezers and cupboards, he said.

Butz's comments were made to a gathering of Young Republicans here Saturday and in talking with newsmen.

Butz said that if all goes as planned among meat producers and the economy in general, "I anticipate by the late summer or early fall months" the ceiling imposed by President Nixon Thursday night will be eliminated.

Asked by newsmen whether he envisions an extension of the ceiling to other food products Butz said, "No, sir. I don't think" it will be necessary.

At the Young Republicans' meeting, Butz indirectly criticized organized labor's role in the wage-price spiral.

For example, Butz said, truck drivers who deliver bread and dairy products to supermarkets, in many places, also stock their products on the grocery shelves. He indicated part of the food dollar might be saved by permitting lower-paid stock boys to do it instead.

To clear up misunderstanding about food prices, Butz said, "We need to slaughter some sacred cows."

Farmers get 43 cents of the consumer's food dollar now while processors, deliverymen, merchants and others get 57 cents, he said.

"We've been chasing that 43-cent rabbit a long time," the secretary said. "I wish we would chase the 57-cent rabbit a while."

Asked whether he believes there may be life on planets, he said, "It's rather remote. The only logical candidate would be Mars, and if there is anything there it is a very low form of life."

Odd But True

Isn't it odd how neighbors whom we seldom see all year write to wish us well with them when they get 500 miles away.

Young GOPs Aren't Ready To Support Spiro In '76

WASHINGTON (AP) — Young Republicans interviewed at random during a national meeting here were cool toward Vice President Spiro T. Agnew as the GOP 1976 presidential nominee.

Some were backing Tennessee Sen. William Brock and one spoke up for New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

Several said they are weighing the attributes for former Texas Gov. John B. Connally but others say they doubt he could successfully switch parties and capture the party's nomination soon after.

"I'd choose Connally over Agnew, though," said John Miller of Laurel, Md. "I think he's more capable than Agnew."

The Young Republicans finished a leadership conference here Saturday.

In an informal and random poll, the YRs were asked their opinion of Connally and whether they'd favor him as the party's presidential nominee if, as most predict, he switches to the GOP.

They also were asked who else they might prefer.

NO BAND WAGON

Virtually no one questioned appeared to be carrying the banner for Agnew.

Kalman Ponnock of Merion, Pa., said he thought Connally would make a fine President and then said "I'd feel equally comfortable with Agnew, I guess."

Ponnock said he liked Connally's conservatism and thinks he could win the presidency "but if he took Mr. Brooke; all bets are off, there's not a Chinaman's chance. I don't think the American people would ever accept Brooke because he's black and is too liberal."

In an interview discussing his saying that if he ran for President he might consider Sen. Edward M. Brooke, R-Mass., as his runningmate.

Texas' YR state chairman, John Stasio of Dallas, said Connally is highly respected in Texas, although some Republicans harbor lingering ill-feeling toward him for not supporting Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., last fall.

Stasio said he has "a lot of respect for Agnew but if Connally could make the South become a two-party system, I'd choose him. I think he could bring in a lot of Democrats throughout the South... and could, conceivably, make the Republicans the majority party."

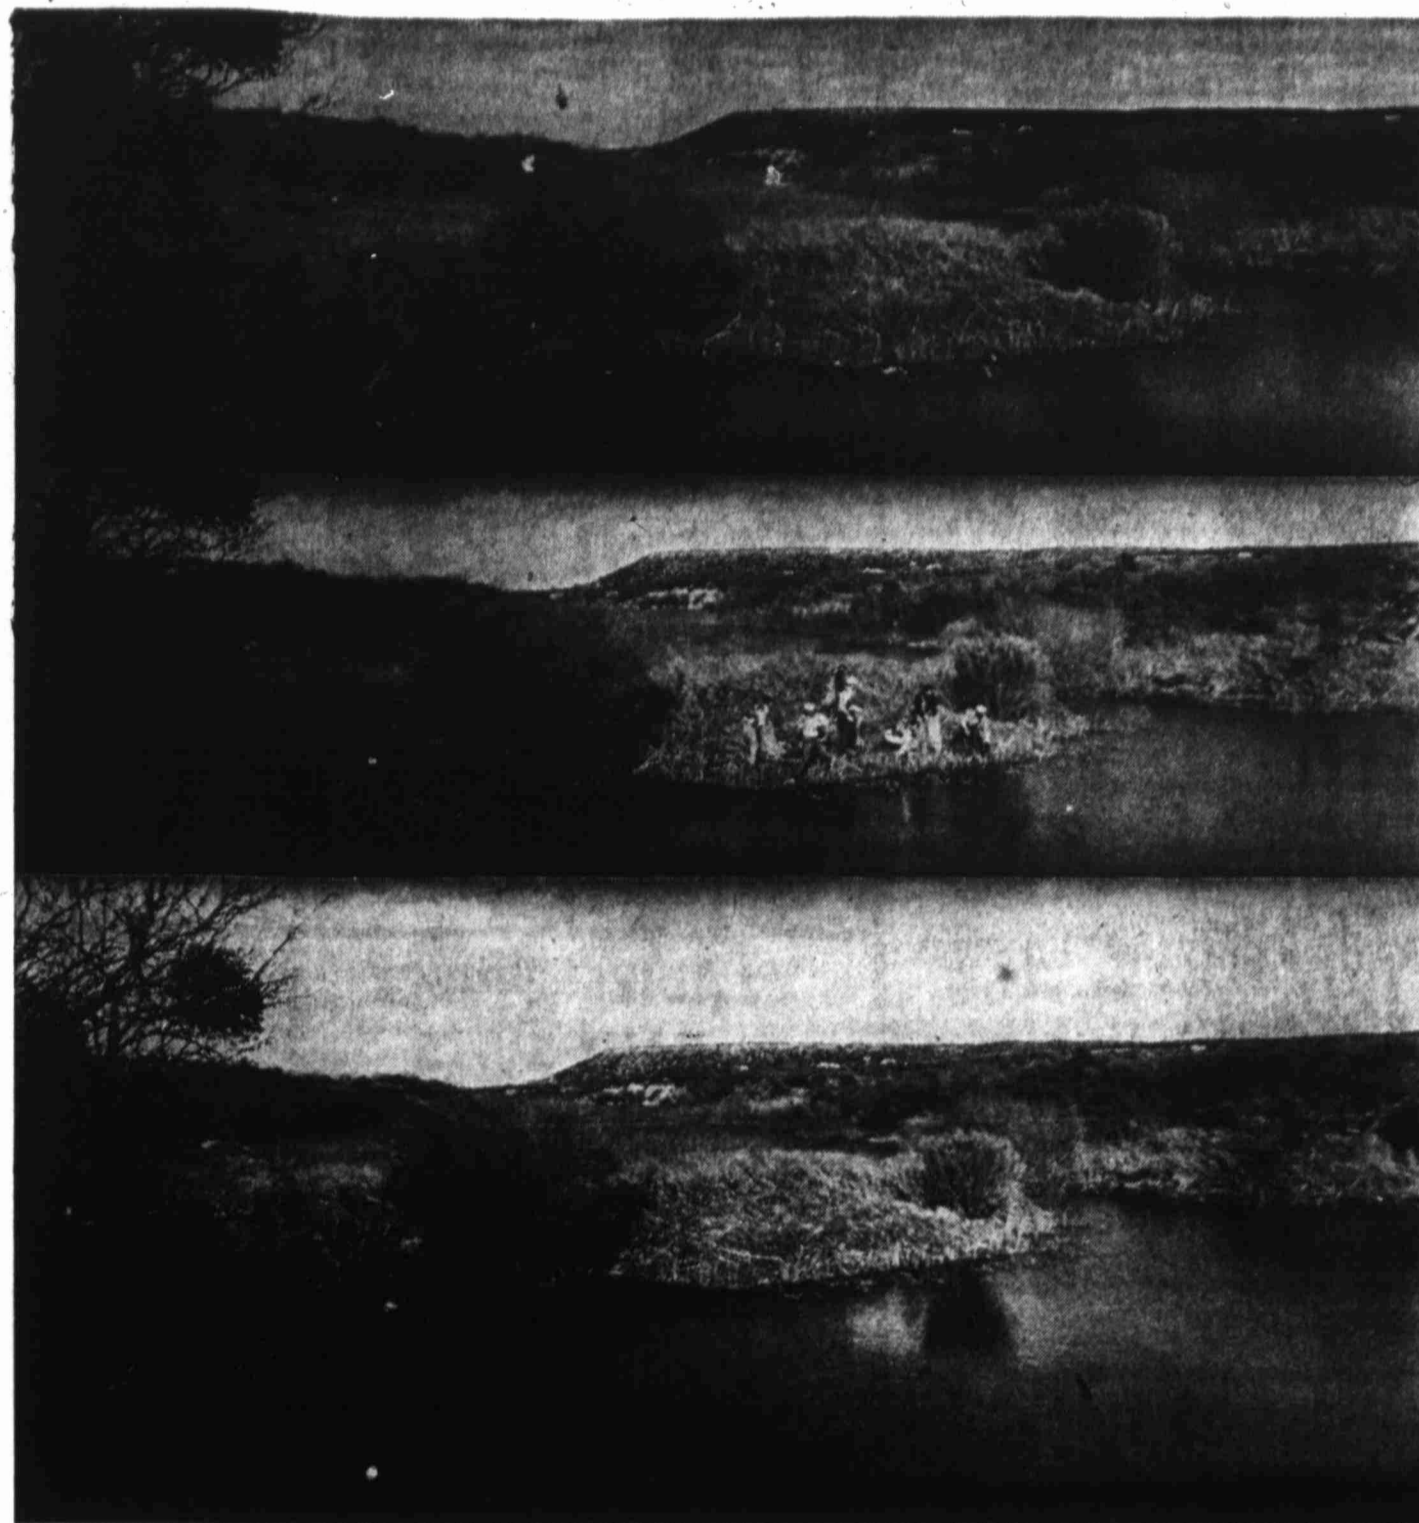

He said Connally would have to switch soon, however, and same and he couldn't stop Nixon.

Jerry Jackson of Dyersburg, Tenn., said he didn't feel loyalty to Agnew or anyone else for 1976 and "if Connally is going to change parties and get in the running" he'd better make up his mind soon.

"Turncoats have a hard time in either party," said Kitty Moon of Connally. She is a YR from Washington, D.C., who works for and supports Brock for the presidency.

Joseph Forstadt, chairman of the New York YR, said he'd welcome Connally into the party but thought it was premature for him to aim for the presidency.

He said Rockefeller is clearly a superior choice: "He's clearly way ahead in capacity, ability and experience to do the job." He said he also has more social conscience than Connally.

Costs Going Up, Liquor Going Down

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — Finns are boozing it up with gusto this weekend to beat the deadline on a massive hike in the price of spirits.

The increases, which will run as high as 30 per cent in some cases, go into effect Sunday.

But the Finns, who like their liquor hard and straight, don't see much humor in the government's choice of April Fools Day for the hike. They do thank their lucky stars that Friday was payday. This resulted in jammed bars and full restabbits.

The price increase reflects the government's efforts to control alcoholism, considered one of the chief social problems of this small Nordic country straddling the Arctic Circle.

In a population of 4.6 million, there are 40,000 registered alcoholics and the Institute of Alcohol Studies estimates that at least 200,000 people drink enough to create an absenteeism problem for the national economy.

Prices of spirits here are already among the highest in Europe, with a bottle of domestic vodka costing $4.65 now, and $5.40 after the price hikes take effect. Imported whisky costs over $10 a bottle. The prices apply to .75 liter bottles, or about a fifth.

Vodka is Finland's most popular alcoholic drink and is served either cold and straight or on the rocks mixed with fruit juice.

Production of vodka is in the hands of the government's alcohol monopoly, an organization which would rather reduce than increase its production. It also controls the import and marketing of spirits from abroad, and sets prices for alcoholic beverages.

Thieu To Be Reassured

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon is ready to offer assurances of moral and economic support to South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu in their two days of summit talks beginning Monday.

Sources who reported this Saturday said the basic question is whether Nixon is prepared to give Thieu a specific guarantee of U.S. military intervention to thwart any major cease-fire violations by North Vietnam.

They said Nixon is expected to stick close to his previous declarations that the United States expects full Communist compliance with the cease-fire agreement, and probably repeat his warning that Hanoi's leaders "should have no doubt as to the consequences if they fail to comply."

When Thieu left Saigon Saturday, he said he will seek in his meetings to "consolidate this peace... to make it a real and lasting peace."

He said he also would "express our grateful thanks to the government and people of the United States for its decade of military involvement in Vietnam."

One of Thieu's top aides, Pham Duong Hien, already is in the United States as an advance man and has told newsmen that "we want some kind of guarantee that the United States would not permit" North Vietnam to break the agreement with a blatant invasion.

Nixon's spokesmen won't publicly predict how far the President is ready to go in giving Thieu the assurances he seeks. But officials say they expect Nixon to restate U.S. backing for the Saigon government in the post-peace period.

The President is asking Congress for upwards of $2 billion for economic support of South Vietnam. It is doubtful, sources said, that he would revise that figure upward.

Thieu is to arrive at Los Angeles International Airport late Sunday afternoon and, after spending the night at a Los Angeles hotel, helicopter to the Western White House at mid-morning Monday to begin his talks with Nixon.

Nixon will host a black-tie dinner Monday night at his oceanside home. Then, after more talks Tuesday, Thieu will reciprocate by hosting a pool-side luncheon at Nixon's home before the leaders issue a joint communique and Thieu departs for Washington.

While Nixon remains in California, Thieu will meet in the capital with members of Congress and administration officials. Before leaving the United States Friday for other stops in his five-nation tour, he will visit Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson at the LBJ ranch in Texas.

Cease-Fire In Vietnam Is Threatened Anew

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong charged the U.S. and Saigon government Saturday with a wide range of peace agreement violations which, they claim, threaten a complete breakdown of the two-month-old cease-fire.

But South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu, who flew off to the United States for a summit meeting with President Nixon, spoke on departure of "establishing a new era of peace."

Thieu, who goes on from the United States to Italy, Britain, South Korea and Taiwan, reportedly will seek pledges for billions of dollars of American aid to shore up his regime.

His chief military spokesman, meanwhile, warned again that government forces would take retaliatory action unless the Communists lifted their month-long siege of a South Vietnamese ranger camp at Tong Le Chan, 50 miles north of Saigon.

"We shall not let an entire ranger battalion be sacrificed," said Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien.

He reported government planes were bombing Communist troops in the area.

North Vietnam's Maj. Gen. Le Quang Hoa, head of its country's delegation to the four-party Joint Military Commission, flew home Saturday, charging the United States and South Vietnam with "acts of violation and brazen sabotage" of the Jan. 27 Paris peace agreement.

U.S. and North Vietnamese participation in the peace-keeping body ended Thursday. It now is made up only of South Vietnamese and Viet Cong representatives.

"The Saigon administration, encouraged by the United States, has deliberately refused to observe the cease-fire," claimed Hoa. "It continues to carry out armed clashes, creating an extremely tense and serious situation in South Vietnam."

Hoa reiterated a charge that the United States is keeping troops in Vietnam disguised as civilians. Col. Vo Dong Giang, deputy chief of the Viet Cong delegation to the Joint Military Commission put the number at 17,000.

U.S. State Department spokesman Charles W. Bray denied the charge, saying the total American presence in South Vietnam is about 8,500.

"There are no U.S. military advisers being left behind in the guise of civilians," Secretary of Defense Elliot Richardson said in San Antonio, Tex.

At a news conference, Giang denied charges by returned U.S. prisoners of war that they had been tortured.

"All the records of the returned U.S. personnel say the same thing — the return has been completed well, general health good, fine treatment," said Giang.

Legislative Committees Face Crowded Docket

By The Associated Press

Legislative committees scheduled long lists of bills for hearings next week, with one important Senate panel announcing it would begin meeting twice a week instead of once "because of an extremely crowded docket."

Sen. Charles Herring, D-Austin, said the Senate Jurisprudence Committee would start meeting Thursdays as well as Tuesdays because it has "some 200 bills pending."

At its meeting Tuesday the committee will consider House Speaker Price Daniel Jr.'s bill banning "legislative bribery," the promise of help in passing legislation in return for votes for speaker.

Also on the agenda will be a measure by Sen. Don Adams, D-Jasper, requiring a driver to submit to chemical tests if he is suspected of driving while intoxicated. Refusal would mean automatic license suspension.

Four campaign financing bills top the Monday list for the House Elections Committee. Two, by committee Chairman

Ed Harris, D-Galveston, and Rep. Lane Denton, D-Waco, would provide state funding for a statewide television program for major statewide candidates and for a "voter's information pamphlet" with pictures and statements of candidates for all state offices.

The other two, one by Harris and the other by Rep. Joe Penney, D-Houston, would limit the amount an officeholder could spend on advertising and the amount a person could contribute to a candidate or spend on his own race.

The House Education Committee will meet Wednesday on three bills by Chairman Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale, relating to methods of school financing.

Dolph Briscoe Confidently Looks Ahead

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe is breathing easier these days.

For the first time in many months it appears Texas may not have to have a special session of the legislature — and Briscoe can live up to his campaign promise of no new taxes.

But that doesn't mean Briscoe has smooth sailing ahead with the 63rd Legislature, which has done a good job so far of avoiding most of his recommendations.

Pressure for a special session first eased a couple of weeks ago when the U.S. Supreme Court ruled, 5-4, that Texas' method of financing public schools at the local level with property taxes could stand. The court said changes were needed to correct the property tax inequities between rich and poor school districts but it was up to the legislature and the people to make them, not the U.S. Supreme Court.

NO CALL DUE
The ruling meant the legislature apparently would not be called into special session to raise extra untold millions for school financing, which would have been the result if the court decision had gone the other way. Now a lot of legislators do not expect any definitive action until the 1975 Legislature. Until then there will be mostly study committees.

Then the past week Briscoe made a do-or-die trip to Washington to complain about bureaucratic regulations that Briscoe said would cut off about 100,000 non-welfare recipients from needed social welfare services. To the surprise of many, the feds told Briscoe that the April 1 deadline was being scrubbed and "new regulations would be studied and redrafted because of the legitimate objections that Texas and other states have made."

In addition, Briscoe said the Department of Health, Education and Welfare indicated it would erase a prohibition against use of private funds for matching federal welfare money. Instead of all state money, this would save the state about $23 million a year or $56 million for the state's next two-year fiscal period, Briscoe said.

The success of Briscoe's trip not only added to his stature in Washington and Texas but also eased even more the pressures for a special session and possible new taxes. There are still serious public welfare financing problems to be worked out but Briscoe is in better shape now than he has been since he entered office.

In the legislature ahead, Briscoe still has serious problems.

NEED STRESSED
Briscoe devoted much of his gubernatorial campaign platform to the need for more budgetary control of state agencies by the governor. He stressed the need again in his economic address to the legislature. So far the legislature has turned a deaf ear. In fact, the House Appropriations Committee has taken a couple good licks at requested spending for pet governmental agencies.

"We are on an economy kick," said Rep. Neil Caldwell, D-Alvin, chairman of the powerful spending committee. "We are taking him at his word (about a no-new taxes budget). While off in the bushes a still small voice was heard to say 'What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander.'"

Another big Briscoe drive has been behind his drug reform bill which would make first offense possession of marijuana a misdemeanor but punishable by up to six months in county jail. The present laws calls for two years to life.

A test on the Briscoe drug reform bill comes Tuesday night in a hearing before the House Criminal Jurisprudence Committee.

What happens to that bill may affect much of the Briscoe legislative program. "It's a badge of honor," said one of the participants.

IN FAR WEST TEXAS Spring Vegetables Making Good Growth

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Land preparation and spring planting in the state increased last week but wet fields caused delays in some counties. Dr. John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said.

Planting of cotton, corn and grain sorghum was active in South, Southwest and Southeast Texas with corn and grain sorghum planting also gaining momentum in central and Blackland counties, Hutchison said. Some corn planting got underway in the Panhandle.

Farmers on the South and Rolling Plains were ending the 1972 cotton crop harvest, latest in recent history.

Harvesting of citrus was active in the Rio Grande Valley with trees in full bloom, he said.

Hutchison said small grains and pasture grasses made good growth, providing more abundant grazing for livestock. A good wheat crop is expected in the plains.

District agricultural agents made these reports:

South Plains: Onion and potato planting are underway. Small grains are making excellent growth. Wheat is beginning to joint and good yields are in prospect.

Rolling Plains: Small grains are making good growth with wheat in the jointing and booting stages. Some nitrogen top-dressing is being applied. Alfalfa is making good growth. Weevils are causing some damage.

Rolling Plains: Small grains are making good growth with wheat in the jointing and booting stages. Some nitrogen top-dressing is being applied. Alfalfa is making good growth. Weevils are causing some damage.

Far West: Spring vegetables are making good growth. Alfalfa is progressing well. Livestock are in good shape with some supplemental feeding continuing. Most counties have an excellent lamb and calf crop.

West Central: Home gardening is active. Small grains are providing good grazing. Pastures are generally average to above average. Lambing is active. The lamb crop is less than expected due to the hard winter. Livestock conditions are good across the area with some spraying underway for lice and ticks.

Southwest: Planting of corn and grain sorghum is rapidly moving toward completion. About half of the peanut acreage has been planted in Frio and Atascosa counties. Spring and summer vegetables look good. Small grains are providing excellent grazing, pasture and range conditions are improving. Some livestock feeding continues.

South: Cotton and grain sorghum planting are nearing completion in most counties except in the Rio Grande Valley, where about 60 per cent of the acreage has been seeded. Citrus trees are in full bloom. Carrots and cabbage are still being harvested in fair volume. The lettuce harvest is about complete. Watermelons are beginning to run. Calving is active. Lice and hornflies are heavy in cattle.

Girl Scouts' Goal $5,000

Progress on the Girl Scout Sustaining Membership Drive was evaluated today by several of the key workers. The goal of $5,000 looked promising as chairmen reported on the cards being worked. An all-out effort is being made to wrap up the general drive by the first of this week. The special gifts division will be worked after the general drive is completed.

Lanny Hamby is the local chairman of the campaign.

The sustaining membership drive has become necessary in Girl Scouting communities to help meet the growing needs of the program. Money realized from the drive are used in the area's general operating budget used for program services and management.

Training, special events, community projects, aids for leaders, committee and board meetings and visual aids are just a few of the areas of program services. The expenses of operating offices and of executive direction are under management.

The money from the recent cookie sale is used differently, as none of it goes into the operating budget. The local troops kept over 15 per cent of the profit; the remaining amount went into maintenance and improvements at Camp Boothe Oaks. Troops may use the site south of Sweetwater on a year-round basis at no cost. Twenty-five girls in this area earned partial and full scholarships to summer camp through their efforts in the sale.

KISS? (Q.) I want to kiss Linda. She comes over with her parents and sister. Her parents and mine are great friends. But I am afraid if I kiss her, her sister will see us and tell, and then we would be in trouble.—Honda Kid in New Mexico.

(A.) I do not know how old Linda is, and I do not know how old you are. You may be old enough to ride a motorcycle. Or you may just have motorcycles — and Linda — on your mind.

Instead of trying a shortcut, why don't you go the longer, honest way with Linda? Call her on the telephone. Visit her at home. Take her to parties. Be her boy friend, instead of just a boy who wants to kiss her.

Somewhere along the line, in the regular way, you will get opportunities to kiss her without being condemned for it.

COMPETITOR? (Q.) I met this guy when he was down here visiting. We write to each other.

(A.) I found out another girl he met while he was here wrote him. How do I find out if he's writing her? I am afraid if I ask him it will make him mad. — Going Down for the Last Time in Louisiana.

(A.) Take it easy. Unless there is much more to it than you tell me, your friend is completely free to write another girl if he chooses to.

Do not ask him about her. Do not ask anyone else about her. Whether they write each other is their business, not yours.

Starting the same time Monday the court will meet again with C. R. Crim, a local engineer, about improvements required for airports served by airlines and for airport security. Discussion of the T-41 Hangar at Howard County Airport is listed, too.

Bids on seal-coating gravel and on a calculator for the tax assessor-collector's office will be considered. Purchasing a new lawn mower and electric adding machines for the Justice of the Peace office, library and county clerk's office will be discussed.

As usual, the court will talk with Marvin Hanson, road administrator, about road department activities and will approve bills.

Edgewood March Slated April 11

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — If all goes according to plans made here this week, the state Capitol will be the focal point of a march by disgruntled residents of the Edgewood school district April 11.

The district spawned the controversial Demetrie Rodriguez school financing suit, which the U.S. Supreme Court turned back last week. The suit sought to overturn the Texas method of public school financing as inequitable.

Rodriguez, a plaintiff in the schools in the financially plagued district.

The People's Lobby for Equal Education, a committee established at the meeting, said a demand for equal educational opportunity will be made during the Austin trip.

The committee said it feels the Supreme Court has given the responsibility to change school financing to the state.

Fumes Kill Woman

HOUSTON (AP) — A Harris County medical examiner said today Elaine Sylvia Gear, 46, found dead in her bed, died of asphyxiation.

Teen Removed To Hospital

Deputy sheriffs carried a 17-year-old man accused of burglary from the county jail Friday afternoon to the Big Spring State Hospital for an examination.

His moaning, screaming and hollering on the fourth floor where the jail is located, could be heard on the third floor.

Leroy Jerome Franks of a local apartment is charged with burglary of the Rendezvous Lounge on the Snyder Highway. A deputy sheriff arrested Franks at 11:45 a.m. Wednesday.

Two others, charged in the burglary, have pleaded guilty and been given five-year probated sentences.

Jimmy Moore, 24, of a local apartment was convicted in 119th District Court earlier Friday afternoon. Moore was accused of being an accessory to the burglary.

Leroy Aldridge Jr., 18, of 904 N. Gregg St. pleaded guilty to the burglary and possession of marijuana Monday.

Judgment Signed By R. W. Caton

District Judge R. W. Caton has signed a $5,000 judgment for the plaintiff in a suit resulting from an alleged pool cue stickbeating on July 19, 1971.

In his original petition, Robert Arista alleged Todd Parrish hit him on the head and body with the cue while they were at the Jersey Lilly on the Snyder Highway.

A reply to the allegation was not seen in the file.

SAYS RED SKELTON

'I'm More Clown Than Comedian'

Capley News Service

Editor's Note: Red Skelton, one of the foremost comedians in the world, was interviewed recently by a board of Capley editors. Questions and answers in the interview follow. Question: What proportion of professional comedians are funny all the time?

ANSWER: Comedy is very serious business to begin with. When you are alone and you are writing jokes or situations — I think you are at your funniest. Being funny all the time — I think they would lock you up. You have to find your balance and I guess the balance in writing comedy would be being serious while you are doing it. I catch myself chuckling and laughing — and think — that ought to be funny and you try it in front of an audience and it falls flat on its face. It's kind of sad, you know.

Q. How much has humor really changed?

A. Oh, basically I think it is the same now. If you read Thackeray, Dickens or even Voltaire — Victor Hugo, what humor they had then — is humor now. The only thing is they changed the words. Like now they talk about "how much bread you are making."

Well, when we were kids it was let's go out and get some lettuce — some dough.

Q. Of the tests expected of humor — what do you think is funniest yourself — what aspects of humor?

A. Well, there are two things — wit is truth and humor is an exaggeration of that truth. All things that happen are funny. You can go to a funeral one day and one of the pallbearers will drop the box. And my God, it is a great tragedy. Two days later you hear, did you know Joe died? — yes, did you hear what happened at the cemetery? No ... they dropped his casket. Oh, gosh ... now, a week later, Oh, did you hear about old Joe? ... Well, they had three of his pallbearers and they didn't even carry him to the finish.

Q. How do you react to the current mood to "sick humor"?

A. I don't. It is one of the saddest propagandas that is going on — and most people are not even aware of it. I'll show you how the propaganda works and how it starts prejudiced feeling among people. You don't say it — but did you hear what Archie Bunker said about the Jews last week ... so here it goes and everybody is now getting his own little vehemence and actually dipping his rusty nail in poison. But he didn't do it — "this is what Archie says."

Q. Will you listen to a Polish joke yourself?

A. Ah, here is a strange thing about the Polish jokes. Originally there was a book that came out in 1921 on Russian humor. And the same jokes you hear now about the Polish people were about the Russians.

The Russians, for propaganda purposes because Poland has made more progress than Russia, have taken the old Russian jokes and revised them to make them against Poland. So it is a great art of propaganda. Q. Do you think you have to use the controversial to reach these kids?

A. No, no — the last election proved that. They said I did not reach the children ... I can walk up the street with you and go by any age group from 2 up to the age of 60 and I will guarantee you within one block ... there will be as many tiny children walk up and say, "Hi, Red Skelton" as the elders.

Q. Do you use the same type of humor to reach everyone?

A. I figure people are people. They will say — that's Charlie, that's the way Charlie acts — not them ... like with Junior the mean little kid I used to do ... everyone says I got a kid that lives next door to me just like that ... Hey, Junior, will you put that down ...

Will you stop that ... You ought to see the kid next door ... You could do a whole show around him. I am doing a show about the kid sitting there. So ... to me that is what humor is ... letting people see for themselves how they walk ... how they talk ... how they act ... the greatest form of humor is basic

Q. Is there less humor in the world today?

A. Oh, no ... There is humor today ... but I tell you they are taking shortcuts to reach it. Young comedians now, they have the greatest opportunity in the world to reach out and get to the public eye. One problem is that they have no place to actually become proficient. Now, I am going to write a letter, in which I am going to suggest to the President that they start not like a Works Progress Administration project but a theater project again ... all over the country and in every town.

Q. Red, you have been introduced as one of America's clowns. Do you consider yourself a clown?

A. Yes, more so than a comedian ... because I am more visual than I am verbal ... A clown, I think, has a little more depth of understanding and more paths than a comedian.

Q. Wasn't that a large part of the Red Skelton show?

A. Oh, yes, mostly — even with the jokes ... it was pantomime ... that is why I called it a verbatim.

Q. Who makes you laugh?

A. People — comedians, all comedians make me laugh. Some I will smile at ... they will do maybe one little thing that will make me laugh. But I like all comedians because I know what they are going through ... when they are saying something, I know — it's not what they thought it was going to be. You die inside actually, inside you turn over ... there is a gnawing there.

Q. What makes you cry, Red?

A. Somebody saying they got a ticket for overparking. Or somebody can say — gee, they missed the porch this morning with the newspaper ... you know when the boy delivers it — I cry at anything. You know, the least little thing — if it has any sentiment at all to it ...

Outlook Bleak For Lamesa's Action Group

LAMESA — A community action council organized here in 1966 has made quite an impact on this city and many people who have been connected with the group and its programs will hate to see it die out along with other agencies of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Their only hope for survival, after the death sentence to OEO by the federal government, will be if they can be financed by Special Revenue Sharing after this year.

Their program, which receives funds from month to month, hopefully is taken care of going under immediately as well as all the Neighborhood Youth Corps in May.

A staff of six headed by Janet Eberhart works at the community action office here.

THREE WORKERS Under general services, they have three outreach workers. One of them is over the division of employment. This person looks up job referrals, working in cooperation with Texas employment and all other available sources and tries to help the needy find work.

One of their most successful divisions has been under senior citizens. They helped with the opening of the senior citizen center and later with the wheels on meals program. Lamesa has one of the most successful senior citizen centers in the area.

Under senior citizens, they also help with medical funds needed. Under social services, they work with medical problems, housing and clothing. They have set up a lumber bank.

A. People — comedians, all comedians make me laugh. Some I will smile at ... they will do maybe one little thing that will make me laugh. ## In Dawson County, Cotton Definitely Is Top Crop

LAMESA — All of the talk around the nation about farmers' early days are long gone and there are only two small ranches left.

In Dawson County, this is not the main interest. Dawson County will either be the first or second county in the nation in cotton production this year.

And their interest is the cotton farmer. Almost every available acre or land in Dawson County goes into cotton.

THEY BELIEVE Naturally these farmers have to have spokesmen. They firmly believe in it. They back their county agent, give grants to the extension service and listen to what they have to say when they come to town to help them.

They have a cotton farmers organization, headed at this time by Eddie Carpenter. Their former president, Donnell Echols went on to become president of the South Plains Cotton Growers Association. And that's an organization that embraces lots of cotton growers. When you speak for them, you speak for lots of cotton farmers.

He then was named to the board of directors by Cotton Inc. This is a national organization and the very first board meeting that Echols attended, he spoke up loud for the cotton farmer. He was concerned about the price of cottonseed. And he said so. And he got their attention.

And who is better qualified than Donnell? If anybody understands cotton production in Dawson County, it could well be Echols.

THIRD GENERATION He is a third generation Dawson County cotton farmer and there have only been three generations of cotton farmers in that county.

Back when the very first cotton farmers drifted into the Lamesa area, among them was R. E. Echols and C. L. Garrett, Donnell's two grandfathers.

His father, Carson Echols farmed the home place near Patricio where, Donnell now farms.

He graduated from high school in Lamesa and attended Texas Tech where he met his wife, Sharla.

They have three daughters, Pepper, 13, Pagie, 10 and Amber, 9.

With women's rights developing, they may end up cotton farmers themselves.

They are very interested in 4-H work and Pepper last week represented the Klondike 4-H Club and first place award in the junior division of the District 2 4-H food show.

The Echols family was named the outstanding family in Dawson County two years ago by the chamber.

They are interested in their family, their community, their farm and cotton. Cotton is their livelihood and Donnell Echols is one of its spokesmen.

Western doctors maintain this is only an illusion. They say the habit is debilitating and that the rich amphetamine content in the plant kills both an appetite for food and sex.

The Yemenis, many of whom have harems of up to four wives, laugh this off. But they do admit that after a session they are so contented they do not feel like doing anything.

Demand for the plant is so high that farmers grow less and less coffee, the main foreign exchange earner of the country.

Often workers may spend a whole day's wages for a single qat session. This would pay for about two pounds of qat branches and leaves — worth about $2.

Cattle Raisers Unhappy With Edict

By The Associated Press
While plans go ahead for a nationwide meat boycott beginning this weekend, livestock producers contend President Nixon's ceiling on meat prices is unfair and won't bring any real benefit to consumers.

Farm organization leaders, some urging tactics to counter the President's move, say price controls will discourage expanded production and eventually may result in higher prices.

Meat processors say the price ceiling will disrupt the industry's regular production pattern, and one said plants may be forced to shut down because of increased costs.

In Des Moines, Oren Lee Staley, president of the National Farmers Organization, said on Friday that Nixon's ceiling on meat prices "was clearly a discrimination against the American farmer."

In Kalamazoo, Mich., the head of the Michigan NFO said the organization has agreed to a 4-1 margin to continue its refusal to sell meat to collection points.

The head of the Iowa Farm Bureau said on Friday that, if livestock producers cannot receive a fair return on their money and effort, "the consumer may have to be satisfied with mush."

In Denver, the head of the National Farmers Union called Nixon's announcement of the price controls "only the latest in a series of actions against the American farmer."

There was some favorable comment on the retail price ceiling. An official of the Ohio Cattlemen's Association, Ed Johnson, said Ohio producers are "feeling pretty good" about the controls.

"They're saying it would have been a whole lot worse if (Nixon) had put the price ceiling at the farm," Johnson said.

Oregon Gov. Tom McCall said he believed Nixon was "moving in the right direction" but said "his decision to put the crunch on the livestock industry is discriminatory." It makes just one segment of the economy appear to be the culprit.

Among meat packers reacting to the price ceiling was the Armour Co., which issued in Phoenix, Ariz., a statement saying there might be plant shutdowns unless on-the-hoof meat prices also were controlled.

Housewives and consumer were going ahead with plans for a national meat boycott starting Sunday.

LEADERSHIP LACKING Neither Black Nor White

By VERNON E. BROWN
Copy News Service

Our free society is in grave jeopardy. In Black America I'm seeing more and more hatred, more violence, more frustration and more hate-motives. In white America, I'm beginning to see the same frustration and an increasing number of white hate-motives. The brown man, the Chicano, also has grave problems. The Red Man, the Indian who waited all these years for civil rights, is still paying the price for Gen. George A. Custer's last stand. The tranquility of America today is that Japan, a country that just a few years ago was occupied by American forces, fed by American food, and protected by American tax dollars, is now a country that America must humble itself before — to protect the sagging, sick American dollar. The same thing is true of Germany. One thing Black and white America have in common today is that we no longer have leaders, we no longer have a free society, we no longer are protected by the Bill of Rights. The Constitution no longer is a sacred instrument for the preservation of our great country. It seems obvious to me that Washington today holds a great assortment of narrow-minded, small-thinking anti-Americans and pro-world idiots. I predict that within the next three to five years (if we survive that long) we will have to join the European Common Market for our protection. Black America is in such a hurry to be white — and white America is in such a hurry to be something else — that as each race stands neither of us at this point has much to be proud of. The federal government is too big, the Army is too strong, the police department is too massive. We're no longer Americans led by the majority that was committed to protect the minority. We have forgotten about brotherhood and kindness to our fellowman. We disallowed the Bible and religion in schools. But we tolerate narcotics, and we allow abortions. Must we destroy ourselves so that we might learn a lesson? Or must someone destroy us, so that others won't forget the lesson?

Sounds Enable Blind Persons 'To See' Money

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Scientists here make money talk and the resulting sounds can enable blind persons "to see" the difference between a $1 and a $5 bill. A device which accomplishes this has been demonstrated by Southwest Research Institute, where it was developed under a government contract. The scientists say they have used space technology in producing an audible tone pattern when a pen-sized light is swept across the back of a bill. The back of bills was chosen for the pattern-testing since the designs of different denominations vary widely, while designs on front of bills feature a portrait in exactly the same spot, researchers said. A light-sensitive phototransistor measures the changes in light reflection as the pattern changes. These signals are converted to sounds. The result is a unique, easily distinguishable sound pattern for each denomination. It is an electronic whistle with its tone rising, falling and breaking in response to the engraved image on the bill. Blind or nearly blind persons often run cigar stands in public buildings, such as county courthouses. A sense of feel may usually tell them when a bill is counterfeit, but faith alone is used in accepting bills of different denominations. The developers at Southwest Research estimate the device can be mass produced and that a blind person can quickly learn to make the distinctions.

Charges Levelled At POWs By Actress Jane Fonda

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Academy Award winning actress Jane Fonda calls American returning prisoners of war who stated they were tortured in North Vietnamese prison camps "hypocrites and liars." "History will judge them severely," the veteran antiwar demonstrator said in an interview. "The condition of the returning prisoners should speak for itself to prove the men have not been tortured," she stated. "I think that one of the only ways that we are going to redeem ourselves as a country for what we have done there is not to hail the pilots as heroes, because they are hypocrites and liars," she declared. As to the charge that antiwar demonstrators such as herself who visited Hanoi created additional hardship for the prisoners, Miss Fonda said: "They said... the antiwar people who came to North Vietnam prolonged the war, and they also implied they were forced into seeing us. Well, that's laughable."

Profiteering Charge Is Levelled At Shell Oil

DALLAS (AP) — A large trucking firm has accused Shell Oil Co. in a lawsuit of possibly profiting from other major oil suppliers to profit from a national energy crisis. The federal suit filed Friday alleges Shell has implemented "a concerted plan, scheme and device to evade 1 per cent per year cost stabilization which may include illegal swapping or exchange of markets with certain other oil companies." Hunsaker Truck Leasing Co., Inc., of Dallas filed the suit. The firm provides trucks to large industrial and commercial users. Hunsaker said it bought all its fuel from Shell for six years. The latest contract guaranteed 75,000 gallons of gasoline a month at 11 cents per gallon. The suit charged Shell officials said in writing several weeks ago they intended to continue selling gasoline to the trucking firm and "requested Hunsaker expand its order." Shell then orally told Hunsaker last Wednesday, three days before the contract expired, that it would no longer sell gasoline to the firm, the suit said. "We believe Shell has worked together with other oil companies to make capital off energy crisis publicity," Robert B. Hunsaker, owner of the trucking firm, said in an interview. "People think the gasoline supply is scarce but we suspect they (oil companies) are using that as an excuse to take supplies from industrial users and transfer them to other retail markets where they can demand higher prices and bigger profits," he said. Shell officials were not immediately available for comment. U.S. District Judge Eldon Mahon issued a temporary restraining order Friday, requiring Shell to sell gasoline to Hunsaker for 10 days. Mahon did not set a trial date. Hunsaker said no reason was

Mills Urges Nixon To Impose Freeze

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills says a major goal of tax reform should be to induce persons now holding on to investments that have gained value to release them and provide venture capital for new productive enterprises. Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, also called on President Nixon to reimpose immediately a general freeze on prices and wages, broader than the meat price ceiling Nixon ordered Thursday. In an interview with The Associated Press, Mills said he will push for House passage of a tax reform bill this year, but would be willing to interrupt consideration of it long enough to put through a trade bill before international negotiations begin in September. He indicated he is in general agreement with Nixon on trade legislation, but does not think the nation's international trade and monetary problems are near resolution.

only been reduced about $5 billion. Now, state and local taxes have gone up far more than this $5 billion. So the taxpayer on the whole is paying more. I think it's a combination of all the taxes... placing on the American people what they consider to be too heavy a burden. Yet it should be borne in mind that our tax structure, all our taxes combined, is less here than in some of the other industrialized countries.

TEL AVIV (AP) — Army sappers dismantled a bomb uncovered inside a bus today in the Jordanian west bank town of Nablus, the military command said. No damage or injuries were reported. Police in the industrial town of Hadera, north of Tel Aviv, released 40 Arabs after questioning about a bomb explosion Friday in the town's bus station. Four persons were slightly injured in the blast.

WHAT IS YOUR PAIN QUOTIENT?

Pain, your body's signal to you that something is wrong is not tolerated equally by the sexes. It is far more painful for women than for men. Also more painful for the young and for orientals than for the blacks and whites. A recent experiment in pain tolerance found that sex was the most important factor in determining how well a person can stand pain. Even the oldest men withstood pain better than the youngest women.

Fortunately, pain relief can be equally appreciated by everyone and in our prescription department we regularly stock thousands of medicines whose sole purpose is to alleviate pain.

Average Fireman Puts In Up To 63 Hours Weekly

By ANN STEVENS
What in blazes does a fireman do when he's not out fighting fires?

He does a lot more than people think. At least that's what 42-year fireman H. V. Crocker and 36-year veteran A. D. Meador said when the question was put to them.

Crocker who retired as Big Spring fire chief in May 1971 after serving in that position 28 years said the 47 city firemen put in an average of 60-63 hours work a week.

HAVE TO STUDY

When a fireman is not "out fighting fires" he can often be found studying for the regular examinations which the men are given, Meador said.

"They have to know every street in town and where every fire hydrant is," Crocker said, and Meador pointed out that there are over 500 hydrants in the city.

The three fire captains also give men tests on proper methods of fire-fighting.

Crocker said firemen spend about one-third or more of their time living at the fire stations. Each man works a 24-hour shift at a time. Beds and cooking facilities are set up at the fire stations so the men can feel at home.

SOME DOMINOS

After working straight from 6 p.m. one day to 6 p.m. the next a fireman is allowed to spend 48 hours at home. Then the work cycle is repeated so that some weeks a man may work 72 hours and other weeks 48 averaging out to 60 a week.

Fostel Named Club Prexy

The West Texas Brittany Club elected a new slate of officers and laid plans for the club's future at its reorganizational meeting here recently.

The club is recognized by The American Brittany Club as the official regional Brittany Spaniel club. Its membership area covers all of West Texas with the exception of the Panhandle area and its members are concentrated in Abilene, Lubbock, San Angelo, Big Spring, Midland and Odessa, with other members scattered throughout the area. Two AKC licensed field trials for championship points are held in the fall and spring of each year.

New officers elected are President, Mike Fostel of Kermit; Vice President, Travis Lane of San Angelo and Secretary-Treasurer Tony Fisher of Odessa.

Future plans include more frequent meetings and "fun trials". A fun trial is a bird dog field trial in which no championship points are awarded. No strict rules are imposed, and veteran bird dog trainers assist the less experienced owners in training their dogs.

At its meeting scheduled for April 8, the West Texas Brittany Club will host a fun trial for purebred Brittanies to acquaint new members and prospective members with field trials. Stakes will include puppy (6 to 15 months of age), derby (6 to 24 months of age), all-age (over 6 months of age) and gun dog (over 6 months of age). The meeting and trial will begin at 9 a.m. April 8 on the U.S. Corps of Engineers property adjoining San Angelo Reservoir (also known as North Concho Lake) at San Angelo.

Club officials stress that the trial will be informal and aimed to benefit the inexperienced handler. An entry fee of $3 per dog will be charged for each stake entered.

Those interested in attending the trial may obtain further information and maps by contacting any of the club officers. Future fun trials are planned for other cities in the membership area.

VANDALISM

Lee Freeze, 2721 Cindy, reported vandalism to his pick-up Thursday night. Pick-up had been egged, gas tank was gone and gasoline had been siphoned.

Keith Swin, 607 Highland, reported Friday afternoon that his car had been egged and air had been let out of tires.

Mrs. Melba Carter, 2004 State St., reported Friday night that gasoline had been taken from her car.

Janie Mendez, 1406 State Park, reported eggs thrown on the back of the house at 11:18 p.m. Friday.

Jack Boyd at pool hall at 905 1/2 Johnson, reported at 8:05 a.m. Saturday that windows at the location had been broken out. Damage was estimated at $400.

A. D. MEADOR

Meador said there is some of us and not really have a fire than to have a real bad fire," he said.

Most of the phony fire calls are from small children, he said, who do it for a "thrill" without realizing what it involves.

Men and trucks must be sent out to every call. Most firemen are relieved however rather than irritated by a false alarm, the two veteran firemen said.

The number of trucks sent to a fire depends on the type fire the caller specifies. One truck is sent to a grass fire and two are sent to a house fire or other large blaze.

The local department has a total of seven fire trucks; two boosters which carry a total of 750 gallons of water apiece, two 1,000-gallon pumpers and three trucks must be hooked up with fire hydrants.

GRASS, TRASH Meador said the most common fires are grass and trash blazes. He cited summer as the worst season of the year and the weekend as the worst time of the week.

"I guess the reason there seems to be more fires on the weekend," Meador said, "is that more people are at home cleaning up and burning trash." Oil fires and other difficult blaze-battling missions are put out by use of a pressurized dry chaser. Although it is against the law, about 15 or 20 false alarms are called in per year oxygen supply needed to fuel a fire.

SMALL CHILDREN "In the olden days we didn't have anything to kill a butane false you've still got to go fire. This dry powder is the only thing that can put it out," We'd rather have someone call Crocker remarked.

NCO Charged; Smugglers Get Jolting News

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP) — An Army sergeant accused of stealing $365,000 and seven men charged with plotting to smuggle munitions to a foreign country were among those indicted by a federal grand jury here Friday.

Also indicted was former Ferriday, La., bank official James Graves, former manager and vice president of the now-defunct Delta Security Bank & Trust Co. The bank closed in January of this year after a shortage of funds was discovered.

Staff Sergeant Bobby Gene Sartain—an 18-year Army veteran—was indicted in the connection with the theft of $365,000 from a Fort Polk, La., finance center. He was arrested March 24 in Los Angeles, Calif., less than 24 hours after he allegedly used his knowledge of the finance center to render burglar alarms inoperative, open a large vault and the safes within and make off with the money.

Authorities say they were tipped by Sartain's wife that he had committed the burglary. They say he gave her $50,000 of the money and told her he would see her in a couple of years.

The jury returned indictments against Texas banker-rancher Richmond Harper of Eagle Pass, and six other men in connection with an alleged plot to smuggle munitions out of the country.

Almost seven tons of plastic explosives and detonators were seized at a Shreveport, La., airport July 1, 1972. Although the eventual destination of the explosives has not been determined, Friday's indictments said the plan was to ship the material to Mexico. Shortly after the arrests, a federal agent said he had no reason to believe the shipment was destined for any point other than Cuba.

Friday's indictment clarified original indictments against the seven alleged plotters under the Mutual Security Act of 1954, which makes it illegal to export materials of war without State Department approval.

Also included in federal papers are the allegations that the seven discussed the sale of between 3,000 and 5,000 M-1 rifles, 300 Thompson submachine guns and 1,500 m-16 rifles with 500 rounds of ammunition each.

PROBLEMS BESET HEAD MAN Atmosphere Of Doubt Hurts Scotland Yard

LONDON (AP) — The winds of change are gusting through Scotland Yard, and the world's most famous police force is feeling a draft.

Recruitment is down, crime is up. A communications gap divides police and public, police and police.

The London Metropolitan Police force, headquartered at New Scotland Yard, is 144 years old. It has probably never before faced such an atmosphere of uncertainty, doubt and low morale.

At this critical time, a new man is in charge. Commissioner Rober Mark, bespectacled, his close-cut hair graying at the edges, will have been a year at the top by April 17, a month after his 56th birthday.

MARK TALKS Mark recently told recruits: "You stand between minorities and those who oppress or bully them. You stand between hostile extremes in political or trade disputes, siding with neither but protecting both. You serve NO party or faction but the people themselves and you can invoke the law fearlessly against those who govern as well as those they govern."

Mark's address was hailed as the most rousing ever given to cadets. It was also a good illustration of the troublesome position Scotland Yard finds itself in.

Most hostility is often the major link between police and minorities. Political factions on left and right criticize police operations and many officers complain they are persecuted by a vocal minority of the politically articulate.

Scotland Yard suffers, like many police forces throughout the Western world, from new ideas and attitudes which question the traditional role of a policeman as a disinterested protector of the lawful against the lawless.

Its other major problem is geographical. Situated in one of the world's biggest cities, its men have to cope with every type of crime and social problem in the book.

Mark took over a desk burdened by a heavy pending tray; a disproportionate increase in violent, planned crimes; the emergence of social crimes such as hijack, trade union and

Muskie To Reply For Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic congressional leaders have designated Sen. Edmund S. Muskie to respond to President Nixon's national televised speech.

Muskie aides said the national television and radio networks are being asked to carry the Maine Democrat's speech Monday night live as a news event. Muskie reportedly will deal with the same subjects Nixon did in his Thursday night address—Vietnam and the economy.

Norton Decision Winner Over Ali

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Ken Norton, a relatively unknown "ham-and-egg" fighter, outslugged Muhammad Ali Saturday and upset the former heavyweight champion.

Norton, a 28-year-old ex-Marine whose biggest prior payday was only $8,000, picked up $50,000 and opened the door for million-dollar purses by whipping the "people's champion," the former heavyweight champion of the world.

Immediately after the fight, Ali's manager, Angelo Dundee, said Ali had suffered a broken jaw in the first round, but there was no visual evidence except for slight bleeding from inside the mouth that Ali was badly hurt.

Referee Frank Rustich scored the fight 7-5 for Norton, judge Hal Rickards had Norton ahead 5-4 and judge Fred Hayes favored Ali 6-5. The Associated Press favored Norton 7-4.

There were no knockdowns in the fight that saw Norton pressure Ali throughout.

The partisan crowd of about 12,000 at the San Diego Sports Arena cheered wildly as Norton frequently forced Ali into the corners and banged away with haymakers to the body and head.

Norton, from Jacksonville, Ill., but fighting out of San Diego, entered the bout ranked as high as sixth in the world but was rated a 5-1 underdog to the 31-year-old Ali, who had won 10 fights since his only previous defeat, the heavyweight title match against Joe Frazier two years ago. Norton, at 6-foot-3, stood as tall as Ali but at 210 pounds weighed 11 pounds less than the seemingly sluggish favorite.

He had never gone more than 10 rounds in his 29-1 pro career and appeared to tire in the 11th when Ali's punches seemed to carry more sting and brought blood from the inside of Norton's mouth.

But the underdog came out in the 12th still trying for the knockout over Ali instead of settling for a decision.

Hearing the shrieks of encouragement from the crowd, he took the offensive, backing Ali into the ropes and whaling away with both hands for the sixth time in the fight.

Ali, now 41-2, was guaranteed $20,000 for the fight. He waged a fairly even battle without a damaging blow until Norton connected with a right that dazed Ali 40 seconds into the sixth round.

Norton also dominated the ninth and 10th, although Ali scored at end of the 10th. Ali backpedaled much of the fight but rarely resorted to his circling, dancing motions, using them only in the third, eighth and 11th rounds, which he appeared to win.

The scoring was done under the California five-point maximum system, the winner of a round getting 1-5 points and the loser receiving none.

Norton, ranked eighth by the World Boxing Association, No. 7 by Ring Magazine and No. 6 by the World Boxing Council, made Ali his 13th consecutive victim since his only defeat, a disputed eighth-round knockout by Jose Luis Garcia in 1970.

Bobo, Jarma Lead Ponies

DALLAS (AP) — Quarterbacks Keith Bobo and Don Jarma paced SMU in the first Mustang scrimmage of the season Saturday in the Cotton Bowl.

Bobo, a senior who was the Mustang's No. 1 signal caller last year rushed 11 times for 154 yards and scored twice for the number one unit.

He also completed three passes for 84 yards including a 60-yard score to tight end Oscar Roan.

Jarma, a sophomore redshirt, led the number two and three units to three scores. He rushed nine times for 54 yards and completed three of four passes for 85 yards including a 60-yard bomb to split end Freeman Johns.

"I was real pleased with my first scrimmage," Mustang coach Dave Smith said.

Cougs Trim Ranked UT

HOUSTON (AP) — Dave Vinson bounced a ninth inning single through shortstop to break a 1-1 tie Saturday and give the Houston Cougars a 2-1 Southwest Conference baseball victory over the University of Texas, ranked fourth in the nation.

Houston pitcher John Hatcher, a senior right-hander from Andrews, hurled a nifty two-hitter and struck out seven to even his record at 2-2.

The Longhorns, now 25-4 for the season, took a 1-0 lead in the third inning when Bill Berryhill doubled to rightfield and scored on a bad throw by Mike Bollman.

The Cougars 9-9-1 this season, tied it in the eighth when Vinson singled to center and scored on a balk.

Jim Gideon, who walked two men in the decisive ninth, was the lower.

Texas Christian Batters Baylor

FORT WORTH (AP) — Texas Christian bombed Baylor in both ends of a Southwest Conference baseball doubleheader Saturday 12-2 and 18-2.

In the second game, TCU tied school conference for hits and runs. The Horned Frogs got 21 hits in the nightcap.

TCU is now 20-8 for the season and 4-4 in SWC play. Baylor is 13-13 and 2-6.

TCU winning pitchers Frank Johnston and Ricky Means each hit homers. Johnston smashed a grand slam home in the opener. TCU got 14 hits in the first game.

West Ends East Reign

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The West, with seven players scoring in double figures, snapped the East's four-game winning streak Saturday with a 98-94 triumph in the Coaches' College All-Star basketball game.

The West, which trails in the series 7-4, swept into a 15-point lead at halftime and pushed it to 21 points in the second half, then withstood a closing East rally.

Rich Fuqua of Oral Roberts, who led the winners with 18 points, helped the West into 14-10 lead with seven straight points in the first half.

Fuqua, a 6-foot-4 outside shooter, scored eight of 10 points in one stretch in the second half, lifting the West to a 73-58 margin.

The West balance offset performances of 21 points by Mike Bantom of St. Joseph's Pa., and 19 points by Jim Brewer of Minnesota.

Brewer, normally a defensive specialist, scored all of his points in the second half and grabbed 14 rebounds. He was named the star of stars by sports writers covering the contest.

Allan Hornyak of Ohio State led the East comeback that twice cut the West lead to four points in the closing minutes.

McCamey, Jones Shine In Permian Belle Relays

McCamey scored 93 points to win team honors in the Permian Basin Belle Relays Saturday at Memorial Stadium, but the real story was a slender youngster named Kathy Jones.

Miss Jones who competed in a meet in Stephenville Friday and scored 50 points, equalled that performance here to captured high point honors in the third annual Big Spring Jaycee-sponsored event.

San Angelo Lake View scored 88 points to take runner-up honors, Garden City was third with 62 points and Miss Jones, representing Baird, was fourth in the team standings.

Jones, a junior, won all five events she entered, including the 100-yard dash in a record-tieing 11.5. She took the 60-yard ribbon in 7.3, the triple jump with a 34-9 effort, the long jump with a 17-7 1/2 and the high jump with a 5-0 leap. She had cleared 5-11 at Stephenville, but tired toward the end of her 100-point spree.

Marsha Talley of Garden City, who ran second to Jones in the 100-yard dash, broke her own record in the 220 with a 26.1 clocking. She set the old mark of 26.5 in 1971.

Two other records fell in the one-day action. McCamey which won two relays, turned the mile relay in 4:15.2, smashing the old mark by more than five seconds. Sanderson held the standard of 4:20.5 last year.

Montalvo of Sanderson also got her name in the record books by turning the half-mile in 2:34.3, four-tenths better than the 880-dash mark set by Pam Allen of O'Donnell last year.

Christoval was the winner in the 440-yard relay with a 52.8 clocking.

Waddell of McCamey was the only contestant to win more than one event other than Jones. The McCamey youngster claimed the top honors in the discus with a heave of 92-0, and then came back for a first place finish in the 440-yard dash in 1:04.1.

Steen Homers Twice As Steers Whip Lee

By JACK COWAN

Ricky Steen crashed two home runs and Orlando Olague spread out six hits as the Big Spring Steers rolled past the Midland Lee Rebels, 11-5.

With the victory the Longhorns continue on their way as the surprise of District 5-AAAA, staying near the top with a 3-1 mark to go with their 8-6 season standing. Lee slips to 1-2 and 5-6.

Once again it was the Steers' big bats that made the difference, and Steen's was the biggest. The talented senior, who saw his district batting average sky to .817, unloaded with two clinching shots over the left field wall to spark the win in the late innings.

He was joined in the home run circle by Gilbert Pesina and Fernie Paredes, who made their first varsity appearance. In all the Horns collected 11 hits. Olague upped his personal mark to 3-2, as he struck out six Lee batters while allowing just two walks. Ed McNeil was the loser.

The Steers struck for three runs in the bottom of the first inning. Willie Williams led off with a single, and Jerry Knoepfel and Steen followed with walks. John Morelino bounced back to the pitcher, who forced Williams at home and catcher Larry Van Horn then got Morelino at first to complete the only double play of the game.

But Pesina then stroked his first home run of the season to give the hosts the edge.

It didn't last long, however, as the Rebels scored a pair in the top of the second and added two more in the fourth frame. Little second baseman Rudy Velarde rapped a two-run shot over the left-center field wall to make it 3-2, and the Rebels went ahead in the fourth on three hits, an error and a passed ball.

Chuck Barnett singled to lead off the inning, and then went to third on Randy Ward's ground rule double that bounced over the left field fence. Gary McCright singled to left to score Barnett, and Ward came home when the ball rolled through Paredes' legs.

But Paredes, just up from the junior varsity, got back in the good graces of coach Larry Horton on his next trip to the plate as he homered to bring home Olague and Bruce Felts for a 6-4 margin.

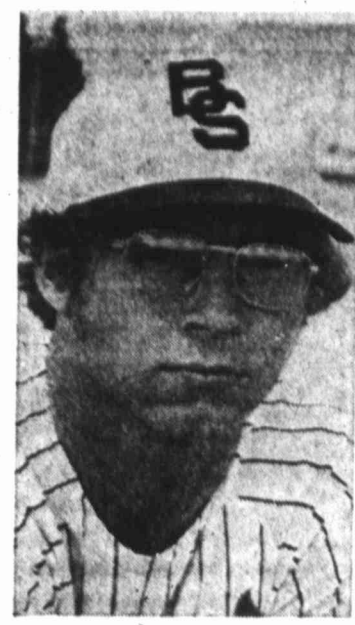

Lee cut it back to 6-5 in the fifth as Jackie Goodgame walked, went to second on an infield single by Bob Lynch, and then scored on a fielder's choice by Barnett.

But then it was time for the actions of shortstop Steen, who had been walked his first two trips to the plate. He plouted a solo homer over the left field fence, and Pesina followed up with a double.

Barry Eanning came in to pinch run, and stole third to set up another run with one out. Mike Treadaway tapped an infield single to send Canning home with an 8-5 advantage.

Felts led off the Steers' sixth with a single, stole second, and after Nate Poss chased him to third with a single, scored on an infield sacrifice by Jerry Knoepfel. But just to make sure, Steen smacked another round tripper to give the Steers' their biggest edge.

Lee put two base runners on their final time at bat, but could never really threaten.

The Toro 440-yard relay quartet also came in for first

For the Goliad eighth graders, Mike Harris highlighted the day with a first place finish in the 660-yard dash, his third straight win. Harris' time was 1:35.5.

Tommy Churchwell also had a good time for the Mavericks, winning the 220 in 25.0 and taking second in the 100-yard dash with an 11.0 clocking.

Lamesa Gets Two Diamonds

LAMESA — The Lamesa Girls Softball Association is proceeding with plans for two lighted softball diamonds for use in the girls program this summer, according to a spokesman for the group.

This will be the first fully concentrated effort in an organized girls summer softball program, with their own facilities, to be utilized by an expected 300 girls during the summer months.

The new park is located at South Sixth and Avenue M. The city has allowed the Girls Softball group to use the field and proceeded on plans for lighting it and construction of concession stands and restrooms. The city will maintain the facility just as it does other baseball and softball diamonds within the community.

Midland Rips SA For Fourth Win

Midland's Bulldogs continued on their mighty way Saturday, routing the winless San Angelo Central Bobcats 10-0 for their fourth Dist. 5-AAAA win without a loss.

The Dogs, 12-5 on the year, smacked 13 hits at the Bobcats, who fell to 0-4 and 3-8 on the year, including a home run and a double by Robert Shaeffer. The game was halted after five innings because of the 10-run rule.

Randy Blanscett lured the win for Midland, while David Richards was tagged with a loss. Blanscett, 5-1, allowed two hits.

Odessa High outslugged Abilene 15-9 and Permian got in the win column with a 9-3 decision over Abilene Cooper in other 5-AAAA action Saturday.

Rick Lender picked up the victory for Odessa, his fourth of the season without a loss, while Mickey Smith suffered the defeat. Odessa stroked 13 hits and Odessa 11.

The Bronchos now stand 3-0 in league play and 11-5 on the season, while Abilene slips to 1-3 and 7-7.

Permian's Panthers, the pre-season favorites but losers of their first three district outings, belted nine hits in smacking the CHS Cougars. Permian is now 10-3 for the year and 1-3 in 5-AAAA competition, while Cooper stands 2-2 and 6-7.

Don Patterson, 5-2, was the winner and Don Lawson, 3-3, suffered the loss.

Razorbacks Develop Running Game During Spring Practice

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The about-face from a passing to a running team was evident here Saturday as the Arkansas Razorbacks conducted their first controlled scrimmage of the spring.

Only 16 passes were attempted in the almost two-hour practice by quarterback Scott Bull, Mark Miller, Mike Kirkland and Brad Sheffield.

Three were completed and four were intercepted.

"The scrimmage was about what we had planned," head

Coach Frank Broyles said, "in that we were going to line up and not pass. Our defensive backs knew that we weren't going to pass.

"We just wanted to get as tough as we could offensively and defensively," Broyles said.

"We made up our minds that we were going to run north and south and just stick to the fundamentals. We've got to learn to crawl before we can walk and run."

The offensive units, which ran exclusively from the wishbone, probably had the best of the practice. They scored six times.

Wayne Miles, Marsh White and Freddie Douglas were the leading ball-carriers. Miles had 101 yards on 18 carries. White had 98 yards in 19 carries and Douglas had 97 yards in 18 carries.

Billy Burns, Benni Westphal, Donnie Prince and David Smith intercepted the four passes.

Burns returned to Kirkland pass 52 yards for a touchdown.

Broyles declined comment on which players he thought had done the best jobs.

Sophomore Shines In A&M's Workout

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Sophomore Skip Walker scored on a 49-yard run and gained 98 yards on 11 carries during a scrimmage here Saturday involving Texas A&M's first offense against the first defense.

Walker's scoring run, plus a 50-yard pass-and-run play from quarterback Don Dean split end Carl Roaches, were the only real threats that the first offense made.

Halfback Bubba Bean gained 27 yards, fullback Alvin Powers 23, and Dean 13 as the offense netted 161 yards rushing. Dean completed seven of 13 passes for 99 yards, but had three intercepted. One of the interceptions by safety Larry Ellis was returned for a touchdown.

Safety James Daniels and linebacker John McCrumby made the other interceptions.

Roaches caught six passes for 101 yards while Powers lost two yards on the other reception.

Coach Emory Bellard said he thought the defensive unit looked better than the offense.

A&M Halts Ponies, 7-5

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Jim Bratsen's two-run double keyed a five-run second-inning as Texas A&M held on to defeat Southern Methodist 7-5 in a Southwest Conference baseball game.

The winning pitcher for the Aggies was Jackie Binks, who had to have relief help from David Lockett and Steve Janda in the seventh inning as SMU chipped away at the A&M lead.

SMU reliever Randy Johnson shut A&M out six and one-third innings on two hits after starter John Galasgow was shelved.

A&M is 14-3 for the season and 4-2 in the SWC race. SMU is 7-8 and 2-5.

Ron Riddlehuber of SMU had a perfect day at the plate, three singles and a double in four times at bat.

Davenport, who had won his last two outings, defeated Gary Piland of Hughes Springs 5-7, 6-2, 6-3 in the semifinals to gain the finals berth.

The Stanton ace will be the top seed in the Dist. 6-AAA tournament in Crane Wednesday and Thursday.

BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By JERRY METCALF

Do you know why the "bulpen" in a baseball park is called a "bulpen"? In the old days, the Bull Durham Tobacco Co. put their advertising signs on the fence in many ball parks around the country and a lot of their signs were located in the area of the park where relief pitchers warmed up. That area began to be called the "bulpen," and it's been that ever since.

SPORT FANS! BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Believe it or not, a complete 9-inning big league baseball game was once played in 51 minutes!

It was a game between the Giants and Phils in 1919.

Here's a baseball record that just doesn't seem possible, but it's true... The entire Chicago White Sox team of 1908 hit only three home runs ALL SEASON!

Just think, there have been times in baseball history when one player hit three home runs in one game — but imagine, here's a whole team that totaled only three homers all year! It's hard to believe, but it happened.

TIGERS GLAD HE DID Martin Comes Back

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Billy Martin returned to the Detroit Tigers as manager Saturday morning after a 24-hour walkout in which he first reportedly had quit.

Martin awoke early and knocked on the motel door of General Manager Jim Campbell at 7 a.m. After a brief meeting, the scrappy former second baseman was back on the job.

"It's just a lost 24 hours," Campbell said. "I don't know what caused the walkout. But, Billy is anxious to get back to work. Things are just as they were 24 hours ago."

Campbell said his session with Martin was "strictly low key. There was no reprimand and definitely no fine."

Martin's problems reportedly centered around moody outfielder Willie Horton over the veteran's inconsistent actions during spring training.

Campbell apparently backed up his skipper on the Horton case. After Martin slapped a fine on the Tiger slugger, the general manager then raised the unannounced amount.

"Billy just had a bad day," Campbell explained. "It was an emotional thing. I think this was an outlet. Just take 24 hours out of our schedule."

Martin was scheduled to conduct business as usual as the Tigers began wrapping up preparations today for the American League opener next week.

Campbell was less ruffled than many in the Detroit organization when Martin bolted Friday, saying that, "Billy is Billy." He continued to say that, "Martin is my manager."

Martin had stalked out of a meeting with Campbell on the Horton issue, saying, "I'm done. Get yourself a new manager."

San Angelo Big Favorite In Dist. 5-4A Track Meet

In what came as something less than a major surprise to most, the San Angelo Central Bobcats have been pegged as the Dist. 5-4AA favorite for Friday's district meet.

The Bobcats, defending league champions, polled 12 first place votes and 89 points in outdistancing runner-up Odessa Permian, which had one first place vote and 78 points.

Abilene was picked to finish third in the meet with 66 points, and Midland Lee picked up 57 points and an expected fourth place ending. Midland High headed up the bottom division with 43 points, while Big Spring was chosen sixth by the pickers with 27 points. Abilene Cooper picked up 23 points and Odessa High 21.

San Angelo, winners in five of the six meets they've entered this year, seems to have only the favorite jinx in its way. In each of the last four years the district favorite has been upset.

The Bobcats more than likely will be sending team members to regional in at least eight events, including both the mile and 440-yard relays. Sprinter Dwight Harris ranks among the best in the state in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes, and the Cats' 440-yard relay unit, with a 42.0 best, is also near the top.

Permian will be looking for the same type upset that the Bobcats pulled a year ago when the Panthers were favored to take the team honors, but instead finished second to the Angeloans, who began their own string of five meet victories.

District coaches and sports writers from the five league cities participated in the voting, with coaches not allowed to vote for their own team. Points were awarded on a basis of 8-7-6-5 etc.

HCJC'S HERBIE LEE Signs With Texas Lutheran

Lee Chooses TLC For Final 2 Years

SEGUIN — In a way, Saturday was Homecoming for Herbie Lee.

Lee, who quarterbacked Howard County Junior College's basketball effort the past two seasons, rejoined his high school coach at Texas Lutheran College here as he signed to play his final two years with the Bulldogs.

Jim Shuler, Lee's high school coach at San Antonio Jefferson, said Saturday. "He'll be back with his high school coach who really knows him and knows what he can do."

"Coach Shuler really has that program on the upswing after just one year. They had their first winning season in umpteen years. I think he'll be real happy there."

Already at TLC are four of Lee's former teammates, three from Jefferson High and Harry Miller, whom he teamed with on the Jayhawks as a freshman.

Lee started all 76 games of his Jayhawk career, and established himself as one of the school's all-time leaders in assists. He had 292 assists — 14 in one game — and averaged 11 points a game in directing the Hawks to a 27-13 season standing.

He made the All-Region V star team after pacing the HCJC cagers to a 12-4 Western Conference standing, good enough for second place, and a third place finish in the regional tournament.

He hit over 40 per cent of his shots from the field and had a .738 mark from the foul line his sophomore season. He also surprised by pulling down 127 rebounds.

"I've enjoyed it here," Lee said of his stay in Big Spring. "Everyone has been real nice, and the crowds here are the best in the conference."

Hawks' Coach Pleased With Spring Workouts

The Howard County Jayhawks completed their second week of spring training Friday, and coach Harold Wilder couldn't be more impressed with his troops.

"Generally speaking, basketball players are made in the spring," Wilder said. "That's where they can change things and work on their problems."

"I'm especially pleased with the workouts we've had so far. You wouldn't think the guys would play too intently, but everyone has approached the practices with a lot of enthusiasm."

The Hawks, 27-13 last year and second in the Western Conference, opened drills after returning from the spring break and will go for five weeks. Each Friday a group of high school players converge on the HCJC gym for tryouts, and the third bunch will be in this week.

The varsity played the tryouts in a scrimmage match Friday, and the Jayhawks prevailed 105-72.

"Everyone has a real positive practice," the coach said. "When they work this hard in the spring it's real encouraging." With four returning starters from last year's 12-4 squad, the Hawks will likely be the WC favorite when play opens next fall.

The Jayhawks have been working on agility and ball-handling drills daily, as well as jumping rope, weight-lifting and free-throw shooting. They also spend time studying video-tape films of past games.

"The last part of practice we work on team drills, and then we have half court four-on-four games and fun things like that," Wilder said.

School boy hopefuls from Lamesa, Abilene High, Abilene Wylie, Midland and Big Spring, as well as a pair of Mississippians and Coahoma's Roland "Snickle" Beal, the first recruit of the year, have attended workouts.

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

Little Herbie Lee just ended a brilliant career as a playmaking fool at Howard County Junior College, and now he's taking his wares to Seguin and Texas Lutheran College.

Herbie, possibly the all-time assist leader at Howard County, had several more impressive offers, but he wanted to rejoin his old high school coach who is rebuilding things at TLC. The other coaches looking for Herb's services hardly had a chance, since the 5-8 ace thinks Jim Shuler, who tutored him at San Antonio Jefferson High, is about the nearest thing since tennis shoes.

Lee turned down offers from eight Lone Star Conference schools, as well as such out of state institutions as East Carolina State, who drooled at his ball-handling abilities, and the University of Richmond, Va. He had several Southwest Conference feelers right out of high school, but since has decided he made the right decision by not attending one of the biggies.

"SMU is the only Southwest Conference school that's good for guards," Herbie said. "All the rest play a slow-type offense, and they just try to set up and get it to a big man inside. I guess that's all right, but that's not the way I like to play." To Herbie, basketball without a fast break is like a hot dog without mustard.

But that was only part of the reason. The prospect of playing a mini-schedule also drove him away from a senior college and toward Big Spring.

If Herbie had attended a four-year school as a freshman he would have played something like a 15-game frosh schedule and then watched from the bench most of his sophomore year as the juniors and seniors worked. And that's just not Herbie.

"I couldn't see doing that. My whole life is basketball, and I love to play it. I like to play it hard," he emphasized. And for 76 games at HCJC — 3,040 playing minutes, most of which he was making use of — Herbie played hard, helping the Jayhawks to 27-9 and 27-13 records and high finishes in the Western Conference races.

He should be just as happy at TLC. Shuler has proven himself as a winner as Herb's coach at HCJC. Harold Wilder, Shuler, just 27, led Jefferson to 13-17, 27-4 and 34-2 finishes during Lee's high school career, and his last season had a 34-3 mark in gaining the state Class AAAA finals.

Last year was his first at Texas Lutheran, and he guided the Bulldogs to a 16-10 mark, the school's first winning basketball season in several years. And Herbie's confident that his ex-future-coach has things well on the upswing.

At TLC he'll be joining four former teammates, including Harry Miller, who graduated from HCJC in 1972, and three ex-mates from his days at Jefferson. It should be a good time for Shuler and his boys.

DOWNTOWN

Ann Sigmon once bowled 15 games in one day, but that's not anything like she'll be shooting at in a couple of weeks.

Mrs. Sigmon and Gregg Shipman of TARs (Teens Aid the Retarded) have planned a bowling marathon at Bobby Lane Bowlarama April 13 ("Friday the 13th, of all days") and the two plan to go until $350 is raised. The money will go to help pay expenses to the Texas Special Olympics in Houston May 17-19.

"I've never done anything like it before," says Mrs. Sigmon, who carries a 155 average, "but it sounds exciting." They got the idea from local radio disc jockey Don Norman, who tried the same thing a month ago in order to raise money for the Big Spring High School Meistersingers. Norman bowled 62 games in about eight hours before blowing out his back.

The marathon will start around 10 a.m., and the TARs are hoping Big Spring folks will either come in at the Bowlarama and donate or call in to the phones they'll be manning.

I thought I'd been through some kind of marathon the past couple of days myself. Perhaps a ten-hour trip in a clothes dryer or something like that. I had no idea I could get out of shape so fast. But I did.

After one softball practice and two basketball games with a bunch of Jaycees in the same sad situation, I can truthfully say... it hurts. It hurts bad. Five minutes into a game with a bunch of ringers who call themselves the Civitans — who, by the way, have gotten their funny-looking mugs in this newspaper for the last time — I was ready to surrender. Give up. Throw in the towel. Et al.

Hopefully this is the road to recovery, however, and after a couple more beatings, I'll never again feel the fire in my lungs after two sprints down the court. Provided, of course, that I keep it up. And as usual, that's the rub. I'd give a good, hard sigh if my ribs weren't so sore.

Volleyball Super Bowl Entertained POWs

DALLAS (AP) — American prisoners of war held a volleyball Super Bowl in the Hanoi Hilton complete with dressed up cheerleaders whose antics sent North Vietnamese guards scurrying to their commanders in dismay.

Col. Samuel R. Johnson told The Associated Press "They let us outside the last six months of our imprisonment and we tried a little basketball. But playing barefooted on concrete kind of tears your feet up."

"So, we formed volleyball teams and had competition of cloth and mops for wigs. The gook commander asked one of them: 'Are you married?' We didn't know whether he meant as a woman or a man. Understanding them is very difficult."

A Southern Methodist graduate, Col. Johnson said the POWs were starved for sports news.

"People shot down late in the war had their brains picked for as much sports news as we could get," he said.

Col. Johnson, 42, of Plano, Tex., who was shot down in 1965, said "The cheerleaders sure did look funny. They used old pieces believe," Col. Johnson said. "The Dallas Cowboys winning the Super Bowl, the Texas Rangers coming to Dallas, and SMU winning the Southwest Conference in 1966 had to rate right up there."

He added "One of the biggest changes I saw when we finally were given a sports magazine last year was the designs on the Indianapolis racing cars. I couldn't believe the big tires and the fins. Holy smokes, that was a surprise and a shock."

The long hair on athletes caused the POWs a double take.

"The North Vietnamese gave us some Russian propaganda magazines and we saw pictures of some of the European track guys with the long locks," Col. Johnson said. "Later, we saw some pictures of ice hockey players with flowing hair."

He said prisoners weren't surprised at hearing of the merger between the two professional football leagues "because we felt that it would come. We were glad to see it happen."

Col. Johnson and another Dallas former POW Capt. Jerry Singleton will toll out the first ball when the Texas Rangers of the American League open the baseball season next week.

"I intend to see as many games as I can," Col. Johnson said. "Now, tell me about football. I hear they've got it on television almost every night."

Told that former SMU and Dallas Cowboy quarterback Don Meredith was a big name on Monday night Professional Football telecasts, Col. Johnson said: "Great Scott. Football on Monday nights? I see I've got some more catching up to do."

THE BRUINS' WIZARD Wooden—A Modest Man

LOS ANGELES — It seemed to be an unlikely place for John Robert Wooden to be talking about the dictionary.

Wooden, 62, has been described by many as the most successful basketball coach in U.S. collegiate history. And his office on the UCLA campus in nearby Westwood would seem to indicate it.

Although it is decorated simply, there is no getting around the fact that there are a lot of trophies, plaques and certificates in Wooden's office.

In one way or another, they tell the story of Wooden's success at UCLA in his 25 years of coaching there.

Seven National Collegiate Athletic Association national championships in a row. The 75-game winning streak. Mementos of memorable victories, including those over arch ival University of Southern California.

And the honors from his coaching peers.

There are pictures, too, of famous Bruin All-Americans during Wooden's reign. Walt Torrance, Willie Naulls, George Stanchik, Gail Goodrich, Lew Alcindor (now known as Kareem Abdul-Jabbar) and the latest one, Bill Walton.

There is even a photo or two to remind him of his two-year coaching stint at Indiana State Teachers College, where his teams won 49 of 63 games before he came West to assume command of UCLA's struggling cage programs.

In the midst of all this, it would seem almost impossible for anyone not to talk basketball with Coach Wooden.

Nevertheless, there was Wooden with his talk about dictionaries.

"You know, I have an off-season project to keep myself busy," Wooden begins, occasionally adjusting his modish-looking glasses.

"For the last two years, I have been doing a project on the dictionary. You know it's such a big book.

"Gracious, it's taking me two years to study all of the words that relate to a group of people."

Wooden, who uses no profanity and admonishes his players when they use it, exhibits an almost scholarly approach to the dictionary.

Then at other times, Wooden gives the impression that the dictionary may have been the greatest forward UCLA has ever seen.

"I started this project by picking out and studying one-syllable words that deal with man's behavior," said Wooden, reaching for a dictionary beside a

"And yet he's a quiet man who lives in Santa Monica with a deep respect for his family and God."

Wooden, who does not entirely agree with that complimentary analysis, confirmed at least a portion of it.

"Without God's help, nothing much can be accomplished. I can be grateful to Him for the blessings during my life and my basketball success," said Wooden, who belongs to the First Christian Church of Santa Monica.

Reserve guard Tommy Curtis, who has been an integral part of this year's Bruins, believes that Wooden is unique among coaches.

"You might think he would be the George Allen of basketball — always talking to the players and trying to keep their mind on the game's strategy," he said.

"Let's see, there is grace, God, peace and pride to name a few. I also looked for two- and three-syllable words.

"Then, I'll start picking out words that start with the same letter to relate to a group of people. For the letter 'c' there are words like contentment, courtesy and cooperation."

Wooden repeats the words slowly, like a teacher trying to drive home a point with a student. For Wooden, it should come easily. He was an English teacher before turning his full attention to coaching.

Soon, it was evident that Wooden, whose Bruins have won more than 560 games against 140 losses during his tenure, did not want to talk about his successes.

A modest man, Wooden said he likes to talk about the two most important things in his life — his family and his religion.

Wooden and his wife, Nell, are the proud grandparents of seven grandchildren. One Wooden intimate notes that "those kids have nothing but John's deepest love."

"It's the kind of thing you rarely see," he went on.

"Here's a successful coach who is sought after by TV reporters, fans, students and other colleagues.

Legislators Are Taking Sides For Drug Reform Law Battle

AUSTIN (AP) — The battle on drug law reform is ready, and the rows of chariot horses on both sides are snorting and pawing the ground, ready to charge into each other this week.

Opponents of Gov. Dolph Briscoe's bill say the fiercest struggle will center around putting a jail term on first offense marijuana possession.

Briscoe aide Roy Coffey says the real fight will be over any reduction in penalty for marijuana possession.

The governor has received a lot of mail supporting the present law, which makes it a two-years-to-life felony, and he feels his bill is compromise enough.

CAN'T WIN

Those who support decriminalization of marijuana know they can't win. They are holding out for making first possession a misdemeanor punishable by a fine only.

Briscoe wants it to carry a jail term up to six months.

A leading opponent of the Briscoe bill in the House says the governor's drug reform package is virtually his entire legislative program and that he is pushing hard for its passage.

Coffey says the more vocal opponents of the governor's bill are themselves single-issue legislators who got elected on platforms that stressed decriminalization of marijuana.

One of those opponents, Rep. Ron Waters, D-Houston, Friday accused Coffey of organizing two "secret" meetings with House members to reach an agreement on the bill that was "railroaded" through a marijuana subcommittee Thursday night.

Neither Waters nor Rep. Sarah Weddington, D-Austin, who are members of that subcommittee, were invited to the meetings, he said.

Coffey said Waters and Ms. Weddington previously indicated they were not interested in talking with him about the governor's bill and he saw no reason to invite them. Besides, he said, the second "secret" meeting was nothing more than a breakfast he had with Rep. Robert Maloney, D-Dallas, and Maloney's wife.

Also at the breakfast was Rep. Tim Von Dohlen, D-Goethe, who is carrying the governor's bill but who is not a legislative program and that he is pushing hard for its passage.

The full House Criminal Jurisprudence Committee meets Tuesday. Both Coffey and Waters predict victory in their battle before that 23-member body.

STRANGE

Decriminalization advocates say a more liberal bill is likely to come out of the Senate, which is strange because the Senate is generally considered to be the more conservative branch of this legislature.

The Senate subcommittee working on drug reform is not expected to have its bill ready this week.

The most publicized decriminalization bill was written by a Senate interim committee headed by former Sen. Don Kennard, D-Fort Worth. The committee worked 18 months on producing a proposed wholesale revision of Texas' drug laws.

The committee's counsel, Griffin Smith, an Austin lawyer, says there was an excellent chance to get decriminalization through this legislature if there had been any leadership for it from even one of the big three: Briscoe, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby or Speaker Price Daniel Jr.

Decriminalization, Smith points out, is not legalization. During prohibition, possession of alcohol was not a crime, he says. Manufacture and sale were outlawed, but possession was decriminalized, he says.

NO PENALTY

Kennard's bill carries no criminal penalty for marijuana possession by anyone over 18. This is a more realistic approach, Smith says, considering a recent estimate by the National Commission on Marijuana and Drug Abuse that 24 million Americans have used marijuana.

This means more than one million Texans probably have used it, Smith says.

Ah, Spring! It's Truly Wonderful Time Of Year

Daffodils and iris are pushing through the ground and the grass on the front lawn blooming in yards around Big Spring.

The sand blows at least once a day and hovers around on the horizon in between bursts.

The crack of bats is heard on the high school baseball diamond and the Little League can't wait to get into the action.

The crab apple trees bloom on the courthouse square for their most beautiful moment during the entire year.

Students are restless and fidget out the windows and fidget more and write more notes.

A high school girl and boy walk to school arm in arm looking blissfully blank.

Junior high boys have to cut across the street because the man across the street has already trimmed his.

Tracksters run in that vicious circle preparing for district meet.

Tennis buffs bat the ball around and enjoy the spring air and golfers get on the course more often, trying to ignore the wind.

That same wind blows trash around more and the chamber decides its time for a cleanup.

The Jaycees scramble around the Big Spring area to give it its annual face-lifting.

All of these are signs of that elusive season called spring in Big Spring.

Judge Can't Cut Jail Sentence

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The attorney general's department said Thursday that a district judge had no authority to reduce a jail sentence assessed by a jury.

The opinion was returned at the request of Angelina County Atty. John Henry Tatum.

Another key feature of Kennard's bill, according to Smith, is a provision for resentencing those who have been convicted of marijuana possession.

Nearly 1,000 marijuana law violators are in the penitentiary at Huntsville, including about 700 for mere possession, Smith says. He estimates there are 30,000 to 40,000 Texans who have marijuana convictions on their record.

These would get the maximum penalties under Briscoe's bill for subsequent convictions, he says.

An amendment that would have put that provision in the bill approved by the House subcommittee was defeated on a 3-3 vote.

Critics of the Briscoe bill cite what they call harsh penalties in sections dealing with more than mere possession of drugs.

For example, a 20-year-old man who gives marijuana to his own brother under 18 would be given a sentence of five years to life. A second conviction on this charge carries a "minimum" term of life.

The same five-to-life for first conviction and "minimum" life for second conviction are set for such violations as planting marijuana seeds and transferring marijuana from a brown paper bag to a plastic bag.

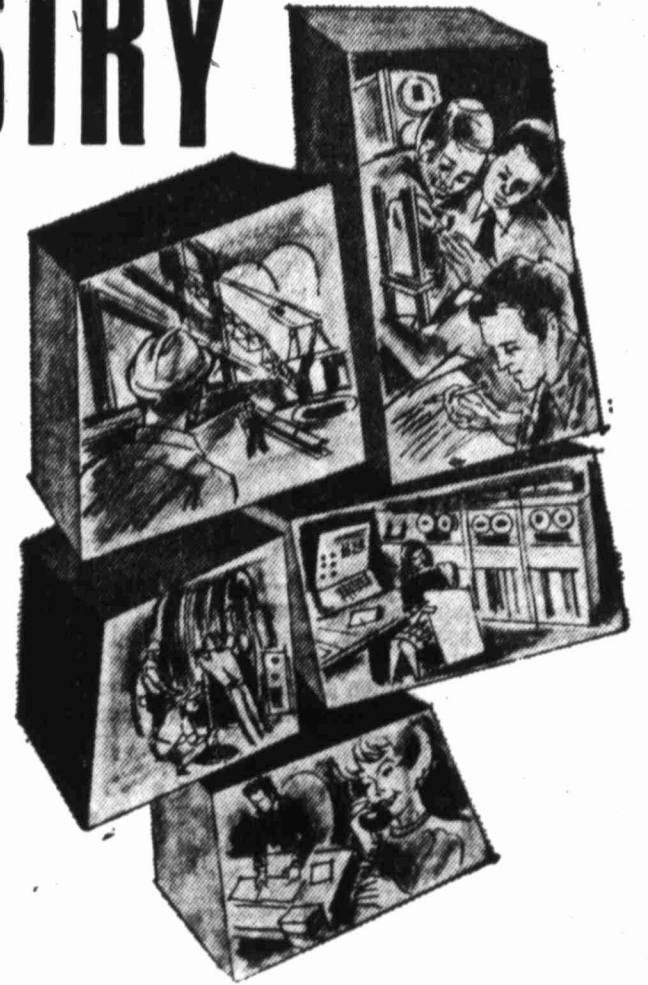

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sunday, April 1, 1973 5-B and will make a good citizen, it for pre-trial time spent in jail between arrest and final conviction and must give credit for time spent in jail awaiting determination of appeal.

Music Course To Be Offered

Using the piano as a basic tool, a course in General Musicianhip will be offered by Howard County Junior College music faculty beginning Monday.

The short course will cover fundamentals of music including sight reading, harmony, ear-training, rhythm, meter, improvisation and musical form.

Instructors for the course will be Mrs. Mary Skalicky, chairwoman of the college music department, and Harlen Thornton. Students will be taught to express themselves musically by creating original melodies, by harmonizing those melodies with different kinds of accompaniment patterns and by improvising in various styles.

Training will be offered in the electro-piano laboratory. The course will last through May 31, and is open to persons of all ages.

Interested persons may register by calling the college at 267-6311 Ext. 32, or by attending the first class meeting to enroll.

Traffic Deaths Up 10 Per Cent

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Traffic deaths are up 10 per cent this year over 1972, the Texas Department of Public Safety said Saturday.

DPS records for this year show a total of 705 traffic deaths, an increase of 64 over 1972 for the same time of the year.

Most of the equipment Farr showed association members can be bought over the counter in several countries, with no questions asked. Most items cost less than $50.

Calm Prevails As SDEC Meets in Fort Worth

FORT WORTH (AP) - The State Democratic Executive Committee meeting here Saturday was rather routine and, for Democrats free of controversy.

Unity seemed to be the theme of the SDEC's first meeting of the year as the 62-member committee heard and adopted reports from subcommittees, most of the time with little discussion.

Reported discontent on the part of some George Wallace supporters and some party liberals over the leadership of SDEC Chairman Calvin Guest of Bryan failed to surface.

There were only three issues that spurred serious debate, and they were procedural matters.

Guest sounded a call for party unity in his opening remarks to the committee, and apparently the liberals, moderates and conservatives on the committee were so inclined.

Guest reminded the committee what disunity had done to the party, he said: "In 1968, Democrats fought among themselves. The fruits of that division was four years of Richard Nixon."

"In 1972, Democrats fought among themselves again, and the result was four more years of a Republican administration in Washington."

He repeated the admonition the late House Speaker Sam Rayburn advanced in 1948: "We are still the majority party. Start acting like it."

"We are the majority party in Texas," Guest said. "We represent the overwhelming majority of the people of Texas, while the Republicans have sought to isolate themselves from the mainstream and continue to promote myths and fictions from their secluded islands of comfort and convenience."

"The myth is that middle-of-the-road Democrats are pre-

Industrial Espionage Is Said To Be Easy

WASENAAR, The Netherlands (AP) - Industrial espionage is booming, but nearly all the "secret" information gathered by cloak and dagger methods can be obtained legitimately, says American author Robert Farr.

Farr's book, "The Technological Spy," published in the Netherlands recently, will soon be published in 19 other countries, including the United States. Based on fact, it makes most spy fiction look insipid.

Farr told the American Association of the Netherlands that he came to Europe six years ago to make a training program on electronic data processing for a client who had engaged him as management adviser. He was also asked by a client to write a training book for industrial spies. He heard about a school in Switzerland, but after attending it decided that the information he had gathered would make a book of general interest.

Farr, who was born in Iowa City, was formerly a science writer. Digging into the kinds of equipment being used for spying, he learned that a lot more industrial spying goes on than companies will admit. More than 600 companies are now making spy equipment and all have rapidly mounting sales, he said. There are some 170 magazines and other publications devoted to the subject.

Most of the equipment Farr showed association members can be bought over the counter in several countries, with no questions asked. Most items cost less than $50.

Big companies have secret budgets for their industrial espionage but many deny they indulge in it, Farr said. Yet they are eager to hire ex-FBI, CIA and military intelligence experts.

In spite of all the spying, Farr said, "Only one case has been prosecuted so far. That was in England and the investigators who did the spying got off with a light sentence, and the publicity has brought them more work than they can handle. But most companies do not prosecute because that means having to publish the secret information that was involved."

Farr said that in marketing research, new processes being developed and in some cases even sales figures are sensitive facts in the hands of the wrong people. In fact, however, 90 per cent of the information obtained by industrial spies could have been obtained quite openly.

Farr demonstrated many well-known and more sophisticated spying gadgets. Naturally, he said, there is also a lot of equipment to protect people from spies, such as scramblers for phones, devices to reveal if there is a microphone in a room, frequency modulators to jam listening devices.

Most of the equipment was originally developed by intelligence and military security groups, but industry has more money available to spend on these "toys" and making them is now big business," Farr said.

Farr is married to a Dutch woman and lives in the Netherlands. He will make a lecture tour in the United States when his book is published there.

'Deep Throat' Is 'No-No'

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) - The controversial X-Rated movie "Deep Throat" has been ruled obscene by a Dallas justice of the peace and ordered held until criminal action can be filed by the district attorney's office.

The film, which attracted no police action during its final showing a year ago, first was seized by police Thursday, just one day after it had begun showing in Dallas.

A second copy of the movie, which has been banned in New York City, was shown Thursday night in Dallas, but it was confiscated Friday. The film was shown again Friday night, however.

The attorney representing the Arcadia Theater Mike Aaronsen, said that he has filed a federal suit to stop what he called "police harassment" of the theater.

Aaronsen said that Justice of the Peace Robert Cole was not a competent authority" to rule on the film and that Cole's ruling was made without listening to defense testimony on the matter.

TO DARE IS TO CARE

COLLECTING TOYS for needy children is just one of several community projects engaged in by members of Future Homemakers of America. Some of those who "dare to care" are, from left, Cheryl Bohannon, Coahoma; Debbie Statham, Big Spring; Donna Reavis, Forsan; Kayla Gaskins and Sherry Riddle, both of Ackerly. Area FHA advisors are Mrs. Ruby Woodley, Forsan; Mrs. Janetta Brooks, Coahoma; Miss Sharon Storey, Big Spring; and Mrs. Donnita Cunningham, Ackerly.

FHA Dares To Care

By JO BRIGHT

Across the nation, April 17 has been designated as National Future Homemakers of America Week. Members of area FHA chapters have worked throughout the year to implement special activities and projects designed to encourage individual growth and show family, friends and community that FHA'ers "really care."

Several million young people have been challenged by the unlimited opportunities offered through membership in FHA over the 28 years since its establishment as the national organization for high school students in home economics and related occupations.

Future Homemakers of America is a non-profit, self-supporting organization officially sponsored by the U.S. Office of Education through the Division of Vocational and Technical Education and the American Home Economics Association. It encompasses two types of chapters: FHA for students in homemaking and consumer and family life education, as well as HETO chapters for students enrolled in home economics related occupations. High school homemaking teachers serve as advisors to the 11,000 local FHA chapters throughout the country.

The FHA plays an effective role in the educational system by keeping students involved in activities that benefit individual, family and community members. In effect, it serves as a bridge between the classroom, home and community and is the key for developing the potential of each individual member for a productive life in society.

The FHA members in Big Spring, Coahoma, Forsan and Ackerly chapters have encouraged individual growth through a new program known as "Encounter." This program enables each individual to set and implement his or her own goals for improvement as a person and member of a family and community. From time to time, these goals are evaluated to determine growth and progress.

Community projects engaged in by the chapters include school beautification projects, assistance with charity drives, secret "grandmother and grandfather" projects and toy drives for needy children.

Family cooperation and association are stressed through individual and group activities, the latter including special separate events for parents as well as family nights.

Although each chapter will plan and carry out its own FHA Week activities, all will be designed to demonstrate the FHA'ers "dare to care."

SEVERAL AREA officers gather here to decide on community service projects to be undertaken by FHA members. Seated are Elaine Martin,

BEAUTIFICATION PROJECTS are another service provided by FHA members. Johnny Tonn, a representative of the home economics cooperative education courses at Big Spring High School, assists here with gathering litter on the school grounds. Others include, from left, Gloria Webb, Coahoma; Debra Fraley, Forsan; Tonn; Patti Fitts, Cynthia Standard and Phyllis Shaffer, all of Big Spring.

Stop Gripping! Mail Is Moving Faster

By BARBARA LORD
Despite a bevy of complaints that mail service in this country is costing more and providing less, the fact is that the service is improving, according to John R. Gee, local foreman of mails.

Gee and his wife, Frances, moved here about two months ago from Odessa. He said that in the past three years, the average delivery time for a letter has gone from 2.2 days to 1.6 days on a national level. Gee said the amount of errors nationally is about five per cent of letters delivered. The postal service handles about 300 million letters and packages every day, so although the percentage of error is low, it still amounts to about 15 million errors daily. Most of them aren't the fault of the postal service.

"We deliver more letters that are addressed wrong than we deliver letters to the wrong address," said Gee. "People get pretty careless sometimes." Also, Gee cleared up some rumors about all local mail being sent to Midland prior to delivery. He said that any mail placed in a box marked "local" does not leave the city. On the other hand, if a letter is dropped into a box with no local marking, it goes to a central processing station in Midland.

Gee explained that 11,000 new machines that read addresses have been installed throughout the country in the past two years. These machines read about one million letters in a 20-hour period, and speed up the processing by about one-third.

As foreman of mails, Gee is responsible for the efficient and economical management of mails, distribution of incoming mail, and customer complaints and suggestions. He believes the local office is adequately manned and does a good job.

"There are five or six employees in the office who can name every boxholder by number," said Gee. "If you get too many people in an office, they tend to get in each other's way and cause more confusion than efficiency."

Mrs. Gee, after working for 14 years as school food services manager in Odessa, now enjoys her retirement and has many projects planned for the couple's new home at 616 Ridgela.

"I get my greatest pleasure from yard work," said Mrs. Gee, "and this yard will be a real challenge. I'll keep me busy for some time." Her gardening includes flowers and vegetables. She plans to plant tomatoes around their four peach trees, and will also grow onions.

Her job with the school food services required Mrs. Gee to keep abreast of nutritional values in foods and their effect on the body. Although cooking with natural foods is now becoming a wide-spread trend, Mrs. Gee cooked with them long ago.

She enjoys cooking, and makes the couple's own whole wheat bread. She uses the green part of onions and the outside green leaves of lettuce, because they contain the most nutritional value.

"Everybody throws these parts of the vegetables away," said Mrs. Gee, "but they are actually better for you and have more taste." Mrs. Gee is also enthusiastic about exercising. She has a set of barbells which she uses regularly and she likes to fish.

"I like to read, and she likes to fish," said Gee. "So I take her fishing and lay on the bank with a good book." The couple travels whenever time allows, and spend most of their time browsing through ruins, visiting historical sites and stopping to read historical markers.

Mr. and Mrs. Gee have three children who are all grown and living away from home. Their oldest son, John Jr., is working for his Ph.D. in environmental psychology in Lebanon, Pa. Their two daughters, Mrs. Tom (Ellen) Brown of Hamlin, and Mrs. David M. (Nancy) Burd of Odessa, are both teachers.

"We are thrilled and delighted to be in Big Spring," said Gee. "We left some wonderful people, but we've met some here too, and I know we're going to enjoy our stay. West Texans are just nice people."

Mrs. Gee was born and reared in Kemp, Gee, born in East Texas, was reared in Oklahoma. The Gees have been married for 33 years. He spent the first 15 years working in the oil fields, and has been with the postal service for 18 years.

Westside Center Choir Will Sing For 'Festival Of Arts'

Those Westside angels are sharpening their voices for their contribution to Festival of Arts in April. Mrs. Susan Dawes, who has directed the group since its start three years ago, is working each Thursday afternoon on a program for 8 p.m. April 12 in the HCJC auditorium. She promises at least 30 voices for the free performance. The program will include popular numbers such as those from Mary Poppins and Sesame Street, several solos and a few religious tunes to show what the choir can do in rich tones. The boys are even planning a dance number. The choir will be robed in the vestments provided by funds from the 1955 Hyperion Club, and fashioned by the church women, plus the surplices made by the Rainbow girls. Karen Coffee is the volunteer accompanist for the choir.

Heritage Museum closed out its railroad exhibit last week after a four month's run that produced 4,422 attendance, including 1,167 school children (Helen Willard's 41 homemaking girls were the last) and around 100 Boy and Girl Scouts. In its place, an interim exhibit honoring pioneer doctors will be open this afternoon and for the next two weeks. Mrs. W. B. Allensworth, chairman of the show for the Permian Basin Medical Auxiliary, said the show is geared to the discovery of ether as an anesthesia in 1842, but the spotlight is on the history of medicine, particularly in this area.

Will P. Edwards and Connie Edwards took out endowment memberships during the week. J. R. Alderman, Ted O. Groehl, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Lomas, Mr. and Mrs. George Weeks became sustaining members; and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hartley and Helen Willard became adult members.

Dates for the Kerrville Folk Festival have been fixed for May 24-28, which ties in for the Texas State Arts and Crafts Fair. Outstanding state and national guitarists and folk singers, along with 20 separate bands, have been booked. The crafts fair is about the biggest of its kind in Texas.

An unscheduled photographic exhibition of long ago will be displayed briefly at the Museum of the Southwest in Midland. The collection of 36 black and white pictures, on loan from the University of Texas, include many West Texas scenes. For instance, there is the swearing in of the first female air mail pilot in 1915, also a picture of the arrival of the 5th Cavalry at Fort D. A. Russell in Marfa. This is due to be the last weekend for the showing.

Joe Goulden's best-selling book about the powerful lawyers of Washington and John Williams' novel about August Caesar have captured top literary awards for 1972 by the Texas Institute of Letters. These carried $1,000 prizes. A. C. Greene's (he's an Abilene native) "Last Captive," and Larry L. King's magazine article, "The Last Frontier," are among winners.

New Hobby Club Formed Recently

An organizational meeting for a new hobby club was held Thursday in the home of Mrs. Joe Mitchell, 1102 College. The club will meet at 9:30 a.m., each Thursday morning in the homes of members. Anyone interested in joining may call Mrs. Mitchell at 263-2394.

Officers will be elected at the next meeting, and a club name will be chosen. The women agreed to teach arts and crafts to residents of Mountain View Lodge as a club project.

Mrs. Cliff McMurtrey won the attendance prize. Crafts made by the women were on display.

King is a native of Putnam, and grew up in Midland where he went to school.

Auditions for singers and dancers for the 1973 Dallas Summer Musical will be held April 14-15, and inquiries should be made to Harold Goldfaden, Music Hall, Fair Park, Dallas 75226. The Lubbock Symphony scheduled its ever-popular "Pops Night" for April 16. William A. Harrod, conductor, has chosen the Big Band Era as the theme for this year's show, and numerous soloists are being booked for the occasion. Tickets range from $1 to $5.50 and can be had from the symphony office at 1416 Ave. Q, Lubbock (phone 806-762-4707).

Restoration work has been completed on the Bairfield School House at the Ranch Headquarters on Texas Tech campus at Lubbock. Two-seater desks are around the pot-bellied stove, and the tin dipper hangs by the water bucket. And the last teacher will ring the bell at 10 a.m. Saturday to open the dedication ceremonies for the building at Fourth Street and Indiana.

The Big Spring Steer Band scored another smash hit at Austin Friday night in presenting Campus Revue — 73. The troupe of about 150, including cast, orchestra, stage hands, etc., took off Thursday afternoon. Last year the band, supporting its state presidency of the Texas Association of Student Councils, put on CR-72, and it was such a hit the state meet leaders insisted on a repeat.

B&PW Has Dinner For Bosses

A "Bosses Appreciation" dinner was held Tuesday evening at Coker's Restaurant by the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Mrs. H. J. Steakley, Colorado City, reviewed the book, "I Play to Win," by Freddie Steinmark. Steinmark was a University of Texas Longhorn football player who lost his left leg to cancer in 1969, and later lost his life. The book outlined how to live in triumph rather than tragedy.

The book tells Steinmark's philosophy of life in the face of adversity, injuries and disappointments. He maintained a faith in God, his fellow man, and in the importance of cooperation and teamwork in any venture. Mrs. Steakley said through all of his problems, he maintained his sense of humor.

"Steinmark's innate character is summed up in the dedication of his book which reads, 'To God, who has been so good to me,'" said Mrs. Steakley.

The dinner was hosted by Mrs. Charles Summers, president, and her committee composed of Mrs. Robert Smart and Mrs. Ferrell Dillard. Bosses introduced were Dr. R. P. Patterson, John Smith, George Foster, Duke Baker, Mrs. Elouise Faulkner and John Corbean. Other guests were Mrs. D. F. Huling, Miss Betty Alexander, Mrs. R. P. Patterson and Dr. H. Jene Steakley of Colorado City.

Many Communities Assist Garage Sale

The third giant garage sale sponsored by the Volunteer Council of Big Spring State Hospital got underway Saturday at the Townhouse Motel, Fifth and Gregg, and will resume at 9 a.m. Monday.

The sale, which will last from 9 a.m. through 6 p.m., Monday through Thursday, is a joint project of all volunteers in Big Spring and many surrounding towns. Merchandise for the sale was brought by the carload from Seminole, Monahans, Colorado City, Snyder, Lamesa and Midland.

The garage sales, held twice yearly, are one of three ways the volunteer council raises funds. Money is used for recreational activities such as picnics and parties and for providing personal items for residents at the hospital. The council also helps provide funds for improving resident living areas, furnishes material and sewing supplies for the hospital

"fashion shop," and provides gifts for retirees. In addition, council funds may furnish a resident who has no family with a canteen book to use for necessary items, or may pay for swimming fees for teenaged residents.

The uses for the money raised by the volunteer council are numerous. Other than the garage sale, council money comes from the sale of candles and donations from individuals or organizations. Throughout the area, people offer their time, money and merchandise for various volunteer services at the hospital.

Talk With Him

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I knew it was too good to be true! For six months I dated an attractive 44-year-old bachelor. (I'm a 38-year-old divorcee.) He was so different from all the rest. He didn't make any improper advances toward me. A good-night kiss was all he ever wanted. He is so honorable.

Well, last night he told me that he would ask me to marry him but he is impotent! I care so much for him that I am considering telling him, "Yes, I'll marry you, and to heck with sex" (Would that be foolish? I have two children by a former marriage and couldn't have any more if I wanted them, which I don't.)

I would like to know if impotency is a physical thing? I have heard it can be mental. Can it be cured? There is no one else I can talk to about this, and I must know.

GEMINI: If you are considering marrying this man, have a talk with him. Ask him if he has seen a physician — or a psychiatrist — about his impotency. (If he has, ask him what they say.) If not, tell him he certainly should. Much can be done about impotency, depending upon the reasons for it.

STARS: DEAR ABBY: I have always wanted to have my family history traced, but I can't afford to spend a lot of money to do it. Have you any suggestions?
M.J.B. IN OAKLAND, CALIF.

DEAR M.J.B.: Yes. Run for a public office.

DEAR ABBY: I have a neighbor who says you aren't a mother unless you have a daughter. I have two boys, ages 4 and 5, and she has two boys, the same ages as mine, but she also has a 2-year-old girl. She loves the little girl and hates the boys, and she is always lording it over me that I don't have a daughter. Abby, I love my boys and really don't want any more kids.

She treats her boys so mean, and has a wicked temper. She hit the older one so hard with her fist she knocked out two of his teeth and he had to have his lip stitched up.

This girl is only 23 and she's been everything from a Baptist to a Mormon, and she's still trying to find herself. I'm a Catholic and she keeps putting down the Catholics until I could scream.

How can I get rid of her? I am tired of having this pest barge in here every day and take up my time.

NEIGHBOR:
DEAR NEIGHBOR:

There is only one way to get rid of a pest. Tell her to please call first and ask if she may come over. And if she barges in without calling, tell her you are too busy to chat with her and send her on her way.

DEAR ABBY: I am very much in love with a married man who wants to marry me, but he can't find his wife to divorce her. That's my problem.

I can't plan a future with this man unless he finds his wife. Can you help my gentleman friend and me?

C: DEAR C: Your gentleman friend should talk to a lawyer. He may be pleasantly surprised. Assuming the wife is lost, and not hiding, suggest that your friend write to: Lt. Pauline Everhart, Salvation Army, Box 3856, San Francisco, Calif. 94114.

They have branches all over the world, and have had remarkable success in locating missing persons.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 63700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90060. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

MRS. JAMES F. MALONE

MRS. ROBERT H. DOOLEY

'Quotable Women'

Here are some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"I don't hold any brief for one art being greater than another. The word art means work. An artist is a worker, not a person who dreams lovely dreams. You can dream and dream and so what if you don't build a structure of some kind, if you don't make communication." — Martha Graham, modern dance pioneer and still head of a modern dance company.

"Marlon Brando very regretfully cannot accept the award because of the treatment of American Indians in this country today on television, on reruns and recent happenings at Wounded Knee." — Sacheen Littlefeather, an Apache Indian who spoke for Marlon Brando at the Academy awards presentation.

Guild Tryouts Start Monday

About 130 piano students of 12 local teachers have registered as candidates for membership in the National Fraternity of Student Musicians, sponsored by the National Guild of Piano Teachers.

The young piano hobbyists will play in the National Piano Playing Auditions, April 2-7 in Studio 2 of the Howard County Junior College Music Building. The pianists will strive for pledges, local, district, state, national and international honors which are conferred according to the number of standard classic, romantic and modern pieces performed.

Judging the auditions will be Jesse O'Shell, Sacramento, Calif., who has a broad background of experience in the piano field, both as an entertainer and as a teacher.

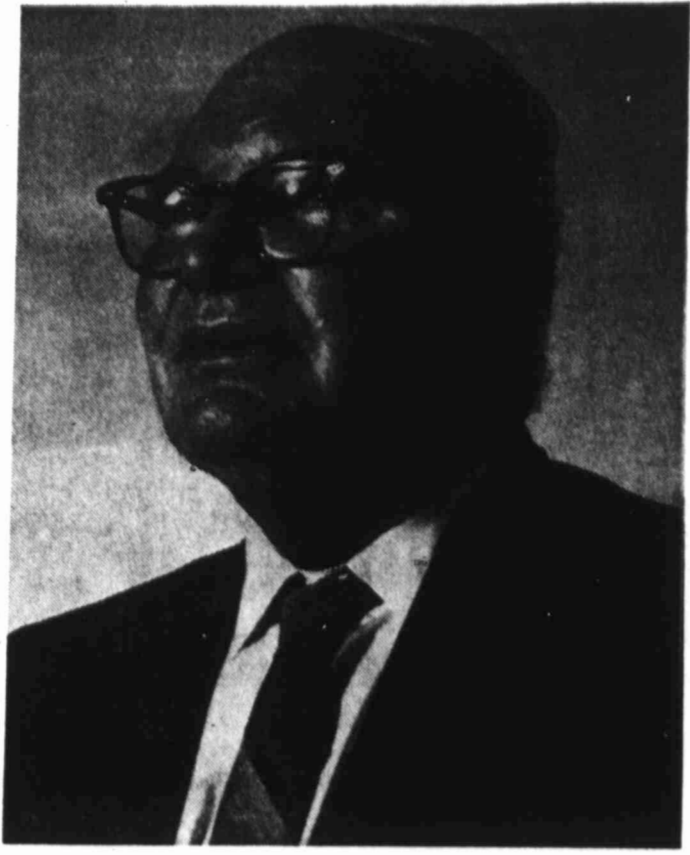

O'Shell studied piano, viola, organ, guitar and base violin during his schooling, and played the organ at church at the early age of six. At 14, he entered the modern jazz field, playing professionally with Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey.

During his service in the Army, O'Shell continued to use his music, and was instrumental in producing the show, "Front and Center," for which he wrote and arranged music for a 16-piece orchestra. He returned to playing concerts, and has appeared with Doris Day, Les Brown, Mickey Rooney, Richard Rodgers and Ishkabibble.

O'Shell moved to California in 1947, joined the Music Teachers Association of California and the National Guild of Piano Teachers. In 1972 he was elected to the guild's "hall of fame."

Mrs. Ann Gibson Houser is chairman for the local auditions. The teachers whose students will perform are all members of the National Guild of Piano Teachers. They are Mrs. Fred Haller, Mrs. J. R. Pruitt, Mrs. S. T. Cheatham, Mrs. William Row, Mrs. Chester Barnes, Mrs. Lois Baker, Mrs. Robert Lee, Mrs. Fred Beckham, Mrs. Chesley Wilson, Mrs. Dana Schaefer, Mrs. Dick Mitchell and Mrs. Houser.

Students of each teacher have been assigned days for their auditions. The schedule is Mrs. Schaefer and Mrs. Wilson, Monday morning; Mrs. Cheatham and Mrs. Beckham, Tuesday; Mrs. Houser, Wednesday; Mrs. Barnes and Mrs. Mitchell, Thursday; Mrs. Pruitt, Mrs. Row, Mrs. Baker and Mrs. Lee, Friday; and Mrs. Haller and Mrs. Houser, Saturday.

More than 60,000 piano students in the country will participate in this annual event being held in 600 music centers throughout the country. The auditions began in 1929 at Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, and headquarters are now in Austin. Information is available on request by writing the Piano Guild, Box 1807, Austin, 78767.

FOCUS ON FAMILY LIVING

Meatless Menu Can Be High In Protein

By SHERRY MULLIN
County Extension Agent

There are a surprising number of foods which can provide protein, though many of them are derived from non-animal sources and should be supplemented by animal protein. One-half cup of cooked legumes (dried beans or peas) provides six grams or more of protein, about the same as an ounce of cooked meat. Other foods which give at least six grams of protein include: 3 slices of bread; 1 1/2 cups cooked rice; 1 to 1 1/2 cups cooked cereal; 1 cup cooked pasta; 1/2 cup all-purpose or whole-wheat flour. The following sources may be less familiar to you: 1/4 cup almonds, cashews or walnuts; 1/4 cup pumpkin, sesame or sunflower seeds; and 2 tablespoons peanut butter.

A person should include 60 grams of protein in his diet each day. He can easily meet this recommended level if he has two 8-ounce glasses of milk, two eggs or two ounces of cheese, two cups of cooked legumes, such as dried beans, as well as other foods which supply supplemental protein.

However, there is one form of vegetarian diet

HD Group Attends Luncheon

Members of Center Point Home Demonstration Club attended a luncheon and review of the book, "Laughing to Keep From Crying," by June Benfield, Tuesday at the County Fair Barns. Mrs. Clyde Thomas gave the review.

Following the review, a business meeting was held, and members agreed to sell "oven-savers" as a fund-raising project. Mrs. Waymon Etchison, council delegate, reminded year-book chairmen to turn in their annual reports by Tuesday.

The women will furnish about 12 dozen cookies Tuesday for residents at Big Spring State Hospital. It was also agreed that the club would travel as a group to a District 2 meeting, Thursday in Colorado City. Members will meet at 9 a.m. in the home of Mrs. J. R. Petty.

Guests were Mrs. Ima Kelley, Stanton, and Mrs. Fred Eaker. The attendance prize went to Mrs. N. R. Garret. The next meeting will be April 10 in the home of Mrs. H. L. Stamps, 1018 Bluebonnet, and club food leaders will present a program on herbs and spices. Food leaders are Mrs. J. R. Petty, Mrs. James Petty and Mrs. Garret.

VEGETARIAN DIET

A vegetarian diet that included milk, cheese, eggs, legumes, nuts and other high-protein, non-meat foods, plus a wide choice of other foods, is quite safe. Many people follow this type of diet for their entire which does pose real danger — the one known as the Zen Macrobiotic diet. There are several levels of the diet, each one more restrictive than the last in types and amounts of food. The first level is a semi-vegetarian regimen which includes a reasonable variety of foods, including some animal protein. In contrast, the last level contains only cereals. Serious nutritional deficiencies have occurred in people who have refused to go off the diet, some of which have resulted in death. Luckily, the most restricted that few people make any serious attempt to follow it for a long period of time.

MEATLESS MEAT

There are a number of "meatless meats." Most of these (the more technical name is meat analogues) — are made from a textured vegetable protein derived from soybeans and flavored to give the taste of meat. Depending on the flavor, texture and shape, the analogues can simulate natural meat cuts or be made into unique products. Probably the best known are the bacon-flavored bits available as a bacon substitute. A wide range of other products, including sausage, frankfurters, seafood, beef and chicken available in some parts of the country.

Because they are made from the protein fraction of soybeans, these products are high in protein, but contain no cholesterol. Many are also lower in fat than the equivalent meat. At present these meatless meats are relatively expensive, but it is likely that the cost will come down as they are more widely distributed.

EAT AND LOSE WEIGHT

Enjoy eating the foods you choose while you lose excess, ugly fat. X-11 Reducing Plan can help you slim down. X-11 is a tiny tablet, easily swallowed, that combines ingredients to combat hunger, appease appetite, supplement vitamins. No dangerous drugs. No strenuous exercise. # Mrs. Gary Davis Is 'Jaycee-Ette Of Year'

Mrs. Gary (Rose) Davis was selected "Jaycee-Ette of the Year" for the local Thursday evening at the Holiday Inn. Mrs. Davis has been a Jaycee-ette for one year and served as second vice president.

MRS. GARY DAVIS

Mrs. Davis served as concession stand chairman for the recent Rattlesnake Roundup, spending about 24 hours at the location during the two-day affair. Also during her year with the group, she helped prepare and deliver a Thanksgiving basket for a local family; assisted at the Fourth of July "rest stop" provided by the Jaycees and its auxiliary; worked at the concession stand for the Permian Belle Relays track event; and assisted the group with various volunteer activities for residents of Big Spring State Hospital.

Mrs. Davis resides at 2401 Cheyenne with her husband and daughter, Wanda Lucille, 3½. New officers for the group were installed by Mrs. Wayne Murrell, Abilene, area vice president. They are Mrs. Don Worthan, president; Mrs. Luke Lewis, first vice president; Mrs. Larry Chandler, second vice president; Mrs. Fred Simpson, secretary and reporter; Mrs. Travis Hunter, treasurer; and Mrs. A. J. Pirkle, state director.

Mrs. Pirkle, outgoing president, presided, and introduced Mrs. Murrell and Mrs. Rick Clayton, Abilene, wife of the national Jaycee vice president, as well as guests from Sweetwater, Snyder and Abilene.

Mrs. Larry Knight presented awards. They went to Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Luke Lewis, "spoke" award for outstanding first-year service; Mrs. Don Worthan, "Feather Your Cap" award for outstanding second year service, and the "Hopping Hen" award for travel; and Mrs. A. J. Pirkle and Mrs. Knight, "Feathers" award for service.

Mrs. Pirkle was given a gold charm and bracelet by members of the club in appreciation for her work as president, and Mrs. Murrell was presented a silver tray for installing the officers.

Door prizes provided by merchants in Highland Center Mall were distributed by Mrs. Hunter.

Shoes Cause "Pump Bump"

Doctors are seeing a painful swelling at the back of the heel and blaming it on high-heeled shoes and pumps.

Rhode Island Hospital, Providence, says the "pump bump" is a bursitis caused by pressure from ill-fitting shoes.

"The higher the heel, the more pressure exerted," he told the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons recently.

It is most often seen in women up to age 40. By the time a woman is 40 or 45 she is not as vain and buys more sensible shoes, Dr. Savastano says.

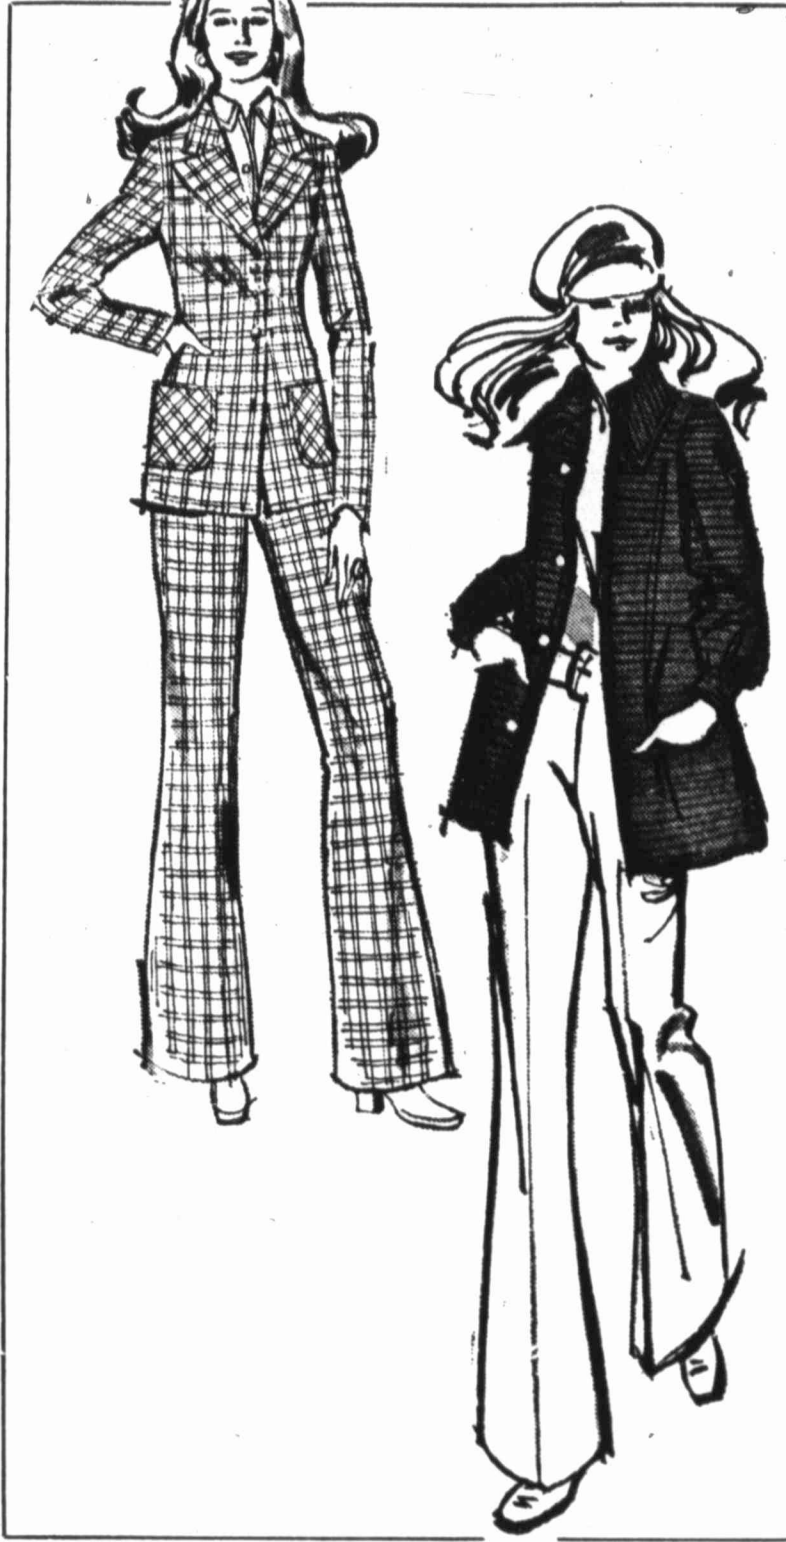

Treatment usually involves wearing shoes with backs removed or cut out for 8 to 10 months until the swelling and pain subside.

TO MARRY — The engagement and forthcoming marriage of Miss Terriann Ashley to Billy Don Fishback is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lyndell Ashley, Midway. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Fishback of Coahoma. The couple will marry July 21 at College Baptist Church. The Rev. Monroe Teeters, pastor of Coahoma Baptist Church, will officiate.

WILL WED — Lt. Col. (Ret.) and Mrs. Norman F. Priest, 1810 Morrison, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Kathryn Durak, to Larry Wesley Hennig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Hennig of Waco. The couple plans to marry June 2 at the First Presbyterian Church.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:
I think of you often but I'm usually too busy to write. However, I couldn't resist telling you a little tip that I invented when I read how to have a pleasant telephone voice.

For people who have difficulty swallowing pills! After you get the pill(s) in your mouth and have taken a slug of water, say in your head: "I'm thirsty." It opens up your throat. Love as Always, Phyllis Diller

Yep, it's our doll again. Isn't she hilarious? You all may think this is a joke, but just try it. Works! ... Heloise

Dear Heloise:
I'm a maid in a hotel.

We do the best we can to satisfy our customers. Quite often people leave us tips by the phone and the bus boy picks them up.

It would please us no end if people would leave them INSIDE the pillow cases. We are the ones who have to change them and they do this, we get them.

Some people leave the tips in an envelope and take them to the desk room, also with a note: "This is for the maid for Room 222"

Please help us maids by printing this. We sure will thank you. "Four Maids"

Dear Folks:
Everyone knows about the fabulous "pure vegetable spray-on coating for all cookware" we use for our

Well... try it on the inside of your lids too, especially if the contents of your casserole splatters up on your good glass cover. ... Heloise

Dear Heloise:
When my little girl thought she was too big for a bib, I bought a one-dollar sweater guard with a stone on each clip. She thinks it's so pretty.

When we go out to eat, or anytime (even snacks in the car), I can just clip a napkin around her neck and I have a perfect bib.

A sweater guard is much easier and neater to carry in my purse than a bib. ... Lynda Keeckhefer

Dear Heloise:
I must tell you about my son's contribution to recycling. We live in the city but he is a little farmer at heart (like his grandfather).

Last summer he helped his grandfather in the garden and noticed a large can with no bottom, placed in the garden. All the decayed fruit and vegetables and all potato peelings etc. ... went in this container. Then this matter gets buried.

Now we have one in our small garden. This not only rids the messy garbage in our plastic bags but it is terrific fertilizer for the garden.

I feel these youngsters have more going for them than we give them credit for. Love, ... Tommy's Mom

A LOVELIER YOU Summer Complexion Needs Outdoor Color

By MARY SUE MILLER
There's nothing like renewing your love affair with the great outdoors. With balmy spring airs in the offing, all sorts of activities open up right on home ground. How about golf or tennis, biking or horseback riding, walking, gardening? You will feel great and look terrific for the doing. To give you a head start on the fresh looks of outdoor life, sit down before your mirror and try putting on a bronze glow. Put on a spring-shined face.

It begins with a new, all-day, transparent bronzing tint that gives the skin tone an honest, healthy color, flattering to all ages... ideal for women who want an outdoorsy look without being overexposed to sun. Packaged in tubes for easy portage, tints range from honey bronze to copper bronze. The lighter shades of course are suited to blond skins.

Blushing pommades of creme gel consistency bring color to the cheeks that really seems to come from within. Dusky pink and dusky coral blend to perfection with bronzing tints and one's own skin tone.

HOURS OF LONELY DARKNESS

Beatings, Torture, Faith

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

The hours of lonely darkness in Hanoi, hours with only memory for company; hours that stretched into days, into weeks, into a timeless blur.

The beatings whose only end was unconsciousness. Or capitulation. Or death.

The hope and the faith. And the determination to somehow stay whole while in the enemy's grip.

This is the story the prisoners of war are telling, freed at last from the restraints that kept the details of their ordeal from the nation they served.

The POWs spoke at news conferences and interviews about what it was really like as captives of the North Vietnamese or the Viet Cong.

'THE STRAP'

Until now, they had kept silent lest they jeopardize men still held prisoner. The last of the 587 POWs originally scheduled to be released arrived at Clark Air Base in the Philippines on Thursday morning and the words of torture, degradation and determination poured out at home.

One man told of letting maggots eat away dead flesh to clean out his festering wounds; another told of a torture called "the strap" that paralyzed the nerves; a third said he was kept "like an animal in a cage."

The former captives made these points:

—The prisoners were beaten, drugged, starved and tortured—sometimes fatally—by Communists who sought information or antiwar statements. Many of the men finally broke, but they tried to provide as little information as possible beyond the regulation name, rank and serial number.

—Conditions improved somewhat late in 1969; food rations were increased and the prisoners were allowed to speak to one another.

NO NAMES

—The men maintained their own, military-style organization within prison camps; they kept in touch with each other by elaborately devised codes; newly arrived POWs passed on whatever information about the war and their fellow servicemen that they could.

None of the prisoners spoke of resentment or reprisals against POWs who reportedly cooperated with the enemy. No names were mentioned. Sources in Washington said the men had been told by the Pentagon to keep their silence on this subject.

NO THIRST

The first man off the plane that brought the first batch of prisoners to Clark on Feb. 12 was Navy Capt. Jeremiah A. Denton Jr. of Virginia Beach, Va., who was captured July 18, 1965.

He told a news conference at Elon College, N.C., that he was tortured at least 10 times, kept in solitary confinement for four years. Describing one occasion, he said: "For three days, I had no food or water . . . seated on a stool . . . handcuffed. With the help of God, I felt no hunger or thirst."

At another point, he said, he was forced to lie flat on his back while a 10-foot iron bar was rested across his chin. Then his captors walked across the bar.

NOT BITTER

Denton indicated he was not bitter toward his captors.

"There are as many evil Americans as North Vietnamese," he said, adding that in one instance a guard who had been beating him "broke down totally" and ran outside screaming that he would not continue.

In his news conference Thursday night, President Nixon disclosed that he met one of the prisoners at the White House on March 12. Aides later identified the man as Col. Robinson Risner of Oklahoma City, Okla., captured on Sept. 16, 1965, and said Nixon also met with Denton the same day.

Air Force Capt. Joseph Milligan of Annandale, N.J., said that when his plane was shot down on May 20, 1967, he suffered severe burns.

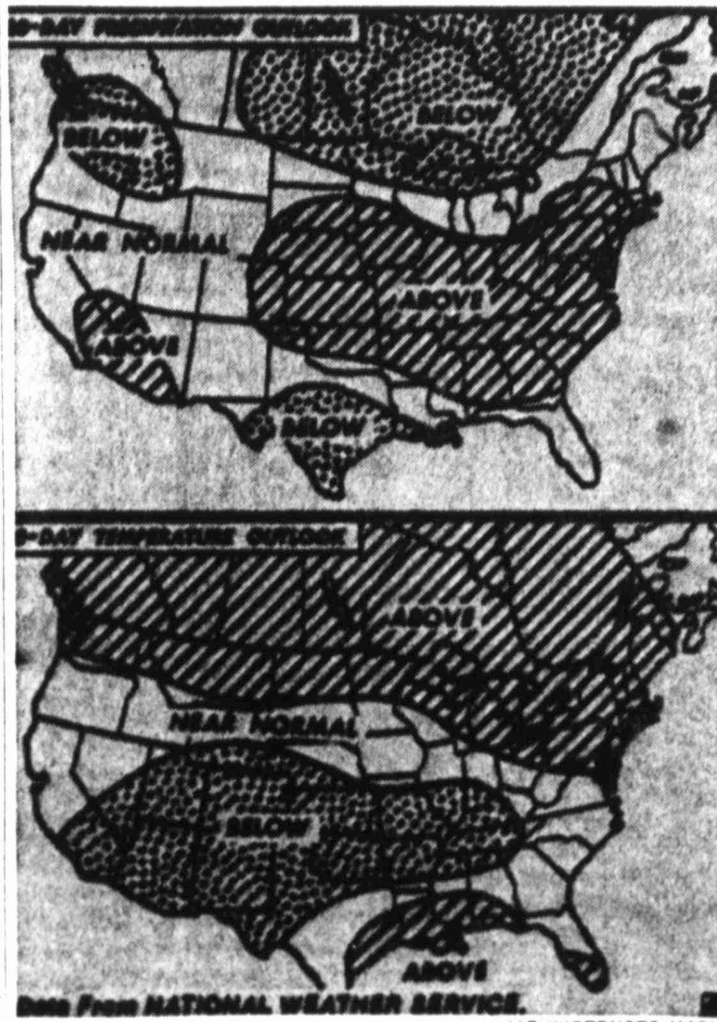

The only treatment he received, Milligan said, was a twice-weekly swabbing with hot water. Discussing his wounds, he added:

DEAD FLESH

"They were draining quite badly, they were full of puss, they smelled rotten. One day I noticed some flies flying around my arms. I allowed them to land and lay eggs on my wounds. When the maggots hatched, they ate the dead flesh."

"After the dead flesh was gone, I went over to the buckets in my cell. I urinated over my arms to wash the maggots off, tore up a tee shirt and re-wrapped my arms. And after that, they healed."

Milligan said there were constant attempts to "re-educate" the prisoners. "They were always trying to convince you of their side by constantly feeding you their propaganda," he said.

OUTLOOK — This is the way the nation's weather shaped up in terms of precipitation and temperatures for the next 30 days, according to the National Weather Service in Washington.

W. C. GLENN

J. P., 95, Will Run For Office

BENJAMIN, Tex. (AP) — W. C. Glenn levies fines and sets bonds as do hundreds of other justices of the peace across the state.

At 95, he doesn't find being the oldest J.P. in Texas a drawback.

Glenn has two years left in his term and says he will run again if he can still do the job.

He is a South Carolina native who ran off to Texas as a teenager because he thought he was coming to the wild West. Instead he was surprised to find so much farming.

He has been a farmer, cowboy, cotton picker, tax assessor, county commissioner, owner of one of the first gas stations in Knox County and he once lost a race for sheriff.

Glenn's thoughts on his life and times:

Retirement

"I hope I can die the minute I retire."

Longevity

"Hard work, I guess is the answer to a long life. I always worked hard. It wasn't what I ate. I've always eaten like a hog and anything that was set before me."

Law and Order

"I am a strong believer in the death penalty and that comes with having dealt with law violators. Boys, the law violators are taking over. If we don't deal with them harshly, our country will be in a state of anarchy in a decade."

Jury Duty

He says the best people escape jury duty with excuses, leaving jurors "who can be hoodwinked by a good, crooked lawyer."

U.S. Highway 82

"The boys get a little heavy footed with nothing but road out there. I hate to dish out fines, but it's $22.50 for 80 m.p.h."

Bail Bonds

"I'm not above setting $50,000 if I don't think they should be out on the street."

President Roosevelt

"He put everybody on a dole and ruined the country. Before that, everybody was making a living and doing his best. Everybody moved to town and got jobs as 'shovel leaners.'"

Sticky Situation In Suburban Area

BELLEILLE, N.J. (AP) — The collapse of a storage tank containing 150,000 gallons of molasses left this suburban community in a sticky situation.

Firemen blocked off about three blocks of the city and a similar area was shut to traffic in nearby Bloomfield after the sticky liquid spilled onto streets.

Be Sure You Vote

It hardly seems possible that the Spring elections are upon us — but they are.

Tuesday, Big Spring voters will select two out of a field of 10 candidates (one, Jim Abreo, has withdrawn his name for health reasons; but the name appears on the ballot).

This is a serious matter, and you are the best judge of whom you feel can best serve the interests of Big Spring. Suffice it to say that these candidates have thought it important enough to ask that their names be put on the ballot, and to say that they are willing to devote their time and energies to this almost thankless but vital job for our town. The very least you can do — certainly the very least you ought to do — is to vote.

We believe that the city exists to be of maximum service to the community.

It can best do this when it functions under sound business principles, insofar as a governmental unit can do this and still carry out its mission.

It can best do this when the policy making board — the city commission — understands the problems and the needs and the opportunities of the community.

It can best do this when the commission functions in an atmosphere which produces not only wise guidance, but a spirit of mutual confidence, respect and teamwork within the whole city family.

These are guidelines we believe are valid in selecting members of the council, and we also hold that you know the individuals offering for this office and can vote as you feel they measure up to these or other standards you may impose.

It is axiomatic that a city never grows beyond its water supply; we think it might be said with equal elemental truth that a city does not progress beyond the leadership its council provides.

We hope you will vote Tuesday for those whom you believe can help our city progress.

And what we say for the city council, we hold out for the city schools. They have a tremendous challenge in giving our children and youth the best in educational opportunities, and immediately ahead they have at least one exceptionally thorny problem. This will call board members of great, reasoned judgment.

How About Tidying?

Today begins cleanup and beautification month in Big Spring.

None will argue but what the bountiful rains and snow of the winter and early Spring have produced such a crop of weeds that we need this effort more than in many years.

And while clearing your place of these, how about all the old tree limbs and shrub prunings — and any other debris that may have collected?

Getting rid of this will not only contribute greatly to the town's general appearance and pride, but also to the health and safety of it.

Finally, the severe and late winter have made it possible to still plant trees and shrubs. In fact, if you act soon, the time will be ideal. What you do within the next two weeks will bear great dividends this summer. How about it?

Around The Rim

Walt Finley

Do you get the impression that Howard Hughes may be the man without a country?

FRONTIER AIRLINES has hired the first woman pilot as second officer on a Boeing 737 jet. That's great news for the Ms. movement, but I dread hearing all those old "women pilot" jokes once more.

Today's guest joke is from ex-cowboy Jay Sanders:

Bobby: "How?"

Mom: "How?"

Amy: "I stepped on his hands."

EX-TULSA MAYOR George E. Norvell discloses the names of three new technical publications issued by the American Petroleum Institute are:

"Recommended Practice for Form-Wound Squirrel-Cage Induction Motors 200 HP and Larger"

"Metallic Gaskets for Piping, Double-Jacketed Corrugated and Spiral Wound."

"Guide for Inspection of Refinery Equipment, Chapter XIII, 'Atmospherics and Low Pressure Storage Tanks.'"

Every one is a potential "Forver Ambre."

My banking aunt, Leona Factor, was in a Semole, Okla., restaurant recently and saw a sign reading:

"Warning to Persons Wearing Pacemakers — We Use Microwave Ovens."

I THINK it was Nelda Fountain, switchboard whiz, who furnishes today's joke:

"What kind of a man is Tom? I don't believe I've ever met him." "Well, if you see two men off in a corner anywhere and one of them looks bored to death, the other one is Tom."

Capsuled Comments has a statistic on bureaucracy.

The United States has 81,299 entities of government: One federal, 50 states, 20,000 school districts, and thousands of counties, cities and political subdivisions.

My ice-eating aunt, Fannie Everett, says:

"Our unadorned garbage on the farm was given to the hogs. But town garbage has to be classified, catalogued, computerized and gift-wrapped, and I don't know who gets it."

THAT RAILROADING man, Kenneth Hart, quotes an item in the Herald recently chiding President Hoover for predicting an early end to poverty in our nation, and asks:

"But who could have anticipated that the government of the United States would have made poverty so profitable?"

Okay, David Shaw, Alan Martin, Mary Louise Vick, Barbara Godfrey, Cynthia Boadle, Bobbie Kimzey, Sandra L. Green, Jo Bright, Barbara K. Lord, here's the answer to:

"In building a dam, which beaver does the most work, the male or the female?"

THAT'S STILL a mystery. In the field, nobody human can tell the feminine beaver from the masculine beaver. To find out, the science boys even have to take blood test of trapped beavers, then band same. They're doing that now.

When Life Starts

William F. Buckley Jr.

The press, in my view, has not widely noticed an extraordinary appeal that has been lodged by the State of Connecticut asking the Supreme Court to review its decision of last January in respect of abortion. On that occasion the Court ruled that no state can deny a woman the right to an abortion during the first few months of her pregnancy on the grounds that the fetus is not a "person" in any constitutional sense and is not therefore entitled to the protections given to a person. The court was not itself anxious to rule just when in the embryonic process someone comes alive, satisfying itself to say that "We need not resolve the difficult question of when life begins."

THE STATE OF Connecticut reminds the Court that in 1966, in Brookhart v. Janis, the Supreme Court observed that "When constitutional rights turn on the resolution of a factual dispute, we are duty bound to make an independent examination of the evidence in the record." It is such an independent examination that the State of Connecticut has conducted. And 14 states of the union have joined Connecticut, as amici curiae. The Court is considering the matter at this moment.

CONNECTICUT HAS imposed upon itself rigorous scientific responsibilities, to which end it begins its 55-page brief with testimony from scientists. Dr. Albert William Liley is professor in Perinatal Physiology in the Postgraduate School of Obstetrics and Gynecology at the University of Auckland. "In 1963," says Dr. Liley, "I developed a technique for the transfusion of blood to the baby 'in utero.' This work demonstrated conclusively that the unborn child, like any other person, could be ill and could have his disease diagnosed, his condition assessed, and his malady successfully treated. In a number of genetic and biochemical problems, definite diagnosis can be estimated as early as the fourteenth week, and, in the Rh baby, therapy has been undertaken as early as the eighteenth week of intrauterine life."

DR. HYMIE GORDON is Chairman of the Department of Medical Genetics at the Mayo Clinic. He introduces his testimony philosophically. "The modern biological concept of human individuality is remarkably in harmony with that of some of the oldest theological concepts. The Rabbis of the Talmudical period and the early Christian Fathers taught that life entered the fetus at the moment of conception. Modern biology teaches the same thing. A clear distinction must be made between the unquestionable right of the mother to decide whether or not she is to become pregnant, and the unquestionable right of the unborn baby to life."

Dr. Micheline Mathews-Roth of the Department of Microbiology and Molecular Genetics at Harvard deposes that "studies in embryology and genetics have conclusively proved that the embryo from conception to birth is a living human individual."

DR. PAUL ROCKWELL, Director of Anesthesiology at Leonard Hospital in Troy, New York, writes that "in 1958 or thereabouts, while giving an anesthetic for a ruptured ectopic pregnancy at eight weeks gestation, I observed what I believe was the smallest living human being ever seen. A tiny human male (approx. 1 cm.) was swimming vigorously in the amniotic fluid from the end of his umbilical cord within the intact, transparent embryo sac. This tiny male was perfectly developed with fingers and hands, toes and feet. It is my opinion that if the lawmakers and people realize that very vigorous human life is present, even at this early stage of development, it is possible that abortion would be found much more objectionable than euthanasia."

NOT DOING QUITE THE JOB WE'D HOPED FOR!

Price Uproar Continues

By DAVID BURKE
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The uproar over rising meat prices captured the business spotlight the past week as President Nixon slapped price ceilings on wholesale and retail prices and housewives across the nation planned for a weeklong boycott.

Nixon imposed a ceiling on beef, pork and lamb prices which would keep them at around current levels while he seeks a permanent cure to spiraling food costs.

Meat boycott organizers said they still planned to carry out their consumer boycott beginning Sunday, charging that Nixon's action didn't go far enough. They are seeking a rollback in prices.

Meanwhile, farmers and meat raisers were planning meetings to decide what action to take. Earlier in the week, the influential National Farmers Organization told its members to withhold livestock from the market when news of the consumer boycott began driving down prices.

Besides meat prices, some stability appeared to develop with interest rates under a new plan for a dual prime lending rate by banks. Prime interest rates at most banks settled on 6½ per cent as the Nixon administration began working out a system that would allow banks to raise corporate lending rates according to market conditions but would keep a lid on rates for smaller borrowers.

A spokesman for the Committee on Interest and Dividends said guidelines for the dual rate would be issued within the next few weeks.

In other economic news during the week, members of the United Steelworkers of America, the nation's second largest labor organization, approved a far-reaching agreement with management that they said could do away with strikes and eliminate crisis contract bargaining.

The agreement calls for the industry to open negotiations on a new three-year contract seven months in advance of the expiration of the current contract. It provides that any issues not resolved by mid-April be submitted for binding arbitration.

The agreement would also prohibit strikes during negotiations, except in cases involving local issues.

Economic reports out of Washington during the week presented a mixed picture. The government reported that its composite index of leading economic indicators rose 1.8 per cent in February, signalling the likelihood of continued strong economic gains in the months ahead. This reading followed a revised 1.4 per cent increase in January.

Open It Up

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Every time a newspaperman does a piece on the Mafia, he hears from hundreds of law-abiding Italian-Americans who are angered that only Italian names were used in the article. As one lady wrote to me after a piece I did on the Mafia's bitterness at not getting any royalties from "The Godfather": "I am sick and tired of this whole degrading, damaging stereotype that writers such as you have perpetrated on the Italian-American. It is insulting, defamatory and downright cheap."

NOW THE main problem for writers when discussing the Mafia is that while all Italian-Americans are not members of the Mafia, all members of the Mafia are Italian. The anger of the decent, hard-working Italians should be directed against the Mafia and not the people who write about them.

THE SOLUTION to the problem, as I see it, is that the Mafia has to open its membership to other ethnic groups regardless of sex, creed, religion or color.

For as long as the Mafia has been operating in the United States, it has been lily-white and open only to males of Italian extraction. This not only is un-American but is in violation of the federal law.

IF THE Mafia were just a social club, they would have every right to say who should and should not belong. But it is a proved fact that the Mafia is engaged in interstate commerce and is a profit-making organization dealing with the public.

It is time the members of the syndicate open their doors to women and blacks and people of Irish, Jewish, Polish and German descent.

ACCORDING TO all statistics, the Mafia runs the biggest business in the United States. If this is so, then they should be subject to the Equal Opportunities Act.

The Mafia has maintained that they could not run their enterprises except with Italian help. This is a 19th-century idea which has been passed down to the present Mafia families. They are keeping out people who are as well qualified, if not better, to do anything that a member of the Cosa Nostra could do.

WHAT IS the big deal about running gambling and numbers rackets, white-slavery rings and drug syndicates? You don't even need a college education to do most of the jobs that the Mafia requires of its members.

Why does a godfather always have to be the head of a Mafia family? What would be wrong with having a godmother?

Ligation Best Course

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 26 and pregnant with my third child. This is the last that my husband and I want, so we are thinking about having my tubes tied.

I'm wondering whether this is a good idea or if a hysterectomy would be preferable. I guess I'd like your opinion on which would cause fewer problems in the future. Can you explain what discomfort I'd have, or if my monthly periods or sex life would be different if the tubes were tied or I had a hysterectomy. Mrs. P.A.S.

Hysterectomy (removal of the uterus) is major surgery, and should be done only for sound medical reasons — removal of fibroid tumors, excessive bleeding, or other disease condition. Birth control would not be a valid reason for such a serious operation.

Tube-tying (ligation) is much more logical, since it is a comparatively simple operation and the recovery period is very brief. Convalescence from a hysterectomy may not be, and it is a very much costly procedure in terms of hospital stay and all that goes with it. Ligation involves the severing of the Fallopian tubes (through which ova, or eggs, pass to reach the uterus to be fertilized) and tying the ends of the tubes to close them.

Either operation, to be sure, prevents further pregnancy, but once the uterus is removed, it is impossible to have children ever again. When the tubes are tied, there is a 50-50 chance, or thereabouts, that they can later be reconstructed. At 26 you do not know what the future holds, and it is possible that some years hence you might want to attempt such reconstruction.

As to discomfort, after hysterectomy you will have the tenderness that accompanies major abdominal surgery, while the tissues heal; but there is scant if any discomfort after the tube ligation.

In either case, there is no change in your sex life — except that so many false stories have been told about hysterectomy that some women expect some drastic change, and they expect it, the emotions may take charge and cause it to be so.

After hysterectomy, menstrual periods cease, since the menstrual bleeding is the shedding of the lining of the uterus, and with no uterus, no periods. There is no change in menstruation from tying of the tubes.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a senior citizen and lately have been annoyed with cracks at both ends of my mouth. Can you suggest a remedy? I have tried salves, ointments and powders. — Mrs. H.

The two commonest causes of such trouble are allergy and vitamin deficiency from faulty diet. Since you're a senior citizen, I would investigate the second possibility: have your doctor check for any other signs of vitamin deficiency.

Things Change

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — Two months ago Richard Nixon was inaugurated for the second time as the 37th President of the United States. After a near-record landslide this was the crown of perhaps the most remarkable comeback in American political history. Everything looked rosy.

THE TRANSFORMATION occurring in these two months is the difference between day and night. With the second evaluation of the dollar and the swift drop in the stock market the economic picture looks far from bright. Inflation is pushing prices to levels not only for food but for almost every item in the household budget so high that consumers are in open revolt.

Most deadly of all is the Watergate scandal. The latest revelation by James W. McCord Jr., one of the convicted defendants in the bugging case, indicates that far more individuals were involved and that every effort was made from close to the top to put the lid on this odorous mess.

EVERYTHING THE Washington Post reported, as coming from anonymous sources, seems about to be proved out. Repeated denials by the White House and denunciation of the newspaper have been shown to be futile in the attempt to hush up the whole matter. The trial of the seven, as forthright Judge John J. Sirica said at the close, was a farce.

The scandals of the Harding Administration were crude money scandals. Warren Harding himself was a bumbling incompetent who had insisted before his nomination that he was unsuited for the Presidency. Proved tragically correct, he died before the men he had chosen for his Cabinet were unmasked as bribe-takers and betrayers of his trust.

IN THE Truman Administration the gift of several food freezers to one of the President's aides became a national issue. Under President Eisenhower poor Sherman Adams was driven out of office because he was found to have accepted a vicuna coat and a rug from an acquaintance with a petition for help from the government. All were linked to greed.

In contrast the Watergate scandal and the reported scheme to sabotage Democratic candidates in their primaries were aimed at subverting the political process itself. Directly related are the shenanigans in gathering in the $47 million for the campaign to re-elect the President.

OF THE REPUBLICAN Presidents of this century no two could be more unlike than Warren Harding and Richard Nixon. Harding's private weaknesses were women, whiskey and poker. Mr. Nixon is the soul of probity. In his own private life and that of the members of his family he sought to set an example to the country of propriety — a counter to the lowering of standards in so many departments. This surely contributed to the landslide.

BUT FOR ALL his personal righteousness, the time has long passed when it is enough merely to deny that the White House is in any way involved in the Watergate scandal. Stretching the cloak of executive privilege to cover not only present but past members of the President's staff serves merely to feed the suspicion that something really rotten is at the heart of the whole wretched business.

MY ANSWER

Billy Graham

Does a real friend offer advice to someone, even at the risk of losing their friendship? I'm worried because school friends are not that plentiful these days.

P.B.

All literature abounds in concrete examples of friendship. Notable among these are instances in the Old Testament. Abraham, because of the intimacy of his relationship, was called the "friend of God" — Isaiah 41. Exodus tells us in chapter 33, statement 11 that "The Lord spoke to Moses face to face, as a man speaks to his friend." The romantic developments from the friendship of Ruth and Naomi are interesting — Ruth 1.

But now, regarding how candid you should be with your friend, I would suggest the following. Be absolutely truthful, within the bounds of kindness and friendly concern. Truth is no less truth because it may be delayed or its communication — if an immediate sharing of it would cause harm or misunderstanding.

Friendship thrives on an open relationship, free of hypocrisy and ulterior motives. Proverbs puts it well in saying, "Iron sharpeneth iron so a man sharpeneth the countenance of his friend" (27:17), or, "Wounds from a friend are better than kisses from an enemy" (27:6).

Bible scholars have always identified the Proverbs statements in 18:24 with Jesus Christ, "there is a friend who sticks closer than a brother." If through faith you have that friendship, he'll help you with every other one.

A Devotion For Today

"As a seed, mustard is smaller than any other; but when it has grown it is bigger than any garden-plant." (Matthew 13:32, NEB)

PRAYER: Dear Lord, help us to have faith in the seed and in Thee. So may we grow into what we are meant to be. In Christ's name we ask. Amen.

Girls To Be Kept Busy In FHA Week

By CHERYL BOHANNON
FHA week is to be held this week. The week is a state project in which all clubs participate in. The Coahoma chapter has planned a project for every day of the week. Sunday will be Church Day. Every member should attend a church of their choice. Tomorrow is FHA day. Red and white is to be worn by members. Clean-up day has been set for Tuesday. The organization will clean litter from the school grounds. Wednesday will be Teacher's Day. A tea will be held in the home economic room for faculty members. Thursday, Patriotism Day, is set for all people who wish to take part. The colors red, white and blue will be worn to represent our country and the POW's return.

Visitation Day will be the next day. All members are to visit an elderly or sick person. The weekend day, Saturday, will be set aside for family day. On this day each individual in the club is to do something for her family. Participating in this project may be counted on the FHA point sheet. Anyone wishing to go to the state meeting May 6, should soon finish their three levels of encounter. The club is now selling all-occasion cards for $2.50 a box. Friday will be a busy day for Coahoma High School students. The Student Council and National Honor Society will end their calendar and card sale. The student council also set Group pictures, which were taken several weeks ago, arrived and were distributed Tuesday. Retakes of singular shots were also made by the same photographers during the week. The group pictures cost $1.30 each. Payments should be made as soon as practicable.

The Student Council met again Wednesday to review what its members did in the Spring Forum. Students also talked about what transpired and what was accomplished in their separate discussion groups. Among subjects covered in the discussion groups were drug control methods and dress codes.

They also learned that, unlike Runnels, a lot of schools have the problem of getting teachers and principals to participate in their projects. Before the meeting ended, council members set April 13 as the date for the 1950 Day and Dance. It is suggested that on that day students dress as the students did 23 years ago. The council also urged full participation on the part of the student body and is urging everyone to attend the dance.

Defends HEW Budget Cuts

HOUSTON (AP) — Caspar Weinberger, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, says the federal government is trying to get away from general programs and focus on specific areas.

Weinberger said Nixon's veto of the Vocational Rehabilitation Act was an example of what the administration was trying to accomplish.

"You can ruin a program by adding a lot of things to it," he said. "That's what this bill did."

Weinberger said funding for vocational rehabilitation had increased 75 per cent in three years.

The secretary said the federal government had been spending $200 million annually on people who are able to provide for themselves.

Under revenue sharing, he said, more federal money than ever before is being sent back to the states, counties and cities "with more freedom than we did before."

He said general revenue sharing is sending back $6.2 billion per year. These funds were never accompanied by a pledge that the federal government would continue all the programs it had going, Weinberger said.

Weinberger suggested state and local officials should make the hard decisions that Nixon made in his budget and establish some priorities for spending.

Peanuts Gang Will Take Over

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Charlie Brown and his Peanuts comic strip gang are going to take over the 1974 Tournament of Roses parade here on New Year's Day 1974.

Selection of Charles M. Schulz, creator of the strip, as grand marshal of the parade was announced by Edward Wilson, president of the 85th annual Tournament of Roses.

Wilson also announced that "Happiness Is..." will be the theme of the parade. The theme is an adaptation of a Schulz book, Happiness Is a Warm Puppy.

The theme will serve as the basis for the design and construction of 60 floral floats.

The Peanuts strip characters—Charlie Brown, Lucy, Linus and all the rest—are expected to appear prominently on many floats.

Suez Shrine Temple Brings Ceremonial Here May 4-5

The Suez Shrine Temple brings its colorful Spring ceremonial here May 4-5, and Big Spring Shrine Club officials are planning on entertaining hundreds of visitors.

This will be the occasion for induction of a new class of novices, and as usual one of the highlights will be the Shrine parade.

"We're going to have the biggest one ever," said Ted O. Groebel, ceremonial master. This sentiment was echoed by Bill Pollard, president of the host Big Spring Shrine Club, and by George Bair, potentate of the Shrine Temple.

Several other Shrine Temples have promised to send units here for the parade, added Groebel. For instance, El Miadah at El Paso is planning to bring half a dozen groups, and Austin's state champion drum and bugle corps is due to come.

There will be 10 or 12 units from the Suez territory, which is bounded roughly by Del Rio, Brownwood, Abilene, and Odessa. Included will be the Big Spring motor patrol, the Brownwood Oriental band, the Abilene

First Aid Grads Please Take Note

EDMONDS, Wash. (AP) — Anybody needing first aid better watch out for those fourth graders in the Edmonds School District.

In a recent quiz, published by the district staff news, some of the answers included:

Fainting: "Rub the person's chest or if a lady, rub her arms above her head."

Fractures: "To see if the limb is broken, wiggle it gently back and forth."

Asphyxiation: "Apply artificial respiration until the victim is dead."

Snakebite: "Bleed the wound and rape the victim in a blanket for shock."

Lulu Posts Bail On Narcotics Rap

DALLAS (AP) — City detectives arrested former television actress Bertha Louise Roman and said they seized narcotics at her apartment.

She formerly played the part of Lulu on the Hee Haw show.

Miss Roman, a 300-pounder, was free under bond while appealing a four-year prison sentence assessed last year on her conviction of possessing marijuana.

Officers said they found 100 grains of marijuana, half an ounce of an amphetamine powder called "Speed" seven LSD tablets and several unidentified capsules in Wednesday's raid.

Cheap air conditioning is no bargain.

Servel Gas Air Conditioning is a Bargain.

The bargain comes in smaller utility bills, fewer maintenance calls and the longer life of a Servel system.

But you'll never buy one cheap.

The Servel goal has always been: "Build it like the Swiss." That's why the units are precision-made. And that's why they contain more stainless steel than any other air conditioner on the market. They're built to last and to perform dependably. This and the economy of natural gas energy saves you every month.

Quality construction is the reason you pay more for Servel initially.

Because quality doesn't come cheap. Long, economical operation is the reason you'll save in the long run. Because quality pays off.

Most people can afford quality when they know all the facts. Especially when they're concerned with a cool, restful, healthy home environment — when home has a permanent meaning.

Think long and hard before you invest in central air conditioning.

Some Plowing Is Helpful

LAMESA — Plowing hurts land, but not all plowing is bad because some can help more than it hurt.

This is the view of Bob Kral, district conservationist with the U.S. Soil Conservation Service here.

Kral said that every plowing has some of these disadvantages at least to some degree: 1) Moisture is lost; 2) land is packed by machinery that pulls the plow; 3) the plow destroys natural channels, pores, and other soil structures which are vital to movement of air, water, and roots; 4) soil may be pulverized or loosened so that wind or water can erode it more rapidly; 5) plant cover protecting the land may be reduced or destroyed; 6) the plow tool itself may compact the soil (plow pan); 7) weed seed may be shifted to a more favorable depth, so that a new crop sprouts; 8) crop roots may be damaged; and 9) costs money. Hence Kral recommended plow as little as possible.

He cites use of herbicides as a step already taken in the direction of less plowing by many farmers.

Kral said that some trips with the plow are justifiable because the benefits outweigh the cost and other drawbacks. An example is plowing a loose, sandy soil in order to form clods that will resist blowing.

"But there is some truth to the saying that the more we plow, the more we have to plow," Kral said. "Also, the opposite is true to some degree — the less we plow, the less we'll need to plow."

Stealing the spotlight is nothing new for the man who is known as The Mouth That Roared. In 1951, when he was an attorney in Brooklyn, he organized a Little League talk show for ABC. It was scheduled for six weeks and ran five years. Cosell became a network radio figure, a fixture on the highly successful ABC Wide World of Sports and an incisive, tough, interesting interviewer. Fans and foes alike agree that the controversial Cosell is the best of his breed.

Billy Graham Movie Scheduled Locally

"Time to Run," a full-length motion picture filmed in Eastmancolor by World Wide Pictures, the film arm of the Billy Graham organization, will open at the Ritz Theatre April 11 and run through April 17. Advance tickets for the premiere showings are available at the three Dairy Queens, Hemphill-Wells Co., Nick's Togs, Gray's Jewelers, Modesta's Inc. and the Solid Rock Book Store.

Failed to communicate with his wife Fran, played by Joan Winmill, or their son Jeff, played by screen newcomer Randall Carver. "Time to Run" allows the viewer to become involved on one of three different levels. Viewed purely as entertainment, it is the story of Jeff's attempts at sabotage in the nuclear generating plant conceived, designed and managed by his father. Jeff strongly feels that the plant is a threat to the environment, and he puts his feelings in action. Viewed on an emotional level, the film is the drama of conflicts that are tearing a family apart — conflicts that develop between husband and wife, and between father and son. In an attempt to find freedom from the ever-growing hostilities, Jeff takes to the road, hoping to discover some meaning in his confused life.

Indian Fishing Precedes Oscar

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Some 500 Indians gathered on the bank of the Puyallup River cheered as actor Marlon Brando lowered a gillnet in the stream, hauled out two 10-pound steelhead trout and was promptly arrested nine years ago. "Are you openly defying the laws of the state of Washington?" asked Walter Neubrech, a state Game Department enforcement agent. "I'm here to help my Indian friends," Brando replied. Nine years after the fishing showdown, Brando on Tuesday night refused an Oscar as the best actor of 1972 because he said the movie industry must share blame for "degrading the Indian and making a mockery of his character."

The latter reference was to the occupation of the historic South Dakota hamlet of Wounded Knee by Indian militants on Feb. 27. Brando had been nominated for an Oscar for his role as the crime boss in the film "The Godfather." Brando came to Washington state nine years ago to join Indians involved in a dispute with the state Game Department and the state Fisheries Department over off-reservation fishing. The Indians claimed they had treaty rights to gillnet for steelhead in all accustomed places regardless of state regulations covering off-reservation fishing. The state maintained they were subject to all regulations governing off-reservation fishing. It was on March 2, 1964, that Brando climbed into a canoe with Puyallup Indian activist Hank Adams and lowered the net into the Puyallup.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — He was the symbol of the rebel generation, a muscular young man who styled his life in defiance of the Establishment. He challenged the studios and won, wasting millions of dollars by caprice. He got away with it because he was Marlon Brando, hailed by many as the best actor of America's midcentury. But in his middle years the muscles sagged, and the sharp edge of his talent seemed to have dulled. The star who could demand $1 million a picture now found himself unemployable by the Hollywood studios.

To Spend Her Life Going From One Dive To Another?

DALLAS (AP) — Carol Witter is a fantastic-looking brunette who wants to spend the rest of her life tramping from one dive to another.

"The dives are of the deep sea variety, though," said the young oceanographer who is preparing to do research from a deep submersible vehicle.

She also is vice president of the newly formed Atlantis Economic Development Corp., an oceanography firm with headquarters in land-locked Dallas.

"I first became interested in this type of work about six months ago," Carol said. "At that time, I was doing research for an independent television corporation in New York. The firm was turning out six-hour-long documentary films on ocean life."

and the eventual birth of Atlantis. "We chose Dallas because our financing for the firm is located here," said Dahlman. "And, of course, Carol is a native Texan, coming from Austin."

The firm's first major project will get under way next month in the Caribbean off Central America.

"We have contracts with several Central American governments to do research for development of a fish farming area there," said Miss Witter.

"The thing that makes our expedition unique is Carol's involvement," Dahlman said. "Women traditionally have been excluded from astronaut and aquanaut type programs but she is going to change all this."

Pot Puffers Receive Bad Cancer News

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A medical researcher says marijuana apparently is as likely to produce cancer as cigarette tobacco because pot puffers usually hold the smoke in their lungs as long as possible.

Dr. Wolfgang Vogel said he and two colleagues applied to marijuana the same test procedures used by the U.S. surgeon general's study of cigarette smoking.

MARIJUANA TARS
"The results strongly indicate the marijuana tar is a cancer producer just as much as tobacco tar," said Vogel, an associate professor of pharmacology at Jefferson Medical College here.

"True, nobody smokes 20 reeferers a day, but the smoke from each puff is deliberately held in the lungs for as long as possible, unlike the case with cigarettes," Vogel said.

"You can probably get as much tar from two reeferers as you would from a pack of cigarettes."

Vogel said he and two researchers from the Veterans Administration Hospital at nearby Coatesville, Pa., spent several months studying 60 mice in the tests.

Twenty mice receiving an application of a solution containing marijuana tars on their skin for five days developed signs of cancer, said a spokesman for Thomas Jefferson University.

SKIN OF MICE
The signs also appeared on another 20 mice exposed to the known cancer agent benzo-a-pyrene, while 20 mice receiving neither substance remained healthy, the spokesman said.

The research was conducted at labs at Jefferson and at the VA hospital, where John C. Cottrell and Dr. Seung S. Sohn assisted Vogel.

Sex Talking Shows Draw FCC Inquiry

WASHINGTON (AP) — Responding to complaints, the Federal Communications Commission has ordered an investigation of such programs as sex talk shows to determine if broadcasters have carried "obscene, indecent or profane material."

The announcement did not name any stations that have been the focus of complaints.

But the FCC said it will try to determine whether any radio or television station, cable-system owner, operator or any employe has engaged in broadcasting anything that is obscene or indecent.

The FCC has received a flood of complaints about sex-talk radio programs in which an interviewer, usually a man, chats with unidentified women who call in to discuss their sex lives. Complaints also have been received about X-rated movies being aired late at night by some television stations.

The FCC has been telling the protesters by form letter that the Communications Act prohibits it from censoring programs. But it says a station can be fined for broadcasting obscene or indecent shows.

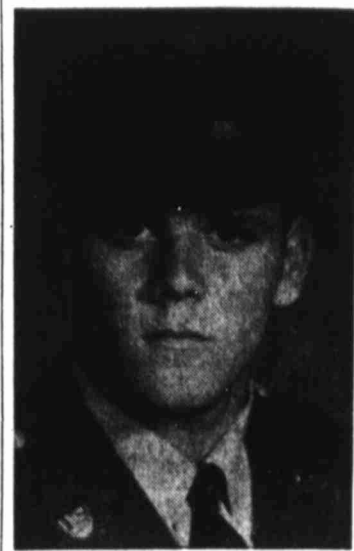

It also says that FCC is looking for a case to provide a court test of its power to fine, but not regulate, such programs.
