IN AUSTIN Rings Lost 40 Years Found

Don't give up hope if you've lost your senior ring. Some kind soul may find and return it.
Glenn Guthrie recently had his senior ring returned after it had been lost for 40 years.
A Texas Education Agency employe in Austin was spending his Sunday afternoons operating a metal detector down by the creek in back of the Seminary in Austin.
He found a Big Spring High School ring, six inches underground, with the initials GTG and the year 1932. So he called the school offices in Big Spring.
Guthrie taught math here until he retired two years ago, and the secretary who answered the telephone knew him well. When asked if she knew to whom the ring might belong, she replied "I have a good idea, but I'll check and let you know."
The person who found the ring was quite thrilled over locating the owner and the next trip he made to West Texas he dropped by Big Spring and returned the ring.
The irony of it is that Mrs. Guthrie has worn her high school ring for many years. It is worn off. Her husband's ring, on the other hand, is in good shape, and looks like new after being buried for four decades.

WATERGATE WHISKY GETS HOT

Magruder Resigns Post

BULLETIN
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The judge in the Pentagon papers trial revealed a secret memorandum today saying that Watergate defendants E. Howard Hunt and Gordon Liddy burglarized the files of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist and took Ellsberg's psychiatric records.

John F. Kennedy in the 1963 assassination of South Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem. Magruder reportedly had been both an accuser and an accused in the case. He left his $36,000-a-year job as Commerce Department director of policy development without formal notice. His lawyer, James J. Bierbower, was asked late Thursday night for an explanation, and said flatly, "There will be none."

Recent news reports have quoted Magruder as telling federal prosecutors that Mitchell and Dean, the White House counsel, approved and helped plan last summer's wiretapping of Democratic offices. Magruder also reportedly said the pair later arranged payoffs to silence the defendants in the case.

Magruder has declined to speak to newsmen since reports of his accusations broke into print. His lawyer has said he advised him not to make public statements.

—The Washington Post, quoting reliable sources, said that Dean told President Nixon on March 20 that "to save the presidency" Dean and Nixon's two top aides—H. R. Haldeman and Ehrlichman—would have to disclose all they knew about Watergate and face the possible consequence of going to jail. The Post said Dean told federal prosecutors all he knew on April 6 but Haldeman and Ehrlichman apparently balked.

Gangland Slaying

DALLAS (AP) — A Mineola, Tex., man, arrested on a traffic violation near Atlanta, Ga., is being held today for extradition to Dallas to face two charges of murder.
DeKalb County, Ga., police said Larry Gale Culbreath, 32, was arrested Thursday night when officers noted his car carried expired license plates.
Police Lt. E. E. McCart of DeKalb County said a routine check disclosed two murder warrants outstanding against Culbreath.
Culbreath is charged in the Dec. 9, 1972 slaying of James Timothy Overton, 32, a bank burglar released from the Leavenworth federal prison two months earlier, and the killing of Wanda Jewel Long, 27, who had several Dallas addresses.
Both Overton and the woman were well known to police. They were found shot to death in a park, their bodies some distance apart.

Cambodia's Rebels Call For Protests

PHNOM PENH (AP) — With enemy forces as close as two miles from this capital, Cambodia's Communist rebels called today for riots and protests to overthrow the government of President Lon Nol. They said their artillery now can hit any point in Phnom Penh.

The Khmer Rouge—Cambodian Reds—urged in a clandestine radio broadcast that Cambodians living in government-controlled areas rise up against the president who earlier in the week agreed to the creation of a four-man High Political Council, including himself and three non-Communist oppositionists, to rule the republic.

The broadcast claimed government leaders, including those Lon Nol agreed to bring into a new government, were in panic.

Test Track Death Near San Angelo

SAN ANGELO (AP) — Don Fennell, 41, of San Angelo was killed Thursday night when the tractor-trailer rig he was driving rolled over on the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. test track near here.
Goodyear officials said they were investigating the incident, but would give no further details.
The track is sometimes used through the 24 hours for extensive tire testing.

Scaling Building Strictly Verboten

Nothing is simple these days.
A group of children discovered pigeon eggs on the roof of a business building here Thursday and ran afoul of the law, after climbing onto the structure's roof to examine them.
A person spotted the adventurers from a hospital across the street and notified the police, who checked out the incident and lectured the small fry on getting proper clearance from the structure's owner before checking out the nest.
The boys were then sent home.

Stanton May Hire City Manager

STANTON — The city of Stanton is seeking a city manager, which will be the first time that it has employed an administrative officer to operate the business of the city.
E. C. Epley, mayor, said that the city commission decided that the business of operating a city is becoming increasingly complex and "we need the services of an expert."
Stanton has been advertising in the Texas Municipal League magazine and is carefully interviewing all applicants.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — L. Patrick Gray III, acting director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, today submitted his resignation as head of the nation's chief law enforcement agency.

J. L. Webb Is Visitor; Base Named For His Son

Webb AFB had a distinguished visitor Thursday — J. L. Webb, the father of the late Lt. James Webb for whom the base is named.
Mr. Webb, who lived here until 1936, now resides in Dimmitt. This was his first visit since activation of the base. Col. Stanley Umstead, wing commander, personally conducted Mr. and Mrs. Webb on a tour of the base.
"I was tremendously honored and impressed," said Mr. Webb. He added that he hoped to accept the invitation of Col. Umstead to be a guest at the next graduation of a pilots' class at Webb.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sudden, unexplained resignation of former Nixon campaign deputy Jeb S. Magruder from the Commerce Department adds a new dimension to the Watergate scandal.
It was the first resignation of any high administration official involved in the widening wire-tap affair.

NEVER SEE LIGHT
After hearing the new disclosures, Sen. Robert C. Byrd, assistant majority leader of the Senate, called today for Gray and Dean to resign.

The West Virginia Democrat also added his voice to those calling for a special Watergate prosecutor to replace Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry E. Petersen who is supervising a presidential inquiry into Watergate.

In another development, Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., said his friend L. Patrick Gray, acting head of the FBI, had destroyed politically sensitive documents taken from the White House safe of Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt.

Weicker said Gray acted on orders of White House aides John D. Ehrlichman and John W. Dean III. Ehrlichman confirmed that he gave such materials to Gray, but denied ordering them destroyed. Dean couldn't be reached. Gray worked in his office today and avoided newsmen.

DESTROYED FILES
The destroyed files, taken from Hunt's office after last summer's Watergate raid, reportedly contained fake State Department cables purporting to implicate the late President

ANOTHER WATERGATE DEVELOPMENT — The President's special Watergate prosecutor is investigating acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray's reported destruction of politically sensitive files belonging to bugging conspirator E. Howard Hunt. According to accounts published in New York newspapers, Gray is prepared to tell the Watergate grand jury that he burned the files at the suggestion of White House Counsel John Dean III and presidential adviser John Ehrlichman. Ehrlichman has denied advising destruction of the files. See story Page 4-B.

End Appears Near In House On What May Be Fuss Mark

AUSTIN (AP) — Hoping to finish work on the $9.7 billion state spending bill today, the House whipped through amendments at a rapid clip after getting off to a slow start. Representatives voted on five amendments in the first 30 minutes, much faster than their average of the preceding six days of debate.

They tabled, 120-13, an amendment by Rep. Bill Hollowell, D-Grand Saline, cutting out the $14 million allocated by the general appropriation bill for organized research at state-supported college and universities.

FOR EVACUATION
"I am strong for higher education, but I am also for teachers teaching a full load and not one or two courses and loafing the rest of the week," Hollowell said. "If this money was dedicated to medical research I would be for it, but some of it is dedicated to humanities research."
Rep. Neil Caldwell, D-Angleton, House Appropriations Committee chairman, said University of Texas scientists were laughed at years ago for studying the sex lives of fruit flies.
"They're not laughing any more, because that research enabled us to control the screw-worm," Caldwell said.
Despite Speaker Price Daniel's plea that they be on time and resume work on the appropriation bill shortly after 9 a.m., a quorum of the House was not declared until 9:20 a.m., and it was 9:37 a.m. when the first amendment of the day was laid out.
Daniel told the House numerous amendments had been withdrawn, and only 48 were left on his desk shortly after 10 a.m. He said food would be brought in at noon so they would not have to leave the House chamber for lunch.

CHOP, CHOP
Rep. Ed Howard, D-Texas, was on the short end of a 77-54 vote on his amendment to chop $4 million out of the University of Texas at Austin's general administration item.
He said the university had used such money to build a $1 million home for the chancellor, buy a $500,000 airplane and purchase the Forty Acres Club near the campus.

Howard called the club "the favorite watering hole of the czar himself," an apparent reference to UT regent Frank Erwin.
"If they can find the funds to do that, they can find the funds to run the administration office," Howard said.
Hollowell could muster only 16 votes for an amendment cutting about $300,000 from the UT budget, mainly scholarships and fellowships at the University's Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs.

SPENDING CLOCK FLOP

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Chamber of Commerce today unveiled a federal spending clock to keep track of government spending, but the clock did not work for nearly an hour after the unveiling.
The clock, located in chamber headquarters here, is designed to record federal expenditures at a rate of $10,000 each one and one-quarter seconds, and $1 million each two minutes, six seconds.
The clock finally started working 55 minutes after the unveiling. In that time, it missed approximately $25 million in government spending, according to its own rate of computation.

Earthquake Jars Hawaii

HILO, Hawaii (AP) — An earthquake which shook the Hawaiian island chain did moderate damage to structures in Hilo, the state's second largest city. Police said eight persons were injured, but no deaths were reported.

The tremor struck Thursday with its epicenter located a dozen miles north of Hilo—a sea coast town of 26,000 persons—at a depth of about 25 miles, said Bob Shanks, chief of the state civil defense agency in Honolulu.

"Had it been under Hilo, there would have been greater damage, and probably some loss of life," Shanks said.
Scientists at the U.S. Geological Survey at Volcanoes National Park said the tremor registered 6.0 on the Richter scale of earthquake intensity. It lasted a total of 15 minutes, beginning at 10:26 a.m.

Auto Firms Set 'Open Houses'

Members of the Big Spring New Car Dealers Association will observe "open house" this weekend, during which time they are encouraging their friends to drop by for conversation, for looks at the new vehicles and for refreshments.
Although the 1973 models have been in production for several months, many people have not had the time to examine and perhaps test the models.
Special pages on the inside of this edition of the Herald are being devoted to the dealers' plans for their "open houses."

Warm

Partly cloudy and warm Saturday. High today, upper 60s. Low tonight, middle 40s. High Saturday, around 80.

Are You Ready? — DST Shows Up Here Sunday

The dawn's early light will be an hour later after 2 a.m. Sunday when all Texans are requested to set their clocks forward one hour for the semi-annual Daylight Savings Time switchover.

The majority of the citizenry set their clocks forward when they go to bed Saturday night, although some forget it until sometime Sunday when they seem to suddenly be behind the time.

Purpose of the change is to allow an extra hour of daylight in the evening hours through the summer months.
Those who are supposed to be delighted with the change are reported to be golfers, fishermen, baseball players, and children.

Those who are usually less than delighted are drive-in theatre operators, lovers, and the old-guard who "don't like people messing with the clock."

The choice is simple. You either set your clock up and conform with the bus schedules, school opening times, store hours, and all the other conformists, or you refuse to change your time piece and remain an hour behind time from now through October. It's April in Texas and along with bluebonnets in the spring comes DST switchover. The hour is at hand.

Project Still Undetermined

The next two weeks may reveal whether the Colorado River Municipal Water District will have state cooperation in a scientific evaluation of its weather modification project.

O. H. Ivie, general manager of CRMWD, said today on his return from Austin that the House is still debating the biennial appropriations bill. The sections dealing with water may come up for consideration next week. The appropriations committee has included a line item of $100,000 a year in state funds for the study, but the Senate version, already completed, is $25,000. Ivie said the House figure is necessary for a significant evaluation.

The district currently is in its third year of weather modification efforts, but no more than a precursory comparison with surrounding areas is possible now to estimate if the program is producing significant results.

While in Austin with Paschal Odum, assistant general manager, and R. A. Schooling, administrative system, the CRMWD officials looked into availability of money for boat ramps at Lake E. V. Spence. They had been told that $15,000 was available now, but at Austin they learned this would not be released until mid-May, if then. The district applied for four ramps under a Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission program.

Inquiries also were made about qualitative studies on Bear's Creek, which empties into the Colorado River above Lake E. V. Spence. Its low flows are highly mineralized.

BSHS Teachers Attend Workshop

Over 100 chemistry teachers and students from area high schools and junior colleges are expected to attend a chemistry workshop Saturday at the Permian Basin.

Representing Big Spring High School will be Pat Lawrence and Dave McNeely, chemistry teachers and Bill Hakes and David Knezek, physical science teachers.

Chemistry educators from throughout the Permian Basin have been invited to come to a Short Course on Infra-Red Spectroscopy and Its Use, sponsored by the Permian Basin section of the American Chemical Society.

The workshop course on spectroscopy is an illustrated auto-tutorial program provided by Rexene Polymers Co. of Odessa. The instruction through the use of slides and cassette tapes is similar to some of the educational methods that will be used at UTPB.

The workshop Saturday is being coordinated by Dr. Fred Haupt, associate professor of chemistry at UTPB.

Massacre Shouldn't Stop Games, Insists Olympian

By JOHN EDWARDS
The Olympics should not be discontinued because of the massacre of Israelis at Munich, Germany in 1972, a winner of two gold medals in swimming told about 300 at the Zale-Herald Youth Awards Dinner Thursday night.

Jerry Heidenreich, a Dallas native, called the Olympics the "single most powerful force in bringing together the people of the world."

"It would be a grievous mistake if this was the last Olympics," Heidenreich said. He described the event as "Man trying to extend his reach beyond his grasp."

SPECTACLE HEALS
When Mark Spitz won his seventh gold medal in swimming, a retarded child who had never spoken said "Mark Spitz, I love you."

Heidenreich, who jokingly said he is called "the closest thing to Mark Spitz in Dallas," was telling the audience about one of "a thousand letters"

Spitz received daily during the Olympics.

At the Olympics, Heidenreich discovered "the secret to life is not conquering but doing well."

To succeed, Heidenreich said you must create an image of what you want to be and do and concentrate your energies around a central goal.

WINNERS NAMED
The only Texan to ever win four Olympic medals — two gold, a silver and a bronze — congratulated the winners of youth achievement awards:

Susan Lee Smith, Big Spring High School; Cheryl Ann Bohannon, Coahoma; William (Bill) Deryll Dockery, Colorado City; Gayle Moore, Forsan; Greg Cannady, Lamesa; Jill Hunt, Sands; and Marc Briggs, Stanton.

Other nominees were Bonnie Faye Anderson, George Randall Grimes, John Crawford Hicks, Dana Mancill, Richard Don Mitchell, Roy Curtis Mullins III and John Rihard, all of Big Spring.

Kenneth Schulke, Sands; and Deborah Lee Lambert and Dwayne McMeans, Stanton.

BIG SPRING'S 21th Speaking for Zale Corporation was Sidney Lipshy, vice president, Dallas. W. S. (Dub) Pearson, publisher of the Big Spring Herald and master of ceremonies, mentioned that Lipshy opened Big Spring's Zale store 26 years ago.

Lipshy said that Zale store number 21 for the firm established less than 50 years ago. The Zale Corporation now owns 1,600 stores of various kinds and employs 17,000 persons internationally.

The Texas-based corporation started with one jewelry store in Wichita Falls.

"There are no opportunities like we have here (in the United States)," Lipshy explained.

No one need worry about the future with youth like those represented, Pearson said, concluding the meeting.

The Big Spring Herald and Zale Corporation sponsored the 8th annual Awards Dinner held at the Big Spring Country Club. Zale representatives included Bobby Gee, local manager.

The crowd included city and school representatives from the seven cities.

The Rev. Harlan Birdwell of St. Mary's Episcopal Church gave the invocation. He and Carrol Choate, Walter Buckel, Mrs. Jerry Avery, Curt Mullins, Dr. Neil Sanders and Mac McKinnon were judges.

The banquet here is only one of two sponsored by Zale's throughout the country. The other takes place in Dallas, site of the company's home office.

Scout Executive Board Adopts Proposed Budget

The executive board of the Buffalo Trails council of Boy Scouts of America adopted a proposed $210,915 budget at the quarterly meeting in Midland Thursday evening.

The meeting also served as the annual program planning session for the council area which stretches from Snyder and Colorado City on the east to embrace the Big Bend country on the southwest.

Benny Kilcrease, Life Scout from Troop 67 in Pecos, was honored with a special merit certificate from the BSA for heroic action Nov. 18, 1972. He was aboard a Pecos school bus which collided with a large sedan, whose driver was killed instantly. The bus overturned, but despite spilling gasoline from both vehicles, Benny began opening bus windows and helping passengers get out and to safety. Board members gave him a prolonged standing ovation.

Virtually all of the proposed $7,000 increase in the council's budget is for salary adjustments and allied costs.

The gift of $3,000 from Mrs. Paul Moss, Odessa, for completion of the remodeled kitchen at the Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountains was announced. So was a $6,000 bequest from the family of W. B. Stowe, a leading council volunteer, for the Stowe Training Center at the ranch.

Also, it was announced a telephone line is being extended to the ranch headquarters, which has been connected heretofore only by short-wave radio.

Registration for summer camp is lagging, although, the Big Spring (Lone Star) district is ahead. Next executive board meeting will be at the ranch June 22, said Bruno Hanson, president. This also will be a Cub dad-and-lad day.

Participating in the board session and the program-planning committees from here were J. Arnold Marshall, district chairman, Dr. Thomas Salter, Guy Griffith, Ben Johnson, Maj. Jim Rogers, Joe Pickle, Dr. Paul Koshi, Bill Priebe, Bill Fryer, Garrett Patton, Reeves Moren and Ernie Boyd.

On the year the Big Springers are 11-10, and Cooper stands 2-2 and 10-9.

Greg Crawford, 1-1 in district, will probably be on the mound for the Longhorns, while the Cougs may start either Don Lawson (4-2) or Alan Lakatta (1-2).

Fastball Topples Cedeno, Houston

It's a good thing that Tug McGraw doesn't listen to his catcher, Duffy Dyer said, "screwball" and McGraw replied, "fastball." The New York Mets' star relief pitcher then threw the pitch of his choice past Cesar Cedeno for a key strikeout that helped preserve a 2-1 victory over the Houston Astros Thursday night. "I shook off Dyer three times before he called the fastball," said McGraw about a tense ninth-inning situation. "I had thrown screwball, screwball and curveball. I just felt that I could get the fastball past him, and that's what happened."

PRE-GAME THREATS — Al Valdes, center, tells the Big Spring Steers what the Quarterback Club All-Stars plan to do to their opposition in their scheduled benefit baseball game Saturday at 8:30 p.m. at Johnny Stone Park. Steer coach Larry Horton, second from right, listens politely along with players Gilbert Pesina, Willie Williams and Ricky Steen, at left. Quarterback Club co-captain Harold Canning, right, also gets in on the discussion.

QB All-Stars Battle Steers

The Big Spring Steers and the Quarterback Club All-Stars will battle Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in a benefit game at Steer Park. Proceeds will go toward financing the All-Sports Banquet, set for next Thursday. Reason for the late start is so that persons can attend Little League games and still arrive in time for the game.

Coach Larry Horton will pitch for the Steers, and the hefty hurler has also been cast in a foot race around the bases with speedy Jerry Knoepfel during field competition, which will be held midway through the game.

In addition to the feature race, players on both teams will have competition throwing to bases and foot races.

The Steers scored a 7-2 victory last year, and will be favored by an even bigger margin this year. Gilbert Pesina and Ricky Steen, two of the leading hitters in Dist. 5-AAAA, will pace the Longhorns at the plate.

One father-son rivalry will be on the line, as Mike Tredaway will be at first base for the Steers and Marion, his father, will be in the Stars' lineup.

Joining Tredaway on the All-Stars' team will be captain Al Valdes, Jim Baum, Tito Arenabria, Roy New, Bernard Mc Mahan, Danny Valdes, Jimmy Rogers, Gim Zapp and others.

Harold Canning, Mrs. Wilma Grice and Byron Smith are Quarterback Club co-captains. Valdes said that his team would have a practice today at 7:30 p.m. at Johnny Stone Park.

Steer JVs Gain Semis

MIDLAND — The Big Spring Steer Junior Varsity ripped Odessa Permian's JV 8-1 Thursday and advanced to the second round of the Midland Junior Varsity Baseball Tournament.

Coach J. B. Wilson's team now meets Midland High's JV in a 10 a.m. semifinal game Saturday, and a victory would put the Steers into the finals at 4 p.m. There is no third place game.

Wayne Dickens allowed four hits in the six-inning affair, running his personal record to 6-1 as the team lifted its mark to 9-4-1.

The Steers collected eight singles, including two apiece by Sammy Rodriguez, John Thomas Smith and Fernie Paredez. Barry Canning and Roger Battle also picked up a safety.

Other teams entered in the tournament are Snyder, Hobbs, N.M., Odessa High and Midland Lee.

Opening Saturday for Texas Loop. The Texas League will have its official opening Saturday at the TL Park behind Bauer School on Northwest 9th Street, and league officials have asked that all players from all major and minor league teams be present and in uniform. Opening ceremonies will get under way at 6:30 p.m., and a game between the Red Sox and Orioles will follow.

Bies Leads Nelson; Trevino Drops Out

DALLAS (AP) — Lee Trevino who says he is "sick and tired of flinching every time I swing at the ball," will have to wait at least another week to become a golfing millionaire because of an injury suffered while fishing for bass.

Trevino, about $14,000 short of joining Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Billy Casper in the $1-million category, shot himself out of the Byron Nelson Golf Classic Thursday with a nine-over-par 79 which included a fat 45 on the back side.

Don Bies of Seattle, whose greatest accomplishment was beating Arnold Palmer head-on in a match play tournament, battled wind and cold to take the first-round lead with a five-under-par 65.

"The pain killed me when I swung at the ball on the back nine," Trevino said. "I shot 45 and I can't ever remember shooting 54 before — not even when I was eight years old."

Trevino said he injured the shoulder six weeks ago. A doctor diagnosed his problem as a pulled muscle. But Trevino wasn't satisfied and sought an other doctor for an X ray after Thursday's round.

"I don't know how it can be a muscle when it hurts all the time," Trevino said.

C-City Sets Fish Tourney

COLORADO CITY — The second annual Chamber of Commerce fishing tournament will be held this weekend with prizes totaling $300 in cash and two trophies.

Entry fee for the tournament is $2 for adults and $1 for those 12 and under. Entrants must pay an entry fee and receive a receipt.

This can be accomplished at the chamber office, Sparks Hardware, Cooper's Cove, Louie's Lakeside Lodge, Lake View Camp, Cherry Creek Camp, Mattie's Cabins on Lake Colorado City and at Green Acres and Fisher Park on Lake Champion.

There are four categories including bass with $100 for the biggest catch and $50 for second largest bass; catfish, $75 for largest cat and $50 for second; 12 and under, a trophy for the most game fish caught and 12 and under, a trophy for the largest game fish caught.

Bobby Sparks, general chairman, said the purpose of the tournament is to let a real fisherman know of the "tremendous fishing facilities in Colorado City at the two lakes."

Sprull, 27, was gunned down in the parking lot of a restaurant. He has just begun an off duty job as a security guard when he was killed.

Authorities said Port Arthur police arrested Bobb late Wednesday. Fentis was in custody at a Dallas hospital. Authorities said Fentis was wounded during a February shootout with officers at Garland.

It's Her Problem

Jean Adams
TEEN FORUM

DISPUTE: (Q.) My friend Mary has a mother who is very strict. Mary is in trouble with her mother, but I think it is her own fault, because she talks back and insists on having her own way.

This morning Mary and I started out walking to school together. Her mother called her back. Mary asked me to wait for her. I waited five minutes and then walked back and rang the doorbell.

Her mother came to the door and said Mary wasn't going to school. She did come to school that afternoon. I asked her what the trouble was. She burst into tears and said she hated her mother.

Do you have any advice for Mary? She is 14 and planning to run away.

True Friend in Pennsylvania.

(A.) I am not sure Mary wants any advice. If she doesn't, advising her won't help. If she will listen to you, you can tell her the truth about what you think — that she causes trouble for herself by her rebelliousness. If she could be more reasonable, she might get along better with her mother.

Also you can talk to her about all the advantages of NOT running away. To run away would mean to lose her school, her friends, and the many small joys and comforts of home — in addition to food and shelter and love.

Running away is not a good answer. Being reasonable is a better one.

DRUGS: (Q.) I have a friend and I like him very much. I just found out he has been arrested for possession of drugs. I want to help some way. He used to be a good Christian and he went to church regularly. If you have any suggestions about how I can help him, please tell me. He is 18 or 19. — Unhappy in Alabama.

(A.) Reason with your friend. If he has a history of being a strong Christian, he should have at least a consciousness of right and wrong, so start by approaching him on a Christian-to-Christian basis.

Second, equip yourself with as many facts about drugs as you can, and use them to try to convince him that he is playing a losing game.

Jean Adams reads and considers every letter, but she regrets that she cannot answer each personally. Mail your questions and comments to Jean Adams, care of The Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77061.

Simple, Bitter Medicine

Rep. Omar Burleson, in his visit here, rated fiscal responsibility as the nation's priority problem.

He's pretty close to being on the mark, if not hitting the bulls-eye. It always has been true and still is that one of the major causes of inflation is governmental spending in excess of its revenues. This policy, sustained over a period of time, simply turns loose more money to bid for the same amount of goods. In this sort of spirited auction, the bidding goes up.

Prospects are, said Rep. Burleson, that the federal debt limit will have to be revised upwards to nearly $500 billion to accommodate the anticipated budget of this year. That's a sobering figure, but so is the fact that only half a dozen times within the past 40 years have we balanced the budget — or in other words have we lived within our means. Some of these were war and emergency years, but far more of them were prosperous, expanding years.

The congressman put his finger on one of the difficulties — if not absurdities. There is no relationship between appropriations and revenue. Even Scripture says that none would begin a building without our first calculating the costs, and certainly no individual or business would incur obligations without some reasonably accurate estimate of the resources to meet that obligation.

There is a second practice which defies logic, namely the practice of continuous authorization. This might be called an open-end appropriation, for once authorized, these expenditures go on and on without control or review by the Congress. Perhaps someone knows how much this comes to — perhaps.

Finally, if these fiscal facts can be clearly presented, the ultimate problem is for Congress (and that in reality is the people back home) to discipline itself (or themselves) to the point of demanding that the budget be balanced. This can mean either one of two things — holding expenditures within forecasted revenue, or increasing taxes to produce the revenue needed. This may be bitter medicine, but it contains great curative powers which not only would deal immediately with the sickness of inflation, but would cure a lot of other ills such as foreign trade, etc.

Shultz Is Learning

Secretary of the Treasury George P. Shultz is a man that profits from experience. He has become more cautious about his predictions.

Just before President Nixon dropped or modified some wage and price controls Jan. 11, Shultz confidently predicted that no such move was being considered. He implied that the move from Phase II to Phase III might be delayed until late this year. The President's decision to go to Phase III must have surprised him as much as anyone else.

Now the question of a new wage-price freeze is being discussed, outside the White House if not inside. Shultz virtually ruled out a new wage-price freeze when talking with newsmen, but added, "A general across-the-board wage-price freeze is not under active consideration by the President so far as I know."

Shultz obviously doesn't want to be caught flat-footed if the President changes his mind without telling him, as he did before.

You can go to Palestine, Paris, Turkey, China, Italy, Iran, Miami, Los Angeles and San Diego and never leave Texas.

Around 30 miles south of the Red River, you'll find Paris. Nothing could be more unlike the French capital and center of the fashion market than this agricultural center and county seat.

Spent winter there, and you'll see how like the Florida resort city Miami, Texas, is. Miami is found northeast of Pampa and is Indian for sweetheart.

THE CENTURY-OLD town of Palestine East, Texas is the home of a scientific balloon station which conducts atmospheric tests.

Turkey was not named for the country but for the birds that used to roost on a now dry creek bed. When the Panhandle town of 800 and nearby Quitaque (named for an Indian tribe) recently consolidated their high schools, they called it Valley High.

Iraan was not misspelled or derived from the Middle East country. It comes from site owners, Ira and Ann Yates, the Texas Almanac states.

Italy, according to the almanac, was named for the country because of its location in northeast Texas and its climate.

China lies just east of Beaumont.

LOS ANGELES, a city of two beer joints and a two-shelf grocery, sets in the middle of the South Texas semi-desert.

Also of South Texas is San Diego, home of George Parr and Duval County seat. A former area reporter, I believe it probably has the largest number of violent deaths of any Texas city per capita. Population is 3,759.

Sundown, Sunset, Sunset Valley, Sunray and Sunmyvale are all Texas Cities. Another pastoral name is Zephyr, or the West Wind, according to the dictionary.

Nailing Custard Pie

WASHINGTON — What must surely be devilish coincidence dictates that mass bombing in Indochina was full blown on the great anniversaries of the Christian faith. For Christmas it was the bombing of North Vietnam. For Easter the bombs rained down on shattered Cambodia.

PRIOR TO the Nixon incursion with American ground and air power in 1970 Cambodia retained some vestiges of its charming, slightly comic-opera past. The latest report by a study group of nine persons sent to Indochina by Sen. Edward Kennedy's subcommittee on refugees shows half the population herded into refugee camps, on the brink of starvation, with a rising threat of epidemics among a people close to extinction.

Except for the terse announcement from Pacific headquarters in Honolulu saying the raids are continuing, the Defense Department keeps tight security on numbers. On the scene, however, it is estimated that 8,000 sorties have been flown by B-52s. This is comparable to all but the most intense bombing of the Indochina war.

ALL THIS is to prop up the government of Lon Nol in Phnom Penh and to compel the Communists to come to the peace table. Propping up Lon Nol is like, in Al Smith's famous figure of speech, trying to nail a custard pie to the wall. Although the Administration is trying to keep the lid on, reporters working under great handicaps in the field are bringing out the painful truth. A hard-hitting dispatch from staff correspondent Arnold B. Isaacs of the Baltimore Sun from Phnom Penh put it on the line:

"Despite the heavy United States bombing, President Lon Nol's ramshackle army has lost substantial territory and population to the Communist-led Cambodian insurgents in the last two months. Government troops, cheated of their pay by corrupt officers and often defeated on the battlefield through the incompetence of their commanders, are growing more demoralized.

"POPULAR SUPPORT for the government has melted away. There is no sign of peace negotiations or the 'de facto' ceasefire that the White House has predicted would follow the Vietnam peace agreement."

Lon Nol's offer of negotiation has a decidedly phony sound. The unhappy President, dominated by his brother Lon Non whose corruption even by Asian standards is wonderful to behold, is trying to revamp his government by bringing in opposition leaders in response to a demand from President Nixon brought by Gen. Alexander Haig when he went to Phnom Penh. But so long as Lon Non is next to the seat of power the Khmer Rouge, the Cambodian insurgents, will not negotiate.

THE COLLAPSE of Cambodia is only one aspect of the swift deterioration of the "peace with honor" arrived at by President Nixon and his principal negotiator, Henry A. Kissinger. The suspicion is strong here that, if the reported North Vietnamese violations of the ceasefire continue, the President will order bombing of the north resumed. This will, in short, be the air war as before.

SO MUCH was said about the success of Vietnamization that one can only wonder what has happened to the forces of the government of President Nguyen Van Thieu that were created with vast amounts of American help to insure his independence. American help armed and sustained a force put at 1,100,000 on the ground. With planes and helicopters provided by Washington the South Vietnamese air force was at one time rated fifth in the world — in numbers, at any rate. The grim fear is that, for all the ruffles and flourishes of his American visit, Thieu is another custard pie.

MUNDABRILLA, Australia (AP) — Mundabrilla is a collection of cottages occupied by maintenance men for Australia's transcontinental railway.

It's 775 miles east of Perth and 1,687 miles west of Sydney—the two cities that a train called the Indian-Pacific links in a trip that takes the best part of three days and three nights.

The train is air-conditioned and has a club car, dining car, single and twin roomettes, showers and easy chairs. Most of the time it's booked months in advance.

The Indian-Pacific is so named because it is a link between those two oceans.

Out from Mundabrilla, going east, the stunted mulga and mallee trees become fewer as the train rolls toward the Nullarbor plain at a steady 60 miles an hour.

Nullarbor is Latin for "not any trees" and the rail track runs for 420 miles across this limestone plain with never a tree in sight—perfectly flat with only saltbush or spinifex grass as far as one can see.

There's no town in this area, only occasional groupings of railroad workers' cottages and places which watered the locomotives before diesel-electrics took over from steam.

The express stops at few of these settlements. They are served by the affectionately named Tea and Sugar, a train that includes clothing and grocery stores, a butcher, correspondence course teachers for the children, a nurse, and at times a doctor and a dentist.

The trans-Australia railroad is single track much of the 2,461 miles, but there are side-tracks for the Indian-Pacific to slip past freight trains a mile long.

The meals in the dining car, of tourist ship standard, are included in the price of the ticket, and as on ships people quickly become friendly.

The one-way fare of $151.87 first class, $115.44 economy compares with the air fare of $220.24 first or $184.32 economy.

Running of the Indian-Pacific became possible in 1970 with the completion of standard-gauge tracks from Perth to Fremantle, and on the "missing link" between Port Pirie in south Australia and Broken Hill in western New South Wales. There used to be different gauges.

People talk of the days 20 years ago, when rail travel across the Nullarbor desert was in stifling hot steam trains with no air-conditioning. In those days they handed out big brown paper bags in which to put your clothes at night to protect them from the dust.

Like all Australian trains, the Indian-Pacific is government-owned and operated.

A social service worker tells me that in some parts of the country there is a Well-Being Service for the Aging. This is relatively new, but its function is to check periodically on people like you who live alone, either by phone or visit.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it possible for a girl from 15 to 17 years old to have a baby without any complications? — M.S.

If you mean medical complications — yes.

Shingles can be a painful disease! To receive a copy of Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "The Facts About Shingles," write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

I depend, sort of, on how much of an emergency you have in mind. And are you sure the company doctor wouldn't be available for at least a telephone call? Since he knows your general condition, it might be very helpful to have a bit of conversation with him if, for example, you were to contract some serious illness.

There are several things you can do to safeguard yourself in case of emergency — type of emergency is problematical, of course.

an apartment? Or do you have a house of your own? For your general protection you should have some sort of established pattern, so somebody expects to see you every day. If he doesn't — he'll investigate. This is a wise precaution because every now and then we hear of another case of someone living alone, suffering a fall, becoming suddenly ill, or whatever, and not being found for too long a time. Several days, sometimes.

Always carry a card indicating that in case of illness or injury you want to be taken to the nearest hospital emergency room — or, if you have a preference, say that if possible you should be taken to a particular hospital.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like to make arrangements in advance for special service in case of emergency. I am 82, live alone, no living relatives.

I am under regular treatment by my company doctor, but his service would not be available in case of emergency.

Is there any kind of "emergency service" that could be called upon to take over, or what would you suggest? — J.L.B.

Dismissal Of Employees Not Included On Agenda

Neither consideration of bomb school training for a deputy sheriff nor the dismissal of three road department employees made the agenda for the Monday morning meeting of County Commissioners Court.

Although the agenda lists, as usual, the conference with Marvin Hanson, road administrator, the dismissals are not referred to.

County Judge A. G. Mitchell Thursday said he told Kenneth Howell, local union representative, complaints about the firings should be directed first to a committee composed of Commissioners Simon (Cy) Terrazas and Jack Buchanan.

Howell wanted the committee meeting scheduled Thursday, Mitchell said, adding he, Mitchell, rejected the demand.

After the yet-to-be-scheduled committee meeting, Mitchell said he would put the matter on the agenda for commissioners court.

Both meetings will be conducted in private, Mitchell said. Unless the employees involved demand a public hearing, the commissioners court legally may discuss the matter behind closed doors, state law says.

Also not on the agenda is consideration of bomb defusing school for Deputy Sheriff Richard Doane. Sheriff A. N. Standaard had asked Doane be allowed to take three weeks off to attend the Army school in Alabama, and the court tabled consideration of the request.

Other personnel matters on the agenda for Monday include a salary increase requested by Mrs. Fred Adams, justice of the peace in Coahoma, and replacement of the secretary in the county extension service office.

Mrs. Jan Nichols is resigning for personal reasons. Mrs. Gail Earls has been selected as her replacement, subject to the court's approval.

Another item is talking with District Attorney Bob Moore about replacement of books in the law library. Moore, who has spoken to Mitchell about the matter, no longer plans to appear.

New law books selected by a local bar association committee will cost $20 in monthly rent, Moore said. The other

All those herbicides you've been using weren't made for your soil: sandy soil. They're all basically designed to provide weed control in other cotton areas. Now you have your own: Sancap.* Sancap has been developed exclusively for cotton growers for use on sand, loamy sands and fine sandy loam soils. And all you do is broadcast Sancap over

Airport Baptist Revival Set To Begin Here Sunday

By MARJ CARPENER
 Airport Baptist Church, 1208 Frazier St., will begin a series of revival services on Sunday continuing through May 6.

The Rev. Clifford Nelson, area missionary for the Brownwood area, known as the Heart of Texas Association, will be the evangelist. "Lives in Brownwood" and has offices located on the campus of Howard Payne College.

The Rev. Nelson is a prominent and knowledgeable leader in Southern Baptist work. Airport Baptist Church members feel that Big Spring is quite fortunate to have the Rev. Nelson to hold this eight-day revival.

The evangelistic music will be led by Allen Springer of Lenorah, who is head of the music at the First Baptist Church, Lenorah, Tex. The theme for the revival is "For you, time is running out!" The services will be held each evening at 7:30. The public is invited to attend. Arthur Thomas is pastor at Airport Baptist Church.

HUMANITARIAN service and religious commitment, to the community and to the nation, can begin in a converted store in Detroit, Mich., or originate in an executive office in Beverly Hills, Calif.

The nine Americans who will receive the Religious Heritage of America major awards for 1973 come from all parts of the country and from various economic levels. They have in common one great bond — their significant contributions to mankind in the furtherance of brotherhood, religious tolerance, and the upholding of the highest principles of this nation's religious heritage.

Announced today by W. Clement Stone of Chicago, chairman of the board of Combined Insurance Co. of America, and president of Religious Heritage of America, Inc., and Wallace

E. Johnson of Memphis, Tenn., vice chairman of Holiday Inns, Inc. and chairman of the Executive Committee of RHA.

The nine award recipients show the diversity that is one of the strengths of our pluralistic society.

The awardees, to be honored at ceremonies June 7 in Washington, D.C. are: Conrad Hilton, chairman, Hilton Hotels Corporation, who will be honored as Lay Churchman of the Year. Long recognized as a business leader, Mr. Hilton has served his country often and well. He is founder, director, or trustee of more than one hundred charitable organizations. Dr. Bill Bright will receive a Special Award and Mrs. Vonette Bright has been designated Churchwoman of the Year. These awards are being given for their work in founding and developing Campus Crusade for Christ International.

Campus Crusade, an interdenominational Christian movement, has aroused the enthusiasm and dedication of young people on high school and college campuses throughout the nation and sponsored the successful youth rally, Explo '72, where over 80,000 gathered in Dallas, Tex.

Dr. Preston Bradley, founder, and senior pastor of the Peoples Church of Chicago for over 60 years, will be honored with the RHA Gold Medal Award for over 50 years of active ministry. Dr. Bradley is not only the leader of his flock but is recognized as the civic and moral conscience of the Midwest.

Mother Charlesetta Waddles will receive a Special Award as originator and administrator of the Perpetual Mission for All Nations in Detroit. The mission, taking no foundation or government funds, relies entirely on volunteer aid and contributions to help feed, clothe, educate and care for all those who come seeking aid. A special facet of this unique ministry is the training program now being developed which allows everyone who comes to the mission for help to become a responsible, employable individual.

Robert Davenport of Taylor University, Upland, Ind., will be honored with a Special Award as creator and director of "Wandering Wheels." Mr. Davenport, a former UCLA football star, has coupled outdoor adventure with spiritual renewal for some 5,000 young adults as they tour the countryside by bicycle, spreading the Word of God.

Hillcrest Is Behind The Time

The Hillcrest Baptist Church is behind the time. Instead of changing their clocks at night, they will observe the present-time until after the morning service on this Sunday.

On this one Sunday a year the morning service is over about 1 p.m. On this Sunday a group picture will be taken of all in the Sunday School and the morning preaching service.

"All who would rather lose the hour to Daylight Savings Time while they are awake and all who can not figure out which way to change the clock are invited to leave the clock alone until after church and be in the Hillcrest Baptist Church this Sunday," according to Collyns Moore, Jr., pastor.

War Prisoners Notice 'I Felt I Wasn't Alone'

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
 AP Religion Writer
 In the isolation of the Vietnam war prisons, minds and consciousness turned inward, and there, cut off from the ordinary distractions of life, the American captives made a discovery.

"For some reason I suddenly felt I wasn't alone," one of them recalls. "I don't know whether it was the power of prayer or an intervention by God. There is nothing physical you can document, but when you experience something like that, it is real."

Those recollections of Capt. James E. Ray, of Conroe, Tex., and similar accounts by many others of the returned prisoners of war regularly cited unexpected powers of faith and prayer that welled up to sustain them.

He woke up each morning, the first segment of the day was spent saying my prayers.

A dramatic description of surprising strength found in faith came from Capt. Jeremiah A. Denton in Atlanta. He tells of escalating torture to get him to betray communication methods used among prisoners. After five days in a "torture rig" he says, he wrote something useless for his captors "but they didn't buy it." He goes on:

"They put me back in the same rig for five more days and that was the time I simply told God He would just have to take over. I had reached the end. I knew that if I had to write the next time, I would write something harmful, so I just turned myself over to Him. "I have never had a prayer answered so spectacularly in my life. As soon as I got that prayer out, this mantle of comfort came over me and I couldn't feel any more pain. Even when they beat the hell out of me and tightened up right to the maximum, I was sitting just as comfortable as if I were sitting in a plush auto."

TALENT COMPETITORS
Bonnie Anderson, Ethel Minter

Big Springers Enter Club Talent Contest

Bonnie Anderson and Ethel Minter will represent Big Spring Saturday in the talent competition sponsored by the Texas Association of Women's Clubs during the Stokes-Parker District convention at the Regal 8 Inn, Midland.

The Big Spring City Federation are sponsors for both girls. Miss Anderson will be heard in a vocal solo, and Miss Minter will present a dramatic reading as they compete with 'debs' from other clubs for the title of "Miss Stokes-Parker". The district winner will be eligible to compete in the state contest during the state convention at Dallas in July. At that time, the state winners will receive a $250 scholarship. Local chairman is Mrs. Ethel Wakefield, and district chairman is Mrs. Ruby Morris of Midland. Other cities having girls in the contest are Lubbock, Abilene, Midland, Odessa, San Angelo, McCamey, Colorado City and Sweetwater.

Miss Anderson and Miss Minter, both seniors at Big Spring High School, have been active in the community as well as school affairs. Miss Minter is also competing as "Financial Queen", a project wherein funds are raised to support the two scholarships which are awarded annually by the district.

Flower Show Set By Club Council

Mrs. J. W. Trantham was hostess Wednesday for a meeting of Big Spring Garden Club Council in her home at 1319 Stadium. It was announced that more than 150 delegates attended the recent district convention at the Settles Hotel.

A fall flower show is scheduled Sept. 17-19 in connection with the Howard County Fair. The next meeting will be at 9:30 a.m., May 23 at the home of Mrs. John B. Knox, 1313 Lexington. New officers will be elected.

ABWA Told Of Facilities

Big Spring State Hospital was described as a "community within itself" by Mrs. Larson Lloyd, guest speaker Tuesday for Spring City Chapter, American Association, at Texas Electric Reddy Room.

Mrs. Lloyd, volunteer coordinator at the hospital, said it now has 700 patients, 500 employees and a 900-bed capacity. It has a post office, library, chapel and laundry center, as well as several other services for patients.

Mrs. Lloyd said the Work Village is for out patients who need to live at the hospital, but who work at the hospital or in town. Also, a Halfway House is provided for those who work off the hospital grounds, but residents must pay half of their monthly salary in rent. Mrs. Lloyd said this encourages residents to go out on their own.

All parties and special events at the hospital are provided by volunteers, including a dance with a volunteer band every Wednesday.

Baby Beaten?

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am divorced with an 8-month-old son, Timmy. Last weekend my boy friend invited me to go to Las Vegas with him, so I left Timmy with a friend I'll call Carol. Carol has no children of her own, but she has practically raised her younger brothers and sisters so I thought my baby would be in good hands.

When I came home and went to pick up Timmy, I was shocked and heartsick. He was all bruised and black and blue. I asked Carol what happened to him, and she said he fell off a chair. Abby, he can hardly sit up, and what would an 8-month-old child be doing on a chair? He looked as if he had been beaten.

I took Timmy home, and now he cries all the time and seems so weak and unhappy. What should I do? Carol won't admit to having beaten him, if that's what she did. I'm so nervous and upset and have no one to talk to. Help me.

YOUNG MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Take the baby to a pediatrician for a thorough examination to determine whether he has suffered internal injuries. You could file charges against Carol for abusing your child, but you would have to prove it, which would be virtually impossible. Next time, leave your baby only with one you are sure you can trust.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for six years and have two children. My problem is a husband who never likes to go out, and I do.

Well, one evening my husband's brother came over with his wife. The brother wanted to go out, but his wife didn't. The wife herself suggested that HE take me. My husband told me to go ahead, so I went. I hadn't been out in such a long time I jumped at the chance. We went dancing and goofing around, and had a good time. We got home around midnight.

I asked a couple of my friends what they thought of this and one said, "You're lucky to have such an understanding husband." Another said, "Any man who lets his wife go out with another man can't love her. He must be seeing another woman."

What is your opinion? And do you see anything wrong with what I did?

BEWILDERED
DEAR BEE: I'd agree with the first friend. (P.S. An occasional night out with your brother-in-law is all right, but don't make a habit of it.)

Craft Club Elects New Officers

Mrs. Joe Mitchell was elected president of Busy Bee Handcrafts Club Thursday at First Federal Community Room. Serving with her are Mrs. J. H. Duke, vice president; Mrs. E. A. Williams, secretary and reporter; and Mrs. G. H. Briden, treasurer.

Average Man Can Drive Cadillac, Lewis Says

Contrary to popular belief, introduced just two weeks ago Emerson. Other salesmen are Cadillac is not necessarily for and is the newest American Frank Smith, Pat Paterson, millionaires, said Jack Lewis, compact on the market, Lewis Jimmy Felts, Jack Himes and owner of Jack Lewis Buick-Cadillac, 403 S. Surry, noted.

Lewis, who has been in business here since 1961, said he sells 100 Cadillacs a year and 350 other new cars.

"The Cadillac is a car for people that are money-conscious as opposed to people who are millionaires. It's for those who are watching their investments. Cadillacs retain their value better than the cheaper luxury cars," Lewis claimed.

The Cadillac line at Jack Lewis includes the top of the line Eldorado, Fleetwood Brougham, Sedan-Deville and Coupe-Deville. Lewis said the two Devilles are the most popular.

Lewis' Buick line include the Riviera and Electra, luxury cars; the Century and LeSabre, intermediate cars; Century Regal, Century Luxus, Apollo and Opal, economy cars. The Buick Apollo was in-

Thugs Steal Candy's Gems

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — A masked man who broke into a room at the Doral Beach Hotel occupied by millionairess Candace Mossler Garrison escaped with $200,000 in cash and jewels, police said today.

Mrs. Garrison in 1966 with her nephew Melvin Lane Powers was acquitted of murdering her second husband, Jacques Mossler, 69.

She was in bed when the robbery occurred early this morning, she told officers.

Police said no violence was reported and they were checking to see how the burglar got into the hotel room.

Because there was no sign of forced entry, detectives said the burglar may have had a pass key.

Price Boosts In Newsprint

NEW YORK (AP) — Newsprint producers have begun posting their second round of U.S. price increases this year.

The $5-a-ton hikes, effective July 1, focus for the moment on the East and South. Major suppliers in the West had announced no new increases as of Tuesday.

Producers disclosing increased in recent days include both Canadian and U.S. firms, among them International Paper Co., Bowater Sales Co., Kruger Pulp and Paper, Consolidated Bathurst and Domtar Ltd.

Boise Cascade Corp. announced increases effective in the East and South but not in the West.

The newsprint companies cite rising costs — particularly for labor — as a key element prompting the increases, which follow a similar round of $5-per-ton boosts in February.

Some companies also pointed to higher wood costs because of reduced availability of wood.

"The supply is getting tight, although as of yet I don't think it can be called a shortage," said Thomas Farrell, analyst specializing in the paper industry at the brokerage firm of Bache & Co.

Observers said some supply problems appeared to stem from difficulty in hiring workers to cut and handle trees.

Adverse weather conditions in some forest areas, notably in the South, also apparently were a short term factor in the supply picture, industry observers said.

The announcement was made by Dr. Philip G. Hoffman, president of the university.

Car B: Has more luggage room than the largest conventional sedan, yet is only 12 inches longer than Car A.

Car C: Shaped, sculptured, sprayed and rubbed by hand. Yet priced below many mass-produced sports cars.

Car D: Carries one small elephant. Or up to 9 adults and 9 pieces of luggage.

Car E: It's a vacation cottage you take with you. Complete with living/bedroom, kitchen and an air-cooled engine in the rear.

Car F: Plush, sleek car with wall-to-wall carpeting, electronic fuel injection, other luxury features.

Answers: A: Volkswagen. B: Volkswagen. C: Volkswagen. D: Volkswagen. E: Volkswagen. F: Volkswagen.

You get the point. At the Auto Show, you'll find a lot of different cars whose names are Volkswagen. Come see us. We may have all the answers you need.

Charged With Extorting $1,000 From Classmates

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Three third-grade youngsters charged with extorting nearly $1,000 from two classmates have been adjudged delinquents by a Juvenile Court.

The three boys were accused of taking money from two nine-year-old third-graders at a Forsyth County school under threats of beating or death.

The victims said they began making nickel and dime payments but that the money demands grew greater until on at least one occasion two $50 bills and a $100 bill changed hands.

They said no harm came to them as long as they had money, but when they did not, they were beaten. Both boys told of sneaking money from their fathers' wallets.

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal court suit has been filed here over the April 10 seizure of the movie, "Deep Throat."

The movie had been showing at the Cinema West Art Theatre prior to its seizure by Houston Police Department vice squad officers.

Universal Amusement Co., Inc., its officers and employees are plaintiffs in the suit filed. Named as defendants are Harris County Dist. Atty. Carol Vance, District Court Judge I. D. McMaster, Police Chief Herman Short, Police Capt. James M. Albright and Police Sgt. Troy Driscoll.

Seize Six Tons Of Dope

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — The seizure of a Thai fishing trawler loaded with six tons of narcotics in Vietnamese waters is seen here as a severe but not fatal blow to Asian drug trafficking.

"That will force them to pause and take a hard look at the delivery system," said an official involved in Asia-wide drug enforcement.

The 70-ton trawler, intercepted off the Vietnamese town of Nha Trang, was carrying 12,200 pounds of raw opium and 281 pounds of morphine base.

Thai and American narcotics agents have been aware that Thai trawlers are one of the main carriers of narcotics. The drugs come from the Golden Triangle area where the borders of Laos, Thailand and Burma join.

They are shipped by truck to Bangkok then put aboard trawlers for the voyage to Hong Kong.

U.S. narcotics agents estimate that about 5 to 10 per cent of the heroin reaching the United States originates from the Golden Triangle and gets there by way of Hong Kong.

Although narcotics agents have known of the trawler route, the seizure of the Thai trawler on Saturday was the first ever.

Eight Thais and one Chinese were arrested on the vessel and were being interrogated in Saigon.

Sources indicated the Saigon authorities had advance knowledge of the trawler's course and possible cargo.

Officials estimate that of about 700 tons of opium grown in the Golden Triangle each year, about 200 to 300 tons finds its way abroad.

PRESENTATION — Mrs. Marie Rowland, 1973 president of the Big Spring Board of Realtors, is presented a president's book by Joe Perrone, of Austin, president of the Texas Association of Realtors at a dinner meet here Tuesday.

Realtors Told To Get Involved In Politics

Around 50 men and women in the real estate industry of Big Spring, Snyder and Lamesa heard Joe Perrone of Austin, president of the Texas Association of Realtors, speak at a dinner meeting Tuesday at the Holiday Inn.

The special guests included Mr. and Mrs. Perrone, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Luedtke, Austin, and Jack Mogle of Midland, regional vice president.

Jacob Dari Williams, president of the Lamesa board and Dillard E. Teal Jr., president of the Snyder board, along with Mrs. Marie Rowland, president of the Big Spring board gave the welcomes.

Perrone emphasized the importance of political activity by realtors at a local level. His theme for the year revolves around "We need to get involved in politics. After all, government, local through national, is a partner in our business whether we like it or not. We need to become the official spokesman for the many millions of property owners over the nation."

Luedtke, who is executive vice president, urged the group to make plans to attend the state convention in Houston June 6-9.

Plant Closing At Harlingen

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — Spartan Aviation Co., which employs about 400 persons, announced today it will withdraw its aircraft engine overhaul service from Harlingen July 1.

A plant spokesman said Spartan, a subsidiary of Automation Industries Inc., is negotiating with the U.S. Air Force to terminate by mutual agreement all obligations under its three overhaul contracts.

The Air Force has indicated it may wish production to be continued in the Harlingen facility on the R-REYP engine by another contractor, the spokesman said.

He added that if this occurs, a substantial portion of the work force at Spartan could have continued employment.

Ray Ortiz, president and general manager, said the firm has suffered substantial losses since it began production at Harlingen in the fall of 1970. Tooling and supervisory employees for the firm were moved here from Tulsa, Okla.

At its peak, Spartan employed 600 persons at the Harlingen plant.

The plant was located at what was once Harlingen Air Force Base and was one of a number of plants located there since the base was closed in 1961.

Broughton Truck Firm Joins In Open House

International pickups, scouts, travelalls and other international vehicles and equipment can be seen at Broughton Truck & Implement Co. Inc. Saturday.

Broughton and other members of the Big Spring New Car Dealers Association are holding open house this weekend.

The Broughton dealership will be open all day Saturday. Coffee and donuts will be served. Free gifts will be given to children.

With planting time rapidly approaching and income tax payments past, it's not a bad time to think about new vehicles and equipment.

Leon Davis and Warren Wise of the sales department will be working closely with the open house.

G. C. Broughton Jr. is president of the firm. Wise is vice president. And Sue Broughton is secretary-treasurer.

Threat Denied By Governor

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — No one in Gov. Dolph Briscoe's office has threatened the jobs of witnesses for environmental legislation, Briscoe said Thursday.

Char White, a San Antonio housewife who heads a statewide environmental group, charged before a House committee Wednesday night that Briscoe aides had intimidated two witnesses for a bill that would put ecological matters under one state agency.

The witnesses, a state employee and an employee of a program funded with state money, called her Wednesday afternoon and told her they had been contacted by the governor's office and they feared for their jobs, she said.

The witnesses did not testify, and Mrs. White declined to identify them on the ground that two would cost them their jobs.

Briscoe said to his knowledge, and to the knowledge of his executive assistant, Charles Purnell, no member of the governor's office has made such threats.

"If Mrs. White desires to charge any member of the governor's staff with having threatened any such employee, the governor desires to know about it immediately," the statement said. "The governor assures any such employee that no disciplinary action will be taken against him."

Mrs. White said Purnell told her the governor would not support any of the bills backed by the groups she represents.

She said the governor campaigned on environmental issues, but then turned his back on them.

Briscoe said he told the legislature Jan. 17 that serious consideration should be given to consolidating state anti-pollution agencies.

He still has not rejected this approach, he said, but the elimination of existing agencies "merely in the hope that an entirely new agency would do a better job would be folly," the statement said.

Watergate Scandal One Reason 50 Top-Level Fed Jobs Unfilled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Watergate scandal, its impact rippling through vast reaches of the government, is cited by officials as one reason for the White House's inability to fill nearly 50 top-level federal jobs.

MORALE SAGS

Sources contacted in an Associated Press survey also reported instances of paperwork piling up and employee morale sagging because of Watergate, because of President Nixon's second-term reorganization plan, or the lame-duck aspect of his administration.

White House spokesmen reject suggestions that Watergate is to blame for the lag in rounding out Nixon's second-term team or that it has slowed the bureaucratic processes.

"The processes of government are going on... the work of government is being done," said White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler.

But other sources report a near-paralysis has set in at some policy-making levels in the 10 days since Nixon announced he had launched a personal investigation of the Watergate case after major but still undisclosed developments came to his attention.

400 VACANCIES

The AP survey stretching into widespread sections of the federal establishment also found:

—A White House breakdown shows 26 sub-Cabinet posts re-mainly unfilled three months after Nixon began his second term and launched his reorganization plan. In the upper levels of some departments, the vacancy rate exceeds 25 per cent.

—Ambassadors are yet to be named for 23 countries, a vacancy rate of 18 per cent in these top diplomatic posts.

—Latest statistics indicate more than 400 vacancies in lower- and middle-level "Schedule C" government jobs, meaning that about 30 per cent of these jobs, filled by political appointment, are empty.

—Reports mandated by the President or Congress are long overdue in some cases. At the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, one source familiar with the lagging bureaucratic pace said "people are waiting for new bosses to get new directions."

SLOW DOWN

—Low morale is cited virtually everywhere in government. "You'd be surprised how Watergate has affected morale," said an Agriculture Department source. "The trauma has really set in," added a Social Security Administration source.

—At the White House, some staffers have noted a sudden slowing in their usually hectic work pace. One Executive Office Building secretary said that for the first time in years she's been able to go home before dark because "nothing is coming in from the departments."

—The resident's own work pace has increased, however.

He's been spending "a great deal of time" on the Watergate matter, Ziegler said, "getting in very early and staying late at night."

When asked Thursday about the large number of sub-Cabinet and ambassadorial vacancies, Ziegler responded: "I don't have the answer to why that is the case..."

Other White House officials said the process of filling executive positions has been slow because "we're trying to get top people." Some prospective nominees aren't interested in taking pay cuts to join the administration, one spokesman said.

—The biggest problem, he said, is that the wives of potential government executives don't want to uproot their families and move to Washington.

But another administration official agreed "there is a certain amount of truth" to suggestions that the Watergate scandal has made some people reluctant to join the administration.

The White House compilation shows that 12.7 per cent of the 265 positions it ranks as "sub-Cabinet" are currently vacant. But at some departments, more than one-fourth of these positions are empty.

Public Opinion

TUEBINGEN, GERMANY (AP) — Gunther Sachs, millionaire playboy and ex-husband of Brigitte Bardot, is West Germany's most prominent socialist, according to a nationwide public opinion poll.

Caspar Weinberger, Nixon's new secretary of health, education and welfare, cited another reason in a recent conversation with newsmen. The biggest problem, he said, is that the

Stock Fattener Banned By FDA

WASHINGTON (AP) — All three livestock-growth drugs recommended by the Agriculture Department as substitutes for outlawed DES have been classified by government scientists as proven or potential cancer-causing chemicals. "All estrogens are considered to be carcinogens in animals," a Food and Drug Administration biologist concluded in an internal memo two years ago. "DES, fed to U.S. cattle and sheep for more than 20 years to produce meat faster and more cheaply, causes cancer in laboratory animals and has been linked to vaginal cancer in young women whose mothers took the drug during pregnancy. In announcing completion of the DES ban to include ear implants as well as feed additives, the FDA sought Thursday to minimize the possible impact on inflated meat prices.

Because DES substitutes are available to cattle and sheep producers, Acting Commissioner Sherwin Gardner said, the ban effective Friday "need not disrupt the nation's meat supply, cause an increase in meat prices or have an adverse effect on the environment because of increased animal waste." The USDA followed with its own announcement listing alternatives hormone or hormone-like products containing estradiol benzoate, progesterone, testosterone propionate and zeranol or zearalanol. They are among 10 hormonal drugs the FDA classifies as proven or potential carcinogens, according to the March 4, 1971, memo from Ernest J. Umberger, director of the FDA's Division of Drug Biology.

"The cases of diethylstilbestrol (DES) and estrone are well-documented" as carcinogens, Umberger wrote. "Estradiol and estrone are normally converted from one to the other in the animal body." FOOD COSTS "The evidence that progesterone and testosterone are carcinogens is somewhat tenuous but, since both of these compounds are metabolized to estrogens in the body, we have maintained that they are potential carcinogens and have treated them as carcinogens in considering their use where they might possibly become a food additive." Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said the total DES ban "will result in increased food costs to the consumer" to an unknown extent. "Recently he had estimated that elimination of the drug, used in 80 per cent of the nation's beef herd, would boost prices 3 1/2 cents a pound or between $300 million and $460 million annually, based on 1971 USDA economists' forecasts.

Three Hurt By Fireworks

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Three men were injured Thursday night during a fireworks display when two ignited rockets fell into a stockpile of fireworks.

Hospitalized in the Corpus Christi Memorial Hospital burn unit was Robert Van Schoick, 42, of Chicago. Listed in fair condition was Larry Kraut, 23, also of Chicago. A third workman, Michael Rowe, was treated and released.

The fireworks were being ignited on a barge about 100 yards from shore in the Corpus Christi Bay when the accident occurred. Police estimated about 65,000 persons lined the shore watching the display. Fireworks were the first event on the first day of the Buccaneer Days celebration.

Ocean Floor Must Be Known

WASHINGTON (AP) — While controversy rages about oil exploration plans on the eastern coast of America, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration has been quietly surveying some of the ocean floor to help engineers design offshore structures.

Not only oil wells but platforms for unloading giant oil tankers and for floating airports have been proposed. The question is whether the ridges of sand as high as 30 feet, about two miles apart, that exist under water off the coast are remnants of ancient shorelines or whether they were formed by storms. A knowledge of this and other factors affecting seabed stability is needed.

Studies on the subject are being conducted by Dr. Donald J. P. Swift of Miami.

We'll show you roofs that open, seats that swivel, bumpers that retract, hatches that flip up.

Caprice Coupe, our uppermost Chevrolet (background). The most comfortable, the most elegant, absolutely the most luxurious Chevrolet, Caprice.

Monte Carlo S. With the road manners of Europe's finest (foreground). This is a road car. One you'll be pleased to be seen with, and gratified to drive anywhere in the U.S.A. Anywhere at all.

Caprice Estate Wagon.

Impala Custom Coupe.

Vega Hatchback Coupe.

Chevelle shows you its moonroof.

Call it a moonroof, use it as a sunroof. But consider it a delightful option available power-operated with Chevelle SS, Malibu, and Monte Carlo S. A manual moonroof is offered on Nova. Chevelle also brings you new Colonnade Hardtop styling along with more available vinyl roof colors than ever before.

Enter, the swivel seat.

High-back contour seats swing out 90° to make it easier for you and your passenger to pivot in and pivot out. Available on Chevelle and Monte Carlo.

See bumpers that retract to cushion the shock. There are several improved bumper systems on the 1973 Chevrolets. The one illustrated is based on twin hydraulic cylinders, and on minor impact the whole system retracts to help cushion the shock. And it's standard on the big Chevrolets, Chevelle and Monte Carlo.

Nova. The very practical Hatchback.

A Hatchback itself is not entirely new. Our Vega has had one all along. Now Nova has too. Put the backseat down and you've got a dependable Nova that's literally half trunk.

And that's about as practical as a car can get!

There's more we'll show you. Much more. There's our Caprice Estate Wagon. It's every thing you'd want in a car, in a wagon. And then some.

There's Impala. Again the great American value. It's big, beautiful, and bountifully equipped. There's Vega and economy. But what makes Vega different is it's an economy car with superb handling, stability and comfort.

There's Corvette. A true production sports car made in the U.S.A. No other sports car can make that statement.

That's about all we can show you on paper. In person, well, that's another story.

You watch for us and we'll watch for you.

Peak Season For Suicides

HOUSTON (AP) — Spring, the time of renewal, also is the peak season for suicides and depression, a Duke University psychiatrist said today.

"The suicidal and depressed people feel out of step with the changing seasons," said Dr. William K. Zung. "They're dead inside, cold, empty. It's warm outside, alive, changing. The contrast makes them feel out of step with the world."

Dr. Zung told the annual meeting of the American Association of Suicidology of his statistical study of all suicides in North Carolina from 1965 through 1971 and of patients admitted for psychiatric treatment at the Veterans Administration hospital in Durham, N.C., during those seven years. He also is affiliated with the veterans hospital.

Dr. Zung found that, of the slightly over 3,600 suicides in the seven years, 955 were in the spring, with April the worst month with 327.

The study also involved about 3,600 psychiatric admissions and found that cases of depression also were highest in spring.

Dr. Zung also found that Monday was the day with the most suicides, with Sunday next.

Cannady Resigns Post At Lamesa

LAMESA — Alvin Cannady, superintendent for the past six years, submitted his resignation to the board for the administration.

The resignations become effective July 1. Cannady will become administrative dean at the Midland Community College.

Other action at the meeting included electing new officers with Bob Brown, president; Dr. David Smiley, vice president and Mrs. Venna Nix, secretary. Retiring from the board were past president David Hughes and George Norman.

Readily apparent at the meeting was the hostility of newly elected board members, Wendell Straham and Ed Fullbright. Action at the meeting included rejection of administrative recommendations, questioning and proposed improvements within the school system. An old skeleton or two were also drug from the closet for another airing.

Beginning with the routine matter of ratifying bills paid by the schools district, Fullbright spearheaded a discussion in which he proposed that a system be developed to place the responsibility of finances back upon the shoulders of the board. Mrs. Nix noted "what it boils down to

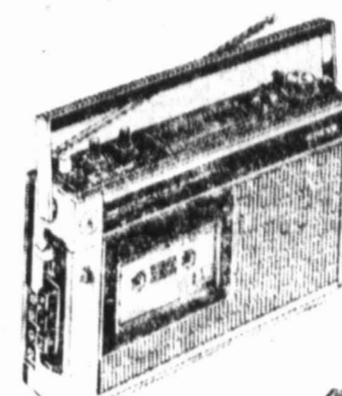

A discussion of the development of a vocational educational program at the Middle School also resulted in a conflict of interests with the board voting to support such a program but leaving the gate open to back out by requiring that specifications be completed before final approval is given.

In questioning the administrative recommendation that this program be undertaken, the other new board member, Straham raised the question as to why students in the Middle School are two years behind the grade level.

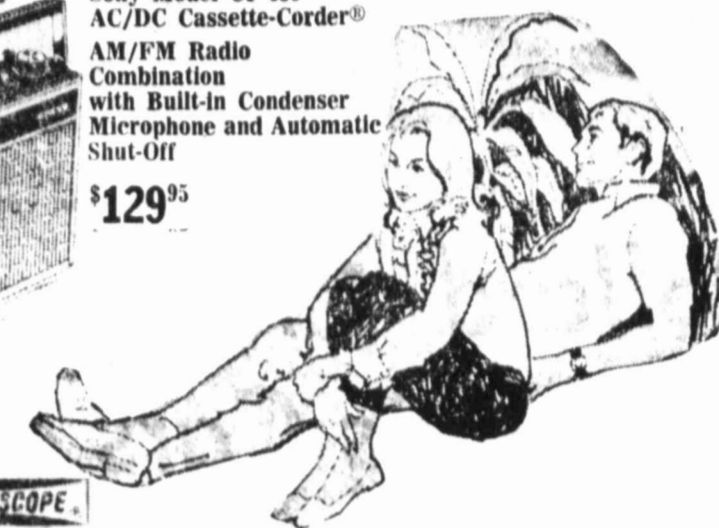

New board members also asked about policy on personnel contracts, sick leave and leave of absence.

An executive session followed the meeting to discuss the possibilities of replacement of the superintendent.

What to see at the Auto Show of the Century.

First, be sure to see the car with big Buick features in a new, smaller size. Buick's new Century Luxus. The nimble-sized new Buick with the look of pure luxury-car. About the only thing that isn't luxurious is its price. Ask it.

Check under a Century's hood: Buick 350 V-8 engine. Front disc brakes. AIR (Air Injection Reactor) and EGR (Exhaust Gas Recirculation) emission control systems. AccuDrive suspension system which provides ride and handling just like the biggest Buicks made.

Then, be sure to take a look inside a Century Regal. Interiors are available as luxurious as any Buick built today. Feel the upholstery. Sink deep into Buick foam seats.

Ask one of the Buick people at the Show how new the Century really is. About its new frame. Flo-thru power ventilation. Dual-rate body mounts. And the computer that individually matches chassis springs to each Century's equipped-weight.

Next, the Buick Electra 225. This is full Buick luxury. Run your eyes over that interior. And think of what comfort and quiet like that would mean to you after a hard day's work.

quite like our Riviera. Because it's a Buick original. In styling. Comfort. Performance. A unique luxury package for people who dare to be different. Maybe like you.

Now on to the big Buicks—like LeSabre. Here's all the performance, room and comfort you expect in a full-sized car.

And don't miss the standard equipment that comes on a LeSabre. Turbo Hydra-matic transmission. Power front disc brakes. Variable ratio power steering. Just for starters.

Something new: Buick's 1973 front bumper system. It retracts upon minor impact to help cushion the shock.

Take a look at the list of standard equipment you get with an Electra 225. It'll take a while, but that's OK. Note the 455-cubic-inch engine, standard. And, again this year, there'll be no other car here at the Show

That's it. Unless, of course, you want another look at the new Century—nobody would blame you. Then, why don't you just wander around and enjoy the rest of the show. There'll be plenty of time to see your Buick dealer tomorrow.

WARREN, Ont. (AP) — Reggie MacDonald, a farmer in this small community south of North Bay, has a problem with hungry wolves.

Lake Inflow Levels Off

Inflow to two area lakes appeared to have levelled off today with about 5,500 acre-feet added to reserves.

Lake E. V. Spence, above Robert Lee, had a new peak. This was an increase of 34 of a foot for the week and put the new content total at 142,400 acre-feet, or 5,040 more than a week ago.

Lake J. B. Thomas caught only .15 of a foot more water, edging it up to elevation 2237.60, which gave it 82,400 acre-feet, or 625 acre-feet more than a week ago. Both lakes have plenty of room for more storage since spillway level at Lake Thomas is 2258.0, which would accommodate 118,000 more acre-feet, and Lake Spence is 1898.0, which would accommodate 340,000 acre-feet additional water.

You're invited to a car-warming.

Come to our Open House and see the Cutlass that's two new cars.

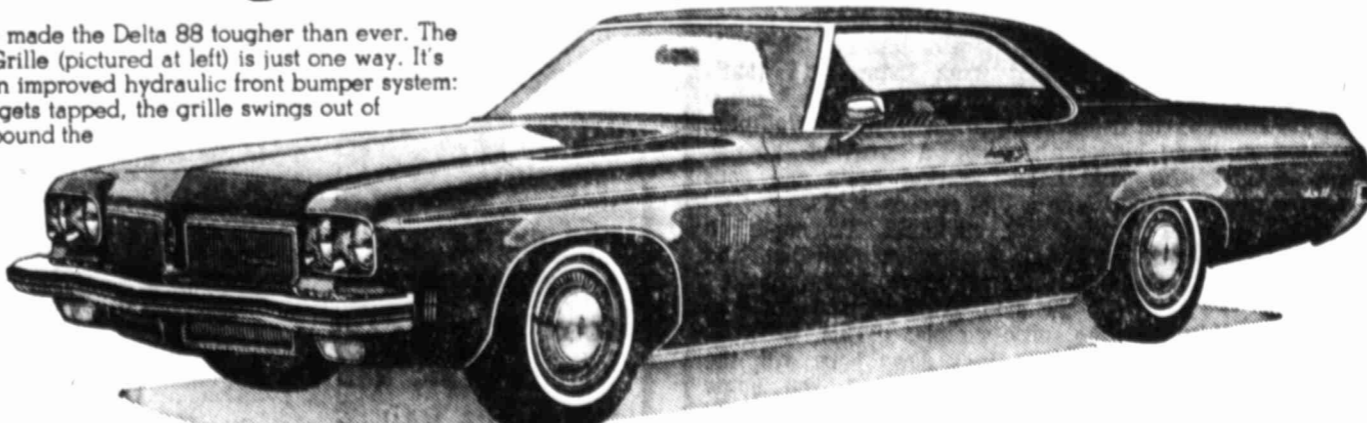

Cutlass S Colonnade Hardtop Coupe. Sportier this year. Roomier. Heavier. Yet surprisingly easy to own. Even if you order the new swivel bucket seats. Cutlass Supreme Colonnade Hardtop Coupe (foreground). More of a little limousine than ever. You can see it in the formal roofline and new opera side windows. You can feel it in the spacious, quiet interior. And even in the ride we've patterned after our bigger Oldsmobiles.

Delta 88—with a new grille that swings out of harm's way.

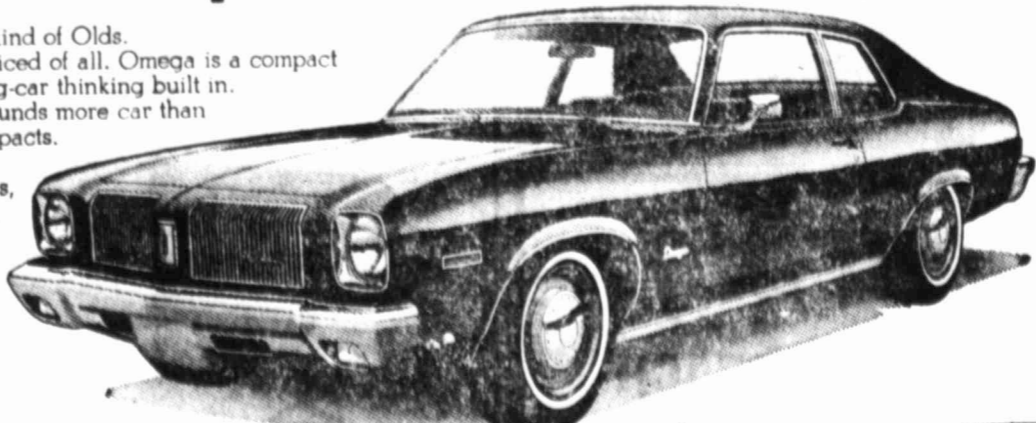

For '73, we've made the Delta 88 tougher than ever. The Swing-Away Grille (pictured at left) is just one way. It's teamed with an improved hydraulic front bumper system: if the bumper gets tapped, the grille swings out of the way. We pound the seats 100,000 times, and drive the Delta 88 thousands of hard miles, to test durability. All to make sure it's more than just big, comfortable and smooth-riding—not just another pretty car.

Omega. The new compact Olds at a compact price.

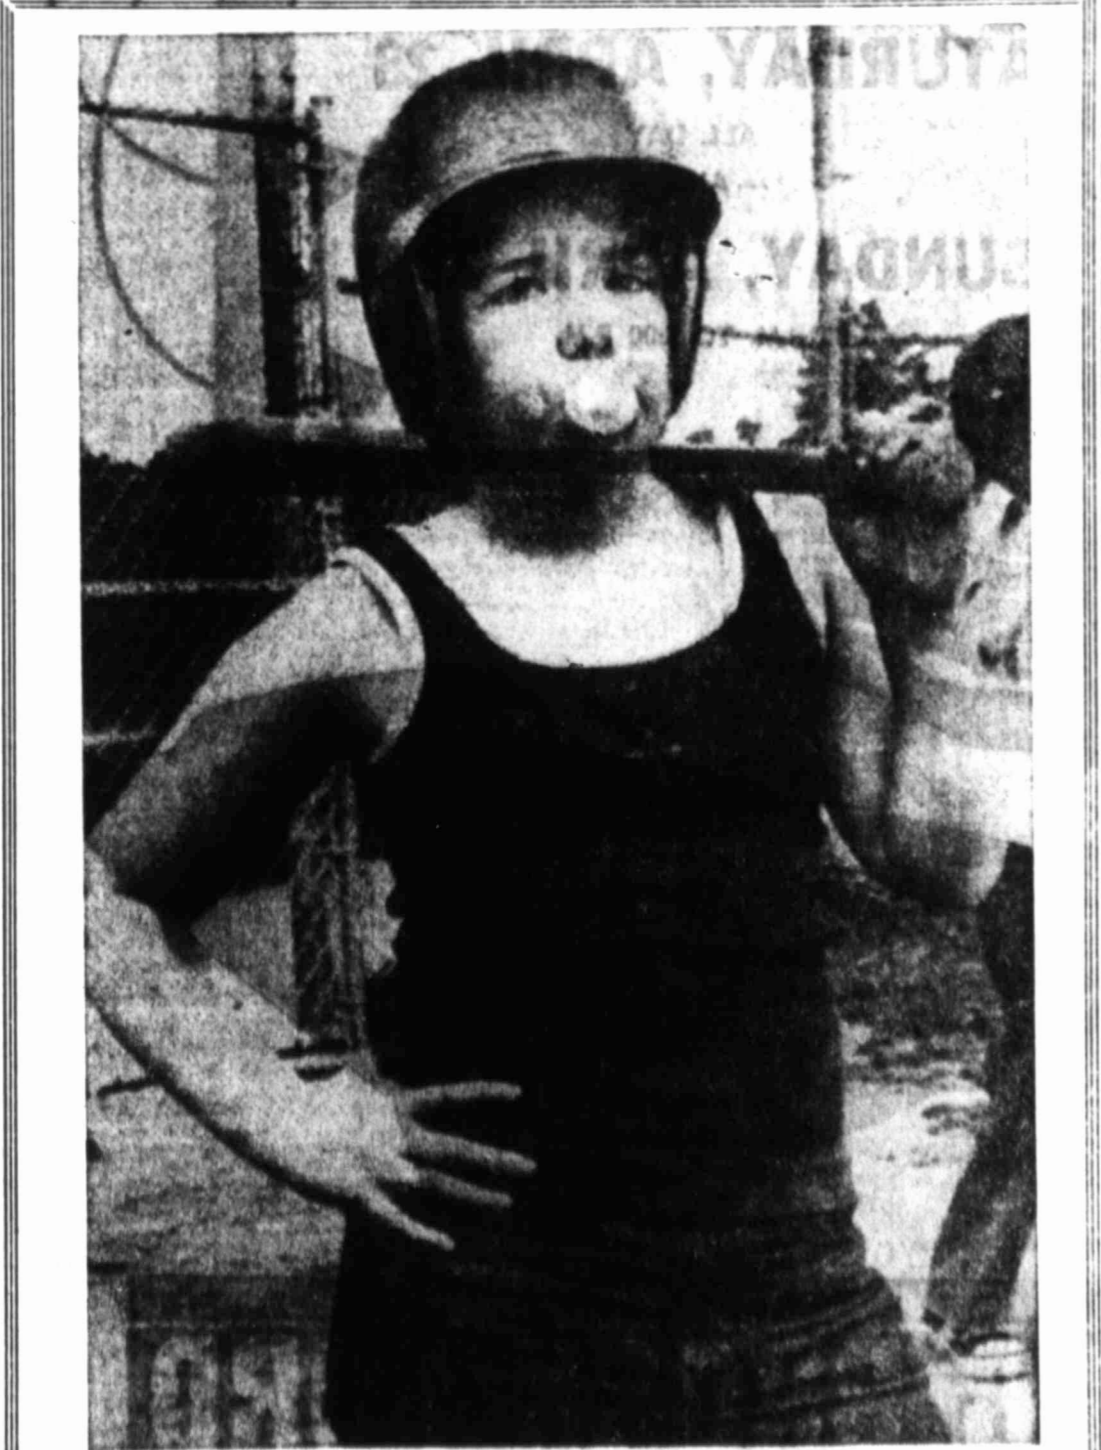

It's a whole new kind of Olds. And the lowest-priced of all. Omega is a compact—but one with big-car thinking built in. It's nearly 500 pounds more car than some smaller compacts. Its wheelbase is longer, 111 inches, for a smooth ride. And you can feel the difference on the road. A deluxe interior with new "wet-look" vinyl trim is standard. So is full carpeting. And a 250-cu.-in. engine. Coupe, 3 door hatchback or sedan, it's a lot of Olds for the money.

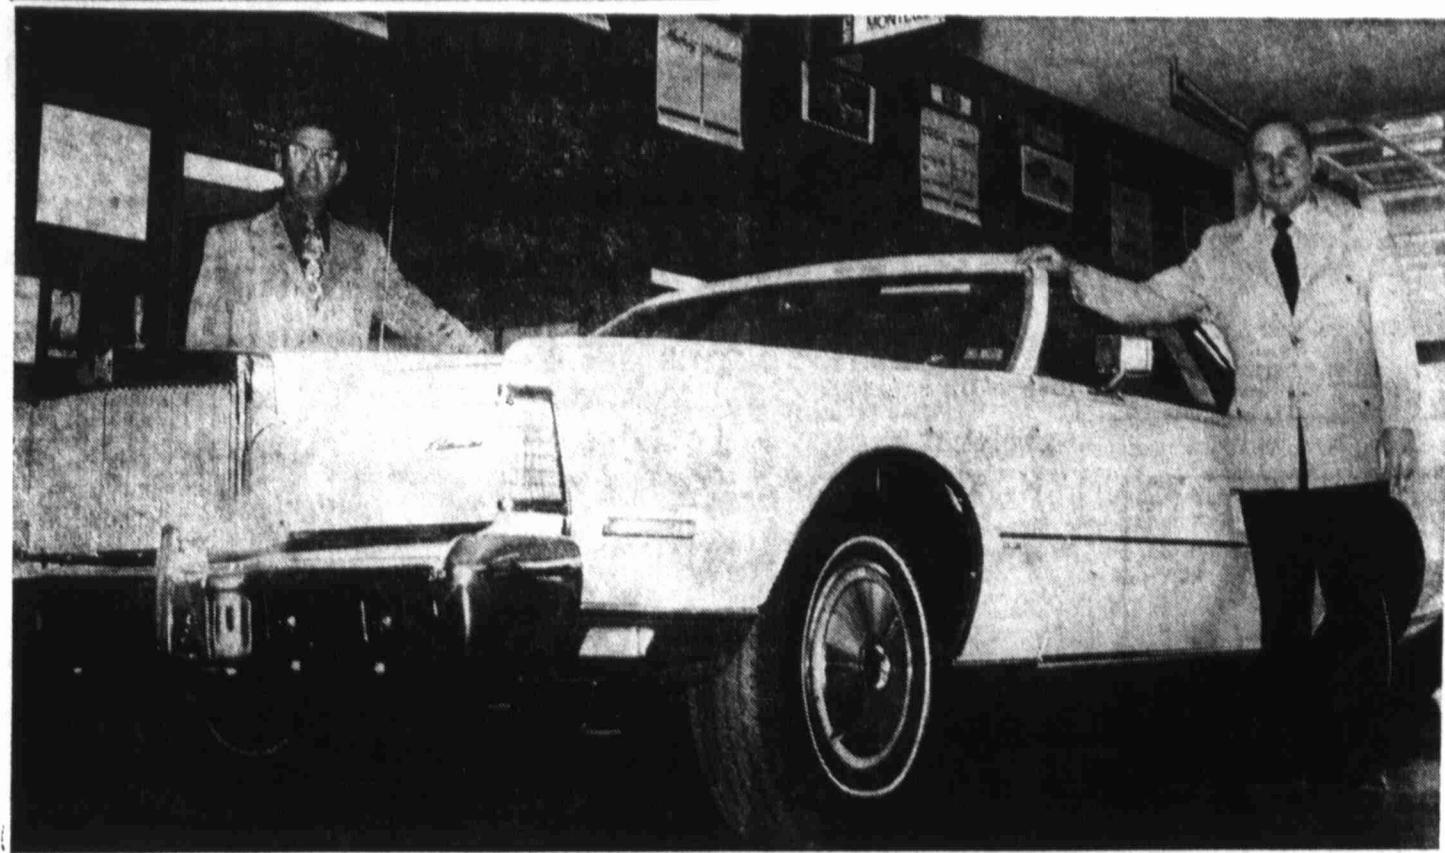

See the '73 Toronado, Ninety-Eight, and all the new Oldsmobiles.

STARTED AT DEL RIO Wolfman Jack Howling Success

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP TV Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Most television announcers got where they are today with perfect diction and deep voices. Wolfman Jack, on the other hand, did it with the taped howls of wolves.

The familiar howls don't usually accompany him in his chores as the regular announcer on the "Midnight Special" pop music show that commences each Saturday at 1 a.m. on NBC-TV.

But they're always heard on his daily rock radio show, which he tapes at his home in Beverly Hills, Calif., and syndicates to slightly more than 1,400 stations in the U.S.

Wolfman probably is totally unknown to older folks. But he's a legend to millions of teen-age listeners and to, say, anyone who still can recite the complete lyrics of "Blue Suede Shoes."

He's mild in person and wild on the air. His delivery is a rapid-fire growl, punctuated now and then by the loud, mournful "OWOOO" that has been his trademark since 1959.

That was the year the Brooklyn-born disc jockey hit it big with his show from station XERF in Del Rio, Tex., near the Mexican border. It sounds like an unlikely place to become a star.

But the station's transmitter, located across the border in Ciudad Acuna, pumped out 250,000 watts. You could hear Wolfman's howls late at night as far north as Las Vegas and then some.

Wolfman, a stocky man in his late 30s, has been going strong ever since. He was in town this week to discuss a record album, but took time to recount how he got in the howling business.

It all stemmed, he said, from disc jockeys here and in Buffalo who howled or barked on occasion.

SOUL, MAN
"I more or less got the whole end system actually having them, and that's where the Wolfman Jack name came from," said Wolfman, the same system using higher quality, microneaire cottons, he said, wearing coats and goes these results came from a study supervised by the Textile Research Center at Texas Tech University in a North Carolina pilot plant.

By the end of this year the Tech Center expects to have its own open end spinning frame in operation to conduct additional research. There now are only about 15,000 open-end spindles in the United States, 1969, when many radio stations were doing what he calls the country's 19 million spindles, "sterilized radio" — de-emphasizing, however, there is trend toward more open-end spinning, which will benefit High Plains production.

Added Cotton Use Likely

Processing of raw fiber into yarn by the relatively new "open end" spinning process holds distinct possibilities for increased usage of High Plains cotton, according to Ray Joe Riley, Hart, president of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock.

Laboratory studies and commercial experience have shown that the open end system is best adapted to the formation of the coarser yarns for which shorter, lower microneaire cottons are suited. Also the short staple, low microneaire cottons cause far less problems on open end spinning frames than in the conventional ring spinning process.

There is also evidence that yarns produced from low microneaire cottons on the open end system actually have greater strength and better uniformity than like yarns from the same system using higher quality, microneaire cottons, he said.

These results came from a study supervised by the Textile Research Center at Texas Tech University in a North Carolina pilot plant.

By the end of this year the Tech Center expects to have its own open end spinning frame in operation to conduct additional research. There now are only about 15,000 open-end spindles in the United States, 1969, when many radio stations were doing what he calls the country's 19 million spindles, "sterilized radio" — de-emphasizing, however, there is trend toward more open-end spinning, which will benefit High Plains production.

He stayed with his tried-and-true spindles throughout the late 1960s, when many radio stations were doing what he calls the country's 19 million spindles, "sterilized radio" — de-emphasizing, however, there is trend toward more open-end spinning, which will benefit High Plains production.

HOROSCOPE

CARROL RIGNER

GENERAL TENDENCY: A day and evening to get out of the small chases that take time, but bring little joy. But that time to be done before you are able to go forward to the soon-to-be big opportunities. However, the best aspects are for handling activities or interests having to do with art, music, painting, sculpture, etc.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Get out there and do something that has to be done quickly. Schedule for the evening. Make sure you help on who has been a good friend in the past.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Much work is needed on that personal plan that you want to be a success. Look into that plan a pal has that can prove to be very good. Labor late into the evening, if necessary.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) If you put real effort into it, you find you gain the information you need just now. If you bolster the ego of a higher-up who needs loyalty right now, you get fine benefits later. Try to retire early in p.m.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Get the information you need so you can push a plan through in a most efficient way. Do what persons of wisdom suggest and forget all that emotionalism. Do what you can.

LEO (July 22 to Aug 21) Attempt to get all your obligations met, particularly those of a social nature. Some particular kindness to mate can bring fine results. Try to make your life easier in some way - you can enjoy it more.

SCORPIO (Oct 23 to Nov 21) Get busy doing whatever will please those who are vital to your welfare; insure your position for the future. Do work on that important civic affair that crops up.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct 22) Add the brick-brac, furniture, or whatever will make your surroundings for more of atractive and comfortable. Take the home treatment; you feel with more you more dynamic. Show more spirit at home.

SCORPIO (Oct 23 to Nov 21) You can handle recreational affairs very wisely now after you get your regular work done. Buy a nice present for your work done. Buy a nice present for your work done.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22 to Jan 20) Get that problem solved nicely during the day that has been difficult to do before. Make your home more attractive and scrupulously clean. The evening is fine for enjoying hobbies with friends.

FINEST FOR Lawn and Garden

Many Plants Can Grow In Shade

One of the most often-asked questions among home gardeners is: "What can I grow in the shade?" Most annual flowers grow from seed do prefer full sun, but there is a small group which will tolerate light shade, and a smaller group which even prefers shade.

Coleus, foxgloves, nicotiana, French marigolds, pansies, violas, vinca, petunias and aceratum all will tolerate light shade, but by far the best two kinds for shaded areas are the small-flowered fibrous-rooted begonias and impatiens.

Should you choose the first of these two — the begonia — it is best to grow the hybrids. These have larger flowers, sturdier plants, and a greater tolerance for shady conditions. The seed is tiny, and a packet will grow hundreds of plants.

Seed is best sown indoors as early in the spring as possible so that good-size plants can be transplanted to the garden after danger of frost. The bright pink red and white blooms soon appear and continue all summer right into fall.

Before frost hits them, they can be transferred to a pot to continue blooming indoors during winter months. There are both single-flowered and double-flowered forms.

Impatiens have been improved tremendously by hybridizers in recent years. Modern varieties are now much more free-flowering, and more compact in their growth habit, especially the hybrids.

Best of the hybrids are the dwarf Elfin series, and the semi-dwarf Imp series. Both make excellent bedding plants, and come in a good range of colors including white, pink and red.

Seed is best started indoors early in the spring so that good size plants are ready for transplanting to the garden after danger of frost. They will bloom all summer right into fall.

Like begonias, Impatiens make excellent pot plants. Before they are killed off by frost, root them in a jar of water, and transfer them to a pot for blooms indoors all through the winter.

'First Aid' Helps Soil

You may not be the "doctor" when it comes to diagnosing and treating the serious ailments that can afflict the soil in your yard and garden, but there are "first aid" measures you can take — and the people who are experts in such matters have some pointers that can help you recognize when and how to administer corrective and preventive treatment.

The subject, of course, is fertilizers for your soil. The only way to have a thorough and accurate study of basic soil conditions is with an actual soil analysis performed by your County Agricultural Agent or the State Agricultural Experiment Station. Your nursery garden center, with the soil test information, can help you plan a sound fertilizing program. Once that is accomplished, there are a variety of symptoms that can let you know when certain nutrients are needed to maintain the healthy growth of your plants. The remedies for the different conditions you may observe are in a wide selection of organic and non-organic fertilizers, most of them available under commercial names at the garden center.

Here are signs to look for if one of the important nutrients, nitrogen, is deficient in your soil: erosion in the topsoil; a very sandy soil; yellowing or stunted foliage in the plants growing in the soil; early-falling leaves from the trees.

Many of those same symptoms can indicate the lack of another nutritional element, potash. Plan to add a fertilizer including potash if the soil is quite sandy, or if older leaves take on a yellow tint between the veins and appear scorched at the margins.

Phosphorus is called for if plants remain stunted, or if subsurface drainage is poor, or the soil has an especially fine texture.

Farmers Depend On Pesticides

Farmers aren't the only ones who benefit from the use of pesticides. Any of us who enjoy a day outdoors benefit, too. Without pesticides and agricultural technology, much of the land now available for wildlife and the recreation would have to be cultivated. In addition to 320 million acres of crops now harvested, it is estimated that over 300 million acres — equal to the area of Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Tennessee, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Alabama — would be needed to feed the U.S. population.

Lawn Should Go In Early

Because hot weather and making scratches in the surface. This is accomplished most conveniently by a powered lawn thinner or scarifier. Scarifiers cut through the sod into the soil, make striations into which seed can shift.

Many experts suggest seeding on still-frozen soil in late winter. Or if the soil needs to be cultivated, then seed the lawn just as early as the ground turns dry enough to be worked.

Of course, any lawnseed you sow will sprout slowly in cold weather. But the seed is not damaged when left to lie in the soil until warm weather comes. In fact, late winter "conditioning" right in the lawn may be helpful. Freezing-thawing tends to imbed the seed comfortably in frost pits where it won't dry out so easily when sprouting starts. And as seed coat impermeability breaks down, the seed is absorbing moisture for a fast "take off" once warm weather does come.

Soil temperature near freezing does restrict seed sprouting materially — so much that bluegrass, for example, would take a month or two to show much in the way of green fuzz if kept constantly cold. But the life processes of this same seed speed up greatly as weather warms: when daytime temperature of the soil reaches 65 degrees or better, a promising carpet of green seedlings may become visible in as little as 10 days. This is especially true with seed already sown and "ready to go."

A seedbed free from competing vegetation — either old grass or weeds, — offers a new seeding its best chance for success. New lawns, like commercial sod plantings, are generally started in cultivated soil, with ample fertilizer mixed into the soilbed.

However, it is possible to renovate a lawn without appreciable disturbance merely by

Why Fescues?

In compounding the top lawn-seed mixtures, fine fescues are invariably included because of their ability to withstand shade and to conquer poor soil. Fine fescues are of two sorts, the dense-growing Chewings variety, and the creeping types.

DEVASTATION — In 1970, gypsy moth caterpillars defoliated almost 800,000 acres of woodland in eight northeastern states. This is more than triple the acreage defoliated in 1969 and six times more damage than in 1968. The outlook for the future is for still greater destruction. The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates that approximately one-third of the 340 million acres of forests in the Eastern U.S. could be destroyed if the gypsy moth is allowed to continue unchecked.

Hairy Hitchhikers Find Their Way To Southwest

What is about two inches long, has about 20 legs, is covered with hair, is red with blue polka-dots, and has killed over a million trees?

This critter hitchhikes with man from New England to such far-away places as Minnesota, Wisconsin, Virginia, Texas, Florida and other distant states.

Last summer, this mini-monster denuded over 100,000 acres of forest in Northern New Jersey: the wildlife — birds, mammals, and even snakes — left the ravaged areas in droves, for they had no food, no nesting place and no shade.

Homeowners may be familiar with this unwanted wiggler — the gypsy moth caterpillar.

However, the gypsy moth wasn't always unwanted. It was actually imported into this country by a Massachusetts naturalist who thought it might aid the silk industry.

Unfortunately, several moths escaped into the surrounding woodlands when their cage was destroyed in a windstorm.

During the 102 years that have since elapsed, voracious hordes of gypsy moth caterpillars have spread like a plague, chewing their way over millions of acres in the Northeast and have recently shown up in Midwestern states.

The gypsy moth causes damage on such a large scale that it is actually an "environmental polluter." A single caterpillar eats one square foot of leaf surface every 24 hours. Favorite meals for the gypsy moth include oak, maple, birch, willow, and poplar, but they will also feed on pine, spruce, other hardwoods, and evergreen trees.

Large infestations, containing millions of caterpillars, can easily strip the foliage of an entire forest in a few weeks.

Repeated defoliations will destroy valuable timberlands. The dead trees, in turn, increase fire hazards, permit soil erosion and the runoff of precious water. Wildlife habitats are destroyed and land values drastically reduced.

Recently, gypsy moths have been showing up in non-rural areas and have killed ornamental shrubs and trees, covered side walks, and gotten into homes, pools, stores, and buildings.

The primary source of spread today is the movement of mobile homes, camping trailers, and recreational vehicles to which the female moths have attached their egg masses. Each mass contains from 100 to 1,000 potential caterpillars. It is easy to imagine how a camper might unwittingly carry egg masses outside of infected areas to begin a new infestation.

Fortunately, homeowners and communities can protect their property with applications of a pesticide known as carbaryl, sold commercially as Sevin. It is low in toxicity to humans, birds, fish, and other wildlife. It does not accumulate in animal tissue so it cannot be transferred from animal to animal and thus does not build up in the food chain. And because it safely decomposes, it does not build up in the environment.

However, Sevin is toxic to bees. If the home gardener is considering the use of this pesticide, he should avoid spraying plants in their flowering stages, particularly when the honey bees are collecting pollen.

Application in accordance with label directions will provide effective control of the gypsy moth. It is important to note that this pesticide is the choice of many local, state, and federal authorities.

Nurserymen Suggest New Approach For Gardeners

Most American families have less time to devote to caring for their lawns and gardens than they might wish, according to the recently released data from the 1970 census. Recognizing this fact, members of the American Association of Nurserymen are suggesting a special approach to landscaping for busy people.

The best plan for residential landscaping can have unhappy results, they point out, if it is beyond the ability or capacity of the resident to provide proper upkeep. The design of outside decoration should take into account the time and interest available for its care.

The need for this kind of planning is highlighted by a number of items in the Census Bureau report. The Bureau found that some 40 per cent of the nation's adult women are in the labor force; a tenth of all families are headed by women; a fourth of all Americans are in school; and about half the nation's families are living in a different house from the one they occupied five years ago.

To meet the requirement of these busy families on the move for outdoor surroundings that are beautiful and comfortable, yet easy to keep that way, the nation's nursery growers, garden centers, landscape designers and installers suggest what is sometimes called "zone maintenance." It simply means that there may be some parts of the yard which require little or no attention — a small patch of lawn to mow, or perhaps a ground-cover which doesn't even require that. Then, here and there, a flower bed or other plantings which ask for some trimming and weeding and fertilizing to provide an outlet for the gardener's activity without overtaxing his time limitations.

The important factor, the American Association of Nurserymen says, is that the combination of the different types of attention areas or "Maintenance zones" be geared to the individual situation of a specific family. The home in which the husband and wife both work all week will have a very different kind of landscaping than one in which there is an avid gardener who enjoys relaxation in the yard and has time for it.

Bit Chilly In Texas

By The Associated Press
Weather calm supplanted the long series of storms in recent days and it also was rather chilly in some areas over Texas today.

Skies were generally clear except for clouds scattered through some areas of North Central and extreme South Texas—and, for a change, there was no rain anywhere.

Temperatures in early morning dropped as low as a freezing 29 degrees at Dalhart and 33 at Amarillo in the Panhandle. The readings ranged from the higher 30s into the 50s in most other sections, staying as high as 63 at McAllen and 64 at Brownsville in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Cool air which started moving into the state more strongly from the northwest Thursday held the afternoon high to 42 degrees at Amarillo. Top marks elsewhere reached as high as a warm 92 at McAllen.

Mostly fair weather was predicted tonight and Saturday along with another cool night.

Ask Private Showing Of 'Deep Throat'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Some Texas lawmakers have asked for a private showing of "Deep Throat" and "Last Tango in Paris" so they can see, uh, just how bad they are.

The House Intergovernmental Affairs Committee voted 12-1 Thursday night to subpoena the films.

Rep. Billy Williamson, D-Tyler, said the committee should see them and then vote for his bill to allow cities to license theater operators. Licenses could be revoked if "X" rated films were shown to persons under 18.

"I'm here to challenge this committee to subpoena some of the current filth that is circulating in our land, that would subvert the morals of our youth," Williamson said.

He said a newsman told him "Deep Throat" was such a film, "and something called 'Tango.'"

"You all will be so inflamed that you would..."

A burst of laughter interrupted him.

"You're looking for the word 'incensed,'" said Rep. James Kaster, D-El Paso, chairman of the committee.

"So incensed," Williamson continued, "that you would spontaneously..."

Again the room rocked with laughter.

Kaster completed the sentence for him, "... vote your bill out."

Rep. Ray Hutchison, R-Dallas, chairman of the subcommittee that is considering Williamson's bill, said the subpoena for "Deep Throat" should be directed to the city of Dallas, where the film has been seized in several raids.

Rep. Chris Semos, D-Dallas, frowned and asked, "What assurances would we have that we wouldn't be raided in the city of Austin?"

Hutchison said "Last Tango in Paris" is scheduled at an Austin theater soon, and the subpoena for that picture could be sent to the theater operator.

Kaster said in keeping with the spirit of the new open meetings law, which is not yet in effect, the showing of the films would have to be open to the public.

Rep. E. L. Short, D-Tahoka, persuaded the committee to accept an amendment to limit the audience to House members and reporters.

The only no vote on the subpoena motion was cast by Rep. Latham Boone, D-Navasota.

Denies Asking Acting FBI Boss To Destroy 'Hot' Files

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three newspapers today reported that Acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray III destroyed politically sensitive documents belonging to Watergate consultant E. Howard Hunt Jr. after being told by presidential aides that the files "should never see the light of day."

The Washington Post, The New York Daily News and the New York Times said the files included fake State Department cables purporting to implicate the late President John F. Kennedy in the 1963 assassination of South Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem.

The Times quoted associates of Gray as saying that John Ehrlichman, chief presidential domestic-affairs adviser, told White House Counsel John W. Dean III: "You drive over the bridge every night, why don't you throw them (the Hunt files) over?"

The Post said that on June 28, 1972, two weeks after the break-in of Democratic headquarters in the Watergate, Ehrlichman suggested to Dean: "You go across the river every day. Why don't you drop the... things in the river?"

The Post and Daily News said Gray destroyed the files after being told by Dean and Ehrlichman that the documents should "never see the light of day." The Times said the statement was made by Dean.

paquidick Island, Mass., in which a secretary riding with the senator was killed.

There have been reports for some time that one of Hunt's duties as a White House consultant was to collect files on Sen. Kennedy, who in 1972 was considered a possible candidate for president.

Ehrlichman, in a statement issued through the White House Thursday night, denied that he ever ordered Gray to destroy the files. But he said the "matter has been under investigation" by President Nixon's special Watergate prosecutor since April 15.

Ehrlichman confirmed that at a June 1972 meeting in the White House, Dean gave Gray a sealed envelope containing "some of the contents of the Hunt safe" in the Executive Office Building.

"Mr. Gray was told by Mr. Dean that the contents (of the envelope) were sensitive materials not in any way related to the Watergate case," Ehrlichman said. "I was present but neither then nor at any other time did I give Mr. Gray any request, suggestion or instruction regarding what should be done with the contents."

Ehrlichman said he did not know the nature of the contents and until April 15 assumed Gray still had the envelope.

"I learned certain new facts concerning the contents of the Hunt safe on April 15, 1973," the presidential adviser said. "I promptly reported my findings to the President the same day and they were relayed to Mr. Petersen, the assistant attorney general. The matter has been under investigation by him since then."

Elbow Slates Enrollment

The Elbow Elementary School of the Forsan County Line ISD has set pre-school enrollment for the kindergarten for 1973-74 for Tuesday between the hours of 9 a.m. and 12 noon.

Kindergarten is for children who live in the Forsan district. No transfers will be accepted in kindergarten, although those who have been approved for transfer in the regular grades (1-5) will still be accepted.

Attendance in Forsan kindergarten is not compulsory. Enrollment is limited to 30 pupils. This is made up of children whose birthdays are nearest to six years of age or any culturally deprived children. Any who come to be enrolled must be five by Sept. 1, 1973.

Those who are presently enrolled in kindergarten this year are already pre-enrolled for first grade next year. However, if there are any children who will be six by Sept. 1, 1973, who are not attending our kindergarten, these will need to come get enrolled Tuesday, also. Birth certificates will be needed at this time; health forms will be handed out. For further information, contact W. R. Cregar, principal, Elbow Elementary School (398-5444).

Leader Of Postal Union To Disregard Guidelines

WASHINGTON (AP) — The leader of one of four postal worker unions today vowed to disregard government wage guidelines in seeking substantial wage increases this year from the U.S. Postal Service.

"They are unrealistic to our people who are still playing catch-up," declared James H. Rademacher, president of the National Association of Letter Carriers, AFL-CIO.

Negotiations on a new contract opened last week, with the four unions demanding improved fringe benefits and a cost-of-living escalator clause in addition to wage increases in excess of the Nixon administration's 5.5 per cent Phase 3 guideline.

Rademacher would not put a figure on the wage demand, saying that will depend on resolution of other economic issues and the trend in the cost of living, which soared at an annual rate of 10 per cent in the past two months.

"But they will be far in excess of the guidelines determined by the Cost of Living Council," he said in a speech to the Direct Mail Advertisers Association.

Contracts for the nation's 600,000 postal workers, who now average about $10,000 a year, expire July 20.

The administration is trying to hold wages down to its guidelines to prevent another
