TANK CANNONS POUND APARTMENT BUILDINGS

Army Clashes With Guerrillas

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Tank cannons pounded high-rise apartment buildings today and army-guerrilla fighting spread north of this shell-torn capital, as President Suleiman Franjeh vowed he would not tolerate a Palestinian "occupation army" in Lebanon.

SHARU PEACE
A group of 500 guerrillas was reported battling massed army troops at a Palestinian refugee camp at Dbaye, five miles north of Beirut. Witnesses said some of the guerrillas had occupied a monastery near the camp to escape army mortar and tank fire. Attempts to enforce a shaky cease-fire, negotiated before dawn and announced again at noon, appeared unsuccessful. Heavy fighting and shell fire raged at the Tel Zatar refugee camp in the eastern sector of Beirut.

Casualty figures were not available for today's fighting but Palestinian radio broadcasts said 22 guerrillas were killed and 99 wounded Wednesday. They said 10 to 13 Palestinian civilians died and an unknown number were wounded.

Lebanese casualties were not announced. From Damascus, capital of neighboring Syria, came reports that 7,000 troops of the Palestinian Liberation Army had been alerted for possible intervention in Lebanon.

Palestinian broadcasts from Cairo accused Lebanese leaders of abetting "an American-Israeli plot to liquidate the guerrilla movement." Lebanon has always been an unwilling host to the guerrilla movement because of Israeli reprisals. With a half-Christian, half-Moslem division of the population the government has not felt itself strong enough to curb guerrilla activities as effectively as Syria, Jordan and Egypt have done.

RAID ON BEIRUT
Relations became increasingly strained after the Israeli raid on Beirut three weeks ago in which three guerrilla leaders were assassinated in their apartments. Some 300,000 Palestinians live in this nation of 2½ million persons, which has a security force of 25,000 troops and police. More than 150,000 of the Palestinians are refugees from Israel, and about 100,000 of them live in 15 refugee camps around the country. Since 1969 these have been enclaves outside government control, policed by the Palestinian Armed Struggle Command.

Radical terrorist organizations have embarked on exploits like the Lod airport massacre and the attack on the Israeli Olympic team in Munich. RETRIBUTION
Israel answered the Munich killings with a big raid into southern Lebanon. The Lebanese army put new pressure on the guerrillas, and they agreed to withdraw from southern Lebanon altogether. But the anti-Israeli terrorism continued, with the result that Israel carried its retaliation into Beirut itself.

A curfew imposed Wednesday night was lifted for two hours to let the people shop for food and other necessities. But battles raged in two sectors of Lebanon's capital, and the wail of ambulance sirens mingled with the roar of shellfire. BURN CARS
Hospitals said they were under army orders not to report casualty figures, but a guerrilla spokesman said "both sides have suffered. Ambulances have been busy for two hours." Army tanks and armored cars rumbled through streets littered with shell casings from the first day's fighting Wednesday. The heaviest concentrations of fire today were at the Tal Zatar refugee camp on the northeast side of the city and a thickly populated residential area near the Sabra refugee camp and the Camille Chamoun stadium in the southwest sector.

Watergate Prosecutor Grilling Two Outgoing White House Aides

WASHINGTON (AP) — Outgoing White House aides H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman visited chief Watergate prosecutor Earl Silbert today. Haldeman has resigned as Nixon's chief of staff. Ehrlichman has quit as his chief domestic advisers. Both said at the time they resigned Monday that they had asked to talk to Silbert. The pair was accompanied by their lawyer, John J. Wilson, who told newsmen, "We'll be here all day." The two are scheduled to meet investigators from the

Senate Watergate committee Friday. COVER UP
The developments come amid reports that they face possible indictment for their role in an alleged White House coverup of the Watergate wiretapping. Wednesday the White House reassigned responsibilities because of their departure. Staff veterans will fill their vacancies temporarily, sources said. And the White House officially announced that Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has been given an expanded role in forming domestic policy.

The Washington Evening Star reported that government investigators have been negotiating in secret with an attorney for ousted White House counsel John W. Dean III over whether to grant him immunity from prosecution in return for his testimony.

CRIMINAL CHARGES
The testimony of the 33-year-old Dean is considered crucial for any prosecution of Haldeman and Ehrlichman. The government reportedly has sufficient information to file criminal charges against Dean on the basis of testimony provided by others.

On April 17, President Nixon said no administration official should be given immunity, but the statement is not legally binding. Jeb Stuart Magruder, the No. 2 man in the Nixon re-election campaign, reportedly placed Dean and Mitchell at three meetings in 1972 at which the Watergate bugging was proposed. Magruder was at the federal courthouse today, apparently to give a deposition in the Watergate civil suits.

Meanwhile Wednesday, the Justice Department cited the Nixon campaign for failing to report a secret $200,000 cash gift from accused mutual-fund looter Robert L. Vesco.

The committee, which could be fined $3,000 on the alleged violation, denied it had broken the law. It also noted that Vesco's money was given back to him after the Securities and Exchange Commission sued him after the Securities and Exchange Commission sued him from four overseas mutual funds.

$3,000 FINE
The Justice Department didn't accuse any individuals of wrongdoing in its three-part information filed in federal court.

GOP Donation Charge Lodged

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's re-election campaign is accused by the Justice Department of violating federal campaign laws by failing to report a $200,000 contribution from financier Robert L. Vesco.

The contribution, along with another for $50,000, is believed to be the same one being investigated by a federal grand jury in New York.

The grand jury is studying whether the donation was an attempt to influence a federal investigation of the financier, who is accused in a civil suit of looting $224 million in mutual funds.

MEET WEDNESDAY
Senior recruitment was decided upon as the first plan of action at a meeting Wednesday night of officials of the industries, the Chamber, the Industrial Foundation and the high school.

W. S. Pearson, chairman of the Chamber's Economic Development Council, emphasized that the positions open call for permanent employees, not for mere summer help.

Burleson: I Will Remain In Party

A pair of Texas congressmen mentioned by a Washington Star report as prospects to follow John Connally into the Republican party issued denials.

Rep. Omar Burleson, who represents this district, told the Abilene Reporter News, which contacted him after the Star report, said none had even asked him about the subject.

O. C. Fisher, San Angelo, said regarding the possibility of changing parties that "I have no such plans." He said speculation in this direction was "totally unfounded."

Burleson had this to say: "I have been elected and re-elected as a Democrat in my congressional district. To do other than remain a Democrat would be betraying a trust my people have put me in. I do have some differences with some of the National Democratic party leaders, but I also have differences with some people in my church, my lodge and my service club. I can't expect everybody to agree with me on everything. I couldn't conceive of my getting out of the Democratic party."

Webb Construction Funds Are Sought

Congressman Omar Burleson announced today that the Department of Defense has submitted to the House and Senate Armed Services Committees the annual military construction authorization request including three items for Webb AFB.

Totalling $3,154,000, construction for Webb includes a cold storage facility, $100,000; an airman's dormitory, $2,500,000; and an airman's dining hall, $554,000.

Requests have been approved by the Office of Management and Budget. The committees will now hold hearings on the requests.

Seniors Here Will Be Consulted About Jobs

Recruitment of high school seniors from Big Spring and other area towns for immediate job openings will begin during the next two weeks.

Big Spring High School officials agreed to distribute job application forms for local industrial positions to interested seniors during advisory periods.

Representatives of the various industries will then set up interviews on campus with those students who fill out applications.

Six local industries told the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday of 60 immediate job openings and of some 850 positions expected to open up within the next three years.

MEET WEDNESDAY
Senior recruitment was decided upon as the first plan of action at a meeting Wednesday night of officials of the industries, the Chamber, the Industrial Foundation and the high school.

W. S. Pearson, chairman of the Chamber's Economic Development Council, emphasized that the positions open call for permanent employees, not for mere summer help.

A third of the 451 seniors to graduate from Big Spring High in May are not expected to attend college this fall, according to Pearson.

"One of our big aims is to keep young people here in Big Spring to work and raise their families," Pearson said. The 60 immediate job positions can all be filled by persons 18 years old or older.

A rundown of the available job opportunities will be presented by Father James Delaney at the Friday night bingo session at Sacred Heart Catholic Church, according to Eddie Act.

ORGANIZING
A decision of those meeting Wednesday was to form a manufacturing association for all interested Big Spring firms to better relationships among the various industries, to solve mutual problems such as rapid employee turnover and to recruit out-of-town labor if necessary.

A meeting to formalize plans for the organization is scheduled at 5:30 p.m. May 9.

The group also decided to investigate the possibility of increasing community day care facilities for the children of working mothers and to pursue National Alliance of Businessmen on-the-job training aid on an individual industry basis.

Long-range planning included the possibility of bringing an industrial relations consultant to town to analyze the problems of each industry which requests his advice.

San Angelo (AP) — Texas constitutional architects, fresh from a productive Midland session, brought their fact-finding campaign to San Angelo today.

The fifth of 18 public hearings, scattered across the state through June, unfolded on the campus of Angelo State University.

Commissioners are seeking recommendations to aid them in drafting a new document, which in some form, will be submitted next year to the voters for approval.

Fifteen members of the 37-member Constitutional Revision Commission (CRC) were present Wednesday at a fast-paced session in Midland. They came away impressed with several Midland High School pupils.

REVELATION
"The knowledge that the youngsters here have been a revelation, really, to some of the members," said CRC member Beeman Fisher of Fort Worth. "Their input was great."

John Bishop of Midland High distributed a typewritten constitutional proposal he had drawn up himself. It contained seven articles and ran only four pages.

Youngsters from both Midland High and Midland Lee appeared before the commission, discussing constitutional study projects at the two schools.

Steve McLaughlin of Midland Lee told commissioners that while some sections of the present constitution are "antiquated and border on the ridiculous," other parts were "put there for a reason."

30 WITNESSES
McLaughlin joined several others in urging commissioners not to scrap the document in total—do not, as one witness said, "throw out the wheat with the chaff."

Another Lee youngster, Bob

Reiper, asked the panel to consider an ethics provision, citing the Sharpston and Watergate scandals as justification.

Commission chairman Robert Calvert, former chief justice of the Texas Supreme Court, thanked the youngsters repeatedly for their comments and proposals.

They were among 30 witnesses who testified on a wide variety of topics that included judicial reform—which several proposed—and legislative salaries and sessions.

Many favored increased salaries for legislators but several criticized the proposal to switch to annual sessions from the current system of one every two years.

A number of witnesses, without a dissenter, said agricultural land should be taxed only on its productive value, not on its speculative or market value.

BANKRUPTCY
Discussions included the method of selection of judges, state finance reports, increased rights for 18-year-olds, property tax credits for parents of children attending private schools, combining some state bonds and commissions, deficit spending, free public education, election laws and right to work provisions.

Steve Debnam, a Lamesa farmer, said a provision is needed to protect agriculture against union strikes, adding, "Strikes in agriculture during harvest seasons which can cause a loss of a year's work or bankruptcy... must be guarded against."

The commission's next meeting is Friday in San Antonio.

Upwards To 1,500 May Attend Shriner Ritual

Shriners and their ladies, possibly 1,500 strong, will be honored guests of Big Spring Friday evening and Saturday.

They will be flocking here for the Spring ceremonial, which, while conveying the customary honor upon the potentate's (George Bair) home town, will put the spotlight on Ben E. Godfrey, the venerable founding recorder of the Suez Temple.

This marks Godfrey's 50th year in Masonry.

Activities begin at noon Friday with registration of novices (initiates), move quickly to a golf tournament, and an evening banquet at the Big Spring Country Club.

Saturday begins with continuation of registration at 8 a.m., and from then until midnight there will be something going on nearly every moment.

For the public, the highlight comes at 11 a.m. when the colorful Shrine parade moves through the downtown area. In addition to all the units in the Suez Temple — and these include marching and mounted patrols, motor patrols, Oriental bands, etc. — El Maida Temple at El Paso and Ben Hur at Austin are sending a number of unusual units to add zest and variety to the procession. It promises to be one of the largest in the history of the Temple.

Initiation into the Camel Herders, an inner-circle fun group of the Shrine, will come at 9 a.m. in the Shrine Building, 101 S. Goliad. While this is going on, novices will be taking the medical examination which is necessary before undergoing the second ("hot sands") section of the initiation.

A barbecue for the nobles and novices will be held at the Shrine building, and at 12:30 p.m. there will be a luncheon and entertainment at the Big Spring Country Club for the ladies. Transportation will be available from Holiday Inn, and for those who wish, there will be bridge following the luncheon.

Shriners buckle down to serious business at the ritualistic first section of the initiation at 1:30 p.m. in the Howard County Junior College, followed by first ballots for ring candidates. With the conclusion of this, the class picture will be taken at 2:45 p.m. and then the hot sands tribulations will begin for the candidates. At the conclusion of this, the second ballot will be cast for ring candidates. Then at 4:30 p.m. ceremonies in the Shrine building, fezzes will be presented to the new nobles.

The hospitality hour at 7 p.m. in the Cosden Country Club Building sets in motion an evening of climactic festivities, featuring a Western dance (costume if desired) which continues until the ceremonies ring into history.

Those Attending Friday Concert Need Tickets

Tickets for the Friday night concert featuring the U.S. Army Field Band and Soldiers' Chorus will remain available at The Herald, Hemphill - Wells, Chamber of Commerce and First National Bank through tomorrow afternoon.

The tickets are available without charge but those attending will need them to assure themselves seats. Those without tickets will not be admitted to the Municipal Auditorium, site of the 7:30 p.m. event, until 10 minutes before the show gets under way.

Lt. Col. Hal J. Gibson is commanding officer and conductor of the band and brings to the podium a wealth of professional experience in music. He is a native of Oklahoma City who earned his bachelor and master of music degrees at SMU in Dallas. Executive officer and associate conductor of the band is Maj. Samuel J. Fricano, a native of Silver Creek, N.Y. He received a bachelor of music degree and Performer's Certificate in Trumpet from the Eastman School of Music in 1955.

Following his graduation, Maj. Fricano enlisted in the Army for duty with the United States Army Field Band and played solo trumpet with the Band for five years. In 1961, he was selected to attend the Bandmasters' Course at the U.S. Naval School of Music in Washington, D.C., graduated first in his class, and was appointed a Warrant Officer Bandmaster.

He was assigned to Fort Campbell, Ky., as commanding officer and conductor of the 101st Airborne Division Band. While in command of this band, he became a qualified parachutist and has a total of 21 jumps to his credit. In 1963, he was assigned to Korea as bandmaster of the 1st Cavalry Division Band.

The following year Maj. Fricano was selected to receive a direct commission to the grade of First Lieutenant as a Special Band Officer. Since 1964 he has been assigned to the United States Army Field Band as associate conductor.

One Bus Not On Schedule Operates All Over State

By JOHN EDWARDS

The approximately 900 mile round trip to the Texas Department of Corrections (TDC) at Huntsville is not scenic, Sheriff A. N. Standard said.

"We don't really cherish the trips (with prisoners)," Standard said. "We only make them because we have to."

SCHEDULE SECRET

A prison bus from Huntsville will stop at the county jail to pick up prisoners sentenced for felony crimes.

But for security reasons, the TDC will not reveal its schedule for the bus. The sheriff's office has waited for up to six weeks for a bus to deliver a sentenced man to Huntsville.

Having a deputy or deputies drive several prisoners to the prison is the alternative.

About half the time, the sheriff's office transfers prisoners rather than waiting for TDC bus service.

Standard mentioned several reasons for using county manpower and vehicles for some transfers:

1. Keeping prisoners extended periods would cost more than immediately delivering sentenced men by county vehicle.

2. The district attorney requests a sentenced man be sent at once.

3. The convicted man's family asks for immediate transportation for a logical reason.

4. Keeping the convicted man in county jail presents a security problem.

5. Waiting to start the sentence is creating an emotional strain for the man.

6. Or a prisoner may need hospitalization and will be transferred after initial treatment here.

The TDC will not deliver prisoners to Howard County to satisfy a bench warrant issued by the district judge. Standard must send one or more deputies for the man cited in a bench warrant.

In other cases, economy and manpower often make waiting for the bus the best choice, Standard said.

The trip costs Howard County from $25 to $40 when local law officers deliver the prisoners to Huntsville, the sheriff said. When they make the trip,

Standard likes to carry at least three prisoners in the car or station wagon.

'CUFFED, BELTED'

According to prescribed methods, prisoners are to be "cuffed and belted." This means, Standard explained, that they are handcuffed and their handcuffs tied to special chain or leather belts.

Being bound such a way is not uncomfortable, Standard said.

If possible, they leave Big Spring in the morning after prisoners have had breakfast in jail. Then, they can reach Huntsville about noon where deputies may eat at the prison for 50 cents each.

Should they leave Big Spring late or before breakfast, deputies with prisoners sometimes stop at a drive-in restaurant for sandwiches. If no drive-in restaurant is available, arrangements are made for the group to eat in a private room.

Meal stops en route are rarely necessary, Standard said.

OVERNIGHT STAYS

Deputy sheriffs do not stay out-of-town overnight before releasing prisoners to the TDC.

The TDC accepts prisoners 24 hours daily and seven days weekly.

At District Attorney Bob Moore's request, Charles Lee Crawley, who is serving 15 years for murder, was returned the night of Friday, April 27, after a habeas corpus hearing in 118th District Court.

The hearing did not adjourn until about 5 p.m., and Crawley did not reach Huntsville until 2 a.m. Saturday.

Rather than return sleepy, deputies will stay in a motel in such cases, Standard said. The motel bill pushes the cost of a trip to about $40.

Cost of most trips are kept under $25, the sheriff added.

Asked about incidents while en route with prisoners, Standard, sheriff for nine years, knew of none. The procedure his office follows seems to work.

deputies will stay in a motel in such cases, Standard said. The motel bill pushes the cost of a trip to about $40.

Cost of most trips are kept under $25, the sheriff added.

Medallion Is Issued

The Permian Basin Petroleum Association has announced plans to participate in the celebration of the 50th Anniversary of the famous Santa Rita No. 1. This well is located on University Lands at Texon, west of Big Lake in Reagan County.

The announcement was made with the commissioning of 99mm commemorative medallions to be struck in .999 fine silver and in bronze. The obverse side of the medallion depicts the well blowing in on May 28, 1923, shown in the artists rendition. The reverse side of the medallion contains the great seal of The University of Texas as well as a brief resume of the well's history. The medallion not only commemorates the well for its fostering the big play in the Permian Basin, but for its role in the financing of the State University System.

McShane went on to say that the 999 silver medallions will be serially numbered to enhance their numismatic value and that a descriptive historical booklet will be furnished with them. Because of limited production of the silver medallions, advance orders are now being taken. The silver medallions are being offered for $15 each and the bronze for $3. A set including one of each embedded in lucite is available for $30. Checks or money orders may be sent to Permian Basin Petroleum Association, Santa Rita No. 1 Commemorative Committee, P.O. Box 132, Midland, Tex. 79701.

Perry L. Ruddick Completes Class

Perry L. Ruddick, Mitchell County deputy sheriff at Colorado City, is among those who have completed a 40-hour in-service school at Monahans. The course dealt with criminal investigation. Nineteen others, including officers from Midland, Odessa, Kermit and Monahans also were certified after the course.

Midland School Bond Vote Due; OK Joint Usage

MIDLAND — The Midland Independent School District School board Tuesday indicated it will submit two bond proposals to voters May 29.

One will be for a sports multipurpose facility costing about $1.9 million, and the other will be for completion of air conditioning of most of the system's school buildings at about $2.5 million.

As a site for the sports multipurpose complex, the school trustees Tuesday purchased 25 acres of Midland College's campus in northern Midland for $25,000. MC is expected to use the complex when its initial buildings are constructed.

Trustees also agreed that MC will pay $30,000 for late afternoon and early evening use of Lee High School facilities from Sept. 1, 1973-Sept. 1, 1974 and that MC will allow MISD students to use without cost vocational-technical education rooms that MC expects to set up soon.

Briscoe Draws Chorus Of Boos

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe agreed Wednesday to discuss a proposed school financing bill with Mexican-American leaders from San Antonio's Edgewood school district after a march on the Capitol earlier in the day.

Among those to go over the bill with Briscoe will be Ramsey Muniz, unsuccessful 1972 gubernatorial candidate of the La Raza Unida party, and Demetrio Rodriguez, plaintiff in a recent 5-4 U.S. Supreme Court decision upholding the controversial Texas school financing system.

A crowd estimated by highway patrolmen at between 2,000 and 4,000 persons, mostly Mexican-American students, held a boisterous rally on the Capitol's south steps Wednesday morning.

"POOR" AREAS

They asked for legislative action to equalize the differences between rich and poor school districts in Texas. In his court fight, Rodriguez said Texas school financing was unconstitutional because a poor district like Edgewood did not get the same school money per pupil as a rich district. The high court ruled against Rodriguez, but state officials said nonetheless it was time to revise school funding.

Briscoe drew a chorus of boos, the first time since becoming governor he has faced a hostile ethnic crowd.

Chants of "We want Ramsey (Muniz)" made a wide smile rapidly fade from Briscoe's face. Later, he curtly refused to comment on the crowd reception.

Tuesday night, Briscoe forced changes in a House bill on school financing. Insisting on no new taxes, he engineered a reduction in proposed 1974-75 spending from $97 million to $39 million.

JUST TALK

Rodriguez drew repeated applause as he said first in English, then Spanish, "We cannot leave our children millions of dollars in cattle or land. The only thing we can leave when we die is a good education."

Reaction to Briscoe's remarks was generally skeptical among the marchers.

Rodriguez said Briscoe "didn't commit himself to anything."

A 10th grade student, Alfredo Alvarado, said the governor and legislature "just talk and talk and don't do anything."

But Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said "the nature of the group" made it hostile to remarks by Briscoe and some other speakers.

"I don't think they really listened to him," Hobby said.

After the rally, some of the youths swarmed through the Capitol Building. About 50 of them were inside the governor's receipt room, asking to see Briscoe. After Muniz and some school leaders arrived, Briscoe agreed to a meeting as soon as the bill he backed is completed.

Gregg Returns To Big Spring

James Gregg, city attorney, is recovering at home, from injuries received in a car accident in Mexico over the weekend.

Harry Nagel, city manager, went to Del Rio Monday and brought Gregg back to Big Spring. Gregg suffered a dislocated hip and shoulder injuries in the accident.

Changes In POW Doctrines Pitch

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. Lee Rankin, D-Miss., said he would introduce legislation to change the rules for repatriating U.S. war prisoners.

Rankin said the bill would allow American fighting men to give more than the traditional name, rank and service number.

566 RETURN

A number of proposals were offered to the Joint Chiefs of Staff and other Pentagon leaders in secret briefings during the past few weeks, according to sources close to leaders among the 566 returned U.S. Southeast Asian war prisoners.

The purposes of the recommendations would be to better prepare American fighting men for the ordeal of captivity.

Some former POWs strongly favor drafting guidelines that will tell American fighting men how far they may go in giving enemy captors more than their name, rank, service number and date of birth after being subjected to torture or other severe duress.

"Our men need to be told at what point they may decide to tell the enemy some things. And what they may say, as well as how they can provide false information convincingly," said one former POW who asked to remain anonymous.

A number of returned POWs have acknowledged making propaganda statements, but said they did so only after being beaten and tortured by the North Vietnamese.

'TURNCOATS'

Their actions do not seem strictly in accord with the Military Code of Conduct, drawn up after the Korean War produced a small band of U.S. POWs labeled "turncoats" for allegedly cooperating with their North Korean captors.

Today I went to the Big Spring Herald. I want to be a typist when I grow up. I like going there.

There are alot of people. There was a man that showed us around the new-paper building.

Yvette

Newspaper man.

I do not want to be a newspaper man because I am not old enough to be a newspaperman. may be I will win I grow up because it is danres for me to be a noys paper man may be ner time I will but and tell yhat I will be my self I hope. Good by for now class.

Perry

It would be nice to show childrn a round the places. And write you and my mother a latter and then I whd quit, my jod.

Robert

Big Spring Herald

I would like to work there because you could read the Sunday paper when it is only Saturday. I would not like to work in the printing room. Because you would go home and your wife would start reading you. Thank you for showing us.

Tim

I'd like to be a typist because it's fun to do. I like it too because it's easy to do. It looks fun to be a typist. People trust you to type good in the newspaper.

Kasi

The Sport Fan

Well I would like to be a Sports writer and go to football games, basketball games, golf games. and manyn many more. I would put my own name in it. I would talk to the players and the coaches. I think most of all would be fun is going around the world. That is my favorite. Now what do you like sports fans. "by".

Mike

I would not like to work there, because you might get caught in a machine it is very dangerous because some of them might kill you.

Danny

A News Paper

I would not like to be a man who works in a news paper office because it is dangerous. I don't think would be fun.

Teresa S.

Why I Would Like to Work For Big Spring Herald

I would like to work at Big Spring Herald because it looks like a good job. Also because I think it would be fun I would like to be the lady that takes ads. There probably would be a lot of people putting ads in the paper. That's why I would like to work at the Big Spring Herald.

Kelli

I would like to work at a news papper office so I could write reports abaalt a house bore sale or something like that. I would like to work a machine. that they have down there. It would be fun to me, I could tell people fi it was going to rain are not. maly I could tipe.

Tommy

I would not like to be a newsman. Because I night get my sleeve caught in it. It would croush me to death. It would make a copy of me. It would get my clothes dirty.

Curtis

I would like to work int the Newspaper Office I would make money. I would like to be a typist.

Brenda

I'd like to work there because I like the preinting press. And those big peices of paper! And I could read the paper before I go home. And if I got mryed are something I could write it in there my self. Also I'd have lots of friends, I might get maryed to one of the men there. And kids could come there and watch me work. I might even get to show them around at the end I'd give them 10¢ a peice and a news paper. And I'd stay there all night. Then I'd get payed a bunch of mony. When I get the mony I'd buy me a house. If I get maryed I'd go out buy us some clothes.

Angie

NEWSPAPPERS-

Dear teacher, I am going to tell you why I want to work in a newspaper office. I would like to work there because I could write a letter to my mother on one and mail it to her personaly. I hope you liked my reason.

Debbie

I would like to be a news reporter because you can get mesages. All so you can have your picture in the news paper. If I were the manager I would have to pay the works so they can make a living. Then their children can go to the show.

Luxury Car Theft Ring Cracked In Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Three Fort Worth businessmen were free on bonds of $10,000 each today after being charged Wednesday as members in a car-theft ring specializing in luxury automobiles on order.

Horace Odell Herod, 47, an independent insurance agent, and Grady Lee Bryant, 33, a florist, were arrested Tuesday on warrants charging them with conspiracy to commit theft over $50.

Weldon Day, 43, a part-owner of Roadrunner Auto Sales, was charged with receiving and concealing stolen property.

Nine cars, including Cadillacs and Lincolns and one motor home, were recovered in the investigation of the theft ring, Lt. R. M. Tate Jr., head of the Fort Worth Police Department's Special Enforcements Division, said.

He added that some members of the ring are believed connected with a group in Phoenix, Ariz.

Tate said that while some of the cars were sold directly to individuals, most were financed through local banks and lending institutions.

Police have not determined how many cars the group had stolen, but they said the ring has been in operation for more than a year. Because of possible involvement with the group in Phoenix, federal charges of transporting stolen vehicles across state lines may be sought against some of the men, police said.

One of the cars recovered, a 1972 Continental Mark IV, had been stolen from Fort Worth businessman Charles Tandy on Sept. 20. It was found when an Arlington man became suspicious of the car as he was preparing to buy it and called police.

Det. J. L. Blaisdell said a Benbrook woman had purchased two cars and became a victim when one of the two vehicles was taken back.

She told police that after purchasing a Cadillac and a Lincoln, she was told there might be trouble over the sale and she should return one car.

She returned the car, but did not get her money back. The vehicle was later sold again.

After the cars were stolen, vehicle identification numbers were changed and a counterfeit title secured, Tate said.

Author Will Pay Firm $130,000

NEW YORK (AP) — Author Clifford Irving will pay the McGraw-Hill Publishing Co. $130,000 for funds spent during his writing of a spurious autobiography of billionaire Howard Hughes, under a settlement agreed to by the company.

McGraw-Hill, in a suit in State Supreme Court, had asked for $173,821.89. The settlement was reached after three days of trial.

Irving is serving a 2½-year federal prison term for his part in the hoax; and his wife, Edith, a two-year term in Switzerland, where she deposited the funds under a false name.

Wage-Price-Control System Is Stiffened

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pres-ident Nixon has stiffened his wage-price control system to require a closer government watch over price boosts by big companies. But he says consumers should expect inflation to be a problem for several months.

PLAYDAY PROCEEDS—Bobby Stark, junior president of the Howard County Youth Horseman's Club, presents a $117 check from the club netted during a benefit playday held in March to Mrs. James Harmon, accepting for the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

problem," Nixon said Wednesday as he announced new steps to try to moderate surging price increases.

The President ordered large companies, those with annual sales of $250 million or more, to notify the government in advance if they intend to raise company-wide average prices by more than 1.5 per cent above the levels of Jan. 10.

The effect would be to delay such price increases by 30 days, the time it would take the Cost of Living Council to determine whether they met government standards.

It was a step back toward the Phase 2 mandatory wage-price control system that Nixon abandoned on Jan. 11, but the administration stopped far short of reverting to that approach.

Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz said he has no idea how many of the approximately 650 companies affected by the new guideline are getting close to the 1.5-per cent limit.

He described Nixon's move as "an insurance policy, a sort of preventive measure."

Nixon also announced that the government bureaucracy to administer and enforce Phase 3 controls will be bolstered. The Cost of Living Council will get about 100 new employees and the Internal Revenue Service about 500 more to enforce the controls.

U.S. Thanking Nations For Dope Pushers Fight

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Life has become as dangerous for the international drug traffickers as for drug users, the United States says, thanks to increased cooperation from other countries.

"Throughout the world, governments are cooperating... to an unprecedented extent... Globally, the United Nations has assumed the leadership which the world expects" in the campaign against illicit narcotics, U.S. delegate Harvey R. Wellman told the social committee of the U.N. Economic and Social Council Wednesday.

Connally's Switch No Big Surprise To Pol Observers

By The Associated Press John B. Connally's switch to the Republican line came as no great surprise to some political observers, and the effect of the move was up for speculation today.

Democratic Party Chairman Robert Strauss said Connally, in effect, already had become a Republican by working in President Nixon's cabinet and heading a "Democrats-for-Nixon" effort in last year's campaign.

Former Texas Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, an avowed Democrat, called Connally's move "good timing."

"It wasn't a complete surprise to me," he said. "I don't think it was politically motivated. John Connally has always had good timing, but I don't think he looked at it from a political point of view."

BRUTAL DESCRIPTION Number Of Farms Will Continue To Dwindle

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Only one-third of the nation's 2.8 million farms are doing well enough financially, despite record crop and livestock prices, to be classified commercial enterprises by Agriculture Department experts. The remainder, each of which sell less than $10,000 worth of products annually, often are rural residences instead of viable farm units or are too small to support families without outside income.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Buttz, who urged struggling farmers years ago to "adapt or die," can be as brutal in describing the situation today.

"Actually," he has told a House subcommittee, "many of those who are classified today as farmers—and they are pretty much the salt of the earth—contribute little to feeding the urban population because, in most cases, they operate on a small scale and do not have a lot of surplus to sell."

HEFTY RISKS
"It is the commercial operator who has around $90,000 to $100,000 invested, who risks every dollar of his capital each and every time he puts a plow down the first of the year, to whom all in Washington and the rest of the country have to look to feed us," Buttz told Congress.

Farm income jumped sharply last year because of much higher grain and livestock prices and is expected to set another record in 1973.

According to USDA economists, a farm is "commercial" when it markets at least $10,000 worth of products a year. In 1971, the most recent year for full statistics, about one million farms were commercial, about 1.3 million weren't and more than one million farms sold less than $2,500 apiece worth of products.

But income from off-farm jobs for those $2,500-or-less families averaged $3,479 in 1971.

Off-farm income is important to all categories, not just the part-timers. Last year, according to preliminary reports, off-farm income for all units probably was near $20 billion, or more than the record of $19.2 billion for actual net farm income.

LOOKING AHEAD
The roughly one million farms in the commercial $10,000-and-up category account for about 90 per cent of the nation's food and fiber. That means that the remainder, about 1.8 million farms, produce only 10 per cent.

Looking ahead, USDA economists say the number of farms will continue to dwindle to an estimated 2.1 million units by 1985. Of those, some 168,000 super-farms are expected to be selling $100,000 or more worth of products a year. They will produce about 60 per cent of all farm products.

The trend is not new. The $100,000-class super-farms numbered 31,000 in 1964. By 1971 they totaled 63,000.

Buttz and others in the administration say the commercial farmer is in solid enough financial position to begin moving away from direct government payments, subsidies paid to crop producers as supplements to income.

Firearm Charge Hits Actress

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Debbie Reynolds was arraigned in Criminal Court on charges of possessing an unlicensed firearm—an antique stage pistol.

Miss Reynolds, currently starring in the musical "Irene," was continued free without bail pending a hearing May 8.

She was given a summons April 8 after her son Todd Fisher, 15, wounded himself slightly while playing with the gun. The boy also is the son of singer Eddie Fisher.

Cepeda Fits Niche Perfectly With Sox

By The Associated Press
Anywhere Orlando Cepeda hangs his bat is home.

Long a musclemen in the National League, the "Baby B" has found a home—and a new life—in the American League as a designated hitter with the Boston Red Sox.

Cepeda continued to flourish in his new surroundings with his sixth home run of the year, a grand slam job, that helped the Red Sox whip the Texas Rangers 6-2 Wednesday night.

"Every homer feels good," said Cepeda about his dramatic shot that capped a five-run third inning. "But home runs don't mean anything unless you win."

In the other American League games, the Kansas City Royals trimmed the New York Yankees 4-3; the California Angels defeated the Detroit Tigers 5-3; the Oakland A's bested the Milwaukee Brewers 7-3 in 10 innings; the Cleveland Indians turned back the Minnesota Twins 8-4 in 10 innings and the Chicago White Sox blanked the Baltimore Orioles 4-0.

National League scores: Cepeda has not only been hitting homers for Boston, he's been hitting for average, too. The brawny Cepeda, also known as "Cha Cha" for his love of bouncy music, is hitting at a hot .347 clip with 25 hits, four of them doubles. Cepeda has knocked in 17 runs and scored 12.

Ed Kirkpatrick drove in two runs with a sixth-inning double as Kansas City ended New York's four-game winning streak behind the pitching of Paul Spittorf and Gene Garber.

Art Kusnyer doubled home the tie-breaking run in the 12th inning and then scored on Sandy Alomar's sacrifice fly as California defeated slumping Detroit. The Tigers have dropped seven of their last nine games.

Gene Tenace completed a four-run uprising in the 10th inning with a three-run homer as Oakland trimmed Milwaukee. Prior to Tenace's smash, Reggie Jackson had knocked in the go-ahead run with a fielders-choice bouncer.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The manager's office in the Houston Astros' dressing room is empty, because that's the way acting skipper Preston Gomez wants it.

Gomez changes his clothes at his locker in the coaches' room. Why doesn't he occupy the manager's office. He's running the ball club while Leo Durocher recovers from an infection that has sidelined the Astros' boss for two weeks.

"We're all managers," Gomez explained, waving his hand around the room to include coaches Grady Hatton, Hub Kittle and Bob Lillis. "There won't be anybody in the office until Leo gets back."

"We're all managers," Gomez explained, waving his hand around the room to include coaches Grady Hatton, Hub Kittle and Bob Lillis. "There won't be anybody in the office until Leo gets back."

Gomez, who managed the hapless San Diego Padres for almost four seasons, wants no credit for the Astros' record of 12-2 since he took over.

"We knew, Leo knew, that when we started putting everything together we should win some ball games," said Gomez after Houston clobbered the Philadelphia Phillies 9-4 Wednesday night.

"We knew we had the hitters in Jimmy Wynn, Lee May, Bob Watson and Cesar Cedeno, but we were concerned about our pitching. Right now we're getting good pitching."

Gomez said he didn't think the Astros' winning would give Durocher a relapse.

"He's still the boss," said the 49-year-old native of Havana, Cuba. "We (the coaches) put our heads together, decide who is going to play, write the names on the lineup card and tell them to go out and get them."

Gomez said that while the club was in Houston, he visited Durocher everyday, but hasn't talked to the manager since the Astros arrived in Philadelphia Tuesday for the start of a road trip.

The Rockets are 2-1 in the race, as are the Comets.

All-Sports Banquet Set Tonight At High School

The Big Spring Quarterback Club will sponsor the All-Sports Banquet tonight at 7 p.m. at the high school cafeteria, with local athletes in six spring sports to be honored at the event.

Varsity players in basketball, baseball, tennis, golf, track and volleyball will be guests of honor, along with the coaches. The evening will begin with a reception on the high school patio area, and the banquet activities and meal will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Tickets are $2 and may be purchased at the door.

Besides honoring the athletes, it will also be the first opportunity for the public to meet new head coach and athletic director Bob Burris.

Highlight of the night will be the presentation of the Obie Bristow Outstanding Athlete Award, which goes to the best all around sports figure in the school. Trophies will also be presented to the top player in each of the sports. Texas Electric Parks Insurance, Gamco, R & R Theaters, First National Bank, State National Bank and Security National Bank sponsor the awards.

There will be no guest speaker for the fete, and athletes will speak for each different sport, reviewing the year's progress. Bob Priebke will speak for the Steer track team, Bruce Felts will give the baseball address, Willie Williams has the basketball review, Grady Harris will be the golf team's spokesman, tennis speaker will be Randy Mattingley and Susan Smith was chosen to give the volleyball team's report.

Jerry Knoepfel will emcee the program.

Entertainment for the night will be furnished by Tim Dunn and Ronald and Donald McKee.

STANTON ENTRY—Stanton's Tommy Davenport goes after the state Class AA tennis singles crown this weekend at Austin against three other top netters. Davenport, a senior, plays his first match Friday morning and would advance to Saturday's 9 a.m. singles with a victory. He has a 29-4 record.

Ruidoso Planning 3 Live Telecasts

RUIDOSO DOWN, N.M. — The three biggest races in the Quarter Horse world — the All-American Futurity, the Kansas Futurity and the Rainbow Futurity — will be televised live from Ruidoso Downs this season. This is the word from Thad Sandstrom, president of the All-American Network of Topoka, Kan. The network was organized last year expressly to televise the All-American Futurity.

This year, the telecast of the All-American Futurity is being expanded into a coast-to-coast production. In addition, telecasts of the Kansas and Rainbow Futurities will be beamed on a regional basis.

The Kansas Futurity, the first of Ruidoso's famed "Triple Crown," is scheduled for June 10 at 350 yards and carries a purse of about $300,000. The Rainbow Futurity, slated for August 5 at 400 yards, will offer a prize of about $250,000.

The All-American Futurity, granddaddy of them all, is carded for Labor Day and packs a fabulous purse of $1,030,000. According to Sandstrom, 81 TV Stations from coast-to-coast have already signed up for the All-American telecast. "Our target is 125 stations, including every major market in the nation," Sandstrom said.

"We're estimating the telecast will be viewed by 15 million adults. This audience of other outstanding sports events, 17.3 points per game at Cisco last and would even be comparable

Golf Tourney Field Grows

Big Spring Golf Association officials were expecting a big surge of entries today for the Big Spring Municipal Golf Tournament, slated for Saturday and Sunday over the Municipal layout at Comanche Trail Park.

About 45 had entered by mid-afternoon Wednesday, but that number was expected to grow before tonight's 7 p.m. deadline for entries and equal last year's draw of 80 teams. Entry fee is $30 per team.

Golfers will be competing for more than $1,600 in merchandise, with first place worth $320 to the winning team in both the scratch and the Handicap divisions. The second place two-some will receive a $200 certificate.

Play will be 18 holes each day over the 6,400-yard par 73 layout. Golfers playing in the Handicap flight will receive half-handicap.

Duncan Boyer and Paul Stuerzenberger of Abilene will return to defend their title, while last year's runners-up, Bobby Wright of Abilene and Charlie Bailey of Big Spring, have also entered.

Golfers are invited to a barbecue supper at the park Saturday at 8 p.m.

Ankerson Says His Job To Be Far From Easy

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Jack Ankerson doesn't speak of miracles but the new general manager of San Antonio's American Basketball Association franchise admits to "a tremendous task" ahead.

Ankerson, 31, was until Wednesday assistant to the president of the Kentucky Colonels' ABA entry, which is the ABA championship series.

From the top playoff team in the ABA's East Division, he jumped to the only team in the ABA West that did not gain a playoff spot.

From a team whose tradition includes signing ABA stars Artis Gilmore and Dan Issel away from the bidding of the rival NBA, he comes to a team whose directors have been out in the cold in the signing wars and a team which, relatively speaking, has no big stars.

From the Colonels whose crowds for the playoffs are now running in five figures, Ankerson moves to a team which drew less than 300 fans for its last game this season in Dallas.

Ankerson is rumored here to have a multi-year contract in excess of $35,000 to direct operations of San Antonio's first major league sports team of any kind. The team still lacks a head coach.

"I realize we have a tremendous task ahead of us but I'm more than just confident that we'll enjoy a lot of success," he says.

Some things are already changing.

For one, the team no longer is in Dallas, where it never gained wide acceptance in six years. A group of San Antonio businessmen agreed to operate the club for two years and sus-

Knicks Must Slow Wilt Chamberlain

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The New York Knicks must conquer the mountain to beat the Los Angeles Lakers for the National Basketball Association championship—and they know it.

Towering Wilt Chamberlain, at 7-foot-1, proved the dominant factor in the opener won by the Lakers 115-112 over the Knicks, and he could be the same here tonight in the second game of the best-of-seven series.

Chamberlain's domination of the boards—with the aid of seven-footer Mel Counts—forced the Knicks into an outside shooting situation.

"With Counts and Chamberlain in the lineup, it really gives them a lot of versatility," commented Knick center Willis Reed, the NBA's most valuable player when New York beat the Lakers for the title three years ago.

"Wilt can come out and challenge our shooters and Counts can stay inside and rebound," said Reed.

Chamberlain blocked seven New York shots and had six assists, most for the Lakers, in the opening game. Reed, Jerry Lucas and Phil Jackson all worked against him, to little avail. At 36, Chamberlain led the league in rebounds with 1,084 during the regular season and hauled down 290 in the two opening playoff sets.

Against the Knicks, he hauled down 20 rebounds and forced the New Yorkers to the hazardous offense of shooting long. In the fourth period, Dave DeBusschere and Bill Bradley did three points makes no different from outside with regularity, so the Lakers, who led by 20 points with slightly more than a minute to go in the third quarter, had to hang on for the three-point triumph.

"The fact we closed to within three points makes no difference from outside with regularity," commented DeBusschere. "The fact remains we are 0-1."

Officials At Galveston Says Probe To Continue

HOUSTON (AP) — Galveston Ball Supt. Eli Douglas says the investigation into the altering of transcripts of two Ball football players will continue although head coach and assistant principal have resigned after admitting to making the changes.

Head Coach Joe Woolley and assistant principal Lynn Nix, a former assistant football coach, resigned at a school board meeting Wednesday and asked to be reassigned within the school district.

The board approved the moves but also said it would continue the investigation.

"I want to acknowledge and assume for the superintendent and other staff members the responsibility that is ours for allowing a system to operate which would make it possible for others to be tempted to take this kind of action," Douglas said.

Woolley and Nix admitted changing the transcripts of quarterback Kerry Jackson and center Mike Phillips to help them gain admittance to the University of Oklahoma where they played last season.

Oklahoma forfeited eight of its 1972 games including a Sugar Bowl victory over Penn State after a Big Eight investigation disclosed that the players' transcripts had been altered.

"I have learned a valuable but extremely costly lesson in life," Woolley said in his letter of resignation. "It's a lesson I'll never forget and a mistake I will never make again."

Board member Dr. Ernest Barratt attempted to have the board name an outside committee to conduct the investigation but the board voted to conduct its own investigation and make a public report of its findings.

"I'm not satisfied everything is known at this time," Mrs. Ray Schaper, another board member said. "We do want to know more."

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

There shouldn't be any discipline problems in Steerland when football action rolls around next fall. At least not while Tommy Moss is around.

Moss is the newest coach to add his name to the local roster, and his reputation as a strong man has already preceded him. According to head coach Bob Burris, Moss is a weight freak (my words) and he has bench-pressed an astonishing 500 pounds. Holy Cow (my words also). Actually, he can do more than 500 pounds, but I was afraid you wouldn't believe me. He's pretty strong. (Burris' words). Coaches can be pretty big on those understatement.

Moss is an ex-Andrews athlete who was once a state schoolboy shot put champion, and attended college at East Central State in Ada, Okla. He coached at Oklahoma schools the past three years.

Burris, incidentally, who has spent much of his life in Oklahoma and attended OU during less troubled times, let some of his regional feelings slip while selecting a quote for the new coach. "We're real pleased to get a young coach of his caliber," Burris said. "Particularly one from this area with a good, solid Oklahoma background." Coaches can be pretty big on jokes, too, I understand.

University of Texas baseball coach Cliff Gustafson was in town Tuesday to have a look at some of the local diamond talent — Steer shortstop Ricky Steen in particular — during the Big Spring-Odessa High game.

He hasn't been the only baseball man snooping around, of course, but not many college lookers have been out. Mostly they've been pro scouts. It looked for a while like the only thing he might be able to see would be West Texas dust when the OHS team hadn't showed up 20 minutes before game time, but the Broncos came, they played, and they lost 6-4 to the Steers.

It was good to see the coach because I had met him about five years ago and was properly awed when he came down to Uvalde, where his brother Marvin had the privilege of tutoring me on the high school football battlefield. Actually, it was more like a dance floor when I got on it, which wasn't all that often, but that's beside the point. Coach Gus always talked about how artful I was at falling away from tackles.

Anyway, Cliff was pleased to know that my little sister still had his autograph upon her bulletin board, right next to Lew Alcinder (that was his name, then) and just below Chris Gilbert. How 'bout that, Jill.

Howard County Jayhawk basketball players ended six weeks of workouts last week, and celebrated the occasion by taking a trip to Six Flags Amusement Park in Dallas. Despite the fact that the day lasted from 6:30 a.m. Saturday to 3 a.m. the next morning, and eight of those hours were spent on the bus, Coach Harold Wilder reported that a good time was had by all.

Yanks Ahead In Cage Set

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — "They allow mayhem out there," Coach Bob Cousy said Wednesday night after his U.S. team easily whipped Russia 83-67 to take a 2-1 lead in their six-game exhibition basketball series.

Cousy obviously was pleased with the victory, but his Russian counterpart, Vladimir Kondrashin, was not. The coach refused to talk to the press after the game and refused to allow his players to.

Cousy's use of the term mayhem was considerable understatement to most observers of the rugged game. Elbows and hips flew abundantly, and there were nearly fights when tempers flared.

UCLA's Swen Nater, who was called a "dirty player" by Kondrashin earlier in the week, nearly tangled twice with Ivan Dvornii.

Each took exception to the other's conduct toward smaller players. Nater is 7 feet tall and weighs 250 pounds. Dvornii is 6-9½ and weighs 242.

Referee Martti Huhtamaki of Finland warned each player about his conduct several times.

Aleksei Shukshin got a bloody nose in the first half, and he was taken out of the game with a leg injury after Nater knocked him down late in the second half. Salnikov was temporarily blinded after Jim Oxley of the U.S. Army stuck a finger in his eye.

Cousy said the highly partisan crowd of more than 15,000 contributed to the victory: "It's tough for the Russians to play before crowds like that. We had the team ready to tear down the dressing room doors when they went out for the game, and the crowd kept the adrenalin pumping."

Hitting 55 per cent of their shots, the U.S. players ran up an 18-point advantage before slipping to a 13-point margin at halftime.

McHaney Signs With Tarleton

CISCO — Randy McHaney, an All-Regional forward for Cisco Junior College, has signed a pre-enrollment blank with Tarleton State College of Stephenville.

McHaney, 6-5, played his high school basketball for Houston Furr. He averaged 12 points a game for a Wrangler team that won 26 of 32 starts last season.

Howard Payne Signs Hannibal

BROWNWOOD — Two Region V cage stars, Walter Hannibal of Western Texas at Snyder and Greg Rogers of Cisco Junior College, have signed scholarship agreements with Howard Payne College.

The 6-4 Hannibal, a juco All-American, averaged 19.5 points and 17.3 rebounds a game for the Westerners last year.

Rogers, a 6-2 guard, was signed by former CJC coach and new HPC No. 1 assistant, Bob Derryberry. The former Abilene High standout averaged 17.3 points per game at Cisco last and would even be comparable

Cyclists Gather Here For WT Motocross Run

The entry list continues to grow for the two-day West Texas Motocross Championships this weekend at the new Hi-Noon Optimist Club track.

Riders from across the state will be on hand, with several local cyclists to challenge the favorites in the nine classifications. Action begins at 3 p.m. Saturday immediately following the Shrine Parade, with competition in mini-bikes, 100cc Junior and 125cc Junior.

On Sunday, the races begin at noon as four senior classes and two junior classes run for the money. Prize money totalling $2,000 awaits the winners.

Admission to Saturday's show is $1, and Sunday's action will be $3 if tickets are purchased at the gate. Advance tickets are $2 and may be purchased at the Big Spring Boys Club, A-1 Cycle Shop, Western Yamaha, House of Suzuki, Webb Credit Union or from any Hi-Noon Optimist Club member.

Half the profits from the races go to the Boys Club.

Oldest Walker Confident He Can Complete Stroll

He will probably be the oldest participant to put his best charitable foot forward this weekend.

E. Lee Thackrey, geology instructor at Howard County Junior College, will unlimber his 71-year-old muscles and set out to cover 11 miles in the annual March of Dimes Walk-A-Thon Saturday.

He says he has no doubt that he will complete the jaunt, but then, why shouldn't he? In the past 10 years he has hiked 23 miles across Grand Canyon, made more than a dozen float and boat trips through white water rapids, and climbed the 12 highest peaks in Colorado.

$5 PER MILE

He is now trekking around Big Spring to help aid birth defects. He will be joined in the venture by M. A. "Tony" Wynn, college vice president.

The college will sponsor Thackrey, announced Dr. Thomas Salter, president, at $5 a mile, for a total contribution of $55. Thackrey has already gotten four other sponsors, and still has a week left to solicit.

The route begins at Highland Shopping Center, goes west around FM 700 past Scenic Mountain, joins Fourth Street and goes through town to the junction of U.S. Hwy 80 and FM 700 East, and back around the loop to the starting spot.

ONLY JOKING?

Fast walkers might make the walk in two and a half to three hours, and the slower ones may take all day. The allotted time is from 9 a.m. Saturday until 5:30 p.m. Walkers not finished by then will be picked up.

"The other college faculty members were teasing me, saying it would take me only two and one-half hours to make the trip. I laughed and told them I could make it in an hour and a half. But I was only joking, of course," said Thackrey.

But one wonders if the man is truly joking, considering his past record of physical feats and endurance. He has a reputation for walking up mountains, leaving men in their twenties behind panting for breath.

WON'T REST

In Texas, Thackrey has climbed the highest peak, Guadalupe, two times, and Santiago Mountain once. On those endeavors he left stragglers waiting behind while he completed the journey.

NO LOAFER, HE — He doesn't need hiking boots for just 11 miles. Lee Thackrey, 71, will be "hot-footing it" during the March of Dimes Walk-A-Thon Saturday. He will just use loafers.

When he walks the circuit about Big Spring Saturday, he doesn't intend to rest. "We're supposed to keep going, possibly with some contributor offering a cold drink or a sandwich as we go along."

Thackrey takes a group of college students to Big Bend National Park regularly. Sometimes it is in a bus to see all the geographic wonders and natural beauty, other times to take float trips through one of the three large river canyons, and other times to climb mountains.

He climbed Mule Ears in the park on a one-day hike, going right up to the base of the mountain that supports the two giant monoliths.

NOW RETIRED

He has floated through Santa Elena Canyon eight times, and this trip is noted for its one treacherous set of rapids through a narrow spot in the river. Large boulders have fallen into the stream. The canyon walls jut up in some places 2,000 feet, vertical fashion.

The March of Dimes walkers will probably have the only bonafide member of the Colorado Mountain Climbing Club in their midst.

To qualify, he had to climb to the top of 10 or more of the many 14,000 foot peaks in that state. He has climbed 12. Thackrey has twice been on the summit of the tallest in Colorado, Mt. Elbert, altitude 14,431.

He was a full time geology instructor at the college for almost a decade until he retired last year. Thackrey now teaches evenings at the college.

He is a graduate of Kansas State and received his master's degree from the University of Missouri in Columbia.

Since his college days, he has pursued a career in geology, working at many positions, including oil field geologist. He hikes and boats for fun and education.

Golda Standard Appeals To Voters In Israel

JERUSALEM (AP) — When Golda Meir was mentioned as a possibility to become Israel's Premier in 1969, opinion polls said only one per cent of the nation supported her.

Well, as the world knows, she did become Premier, and is still at the nation's helm, honored and respected.

Now the Mrs. Meir wants to retire and live quietly with her daughter and grandchildren on a collective farm.

The thought of her retirement throws her Labor Party colleagues into a panic, for they cannot find a successor acceptable to all the party's rival factions.

Turning 75 today — just four days before Israel's 25th anniversary of statehood — Mrs. Meir complains: "The burden is immense. And whatever I decide will sadden someone. If I say yes, I will stay on, it will be an unhappy day for some. But if I say no, it will sadden some of my closest friends."

In mid-April she promised her final answer "in a few weeks." Meanwhile, the little lady with the melancholy, wrinkled face and the penchant for long blue dresses oversees her country with the same firmness she has displayed throughout her 50-year political career.

Even her unkindest critics, who call her "Hazkena" — The Old Lady — admit she is the most uncynical of politicians. For in public, Golda Meir seems almost obsessed with two subjects: the young Israelis fighting for their country's security and the millions of Jews who died at the hands of Russian and Nazi anti-Semites.

Young Israelites sometimes rail at what they call her "pogrom complex," because she frequently alludes to anti-Jewish outbursts under the Czar in Kiev, Russia, where she was born.

"Anyone who doesn't know about a pogrom doesn't know about the Jewish people," she protested. "What sort of people are these with no memory?"

While others strive for complex political peace formulas, Mrs. Meir clings to her belief that "the root and foundation of the problem is that our neighbors have not reconciled themselves to our existence."

Trudeau To Walk

TORONTO (AP) — Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau will lead participants in the annual Toronto for Millions walk on May 5.

Walk officials say the prime minister will walk 2.6 miles to the first checkpoint in the charity affair in which donors match money for distances walked by participants.

Ignore Them

TEEN FORUM

ANOTHER GIRL: (Q.) Every night I pray that this dude will talk to me next day.

He calls me once in a while (not very often). He tells me he watches me a lot and sometimes is tempted to talk to me, but that my back is always turned toward him and I act as if I don't want to be bothered with him.

I don't see where he gets that idea, because I am dying to talk to him and he knows it, but he spends most of his time with another girl. — Hurting in Washington, D.C.

(A.) This boy knows you like him. If he liked you more than he likes the other girl, he would give you more of his attention. He seems to like to see you upset.

Ignore him and his girl friend. Stop watching them. Turn your attention to some other young man.

NOW SHOW: (Q.) My boy friend is really a nice guy. When we are together he couldn't be any sweeter to me. I only have one complaint: He is always telling me he's coming to my house to see me, but he never comes.

Both my parents like him and have invited him to come. He says he is coming, and he says when, but when the time comes he doesn't show up. The next time I see him he gives me an excuse.

The first time I believed the excuse, but after the third or fourth time I started to wonder. What do you think happens to him. Does he chicken out? Or what? — Confused in Massachusetts.

(A.) "Chicken out" is not a kind expression. I would say your boy friend's nerve fails him. I would also say that he and you must be young — maybe 12 or 13 — and having a girl friend is new to him.

The next time he talks about coming to see you, invite him to walk or ride home from school with you. Or ask him to let your mother and you come and pick him up.

I am confident that, once he actually comes to your house and discovers that it is just like other houses, he won't have any trouble getting there again.

LVN School Director Details HCJC Course

Mrs. George Amos, director of the School of Vocational Nursing, Howard County Junior College, was guest speaker Tuesday for Scenic Chapter, American Business Women's Association. She said the school, begun in 1958, has graduated 17 classes; the total number of graduates being 221.

The school is accredited by the Texas State Board of Vocational Nursing Examiners and is affiliated with the Texas Education Agency. The 12-month course requires 576 class hours, and 1,252 hours of clinical experience. Classes begin every eight months. Upon completing the school, students are eligible to take the state exam and, if they pass the test, become licensed vocational nurses.

Local hospitals affiliated with the school are Medical Center Memorial Hospital, Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital and Cowper Clinic and Hospital. Students are placed in these hospitals for their clinical experience.

Student age requirements are from 17 to 50. Applicants must have the equivalent of two years of high school, good character references and be able to pass a physical exam. Their qualifications are evaluated in personal interviews.

"Vocational nurses are an integral part of nursing," said Mrs. Amos. "The LVN is the bedside nurse and functions under the supervision of a registered nurse or physician. She has the opportunity to further her education in the field of nursing."

The speaker explained that some colleges and universities give the LVN credit for the 12-month LVN schooling and allow them to complete pre requisite subjects such as history, English, chemistry and micro-biology in any college of their choice. After that, they may take an exam for possible acceptance in a one-year RN program. Such schools in this area are at Texas Tech, Lubbock; and Northwest Texas in Amarillo. Other programs for completion of RN rating are the associate degree program, 2 years; hospital programs, 3 years; bachelor of science in nursing, four years; and master's degree, 5 to 6 years.

The Scenic Chapter has provided LVN scholarships to Ann Knightstep and Elsie Woods, and Tuesday evening, announced another recipient, Carolyn Rosario.

The vocational speaker was Mrs. Arthur Huff, a cashier at Montgomery Ward and Company.

During a brief business session initial plans were made for the three local ABWA chapters to join in hosting a banquet June 16

Pre-Nuptial Event For Bride-Elect

A pre-nuptial courtesy for Miss Darla Jo Ernest, bride-elect of Van Barton, was held Tuesday evening in the homemaking room of Forsan High School.

Hostesses were Mrs. J. R. Asbury, Mrs. E. M. Bailey, Mrs. D. M. Bartwell, Mrs. Clarie Conger, Mrs. C. L. Gooch and Mrs. O. W. Sudday.

The refreshment table was covered with a white linen outwork cloth and centered with an arrangement of white daisies flanked by blue candles. Crystal appointments were used.

White carnation corsages were presented to the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Joe Ernest; and her fiance's mother, Mrs. A. D. Barton. Also attending was the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Ray Wilson.

The couple will be married May 26.

Forsan Residents Travel; Entertain

FORSAN (SC) — Mrs. S. C. Cowley is visiting in Pecos with her daughter, Mrs. Katherine Hagar. She was accompanied by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Betty Cowley.

Sunday guests of the A. P. Oglesbys were the Carl Oglesbys, Corpus Christi; the D. A. Oglesbys and Mrs. Frank Oglesby, all of Westbrook; and the Albert Oglesbys, Odessa.

Robert Wash and John McDiitt are in Fort Sumner, N.M.

The C. V. Washes are visiting their son and family, the Danny Washes, Waco.

Mrs. Doyle Whetsel and her daughter were in Midland recently to visit her niece, Mrs. Richard Ramey.

The A. J. McCalls and the Bob Washes were in Lamesa recently to attend funeral services for Mrs. McCall's cousin, A. J. Fletcher. The McCalls also visited in Abilene recently with his sister, Mandy Gilberth, who is a patient in West Texas Hospital.

Music Is Discussed

Mrs. John Phillips discussed several types of music Tuesday evening for members of Alpha Beta Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, at the home of Mrs. Fred Copeland, 175-A Fairchild.

Mrs. Phillips said opera is a combination of drama and music; the minuet has three beats; but with a definite third beat; and jazz has seven beats.

Mrs. Steve Clark demonstrated some techniques of clay modeling, and asked each member to carve an animal from a bar of soap.

During the business meeting, Mrs. "Smitty" Smith was appointed alternate city council representative. Plans were made for the next meeting which will include installation of officers, 6:30 p.m., May 15 at the Brandin' Iron Inn. An award for "program of the year" will be given, and secret sisters will be revealed.

Mexican Dinner Friday At School

The public is invited to attend a Mexican supper at Airport School cafeteria from 6-9 p.m., Friday. The dinner is being sponsored by the school's Parent-Teacher Association. Cost is $1.25 for adults and $1 for children.

Tickets may be purchased at the door or by contacting Mrs. Louis Kloor at 263-8262. A variety of entertainment will be on hand, including songs, skits and plays. All proceeds will be used to send delegates to the PTA national convention, May 20-23 in St. Louis, Mo.

MR. AND MRS. H. M. HAYGOOD

H. W. Haygoods To Be Honored Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Haygood, Route 2, Box 11, will be honored on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday at the Texas Electric Reddy Room, 324 Runnels. Friends and relatives are invited to call between 3 and 5 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Haygood met in Seagraves where they were married May 6, 1923. They continued to reside there for about five years. Prior to moving to Big Spring in 1930, they lived for seven years in Colorado City, nine years in Loreine and seven years in Sparenberg.

Haygood was born June 9, 1891 in Georgia. Mrs. Haygood, the former Cautz Berry, is a native Texan, born Jan. 17, 1905 in Cooper.

Haygood retired in 1972 after six years as a civil service employe at Webb Air Force Base. Before that, he was a civil servant at the Veterans Administration Hospital. He is a member of Veterans of World War I Barracks 1474; International Order of Odd-fellows; Veterans of Foreign Wars; Disabled American Veterans and Woodmen of the World. He does volunteer work at the VA Hospital.

Mrs. Haygood's activities include membership in Center Point Home Demonstration Club and in the Ladies Auxiliary to WWI Barracks 1474. The couple belongs to Phillips Memorial Baptist Church where Haygood is a deacon.

The reception Sunday will be hosted by the Haygoods' five daughters and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Mannie and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Head, all of Snyder; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Aeri, Waco; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Anderson, Grand Junction, Colo.; and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Gainey, Andrews. The honorees have 16 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Hyperion Club Installs Slate

The fall slate for 1955 Hyperion Club was installed during a luncheon Tuesday in the home of the retiring president, Mrs. W. A. Moore, 528 Scott. Mrs. Charles Beil was cohostess.

New officers are Mrs. C. W. Mahoney, president; Mrs. David Elrod, vice president; Mrs. Beil, recording secretary; Mrs. Walter Wheat, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Walter Ross, treasurer; and Mrs. Moore, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Elrod, program and yearbook chairman, named her committees, and they will begin their work at a called session in the summer. It was announced that the 1955 club will be in charge of the program for the annual fall Hyperion Council luncheon.

On behalf of the club, Mrs. Don McDonald presented a gift of appreciation to Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Mahoney spoke briefly in accepting the presidency.

Church Women Slate Luncheon

"As Hand Touches Hand" will be the theme of the annual May fellowship luncheon of Church Women United, scheduled at 11:30 a.m., Friday at First Presbyterian Church.

Programs during the covered-dish luncheon will emphasize the importance of volunteer service. Speakers will be Mrs. Don Lester, assistant volunteer coordinator at Big Spring State Hospital; Maj. Ellen Nelson, Salvation Army; and Miss Nancy Easley, Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) representative.

Mrs. Calvin Daniels is current president of Church Women United. Member groups include First Christian Church, First United Methodist Church, First Presbyterian Church, St. Mary's Episcopal Church, Wesley United Methodist Church, Sacred Heart Catholic Church, the Salvation Army, Baker's Chapel, and the Webb Air Force Base chapel.

He 'Performs'

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We are retired. As a child my husband was kicked around, didn't have much education, but Bernie schooled himself and became a very big business success. We have no money problems, but I have a big problem with Bernie.

He has decided that he is a "performer." He has had no musical training, but now he tries to play the mouth organ by just blowing in and drawing out. He doesn't wait to be asked, he carries the mouth organ everywhere, and offers to play. He is simply terrible, but people don't know how to discourage him.

We recently went to a party and Bernie held the floor for 45 minutes attempting one song after another. It was dreadful. I was so embarrassed I couldn't hold my head up. Meanwhile he fancies himself a natural talent.

I have a feeling people are looking at us sideways. I asked Bernie not to play in public until he learns a few numbers, but he blew his top and said, "Everyone else thinks I'm great. You're just jealous."

He reminds me of a man we both knew who had a good voice when he was young, but in his later years his efforts to entertain were pitiful. When he died I heard people say, "Well, now we won't have to listen to 'Shanty Town' anymore." How can I handle this? I love him, but he won't listen to me.

BETTER HALF IN ARIZONA
DEAR BETTER: If you can't enlist Bernie's best friend to tell him the truth about his "talent," and he continues his compulsion to share it, urge him to practice and hope he improves, and try to prevail upon him to make his performances brief.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069.

Unlikely To Submerge

John Connally has announced his speculated switch from the Democratic party to the Republican ranks.

"I seek no office, political or appointive," he said. This does not preclude the possibility of the office seeking him, which is the way political scripts read. Despite his disclaimer in publicly announcing the change in affiliation that he hoped "I can submerge for a time," there is every prospect that he not only will not submerge, but will re-emerge in a more prominent role than before when he was Secretary of the Treasury under President Nixon.

He also explained his reasons for the change that "the Republican party has moved from the right toward the broad middle ground. And there is where most Americans want to be. And where the nation's problems will be solved." And, he might have added, this is where he figures the most votes will be, for when the rhetoric is lifted, his announcement probably means that John Connally wants to be president, has some encouragement from President Nixon, and thus figures this is the most practical step in that direction. This is no cinch, but those who know Mr. Connally know that he will be a potent force to be reckoned with, especially since Texas has become a key state in settling presidential elections.

Give It A Chance

There appears to be some feuding going on between the Texas House and Senate, and between Speaker Price Daniel Jr. and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby. The main bone of contention seems to be the reforms Speaker Daniel wants to bring into effect for the legislature, reforms at which many senators balk.

The feud has been heightened recently as a result of the contrast in the two houses' action on appropriations. The House, operating under Daniel's ruling providing for free and open — and lengthy — discussion of anything on any member's mind, has spent almost a week on the bill. The Senate passed it in a fast single session.

Senators have ridiculed the slow House action, and praised the dispatch with which they acted. But there's a lot to be said for the House method.

It seems strange, of course, to have democracy rampant in the Austin capitol building — a situation where every viewpoint is given an equal hearing. No doubt it is more cumbersome than the old speaker-dominated way; perhaps more cumbersome than it should be. There have probably been frivolous amendments offered, ones more for the benefit of the representative who champions it than for the benefit of the state. But let's not back away, not yet.

After all, this is the first experience with undictating legislation the Texas House has had in a long, long time. There are a lot of stockpiled bills to feel as a result. And besides, who says passage of more than $9 billion in appropriations is better done in a matter of minutes than a matter of days

Planted Stories

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

The other day I read a book of mistakes taken from newspapers. I'm sure every one is true because mistakes have a way of creeping up, no matter how you try to keep them out.

BUT MY favorites through the years haven't been plain old typographical errors. They've been three mistakes that came from three separate cases of stupidity.

One was in a wedding story in Pecos. The bride's mother didn't know the name of one of the ushers. She said she would call it back later. So to make room in the story to add the name later, I stupidly typed in John Q. Porkshop of Chopville, Iowa as one of the ushers. The bride's mother neglected to call.

I forgot to take out the name and John Q. Porkshop was identified as an usher. Thank goodness the bride's mother had a good sense of humor.

Two weeks later, in Kermit, the city paper pulled an even bigger boner. They were getting ready to crown Miss Kermit on Saturday night. They put the paper together and left room for a picture and outline and in the story, to have room for the name, they stupidly and happily wrote, "Tonight, Miss Prunella Prunewhip, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rich Prunewhip, of 1111 Woopedo Ave., was crowned Miss Kermit."

THEY REMEMBERED to put in the picture with the correct outline. But they forgot about Miss Prunewhip. I wrote them a postcard and asked if Miss Prunewhip would like to marry Mr. Porkshop.

One of the funniest I ever read was deliberate. Estes' Pecos Daily News had fired a woman reporter — (and a rather good one) and she mailed back a society story and the new woman's editor ran it.

It was pure fiction and had a Mrs. Muldoon speaking at the Thomas Jefferson Chapter of the D.A.R. There was a D.A.R. chapter in that town — an English Obadiah Trimmer chapter, and they took a dim view of being made fun of in print.

PURPOSE OF the story was that the woman that had been fired maintained that there wasn't anybody left with sense enough to come in out of the rain. Certainly, she was right about one thing — they weren't smart enough to know the name of the local D.A.R. chapter. And Mrs. Muldoon made a beautiful speech in that fictional story. The last we heard of that reporter, she was happily working in Arizona.

The Mrs. Muldoons, the John Q. Porkshops and the Prunella Prunewhips of the world are the exception rather than the rule. Most of the errors are purely typographical and goodness knows, those are funny enough.

Basic Neglect

William F. Buckley Jr.

Now hear this one, if you care for civil liberties.

Last week a press conference called to which are invited newspapermen of course, and also television. Because the conference is of particular interest to public television, a team comes up to New York all the way from Columbia, South Carolina and sets up its camera, alongside the three cameras from the commercial stations.

ENTER THE gentleman who called the press conference. He is approached by the television interviewer for NBC and told that, eh, unfortunately none of the commercial television cameras can shoot under the present arrangement. Why? Because the public television team is not a member of the relevant union.

There isn't much to be done under the hectic circumstances, so NBC is asked whether it would make its footage available to the public television camera after the conference, and the answer is an obliging yes. The press conference takes place, the public television men sitting idle, their electric cord ritually disconnected from the wall socket. Later in the day they approach NBC for the promised footage and are told that the charge — for 12 minutes of tape — will be $6,000. They gasp, and NBC grandly reduces the charge to $3,000. The hell with it, the public television people say: they don't have that kind of money.

I WAS the principal, as you will have guessed, and this column is one part a public act of remorse. I should have told the commercial stations to pull out their own plugs, and then faced only the public television camera with my announcement. Having an over-developed theatrical flair, I would under such circumstances have been tempted solemnly to announce not my plans for the future of Firing Line (the designated subject of the conference), but my intention to run for Mayor of New York. That would have caused the gasps to come from the commercial stations which (in my fantasy) would then have begged me on bended knee to repeat the announcement for their benefit, but I'd have been the soul of obduracy. Presumably if a non-union camera had been present at Dallas on November 22, 1973, CBS, NBC and ABC would simply have declined to photograph the final moments in the life of the President of the United States.

HERE IS what I miss in the literature that comes in from the civil libertarians. They are telling us — Dr. Frank Stanton has been most eloquent on the point — that television is every bit as much an instrument of press freedom as the newspaper, and that television newsmen are therefore entitled to exactly the same protection that the newspapermen are entitled to.

If television is no different — insofar as the first amendment is concerned — from the newspapers, then why couldn't a newspaperman's union refuse to permit its representatives to take notes at any press conference also being covered by reporters who are not union members? One would suppose that such an affront would not be tolerated. But why is it tolerated in television?

Cambodian Collapse

By Rowland Evans
And Robert Novak

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia — The abrupt withdrawal last week by two successive brigades from embattled defensive positions here in defiance of orders is more evidence of the Cambodian army's shocking deterioration. This now means President Nixon's grand design for Indochina.

WITH CAMBODIAN Communist insurgents probing Phnom Penh's suburbs, the commander of the Cambodian Army (FANK) 51st Brigade suddenly ordered his troops to withdraw from Seim Reap eight miles south of here. The 15th Brigade replaced them, but it too was pulled out by its commander, who then refused to return. That followed two weeks during which FANK has all but disappeared as a fighting unit.

The result soon could be Cambodia's collapse, not through conquest but from internal decay leading to a pro-Communist government controlled by Hanoi. Such a disaster, establishing a logistics sanctuary for a new Communist general offensive in South Vietnam, would sever the few remaining frail underpinnings of the Paris peace agreement.

ALTHOUGH THE withdrawal at Seim Reap left the capital open to assault, its capture almost surely is not Hanoi's strategy. The widely reported "seige" of Phnom Penh never happened. Rather, the Communists hope to overthrow the government by military pressure on the city's fringes, repeated routs of the FANK and serious attempts to capture the provincial capitals of Takeo and Kompot. If those cities fall, the end could be near.

MOST OF this has been accomplished by Cambodian insurgents who last fall began taking over North Vietnamese units. The present offensive is fought by nearly 40,000 insurgents with absolutely indispensable aid from some 3,500 North Vietnamese regulars — cadres, sappers, artillerymen, logistical troops. Hanoi-trained Cambodians control the insurgents politically. Overall direction, of course, is in Hanoi.

ALTHOUGH THE Communist offensive is extraordinarily tenacious, it is not awesome in terms of the Indochina war. The heavy artillery, antiaircraft rockets and tanks sent by Hanoi to South Vietnam and Laos have not appeared here. Nor is there yet a genuine political-guerrilla apparatus in government-controlled territory (only 20 per cent of Cambodia but over 60 per cent of the population).

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

Please explain what Jesus meant when He said in His prayer "Thy Kingdom come — Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven." I thought it was as death you entered His kingdom. There is certainly very little evidence of God's kingdom in my town!

L.B. I'm afraid if Christians were to validate the Kingdom of God by circumstances around them, they would sometimes be filled with despair. Remember, however, Jesus said in John 18:36 "My Kingdom is not of this world." Knowing that, we are prepared for seeming inconsistencies.

Specifically, the coming of the Kingdom of God can be understood in three ways. First, Jesus said in Mary 9:1 "Some of you who are standing here right now will live to see the Kingdom of God arrive in great power." This was the first Kingdom stage, which arrived on Pentecost when the disciples were dramatically filled with the Holy Spirit's power.

In a second sense the Kingdom of God comes to the believer at the moment he trusts Christ as Savior and Lord. Whatever the Christian's earthly circumstance, he can be a prince and a son in the heavenly family. To pray, using the words you suggest from Luke 11:2 is to request now a greater realization of this unseen kingdom.

Lastly, it has a marvelous future application. What exists in part now, will be completed when Christ returns. His Kingdom will one day be established here on earth, and as the King of Kings, He will rule in righteous and happy government. Just as traveling from Connecticut to California makes me no less an American, just so, the transition of death changes little of the Christian's essential kingdom relationship. Enjoy that truth today.

What Energy Crisis?

Hal Boyle

By RICHARD L. STERN
(Contributing to Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — All you people out there with your air conditioners humming, vacuum cleaners roaring, electric can openers gnashing, broilers sizzling, toasters popping and garbage disposals grinding, don't blame me for the energy crisis. It's your fault.

I mean I'd really like to help. I'd love to be able to take some of the blame. I dream of sitting at home sizzling some sirlions amid sounds from a quadrophonic music system as the automatic ice-maker quietly pop-pops cubes for my bourbon on the rocks.

But I can't possibly help you shoulder the blame. I mean, what should I expect for the $300 a month I pay for a five-room apartment in Manhattan? It's a darn good price in the city, right?

Should I complain because we have to turn out the lights when we use the dishwasher? We light a few candles and tell our dinner guests we're creating a little atmosphere.

Should I be annoyed on a hot, summer night when we have to go to bed when it gets dark because we blow fuses when the lights and the air-conditioner are on at the same time? Thank God for Daylight Saving Time.

I'm not complaining, you understand. There are thousands of New Yorkers in similar situations — living in pre-World War I and pre-World War II buildings that often have not been rewired since they were built.

I tell myself that it's healthy to go to bed early.

I admit I shouldn't have gotten angry and cursed at the landlord because I have to disconnect the refrigerator to use the electric boiler.

After all, the apartment is a find. A lot of people pay $300 a month for studio apartments.

As for the gasoline crisis, don't blame me.

It costs $75 a month to garage a car in Manhattan. Who can afford a car? And as for parking on the street, if the car's not stolen or wrecked, there's a good chance the city will tow it away.

But that's another story.

Hal Boyle is in.

Summit Talk

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Last weekend President Richard Nixon went to Camp David alone, without family or aides. Press Secretary Ron Ziegler denies it, but it has been reliably reported that the President went up the top of the mountain to speak with someone one notch higher than he.

"WHY ARE you doing this to me?"

"Doing what, Richard?"

"The Watergate, the coverup, the grand jury hearings, the Senate investigations. Why me?"

"Don't blame me, Richard. I gave you my blessing to win the election, but I didn't tell you to differ it."

"I've done everything you told me to do. I ended the war. I defeated poverty. I cleaned the air and the water. I defeated crime in the streets. Surely I deserve a break."

"RICHARD, I tried to warn you that you had sinful people working for you."

"When?"

"Just after the Committee to Re-Elect the President was formed. When I saw the people you had selected to head up the committee, I was shocked. We've got a long line on them up here."

"Why didn't you tell me?"

"I TRIED to, but Ehrlichman and Haldeman wouldn't let me talk to you on the phone. They said they'd give you the message I called."

"They never told me."

"It figures. Then I sent you a telegram saying it was urgent that you contact me."

"The only telegrams I read during that period were those in support of my bombing North Vietnam."

"FINALLY, RICHARD, I made one last effort. I showed up at a prayer meeting one Sunday at the White House and after the sermon I came up to you and said there were men among you who would betray you. Do you know what you did, Richard? You gave me a ball point pen."

"I didn't know it was you."

"I'M NOT punishing you, Richard. But your administration is involved in the obstruction of justice, the bribing of witnesses, the forging of papers, wiretapping, perjury and using the mails to defraud."

"Nobody's perfect."

"I guess that's what the grand jury is saying."

"It would show your good faith, Richard."

"All right, I'll do it. Will you take Jeb Magruder, Richard Kleindienst and John Dean III?"

"What kind of sacrifice is that?"

"John Mitchell?"

"Keep going."

"Haldeman and Ehrlichman?"

"That's more like it."

"And then, God, if I sacrifice them, will you keep me out of it?"

"Richard, I can't work miracles."

Letters To Editor

Dear Editor:
In Monday's Herald on the second page two articles were written about winners of drafting contests. It seems you neglected one important fact — that no first places would have been won without Big Spring High School's drafting teacher, Mrs. B. D. Brooks. I was fortunate to win first place in the architectural division in statewide drafting competition. Three of my classmates and I managed to win seven first places in the Midland industrial field day competition. I contribute much of our success to Mrs. Brooks' instruction.

'Chemical' Diabetes

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is considered normal for younger ones. A chemical diabetes can remain the same, or can get worse if you don't follow a suitable diet, or can improve if you cut out sweets and reduce weight.

There are different classifications of diabetes. Overt diabetes means there is no question of presence of the disease. Chemical (also called latent) diabetes means that a fasting blood sugar is normal, but a sugar tolerance test is not.

That is, a fasting blood sugar would be a test made a substantial time after you have last eaten. A sugar tolerance test is a series of tests an hour apart, with the patient being given a measured amount of sugar.

Thus with the fasting test, you can conclude that the patient manages to use up enough sugar, given time. The sugar tolerance test will show whether he uses it up rapidly enough.

With a chemical or latent diabetes, the salient symptoms of diabetes do not appear — excessive thirst, frequent urination, loss of weight. However, I would suspect that your doctor at some time or other detected some sugar in your urine, making him rightly suspicious.

One must keep in mind that at your age blood sugar values may be a bit higher than what is considered normal for younger ones. A chemical diabetes can remain the same, or can get worse if you don't follow a suitable diet, or can improve if you cut out sweets and reduce weight.

Which will happen in your case remains to be seen; I would recommend a periodic blood sugar test, taken two hours after a meal, to keep track of the situation.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a 21-year-old girl who is living with a boyfriend. I am on birth control pills, not only to avoid pregnancy but for medical reasons as well. I used to have terrible cramps and my cycles were very irregular.

The problem is that I have been taking the pills for two years now and my sister says that to take them any longer is dangerous.

I prefer to remain on the pill, but now my sister says she read somewhere that taking them for longer than two years could cause cancer. Do you know if this is true?—M.B.

It is not true.

I also suggest you see what you can do about making your relationship to your boyfriend a bit more permanent — say marriage.

harmful to take "bromos" constantly for indigestion? My husband has been doing it for years, and I've noticed that now I'm buying a "family size" bottle every two or three weeks.

It is not from what he eats, but seems to be from smoking and drinking. When he quit smoking for several months four years ago he didn't require any. But when we've been to a party where there is drinking, he takes more.

I've heard about bromide poisoning. Is this any reason to worry?—T.Y.

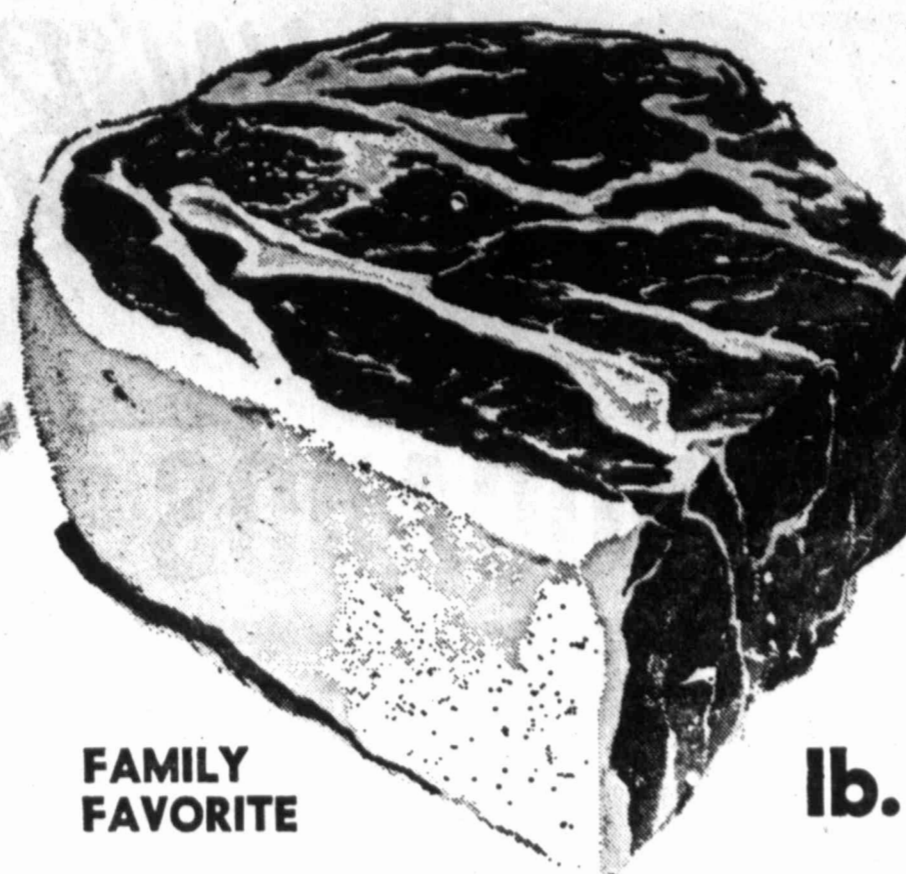

It is the alkali in the fizzy portion of such preparations that quiets the stomach. The bromide portion acts as a sedative, and yes, habitual use of bromides can be harmful, causing brominism, with such symptoms as sleepiness, lethargy, weakness, skin disorders. Bromides should be used within limits.

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

A Devotion For Today..

I trust in thee, O Lord, I say, "Thou art my God." My times are in thy hand. (Psalm 114:15)
PRAYER: Lord, it is impossible for us to realize the vastness of Your presence. Help us to keep our trust in You, especially when circumstances stand a chance of overcoming us. Amen.

The Story Of My Life

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Writer
THE STORY OF MY LIFE.
By Aimee Semple McPherson.
Word Books, Waco, Tex. $5.95.

There is no person living today who can create the feeling of excitement across America that Aimee Semple McPherson did in the 1920s and 1930s.

Here was a handsome—even pretty—woman, an evangelist who became a national figure and the center of many sensational adventures.

Above everything else she was a dramatist.

Her sense of drama extended to her approach to the ministry, the way she told the story of Christ and salvation, the way she dressed, her conscious or unconscious posturing in public.

Which is the fascination of this newly published book.

Mrs. McPherson had begun a new autobiography before her death in 1944. It was held in the archives of the church she founded and resurrected recently and completed by Dr. Raymond L. Cox.

The reader can almost tell where Mrs. McPherson stopped and Dr. Cox began.

For the book has the same florid treatment that her sermons—rather, exhortations—had to a point. The story becomes much more prosaic when Dr. Cox takes over.

The most sensational event in her life was her kidnaping in 1926.

A lot of people didn't believe her. The theory was that she disappeared for a long weekend with a man—she naturally was the subject of much speculation.

Her first husband, Robert Semple, died while a missionary in the Far East. Her second, Harold McPherson, disappeared from her life somewhere along the way.

Her reappearance set off all sorts of stories. She was on Page One for months as all sorts of sensation seekers tried to tie themselves to her.

She was charged with obstructing justice and conspiracy to fake evidence. After a lengthy examining trial, the district attorney refused to prosecute.

Mrs. McPherson's story was that she was kidnaped from a beach by a ruse, taken to Mexico and held for $500,000 ransom. She escaped by jumping out a window and walking across the desert. No one ever was arrested.

An excellent look at one of America's best-known figures—The AP (REF).

AUSTIN'S THREE FORMS

OF GOVERNMENT. By Stuart A. MacCorkle. Naylor, an Antonio. $8.95.

Stuart MacCorkle has been involved in municipal affairs as teacher, administrator and councilman and in some fringe areas of city government.

He uses his city of Austin, Tex., to describe three forms of city government: mayor-aldermanic, commission and council-manager. Austin has been ruled by all these systems at various times.

This is an excellent outline of forms of government. Yet when he starts discussing the personalities involved, there are some who will disagree with him sharply.

Further, he attacks the local press for some obscure reason. He is pretty naive about this.

During much of the period covered, council business was conducted in secret, then announced—revealed at all—as flats. This now is illegal and the legislature has just added stronger penalties to the law.—The AP (REF).

YOU'RE IN CHARGE. By Cecil G. Osborne. Word Books, Waco, Tex. $4.95.

Theme of this new book is "you are gods," a little-recognized statement of Christ.

The author says that the usual "children of God" approach implies a dependency relationship without man taking up his responsibilities.

Man is in charge of the world and in charge of his inner self, says the author, but he wants freedom without responsibility. Yet man cannot abdicate.

Cecil Osborne, an American Baptist Convention minister, is the founder of Yokefellows, Inc., which believes in all pulling together.—The AP (REF).

Dallas-Fort Worth Now The 'Biggest'

DALLAS (AP) — With a stroke of the pen, the Dallas and Fort Worth area becomes the state's largest metropolitan statistical area.

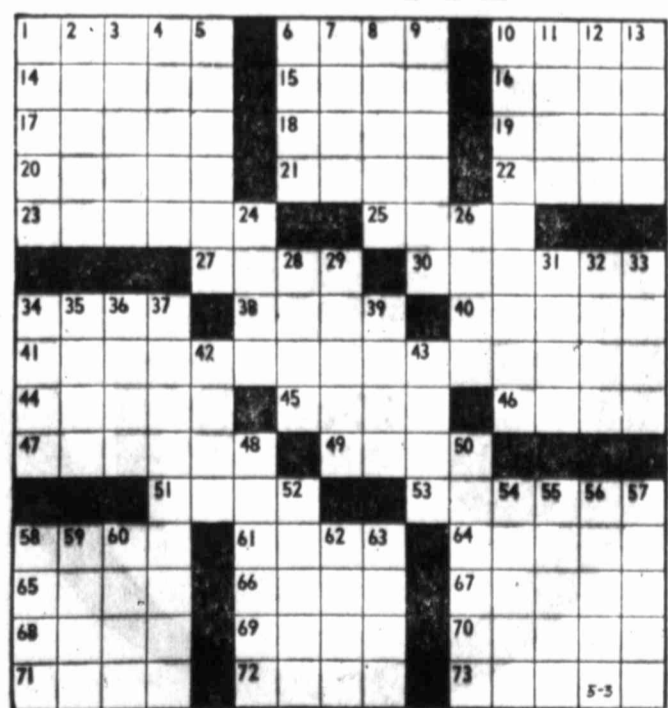

The bookkeeping change by the federal Office of Management and Budget makes Dallas-Fort Worth one of the nation's 10 largest metropolitan areas, ahead of the Harris County (Houston) area.

Counties now included in the OMB's Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area include Dallas, Tarrant, Collin, Denton, Ellis, Hood, Johnson, Kaufman, Park, Rockwall and Wise.

Pregnant Pupil Decision Looms

HOUSTON (AP) — A hearing brought by a pregnant high school senior is slated to wind up today with a decision expected soon on whether she will be allowed back into classes at Clear Creek High School in the Manned Spacecraft Center area.

Mrs. Peggy Starkey, married last summer, became pregnant in December and was forced to stop coming to class in March by school officials who said they feared for her safety and of her unborn child.

Dr. George Markham, a physician and member of the Clear Creek School Board, testified Tuesday that school hallway traffic presented a hazard and that he had treated pupils injured in hallway accidents.

He also said that outbreaks of viral infections among pupils were common and could also be a hazard to a pregnant woman.

Mrs. Starkey's physician, Dr. Victor Kahler, told the court he encourages his patients to lead normal lives and there was no medical reason why she should not return to school. He said he thought exclusion from class would be harmful to her.

Kahler said Mrs. Starkey was in good health and that nothing unusual would attend her third trimester of pregnancy, except the fact she may go into labor.

The school has offered to continue to teach Mrs. Starkey in a homebound program and allow her to receive her degree at the end of this month. However, she would be prohibited from taking part in graduation exercises.

A psychologist, Dr. Rudy Nydegger, testified that exclusion from class could cause Mrs. Starkey stress. He said assigning a pupil to the homebound program would be a form of "scholastic leprosy."

Three other pupils at the school testified that Mrs. Starkey's presence on campus and in the classroom presented no problem to them.

Sweepstakes Winner Didn't Buy Ticket

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — A Pennsylvania man who won the $2,600 first prize in Corpus Christi Abbey's sweepstakes drawing did not even lay out the price of a ticket.

The name of Robert Tomazski, of Ambridge, Penn., apparently found its way onto one of the mailing lists used by Abbey personnel in boosting the annual barbecue and sweepstakes held Sunday.

Like hundreds of other recipients Tomazski was sent a book of tickets which he could return with or without a donation.

The 36-year-old welfare recipient, currently completing his college education, sent back ten tickets and no money. The Rev. Alred Hoenig, Abbot of the Abbey said he had no idea how Tomazski's name got onto the Abbey's rolls.

"A sweepstakes is different from a raffle," he said. "Everyone was asked to make a donation, but if they prefer to participate in the sweepstakes without making a donation they can do so. You're not allowed to demand money."

Tomazski, who is married but has no children, had his choice of $2,600 cash, a Chevrolet Nova, a trip to Europe or a journey to the Holy Land.

He called Monday to tell the Abbot he would take the cash.

$3 Million Blast Suit

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A damage suit seeking almost $3 million for the deaths of three members of an El Paso family in an Easter explosion of natural gas has been filed in district court here.

Robert Valdiviez filed the suit as temporary guardian and next friend of Ana Julia Aguirre, Ernesto Aguirre and Patricia Aguirre, against Southern Union Gas Co. and Mrs. James White.

Mrs. White is listed as owner of the property where the explosion occurred and Southern Union Gas as supplier of natural gas to the apartments where Rafael and Maria Aguirre and their children lived.

Rafael, Maria and Rafael Aguirre Jr. were killed in the explosion.

The petition alleges there was a large quantity of natural gas between the ground and the flooring of the apartments, including the one occupied by the Aguirre family.

At about 6:15 a.m., an accumulation of gas erupted in an explosion that killed the three and injured the other children, the petition claimed.

It said Southern Union Gas had inspected and "certified" the gas lines as without defect.

The bidding:
South West North East
5 ♣ Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: King of ♠
South capitalized on a defender's carelessness in today's hand to salvage a five club contract that was apparently destined for defeat.

West opened the king of spades and East followed suit with the nine. West continued with the queen of spades and this time his partner played the deuce.

The moment of decision had arrived for the opening leader. He feared that if he shifted to a heart and the declarer held the king of that suit, the defense would take no more tricks. It appeared to West that the only trick that might get away was a diamond, and he accordingly shifted to the four of diamonds.

South observed that if the heart finesse succeeded, he would be in position shortly to claim his contract. If East held the king of hearts, however, then the outlook was hopeless unless the opening position faltered. Inasmuch as one discard would do him no good, South went all out and played a small diamond from dummy.

East was in an extremely awkward position. If declarer had the lone jack of diamonds, it might be fatal to let the diamond trick get away. East accordingly put up the ace of diamonds. South ruffed, drew trump and discarded two hearts on the king and queen of diamonds.

Altho it would have been proper for West to switch to the nine of diamonds instead of the four if he did not hold an honor in that suit, nevertheless, he was the major culprit, in our opinion, for allowing his opponent to sneak home safely on the deal. It should have been obvious that East held the king of hearts when he let his partner hold the second spade trick, for, if he had the ace of diamonds but not the king of hearts—then he should overtake the second spade and try to cash the ace of diamonds as the only chance to defeat the contract.

Even after West failed to make the indicated heart shift, he could still have salvaged a profit for his side by returning the jack of diamonds instead of a small one. The defense can hardly expect to take more than one diamond trick, and the play of the jack assures that declarer will cover in dummy. Even the East's ace is ruffed away. South obtains only one sluff and eventually must fall back on the heart finesse.

Hungry Coyotes Force Ranchers To Move Out

By John LUMPKIN
Associated Press Writer

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) — "After having been engaged in the sheep and goat raising business for 36 years, we were forced to get out last week," Hill Country rancher Willard Dierks wrote April 18.

His letter to the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association continued, "The family ranch has stocked sheep for over 75 years but the overpopulation of hungry coyotes since the ban on poison simply closed in on us now."

HOWLS

Dierks, of Berghelm, says the predator situation deteriorated until he was forced to gather and pen his sheep each night rather than permit them to roam his cross-fenced 1,500-acre spread.

His wife told The Associated Press, "Those coyotes would howl and come with 100 yards of the house. They got one lamb 100 yards from the house."

In Kerrville, Kerr County agent Bill Rector and Texas A&M sheep and goat specialist Jack Gross say plights of ranchers like Dierks are becoming more common—just in the past six to eight months.

Bill Sims, executive secretary at the state sheep and goat raisers association's offices in San Angelo, adds, "I know a lot of people that's happened to."

Mrs. Dierks said, "It happened in such a short time. They were getting an animal a day."

DON'T CARE

Ranchers and agricultural officials say the coyote menace was all but stopped in the early 1960s as frontier areas of Texas were fenced and became populated with people who ran the coyotes out.

The coyotes began reappearing in the 1960s, they say, but were relatively under control until the past several months when trappers could no longer use cyanide in trapping devices.

"You can't raise coyotes and sheep in the same pasture," says Sims of the new situation.

Rector says coyotes find havens on rural land bought by persons who have no agricultural interests. "We got lots of people in this country, they don't care. They're not there," he said.

DANGER

"It's going to really get serious when they start getting the cattle. When the sheep are gone, they'll find something else," says Groff of the coyotes.

Dierks, who will continue to raise cattle until he can reenter the sheep business, says he is aware of the danger to cattle because coyotes on his brother's ranch nearby killed a newborn calf one night by ripping out its tongue and returned the next night to eat the carcass.

"I'll have to keep them pretty close to me when they're calving," said Dierks.

He said he continued to raise sheep and goats through the eight-year drought of the 1950's and during the fall of the wool market in the 1960's, when many other sheep and goat raisers quit.

DECENT PRICE

Now, he says, predators have forced him out "when we're finally getting a decent price."

The Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association says 205 producers have written letters or responded to surveys since early last fall reporting 18,221 sheep and goats lost to predators.

One West Texas rancher said, "In one pasture of 150 two-year-old ewes, we had only one lamb and 138 ewes left. In another pasture, we had 15 lambs from 230 ewes."

West Texas Fed Grants

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe has approved a $2,697,002 federal grant for a pre-school program in the Houston area and a $330,000 grant to provide legal aid for the poor in Dallas.

The Houston grant is expected to fund 38 Head Start centers for 1,635 children, ages 3-5, from low-income families in Houston, Bellaire, Baytown, Pasadena, LaPorte, Crosby and McNair.

Other antipoverty federal grants approved by the governor included:

—$50,000 to continue a family planning program in Edinburg.

—$50,597 to continue the family planning program for 3,400 low-income women in Midland, Ector, Reeves, Pecos and Terrell counties.

—$50,454 for a Head Start program for 40 children in the Fredericksburg area.

—$34,684 for a summer Head Start program for 100 children

Singer Booked For Non-Support

CULVER CITY, Calif. (AP) — Folk singer Glenn Yarbrough is free on $12,000 bail after being arrested on a misdemeanor warrant charging him with failing to provide child support for his two children.

Yarbrough, 48, formerly a member of the Limelighters group, was ordered to appear in San Rafael, Calif., Municipal Court on May 14.

Isn't Allowed To Drive Cars, Trucks He Sells

DETROIT (AP) — Ed Casmer isn't allowed to drive the cars he sells, and since he's legally blind, he even has trouble seeing them.

Neither he nor his employer consider his blindness a handicap, however, since he's been selling cars for more than 35 years.

"Need a new Chevrolet, or a good used car or truck? See Ed Casmer—he's the one with the white cane." That's how the company advertises the 59-year-old former insurance salesman.

Even with the strong glasses he wears, Casmer still has only five per cent vision in his one eye and is considered legally blind.

Casmer injured his left eye in 1930 while hammering a nail. A chip from the hammer hit his eye and eventually it had to be removed. Due to the lack of antibiotics at the time, the other eye also became infected.

"For the past seven or eight years I can just barely get around," Casmer said. But that hasn't stopped his sales.

One man has bought 11 new cars from Casmer over the past 22 years.

ing potential customers the cars in the used car lot across the street from the dealership. But he said the customers are usually understanding and don't mind wandering over by themselves to look at them.

CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE REDISTRICTING BILL POSTPONED

Cooling-Off Period Helps End Uprising Against Chairman

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — It took an apology and a "cooling-off period" Wednesday to end a revolt by the House Reapportionment Committee against chairman Fred Head, D-Troup. Several motions to report a House redistricting bill out of session ended the tumult after onlookers filling a small out, and there was no uproar. Further consideration of Monday. House redistricting bill was "It's a one-week cooling-off period," said Rep. Charles Fin- D-Holiday, who had urged

After the "cooling off period" was approved, Head, with sunken cheeks and red-rimmed eyes, turned the gavel over to the vice-chairman and addressed the committee. "I do here apologize to the members of the committee, the House and the people of Texas if I have given anyone cause to believe I was trying to be oppressive," he said. "DIRTY 30" He acknowledged his tactics had been likened by some to those of former Speaker Gus Mutscher, whom Head had opposed as a member of the "Dirty 30" coalition in 1971. "I would disagree with that... because I as chairman of the committee have done my best to see that the members of the committee give full and open consideration to matters before the committee. I think my concern for wanting all members of the committee to thoroughly consider all the matters before us this morning might possibly have made it seem that I was trying to be oppressive," Head said. Head had told newsmen he wanted the full committee present when a vote was taken on any bill. Eighteen of the 21 members were present much of the time, and the number went as high as 20 at one point. Rep. Joe Wyatt, D-Bloomington, tried several times to get recognized to move approval of his bill that would preserve present legislative districts. Wyatt says he would accept an amendment cutting Tarrant (Fort Worth) County into single-member districts. The present plan also gives Dallas, Bexar (San Antonio) and Harris (Houston) Counties single-member districts.

HOW IS IT? Head favors a more complete reapportionment of House seats, giving single-member districts to all counties now represented at large by two or more members. After Head refused to recognize him, Wyatt asked: "If the will of the committee is in favor of turning out a bill, why is it not in order for a member to be recognized for that motion?" Head replied that he doubted the committee was prepared for a vote.

"How is it, without taking a vote, that the chairman knows the will of the committee?" asked Rep. Wayland Simmons, D-San Antonio.

"I don't think the committee knows enough about what it would be voting on to take a vote," Head answered. Simmons later was denied recognition when he tried to move to report Wyatt's bill to the floor.

REAL SORRY "You are not recognized for anything—I'm real sorry," Head told him.

"You sure are," Simmons said emphatically. "Is there any member that can be recognized today for any motion that is not in agreement with the chair?" asked Rep. Jim Nugent, D-Kerrville.

"You are not recognized," was Head's only response. Wyatt told Head that "some of us would be willing to sit here until hell freezes over until you recognize us for a motion."

"That's your privilege," Head said.

Head, who has a liberal voting record and favors dark suits with vests, is a candidate for 1975 House speaker.

"I don't think the events of today had anything to do with the speaker's race," he said. "Does he think the events hurt his campaign?" "I don't think so."

School Trustees Convene Monday

HEW will again be the subject at a special meeting of the Big Spring Independent School District board Monday at 5:15 p.m. in the board room.

Purpose of the meeting is a conference between the board and the school attorney in regard to an answer to the Office of Civil Rights, HEW and a request for a hearing.

This after HEW temporarily halted all new federal funding for the Big Spring schools until they comply with their civil rights regulations. The controversy surrounds the racial balance at Lakeview Elementary.

The board must answer their allegations of non-compliance by Thursday, May 10.

Parr Suit Dismissal

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — delay because the government must now choose whether to appeal or seek new indictments; but it does not put an end to the matter.

For the time being, however, Parr, 72, of San Diego, Tex., has come out from under a cloud of accusation again.

In the 1960s, a federal tax evasion charge filed against him in 1954 was dropped, as well as several other indictments which grew out of state and federal investigations.

In 1946, two years before South Texas' Box 13 voting controversy involving the election of Lyndon Johnson to the U.S. Senate, Parr was pardoned by President Harry Truman in connection with a tax evasion conviction 12 years earlier.

Suttle ruled Wednesday a federal grand jury in San Antonio can not indict someone for offenses committed in another federal district or another division of the same federal district.

U.S. Atty. William Sessions said after the hearing that the dismissals "may result in some

Harte-Hanks Election Held

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Robert G. Marbut has been re-elected president and chief executive officer of Harte-Hanks Newspapers, Inc.

Along with Marbut, other officers who were re-elected at this week's annual shareholders meeting here were Houston H. Harte, chairman of the board; Bruce B. Meador, secretary, and Larry D. Franklin, treasurer and chief financial officer.

Board members re-elected included Harte, Meador, Marbut, Edward H. Harte, A. B. Shelton, Bill D. Moyers and Myles L. Mace.

At a directors' meeting following Tuesday's shareholders' meeting, the regular five cents per share dividend was declared on the company's common stock to be paid June 20, to shareholders of record on June 1.

Marbut said the action marked the tenth consecutive quarterly dividend to be paid since the company was reorganized in early 1971.

Harte-Hanks publishes newspapers in 22 markets in eight states and weekly advertising publications in Orange and Santa Clara Counties, Calif. The company also operates the VHF CBS television affiliate in San Antonio.

HCJC Students Are Spotligted

Recognition of outstanding students at Howard County Junior College was held Wednesday morning at the annual awards day convocation.

Arlene W. Henderson of Big Spring and J. Keith Box of Crane were presented the American Legion awards by George Zachariah.

Theresa Griffin was presented the Dibrell award for girl athletics by Johnnie Lou Avery. Bill Bradford of the American Business Club presented awards to outstanding basketball players, Herbie Lee, San Antonio; Taylor Williams, Cleveland, Miss.; Leroy Lumzy, Dixon, Ill.; and Mike Randle, Big Spring.

The Wall Street business award was presented by Tommy Rutledge to Carl J. Ritter Jr.

Who's Who in Junior Colleges certificates went to Douglas Daniel, John Booher, Mrs. Sally Bubela, Cecilia Coffey, Judith Conley, Arlene Henderson, Nancy Martinez, Gloria Perez, Valencia Rankin, Brenda Webb, and Mrs. Mary Lou Wilks. Dean Johnson made the presentations.

Also honored were the Dean's list students and those receiving writer's awards, both of whom have been announced previously in the Big Spring Herald.

Outstanding students by departments included Billy Ballard, social science; Robert Barnes, speech and drama; Jay

Another Homecoming For Creator Of 'The Waltons'

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP TV Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — As Earl Hamner Jr. recalls it, his home town of Schuyler, Va., once was described in a federal writers' guidebook as "a tiny hamlet that rises to mild hilarity on Saturday nights."

His warm memories of growing up there since have become a Thursday night staple called "The Waltons," a Depression Era family series that is enjoying boom times on CBS television.

Hamner, who created the series from "The Homecoming," a semi-autobiographical novella he wrote 10 years ago, is having another homecoming involving Schuyler next May 12.

He's going back to the tiny western Virginia town for "Nelson County Day" on the understanding that the well-wishers in the county won't make him get up and orate about his past, present or future.

HOW 'ABOUT' THAT?

"I'm afraid I'm not a very good public speaker," says Hamner, whose Virginia accent has survived his gradual migration to Hollywood, fame and a certain amount of fortune as a writer of novels and scripts.

He still says "hoose" for house and "about" for about. He wears horn-rimmed glasses, favors tweed coats and resembles an English professor whose minor was soft speech.

Hamner, 49, is the oldest of eight children. He might be known today as the Rev. Mr. Hamner had it not been for a minor transgression at the University of Richmond, where until 1943 he was a divinity student on a scholarship.

"My family was poor, but Dad was bent on my going to college," he said. "A doctor we know got in touch with the trustees at the University of Richmond about a scholarship. The only thing they had open was a ministerial scholarship. But we took it."

Hamner preferred not to discuss what aborted his future as a man of the cloth. But it was sufficient to get him drafted and shipped off to war just after the Normandy invasion in mid-1944.

DEFUSING MINES

"My specialty was defusing land mines," he grinned. "The life expectancy of a man who defuses land mines was then about three minutes. But I kept following behind the lines, and I never even got shot at."

The Army took him out of the defusing business and put him in Paris, where he stayed until 1946. Then he came home, worked at radio stations and studied at the University of Cincinnati on the GI bill. After graduation, he began writing full-time and never stopped.

"The Waltons," on which he serves as executive story consultant, recently won a Peabody Award and has been renewed by CBS for a second season.

NOT IMPRESSED

It represents the apex of a long, hard career for Hamner, who is happily married, has two healthy teen-agers and two California homes—one in Studio City, the other near the ocean at Laguna Beach.

Doesn't this good life occasionally startle the once-impoverished ex-divinity student from Schuyler?

"No, because—this sounds immodest—I've been a working writer for 20, 25 years and I've always been fairly well paid," he said quietly. "I'm too old now to be impressed by the idea of success."

Participates In Tumor Workshop

Belva Harrington, tumor registry secretary, Medical Center Memorial Hospital, has returned from the Cancer Registry Workshop in Austin.

Mrs. Harrington participated in discussion regarding how various hospitals use materials from tumor registries. Representatives of American College of Surgeons and Division of Cancer and Heart Diseases for the state conducted sessions at the workshop. Mrs. Harrington was accompanied to Austin by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Brooks.

Enrollment Dips

Signs of the approach of the semester's end showed up in school enrollment reports last week. The total declined by 17, leaving 6,822, or 240 less than the same time a year ago. For a change, elementary withdrawals approached those in the secondary. The elementary dip of nine left 3,403 at this level, while secondary totals dropped 12 to reach 3,050. The hospital-homebound figure was 79, up four.

Hospital Is Accredited

Medical Center Memorial Hospital, has received continued full accreditation by Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

Norman Knox, administrator, said this accreditation will be in effect for a period of two years, or until a subsequent survey is conducted.

The commission commended the hospital for maintaining standards required for accreditation and for continuing effort to improve the quality of patient care.

J. R. Anderson is chairman of the governing board of the hospital, and Henry Butler, MD, is president of the medical staff.

Floyd Hoffman, MD, and George Brotherton, FACHA, represented Joint Commission in conducting survey.

Permits Top '72 Totals

With construction starts in April totalling $148,400, construction costs so far for the year 1973 topped the total amount for 1972.

Twenty-four building permits issued by the city last month brought the total construction for 1973 to $1,654,664. Last year's total for building was $1,547,144.

Biggest boost to construction this year was in January when 15 building projects got under way at a cost of $1,039,159.

Breakdown of April building permits issued showed two new residences, seven residential additions, four additions to other types of structures, one amusement building, one garage, two moved buildings, one demolition, five sign erections, and one public works facility.
