

Summit Meetings Begin June 18

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon and Soviet Communist Party Chairman Leonid Brezhnev will hold the American phase of their summit meetings June 18-26, with the discussions expected to give the second round of SALT talks a major thrust forward.

The announcement of the summit, to be held predominantly in Washington, was made simultaneously in Moscow and at the White House Saturday. Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon had invited Brezhnev to the United States during the May 1972 summit session in the Soviet Union.

RESULTS EXPECTED
Immediately after Ziegler's statement, presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger told newsmen that this summit, like all of Nixon's previous high-level meetings with foreign leaders, was expected to have important and practical results.

It was obvious that Kissinger, who returned Thursday after a four-day trip to Russia, was referring to the second phase of the Strategic Arms Limitation talks now under way in Geneva.

"There has been a discussion of the priorities and the general directions the negotiations might take," when the two leaders meet, Kissinger said.

"I believe when the secretary general (Brezhnev) and the President meet, the broad direction for subsequent negotiations can be established, the impetus can be accelerated."

He made this optimistic assessment in the wake of reports that it might take up to five years to negotiate a SALT II treaty, which Kissinger acknowledged Saturday is much more complicated both technically and politically than the earlier round. SALT I involved an accord to limit deployment of antiballistic missile systems.

The second round is an attempt to restrict the offensive nuclear arms systems on which both superpowers base their policy of a balance-of-terror deterrent.

The national security adviser did not promise that a SALT II treaty would be signed at the summit here, as was the case in Moscow for the initial SALT agreement. Instead, he indicated Nixon and Brezhnev might issue a declaration of negotiating principles and priorities.

Kissinger said the summit meeting was never in doubt, having been "planned for many months, at the latest since February."

23 Fires Set By Arsonists In West Va.

NEW MARTINSVILLE, W.Va. (AP) — The night has become a fearful time for this Ohio River city of 7,000 as a small volunteer fire department tries to cope with arsonists who have set 23 fires in four nights.

The blazes have been aimed at commercial buildings in the downtown area, and only one has been major. Mayor Harry Zohn says all but one are known to be the work of arsonists.

"It's made our citizens edgy," he says, adding that he hopes arrests will come soon.

He says the straw that broke the camel's back occurred early Saturday when a three-story building on Main Street was almost totally destroyed.

That blaze broke out at daybreak after officials thought they had "secured" the town through one night without a fire.

Volunteers have been patrolling the streets in 10 unmarked cars throughout the night hoping to spot any suspects, but there have been no arrests.

Officials from the state fire marshal's office arrived Friday to begin their probe. Assistant State Fire Marshal E. L. Roush said he has never seen such a concentrated effort by arsonists in his 40 years of police and fire work.

Roush said 17 fires were reported Tuesday night, three Wednesday night, two early Friday and one Saturday. In some cases gasoline was used to touch off the fires and in other instances trash or debris has been set on fire, he said.

Board To Hear Zone Request

The planning and zoning board will hold a hearing at 5:15 p.m. Monday, May 21, in the city hall on a request connected with a proposal to construct a new hospital here.

Dr. P. W. Malone filed a request for changing a tract south of the Eleventh place extension (and north of Scenic Mountain) from single family to light commercial zoning.

This is the site that Hospital Corporation of America, which has been negotiating to acquire assets of Medical Center Memorial Hospital, has picked for a proposed 150-bed hospital.

The city commission will conduct a hearing May 22 at 5:15 p.m. on whatever recommendation the board makes.

Light Showers Fall In Area

Early morning showers accompanied a cool front into Big Spring Saturday and covered the city with half an inch of moisture.

This appeared to be general with gauges in the south edge reporting this much, along with an identical reading in central and eastern Big Spring and .6 of an inch at the CRMWD's pump station at the north edge of town.

Other reports from CRMWD showed .3 of an inch at the Morgan Creek station 10 miles northeast, .4 of an inch at Moss Creek Lake, sprinkles at Lake J. B. Thomas, and only a trace at Midland-Odessa.

Twelve Are Arrested In Drug Raids Here

Another drug-related dragnet, this one on the northern side of Big Spring, brought 12 arrests in the early morning hours Saturday.

Chief of Police Vance Chisum said that investigations leading to the raids had been under way for over two months. Texas Rangers and Texas Highway Patrolmen joined in the mass pickup.

A similar early-morning raid last November had centered principally on the southern part of the city.

Ten adults and one juvenile were named in 19 counts charging sale of drugs, and one juvenile girl, listed as missing, was picked up.

HEROIN INVOLVED

Two individuals were booked on five counts charging sale of heroin; eight were booked on 14 counts alleging sale of marijuana; and one juvenile was charged with marijuana sale.

ONE COUNT

Also charged with one count sale of marijuana was Ernest William Annabelle III, Waxahachie, arrested earlier this week on a burglary charge.

Preparation, Undercover Work Lasted Two Months

Two months of preparation and undercover work preceded the drug raid here early Saturday by city police, the Texas Rangers and the Texas Highway Patrol.

After warrants were issued on each count for each individual sought in the raid, and after all plans had been made, final instructions were posted by Police Chief Vance Chisum.

Many officers, who had worked another shift that day, came back to help with the raid; others worked straight through from the late afternoon shift.

Most of them had known for days that the raid was going to occur at some undesignated time and had been waiting, hoping the word had not leaked out.

A map was drawn on the backboard of the vicinity to be hit. Most of the men were familiar with the section but for clarification the map was displayed.

Men were placed in groups with a Ranger working with four of the units. Detectives and patrolmen alike were involved as well as every officer in the department.

The district attorney and justice of the peace were on hand, also waiting ready to direct filing of complaints.

THREE DIDN'T GET HOME WITH ANNUALS

Thieves Often Catch Some Looking The Other Way

By MARJ CARPENTER

A happy high school student passed her annual around among friends the first day she got the book to obtain signatures. She never got it back. Somebody, who had failed to plunk down his $10 for a yearbook, cabaged on to that particular student's book. Even though the messages from friends were not for them.

Three students had lost their yearbooks on opening day. Some of the students paid extra to have their name printed on the cover, but this is no assurance that somebody won't gallop off with the book of memories.

This isn't the only thing that disappears around the high school. Taking a lead from the adults, the morals of some youths have apparently decayed with the rest of mankind and everything has to be kept under lock and key.

Of course, students have had lockers for years, with only the individual student knowing the combination. Any student who lays their books down somewhere other than in a locked locker might as well tell them goodbye.

EVERYTHING GOES

Among items which disappear at the high school are fountain pens, pencils, notebook paper, typing paper, any kind of paper, notebooks, school work, textbooks, library books, sweaters, coats, shoes, socks, tennis rackets, tennis racket covers, tennis balls, golf balls, tickets to any and everything, purses, billfolds, stamps, snare drums, flutes, and money.

Anything not nailed down, tied down, or locked up has a way of disappearing. One high school girl said, "Don't bat your eyes and don't turn your head, or something will be missing."

Girls also have to be careful about laying down purses in restrooms or beside them on bleachers at school events. A good rule, according to one girl here, is "to keep your arm through the purse handle at every moment."

The time a generation back, when teachers used to stand up front and "plea for the culprit to give himself up because we are all honest here" are long gone. They might get laughed out of the classroom. Especially on the statement "We are all honest here."

Others say, "There have been thieves forever. And there always will be."

One person from the last generation recalls that valuables have had to be locked up in the school locker rooms for many years.

The only answer offered today, however, appears to be to keep your eye on your belongings at all times. If you pass your annual around for signatures, stand beside it and snatch it back. If you carry a purse, clutch it to your bosom at all times, and if you have something too big to carry, lock it up.

AS BOARD MEMBERS 'Good Niggers' Don't Impress

By VERNON E. BROWN

I want big business and big industry to know that just because they have their niggers on their boards the rest of us niggers are not impressed.

A number of companies in this country have seen fit to appoint "good niggers" to their boards of directors.

A board member should be able to offer assistance, expertise and new direction to the company. Black America, however, has not witnessed any significant change in the growth of black ownership in this country. So wherever we find a nigger on the board, he is there because he is judged and categorized by the white folks as being a "good nigger." He probably owns very little, if any, stock in the company.

Those who resent what I am saying have the opportunity to prove that I am wrong. If you know of any nigger on a board, tell me (1) what part of the company he or she owns, (2) what have his accomplishments been that can further the hopes and dreams of his have-not brothers throughout this country and (3) what affirmative action programs have been initiated by the company that can deal with the real issues of America. These issues are crime and dope.

Also, what type of financial success have these blacks established that would give them the right to sit on the boards of major businesses of America — other than the color of their skin?

I am very proud of the niggers on the board who have a mission and the ability to redirect their company.

I am however, incensed by the niggers on the board that I have seen and read about.

Reviewing the ... Big Spring Week ... with Joe Pickle

Another raid, climaxing two months of investigative work, was staged early Saturday with 12 individuals, 10 of them being adults who were charged. Other arrests may follow as police gather in the last few threads of the cases. Another, even broader-based raid, was pulled last November, which indicates law enforcement officers are keeping the heat on.

It appeared last week that the weather had skipped Spring, going directly from Winter to Summer. Where a week before readings had been down in the upper 30's, suddenly they were at 100 degrees. And then Saturday, another front had moved in, and crisp, cloudy weather was back. The interval of hot weather, however, gave most farmers a chance to get their seed into the ground. With a little luck, cotton and feed should be popping out of the ground this week. This could be doubly important, for 4.5 million of the anticipated 13 million acres ticketed for cotton are in the still-flooding Mississippi Valley. And elsewhere stands and acreage were off sharply. The years crop may hinge largely on what our area can do.

Speaking of flooding, the American Red Cross has issued an appeal for disaster relief funds. With the worst of damage and losses yet to be reported, disaster funds already are wiped out. (See THE WEEK, Page 2-A, Col. 4)

BIG SPRING AS THE ASTRONAUTS WILL SEE IT

Skylab Will Help Erosion Studies

By JOHN EDWARDS

When Skylab blasts off into space Monday, researchers at the U.S. Experiment station here hope it will set the stage for study on less spectacular but destructive blasts in this area.

erodible, Fryrear said. The Big Spring site will be used for comparison. Also wanted are photographs of sites between Seminole and Lamesa, near Patricia, east of Kermit and in the Portales, N.M., vicinity.

to identify similar terrain with the same color in the photo. ANOTHER SATELLITE The station here has been getting pictures from ERTS-1 (Earth Resources Technology Satellite), an unmanned space unit, every 18 days. But Skylab photos will have greater resolution or detail and can record from a height of as much as 270 miles objects with diameters of 100-ft. and up.

Aerial Photos Studied Before By Scientists

Evaluating wind erosion from aerial photos is not new to the U.S. Big Spring Experiment Station and Donald W. Fryrear, location leader.

Cloud conditions could prevent the Skylab study here, but, otherwise, Fryrear feels confident of photographs. Skylab rockets into orbit Monday. On Tuesday, the first Skylab crew of three astronauts will launch off earth to link with the Skylab space station.

THE WEEK

The Howard-Glasscock chapter's share is nearly $1,200. won't you help by mailing a gift to the local chapter?

Word from Rep. Renal Rosson last week was that funds approved by the Senate-House conference committee for the Water Development Board includes $100,000 for each of two years to evaluate weather modification work of the Colorado River Municipal Water District. This will finance a scientific study to determine if the project works, and is it worth it. All Texas needs to know the answers.

Peace officers may have cleared two cases last week. Two arrests were made and most of the items lost in burglary of Lucelle's on April 20 were recovered. In Earsie Miller north-side murder mystery in the north side flats section, an arrest was made and charges filed at the end of the week. Glasscock County officers booked William Wayne Ivers, Beaumont, for possession of marijuana, freed him on bond, but next day he was found dead of stab wounds in a Midland residence.

Noah Leyva, retired master sergeant and a native of Big Spring, is the newest member of the Howard County school board. He was appointed, and sworn in to fill the term of Bill Johnson, who had moved to Dallas.

Big Spring will support a branch of the Permian Basin Better Business Bureau. A dozen and a half businessmen have agreed to underwrite the $2,500 per year fee, which will give local residents toll-free connections to have their inquiries handled by the chapter headquarters at Terminal. Hence, if you're doubtful about a business deal, you will have someone to call.

Word is trickling in from the Spring drills of the Big Spring Steer football squad that those who want to play are going to have to be more aggressive than ever. Offensively, new emphasis will be on the passing game; defensively on mobility and hitting.

The featured personality of the annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo will be Michael Landon, better known as "Little Joe" of the Bonanza television series. He'll have a band to back him up for the four nightly shows June 20-23.

The Howard County Free Library needs another $9,000 to bring its budget to $46,000 and thus qualify it for state library association membership. Larry Justiss, librarian, told the commissioners court. This is important, he added, because federal funds for loan library service are being withdrawn, and this will be available only to those who have association members.

The City of Big Spring is granting interviews with prospects who might buy or lease the Mount Olive (city) Cemetery and the city wants to direct itself of the money-losing operation, but this raises the question of how can it sell lots that private individuals bought?

Howard County Alcoholism Center was adopted last week as a name for the task force which is seeking to find ways of setting up a local detoxification center as the initial service of a unit to deal with this mounting problem.

Mrs. W. K. Crawley, 611 N. 19th, Lamesa, penned a note last week and added an interesting footnote to local history: "My father, W. D. Howsley, from old Fort Griffin, sent water from our big spring about 1870 or so." That's 10 years before the railroad pushed this way and when the Indian and buffalo hunters monopolized the spring.

Lew, who suffered a severe heart attack about three weeks ago, still faces the prospect of battling an exploding heart but his doctors are encouraged by his improvement.

His brother, Pete Jenkins of Big Spring, and nephew, Jim Wade, Arizona, are still at his bedside.

Howard Area Oil History Exhibits Open At Museum

Against the backdrop of national-consciousness about an "energy crunch," the Heritage Museum spotlights oil development in the Howard County area in its new exhibit opening Monday.

MANY EXHIBITS

The array of items, pictures, charts, maps, etc. which will remain on display for several months to help tell the heritage owed to oil, was assembled by a committee headed by J. W. Purser and Will Barros, co-chairmen of the exhibit.

FIRST LEASE

The story begins with the first mineral lease executed (by W. R. Creighton) in Howard County 60 years ago, and then unfolds through the S.E.J. Cox saga with discovery of oil in his No. 1 McDowell, just over in Glasscock County in 1920. When his fabled General Oil Company went on the rocks, and with it his five-ring local oil circus, the area had a residual and incurable case of oil fever.

RAPID DEVELOPMENT

Local interests formed the Howard County Refining Company and put in a plant. Legendary Josh Cosden built his refinery east of town, and clustered with it were the Richardson and Great West refineries. Supply houses sprang up everywhere, and pipelines began snaking across the country. And then suddenly the Depression came, and the area drowned in oil, driving it to 10 cents a barrel. More rapidly than it began, the boom ended.

However, independent operators kept plugging away, discovering other fields. After World War II, deeper zones were tapped, and the early 1950's saw another big oil surge which gradually levelled, then flared again with the Suez Canal closing, and finally quietened.

Now, with demands for oil exceeding the supply, the industry once again is in the spotlight. This time, more than exploration, operators are seeking to wring more oil from oil-bearing formations by flooding with water and water representing with inert gasses.

This story is told by a series of displays which include pictures of a water well in southeast Big Spring that was plugged because it had oil; the Coxera, the Cushing Development enterprise; pictures of a horse-powered oil rig, an old spudder, cable tool units, various fields being brought in, stories about Fred Hyer and of Rupert Ricker, whose vision broken open the Permian Basin.

Also models of an oil treater and a wellhead injection assembly, maps showing oil formations of the Permian basin, fields in Howard County, pipelines; models of pumps, oil-well treaters, diamond (yes, real diamonds) oil bit and coring bit; oil samples (including the latest — the first Iraq oil to reach Cosden's refinery here, oil products down to plastic furniture and door carvings.

Lending valuable assistance in rounding up the material and helping them be put on display were Bob Penner, Cliff Chapman, A. K. Guthrie, Chester Miller, Ross Boykin and H. C. Stupp. The layout was supervised by Daryl Hohertz, exhibits chairman.

Housewives Help Round Up Thieves Near Austin

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Two Ziegler women telephoned the sheriff's office, the Department of Public Safety and their officers later jailed on burglary charges.

Mrs. Ziegler got a carbine and handed Mrs. Roman a .38-caliber revolver. They went to her home in south Travis County about 11:30 a.m. and saw a strange car in the driveway. She saw men going through an open door.

Mrs. Roman ran across the road to the home of Gloria Weid and Mrs. Ziegler said, "We were gonna keep them from getting in the car. If they tried to get in, we'd shoot hell out of that car."

Mrs. Ziegler went to answer the telephone a moment before the men headed out to the car. Mrs. Roman, who said her grandmother taught her how to shoot, fired the revolver. The men fled.

The women went to the car and took the keys. Mrs. Roman stood by a front tire and, not being able to miss at that range, blew it out.

A sheriff's car arrived, followed soon by a DPS helicopter. Deputy Robert Fleming spotted two men in the brush behind the Roman house. He ordered them to come out.

The men did not move. Fleming fired a warning shot from a 12-gauge riot shotgun. The men again failed to respond. "So I lowered the next one a little," Fleming said.

The men came out with their hands up. DPS officers caught the third man about 100 yards away.

Inside the Roman house, guns, wall plaques, linen and other items had been piled on a blanket.

Ex-Tarzan Dies At Age Of 53

NEW YORK (AP) — Lex Barker, who succeeded Johnny Weissmuller as Hollywood's Tarzan of the Apes, collapsed and died on New York's East Side Friday. He had celebrated his 53rd birthday on Tuesday.

Often married, Barker's ex-wives included movie beauties Arlene Dahl and Lana Turner.

Barker collapsed about 11 a.m. while on his way to a luncheon date. An autopsy will be performed.

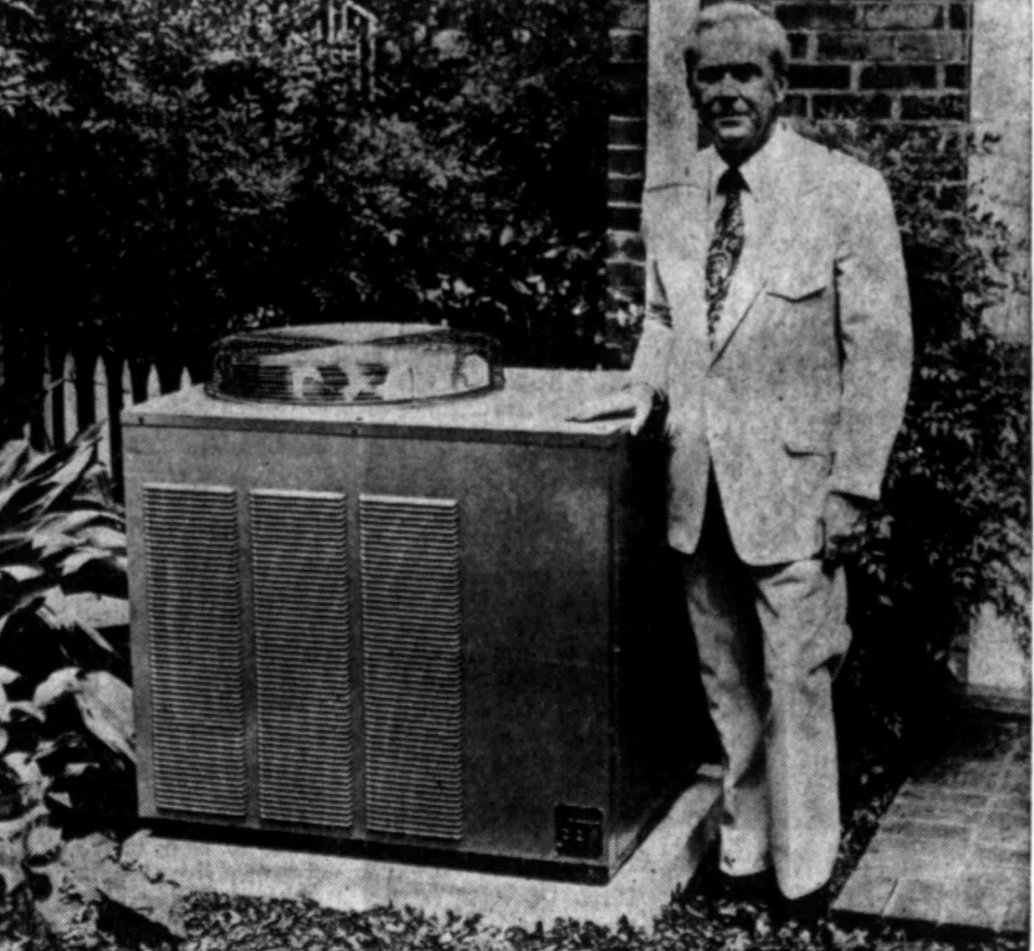

In the late 1950s, Barker left movie-making in this country and went on to become one of Rome's busiest actors.

A native of Rye, N.Y., Barker was born Alexander Crichlow Barker.

His first wife was Constance Thurlow. Married in 1941, they had a son, Zan, and a daughter, Lynn, before their divorce in 1949. His marriage in 1951 to Arlene Dahl lasted a year and in 1953 he married Miss Turner, a union that endured for four years.

In Europe, Barker married a Swiss girl who died after she had borne him a son. He later married Carmen Seguras of Barcelona.

Cheap air conditioning is no bargain.

Servel Gas Air Conditioning is a Bargain.

The bargain comes in smaller utility bills, fewer maintenance calls and the longer life of a Servel system.

But you'll never buy one cheap.

The Servel goal has always been: "Build it like the Swiss." That's why the units are precision-made. And that's why they contain more stainless steel than any other air conditioner on the market. They're built to last and to perform dependably. This and the economy of natural gas energy saves you every month.

Quality construction is the reason you pay more for Servel initially. Because quality doesn't come cheap. Long, economical operation is the reason you'll save in the long run. Because quality pays off.

Most people can afford quality when they know all the facts. Especially when they're concerned with a cool, restful, healthy home environment — when home has a permanent meaning.

Think long and hard before you invest in central air conditioning. Then install Servel.

THOUGHTS: (Q.) I have known Brenda for almost a year. We are great friends.

She goes with Mark, not with me. They are going to break up, however, but as soon as school is out, she is going to move to Seattle. My problem is that I can hardly study for thinking of her. Please help me. —Louis in Texas.

(A.) You write from a large city. I have spoken to the students at more than one school in this city. I know that in those schools there are many, many attractive girls.

Get acquainted with one of those girls. Ask her for a date. Have fun with her.

Before you know it, thoughts of Brenda won't be bugging you.

NOT SHE: (Q.) I can't seem to attract any boys. All the other girls at my school get boys so easy, but not me.

I am in seventh grade. I'm enclosing a picture of myself. (Isn't it ugly?) Could you tell me what to do for my looks?

My parents plan to buy me contacts but I want wire frames. They say if I want them I have to buy them myself. Thank you for all the help you can give me. —Ugly in Indiana.

(A.) Your picture looks very good to me. What you seem to need much more than beauty treatments or wire frames or contacts is more self-confidence and self-respect.

These qualities should increase naturally in you during the next year or two and you should begin to feel pretty.

In the meantime talk freely and openly with your parents about matters — like boys and your appearance — that bug you.

Talk to your friends at school too. And listen. In talking and listening you will find that you are not the only girl with problems, and that your problems may be much smaller than those that some of the other girls have.

Incidentally, if you really prefer glasses to contacts, I am for glasses for you, and you can quote me on that when you talk to your parents.

London Is Becoming Most Important Financial City

LONDON (AP) — Welcome to London, the new banking center of the United States. The idea may have sounded silly once, but not since last year when the lord mayor of London announced there were more American banks here than in New York or any other city.

Fifty different American banks now have their own branches in London, against only 45 in New York, and the reason is simple.

For the past decade, this city has been moving toward the day when it could replace New York as the undisputed financial capital of the world, a title London held once before, for the century between 1815 and 1914.

New York, although richer today, is largely a domestic market, where American money is raised for American business. London already ranks as the biggest financial center for international dealings. Even New York does much of its overseas business here.

WEAKER DOLLAR

As the U.S. dollar has weakened, through two devaluations in 14 months, London's importance as a financial center has gained.

And now that Britain has joined the world's richest trading bloc, the European Common Market, the return of London's pre-eminence, under any financial yardstick, could well be on the way.

For Britain, the prospect is remarkable. Throughout the past decade, this country was an economic cripple, plagued by a host of problems that made it one of the weakest industrialized nations in Western Europe.

But while Britain's manufacturers were generally stagnating, its financial paper-pushers were ranking in record profits, mainly from the wealth of other countries.

Theirs was a success story based only in part on good business. Good luck, in the form of some unintended help from the U.S. government, played a major role.

London's resurgence as a financial capital probably owed its start to the unplanned side effects of Kennedy administration policy.

At the time, Washington tried to reduce America's balance of payments deficit — the net outflow of dollars abroad — by imposing more and more restrictions on U.S. lending overseas. In effect, Wall Street's efforts to finance foreign business were hamstrung.

GENERATING FUNDS

But American companies abroad were still generating funds that could be kept overseas and put to investment use on this side of the Atlantic.

For example, there was nothing to prevent an American company in West Germany from lending dollars to another American company in Italy.

These loans were made essentially in dollars already deposited in Europe, money that became known as Eurodollars. British and foreign banks in London quickly cornered the new market.

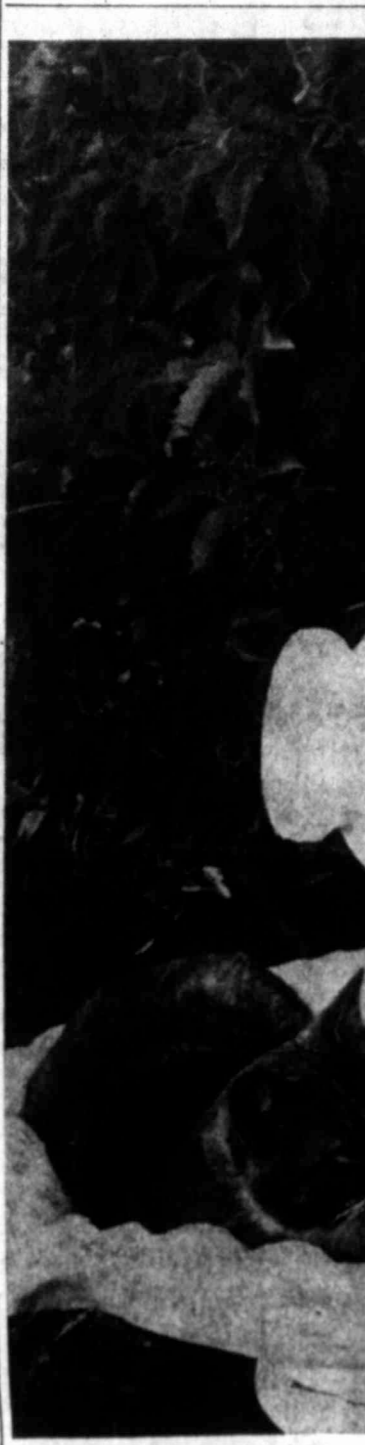

By the late 1960s, the Eurodollar market was clearly the most important financial development in Europe since World War II. Today it is the largest international money market in the world, estimated to total more than $70 billion. By all accounts the lion's share of the Eurodollar loan business, up to 80 per cent of it by some reports, is conducted in London.

It was the Eurodollar business that brought the foreign banks to London for a piece of the action. Their number has doubled since 1967 and is still growing.

American banks here are from a wide variety of cities, including New York, Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Miami, Minneapolis, Philadelphia, Houston, Milwaukee and San Francisco.

At last count there were 245

CAT IN A COOLER—Morris, a feline familiar to all residents in the Kentwood area, obviously likes all the creature comforts. Here he curls up in a fountain. That quizzical look could mean: "Nobody had better turn on the water."

Science Of Rainmaking To Be Refined By U.S.

By The Associated Press

The Reclamation Bureau has announced a major research effort to last five to seven years to refine the science of seeding summer clouds for increased rainfall.

Gilbert G. Stamm, acting commissioner of the water resource agency, said, "Scientists working under the bureau's Project Skywater and other programs have confirmed the basic principles of cloud seeding and now are moving into the second generation of research."

Scientists have no difficulty in obtaining rain from cold clouds, and presumably the research will stress warm cloud rainmaking.

The project will be at one or more sites in the High Plains. States being considered for sites include New Mexico, Colorado, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Montana, Wyoming and the Dakotas.

The project is expected to cost from $15 to $20 million. States participating in the project probably will contribute funds and facilities and the 1974 federal budget includes $1 million for starting the project.

Stamm said the research should help resolve remaining foreign banks in London, far ahead of New York in second place with 170.

Many of these banks were at the heart of the speculative wave that touched off the last international monetary crisis and led to the 10 per cent devaluation of the dollar Feb. 12.

The speculators are their clients, among them treasurers of international corporations and money managers for Arab oil sheiks.

These men watch carefully the exchange rates — or prices — of the dollar and other currencies in world money markets, hoping to profit when they smell a change coming. Early this year they thought they spotted a sure winner.

The United States announced that it had spent $8.5 billion more abroad than it had earned overseas in 1972. To the speculators this made the dollar look weak against the money of countries with trade profits like West Germany and Japan.

BACKED UP BET

It didn't matter whether their hunch was right. What mattered was that they had the money to back up their bet, all the resources of the huge Eurodollar pool. They sold billions of dollars to buy marks and yen in such volume that governments could no longer defend the old rates. The dollar went down in another devaluation.

The mark went up in another revaluation. The speculators had another profit, perhaps their last killing of this kind.

One of the lessons learned from this crisis was that Kennedy's curbs on American investment abroad had only created a Eurodollar market that was more trouble.

The Nixon administration decided to try and bring this money home. U.S. Treasury Secretary George Shultz announced that American constraints on foreign investment would be phased out by the end of 1974.

In theory this could end London's Eurodollar bonanza. Americans and Europeans could go back to borrowing their dollars in New York.

But few British experts are really worried yet. They believe that many Europeans and American firms will continue to wheel and deal in dollars right here. For one thing there are fewer regulations here, like those in the United States which for companies to make public disclosures.

NOT BY BANKS ALONE

In any event, London's reputation as the top international financial center in the world does not live by banks alone.

The City of London, the square mile that forms the financial district here, also contains:

—The largest international insurance market in the world, which has made Lloyds of London a household word.

uncertainties in rainmaking.

A. M. Kahan, chief of the bureau's division of atmospheric water resources management, said a preliminary plan will be discussed at a meeting in Denver in late June or early July.

SCALED RAIL—Built on a HO scale of 1:87 with a real train, Jim Gillespie's electric train runs a scenic route through mountains, mining regions and oil fields, all fashioned of plaster and wood in a special room at his home.

Detailed Train Set-Up Keeps Resident Busy

By ANN STEVENS
There's a little bit of carpentry, electronics, photography and design all rolled up in Jim Gillespie's hobby.

Gillespie, a Highland South resident, spends 10 hours a week working on a detailed electric train set-up housed in a special 12x20' room built onto his home last year.

"I push a pencil around all day at work. When I get home, I like to just mess around in the shop," said the Georgia native who is vice president of creative visuals for Gamco.

STARTED WITH PLANES
"I started out making model airplanes, but everytime I'd get one built and going, it would crash. Trains run on a track, so I thought there would be less likelihood for them to crash," he said of the hobby he started over 20 years ago when he lived in Montgomery, Ala.

Gillespie's train, on the HO scale in which everything is on a 1:87 ratio compared with a real train, includes some 30 or 40 cars, three or four engines and several "caboose" to use Gillespie's term.

But Gillespie says his main passion is not the train itself but the scenery through which the track runs.

SCENERY CONCERN
"Model railroading is a lot different from going down at Christmas and buying a little track and a few cars to run around the Christmas tree," he noted.

"I started out with a boxcar kit and a little bit of track which cost about a dollar or so," he recalled. "At first, I did like everybody else probably does — just watched the train go around and around."

"That soon gets tiresome. So I would add a little bit more track. But just to have a lot of track lying there doesn't look like much, so I became concerned with the scenery," Gillespie said.

The lay-out presently includes mountains, trees, buildings, oil wells and pumps, and plans are in the making for a lake. Several areas of the country, such as the oil fields of West Texas, the mining regions of Colorado, the sawmills of Washington state, and a frontier town of the Old West, lie along the route for the two-inch high train.

'NEVER FINISH'
Gillespie models the different sections of his lay-out after places he has seen and sometimes photographed. "I make it as realistic as possible," he noted.

He fashions the mountains, valleys and curves of the "land" with newspaper covered with plaster spray-painted with dye.

The mining area represents the old mining town of Leadville, Colo. The train runs up the mountains, loads up with gold ore, and brings it back down to the yard, all automatically.

"I made this thing just for me. I'm not particularly anxious to show it off. One careless elbow could demolish hours and hours of work," he related.

Gillespie says the building is a continuous thing. "If I ever get it completely finished, I'll tear it all up and start over," he intimated.

June 17-22 Mexico City Trip Offers Many Extras

Members of the Mexico City Fiesta Tour party who desire to depart from Love Field in Dallas will pay only $209 for the entire trip.

The six-day tour, sponsored jointly by The Herald, the First National Bank of Big Spring and Presto Tours of Dallas, is scheduled June 17-22.

Included in the package deal are a round-trip tourist air transportation, five nights at the fabulous Fiesta Palace Hotel in downtown Mexico City, a daily full American breakfast at the La Fiesta Palace, a welcome cocktail, a half-day bus tour of Mexico City, use of a chaise longue at poolside at the Fiesta Palace, a free cocktail at La Estancia and other treats.

Those planning to fly from Midland to Dallas to join the tour would pay $259 roundtrip.

Reservations should be made as soon as possible by writing or calling Lynn Gray at the First National Bank's Travel Department here.

A five-hour train ride for 44 cents? Such an economical excursion is possible between Mexico City and Cuernavaca. And it's a fun trek, reminiscent of the days when train rides were sometimes regarded as rather risky undertakings.

First, there are the soldiers aboard. But no need to worry, reports American Airlines whose flights serve Mexico City daily. The soldiers are simply historical holdovers from the 1910-20 revolutionary era. Back then, they were the prime targets of Emiliano Zapata's rebel bands staked out in the mountains around Cuernavaca.

Zapata's men eventually took over the Cuernavaca train and staffed it with sandaled gentlemen in big, floppy sombreros who had bandoliers of bullets draped across their shoulders.

When the revolution was won, folks put away their weapons and settled down. From then on, the Cuernavaca train was as peaceful as a Disneyland monorail. But even with the territory tamed, the train looks like rolling stock from a six-pistol thriller — set amid dazzling technicolor terrain.

Picture the scene: The train winds up impossibly beautiful mountains across a 10,000-foot high pass, with full brakes on the downgrade to Cuernavaca. It creaks and curves through bald-faced gaps, on past odd little cones of dead volcanoes and rocky shoulders bulging out of pines and tall grass. Seemingly at any minute, a stalwart lawman should mosey through the train cars to survey the riders on the slat benches.

More local color comes with the people along the route. Whenever the train stops, Indian vendors appear with baskets of food and drink. They walk along hawking their wares as travelers hang out of the windows to buy their lunch. Everybody eats each time food appears. So, most passengers bring more appetite than baggage.

But food is not always the only reason for a rest stop. The engineer has been known to stop and chat with relatives who live along the way. Passengers can get off during such a pause to stretch their legs, or even pick wild flowers in the fields.

Man Charged In Slaying

Robert Lee Phillips, 37, alias Little Brother, of 911 Morin Street in Fort Worth, was charged with murder by city police Friday afternoon in connection with the shooting death of Earsie Miller here on Tuesday night.

Phillips, who has been a frequent visitor in Big Spring, and is well known on the north side of town, was picked up for questioning late Thursday.

He was placed in the county jail and bond was set at $20,000 by Justice of the Peace Gus Ochotorena. Ochotorena had not rendered a verdict in the shooting death Friday morning, but one is now anticipated. The complaint, signed by City Detective Jim McCain, mentions a pistol.

The accused had left Big Spring Wednesday morning and gone to O'Donnell. He was notified by law officials there that Big Spring police were seeking him, and he returned here where he was taken into custody for interrogation late Thursday.

The murder weapon has not yet been located. Law officials indicate that Phillips had made no statement.

Writer And Wife Married Again

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet writer Alexander Solzhenitsyn and Natalya Svetlova, who were married last month in a civil ceremony to legalize their union, have been married again in a religious ceremony, his friends say.

The 1971 Nobel Prize laureate, whose works are banned in the Soviet Union, was divorced March 15 from his wife of 25 years, Natalya Reshetovskaya.

Cooperative Purchasing Not Overly Successful

First stages of cooperative purchasing between the city, county and schools revolved around a joint gasoline-oil bid last September.

This was probably the most successful cooperative bid among the three governmental groups, because most purchases "simply cannot be made in cooperation," according to local purchasing agents.

All three groups are used to having their own specifications for vehicles for use by the schools, say in comparison, to vehicles to be used by the police department.

Bob Butler, city purchasing agent, Mrs. Virginia Black, county auditor, and Don Crockett, assistant superintendent of business for the schools, made several attempts to work out joint bidding.

But they soon found out that this just did not work out. For instance, police cars travel at a fast pace and also start and stop a lot, and therefore must be replaced every year. They are in no way similar to school vehicles which are often used for on-the-road trips to meetings.

LOTS OF PAPER
The group did get together on purchasing paper in bulk. The county also has an account at the city warehouse where they often pick up fertilizer, seed, or office supplies.

Oswald's Widow Wins Settlement

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Marina Oswald Porter, widow of President Kennedy's accused assassin, has won a settlement of $17,729 from the government for property that belonged to Lee Harvey Oswald.

U.S. District Court Judge Joe E. Estes signed the judgment Friday.

The Warren Commission said Oswald killed President Kennedy Nov. 22, 1963, in Dallas.

Free Flow Of Info Plea

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Newspaper Publishers Association reaffirmed its position that newsmen should have "absolute" protection of their confidential news sources.

Protection of news sources and pending shield law bills in Congress were the subject of a panel discussion at the ANPA wound up its 87th annual meeting at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

The panel leader was Len Small, publisher of the Kankakee, Ill., Journal, who said in a statement that recent reports of a change in ANPA policy on the question were untrue.

"The ANPA has consistently led the fight for a shield law representing a restatement of the First Amendment privilege which we believe newsmen had 'until the Supreme Court ruled in the Caldwell case, he said.

The court held in the Caldwell case that the First Amendment did not specifically spell out that newsmen had the right to protect confidential news sources and information. The decision invited the Congress to pass such a law.

"We feel that any legislation to protect the free flow of information ought to be as broad as possible and simple enough for anyone to understand," Small said. "Any qualifications would cause more controversies and litigation and would themselves be a limitation on freedom of the press."

Move To Recognize Fidel Questioned By Burleson

By OMAR BURLESON
Cons. 17 Dist.
WASHINGTON, D. C. —

There is considerable sentiment in the Congress that the United States should make up with Fidel Castro. They cite a new political climate which they say makes the time ripe for normalizing relations with Cuba.

The first reason given is that the President's policy of dealing with all types of governments has resulted in a relaxation of tensions with Red China and the Soviet Union. It is said that under these circumstances, not to make overtures to Castro is an inconsistency.

The second reason given is that there is a mounting sentiment in Latin America to re-establish relations with Cuba and that actions by the Organization of American States indicate this desire on the part of many nations south of us. They believe that Cuba's subversive activities in these countries have let up since 1967 when Che Guevara was killed in Bolivia.

Also cited is Castro's willingness to join in an anti-hijacking agreement with the United States. The possibility of re-establishing trade relations is also given as a reason since our exports to Cuba exceeded imports by about $20 million during the last trading year in 1961. Other reasons are given, such as creating a better feeling in the Western Hemisphere since a number of South and Central American groups favor a new association with Castro's Cuba.

Hemisphere. readmitting Cuba to the family of nations in the Western First, Castro has shown no indication that he wishes to re-establish relations with the United States. He has found it popular in the communist and left wing world to blame us for his domestic failures.

Aussie Holds Steers Shine 3-Stroke Bulge In Scrimmage

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Australian Bruce Crampton built a huge early advantage, blew half of it on the last five holes, but still retained a solid three-stroke margin Saturday after three rounds of the $150,000 Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament.

British Open champion Lee Trevino shot himself out of it with a 76. At 220, Trevino is a distant 16 strokes behind Crampton.

One week later, things seem to be going pretty well in the Big Spring Steer football camp. The Steers went through a 30-minute scrimmage session Saturday to climax the first week of drills, and after a slow start, the troops rallied to please the coaching staff in the final stages of the workout.

Pollard Dies At Indy

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Art Pollard, known in the auto racing fraternity as the "glamorous Grandpa," was killed Saturday when his race car became airborne and crashed in flames at nearly 190 miles an hour at Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Pollard himself was involved in a spectacular spill and was hospitalized with a broken leg. He already had qualified for the 1972 race. Wally Dallenbach drove for him.

From that point, observers said, the car skirted the pavement for more than 1,000 feet before becoming airborne as it reached the asphalt again in the second turn. It stopped upright 1,450 feet from its first impact with the retaining wall.

SuperSonics Name Russell Coach, General Manager

SEATTLE (AP) — Bill Russell, whose National Basketball Association career spanned 13 years and 11 championships, has returned to the NBA's active-duty list as coach and general manager of the Seattle SuperSonics.

The Sonics announced Friday that the former NBA all-star player-coach had been signed by Sonics President Sam Schulman to a five-year contract reported to be in the yearly salary range of $125,000.

"Sam made me an offer I couldn't refuse," Russell commented through his attorney, Richard Covey of Los Angeles. Russell was unavailable for further comment.

"It was just a question of him being available," Schulman said, "getting finished with the playoffs and it was a very pleasant negotiation."

Schulman reportedly has been negotiating off and on with Russell for months about the position, while Russell, as recently as Thursday, denied any interest in it. Russell, a 6-foot-9 All American from the University of San Francisco, retired as player-coach of the Boston Celtics in 1969 and joined the American Broadcasting Company as color commentator on its NBA Game of the Week.

Russell became the first black coach in the NBA when he succeeded Red Auerbach at

Rosewall Captures 3rd In WGT Play

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Ken Rosewall, who twice beat Rod Laver for the World Championship of Tennis title, whipped his fellow countryman, 6-3, 6-2, Saturday for the $10,000 third place prize.

The 35-year-old Rosewall had only 10 hours rest from a grueling five-set loss to Arthur Ashe Friday night, but quickly took control over Laver, who appeared to be playing only halfheartedly following his defeat in the semifinals at the hands of Stan Smith.

Rosewall predicted that Smith will defeat Ashe in Sunday's nationally televised finals for the WCT $50,000 first prize.

"Arthur has a good record against Stan, but right now Stan is playing better than he's ever played," said Rosewall. "Stan may be at a bit of a psychological disadvantage with Arthur, but I definitely favor Smith."

The Smith-Ashe confrontation Laver won $6,000 for fourth place money in the all-Australian consolation match which was shortened to the best-of-three sets at the last minute by WCT officials.

"I believe the WCT felt sorry for the junior veterans," quipped Rosewall. The match had been scheduled for best-of-five sets.

Rosewall, who has won $110,000 in the only three WCT championships ever held, said, "I'm either going to have to cut down my standard of living this season or play much better the rest of the year."

The Aussie veteran also said, "I just may cut down my schedule next year ... I'm just not sure right now."

Rosewall broke Laver's service in the second game of the first set and never trailed. The second set was no contest as Rosewall broke Laver's service in the very first game.

The Smith-Ashe confrontation will be at Sunday noon CDT.

AND EVERYBODY'S SUFFERING Rangers' Carty In Slump

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — credits include tuberculosis, a broken leg, three shoulder separations and assorted knee problems.

His .317 lifetime batting average is one of the highest among active Major League players, but he currently is floundering along at .179 with one home run and 9 RBIs.

His early season batting drop along with those of another new addition Mike Epstein and a few holdovers, has left the Texas Rangers with a winning percentage similar to the one that made them the worst team in the Majors last year.

The major problem last season was in the hitting department and Carty was and is being counted on heavily to give the Rangers a new look on offense.

"But Rico's just not hitting like I know he is capable," says manager Whitey Herzog. "He cannot provide leadership unless he swings the bat."

Orlando Cepeda, who has found a new baseball career as the Boston Red Sox' designated hitter, gave tribute to Carty recently calling him baseball's "greatest hitter despite his slump."

"Look out when Rico starts hitting," said Cepeda. "Maybe he (Cepeda) is too kind, but I know I can hit."

Carty is very defensive about any mention of the injuries that have plagued his career almost yearly since 1963. His hospital nated hitter rule is a boom to his career.

"It's like coming up as a pinch-hitter four times a game," Carty said he pleased with the enthusiasm of Texas crowds, but expressed disappointment in their size.

But the crowds should boom when Rico's bat heats up along with the weather.

secret that he has not liked the cold weather that has followed the Rangers from city to city.

"Everybody mentions it. It makes my toes numb," he said. "I am used to warm weather 365 days a year in the Dominican Republic."

Carty also does not share the view of many that the design-

Hogs' Enthusiasm High, But Experience Minimal

GAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles paid dearly for the Razorbacks' enthusiasm this spring.

After almost every practice, the players would gather around Broyles, pounding on the coach and yelling as if the kickoff was only seconds away in Austin.

Enthusiasm, however, may not be sufficient. The Razorbacks have some talent, but are short on experience — the fifth-year seniors who have been there and know what it takes to win: the pressure tested athletes who are needed for the Sept. 15 opener against Southern California and for what follows.

"I think they've progressed further than most teams would have because of their enthusiasm, but with all our inexperience it was only natural for them to come so far," Broyles said.

"Every year for the past 12 years, we've been favored to win all but one game or two. This year, I believe we will be the underdogs in at least seven games."

On the 22-player defensive chart at the end of spring, there were 13 sophomores, seven juniors and two seniors — linebacker Danny Rhodes and safety Mark Hollingsworth. Five of the top 11 on the depth chart are sophomores. Discounting the split receiver, there are six sophomores, four juniors and two seniors in the offensive line. Three of the upperclassmen are squadmen.

Broyles says the defense will be unsettled going into the fall.

"We are still shifting people at defensive end, and in the defensive line we've got one group which has played some and they are way ahead of everyone else," he said.

Steve Tipton and his mates swatted 20 Yankees defeated them in a National League Starfighters 12-3. The Rock Starfighters managed a 20-0 League smacking in other Big Spring League play Friday.

Jim Robinson home runs and Ricky Cluck homers and a David Davidson added a single in leading out. Randy Cree double and a Pittman, Mark Knight, Steve Rhymes and Brent added singles.

Mike Madry had off Tipton, both Ray Johnson, Billy Cooper and were defensive stars.

The victory was sixth without a lot of Devils fell to 1-5.

David Campbell Howda combined a hit in pacing past the Starfighters.

Yankees Explode By Devils; Rockets, Jets, Rangers Win

Steve Tipton hurled a two-hitter and his Yankee team mates swatted 20 hits as the Yankees defeated the Devils 15-1 in a National League affair Friday. The Rockets routed the Starfighters 12-3 in the International League and the Jets managed a 20-5 American League smacking of the Stars in other Big Spring Little League play Friday.

In a Thursday game, the Rangers blanked the Braves, 9-0.

Jim Robinson stroked two home runs and two singles, Ricky Cluck smacked two homers and a double, Mark Poss had a home run, a double and a single and Rodney Davidson added a homer and a single in leading the Yankee rout. Randy Cregar added a double and a single and Dale Pittman, Mark Harris, Mark Knight, Steve Tipton, Ray Rhymes and Brent Nichols all added singles.

Mike Madry had the only hits off Tipton, both doubles. Billy Ray Johnson, Mark Young, Billy Cooper and Kyle Casey were defensive standouts for the Devils. Madry was the losing pitcher.

The victory was the Yankees' sixth without a loss, while the Devils fell to 1-5.

David Campbell and Ron Hovda combined for a five-hitter in pacing the Rockets past the Starfighters.

Chris Smith worked three-for-three to pace the Rockets at the plate and Campbell, Hovda, Paul Dunbar, David Salazar and Tim Young all added two hits each. Keith Wilson and Joel Howard stroked one each in the Rockets' 15 hit attack.

Wayne Coffey went the distance in taking the loss for the Starfighters. Raymond Mayfield struck for two doubles and a single and scored all three runs, while Reid Fallon and Jake Valenzuela had one hit each. The Rockets are 5-1 and the Starfighters 1-5.

The Jets exploded for 10 runs in the top of the sixth inning in gaining their second win in seven tries, and used 13 hits in the 20-5 win.

Kevin Bartley had three hits and Cordes, Bartosh and R. Bartley managed two each in the win. Rosson, Floyd and Pearce managed one each in backing up winning pitcher Brent Pearce.

Mark Burris was the loser as the Stars slumped to 3-4. Darrell Martin and Horton had two hits in the loss, while Burris, Bokleman and Ferguson chalked up one apiece.

The Rangers notched 12 hits in halting the Braves 9-0, and David Altom slammed a home run and pitched the triumph in leading the way as the team upped its season mark to 4-1-1. The Braves are winless in six outings.

Larry Smith had three hits to aid the plate attack, while Ranger infielder Russell Bledsoe turned in an outstanding defensive game at second base.

The Braves managed just two hits off Altom, singles by Wesley Hart and Byron Harris. Wesley McCurtain was the losing pitcher.

In an American Minor League game Friday, the Stingrays pinned the first defeat of the year on the Mustangs, 18-12. Wayne Pruitt had a home run and John Wilson slapped five hits in pacing the win, while Blake Rosson was the winning pitcher. The Stingrays had 22 hits off losing pitcher Ted Bartley. Shawn Ragland smacked a home run in the losing effort.

The Angels nipped the Cubs 7-6 in a National Pee Wee League tilt Friday. Jacky Thomason was the winning pitcher, and Coleman Thompson added in two hits. Both teams are now 1-1.

BUFFS' McMEANS, WILSON SIGN WITH HOWARD PAYNE

BROWNWOOD — Two Stanton High School recruits described by Howard Payne College head football coach Dean Slayton as sound prospects have signed scholarship agreements with the Yellow Jackets.

They are Rick Wilson, 6-2 and 190-pound quarterback-safety and Dwayne McMeans, 5-10 and 175-pound defensive halfback.

Wilson is the son of Ken Wilson, while McMeans is the son of Russell McMeans, superintendent of schools at Stanton. Wilson's hometown is Tarzan, which is near Stanton.

Wilson was voted best all-around athlete at Stanton his junior year. He also landed a berth on an all-district team. He has been clocked at 4.7 in the 40.

McMeans was all-district in both football and track. He has a 4.6 time in the 40.

SPORT FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By JERRY METCALF

Whenever you think about men overcoming handicaps, did you know that men with only one arm have played big league baseball, and big-time football, too? ... Back in 1945, outfielder Pete Gray, who had only one arm, played in 77 American League games for the St. Louis Browns. ... And, Guard Ellis Jones, who had only one arm, was a star on the highly ranked Tulsa football team of the early 1940s, and in fact, played in three bowl games, the Sugar Bowl of 1943-44 and the Orange Bowl of 1945!

Ever wonder how many golf courses there are now in the U.S.? ... Answer is approximately 10,000.

And there are now about 10 million people who play golf. ... So, that figures out to an average of about one golf course for every 1,000 golfers in America today. ... Here's an oddity ... The 1927 Yankees are often called the greatest team in baseball history — yet did you know they do NOT hold the record for winning the most games in a season? ... The '27 Yanks won 116 games, but two other teams have won more in a year ... The Cubs of 1906 won 116 and the Indians of 1954 won 111.

I bet you didn't know ... that we have radiator sales and service.

Mets Blank Bucs, 6-0

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Tom Seaver checked Pittsburgh on two hits and turned in his first shutout of the season as the New York Mets whipped the Pirates 6-0 Saturday.

Seaver had a 1-0 lead when the Mets broke the game open with two runs in the eighth and three more in the ninth.

Wayne Garrett had scored in the first inning after he singled, went to third on Felix Millan's single and came home on Cleon Jones' double-play ball.

In the eighth, Jones, Rusty Staub and Ed Kranepool hit consecutive singles for one run, and Jim Gosgel doubled off the centerfield wall for another.

Wayne Garrett's first home run of the season highlighted the three-run ninth.

Pacers Claim ABA Honors

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Indiana won its third American Basketball Association title Saturday with an 88-81 victory over the Kentucky Colonels.

The Pacers used a tough defense to subdue the Colonels, who fell victim to the home court advantage in this series.

The Colonels, completely outplayed most of the game, came apart in the third period when they scored only 11 points, lowest ever in a playoff series.

Kentucky Coach Joe Mullaney, in his second season with the Colonels, made repeated changes in his lineup in an attempt to stall the Pacers' drive, but nothing worked.

In the closing minutes of the nationally-televised game a fan railed out on the floor and was hauled away by police. Seconds later another fan was ejected from Freedom Hall.

As the fourth period opened, Walt Simon hit a turn-around jump shot to cut the Indiana margin to 66-54. Big Artis Gilmore connected on a long shot from outside the circle to make it 66-56 for the Pacers, but Gus Johnson hit from the side, put the margin at 12 points and Indiana was never threatened thereafter.

George McGinnis of Indiana scored 27 points, was selected the most valuable player of the playoffs, and won a new automobile.

Cleveland Indians Power To 10-2 Win Over Boston

BOSTON (AP) — Gaylord Perry hurled a six-hitter and Buddy Bell and Dave Duncan slammed home runs in an 18-hit attack that carried the Cleveland Indians to a 10-2 American League baseball victory over the Boston Red Sox Saturday.

Perry, 5-4, allowed only a Red Sox run in the first on Carl Yastrzemski's infield out and one in the fourth on Reggie Smith's bases-empty homer.

Bell smashed his first homer of the year with nobody aboard in the Indians' first and Duncan's two-run homer in the eighth ended the Cleveland scoring.

The Indians put the game away in the fifth inning when they snapped a 2-2 tie with a three-run rally capped by Frank Duffy's RBI single. Charlie Spikes drove in two runs for Cleveland with a triple in the fifth and single in a two-run sixth.

Move over, Houston. New Orleans has a better dome.

The Louisiana Superdome, $129.5 million of extravagance, is about halfway completed, and it's going to be something super, all right. Not only will it be bigger than the Astrodome, but it'll also be about twice as luxurious.

The basic seating for football and major league baseball — which the city hopes to get because of the new structure — will be 72,000 and for things like boxing and other arena-type events, 95,000 will be able to squeeze in. The dome is supposed to be finished by mid-October, 1974, just about in time for the 1975 Super Bowl.

"Just to show you how big it is," says stadium executive director Bernard B. Levy, "we could accommodate both the Democratic and Republican national conventions at one time without crowding anybody." Though that might not be the best of ideas.

There will be no posts to block anybody's view, but just in case someone does miss a play or whatever, he can see it the second time around on the stadium's suspended gondola, hanging 273 feet from the roof. It'll have six color TV screens, each 26 by 22 feet.

These tubes will be available for instant replay of football and baseball, slow-motion replays, closed circuit TV and Judge Hofheinz only knows what all else. The NFL has tentatively given permission for football play by TV at the stadium, but only at the end of quarters, between halves and at the close of the game.

What really makes the dome officials' mouths water, though, is the prospect of luring major league baseball into town. Their New Orleans football Saints were one of the main reasons for building the thing, but baseball would make it all worthwhile.

The folks have talked with officials of all 24 clubs, and most have indicated interest in playing one three-game series in New Orleans on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights, light attendance nights around the leagues. They figure if they start this set-up in 1975, it won't be long before they can have a franchise of their own.

Since most conventions and other big deal events are booked several years in advance, the Superdome probably won't pay its own way the first two or three years. But Superdome is already taking orders for 1980 and thereafter, and the potential of such a joint is obviously unlimited. Feelings and pride may not be the only things to get hurt around Houston's Astrodome.

The stadium director has managed to remain somewhat modest through it all, however. "Yes, we seem to have the tops in this type stadium. We learned a lot from the Astrodome and have made many improvements over the Houston facility," said Levy. "However, they were the forerunners in Texas and in another 10 years there will probably be another stadium that will surpass ours in innovations."

That's one I'll have to see.

THE TAKE-OFF—These three Big Spring girls will be among the challengers this week when action gets under way in Houston in the Texas Special Olympics. The three, Teresa Harris, Connie Fauver and Connie Parker, will all be entered in running events. Competition begins Thursday on the University of Houston campus and ends Saturday.

Bulldogs Top 5-4A Voting

Robert Shaeffer, Midland's talented pitcher, was voted Most Valuable Player and Ricky Steen of the Big Spring Steers claimed a first team infield berth to highlight the 1973 All-District 5-AAAA baseball team.

Shaeffer, who led the Bulldogs to their first league title in 1972, had an 11-2 pitching record for the MHS crew and also belted seven home runs. He was joined in the honors by Midland High Coach Gary Hinds, who polled 10 of 13 possible 13 votes for Coach of the Year in balloting last week by 5-AAAA sports writers and coaches.

Shaeffer had 11 1/2 votes for MVP, and picked up 12 for first team pitcher. The other hurler selected was Midland Lee's Richard Koenig, who posted a 7-3 mark.

Midland outfielder Louis Perez joined Shaeffer as the leading vote-getter as he managed 12, while Permian's Keith Dwinnell, the league batting champion with a .510 mark, was next with 10 and earned first base honors.

Randy Ward of Lee, an outfielder, pulled eight votes while Koenig and Lee third baseman Joey Dudenhoefter each grabbed six.

Steen, the 1972 batting champ and owner of a .462 mark this year, was one of four players to gain five votes. He hit seven home runs and batted in 31 runs this year.

Rounding out the infield is second baseman Brandon Merworth of Midland, while Permian's Gary Sims was named utility infielder. Midland's Randy Blancstein was named as catcher.

Joining Ward and Perez in the outfield were Rusty McCleskey of Abilene and utility outfielder Steve Widmer of Midland, the only two juniors to make the star team.

Three Steers rated honorable mention on the squad, second baseman Willie Williams, infielder John Morelion and outfielder Gilbert Pesina. Williams hit .333 in district, while Pesina batted .412 and Morelion hit .231.

Honorable Mention — Fred Davis, and Keith Ellinger, San Angelo; Glenn Casey, Cooper; Gilbert Pesina, Big Spring; Mike Werthum and Derrill Eubank, Odessa; Bill Sudberry, Abilene; Robert Lynch, Lee.

Successful Bass Spawning Reported At Lake Spence

Flow, keeping the eggs in suspension and free of silt, etc. and flusing out the infertile eggs.

Within a day or so, it was apparent there had been a good spawn — biologists estimated that some 2,000,000 eggs had hatched and that at least 1,500,000 of these would survive for the trip to hatchery ponds at San Angelo. With good luck, at least 10 per cent of these should survive to fingerling stage, probably for return to Lake Spence. This would mean that the lake could more than sustain itself in restocking with the strippers, also furnish a supply of these fish for Texas lakes.

Nettings by biologists at Lake Spence have resulted in recovery of both female and male strippers with eggs and melt sent. There also have been other evidences of a successful spawn in areas heavily populated by the white bass.

While the possibility of a cross is being watched with interest, the most encouraging development has been the successful spawn under controlled conditions. Biologists netted large brood fish, seven of which were freely stripped of their eggs. These eggs, put in a dish, were exposed to milt from the males and then placed in a series of glass cylinders which resemble large test tubes. Water was infused by gravity

Races Slated At Ruidoso

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N.M. — The 1973 season at Ruidoso Downs kicks off on Saturday with track officials anticipating another record-breaking year.

"Enthusiasm for the new meeting is running very high," reports general manager Al Rosa. "The quality of this year's program promises to be better than ever, due mainly to our outstanding stakes schedule which includes the world's three richest races."

The caliber of horseflesh slated to perform at the mountain track is the best in Ruidoso history. The main lure is the record purse disbursement of $3.4 million for the 64-day campaign, which extends through Labor Day.

Saturday's opening-day agenda will be topped by the trial races for the $70,000 (estimated) Ruidoso Quarter Horse Derby, plus the $4,000 Inaugural Purse for four-year-olds and up at six furlongs.

Twelve race agendas are on tap both Saturday and Sunday, starting at the regular first-post of 1:30 p.m.

So far as Quarter Horse racing is concerned, Ruidoso Downs is without equal. The turf resort, located in the pine-covered Sacramento Mountains of Southern New Mexico, offers the famed "Triple Crown" of the Quarter Horse World.

Coahoma Fete Set For Monday

The Coahoma Quarterback Club will sponsor the CHS All-Athletic Banquet Monday at 7 p.m. in the Howard County Junior College gym.

Athletes in all sports will be honored at the fete, with special awards to be presented to outstanding athletes in each sport.

Tickets are $2.25, and may be purchased from Mrs. Carroll Choate, Mrs. Jerry Gee, Mrs. Bill Bennett or Mrs. Noel Harvell Jr., or at the door.

OIL
Martin Venture Clearfork Strike
Western Resources Oil No. 1 Holt, eight miles northwest of Florence Thelma Hall et al will be designated a Clearfork oil discovery in Modesta, North (Pennsylvania) test 22 miles northwest of Big Spring, one from the south and east lines located northeast of the field, 19-320, Garza CSL. Target depth is 9,000 feet, and location is 467 from the north and 2,373 from the east lines section 30-33-3n, T&P.
UV Industries, Inc. No. 1-A Holt, eight miles northwest of Tharzan, has been designated a Clearfork oil discovery in Modesta, North (Pennsylvania) test 22 miles northwest of Big Spring, one from the south and east lines located northeast of the field, 19-320, Garza CSL. Target depth is 9,000 feet, and location is 467 from the north and 2,373 from the east lines section 30-33-3n, T&P.
The location is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 17-7, ULS, 25 miles northwest of Stanton, and 3/4 mile southwest of the depleted Spraberry opener in the Block 7 field.
The Spraberry opener, James G. Brown & Associates No. 1-A-7 University, was completed in 1967 for 118 barrels of oil per day, through perforations at 8,256-8,264 feet.
George Mitchell & Associates, Inc., Midland, No. 1 Morris Miller, Borden County scheduled 8,600-foot wildcard, was bottomed at 7,902 feet, taking a drillstem test from 7,860 feet to total depth.
A one-hour and five-minute drillstem test from 7,752-7,772 feet, recovered 585 feet of oil and 360 feet of heavily oil- and gas-cut mud.
A drillstem test from 7,828-7,857 feet, tool open an unreported test, yielded 3,407 feet of free oil and 533 feet of salt water.
Project site is 467 feet from south and 2,625 feet from west lines of section 313, block 97, H&TC survey, 3/4 mile southwest of an 8,576-foot failure, and one mile north of the Pennsylvania and Wichita-Albany area of the Wilkes for volleyball.

Henry Thames
Henry Thames was elected new president of the Kiwanis Club at the club's weekly luncheon Thursday.
Other new officers elected to one-year terms are Donald Green, first vice president; Dub Moore, second vice president; and Billy Smith, secretary-treasurer.
New directors are Gene Gresham, Harvey Clay, Gibby Morehead and Gene Adkins. Dr. Larry Carlton Key was installed as a new member.
Members of the Howard County Junior College girls volleyball and basketball teams and boys tennis team were introduced by Wanda Ferguson, girls' coach, and Will Roan, tennis coach.
Kiwanians presented trophies for tennis; Carla Moore for basketball; and Mary Lou Wilkes for volleyball.

'Beef On Hoof' Can Be Deceptive, Buyers Told
AUSTIN — Consumers lured by low advertised prices into buying beef on the hoof have been warned that a 700-pound live animal selling for 49 cents a pound will cost $1.27 a pound by the time it is ready for the pan. And 30 per cent of it will be hamburger.
Only 44 per cent of a live animal actually winds up as edible cuts in your freezer, warned Ed Whitesides, director of Consumer Services Division of Texas Department of Agriculture.
Live weight selling direct to consumers is a recent wrinkle in beef sales promotion.

Safety Board Slowed In Probes, Solons Hear

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Commerce Committee has ordered an investigation of reported attempts by the administration to prevent the National Transportation Safety Board from criticizing two transportation agencies.

Selassie Plans Capital Visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie will make a two-day official visit to Washington next week, the State Department has announced.

Public Invited To Visit Retirement Centers Here

Texas Nursing Home Week begins today as nursing homes throughout the nation celebrate a special week of recognition.

Mountain View Lodge Inc., which opened July 10, 1972, will celebrate the week with a series of special morning programs and talks to which the public is invited.

A group of children from Jack and Jill Kindergarten will present a singing program at 11 a.m. Tuesday in the lodge's recreation area to kick off the week.

SPEECH WINNER
Mark Prather, Big Spring High School student, will play the trumpet at an 11 a.m. program Wednesday.

Linda Franklin, an eighth grader from Coahoma, will present "Why I'm an American" a speech which earned her first place in district-wide public speaking competition recently.

Bob Kiser, minister of Anderson Street Church of Christ, will speak at 11 a.m. Friday to end the special activities.

Administrator Billy Hendrix said coffee will be served throughout the week and the public is invited to visit their relatives and friends residing in the home.

While the other local nursing home, Big Spring Nursing Home Inc., does not have special activities planned, its administrator, Rudy Crane, has also invited the public to visit residents.

FLAG DEDICATION
A flagpole and flag donated by the VFW, private individuals safety board chairman, that he had ordered his staff to begin an investigation.

Magnuson said he had been informed that Reed told a March 18 meeting of the Safety Board that the White House staff had expressed displeasure over certain recommendations of the board that were critical of the Transportation Department and the Federal Aviation Administration.

Magnuson said it had been ordered, despite laws to the contrary, to cease issuing reports that might be construed as critical of the Transportation Department or of the executive branch.

"Furthermore, charges have been made that you informed members of the board that unless the board agreed to cease this activity, specifically authorized by the Department of Transportation Act of 1966, that members would be disciplined by the White House," Magnuson said.

Magnuson asked the members of the safety board to provide minutes, notes and memoranda immediately used at the March 18 meeting, along with other material summarizing or detailing the events.

A board spokesman said all five members of the board had responded to Magnuson by letter. A committee spokesman said the letters would not be released until the hearing.

and groups will be dedicated at 10:30 a.m. May 19. Although it takes place at the home during the special week, Crane stressed that the flag dedication ceremony is to honor all veterans and senior citizens.

Big Spring Nursing Home was built in 1963 and is approved by Medicaid for all levels of care and for VA contracts. Mountain View is a Type III home offering what is known as intermediate care.

The Nursing Inn has a 200-bed capacity and employs a 70-member staff. Mountain View has a 102-bed capacity with a staff of 48.

Both employ RNs, LVNs and nurses aides, and both offer their residents recreational activities, arts and crafts and religious services.

MORE IN TEXAS
Staff at the Nursing Inn includes Leon Stockton, assistant administrator; and Denise Macklin, RN, director of nursing services. Mrs. Stephanie Maloney is nursing director at Mountain View while Doris Hendrix is assistant administrator and bookkeeper.

In declaring May 13-20 as Texas Nursing Home Week, Gov. Dolph Briscoe pointed out there are 932 homes in the state operating to care for the aged and convalescent. Since 1960, the number of new facilities in Texas has grown more than any other state.

"Purpose of the week is to encourage citizens of the community to visit the forgotten," said Crane.

Five Rebels Die In Mozambique

PORTO AMELIA, MOZAMBIQUE (AP) — A band of rebel guerrillas attacked Portuguese guards Friday at a bridge over the Messalo River, Portuguese headquarters reported.

It said five of the rebels were killed and two taken prisoners. The Portuguese casualties in the brief encounter were given as one dead, one missing and five wounded.

The bridge is on national Highway 247 in the northern sector of the Cabo Delgado district, just south of the Tanzanian border.

In a counter raid, Portuguese troops and local militia seized a stock of guerrilla munitions, including road mines and other explosives, hand grenades, a semiautomatic rifle and ammunition for a Soviet-made submachine gun, headquarters said.

Mitchell, a partner in the firm once headed by President Nixon, has been indicted by a federal grand jury for perjury and conspiracy to obstruct justice and defraud the United States.

If the leave of absence becomes permanent, the firm must determine Mitchell's share and divide its assets.

Mitchell joined the firm in 1966 when it absorbed his smaller, but lucrative legal practice, principally in municipal bonds. He left when he became attorney general but returned after resigning from the cabinet post.

Mitchell Leaves New York Firm

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell is taking a leave of absence from his Wall Street law firm "to devote his time and attention to his personal affairs."

Mitchell, a partner in the firm once headed by President Nixon, has been indicted by a federal grand jury for perjury and conspiracy to obstruct justice and defraud the United States.

If the leave of absence becomes permanent, the firm must determine Mitchell's share and divide its assets.

Mitchell joined the firm in 1966 when it absorbed his smaller, but lucrative legal practice, principally in municipal bonds. He left when he became attorney general but returned after resigning from the cabinet post.

Dope Indictments

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A special federal grand jury's actions earlier this month have resulted in arrests of 20 alleged narcotics violators here, U.S. Attorney William Sessions says.

Sessions announced this week 20 indictments were unsealed following the arrests, mostly on charges involving heroin distribution. Many of the indictments alleged transactions of approximately one ounce of heroin, he said.

Reed, a former governor of Maine, told The Associated Press he could not comment pending committee release of the letters. The other Republican members of the board, Isabel A. Burgess and William R. Haley, similarly refrained from comment.

The board's Democratic member, Francis H. McAdams, also declined to discuss his letter pending the hearing, but commented that he was the "only member of the board who received no instructions."

The fifth member of the board, Louis M. Thayer, a political independent, confirmed Reed had relayed to him a White House warning that members would be disciplined if the forthcoming annual report of the board contained statements critical of the Transportation Department, or if it contained a statement of independence.

Thayer said the warning was delivered by a Transportation Department employee speaking for the White House.

The safety board's 1971 report to the Congress opened with a section on "The independence of the National Transportation Safety Board" which reportedly displeased the Administration.

Found Guilty Of Assaulting Teenage Girl

LONDON (AP) — American financier Bernard Cornfeld, former president of Investors Overseas Services, was found guilty of indecently assaulting a 19-year-old girl.

Cornfeld, 45, was fined $1,125. He admitted walking naked into the bedroom of Valli Davis and trying to make love to her, but denied charges of rape and causing her bodily harm. The prosecution accepted his plea and dropped the other two charges.

Miss Davis of Los Angeles was staying in Cornfeld's home in London's fashionable Mayfair district at the time.

She threw on the coat, ran barefoot into a street and escaped in a taxi, after struggling to get free from Cornfeld, the prosecution told the court.

Miss Davis had accepted a job at Cornfeld's villa near the border between France and Switzerland, the prosecution said. The defense countered, however, that Miss Davis had come to Europe to be Cornfeld's mistress.

The defense lawyer, Michael Ogden, also suggested that "the whole thing may have been a preconceived plot."

He said that after the incident the mother of Miss Davis had telephoned Cornfeld suggesting that a settlement could be arranged and that a lawyer for Miss Davis sought $25,000 to drop the case.

'Mother Of The Year'

By JO BRIGHT

There are as many choices of Mother of the Year as there are mothers. Doesn't every mother's child — particularly after they have left childhood behind — wish they had told "mom" how much they loved her?

Today, The Herald wishes happiness to every mother.

Each year, the Howard County Young Homemakers sponsor a Mother of the Year contest, with the winner receiving a corsage, movie tickets, dinner for two in a restaurant, memory book, gift certificate and a bracelet charm. Two runners-up receive the charms.

First place winner in this year's contest is Mrs. Helen Martin, wife of Col. Vaughn Martin and mother of four children — Debbie, 15; Gary, 13; Alan, 9; and Scottie, 5.

The winning letter, submitted by her family, said, in part:

"She is a very versatile and talented lady. In her role as housewife and mother, she exhibits skill and patience in the daily chores of cooking, disciplining and taxi-driving to school, church and Little League ball games. In spare time, she enjoys sewing, painting, singing and playing the piano and organ.

"Mom is very active in church work. She is the church organist and serves on the church finance committee at Berea Baptist Church. She teaches the College and Career Department and is very active in visitation and share groups. Mom also directs the youth choir at the church. Under her leadership, the choir has traveled to Abilene and Quita Que and has received a Division I rating in the College Baptist Music Festival.

"She works well with young people and sets a fine Christian example for all of us."

"Thus far, our mother's talents are much the same as everyone else's mother — but there is more, much more, to qualify her as Mother of the Year. Mom is always willing to listen and eager to help — no matter how small the problem is or what time of the day. She is a very warm, sincere person, and has a genuine interest in kids, not only her own, but the several that throng her house each day. She has the special God-given gift of making her house a home for everyone who comes there, adults and children alike.

"Mom always has time to laugh and smile and do things with us. She gives freely of her time and herself and her love. Being a true friend is one of her virtues, as well as being the epitome of motherhood. She's a mother first, last and always in all things. This is why we would like to nominate our mother for this honor, with the sincerest hope that God will take good care of her because we love her and, in our hearts, she'll always be first."

The letter was signed by Col. Martin, their four children and five young people who claim Mrs. Martin as their "adopted" mother.

MRS. TOM KINDER

Second Place Winner

Runner-up in the county-wide contest was Mrs. Tom (Ethel) Kinder of Coahoma. She has five children and the same number of grandchildren. The children are Mrs. Bob Looney, Loraine; Leonard Kinder and Ruel Kinder, both of Coahoma; Mrs. George Clark, Des Moines, Iowa; and Mrs. Stephen Berry, Big Spring, the latter having made the nomination. In the form of an open letter to her mother, Mrs. Berry wrote, in part:

"From the age of remembrance I have thought of you with total respect and honor. Never once have you failed me! Never once have you been too busy attending committee meetings or too engrossed in your bridge game to listen to my problems, however insignificant. The fact is, you never had time to learn bridge, and the only meetings you attended were functions of the church. You were always busy working to help support an ailing husband and five children.

"If you had to work, you said you'd like to be near the children, so you sought a job at the cafeteria; a job that was to span my entire twelve years of school! I remember how your very presence lifted my spirits each day as I went through the line, and I still recall your urging me to eat my spinach just as if we were at home.

"There was never any competition for your attention at home either. You loved us equally, and you gave to each of us a most treasured gift — yourself. What sacrifices you must have made to provide us with more than just the basic necessities.

"And oh, how we longed to please you; to make you proud. And you were. Your greatest ambition was to see all your children finish school, but times were hard, and you saw both your sons go to war. Outwardly, you were a tower of strength, but I still remember your quiet crying in the night. With your prayers, my brothers did return. There were to be many more emotional upheavals during our years at home, but you faced each one with dignity and strength, and your faith in us never wavered.

"We're all grown now, with homes of our own, yet your love continues to sustain us — and that giant wing that protected and nurtured us now enfolds our children as well.

"So, dear mother, if I let another year slip by without telling you just how much you mean to me, I pray you'll understand that these words are forever in my heart."

Third Place Winner

Todd Anderson is nine years old, and he has many reasons for wanting to nominate Mrs. Buddy Anderson of Coahoma as Mother of the Year. His efforts resulted in her being named second runner-up in the contest.

Todd's letter, laboriously printed on ruled notebook paper, said:

"My mom should be mother of the year because she's a Christian, and she takes good care of Dad and me and lets me go to bed at 9. She sees that I get my lessons, so I make good grades. She makes us good meals to please us.

"She's a very busy lady. She cleans, cooks, washes, irons. She works at the store, has a Bible class, helps at school parties and vacation Bible school. Lets me ride my bike in safe places. And loves me and daddy. My mother's name is Cynthia Anderson. She has one child. I'm nine years old. Her special talent is LOVE."

Mrs. Anderson, who works with her husband at the Little Sooper Market in Coahoma, teaches third and fourth grade children at the Coahoma Church of Christ. She helps her husband, a Cub Scout master, and Todd with their activities in that area, and she assists with Jaycee activities.

CHURCH RITES — Mr. and Mrs. Dyle Rice, 611 Runnels, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Carla, to Lee Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bennett of Coahoma. The wedding is planned for June 22 in the Baptist Temple.

A LOVELIER YOU Cottons Come Back In Feminine Colors

By MARY SUE MILLER Cottons and cotton blends are all-season fabrics. But summertime versions seem freshest. That is more than ever true of new day and casual collections. For one thing several beloved types of cotton fabric, missing from the scene for some years, are reappearing. There's lawn, dimity, batiste, dotted Swiss, chambray — all airy and feminine. If you're under 30 years old, you've probably not known those materials. Do have a go at them. They were your grandmother's stand-bys. And she was quite a girl, you know. Coming on even stronger than before are seersuckers, denims, men's shirts, piques, knits, eyelets and voiles. New treatments give them new looks. For instance you find eyelets on floral print backgrounds, denim with a sateen surface.

As for color, it encompasses baby pastels, clear brights and deep darks. Patterns range from small florals through shadowy checks to wide-open plaids. Plus dots and more dots. Meant merely as a sampling, here are some of the ways cottons have been fashioned into costumes: shirtdresses with drawstring waists, chemise sundresses, full-skirted sheers; shirt, skirt, vest and jacket combos — mixed or matched,

First recipients of the Periman Basin Pioneer award, by the Periman Historical Society, are Barney Hobbs, Pecos, long-time newspaperman and radio broadcaster; Judge William L. Kerr, Midland, attorney; and Mr. and Mrs. Tom McKnight, Odessa, philanthropists and civic leaders. John Dunahan, Monahan, president of the Society, made the presentations.

Although the oil development exhibit opens Monday at Heritage Museum part of the continuing exhibit will remain in place; principally the paintings of H. W. Caylor. Gerri Atwell, curator, wrote Dr. Ada L. Hatcher, who was read in Big Spring but has practiced medicine in California near Crescent City for the past two score years, and asked for a copy of her mystery novel about Big Spring in the oil boom days. She didn't have any more

1953 Graduates Plan Reunion

Members of the graduating class of 1953 at Big Spring High School are planning a 20th anniversary reunion at 7 p.m., June 30 at Big Spring Country Club. Friends and relatives of 1953 graduates are asked to contact either Mrs. Janice Rosson, 263-4033, or Mrs. Dene Sheppard, 267-5845. The women would like to have names and addresses of as many graduates as possible in order to inform them of the reunion. The affair will be a buffet dinner. Reservations will need to be made with Mrs. Rosson or Mrs. Sheppard by June 27.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise: One of the most useful items that I have in my house is a sturdy, lap-sized cardboard with a metal clip attached. The metal clip is the type with a hole in the top and can be purchased in any variety of office supply stores. In other words, I'm talking about a homemade clipboard.

I clip my material to the board and can hem, baste, make buttonholes by hand, put quilt pieces together, or put bias tape on pot holders. When I write letters, I clip my stationery to the board. While the clipboard is on your lap of course, you cannot cross your legs, you must keep your feet flat on the floor or the board won't balance.

I have a pretty piece of adhesive-backed paper on mine and when not in use, I hang it on the wall by the clip. The metal clip can also be used to hang notes on your door if you have to leave the house and want to leave a message for someone. . . . Mrs. Susie V. Duhon

Dear Heloise: When my expensive wrapping paper kept bursting out and tearing when I tried to wrap a bulky package, I used part of a gold paper drape I had on hand.

It worked so beautifully, that now I watch the summer sales and buy one or two pairs of appropriately colored paper drapes, and have attractive wrapping paper at a very economical price, that can be cut any size I wish. . . . Flossie Garner

Dear Heloise: Whenever I have any leftover biscuits, rolls, muffins etc. (even if there is just one left), I put them in a large plastic bag and freeze them. Not too many meals later, I treat my husband and four sons to a meal accompanied by a crazy variety of muffins. They love it and it's great for me — quick, easy and fun to eat.

P.S. — To all Moms: You may have to referee the fight over who gets the one and only blueberry muffin from the pack! . . . Penny Pinching Mom

This column is written for you . . . the housewife and homemaker. If you have a hint or a problem write to Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald. Because of the tremendous volume of mail, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will, however, answer your questions in her column whenever possible.

With Food Costs Soaring, Here Are Ways To Save

By STERRY MULLIN
County HD Agent

Plan before you shop. If possible, plan menus and shop for at least a week at a time. By planning ahead you can often save money by using leftovers in another day's meals. (Then you can call them planned-overs, not left overs!)

your family enjoys snacks, try to include them in your menu plans. Homemade snacks are usually less expensive than store-bought. When food dollars are limited it's very important for snacks to be nutritious. Homemade oatmeal cookies or peanut butter cookies with raisins and milk-based drinks, fruit juices and fruit drinks with vitamins added are good examples of wholesome snacks.

As you plan menus, check newspaper ads for weekly specials and sales, and for menu ideas. You can save money at sales if the store is nearby, if the food is of a good quality for your needs, if you have enough good places to keep it and if you can use all the food. Remember, you waste, not save money when you buy a sale item your family won't eat! Check local newspapers to find out which days grocery ads appear. Handbills and circulars handed out at the store also tell sale items.

Make a shopping list; write down items as you think of them through the week. Group the items by the order you find them in your store to save time and steps in the store. Take a pencil along and check off items as selected. Usually stick to your list, but if you find a better buy at the store, substitute. Write down prices and add them as you go through the store so you don't spend more money than you planned. Always check what's on hand before shopping.

Remember, non-food items are not part of your food bill. You might buy laundry supplies, cosmetics, hose or magazines in the supermarket, but you should keep these things separate from your food budget.

BUYING PLAN
Buy staples such as flour, sugar and corn meal only once or twice a month if possible. Most grocery products cost less per serving when you buy larger packages.

Become familiar with brand names so you can recognize price changes. A price increase in one brand might tell you to compare brands and perhaps switch to a lower-priced brand. (On the other hand, a price increase may indicate an increase in quality.) If the price goes down you might consider buying more if you have enough places to keep the food and if you can use all of it.

Compare costs of different forms of foods (fresh, frozen, canned, dried, etc.) To find the best buy, divide the price by the number of servings. The lower price per serving is the thriftiest choice. And if you want to buy foods already prepared by the manufacturer, like a frozen pizza, remember you will usually have to pay more than if you prepared the food yourself because the manufacturer has done much of the work for you.

Prices of fresh fruits and vegetables change with the seasons. Buy seasonal fresh foods when most plentiful in your area.

Read labels to learn quality, size and weight of food products. You do not need to buy fancy grades of canned fruits and vegetables, especially for stews, soups, fruit cobblers or pies. Lower grades are just as nutritious, the flavor is often just as good and the price usually lower. What is different about lower grade foods? It may be color (as in tomatoes or peas), size and uniformity of pieces, broken pieces (as in peach slices) or tenderness.

When possible buy by weight rather than volume, package size or number for better comparison of values. For example, buy fresh produce by the pound and compare weights of loaves of bread, not sizes or volumes of loaves.

When buying meats, cost per serving — not cost per pound — is the best measure of value. For example, a boneless pot roast gives more servings than a bone-in pot roast and the cost per serving may be less even though the cost per pound is higher.

SUBSTITUTE
For cooking and baking use dry milk or evaporated milk mixed with water. If your family doesn't like to drink this milk, try mixing it half-and-half with fresh milk from the store. Reconstituted dry milk or diluted evaporated milk can be used in any recipe that calls for milk.

When recipes call for butter or margarine you may want to use the more economical margarine. Butter and margarine contain the same calories and nutritional values, and will give the same baking results.

Shop for foods that are good sources of the important nutrients. Buy as many of these as your budget allows, in the greatest variety possible. Variety in foods and meals is the best way to make sure your diet is nutritionally well balanced.

If possible, eat before you go shopping. If you go to the store hungry you may buy things you don't need and spend more money than you planned.

Shop alone, if possible. Other family members will encourage extra buying.

FUTURE BRIDE — Mrs. Jeanne Striegler, Holiday Inn Apartments, announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Kelli Lynn, to Alan Peters, son of Mrs. Charles Ginn, Big Spring, and Billy Peters, Carlisbad, N.M. The future bride is the daughter of Mark Striegler of Austin. A June 17 wedding is planned.

Coffee Set For RSVP Volunteers

A coffee honoring participants in the Retired Senior Volunteer Program and volunteer station supervisors is slated from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, Monday in First Federal Community Room.

The event is being sponsored by the RSVP office, Miss Nancy Easley is program director, and Mrs. Nancy Hendricks is the assistant. Mrs. Larson Lloyd, volunteer coordinator at the Big Spring State Hospital, will preside at the guest registry. Approximately 100 persons are expected to attend.

There are nearly 50 persons now active in RSVP, including residents of Big Spring, Lamesa and Colorado City. They offer assistance at numerous 'stations' including Big Spring State Hospital, Veterans Administration Hospital, Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, Howard County Library and the Salvation Army, all in Big Spring; nursing homes, senior community center, day care center and mental health clinic, all in Lamesa; and a nursing home and mental health clinic in Colorado City.

The program is federally funded, but will be locally supported within five years.

Hospital Award Goes To Psychiatric Aide

One of the highlights of the annual awards banquet Friday honoring employees of Big Spring State Hospital was the presentation of a gold pin and Certificate of Achievement signifying the selection as Psychiatric Aide of the Year.

This year the honor went to Mrs. Annie Frances Johnson. Mrs. Johnson was nominated for this honor by a committee of fellow employees and the final determination of eligibility and approval was made by the Texas Association of Mental Hospitals Awards Committee in conjunction with the National Association for Mental Health.

Mrs. Johnson, who joined the staff of the hospital in October 1970, is the former Annie Frances Harrison and attended school in Sparkman, Ark. In 1954, she was selected by the New Homemakers of America to go to Washington, D.C., and Norfolk, Va., to represent the Sparkman Training School. She has also attended Midland Junior College.

Mrs. Johnson was a part of the Head Start staff for four years. Since joining the staff of the State Hospital, Mrs. Johnson was named outstanding ABE teacher in December 1972.

Mrs. Johnson and her husband, Ullis, have four children; Vicky, 13; Gerald, 12; David, 7; and Stanly, 2. The family is active in the Northwest Third Street

Church of Christ. Criteria for selection of the candidate for the Psychiatric Aide Award includes attitudes, abilities and job performance most representative of the collective advancements rendered by the entire aide group toward the better ward care and well being of their patients during the first year.

New 'Roommate'

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A long-time friend has been sharing my apartment during the week while working in the city. (We're both male.) He was returning to his country home and wife on weekends. This arrangement probably contributed to their present marital status — legal separation.

To my dismay, my roommate has invited his wife to occupy his vacant room at my apartment when he is out of town on frequent business trips.

The wife seems to thrive on this new urban atmosphere. She invited her country bumpkin friends as well as her new fellow-shrink patients for group therapy sessions in the apartment.

I am losing my mind over this arrangement. How do you feel about an estranged wife filling in as a roommate during her husband's absence? ANONYMOUS

DEAR ANONYMOUS: I think your friend had a lot of gall offering his wife the use of YOUR apartment in his absence, and the wife has her nerve abusing the privilege. I also think you are a gutless wonder for permitting it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a senior in high school, 17, and pregnant. My boy friend and I love each other and we want to get married. Our problem is we can't find a minister who will marry us and we want to get married in a church.

Neither one of us belongs to a church, but we do believe in God. Abby, we have gone to three churches and the ministers there have refused to marry us because we don't belong to THEIR church. Since when does a church belong to the minister?

Please tell us where to go. We want to get married as soon as possible without causing our parents any more heartache than they'll naturally have when they find out about this.

S. AND J.
DEAR S. AND J.: I am sure I can find a clergyman

Washable Jeans Are Popular

It may be difficult to find young men still decked out in the bleached, faded denim and workshirts that were the rage of recent years.

Whether they are finishing up the school year, looking for a job or making career progress, they have acquired a neater, layered look with sweaters and the new "dress" jeans — a smoothed-up cousin of the grubby denims.

Usually cuffed, these pants are cut baggy. A favorite pants pattern is plaid, and the favorite materials are synthetics and synthetic-natural blends. They are all machine washable and dryable, and most require no ironing.

who will perform the ceremony, but you are not to know where you are and how I can contact you. In the meantime, I suggest you tell your parents at once. No matter what you think, they are your best friends in time of trouble.

DEAR ABBY: After 25 years of gambling, losing a small fortune, then losing my wife and family because of it, I was ready to commit suicide. Then I joined GAMBLERS ANONYMOUS. It gave me a new lease on life.

My wife gave me another chance and I am happy to say that I will never bet another dollar on anything as long as I live. That's a big statement for a man to make who has bet horses, dogs, dice, cards, sports — you name it, I had money on it. I've begged, borrowed and mortgaged my soul to get money to gamble with. I've known people who have forged checks and embezzled hundreds of thousands of dollars to pay their losses and when they're even, they gamble more.

I wish every compulsive gambler in the world would attend just one GAMBLERS ANONYMOUS meeting. It could save his life. It saved mine.

CURED IN SAN FRANCISCO
DEAR CURED: I heard about GAMBLERS ANONYMOUS 10 years ago, and although I'm no gambler, I took a chance and attended some meetings anonymously in New York and Los Angeles to check them out. It was an inspiration to see cab drivers, stock brokers, school teachers, entertainers, businessmen, musicians, bartenders, and socialites all joined together to overcome a common enemy — the urge to gamble. For information about the G. A. meetings nearest you, write to P. O. Box 17173, Los Angeles, California, 90017. You can't lose. It's free.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69708, Los Angeles, Calif. 90068. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Auxiliary Gets Holiday Greetings

Several Easter cards from former local residents and members of the Ladies Auxiliary to United Transportation Union were read when the group met Friday at the IOOF Hall. Mrs. G. C. Ragsdale was hostess. Serving as pro-tem officers were Mrs. C. G. Barnett, president; Mrs. S. V. Jordan, conductress; Mrs. B. N. Ralph, chaplain; and Mrs. M. A. Lumpkin, past president. The next meeting will be at 2 p.m., June 8 at the IOOF Hall.

Shower Fetes Mrs. D. Valdes

Mrs. Danny Valdes was honored with a surprise pink and blue shower Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Robert F. Penner, 2610 Carol.

Decorations for the event were done in mint green and yellow. A white lace cloth with a satin, floor-length skirt covered the refreshment table which was centered with an arrangement of yellow daisies, babies'-breath and greenery around a white stork.

Refreshments included a cake made in the shape of a bassinet and decorated with confection flowers in green and yellow. Nut and mint holders shaped like diapers served as favors. Lime punch was served from a crystal bowl, and other appointments were of silver.

Mrs. Valdes was attired in a yellow, floor-length knit dress styled with a rounded neckline and long sleeves. She was presented a corsage of baby socks in the form of roses, and accented with yellow leaves, pacifier and safety pins. Hostesses and members of the house party also wore baby sock corsages.

About 50 guests were registered. Calling hours were from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Cohostesses were Mrs. J. R. Corbell, Mrs. Al Valdes, Mrs. Bill Grace, Mrs. Paul Malone, Mrs. David Haught, Mrs. Joe Pickle, Mrs. Merry Jo Bright, Mrs. Louis Tallant and Mrs. Ken Lord.

Also assisting in the house party, were the honoree's daughter, Miss Ileana Valdes, and her niece, Miss Kathy Valdes, both attired in long gowns.

Teacher Is Honored At Retirement Dinner

Mrs. Dora Ruth Carter was honored Thursday evening with a "Dutch Treat" dinner at Furr's Cafeteria by friends and co-workers. Cohostesses were Mrs. Broocke Eubank, Mrs. Adron Welch and Mrs. Clayton Hicks. The occasion was in celebration of Mrs. Carter's coming retirement on May 31, after 36 years of service in the teaching profession.

She was attired in a caftan fashioned of white silk having a red and blue floral design. Her accessories were white, and she was presented a corsage.

Gift certificates were presented to her by friends of Marcy Elementary School where Mrs. Carter has taught for the past 11 years. Her previous teaching experience was six years in Cass County and 19 years in the Texarkana

Spring Fashions Suit Personality

The suit is big news for spring. But the look is so individual when you add the shirt, sweater or halter worn underneath the jacket. White linen suits allow for colorful tops that perk up the outfit when the jacket is unbuttoned.

Independent School District

She received her degrees from East Texas State University. At the time she received her master's degree, she was also certified in these areas of specialization: principal, elementary, administrator, and superintendent.

However, she always chose to work directly with children.

Mrs. Carter is active in civic, social and religious affairs of the community. She is a member of the First Baptist Church, working with the Bykota Sunday School Class. She is a member of the American Association of University Women, the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, and Alpha Delta Kappa, national honorary sorority. In the latter organization, she was given a life membership, having served as president of the Texas Alpha Zeta Chapter.

Her professional memberships are the Texas State Teachers Association, National Education Association and Texas Classroom Association.

Mrs. Carter's plans for the future include more travel, sewing, painting, reading, gardening and some worthy volunteer work.

Korean Woman Is Club Guest

Mrs. Yungkee Lee of Korea was a guest when International Women's Club met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Clifford Martinez, 2708 Ann. The attendance prize was won by Mrs. Charles Sharland. The group will meet again at 8 p.m., June 13 in the home of Mrs. Elke Dickinson, 2716 Cindy.

Miss Debra L. Smith COMING Weds Gary W. Hise EVENTS

Miss Debra Lynne Smith and Gary Wayne Hise exchanged nuptial vows Saturday afternoon at College Baptist Church. The Rev. Jimmy Law, pastor, performed the rites. The couple stood before a heart-shaped archway adorned with greenery and white doves. The arch was flanked by candelabra and centered with a sunburst of gladioli and roses.

Wedding music was provided by Miss Janette Nichols, Knott, organist; Miss Valerie Jackson, Andrews, pianist; and Mrs. Darrell Jackson, vocalist.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Earl Smith, 2610 Lynn, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hise, Gail Route.

WHITE SATIN

The bride wore a formal-length gown fashioned in white bridal satin with overlay of organza. A band of lace outlined the empire bodice, and matching lace edged the cuffs of full, sheer sleeves and the V-neckline. A sheer yoke extended to a lace collar, and lace edged the scalloped hemline. Appliqued flowers highlighted the gown and cathedral train. Her waist-length veil fell from a cluster of lace petals outlined with pearls, and she carried a cascade of white carnations centered with an orchid.

Mrs. Coy McCann, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Mrs. Terry White, Midland, was bridesmatron, and serving as bridesmaids were Miss Susanne Tyler, Midland; Miss Marianne Williams and Miss Lisa Burns.

The bridal attendants wore coral floor-length empire gowns styled with sheer puffed sleeves, high collars and accents of white lace. They carried nosegays of coral carnations tied with white picot ribbon. Andrea Burns, flower girl, wore a dress similar to the other attendants.

Serving as best man was Jimmy Johnson. Groomsman were Hank Pope, Davie Poe, David Profit and Kelly Guinn. The bride's brother, Kenneth Smith, was the usher, and Brad Jenkins was ring bearer.

The newlyweds are making their home in the Knott community. Both are graduates of Big Spring High School. Hise attended Howard County Junior College, and is currently employed by Western Yamaha.

Mr. and Mrs. Hise were honored at a reception in the church fellowship hall immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of assorted spring flowers and greenery. Crystal appointments were used. A tiered cake was topped with miniature wedding bells. The bridegroom's table was laid with an orange cloth and appointed with bronze. An orange candle encircled with flowers centered the table, and German chocolate cake

Wedding Rites Held In Episcopal Church

TO MARRY — Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. McElrath, San Angelo, formerly of Big Spring, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Patricia Ann, to David O. Wallace. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer O. Wallace, Palacios. The wedding is set for June 22 at Johnson Street Church of Christ, San Angelo. The future bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. Orena Henderson, Big Spring.

Wedding vows were exchanged at six o'clock Friday evening by Miss Judith Susan Conley and James Raymond Kelch in St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Harlan Birdwell as the couple stood before an altar flanked by baskets of white gladioli and greenery. A prelude of traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Donna Wallace, organist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerley D. Conley, 614 Colgate, and Kelch is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Kelch of Logan, Ohio.

The bride chose a formal-length gown of white bridal satin overlaid with organza. A band of eyelet lace and velvet ribbon outlined the empire bodice which featured a square neckline also outlined in eyelet lace. Long, full sleeves enhanced the gown. Her waist-length tulle veil fell from a Camelot caplet, and she carried a bouquet of white sweetheart roses and stephanotis.

MRS. JAMES RAYMOND KELCH

Attendants Miss Kathleen Marita Conley served her sister as maid of honor. Her blue floor-length gown of satin and organza was styled identically to the bride's except that it featured short sleeves. She wore a blue Dior bow as a headpiece. James Richard Conley, the bride's brother, was best man, and ushers were Gene Guiffre and John Nestico, both of Webb Air Force Base.

Refreshments were served at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table was covered with a white cloth and edged with lace. Appointments were of crystal and silver, and a tiered cake was topped with miniature wedding bells. Chocolate cake was served at the bridegroom's table which was laid with a light blue cloth with lace accents. Bronze appointments were used.

by Mrs. Robert Fuller, Mrs. James Lancaster, Mrs. P. T. Wickline, Miss Cecelia Coffey, Miss Brenda Webb and Miss Phyllis Holland, the latter of Midland.

Attending the wedding from out of town were Dr. Mike Conley, Salt Lake City, Utah, brother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. James Willis, Melrose, N.M., grandparents of the bride; and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Holland, Midland.

FHA Girls Install Slate At Ackerly

The Future Homemakers of America chapter at Sands School, Ackerly, held an installation ceremony and style show Thursday evening in the school auditorium.

A highlight of the program of the introduction of "Secret Grans", older persons in the community whom the FHA members had chosen as secret "grandparents". During the year, each girl secretly provided such things as cards and gifts to the older persons. As the "Secret Grans" were recognized, each woman was presented a long-stemmed red rose, and each man received a carnation boutonniere.

New officers are Kayla Gaskins, president; Elaine Martin, vice president; Sherry Riddle, secretary; Kay Wells, treasurer; Sherree Shaw, reporter; historian; Kay Hunt, parliamentarian; and Kelly Zant, recreational officer.

After the program refreshments of homemade ice cream and cookies were served, and guests toured the home economics rooms and viewed the year's projects.

Club Completes Quilt For Needy

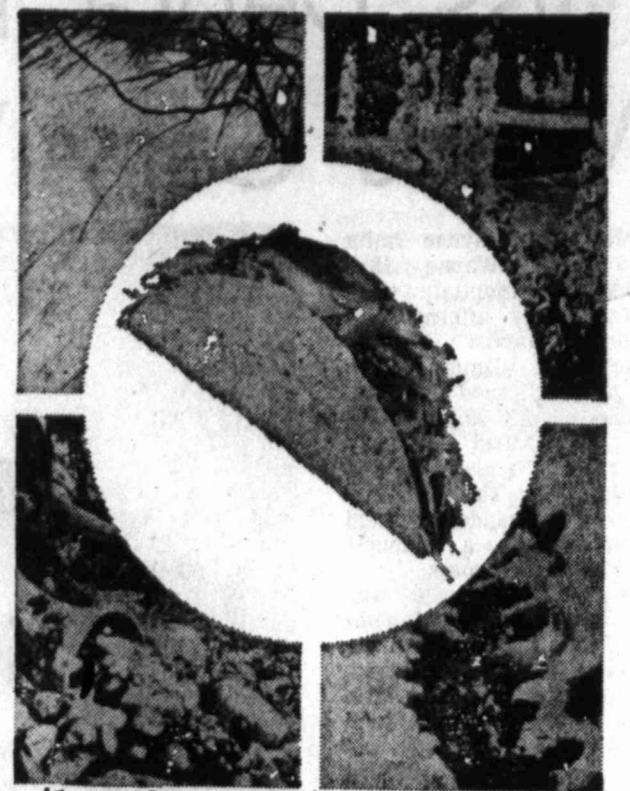

Mrs. S. R. Nobles, 405 Washington, was hostess Wednesday afternoon for a meeting of the Sew and Chatter Club. During the afternoon, the women tackled a quilt which will be included in a Thanksgiving or Christmas basket for a needy family. Work on another quilt continued.

Members turned in 10 dozen cancer bandages which will be collected by Mrs. Clyde E. Thomas, representing the American Cancer Society. According to Mrs. Thomas there are seven local cancer patients who need the bandages at the present time.

Refreshments were served as the women celebrated the birthday of Mrs. Bill McIlvain. Mrs. Hazel Adcock, sister of Mrs. C. M. Weaver, was a guest.

Community HD Clubs Elect Slates For Next Club Year

Area home demonstration clubs elected new officers at meetings held during the week. Most clubs are preparing to wind up the year's activities in preparation for the summer months.

CENTER POINT CLUB
Mrs. Bob Wren was re-elected president of Center Point HD Club Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Nannie Garrett, 602 E. 16th.

Other officers elected for a second term were Mrs. W. L. Eggleston, vice president; Mrs. J. R. Petty, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. James Petty, council delegate.

A demonstration of bread dough flowers was given by Mrs. James Petty and Mrs. J. R. Petty. The flowers are made with a mixture of sliced bread, glycerin, white glue, shoe polish and acid. The speakers showed how to mold and display the arrangements, and each member attempted to make a design.

Two new members were introduced, Mrs. C. K. Orr and Mrs. Faye Nixon. Mrs. Glen Earhart was a guest. Members agreed to give $12 to the back-of-the-month-club at Big Spring State Hospital. Activity surveys for the past six months were completed by members.

In other business, Mrs. J. C. Williams was nominated for the county Texas HD Association chairman for the 1973-1974 club year. Also, Mrs. Wren was named a nominee for delegate to the Texas state convention in September in Waco.

It was announced that Mrs. Myram Currie, Midland, will present a food workshop on salads at 2 p.m., Monday in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room. The event is open to all HD Club members. The monthly luncheon for senior citizens will begin at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday in the county fair barn.

A "make, bake and grow" exchange will be held at the next meeting, 2 p.m., May 22 in the home of Mrs. H. M. Haygood, 105 N. Wasson. A program will be presented by Mrs. Alden Ryan, 4-H chairman.

COAHOMA CLUB
The conflict between communism and freedom is the problem of our times, and it overshadows all other problems," said Cindy Parrish, guest speaker Wednesday for Coahoma HD Club.

Miss Parrish is a student at Coahoma High School and attended a recent citizenship seminar in Waco. She spoke in the home of Mrs. Jim Meadows. "The conflict mirrors our age," continued Miss Parrish. "It mirrors the toils, the tension and the tasks, and the outcome of the conflict decides the future of all mankind."

"America is great and America is good. When it ceases to be great, it also ceases to be good," concluded Miss Parrish. She said the life of the land is preserved in righteousness, and that without righteousness in the heart, there will be no peace with man.

Mrs. A. C. Hale presided and appointed a nominating committee composed of Mrs. Ray Swann, Mrs. D. S. Phillips and Mrs. Lowell Brown. It was announced a program on salads will be given at 2 p.m., Monday in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room.

Mrs. Meadows, organist, accompanied the group in singing. Guests were Mrs. Mark Barr, Mrs. James Barr, Mrs. R. A. Foster and Mrs. Jim Hodnett, all of Vincent, and Mrs. Dovie Britton and Miss Parrish, Coahoma.

The next meeting will be at 9 a.m., June 13 in the home of Mrs. Lynn Glass.

LEES CLUB
"Our Environment and Ecology" was the program topic explored Tuesday by Miss Victor Gene Hughes, Glasscock County HD agent, for Lees HD Club at the home of Mrs. Lynn Glass.

Miss Hughes read excerpts from the book, "Disaster Lobby," which details various programs being used to improve the environment. She said people have abused the land for many years, but are now becoming aware of the dangers and are trying to improve conditions.

Miss Hughes, who is getting married in June and moving to South Carolina, was presented a gift on behalf of club members.

Mrs. Glass was re-elected as president of the club, to serve for the 1973-1974 club year. Assisting her will be Mrs. Benny Blissard, vice president; Mrs. Gary Seidenberger, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. J. L. Overton, council delegate; Mrs. Joe Gardner, 4-H leader; Mrs. J. J. Overton, reporter.

It was announced a Texas HD Association meeting is scheduled Sept. 19-21 in Waco, and Mrs. Gene Smith was named club delegate, with Mrs. Glass as alternate.

Mrs. Glass presided, and yearbook suggestions were turned in to Mrs. V. E. Phillips. Each member received a THDA handbook. The next meeting will be at 8 p.m., May 30 in the Lees-Drumright Community Center.

CITY CLUB
Mrs. B. F. Mabe was hostess Friday for a picnic meeting of City HD Club at

Moss Creek Lake. She also gave the devotion, and Mrs. Frances Zant read the poem, "Consider the Earth."

An orange and yellow floral cloth was used on the picnic table, and members gathered wild flowers to form the centerpiece. The group will meet again at 2 p.m., May 25 in the home of Mrs. C. G. Miller, 2208 Merrily.

Widow Inherits Secret Fortune

MANCHESTER, England — Harry Taylor never earned more than $30 a week during his working years as a welder, but he never failed to bring his wife Esther a bouquet once a week even after he retired.

Now that he has died at the age of 87, he has left her the surprise of her life; a $1.5 million fortune. "I knew that he dabbled in stocks, but I never dreamed that he had accumulated that much," said Mrs. Taylor, 85. "Harry always had the happy, magic touch."

Bride-Elect Honored At Shower

Miss Lesa Bruton, bride-elect of Nathan Baker, was honored at a bridal shower Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Don Myers, Sand Springs.

The honoree was attired in a blue, street-length dress and was presented a corsage of white carnations. Her mother, Mrs. Charles Bruton, and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs.

Women's Words More Frequent

Audie Baker, were given corsages of white and blue carnations. Refreshments were served from a table covered with a white lace cloth and centered with blue candles in crystal holders and surrounded by rice.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Joe Awtry, Mrs. Alton Fields, Mrs. Delma Hall, Mrs. Louise Helfin, Mrs. Ronny Reid, Mrs. Bill Tucker, Mrs. Charles Summers and Mrs. Dalton Conway.

Miss Bruton and Baker will be married June 15 at Sand Springs Baptist Church.

If you say women are gabblier than men, you're not just talking through your hat, according to a researcher who has been counting their words.

The average business man speaks 11,580 words a day, but his wife speaks 12,620. Dr. Karel Muncik of Prague, who is writing a book on the subject, told the National Enquirer. A waitress spoke 12,900 words a day, a policeman 10,660, a soldier 7,800, a priest 3,420 and a monk 860 words.

Jerry Merricks Announce Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Merrick, Route 1, Box 147, Ackerly, announce the birth of a son, Robert Bryan, at 4:38 p.m., May 8 in Medical Center Memorial Hospital. The infant weighed 6 pounds and 13 ounces.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Askins, 608 Linda Lane, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Merrick of Ackerly. Clyde Jones of Snyder is maternal great-grandfather, and paternal great-grandmother is Mrs. Flarra Merrick, Andrews.

R A MOTHER'S DAY THOUGHT

How do you best describe Mom? All the songs that have been written do not really express how wonderful she is. For, to each of us there is a something so special about our own mother that nobody else's words can say it for us.

If one special attribute above all others had to be chosen it would certainly have to be the seemingly infinite capacity to soothe and comfort her dear ones when they are ill. At these times she never seems to get tired or cross and is always right there with a comforting word and your medicine. We consider it our privilege in this pharmacy to help Mom.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

Important To Region

Word from Rep. Renal Rosson, who represents this district and was the only West Texan named to the joint House-Senate conference committee on appropriations, that funds will be provided for evaluating weather modification efforts in this area is encouraging. The committee report, of course, must first be approved by the two legislative bodies, then signed by Gov. Dolph Briscoe. Knowing how important water is to this area of the state, we cannot believe that he would even consider bludgeoning the item.

For the third consecutive year, the Colorado River Municipal Water District has financed a weather modification project. Essentially, this involves the seeding of thermal or storm clouds in an effort to induce or increase rain from them. Considerable data has been obtained, but results may be obtained only in relation to "normal," or the "usual," whatever they are.

If the state does provide funds for the study ($100,000 for each of two years), this will mean that the evaluation may be approached on a more intensive scientific basis. Likely, some of the operations would be conducted on a controlled experimental basis for side-by-side comparison of reactions. Also, with sophisticated equipment and experts assimilating vastly more data, a far clearer picture of cloud dynamics could emerge. Finally, if the state does provide the evaluation on funds, it also appears logical that the Colorado River Municipal Water District, which is now in its third year of sponsoring weather modification, will extend its program at least through 1975 to cover the biennium.

In short, what this boils down to is trying to find out if weather modification produces the type of results that justify the expense, and to what extent rainfall might reasonably be expected to increase.

Just recently the U.S. Corps of Engineers said that the proposed water importation proposal for the High Plains fell far, far short of meeting its criteria, returning less than 25 cents for every dollar invested. That may be modified, but unless and until it does, West Texas needs urgently to look elsewhere for increasing its water availability. Where better to look than the skies, and to determine if nudging nature pays off?

'Falling Down'

The Capitol of the United States is falling down. That's not a parody of Chicken Little; it really is and has been for more than six years.

The old West Wall was propped up with timbers in 1967 until Congress could decide whether to restore the 1793 wall or remove it and build an extension. Divided between the restorers and the rebuilders, the debate hasn't been resolved yet.

There is some comfort in knowing that the debate was resumed this session, amid Watergate, et al. At least Congress is still aware that its building is collapsing, even if it hasn't done anything about it.

Maybe so. But I have a hunch they're the next civilization — probably more advanced than we are — and they come up periodically to see if the time has come for them to take over.

I predict they'll go back underground at least one more time. — But 17 years from now, it may be another story.

Line Of Singers

WASHINGTON — The reason why the Watergate case has broken open is that everyone involved is leaking to the press to save their own skins.

I WORK in a building on Pennsylvania Avenue which also includes the offices of the Boston Globe, Newsweek magazine, Newhouse Newspapers, the Dallas Times Herald, the Kansas City Star and the Chicago Tribune.
The other morning when I arrived there was a long line outside the building composed of people implicated in the Watergate affair. The line ran around the block.

A POLICEMAN stopped me at the door and said, "Get in the back of the line, Mac, like everybody else. Some of these people have been waiting all night to tell their stories to the press."

"I'm not a suspect in the Watergate case, Officer, I'm a newspaperman going up to my office."

Some people in the line heard me and tried to shove documents at me.

"Let's have none of that," the cop said to the crowd. "You can show him your documents when you get inside."

ONE MAN, a former White House aide, shouted, "I can tell you the whole story on the Ellsberg break-in."

Another man said, "He doesn't know anything. I've got Ellsberg's psychiatrist's couch hidden in my home."

Someone down the line said, "Don't listen to him. I have a blockbuster of a story. Howard Hunt and G. Gordon Liddy wrote Clifford Irving's book about Howard Hughes."

Someone else yelled, "I have the names of everyone who contributed a million dollars to the Committee for the Re-Election of the President. Give me a break. I've been waiting since 6 o'clock last night to leak it."

"I'm sorry," I said to the man, "but I don't write that kind of story. Why don't you leak it to Jack Anderson?"

"You can't get near his office," the man said. "I waited two days to leak it to him and I never got closer than a block away."

THE POLICE officer said to me, "I wish you wouldn't stand out here, sir. These people are desperate and I don't want a riot."

A man slipped me $5,000 in new $100 bills. "Take me upstairs with you to Newsweek's office and I'll give you another $5,000." The offer was tempting, but I gave the man his money back.

"I CAN'T understand why all you people are so desperate to talk to the press," I said to several of the people, all former White House aides.

"You dummy," one of them shouted. "If we implicate others then we can get immunity from prosecution. The public will know we were just little fish in a big stagnant pool."

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

All my friends say I'm a gifted person, yet I seem never to get a break. I'm a musician and entertainer, and I long to be famous and wealthy. I've got to find my place in the sun and it must be prominent. You're famous. Maybe you can share the secret.

P.A. Horace Mann, the great educator, was quoted as saying "If any man seeks for greatness, let him forget greatness and ask for truth, and he will find both." That is good advice for you.

First, let me say for myself, that I was more surprised than anyone when my name began appearing in newspapers and magazines. I did nothing to promote myself. It just happened — or rather, let me say, it was an "act of God." I believe that whatever popularity has been credited to me, it would all dissolve and disappear if I failed to put God first — in everything.

You had better study history. It shows an amazing ricochet effect in goals and achievements. In other words, you aim at one thing, and get another. Dr. Salk aimed at a cure for infantile paralysis and achieved fame as a benefactor of mankind. Edison experimented to fantastic lengths and to the extreme of physical endurance to achieve his goal of an incandescent lamp. His subsequent fame was a by-product.

You've just got the wrong focal point. Don't concentrate on self and give them to you, if you give Him first place in your life.

see what He has in store for you. Aim at the success of His Gospel, and your own success will follow. Not monetarily necessarily but in terms of happiness and high purpose. Said our Lord of the good qualities that men seek "The heavenly Father will give them to you, if you give Him first place in your life."

Slightly Off Base

William F. Buckley Jr.

The "New York Times" has published on its Op-Ed page a statement about Mr. Nixon and Watergate by the junior senator from New York James L. Buckley which would better not have seen the light of day, however noble the impulses of the author. Its analytical thread is that the kind of thing being said about Richard Nixon transforms "the traditional, healthy skepticism of the American electorate" into a "morbid cynicism."

REALLY, I think it hard to justify that allegation. It is perfectly true that there are a few Americans — one thinks of the sick set in New York City, the same set that applauded a play in 1967 whose thesis was that Lyndon Johnson had murdered John F. Kennedy — who would gladly believe that Richard Nixon was the man who set fire to San Francisco and loosed the dikes at Johnstown. But it isn't these days who are raising questions about the character of Mr. Nixon's involvement in Watergate and attendant skulduggery.

C. Dickerman Williams, the eminent lawyer and scholar, published 15 years ago a monograph on the Fifth Amendment in which he devastatingly rebutted the then fashionable notion that no invidious references of any sort were to be drawn from the pleadings of the Fifth Amendment. Those were the days when Congressional committees were routinely asking people whether they had been members of the Communist party, and when people routinely declined to answer, sheltering themselves behind the Fifth Amendment. It was Mr. Williams' point that it is one thing to permit someone to take the Fifth Amendment, another to ask that the community interpret a defendant's silence under such circumstances as meaningless.

THE FACT of the matter is that President Nixon has, in effect, taken the Fifth Amendment. He has not volunteered to answer questions put to him by, say, Sen. Ervin. He has gone further and put fetters on members of his staff who are scheduled to appear before Sen. Ervin and are even now appearing before grand juries, by advising them they are not to report on any conversations with anyone else concerning the President, or on any conversations with the President.

I have said it until I am blue in the face that in my opinion Mr. Nixon ought not to be impeached even if he is established to have had knowledge of Watergate before March, but it does not follow from that judgment based on the superordination of the health of the state over the demands of individual justice, that Mr. Nixon's behavior is anything less than contemptuous.

AND IT is preposterous to assume that a public 50 per cent of which (according to Gallup) believes that Nixon is hiding things should be accused of a morbid cynicism.

For Sen. Buckley to go on and on about Richard Nixon's accomplishments is a bad case of ignoratio elenchi, and did one not know the purity of the junior senator's heart, one might suspect that it was morbidly cynical depression. The man who sat in judgment on Oscar Wilde did not deny his extraordinary literary achievements. But their assignment, at a given moment in history, was to judge him innocent or guilty of a particular breach of the law. If it had been established that in March, 1865, Abraham Lincoln sold oil and easements in Alaska to his brother-in-law, it would not have undone the magnificence of the Gettysburg Address or lessened the quality of his compression. Enough of that.

SEN. BUCKLEY urges "all Americans to give the President the support he needs and deserves in this troubled time." A proper modification of that sentiment is that all Americans should give the country the support it needs and deserves in this troubled time, and that support in my judgment requires us to reject impeachment as a convulsive expedient.

Economy In Rocky Waters

The Week's Business

NEW YORK (AP) — It was a gloomy week for the American economy as gold prices soared, the dollar declined, the Federal discount rate was raised and inflation in general appeared to be gaining.

The U.S. dollar dropped sharply in Europe's key monetary centers on Friday and the price of gold soared to new highs. Dealers in London and Zurich, the world's biggest markets, predicted that gold prices would continue to increase Monday and reach the once-unbelievable level of $100 an ounce.

Gold closed Friday at $96.75 an ounce, a dollar up from Thursday, in Zurich, and $96.45 in London, a $1.40 rise from Thursday.

UNCERTAINTY Dealers attributed it to general uncertainty and worry over future trade relations, continuing inflation and uncertainties in the Middle East.

The Federal Reserve Bank announced Thursday it was raising its 6 per cent discount rate to 5 1/2 per cent, its first increase in interest rate on loans it charges member commercial banks.

This rise, combined with the recent increase in the prime rate — the interest rates banks charge their most favored large customers — was seen by economists as indicating a possible credit crunch.

U.S. Steel, the nation's largest steel producer, raised prices on sheet and strip steel, the most widely used steel products, as of June 15 by an average of 4.8 per cent. It was the first price hike in steel in 17 months.

AND WAGES, TOO Teamster wage negotiations also added to inflation worries.

"We're going to negotiate our contract and then we'll see what the government says," said Teamsters President Frank Fitzsimmons.

The union demanded wage hikes totaling $1.50 an hour over three years as well as a package of benefits for the 400,000 Teamsters. The total package appeared to put the increases above 15 per cent. The Nixon administration has established a 5.5 per cent guideline on wages plus 7 per cent for fringes.

Major wage settlements in the first three months of this year averaged about 5.3 per cent, compared to the 8 per cent represented by the Teamsters' wage demand alone.

A steady stream of banks announced this week they would follow last Friday's decision by several major banks to hike the prime rate from 6 1/4 per cent to 7 per cent.

OIL PARLEY FLOPS In the oil crisis, talks in Tripoli between the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) and the major oil companies ended in failure.

Word came from Saigon that the South Vietnamese government presented a model contract to 27 companies it had selected to bid on offshore oil drilling concessions. A high-ranking government source said the companies — American, French, British, Dutch, Japanese, Canadian and Australian — were asked to submit their bids before July 2.

The Senate Interior Committee approved a bill this week which would authorize President Nixon to ration crude oil and refined petroleum products, including gasoline. The government says there is no area of the country where drivers are unable to buy gasoline, despite the closing of another 220 service stations.

ALASKA PIPELINE The Alaska Pipeline took a tiny step forward this week as the Senate Interior Committee voted to let the government authorize immediate approval of that line. Giving less priority to an alternate Canadian route, the provision would allow Nixon to start "early negotiations" with Canada on the possibility of such a second pipeline to the Midwest.

The United Rubber Workers struck seven B. F. Goodrich plants this week. The union rejected an economic proposal that Goodrich said was better than the new labor agreement signed at Goodyear.

In other developments: —The nation's Big Four automakers said they would not challenge the relaxed auto emission standards for 1975 set by the Environmental Protection Agency.

—Bicycle safety standards which might drive some cheaply made models off the market and raise average bike prices by $4 to $5 were issued by the Food and Drug Administration.

—A 5 per cent unemployment rate continued last month as in March, but that was off sharply from April 1972's 5.8 per cent.

—The amount of this type of arthritis seems to be increasing rapidly, which sounds reasonable enough since we already know, beyond any doubt, that venereal disease is spreading out of control.

If the disease is treated soon enough, it stops both the gonorrhea and the arthritis, but the unhappy aspect is that it is much more prevalent in women than in men. This is because, as I've pointed out often in this column, gonorrhea most of the time is promptly obvious in males, but may go undetected in females.

Dr. Frank R. Schmid of Northwestern University warned that this type of arthritis comes on suddenly and can cause extremely rapid destruction of joints if it is not treated as quickly as possible.

Various Arthritic Forms

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was told by a relative that the cause of arthritis has been found, but because it is venereal disease, the information is not being publicized. Is there any truth to this, or is it just another one of the stories that goes around? — J. P.

There is some truth to it — but V. D. isn't "the cause of arthritis." There isn't any single cause.

Your remark undoubtedly referred to some interesting, but also somewhat frightening, information which emerged from the meeting of the Arthritis Foundation in Pittsburgh not long ago.

There are many forms of arthritis and one of them is "gonococcal arthritis," which is caused by the same germ that causes gonorrhea, the most prevalent of the venereal diseases.

Dr. Frank R. Schmid of Northwestern University warned that this type of arthritis comes on suddenly and can cause extremely rapid destruction of joints if it is not treated as quickly as possible.

NEW YORK (AP) — Test yourself. There's a good chance that you believe one or more of the following statements:

—We don't have any more family of course, but the big corporations have taken over and they've pretty much run the little fellow out of business.

The facts dispute this widely held notion. Data from the 1969 census aren't available yet, but those who follow the trends, such as the Conference Board, believe that 95 per cent of farms are still family-operated.

That was the percentage found in other studies made in 1949, 1959 and 1964, even though there was a sharp decrease in the number of farms — from 6,350,000 in 1940 to 2,876,000 in 1970.

THERE ARE several reasons why the belief has taken hold. One is that the average farm size has grown from 175 acres to about 390 acres in the past 30 years or so. Another is that the 5 per cent nonfamily farms account for a big share of production — 35 per cent in 1964.

The fact is that many of the large corporations that did go into farming found it not nearly as profitable as they had expected, and some of them now believe that there may be size limitations on the efficient farm.

What is a family farm? According to the Agriculture Department it is "an agricultural business in which the operator is a risk-taking manager, who, with his family, does more than half of the farm work."

—The reason for our high food prices is the middleman. He's got a great big appetite for money, and he's making all of us pay through the nose.

Let hope keep you joyful; in trouble stand firm; persist in prayer. (Romans 12:12)

GOLIAD

1973-74 Annual Staff Announced By Advisor

By LINDA LESTER

The annual staff for the 1973-74 school year has been named by the advisor, Mrs. Cornelia Gary. The ten staff members are Becky Ragan, Mandy Hitt, Shanna Farmer, Jackie Hanson, Roxanne Reece, LaDonna Howard, Kevin Crenwelge, Mark Taylor and Tim Hunnicutt. Training of the three photographers has already begun.

Linda Lester, advisor, speaking at a podium.

After an assembly featuring campaign speeches Monday, three Goliad students were elected for next year's ninth grade student council. They are Steve Evans, Steve Hughes and Bubba Stripling. Lori Brown is alternate. During the track meet Wednesday and Thursday Goliad eighth graders won first in every event except one, and in that event they placed second. Goliad's eighth won over Runnels eighth 185-94. The seventh also won with 111 points to Runnels' 106. Eighth graders capturing first were Della Cowsar, Denise Kilpatrick, Michelle Covillion, Shirley Price, Ann Blackwell and Jill Odom. Five seventh graders managed firsts. They are Doris Mitchell, Libbye Lee, Barbara Roberts, Becky Ragan and Tarasia Szepczynski. Goliad National Junior Honor Society will have a banquet May 17 at 7:00 to 8:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria. Members of the society are reminded to turn in their reservation slips by the deadline, May 14.

Tomorrow evening Goliad music teachers will attend the annual spring Region VI music business meeting at Nimitz Junior High in Odessa. Saturday the Goliad band went to Colorado City for the May Festival. Tuesday night they will perform in Barney's Beat, along with bands from high school and Runnels. It will be held in the high school auditorium.

Seventh and eighth grades have been playing softball during advisory periods. Teams are made up of advisory classes. Equipment was donated by the Honor Society.

Goliad enrolled two new students last week. Both seventh graders, they are LaDonna Benson from Colorado City and Marcia Hinson from Wichita Falls.

During a meeting held last Tuesday in the snack bar, the student council discussed the accomplishments of the year. Some of the things noted were egg throws, sack races, sale of Halloween candy, litter contest, sale of cookies at the annual signing party, the painting of the Goliad sign, a monthly hall calendar and entertainment for the fall assembly.

College Board Meets Tuesday

Trustees of Howard County Junior College will meet Tuesday noon at the Dora Roberts Student Union for their May session. Consideration of the administrative staff will be on the agenda, along with recommendations from Dr. Thomas Salter, president, on a faculty salary schedule, and recommended assignments. The schedule will be more detailed and establish a basis not only for the regular classroom duties, but for specialized duties as well. The board also will have in hand a recommendation regarding a food service contract, along with others regarding personnel reports.

Paris Solon To Seek Speakership

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — Rep. George Preston, D-Paris, has told an appreciation dinner attended by 15 members of the Texas Legislature that he intends to seek the office of speaker of the Texas House next session.

Preston, 43, characterized as a moderate, indicated Friday night he intended to run a "broad-based campaign, which will draw support from members of all philosophies in the house."

FLORIDA GROVE Cheerleader Tryouts Held

By NANCY PRIBYLA Klondike Consolidated cheerleading tryouts have been changed to tomorrow. The cheerleaders will be picked by the HCJC cheerleaders instead of the student body.

Young Farmers and Homemakers of Flower Grove met Thursday in the auditorium. Mrs. Electra Co. came out to show films and demonstrate on mouth to mouth resuscitation.

Flower Grove commencement exercises are set for May 25 at 8:00 p.m. Baccalaureate is set for Sunday, May 20 at 8 p.m. The ushers will be: Lea Perry, Dan Hightower, Peggy Hayes, Jay Mullins, Nancy Pribyla and Wesley Cockrell.

Suspended Pupil Goes To Prom

HOUSTON (AP) — A high school senior suspended from class after signing a letter in a school newspaper which his educators said contained "coded profanity" will be attending his senior prom Saturday night.

U.S. District Court Judge John B. Singleton ordered Spring Branch School District officials Friday to let Gordon Mitchell of Westchester High School go to the prom, pending a hearing of a $100,000 damage suit filed by Mitchell's father.

RUNNELS Choir To Perform In Pop's Concert

By PHYLLIS HART The choirs from Runnels and Goliad will engage in their Pops Concert Thursday in the High School Auditorium. The Honor Choir will also be spotlighted with special numbers that evening, responding with "I See The Blood Upon The Rose," "Live An Humble" and "Lean On Me."

The Runnels Advance Choir will offer "For All We Know," "Magic Moments," "Monday, Monday," "All I Ever Need Is You," "My Sweet Lord," "Rose Garden," "You Got A Friend," "If Day By Day" and "The Cruel War Is Raging." Also, a girls' sextet from the Advanced Choir will be harmonizing on "George Girl" and "Make Believe." The boys' ensemble will get together for the number "This Old Hammer." Clarence Palmer and Nora Valles will form a duet for the song "Baby It's Cold Outside." Kyle Wheeler will be heard in a solo, "Been To Caenen." Girl athletes at Runnels and Goliad junior highs had their moments of glory Wednesday and Thursday, when they took part in a track and field meet on both the seventh and eighth grade levels. The eighth grade School Auditorium. The Honor Choir will also be spotlighted with special numbers that evening, responding with "I See The Blood Upon The Rose," "Live An Humble" and "Lean On Me."

SANDS FHA Holds Installation

By ANITA JONES An end-of-the-year FHA program was held Thursday night. The program consisted of installation of officers, recognition of secret grans, a style show and a skit by the sophomore girls. Several FHA members attended the FHA convention in San Antonio. They were Kayla Gaskins, Patty Peugh, Elaine Martin and Marsha Dyer.

High school cheerleaders for the coming year were elected Monday. They are: seniors, Cindy McDonald and Leah Roman; juniors, Patty Peugh, head; sophomore, Lynn Hopper; and freshman, Karen Cowart. Junior high cheerleaders for the following year are: eighth grade, Jody Kemper, head; other eighth grade cheerleaders include Suzan Martin and Donna Witt; and seventh grade cheerleaders, Jill Floyd and Tammy Nichols.

The junior-senior banquet was held Saturday night at the Ramada Inn. The theme for this year was "We've only just begun." James Blake was the speaker.

'Preacher' Faces Charge Of Making Lewd Proposals

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A self-ordained Florida minister was rearrested Thursday night by Tulsa county authorities on a Florida charge of making lewd and indecent proposals to a child under 14.

The Rev. Herman Keck Jr., 48, was taken into custody by deputies after he was freed on a $2,500 fugitive bond Wednesday. Keck was first arrested by Owasso police late Tuesday after Florida authorities told officials of the north Tulsa County town that Keck would be returning an Owasso boy home from a private Florida school.

The charges against Keck were filed in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Monday about the same time Keck was said to have taken the Owasso youth from the school and began the auto trip to Oklahoma. Florida officials said Keck had sold doctor of divinity degrees at the Florida State Christian College at Fort Lauderdale. The school was closed last year by a court order.

Keck was free on bond Wednesday through a Tulsa bondsman but that was before an investigator from the Florida state attorney's office arrived here to serve the Florida arrest warrants. An extradition hearing is scheduled for June 8.

Discrimination Charge Puzzling

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — An order issued by the U.S. Office of Education concerning sex discrimination puzzled officials Friday at Incarnate Word College and Our Lady of the Lake College here. Both Roman Catholic institutions said they have been educational "for several years" and have applied for and received federal grants which require educational status.

The two colleges were included in a lengthy list of institutions which were ordered to explain delays in ending sex discrimination by June 24.

Wedding Performed In Knoxville, Tenn.

Miss Suzanne Simmons of Nashville, Tenn., became the bride of Dr. Barton C. Grooms of Amarillo Saturday evening in the Washington Pike Methodist Church, Knoxville, Tenn.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude A. Simmons of Knoxville, and the bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Jordan Grooms, 620 Tulane.

The bridegroom's father performed the ceremony, and nuptial selections were played by William Starr, violinist.

Carrying a bouquet of white daisies and babies' breath, the bride was attired in a white, full-length wedding gown styled with scooped neckline and long, Juliet sleeves. The bodice of white English net was arrayed with appliques of white Venice lace atop an A-line skirt of silk organza which formed a chapellength train. Her veil of silk illusion was scattered with white flowers cascading from a circlet of Venice lace and white lilies.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Jerry Hewett, Big Spring, sister of the bridegroom, was the matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Jennifer Horton and Mrs. Keith Aycock, both of Lawton, Okla. The attendants were identically attired in gowns of yellow dotted Swiss flocked with daisies, and each carried a basket of daisies.

Dr. Walter Dickinson of Amarillo served as best man, and groomsmen were Stephen Simmons, brother of the bride; Gordon Dickinson, Lubbock; and Fred Grooms, Memphis, Tenn.

Following a reception at the church, the couple left on a wedding trip. They will reside in Amarillo.

Dr. Grooms received a BS degree at Southern Methodist University. He earned his MD degree at Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis, Mo., and spent his internship and residency at Vanderbilt University. He is now in private practice at Amarillo.

The bride graduated from the University of Tennessee with a BS degree and received an MME degree at Southern Illinois University. She has been a violin teacher in public schools at Nashville, Tenn.

Coeds Demand Equal Shares

NOTTINGHAM, England — An investigation revealed that coeds at West Bridgford College here are now making college men get them their lunches at the canteen.

"We are not demanding old-fashioned chivalry from the boys," said a feminine spokesman. "It's just that the boys are served bigger helpings."

No More Swimsuit Contests?

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Miss America, Terry Anne Meeuwse, says the swimsuit competition of the Miss America Pageant is unnecessary and unnatural. She wants it eliminated.

Miss Meeuwse, a winner in the last swimsuit contest, said Monday while here for the traditional boardwalk Easter Parade that she appreciated the pageant officials' view that "walking the runway in a bathing suit does put a contestant under stress and allows the judges to see how she reacts . . . "But if they have to do it, they should do away with the vital statistics, for that 36-24-36 bit is always with you wherever you go and it makes Miss America more of a body symbol than anything."

The 23-year-old Miss Meeuwse of De Pere, Wis., also noted that she hasn't worn a swimsuit since the pageant.

Albert Marks, executive director of the pageant, said he didn't think Miss Meeuwse was wrong for commenting on the swimsuit competition. He declined further comment.

Club Hears Dangers Of Brown Spiders

Brown Spiders, formerly found in the deep south section of the United States, have recently been noted in Texas, according to Mrs. Frank Wilson who discussed the spider Thursday for Planters Garden Club.

Mrs. Wilson said the spider's bite is very dangerous and sometimes fatal. The spider likes to live in houses, preferably in closets, beds or any dark and quiet place. She said it is a small spider with hairy legs, horns and three sets of eyes. If clothes have been hanging for a long time, she suggested people shake them well before wearing, and she suggested use of insecticide sprays in closets.

The club met in the home of Mrs. Paul Guy, 1305 Tucson, and a three-part program was presented by members. Mrs. Guy told how to prepare soil for planting; Mrs. John Edgar outlined various watering methods; and Mrs. Wilson told about control of garden pests.

Mrs. E. O. Sanders, who has been ill with a broken hip, was made an honorary lifetime member of the club. Program plans for the new club year were discussed. The group will meet for breakfast at 8 a.m., June 14 in the home of Mrs. A. C. Moore, 1907 Main.

WEEK'S PLAYBILL Houston Site Of 'Thief'

(AP WIREPHOTO)

MARKS 85TH BIRTHDAY—Composer Irving Berlin, shown at left in uniform he wore overseas with his "This Is the Army" show, and at right, as he appeared in 1968 will be 85 on Friday, Berlin, who wrote some 850 songs from "Oh, How I Hate to Get up in the Morning" to "God Bless America," will spend the day quietly with family members on his estate in the Catskills.

A Houston society girl who finds fun and a lot of trouble in her love life with a brilliant burglar is the colorful role that Jacqueline Bisset plays in "The Thief Who Came to Dinner," Warner Bros. film opening Wednesday at the Cinema Theatre.

That co-starring role opposite Ryan O'Neal is Jacqueline's first appearance in a Warner Bros. motion picture since her memorable performance opposite Steve McQueen in "Bullitt" about four years ago.

"The Thief Who Came to Dinner" is based on the lively novel by Terrence L. Smith. Bud Yorkin directed the film on location in Houston, Tex.

Jacqueline Fraser Bisset was born on Sept. 13, in Surrey, England. Her father, Dr. Max Fraser Bisset, is a general practitioner and her mother, Arlette Alexander Bisset, was a lawyer in Paris before her marriage. On her father's side, Jackie is Scottish, on her mother's, French-English.

When she was 18, Jacqueline began a modeling career in television which led to her first motion picture, a bit part in "The Knack," followed by a small role in "Cul de Sac," which Roman Polanski directed. She had only one line of dialogue in that one, and did but little better in the Tony Curtis starrer, "You Just Kill Me."

The part of Giovanna Goodthighs in "Casino Royale" brought her to the attention of 20th Century-Fox which signed her for a good role in "Two for the Road" and later put her under a non-exclusive contract.

Other than her native English, Jacqueline speaks fluent French. She likes classical and modern dancing, French and English poetry and modern jazz. Her favorite costume is a sweater and blue jeans. She is five feet and one-half inches tall, weighs 118 pounds, has grey-green eyes and coppery brown hair.

Houston location work for "The Thief Who Came to Dinner" brought Jacqueline and the whole cast to places like NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center, the Museum of Fine Arts and the stylish mansions of Texas millionaires.

SCORPIO (PG), Michael Winner's multi-million dollar espionage thriller cannot fail to satisfy the most discerning armchair traveller. LOS ANGELES (AP) — Four new shows, "The Waltons," "Kung Fu," "M-A-S-H" and "The Julie Andrews Hour," outdistanced nearly all the competition in the Emmy nominations for the 25th annual Television Academy Awards.

"The Waltons," a warm story of a family struggling in the Depression, received 12 nominations Thursday, more than any other program. The show previously won a Peabody Award.

Its nominations included those for best dramatic series, best new series, best actor for Richard Thomas, best actress for Miss Michael Learned and best supporting nominations for Will Geer and Ellen Corby.

"Kung Fu" got six nominations, including best dramatic series, best new series and best actor for David Carradine as a Buddhist monk in the Old West.

"M-A-S-H," a brash and irreverent comedy about Army surgeons in the Korean War, received eight nominations, including best comedy series, best new series, best actor in comedy for Alan Alda and best supporting actor in a comedy for Gary Burghoff and McLean Stevenson.

Solon To Spend Weekend In Jail

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Rep. Thomas L. Ashley, D-Ohio, will be spending this weekend in jail.

Ashley, a member of Congress since 1954, Tuesday was fined $350 and sentenced to three days in the workhouse after pleading guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated and resisting arrest.

The 58-year-old congressman was found last month slumped behind the wheel of his car in Toledo. Police testified that he had to be removed forcibly from the car, used abusive language and tried to swing at officers.

Municipal Court Judge Clyde L. Deeds recommended Ashley have a talk with Sen. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa. Deeds described Hughes as a "distinguished member of Congress who himself fought a bout with alcoholism when he was younger."

Ashley said he has studied the problem and would continue to do so. He conceded he made a mistake and had had "one too many."

MO-P Dividend Is Declared

ST. LOUIS — Fifteen members were elected to serve on the board of directors of the Missouri Pacific Railroad for a one-year term at the company's annual stockholders' meeting, held here Tuesday.

At a subsequent meeting, the directors declared a regular quarterly dividend of $1.25 per share on the company's Class A stock, payable June 29, to stockholders of record June 15. Among the directors is J. T. Suggs, Dallas.

Radio Enacts Scripts Created By Listeners

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP TV Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Hemmer, 29, is barely old enough to recall the glory days of radio when "The Lone Ranger" rode the aural range and "The Green Hornet" buzzed about on behalf of law and order.

But Hemmer, program director of radio station WDBQ-AM in Dubuque, Iowa, recently brought back the fun of the old days by broadcasting five shows written and submitted by listeners.

The authors were an artist at a local advertising agency, two high school teachers, a deputy sheriff and a 21-year-old female factory worker.

"Second Chance," which received the largest share of the 800 votes cast.

Hemmer, whose station has only 1,000 watts and limited funds for such efforts, says he's going to have another "Radio Theater" week in September and start calling for authors in mid-July.

He says he's still amazed by the response to the first contest.

"It was an absolute 100 per cent success and a lot of fun, to boot."

LISTENERS' SCRIPTS
Hemmer got the scripts by unwittingly repeating radio history. The repeating occurred last January when WDBQ ran a "Radio Theater" contest inviting listeners to submit original half-hour scripts.

It's exactly the way many prominent writers today first were heard nationally, thanks to "Dr. Christian," a radio series broadcast several decades ago. It also asked listeners to submit original scripts.

One of those budding authors, Earl Hemmer Jr., earned $500 for a script he sent in. He's better-known and earns considerably more today as creator of "The Waltons" series on CBS-TV.

Hemmer, who says he never heard of the "Dr. Christian" series, laughed when asked how he came upon the idea of WDBQ's script search.

"I couldn't tell you," he said. "I've always been fascinated with old-time radio. A couple of years ago I thought, 'gee, wouldn't it be fun if we could do something like this.' And we finally did it."

He said the "Radio Theater" contest brought a total of 52 original scripts from the listening audience. He and his staff read them all, selected five for broadcast and went to work, using the station's disc jockeys and local residents as actors in the shows.

USED AS IS
"There were no rewrites," he said. "We did them exactly the way they were written. Of course, we added sound effects and music."

The shows, broadcast during the last week in March, ranged from "Bill Bugoni, Private Eye" — a spoof of the old "Sam Spade" series — to "The Second Chance," a show about a man whom the fates allow to return to his past.

The final show, "Red Lights and Sirens," was written by the deputy sheriff.

While the series was broadcast, listeners were invited to vote by mail on their favorite show. The authors got cash prizes ranging from $10 to the $100 award given the author of

OFFER WENT TO $625 A WEEK Remember Driver? That'd Be Pickens

Copley News Service
HOLLYWOOD — There was a time when any Western movie made that included a scene with a stagecoach in it, the chances were about nine to one that the coach driver would turn out to be Slim Pickens.

"That's about right," Slim acknowledged during a chat at MGM studios. "If the driver had to say anything more than 'giddyap,' the job generally went to me."

Slim, the easy-going, slow-talking character actor who has been playing supporting roles in films since the late '40s, was a natural for such roles, because he learned to handle horses almost at the same time he was learning to walk and he has been around them most of his life.

He still considers the fact that he's an actor a complete accident, pure and simple.

CLOWNING IMPRESSED
It happened this way. Slim was competing in a rodeo — in Saugus, Calif., and nearby there was a movie company working on location. Some of the film people attended the rodeo, and they were impressed with Slim's work, particularly his clowning during the steer bulldogging event.

An assistant director, William Keely, asked Slim if he would like to appear in a movie. "I couldn't see any harm in it, as long as it didn't interfere with my rodeoin' so I said I would."

That's how Slim Pickens, movie actor, made his debut. The picture was "Rocky Mountain," starring Errol Flynn. Slim's role? A stagecoach driver, of course.

Subsequently, Slim was told to go to the Warner Bros. studio to discuss contract terms. He had no idea what to expect.

"My dad had a saying which he used all the time," Slim said. "Never take their first offer," he used to say. So I decided I would just sit back and see what they would do at the studio.

"Solly Bianco, the casting director, didn't waste any time. He started off by offering me $300 a week. I was so shocked I couldn't speak and the price went up until he got to $625, and I managed to blurt out 'I'll take it.'"

Slim added that he had gone into the meeting thinking he would be lucky to come out with more than $50.

"I had me a license to steal," Slim said gleefully. "After working seven weeks, I had made more money than I ever had before in my whole life. I had no idea what I was doing, but I did everything I was told to do and hoped nobody would catch on."

TECH OFFICIAL — Dr. Robert H. Registration Under Way For Y Summer Classes

A two-week registration period for summer classes at the YMCA will begin Monday, according to Pat Owens, physical director.

The summer program, lasting from June 4 to August 10, will include morning and afternoon classes for youth and night classes for adults. Regular classes are for members only.

Youth swim classes will be divided into three sessions from June 4 to June 22, from June 25 to July 13 and from July 16 to August 3. These will include sections for tiny tots, beginning and advanced instruction for grades 1-6 and beginning and advanced for grades 7-12.

Other youth classes include tumbling, trampoline, gymnastics and springboard diving. Adult classes will include beginning and advanced swimming, men's volleyball, women's volleyball, badminton, and women's exercises.

Family Night swims will be held twice a week and recreational swims held every Saturday for all ages. Competitive swimming will also be organized. In addition, special interest classes, open also to non-members, will include tap and ballet dancing, beginning guitar, baton twirling, karate and judo and junior and senior lifesaving.

Owens said their children may register their children by calling or coming by the Y before May 27.

Self Feared For His Life?

HOUSTON (AP) — Michael Lloyd Self, accused of murder in the death of two teen-agers, testified Thursday he confessed to the slayings because he feared for his life. Testimony ended Friday, arguments begin Monday.

Self, a former Webster volunteer fireman, is on trial in the court of Dist. Judge Joseph M. Guarino in connection with the Aug. 4, 1971 slaying of Sharon Shaw, 14, of Clear Lake City.

Self also is charged with murder in the death of Rhonda Renee Johnson, 14, of Webster on the same date.

When asked why he had given Webster police a confession last June 9, Self said: "I was afraid he was crazy enough to kill me."

Self referred to Webster Police Chief Don Morris. Self accused Morris of striking him with a billy club and holding a pistol to his head.

Morris denied the accusations during an earlier hearing on a motion to suppress the June 9 confession and a second confession taken three days later.

INTERVIEW
"One day a feller came up to me on location. I was holding the team, waiting to hitch 'em up to go into my scene. 'What motivated you in this role?' he asked me."

"These six horses, that's what I told him."

Slim did not give up rodeo competition after he had become established in films, however. He ranked in the top 20 on the Rodeo Cowboys Association list for over two decades and has the scars to prove it. He sustained 17 broken bones during his years of bull wrestling and bronc riding, including three skull fractures. He admits that he is lucky to have survived.

Race Tightens For Laurels

DENVER, Colo. — Bob Ragsdale and Larry Mahan tightened the race for 1973 world champion all around cowboy over the weekend, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said.

Both cowboys placed deeply at the rodeo in Tulsa, Okla., which paid nearly $20,000 to cowboy winners Sunday.

Mahan, 29, five times world champion all around cowboy from Dallas, Tex., placed first in the average in bareback and saddle bronc riding, and finished fifth in the single round of bull riding for a total of $1,798, which strengthened his second-place position in the world all around standings. His total so far is $17,371.

Ragsdale, 36, of Chowchilla, Calif., who leads all around standings with $20,631, won $1,076 at the rodeo, taking third in the first round of calf roping, and finishing fourth in the steer wrestling average.

Event leaders include:
Saddle bronc riding — Bill Smith, Cocoy, Wyo., $7,646, and Shawn Davis, Whitehall, Mont., $7,022; bareback bronc — Joe Alexander, Cora, Wyo., $9,393, and Rusty Riddle, Mineral Wells, Tex., $8,177; bull riding — Don Gay, Mesquite, Tex., $8,423, and Bobby Steiner, Austin, Tex., $7,831; calf roping — Ernie Taylor, Huto, Okla., $12,488, and Ragsdale, $12,014; steer wrestling — Tom Ferguson, San Martin, Calif., $9,936, and Billy Hale, Checotah, Okla., $7,935; GRA barrel racing — Allen Gayler, Colorado Springs, Colo., $4,346, and Gail Petska, Tecumseh, Okla., $2,999 (Terry Himes, Big Spring, Tex., $1,191 is ninth and Tay Lewis, Big Spring, Tex., $970, is 11th.)

This is a Mother...

Warmth and tenderness and soft dresses that smell of sunshine.
Songs and stories, and smiling eyes that say, "I love you."
Gentle hands that can comfort a kitten, or shape a sugar cookie
Or lift a little one close, close close to her heart
To a lovely world of trust and security.
Shared understanding . . . confident faith . . . unalterable love.
This is a mother . . . a mother is love.

Happy Mother's Day!
