AMERICA'S FIRST SPACE STATION IN ORBIT

Giant 'Cabin In The Sky'

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Skylab, America's first space station, rocketed away from earth today to serve as a giant "cabin in the sky" for nine astronauts in the next eight months.

The first three-man crew is ready to ride another rocket into space Tuesday to link up with the station, which is as large as a three-bedroom house, for a record 28-day orbital mission.

MOST POWERFUL
The Skylab 1 astronauts — Charles Conrad Jr., Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz — watched from three miles away as a 33-story Saturn 5 rocket thundered skyward to propel the 85-ton laboratory toward orbit.

Their smaller, 22-story Saturn 1B rocket stood on another pad 8,700 feet away, ready for the signal to blast off at 1 p.m. EDT Tuesday if all goes well. Also observing were the members of the Skylab 2 and 3 crews, each of which is to inhabit the station for 56 days later in the year.

It was the final planned flight for the Saturn 5, the world's largest and most powerful rocket, which was built for the Apollo moon program. The nine astronauts will conduct extensive medical, scientific, earth resources and space manufacturing experiments to determine how well man can live and work in space for long periods.

What they learn will set guidelines for long duration missions of the future, such as permanent space stations or journeys to other planets.

The information also may have far-reaching consequences in bringing benefits from space to mankind, especially in the survey of earth's hidden natural resources.

COMFORTS OF HOME
Donald K. Slayton, director of flight crew operations, said Sunday that Conrad, Kerwin and Weitz are "fully trained, confident and looking forward to getting the big one off tomorrow and riding the little one on Tuesday." The astronauts Sunday sun-bathed on a Cape Kennedy beach after flying here from Houston, Tex., where they underwent final training.

When they board their orbiting laboratory, they will find "all the comforts of home, reports Conrad, the Skylab 1 commander. He is a veteran of three previous space trips, including a walk on the moon. No more cramped quarters like the Mercury, Gemini or Apollo capsules. Skylab is as large as a three-bedroom house and has 60 times more volume than Apollo.

Each astronaut will have his own bedroom. There is a kitchen and a pantry packed with a ton of food ranging from filet mignon to ice cream.

STEREO SETS
There's a shower and a toilet, stereo sets, books, changes of clothing, playing cards, a dart board, exercise machines and a picture window for viewing earth. And every seventh day will be a day of rest.

And the Skylab 1 crew will have a live-in doctor. Kerwin, a physician, will handle the medical experiments which have priority on the first mission. He has a dispensary elaborately equipped to monitor the health of the astronauts. Upon reaching orbit Skylab will weigh 170,000 pounds. When the astronauts' spaceship hooks up with it, it will weigh a total of 199,756 pounds and will be 118 feet long.

With a total of six wing-like solar panels extended it will be a strange-looking space contraption. The panels convert the sun's rays to electrical energy.

In addition to the ferry vehicle, which is a modified Apollo ship, Skylab has four major sections:

—The 22-foot-diameter orbital workshop, two-stories high, which contains the astronauts' main living and working space. Bedrooms, kitchen, wardrobe and dispensary are located on the first floor. Upstairs is a storage and work area containing science equipment, a food freezer, water storage tank and film vaults.

SKYLAS EYEGLASSES—Mariynn Griggs of Cape Canaveral, Fla., wears glasses with Skylab patches pasted over the lenses as she awaits the liftoff today of the unmanned Skylab from Cape Kennedy space center. Astronauts will blast off Tuesday for a linkup with the Skylab.

Slow, Penetrating Rain Is Concentrated Here

Ranchers beamed, and so did farmers with seed in the ground, as slow, penetrating rain blanketed the area Monday morning. Heaviest fall was around Big Spring.

The U.S. Experiment Station reported .41 of an inch, which matched a figure for Texas Electric Service Company's switching gauge on the northeast edge of town. The Colorado Municipal Water District pump station on the north edge measured .40. This corresponded with several residential gauges on the south edge of town, and with that of the Forsan Oil Well service at Forsan. TESCO's Otischalk gauge had a two-day total of an inch.

A good part of Martin County had a quarter of an inch or more. The CRMWD Martin County pump station showed .30 of an inch here.

The fall fell off to the north, with Lamesa reporting .25 of an inch, but on the northeast Lake Thomas had only a trace. Downstream at Robert Lee, the Lake E. V. Spence reading also was a drizzle.

The two-day total in Big Spring ranged from .90 to an inch. The gentleness of the rain made it ideal for cotton just up or about to come up, and rain could hardly have been better or more timely for pastures.

The meteorologist Atmospherics, Inc., the weather modification unit, said there was a possibility that thunderstorms could move into the area this evening.

Rainfall for the year, according to the U.S. Experiment Station, now totals 7.91, which is 2.91 inches above the average.

Dean Reportedly Asked To Sign Virtual 'Confession'

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Judge John Sirica today ordered the clerk of his court to take possession of classified documents that had been placed in a safe deposit box by John W. Dean III, the man fired as White House counsel by President Nixon in the Watergate affair.

Following a brief hearing, Sirica ordered that certified copies of the documents be made available to government prosecutors in the Watergate case and to the Senate special committee.

TOP SECRET
Contents of the documents were not disclosed at the hearing, but Dean told Sirica they were of a security classification entitled "top secret handled via commit channels."

Dean said that classification is stricter than top secret.

He was not available for comment after the hearing. Sirica said the documents would be safe in the possession of the clerk of the U.S. District Court. The chief judge said he did not want to examine the documents at this time.

Dean had filed a motion asking the court to decide what to do with the documents. His attorney, Charles Shafer, said Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., had written Dean in January asking him to preserve any documents that might bear on the Watergate matter.

Shafer said Dean, after he was fired April 30, automatically lost the security clearance that enabled him to possess the documents but that in light of Mansfield's request Dean thought he should hold them pending a court decision on their disposition.

EXTRA
Time reported Dean was called into Nixon's office in March and asked to sign two papers. It said one was a virtual confession, accepting all blame for concealing facts in the case and, in effect, absolving others. It said the other was Dean's resignation.

Two Are Injured In Sunday Wreck

A truck driver and a passenger in a truck and semi-trailer rig are at Hall Bennett Hospital being treated for injuries received in a one-vehicle accident at 2:30 a.m. Sunday. Ike Pickle of Memphis, Tenn., was the driver.

A Continental Contract Carrier industry rig from California was headed east on Interstate 20 when the driver lost control.

The rig ran through a drainage ditch, across the service road, into a brick fence and trees in the front yard of a residence before coming to a halt.

Investigating highway patrolman was Don Bates. Pickle is suffering from severe cuts, including a cut in the right eye and the passenger asleep in the sleeper of the cab, also sustained cuts and bruises.

In a wreck early today near Coahoma, Alice Hoffnagle was injured in a one vehicle accident.

She is hospitalized at Cowper Clinic in good condition with no serious injuries.

Home Insurance Rates Cut By Nine Texas Companies

AUSTIN (AP) — Major cuts in fire, extended coverage and homeowners insurance rates by nine companies were announced today by the State Insurance Board.

The board said it had given the firms permission to charge less than the standard rates set by the board.

30 PER CENT
The statewide rate reductions were announced:

State Farm Fire and Casualty Insurance Co.—homeowners, 12 per cent; fire, 10 per cent on personal lines and 20 per cent on all others; and extended coverage, 10 per cent on personal lines and 20 per cent on others.

Niagara Fire Insurance Co.—

homeowners, farm and ranchowners, 15 per cent; fire and extended coverage, 20 per cent each.

Seaboard Fire and Marine Insurance Co.—fire and extended coverage, 30 per cent.

Kansas City Fire and Marine Insurance Co.—fire and extended coverage, 25 per cent; homeowners, farm and ranchowners, 20 per cent.

St. Paul Mercury Insurance Co.—fire and extended coverage, 20 per cent; farm and ranchowners 20 per cent.

Preferred Risk Mutual Insurance Co.—fire and extended coverage, 20 per cent; homeowners 15 per cent.

Central Mutual Insurance Co.—fire, 10 per cent on personal lines and 20 per cent on others; extended coverage, 20 per cent; homeowners, 15 per cent.

Premier Insurance Co.—fire and extended coverage, 20 per cent.

VANDALISM
Sentry Insurance—fire 20 per cent.

Extended coverage is insurance against natural disasters, such as hail and windstorm, vandalism, explosions and other non-fire hazards.

Counting four companies that previously were granted deviations, the board has now approved rate cuts sought by firms writing 23 per cent of the coverage in Texas.

Several more applications are pending, board chairman Joe

Christie told a news conference. "I would urge policyholders to contact their agents and inquire about this," Christie said of the rate cuts.

There will be a time lag, he said, before the companies can do the paper work necessary to put the rate cuts into effect.

The board recently announced a new policy of encouraging companies to deviate from the uniform rates established by the board.

CAUTION
"If there was any doubt that such a policy by the board would result in a competitive atmosphere within the industry resulting in lower insurance costs to the insurance buying public, surely it must now be dispelled," Christie said.

He added a note of caution: "It is important the public understand there are factors other than price which are deserving of more than casual interest. Stability of a company, service provided by the company and its agents and efficiency and promptness in handling claims are all elements to be given serious consideration."

Patrolman Uses Vehicle To Stop Fleeting Auto

Because spectators were endangered, a Texas Highway Patrolman used his patrol car to ram and stop a car driven by a fleeing suspect at the old Sahara Drive-In Theatre race track Saturday night.

Jimmy P. Yanez, 24, of 806 N. Nolan St. was released Saturday night on bonds of $200 and $750. He is charged with disorderly conduct and fleeing a police officer.

Deputy sheriffs and Highway Patrolmen were dispatched to the scene after a knife fight was reported in progress at the race track on west IS-20 at 8:33 a.m., law enforcement officers said.

Upon arriving, Highway

Patrolman Kenneth Maxwell said they were told the suspect was leaving in his car.

Maxwell said he drove after them in the race track area and turned on his patrol car red light. The suspect stopped his car, but when the Highway Patrolmen got out they drove off again.

When the suspect drove toward a crowd, Maxwell honked to warn the crowd. Finally, Maxwell used his patrol car to ram and pin the fleeing automobile, he said, to prevent further danger to lives.

With Maxwell was Highway Patrolman Bill Priest. Deputy sheriffs dispatched were Sgt. Robert Puente and Buster McCartney.

Band Boosters Name Officers

An important meeting of the Big Spring Band Boosters has been called for 7 p.m. Tuesday in the high school auditorium.

The session is set for the auditorium because the band hall will be tied up by bandsmen preparing for the final concert of the season, Barney's Beat, which swings into action at 8 p.m. Tuesday. Charles Wash, president for the past two years, urged a good attendance since this will be the occasion for election of booster officers.

MANY FRUSTRATED LAWYERS QUIT PROGRAM

Poor Receiving Less Legal Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 50-state survey indicates the poor are receiving less aid from the Legal Services program than before Howard Phillips became acting director of the Office of Economic Opportunity early this year.

A report on the survey sponsored by eight organizations involved in antipolitical activities includes that many Legal Services lawyers are handling fewer cases, postponing major litigation, or turning clients away. Many frustrated lawyers, it said, are quitting the program.

The report was released Sunday on the heels of President Nixon's proposal Friday for a national legal-services corporation, "independent of political pressures," to replace the Legal Services program currently within the OEO.

Nixon has ordered Phillips to dismantle OEO, with the exception of its Legal Services program, by June 30.

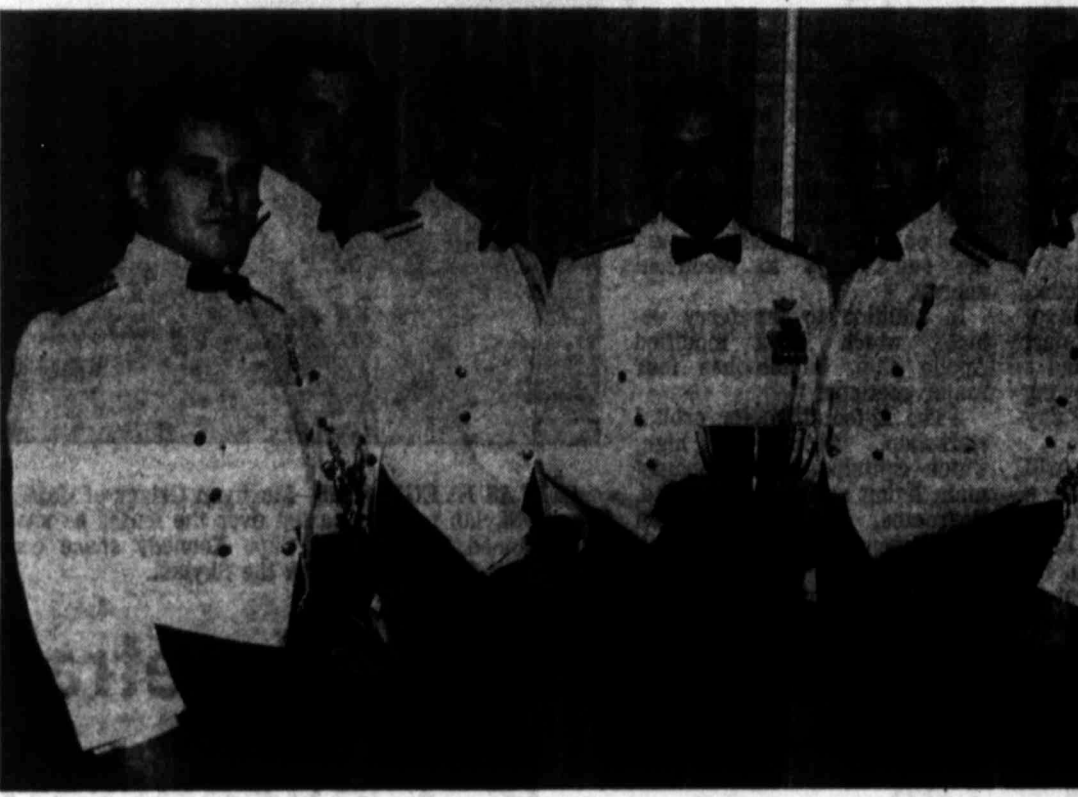

The report of the National Colloquium on Legal Services, headed by Edgar S. Cahn, dean of the Antioch Law School, also asserted that political motives undermining the confidence of attorneys and clients in the stability of the program.

Cahn, who led a six-man team in drafting the report, said local programs could face similar problems if Legal Services is transferred from the OEO to a new corporation.

"If OEO can do the things we've detailed, then certainly a private corporation which is not held to the same standards, can certainly do the same and more unless they're watched like a hawk," Cahn said.

The report accused OEO officials of withholding grants vital to the survival of local programs, isolating national bar associations from the antipolitical attorneys, and placing the program's lawyers "under virtual house arrest to prevent them from acting in concert to protect the program's professional integrity."

Library's Budget Upped $10,000 By Commission

County Commissioners Court this morning approved appropriating $10,000 yearly from revenue sharing funds to the Howard County Library.

By increasing the library budget to about $55,000, the court makes Howard County Library eligible for membership in the state library system, which will make it possible to borrow books from other libraries.

Larry Justiss, librarian, said the state would allow three years for the librarian to obtain a master's degree and mentioned he is taking graduate courses this summer.

Puts Finger On Accused Girl Killer

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — A San Benito woman testified today that she saw one of the San Benito strangulation victims in an automobile with Antonio Rios Zepeda the day the two girls died.

Rios Zepeda, 21, of San Benito is on trial on a charge of murder in the April 11, 1972 strangulation death of Maria Norma Delgado, 15. He also is charged with murder in the death of Patricia Segura, 15, but is not being tried on that charge now.

Mrs. Elvira Sanchez Soria testified there were two girls in the car and that she later recognized one of them as being Miss Delgado after seeing the girl's picture on television.

Norma Linda Ortega, 20, of San Benito also testified today that she saw two persons in an automobile driven by Rios Zepeda in downtown San Benito while she was on her lunch hour from San Benito High School.

Miss Ortega said she had known Rios Zepeda for many years and got a close look at him as he waited at a traffic signal.

The two victims apparently skipped afternoon classes at the high school on the day they died.

The Segura girl's body was found late that afternoon in an irrigation canal southwest of the Lower Rio Grande Valley town. The Delgado girl's body was found the following day in an irrigation canal about a half mile from the Segura girl's body.

Rios Zepeda, a laborer, was arrested April 12, 1972 after he gave officers a statement, read in an examining trial, in which he said he killed the two girls after "something came over me."

The statement has not been read into the trial but is expected to generate a heated legal argument when the state attempts to admit it into evidence.

Long-Haired Hassle Lost By Tyler Junior College

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Texas junior college anxious to keep men students short-haired was denied a Supreme Court review of its case today.

The court declined over the objection of Justice William O. Douglas to hear Tyler Junior College appeal of a lower court decision overturning the school's haircut restrictions as an unconstitutional infringement on the rights of students.

School officials argued that the lower court overstepped its authority and that a school dress code should remain a matter for school officials alone.

TOO LONG
The case stemmed from a suit brought by Joe Richard Lansdale, Paul Harden and L. H. Hutchinson Jr.

The three young men attempted to enroll at the Tyler, Tex., school for the 1970 fall semester, but were turned aside because their hair was considered too long.

Men students, according to the regulation at the state-supported school, must wear their hair neatly trimmed and "above the collar."

A federal district judge issued a permanent injunction against enforcement of the rule and the federal appeals court in New Orleans upheld the decision.

"The place where the line of permissible hair style regulation is drawn is between the high school door and the college gate," wrote the appeals court majority.

Recognizing its own decision in a previous case that high school officials may impose hair style regulations, the appeals court said the greater maturity of the college student

Agnes, Hail Make Onion Buyers Weep

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Heavy rain in New York state in the wake of Hurricane Agnes, hail, rain and snow in Texas, a freeze in Idaho and cool weather in California's Imperial Valley, have combined to leave American onion growers and buyers weeping.

Ed Mallett, president of the National Onion Association, said the run of inclement weather made it necessary for the United States this year to import onions for the first time in 25 years.

"We brought them in from New Zealand Australia," Mallett said.

The shortage caused the price of onions to skyrocket over a six-week period ending in late April, from about $2.50 to as much as $22 per 50-pound sack. Producers said this was the highest the prices had reached in at least 20 years.

Retail prices, which peaked at nearly 50 cents apiece for some premium onions, hovered at between 25 to 50 cents a pound, compared to the 10 to 15 cents per pound prevailing in recent years.

"It was a wild market," Mallett said in a recent interview. "Nobody in the industry really wanted prices to get as high as they did."

SIX SHOOTINGS IN TEXAS 11 Traffic Fatalities

By The Associated Press
Texas violence was quieter than usual over the Mother's Day weekend although traffic fatalities and shootings again accounted for most of the violent deaths.

The death toll reached 24. The Associated Press tabulation, beginning at 6 p.m. Friday and ending at midnight Sunday, included 11 traffic fatalities, six shootings, five drownings and two deaths by fire.

The Texas Department of Public Safety reported that Thomas Milton Brittain, 56, was killed Sunday in a head-on collision on IH 20 about three miles east of Merkel. Two other men were injured in the crash.

WIFE OF PROF
Also killed in a traffic accident on IH 20 Sunday were two unidentified women whose bodies were recovered from a large pond off the highway six miles east of Terrell after their car skidded off the roadway and fell into the pond. The autosubmerged completely.

In the Rio Grande Valley, Mrs. Esther Warner Bajca, 52, died in a two-car collision at the intersection of US 77 and FM 1761 one mile north of Raymondville.

She was the wife of Texas A&I University professor Dr. Charles Bajca.

Patricia Judge, 17, a passenger in an automobile, was killed in Dallas early Saturday when two cars collided.

Carmen Rodriguez, 19, and brother Manuel was wounded. Oscar Ordaz, 21, both of San Antonio, drowned early Saturday when they stepped into a drainage ditch while wading at a water-covered intersection after a heavy thunderstorm. The companions of the victims said the ditch could not be seen through the swirling water.

Shamrock died in the Panhandle town of Groom late Saturday when the car in which they were riding struck the rear end of a pickup truck on Interstate 40 and overturned.

The victims were identified as Gary Dale Montgomery and David Lee Smith.

In the Panhandle, Robert Murray, 17, died in a two-car accident Saturday night. Murry died hours later in an Amarillo hospital.

In Dallas, officers took a 28-year-old woman into custody Sunday in connection with the shooting death of Leonard Dawson, 28, of Dallas. Officers said Dawson was fatally wounded Saturday afternoon as he and a woman argued while sitting in an automobile outside his home.

OUT OF CONTROL
Fort Worth police said Mrs. Gerry Tucker, 35, of Arlington died late Friday when her car skidded out of control on Fort Worth's West Freeway and smashed into an abutment.

Bodies Of 2 Teens Found In Open Graves On Island

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A South Florida prosecutor says that an investigation into the murders of two teenage girls may provide an explanation for the death or disappearance of 26 other women during the past 10 years.

The Palm Beach Post said Sunday that Robert Stone, the West Palm Beach County prosecutor, was attempting to establish links between the deaths and disappearances and articles recently seized from a house in nearby Ft. Lauderdale.

The articles included jewelry, clothing and a manuscript outlining a bizarre murder rite, the newspaper reported.

Stone was unavailable for comment on the report, but other sources said the investigation reached into a number of other states with missing-person files. Police say a suspect is currently being held in jail on other charges.

RITE OF SPRING—Unidentified performer evokes fascinated gazes from youngsters, right, Sunday on the grounds of the Cathedral Church of St. John The Divine in New York City. Occasion was an out-door festival sponsored by the church, which termed it a "medieval celebration of spring and renewal."

'I'm As Healthy As Can Be,' Martha Mitchell Insisting

NEW YORK (AP) — "Do I look like I'm suffering from a breakdown?" Martha Mitchell asked with a laugh as she paused on Fifth Avenue to have her picture taken and respond to reports that mental distress drove her to a hospital last week.

"I've been away in the country with friends, that's all, and I'm as healthy as can be," she told a Daily News reporter. "You can tell the people who are saying that stuff that they're the ones who are crazy."

Time Magazine said Sunday that Mrs. Mitchell suffered a nervous breakdown and entered a hospital early last Monday. Three days later her husband, former U.S. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, was indicted. The New York Times reported today that sources at an unnamed mental hospital said Mrs. Mitchell was admitted last Monday in an "extremely docile" and "possibly drugged" condition.

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS
Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠K 10 7 4 ♣Q 6 ♠10 8 7 2 ♠9 3 2
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ 1 ♠ Pass ♠ Pass
Dble. 2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Three spades. The atmosphere has cleared a bit since the first round and it has been determined from North's two heart bids that South's mediocre holding carries considerable power. The three spade bid is, of course, not forcing and, in view of the first round pass, may be made with distinct confidence.

Q. 2 — Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A 7 5 3 ♠6 4 ♠AK 4 ♠K 6 4 3
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
1 ♥ Dble. 3 ♥ 3 ♠
Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. Your distribution is not at all attractive, for your short suit will almost surely duplicate partner's short suit. Allowance should be made for a slightly aggressive move by partner in an effort to contest the adverse part score effort. It is true that a game might be missed by such caution, but we consider it the best long run procedure.

Q. 3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AK 10 7 4 ♠5 3 ♠10 9 7 6 ♠5 2
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
2 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Three diamonds. You have sufficient values to accept partner's invitation but due to the slightly unbalanced nature of your holding it is advisable to probe for a suit contract first. If North returns to three no trump, you can relax, but if he bids three spades you will go on to four.

Q. 4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A 6 ♠AQ 10 8 7 2 ♠7 ♠AJ 10 9
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♥ 1 ♠ Pass ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Double. This is the approved method for reopening the bidding with a strong hand. The double is superior to a heart rebid because it offers the additional chance for finding a club fit, if partner has something in that suit.

Q. 5 — Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠Q 6 5 ♠AK 10 9 ♠3 2 ♠K 10 7 5
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ 1 ♠
3 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Five clubs. North opened the bidding and jumped, and you have the equivalent of an opening slam range. A jump raise describes your values perfectly and will alert partner to bid six clubs if he has the necessary controls in spades and diamonds.

Q. 6—As South, not vulnerable, you hold:
♠7 6 2 ♠KQ 10 9 7 3 ♠5 ♠Q 5 3
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South
2 NT Pass ?

What action do you take?
A.—Six hearts. Opposite a hand containing 25 points you could hardly miss making a slam.

Q. 7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠8 7 3 ♠AK 9 2 ♠KQ 10 3 ♠9 2
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♥ 1 ♠ Dble. 1 NT
Pass Pass Dble. 2 ♠

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. Despite the fact that it would be cheap to do so you must refrain from bidding two diamonds. Partner apparently has the opposition on the run and should not be deprived of the opportunity of doubling two clubs should his hand be suitable for that purpose.

Q. 8—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠4 ♠AK 10 9 8 ♠Q 7 6 ♠A 8 5 5
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♥ Pass 2 ♠ Pass
2 ♥ Pass 4 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—On the previous round of bidding you were obliged to indicate a minimum holding, the as a matter of fact it appears that your hand is considerably above minimum. The queen of diamonds has become promoted. Your assets are all gilt-edged. If partner has control of the spade suit, you should have a good chance for slam. The recommended bid is five clubs at this point. Partner will surely construe this as an ace showing bid with a suggestion of some holding in diamonds. He may then do as he chooses.

To Probe Empty Space At Top Of Cereal Box

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration announced today that it plans to investigate why there is so much empty space at the top of your cereal box.

The agency said that an 11-state survey two years ago showed that slack fill or empty space occupied 47 per cent of dry dessert mix packages.

Mint candies, vermicelli products and spaghetti products had 29 per cent slack fill; filled or leed cookies, 26 per cent; cake and cookie mixes, 18 per cent; corn breakfast foods, 12 per cent, and oak breakfast foods, 7 per cent.

"It is impossible to tell from this early information how much of the slack fill is useful and necessary and how much if any, is nonfunctional," said Acting Commissioner Sherwin Gardner.

A new study scheduled to begin in July will attempt to determine how much settling is unavoidable and how much protective packaging is needed, he said.

The survey indicated that some of the samples may have contained less food than the label indicated, Gardner said.

States chosen for the survey are Alabama, Florida, Idaho, Maryland, Minnesota, Missouri, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Texas, Wisconsin and Washington.

To Double-Cross Double-Parkers?

AUSTIN (AP) — Double-parkers here have been accustomed to returning to their cars to find tickets, but an assistant city attorney wants them to return to a bigger surprise—nothing.

Roving wreckers that could tow away double-parked cars or vehicles in loading zones might rid Austin streets of obstructing vehicles in short order, Michael L. Sampson thinks.

The wreckers would be equipped with two-way radios and would have to get police approval to tow a car, Sampson said, though the wreckers would be owned by private concerns and work on contract with the city. His proposals have been sent to Police Chief Bob Miles and Municipal Court Judge Allen Hill.

Lasso® hates Carelessweed!

Lasso, the preemergence herbicide from Monsanto controls Carelessweed as well as other broadleaf weeds and almost a dozen annual grasses that compete with cotton. What's more, Lasso doesn't carryover to harm rotational crops. So even if your cotton gets hailed out, you can come right back in with soybeans or corn. You don't have to incorporate Lasso, either. Apply it preemergence at planting and you're through.

This year, use Lasso. And get the Carelessweed before it gets your cotton.

ICCS To Probe Charges Planes Violate Agreement

SAIGON (AP) — The International Commission of Control and Supervision unanimously agreed today to investigate Viet Cong charges that U.S. planes attacked Communist territory in South Vietnam in violation of the cease-fire agreement.

The United States denied the charges in advance of the meeting today of the commission. Ambassador Michel Gauvin, chairman of the Canadian delegation, said the Viet Cong would have to guarantee the safety of the investigators. He added that as a result of a number of recent incidents commission members were "shy" about going to Viet Cong controlled areas. This was an obvious reference to several incidents in which ICCS helicopters were shot at while flying over territory controlled by the Viet Cong.

The Indonesian delegation proposed that the commission investigate Viet Cong charges that U.S. B52 bombers and F4 and F105 tactical fighter-bombers bombed areas three and four miles inside the South Vietnamese border along a 43-mile stretch of the frontier region with Cambodia.

their military committees to investigate the shelling on Sunday night of an ICCS compound. Ben Cat, 25 miles north of Saigon. A commission spokesman said three 105mm artillery shells heavily damaged the main headquarters building but caused no casualties. The South Vietnamese and the Viet Cong both denied the shells came from their guns.

A spokesman for the U.S. Embassy, advised of the latest action by the commission, stood by his earlier denial of the Viet Cong charges, adding: "Certainly anything the ICCS wants to do to supervise the cease-fire it should do. We don't have any objection. We certainly welcome any investigation."

NIT Victory To Weiskopf

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — "It was," said Tom Weiskopf, "a heck of a way to win a golf tournament."

But he wasn't complaining. "I don't want to be hypocritical. You got to feel happy. But it's a different kind of win."

The tall, blond Ohio strongman plucked the $150,000 Colonial National Invitation title from Bruce Crampton's hip pocket on the 72nd and final hole Sunday.

It was more a gift than theft, actually.

But Weiskopf quoted his old friend and fellow Ohio State alumnus, Jack Nicklaus, in summation:

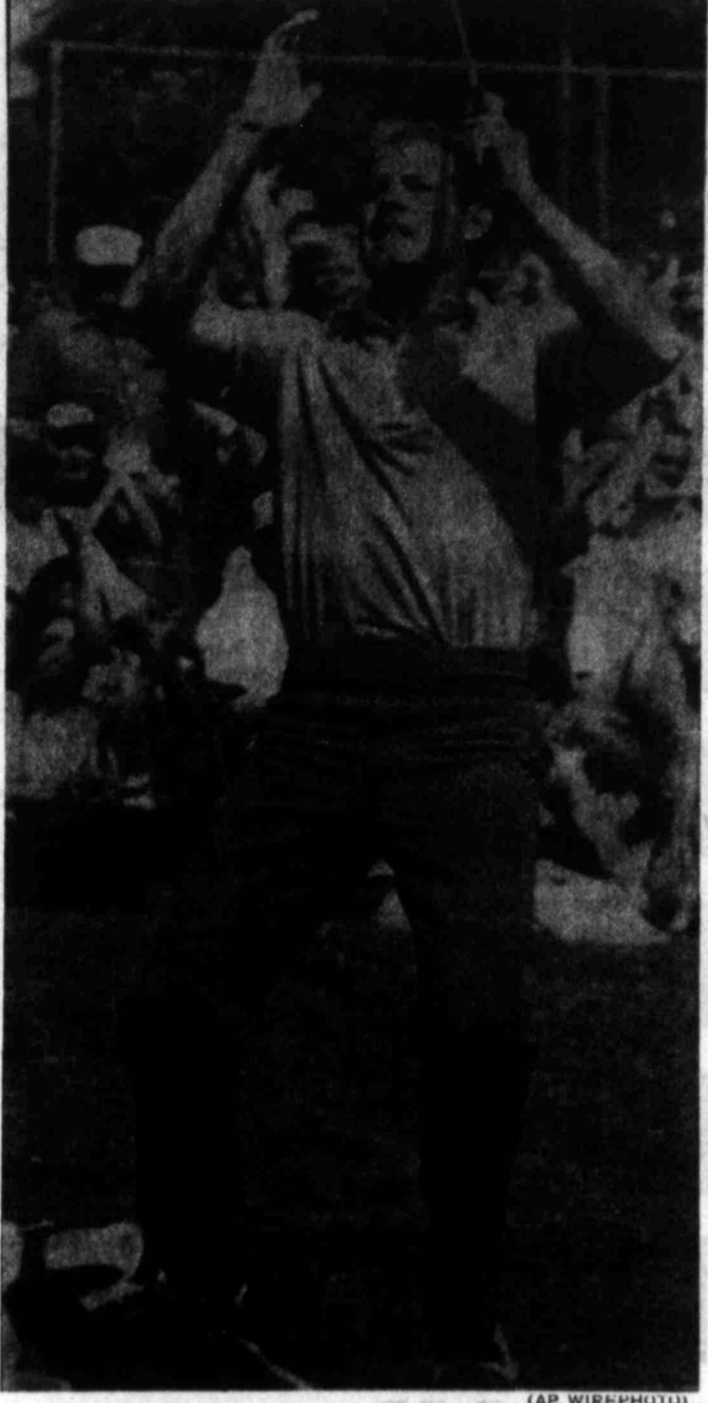

"A golf tournament is 72 holes. You have to play all of them. Your scores on the first hole is as important as your scores on the last."

And it was the last hole, where Crampton took a double-bogey six, that Weiskopf won the tournament, sitting at a folding chair behind the tree.

Weiskopf collected the $30,000 top prize by a stroke, finishing with a one-under-par 69 for 276, which included a par on the last hole, some 10 minutes before Crampton showed up.

Crampton, the leader for three rounds, drifted to a 73 which enabled defending champion Jerry Heard, with a birdie at the 18th, to tie for second at 277. Both earned $13,875.

It pushed Crampton's winnings to $167,543 for the year, still tops on the PGA circuit.

A WINNING PUTT—Tom Weiskopf reacts favorably after sinking a birdie putt in Sunday's final round of the Colonial National Invitational Tournament in Fort Worth. The action was on the 16th green when he tied leader Bruce Crampton. Later, Crampton bogied the 18th hole. Weiskopf shot a four-under par 276 for the tourney win.

Autos Too Fast, Says Rutherford

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — There apparently won't be any 200-mile-per-hour laps at Indianapolis Motor Speedway this May. And Johnny Rutherford, a cool-headed Texan who bears the scars of battle, could care less.

The 35-year-old veteran driver from Fort Worth, victim of a trail of broken engines and parts at Indianapolis over the years, captured the front row pole position for the May 20 500-mile race in first-round qualifying Saturday.

He did it by pushing his Team McLaren car around the 2.5-mile oval at a four-lap speed of 198.413 m.p.h. to top Bobby Unser's old 10-mile standard by almost three miles per hour. His fast lap of 199.071 m.p.h. missed the 200 mark by 21 one-hundredths of a second.

A few minutes later, Rutherford was telling newsmen: "It wouldn't hurt my feelings a bit if they slowed these cars down 20 miles an hour, or even more. We're going too fast for close competition."

The first weekend of qualifying for the world's richest auto race—the 1972 payoff exceeded $1 million for the second straight year—saw 30 drivers make the lineup, leaving only three spots to be filled in final runs next Saturday and Sunday.

The 30 qualifiers averaged a sizzling 192.572 m.p.h.—almost nine miles per hour faster than last year—and forecast a minimum speed of almost 190 even to make the field.

The weekend thus was a mixture of blazing speed, so high that even Rutherford was somewhat troubled, and tragedy.

Art Pollard, a 17-year veteran and one of the best liked drivers in racing, was killed in a searing, grinding crash of his Cobre-Eagle during a warmup session that preceded Saturday's initial qualifying runs.

Pollard, who had celebrated his 46th birthday in the garage area exactly a week before his death, was the 35th driver to lose his life at the nation's oldest racing facility.

Rankin Nabs Carling Title

BALTIMORE (AP) — Judy Rankin had to overcome a couple of tough obstacles to post a four-stroke victory in this year's $30,000 Lady Carling Open golf tournament.

Not only did the Midland golfer have to contend with the tricky greens at the municipal Pine Ridge Course while posting an even-par 73 Sunday for a 54-hole total of 215, but there was also the matter of only five hours sleep the night before.

"I really got frustrated with myself because I could have made it an impossible gap if I hadn't three-putted all day," said Mrs. Rankin, who started the final round with a three-stroke lead but needed three putts to get down on three of the first nine holes.

Mrs. Rankin explained that the five hours rest, about half her normal amount for a tournament night, resulted from an illness to her 5-year-old son, Tony.

Despite her putting problems, Mrs. Rankin was never seriously challenged Sunday.

Veteran Sandra Haynie birdied the 17th and 18th holes to take second place at even par 219.

Chippers 3rd In Tourney

JAMESA — The Morton Chippers claimed third place honors in the Jamesa Softball Tournament Saturday, downing the Odessa Hot Dogs 2-1 for the honors.

The Chippers had opened with an 8-2 triumph over the Lamesa Merchants, but bowed to Plains Co-Op 3-2 in the second match.

Danny Clendenin smacked a fifth-inning homerun and G. W. Utley and Don Stephens combined their mound talents for the victory as the Chippers upped their season mark to 12-6.

Don Miller added a triple and a single and Jackie Wolf had a pair of singles.

The Chippers exploded for six runs in the first inning against the Merchants on hits by Wolf, Utley, Bob Shy and Townsend. Shy had three hits to pace the triumph, while Utley picked up the win.

In the second game Wolf and Joe Sharpnack collected three safeties apiece and Stephens was on the mound as the Chippers fell 3-2 to the Plains unit in eight innings.

Aaron Picks Up 2 More On The Babe

On a day when tennis hustler Bobby Riggs struck a blow for the elderly men of America, baseball slugger Hank Aaron struck two blows for them.

Aaron, 39, is a kid compared to Riggs, 55. But he's in a daily battle with time and history, and, like Riggs, he won Sunday's showdown easily.

Aaron slugged a pair of home runs, one in each game, as the Atlanta Braves split a double-header with San Diego. The Braves wasted his two-run pinch homer in the ninth inning of the opener, losing 6-4. But his 10th homer of the season and No. 683 of his career helped Atlanta take the second game 6-2.

For the season, Aaron, steadily advancing on Babe Ruth's all-time homer record of 714, now has 22 hits, almost half of them homers. He now trails Ruth by 31.

In other National League games Sunday, New York downed Pittsburgh 6-4. Chicago swept a doubleheader from Philadelphia, 4-2 and 9-3. St. Louis edged Montreal 3-2. Cincinnati shut out Houston 2-0 and Los Angeles walloped San Francisco 15-3.

In the American League, California blanked Chicago 3-0. Minnesota shut out Kansas City 5-0. Boston defeated Cleveland 8-3. Milwaukee edged Detroit 6-5 in 10 innings. New York and Baltimore split a doubleheader, the Yankees taking the first game 4-0 but the Orioles capturing the second 9-6, and Texas downed Oakland 7-2.

Controversial Homer Lifts Reds By Astros

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston mail carrier Craig Conerly didn't realize when he bought bleacher seats for himself and his wife that they'd have the best seats in the Astrodome.

"That's how it turned out when a controversial homer run by Cincinnati's Bobby Tolan landed in Conerly's lap in what broke up a scoreless game and proved to be the crushing blow in a 2-0 shutout of Houston Astros Sunday.

Most of the fans sitting around Conerly thought the high fly was foul, spontaneously pointing to the foul side of rightfield. Conerly said it was fair, and more importantly, so did first base umpire Augie Donatelli, who ruled the ball curved around a screen in fair territory before falling out of bounds to Conerly.

Tolan's homer came in the fourth inning and broke up a scoreless pitching duel between the Reds' Jack Billingham and Houston's Ken Forsch.

"That's about the worst call I've ever seen in baseball," fumed Astro Manager Leo Durocher, who charged Donatelli like a mad bull. "I told him he was blind and he should have stayed retired. We could see it from the bench. Augie said the ball went around the screen."

A screen about two yards wide follows the inbounds line in rightfield straight up to the Astrodome ceiling to help umpires rule on fly balls.

Houston catcher John Edwards also ran for Donatelli after his call. "I couldn't believe he called it fair," Edwards said. "He said it curved around the screen but it didn't hook that much. It wasn't that type of ball. It was just real high."

Jack Billingham shut out Houston on four hits as the Reds blanked the Astros. Cincinnati's first run came on a disputed homer by Bobby Tolan with the Astros arguing that the ball was foul and first base umpire Augie Donatelli insisting it was fair.

Los Angeles erupted for nine runs and half of its 18 hits in the fourth inning to wipe out the Giants. Joe Ferguson had a three-run homer and Dave Lopes knocked in three runs with a homer and a single in the big inning for the Dodgers.

Chicago extended its winning streak to six games, sweeping two games from the Phillies.

Fergie Jenkins took the opener, in a showdown of Cy Young winners, besting Steve Carlton. Jose Cardenal and Rick Monday drilled a pair of two-run homers to ease the Cubs to their second game victory.

Bernie Carbo's bases-loaded, two-out single, delivered two runs and climaxed a three-run, 10th rally in the eighth inning as the Cardinals overtook Montreal.

Cards Roll By Abilene

Big Spring Cardinal bats boomed again Sunday, and the unbeaten Cards trounced the Abilene Camellions 16-1 and 14-0 in a doubleheader at Steer Park.

Jody Florez tossed a four-hitter in winning the opener, and Bill Pineda and Jessie Zapata each collected four hits to lead the way at the plate as the Cardinals upped their season mark to 4-0.

Andy Gamboa managed three hits and Pat Martinez added a pair in the 12-hit attack.

In the second game, with the 10-run rule in effect, it took just five innings for Orlando Olague to dispose of the enemy, and the Cards took advantage of the visitors' errors and walks for the win. The Cardinals had just four hits, all singles.

Olague also allowed one hit and struck out six.

Texas Newcomer Siebert Gets Win

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Sonny Siebert had pitched 2 2/3 innings in eight weeks. His last start was in early September, 1972.

So, Texas Manager Whitey Herzog warned the 36-year-old righthander who the Rangers acquired from Boston 10 days ago that he was only going to let him pitch three or four innings Sunday night against the Oakland A's.

"That was all I felt he could throw," Herzog said. "Then, I saw how strong he was and decided to give him a chance to get a win and stretch out his arm a little more after we got an early lead. As it turned out, he might have been able to pitch as many as six innings. But I don't want him getting hurt so I pulled him."

Despite surrendering two runs in the sixth, reliever Bill Gogolewski got a save as Siebert pitched 2 2/3 innings in the A's, 7-2.

"I appreciated the opportunity to start, even though I had only pitched 2 2/3 innings in something like eight weeks," said Siebert, now 1-1. "Herzog could have worked me out of the bullpen for two weeks until I stretched my arm out, but he showed a lot of confidence in me. My arm felt great."

Hilton's Kick Tops; ASU's Okyr Hits 9.3 In 'Champs'

PASADENA, Tex. (P) — When Olympian Leonard Hilton says his kick is the best part of his race there are plenty of amens.

If further prove is needed, ask Allan Walker, John McKinnon or Dave Wottle.

Hilton gave fans at the 17th annual Meet of Champions demonstrations Saturday when he came zipping down the stretch like a sprinter to win the mile and three-mile races.

Hilton, who has a personal best of 3:57.5, started his spurt 110 yards out in the mile event and blew past Wichita State's Walker to win in 4:05.7 with 10 yards to spare.

The former University of Houston star out it much closer in the 3-mile but the result was the same. Hilton nipped Louisiana State's McKinnon at the tape for a 13:55.8 victory. McKinnon also was clocked in 13:55.8.

McKinnon had a 30-yard lead over Hilton when he started his kick about 120 yards from the finish line.

"If Hilton makes up his mind to do it, he can run in the 3:56," Johnny Morris, Hilton's former coach said. "He's got so much strength right now and he just needs to add speed."

"His biggest trouble is he needs to get confidence in the mile like he has in the three mile."

Angelo State's Kofi Okyr, who is unbeaten in 13 straight 100-yard dash races, barreled to a 9.3 clocking to break out of a 9.4 run. ASU Coach David Nobles said Okyr had a string of 9.4 centuries, even into the wind.

Hilton used a longer kick from 300 yards out, to upset Wottle at the Kansas Relays and Hilton says he's looking forward to a return meeting, which he'll get in Los Angeles May 27.

Hilton was accused of tricking Wottle in their meeting at the Kansas Relays for starting his kick so early. Morris told Hilton to use the surprise factor. "He'll be ready the next time, but I'm working on a little something," Hilton said.

Rule Fete Slated

RULE — Former Colorado City coach Truman Nix will be the guest speaker at the Rule All-Sports Banquet at 8 p.m. Friday in the Rule school cafeteria.

Cardinals, Pirates Notch Wild Little League Wins

Kevin McLaughlin hurled a one-hitter and his teammates backed him up with 12 hits as the Cardinals walloped the Lions 17-0 in a National League tit Saturday.

Meanwhile, the Pirates were exploding past the Hawks 17-4 in the American League.

Carl Gresham stroked two home runs and McLaughlin added another round-tripper in the victory as the Cards upped their season mark to 4-2. Jerry Monje also had a pair of hits for the winners, and Barry Fish, Billy Odell, Scott Moore, Jim Skeen, Deryl Anderson and Rocky Bryant all managed one safety.

Jeff Scott was the only Lion to get a hit off McLaughlin, who fanned 14 batters. Jim Ellison was the losing pitcher.

Alexander stroked three safeties and Watkins, Overman and Marquez all added two as the Bucs smacked the Hawks and lifted their season standing to 3-3-1. Marquez also got credit for the victory on the mound, while Touchstone was the loser.

Also picking up hits for the Pirates were Rodriguez, Boadle, Richards and Eastman.

In a National Minor League game Saturday, the Hawks claimed their sixth win without a loss by outlasting the Astros 19-10. Ben Watson was the winning pitcher and Terry Spear suffered the loss, while Neil Farquay notched a home run for the Astros in the loss. Terry Everts and Matt Taylor paced the Hawks.

Hilton was accused of tricking Wottle in their meeting at the Kansas Relays for starting his kick so early. Morris told Hilton to use the surprise factor. "He'll be ready the next time, but I'm working on a little something," Hilton said.

Riggs Strikes A Forehand For Manhood

RAMONA, Calif. (AP) — As an early ancestor of Bobby Riggs might have put it, the race is not always to the swift.

"She's better than me in every department," the frail-looking, 55-year-old Riggs said Sunday after seemingly proving just the opposite in his celebrated match with women's tennis champion Margaret Court.

Putting his racket and court wisdom where his mouth was in issuing a challenge to all women players, Riggs scored an effortless 6-2, 6-1 victory and pocketed $10,000, plus another $7,500 from television coverage.

"She has a better serve, a better volley, a better forehand, a better backhand," Riggs said. "But the question is, can you pull that game out when you need it? Can you play your best when the money's on the line?"

"Margaret's a great player and a great sport. But in this kind of contest, you know, the battle of the sexes, match of the century, talkathon and all that, she was out of her depth."

Riggs started his "attack" Sunday with a bouquet of roses for his opponent on Mother's Day. "Do you think this will often her up?" he asked.

Then, against the slashing letter volley, a better forehand, shots of the 30-year-old Mrs. Court, a rangy Australian at the peak of her career, Riggs offered patty-cake tennis. He hit spinning chops and lobs to the back line, a floating serve that broke like a sidearm curve ball, a drop shot that seemed to clear the net by mistake and died like a pitch shot on a wet green.

He ran her from one side to the other, toyed with her big serve until she started to miss with it, fed her overheads that she netted or hit out of court, joined with the crowd in applauding her winners, and made the world's best woman player—maybe the best ever—look very much out of her league.

She won only two games on her service and a third when Riggs, playing to the camera and a largely pro-Court crowd of 3,500, nearly missed the ball on an exaggerated spinshot and committed his only doublefault.

"He kept changing his pace and breaking up my rhythm," man, or maybe not as good," Mrs. Court said afterward. "I started badly and never got into the match."

Two years ago Riggs said he'd like to play the top-ranked woman, Billie Jean King, "every day and twice on Sunday."

The remark eventually led to Sunday's match with Mrs. Court, after Mrs. King rejected the challenge. As Riggs intended, his victory cast a reflection on all of women's tennis.

"I guess it proves that the top ladies are about equal to a 15-year-old boy or a 55-year-old man, or maybe not as good," commented Jack Kramer, the former star who promoted both men's and women's pro-tennis several years ago.

"That's the way those women should play Margaret," said Riggs. "Give her a lot of deep, high, slow stuff. I just played my sloppy, municipal park game. I didn't have to hit a really good shot all day."

THE GRACIOUS RIGGS—Bobby Riggs, who had just pushed the net down a bit to leap over it, congratulates Australia's Margaret Court for her womanly effort after beating her 6-2, 6-1 in their $10,000 game at Ramona, Calif. Sunday. She is 25 years his junior and the world's best woman player.

Is Winchester strictly a His and Ms. proposition?

Let's start with the juiciest part: the proposition. We didn't set out to be a his & hers smoke. Frankly, we thought of Winchester as largely for male chauvinist smokers—and maybe a few leathery, liberated ladies. So we made Winchester masculine, but mild. And light. With a sensuous taste that separated the men from the boys. But, surprisingly, not from the girls.

Even women with bras and bridges to burn tried it. And liked it. Because Winchester's not a cigarette. Not just another little cigar. It's a whole 'nother smoke. For a whole 'nother kind of Smokers' Lib.

Winchester. It's a whole 'nother smoke.

Smith Tops Ashe For WCT Riches

DALLAS (AP) — The World Championship of Tennis finals proved three things Sunday: Stan Smith is the No. 1 player, Australian dominance in the sport may be taking a nose-dive, and Arthur Ashe has to be the unluckiest person ever to lose $30,000.

Smith claimed the $50,000 first prize 6-3, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4 from good friend Ashe, who had to settle for $20,000 and cheers from 8,500 fans in Moody Coliseum, who thought he was robbed in the 10th game of the deciding fourth set.

Ashe double faulted to make the crucial game deuce after a controversy on his first serve. Smith made it his ad on a ball many thought had bounced twice. Then Ashe clubbed a forehand too long on the match winner.

Slow motion replays of the double-bounce controversy showed the ball up when Smith returned the winner.

"I was glad to find out I did hit the ball on the first bounce," Smith said. "It would have been worse to win the match on an incorrect call than to lose the match for $50,000."

Ashe only half-heartedly played the point because "I didn't think he hit the ball on the first bounce. I just hit up a lob and asked the umpire (Mike Blanchard) if it was good. The television replay showed it was."

On the fault call, Smith said "I thought the first serve was out. One linesman said he didn't see it and asked help from the other linesman, who called it out."

Once the controversies were ironed out Smith, who played collegiately at Southern California and has now won $154,109 in his first year on the WCT tour, said "I feel comfortable in saying I might be the No. 1 player in the world now."

Australians Ken Rosewall, who won the first two WCT tournaments, and Rod Laver, twice the runnerup, were both ousted in the semifinals.

Thirty One Jewels Wins In Riley Allison Futurity

SUNLAND PARK, N.M. — Thirty One Jewels, a filly originally purchased for $9,000, turned in a spectacular performance while flashing to a 4 1/2 length victory in Sunday's season-closing Riley Allison Thoroughbred Futurity at Sunland Park.

The filly fought a crushing headwind throughout the stretch run, but clocked the five-furlong distance in a fast 56 3/5 seconds. This knocked a fifth of a second off the track record.

The victory was worth a winner's slice of $57,147 out of the gross purse of $124,282 — the richest in the history of thoroughbred racing at Sunland Park.

Don Lewis had few problems in guiding the winner, owned by Lola Geary of Clayton, N.M., and trained by her husband J. C. Geary.

Thirty One Jewels was picked as the 3-2 second favorite and returned wagering prices of $5, $3, and $3. Mink and Wine, the public choice ridden by Jerry Nicodemus for Dr. Leopoldo Villareal of El Paso, ended up second and earned $22,856. Fans who backed Mink and Wine in the setting collected $2.80 and $3.40.

Rain Wets West Texas

By The Associated Press
Light rain splattered down on wide portions of West, Northwest and North Texas early today as cloudiness enveloped most of the rest of the state. Only the immediate coastal regions and some parts of East Texas enjoyed clear skies at 5 a.m.

While precipitation fell during the early morning hours in Northwest and West Texas, winds of up to 51 miles per hour were reported at the Guadalupe Pass community by the weather service office at El Paso.

The early morning wetness in the west was a continuation of Sunday's weather. While the eastern half of the state was generally clear to partly cloudy Sunday, thunderstorms reached severe intensity in Southwest Texas and heavy rains fell in Northwest Texas.

Early today, temperatures ranged from the mid 40s in the Panhandle to the mid 60s in some coastal sections. Most readings were in the 50s, however.

Weathermen predicted only minor temperature changes over the state today, with scattered, mostly light rain expected to continue in western and northern sections of the state.

BLIND MOUNTAINEERS—Six blind students from the Washington State School for the Blind in Vancouver climbed Mt. Hood in the Oregon Cascades Sunday. In background are three members of the 11-member team that led them up. Two boys with glasses are legally blind although capable of some vision. They are shown at the summit.

'Agony And The Pleasure' Of Blind Mountaineers

TIMBERLINE LODGE, Ore. (AP) — "One of them was 13, and I don't know of any other 13-year-old kids myself who can make that mountain," said a climber who had just come down 11,235-foot Mt. Hood with six blind teen-agers.

"These kids are far and above the John Doe kid out on the street," he said. "I mean, they have the will the drive..." Sunday was a windy day on the mountain and by midday the snow turned to mush under the springtime sun.

The six climbers never experienced the dizzying effect of looking down from great heights, and they never saw the surrounding forest below and three nearby peaks almost as high as Mt. Hood.

But they did experience what one of the 11 seasoned climbers who accompanied them called "the agony and the pleasure" of reaching their last ounce of energy and then going just a little further.

All six reached the summit. "Did the girls tell you that they didn't think they were going to make it?" asked Steve Small, one of the accompanying climbers. "I didn't think so either. But they did."

"There was never a whimper or complaint out of any of them," 30-year-old Joe Johann said. His father, Ed, led the climb.

"I'd ask them if they wanted to rest and they'd say yes, but they'd never bring it up them-selves," the younger Johann added.

"I think that it was fun," said one of the two girls who climbed the mountain, 12-year-old Teresa Clay.

The other girl, 13-year-old All six are students at the Viola Cruz, was asked whether she would go again. "Sure ... Blind in Vancouver. On a clear any day!" she replied.

"The boys were like moun- from the school.

Cotton Section In Bill Causes Numerous Raps

LUBBOCK — The cotton section of the farm bill reported May 8 by the Senate agriculture committee "is a far cry from an extension of the present program, which had industry-wide support," said Donald Johnson. "It has features we will not want to support without careful study."

Sen. Herman Talmadge, democratic committee chairman from Georgia, repeatedly voiced the intent and belief that the committee would report a simple extension of the current law. No one outside committee membership had any advance notice or opportunity to comment on the committee's May 8 action, Johnson pointed out.

Full details of the bill, which Talmadge hopes to get on the Senate floor by June 1, are not yet known, but it is understood that price support payments for cotton would be the difference between a 43-cent "target price" and the average spot market price for strict low middling 1-1/16 inch cotton, 3.5 to 4.9 microns, for the first five months (August through December) of the cotton marketing year.

This could average out slightly higher than the flat 15 cents per pound payment for Plains cotton under the 1970 act, but there are factors which could hammer down this figure. Johnson warned, also, that the 43-cent target already is under attack by those who want it to be 35 cents.

Sex Discrimination In Armed Forces Overturned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today overturned armed forces regulations that deny equal treatment to women members in receiving dependent benefits for their husbands.

In an oddly mixed vote, the high court, 8-1, found in favor of Air Force Lt. Sharon A. Frontiero who sued to gain the same housing and medical allowances for her husband that are granted automatically to the wives of male members of the service.

Armed forces regulations do not make the benefits available for husbands unless they depend on their servicewomen wives for support.

The decision, however, was not the bold affirmation of equal rights for women that some had hoped for. Four Justices, William J. Brennan Jr., William O. Douglas, Byron R.

White and Thurgood Marshall, ranked discrimination based on sex with discrimination based on race or national origin.

"There can be no doubt that our nation has had a long and unfortunate history of sex discrimination," the four said.

"Traditionally, such discrimination was rationalized by an attitude of 'romantic paternalism' which, in practical effect, put women not on a pedestal, but in a cage."

As a result of such misplaced notions, "our statute books gradually became laden with gross stereotypical distinctions between the sexes, and, indeed, throughout much of the 19th century the position of women in our society was, in many respects, comparable to that of blacks under the pre-Civil War slave codes," wrote Brennan for the four.

Roadrunner May Make It Yet

Rep. Elmer Martin of Colorado City switched his vote recently to give the roadrunner the crucial nod in the running for official state bird in a House Environmental Affairs Committee vote.

Apparently, the mockingbird may have to leave the cozy official nest given to it in 1927 by the Fortieth Legislature if HCR 148 authored by Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas passes the full House.

Martin's vote switch got the committee out of a parliamentary tangle which might have left the roadrunner in a stalemate position as far as official status goes.

200 Horse Lovers Protest Slaughter

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 200 horse lovers, many of them mounted and wearing Western clothes, protested on Sunday the slaughter of American horses for consumption in Europe and Japan.

Organizers of the peaceful demonstration at the Capitol said that about 10 months ago Canadian slaughterers started buying American horses at the rate of 20,000 a month and exporting the frozen meat.

"We feel our horses are going on the tables of Europe," said Nila Conover, who led a new Jersey delegation. "If we don't get it stopped there won't be any pleasure horses left in two or three years."

The demonstrators presented a petition with 5,000 signatures to Sen. Richard Schweiker, R-Pa., sponsor of a bill to ban the sale of horses for human consumption.

Crazy Play Day Set Saturday

The public is invited to watch and participate in a crazy play day sponsored by the Howard County Sheriff's Posse at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Events will be held at the Posse arena on the Andrews Highway.

Events include the rida-buck, balloon race, tunnel race and even one for persons without a horse, said Mrs. Ruby Allred, organization reporter from Ackery.

Awards will be given, and the concession stand will be open.

'Tendency To Protect Office Of President'

LONDON (AP) — Democratic Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia said today the Watergate scandal is the result of President Nixon "isolating himself from the people" and making decisions with "a substantial amount of secrecy."

Carter said, however, that he thinks the President will weather the scandal. He assured Britons, "There is no danger of the government of the United States being changed. We have a strong tendency to protect the office of the President."

"I think that President Nixon has learned his lesson. He has always had an inclination to isolate himself . . . During the last election he carried it to the extremes, isolating himself from the people," he told an airport news conference on his arrival at the start of a goodwill and trade-seeking tour of Western Europe and the Middle East.

"He took away a substantial degree of the power of the Cabinet office and gave it to four or five people, most of whom were involved in Watergate. There were infrequent press conferences and decisions were made with a substantial degree of secrecy. I believe that the President has now seen the dangers involved in being insular."

Carter called the Watergate affair "an aberration of the political scene that is unprecedented . . ."

He added that it also is a "demonstration in some degree of credit to our country. Some of the most powerful people in our nation attempted to conceal it but our strong free press and the insistence of our people in getting facts will in the end reveal the complete truth about it."

VANDALISM

Kathy Fletcher, 1707 E. 15th St., reported at 12:16 p.m. Saturday vandalism to her car. The car had been entirely scratched with a sharp instrument. Value of damage undetermined.

Gaylon Hail of Midland, reported Saturday morning that a number of articles had been taken from his pickup which had broken down Friday night 15 miles out on Highway 350. On returning Saturday to the pickup that he saw two windows had been broken out and the lock on a tool box broken. An undetermined amount of hand tools, several paint brushes, a spare tire and an automatic pistol had been taken.

Abel Green Dies

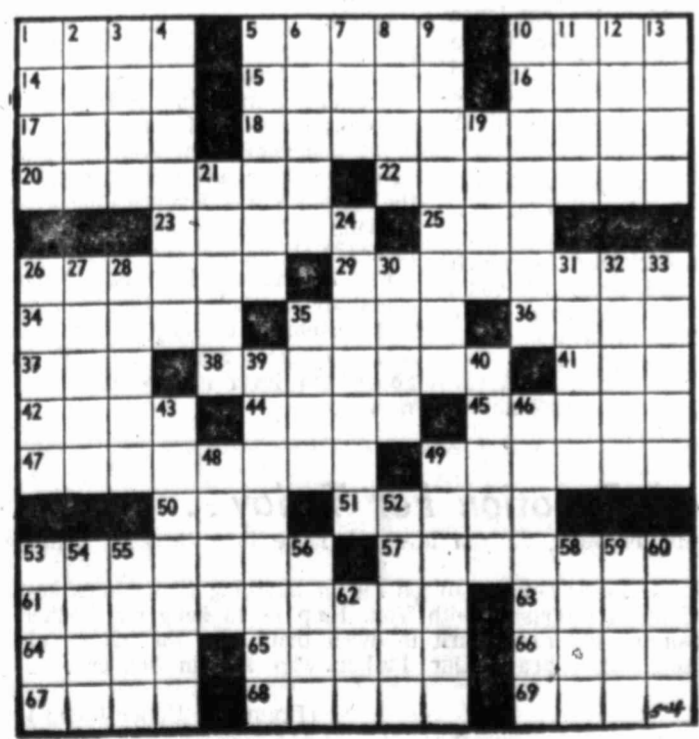

NEW YORK (AP) — Abel Green, 72, editor of Variety the past 40 years, died of a heart attack at his home Thursday night. Friend of the stars of Broadway and Hollywood, the editor of the show business weekly recently said he'd rather "wear out than rust out . . ."

Not Necessarily So

Kemper Williams Jr., mayor of Victoria, in an appearance before the Texas Constitution Revision Commission hearing in San Antonio, repeated the thesis that local government is necessarily the best and most responsive kind. He proposed a repetition of the (federal) 10th amendment in the new Texas constitution yet to be shaped. In short, it would say that "powers not delegated to the State of Texas by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to local government, are reserved to the local governments or to the people."

Perhaps there would be no harm in placing in the Texas Constitution an approximation of the 10th Amendment. It would take years, though, to plumb the constitutional depths of such an amendment.

But local government is not always as responsive nor as excellent as its upholders contend.

Schools are a good example. Why was it necessary to create the Texas Education Agency, for instance? Because too many local school boards, usually reflecting the mood of the community, refused to bear the tax burdens of educational excellence. Standards had to be set up in such areas as libraries, course offerings, playground space, teachers, and requirements for diplomas. Local school districts in many cases were simply unwilling or unable to meet the demands of changing times.

Why, for instance, is the county jail system in Texas so notoriously bad? Because the jails are left to the administration of officers who, in some cases, are more concerned with saving money than in reforming evils. The State of Texas has set standards for jails, of course, but no provision for enforcing those standards. Experts in correctional matters agree substantially that disgraceful conditions in county jails can never be improved until the state rigidly enforces standards, and makes jails something more than just a place for warehousing prisoners.

Why is it that the cities have to look to the state and to the federal government for help in solving the problems of slums, of urban renewal, of water supply and sewage disposal systems, and for caring for the needy? Could it be that city governments cannot solve these problems in the face of taxpayer resistance?

The problems of the mid-Twentieth Century are such as to make local solutions inadequate or impossible, even if local government was perfect.

Delayed Publication?

Theodore H. White has a problem. He has been working on a book "The Making of the President 1972," the latest of a series he has written. Now he hardly knows where to begin, much less end.

The Watergate affair is his nemesis. It wouldn't be surprising if White doesn't finish his book until 1976, at the time when another in the presidential election series would be due. The tangled skein of who did what to whom can hardly be unraveled for at least two years.

Gambling Addiction

Around The Rim

Tommy Hart

One thing and another:

Do you feel on Saturday night the way you used to feel on Monday morning? That may be a sure sign the years are stretching out behind you.

Now that your Social Security taxes have been increased, does it make you feel any more secure?

EXPERIENCED gamblers will tell you there's never been a winner in their dodge, whether he plays the horses, leans heavily on the hole card or tries to beat the point spread in professional football games. "It's a sucker trap all the way," is the way one individual puts it.

Boredom turns most people to gambling and the disease, in time, becomes harder to beat than whiskey.

GAMBLING supplies one with an artificial 'high.' Men who frequent the card or dice tables are more interested in those endeavors than they are women because the thrill lasts longer. It can be sustained for hours. Such a thing, of course, doesn't happen in sex.

It was Nick The Greek, whose odds were widely quoted, who said that a beautiful woman could walk naked around a race track when the horses were about to leave the chute, and no one would notice.

IT WAS also the Greek who wryly remarked:

"No system works. Not even the solar system."

The female isn't immune from the bite of the betting bug, let it be added. Because they have more leisure time, five times more women than men turn to gambling. Even friendly bridge games are gambling if they are played for money, and invariably they evolve that way. Most of the bridge players wind up losing more than they can afford.

THERE ARE reportedly nine million compulsive gamblers in America. When you consider the fact that each compulsive gambler takes down five to 30 people with him, the results are staggering.

Love of the purple grape is bad enough but the losses Americans suffer in gambling are incalculable. Gambling sustains big time crime.

How much money has been embezzled from companies by employees who tapped the till to pay off gambling debts?

THE STATES which sponsor lotteries (as a means of raising tax revenue) are contributing to the problem which afflicts all of America. The winners in such games are well publicized but the odds are so astronomical they border on the impossible. You win and, right away, you pay more than half back in taxes and invariably the kind of people who win go back to the betting window and, likely as not, wind up broke and in debt.

NEVADA, the 'in' place to visit with a lot of people, is actually nothing but a wart on the face of civilization, a sort of free state for hoods and police types that are not welcome elsewhere.

Churches condone gambling when they sponsor bingo games. For that reason, their people have no right to decry the consequences of gambling from their pulpits.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

I have reason to suspect that my 17-year-old son is on drugs. Is there any way to tell? Nobody here seems to know what to do.

W.T.

Probably the most frustrated person around today is the adult not knowing what to do about a family member taking drugs.

There are indeed signs of impending drug addiction, perhaps a dozen according to some experts. I think any change in mood, behavior or attitude is a tip-off to some problem. With the use of drugs, you may observe failing memory, a hypersensitivity, feelings of persecution, as well as a recurring drowsiness. Depending on what narcotic your son is using, and how, you may find needle marks on arms and legs.

If you discover that he has been taking drugs, try to communicate their danger to him. Above all, be forgiving, loving and understanding, yet vehement in your warning of the tragedy he is courting. Check on whether you or some family condition has contributed to his alienation. While there is a mystery about just why people take drugs, it comes from some deficiency, and a reaching out for thrills, help and hope.

I know personally of one drug treatment center where the only approach is to offer the new life of faith in Christ. It recognizes that the drug user needs "power," that is, power to resist evil and choose the good. That comes only with a spiritual solution. Their rate of cure incidentally tops most other institutions. Try to arrange for immediate help from a physician or treatment center, but his greatest need is to let God "Make all things new" (Revelation 21:5).

Walking On Eggs

By Rowland Evans
And Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Another daring raid by Israel against an Arab state that harbors Palestinian guerrillas is now being secretly plotted by Israel's high-flying military strategists against Libya, the rich and unpredictable oil state far to Israel's west.

THE MERE fact that such a beard-singeing military strike that far west is even being considered by the exuberant young Sparta of the Middle East, on the heels of the midnight strike against the capital of Lebanon to Israel's north last month, is final evidence of Israel's total military hegemony over the Arab world today. The degree to which Israel is exhibiting a willingness to use that military power is now beginning to deeply worry some U.S. strategists.

The targets in Libya are commando training centers near the city of Benghazi in the eastern part of the country, not far from the border of Egypt. To reach that far with its U.S.-supplied military aircraft, the Israelis are now working out new techniques for refueling their short-range fighters and fighter-bombers so they can handle the round trip.

THE ISRAELIS, who operate the most efficient intelligence service in the world, are convinced — and surely correctly so — that Libya is the single most prolific source of training for the Palestinian guerrillas and terrorists in the world.

Hence, in the Israeli view, a military strike against the 2,000 or so Palestinians in camps near Benghazi — and perhaps a nose-thumbing bomb drop against the old royal cadet school there where President Quaddafi and his Young Turk revolutionary military men who run Libya were trained — would be a natural extension of Israeli policy.

BUT THE effect of such a daring use of its military machine to teach a lesson to the rich but backward country of Libya would once again be to widen further the already large gap between the U.S. and a few Arab countries still regarded as U.S. friends. They are, most conspicuously, Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and Lebanon.

Moreover, two of these few friends of the U.S. left in the overwhelmingly Arab Middle East, Kuwait and Saudi Arabia, are becoming strategically important if not vital to Washington because they have vast oil reserves while the U.S. is running out.

WITH ISRAEL operating largely under military power supplied all these years by the U.S., and not averse to flaunting that power in the face of the Arab, it becomes more difficult each day for the governments of Saudi Arabia and Kuwait to justify doing oil business with the U.S.

Thus, some highly placed U.S. strategists are more seriously worried about the free-wheeling military probes and commando raids by Israel against the Arabs than at any time since Israel's victory in the 1967 war. For the likely result of Israeli attacks against an Arab neighbor is precisely what happened after Israeli commandos attacked Beirut on April 9: the government was forced to resign, the Palestinians (who had been completely tame along the Israeli-Lebanese border for months) attacked the small Lebanese army and the country has been caught in a vicious crossfire ever since.

BUT IN THE long run, the Arab oil states will come under irresistible pressure to retaliate. With a world oil shortage they could easily dispose of their oil to Japan and Western Europe and boycott the American market.

As the Emir of Kuwait said recently in the interview with a Lebanese newspaper unmentioned here: "This is a matter (cutting off oil to pressure the U.S.) to which we are already committed. We will use oil as an effective weapon" if the battle starts.

Shorter Stays In Hospitals

LONDON (AP) — Britain has speeded up the turnover of hospital patients.

The number of hospital beds by nine per cent between 1959 and 1971, and the number of hospital beds by six per cent, but the flow of patients rose by one-third to more than 5.5 million a year. The average stay in the hospital fell from about 38 days to 24 days, the Department of Health and Social Security reported.

Hal Boyle

25-Year-Club Gigs

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks you're bound to hear at the annual dinner party of an office 25-year-club:

"They used to give you a gold watch after 25 years. Now you're lucky if they give you the time."

"Take it easy on the stuffed clams, Sam. Remember, we had to take you to the hospital on the way home last year."

"I can understand a guy taking home a piece of leftover steak in a doggy bag, but Jake — that pennyante piker — beats anything I ever heard of. He brings a gunny sack and totes home enough groceries to feed his family for a month."

"I hear they're going to announce a 10 per cent cut in our bonus."

"I heard they aren't planning to give me at all."

"Why is it all you talk about lately, Jim, is what you plan to do when you get your pension? Don't you realize you've been on a free ride here since the first day you walked into the office?"

"Better start making the drinks a little smaller, Joe, or else we'll have a job absenteeism rate of 90 per cent tomorrow."

"Come on, Joe, pour a little booze in there. I think it ought at least cover the bottom of the glass. That last drink you gave me wouldn't souse a mouse."

"If any of those morale boys in the personnel department start trying to sing what a jolly good fellow our new president, is, I'm going to start a mass walkout."

"All I hope is that those guys in the stock department don't start throwing things to liven up the joint. Last year I caught a baked potato in the eye."

"Who do you suppose they've picked this year to give the speech on how we have to start cutting down on the number of paper towels we use in the men's washroom?"

"The only reason I come to these shindigs anyway is to laugh at how much older these freeloaders look each year."

"If anybody seriously started to cut out the deadwood in this group, it would sound like a whole forest being chopped down."

"No, I'm not Jeepers in Planning — I'm Hoppers in Sales. Try to get my name straight by next year, will you? You've been mixing me up with that other guy for 10 years — and he's been dead for five of them." "Hey, Sid, when I get the bartender's attention, grab a bottle and slip it under your coat so we'll have something to nip on when the speeches start."

"They say us 25-year-men are the backbone of the organization, but what kind of an organization is it that has a backbone made of jellyfish?"

"I don't feel like an honored veteran. I feel like a feeble survivor."

"All right, all right, who's the smart aleck who turned my plate upside down right after I finished filling it up?"

"I guess it's time to lock up Jones. There are a couple of gaffers sleeping it off under a rug in the corner — but that's the way these parties always wind up."

Could Be Emphysema

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Two years ago my husband developed a dry cough. After our family doctor could find no cause, we went to a throat specialist. No results.

Then we went for a chest X-ray, which was negative. Now we wonder what to do next. It does not interfere with his sleep, so we figure it is not a bed pillow ailery. MRS. M.J.H.

Don't rule out emphysema, even though those tests a couple of years ago showed nothing amiss.

Emphysema can start out as a cough and not be apparent from X-rays or physical examinations in the early stages. A lung function test would be in order for your husband.

I don't want to alarm you or to send everyone who reads this and has a dry cough to go packing off to a doctor for a lung function test.

But if your husband's cough has lasted two years, as you say, then you should be getting concerned about what is causing it. Two years is just too long.

Allergy can't be ruled out, of course. This could cause a nasal drainage which could produce a cough that might sound "dry." As a matter of fact, such a condition could cause a cough that might subside when he is lying down and be touched off when he stands up.

Finally (and here's something that is not often considered but can be a definite factor) has your husband put on an excessive amount of extra weight in the past few years? The accumulation of fat in the neck area could cause such a condition. Wax or a hair touching the eardrum also can cause a dry cough.

Except in the case of an allergy, it shouldn't be all that difficult to find the cause of the cough.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am in the care of a podiatrist and have been for several years. I have bunions, spurs and buritis. The podiatrist assures me that surgery would give me such relief.

However, friends tell me I need a bone specialist, as there could be serious results. I maintain that a licensed podiatrist knows perhaps more than a bone specialist. I would like an answer as soon as possible. Which is more capable?—L.H.

I've long tried to take a position exactly in the middle on this — that either one is capable of handling foot surgery. Most certainly, both have been trained for it. In your case, I'd add this: your podiatrist, having been treating you for some time, is more familiar with your particular case than anyone else, so I'd stay with him.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My mother, now 91, has a problem. Not a problem, but a worry. Years before I was born, she lost three children in infancy. She believes the babies died from "poison" milk because she was pregnant again.

When she found her granddaughter was nursing her baby, she hoped she "wouldn't get pregnant and kill it." I've tried to convince her that wasn't the cause of the babies' dying, but she still believes it.—N.H.

You are quite right, of course. Nature doesn't "poison the milk," and back when those babies were dying, infant mortality was vastly higher than it is today. (We can still stand some improvement, though!)

No Guarantees

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans have long been accustomed to obtaining guarantees or warranties, which are the same thing, for products ranging upward in price from bubble gum and shoe laces.

Oddly, on the biggest purchase of a lifetime, which is almost always a house, Americans are neither offered nor do they expect a guarantee from the builder regarding materials and workmanship.

As this decade began, there were about 63.4 million occupied dwelling units in the country, and close to 63 per cent of them were owner occupied. Since then, about 5 million units have been built, few of them guaranteed.

In some communities, insurance programs have been developed to offset the absence of guarantees, and there is some likelihood that they could be developed on a national basis.

Now, however, the National Association of Home Builders is planning its own program, which buyers would join on a voluntary basis and presumably pay for. Following a study in January, the association now declares the plan feasible.

As described by George Martin, president, it would provide a 10-year warranty protection backed by a successful program now operating in Britain.

The study, now being analyzed by actuaries, is described as being a prime subject for decision at the NAHB directors meeting, scheduled for later this month.

And there's no question at all that it is ripe also for consumer acceptance. Housing costs are rising. Repair costs are rising. And, many homeowners claim, workmanship is declining.

The NAHB denies this. Martin told a meeting of mortgage lenders last week that such charges "strike at our pride."

The overwhelming number of NAHB members, he said, "are not simply building houses like they used to, but are building them immeasurably better, using all the latest materials and techniques available and permitted to us."

Whether or not this is so, the more than 60 per cent of American families who live in their own homes know that frequent repairs are needed and that a visit from the doctor is often less costly than a visit from the plumber.

Whose Responsibility Is It?

Hired as floor manager in a department store, Phyllis asked where she should leave her new fur coat during working hours. Since there were no more lockers available, she was told to leave the coat in a corridor closet.

A FEW DAYS later, the coat was stolen from the closet. The store denied any responsibility for the loss, but Phyllis — unconvinced — took the matter to court.

At the hearing, the company said it had never guaranteed its employees against theft. But it seems the closet had neither lock nor guard. Finding a lack of reasonable care, the court said the company would have to make good the loss.

IT IS COMMON for employees to deposit clothing and other personal belongings in company facilities while at work.

As a rule, the company must provide reasonable safekeeping if — as in Phyllis' case — the employee has been instructed to put the article in a particular place. This creates a "bailee" relationship, with a legal duty imposed on the company as the "bailee."

BUT THE DUTY is not unlimited. In another case, also involving a stolen coat, the clothes closet was within a locked enclosure to which only employees had access. A court ruled that the company had made a reasonable effort to prevent theft, hence could not be held liable.

OF COURSE, some responsibility rests upon the employee as well. A toolmaker who owned his own tools often left them overnight on his work bench. Right above the bench was a broken skylight. One night a thief climbed in through the skylight and decamped with the tools.

COULD THE company be blamed for the loss because of the broken skylight? A court said no, because the toolmaker himself was aware of the danger. By leaving his tools in such an accessible place, said the judge, he had "assumed the risk" of their being stolen.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP) — Biology students of West Virginia University can study this summer at zero altitude or pursue their higher learning at 2,559 feet.

Graduate students and selected undergraduates at Morgantown, which is 823 feet above sea level, can study marine biology and oceanography at the Marine Science Consortium stations at Wallops Island, Va., and Lewes, Del., both at sea level.

For the highest learning, students can study ornithology, plant taxonomy and vertebrate ecology at the Terra Alta Biological Station at 2,559 feet above sea level in Preston County, W. Va.

A Devotion For Today . . .

"Simon, son of John, do you love me more than these?" (John 21:15)

PRAYER: O Lord, help us to get rid of anything that comes between us and our relationship with You. Help us to keep our bodies pure and clean for the Holy Spirit to dwell there. In the name of Jesus, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who are in heaven . . . Amen."

Shower Fetes Future Bride

Miss Gaylene Etchison was honored with a bridal shower Saturday at the home of Mrs. Gene Perry, Lomax. She is bride-elect of Dean Lloyd Gambrel, Dennison.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Tom Newman, Mrs. L. G. Adkins, Mrs. O. R. Glenn, Mrs. A. J. Stallings, Mrs. J. L. McIlvain, Mrs. Russell Tidwell, Mrs. Wylie Williams, Mrs. James T. Moore, Mrs. Terry Franklin, Mrs. Bob Adkins, Mrs. Richard Posey, Mrs. Roger Fleckenstein and Mrs. David Roberts.

The honoree was attired in a floor-length dress of white pique, fashioned with an empire bodice and a multi-colored pastel striped skirt. Blue saddle stitching accented the bodice. She was presented a corsage of feathered white carnations with blue accents, as was her mother, Mrs. Waymon Etchison, and the prospective bridegroom's step-mother, Mrs. Lloyd Gambrel of Ralls.

The refreshment table was covered with a blue cloth and overlaid with a tiered and gathered lace skirt. A white cake was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom and a wishing well. Crystal and silver appointed the table, and the centerpiece was an arrangement of blue and white flowers in a milk glass vase. Crystal holders with white candles, and a crystal chandelier accented the table.

Miss Gayla Boren, Brady, registered guests at a polished wooden table centered with a blue carnation in a milk glass vase. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Terry Franklin, Stanton, and Mrs. Bob Adkins.

About 40 guests attended, including from out of town, Mrs. Bill Etchison, Ackerly, Mrs. Mike Bridge, Abilene; Mrs. John Wykoff, San Angelo; and Miss Betty Lee McIlvain, Midland.

Miss Etchison and Gambrel will be married Tuesday in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Waymon Etchison, 802 Dallas. The Rev. Collins Moore Jr., pastor of Hillcrest Baptist Church, will officiate.

Miss Patterson wore a pink pantsuit and was presented a corsage of pink wood pulp flowers. Similar corsages were given to her mother, Mrs. Bill Patterson, Coahoma, and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Roland Beal Sr., Sand Springs. Guests included the honoree's sister, Mrs. Vicky Walker, Sand Springs; and Beal's sister, Miss Theresa Beal.

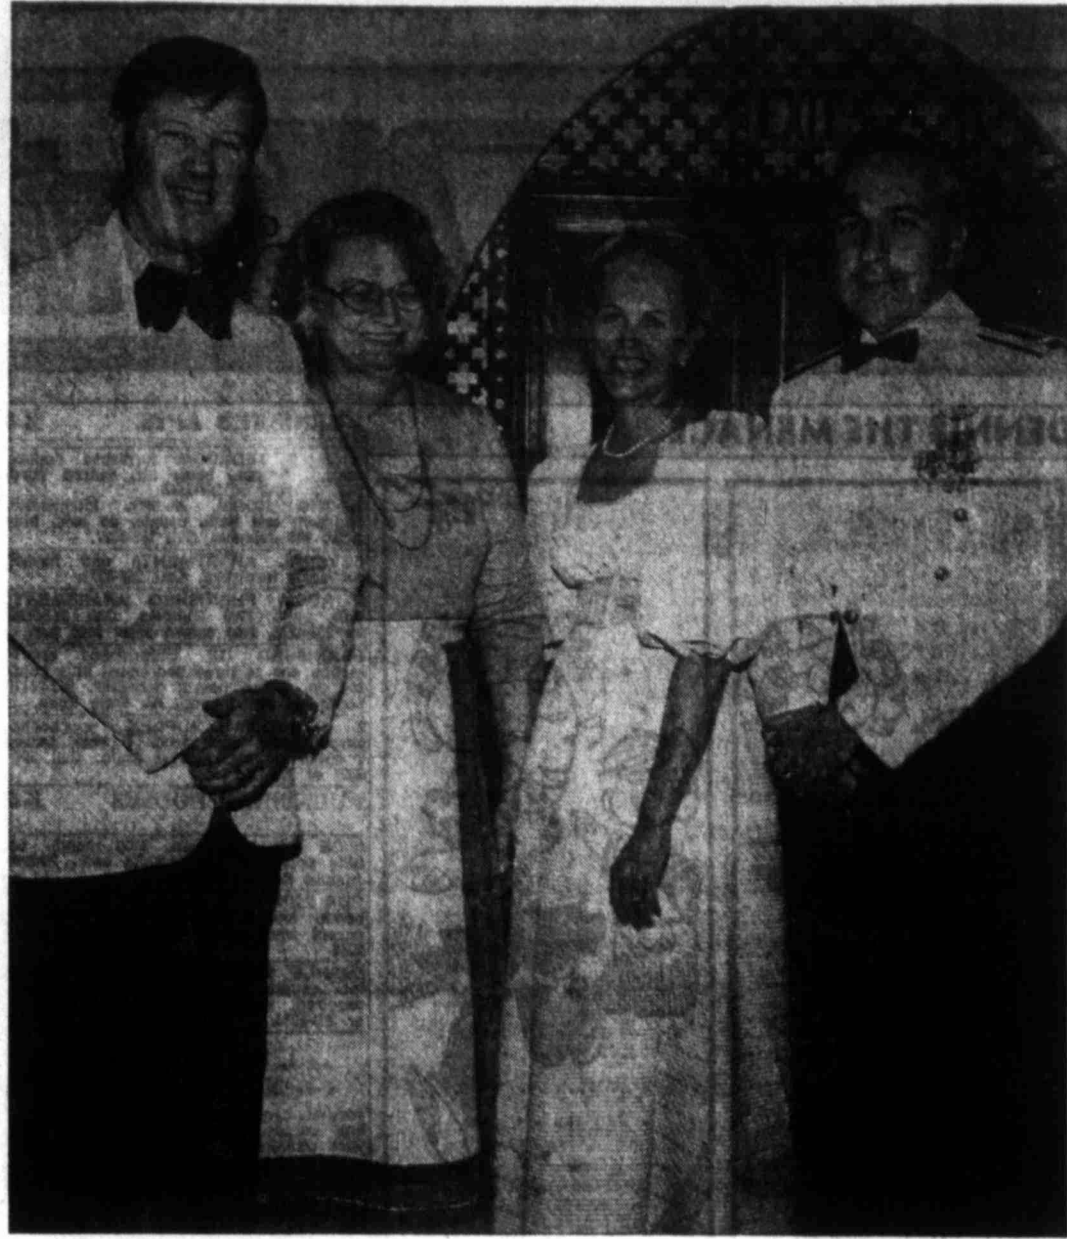

The serving table was covered with a white embroidered cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink roses and white lily of the valley in a silver vase. Silver candle holders held pink candles. Other appointments were crystal and silver.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Norman Backs, Mrs. Ed Cordes, Mrs. E. H. Crandall, Mrs. H. T. Hansen, Mrs. Carroll Kohl and Mrs. Bob Roever.

That's Dishonest

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Re the letter in your column from a gal who met a guy when she accidentally got a wrong number on the phone. On their first date, he asked her to go to a motel with him. She refused. On their next date, however, he repeated the invitation, and she went. After that the guy lost interest in her so she wrote to you for advice.

You said: "Next time, hold something back."

That attitude toward men by women is exactly why men regard most women as prostitutes. And mothers teaching their daughters to be dishonest by "holding something back" has resulted in marriages based on deceit and dubious dealings.

A woman can be a terrific mother, housekeeper, and companion, but if she's lousy in bed then dad will always have an itch that needs scratching. Likewise, a man can be a terrific father, provider, and companion, but if he's lousy in bed, mom will always have an itch that needs scratching.

When women and men start facing this reality and dealing with it, there will be fewer broken homes, nervous breakdowns, and letters to Dear Abby.

If you have the guts to print this letter, I have the guts to let you use my name.

TIMOTHY J. BOWERS, COLUMBUS, OHIO

DEAR TIMOTHY: Why is a girl who "holds something back" promoting a marriage "based on deceit and dubious dealings?" What is "deceitful" about refusing premarital sex? Sure a man or woman can be "lousy in bed" but otherwise terrific. What if either is "terrific" in bed but lousy otherwise? While sexual compatibility is important in marriage, there are other reasons why marriages fail. Moreover, I don't agree that most men regard women as prostitutes.

DEAR ABBY: To the woman whose husband refused to shave at night although his rough beard irritated his wife's sensitive face when he became affectionate: A friend of mine solved that problem by writing the following poem, and placing it on her husband's pillow:

"I can go without hats I can go without shoes, and whiskers may force me to go without you." (P.S. It worked.)

PRAIRIE VILLAGE, KAS.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90068. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Net Profit Shown By TI Airlines

HOUSTON — Texas International Airlines reported a net profit of $129,000 for March, compared with a loss before extraordinary items of $121,000 in March, 1972. Including an extraordinary write-off related to the sale of the airline's hotel property, the loss for March, 1972 amounted to $425,000.

The net loss for the first quarter was $475,000, or 40 cents per share. This compares to a loss before extraordinary items during the comparable period last year of $1,021,000, or 85 cents per share, and a net loss after extraordinary items of $1,206,000 or $1.01 per share.

Gun Control Law Ignored

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Only 177 of the known 3,000 machine guns owned by Ohioans have been registered under a 1968 state gun control law, according to the Ohio Adjutant General's office.

Col. William D. Haines said 3,000 Ohio-owned machine guns have been registered under federal law. Police estimates of the number of machine guns in the state run to almost triple that figure, however.

Haines said that the state authorities are barred from the federal licensing files, because a 1968 U.S. Supreme Court decision ruled that owners volunteering information of a machine gun should be protected from self-incrimination.

He said many of the machine guns are war trophies smuggled home after World War II and are technically property of the federal government.

Another reason for balky registrations is the $5,000 indemnity bond the state requires for each weapon, he said.

Owners of the weapons are liable for a $5,000 fine and up to five years in prison if the machine guns are discovered, Haines said.

But "we're not interested in locking people up," he said. "We just want to know where all the machine guns are."

Withhold Payments

PUEBLA, Mexico (AP) — Conservative businessmen plan to stop paying taxes Tuesday to force a state government crack down on student disturbances which left four dead last week.

Dawson Father, Son Have Genuine Feel For Land

LAMESA — Allen and Wayne Vandivere can rightfully be described as men with vision and a genuine feel for the land. Their performance in conservation and sound land use has won this father-son team recognition as Conservationists of the Year in Dawson County.

Allen Vandivere and his son Wayne farm 1,440 acres of land 12 miles northeast of Lamesa. All their land is dryland, so saving precious moisture is critical. Minimum tillage, crop rotations, and terracing are the key parts in the Vandivere conservation program.

Minimum tillage, a farming practice widely acclaimed for preventing erosion, saving moisture, and reducing farm expenses, is generally regarded as a "new" farming concept. The Vandiveres have been using the principle for years, with excellent results.

"When I was a boy," Allen recalls, "farmers would talk about plowing to make the moisture rise, or to aerate the soil. Over the years, we learned that if you're plowing and not killing weeds, you're probably wasting time."

NOT SHREDDED

A typical tillage sequence for the Vandiveres begins like this: Following sorghum harvest, a heavy duty chisel is pulled at an angle across the rows. (To save as much stubble as possible, stalks are not shredded.) Chisels are raised from the ground when crossing terraces in order to avoid pulling down the terrace ridge. Nothing else is done until April, when the land is listed.

After listing, the land may be knifed once or twice before planting, but only if needed to kill weeds. Cotton is planted with a lister planter and pre-emergence herbicide is banded at the same time. There is still a lot of residue on the surface to protect young plants from blowing sand. After the crop is up, knifing or cultivating is done only as needed to kill weeds in the middles, and usually is needed only two or three times.

CHECKING STUBBLE—Allen Vandivere (left) and his son Wayne check sorghum stubble left on the land until April, protecting the land from wind damage. The Vandiveres say this also saves moisture, so that the next crop has a better start.

Wayne says he and his dad have used chisel plows "ever since I can remember." In past years they sometimes plowed with a moldboard, but now that stronger plows and bigger tractors are available, they almost never use a moldboard.

In comparing the merits of a chisel vs. a moldboard plow, Wayne says the chisel is faster, saves more moisture, and protects the land longer because plant cover is left.

The Vandiveres have been cooperators with the Dawson Conservation District since 1948. In 1951, they built terrace systems on all the land they farmed. In 1970, Wayne started using the new parallel terraces.

With technical help through his district and cost-share help through the Great Plains Conservation Program, he built 20,000 feet of parallel terraces on the 80-acre farm he owns.

Flood water from adjacent land rushes to a playa lake on this farm. To carry this water to the lake without causing erosion, Wayne built five acres of waterways. He drills rye in these each year to anchor the soil.

MOST IMPORTANT — "If I were to choose a single conservation practice as our most important, it would be terracing," Wayne said. "Terraces hold rainfall and prevent water erosion, and they also do much to reduce wind erosion." He explained that terrace ridges act as small windbreaks, and wind can't sweep down the rows very far because they are contoured.

Shortly after Wayne completed his parallel terraces, Allen signed a Great Plains contract on a 320-acre farm he had purchased. The cropland needed 66,000 feet of parallel terraces, and Allen built them all the first year of his contract.

"We find parallel terraces much faster to work than regular contour terraces," Allen says. "Except for being slightly slower at planting time, we can work these two farms about as fast as flat land without terraces."

The Vandiveres keep a few head of cattle on their farms to graze small patches of grassland. Hybrid sudan is planted for supplemental grazing and for hay. They don't graze stalk fields after grain harvest because dryland sorghums don't normally make a very heavy stalk cover. "Grazing would destroy much of the cover," they say. "It would also pack the ground, and could delay our farm work in the spring."

When Allen bought his farm, a 30-acre patch of grass was badly infested with brush, mostly mesquite. In developing his conservation program, Allen planned rootplowing and reseeded on this area. He completed

$267,000 Jewel Heist

NEW YORK (AP) — "It was like a movie," Mrs. Edward Nager recalled after two well-dressed gunmen commandeered a chauffeured limousine in which she and her husband were riding with another couple and escaped with $267,000 in cash and jewels.

"I mean they didn't say anything at all practically and were so smooth," she continued. "My eyes were just riveted at that gun."

The two couples—Mr. and Mrs. Nager of Manhattan and Mr. and Mrs. Irving E. Rosen of Scarsdale, N.Y.—were robbed while driving back from the Plaza Hotel where they had attended a charity ball for a cancer fund.

The bandits intruded when the Rosens' chauffeured car stopped near the Nager home on Fifth Avenue. The driver was ordered to continue through Central Park while the robbers, described by Nager as "polite, but firm," took the jewels and cash.

The three men were found guilty by a jury in federal district court here of knowingly removing from an interstate carrier 54 obscene pamphlets.

El Pasoans Guilty In Obscenity Case

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Three El Paso men found guilty Friday of violation of a federal obscenity statute will be sentenced May 24.

Johny Miles Hunt, 41, and Paul Bik Hogervorst Jr., 46 owners of the Eros Bookstore in El Paso, and store employee Baron Raymond Kolb could receive maximum punishment of five years in prison and $5,000 fines.

The three men were found guilty by a jury in federal district court here of knowingly removing from an interstate carrier 54 obscene pamphlets.

Like many of their neighbors, the Vandiveres plant rye or wheat cover crops along field edges, turnrows, and similar "trigger" areas where blowing dust is likely to start. Cover in such critical areas can save an entire farm from wind erosion damage. A bonus benefit is that song birds and small game animals are attracted to these areas.

Allen and Wayne's father-son teamwork doesn't stop at farming. For several months they've been remodeling houses on their farms. Wayne is adding on to his house, and Allen is rebuilding an older house to make a larger, more modern dwelling which he and his wife will move into in a few months.

Working at odd times or when the weather keeps them out of the fields, the Vandiveres have become quite skilled as carpenters.

As might be expected, these two families are also busy in community and church activities.

Miss Gay Crowned

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Lady Baronessa, a Chicago female impersonator who is hoping to eventually undergo sex change surgery, has assumed the crown of Miss Gay America with a pledge to work toward uniting gay people and "straights."

The 24-year-old Puerto Rican native, born Carmelo Santiago, succeeded Norma Kristie of Hot Springs, Ark., after three nights of competition involving 27 contestants from across the nation.

It was the second Miss Gay pageant sponsored by the Watch Your Hat and Coat, a Nashville club catering to the gay crowd. The pageant was followed Sunday night with a benefit talent show by the contestants.

TEEN FORUM

YOUNG KISSES: (Q) I have this girl friend. She's 13. So am I. Our parents think we are too young to get together and kiss or get close to each other. But we think it's O.K.

The only chance we get to neck is in my room, out back in the field, or at a dance or a party. I'd like to know what you think. — Friendly in Pennsylvania.

(A) Casual kisses, in which lips touch only briefly, are nothing for parents of 13-year-olds to get uptight about. Chaperoned boy-girl parties are healthy for 13-year-olds.

But serious necking either indoors or outdoors is rushing things too much at your age. Stay away from close clutches in the woods, fields or at parties. Also keep your girl friend out of your bedroom and keep both of you out of trouble.

EXACTLY: (Q) I have recently begun reading your Teen Forum daily, and I am naturally wondering exactly who you are and what qualifications you have to give the kind of advice you do. I am wondering if it is worth listening to.— Curious Male in Washington, D.C.

(A) I have been a teen counselor for 11 years. My bachelor's and master's degrees are in human relations and guidance. I am beginning work on my Doctor of Philosophy degree at the University of Colorado.

I visit schools, church groups and PTAs as a public service to the newspapers that print my column. This puts me in direct contact with thousands of the teens whose questions I answer.

My husband, Martin Adams, and I have two children, 10 and 12. He and I have co-authored a book, "The Emerging Couple," to be published by Dell in August. I feel eminently qualified for my job and, more than that, I love it!

(Jean Adams reads and considers every letter, but she regrets that she cannot answer each personally. Mail your questions and comments to Jean Adams, care of The Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 2422, Houston, Texas 77061.)
