

Ex-Nixon Aides Tried To Use CIA For Cover

WASHINGTON (AP) — The No. 2 man in the Central Intelligence Agency reportedly has accused former White House aides H. R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman and John W. Dean III of trying to enlist CIA help in a Watergate cover-up.

SECRET

CIA Deputy Director Vernon A. Walters testified in secret Monday before the Senate Armed Services Committee. Later Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., said Walters had testified that Haldeman, Ehrlichman and Dean were "heavily involved" in efforts to misuse the CIA. Another source said one effort had been a Watergate cover-up.

The account dovetails with statements by former acting FBI chief L. Patrick Gray III. He testified before Senate Watergate investigators last week, and The Associated Press has obtained an official written digest of his remarks.

With the start of hearings by the special Senate Watergate investigating committee, two days away, Chairman Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., announced the committee voted to ask "use" immunity for Dean and Roy H. Sheppard.

CAMPAIGN STAFFER

Sources told The Associated Press Sheppard is the man said to have removed eight cartons of documents, including Watergate bugging plans, from the White House complex shortly after the June 17 break-in of Democratic headquarters.

An attorney, Peter H. Wolf, claimed April 19 in court papers that a client, then unnamed, entered the Executive Office building with a pass waiting for him at a guard gate. The documents were returned later to the Nixon campaign committee. Wolf, who sought and failed to keep his client's name secret before the grand jury, had identified him as a low-level campaign staffer.

Ervin said the committee also agreed that none of its members or staff had information to indicate President Nixon's San Clemente, Calif., retreat was purchased with 1968 Nixon campaign funds. Ervin said he was making the announcement because a newspaper had carried a story saying the matter was being investigated by Ervin's committee.

PRETTY BRIDE

Dean was at the federal courthouse today giving a pre-trial statement in a civil suit filed by Common Cause, asking disclosure of Nixon campaign contributions prior to the April 7, 1972, reporting deadline.

In an interview with Mary McGrory of the Washington Star-News, Dean said he subscribed to the White House attitude toward the Watergate scandal until a month ago.

"I joined and lived in the myth that it would all go away," he told the Star-News. "I hoped it would, but I didn't believe it."

The ousted White House lawyer said the last time he met the President was in a tense encounter in the Oval Office when Dean observed he did not think "it has come to impeachment." He said the President dismissed him with a pleasant "your pretty bride."

On April 30, Nixon fired Dean.

The 34-year-old Dean said on Easter Sunday, April 22, the President told him in a phone call "I was still his counsel and wished me and my pretty wife the best and told us to go to church and smile well for everyone. I felt it was a striking move—don't let old John get out of hand."

He said again that he did not write the report that Nixon mentioned last Aug. 29 in saying no White House aides were involved in the affair.

Gray said Walters got the FBI to postpone interviews with two Watergate witnesses last year on grounds the CIA had "some interest" in them.

Walters later conceded under pressure that the CIA actually had no interest whatsoever in the two, Gray said, but before Ehrlichman personally ordered Gray to cancel a meeting set up to straighten out the matter between the CIA and FBI.

FINDS WIRETAP PAPERS — Acting FBI Director William Ruckelshaus tells a Washington news conference Monday that the missing wiretap file in the Daniel Ellsberg-Pentagon Papers case have been found in a safe in the White House office of former presidential aide John Ehrlichman.

EAST OF VAN HORN Local Man Dies In Plane Crash

Daniel Phillip Burns, 59, of Big Spring was killed early this morning in a single-engine plane crash 25 miles east of Van Horn.

His wife, who worked with him at the No-D-Lay Cleaners here, was notified at mid-morning of the death of her husband. She said that he was flying a Mooney plane back from California and she had expected him home this morning. There was no one else in the airplane.

The plane was discovered by the Van Horn City Police Chief as he was driving down Interstate 10 around 8:15 a.m.

The plane had apparently come down in a heavy fog during the early morning hours and crashed into a pasture near Heard's Draw, six miles west of Kent.

Department of Public Safety officials said that it skidded along the ground some 200 yards and stopped near the highway. Culbertson County Sheriff's Department, who are investigating the accident, refused to comment on the accident this morning.

FAA inspectors have been dispatched to the scene of the crash. The plane did not burn, according to the report.

The Howard County Airport had no notification of a filed flight plan for the pilot.

The couple operate three cleaning establishments locally, coming here from Snyder.

Burns was declared dead at the scene by Justice of Peace Neola Boyd of Kent, Tex.

Price Gains Briscoe's Nod

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe today appointed Ned Price of Austin to another term on the State Board of Insurance.

Price has been a member of the board since 1960. His last term expired last Jan. 31 but he has continued to serve in the job.

Did Shock Cause Capital Foul-Up?

Where, oh where have the Coahoma revenue sharing funds gone?

When Coahoma took an independent stand late in 1972, and was probably the only municipality in the nation to return its revenue sharing funds to the federal government, there was some speculation as to whether the funds would be reimbursed to other county agencies or simply bogged down in Washington.

The first two checks sent to Coahoma were returned with a big "no thanks" to the Secretary of the Treasury.

Apparently, someone fouled up the bookkeeping system in Washington, because the municipal government in Coahoma never ever received a letter saying that the funds have been returned.

"Maybe they went into shock," Mayor Jack Caudle stated this week.

Caudle added, "We have received one of those forms you get to fill out to get more funds. We didn't fill it out and aren't going to and we have now received a notice saying that we won't receive any more funds unless we fill out the form. Since we sent back the first funds, we sure aren't going to fill out a form to receive more funds to send back."

Judge A. G. Mitchell, Howard County judge, said "I've heard absolutely nothing about those funds. They sure haven't transferred them to Howard County."

Crippled Space Station Develops New Problem

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The crippled Skylab space station developed a new problem today when temperatures of 100 degrees were recorded inside the laboratory.

The space agency called it a serious problem but still hoped to launch three astronauts to link up with the station on Sunday.

"It's too early to tell if we're in an unmanageable situation," reported flight director Neil Hutchinson. "But the Skylab cluster is hot and it's a problem that we'll have to be able to solve if the mission is to continue."

SALVAGE

Hutchinson also reported a problem with a stabilizing gyroscope in the spaceship control system.

These add to the difficulties of space agency experts who are trying to salvage three manned missions from America's first space station.

The laboratory was launched unmanned into a perfect 272-mile high orbit Monday, but suffered a severe blow when two of six solar panels failed to extend properly.

The panels are designed to convert the sun's energy to electrical power. With two panels inoperative, the power supply of the Skylab was cut in half.

LINK UP

Skylab 1 astronauts Charles Conrad Jr., Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz were to have ridden another rocket into space today to link up with the station for a 28-day space adventure.

But the space agency late Monday postponed the astronauts' liftoff until Sunday to give experts a chance to work out a new flight plan adapted to the reduced power supply.

The failure of the two solar panels to deploy was traced to a mishap 63 seconds after launching of the Saturn 5 rocket when an aluminum micro-meteorite shield ripped away from the side of Skylab, damaging or jamming the wing-like devices.

Hutchinson said the absence of the shield, only six-hundredths of an inch thick, apparently is responsible for the heat problems aboard the spaceship.

"It's like Houston on a hot, humid day in there," said the flight director, who was speaking at a news conference at the Johnson Space Center near Houston.

He said temperatures of 100 degrees had been recorded in the center of the 85-ton workshop. Normal temperatures would be in the 60s or 70s, he said.

Air-conditioning units are aboard the craft, but to operate them now would be a serious drain on an already depleted power supply.

Hutchinson said that although "we have a serious anomaly and don't know yet how to cope with it," he was hopeful engineers would come up with a solution in the next two or three days, in time to launch the astronauts on Sunday.

NO SHOW STOPPER

He said the gyroscope problem was not as serious as the electrical or heat problems.

Asked to assess the possibility of a launch Sunday, Hutchinson said: "I've not seen a show stopper yet."

Skylab Project Director William C. Schneider was optimistic at a Monday night news conference that all three planned Skylab missions could be salvaged. But that was before the latest problems cropped up.

"We still have high hopes that they can stay up 28 days, but during the last few days their activity will have to be curtailed because of the power shortage," he said.

Warm Weather Is Needed To Help County Cotton

The slow rain Monday improved the spirits of Howard County farmers and ranchers.

Rainfall measured a total of 0.79 inches for Sunday and Monday, with 0.36 falling Monday, the U.S. Big Spring Experiment Station reports.

Monday's rain fell at a rate of less than half an inch an hour, Bill Fryrear, location leader, estimated.

For cotton already planted it was "really what the farmer order," Fryrear said.

After a couple of dry days, the rest of the farmers will start planting to take advantage of the good surface moisture, he said.

Warmer weather is needed now, he said. Seeds will not germinate a temperature below 60 degrees. When cold weather prevents germination, seeds fall prey to micro-organisms and die.

Soil temperature hit a high of 55 and low of 50 degrees, the station recorded Monday. Air temperature fluctuated from 52 to 45 degrees.

With already greening grass, Fryrear said: "We should have a whole county full of happy ranchers."

Forsan Teachers' Pay Upped; So Is Tax Levy

By JOHN EDWARDS
FORSAN — In order to finance compulsory teacher pay raises, the Forsan school board Monday night approved an approximately 5.7 per cent tax rate increase.

The tax rate of $1.75 per $100 assessed valuation was increased to $1.85 per $100 assessed valuation. Assessed valuation is 60 per cent of true market value.

H. D. Smith, superintendent, said the board decided to keep the 60 per cent assessment rate constant. And the tax roll is estimated to remain at $30 million.

TEA SLATES PAY

Forsan schools will get $20,000 more through the tax increase, according to the tentative budget approved for 1973-74 Monday night. Current receipts and expenditures are anticipated to total $585,000, compared to the $565,000 current budget.

Increasing taxes to meet the Texas Education Agency salary schedule for teachers was mandatory, Smith said. Texas is in the third year of 10 years during which Forsan must increase teacher salaries about five per cent yearly.

Because the salary base will be larger, subsequent five per cent increases will be more expensive to Forsan taxpayers, he explained.

For September 1974, Forsan also must give teachers $600 annual additional for cost of living increases. And in September 1976, a $660 year per teacher cost of living increase will be added to the five per cent.

BUS ORDERED

School meals will continue to cost adults 60 cents and children 40 cents during the 1973-74 school year, Smith said the board decided.

10,000-YEARS Cop Slayer Verdict

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — State District Court Judge Archie Brown said Monday he was unable to assess "the only appropriate punishment" in a case before him.

So, Brown assessed a 10,000-year prison term for Eugene Spencer Jr., 27, who was convicted by a jury in Brown's court of the shotgun slaying of a San Antonio policeman.

Brown, a veteran of 13 years on the bench, said first that he could not properly assess punishment in Spencer's case because there was no death penalty.

No matter what term of years a defendant is assessed, Brown noted, such a defendant could be eligible for parole under Texas law in about eight years.

Then, said Brown, "in protest and in view of the evidence," he was assessing Spencer's term at 10,000 years in the Texas Department of Corrections.

Under state law, the judge's assessment of punishment does not mean Spencer has been formally sentenced. Formal sentencing and transfer from jail to prison must await the conclusion of any appeals in the case.

Spencer's trial began last Tuesday on charges that he killed patrolman Antonio Canales in an incident on the city's south side May 19, 1972.

Hunt In Vain For Sniper

SEATTLE (AP) — About 70 police officers searched in vain for a sniper whose bullets traced a deadly path from a wooded area to a highway during rush hour.

He killed one motorist and seriously wounded a truck driver during his brief rampage Monday evening. Another car was hit, but its driver was not hurt.

Authorities said the gunman apparently fired a high-powered rifle. A witness said eight or 10 shots were fired by the gunman, who was described as in his 20s.

Abraham Saltzman, 54, head of the property management department of a suburban Bellevue real estate firm, was the first victim. He was shot as his car turned onto an exit ramp of a major interchange on Interstate 405 just north of Washington 520.

Police said the second man hit was John Roger Mott, 22, who managed to pull his truck off the road. The Seattle truck driver remained in the intensive care unit of Bellevue's Overlake Hospital early today after undergoing four hours of surgery on his arm.

Story On Nixon's Estate 'Big Fib'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A newspaper report that President Nixon may have used 1968 campaign funds to buy his California estate has been denounced by the White House as "a total fabrication."

"It is a totally false and malicious report," said press secretary Ronald Zeigler Monday of the Santa Ana, Calif., Register story.

The newspaper quoted unnamed investigators for the Senate Watergate committee as saying they believed Nixon may have used $1 million in unreported funds left over from his 1968 presidential campaign to purchase the estate at San Clemente.

DEBATE WHOLESAL CHANGES IN TEXAS' PENAL CODE

Senators Okay 'Weak' Financial Disclosure Bill

AUSTIN (AP) — Senators voted 29-2 today to require legislators and other elected officials to disclose the sources of their income and began debate on a bill making the first wholesale changes in Texas' penal code in 117 years.

The financial disclosure bill, handed by Sen. Charles Herring, D-Austin, allows those covered by the act to keep the amount of their income to themselves.

Price Daniel Jr.'s so-called reform package.

Herring's Jurisprudence Committee made numerous changes in the House-approved bill, and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said, "This is a strict, workable ethics bill. It will do much to protect the public trust in our state's elected officials."

But Sen. Oscar Mauzy, D-Dallas, described it as a "piece of paper with a name on it, a cruel hoax."

Mauzy protested that the bill did not contain standards of conduct, and "I can't imagine an ethics bill without them—it's incredible."

The Senate rejected 10 proposed changes by Mauzy in debate Monday and today, finally approving a minor technical amendment.

They would have to disclose income or business transactions in excess of $500 but would not have to specify the amount of money involved. The bill excludes inheritance.

JAIL TIME

An official would be prohibited from giving information he gained in his job to benefit himself or others. The bill requires annual reports with the Secretary of State or any district attorney in Texas.

Failure to file could result in a fine of up to $5,000 and two years in the county jail. Anyone filing a false statement could be fined $5,000 and sent to jail for two years.

The bill goes back to the House.

A public school finance bill also was headed for a major House vote today.

Unless debate snags on some of the 20 amendments left for action, a vote on tentative approval—or outright defeat—was likely.

Meanwhile, Gov. Dolph Briscoe's two-year stop-gap solution to the dollars and cents poverty of many Texas public schools was set for hearing today by the House Education Committee. Committee chairman Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale, is co-sponsor of the much more ambitious, six-year bill currently before the House.

Rep. John Poerner, D-Hondo, an advocate of the governor's approach, tried Monday to lay Kubiak's bill on the table, subject to a possible future vote to bring it back up for debate. Poerner said this would allow time for the governor's bill to reach the floor.

MOTION FAILS

But Poerner's motion failed, 63-78.

The governor wants to give the 113 poorest school districts a $39 million emergency grant in the 1974-75 school year, while he prepares recommendations to the 1975 legislature for a total revision of the school finance system.

Kubiak's bill, co-sponsored by Rep. DeWitt Hale, D-Corpus Christi, provides a complete change in the school finance system plus massive new amounts of state school aid, phased in over six years. State school aid would be based on the market value of real estate and certain other property in a school district. The higher the property values, the less aid a district would receive.

FAST WORK

There were few signs of any liberal-conservative or rural-urban dividing lines on the bill.

Rep. Charles Evans, D-Arlington, tried to eliminate all but the first two years of the bill, but his amendment failed, 68-72, after some fast work by the measure's sponsors to switch some votes.

Amendments by Rep. Billy Williamson, D-Tyler, to strike out increased state aid for routing operating allowances and a new compensatory education program for educationally handicapped children failed by nearly 40 votes.

Some indication of the emotional quality of the debate came when Rep. W. S. Heatly, D-Paducah, ostensibly on a matter of "personal privilege," lit out after the bill.

He cited statistics from Corpus Christi, Hale's home town, showing only a tenth of 1 percent of the bank deposits were taxed for school purposes. By contrast, he said, cattlemen such as those in his district were being taxed on their livestock.

Sure Sounds Like A Ding-A-Ling

LONDON (AP) — Somebody stole Norma McCafferty's new bra off her clothesline, so she sewed a bell into her brightest pair of panties and hung them out as bait.

In the small hours of the bell rang, and a waiting cop grabbed Jack Cohen, 50, of London's East End.

Brought before the magistrates Monday, Cohen admitted stealing the bra and trying to steal the panties.

"There's nothing wrong with me," he told the judges. But they ordered him held for medical examinations and another hearing on June 4.

Denied Daughter's Life Threatened At Wedding

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — The mother of a teen-age strangulation victim uttered a quick, strong, "No, senator!" today when a defense lawyer hinted that her daughter's life had been threatened at a wedding reception and dance.

The explanation came from Mrs. Anita Delgado during the murder trial of Antonio Rios Zepeda Jr., 21, of San Benito.

Rios Zepeda is on trial on charges of murdering Maria Norma Delgado, 15.

Also is charged in a second strangulation death on the same day. The victim was Patricia Segura, also 15.

Mrs. Delgado was placed on the stand by the prosecution to identify her daughter's clothing.

Gravel Suit In 2nd Day

A suit on contract involving area gravel companies is going into its second day before District Judge R. W. Caton today.

Big Spring Gravel Co. Inc. is suing W. D. Caldwell Inc., Big Spring, Big Rough Sand and Gravel Inc., Snyder, and A. Price, Snyder.

Big Spring Gravel alleged that it purchased equipment and material from W. D. Caldwell Inc. for $35,000 cash plus promissory notes totaling $115,000.

The Caldwell firm promised not to re-engage in buying, producing, processing and marketing sand, earth, gravel, crushed rocks and other types of aggregates and building materials in or near Howard County for ten years, the plaintiff's original petition alleged.

W. D. Caldwell was not restricted from furnishing materials for jobs he participated.

Later, W. D. Caldwell Inc. was sold to A. A. Price and Big Rough Sand and Gravel.

Big Spring gravel sought an injunction against the new firm owner prohibiting competition in and near Howard County.

Dr. Reynolds of A&M University on sewage and sludge samples. Received by Bill Brown, city director of utilities Monday, the study shows that deposits of 10 metals are biologically inhibiting work of the sludge digester on sewage.

Purpose of the digester, which has been acting up 10 years according to Brown, is to biologically reduce decaying organic matter from sewage to a safe level.

Metals which Dr. Reynolds found in local sludge samples were arsenic, barium, cadmium, chromium, copper, lead, mercury, nickel, silver and zinc.

Brown said a survey taken three years ago had indicated presence of copper, lead and aluminum discharges but "never before has there been evidence of any large amount of chromium coming through." He added that the city thought it had discovered and eliminated the sources of the copper, lead and aluminum deposits.

Brown said Miss Myers' immediate task will be to personally survey each industry and business in town to find out if they have the capacity to discharge toxic chemicals. She will as well note any problems of the firm managers regarding waste products.

"This whole project is part of one satisfying Water Quality Board requirements that we have and enforce an industrial waste ordinance," said Brown.

Miss Myers' duties will include analyzing water and sewage samples, running alkalinity tests on the digester and doing various types of sludge and biochemical oxygen demand analyses.

She will work in the laboratories of both the water and sewage treatment plants.

Drivers' School Slated In Lamesa

The Lamesa Police Department and Dawson County Sheriff's Office, in cooperation with the Texas Department of Public Safety, had announced that an adult drivers' training school will be conducted in Lamesa beginning at 7 p.m., May 21.

Classes will be conducted May 21 through May 24 from 7 p.m. until 10 p.m., at the East Side Baptist Church, 509 NE Fourth St., Lamesa.

There will be two classes, one taught in Spanish and the other in English. Each class will be limited to 65 persons.

Purpose of the school is to assist unlicensed drivers 18 years of age and older who need more knowledge and skill in order to qualify for a Texas driver's license.

Persons interested in attending the school should register at the Drivers' License Office, 215 N. Main, Lamesa. Those registering will be required to furnish proof of birth.

Lady Chemist Employed At Filtration Plant

Linda Myers went to work for the city today as a chemist in the water filtration and sewage treatment plants.

To be paid $457 a month, Miss Myers holds a degree in zoology and chemistry from Texas Tech University.

The hiring of a chemist and the planting of trees around the sewage treatment plant are two requirements placed on the city by the Texas Water Quality Board. The City Commission voted last week to comply with the requirements rather than face a possible $1000 per day fine.

Employment of Miss Myers comes in the immediate wake of a study run by Dr. Tom

Two Honored At Tea Sunday

Mrs. J. A. Wright and O. G. Hughes, retiring worthy matron and worthy patron, respectively, of Laura B. Hart Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, were honored at a tea Sunday afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Glenn, Holly Street and Highway 80.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Wright's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Melton Henson and family of Lubbock, as well as Eastern Star members from surrounding towns. Among the grand officers attending was Mrs. Norman Read, past grand matron of the Grand Chapter of Texas.

Mrs. Wright was presented a gift and an orchid corsage, and Hughes received a carnation boutonniere. Refreshments were served from a crystal-appointed table covered with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink carnations and babies' breath.

Serving as hostesses were Mrs. Edith Christian, Mrs. Nola Irwin, Mrs. Marvin Steen, Mrs. Johnny Morris, Mrs. W. E. Anderson, Mrs. O. G. Hughes and Mrs. J. E. Felts.

Mrs. Raymond Torp has been named president of the Permian Basin Medical Society Auxiliary. The group held a buffet luncheon last week at Big Spring Country Club as the final meeting of the club season.

Mrs. Mel Porter was elected vice president, and Mrs. Henry Butler was elected treasurer. A resume was presented of the year's study, "Communications."

Music Club Installs Officers At Luncheon

Mrs. James G. Baum, 1000 E. 20th, was hostess at a salad luncheon in her home Saturday for members of the Big Spring Music Study Club. Following the luncheon, new officers were installed by Mrs. Clyde Cantrell. Mrs. Mike Skalicky is the retiring president.

The new officers, each of whom received a carnation in a color symbolizing her office, were Mrs. J. W. Kuykendall, president; Mrs. A. E. Hyden, first vice president; Mrs. Ronald Mason, second vice president; Mrs. Rodney Faubion, recording secretary; Mrs. Bob Simpson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. G. R. Robinson, treasurer; Miss Helen Ewing, historian-reporter; and Mrs. Skalicky, parliamentarian.

The club ensemble sang "Sunrise" from "Four Sacred Songs for the Night" by Houston Bright, and the "Federation Collect" under the direction of Mrs. Joe Dawes, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Simpson.

Mrs. Kuykendall presented the past president's pin to Mrs. Skalicky. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Charles Beil and Mrs. A. E. Hyden.

The club will not meet again until fall.

Dean Gilstrap To Receive Degree

Dean Gilstrap, a graduate of Big Spring High School, will receive a bachelor of science degree Saturday in commencement exercises at Midwestern University, Wichita Falls. Among those attending the event will be his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Gilstrap, 1610 Young, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McNeese, also of Big Spring. Gilstrap has majored in physical education.

Tommy McCanns Announce Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Allen McCann, 2714 Cindy, announce the birth of a daughter, Robin Ashley, May 10 at Medical Center Memorial Hospital, weighing 6 pounds, 4 ounces. The McCanns have one other daughter, Tara, 11 months.

The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Heath, 1711 Yale, and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. T. H. McCann, 702 Highland. Mrs. W. M. Gage and Mrs. E. W. Love are the maternal great-grandmothers, and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Allen are the paternal great-grandparents. All are of Big Spring.

Installation Set

Mrs. Max Stipe, Hereford, a 17-year member of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority, will conduct an installation ceremony for the local Mu Kappa Chapter, ESA, at 7:30 p.m., May 29 at the Webb Air Force Base Officers Open Mess. Plans for the ceremony were made at a dinner meeting Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Lonnie Zant, 2407 Morrison.

Play Day, Day Camp In Store For Scouts

Many special activities are on tap as the Girl Scouts conclude the school year and prepare for summer events. All Brownie and Junior Troops have Fly-Up and Court of Awards ceremonies planned with their sister troops.

Most of the Junior Troops have either been troop camping or have camp-outs planned as they brush up on outdoor skills for summer camp. Cadette Troops 98 and 43 are hosting bridging events for the sixth graders in their areas.

This Saturday will find all Brownies participating in the annual Play Day from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. in Comanche Trail Park. Mrs. Jack Little is coordinating the day of songs, games and dramatics.

The program committee will meet at 7 p.m., May 22 in the Girl Scout Field Office. A meeting of the board of directors has been scheduled May 24 in Sweetwater where Ms. Bev Robbins, council consultant from Kansas City, will conduct a short training session.

Senior Scouts and ninth grade Cadettes will be honored at the annual senior banquet in Sweetwater May 26.

"Senior Serve" weekend is slated June 1-3 when Big Spring will sponsor a council-wide service project in cooperation with the Veterans Administration Hospital, the State Hospital and Dora Roberts

Rehabilitation Center. Plans are under way for the annual Day Camp for all area Girl Scouts. The week-long camp will be held in the Silver Heels Addition on the old "Seven Wells" site. Camp will run from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. daily, June 11-15.

Training for local camp personnel will begin May 21, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Scout Hut at Webb AFB. Succeeding sessions will be May 23 and May 30 at the Day Camp site. All adults interested in helping should plan to attend the training to be conducted by the camp directors.

Participants should bring a sack lunch. Baby sitting will be provided free of charge at the Scout Hut.

Administrative staff members for the local Day Camp are Mrs. Dennis VanderVen and Mrs. Frank Walter, directors; Mrs. Robert Barnes, registrar; and Mrs. Clay LaRochelle, business manager. Several unit workers have been assigned, but more helpers are needed before camp can open.

Unit workers need not have Scout experience as training is offered and unexperienced helpers will be placed with an adult with a background of Scouting and camping.

Adults interested in helping may contact Mrs. Walter, 263-8571, or Arlene Stephenson at the Scout office, 263-1364.

Registrations for Day Camp will be accepted by Mrs. Barnes until May 29. Forms may be found in the camp folders the girls received at their troop meetings. Additional copies may be obtained from the Scout office, 220 1/2 Main.

Grandma's Upset

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Would it be out of line to include the following note on a birthday card for my 12-year-old grandson?

"Dear Bobby, since you couldn't find time to thank me for my Christmas present, I couldn't find time to buy you a birthday present. Maybe next year? Have a happy birthday. Love, Grandma"

Bobby's mother (my daughter-in-law) defends Bobby's sullen, ungracious behavior, and my son has little influence. The boy is bright but very selfish and spoiled.

I spend a lot of time, money, and thought on gifts for my only grandchild — not because I want his thanks, but because I love him dearly. But Abby, surely someone has to teach manners to children. Am I old-fashioned? You may use this letter if you wish. Many grandparents are in the same boat.

GRANDMA: You say you give your grandson gifts because you "dearly love" him not because you want thanks. But if you don't receive thanks you withhold the presents. This is "loving dearly"?

It's true, acknowledging gifts is a sign of good manners. But good manners have been known to cloak the absence of deeper feelings. Skip the gifts (and cards, too) and in a more loving and less punitive way, try to stress the importance of saying "thank you." If he's bright, he'll get the message.

DEAR ABBY: After 33 years of marriage, I believe I have discovered a cure for the common scold — sometimes known as the nagging wife. Though I doubt that it ever has been tried, the best way to get a woman to shut her mouth is to cover it with kisses.

SCARED: Information concerning treatment for VD does not go on any "record" that can be held against you. If you are broke, you will be treated anyway. Call your Public Health Department and make an appointment to be seen at once.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 6790, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 6790, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Medical Services Better Able To Cope For Blood

By MARJ CARPENTER

A little child is standing on a rocking chair in the living room of her grandmother's house. Suddenly, she rocks too far and pitches through the picture window, screaming and cutting an artery. She is rushed to the hospital and blood is needed immediately to save her life.

A car runs up under a trialer truck. Eight persons are injured and two of them have internal injuries and need blood, fast.

A man suddenly doubles over in pain and is rushed to the hospital where it is discovered that he has a bleeding ulcer.

A child falls out of a tree and runs a stick through his stomach, causing internal injuries. Again, blood is needed.

The accidents and illnesses that call for blood are unending. Only the persons who work in the emergency rooms of the hospitals and the lab technicians can begin to estimate how many there are a year.

NEVER ENDING
Again in a town the size of Big Spring, the need is never-

Dates Lined Up For Meeting

County Commissioners Court Monday authorized advertising for bids on a station wagon to replace another now used by the sheriff's office.

Members of the court took the oath of office as the county board of equalization for tax values and then recessed until June 11. Oil property values will be considered on June 11, and real and personal property tax value complaints will be heard June 28, 29.

A $2,500 bond was approved by Clyde Eager, an independent public weigher in justice precinct one.

ending. In years gone by, we used to hear more about blood donors than we do today.

It used to be common to hear pleas on the radio for a certain type of blood, needed in an emergency, and hospitals used to keep a volunteer blood chairman who knew the people in the community and their blood types. She would call somebody in an emergency — day or night.

Today, the obtaining of blood

Semester Closes In Lamesa Center

LAMESA — Lamesa's Community College Service Center, sponsored by Howard County Junior College, ended its spring semester this week as finals were administered in the different courses.

According to an HCJC spokesman there is a possibility that some summer courses will be offered in Lamesa this year, although plans have not yet gotten off the drawing board.

Should such a project be attempted, information concerning the proposed courses and registration will be made available during the first week in June. The college classes have been conducted in the Lamesa High School classrooms. When the possibility that Lamesa could have the benefit of junior college courses in town, it was anticipated that both Howard County and Midland College would be jointly offering classes in Lamesa, but such an idea was prohibited by existing Texas tuition law which requires tuition to be paid to each institute from which courses are taken.

for medical services is better organized than that.

Most hospitals use the services of a nearby blood bank and Big Spring is no exception. Almost all of the local hospitals obtain their blood from the Meek Blood Bank, associated with the Hendricks Memorial Hospital in Abilene.

If additional blood is needed, they sometimes call upon Webb Air Force Base Hospital.

Webb has the advantage of having all the blood typed of the military personnel and can immediately whip out a list of names and addresses of whatever type blood is needed.

PATIENTS GIVE
At the Big Spring State Hospital, they also use the blood bank in Abilene but they also call upon patients as volunteer donors. There again, they have the advantage of having every patient typed for blood when they enter the hospital.

Most persons today have been typed for blood some time in their lifetime. Possibly when they went into the military service, or possibly when they entered a hospital.

But most people have lost their dogtags or cards and their memories are poor. And if you asked them what blood type they have, they say, "Uh-uh, I can't remember."

Most persons who have a rare blood type can remember it. In fact, they remember the name of every other person around who has their blood type. They probably think that this knowledge might come in handy some day. And it might.

During their lifetime, the average person will have to have one or more blood transfusions. Some persons have to have many.

But persons nowadays can count on the hospitals to get the needed blood there in a hurry. Blood transfusing like other phases of medical treatment, have become a well-planned automatic miracle — in a day of medical miracles.

Deadline Is Today

Today at 5 p.m. is the deadline for notary publics to post bond with the county clerk's office, Mrs. Margaret Ray, chief deputy county clerk, said.

Degrees Awarded Four Residents

At least four Big Spring residents are among students who qualified for degrees at Abilene Christian College this spring.

They are LaShara Shanks Neiland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Shanks of 1410 Johnson St., Karen Hughes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hughes; Silver Heels Addition, Gayle Coleman Butts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Coleman, 500 Highland; and Nancy McWhorter, daughter of Mrs. Jim McWhorter, 1705 Main.

Miss Hughes was declared Honor Girl at the Abilene school while Mrs. Neiland, valedictorian of the 1970 Big Spring High School Senior class, was runnerup for that distinction.

Who's Who Papers Are Awarded Trio

Two area students, and one formerly from Big Spring, were included in the 26 Hardin-Simmons University students chosen to receive the Who's Who certificates at the annual Awards Day during the weekend.

Included were Benjamin Haas, senior from Knott, and son of Rev. and Mrs. Milton Haas; Melton Arriola, senior from Big Spring and son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Arriola Sr., Big Spring; and Thomas Polk, senior from Ponca City, Okla., and son of the Rev. and Mrs. R. F. Polk. Polk graduated from Big Spring High School while his father was pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Stock Suit To Be Heard

District Judge R. W. Caton plans to convene a jury trial in a suit for loss of 117 cattle and damage to 171 others at 9 a.m. Wednesday.

Jim Meador is suing Howard County Feed Lots Inc., George H. O'Brien Jr., general partner of Midland, and B. L. Eggleston, the manager of Howard County Feed Lots.

Of the cattle he left in the care of the firm, 117 are missing, Meador contended in his original petition to 118th District Court. He estimated the value of the cattle at $300 per head for a total $35,100.

Another 171 cattle removed by the plaintiff from the feed lot here were described as sick and depreciated in value by $25,650, he contended.

Defendants in the suit denied the allegations.

Enrollment Holds Fairly Steady

With the end of school almost in sight, Big Spring school enrollment held fairly steady last week with a loss of only seven. Five of these occurred in senior high. Elementary schools showed 3,483, a loss of six; secondary schools 3,038, net loss of two; state hospital and homebound 78, up one; grand total 6,597, down seven, and 258 below the comparable level a year ago. In the secondary level, Goliad had a gain of four.

Rumored Fuel Shortage Helps Sale Of Bikes

By ANN STEVENS
Gasoline rationing during World War II increased the ratio of two-wheelers to four-wheelers, a local bicycle shop owner recalled.

The presently threatening fuel shortage may very well lead to the same thing, Cecil Thixton of Thixton Motorcycle and Bicycle Shop conjectured. "But right now it doesn't look like we'll come to that," he added.

"We're selling more bikes now than ever, although I don't know whether it's due to the fuel shortage or if it's just as a means of exercise," Thixton noted.

Mrs. Perry Hall, manager of Hall's Bicycle and Mini-Bike Repair Shop, said that many bike shoppers lately have mentioned the fuel shortage as their motive for looking into bike purchases.

Asked whether growing ecological concern has prompted sales here of any more bicycles, both bike dealers said no.

"Ecological concern hasn't hit people here yet. Maybe in the big cities some are going to bicycles for that reason, but not here," reflected Thixton.

Mrs. Hall could recall only one recent customer considering a bike as an alternative to the automobile.

The two owners did, however, make note of two recently developing trends, mainly that of the popularity of 10-speed models.

"Everything is going to 10-speeds," Thixton said, citing that model's lightness and gear variations as the main reasons. Both dealers put the cost of a good 10-speed at around $100.

Biking has become as much a pastime of adults as of children. While she said she sells most of her bicycles to teenagers, Mrs. Hall said the incidence of ladies buying bikes for exercise purposes is increasing.

Thixton agreed with the exercise motive and added, "Adults are getting into bikeriding because everyone else is doing it."

In addition, Thixton also reported a growing number of girls getting boy's bicycles. "Many girls won't have a girl's bike nowadays," he said, but could not guess why.

Although no one reason could be pinpointed by the dealers, it seems that the number of local citizens converting from accelerator-pressers to pedal-pushers is on the increase.

Midland Man Is State CC Prexy

Emil C. Rassman, Midland attorney and president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, has been elected president of the Texas State Chamber of Commerce. He will begin his duties as chief executive of the state organization on May 15.

The Texas State Chamber of Commerce, with headquarters in Austin, is a confederation of the four regional chambers of commerce in Texas. The confederation concludes WTCC, Abilene; the East Texas CC, Longview; the South Texas CC, San Antonio; and the Lower Rio Grande Valley CC, Weslaco.

Frank Junell, San Angelo, has been elected vice president of the Texas confederation, and J. Fike Godfrey, Abilene, executive vice president of WTCC, is the new secretary-treasurer of the state organization.

El Paso Man May Manage Cemetery

A proposal from an El Paso cemetery operator is expected to be put before the City Commission next week concerning possible contracting out of Mount Oliver Cemetery duties.

City Manager Harry Nagel said he expects the El Pasoan to offer to run the cemetery for the city. While the city would still retain some control over cemetery policies, it would no longer be responsible for daily upkeep of the grounds.

Opening lead: Jack of ♠ South, the declarer at six hearts, permitted his opponent to score a trick with the ten of hearts despite the fact that the former had a solid holding in trumps. However, this apparent gift was an essential ingredient to a successful campaign.

East opened the bidding with a preemptive call of three spades, and South overcalled with four hearts. There was little room left for investigation and no other suitable bid was available to him. North felt warranted in making a slam try by raising beyond game to five hearts inasmuch as he held some strategic values in the ace-queen of clubs and the king-queen of trumps. South required no more encouragement to carry on to slam, since he had first round control of the opponents' suit.

Altho a club lead would have sealed South's doom, West can hardly be faulted for selecting the more normal opening of the jack of spades, which was ducked by the dummy and East and ruffed in the closed hand. South began drawing trump by leading over to the queen of hearts and low back to the jack in his hand. When West showed out on the second round, declarer abandoned the suit and switched his attention to diamonds.

He cashed the ace of diamonds and continued with the king. East ruffed with the ten of hearts; however, he found himself to be endplayed. He was reluctant to lead away from the king of clubs with the ace and queen in full view, so he returned the ace of spades.

South ruffed, played the queen of diamonds and then ruffed away West's jack on the next round with North's king of hearts. After the three of clubs was discarded on the king of spades, the ace of clubs was cashed and South's hand was high. He had lost only one trick—the ten of hearts.

Had declarer started by drawing three rounds of trumps, he would have gone down to defeat after the club finesse fails. He must lose a diamond trick as well when that suit fails to divide evenly. By first testing diamonds, South remains in position to safely draw the last trump, if both opponents follow to two rounds of diamonds, for he is now assured of at least 12 tricks.

Observe that East would not have benefited by refusing to ruff the second round of diamonds. Declarer will continue with the queen and, if that card is also permitted to hold, he can trump the fourth diamond in dummy with the king of hearts.

LEFT IN TEXAS BUS STATION Mom Reclaims Kidnaped Daughter

HOUSTON (AP) — A 4-year-old girl kidnaped from a New Orleans restaurant Saturday morning joyfully greeted her mother here Monday night after being found unharmed in a bus station.

"Mom!" cried Raquel Ben-David as her mother entered the room at the child welfare office where she was being kept.

"Oh, my baby!" cried Hayshia Ben David as she embraced the child and shoved a huge new teddy bear into her arms.

cause of an auto accident, returned immediately to that city after retrieving her child. Mrs. Ben-David said she was at a French Quarter restaurant owned by friends Saturday morning and a man whom she might have seen before but wasn't sure about spent more than an hour playing shuffleboard with her child.

other people were there with me. When we looked up, she was gone with the man outside. He must have had a car around the corner," Mrs. Ben-David said.

HAIR HACKED
 The child was unharmed, police said, but much of her long brown hair had been crudely hacked off before she was found Sunday night in a Houston bus station.

Mrs. Ben-David, an employee of the New Orleans police department for five years before having to quit last summer because of an auto accident, returned immediately to that city after retrieving her child.

WATCH THE GIRL
 Theresa Stark, a police woman with the Houston department, said a man left the little girl Sunday afternoon in the bus station with a woman passenger from Reynosa, Mexico, asking her to watch the girl for a few minutes.

He failed to return in four hours, and the woman called police. Officer Stark said someone noticed Monday the little girl's description fit that of the kidnaped child and they notified New Orleans.

Can your cigarette pass these 5 simple tests?

If you've ever had second thoughts about the brand of cigarette you smoke, here's a quick way to find out if it really delivers what you want.

These five simple tests will tell you a lot about quality, freshness, and taste. And if you make these tests with a Winston, they'll tell you why Winston smokers can point to their brand and say, "How good it is!"

Test #1 Sniff It

Take a whiff of the tobacco. Does it smell rich and fresh and appealing? If your cigarette is Winston, you'll recognize the aroma of costly Vintage Leaf Tobaccos. Winston chooses the most nearly perfect leaves money can buy. Then we age these rare tobaccos in wooden casks. We do it for the same reason you'd age a fine wine. Aging makes our tobaccos mellow and brings out that extra dimension of natural goodness.

Test #2 Feel It

Roll the cigarette in your hand. Pinch it slightly. Does it feel stale? A cigarette that's been waiting in a warehouse, or on a shelf, can lose some of its freshness. And some of its taste. But, because Winston sells so fast, every pack comes to you fresh. The fact is, on any given day, Winston is likely to be the freshest cigarette your money can buy.

Test #3 Take a puff... before lighting

Take a puff — without lighting it. That's a good way to learn about the tobacco and the filter. If you can taste the tobaccos without lighting up, you know there's richness up front. And that the filter doesn't get in the way of the taste. Winston's exclusive Filter-Blend, a top-secret blend of different tobaccos, works with Winston's modern white filter to deliver satisfying taste in every puff.

Test #4 Light It

Does it burn evenly? Here's a critical test of the way your cigarette is made. A cigarette rolled fresh, packed full and made with care will burn evenly, draw easily. Winston always does. How does your brand shape up?

Test #5 Smoke It

What could be simpler? That's the real test of a cigarette. Can it deliver good taste and real satisfaction every time you light up? Winston can. Ask a Winston smoker. Any time. He'll tell you in four simple words: How good it is.

Ask a Winston smoker. He'll tell you

HOW GOOD IT IS.

Part Of Runway At Midland Down

MIDLAND — Deterioration has forced a major portion of the main runway at Midland Regional Air Terminal to be shut down, city aviation director Wilson Banks announced Monday.

U.S. Rep. George Mahon had earlier notified city officials that the Federal Aviation Administration has okayed a grant of $298,550 in matching funds for runway repairs. Repairs under the grant will begin in three or four months, while emergency repairs will start as soon as weather permits. While the closing of 1,500 feet of the runway may lead to some flight cancellations, the remaining 6,800 feet may be used.

Theft From Van Reported Here

Gaylon Hail, Midland, lost several $15 paint brushes, an undetermined amount of hand tools, an automatic nickel-plated pistol and spare tire in a theft the night of May 10, Chief Deputy Sheriff Bill Whitton reported. Two windows were broken.

Hail told the sheriff's office he left his truck 15 miles from Big Spring on Texas 350 because of mechanical trouble.

Hitting A Bad Spot

On May 11, an anonymous reader sent us a letter, but we do not print letters which fail to bear the signature and address of the writer. Yet, several things it had to say tied into developments of the weekend.

The writer raised the question about "why nothing is being done about the crimes that have been going on of late on the North Side in the same alley or close by." Specifically mentioned were a man found dead there Nov. 3, 1972, and Earsie Miller found shot to death May 8; also dope and other activities.

A man has been apprehended and charged with the murder of Miller; the Nov. 3 case was regarded as a probable suicide or death from natural causes; and on the morning that the letter arrived, police had just buttoned up a massive raid related to alleged drugs peddling.

So perhaps, actions over the weekend help provide something of an answer to the letter. The raids were a couple of months in planning and ripening, and appeared to be successful. As a piece in the Herald noted, the raids are over; the courts now take over.

But the police, who spearheaded the exercise, and other law enforcement officers are to be commended for this well-directed blow, which follows one some six months ago on the south side of the tracks.

We can sympathize with the writer of the letter, who must be weary by the disproportionate amount of crime occurring within the vicinity mentioned. The conditions there are bad — yes, even rough, or worse. Perhaps Saturday's raid will help toward cleaning it out; we can hope that the heat will be kept on. Good people on the North Side deplore this festering site more than anyone.

Lowering Juror Age

Eligibility for 18-year-olds for jury service is near. Both the Texas House and Senate have passed bills lowering the minimum age for jurors.

The Senate vote was fairly close, 17-13, but only minor differences are to be ironed out before the bill goes to the governor.

Sen. O. H. Harris, Dallas, opposed the Senate bill. He complained that it would allow "senior high school students to go down and sit in on a murder case . . . I don't want that."

Well, senior high school students accused of murder brought to trial are now lowering jurors' age. Younger people will have a chance to be tried by their peers. And that's hard to quarrel with.

Texas Cavalcade

Around The Rim

Jo Bright

May is one of the more pleasant times of year to travel in Texas. A Mother's Day trip took me across most of the state, and during the lonelier stretches, there was time to treasure the beauty of a profusion of wildflowers.

SOMETHING ELSE was in evidence — an abundance of travel trailers and campers. Early vacationers, who were not too intent on getting to the night's stopping place, had pulled off the highway to let Dad rest while Mom and the kids strolled about, picking a blossom here and there. At dusk, a number of the rigs were making use of designated rest areas.

During recent years, some of the Texas State Parks have undergone complete renovation as a major step in establishing one of the finest park systems in the nation. Many of the parks bring to the visitor great scenic wonders, a glimpse into history and an opportunity for recreation of varied kinds.

TEXAS STATE PARKS offer camping sites for tent, trailer and sleeping bag. Screened shelters, air conditioned cabins, individual and group camps and well appointed lodges offer a wide range of park use. Picnic grills and tables, snack bars, counter service and well-equipped restaurants provide touring Texans and out-of-state visitors a degree of variety in nourishing foods or refreshing snacks. Shimmering lakes, quiet and cool in the green pine forests of East Texas beckon the visitor to come and stay awhile—to fish, relax and enjoy life. There is appeal to the vacationer in water sports, hiking, nature trails.

OTHER AREAS intrigue the travelers with historical battle grounds, colorful missions and old military forts that come alive again in the imaginations of child and adult alike.

Big and beautiful man-made lakes include fish stocked waters, docks, launching ramps, cabins and camping facilities.

UNIQUE AREAS of natural phenomena, like the vast white sandhills at Monahans State Park, have been made available for the public's pleasure, as have the many miles of rugged beauty in the Big Bend.

Nature dealt her wonders to Texas with a lavish hand, sculpturing with erosion in the sandstone of Palo Duro State Park; rugged, weathered volcanic peaks along the scenic drive in the Davis Mountains, near Davis Mountain State Park; the beautiful caverns at Longhorn Cavern State Park.

THESE ARE just a few of the areas in which Texas shows her beauty. From cypress trees and lily pads — to mistletoed mesquite and yucca plants — the miles between can be rewarding ones for the traveler who will take his eyes (and trailer) off the road. And remember why he took the trip.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

Could you explain why many Christians do not depend upon God when they are sick, but go to the doctor instead? I believe the trouble is that they don't understand the power of prayer. If they did, they would resort to prayer instead of pills, and it would advance Christianity a lot.

R.M. First of all, let me suggest that it is perfectly possible to depend on God, and still be sitting in the physician's waiting room. The fact that God uses means to accomplish His purposes, in no way lessens His deity or reduces His power. Most physicians agree that they facilitate ultimate healing, but do not produce it.

How close a tie there can be between medicine and the evangelistic witness for Christ was well stated by my father-in-law, Dr. Nelson Bell. Just six months before he was to arrive in Shanghai, after qualifying as a missionary doctor, he wrote the following: "Although I have made many mistakes, I have been trying earnestly for the past five years to do the Master's will, and lead others to Christ."

Now for that emphasis on prayer. I agree we often limit God's power by our limited use of the ministry of prayer. If we understand Matthew 21:22 correctly, then nothing is impossible if through prayer we seek the will of God.

The story is told of a fire on board a ship where evangelist Dwight Moody was a passenger. All at once, a fellow Christian exclaimed, "Mr. Moody — let's retire to a corner for prayer." Whereupon, Mr. Moody answered, "Whence, we'll pray while we pass the water buckets." It is that kind of a practical approach which mixes faith, prayer and action that characterized the dynamic early church.

Baffled Brezhnev

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Communist Party Chief Leonid Brezhnev met with Henry Kissinger last week at the Soviet leader's home outside of Moscow. The conversation naturally got around to the Watergate and this, in essence, is what was said.

"GOSPODIN KISSINGER, I do not understand all this business about Watergate that is taking place in your country."

"Well, Mr. Brezhnev, it's rather difficult to explain. It appears that members of the President's political party bugged the headquarters of the opposition party."

"What's wrong with that, Gospodin Kissinger? We do it all the time."

"BUT YOU have no opposition party."

"That's true. So we bug our own party. You never can tell when our members are up to no good."

"In any case, Mr. Brezhnev, seven men were caught and tried for the crime. One of them confessed that higher members of the President's political party were involved."

"What is wrong with higher members of the President's party finding out what the revisionist counterrevolutionaries are up to?"

"THAT'S THE way our people felt about it, too. But unfortunately some newspapermen got wind of the story and started to write about it."

"Why didn't the President put the newspapermen in insane asylums?"

"We cannot do that in the United States, Mr. Brezhnev."

"THAT'S TOO bad. You cannot have order and discipline in a country if you are unable to put writers in mental institutions."

"In our country the people want to get to the bottom of things. They want to know who is responsible for a crime."

"Even if the President is involved?"

"Yessir, even if the President is involved."

"WHY DIDN'T President Nixon shoot everyone who had anything to do with Watergate, so that nobody would talk?"

"Some of the people involved were his best friends."

"In the Soviet Union, a leader has no friends."

"WE'RE AWARE you do have a different system, Mr. Brezhnev, but we must deal with the Constitution. The President has to take responsibility for what his subordinates do, no matter how serious the crime."

"What kind of system of justice is that? The President should torture his subordinates until they confess he had nothing to do with it."

"Congress would get wind of it and raise a storm."

"Why doesn't the President get the Army to arrest Congress?"

"We can't do it, Mr. Brezhnev. The people would never stand for it."

"In our country we're the people — I'm not sure I want to meet with a world leader who doesn't know how to bug his enemies without getting caught."

Better Off Without

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Things we could all do without:

Tunnels without a light at the end of them.

Female chauvinism.

Arrogance in people under 40. Self-pity in people over 40.

The smugness that all Martinis drinkers have after downing the third one.

The master key to Watergate. The task of writing our own epitaphs.

The task of picking the first female face that should be carved on Mt. Rushmore.

Having to look for sympathy when you're the last guy in your block to come down with the flu.

Getting elected historian of your local PTA chapter.

Listening to a first-year student of the violin trying to tune his instrument the morning after you stayed three hours too long at a cocktail party.

Being the runt of your class in kindergarten.

Getting kissed by a red-haired girl at a birthday party who did so only because her mother told her that if she didn't nobody would get any ice cream.

Getting favorably mentioned in the last will and testament of a guy who had nothing on earth left to leave anybody but good will.

Enemies who praise you behind your back.

Weeks with seven Mondays in them.

The memory of lost Aprils that can never come again.

Bosses who, when they give you a $5 merit raise, manage to leave you with the guilty feeling that your selfish greed may plunge the firm into bankruptcy.

Anybody who either likes or dislikes you for the wrong reasons.

Doors that are opened by someone other than the one your heart hopes will.

Looking back at an action you'd like to undo but know you never can.

Looking forward to something you think you need more than breath itself — and knowing you will never have it.

A house with a yard too small to pitch horseshoes in.

The sight of a blind beggar with an old dog shuffling down an empty street on a rainy day.

Pretzels without salt.

An after-dinner speaker with nothing to say and too much time to say it in.

Guys who think they should have a higher seat in heaven because they always drink their coffee black.

People who are more eager to provide you with good advice than a good example.

A lovely stretch of shining beach but no one dear and near to walk it with.

From these and other distresses and turbulences of mind and spirit, deliver us, Amen.

Annoying Problem

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: For many years I have been plagued with the problem of skin cracking near the fingernails. This is annoying and painful. Can something be done about it? — S.L.M.

Most of us have had an occasional hangnail — and yes, it's annoying. But when the problem persists, it's time to do something about it.

The most frequent — but not the only — cause is that the cuticle may adhere to the nail as it emerges. As the nail grows, the cuticle (skin) is stretched, until the crack or tear occurs.

Best solution is also the simplest. When the skin has been softened (after a leisurely bath, or after soaking the fingers) gently push the cuticle back. You can get orangewood sticks at the drug store for this purpose. Try doing this regularly, say at least once a week, and see if that doesn't help.

Other possible causes may be irritation from polish remover or from whatever household chemicals you happen to use.

Inadequate protein in the diet can cause the cuticle to be thin and fragile, so attention to diet may also be a help to you.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My daughter, 15, has an unsightly case of blackheads. There is no way to change her hair style as it is cut in a shag. What goods besides greasy, sugary foods shouldn't she eat?

Are there any creams, pills, removers, etc., she could use to get rid of them? If so, where can you buy them? Washing doesn't seem to help much, and we haven't money for a dermatologist. — Mrs. G.L.

Being wary of fats and greasy and fried foods is the principal dietary consideration; studies have not supported the long-held theory that chocolate is harmful. Or anyway, haven't borne out the idea that avoiding chocolate is helpful.

Washing, if done the right way, is a necessary part of the process, but it can't do the whole job, either.

If your daughter's problem is purely a matter of blackheads, careful use of a comedo extractor — which is a very inexpensive device — should answer a good deal of her trouble (Don't try to squeeze out blackheads, though. That can damage the skin.)

There aren't any "pills" or creams which will put an end to blackheads. Drying lotions can be helpful, though.

I'm not entirely sure that you wouldn't be wise to make at least a single visit to a dermatologist, or even to your regular doctor, to make sure these blackheads aren't progressing to acne, which is a considerably more difficult condition.

In any event, I'd suggest that you send 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for my booklet, "Controlling Acne, Blackheads and Pimples." You may not need all of the information in it, but evidently you do need some of it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: About five years ago I was told that my rectal soreness was due to "cryptitis." I still have considerable soreness at times. Is there any treatment? — C.R.

The crypts are folds of the membrane in the rectal opening. If these folds, or crypts, become infected, you have the discomfort, and usually there is some discharge besides.

First treatment is the use of antibiotics, applied locally. If they do not clear up the infection (and soreness), surgery to trim the thickened tissues may be required.

Note to Mrs. W. W.: No, honey can NOT be used by diabetic patients. It is primarily sugar, and sugar is what you must avoid.

Mononucleosis is primarily a disease of young people. To learn more about it, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper for a copy of his booklet, "Mononucleosis," enclosing with your request a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Reduced Powers?

William F. Buckley Jr.

Sen. Wm. Fulbright has observed, one judges with considerable satisfaction, that whatever comes finally out of the Watergate investigations, one thing is certain, namely that the Executive will be less arrogant, less certain of its own powers, more closely in touch with the people. He gave as a specific example the matter of bombing Cambodia.

AS A PLAIN matter of fact, Sen. Fulbright suggests, the bombing of Cambodia is finished, notwithstanding that Elliot Richardson — who stopped in as Secretary of Defense on his way to Attorney General from Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare — has said that if the Congress won't vote Mr. Nixon the money necessary to bomb Cambodia Mr. Nixon will find the money somewhere else. He meant that the sovereign responsibilities of the President as commander-in-chief clearly entitled him to draw from military funds for priority purposes. And here is the flaw in Sen. Fulbright's analysis.

At this particular moment in history almost everyone along the political spectrum wishes that the Executive were less powerful. Conservatives have railed against centralized, non-responsible power for a generation. The liberals, having exulted over the growth in presidential power during the regimes of Franklin Roosevelt, Harry Truman, and John Kennedy, suddenly discovered that there was no constitutional guarantee that vast executive power would be exercised only by presidents of their own choosing. That being so they suddenly reversed themselves on the subject, so that the declarations of William Fulbright in 1973 would strike the William Fulbright of 1961 as unthinkable.

BUT NOW the difficulty is that in reducing the powers of the president it is necessary to distinguish between those powers the office exercises almost as a matter of constitutional necessity, and those other powers he exercises primarily as a result of Congressional sloth or irresponsibility. I do not see how one can remove from a president the right to enforce by military means a treaty he has signed, of the character of the cease-fire treaty in Indochina. It is to render totally incredible a representative of the president, to send him to Paris to conclude a treaty while the enemy knows that the president will be restrained from enforcing the terms of the treaty. If a president is to act as commander-in-chief, the priorities of American military security must be drawn by him, subject obviously to the generic rights of Congress to declare war.

ON OTHER matters, concerning which Sen. Fulbright is uneasily silent, the power of the president is preposterous. Why should the president have the right to suddenly declare what we shall be permitted to pay for a typewriter ribbon or to a typewriter ribbon salesman? Because Congress gave the president that power, and continues to give the president that power. Why should we need to rely on the president to balance the budget? Because Congress flatly declines to do so.

Why is the Bureau of the Budget primarily an Executive instrument? Is there anything to prevent Congress from establishing its own budget office, to guide it in its economic deliberations, give it useful information concerning drifts and crises?

THE REASON Sen. Fulbright et al are so unconvincing these days in their criticism of the presidency, is precisely that they do not move to reduce the functions and the authority of the president where such a reduction is truly sensible. One has the feeling that they are all laboring to concoct a bill of attainder at the expense of Richard Nixon, and that if per horrible Senator Edward Kennedy were to find himself President of the United States, the same team would come up with exquisite justifications for the exercise of raw executive power.

'IT'S IRRELEVANT NOW' Wins Long Hair Battle

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — "It was absurd at the time and it's irrelevant now," says Bobby Hutchinson, 21, a key figure in the 1970 Tyler Junior College long hair hassle.

"Quite frankly, I thought he was right in the first place," said his mother.

"No comment," said his father.

MICRO-SKIRTS
"As a teacher," said June Thompson, "I personally felt the girls were a much more distracting element."

"Disappointing," admitted school officials.

Such were the reactions Monday after the U.S. Supreme Court formally buried the case.

The high tribunal refused to review a lower court ruling that in effect prohibited college officials from enforcing hair length and style regulations.

STUPID
"I expected that," said young Hutchinson, who was in Austin "putting together" a musical group.

"The Supreme Court hasn't got the time for something that stupid."

U.S. District Court Judge William Wayne Justice issued a permanent injunction against the junior college's haircut code after Hutchinson and two young companions were not permitted to enroll for the 1970 fall semester.

Justice called the dress code "humiliating and demeaning."

An appellate court apparently agreed in upholding the decision. The school sought a review of the case. The high court spurned the request.

Edwin E. Fowler, an administrative assistant, and other junior college officials called the action "disappointing."

"Our students were pretty clean-cut kids until the injunction came along," Fowler said. "Then they began to deteriorate... but now I think it is going back the other way. I think they are getting cleaned up again."

There was no campus response to the Supreme Court action. All but a handful of students took final exams last week and headed home.

'FED UP'
Across the street from the attractive campus, Mrs. Thompson explained that she got "fed up" with the conservatism of the college and abandoned teaching two years ago to open a book store.

"Anywhere else in the world but Tyler," she smiled, "I would be considered very conservative."

A non-drinker or smoker, she taught English at the time of the hassle and, in the face of academic and other opposition, she sided with the Hutchinson trio.

"These particular boys were good students who made good grades, and this gave more credibility to their position," she said. "I felt like the students considered this a symbol; that someone was taking away a right they thought they had."

Mrs. Hutchinson, the mother, said she was more concerned about the "short hair pushers, rednecks and beer drinkers" than the long hair cult and added, "I never could understand how my son's hair could be as distracting as those mini-skirts."

The elder Hutchinson, in refusing comment, said, "The quicker this matter is forgotten, the better."

KIND OF SILLY
Mother, son and teacher said they felt Hutchinson's reticence stemmed from the abuse, mostly in anonymous telephone calls and letters, directed at the family in 1970.

"We sure did lose a lot of friends," said Mrs. Hutchinson. The East Texas town of Tyler, population 60,000, lies about midway between Dallas and Shreveport, La., and calls itself "The rose capitol of the world."

Woman, Luxury Car Towed Away

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — When a woman refused to leave her impounded automobile Monday, both she and the 1972 luxury car were towed away.

City Marshal Lewis Engel said his office issued a legal order outside the city's Public Safety building directing Elizabeth Hunt of Syracuse to surrender the car for alleged non-payment of bills.

'WANTED HIS KIDS' Gunman At Portland Port Killed By FBI

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — "He just wanted his kids and was at the end of his patience," said a former roommate of a man shot and killed by FBI marksmen.

Early Monday morning, 25-year-old William H. Abernathy took two guns and two men to the top of a fuel tank at Portland International Airport.

He threatened to blow up the 840,000-gallon tank by noon unless his ex-wife and two children were brought to him.

One minute before the deadline, FBI agents shot and killed him. One of the other men had escaped earlier. The other man was not hurt.

Phillip Moss, the ex-roommate, earlier had climbed the tank to try to talk Abernathy into surrendering.

"He told me he saw a lot of people die in Vietnam for no reason, and I told him I did not and that I didn't want to see him die up there for no reason. But he said there was some reason for his action."

"Finally, after passing up early chances to disarm him, I went for his rifle. I got a hand on it near the stock, but Abernathy is too fast. He just jerked it out of my hand and pointed it at me. I knew it was over, and I climbed down the tank stairway."

Moss said Abernathy felt his ex-wife, Nancy Lynn, was hiding his children—Jennifer, 3, and Scott, 9 months—from him. He had given up hope of ever seeing them again, Moss said.

"Gee, how proud he was of his children," Moss said. "He talked about them all the time and would show everybody their pictures."

Abernathy was killed eight hours after he ordered Gene Lloyd, his 56-year-old boss at Lockheed Air Terminal at the airport, and another man to climb the tower with him. The FBI sharpshooters shot Abernathy as he and Lloyd were descending a narrow spiral ladder on the 50-foot tank.

Is It True?
Jean Adams
TEEN FORUM

TRUE OR FALSE? (Q.) I have a real bad problem. One of my friends told me that I am a person who uses people. She won't talk to me. This has been going on three weeks. Should I wait till she wants to talk to me or try to forget the problem?
I really like her and trust her, but I can't take this much longer. — Hurt in Virginia.

(A.) You don't say whether your friend's charge is true or false. This leaves a big gap in your letter that makes a plain yes or no answer impossible. So I will ask you a few questions. Before you answer them, think about them deeply.
Is what your friend told you TRUE?
Do you really use people to get what you can out of them rather than being unselfish and generously friendly with them?
You trust your friend. Can she trust you?
These are tough questions, I know.
If your answer to the first two is NO and the answer to the third is YES, then your friend has wronged you. She may sooner or later realize she has and come to ask your forgiveness. But even if she doesn't forgive her in your heart.

If your answer to the first two questions is YES and your answer to the third is NO, then you need to readjust your values and change your approach to life. Do that. Then tell your friend you have changed and ask her to resume the friendship on a new basis.

TELL HER? (Q.) I like this girl very, very much. But I am almost positive she is fond of someone else. She likes me as a regular friend, I think, while I am serious about her. Should I tell her that I like her that much? — Discouraged in Florida.

(A.) No. Continue your status as a regular friend of hers. In time it may grow into something more serious with her. Rushing things now might cost you what you already have.
Do, however, try to develop a more positive attitude toward yourself and what others think about you. A negative outlook gets in the way of progress.

Twins Split With Texas

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Steve Foucault has demoralized every club he has faced in his rookie season in the American League with one exception—the Minnesota Twins.

The pudgy righthander now has a record of 1-2 plus five saves. Both of his losses have been to the Twins, who beat him 6-4 Monday night to gain Minnesota a split in a twin bill with the Texas Rangers.

"Foucault might be getting a little gunshy against these guys," Texas Manager Whitey Herzog admitted. "He stopped throwing his fast ball and went to his curve. The kid has the best fast ball on my staff and he threw Bobby Darwin a hanging curve when he homered in the 11th.

"I never thought about taking the kid out once I got him in there, even though he was much too strong. He hadn't pitched in six days, which is too long off for him."

Foucault relieved Texas starter Rich Hand after Rod Carew opened the eighth with a double. At the time, the Rangers already had won the opener 7-6 on Toby Harrah's two-out, two-run homer in the ninth and were ahead 4-2 in the nightcap.

As it turned out, Braun doubled home the second Minnesota run of the eighth and the game was headed for extra innings.

IT'S THIS WAY, GUYS — Big Spring line coach Bob Glover gathers his troops for an advice session during Saturday's scrimmage which capped the first week of spring football drills. The Steers were rained out of Monday's workout, but they'll return to action today, and on Wednesday coach Bob Burris has scheduled a 45-minute scrimmage session. The practice will begin at 3 p.m., with the scrimmage set to get under way an hour later.

Riggs Ponders Shot At Chris

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Bobby Riggs made a fuss about giving up 25 years to Margaret Court in their celebrated tennis match Sunday. He now has to ponder whether to give up 37 years and play Chris Evert.

Fort Lauderdale promoter George Liddy announced Monday he was willing to put up $30,000 for a confrontation between Riggs, 55, and Miss Evert, 18, here Sept. 22.

"The women's lib movement in tennis is working quickly to match me with someone who might be tougher than Mrs. Court," said Riggs.

He smashed Mrs. Court, the leading money winner on the Virginia Slims circuit, 6-2, 6-1.

"Chris would be the toughest one they could come up with,"

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

Here's a little quiz to busy your minds on this slightly troubled Tuesday afternoon:

Q — Who is the only District 5-AAAA baseball player to hit over .400 as a regular, play the outfield without making a single error, and yet not gain a spot on the All-District team?

A — Gilbert Pesina of the Big Spring Steers, who hit .412 in 34 times at bat, and who gnashes his teeth a lot these days.

Q — Who has been tabbed by many scouts as the only pro prospect in the district this year, and how many votes did he get?

A — Ricky Steen of Big Spring, who got five votes at shortstop — compared to 12, 10, eight and six for several other players — plus a couple at third base, where he didn't play one time all year.

Well, how did you do on the little quiz? Hmmmm? Better than most the sports-writers and coaches who voted, I'd imagine.

Dick Conley, a star at fullback and linebacker for the Steers the past couple of seasons, is going up for tryouts at the University of Idaho this summer, probably as a defensive lineman.

Don Robbins, former Steer mentor, is head man at Idaho and has been in touch with Conley, who also has considered Colorado State. He's a bit small at 5-9 and 215, but seems pretty confident of making it — even as a defensive lineman, if he has to.

Er, uh, maybe I shouldn't be bringing this sort of thing up, but, uh, weren't the Houston Astros 6-8 when Manager Leo Durocher went in the hospital with an intestinal infection a few weeks ago? And, ah, didn't they go 14-3 while Coach Preston Gomez was in charge?

And aren't they sort of a weak 2-3 since Leo's return? Just checking, just checking.

If you like to keep tabs on the approaching enemy, word has it that the Snyder Tigers have just completed their first week of spring football drills and seem to be pretty strong. Most of the team that whipped the Steers 21-10 last year will be back, including the entire defensive line and five count 'em offensive backs, one of whom is quarterback Tim Jones.

It seems to be moving right in to the old golf season locally, and with two big ones down, C. G. Griffin and Big Spring Country Club is bracing for the biggest.

More than 200 golfers are expected to compete in the Big Spring Amateur Partnership June 9-10, with over $1,500 awaiting winners in the two-flight event. Golfers will compete in either the scratch or handicap event. Don't know yet if Abilene's Duncan Boyer, winner of the April 21-22 Big Spring Championship Invitational and the May 5-6 Municipal Partnership here, will be shooting for the "Triple Crown."

Midland Wins First Meeting With Bell

HURST — Dist. 5-AAAA champion Midland took the first game of a best-of-three series with the L. D. Bell Raiders 1-0 here Monday, and now returns home Friday to try to finish off their bi-district foes.

Robert Shaeffer gave up just one hit and struck out 14 Bell Batters, while his teammates pushed across their lone run in the top of the seventh to notch the victory. The Bulldogs are now 20-8 on the year, while Bell slips to 15-3.

Outfielder Louis Perez, who had two of the Bulldogs' four hits, singled to open the seventh frame, stole second, and then scored on Randy Blansett's single. Shaeffer and Brandon Merworth had the other MHS hits.

Bob Magruder managed the only Raider safety. Shaeffer outduelled Jim Beard in running his season mark to 12-2. Beard had just completed a perfect 8-0 campaign in Dist. 6-AAAA.

Game time Friday is 2 p.m. at Memorial Stadium, and a second game will follow if necessary.

Indy 500 Hasn't Always Been Tops

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The Indianapolis 500-mile auto race will run the 57th time May 28 with another colorful show drawing more than 250,000 persons and heard and seen by millions more around the world.

But it hasn't always been so. In 1945, when Anton "Tony" Hulman of Terre Haute, Ind., bought the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, it was in disrepair. Interest in the Memorial Day classic had diminished after the track was closed four years during World War II.

The Speedway, which was built in 1909 as a proving ground for automobiles, is now known as many racing circles as "the house that Tony rebuilt."

The 2½-mile asphalt track is the focal point of the Speedway on the city's far west side, but it isn't the only attraction of the 539-acre property. Hulman has replaced the ancient wooden grandstand that nearly circled the track with steel and concrete grandstands. There is now an estimated seating capacity of 235,000 and room for an additional 100,000 persons in the track infield.

Hulman has supervised construction of a more-than-100-room motel, a 27-hole golf course with nine holes in the infield and an office-museum building as well as press and hospitality quarters.

Speedway officials never announced attendance figures, but an estimated 60,000 persons watched the 500 in 1946 and prize money totaled $75,000 after a prewar high of $96,250.

Hulman, whose great wealth comes from varied business and real estate interests, has made the Indy race the richest in the world of auto racing.

For the third straight year prize money this year will total more than $1 million. His newest improvement at the Speedway is an addition to the motel to house VIP suites which rent for $10,000 a year on the second floor and $20,000 for the third floor. There are six suites on each floor. The rooms, which overlook the track, were all rented long before the addition was completed, most of them by large companies involved in racing.

Medley Gets Ace
Ron Medley carded his first hole-in-one at Big Spring Country Club Sunday, acing the 165-yard 16th hole. Medley, who was playing with his son Craig, made the shot with a five iron.

Fairly Lifts Expos; Pirates Lose No. 6

By The Associated Press

Ron Fairly has a good memory—but then again, nights like Monday aren't all that hard to remember.

Fairly got only one hit in five times at bat against the Pirates, but it was the big one—a solo homer in the 10th inning that lifted the Montreal Expos to a 3-2 victory and sent Pittsburgh to its sixth consecutive loss.

"I think it was a fast ball," said Fairly of his game-winning shot off Nelson Briles, "but I'm not sure. All I know is, I hit it well."

"It's easy to remember the good days," observed Fairly, who had fond memories of Briles and the Pirates even before his blast.

He hit another tie-breaking homer off Briles in a game won by the Expos earlier this season. And back in 1965, while playing for the Los Angeles Dodgers, Fairly again beat the Pirates with a last-inning homer.

In other National League baseball games, Philadelphia whipped St. Louis 10-5, Atlanta topped Houston 7-1 and San Diego beat San Francisco, also by a 7-1 count.

The New York Mets' game against the Cubs in Chicago was postponed due to cold weather, and Los Angeles and Cincinnati were not scheduled.

In the American League, Texas beat Minnesota 7-6 in the opener of a two-night doubleheader but dropped the second game 6-4 in 11 innings, Detroit defeated the New York Yankees 8-0, Boston edged Baltimore 1-0 in 11 innings, California nipped Kansas City 3-2 in 10 innings, Cleveland slipped past Milwaukee 2-1 and Oakland beat the Chicago White Sox 5-1.

The defeat was the 14th in the last 19 games for the Pirates, last year's NL East champions. And Briles, who suffered his fourth defeat in five decisions, feels it's the pitchers who must pull the club out of its rut.

"When you're not getting anything going, you're pitching has to pick you up. It's up to us."

Philadelphia scored six runs on six singles in the fourth inning to beat the Cardinals. Greg Luzinski had a single, double and triple and rookie Mike Schmidt drove in three runs.

"My swing hasn't been what I wanted it to be," said Luzinski, who came into the game batting .206. Last year he hit .281 with 18 homers.

Atlanta's Mike Lum had a three-run double and a solo homer in the Braves' victory.

"It seems like every time we come to Houston, I'm hitting good," said Lum, adding that the double was off a high, outside fast ball, the homer off a low, inside fast ball.

Rookie outfielder John Grubb's tie-breaking single sparked a five-run outburst in the seventh inning that boosted San Diego past the Giants. Jerry Morales and Clarence Gaston each drove in two runs for the Padres.

Houston Ripped By Aaron's Sub

HOUSTON (AP) — Michael John Edwards dropped the ball and reliever Jim Ray forced in another run when he hit Baker with a pitch.

Atlanta's caddy for the rest of his career.

But Lum—the first, and presently only, Hawaiian in the major leagues—got hold of a pair of "birds"; a three-run double and home run, in Atlanta's 6-1 National League victory over Houston Monday night that put him in the championship flight.

"I thought I'd just finish out my career sitting on the bench being Hank's caddy," said the good-natured Lum, referring to his five seasons as a backup outfielder for the Braves.

Lum moved into the Braves starting lineup last Thursday when Braves Manager Eddie Mathews told Lum he'd be the Atlanta first baseman, "for the duration." And the duration may be quite some time after his performance Monday night.

Lum broke open a 3-0 baseball game with a three-run double in the seventh inning and then teed off again in the ninth with a solo home run, his third of the year.

"I told him he'd be the first baseman for the duration, but I didn't say how long the duration was," Mathews said. "When (Jim) Breazeale got hurt Lum was the logical choice."

Atlanta's Carl Morton and Houston's Tom Griffin duelled on a scoreless basis until the sixth when Braves centerfielder Dusty Baker clubbed a run-scoring single in the sixth.

The bottom fell out in the seventh for Houston. Atlanta scored two runs before Lum's big blow. Morton slid safely into home after Astro catcher

Balance Of Payments Deteriorates Rapidly

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. balance of payments deteriorated sharply in the first quarter of 1973, due largely to international monetary turmoil during the period, the Commerce Department reported today.

Two measures of the balance of payments both declined. The official reserve transaction balance was in deficit by $10.2 billion and the net liquidity balance was in deficit by $6.8 billion.

The balance of payments deficits also occurred despite a substantial improvement in the country's trade deficit, which was $900 million in the first quarter, compared with $1.7 billion in the fourth quarter.

Flood Costly To Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A new flood damage survey in Louisiana has boosted the total of farm losses to $98,558,000, but 1,620 of the families displaced by high water have gone home.

The Louisiana State University Cooperative Extension Service estimated Friday that, in all, the high water had displaced 5,480 families — or about 22,000 persons.

Most of those able to return home live in southern coastal areas where the flood threat eased after lower tides let a lot of the backwater pressure drain into the Gulf of Mexico.

Of those still displaced, the service said, most live in areas flooded by the Red and Black rivers.

The service said the total loss to farmers translates into an economic loss to the state totaling $279.5 million.

For the state's major money crops, the service estimated these losses: Soybeans $47 million; cotton $20 million; sugar cane $7 million; rice $6 million; livestock $10 million.

Total acreage flooded: 2,745,000. Of this, 1,500,000 acres is timberland.

A breakdown on flooded cropland acreage: soybeans 549,000; cotton 119,000; sugar cane 35,900; rice 35,530; grain 17,800; truck crops 11,500.

The total of pasture land underwater was put at 477,000 acres.

On livestock — the service said 166,560 head of cattle were involved. Of these, 130,150 head were moved and confined to small lot areas, running up big expenses for owners $2,500 were sold; 4,300 were drowned.

HOROSCOPE

CAROL RIGNER

Wednesday, May 17, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Tonight's full moon brings much activity of a fixed nature. You would be wise to decide on the best offers available to you and concentrate upon making good headway. Put your financial affairs in order for today's outstanding influence.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Handle all association and personal matters in a most intelligent way. Be sure to pay an important bill. A different attitude toward an associate can bring far better results.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You have to be very careful now in dealings with others, especially where sales are concerned. Trying to force others to do what you want could meet with stiff resistance. Use diplomacy.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan your time more carefully so that you can do more. You should be able to do more than you are doing. You are the respect you do not give.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 22) Make plans to visit your friends. Do away from your home, in business or pleasure, and all goes smoothly. Put Show that you are thoughtful.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 23) Don't bring up any flimsy subjects of home or money arguments. Be fair and give compliments if deserved. Make sure you pay a bill that has been long overdue.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) Obtain appliances that will help make your regular work more precise, easier and more profitable. A good day to handle or private. Be wise.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) You have many practical ideas to attend to and should waste no time in doing so. Study your property and see how to make it more comfortable and valuable. Avoid SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) Your relationship with associates should be improved today by your concentration upon them. Stop trying to show domination over others and strive for more harmony. Avoid an argument.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Know your own limitations and be sure to do your regular duties well. Seek the aid of a specialist to help you on a problem. Avoid one who is a negative influence.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Think over how best your friends can fit into your ideas for the future and do not be afraid to ask them. More affection and generosity for mate is wise. Come to a better understanding of your risks before venturing on them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have to handle a personal project or risk before venturing on them. If you want it done right, don't let go of it until you are sure of it. Others will assist you in the future, so put them in your debt. Be sure to be helpful to you in the future, so put them in your debt. Be sure to be helpful to you in the future, so put them in your debt.

Harold Lloyd's Relic May Soon Be Open To Public

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Beginning May 25, the public will be able to see a $2 million relic of the elegant era when movie stars lived like movie stars.

The grandest of all the Hollywood mansions — Harold Lloyd's — is now undergoing preview tours and next month will be open to the general public via group visits by bus.

DOLL HOUSES

The visitors will see luxury that none of today's film personalities can afford. For instance:

A Versailles-like formal garden with doll houses that are completely livable.

A huge living room with built-in pipe organ.

Two 1924 Rolls-Royces and a 1935 Packard.

A hanging staircase of oak, reputedly the only one in Southern California.

Centuries-old rugs and tapestries, including a Flemish wall-hanging that was the gift of Mary Pickford — "because I can't stand that bare wall."

The most popular attraction is likely to be the Lloyd Christmas tree. The comedian spent weeks hanging the huge indoor tree with hundreds of hand-crafted ornaments gathered from around the world.

The shy, bespectacled Lloyd died of cancer two years ago, a month short of his 78th birthday. His will left the house and 18 acres to a nonprofit foundation with the design that the place be opened to the public.

WASN'T EASY

That wasn't easy. The Lloyd estate is nestled in some of America's highest-priced residential property, and some of the neighbors were understandably concerned about having a tourist attraction next door.

"Only about 10 of the neighbors complained," reported Suzanne Lloyd Guasti, granddaughter of Lloyd and one of the five foundation trustees. "Sixty-five of the neighbors okayed the plan to have public tours. But because of the objections, we had to limit the tours to visitors who will be brought in by Gray Line buses."

Lloyd built the estate at the height of his silent-screen fame, starting in August 1926 and finishing three years and $2 million later. Not even the legendary Pickfair of Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks could match its grandeur. The grounds included a nine-hole golf course.

To Set Tax Rate

ACKERLY — The Sands school board will set the tax rate for next school year at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Motel Levy Is Termed 'Painless' Way To Tax

Chamber of Commerce directors unanimously approved a resolution Monday to continue earlier efforts to obtain a motel occupancy tax in Big Spring to raise money for tourism promotion.

Chamber representatives had urged the City Commission at the last two Commission meetings to approve the three per cent room tax. Opposition from motel owners, however, led to appointment of a committee to instead investigate a possible earmarking of $5,000 in city revenue and $5,000 in county revenue for tourism promotion.

Although they had at first gone along with the suggestion of tourism promotion financed with local tax money, Chamber officials reconsidered and decided to continue to push for the room tax which would elicit money from out-of-towners rather than from local citizens.

President George McAllister called the motel tax "a painless tax already being levied by neighboring towns" and pointed out that it would represent mainly a bookkeeping chore for motel owners collecting it.

In other action, three Chamber posts left vacant by the death of Robert W. Whipkey were filled. R. H. Weaver was made new chairman of a committee to study local air service. Wade Choate was named a new director, and Jimmy Taylor was appointed co-chairman of the Base Community Council.

Thea Savage, president of the United Voters of America Inc., from El Paso, attended the luncheon meet.

STILL NO HOSPITALS—JUST TENTS

Quake Hit Managua Long Ago

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — The earthquake devastated Managua more than four months ago, but the Nicaraguan capital's 450,000 people have no hospitals yet — just medical tents.

A church clock stands among the rubble, its hands stuck at 12:23, the moment the quake struck during the night of Dec. 22-23, 1972.

IT'S HIDEOUS

Secretary of State William P. Rogers spent five hours in Managua Monday between Mexico and Venezuela on his 17-day tour of eight Latin American countries. He was visibly moved as he walked through the ruins, shaking his head and declaring: "The complete destruction is beyond comprehension."

His wife agreed. "It's hideous, just hideous," she said.

About one fourth of the city was destroyed, 10,000 people were killed, 20,000 were injured and 300,000 lost their homes. The United States has contributed more than $27 million in assistance, more than all other countries combined. But there is little sign of reconstruction.

Platoons of workers recruited by the government are picking at the debris. They were very evident along Rogers' route from the airport, but there was no sign of labor on other streets.

Very visible were thousands of children, and adults as well, waving little paper American and Nicaraguan flags supplied by the government of Anastasio Somoza, the stocky 48-year-old general whose family has ruled the Central American country for 36 years.

KIANT TASK

"Viva, Somoza! Viva, Somoza!" was the cry from the crowd as he and Rogers laid the cornerstone for a 250-bed hospital to be built with $1.5 million in American money. Mexican architects are drawing up plans for the rebuilding of Managua. The government may announce them by the end of June. Meanwhile, some of the homeless live in tents, some in makeshift shacks.

New shops and offices are going up on the outskirts of the city.

"Now the task is to rebuild," Rogers said in a statement at the airport. "We want our support of your efforts to restore your nation to be as effective as possible."

Locals Place 2nd In Quiz

Big Spring High School students won second place in the "Learn and Live" traffic safety quiz program during March, April and May.

Andrews won first in the program sponsored by the Texas Department of Public Safety. First place was taken with 690 points.

Big Spring tallied 625 points. Next came McCamey with 500; Crane, with 495; and Monahans, with 410.

Kherida Harland, Big Spring, was high point girl with 270 points. Debra Irwin, Big Spring, tied Janet Dalton, Andrews, for second in girls at 180. Fourth place belongs to Jill Rhymes, Big Spring.

No boys from Big Spring participated. Kirk Thomas, Crane, led the boys with 340 points, and Stephen Zap scored 300 points for second among the boys.

Big Spring girls lost only to Andrews during the programs broadcast Sundays over KOSA-TV, Odessa.

Big Spring girls beat McCamey, Monahans and Crane. First and second team trophies and watches for individual winners were provided through the Odessa Optimist Club.

Texarkana Mayor Quits

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP) — Dr. D. W. Wisdom, mayor of Texarkana for the past three years, resigned at a city council meeting Monday night.

Wisdom cited "personal and professional reasons." He said his resignation will be effective when councilman Dr. John Nix moved from his ward, as he is expected to do in the near future.

A replacement for Dr. Nix was discussed at a council administrative session last Friday, with one member absent, but the council was stalemated on a choice. It met in administrative session again prior to the public meeting Monday night but again could not agree with all members present. Wisdom then announced his resignation.

Both Wisdom and Nix declined to comment when asked if the council stalemate was a major factor in the mayor's decision to resign. Both are in the middle of second two-year terms.

A date for elections to replace Wisdom and Nix will be set later.

Fina To Acquire Coast Refinery

DALLAS — American Petrofina, Inc., and The Standard Oil Co. (Ohio), announced here today they have entered into a definitive agreement under which Fina is to acquire a Port Arthur, Tex., refinery. Also to be acquired are crude oil pipelines, and marketing properties in Florida and Georgia with some additional properties in North and South Carolina.

The companies announced in March an agreement in principle regarding the transaction. Closing of the transaction is scheduled for July 1 and is subject to the approval of Fina's shareholders.
