MAGRUDER SAYS MITCHELL APPROVED $250,000 BUGGING OPERATION

Covered Up Break-In For Fear Nixon Would Lose

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jeb Stuart Magruder, confessing his own role in Watergate, implicated top campaign and administration officials in the political wiretapping today, and said it didn't occur to them to do anything but cover up their involvement for fear President Nixon would lose the 1972 election.

OUR ERROR
The former campaign deputy said to his knowledge Nixon did not know "of our errors in this matter."
He said he had no direct conversations with the President. Magruder said John N. Mitchell, the former attorney general and campaign chairman, approved the raid and the target Democratic national headquarters.

After the wiretappers were caught, on June 17, 1972, he said, the cover-up was virtually automatic.

"I think it was felt that if it ever reached Mr. Mitchell before the election, the President would lose the election," Magruder told the Senate Watergate committee.

Before that panel and the television cameras, the 38-year-old former deputy director of the Committee for the Re-election of the President said:

EXPENSIVE TASK
—Mitchell approved the $250,000 bugging operation March 30, 1972, after earlier turning down two more expensive and bizarre surveillance plans advanced by G. Gordon Liddy.

—Both the approved and disapproved plans of Liddy, later convicted in the Watergate case, were transmitted at each step to Gordon Strachan, a top aide to White House chief of staff H. R. Haldeman. Wiretap logs also went to Strachan.

—Magruder told Haldeman the entire break-in and cover-up story in January just before Nixon's second inauguration. That was more than two months before the case began to break open in mid-March, and about three months before Nixon said "new developments" had come to his attention.

SCANDAL
—Mitchell and John W. Dean III, the White House counsel, participated during the June-September period in developing a cover-up story to attempt to keep the scandal from reaching any higher than Liddy, who had worked as counsel for the two principal Nixon re-election committees.

—Magruder is prepared to testify for the government in future Watergate trials, and expects to plead guilty to one count of conspiracy.

Magruder said Mitchell, the campaign director and former attorney general, approved the final $250,000 bugging proposal on March 30, 1972, at Key Biscayne, Fla. He said the operation was first proposed by G. Gordon Liddy, then a campaign aide, later convicted as a Watergate conspirator.

"No one was completely overwhelmed with the project. But we thought the information could be useful and Mr. Mitchell approved the project," said Magruder.

$1 MILLION PLAN
This meeting had followed two meetings earlier in the year where Mitchell had first rejected a $1-million proposal and then a $500,000 plan, Magruder testified.

Logs of wiretapped telephone conversations were regularly given to Mitchell, Magruder said.

He said Strachan also saw the logs, but didn't receive copies of them for his own use.

Magruder said Mitchell was angry at Liddy because there was little useful information in the logs. "He said they were worthless, and not worth the money we paid," Magruder recalled.

TODAY'S FIRST WITNESS — Jeb Stuart Magruder, former deputy director for the Committee for the re-election of the President, and his wife sit in the audience as they listen to Maurice Stans testify before the Senate Watergate committee Wednesday on Capitol Hill. Magruder was today's first witness before the committee.

PROFITS UNSHARED Dublin Man Has Bunting Pact

The bunting and flags are up for the rodeo season. Today, the decorations were hung at the rodeo grounds for the final festive touches for the June 20-24 event.

They had been placed on downtown buildings of those who annually subscribe to the service.

T. B. Freeman of Dublin annually comes through Big Spring, puts up the ornaments and then moves on to another town which is having a festivity. They stop by after it is over and take down the flags.

The service is strictly a business, with Freeman traveling throughout the area from one festive occasion to another. The profits are not shared with the local rodeo association, but sponsors are appreciative of those who put up the flags.

"We think it makes people aware of the coming event and helps make visitors feel welcome," one longtime rodeo worker said here today.

Milk Price Boost Not Yet Revoked

An increase due June 28 of 12 cents a gallon in the wholesale price of Foremost milk was announced Wednesday and has not yet been repealed in the light of a price freeze imposed by President Nixon Wednesday night, Bob Hambrick, Foremost area distributor, said Thursday.

Buddy Calhoun, Gandy's area distributor, said it may be a few days before the President's speech can be analyzed. He said Gandy was expecting an increase in its milk also but had not yet notified him as to how much.

"It takes a whole cowpen of people to figure out what he (Nixon) said," Calhoun said. "We're (Big Spring Gandy's) just sitting here at the branch level. If it's important we may get a call (headquarters in San Angelo) or we may not."

Relief Fund Is Far Short Of Objective

The Howard-Glasscock chapter of the American Red Cross raised $45.50 for the National Disaster Relief Fund, the Howard-Glasscock chapter reported. The goal was $1,082.

Anyone interested in a course in first aid may sign up in the Howard County Court House, Nat Roll, chapter director, said. Classes will begin as soon as a certain quota is reached and a class meeting time is agreed to.

Marijuana Bill Signed By Briscoe

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe signed today the marijuana, death penalty and penal code bills today passed by the 63rd legislature.

He also signed the lobby control, ethics, campaign finance, open records and competitive car insurance rate bills.

The governor put this signature on the death penalty bill with a pen that a young deputy sheriff was holding when he was murdered in San Antonio Feb. 2.

MORE REALISTIC
Jerry Walker, the deputy, taking notes with the pen when he was gunned down, said Rep. Frank Lombardino, D-San Antonio, an ex-policeman who cosponsored the death penalty bill.

Under the bill, the death penalty can be given for certain categories of murder, including killing peace officers and firemen while on duty.

The drug bill reduces possession of four ounces or less of marijuana from a felony carrying a possible life sentence to a misdemeanor, with fines and jail terms.

Briscoe said the measure provided stiffer penalties for suppliers of illegal drugs while enabling judges and juries to assess "more realistic penalties for first offense possession of small amounts of marijuana."

He said the new penal code is "modern, understandable and workable." In place of the "current patchwork code" signed into law by Gov. Elisha M. Pease 117 years ago.

The ethics bill's most important provision requires all legislators, state judges, elected state officials and heads of state agencies to disclose their financial holdings each year so potential conflicts of interest can be detected.

LOBBY CONTROL
"How many years of your life does this represent?" Briscoe asked Rep. Jim Nugent, D-Kerrville, who has sponsored conflict of interest bills in several legislative sessions. "Twelve years," Nugent replied.

60-Day Price Freeze Called

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has frozen all consumer prices for 60 days, jolting an inflation-plagued economy with a surprise shock treatment while buying time to build a tougher wage-price control system.

Wages were not frozen by the President. Neither were rents, interest and dividends or raw agricultural products at the farm level.

But Nixon told the nation in a television-radio address Wednesday night that all other prices paid for goods and services during the next two months cannot exceed prices that prevailed in the June 1-8 base period.

FAILURE
Congressional action is required for proposed export controls and other supporting elements of the President's fourth attempt in two years to curb inflationary pressures. But the price freeze went into effect Wednesday night when he signed an executive order. Unless lifted sooner, the freeze expires Aug. 12. By then, Nixon said, he will have ready "a new and more effective system of controls" to replace Phase 3—a limited system which his economic advisers admitted was a failure.

Phase 4 controls, Nixon said, "will involve tighter standards and more mandatory compliance procedures than under Phase 3" and will include special measures to stabilize retail food and gasoline prices.

MIXED REACTIONS
Members of Congress had mixed reactions to the President's moves. Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the Joint Economic Committee, voiced some reservations but said he would withdraw for 90 days his pending Senate amendment to freeze wages, prices and consumer interest rates.

Republicans generally supported the President. "Right on target," said House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford. Democrats were less enthusiastic. "I'm fearful that it may not be broad enough," said House Speaker Carl Albert. Leading economists were split, too. "Too little, too late, too complicated, too political," said noted economist Eliot Janeway. "It's a definite improvement," said top University of Pennsylvania economist, Dr. Lawrence R. Klein.

BOOM
Nixon told the nation in his 15-minute address from the Oval Office that the economy is strong—"we are in the middle of one of the biggest, strongest booms in our history."

But for a variety of reasons, he said, "prices are going up at unacceptably high rates and the great part of this increase is due to rising food prices."

He then outlined his price freeze as part of what he called "bold yet sensible policies to meet our temporary problems." Other elements of the President's program include:

—An urgent request for Congress "to give me the new and more-flexible authority needed" to impose export controls on products such as grain and animal feedstuffs. "In allocating the products of America's farms between markets abroad and those in the United States, we must put the American consumer first," he said.

—A presidential order for the Internal Revenue Service to immediately audit the books of companies that raised their prices more than 1.5 per cent during Phase 3. If the increases weren't justified, Nixon said "the prices will be rolled back."

—A request that Congress allow him to eliminate tariffs on imported meat and other scarce items such as plywood and zinc, plus authority to sell more surplus commodities from government stockpiles.

—A promise of new farm legislation to put "high production ahead of high prices," a threat to veto any spending bill that exceeds his proposed budget, and a plea that Congress quickly clear the way for the Alaska pipeline to combat oil and gasoline shortages.

Nixon said he didn't freeze wages because they hadn't been a significant cause of price increases. They will remain for now under Phase 3 guidelines which generally call for pay boosts to be held to 5.5 per cent a year.

But officials made clear that wage controls are forthcoming in Phase 4, which Nixon said "will recognize the need for wages and prices to be treated consistently with one another."

INFLATION
In recent months it became increasingly clear that Phase 3 wasn't checking inflation. Consumer prices rose at an annual rate of 9.2 per cent during the first four months of the year while food prices shot upward at an annual rate of 25.4 per cent.

"Everybody admits Phase 3 was a failure," Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz conceded at a news conference Wednesday night. "Let's not argue about that."

In his speech, Nixon repeated his opposition to a government-controlled economy. He said Phase 4 will be intended to "return us as quickly as possible to the free-market system."

Odessa Business Exec, Wife Die In Jap Plane

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A Texas business executive and his wife were killed when their Japanese-built plane crashed in a thunderstorm just across the Mexican border during the night.

The victims were identified as Ned Sanford Woolley, 57, president of the Woolley Tool & Manufacturing division of Chromaloy America Corp. in Odessa, and his wife, Fae Hudson Woolley, 55.

The plane crashed near El Porvenir in the Mexican state of Chihuahua while on a flight from Midland, Tex., to Long Beach, Calif.

It was seen to fall by a Border Patrol officer on the Texas side of the frontier. He notified the Mexican authorities. Moments before the crash there was a dramatic exchange between the pilot and flight controllers at Albuquerque, N.M.

The plane had been trying to avoid turbulent weather in the area while flying west at a height of 13,000 feet. Woolley's last contact with the control tower came about 9:25 p.m. MDT, when he advised that the storm had sent his plane spinning out of control but he had regained control. A few moments later he lost control again and the $300,000 Mitsubishi MU2 crashed and burned.

Mike Greer, a Highway Patrol officer from Fort Hancock, was permitted to cross the border by the Mexican authorities to inspect the scene of the crash.

He said the plane had "nose-dived like a dart" into the ground for a depth of four feet. Only a small section of the tail was intact. There had been no explosion, he said.

The crash occurred on flat ranch land and Mexican officials recruited local ranch hands to dig the bodies free with shovels. The job took two and a half hours and the plane wreckage was still smoldering when they finished at midnight.

Cause of the crash was being investigated by officials of the Federal Aviation Administration's general office at El Paso. One official said it might be weeks before any conclusion could be reached.

Hungry? Why Not Attend A&M Club's Barbecue?

More than a ton of barbecued beef was cooking away this morning, along with several barrels of beans. And 800 pounds of potato salad was being conjured, scores of pounds of onions were being sliced, together with gallons upon gallons of pickles, and boxes of bread.

This, together with an ample supply of beverages, added up to the annual Aggie Scholarship barbecue, scheduled to start at 7 p.m. today at the Comanche Trail Park amphitheatre.

Tickets ($1.75) will be available at the gate, and children under eight are admitted free. Indications are that there will be a splendid turnout for the affair.

Regional Council Okays Several Program Grants

Almost half a million dollars in grants were approved in less than three minutes at the Permian Basin Regional Planning Council board meeting at noon Wednesday at Terminal.

The board approved in one lump motion grants totaling $423,882, then turned around and approved its budget for the coming year and granted Ernie Crawford, executive director a $2,000 raise. The county judges, who make up the bulk of the board, stated that Crawford's raise was "both for a job well done and to keep his salary in line with other regional planning council directors." His salary had been at $18,200. The motion granting the raise was seconded by Judge A. G. Mitchell of Howard County.

The grants include approvals for the Permian Basin Community Centers for Mental Health and Mental Retardation, regional Alcoholism Authority planning; a 24-week training program at Midland College designed to train qualified building maintenance workers; a Gaines County adult and juvenile probation project; and a Permian Basin Planned Parenthood project.

There was also technical approval of a negative environmental assessment statement from 12 counties including Howard County. This is in advance of receiving the new radio system for law enforcement agencies.

William Corbett, who is going to serve with the statewide criminal justice council, was attending his last meeting as regional director of the law enforcement committee.

Ted Willis, Office of the Governor, division of planning coordination, spoke on legislation which was approved in this year's session and also discussed the major bill that failed to pass.

He talked also on an effort from a commissioner in Tarrant County to condemn regional councils and outlined what he regarded as importance of the program. It is much more manageable for the governor to deal with 21 regional planning groups than 254 counties and some 900 cities, he said.

Willis also pointed that an increasing number of federal grants are subject to areawide approval.

John Pike, Midland City council, was introduced as the newest board member.

Stuart D. Watson, president and chief executive officer of Heublein Inc., KFC's parent firm, said Wednesday that negotiations are almost complete with Chinese officials to buy crickets to fry and sell through the Hong Kong store which is to open later this year.

Watson said his firm has plans to present to open KFC outlets in Mainland China.

But some day it may just be the American tourists in China, jaded by a surfeit of Peking duck and thousand-year eggs, may find the colonel dispensing fried chicken that's just finger-lickin' good.

Now, they are informed, there will only be three transmitters, Corbett said that there will be mobile-to-mobile, mobile-to-base and a combination for traffic and patrol transmission. "We first thought that these latter two would be separate," Corbett explained.

Colony Sanders Plans 'Invasion' Of 'Main' China

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Kentucky Fried Chicken's famed Colonel Sanders is planning an "invasion" of Mainland China aimed at importing Chinese fryers to tempt palates in Hong Kong.

Stuart D. Watson, president and chief executive officer of Heublein Inc., KFC's parent firm, said Wednesday that negotiations are almost complete with Chinese officials to buy crickets to fry and sell through the Hong Kong store which is to open later this year.

Transmitter Total Reduced

Vance Chisum, chief of police in Big Spring, visited briefly Wednesday morning with William Corbett, regional planning director of the law enforcement division, in connection with the upcoming radio system for West Texas law agencies.

At the beginning of the planning stages of the project, Chisum and other law enforcement officers were told that they would have four transmitters under the new program. Each group paid its portion of the fee for the new service.

Now, they are informed, there will only be three transmitters, Corbett said that there will be mobile-to-mobile, mobile-to-base and a combination for traffic and patrol transmission. "We first thought that these latter two would be separate," Corbett explained.

Pros And Cons On Gas Needs

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A Texas Railroad Commission hearing on whether industry or electric power plants should get first crack at scarce gas supplies from Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. continues today with witnesses from both sides.

Several attorneys said they were not prepared to present testimony when the hearing began Wednesday.

Walter Wendlandt, head of the commission's utilities division, is taking testimony on where the two major groups of gas customers should rank in priority.

"We are here because Lo-Vaca is not complying with the contract obligations which they have," Wendlandt observed at Wednesday's hearing.

Lo-Vaca is a subsidiary of Coastal States Gas Corp. A consultant to Coastal States was unable to account for a difference of a trillion cubic feet in gas reserves reported by him recently in two separate estimates.

One report, a proxy statement issued Nov. 28, 1972, showed reserves of 10.4 trillion cubic feet, while the other, issued to the commission in May, estimated 9.4 trillion cubic feet.

B. P. Huddleston of Houston, the consultant, was cross-examined about the estimates by W. L. Matthew, attorney for the San Antonio Public Service Board.

Huddleston said he did not try to reconcile the latest report with the previous estimate.

"We just wanted to make the estimate, turn out the report, and that's the way it is," he said. "We were not attempting to hide reserves or pass them off. We were just trying to get at them with the best data we have available."

M. R. Ray Is Not One To Complain Of Heat

By WALTER MALONE

Most Big Spring residents complain about summer heat. There is one man, however, who probably doesn't care how hot it gets. He is M. R. Ray, manager of Southern Ice Co.

Ray said it takes 24 hours for a 300 pound ice block to freeze but his equipment can make 54 tons of ice a day.

The ice is made by filling metal molds and placing the molds in brine water. The brine water is cooled to about 16 degrees by ammonia gas circulated through pipes by compressors.

The water in the molds is mixed with air to produce a clear block. Ray said ice that is not mixed with air as it freezes hardens a milky white but is not different in any other way. He said he uses city water.

After the water hardens the ice blocks are stored in the warehouse until shipment. Ray said he supplies ice to Midland, Colorado City, Snyder and Sweetwater besides supplying cafes and soda fountains in Big Spring.

While sitting in the warehouse the 300 pound blocks are cut into 50 and 25 pound blocks and some is crushed and packaged for retail sale.

During the summer Ray said he employs about nine persons, some of whom are high school football players. Summer demand is more than double that in winter.

The temperature inside the warehouse, 28 degrees, remains constant summer or winter, Ray said.

Part of the ice plant was built in 1880 and then remodeled in 1928. Ray said he read in the newspaper five or six years ago that the oldest part of the plant was built on land that was used by Big Spring as a cemetery.

COOL AS A CUCUMBER — M. R. Ray, manager of Southern Ice Company, may be the only man in town who goes outside to warm up.

The ice plant is not allowed to store game for hunters since the health department prohibited it four years ago, Ray said. The warehouse was too hard to keep clean, he said.

CAN'T HANDLE JOB Female Officers Still Weaker Sex

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A San Francisco experiment with patrolwomen may be discontinued soon because they just can't handle the physical aspects of the job, a police official says.

The alternative is a change in the Civil Service entrance requirements "to give us bigger, stronger policewomen," said George Eimil, the city's police personnel director.

Amtrak Plans To Reroute Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amtrak says it plans to reroute the Texas Chief through Dallas earlier than Aug. 12.

The new routing had been scheduled to go into effect last week, but officials said it was delayed after Southern Pacific asked the National Arbitration Panel to bar Amtrak from changing the route.

The panel met last Thursday, but recessed until July 2. It advised both sides that it wanted more information on the proposed change.

Baptists Commend Nixon For Bringing Peace To Viet

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Despite protests over Watergate and U.S. bombing of Cambodia, Southern Baptists voted Wednesday to commend President Nixon for bringing peace to Vietnam and to "pray for him during these crucial days of his administration."

In response to a question, Cooper said so few of the convention's 8,600 messengers were black because most messengers were pastors and "there aren't but four or five black pastors in the country that I know of."

"Besides," he said, "you've got to consider that these messengers are paying their own way to the convention and many blacks are not that affluent."

Cooper, who earlier told the convention that contributions to Southern Baptist churches exceeded $1 billion last year, said his church would not involve itself in welfare programs for the poor because it would detract from the gospel and "the government can run a better welfare department than the church."

Owen Cooper, president of the Southern Baptists criticized on Wednesday the recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling that struck down the death penalty. He said he believed capital punishment is justified in cases of "heinous and unusual crimes" because "society has got to protect itself."

Cooper, a retired Yazoo City, Miss., industrialist, also argued with the high-court's ruling allowing abortion on demand during the first three months of pregnancy.

He said in an interview he would advocate abortion only in cases of rape, incest, fetal deformity or probable harm to the mother.

"There is a point at which life begins," he said. "I don't think it's at conception, but I'm sure it's before three months. The Supreme Court has gone on far."

Cooper, asked why Southern Baptists are growing in wealth

To Push Ahead With Attempts To Halt Bombs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate critics of the Nixon administration's Southeast Asia policy vowed today to push ahead with attempts to cut off funds for U.S. bombing of Cambodia despite Dr. Henry A. Kissinger's appeal for "a finite amount of time" to achieve a new agreement there.

And Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said he has reached a "personal decision" to drop support of the bombing after the end of June. He said that deadline provides "a period of time that I think necessary to insure that the agreements to end all foreign military activity are being implemented by all parties."

Scott's statement, a culmination of a six-month swing against U.S. military activity, indicated he will stop his support of the bombing even if the North Vietnamese continue the fighting in Cambodia.

Several senators said after an hour-long closed session with Kissinger on the new Indochina peace agreement reached in Paris Wednesday that he made clear the administration intends to continue its current policy, including the bombing, in an effort to reach a Cambodia agreement.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, sponsor of a broad amendment to cut off funds for all U.S. military actions throughout Indochina, said Kissinger told the senators the administration needs "a finite amount of time" to work out a Cambodian agreement.

When things get down to the nitty gritty, where physical strength is required, men officers feel a man officer is needed," Capt. Jeremiah Taylor said Wednesday. "They believe a patrolwoman just can't hold up her end."

Taylor, who supervises the uniformed patrol force, said patrolwomen are "unable to perform physically like a male officer in physical encounters, making arrests where there is resistance, or lifting drunks."

Four women were assigned to patrol cars under an experimental program begun late last year.

"The purpose was to put them on the street to see if they could do police work there," said Eimil. He added that evaluation reports on three of the four women have been completed.

"They show—and the three women agree—that women officers can perform certain police functions just like men," he said. "But where strength was required, the women were the weaker sex and couldn't perform."

He said that, when one man and woman officer team came upon a drunk, "the woman officer physically was unable to assist the man officer in lifting him. So they had to call for another radio car to help."

Policewomen must weigh at least 115 pounds and stand 5 feet 5, while policemen must be a minimum of 138 pounds and 5 feet 7.

DEATHS

James L. Barron

LAMESA — Services were held at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Second Baptist Church for James Lynn Barron, 78, longtime Dawson County resident who died Tuesday at Medical Arts Hospital. The Rev. Cecil Foster, pastor of North Side Baptist Church, officiated and burial was in Lamesa Memorial Park under direction of Branon Funeral Home.

Mr. Barron was born March 15, 1895 in Cook County and had been a mechanic most of the 50 years he had been in Dawson County. He retired as a mechanic at the 10-Mile Garage. He was a member of the Woodmen of the World.

Surviving him are his wife, Lena; one daughter, Mrs. E. A. Cornett, Lamesa; two sons, J. L. Barron Jr. and Bill Barron, both of Lamesa; a sister, Mrs. Ruby Kennedy, Lubbock; and a brother, H. F. Barron, Lamesa; four grandchildren.

Bertie Faught

Bertie L. Faught, 84, died at 4:15 a.m. today at the home of her son, Chester J. Faught, where she had been staying for a month.

Services will be at 3 p.m. today in Nalley-Pickel Rosewood Chapel for Lad W. Cauble, 69, who died from injuries received in a car-pedestrian accident Tuesday. Burial was to be held in Mount Olive Cemetery.

Named as pallbearers were Mandell Shappard (Colorado City), Howard Smith, C. A. Tom, Kenneth Orr, Charles Graham, George Evans, Roy Cornelison, M. M. Mancill, Willard Sullivan, Abe Bailey and Frank Rutherford.

Father Dies

MERTZON — Aurelio Valencia, 75, father of a Big Spring resident, died Wednesday morning in St. John's Hospital. Services will be at 10:30 a.m. Friday in St. Peter's Catholic Church in Merton with burial in Merton Cemetery. Rosary was said today in Johnson's Funeral Home.

Among survivors is a son, Alberto Valencia of Big Spring.

Sister Dies

MULESHOE — Services were held today for Mrs. Mamie Haley, 76, of Fort Worth who was dead on arrival at a Fort Worth hospital Tuesday. Burial was in Bailey County Cemetery. A native of Grapeland, she had lived in Fort Worth two months moving there from Graham.

Among survivors are her sister of the home and a sister, Mrs. Neil Palmer of Colorado City.

G. V. Elliott

ANSON — Services were held here this afternoon for George V. Elliott, 81, of Anson who died Tuesday. Burial was in Mt. Hope Cemetery.

Born July 11, 1891 in Coryell County, he married Nora C. Spurlin Aug. 31, 1915 in Big Spring. The couple lived on the family farm near Anson all their married life.

Among survivors are his wife of the home and a sister, Mrs. Neil Palmer of Colorado City.

WEATHER FORECAST MAP — Cooler weather is forecast today for the Northeast and the West. Continuing warmer weather is expected for the Southeast and the central section of the country. Rain or showers are forecast for the northern and western Plains, for part of the Midwest and Southeast, for most of Florida and for the central Pacific Coast.

INTENDED TO INCREASE PRESIDENTIAL SECURITY Government Spent $423,000 On Nixon's Estate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government says it has spent $423,000 at the request of the Secret Service for improvements at President Nixon's San Clemente estate intended to increase presidential security.

In the fullest accounting to date of federally financed work on the President's oceanside California property, officials Wednesday night listed projects ranging from a $175,000 electrical system to a $1,700 workshop renovation.

SECRET SERVICE

The tentative figure compiled by the General Services Administration at White House request was about double the dollar amount of San Clemente projects disclosed in news articles during the past two weeks.

The White House also has asked the GSA to prepare a report on similar projects at the President's Key Biscayne, Fla., home. That breakdown should be available in a few days, an official said.

All of the San Clemente work, a White House spokesman said, "was at the express request of the Secret Service for security reasons."

Through Herbert Kalmbach, who was his personal attorney until recently, Nixon paid for portions of some projects such as a sewer connection, the official said.

SHOULD PAY

"The GSA was scrupulous in dealing with Kalmbach ... in pro-rating what the government should pay for," he said.

Kalmbach, of Newport Beach, Calif., has been a major Nixon campaign fund-raiser and has been linked to payments to defendants in the Watergate bugging conspiracy. The White House said last month he no longer was the President's personal attorney.

Local building permit records listed about $14,000 in projects apparently paid for by the Nixons, including a $5,000 swimming pool, a $2,000 fireplace and a $7,000 kitchen renovation.

Nixon purchased the 29-acre tract in 1969 with the help of a $625,000 loan from wealthy New York industrialist Robert Abplanalp, the White House said.

In December 1970, it said, Nixon sold all but 5.9 acres of the tract to Abplanalp in a complex transaction which left the President with a net investment of $374,514 in the house and homestead and Abplanalp with an investment of $1.2 million for the remaining 23 acres.

SOUTHWEST BOOKS
Genius With A Camera

Southwest Books
TEXAS. By Robert Reynolds, Charles H. Belding-Graphic Arts Center, Portland, Ore. 188 pages. $22.
Just about the poorest thing you can say about Robert Reynolds is that he is a genius with a camera.
His newest book of color photographs is called simply "Texas" and Reynolds demonstrates his ability to inject drama into the commonplace.
For instance, few will find much beauty in mesquites. But Reynolds does.
Rocky, nearly worthless pasture land turns into something worthy of a framed picture on the wall under the photographer's skill.
The book contains almost 200 pictures, most of them full page and some of them double-page in this 10 1/2 by 14-inch book.
The topics cover the mountains, the Gulf coast, forests, plains, plants, animals, cities and people.
Of all the pictures, only a couple could be criticized as not up to the book's standards—a remarkable job of selection.
Identification is held to a minimum, usually only a half dozen words.
Included at the end are several bits of textual matter: these are by Mary Austin Holly, one of the earlier factual writers about Texas, a letter from Gen. Sam Houston to Santa Anna, Roy Bedichek and others. The most extensive article is by R. Henderson Shuffler, executive director of the Institute of Texan Cultures at San Antonio.
Reynolds has two other books to his credit: "Washington, D.C." and "Alaska."—The AP (REF)

KARNEE, A Palute Narrative. By Laila Scott. Fawcett, New York, 160 pages. 95 cents, paperback.
A story by a member of the Palute tribe of the Northwest, recounted from almost a hundred years of experience.
The story is by Annie Lowry as compiled by Laila Scott.
The narrator goes back to the arrival of white men, largely to put the facts in focus.
The main story is the life of Mrs. Lowry, a half-breed, and of the transition as the white and red cultures collided.
This is a full reprint of the 1966 original book.
OFFICER MAMA. By Martha Schnabel Naylor, San Antonio, Tex., 100 pages. $7.95
Mrs. Martha Schnabel was one of the pioneer women in the San Antonio, Tex., Police Department.
Wife of a serviceman, she decided to try for a police job when it appeared her husband would be stationed permanently in San Antonio.
She was no hulking Amazon. She failed to meet weight requirements by seven pounds and had to go on a crash, three-day weight-gaining diet.
She was assigned to the jail, then to fingerprints and finally

Ex-Pet Store Exec Guilty Of Cruelty
DETROIT (AP) — A former pet store owner charged with leaving 40 sick puppies in a filthy, overheated room has been convicted of cruelty to animals.
William Dorsey Jr., 23, faces a possible $100 fine and 90 days in jail after his conviction in Detroit Recorder's Court.
Dorsey turned his shop keys over to the Detroit Anti-Cruelty Association last December after telling officials he had to leave town and could not take care of the animals.
Dorsey said in court he lied to the association and said he knew the puppies were sick.
Twenty-seven of the dogs had to be destroyed immediately because of malnutrition, distemper and dehydration, six others died later, the association to fingerprints and finally

ABANDONED — A Vietnamese child, reportedly fathered by a U.S. serviceman long gone and abandoned by his mother, looks up forlornly from the floor of a Buddhist pagoda in Saigon recently. Such children often find homes in religious sanctuaries or orphanages run by Buddhist or Catholic groups.

Realistic Approach

A calm voice of reason and reality was heard in South Vietnam the other day. There is little reason to suspect that it will be heeded, though.

It was the voice of Duong Van "Big" Minh, a middle-of-the-roader who was one of the leaders in the overthrow of President Ngo Dinh Diem in 1963. The leaders of South Vietnam, he said, are looking to the secret talks between Henry A. Kissinger and North Vietnam's Le Duc Tho in Paris for the road to peace. But, he said, a realistic peace depends on the good will of the opposing parties in South Vietnam — the Viet Cong and the Saigon government of President Nguyen Van Thieu. Alluding to the Paris talks, Minh said the people of South Vietnam "cannot help feeling deeply pained that, once more, the internal problems of South Vietnam have not been settled by Vietnamese among Vietnamese."

A spokesman for the Saigon government immediately suggested that Minh was a pawn of the An Quang Buddhist faction, which favors a coalition government or rapprochement with the Viet Cong. He said Minh "is being used by those people that are around him to take advantage of him to get a part in this third force."

In any event, the Saigon spokesman added, there can be no thought of a settlement as long as the Communists violate the cease-fire agreement. When violations cease, then "the government will immediately delete laws and regulations that are now limiting the people's fundamental liberties."

Of course this is a prescription for endless warfare in South Vietnam. The fires ignited by Ho Chi Minh cannot now be quenched. Even though they have the taint of Communism they also have enough of Nationalism to keep them burning. It should be obvious that a military settlement — total victory for either side — is no longer possible.

'Roll Out 57.97 Liters'

Inevitably, the metric system will come to the United States, with meters, liters, etc. replacing our well-known weights and measures.

Some folks in the aerospace industry are in favor of the metric system, which most of the rest of the world uses. They have every reason to favor a standard system, so they're trying to encourage the government to move a bit faster.

One method is to be jolly about it. They have applied metrication to some American standards.

among a war-weary people. There must be a political settlement. So long as the Saigon government pursues the chimera of a military victory, so long will the struggle continue without hope of a settlement.

Some Vietnamese probably agree with Minh, but they most likely will remain silent, fearful of vengeance from the regime. They know, as we discovered after so many years of desperate and inconclusive effort, that the Vietnamese people must settle their differences among themselves, even though new steps are taken to enforce a cease fire.

Such as: "Give them 25.4 millimeters and they'll take 1,609.3 kilometers."

And there's the blabbermouth who "puts 30.48 centimeters in his mouth." That old song now has lyrics which go "Roll out 57.97 liters, we'll have 57.97 liters of fun."

This may not be funny to the millions of us raised with gallons, inches, feet and miles. But we might as well smile a bit. Metrication is coming anyway.

Nothing Like It

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

This week, I noticed on the sheriff's activity sheet a request for the department to keep a close eye on the Girl Scout's annual Day Camp. It didn't say whether that was to protect the Girl Scouts or protect everybody else.

I'm joking, because I loved Girl Scout work enough to keep two troops consecutively for eight and 10 years each.

WE NEVER did ask for the law to protect us, but there was a time or two, I might have thought that somebody needed protection from those 48 active, eager, mischievous girls.

I remember one occasion when we were trying to get a long line of their bicycles across Highway 80, which was the Interstate 20 of those days. We couldn't get across, so I finally planted myself in the middle of it and spread out my arms while those girls happily pedaled by and waved to all the trucks backed up for miles.

Nobody tried to run over me. Maybe they thought if they did, it would severely damage their vehicle.

We hiked and swam and traveled all over Texas and New Mexico without any serious injuries. A major miracle. The only two times I ever had to get a girl to a doctor were right on the Girl Scout property. One girl got hit in the mouth with a baseball bat and one girl cut open her hand with a can opener.

THE ONLY one who ever caused any real commotion on trips was me because I fell in the water at Six Flags, which I have already mentioned, and slid all the way down the side of a mountain at Mt. Peak. When they finally got to me down in the ravine, I was suffering from a skinned leg and a loss of dignity and I looked up at all the startled faces and said woefully, "We will now have a lesson in first aid."

One time when we were in the Davis Mountains, we did have a girl go into screaming hysterics over in a pasture and I nearly tore a hole in a barbed wire fence getting to her, thinking she was snake bit only to find out she had stepped on a prickly pear.

The maddest I ever got was probably at an innocent faced little girl who said she had left one of the other scout's billfold at the bottom of Carlsbad Caverns after we had just climbed all the way back up. But when I began to turn purple in the face, she admitted that she had the billfold and it was just a joke.

BUT THEN I got pretty upset the time we were playing Bingo when they were Brownies and one of them put a bean in the other one's ear. And I wasn't too thrilled the time that somebody deliberately put their footprint in the patio of the new Pecot City Hall. It's still there.

When they reached junior high age and decided to stage a dance, I said it would be all right but they had to stay in the building and on the patio. I ran across one of those scouts the other day who is now working for a public relations firm and she was laughing about that party.

Some of them headed around the block and into the shrubbery and I stood on the back patio and beat on a dishpan with a big spoon until they all came back inside.

But if you are bored and also like kids, you really ought to go to work in one of the scouting programs, or go help out at the Boys Club where they are needing some help with handicrafts.

THERE'S REALLY nothing like it. It will both keep you young and make you old — all at once. When I left Pecos and the two troops dissolved, they gave me a gold charm engraved, "Thanks Marj, Ten Great Years." After those 10 great years, I am firmly convinced that a real active Girl Scout troop would need very little protection from the law. I firmly believe that the troop that I had might could have successfully stormed Iwo Jima or San Juan Hill.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

There is a lessening of patriotism in America. The flag, for example, doesn't get the respect it once did. Do you see this as something sinister or are we Americans just getting more sophisticated and less sentimental?

A.J.

June 14th is the day observed in various states commemorating the adoption in 1777 of the official U.S. flag. Through the intervening years, the flag has been one of several reminders that we are a nation which has successfully fabricated the unity of self government out of the diversity of self-interests.

The Bible teaches a basic sort of patriotism. Jesus said, "Give the emperor all that is his..." Luke 20:25. Later, Paul counseled a similar fundamental allegiance to government when he wrote to the Roman Christians, "Obey the government, for God is the One who has put it there" Romans 13:1.

Now, there are undoubtedly sinister forces at work in our democracy to tear it apart. The more serious condition, however, is the apathy of otherwise decent and law abiding citizens. Russia is an example herself of the dire consequences of complacency and indifference.

What we are seeing is the deterioration of the whole fabric of society; in the home, the school, and national life — as God and faith become less important.

Patriotism is not passe. If the sophistication, of which we seem so proud today makes patriotism unnecessary, we are inviting our own national doom.

Why Secretaries Weep

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that secretaries get tired of hearing:

"If anybody calls me while I'm in the washroom, tell them I'm in conference."

"The trouble with all secretaries is that they are secretly in love with their bosses."

"Margie Lightly, has three other secretaries working here, and you're still single. Are you losing your sex appeal?"

"I'm no whiz at spelling, Margie, but I think you are putting too many k's in the word accommodate."

"This is the second time you've come to work this week wearing a pants suit. I want you to understand clearly, young lady, that I'm the one who wears the pants in this office."

"The pet dog of one of our biggest clients just died. Do you think I need to get in touch with him personally, or do you think a simple telegram of condolence will do? The trouble is I can't remember what the mutt's name was."

"If my wife calls, tell her I'm in conference. If she calls back, tell her I'm in another conference. If she calls a third time, put her on my line."

"I'm trying to call on as many prospects as I can today, young lady. There's a bottle of scotch in it for you if you get me in to see your boss before 10 o'clock."

"I don't know anything about her boss, but he can't be much of a leg man. If he was, she wouldn't have her job."

"You must have got to work late, Margie. When I breezed in at about 9:50 a.m., the morning coffee you put on my desk was still hot."

"What would you buy your wife for her 10th wedding anniversary, if you were me, Margie? Whatever it is, go to the department store and pick it out during your lunch hour."

"I'm sneaking off for a little golf, Margie. If anybody but God calls me, I'm in conference. — but you don't know where."

Optical Shingles?

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Perhaps you can advise me on the beauty of a diagnosis I picked out for myself. After 30 years of X-rays, examinations, hospitals, etc., I've finally hit the "jackpot." It's called achalasia of the esophagus.

I have been advised against surgery and been told to try to live with it. I'm living with it and know things could be much worse, but I am tempted to go through surgery for fear that, as the years go by, I will get older and worse. I am 65 now and in good health in every other way.

Would like your opinion or advice on making living with it easier. — C.B.

This is a disorder of the involuntary nerve mechanism at the lower end of the gullet — that's where the gullet, or esophagus, connects with the stomach.

Food, whether liquid or solid, is passed through into the stomach very slowly. In other words, the lower end of the esophagus constricts, does not let food pass readily.

It is an exasperating condition, which may be putting it too mildly, such a nuisance that some patients with the condition even reach the point of not wanting to eat. The result, obviously, can be malnutrition and loss of weight.

It is, really, very difficult for me to advise you because I am not familiar at first hand with your condition, but since you tell me that otherwise you are in good health, I take it that you are getting satisfactory nutrition.

Surgery is possible for this condition. While not a dangerous type of operation, it is a major undertaking. I presume that it is your doctor who has advised against surgery — which would indicate that you're coping well with a situation that isn't exactly easy to live with. I interpret this as evidence that your case isn't as severe as some.

If necessary, surgery can, as I said, be performed, and in about 80 per cent of patients conditions are improved to some extent. But it does seem to me that the decision for or against surgery has to rest between you and your physician, and my opinion, at this distance, can't be of much validity.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there such a thing as optical shingles? Our office has a big argument about this — G.G.P., H.W. and E.J.

I think you have reference to Herpes zoster, or shingles. That disease can strike in various parts of the body, most commonly on part of the trunk, but it can be elsewhere. It depends on which nerve trunk it happens to attack.

It can involve the area around an eye, and in that case must be watched very carefully lest the eye be permanently damaged.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: There are two different kinds of hemorrhoid operations. One is injection. The other is a "tie-up." Which is better? — P.J.

They both have their place in correcting hemorrhoids. The injection method will suffice if the hemorrhoids (distended veins) are not too advanced. But when they have passed the injection stage, surgical removal is necessary. Rely on your doctor to decide which will be best for you.

Hemorrhoids can be cured! If troubled with fissures, fistulas, itching, and other rectal problems, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald requesting a copy of his booklet, "The Real Cure For Hemorrhoids," enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

NEW YORK (AP) — The City Center Jeffrey Ballet, faced with an 80 per cent cut in money from the City Center, has decided to shorten its fall season from six to four weeks and drop plans for a spring season in 1974.

In March, the City Center announced it was under financial pressure and was cutting its annual support of the ballet from $380,000 to $75,000.

Chappaquiddick

William F. Buckley Jr.

A member of the staff of Sen. Edward Kennedy has telephoned me to protest a reference made in this column to Nixon — Watergate as compared to Kennedy — Chappaquiddick.

Here is what this column said, reproaching Mr. Nixon for the nature of his public appearances on the subject of Watergate: "The Chappaquiddick solution of Sen. Kennedy, with of course the appropriate modifications, would have disarmed Mr. Nixon's critics, and made the investigation a much more listless affair. Sen. Kennedy, far from encouraging a meticulous public investigation of the Chappaquiddick affair, took refuge in a grand jury proceeding which in those days was reliably confidential, suffered a grave diminution of his reputation, but by no means a mortal one."

SEN. KENNEDY objects that after all, he did take the stand at the inquest whose proceedings went to over 700 pages. Those proceedings were made public. There wasn't really anything the grand jury could ask him that hadn't already been answered at the inquest, said his aide.

The inquest, held from Jan. 5-8, 1970, was secret. The proceedings were not made available to the grand jury which met on April 6-7, 1970, though individual jurors wanted to see them: The inquest was published on April 29. The judge who presided over the inquest reported that he did not believe Sen. Kennedy's testimony on two critical points. But the grand jury having retired without access to this testimony, there was no longer any avenue for legal prosecution of the senator.

THE SIMILARITIES between Nixon-Watergate and Kennedy-Chappaquiddick are numerous. The "New York Times," following Sen. Kennedy's television report on Chappaquiddick, wrote: "... his emotion-charged address... leaves us less than satisfied with his partial explanations for a gross failure of responsibility and more than ever convinced that the concerned... officials" have "failed in their duty thoroughly to investigate this case because of the political personality involved." More or less the identical words were used after Nixon's television speeches.

Later the "New York Times" commented: "... there are so many gaping holes in the story which he has so assiduously avoided filling, there is such an unmistakable atmosphere of calculated evaluation for maximum — or, as the case may be, minimum — public effect, that we cannot consider the matter to have been satisfactorily resolved in any sense." Sen. Kennedy was the subject of that sentence, not Nixon.

TIME MAGAZINE referred to Sen. Kennedy's speech as "slightly reminiscent of Richard Nixon's famous Checkers speech in 1952." — adding that "for all its smooth carpentry, the television statement did not dispel most... such doubts and questions."

Concerning the two-day grand jury hearings, the "Washington Post" story wrote: "... it turned out to be much ado about nothing. Only four witnesses were called, and they testified in all for less than 30 minutes. The jurors were described as reluctant to stop there, but they evidently felt closed in both by Superior Court Judge Wilfred J. Paguey and District Attorney Denis. "Everybody is very unhappy about it because they could go in deeper" a friend of one of the jurors recounted later. "But they wouldn't ask for more and the witnesses produced nothing."

"DISPATCHED from Boston to supervise the proceedings, Judge Paquet refused to let the jurors examine the records of the inquest and Denis apparently discouraged them from conducting a full-scale probe of their own."

Eye On Gloryland

By Rowland Evans
And Robert Novak

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Gov. Dan Walker, whose first hundred days in office have been a failure by any conventional standard, is still reaching the people over the heads of the political establishment in a populist appeal his lieutenants hope will reach the White House in 1978.

WALKER'S deliberately chosen enemy is the entire political establishment: the leadership of both parties in the state legislature; Mayor Richard J. Daley's Chicago Democratic machine and his downstate allies; the state bureaucracy; the education lobby; segments of organized labor, and most of all, the press. Yet his most bitter enemies agree with the governor's private polls that Walker is more popular today than last November when he ran a million votes ahead of the state Democratic ticket.

The reason stems from the utter simplicity of Walker's two-point platform: 1) I am honest; 2) I will cut taxes. Since the legislature seems sure to adopt some tax cut, the governor is likely to get credit. Moreover, he benefits from the fact that his critics in the establishment, particularly the media, are viewed by the voters as common enemies.

THE POTENTIAL defect of Walkerism is the difficulty of maintaining absolute purity. Right now, for example, his foes are blowing up a mini-scandal, tiny by Illinois traditions, to colossal size — deeply worrying Walker's image-conscious inner circle, particularly in light of Watergate.

The Walker camp's hopes to go national with his anti-government, anti-tax, anti-establishment populism are scarcely disguised. Walker himself, facetiously or not, recently told highly popular Republican state Atty. Gen. William Scott he would have a clear shot for governor in 1978 because Walker would not be seeking re-election.

SUPERFICIALLY, Walker's shell-shocked beginnings as governor should nurture no presidential hopes. An unprecedented five appointments have died in the state Senate. His dependable supporters in the legislature do not exceed a dozen. He has offered no real legislative program. His credibility and popularity with the press are near zero.

But Walker, while enlisting nationwide liberal support with his seemingly quixotic crusade against the Daley machine last year, is not now and never has been a conventional liberal. In a recent interview with us, he referred critically to demands for a full legislative program as "liberal dogma."

Vote 'Neigh'

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — One thing that everyone in this country seems to agree on is that we must restore faith in the executive branch of the government. Although President Nixon has appointed new people to the White House, most of them are old faces that just have been moved around from one post to another.

WHAT THE nation needs desperately is someone in the White House staff who has the complete and unequivocal backing of all the American people — someone who has never been touched by scandal of any kind — whose credibility is unquestioned and who is a symbol of everything Americans believe their leaders should be.

The only one on the American scene to do this is Secretariat, the triple-crown winner of the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes.

IF PRESIDENT Nixon would appoint Secretariat to an important position in the White House, he would be going a long way toward his promise of cleaning house and restoring the image of the Presidency. Mr. Nixon would be saying to the American people, "You want new faces in the White House. I'm giving you a winner."

Now before you scoff at my suggestion I would like to point out there is a precedent for such an appointment. The Roman Emperor Caligula appointed his own horse as a consul to Rome. It's true Caligula did this to show his contempt for the Senate, but I don't think any self-respecting person believes that Mr. Nixon would appoint Secretariat for the same reason.

Non-Stop Rains Harass Texas

By The Associated Press

Severe flooding left hundreds of homes today in parts of Southeast Texas and drenching rains fell in some other sections of the state for a fourth straight day.

Conditions were most serious from around Conroe and Liberty downstream as the San Jacinto and Trinity rivers in unglued miles of lowlands, causing at least one death and putting residents to flight.

Flooding hit those areas after a six-inch deluge in three hours Wednesday around Conroe. Acquaintances found the body of elderly C. D. Young Sr. floating in Caney Creek east of Willis, where he made his home.

MORE RAIN

Thunderstorms loosed still more rain today in the same general area northeast of a line from Beaumont to Lufkin, and heavy downpours in North Texas caused a flash flood warning in Denton County. Police said minor flooding occurred in Denton.

There also were numerous thundershowers in far West Texas from the Big Bend country northward through the Panhandle-Plains sectors. Except for clear skies at a few spots in South Central and Southwest Texas, it was generally cloudy everywhere else in the state.

A Red Cross spokesman estimated more than 500 homes were evacuated at Conroe. No figures were available for other points.

FOOD, BLANKETS

Coast Guard helicopters took on loads of food, blankets and cots at Houston's Ellington Air Force Base and flew them to points cut off by the flood waters. Civil defense authorities set up refugee centers in court-houses, schools and other public buildings.

Livingston and Alvin were among other Southeast Texas points troubled by flooding, and conditions were similar in South Texas around Victoria, officials said.

Water flowed several feet deep in parts of Conroe and N. P. Coleman, chief of the Montgomery County health department there, said all streets filled with water except for a three-block area around the courthouse. A railroad bridge five miles south of Conroe along Interstate 45 collapsed, halting trains.

"So much rain fell so fast there wasn't any place in the county spared," Coleman said. The muddy water floated a 70-foot-long mobile home off its foundation at Conroe and slammed it against a bridge overpass near Texas 105. Helping to swell the torrent, the dam on small McRae Lake northeast of town broke.

WARNING

San Jacinto River Authority personnel reported the stream was rising at a rate of two feet per hour. They were unable to predict when it would crest.

A warning from the Trinity River Authority against major flooding went out as rain-swollen Lake Livingston sent a record 748,000 gallons per second surging downstream, and hundreds fled homes in the 70-mile stretch from the dam to Liberty.

Liberty County Sheriff Buck Eckols said several hundred persons evacuated their homes in his county and took shelter at Liberty and Cleveland. Other towns bracing for the Trinity's overflow included Goodrich, Romayor and Dayton.

Sheriff J. C. Parker in San Jacinto County estimated 300 persons evacuated homes in that area. He said most of them went to Coldspring and Shepherd.

A Trinity River Authority spokesman said water was released from Lake Livingston because the Texas Water Rights Commission requires this to be done when the level tops the reservoir's capacity. He added that the release was necessary to prevent damage to the dam.

IN DANGER

Mayor Lewie Majors said Liberty was braced for "maybe the worst flood we've ever had... I'd say about one-third of our area is in danger in the lowlands."

While the flooding posed serious problems and heavy rains plagued other areas, official observers reported the weather was calming in most sections. There were no further reports today, for example, of tornadoes which were sighted during most of Wednesday in or around Corpus Christi, and Rockport.

While the twisters took in considerable territory there was no word of serious damage.

High water covered streets and blocked some highways around Victoria and in several neighboring counties Wednesday after rain measured 3.29 inches at Victoria.

At Columbus on the lower watershed of the Colorado River, a 10-inch cloudburst prompted warnings of considerable flooding from that point downriver to Wharton.

LOW PRESSURE

Rises occurred also on the San Antonio River south of the city by same name, on the Neches from Evadale to Beaumont, the Brazos at Washington, the San Marcos from north of Luling to Goin-zales and the Guadalupe from Gonzales to Dupot.

Meteorologists blamed a slowly weakening low pressure system over North Central Texas and damp air moving inland from the Gulf of Mexico for the lessening showers but said the rains could be expected to continue into tonight over much of the state and into Friday through all except the north central and northeast sections and the coastal plains.

Y Registration Is Under Way

Junior and senior life saving classes will be 9 a.m.-11 a.m. Friday June 15 through August 10 at the Young Mens Christian Association, Pat Owens, physical director, said.

A fee of $7.50 for members and $15.00 for non members will be expected. Persons may register by attending the first class Friday or by calling the YMCA. Deadline is June 15.

The fee includes textbooks and certification material. Owens said. The instructor will be Mrs. Nancy Rhodes. The classes are coeducational.

Worst Flooding Since '40 Blamed For Man's Death

CONROE, Tex. (AP) — Flood water from six inches of rain that fell within three hours Wednesday were blamed for the death of an elderly Willis man.

Families in low areas were forced to move to higher grounds as the rains came down in what one oldtimer called the worst flooding since 1940.

The body of C. D. Young Sr. was found floating in Caney Creek under the County Line Road bridge east of Willis late Wednesday. He was last seen alive earlier Wednesday on foot.

County Health Department Chief N. P. Coleman said about 1,000 deputies, volunteer firemen, county employees, Red Cross workers and others took to boats and searched throughout the county for stranded citizens.

"So much rain fell so fast there wasn't any place in the county spared," Coleman said. "The first evacuation was right here in Conroe."

Residents Brace For Big Overflow

LIVINGSTON, Tex. (AP) — Flood waters from the rain-swollen Lake Livingston Reservoir rolled down the Trinity River at a record 748,000 gallons per second today, creating a major flood threat.

Towns in the river's wake, including Goodrich, Romayor, Liberty and Dayton, braced for the overflow.

Hundreds of residents below Lake Livingston were evacuated Wednesday after the Trinity River Authority issued a major flood warning for areas from the dam to Liberty, 70 miles south.

IN GOOD SHAPE

"We're in pretty good shape right now," said Liberty County Sheriff Buck Eckols. "But they won't predict how bad this thing is going to hit us and that makes it kind of hard to prepare."

Eckols said several hundred persons had evacuated their homes in the county and sought safety at Cleveland and Liberty.

San Jacinto County Sheriff J. C. Parker said another 300 persons had evacuated homes in his county, most of them going to Coldspring and Shepherd.

River Authority assistant project supervisor Larry Smaihall announced that the water would be released Wednesday, pointing out that Lake Livingston was a water supply reservoir and not a flood reservoir.

Cable Cars Stranded In Mountains

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Thirty-eight persons remained stranded in two aerial cable cars high in the Sandia Mountains today after a cable slipped out of its track Wednesday night. Police said there was no danger of the cars falling to the ground.

Rescuers were using bulldozers to push a crane up the mountain to lift the cable, which drives the cars, back into place.

The stranded passengers, including a baby, were in fine condition, said Robert Nordhaus, president of Sandia Peak Tram Co. A mountain rescue team helped hoist food and blankets to the cars.

"They're comfortable. They're not complaining," Nordhaus said. "The baby has milk and a stove to warm the milk."

The cable cars got stuck early Wednesday night when the haul cable, which pulls the two cars between the crest of the mountain and the lower terminal, slipped from two track cables. The cars remained suspended from two guide cables.

Officials said thundershowers were moving through the area when the incident occurred.

Police said one of the two cars was on route up the 2.7 mile cableway to the top of the 10,300-foot Sandia Peak, and the other was descending when the slip occurred.

One of the cars stopped 1,800 feet from the top of the cableway, and the other 1,800 feet from the bottom. The top car was stranded some 600 feet above ground, and the lower car about 250 feet above ground.

GATES OPEN

The TRA opened the gates and allowed the water to flow out at a rate of 80,000 cubic feet per second Wednesday. Smaihall said the rate would be increased to the 95,000 to 100,000 cubic feet per second for several days.

The most water ever released before Wednesday was 44,000 cubic feet per second.

Smaihall said the river authority is required to pass on water beyond the reservoir's capacity under regulations of the Texas Water Rights Commission.

Smaihall said it rains decrease, the authority would release water from the reservoir at an increased rate at least through today.

L. C. Carlton, operations manager of the Trinity River Authority, said the release of Lake Livingston was necessary to prevent structural damage to the dam.

OUR POLICY

"Our policy is to equalize the burden (of flooding) as best we can throughout the areas," said Paul H. Cauthan Jr., a TRA director. "Our policy is to make the best compromise we can."

Liberty Mayor Lewie Majors said his city is expecting "maybe the worst flood we've ever had. We really don't know what will happen but they really had no choice in opening the dam gates."

"I'd say about one-third of our area is in danger in the lowlands. We have opened the high schools and sent deputy sheriffs to the areas up and down the Trinity River to tell people to get out."

MURDER CHARGE — New York City Patrolman Thomas Shea leaves Supreme Court in Queens, N.Y. Wednesday after being arraigned on murder charges. The charges stemmed from the shooting of a 10-year-old boy April 28. The shooting took place as the boy and his stepfather ran from police, apparently thinking they were robbers.

Outstanding Girl Is Blind, Deaf

LOUISVILLE, Colo. (AP) — When Maureen sits down to play the piano and you hear the music knowing she can't hear or read it, it really breaks you up," Maureen Hogg's father says.

For the last four of Maureen's 18 years she has been deaf and blind. But that didn't stop her from finishing high school and continuing her piano playing.

Nor did it keep her from being named the school's "outstanding girl of the year," or from planning to go to college. She also was named to the National Honor Society, attended proms and football games and received several offers of scholarships.

Maureen was graduated June 8 from Centurus High School. Officials at the State Department of Rehabilitation say she may be the only deaf and blind student who attended a regular public high school in the state last year.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hogg of Louisville, say doctors haven't been able to determine what caused Maureen to gradually lose both her hearing and sight four years ago.

Her mother says Maureen's life has a very special purpose. "She feels very strongly that everybody should be an individual. She doesn't believe in homes where you put them handicapped persons in the corner," Mrs. Hogg said.

The girl can speak and has learned German.

She studied in special classes at the University of Colorado and learned a method of "hearing" by having others scratch capital letters in the palm of her hand. Her teachers, family and friends used this method to help her through high school.

She is enrolled this fall in the University of Northern Colorado at Greeley.

Her mother says Maureen has "some sort of sixth sense" which helped her in high school and probably will help her in college.

Her father says that maybe she uses this "sixth sense" to hear the music of the piano.

The invitation to the Meistersingers to perform was extended by Col. Stanley Umstead, wing commander.

Concert Slated By Choral Group

The Big Spring High School Meistersingers will give a concert at the base theater, Webb AFB, starting at 7 o'clock this evening, proceeds from which will go toward the European trip planned by the group. The public is invited.

Ticket prices have been pegged at $1.25 adult and 50 cents for children under 14. The tickets will be available only at the door.

The invitation to the Meistersingers to perform was extended by Col. Stanley Umstead, wing commander.

Plane Crash Claims Two

DEL RIO, Tex. (AP) — A Kinney County rancher and his nephew have been identified as the victims of a plane crash Wednesday just off U.S. 277 about 23 miles southeast of here.

The victims were Leonard Andrew Ferick, 62, and his nephew, James Ferick, 25.

Two Army recruiters driving along the highway told police they saw the plane—a Piper Super Cub—flying low and apparently preparing to land on the highway. They said at the last minute the craft veered away from the highway possibly because of the heavy traffic.

Briscoe Signs Bilingual Bill

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe signed into law Wednesday a bill providing bilingual education for all grade school children who need it. The measure was one of a number of measures signed in a special ceremony in the governor's office. The bilingual bill would take effect in the 1974-75 school year beginning with first graders. Eventually it would provide up to six years of education in a child's native language until he becomes proficient in English. The bill was sponsored by Sen. Chet Brooks, Pasadena, and Rep. Carlos Truan, Corpus Christi. Other measures signed into law Wednesday included: —A bill setting penalties for failure to report child abuse or neglect. —A bill setting up protective measures for sand dunes on islands and peninsulas of the Gulf of Mexico. —A measure that would allow driver's examinations to be taken in Spanish. —Legislation that will increase retirement benefits for all state employees 4 to 8 percent, including the 8,200 already retired. —Authority to plant a live oak seedling on the Capitol grounds in memory of former President Lyndon B. Johnson. —Authority for a monument on the Capitol grounds honoring Texans who served in the Korean War and in Vietnam and Southeast Asia. —Authority for the Legislative Property Tax Committee to obtain true market value figures from all taxing units. —A resolution endorsing the use of portions of surplus ships to create artificial reefs. —Authority for city-owned transportation companies to give reduced rates to those 60 years or older and to those blind and disabled. —A bill requiring bonds for new collectors of state and local sales taxes or for those who have been delinquent in refunding sales tax payments. Most provisions effective Jan. 1. —A bill requiring uniform registration of pesticides for sale or use in Texas. —A measure requiring the Legislative Budget Board to conduct performance audits of agency programs and operations. —A bill allowing sale of bread in packages of eight ounces or less. —Bills authorizing high school courses in consumer education and the free enterprise system. —Legislation allowing 15-year-olds to be exempted from school attendance if they are enrolled in work-study, vocational training or apprenticeship programs.

Twelve Nuns Escape Bomb

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Guerrillas set off a bomb in a Roman Catholic residence hall attached to Queen's University early today. Twelve nuns and a large number of other women inside escaped injury, but several were treated for shock, authorities reported. They said the bomb was planted in a doorway near a room where a meeting was being held and the blast ripped out doors and caused slight structural damage. It was the second bomb attack on the university in a week. Explosives planted in a fire extinguisher last weekend caused considerable damage, the authorities added. Until these raids, Queen's, whose student activists played a leading part in the civil rights struggles of 1968, had been one of the quietest places in Northern Ireland.

KEEP 2-1 EDGE IN CONTRIBUTIONS Watergate Hurts GOP Fund Raisers?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Watergate scandal may be hurting fund raisers for the Republican National Committee and helping the Democrats, but the GOP so far has maintained its traditional 2-1 edge in contributions.

Quarterly reports filed with the General Accounting Office show the Republican National Committee received $1.4 million in contributions between March 1 and May 31.

During the same period, the Democratic National Committee took in $632,580.

Both committees had similar cash balances on May 31—the Republicans had $269,482, the Democrats $261,533. But the Democrats reported current debts of $78,000 and a long-term debt of $4 million while the Republicans said they had just $78,581 in back bills.

Robert P. Odell Jr., treasurer of the Republican National Finance Committee, said in an interview that contributions from a continuing direct mail program are running ahead of the same, roughly comparable off-year election period in 1971.

He added, however, that most of the increase of $200,000 was collected in the first quarter before the Watergate scandal exploded anew in late March.

Currently, Odell said, these contributions are ahead of 1971 "but not by much."

Odell said also that despite small-contributor response to direct mail, which accounts for about 86 per cent of all contributions, large contributions of $1,000 and up are off by 25 to 50 per cent.

RN Associates, the committee that collects large gifts, reported $122,663 in contributions since March 1. Nearly all of it was donated in late May by traditional GOP contributors who include some of President Nixon's biggest contributors of last year.

But RN Associates reported collecting only $135,688 in all since Jan. 1, far short of the pace needed to meet a $1 million 1973 goal for large gifts.

National committee officials believe fund raising has been hurt mainly by three factors: The Watergate scandal, a year-old federal law requiring full disclosure of all over-$100 contributors and the fact that Nixon's re-election committee, a separate entity, still has $4.5 million left over from the most successful political fund-raising effort in history.

Loss Of Valuable Ring Is Reported

An heirloom diamond ring belonging to Mrs. Pete Cook, 1606 Runnels, was reported missing at 3:25 p.m. Wednesday.

Pete Cook told police the diamond and ruby ring was valued at $3,500.

In other thefts, Stanley Phillips told police at 9:48 a.m. Wednesday that a 1972 red Chevrolet pickup was stolen from 1224 E. 15th St.

At 8:27 a.m. today, Richard Hoffman reported that a 1966 white International pickup, valued at $1,500 was taken from the Shell Station on the Andrews Highway.

Black Brant Rocket Aloft

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (AP) — The second of two sounding rockets designed to help calibrate the telescope of the orbiting Skylab space station was launched successfully from the Army's launch facility at Green River, Utah, a spokesman said.

The Canadian-built Black Brant rocket, sent aloft Wednesday, carried cameras to an altitude of 150 miles, where photographs were made of regions of the sun. The photographs will be compared with those taken from the Apollo telescope aboard the orbiting Skylab, the spokesman said.

This comparison enables scientists to calibrate Skylab's telescope, he said.

A Navy Aerobee 200 was launched successfully Monday. Last week a Black Brant missile was destroyed in flight and the launch of another Navy Aerobee was postponed because of technical difficulties. All of the rockets had the same photographic mission in conjunction with Skylab.

Contract Agreement Ends National Airlines Strike

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — National Airlines reached a contract agreement with its clerks and booking agents early today, ending a six-hour strike that caused little disruption to the airline's operations.

The airline said the settlement was reached at 6 a.m. after an all-night bargaining session in Washington between National officials and the Air Line Employees Association. The association represents the airline's 3,200 clerks and booking agents.

month ago to strike if a settlement was not reached by midnight Wednesday.

Company spokesmen gave conflicting reports on picketing. Turpin said all of National's major facilities were being picketed, including those in Houston, Washington and New York.

But in New York, Harvey Berman of National said the only picketing was at Miami, New Orleans and Philadelphia. Berman is public relations manager for the National's northern region.

An airline spokesman in Miami said some early morning flights were delayed but no flights were canceled.

Details of the contract, which must still be ratified by the union members, were not released.

Says Gas Tax Hike Unlikely

WASHINGTON (AP) — An increase in the federal tax on gasoline is "very unlikely," Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz says.

Shultz had earlier disclosed the administration was considering a boost in the 4-cent a gallon excise tax, partly in an effort to discourage gasoline usage during the current shortage.

The secretary all but ruled out such a proposal in response to a question at a press conference called to disclose President Nixon's new 60-day price freeze.

It was one of the options Nixon was considering during intensive discussions on the economy in the past few weeks.

Price Increase On Oil Reported

Effective June 11, Cosden Oil & Chemical Company has posted another crude oil price increase.

This one is 35 cents per barrel more for West Texas sour crude and for Westbrook crude. Cosden purchases some 28,000 barrels per day of the West Texas sour, making the new price $4.65 per barrel. It takes about 10,000 barrels per day of Westbrook type, which now is $4 per barrel.

In addition the price on some 4,200 barrels per day West Texas intermediate crude was raised five cents a barrel, making it $4.16. Earlier this year, Cosden had raised the price of crude oil by 25 cents a barrel.

Briscoe Picks Two Judges

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Gov. Dolph Briscoe has appointed Ira Sam Houston of Lewisville district judge of the newly created 21st Judicial District in Denton County. Houston served two terms as mayor of Lewisville from 1969 to 1973 and is president-elect of the North Texas Bar Association.

The appointment will be effective Jan. 1, 1974.

Briscoe Wednesday also appointed Robert T. Pfeuffer of New Braunfels as judge of the newly created 20th Judicial District in Hays, Comal and Caldwell counties, effective Sept. 1. Pfeuffer, an attorney, is a graduate of Texas A&M University and the University of Texas Law School.

FCC Action

Beaumont, Tex. — Sabine Broadcasting Co., K3MT, voluntary assignment of license to Harbour Television Systems Inc.

PROBATION REVOKED

'Everyone Has Leaned Over Backward To Help This Boy'

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A federal judge has revoked the probation of a Birmingham youth who pleaded guilty to carrying a concealed weapon onto an airplane two years ago.

"Everyone has leaned over backward to help this boy," U.S. District Court Judge Clarence W. Allgood said before sentencing John Morgan Mathews Jr., 16, to one year at the Kennedy Youth Center in Morgantown, W.Va.

TEXAS VISIT

Allgood placed the youth under three years' probation June 7, 1971, after Mathews pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of boarding a plane with a pistol.

Officers said the youth walked past a ticket agent at the Birmingham airport March 31, 1971, boarded a Delta airliner, waved a small pistol in the faces of passengers and stewardesses and ordered the crew to fly him to Cuba.

One of the stewardesses, Marilyn Jordan, talked Mathews out of the hijacking, promising to let him visit her in Texas if he put the gun away.

When Allgood sentenced the youth, Mrs. Jordan and her husband were present in the courtroom and asked that the boy be allowed to spend the first three months of his probation with them at College Station, Tex.

Young Mathews was turned over to the custody of his mother, Elizabeth Mathews, after his return from Texas.

MISUNDERSTANDING

Mathews' probation was revoked for probation violations.

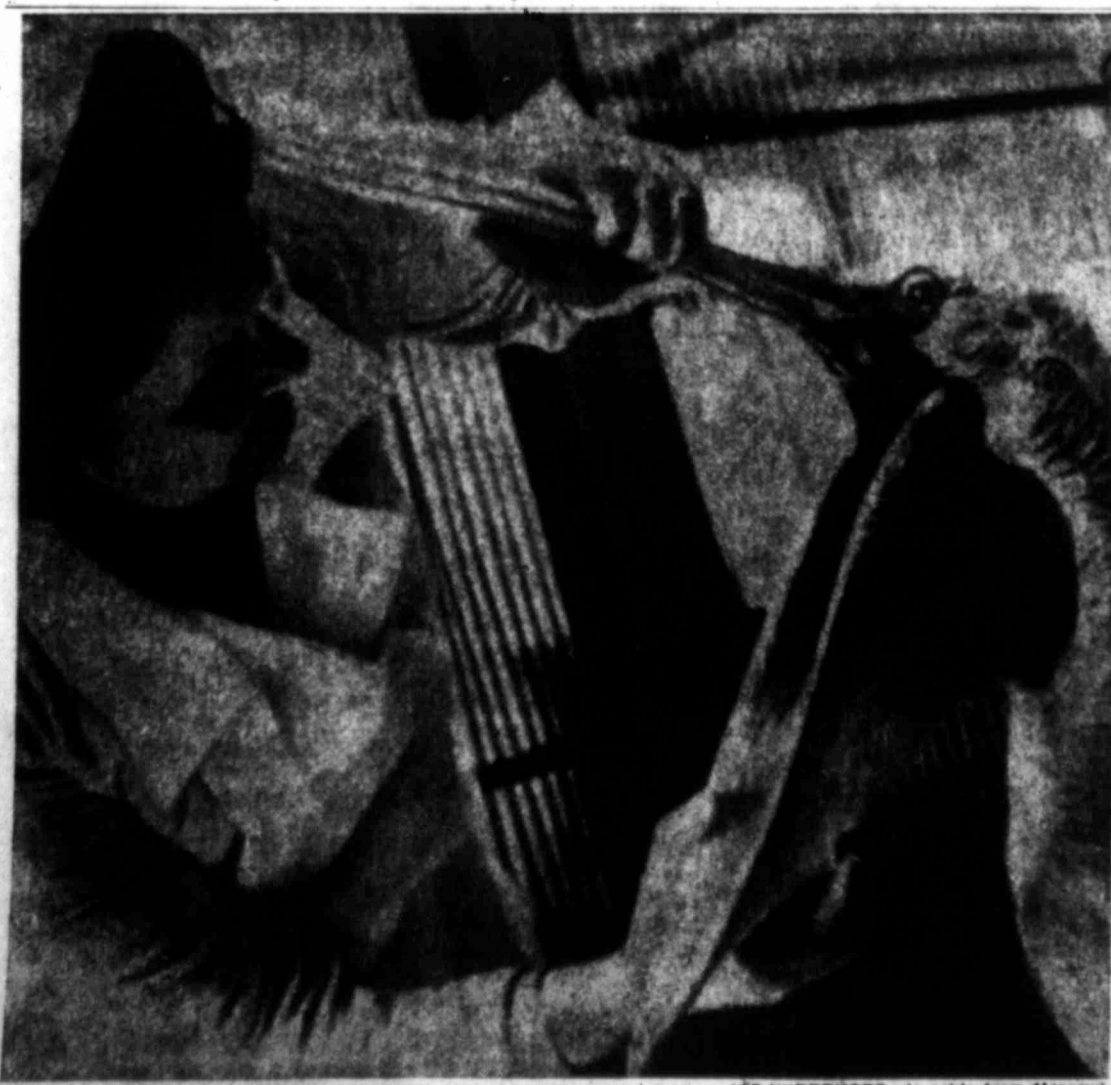

His court-appointed lawyer, Nick Callahan, said the boy "feels that his failure to cooperate with probation officers was due to misunderstanding rather than intentional."

He said the boy admitted leaving the Northern Judicial District of Alabama without permission.

The 16-year-old asked for a 60-day study and observation period at a federal facility, but Allgood said such an arrangement "wouldn't tell me a thing I don't know."

He gave the youth the maximum sentence allowed by law after determining that probation had been violated.

"I'm doing what I think is the best thing for you," the judge said, adding that he would request that Mathews be transferred to the youth facility at once.

HUBERT STEPHENSON

Two To Help Greet Public

Hubert Stephenson, over-all store manager for five Walls Outlet Stores and Orville Renegar, local store manager, will both be on hand to welcome Big Spring citizens to the open house Friday.

Stephenson, who is here from Cleburne to set up the new store, located beside the highway department offices on the Snyder highway, will help with ribbon cutting ceremonies.

He heads the stores which include Cleburne, Sweetwater, Gatesville, Clifton and now Big Spring.

Local manager will be Orville Renegar, who has 30 years experience in the clothing business.

Renegar has been in Big Spring two years and operated the Town and Country Western Wear. At one time, he was manager of Langston's Department store in Oklahoma City.

He and his wife, Helen, have three grown daughters.

Renegar and Stephenson welcome the public to attend the grand opening and view the store and its merchandise.

They will then be open from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. daily six days a week.

Forced To Make Payoffs, He Says

HOUSTON (AP)—Don Collins, a city contractor, says he was forced to make payoffs to a former city inspector to have his project approved.

Collins, the third contractor to say he was forced to make payments to the former city inspector, was scheduled to testify before a Harris County grand jury Thursday.

Russel Stockman and Elmer Roberts, partners in a construction company, said earlier they were forced to pay the city inspector $6,000 and $8,000 to get a Sunnyside area project approved.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Terry Collins said Wednesday Don Collins was the only scheduled witness for the grand jury Thursday. He said no indictments were expected before next week.

Lord Lambton Pays Drug Fine

LONDON (AP)—Lord Lambton, forced to resign as Britain's air force minister over "casual affairs" with a prostitute, has been fined for drug possession.

Lambton was fined $750 Wednesday after he admitted to three charges of drug possession. Marijuana and pep pills were found in his home.

The charges were brought after Scotland Yard was tipped off on a photograph showing Lambton puffing a cigarette on the bed of call girl Norma Levy. The cigarette was allegedly marijuana.

Last June in Miami Beach, Italy's renowned Blue Team emerged from a two-year retirement to defend successfully the World Bridge Olympiad title which they had won in 1968. They defeated the United States in the final round.

Today's hand is taken from one of the qualifying rounds. The Americans suffered a substantial setback to the Netherlands that was swelled thru an incautious double.

The bidding in the diagram occurred at the table where the Dutch players were seated North and South. North held the bare minimum requirements for his opening bid of one diamond — 13 points and two defensive tricks. South's hand was worth 19 points. However, any ambitions he had for bigger things diminished when his partner simply rebid diamonds each time, and he finally settled for a modest game project by bidding three no trump.

The United States player, seated East, doubled the final contract which is a conventional call requesting the lead of dummy's first bid suit. While East's diamond holding is impressive, he lacks outside values — and the auction strongly suggests that West is short in North's suit and may be able to lead diamonds only one time. South, who held considerable in reserve for his previous calls, redoubled.

West opened the eight of diamonds, the three was played from dummy and East won the trick with the ten. The shift was to a heart and declarer was in with the queen. The ace of clubs was cashed, followed by the jack and West put up the king, on which North discarded a diamond. The jack of hearts was returned and South was in again with the king.

Declarer cashed the queen of clubs, but when East showed out — discarding the jack of diamonds — there were only eight top tricks available: three clubs, three hearts and two spades. A spade was led to the king, the ace of hearts was played, on which South shed the three of clubs and a small spade was continued. East played the six and declarer finessed the jack. When this held, he cashed the ace of spades and the ten of clubs and cheerfully conceded the balance, since he had nine tricks in. His profit on the deal was 950 points — 450 for the trick score and 500 bonus for a vulnerable game.

At the other table the United States reached a contract of four spades with the North-South cards. The jack of hearts was led by West and when the dummy was spread, declarer observed that he had four top tricks in hearts and clubs, and he resolved to score the remaining six via a cross-ruff.

After winning the opening lead with the king of hearts, South cashed the queen and then played the ace of clubs and ruffed a small club with the eight of spades. On the ace of hearts, he stuffed his lone diamond and then trumped a diamond with the deuce of spades.

A club was ruffed with the king of trumps, but when a diamond was returned and trumped with the four of spades, West overtrumped with the seven, cashed the king of clubs and then gave his partner a club ruff — to complete the defensive book. East retained the queen-nine of spades and eventually scored the setting trick in that suit.

The 100 point profit scored by the Dutch for defeating four spades, added to the 950 point total accrued by their teammates at the other table netted a swing of 1,050 on the deal to the Netherlands — sufficient for them to triumph over the United States in the match.

Jack Cowan

Oooooohhhh. It feels like walking out into the bright sunlight after a movie matinee, or being noisily awakened from a pleasant nap. It's like cold spaghetti, Ivy League football and khaki pants — bleah. Returning from vacation is also a lot like pulling teeth.

After taking an extended 10-day tour through our western states (or some of them, at least), and having become quite good friends with the desert, I return to you a new man, better educated and with a nice tan. All this despite reading a newspaper just one time on the junket, an underground one from somewhere in Southern California, I think.

High points in the excursion, voted upon by members of the invading party, were: (1) letting ourselves be duped into standing in line for one angry hour to see a mediocre Bob Newhart Show, (2) surviving the smog and freeways of Los Angeles, and (3) getting into and out of California and Arizona without getting frisked by state employees who were protecting the fruits. You can take that last one any way you'd like.

It was just about this time 12 years ago that Ricky Steen saw his first and only major league baseball game when he won the local Houston Astros baseball contest. He wasn't impressed. He didn't like sitting around in the stands while the other guys got to play. That was when he was 12.

Now Ricky's a big boy, and he leaves Friday for Sarasota, Fla. to prove just how big he is. The talented Big Springer, a fifth round draft choice of the St. Louis Cardinals, signed Tuesday with the St. Petersburg branch of the Cards' organization and sets out to make a name for himself in the Rookie League this summer.

He didn't get a $125,000 bonus for signing, but it's still quite an honor. Steen was the only player to be tapped by the pros in West Texas, not to mention Dist. 5-AAAA. We wish him a lot of luck.

While all us useless clowns are running around on vacations making fools of ourselves in various parts of the country, some people are just now really getting into the swing of things when it comes to work. Take the tennis folks, for example.

Novice Kniffen, pro at the new Figure Seven Tennis Center here, just completed that facility's first tournament last weekend, and now he and his clan must get ready for Sunday's grand opening and the huge Highway 80 tournament, set for early July here. Kniffen has lined up a quartet of some of the top amateur players in the state, including his brother Fred, and the four men will stage an exhibition match Sunday at 1 p.m. to highlight opening ceremonies.

As for the Highway 80 thing, Kniffen is about to fall over. He expects more than 500 netters to converge on Big Spring and its not-so-abundant facilities for the July 2-4 affair and that, I have a feeling, could convince a man to take up golf.

Entries to the meet, incidentally, are pouring in from all over Texas, plus several from New Mexico, Oklahoma and Louisiana. Methinks the man may need more than just our sympathies . . .

Net Greybeards Lined Up For Grand Masters

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Riggs, Frank Parker, Billy Talbert, Pancho Segura—famous names from tennis' golden past—all hope to regain some of their lost glory in the rebirth of interest that the sport currently enjoys. Riggs hustled his way to a measure of recognition for the oldtimers with his recent easy victory over Australian Margaret Court in what was billed as the Battle of the Sexes. Now some of his middle-aged friends are hoping to get a piece of the action through the brainchild of Al Bunis of Cincinnati, a leading authority on senior tennis. Bunis announced at a news conference Wednesday the formation of a Tennis Grand Masters Tour, featuring 12 of the game's best senior players. These players, he said, will compete for $250,000 in cash prizes in 10 different U.S. cities and several European capitals this year, with the weekend activity getting underway July 20-22 in Milwaukee. Bunis, captain of the U.S. Dubler Cup team, the senior division equivalent of the Davis Cup, said he considers tennis to be the game of the 1970s as golf was the sport of the 1950s and 1960s. And, he added, tennis also is becoming more and more a game for the middle-aged. The Grand Masters include Riggs, rated the finest match player of all time; Talbert, holder of 38 national titles; Gardner Mulloy, seven times U.S. senior champion; Vic Seixas, 1953 Wimbledon champion; Segura, current senior hard court champion; Parker, USLTA national champion in 1944 and 1945, and Tom Brown, three-time U.S. Davis Cupper. Also, Gustavo Palofax, No. 1 senior player in the U.S.; Jaroslav Drobny, 1954 Wimbledon champion; Hugh Stewart, winner of 20 national championships; and Straight Clark, current Wimbledon senior champion and Sam Match, oem'n'g 3 tition.

Milwaukee Closing In On Lead In American

BY The Associated Press: The Milwaukee Brewers used to live in the cellar but now find themselves in the penthouse. Long an American League doormat, the Brewers have discovered room at the top in the East Division.

"We've proven we can play with all the clubs in both divisions," said Johnny Briggs after the upstart Brewers nipped the Minnesota Twins 4-3 Wednesday night for their sixth straight victory and 11th in 12 games.

The triumph put Milwaukee into a tie for second place with the Detroit Tigers, just a half-game off the New York Yankees' East-leading pace. In the other American League games, the Texas Rangers whipped the Cleveland Indians 4-2; the Kansas City Royals blanked the Baltimore Orioles 2-0; the Chicago White Sox defeated the Detroit Tigers 10-2; the California Angels downed the Boston Red Sox 7-5 and the New York Yankees belted the Oakland A's 8-3.

Jim Spencer and Toby Harrah each hit home runs and Spencer drove in another run with a single to lead Texas over Cleveland and Gaylord Perry.

Cleveland Manager Ken Aspromonte, noting Perry's unimpressive 6-7 record, said: "I'm not worried about Perry. He has been in slumps before and has worked out of them."

Lou Piniella knocked in two runs with a double in the eighth inning and Dick Drago scattered eight hits to pace Kansas City over Baltimore.

Chicago belted four home runs, including a three-run shot, to overwhelm Detroit.

Frank Robinson's base-loaded double keyed a four-run rally in the second that helped California beat Boston.

Fritz Peterson and Sparky Lyle combined on a nine-hitter, leading New York over Oakland.

Texas Rangers Rough Up Tribe Ace To Triumph

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Indians pitcher Gaylord Perry says he'll do anything to change his losing ways after falling in five consecutive starts.

Perry went the distance Wednesday against the Texas Rangers but lost his eighth game in 14 outings as the winner gave up two runs in the first inning on singles by Dave ELEO, Toby Harrah and Jim Spencer.

"They didn't hit the ball that hard," Perry said. "They just hit it where we couldn't get to it."

Perry, however, delivered two home run pitches — one to Spencer and one to Harrah that put the game out of Cleveland's reach.

"I changed the way I pitched to several batters but that didn't work," he said. "I'll keep trying different things until my luck changes."

The Indians' batters didn't help out the tall righthander. They stranded 10 men on the bases.

"We didn't get the hitting we needed," Indians Manager Ken Aspromonte said. "And then Perry gave up those two home runs. He had to hold them so we had a chance to come back."

The Indians scored their first run when Buddy Bell hit a solo homer in the fifth. In the seventh, Jack Brohamer doubled and was singled home by George Hendrick.

Rangers Manager Whitey Herzog was thrown out of the game in the seventh inning because of a disagreement with plate umpire Larry Napp.

Herzog said Nelson is giving his club the spark it needs.

"Nelson is hitting well into the .300s and he's a good clutch hitter," Herzog said. "He's especially good against Cleveland."

Rangers starter Pete Broberg held the Indians to three hits in six innings to gain his third victory in eight starts. Donald Stanhouse was credited with a save.

"I had an off day," Broberg said. "I was wild, couldn't get my fast ball over and threw about 110 pitches."

Both teams had today off. Friday the Tribe starts a three-game series with visiting Kansas City while the Rangers are off to Baltimore.

'Surprise' May Scramble Open

OAKMONT, Pa. (AP) — This could be the Longshot Open.

During the course of this week, the press assembled here will write millions of words about Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Tony Jacklin, Lee Trevino and Bruce Crampton, Tom Weiskopf and Tommy Aaron.

Very little will be written about Forrest Fezler and Lee Elder, John Schlee and Larry Ziegler, Dave Stockton and Ray Floyd, Hale Irwin and Lou Graham.

And yet the winner of the 73rd United States Open Golf Championship could come from that list of longshots.

tour sophomore, came to national attention early this year when he lost a nationally televised heart breaker to Trevino in the rich Jackie Gleason Classic.

Elder, one of the few blacks on the pro tour, has been threatening all year. He was the early leader at both New Orleans and Greensboro, was fourth in the Colonial, fifth in the Crosby, seventh at Atlanta.

Floyd and Stockton both are former PGA Champions, and as such, may not fit in a list of longshots. But neither is high on the money list this year, although both have shown steady improvement in recent weeks and appear to be bringing their games to a peak.

Yanks Must Wait While, Rangers Triumph, 6-4

The Yankees, who are close to clinching first place in the National Little League, will have to wait a while.

The red-hot Rangers gave the pace-setters their lumps Wednesday night, winning, 6-4, behind Larry Smith, who fanned 14 and allowed only four hits.

The Rangers, at 11-31 on the year, trail the Yankees by two games in the standings.

David Alton banged out three hits, including a bases-loaded triple for the winners. Johnny Mize got the Rangers off to a fine start with a one-on homer in the first.

Gary Burgess had two one-basers for the Herald's team while Jimmy Robinson clouted a home run and Donald Sluddy a double for the losers.

Steve Tipton, the losing flinger, parceled out seven hits to the Rangers.

Defensively, Craig Orr played outstanding ball for the Rangers.

DURING RIDGE LAWSUIT Rozelle Dodges Drugs

Copley News Service: While taking a sworn deposition from National Football League commissioner Pete Rozelle in connection with the Houston Ridge lawsuit, attorney Robert Baxley was asked to define the term "drug misuse."

"Are you talking about illegal drugs such as heroin or marijuana, or are you talking about something else?" asked attorney Charles L. Fonorow, counsel for Rozelle.

"Let me put it this way," said Baxley. "If you knew drugs were being administered to professional football players without a legitimate medical purpose, would this be the type of activity, in your opinion, you could regulate under that provision of the constitution?"

Baxley, counsel for Ridge, was attempting to establish that Rozelle, under powers drawn from the NFL constitution and by-laws, was as responsible for drug abuse among players as for violations involving gambling and association with

"unsavory" characters. But Rozelle is an old hand at dealing with lawsuits and giving depositions. "I would discuss it with my attorneys, as I do all such matters that arise where possible disciplinary action or regulatory might be indicated by my office."

Fomer San Diego Charger player Ridge, who recently settled his suit against the Chargers and the NFL and received $260,000 plus $35,000 for future disability, had claimed that drug used on the football team led to his hip injury.

The deposition was taken Dec. 2, 1971, on behalf of the plaintiff (Ridge) of 9601 Wilshire Blvd., Beverly Hills, Calif. Rozelle was reluctant to admit the possibility of a drug problem in pro football and it wasn't until page 93 when he finally acknowledged it.

"Is there some reason why you have never conducted, prior to 1970, an investigation of drug use in professional football?" asked Baxley.

"Yes." "What is the reason?" The commissioner then gave a long, involved response, concluding that "it would just be extremely dangerous to attempt to impose rules, regulations and appropriate disciplinary action on a league level."

Which is to say drugs in the NFL are a club matter. Baxley pressed Rozelle on why regulating drug use would be more difficult than regulating gambling.

"Because you have varying medical opinions today and in the past on the use of various drugs," said the commissioner, "and to attempt to get 26 clubs who have difficulty agreeing on anything, or 26 doctors, and I have been told that in many ways there are similar to club owners, to agree on standardizing medical practices would be a chaotic situation."

Earlier in the deposition, Rozelle admitted he had heard rumors of players taking "greenies" while he was general manager of the Los Angeles Rams but said he had not thought of investigating. His was the innocence of that day (1952-55).

"I didn't view it any differently than I would an aspirin," said Rozelle.

He became more sophisticated about amphetamines as time passed, but never ordered an investigation as commissioner — even after the Ridge lawsuit, involving drugs, was filed on Feb. 1, 1970.

"I did start an investigation, if you want to call it an investigation," said Rozelle, "by consulting with counsel." He said he asked counsel "to work with me in developing a procedure that we might take to lessen or eliminate any potential problem in this area."

Rozelle was asked if anybody from his office was investigating drug usage prior to 1969.

"No. No one had that assignment." Rozelle is often portrayed as the most powerful commissioner in professional sports, yet, in his sworn deposition, he declared he lacked authority to compel the club owners to produce records of drug purchases.

"I question where I would have the definite power in the constitution to enforce the submission to me of any such records."

At one point Baxley asked the commissioner what he would do if he were required to take disciplinary action in a drug matter. He said he would seek counsel and, "I think if they advised me the practice was bad I would talk to each of the club owners, and I would say I had been advised by some of the team physicians that there were bad practices under way, and I would urge them to consult with their team physician, after first ascertaining they had the finest available local physician in charge, and urge that he exercise strong controls and proper medical judgment in any medications that were dispensed by the team."

The NFL was being sued, remember, and Rozelle is adept at avoiding trap plays. When Baxley asked about drug warnings, if any, issued by Rozelle's office since February, 1971, the commissioner replied:

"We disseminated to the clubs a poster to put in their dressing rooms, locker rooms, outlining the league and the individual club's position relative to drugs."

Ali To Keep Mouth Shut

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Former world heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali, voicing determination and remorse, says he'll keep his mouth shut when he fights Ken Norton in their rematch, a guaranteed big money maker.

"If he does keep his mouth shut, I'll knock his whole head off," solemnly promised the 28-year-old Norton, who broke Ali's jaw when they first fought last March 31 and won a 12-round split decision. It changed the economic status of his life, and he'll be going another scheduled 12 against Ali at the Forum on Sept. 10.

Promoter Don Fraser envisions a California record gate of $700,000 at the indoor arena. And Bob Arum, president of Top Rank, Inc., of New York, expects more than a million to watch the international closed circuit telecast.

Ali, now 31, used a new line of talk, criticizing himself, at Tuesday's official signing ceremony for the fight.

"This may come as a shock to you, but I've never really trained for none of the fights that you've seen. I've never actually trained. I've never actually stopped doing many of the things that a fighter is not supposed to do."

"It finally caught up with me. I have to say to Mr. Norton that he put up a great fight. But like I told Joe Frazier once, 'You have to beat me twice.'"

"So what I'm saying to Mr. Norton, and I'm not making any excuses, but he has got to whip me twice before he is recognized."

So far, Norton has been recognized enough to be guaranteed $200,000 for the rematch against 30 per cent of the net proceeds. He collected $50,000 for the first fight, and before that $8,000 was his largest purse.

Ali gets a $275,000 guarantee, but another defeat would severely damage his career that started in 1960 and brought him the world championship in 1964 when he stopped Sonny Liston.

RUIDOSO RACING NOTES Kansas Futurity Was Seen By Four Million TV Buffs

RUIDOSO, N.M. — Sunday's running of the Kansas Futurity drew an estimated TV audience of four million in 13 states, according to Thad Standstrom, president of the All-American Network.

A similar TV lineup is slated for the upcoming $250,000 Rainbow Quarter Horse Futurity.

On Labor Day, the TV audience for the All-American Network will beam the race to over 125 TV stations, coast-to-coast.

A. J. Foyt, the famed race driver, was a guest of Ruidoso Downs over the weekend. Foyt, who has won the Daytona 500 twice and the Indianapolis 500 three times, was with Mari and Elmer George, the owners of the Kansas Futurity hopeful, Kitty Boone.

A triple dead heat has always been one of racing's biggest rarities. In the fifth race Saturday, Big Shot Banker, Best Baby and Sniffy Dee all crossed the finish on even terms, resulting in a triple dead heat for third. All three of the horses returned $2.20.

Several years ago, a three-way for second popped up at Sunland Park. "That's about the only one I've seen in the Southwest," said steward A. C. Kemp, who's been an official since 1939.

Gold Dunes, a two-year-old colt, turned in an eye opening performance Friday as he beat favored Navispirit by a half-length and equalled the track record of 45 2-5 seconds in four furlongs.

The record was previously the sole property of stakes-winning sprinter Norgor, who set the standard as a four-year-old.

The sparkling effort came in one of the three divisions of the Rio Grande Kindergarten Futurity.

These are the qualifiers for Sunday's $25,000 (estimated) Rio Grande Kindergarten Futurity: Bold Dunes, Navispirit, Speedy Spirit, Bold Driver, The Brokerer, Marble Falls, Half Smash, Five R Prissy, Power Ridge and Bin.

Larry Byers was in the saddle. Gotta Go Too paid pari-mutuel ticket holders $14.60, $7.80 and $4.80.

Baby Be Sure turned in a brilliant time of 17.66 for a 350-yard distance on Friday. Pete Herrera was in command.

Tahsahtah, owned by Howard Beddo and Joe Miller of Anthony, N.M., ended a seven-month vacation by racking up a win in Friday's feature.

Thursday's handle was up some three grand over the same date last year. And marked a good start for Thursday racing.

The leading jockey Thursday was Gordon Weaver. The young rider posted three wins from six trips out of the gate.

Harold Nolen received the "trainer of the day" honors Thursday as he managed to put two of his horses in the winner's circle.

Trainer Paul Smith had three winners Saturday to lead all other trainers.

Larry Byers was top jockey Saturday as he collected two wins and two thirds. This helped him with his collecting of the Jockey of the Week honors with a total of 7 wins, 3 seconds and 4 thirds.

SHORTER ROUTE TO TENNIS CENTER - City workmen are shown putting the finishing touches on the new road to the Dora Roberts Tennis Center, a shorter route to the complex. It veers off from US 87, skirting Cosden Lake. The tennis center will formally be opened Sunday. The thoroughfare has been named Whipkey Drive. (Photo by Danny Valdez)

Purists Should Like Play In National

The National League, the only major baseball league in the universe without designated hitters, got down to basics Wednesday night and proved why there are no additives or artificial ingredients in its product.

The St. Louis Cardinals' Rick Wise came within two outs of pitching a no-hitter.

The Atlanta Braves' Darrell Evans continued a streak which gave him 19 straight plate appearances without an official out.

The Montreal Expos pulled off a triple play.

The Atlanta Braves scored 18 runs.

The Philadelphia Phillies scored 16 runs.

Not bad for a league that thinks DH means double header.

And in the National League, St. Louis shut out Cincinnati 8-0. Atlanta embarrassed Pittsburgh 15-3. Montreal edged San Diego 3-2. Philadelphia punished Los Angeles 16-3. New York beat San Francisco 3-1 and Houston defeated Chicago 6-1.

"By the way Luis, nice hit," Joe Torre joked to Luis Melendez, who hit a grand slam homer, but was lost in the shuffle because of Wise's no-hit bid. "You just picked the wrong night." So did the Cininnati Reds, who were handcuffed by the Cardinal right-hander all night. Joe Morgan's sharp single up the middle with one down in the ninth was Cincinnati's offense for the evening.

Evans' 14th homer of the season highlighted a six-run fourth which erased a 3-2 Pittsburgh lead and Atlanta went on to collect a total of 17 hits and the victory.

The Phillies also built up their batting averages as every starter except Cesar Tovar hit safely. The Phils rolled sixes in each of the first two innings and coasted to an easy victory over the Dodgers.

Winning pitcher Ken Brett,

Optimists Lose To Tribe, 27-3

The Indians showed the best offense of the season Tuesday and romped past the Optimists 27-3 in Big Spring Hi-Junior baseball League play.

Warren Jones went four-for-four and Billy Don Whittington, James Zapp and Gregg Pearson also joined in the Indian blitz, which included a 10-run outburst in the third inning. The game was called after the sixth inning.

Zapp was the winning pitcher and Noel Hunt suffered the loss.

Two Are Signed By Thunderbirds

HOBBS, N.M. - New Mexico Junior College have signed a pole vaulter from Lubbock, Monterey and a New Mexico 44-yard state champion to athletic letters-of-intent.

The vaulter is Robert Leach, whose best vault of the year was 15-4. He averaged better than 14-0 per performance. He lettered two years at Monterey and also played football there.

Leach was captain of the Monterey track team his senior year.

Bruce Carbonneau of Clovis, N.M., whose best time in the quarter mile is 49.4, has also signed with the T-Birds. He is expected to run an open quarter and have a leg on the school's mile relay team.

Carbonneau is a member of the national honor society.

who joined the offensive fireworks with a solo homer, boosted his record to 5-2.

The hockey fans in Montreal might have called it a hat trick, but in baseball parlance, it's known as a triple play. The Expos made their contribution to conserving energy when they recorded all the necessary outs in one inning on the same play during their victory over the Padres.

Felix Millan of the Mets celebrated the one-year anniversary of his last home run with another one to help Tom Seaver record his eighth victory.

Ironically, the homer Millan hit last June 13th came off Seaver when the Met second baseman was playing for the Braves.

Houston Manager Leo Durocher got a measure of revenge over the team which fired him last season as Don Wilson and Jim Ray combined to six-hit the Cubs. Cesar Cedeño belted a two-run homer.

Buck Is Named Abilene Coach

ABILENE - Steve Buck, a former star netter for Midland Lee High School, has been named tennis coach at Abilene High School.

He succeeds Gary Haecker, who is quitting to enter the business world.

Buck lettered four years in the sport at North Texas State University. He played either No. 1 or No. 2 singles during his university career in the Missouri Valley Conference.

Buck moved to Midland after attending junior high school in Abilene.

Lenorah Plays Stanton Sunday

STANTON - Lenorah goes for another semi-pro baseball victory against Stanton here Sunday.

Lenorah won two games Sunday, including a 9-6 decision over Stanton in the opener at Grady Field. In the second game, Lenorah stopped Hobbs, N.M., 1-0.

JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) - Bo Bameister of Fort Smith, Ark., and Bob Hall of Las Cruces, N.M., led the way into today's second round of the Southwestern Men's Amateur Golf Tournament by one stroke over their nearest rival.

They tied with four-under-par 68s Wednesday, finishing in the forenoon.

Rain and hail twice delayed the first round later in the day, and scores climbed as the weather worsened. Only 15 of the 192 entrants managed to break par.

Ted Sliman, who shot a four-under-par 32 on the front nine, trailed the leaders by a stroke at 69. Brady Miller of Orange, Tex., and Gary Jacobson of Minnetonka, Minn., came next with 70s.

Defending champion Guy Collins of Denton, Tex., was among 12 players tied at 72.

After today's second 18-hole round the field will be cut to 80 and ties.

Super Defensive Play Saves Day For Troy

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) - Baseball dynasties aren't dead, just ask Arizona State.

The top-rated collegiate team suffered a 4-3 loss Wednesday night to Southern California and for the fourth straight year the Trojans carried home the national collegiate baseball crown.

"We were young and scrappy, but we said we could play with anybody," said USC Coach Rod Dedeaux. "And that's the way we won it. We scrapped."

The Trojans' sixth home run of the season.

Amarillo scored one run in the first inning and then collected three hits in the second to produce two more for its margin over Alexandria. Frank Reyes notched his third victory against seven losses with relief help from Greg Minton in the seventh.

There were no games scheduled tonight. Friday's schedule takes Midland to El Paso, San Antonio to Amarillo, Memphis to Alexandria and Shreveport to Arkansas.

The El Paso Sun Kings scheduled to play the Captains at Shreveport, were idled again by rain while San Antonio slips four and a half games behind the Sun Kings in losing to Arkansas.

In the only other game, the Amarillo Giants topped the Alexandria Aces 3-2.

Tom Hallums drove in three runs as Memphis banged nine hits to defeat Midland. Cecil Reynolds was the winning pitcher.

In San Antonio, Edward Kurpiel homered with one on in the sixth inning to give the Travers all the runs they needed to win without a loss. It was Kurpiel's sixth home run of the season.

able to score a few runs, or break out, they came up with the super defensive play," said Arizona Coach Jim Brock.

"They had at least five super defensive plays," he continued. "Their defensive play throughout the game proved to be the difference."

And an end of Southern California dominance isn't in sight.

"We wanted this title very badly," continued Dedeaux, who has coached eight of the nine Trojans title clubs.

Final containment came from the arm of sophomore Jeff Reinke, who threw no-hit ball over the final three and two-thirds innings to save the victory for Mark Barr.

Reinke, a sophomore who is at USC on a basketball scholarship, typifies what college teams have to contend with when they face the Trojans.

He didn't have a mound decision all year, but when called upon in a crucial situation produced.

Southern California scored twice in the first on a double by Roy Smalley, Ken Bowman's single, an error and Ken Hui-zenga's single and added two in the third on consecutive doubles by Bowman and Hui-zenga and an error by Sun Devil relief pitcher Doug Stocum.

CEDANO HOMERS Wilson Lost Zip But Astros Win

HOUSTON (AP) - Sore-fingered Don Wilson had a five-hit shutout going against the Chicago Cubs in the eighth inning Wednesday night when he realized it was time to quit.

"I wanted to see if I had command of my pitches and I didn't," Wilson said after notching his fifth victory of the season in the Houston Astros' 6-1 victory over the Cubs.

"I just lost my breaking ball, that's all," said Wilson, who has a broken finger on his pitching hand.

So he retired in favor of reliever Jifh Ray, who allowed one unearned run but didn't let the Cubs get out of control.

"I was ready to go in the inning before," said Ray. "With a big lead, all you have to do is throw it down the middle. I tried to do it, but I couldn't do it like I wanted. But I'll take it. We won, didn't we?"

Astros centerfielder Cesar Cedeno started the Astros' 12-hit performance in the third inning with a two-run homer.

Houston added single runs on Jim Winn's double in the fourth, Tommy Helms' grounder in the fifth, and Bob Watson's single in the sixth and Watson's single in the eighth.

Chicago's lone run came in the eighth when pinch hitter Gene Hiser walked, went to third on a throwing error by Astros catcher Skip Jutze and scored on another error by Jutze, who dropped the ball as Hiser came home on a ground-er by Billy Williams.

Area High School Girls Win Food Show Honors

By BARBARA LORD

Four young women in the area represented Howard County well at a recent district 4-H food show in Lubbock, each winning a first place award.

Winning at the district level qualified the four to enter the state food show competition held June 4-5 in College Station, and each also placed in that contest.

First place winners at the district level were Kaye Hunt, Patty Peugh, Kayla Jean Gaskins, all members of Knott 4-H Club; and Donna James, Coahoma 4-H Club.

All entries in the district and state competition were judged on four aspects of homemaking. A personal interview with the girl entering the recipe comprised 40 per cent of the grade, followed by taste and nutritional value of recipe and table setting, 40 per cent; color texture and flavor of prepared dish, 10 per cent; and overall menu planning, 10 per cent.

Miss James, youngest of the county winners, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ovis James of Coahoma. She is a freshman at Coahoma High School, and she entered the bread-dessert division of the district food show with her recipe, "Whole Wheat Muffins." At the state level, the recipe won a runner-up award and a blue ribbon for Miss James. She plans to continue competition in the breads division for a chance to attend the National 4-H Congress in Chicago.

Miss Gaskins, a senior at Sands High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins of Knott.

Her "Citrus Delight" recipe was entered in the fruit and vegetable division, winning her a first place at district and a blue ribbon and fourth place at state level.

For future competitions, she plans to enter the consumer education division, also with hopes of attending the Chicago congress.

In the main dish division, Miss Peugh entered her "Quick Sausage Casserole." She is a junior at Sands High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Peugh of Lenora. Her casserole dish qualified her as a runner-up at the state level after she won the district competition. Also, she received a blue ribbon at state. In 1972, Miss Peugh won a trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago for a prize-winning record book on home management.

Miss Hunt entered the snacks and beverages division with a delightful "Cottage Cheese Pinwheel Rolls" recipe. Following her first place win at district, she won a red ribbon and fourth place award at state level. She is a sophomore at Sands High School, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hunt of Ackerly.

Each of the girls received a silver cup and ribbon for their district winning recipes. Their recipes offer a variety of good eating that is unique but easy and relatively fast to prepare. The Pinwheel Rolls by Miss Hunt take slightly longer to prepare than the other recipes, but for a yeast product, they are still fast.

Oven-Style Cobbler Is Fruit Duo

Fruit cobblers, served warm and fragrant, with a pour of plain cream, have been popular for centuries. Usually the fruit mixture is cooked on top of the range and the dumplings dropped in to rest on pieces of fruit and steam until done. In our version, two winter fruit favorites, apples and cranberries, are combined with beautiful and appetizing results in a shallow casserole.

APPLE-CRANBERRY COBBLER

1½ cups fresh cranberries
6 cups sliced tart apples
6 tbs. grated orange peel
2 tbsps. orange juice
1½ cups sugar
2½ tbsps. quick-cooking tapioca
¼ tsp. salt
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
1 cup biscuit mix
½ cup milk
2 tbsps. melted butter or margarine
2 tbsps. sugar

Combine cranberries, apples, orange peel and orange juice. In a small bowl combine 1½ cups sugar, tapioca and salt; pour over fruit; mix well; let stand 15 minutes. Pour into shallow casserole; dot with 2 tablespoons butter or margarine; cover; bake at 425 degrees for 30 minutes. Meanwhile combine remaining ingredients; stir with fork until a soft dough forms. Drop heaping tablespoons on top of hot fruit mixture. Bake uncovered 15 minutes longer or until dumplings are golden brown and done. Serve warm with plain cream. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

PATTY'S QUICK SAUSAGE CASSEROLE (Patty Peugh)

1½ lbs. lean pork sausage
1 can (4-oz.) sliced or chopped mushrooms, undrained
2 chicken bouillon cubes
2 cups water
1 cup dry rice
2 ozs. sliced or chopped pimentos
1 cup frozen green peas
Salt to taste
Shape sausage into walnut-size balls. Place balls in large frying pan or heavy saucepan. Fry until nicely browned on all sides. Drain fat and discard. Add mushrooms, bouillon cubes, water and rice. Stir to mix. Allow mixture to come to a boil and cover with tight-fitting lid. Simmer 20 minutes over low heat. Add pimentos and frozen peas, and simmer 10 minutes longer. Serves 6.

CITRUS DELIGHT (Kayla Gaskins)

2 tbsps. tapioca
1½ cups water
¼ tsp. salt
½ cup sugar
1 can (6-oz.) concentrated orange juice
1 orange, peeled and chunked
1 banana, sliced
1 can (20 ozs.) chunk pineapple, drained
1 can (16-ozs.) sliced peaches, drained
Mint and/or cherries for garnish (optional)
Combine tapioca and water in small saucepan, and let stand 15 minutes. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to boil. Remove from heat. Add salt, sugar and concentrated orange juice. Stir to blend. Put mixture into 1½-quart container, cover and chill. Before serving, fold in orange, banana and canned fruits. Garnish with mint and cherries. Serves 8.

COTTAGE CHEESE PINWHEEL ROLLS (Miss Kaye Hunt)

1 pkg. dry yeast
¼ cup lukewarm water
3 cups flour
¼ cup sugar
1 tsp. salt
¼ cup margarine
12 ozs. cream-style cottage cheese
1 egg, beaten
In a small bowl, dissolve yeast in lukewarm water. Sift flour, sugar and salt into a large mixing bowl. Cut margarine into flour until it reaches a meal-like texture. Add cottage cheese, egg and yeast mixture. Mix until dough can be handled. Roll out on lightly floured board to a 14-inch square. Spread with filling (see below), roll dough up like jelly roll and slice in half-inch slices. Place on greased baking sheet. Let rise 1 to 1½ hours. Bake at 375 degrees for 20 minutes.

Filling:

3 tbsps. margarine

Have Lunches Ready To Go

Freeze sandwiches and you're ready when it comes time to pack school lunches. Some sandwiches that freeze well are ground or sliced roast beef, lamb, pork loin, ham or veal; sliced meat loaf; sliced tongue. All breads and rolls freeze well. Cut each sandwich into convenient size and package tightly in moistureproof - vaporproof wrap and freeze.

FIRST-PLACE RECIPES

By 4-H District Winners

¼ cup brown sugar, packed firmly
½ tsp. vanilla
½ tsp. almond extract
½ cup pecans

Melt margarine in one-quart saucepan. Add brown sugar, vanilla, almond extract and pecans. Spread on dough, roll, slice and bake as directed above.

WHOLE WHEAT MUFFINS (Miss Donna James)

1 cup sifted enriched flour
½ cup sugar
½ tsp. salt
2 tbsps. baking powder
1 cup uncooked instant whole-wheat cereal
¼ cup salad oil
1 egg, beaten
1 cup milk
Sift together flour, sugar, salt and baking powder. Mix in whole wheat. Combine oil, egg and milk in small mixing bowl. Add dry mixture, and stir until just moistened. Bake at 400 degrees in greased muffin pans filled two-thirds full, for 20 minutes or until brown. Serve immediately or freeze. Makes 12 medium muffins.

I put a little toothpaste on a washcloth and rub it over the tinted spots; in a few seconds, the spots disappear like magic. I wash the toothpaste off with clear water and put on a little baby oil or petroleum jelly. I've tried all sorts of other spot removers, but nothing seems to work on my skin as it is sensitive and absorbs every drop of hair color tint. ... Luciana

Dear Heloise:
Being a parent means having to stay home "just in case" when you would rather be out. But it also means sitting for half an hour just watching her try to pick up a toy for the first time. It means peeking in when she's sleeping and getting all mushy inside. It means getting up when you really want to roll over and sleep for a couple more hours. But then being rewarded by a crooked little smile that says "Hi, Mommy!" and suddenly, you're wide awake. It means having to get her new clothes every couple months, but being glad she's getting so big. Being a parent also means having carrots and

Rebekah Women Get Certificates

Certificates of perfection for unwritten work were presented Tuesday evening to two members of Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284 at the IOOF Hall. Mrs. Ivan Collins, lodge deputy, made the presentations to Mrs. Gertrude Rodrick and Mrs. W. A. Majors.

Mrs. Joe Awtry, noble grand, presided, and Mrs. Earl Wilson conducted a memorial service for members who have died in the past year. Mrs. Logan Grider, pianist, and Mrs. Melvin Newton, vocalist, assisted with the service, along with 12 other members.

It was the lodge's "friendship night" and guests included nine members of John A. Kee Lodge No. 153, and three members from Snyder lodge. Games were led by Mrs. J. R. Petty and Mrs. Lonnie Griffith.

Initiation ceremonies are scheduled at the next meeting, 8 p.m., Tuesday at the hall. Degree team practice is scheduled at 3 p.m., Sunday at the hall.

Japanese Garden Is Toured By HD Club

Members of Centerpoint Home Demonstration Club toured the Japanese garden of Roy Peet, 710 Edwards Blvd., following a short business meeting Tuesday in the home of Mrs. C. T. Lindley, 1405 E. 19th.

The Peet home features a Japanese decor inside and out. The garden features a waterfall, pagoda, shrines, flowers, statuary, and a rustic bridge over a pond.

During business, the women completed survey sheets concerning price changes and money management. The sheets are used as a means of aiding low income families.

Mrs. Bob Wren presided and announced the club is having a membership drive. Also, she reminded members that names and addresses of all members must be sent by club presidents to Mrs. E. A. Williams, Texas HD association chairman. Several members plan to attend the state convention in Waco in September.

A guest, and the hostess gift was won by Mrs. K. J. Nielsen. The next meeting will be at 2 p.m., June 26 in the home of Mrs. C. K. Orr, 2906 MacAuslan. A program on salads will be heard.

Use Gloves To Prevent Rashes

When using heavy duty cleansers, cleaning fluids, fertilizers and chemicals in the home or garden, wear protective gloves and wash up promptly when finished.

Clothing which may have been splashed or sprayed, should be laundered before wearing again. Good cleanup will prevent many rashes and skin irritations.

Beauceants Planning Event For June 25

The Social Order of the Beauceant will have a Friendship Night June 25 at the Masonic Temple, 221 1/2 Main, with a salad supper to be served at 6 p.m. All Beauceant members and their Sir Knights are invited to attend, as well as guests from Midland and Odessa.

The initial plans were made during a meeting Monday evening at the hall with Mrs. Ralph LaLonde, president, presiding. During the business session the members agreed to provide funds for a child to attend the Salvation Army summer camp at Middleton. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Eugene Gross, Mrs. J. B. Langston and Mrs. Robert Middleton.

The meeting June 25 will be the last until September.

SWIM PARTY SET FRIDAY

A teen swim party, sponsored by the Ladies Golf Association, will be held Friday from 8 to 10 p.m. at Big Spring Country Club. Each teen member may bring one outside guest. There will be a hamburger buffet, with the charge being $1.25 for girls and $1.50 for boys. Mrs. Harold Davis and Mrs. Jerry Snodgrass are chairmen. Reservations should be made by calling the club, 267-7701.

WAF Will Celebrate Anniversary At Webb

WEBB AFB — The Women in the Air Force (WAF) celebrated their 25th anniversary Tuesday. It was also their last.

"Since women have always been an integral part of the Air Force, we think it's time to stop celebrating a separate anniversary," said Col. Billie M. Bobbitt, director of Women in the Air Force.

At Webb the observance is scheduled for June 19 and will feature a luncheon and reception at the Officers Open Mess.

DR. L. LUCHSINGER

Dr. Louise Luchsinger, a professor of business from Texas Tech University, will be guest speaker. She will be speaking on "What Women Have to Look Forward to in Business and Society".

Dr. Luchsinger is also the marketing department chairman at Texas Tech, and was a visiting professor for the University of Utah Graduate School in Germany. Among her honors she lists Sigma Iota Epsilon, Beta Gamma Sigma honorary doctoral fellowship, student senate "Honor Roll" professor, nominated for Tech Faculty Woman of the Year, and winner of the 1972 Outstanding Faculty member award.

She is a member of 13 academic and professional associations, and is listed in "Outstanding Educators of America", and "Community Leaders of America".

She is involved in eight other "special activities" including graduate advisor for Texas Tech, faculty advisor for the College of Business Student Communications Council and participant in the "Marketing and Public Interest Program" with the Southern Marketing Association in Atlanta, Ga.

Rainbows Schedule Car Wash

The Order of Rainbow for Girls, Assembly No. 60, will sponsor a car wash Saturday at the Mobil Station, FM 700 and Goliad. The project was announced by Jodi Grant, worthy associate advisor, Tuesday evening at the Masonic Temple.

About 40 members and sponsors plan to attend a Grand Assembly June 25 in Fort Worth. Following the conference, the local delegates will spend June 28 in Six Flags before returning to Big Spring.

The next business meeting, July 10, will honor Mary Hill of Midland, grand worthy advisor, and her grand officers. The evening will begin with a chicken and spaghetti dinner at 6 p.m., followed by business meeting at 7 p.m. in the Masonic Temple. Following business, a swimming party is scheduled at the home of Mrs. Clyde Thomas, 400 Washington.

A LOVELIER YOU All Figure Problems Can Be Corrected

By MARY SUE MILLER

Many women report a figure problem in hush-hush tones, as though it were something to be a bit ashamed of. Now hear this: You need never be ashamed of any figure problem, except the one you do nothing about.

The one we are going to do a great deal about today, many women believe defies correction. It is an underarm bulge, an unlovely and uncomfortable roll of flesh that slips up over a brassiere at the side.

Like any other fleshy excess this one can be corrected. It's all in knowing how. And here's how:

First check your bras. Construction should be built up and elasticized in the under arm sections; fitted to be snug but not pinch. Tight or scooped out, a bra only exaggerates the difficulty. Consult an experienced corsetiere when bras fail to meet specifications. Do not wait until you have reduced. A corsetiere will adjust bras as the need arises.

To be rid of those fatty rolls, determine to diet and exercise. Why both? Since you would not have the rolls were you not generally overweight, you must diet. But since diet gives no guarantee to reduce any one spot, you must spot exercise.

Use this routine: Place fists on shoulder and snug elbows into waist. With a pumping motion, swing elbows back and forth, so that the insides of arms, very (very) gently, massage flesh . . . off!

Gift Shower Held For Vicki Annen

A miscellaneous shower honored Miss Vicki Annen Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Jerry Barron, 3223 Cornell. She is bride-elect of John Newman.

The refreshment table was covered with a white linen cloth trimmed with white lace. A metal bucket filled with green ivy and a yellow butterfly centered the table, flanked by small cleaning equipment.

Guests furnished the honoree with items such as brooms, mops, scrub buckets and cleansers. Each woman was asked to write hints about marriage in a book, "Advice from the Experienced." Also, a poem was read concerning household responsibilities.

Miss Annen and Newman will marry June 23 at First Baptist Church.

Bikini Blues

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: In your opinion, should a 26-year-old wife and mother of four wear a skimpy bikini while painting her house and doing her yard work?

We have a young woman like that in our neighborhood. The houses are close together and the viewing is easy. A few of the wives have mentioned to her that maybe she should cover herself a little more, but she says it's the only way she can get any sun. Meanwhile, all the men and teen-aged boys are getting a free show.

I think it's positively indecent. Is there any way we can get her to put some clothes on when she's outside?

BURNED UP
DEAR BURNED: Probably not. But if SHE gets burned from all that overexposure, it may teach her a blistering lesson.

DEAR ABBY: Some members of my family have been putting me down because my husband and I do not go overboard decorating our son's grave. We prefer to give a nice donation to our Baptist Children's Home in honor of our son's memory instead of spending a lot of money on plastic flowers that are picked up and put in the trash can at the cemetery in a few weeks time.

My sister says it looks like we don't care about our son. One sister in law who never even sent our son a get-well card during his illness, now drags flowers out to the cemetery nearly every Sunday.

We hardly ever visit our son's grave because we feel he is not there, but his soul is in heaven. The two times we went it was just hysterics for all of us.

My family are constant cemetery visitors. A trip to the cemetery becomes an all-day outing. They visit everyone they can think of. Are they right? Or are we?

MOM AND POP
DEAR MOM AND POP: Pay no attention to your family's remarks. There is no "right" or "wrong" — each person is entitled to do as he pleases in such matters.

DEAR ABBY: Please print these simple rules for people who have a party line:

1. Limit your calls to 15 minutes. If you can't say it in 15 minutes, hang up for 15 minutes and place another call. Someone else may want to use the line.

2. Please don't curse someone who is using the line when you want it. Words can really hurt a person.

3. Never take your telephone off the hook because you don't want to be disturbed. You tie up the line so no one can use it — not even the little old

Foreign Sales Sends Fur Prices Soaring

By ANN HENCKEN
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Furs have become a status symbol, says designer Roger Stevens. They should be at the rate prices are going up.

Many furs have risen from 50 to 100 per cent in the last year. Fox has doubled in price. Raccoon is up 60 to 70 per cent. And mink is up about 40 per cent, according to Robert Sidney, owner of Robert Sidney Furs.

Stevens, who designs for Sidney, says those price hikes have taken the "fun" out of furs. "It's contemporary furs," he said. "They aren't fun anymore. They're a status symbol."

Sidney says the skyrocketing prices are "due to the tremendous demand of European and Japanese markets. The Japanese department stores are buying the manufactured goods and the Europeans are trying to corner the market in the skin form.

In the meantime, Stevens has designed a collection starting with a sheared rabbit poncho, trimmed in a guanaco for a bargain $200.

It moves along to a karate jacket sweater in kit fox paws trimmed in gold suede for $450, or a pieced beaver polo coat for $600. The collection climbs on up to a golden bleached racoon jacket for $900 and to a silver fox coat for $1,900.

It peaks at last at a sable-trimmed mink coat for $5,000.

Where will it all end? No one seems to know.

But one thing is almost certain. When a woman goes out to buy a long-haired fur, it's no longer fun, it's status — all the way.

The David Crystal line

featured the shirt look, as always. Only this time, the skirt is more in fashion than ever.

The all-American collection features a pink and purple two-piece shirt and skirt for $90. Among the best buys are a group of sweaters wrap coats from Iceland at $120 to $150.

Houston Couple Announces Birth

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Bennett Jr., Houston, announce the birth of a son, Kelly Burns, at 7:33 a.m., June 11, in Herman Memorial Hospital. The infant weighed 8 pounds, 8 ounces. Mrs. Bennett is the former Sue Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Burns, 611 Dallas. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John H. Bennett Sr., 2705 Clanton. Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Griffin, 1008 Gregg.

Local Delegates Report On B&PW Convention

Delegates to the recent state convention of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, held in El Paso, reported highlights of the meeting Tuesday for the local club in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room.

Eight local women attended, and reports were by Mrs. J. B. Apple, Mrs. A. G. Eitzen, Miss Helen Willard and Miss Delphia Gordon. The women attended workshops on leadership, membership, legislation and finance.

Mrs. Bonnie Summers presided. The club is having a membership drive. A "revolving" owl necklace will be worn by any member who brings a new member, and she will continue to wear the necklace until someone else brings a new member. Also, it was announced that Mrs. Robert Smart donated a 24-piece setting of stainless steel flatware for use by the club.

Miss Helen Willard won the attendance prize. The next meeting will feature a program by Kirby Horton, physical therapist at Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, at 7 p.m., June 26 at Coker's Restaurant. The program will be sponsored by the club's health and safety committee, with Mrs. John Carter as chairman.

Sewing Project

Seven junior high age girls in the Knott 4-H Club are taking part in a sewing project this summer. They are Susie Brasher, Jana Griggs, Paula Adams, Carol Adams, Leola Jones, Karen Cowart and Jan Reed. Mrs. Dan Brasher is adult leader, and Ann Nichols is junior leader for the project.

BSP Ritual Conducted Wednesday

A candlelight pledge ritual was conducted Wednesday evening for Mrs. Frank Mendenhall who joined Beta Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi. Mrs. Fred Burgess performed the ceremony at the home of Mrs. Jessie Currie, 2715 Central.

Cultural programs for the 1973-1974 club year were discussed. Plans were made for a coffee for rushees and members at 2 p.m., June 27 in the home of Mrs. Geoffrey Brougham, 71-A Ent. Also, the group planned a tour July 9 through the Japanese garden of Roy Peet, 710 Edwards.

Reunion Attracts 350

More than 350 descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. William McNew gathered for the 47th family reunion recently at the community center at Forest Park, Lamesa. Several of the descendants had from four to six generations of their immediate families present.

Activities began at 9:30 a.m. with registration. Work continued on the family genealogy which now dates back to 1774 and is being compiled by Mrs. Bonnie Bennett and Mrs. Dwight McCam.

Mrs. Roy McNew, 80, of Big Spring, was the oldest member present, and the youngest was Jayson McNew, 7 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard McNew, Fort Worth. The person traveling the greatest distance to attend the event was Mrs. Essie Southard of Ephrata, Wash.

Big Springers attending were Mrs. Roy McNew, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Jennings, Jog Jennings, Mrs. Callie Bennett and children, Mrs. Ethel McCracken, Bobby McCracken, Mr. and Mrs. R. X. McNew, Mrs. Gary Potett and children, Mrs. Bonnie Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hyden, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Coffman and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nall, Jasper Cline, Mrs. Rosa Hare, Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Hare, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McNew and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Posey.

Others attending came from six different states. Arrangements for the reunion were made by Mrs. Gary Owens, Midland; Mrs. Alice Richards, Lamesa; and Mrs. Dwight McCam and Mrs. Bonnie Bennett, both of Big Spring.

New TV Sets Real Shockers

NEW YORK (AP) — RCA Corp. says owners of its new Townsman model portable color television should leave their sets off until the company corrects an electrical shock problem.

The company said Wednesday that it has developed a corrective and that servicemen will be sent to purchasers' homes to examine sets for the possible shock hazard.

The problem involves less than 750 units of the Townsman model ES-385W and sample shipments of Townsman model ES-385WR, both of which reached the market in late March, the company said.

Model numbers are affixed to the back of the set.

RCA directed distributors to instruct dealers to freeze deliveries on their stocks.

Sam Walls Is Following In Footsteps Of Father

George S. (Sam) Walls Jr., president of Walls Industries, Inc., may not have been born to the business but he certainly is following in the tradition of manufacture and marketing established by his father, founder of the company.

Sam Walls, who will be among those here for the open house at the company's newest facility here Friday morning, was reared in Cleburne and took his degree in marketing administration in 1961 at SMU.

Then he took out a year to attend the Fashion Institute of Technology in New York, earning what is equivalent to a master's degree in apparel engineering in 1962.

He began the practical application of his skills at the company's plant at Clifton before returning to the general offices in Cleburne in 1965. In May 1969 he was elevated to the office of president when the company's rapidly expanding operations.

He is married to the former Kay Sanders of Cleburne, and they have one son, George S. Walls III, age 2. Walls is as active in civic work as his travel schedule will permit, taking part in Boy Scouts, the Chamber of Commerce and several other things.

Butz Says Farm Production Best Antidote For Inflation

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz says abundant farm production is the best antidote for inflation and abundance can come only from letting the farmer make a profit.

"The opportunity to make a profit is what the farming business is all about," Butz said Wednesday in a speech at the dedication of the new headquarters of the Texas Farm Bureau. Butz said that artificial restraints on productions imposed because of social pressure would be "unwise."

"Our agriculture could suffer the fate of farming in socialist nations of the world," he said. The secretary also criticized consumer advocates and what he called "pressure groups" saying that they represent a threat to U.S. agriculture "no matter how well intentioned they may be."

"In the current flap over food prices," he said, "there is a growing feeling among many Americans and organizations that cheap food is their birthright, that somehow it is up to the government and the farmers to work out a system between them so that cheap food—subsidized food—is always available."

Gov. Dolph Briscoe, also participating in the dedication ceremony, told farmers one of the goals of his administration is to make Texas the No. 1 state in the nation in agriculture production.

Rep. Bob Poage, D-Tex., announced the Department of Agriculture has awarded the University of Texas A&M a $12,000 grant to study the possibility of making the Brazos River navigable from Waco to Freeport.

Error In Report Of Indictments

The account of the Martin County grand jury report Tuesday contained an error in listing indictments.

To many Coates and Johnny Garza were indicted for burglary, but there were no indictments returned against Larry Jones and Robert Diaz in this case as reported.

The Herald regrets this error and apologizes for it. In the instance of Rogelio Castillo, the charge of negligent homicide was reduced to a county court case.

'Torso Of A Man' Theft Rap Filed

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Michael Sweeney, 23, of Austin was charged Wednesday with the theft of a drawing by the late Pablo Picasso from a University of Texas art gallery.

Sweeney was still at large, UT-Austin police said.

A UT-Austin spokesman said the man was not a student. He was described as a white male, 5 feet 5 inches tall, weighing 136 pounds.

The 1907 Picasso drawing, "Torso of a Man," was on loan from the Menil Family collection of Houston and was hanging in the Michener Gallery of the Humanities Research Center.

A thief ripped it from its frame, leaving a torn remnant, Friday afternoon.

Franco Reported In Bad Shape

Officials at Medical Center Memorial Hospital list Erasmo Franco of Ackerly in serious condition today.

Franco received bilateral chest injuries and a neck injury in a collision Tuesday morning between his car and an empty cattle truck north of Ackerly.

The attending physician said Franco will be in the hospital "for quite a while." Driver of the cattle truck, Charles Chapman of San Angelo, was not injured.

Board Requests More Details For Variance

Three members of the city Appeals Board Wednesday called for Berkley Homes to supply more information before the Board acts on the firm's request for a variance permit in city building requirements.

The mobile home manufacturing firm is asking for a variance in order to build a 6,250 square foot addition to the plant with a lower live load than the city building code requires.

The city, which has adopted the Southern Standard Building Code, requires a live load of 20 pounds per square foot. Berkley wants to build the addition with 12 pounds per square foot.

James Campbell, public works director, explained that live load refers to the structural strength of the building.

Tom Newton, building inspector, said the Appeals Board agreed to hold another meeting with Berkley representatives as soon as they can supply requested information.

Steps Taken By Assembly Viewed As Widening Rift

FOR BEST RESULTS, USE THE HERALD'S WANT ADS!

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Pro-liberal actions by the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. quite possibly widened the split this week between breakaway rebel conservatives and the parent church, says retired moderator L. Nelson Bell.

"But from the standpoint of the church as whole, I don't think it will increase the number who have pulled out," the Montreat, N.C., physician said.

That assessment by the conservative leader came as the troubled Southern-based denomination neared the end of its turbulent weeklong 113th general assembly.

LITTLE HOPE

The session is due to close at noon Friday and there appears little hope for immediate reconciliation between the liberals and the conservative splinter group which has voted to form its own new denomination.

The agenda today included election of the Rev. James E. Andrews of Decatur, Ga., as chief administrative officer and an address by Evangelist Billy Graham, Dr. Bell's son-in-law.

In an interview, Dr. Bell said he felt that despite the pro-liberal actions this week, the spirit of cooperation among delegates is the best in years.

"Where there've been strong differences, they have been handled with real restraint and no animosity," he said.

"I think as a whole, the conservatives have been in a minority, and I voted with them unashamedly right down the line."

Dr. Bell said he felt the assembly action probably "hardened the opposition on the part of those who have already pulled out" but he doubted that other church conservatives would join them in the break-away protest.

NOT GOOD DAY

All in all, Wednesday was not a good day for the conservative faction of the million-member denomination.

The assembly shut down a conservative bid to delay or prevent reunion between the Southern Presbyterians and the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

The two churches, once a single body, split during the Civil War.

Delegates first rejected a minority report described by one observer as "a rather ill-conceived attempt (by conservatives) to give union a decent burial."

The assembly then voted to pursue a plan for union despite long-standing objections from conservatives.

One voting delegate summed up the development this way:

"The move was the latest endeavor by conservatives to continue the Confederate Presbyterian Church. But the overwhelming vote of confidence given the existing plan of union committee points the direction the church is moving."

The dissident conservatives, who bolted the parent church in protest of its liberal posture, have cited the proposed union as one of the major areas of disagreement.

ABORTION

The governing delegates also overrode conservative objections and voted to continue the denomination's membership in both the World and National Councils of Churches.

Delegates later approved a paper on abortion that was not intended as a policy statement but was offered for "thoughtful consideration and action."

Its authors took no stand on the issue of abortion, but stated, "We cannot ignore, skirt or deny the question of life and death, sexuality, ecology or parenthood that is raised."

The paper said one reason for increased unwanted pregnancies was an unwillingness by this generation "to accept the creation of new life as a responsibility implicit in sexual intercourse."

And it concluded that abortion "is not a desirable solution, although it may be at times a necessary option"

BILL FINNELL

Bill Finnell Vet Employe

One of the key men in the Walls Industries, Inc. organization is W. V. (Bill) Finnell, who has been in on the company's development since the beginning of manufacturing.

When the founder, George S. Walls Sr. decided to make his own product because his supplier could not meet contract demands 30 years ago, he engaged Finnell to handle the manufacturing processes.

Thus, at every step of growth, the fine hand of Finnell has been evident, first at Clifton, then Gatesville, Sweetwater and next Breckenridge.

Today he has divested himself of some of the direct responsibility for plant operations and output and is concentrating on the larger picture of research and development, machinery design, construction and start-up operations, and other special assignments.

Victor Conrad, who has been part of the Walls enterprise since 1955, has succeeded Finnell as vice president in charge of all manufacture production.

One of Finnell's sons, Don, is the plant manager of the newest facility in Big Spring.

Attends Workshop

Mrs. Doris Huihregtse, instructor in the business administration department at Howard County College, attended an office occupations workshop at Brazosport College in Lake Jackson last week. The workshop, sponsored by the Texas Education Agency, was attended by approximately 100 junior and community college business teachers.

Walls Started Industry When Supplier Stumbled

An enterprising retailer turned manufacturer when his supplier couldn't cut the mustard. In so doing, the foundation was laid for Walls Industries, Inc., which now manufactures clothing in five Texas cities (soon six) and markets all over the world.

His next step was to establish in 1955 a subsidiary, Clif-Tex Manufacturing, Inc. at Clifton, which began turning out children's wear under the trade name, "Young Texans" and featuring jeans, jackets, stitched Western wear. Production of coveralls also was moved there.

INNOVATIVE

While sticking to basic proven lines, Walls nevertheless is innovative. In 1958 it turned out a lightweight Poplin coverall, then another of Sateen called "Sportsman." This caught on so well that jump suit ("Liesurealls") production jumped. From this Walls moved to insulated coveralls, hitting a burgeoning winter sports market.

Its ski suits and jackets, insulated with a foam material that makes them warm as toast, dominates this market.

The elder Walls established new general offices in Cleburne in 1966, along with warehouse and shipping buildings. Within a year he was obliged to add a warehouse for finished goods, and in 1970 he expanded his retail outlet (he never lost his love for retailing) which is a part of every facility. Next were departments for zipper assembly, quilting and laminating. The sewing department covered a city block in Cleburne, and altogether the plant covered 163,000 square feet.

In 1969 Walls Manufacturing Company and Clif-Tex merged under Walls Industries, and the expansion was on in full swing. Gatesville was the first location that same year, and when in 1970 it had to be doubled, Walls also looked elsewhere. Sweetwater was chosen, and then early this year Walls got in touch with the Big Spring Industrial Foundation, and quickly a deal was made.

Spraying Machine Kept Busy Here

One mosquito spraying machine is kept in constant operation in the city rotating to different sections of the city. The director of public works maintains that it takes about a week and a half for the machine to move from one section of town to another. "There is no way we can spray all areas every night with one spraying machine, and yet the machine is only needed for a few months of the year," the director added.

Brando Enters Hospital After Photographer Hit

NEW YORK (AP) — Marlon Brando has been admitted to a Manhattan hospital with a hand infection about 24 hours after a photographer said the actor hit him on the jaw.

A spokesman at the Hospital for Special Surgery said Brando, 49, was admitted Wednesday night and was in satisfactory condition.

The photographer Ronald Galella, said the incident occurred in Chinatown Tuesday night. He said he had taken about eight pictures of Brando and television personality Dick Cavett and had asked Brando to remove his dark glasses.

Brando replied, "Don't you have enough pictures?" according to Galella, who said he replied: "That's the type of variety I like."

"Then bang. Out of the blue. One punch. I didn't even see it coming. It was very unfair for him to give no warning," Galella said.

Cavett's secretary said on Wednesday that the American Broadcasting Co.'s late night talk show host had confirmed the incident in a conversation with his producer.

Galella, 42, said he drove his car to Bellevue Hospital, where he got nine stitches in his lower lip and treatment for a fractured jaw. "I'm in pain now," he said at his home.

Last year, the freelance photographer was ordered to keep a specified distance from Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis and her children after a judge ruled in a lawsuit that he "relentlessly invaded" their privacy.

Gavel-To-Gavel Broadcasts Causing Financial Squeeze

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP TV Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Public television's gavel-to-gavel broadcasts of the Watergate hearings may be a boon for local stations. But they're causing a financial pinch for the outfit actually covering the hearings — the National Public Affairs Center for Television.

Dallas Charter Changes Nixed

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas voters overwhelmingly turned down single-member districts for city councilmen in light voting. The margin was 10,935 to 3,900.

The proposal, had it passed, would have required eight of the 13 councilmen to be elected from districts. All are elected at large now.

Proponents of the plan said it would permit more representation by minorities on the council.

Mayor Wes Wise predicted today that federal courts will dictate single-member districts despite the voting results.

The charter revision balloting was for 44 proposals, with 10 of the measures crushed. Only about four per cent of Dallas voters allotted.

Results of some other propositions:

To allow the city to levy any tax not specifically barred by state law: 3,335 for, 11,081 against.

Increased pay for councilmen and mayor: 4,830 for, 9,725 against.

Allow city attorneys to do outside legal work: 5,504 for, 8,226 against.

Many other proposals were technical matters in administration of the city government and municipal courts.

The single-member proposal was defeated in virtually every polling place regardless of geographic area or racial makeup.

Funeral Services For Ex-SBA Head

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A funeral mass for Hilary Joseph Sandoval Jr., former head of the Small Business Administration, was held Wednesday prior to his burial at Ft. Bliss National Cemetery.

Sandoval, 43, died Monday after a long illness.

He was named by President Nixon in 1969 to direct the Small Business Administration. He served for 23 months before resigning because of ill health in January 1971.

During his tenure, Sandoval discovered small business loans made to Mafia organizations. He called them due and personally collected them.

He is survived by his widow Dolores, two daughters and three sons, all of El Paso, a brother, George, of Tucson, Ariz., and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hilary Sandoval of El Paso.

'LOUSY' DRIVER

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A 20-year-old Brownsville man will have to take his drivers license test again.

Highway patrolman David Kendrick said the man had been "doing lousy" throughout the test Wednesday, but the worst came at the end.

When the man drove into the parking lot behind the testing station, Kendrick said, he hit the accelerator instead of the brake pedal. The car jumped a parking barrier and smashed through a brick wall.

No one was injured. Damage to the automobile was estimated about $5, but damage to the brick wall was set at $150.

Students Turn Backs On Shultz

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Treasury Secretary George Shultz ran into a student protest when he received an honorary degree at Princeton University.

About 50 seniors walked out and another 75 turned their backs when Shultz was presented with his honorary doctor of laws degree. There were 910 graduates.

Leaflets passed out by the protestors said, "Shultz has been a principal architect of a budget that has given lowest priority to those who need it most, the poor of this country."

Shultz had no comment.

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — Charles LeRoy is blind but is learning to "hear" the differ- ence between a man and a tree, a bush and a fence, a closed door and an open one.

LeRoy, 38, uses a new elec- tronic sensor system mounted on a pair of dark glasses. A transmitter sends out sound waves which bounce back to two hearing units, one for each ear.

The volume gives the location of an object and the quality of the sound tells him what the object is.

Incitement To Riot Law Voided By Appeals Court

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Ap- peals voided a 1967 incitement to riot law Wednesday saying it was in conflict with the state constitution.

The action reversed a Harris County court decision levying a $1,000 fine on Charles Ray Whaley in connection with a March 28, 1971, disturbance in Milby Park, Houston. Officers said that after Whaley was taken to a patrol car he began yelling to the crowd to "butcher the mares" and "kill the pigs."

Officers testified that sticks, bottles and rocks were thrown and several officers hit.

Whaley's appeal claimed that the 1967 legislative bill contained a broad range of un- lawful conduct that could not reasonably be considered a "riot."

The opinion Wednesday said that the constitution says no bill passed by the legislature may contain more than one subject which must be ex- pressed in the title.

"The bill makes conduct un- lawful and in no way announces it in the title 'incitement to riot,'" the opinion said. "A reader is erroneously led to be- lieve that the bill applies only to acts perpetrated in a riot. There is no notice that it em- braces a far wider range of cir- cumstances that have no rela- tionship to riots."

In other action the court: — Affirmed the life sentence given Roy Henry Maghe, Hous- ton, upon conviction of murder in the armed robbery of a Houston warehouse on Aug. 25, 1969. A security guard was shot and killed and another man wounded. The appeal claimed that Maghe was allowed to appear before the jury in jail clothing and that evidence seized in a search was improp- erly admitted.

— Reversed and sent back for retrial the murder with malice conviction given John Lucky, Houston. The opinion said the trial court failed to charge the jury on the issue of murder without malice. The decision cancelled a 10 year prison sen- tence given Lucky.

Council Proposes Races By Places

By ANN STEVENS
City commissioners, in a special workshop session Wednesday, called for election of commission members by places to be among proposed amendments to the City Charter to be submitted to the voters this fall.

The list of proposed revisions to the charter will be up at the next regular commission meeting for final discussions, and an ordinance calling the election will be submitted by the city attorney at the following meeting.

At Wednesday's workshop, the other four commissioners

Reunion Plans Are Announced

Plans are now being made for the Brown School and Community Reunion scheduled 1-5 p.m. June 23 at the First United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall in Big Spring. All ex-students and teachers of the school and residents of the community near Ackerly are invited to attend. Travis Davis will emcee the program and Elmer Miller, longtime superintendent of the school, will speak. Organizing the reunion are Mrs. Joe Froman, Mrs. Dalton Wright, Mrs. Leonard West and Mrs. Donald Grigg.

Study Deadline Sought By City

Two city officials and a local engineer were in Austin this morning seeking approval from the Texas Water Quality Board for additional time to survey the infiltration-inflow problem with the city sewer system.

Bill Brown, city utility director, said before he left Wednesday with City Manager Harry Nagel and engineer Roy Crim that he expects the WQB to approve extension of the July 1, 1973 deadline under which the city has been working.

The problem here is that ground water, highly mineralized, infiltrates into the sewer collecting system, creating problems in the treatment of influent.

Theft Of Firearm Reported Here

Claude Horn on Hilltop Road reported the theft of a gun to the local sheriff's office. Horn's missing weapon is a Titan 26 caliber automatic, according to the sheriff's office.

Exodus Of White Pupils Draws Blame For Decline In Learning

DALLAS (AP) — Public school officials say scores in achievement tests show departures of white pupils are to blame for drops in learning levels here.

They reported Wednesday the declines occurred from 1971 to 1972. "No significant over-all increase or decrease" was found, however, where the exodus of white children from the Dallas schools was considered, the officials said.

SOCIAL STUDIES Tests measuring the ability of Dallas children to read and understand math, science, social studies and literature, were taken in the fall of 1971 and the results compiled by the school system's research and development department.

Over-all scores for 12th grade boys dropped from a 38 per cent ranking nationally in 1971 to 32 per cent in 1972. Scores for ninth grade boys dropped from 38 to 32 per cent.

The report stated, however, that "in several instances in schools where Anglo turnover is minimal, achievement is up in some cases and relatively constant in others. In schools that have experienced a large loss of Anglo students, the achievement is lower."

Test scores in predominantly Negro schools appeared to stay almost the same, the report said.

At Carter High School, which lost 200 white pupils between 1971 and 1972, scores for 12th grade boys dropped from 53 to 32 per cent.

From the reading score reports, issued in conjunction with a five-year study of population trends, teacher and socio-economic profiles, school administrators drew a strong relationship between the levels of pupil achievement and family income and educational level.

These further details were given: —There has been a 27 per cent drop in white enrollment the past five years, with a marked acceleration since a 1971 court desegregation ruling. Currently white youngsters comprise a slim majority of the school system's 153,000 pupils.

—Economically deprived minority children enter the first grade behind their white classmates in skills, and the gap widens as they go through school.

—TOP SCORES —Schools in the northeast quadrant of the city scored highest on the average, followed by the southeast quadrant, then the southwest quadrant, and then the inner city.

—Scores of white pupils when compared to the average scores of those in the nation's large cities generally were between the 45th and 60th percentile, Mexican-Americans between the 10th and 30th percentiles and blacks between the 5th and 20th percentiles.

New Industry Opens Friday

Brief ceremonies at 8:30 a.m. Friday will mark the formal opening of the Walls Industries, Inc. clothing manufacturing plant here.

The plant and factory outlet store are located on a tract acquired from the Big Spring Industrial Foundation on the Snyder Highway, just north of the Texas Highway Department offices at IS 20-SH 350.

Open house will follow at the facility, continuing until 11 a.m. The Chamber of Commerce Ambassadors will serve as hosts.

Walls has approximately two score production workers turning out products now, and the number is being increased as rapidly as workers can be recruited and trained. The immediate goal of the plan is to utilize the services of 200 workers.

George McAllister, president of the Chamber of Commerce will serve as master of ceremonies. Introducing Mayor Wade Choate, who will extend the community's welcome to the newest industry.

He also will introduce Tom Locke, president of the Industrial Foundation, who negotiated with the City of Big Spring for the industrial lands, and then sold the site to Walls along with an option for additional acreage if Walls elects to establish a distribution point here.

Either George S. Walls, chairman of the board and founder of the company, or his son, Sam Walls Jr., president, will respond and introduce personnel.

The ribbon cutting and opening of the plant and store will follow, continuing to 10 a.m. The outlet store includes Walls-made items, expanded to include other types for all members of the family.

Worms A Concern To Some Farmers

"The cotton crop is looking good in most sections of the county, although some farmers are concerned about fuzzy worms," Ronnie Jones, assistant county agent, stated today.

"A lot of times this time of year, an army of fuzzy worms move out of dry pasture hunting green food and they do eat some young cotton. However, their life cycle is usually very short and very little damage is expected," Jones added.

"A good hard rain right now would completely do away with a fuzzy worm problem," Jones added.

Shortes Named To Bank Board

LUBBOCK — Larry Shortes, a Howard County native now of Lubbock, was named Tuesday one of three new directors of the First National Bank of Lubbock.

Shortes, 38, vice president and division manager of Pioneer Natural Gas Co., West Texas division. He has previously served as assistant manager of the Amarillo district and as district manager at Odessa. He began his career with the gas company in Big Spring when it was Empire Southern.

He and his wife and two children live at 7704 Lynhaven. She is the former Jo Ann Gordon, Big Spring, and he is the son of Mrs. Al Lancaster, Big Spring.

STORY OF AN EXILE IN CANADA

America's Draft Dodgers

By RICHARD E. MEYER
AP Newsfeatures Writer

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — Down on the riverbank, alone, Len Grannemann eats his lunch sometimes and thinks: "I'm a damn good swimmer. I could swim it if I had to." It makes him uneasy.

The Detroit River separates Canada from the United States. To Len Grannemann, it represents safety. It stands between him, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and arrest. Still, there are those times . . . when he thinks, about swimming . . . or canoeing . . .

'DESERTER'

Six hundred fifty yards. So near. And yet . . .

A "deserter" to his President, a prodigal to his family, an embarrassment to many of the folks back in Washington, Mo., his hometown, Len Grannemann, 27, is by any definition — an exile.

He ducked the draft. Go home? "Good for three to five years. Not worth it."

Yet, of all such exiles — among the only remaining prisoners of the Vietnam war, albeit by a choice of their own — Grannemann is, among those closest to home. He lives less than a mile from the river.

And the tug . . . The tug, sometimes, is almost irresistible.

"I'd like to be given a couple days' pass, you know," he says, dropping his hornrim glasses into his lap and fixing his blue eyes on the ceiling of his upstairs apartment, near the Ambassador Bridge in northwest Windsor.

TULIPS OUT

"What's the weather like down in Missouri? Tulips are out . . . I'd say to my brother, Virgil, 'Look, let's go get us a case of beer and let's get that damn canoe out, or whatever, and let's go back on the Gasconade, and let's take a couple-day trip, and let's talk!'"

Not that he wants to go back to the United States to live. But maybe, he thinks, he could explain.

Not to the President, probably. Richard M. Nixon has made it perfectly clear: "Those who served paid their price . . . The price is a criminal penalty for disobeying the laws of the United States . . . Amnesty means forgiveness. We cannot provide forgiveness . . . Let us not dishonor those who served their country by granting amnesty to those who deserted."

Nor, probably, to the men who gather at Leo's Barber Shop across from the Elks Hall back in Washington, Mo. They watch in the big mirror while Leo Meinershagen trims their hair, and it smells of talcum powder and Vitalis, and the men thumb through the magazines and gossip. Len knows the conversation must get stiff when his father yalks in and Leo asks, "how's your son?" and everybody knows which son, and Len knows how painful it must be for his father to answer: "Oh, he's . . ." pause . . . "doin' well, you know pause . . . "in Canada."

DEEP CHANGE

But, maybe he could explain to Virgil, and that would be awfully important. Virgil has refused to telephone, write, acknowledge his younger brother's existence for four and a half years.

It was winter, January 1969, when Len Grannemann, his young wife and baby daughter left Missouri. The departure, without notice, climaxed a deep personal change in his life.

He remembers growing up in the Ozark foothills and going with his grandfather to Chappler's Store in Cooper Hill, where the oldtimers sat on two-by-twelves across some nail kēes, and he sat on a concrete step and drank the red soda pop his grandfather always bought him and listened to the oldtimers spin yarns.

He remembers how the people came from miles around when his great-grandfather died, and how they crowded along a line of tables with white tablecloths, and how he stood at one end and saw the beef and chicken and salad and homemade bread they brought, and the whiskey and beer, and how everybody got a drink and got to talking and sitting on the front porch and rocking . . .

MADE GRAVY

He remembers his grandmother, who cleaned the squirrels his grandfather shot, and who talked to him about whatever was on her mind while she made squirrel gravy; and his father, a survey crew leader for the Army corps of Engineers and a proud man, proud that his young son with clear blue eyes and wavy red hair was growing up to be a fine young American; and his mother, who took care of him and Virgil and his other brother, Wayne.

He remembers standing every morning in school for the pledge of allegiance and learning that America was the greatest country in the world. And he remembers the day Virgil came home from Korea.

"He came to school and we came running together down the school yard . . . We became really, really close. We played ping pong and hunted and fished and drank beer . . . And we took this float trip down the Gasconade . . . the fast moving water and the fishing . . . We were gone for two weeks down this treacherous piece of water . . . shooting the rapids . . ." He was the person I was closest to."

FRONT PAGE

At Southwest Missouri State College in Springfield, Len Grannemann joined Sigma Tau Gamma. A front-page picture in the newspaper showed him standing on the front porch of the fraternity house with a proud banner overhead: "We Back the Boys in Vietnam!" He polished his brass, spit-shined his shoes and planned to enroll in advanced ROTC. He figured on graduating in 1968 with a commission as a second lieutenant.

Then . . . "I started taking courses from professors who said, 'That's one point of view. There's another. Take a look at this side . . . and that side . . .'" He began reading: Thoreau and Gandhi and an article in the Atlantic Monthly by Gen. David M. Shoup, retired Marine Corps commandant, who impressed upon him that the Vietnam war had no clearly defined objectives, that the United States was mistaken about what it thought it could do in Vietnam and that Americans were pursuing a kind of military roulette — "We tried 10,000 troops . . . and it didn't work . . . but we thought there was a winning number . . . and it didn't work . . . so we put our chips on 150,000 troops . . . and we spun the wheel again . . ."

HATE, HATE

At the same time, Len Grannemann experienced an internal upheaval he likened to an "emotional catharsis." He discovered that his heritage included a lot of hate. "I hated Jews. I hated Niggers. I hated Communists. I hated, hated, hated, hated." Why? he asked himself. "Why should I hate blacks? Why should I hate Jews?"

"Why should I hate whatever???" All of a sudden I couldn't do that anymore. Politically, emotionally, morally, this was a time of great upset in my life."

He quit the fraternity. "I couldn't agree with their values about the war." He refused to continue ROTC. "My friends changed, the people I was hanging around with changed."

He became what he calls a midwest revolutionary. "That's not a New York revolutionary, not even a Washington, D.C., revolutionary. If I went to New York and told them that all I did was lead a Martin Luther King demonstration after he was shot . . . and marched in a circle when Robert Kennedy was assassinated . . . and carried a placard and made a few antiwar speeches on campus . . ."

DANGEROUS GUY

But at Southwest Missouri State, that was revolutionary. And Len Grannemann was doctrinaire, quite dogmatic about it.

"I couldn't be objective about some of the tactics in the movement. I thought, 'Well, the end justifies the means.' At that point, I was still struggling with the passions of adolescence. And, you know, an adolescent with a cause is a dangerous guy."

He had little missionary effect, however, upon a first cousin, an honor graduate from West Point who left for Vietnam with a sawed-off shotgun "to kill the gooks"; and very little effect upon his father, whom he remembers saying, "Yeah, I know there's a lot of truth in a lot of that, but I don't know what to believe anymore — you've just got to keep your nose clean, look straight ahead and keep going."
