OFFICIALS EXPRESS GRAVE CONCERN FOR MEN'S SAFETY

Four Trapped In Midget Submarine

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — A fourth attempt to rescue four men trapped in midget research submarine on the floor of the Atlantic failed today. Officials expressed grave concern for the men's safety.

"We must get to that sub," said Lieutenant Commander R. H. Bisbing, a Navy spokesman. "We hope the men can survive."

The four — two of them reportedly unconscious in a rear compartment of the sub — were on their last emergency supply of oxygen and Bisbing said a new attempt to reach them could take several hours.

DIVING BELL
The air supply for the four had dwindled to about an hour at 11 a.m. EDT as divers worked feverishly to reach them with a diving bell. Two reportedly already were unconscious.

One of the unconscious men was Clayton Link, 31, son of the research sub's designer, Edwin Link.

Three previous attempts to reach the sub — two by hard-helmet divers and one with a diving bell — had failed, stymied by the danger of entangling rescuers in the same wreckage that trapped the midget.

The small submarine was wedged in the wreckage of a World War II destroyer about 20 miles southeast of Key West, home of one of the nation's oldest naval bases.

Cmdr. William McVeigh, chief of staff at the Key West base, said "nothing really has been accomplished" in initial rescue attempts "because of cables and debris" from the sunken destroyer.

McVeigh said the rescue vessel Tringa was maneuvering into position for another attempt to lower the bell chamber to the trapped midget.

David Stover, 21, said his father, Albert, was in the rear compartment of the sub with Link.

"The last I heard he was unconscious and that was about 8 a.m.," Stover said. "There's nothing really to worry about providing they get to them in time. For the two who are unconscious, it's like they fainted."

Stover said his father was one of the divers sent down to retrieve a U.S. hydrogen bomb, accidentally dropped off the coast of Spain early in 1966 following a B52 crash. A midget submarine finally discovered and helped recover the bomb several months after the crash.

In the front compartment of the experimental craft were Archibald "Jock" Menzies, a native of Scotland with a home in Vero Beach, Fla., the sub's pilot-commander; and Robert Meek, 27, a diver and submarine pilot from West Palm Beach, Fla.

Rescuers were faced with the prospect of having to draw on the vital oxygen supply to increase the temperature in the submarine and enable chemical canisters to absorb more carbon dioxide.

Asked about the buildup of carbon dioxide in the back section of the vessel, a Navy spokesman described it as "a baby putting a plastic bag over its head and slowly being strangled."

Shortly after daybreak Cmdr. William Smith said there had been radio contact with two men in the front of the sub and they had reported the men in the rear were still breathing.

NO RESPONSE
"But there is still no response from the two in the back," Smith said, explaining this indicated the two were unconscious.

Smith said "the critical thing is not the air supply but amassing carbon dioxide. The colder it gets the less effective the chemical absorption is."

HIGH HOPES Soviet Chief, Nixon Pledge Peace Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon and Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev began historic summit talks today with joint pledges to work for lasting world peace.

As Nixon welcomed Brezhnev at colorful ceremonies on the White House south lawn, he said "all the world is watching" their week of summitry because "the people of the world know that if leaders of the two most powerful nations can work together . . . the chance for a world peace is infinitely increased."

In remarks exchanged before Nixon ushered Brezhnev into his Oval Office to start their second summit in 13 months, the President said the "hopes of the world rest with us."

"I am confident," he added, that "we shall not disappoint those hopes."

Both leaders spoke of the foundation laid in last year's Moscow summit and in extensive exchanges since then in forecasting success for the talks.

Brezhnev said he was ready to work hard to "justify the hopes of our people and serve the interest of a peaceful future for all mankind."

Wild Shootout In Harlem Bar

NEW YORK (AP) — "There were bullets all over the place," a detective said after a policeman, a bartender and a gunman were shot to death in a crowded Harlem bar. Another officer and six patrons were wounded.

Police said about 20 shots were exchanged Sunday night after two patrolmen entered the Capri Bar and Grill and told a man waving a pistol to drop his weapon. He responded by firing five shots, police said.

A woman patron said a policeman ordered the gunman to "Drop your gun!" But the gunman "just wheeled about and fired at them five times," she told authorities.

Police Commissioner Donald F. Cawley said the initial report showed that "some of the injured were possibly hit by police fire." He said he could give no motive for the shooting.

The wounded officer and three of the wounded patrons were taken to Harlem Hospital.

Soldiers Sentenced

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Three black soldiers convicted of conspiring to destroy government property with explosives, were each sentenced to five years in prison today.

The convictions grew out of an incident at Ft. Sam Houston in November in which the on-base residence of Lt. Freddie Lee Howard, a black training officer, was firebombed.

Lt. Howard's son, Michael, 5, was seriously burned in the ensuing blaze.

U.S. District Court Judge W. D. Suttle read the sentence to co-defendants Harold J. White, 20, Richard Webster Motom, 20, and Tom Williams, 19, all stationed at Ft. Sam Houston.

He told them, "You're young. Your lives are not over. When you get out of prison, take a deep breath and start over again."

The three have filed appeals in the case. All three also were indicted against today on the actual charges of firebombing the residence.

Watergate-TV

NEW YORK (AP) — The CBS, NBC and ABC television networks will televise live Tuesday the scheduled testimony of former White House counsel John Dean III before the Senate's Watergate committee, the networks said today.

It marks the first time all three networks have covered the Watergate hearings live since May 25, when they said they would rotate live coverage of the hearings on a one-network-per-day basis.

Says Teen Girl Tied To Bed And Slapped

LIBERTY, Tex. (AP) — A girl identified only as Jan says Artesia Hall director Joseph B. Farrar ignored pleas for help from Danna Annette Hvolboll when she told him she had taken rat poisoning.

Farrar, 56, director of the school for troubled teen-agers near Cleveland and head of Aston Academy in Houston, was indicted last week by a Liberty County grand jury on charges of murder in the death of Miss Hvolboll, 17.

Miss Hvolboll died last Nov. 14 in Ben Taub Hospital. Farrar is accused of refusing treatment to Miss Hvolboll for 36 hours after she admitted taking the rat poisoning.

Jan, who said she was a friend of Miss Hvolboll at the school, claims to have witnessed two days of suffering by Miss Hvolboll before her death.

The girl said she first noticed something wrong with Miss Hvolboll on a Saturday when school officials appeared to be trying to keep her awake.

"The next morning she (Miss Hvolboll) did not get out of bed," Jan said. "But they came in and made her get dressed and go to breakfast. They brought her back and she could hardly move. They threw her on the floor and said to ignore her. They said she just wanted attention and was faking it."

Jan said Miss Hvolboll was tied to a bed and slapped. When she was untied, she fell to the floor, Jan said.

Cowboys Eager For BS Rodeo

Prospective participants in the big 40th production of the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo were telephoning the Settles Hotel today to enter the show.

The official headquarters in the lobby of the Settles will open Tuesday with Mrs. Mildred Farris in charge. She is the wife of John Farris, veteran stock superintendent for Tommy Steiner, rodeo producer.

Tom Hadley, Brady, arrived early today and will again serve as show announcer.

Also on hand are Rex and Wanda Rossi, trick riders who will perform with Jeanette Plunkett and Dolly Beutler in between-events specialties at the rodeo.

A big street dance will be held starting at 8 p.m. Tuesday on the east side of the courthouse. The public is invited to attend, according to rodeo officials.

Among the early registrants of top rodeo performers are the Burke brothers from Duncan, Okla. Berry and Roy Burke are top calf ropers.

Meanwhile, part of the livestock already in corrals at the rodeo grounds which have been touched up and repainted for the coming event.

Michael Landon (Little Joe of the Bonanza series) and his string ensemble will arrive here Tuesday evening ahead of the big parade at 4 p.m. Wednesday.

There are prizes for the top decorated floats with $100 for first and $25 for second prizes.

Deadline for entering floats in the Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo parade which begins at 4 p.m. Wednesday has been extended through Tuesday.

Entries can be made by contacting Barbara Giles at the Chamber of Commerce.

Johnny-On-The-Spot Captures Spotlight

WASHINGTON (AP) — John W. Dean III was, by many accounts, the Johnny-on-the-spot of the Watergate conspiracy.

When the intelligence-gathering activities now labeled Watergate were planned, when the subsequent coverup of the break-in was attempted, the White House counsel was there—the man at the center, according to federal prosecutors.

This week, Dean becomes Johnny-in-the-spotlight as he tells his story of the conspiracy and scandal to the Senate Watergate committee.

Leaked accounts of that story, told so far behind closed doors, indicate that 34-year-old Dean is the most likely witness to attempt to implicate President Nixon in the coverup.

But Dean's public version must wait until Tuesday, when the Senate hearings resume. So far, his Watergate role has been described by others.

Jeb Stuart Magruder, once deputy director of the President's re-election committee, testified last week that when the committee was looking for a general counsel in late 1971, Dean "brought G. Gordon Liddy to my office."

KIDNAP RADICALS
Magruder said he and Dean and then-Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell had discussed intelligence-gathering previously and Liddy was to work in that field as well.

On Jan. 27, 1972, Magruder testified, he, Mitchell, Dean and Liddy met in Mitchell's Justice Department office and Liddy described a bizarre million-dollar plan to kidnap radicals and seduce Democratic officials.

A week later, Liddy was ready with a toned-down proposal based primarily on wire-tapping and photography, so, Magruder said, he called Dean who set up another meeting in Mitchell's office.

H. R. Haldeman, former White House chief of staff, said Dean told him about the intelligence-planning meetings.

In a sworn deposition, Haldeman said that, after the second meeting, Dean told him Liddy had described an "incredible" proposal and "that he intended not to involve himself in any further meetings . . . regarding intelligence planning with Mr. Liddy."

LIED TO FBI
Magruder described one more meeting at which specific actions were approved, and said Dean was absent.

But, two days after the June 17, 1972, break-in at Democratic national headquarters in the Watergate complex, Dean attended a meeting at Mitchell's apartment concerning "what were we going to do about the problem," Magruder said.

One aspect was explaining $230,000 which Liddy had received to pay for his intelligence-gathering activities, Magruder said.

The solution, Magruder said, was to lie: Authorities would be told that Liddy received only $150,000 which was spent on legal projects in the intelligence field.

"My primary contacts on the story were Mr. Dean and Mr. Mitchell," Magruder said.

Magruder said he lied to FBI agents and, on Aug. 16, under oath to a grand jury.

Lt. Gen. Vernon A. Walters, deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency at the time of the break-in, recalled being summoned to Dean's office on June 26:

"He asked whether there was not some way in which the agency might have been involved," Walters said there was no way.

"DISAPPOINTED"
Dean "seemed disappointed," Walters said.

The next two days brought more calls from Dean with suggestions that the CIA use covert funds to put up bail for the Watergate defendants and also pay their salaries while they were in jail, Walters said.

Walters refused to let the agency become involved, he said, and when he threatened to resign Dean backed off.

The next day, former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans told the Senate committee, Herbert Kalmbach, the President's personal attorney came to him on "an urgent White House project" to solicit cash.

Stans said Kalmbach's lawyer later told him it was Dean who initiated the fund-raising mission.

Within the White House, according to Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, Dean was supposed to be keeping track of Watergate developments.

"He reported or informed me periodically of factors relating to the Watergate matter," said Haldeman.

Were any of these written reports?

"Not to my knowledge," said Haldeman.

Tennis Center, And Drive Leading To It, Are Dedicated

Some 150 people were on hand Sunday to see the Figure Seven Tennis Center officially opened and Whipkey Drive, the new one-way entrance to the six-court center, dedicated.

Preceding dedication of the new $60,000 facility by Mayor Pro Tem Eddie Acri, District Judge Ralph Caton related the history of the project beginning with inception of the idea by the Dora Roberts Foundation.

"It began with an idea, and today it is a reality," he said.

Chamber of Commerce support of the center was pledged by W. S. Pearson, chairman of the Chamber Economic Development Council.

After cutting the ribbon opening the courts, Acri officially dedicated the new street off US 87 South named in honor of former Herald publisher Robert W. Whipkey whom Acri said "pushed or pulled" to get things done whenever he was called upon. Mr. Whipkey had a long record of civic service.

Exhibition matches featuring top amateur netters Ike Groce, Joe Williams, Steve Buck and Fred Kniffen followed the dedication ceremonies.

Groce, an NAIA singles semifinalist in 1965 while at Southeastern State College in Oklahoma, and Williams, former 4A state singles champion from San Angelo, won the two singles matches against Kniffen and Buck respectively.

Groce and Kniffen won the following doubles match against Williams and Buck to end the two-hour kick-off of the center.

The center was set in motion by a $45,000 grant from the Dora Roberts Foundation, in addition to the one which it had made previously to acquire the former Cogen Country Club where the courts are located. The city established grade and base and handled construction for the courts, which have been topped with a special material for tennis courts.

City Manager Harry Nagel presided at the dedication rites, and Novis Kniffen, Center manager, introduced the players. The goal of as fine a center as can be found in the region has been achieved, said Kniffen.

TENNIS CENTER OPENED — Formal opening and dedication of the Figure 7 Tennis Center was symbolized Sunday afternoon when Mayor Pro Tem Eddie Acri snipped the ribbon leading to the main court. Participating in the ceremonies, which also included opening of a street from US 87 to the Center, was dedication of Whipkey Drive, memorializing the late publisher of The Big Spring Herald. Taking part were, from left, R. H. Weaver and Judge R. W. Caton, members of the Dora Roberts Foundation board, Mayor Pro Tem Acri, and W. S. Pearson, vice president of the Chamber of Commerce.

ANNIVERSARY CHAT — Jane Conrad speaks to her husband, Skylab commander Charles "Pete" Conrad, Sunday via a special hookup at the Johnson Space Center Mission Control. In addition to Sunday being Father's Day, it was also the 20th wedding anniversary for the Conrads.

Skylab Astros Snap Space Flight Mark

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Skylab 1 astronauts today became history's longest-flying space travelers. Though almost grounded last month by problems with their orbiting laboratory, Charles Conrad Jr., Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz smashed a mark set two years ago by three Soviet cosmonauts. At 3:22 a.m. EDT, the trio surpassed the single mission record of 23 days, 18 hours, 22 minutes logged in June 1971 by Soyuz 11.

WORLD CHAMPS
Capsule communicator Henry Hartfield informed them of the record just before Skylab lost radio contact with the Canary Island station. "In about two minutes you will become the new world champs for the longest space flight," he said.

But the crew was busy with the daily weighing chore and Weitz replied: "Okay, thanks for the dope, Henry. We're all busy at the BMD (body measuring device), happily getting weighed."

At the next station, Honey-suckle in Australia, Commander Conrad said: "How about having Tom Stafford or Deke (Slayton) relay to the Russian cosmonauts our respects... and wish them good luck from us in the future."

Astronauts Slayton and Stafford are scheduled to fly on the joint U.S.-Russian manned space mission scheduled in 1975.

OVER NIGERIA
The Russian flight in 1971 ended tragically when all three cosmonauts died during earth re-entry because of a faulty hatch seal that caused rapid decompression of the Soyuz cabin. Conrad, who is on his fourth space trip, earlier set a record for total individual flight time and now has logged more than 44 days in space.

The Americans were 275 miles over Nigeria in Africa today when they set the new standard.

As they set the mark, Conrad, Kerwin and Weitz still had four days of their flight left. Their space journey started out in deep trouble, but was saved by the skill and daring of the astronauts on ingenious repair assignments.

WILL NOT STAND
They are to dispatch their Apollo ferry ship from the 118-foot long Skylab Friday, aiming for a splashdown in the Pacific Ocean about 800 miles southwest of San Diego at 9:48 a.m.

Old Testament Finds Way Back

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Sheriff Bernard Waggoner, counseling a drifter at a halfway house for alcoholics, recovered a Bible he had lost 30 years ago during World War II.

The man showed the sheriff a Bible with the name Waggoner on it. Waggoner said it was the same Bible issued to him when he entered the Army in 1943.

Waggoner said the man told him he took the Bible from the body of a dead German soldier during combat in France in 1944.

EDT after 28 days, 48 minutes in space.

Their record isn't expected to last long. On July 27 the Skylab 2 crew is to rocket to the same station for 56 days to continue medical, scientific and earth resources experiments started by Skylab 1.

And in October, the Skylab 3 astronauts are to visit the station, also for 56 days.

The Skylab 1 crew plans its last solar astronomy research today.

On Tuesday Conrad will take a space walk to retrieve film from the eight telescopes that have been taking detailed photographs of the sun. Included are pictures of a giant flare observed last Friday.

Conrad, assisted by Weitz, will step through an airlock hatch and climb a ladder to reach the film vaults outside the lab. He'll also install new film for the Skylab 2 team.

After Tuesday's space stroll, the astronauts will spend two days deactivating systems and readying the workshop for Skylab 2.

BABY DOWN
"We're slowly but surely closing this baby down," said flight director Neil Hutchinson.

On Sunday, the astronauts received a telephone call from President Nixon and Father's Day greetings from their families.

It was also Conrad's 20th wedding anniversary, and Mrs. Conrad and three of the four Conrad sons visited mission control for a phone conversation.

"Happy anniversary," Jane Conrad told her husband. "You were thinking ahead. You sent me 20 red roses."

Terrorists Claiming Two Assassinations

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Two Roman Catholics were murdered within 24 hours of each other over the weekend. A new Protestant terrorist group claimed credit for the slayings.

The group warned, "There will be more of this to come."

The body of James Kelly, a 25-year-old seaman, was found Sunday outside Belfast. The other victim was Daniel Rouse, 17, who was shot to death in a Belfast lot Saturday night.

Shortly after Kelly's body was found, a man telephoned a Belfast newspaper and said: "Listen carefully. I represent the Ulster Freedom Fighters. We have just assassinated an Irish Republican Army man... We gave him two in the back and one in the head. This is in retaliation for Wilson."

The caller was referring to the murder Friday of Michael Wilson, 18, the brother-in-law of a former leader of the Protestant Ulster Defense Association.

The Ulster Defense Association blamed the Catholic IRA for Wilson's slaying, but the charge was denied by IRA leaders.

Authorities said dissident members of the Ulster Defense Association appear to be forming the Ulster Freedom Fighters.

Construct New Roads

County road crews are installing permanent paving in a three mile strip on the old Gail Road, also two miles on the O'Daniel Road in eastern Howard County.

This is in keeping with the county's continuous plan to add at least 10 miles of new permanent paving per year. The county now has 240 paved miles out of 550 miles of county roads.

The road crews also are seal coating some 65 miles of rural roads, following extremely damaging weather last winter, according to County Judge A. G. Mitchell.

ARMY, MARINES COMBAT $2,500 Bonus Fails To Lure Enough Volunteers

WASHINGTON (AP) — An increased enlistment bonus failed to draw enough volunteers into the Army and Marine ground combat army during the first month of a new test.

Preliminary figures show the two services signed up 1,534 young men for combat jobs in May, some 900 below their combined goal for the month.

The failure to meet the assigned goal underscores the military's tough problem of getting young men to enlist for service in the infantry, armor and artillery.

About a year ago, the Pentagon ordered the Army and Marines to test a $1,500 bonus for a four-year enlistment.

After 10 months, the results were disappointing, so defense chiefs raised the bonus to $2,500 for a test in May and June.

The Pentagon's authority to offer such enlistment bonuses of up to $3,000 will die at the end of this month and the outcome of the two-month test of the $2,500 bonus could weigh heavily in Congress' decision whether to extend the legislation another two years.

Failure of the test would underscore doubts held by certain key military officers and civilian officials about the ability of the services, chiefly the Army, to maintain their strength without the draft.

Over-all, the enlistment situation didn't change much in May. The Army signed up only 5,147 youths for combat and non-combat jobs, lagging nearly 3,000 behind its objective for the month. The Navy drew 4,100 volunteers, falling about 400 short.

The Air Force took in 6,350 volunteers, bettering its goal by 330. Although faltering in combat arms enlistments, the Marine Corps scored well in total enlistments. The Corps' 3,300 volunteers in May topped the objective by about 100 men.

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS

Q 1—With both sides vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠ 3 ♥ AQ1095 ♦ AQ10 ♣ KJ9

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♥ Pass 1 ♠ 2 ♦ ?

What do you bid now?

A—Double. Your hand should produce at least the equivalent of the defensive book and anything partner can add will be so much gravy. A big demerit to anyone who bids two no trump.

Q 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠ J ♥ Q943 ♦ AK2 ♣ A10643

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ Pass 2 ♣ Pass 2 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Three diamonds. An immediate jump to four hearts does not do full justice to this holding which is worth 17 points in support of hearts. By making a forcing bid in diamonds and following it up with a heart raise partner will get a complete picture of your values.

Q 3—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠ A83 ♥ Q52 ♦ 106 ♣ J7432

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

Pass 1 ♦ 1 ♥ Pass Pass 2 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Pass. While it is our practice sometimes to raise one no trump on only seven points plus a five card suit, we would never do it on such a shabby suit as this. Partner requires too good a fit to make it a reasonable gamble.

Q 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠ J7653 ♥ KQ864 ♦ 3 ♣ Q19

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

Pass 1 ♦ 1 ♥ Pass Pass 2 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Pass. Unfortunately there is no convenient action open to you. If partner had a very good hand he would have reopened the bidding with either a double or a jump bid, so game seems to be out of the question. Furthermore, his bidding indicates that he could expect very little spade support from him.

Q 5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠ 5 ♥ A863 ♦ 8 ♣ KQ9843

The bidding has proceeded:

East South

What do you bid?

A—Two clubs. This is admittedly irregular, but the call is made in anticipation of conserving space. The auction will likely reach four hearts before it gets back to you again and you will find that, had you chosen to overcall with one spade originally, you would now be forced to bid five clubs. With the initial overcall in clubs, however, you can conveniently bid four spades and offer partner a choice of suits one level lower.

Bridge Test

♠ 5 ♥ A863 ♦ 8 ♣ KQ9843

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♣ Pass 1 ♠ Pass 2 ♣ Pass 2 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Pass. This looks like a complete misfit and one more bid could get you overboard. While it is true that you have adequate protection in the unbid suits, no trump seems unsound, for you have no place to develop tricks.

Q 6—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠ Q10 ♥ AK32 ♦ KQJ97 ♣ K85

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♦ Pass 1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—This is a close call between two no trump and two hearts with a slight preference for the former. This hand falls a point short of the textbook requirement for the jump-raise bid in no trump (19 points), but it possesses the compensating feature of a good five card suit plus the fitting Q-10 in partner's suit.

Q 7—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠ 76 ♥ AK863 ♦ AQ98 ♣ A5

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

Pass Pass 1 ♥ Pass 4 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Five diamonds. Partner's jump to game after his initial pass indicates a hand that in support of hearts may be revalued at 14 or more points which with your 20 points could spell a slam. A Blackwood bid would be pointless because of the worthless doubleton in spades. If, over five diamonds, partner merely returns to five hearts you may decide to pass.

Q 8—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠ AJ10875 ♥ 8 ♣ KQ9843

The bidding has proceeded:

East South

What do you bid?

A—Two clubs. This is admittedly irregular, but the call is made in anticipation of conserving space. The auction will likely reach four hearts before it gets back to you again and you will find that, had you chosen to overcall with one spade originally, you would now be forced to bid five clubs. With the initial overcall in clubs, however, you can conveniently bid four spades and offer partner a choice of suits one level lower.

Former Newsmen Leaving AEC Post

The Atomic Energy Commission's senior field information officer for nuclear explosive testing, Henry G. Vermillion, is retiring at the end of this month. His duties have carried him on tests from Nevada to Mississippi, from the South Pacific to the Aleutian Islands in the Bering Sea.

Vermillion, a former West Texas newspaperman, has spent 18 years with the AEC and has been in on more than 300 underground nuclear tests at the Nevada site and 87 atmospheric tests before 1963.

Prior to joining AEC, Vermillion, a 1932 Baylor journalism graduate, worked for papers in El Paso, Bisbee, Ariz., and Albuquerque, N.M., as well as publishing papers at Kermit and Eastland.

PERIOD OF ADJUSTMENT-II

'Second Chance At Living'

By KATHRYN JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

After 5 1/2 years in a North Vietnamese prison, Navy Lt. Wayne K. Goodermote of Berlin, N.Y., looks to his freedom as a "second chance at living." His fellow POWs agree.

The years of solitude, in which a rat scurrying across a cell floor was a memorable highlight, have made them determined to implement plans made in captivity.

Their long-range goals are multiple and diverse, from joining the diplomatic corps in Asia to teaching to studying medicine or international law to taking up auto racing.

TIME MACHINE
"I was in a time machine for some seven years," said one former POW. "For me, the world sort of stopped. It gave me the opportunity to take a long and detailed look at myself, what had happened in my life so far."

Like him, other POWs feel their experience will benefit them in the years ahead. They feel it has tempered them, made them more aware of others, more tolerant, more compassionate. And more patriotic. At the same time, they view changes in the country during their imprisonment as staggering.

Lt. Cmdr. Porter Halyburton, a handsome pilot from Tucker, Ga., who was a POW nearly eight years, is determined not to get snagged in what he calls the rut of "the American way of life."

NO HUMDRUM JOB
"By that I mean working at a humdrum job for the sake of possessions," said the 32-year-old Halyburton. The Navy will send Halyburton.

Sentenced To Jail On Pottery Count

BANGKOK (AP) — Air France's regional manager was sentenced to one month in jail for illegal possession of 7,000-year-old Thai pottery.

D. Mimault, 40, was released on $1,500 bail pending appeal to a higher court. Mimault pleaded guilty to being in possession of recently discovered Ban Chiang pottery, dating back almost 70 centuries.

Possession of Ban Chiang pottery is an offense against a government edict which says that all antiques and artifacts discovered in the northeast district must be declared. Police said they found 91 pieces of pottery in Mimault's house and arrested him last week.

ton back to school where he plans to study international relations. He hopes ultimately to work as a specialist for the Navy or get a State Department post, perhaps in Asia.

For the time being, the majority of the 566 returned POWs intend to remain in the military. Of 101 interviewed in the last few weeks, for instance, eight said they were leaving the service and four were undecided. Eighty per cent of the men interviewed said they planned to continue their education.

MILITARY MAN
"I'm a professional military man and asking me if I plan to stay in the service is a bit like asking a doctor if he plans to remain a doctor after he's been in practice for 10 years," said Air Force Maj. Edward W. Leonard Jr., 34, of Winlock, Wash., a POW for five years.

But for some, especially fliers, resumption of military duties may not be so automatic. Last week, Dr. Richard S. Wilbur, the Pentagon health chief, said the one-third of the POWs, mostly pilots, had suffered major fractures. A minority of these men will not be able to return to active duty, he said.

When a missile struck his Skyhawk jet 5 1/2 years ago, Lt. Cmdr. John S. McCain III ejected over downtown Hanoi and landed in a lake. He broke a leg and both arms. Several weeks ago, the leg repaired. He now faces surgery on a shoulder, which was smashed by a guard's rifle butt.

HOPES TO FLY
"I hope to fly again, but that depends on the doctors," said the 35-year-old pilot, whose father was chief of all U.S. forces in the Pacific.

"If I have to leave the Navy, I hope to serve the government, preferably in foreign service or the State Department," he added. McCain said he came to the conclusion while in prison that one of the most important things in life was to make a contribution to his country.

The flier, who lives in Orange Park, Fla., plans to attend the National War College in Washington in August. Air Force Capt. Guy D. Gruters, a 13-year career pilot and captive five years, has resigned from the military to attend medical school in his home town of Sarasota, Fla.

FAITH IN GOD
The 30-year-old father of two, a Catholic, said his prison life gave him a stronger faith in God, which indirectly influenced his decision to pursue a medical career. Michael Bengel, a civilian who spent five years as a captive, plans to return to Vietnam and resume work in the Montagnard village in which he was captured during the Tet offensive. But first he will attend school in the Philippines to earn a master's degree in community planning.

As for the years of imprisonment benefiting them in the future, Navy Cmdr. Richard A. Stratton, of Palo Alto, Calif., a prisoner six years, said:

"We took a lot of abuse because we were a racial minority over there. We are on the bottom of the pile and they hated Caucasians. Now I can not only just sympathize with minority people, I can empathize with them."

'WAR CRIMES'
"I've also learned not to judge other human beings. The enemy forced me to do things I never thought I'd do," said Stratton, referring to his forced confessions of "war crimes."

"It was a humiliating experience to find out that indeed someone can break your will. But they couldn't take away my mind and heart. They broke my will, yes, but they couldn't steal my inner self."

Most felt their values are now rearranged.

Lt. Cmdr. Glenn Daigle of New Orleans, a POW seven years, put it this way: "I find that very very few people within a lifetime can sit down to such an extent that they can actually break down what they're made of — where you come from, where you are now, where you're headed."

PHIL: (Q) For most of the school year of 1971-72 Becky and I went out together. In March of 1972 we broke up and she started going out with Phil. She went with him till spring of this year. Now she is going with me again.

She talks about Phil just an awful lot of the time. This makes me mad for two reasons. First, I think he is her first choice. And second, I think if he asked her to she would drop me and start going out with him again.

During that time we were broken up I was really hurt and lonely. Do you think she will leave me again? — Jealous in New Jersey.

(A) Becky is going out with YOU. One of the best possible ways to get her to go out with Phil (or someone else) is to low-rate yourself. That is what you are doing, either openly or in secret, when you are with her.

Stop it. When she talks about Phil be calm. Do not snap at her or freeze up or start an argument. When she sees that talking about Phil doesn't get a big reaction out of you she will stop talking about Phil.

go with him. At the party I met Jeffrey. He is one of the nicest boys I have ever known. We went out a couple of times on trial and then became steady. It was very serious. But an old, old friend of his wanted him to go to an end-of-school dance with her and I said OK.

After the dance Jeffrey said he didn't want to be tied down any more. He said he would keep in touch. He hasn't. I haven't received ONE phone call. What can I do to get him to ask me out again besides letting the candle burn? — Out of the Action in Alabama.

(A) You cannot really do ANYTHING sensible except to be friendly to Jeffrey when and if you see him. Do not call him on the telephone. Do not write him. If you see him do not drop any dark hints about desertion or dates or anything else. He told you in so many words he was going to try his wings. He is trying them. You can't stop him.

If he decides to get back in touch with you he will. If I were you, I would not wait for that. I would start making new dates with new boys.

STEADY SIGH: (Q) My older brother is an amateur singer and dancer. In the spring the cast of one of our school musicals had a party and he invited me to

Several Hundred Homesick Cubans

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hundreds of Cuban refugees who came to the United States to escape Communist rule desperately want to return to their homeland.

"I would be willing to sign a paper to go to a Cuban jail if I could return right away," says Ignacio Hernandez, a 38-year-old auto mechanic who rode a freedom flight to Miami two years ago.

Hernandez said his life has lost all meaning without his wife and 7-year-old son, who live in a small town 40 miles outside Havana.

"That boy and my wife are the only reason for living," he said. "Last year, I took a boat out and nearly drowned trying to row my way back."

Freedom flights from Cuba were halted two months ago, stranding in Cuba the families of a number of refugees who have settled in the United States.

Official estimates place the number of homesick Cuban exiles at several hundred. And the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service says some have returned home. Almost one million Cubans live in the United States, the majority of them in southern Florida.

Immigration officials say they don't have statistics on those who have left because it is impossible to know a departing alien's destination.

The exiles have various reasons for wanting to return to Cuba, but family separation, inability to adapt to the U.S. way of life and loneliness have spurred most to action.

A 57-year-old woman said she's given up hope in trying to bring over her daughter and husband.

Mayors, Solons Attack Revenue Sharing Bill

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The first special revenue-sharing bill of President Nixon's second term is in trouble with Congress and the nation's mayors.

Foremost among disagreements over the Better Communities Bill is whether the federal government should tell cities to spend their community development dollars on the poor.

There also is disagreement over how much money the federal government will provide and what will be done until the bill becomes law.

CORNERSTONE Undersecretary Floyd Hyde of the Department of Housing and Urban Development called the measure "a cornerstone of President Nixon's new federalism" during discussions Sunday at the annual meeting of the U.S. Conference of Mayors.

Even though all parties — the administration, Congress and the mayors — agreed on the principle of giving local officials more freedom in spending federal aid, the current debate over details threatens to kill the proposal, Hyde said.

The bill, which would take effect July 1, 1974, proposes to replace seven HUD programs under which municipalities applied to the federal government for specific grants for projects authorized by each program. The programs include urban renewal and model cities.

That system would be replaced by automatic grants of money — a total of $2.5 billion for the first year — for community development. The grants would go to cities of more than 50,000 population, with the amount figured from a formula that considers population, number of needy persons and amount of overcrowding in housing.

VIOLENCE CLAIMS 45 PERSONS, Eleven Drown In Texas

By The Associated Press

Forty-five people died by violence in Texas during the weekend. Eleven drowned as warm weather sent hundreds heading for the beaches and swimming pools. Five of them died in the Galveston area.

Twenty-one were killed on the roads, seven in a single crash near Huntsville.

The Associated Press count also included eight shooting deaths and a soldier killed during maneuvers at Ft. Hood. The count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

All five of the Galveston area drownings occurred in separate incidents. Choppy waters and strong undertow was given most of the blame for the deaths. Eight of the 10 drownings in the state involved persons under 20 years old.

VICTIMS LISTED

Two young boys drowned Sunday night in an accident at an apartment house swimming pool in Dallas' Oak Cliff section. Police identified the victims as Glenn Anthony Whitfield, 13, and Charles Frederick Chappell, 8. The boys drowned after young Chappell fell into the pool and Whitfield plunged into the water to save him.

Chasson Walter, 69, of Galveston drowned near Galveston Saturday when he fell overboard while working on an outboard motor.

A Pearland youth, Mark Stanley, 16, drowned Sunday when he went under near Galveston's South Jetty. The South Jetty also claimed the life of Robert Navarez, 16, of Houston. Rescue units late Sunday night were still looking for the body of Eric Daniels, 14, of Houston, who was reported missing on another Galveston beach.

BODY RECOVERED

The body of Larry Ladu, 18, of Houston washed ashore Sunday about an hour after he slipped from his surf board near a Galveston beach.

Stephen P. Brasher, 19, drowned in Toledo Bend Reservoir in East Texas Sunday. His body was recovered about four hours later.

Craig H. Reed, 17, of Houston drowned Saturday in a lake at Eisenhower State Park. Investigators said the drowning occurred after the youth jumped into the water from a tree.

Also in East Texas, Wayne Preston, 22, of Garland drowned in Lake Texoma Sunday while swimming with two other men.

In other deaths: Tommie Joe Hillie of Linden was killed Sunday in a three-car wreck southwest of Texarkana. Officers said the accident occurred between Linden and Atlanta.

Beverly M. Simon, 16, of Lubbock was shot to death Sunday in a Lubbock night spot. She was hit in the chest in a gun battle at the bar. She was dead on arrival at a local hospital.

Danny Ray Brady, 18, of Houston was found fatally shot in a drainage ditch Sunday. Police said he probably was shot Saturday night after being abducted from a service station where he worked.

Gilbert Rodriguez, 21, of Brownfield was killed Sunday when he lost control of his car, struck a tree and hurled onto the roof of a Brownfield residence.

Joe Alcaraz, 22, of San Antonio was shot to death early Sunday. Officers, who filed no immediate charges, said Alcaraz was shot by a 64-year-old service station attendant who said he feared robbery.

Paul Henry Childs, 25, of Dallas was shot to death early Saturday after an exchange of gunfire with a 51-year-old Dallas man at a cafe, police said.

Another man was shot during the affray and was treated and released from Parkland hospital. A suspect was held under $5,000 bond.

Raymond G. Hamm, 56, of Dallas was shot to death late Friday night while struggling with an elderly man over a pistol, which apparently discharged accidentally. The two men began to scuffle, police said, after the elderly man told the victim to turn off a television set and Hamm refused.

Ask Board For Delay

City officials have filed a request for an extension of time to solve an infiltration problem in the city water system, according to Harry Nagel, city manager.

Nagel, Roy Crim, engineer and Bill Brown, director of the water plant attended a meeting of the Texas Water Quality board in Austin last week.

They have requested an extension until autumn to abate infiltration in the local system. The board had called for the elimination of the infiltration by this month, according to Nagel.

Nagel said he believed that the plan of the Colorado River Municipal Water District to intercept salt waters west of Big Spring and pump them back behind the Natural Dam may alleviate part of the city's problems.

No Inflow Seen For Area Lakes

No runoff from weekend showers had found its way into the Colorado River Municipal Water District lakes today.

O. H. Ivie, general manager of CRMW, said that water was pouring over the detention dam at Colorado City at a depth of one foot, but that he doubted this will reach Lake E. V. Spence. It should be just about enough to fill up the holes in the river, he added. The flow resulted from a flash flood in the Snyder area Friday evening. Heavy rains along US 180 from Snyder to Lamesa produced no runoff on the upper stem of the Colorado.

LITTLE MISS AMERICA — Four-year-old Tiffany Dior Becker of Tazewell, Va., was named Little Miss America Sunday in Cleveland, Ohio. The girls were judged on looks, face, personality and figure. Her father, a jeweler, said her first name comes from a type of diamond setting.

3 Peacekeeping Choppers Fired On In South Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — Three peacekeeping helicopters were fired on Sunday and today. One was hit and two were forced down, but no casualties were reported.

Meanwhile, the Saigon command reported more than 100 violations of the new cease-fire during each of the first two days it has been in effect. But it said that the number of incidents had dropped to 77 during the 24-hour period ending at dawn today.

In the latest chopper incident, a helicopter of the International Commission Control and Supervision came under small arms fire on a resupply mission to Pleiku in the central highlands. The helicopter landed safely at Pleiku.

The commission said both Viet Cong and government forces were interspersed in the area where the chopper came under fire, about 11 miles southeast of Pleiku.

Two peacekeeping helicopters carrying 23 persons were fired on Sunday over Communist-controlled territory near An Loc, 60 miles north of Saigon. One of the aircraft was hit but both landed safely at An Loc with no casualties.

Canadian officials said the Viet Cong had given a written guarantee for the two helicopters to return from An Loc Tuesday to the regional peacekeeping headquarters at Bien Hoa, 15 miles northeast of Saigon.

The number of cease-fire violations being reported by the Saigon command appeared to be about the same as the average number prior to the time when the supposedly strengthened cease-fire went into effect at noon last Friday.

In Cambodia, where there is no cease-fire, delayed reports said that an eighth U.S. aircraft has been lost there since the original Vietnam truce agreement was signed in Paris Jan. 27.

litical solution for south Vietnam can be achieved. It cited 289 Communist violations of the new truce, and said the worst was the assassination of a deputy hamlet chief and eight members of his family in the Mekong Delta.

Parents Slain, Man Charged

MIDLAND — Murder charges were brought Sunday against two Midland men in connection with two separate incidents in which three persons were killed.

Kenneth Howell, about 30 was charged with two counts of murder with malice in the slaying of his parents, Charlie J. (Bill) Howell, 72 and Lucille L. Howell, 63, found dead in their home 4 a.m. Sunday.

Police found the Howell couple severely beaten and with their throats cut in the bedroom of the home. Howell was found in the bathroom of the home and was arrested at the scene.

Howell remains in Midland County Jail in lieu of two $25,000 bonds.

In another incident, Midland police are searching for Lorenzo Leon Dunford, 28, charged in the shooting death of Charles Ray Collins at 2:30 a.m. Sunday.

Collins was shot several times with a pistol and once with a sawed-off shotgun, according to police. He was an all-state halfback for Carver High School in 1961.

Rose Dunford, wife of the sought man, was shot earlier Sunday morning at the Greenwood Country Club and was released from a Midland hospital after being treated for leg wounds.

Grass Fire In Stanton Area

STANTON — Area firemen extinguished a grass fire which burned ranch land one quarter by one mile wide and one-half miles long Sunday afternoon.

Grady Walker of the Jonesboro Volunteer Fire Department said the blaze was located about six miles north of Stanton. Land owned by L. O. Free among others was damaged.

Firemen from Jonesboro, Stanton and Midland fought the fire with the help of a private plane.

Declares Mistrial In Property Suit

STANTON — District Judge R. W. Caton Friday declared a mistrial in the Wiggins-Burns civil case over possession of rural land in Martin County.

Judge Caton said a witness made a remark to the jury while he was holding a conference in chambers. The trial lasted one week.

Ronda Lynn Kuhlman Weds Benny Klein

Miss Ronda Lynn Kuhlman and Benny J. Klein were married Friday evening in the Lenora Baptist Church with the Rev. Robert Lazzari of St. Joseph Baptist Church, Stanton, officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Jack H. Kuhlman, Lenora, and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Klein, Stanton.

After a wedding trip to the Fort Worth-Arlington area, the couple will reside at 1702 N. Main, Midland, where Klein is employed by Teraco, Inc., and Mrs. Klein works for Driggers Supply Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Klein are graduates of Stanton High School. He attended Midland Commercial College, and his bride attended Angelo State University and Odessa College.

The bride chose a wedding gown of white lace over satin with long lace sleeves closed at the cuffs with pearl buttons. The empire bodice was trimmed with seed pearls, and the lace overskirt was gathered to form a train. Her double veil was bordered with lace and sprinkled with applied lace flowers. It fell from a headpiece of white roses on a satin band. Her bouquet was a cascade of feathered white carnations centered with a purple orchid.

Miss Mary Ann Kuhlman of Springer, N.M., cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Denise Klein and Miss Patty Klein, sisters of the bridegroom. They wore identical crowns in individual colors of light blue, green and lavender with matching headresses of ribbon roses and net. The sleeveless empire dresses were of waffle picot with a ruffle on the bodice and at the hemline.

Curtis Doyle of Big Spring was best man, and groomsmen were Steve Klein, brother of the bridegroom, and Curtis Flanagan, both of Stanton.

MRS. BENNY J. KLEIN

(Curley's Studio)

Guests were ushered to their seats by Larry Franklin and Eddie Doyle, the latter of Big Spring. Daniel Glen White, Stanton, was ring bearer, and the flower girl was Kimberly Renee Taylor, Stanton. Tapers were lighted by Tracy Klein of Stanton, sister of the bridegroom. Prior to their departure, the newlyweds were honored with a reception in the church parlor. Mrs. Eddie Odum, Mrs. Richard White and Miss Carolyn Kuhlman, sisters of the bride, served refreshments. The table was covered with a blue cloth overlaid with white lace. The wedding bouquets served as the centerpiece, and crystal appointments were used to serve the punch and wedding cake.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Floyd Martin, Mrs. G. D. Sawyer, Mrs. Jimmy Sawyer and Mrs. Myrl Mitchell, all of Lenora.

The center, located at W. Fourth and Price, welcomes all Big Spring children, not just those in the Westside neighborhood. The center is open for free play daily from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 to 6 p.m.

Adult sewing, knitting and crocheting classes continue on Thursdays from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Teenagers are welcome.

Pre-Nuptial Tea Held Saturday

A gift tea honoring Betty McCann, bride-elect of Terry Newman, was held Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Lonnie Coker, 1018 Birdwell. The couple will marry July 14.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Leonard Coker, Mrs. Sherman Smith, Mrs. Leroy Hollingshead, Mrs. Robert Dean, Mrs. Dwain Leonard, Mrs. Bob Bradbury, Mrs. Billy Smith, Mrs. Marshall Cauley, Mrs. Ernest Boyd, Mrs. Charles Sweeney, Mrs. Gene Turner, Mrs. Orville Bryant, Mrs. John Annen, Mrs. J. O. Hagood and Mrs. Clovie Johnson.

Mrs. Wayne Bartlett presided at the guest register, and out-of-town guests were Mrs. Ken Lockmiller and Kenda Lockmiller, both of Tacoma, Wash.; Mrs. Bill Seals, Waco; Mrs. R. Rubin and Mrs. Lester Morton, both of Midland, Sherry Bradbury and Elken Gossett, both students at Texas Tech.

Miss McCann, attired in a white floor-length, halter dress sprinkled with yellow daisies, was presented a yellow carnation corsage. Similar corsages were presented to her mother, Mrs. T. H. McCann, and her fiancée's mother, Mrs. Charles Henderson, Grand Prairie. A pink carnation corsage was given to the future bride's grandmother, Mrs. J. P. Allen.

The refreshment table was covered with white net and appointed with crystal. The centerpiece was a footed crystal bowl arranged with summer flowers.

Women Leave On Hawaii Trip

FORSAN (SC) — Mrs. Ann Fairchild and her daughter, Mrs. G. L. Stone of Odessa, left on a Sunday flight for an eight-day tour of the Hawaiian Islands.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Watson, Houston, were recent guests of her parents, the J. W. Snellings. Guests of the Henry Parks' are her sister, Mrs. R. E. Davis of Phoenix, Ariz., and her brother, Howard Watkins, Las Vegas, Nev.

The women of Forsan Baptist Church held Bible study last week in the home of Mrs. J. H. Cardwell, with the Rev. Clinkscales playing a tape, "How to Study the Bible." The Dorcas Class met in the Cardwell home Tuesday to hear Mrs. Joe Evans, Big Spring, conduct the lesson. Mrs. L. T. Shoultz gave the devotional. Mrs. T. A. Rankin of Hobbs, N.M., was a guest.

Use Soap To Prevent Grime

Before starting a messy job, rub your fingernails a time or two over a bar of toilet soap. After the job is completed, wash hands thoroughly and use a nail brush on your fingers and there will be no grime under the nails.

FOR YOUR PLEASURE

Art Associations, Theatres Announce Summer Offerings

The annual Fourth of July Art Show will be held in the Scurry County barn at Towle Park, Snyder, and artists from all over West Texas are invited to show. There will be four place ribbons for landscape, still life, portraits and contemporary. (Both copy and original work will be accepted and judged as such.) There will be three traveling trophies for the best in senior amateur and senior professional and junior class. The divisions will be professional-teacher, non-professionals, and students. Limit is four entries each at $2 per adult, $1 junior. Paintings must be brought in Monday afternoon, July 2.

More than 500 have viewed the oil development exhibited at Heritage Museum, and several hundred have stopped to view the historic spudder (cable tool) drilling unit across the street through courtesy of Robinson Drilling of Texas Inc.

Several out-of-state visitors were on hand during the week, among them Lina Anderson, Phoenix, Ariz. and Mrs. Frank A. Gresham, Thousand Oaks Calif. Groups included the Salvation Army Sunbeams under Mrs. Jimmy Moore and Mrs. Jerry Stephens.

Gerri Atwell, curator, visited Mrs. Annie Brennan Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brennan, Big Spring pioneers who built an outstanding home on the ridge just west of what is now Safeway Food store. Mrs. Clark, who lives at Fort Davis, gave an oil painting by H. W. Caylor of her brother, Willie, and loaned several period photographs. Mr. Brennan was an early-day merchant-rancher. Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Payne (his parents were the E. T. Paynes), sent a picture of downtown Big Spring in 1896.

The museum, incidentally, is open on Saturday and Sunday afternoons as well as during the week days.

Friends of the Library are acquiring two and a half dozen outstanding prints to be available on a rental basis. Later this summer the Friends plan a book sale to help finance this and other projects at the Howard County Free Library.

Gradually, the Meister singers are hatching at those last few thousand dollars needed for their Vienna trip — but these are the hard ones. The young singers, who have been working hard to put a polish on their repertoire, put on a program Thursday evening at Webb AFB.

The Pickwick Players of the Midland Community Theatre School will begin the summer season June 28 with "Punch and Judy" real life projections in a merry musical; changes to "Runaway" July 19, and "The Great Cross-Country Race" opening Aug. 9.

Fort Griffin Fandangle is only a week away. The opening run will be Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Party Held At A. Moody Home

Local unit and auxiliary members of the National Letter Carriers Association held a dinner party Friday at the Pizza Inn. Later, the group re-convened at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Moody, 1514 Tucson, where cake and punch were served.

Convenient Cane

Stackable chairs — attractive, comfortable and easy-to-store — now feature chrome frames and cane seats.

and the last nights June 28, 29 and 30 in the natural amphitheatre below hills which are used for Indian and wagon train scenes. People of Albany, Texas produce this colorful pageant set to original music. Tickets are available at the Fandangle office in Albany (or by calling 817-762-2496).

Also opening this week is the new summer season of the Globe of the Great Southwest. Tickets must be obtained in advance for the opening night, Friday when the "Tempest" will be staged. Special guests will be Mrs. Patricia Montrose, a Winston Churchill Traveling Fellowship of the Art of Theatre in Cardiff, Wales; the acting British consul-general, Roy Dean and other Britishers and wives from over Texas. Michael Ward is cast as "Ferdinand" and William Huston as "Caliban."

Singer-songwriter Mac Davis returns to Six Flags for two performances Friday. "I Believe in Music" is one of his songs.

The Texas Tourist Council is reminding all Texans to be friendly at all times, but especially so to out-of-state visitors. You may be able to spot them with those red, white and blue stickers which proclaim "Visitor to Texas. Kindly Extend all Courtesies." Enough said.

The Kalita Humphreys theatre of the Dallas Theatre Center is spotlighting Norma Moore as Mary of Scotland, and Mary Sue Jones as the iron virgin, Elizabeth, in "Mary Stewart" to July 7. The center's Magic Turtle theatre will begin "Tell Me a Story" June 26. Information or tickets may be had at the center, 3635 Turtle Creek Blvd., Dallas 75219.
