Will End Hearing On Money Problems Of Public Schools

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — School superintendents from Houston and Corpus Christi were scheduled to testify today before the House Education Committee on their local money problems.

The committee was concluding two days of hearings calculated to put pressure on Gov. Dolph Briscoe to call a special legislative session on school finance, something he has refused to do.

In Monday's session, one superintendent after another testified that the existing state aid program is inadequate and is set up in a way that makes educational quality to the wealth of a school district.

Briscoe's opposition to any additional state taxes killed efforts during the regular legislative session to completely revise the state aid system.

"The urgency is such, and sufficient information is available, that the time for action is now," said Dr. Ivan Fitzwater, superintendent of the Northeast San Antonio Independent School District.

Fitzwater said that school districts looked to this year's legislative session for additional funds, but got additional costs instead.

He said a new requirement that government employees be covered by workmen's compensation on insurance will cost his district $50,000 a year. State money for salary supplements was cut off, he said, meaning a $60,000 burden on his district in 1974-75.

"What will you do if nothing is done over the next two years?" asked Rep. R. B.

McAlister, D-Lubbock, committee vice-chairman.

Fitzwater said there would be "a significant tax increase" of at least six cents per $100 assessed property valuation, personnel reductions and a freeze on all major maintenance programs.

R. S. Evans, Edinburg superintendent, also foresaw a large local tax increase and a possible reduction in programs if the present Minimum Foundation Program is not expanded.

Goose Creek Supt. Johnny Clark, president of the Texas State Teachers Association, said his district's share of the minimum program is nominally 40 per cent, with the state paying the other 40 per cent.

But in actual practice, he said, Goose Creek pays 74 per cent of its total costs in order to have a quality program.

"Local districts have no potential sources of new revenue, he said. 'They can't go to the income tax as the state can.'"

Dismissals Are Entered

District Attorney Bob Moore has filed motions of dismissal, and District Judge R. W. Caton dismissed indictments against Guadalupe Ramos and Sammy Johnson in separate cases.

Johnson was relieved of the indictment which charged him with burglary and theft of an electric welding equipment, because the defendant had rehabilitated himself, the motion for dismissal states. The grand jury sitting in April, 1972, indicted Johnson.

In Jan., 1972, Ramos pleaded guilty in 118th District Court to burglary and was given a two-to-three year sentence.

Former District Attorney Wayne Burns agreed to request two other burglary indictments be dismissed because of the guilty plea, hence motions for dismissal by the state.

Seventeen Sign Up For Reserve Deputy Classes

Enrolled in an approved school for reserve law enforcement officers are 17, including all of the 10 reserve deputy sheriffs.

Students are attending three hours of classes in the courtroom three nights weekly until they complete the 70-hour course, Sheriff A. N. Standard said.

In cooperation with the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Standards and Education, the sheriff's office is conducting the classes.

Among the instructors are representatives of the Texas Department of Public Safety and Texas Rangers, District Attorney Bob Moore, County Attorney Bill Eysen, City Attorney James Gregg and city personnel.

Classes will be taught on fire arms, first aid, riot control, traffic control, law and courtroom procedures among other topics.

After successfully completing the course, reserve deputy sheriffs will be qualified to wear a badge and pistol, Standard said. Reserve deputy sheriffs work without pay as extra help for paid deputy sheriffs.

The course will be ended in four weeks.

Eight Dead After Crash

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — An eighth death has resulted from a collision near here on Texas 19.

State police reported Monday that Odell Cody Craft Jr., 3, was the latest to die of injuries suffered in the two-car crash Sunday night.

The Texas Department of Public Safety listed the other dead as Henry G. Bowden, 30; Mary Allen Rawls, 41; Rachelle Keys, 4; Adelle McDaniel, 9; Charles Rawls, 4, and Lula Bell McDaniel, 49. Bowden was from Trinity and the others all from Houston.

Three other persons suffered injuries—Delbert Rawls, reported in critical condition at a Houston hospital; Johnny W. Rawls, 46, in fair condition, and Michael Keys, 2, in satisfactory condition.

Officers said Bowden was alone in one of the cars and the others were riding in one driven by Mary Rawls.

May Begin Bringing Home GIs From Europe In Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary designate James R. Schlesinger said Monday the United States may begin bringing home troops from Europe in a year or two.

But he cautioned there can be no cutbacks in American commitments to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization until the Soviet Union agrees to reduce its forces currently on European soil.

Schlesinger testified before the Senate Armed Services Committee which is expected to approve his nomination as Defense chief without delay.

Some 300,000 American troops are stationed in Europe.

There is strong congressional pressure for reducing American forces abroad because of their impact on the U.S. balance of payments problems—many more dollars going into foreign nations than are coming in to this country.

Despite the current spirit of detente indicated by today's meeting between President Nixon and Soviet Communist Boss Leonid I. Brezhnev, Schlesinger said the Russians continue to develop new, more modern long-range missiles which could eventually outgun our own strategic superiority.

Schlesinger, a Harvard-trained economist, appears before the committee as Congress is looking for ways to trim the military budget.

Dean To Swear Nixon Knew Scandal Was Covered Up?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A source close to the Senate Watergate inquiry says "there is absolutely no doubt" that White House Counsel John W. Dean III will testify next week that President Nixon knew the scandal was being covered up.

"He is going to name the President," the source said, basing his statement on what Dean already has told the Watergate committee in closed-door sessions.

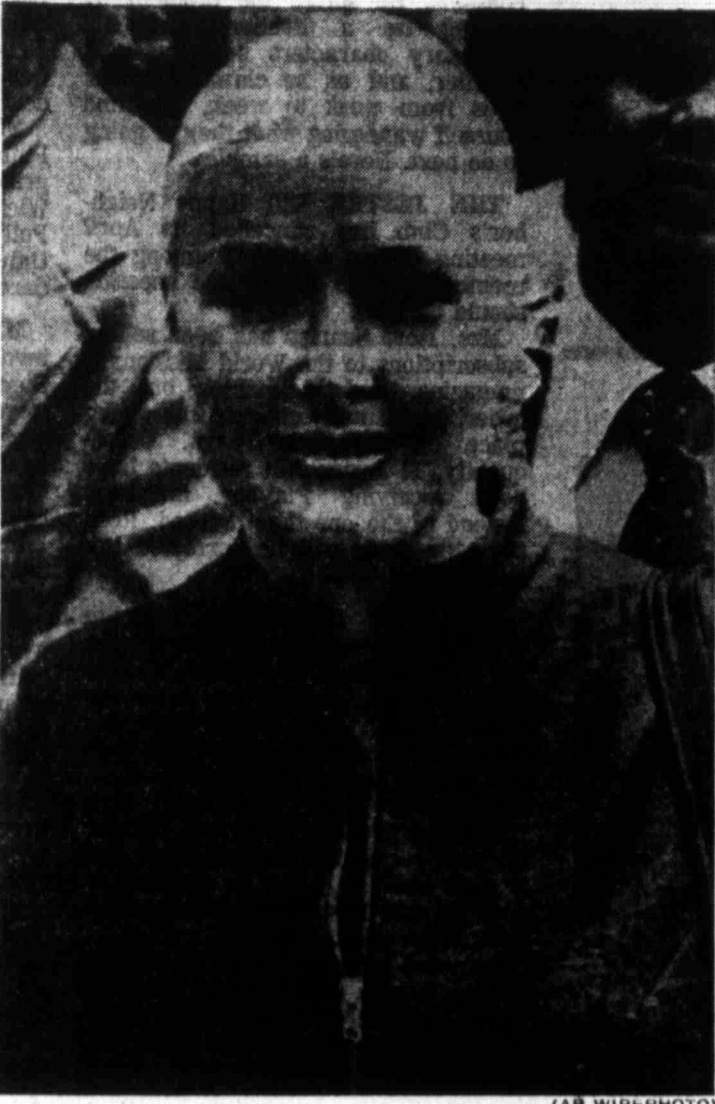

Meanwhile today the Watergate special prosecutors obtained a court order sealing and dating evidence accumulated against Dean.

IMMUNITY
Prosecutor James Neal said the order is needed so that if Dean is indicted it can be proved that the evidence didn't come from Dean's Senate testimony, which will be given under a grant of immunity requested by the committee.

Under the immunity order Dean can't be prosecuted for what he tells the Senate committee, or on any charges that stem from leads that spring from that testimony. By sealing and dating the evidence they already have, prosecutors will be able to prove Dean's upcoming testimony wasn't used to incriminate him.

Dean won't get a chance to air his testimony until next week, however. The Senate committee voted Monday to postpone its televised hearings until after the visit of Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev.

The delay was requested by the Senate leadership, which said the White House didn't contact them about the postponement. However, at least one member of the committee and several staff members are known to be concerned that the White House will use the added time to attack Dean's believability.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

CAUGHT IN THE MIDDLE—Maureen Kane Dean, wife of John W. Dean III, still has to face the scandal of her husband's testimony before the Senate Watergate Committee. "You can bet I'll be there," she says. "But maybe we'll be able to relax a bit when this—what shall I call it—is over."

State Claims Violation Of Texas Clean Air Act

LEFT I.O.U.
The postponement came as columnist Jack Anderson reported that Dean admitted using $4,000 in Nixon campaign funds to finance his honeymoon last year. Anderson indicated his information came from "one of the President's men." He said Dean left an I.O.U.

Also, the original petition Hill is taking an anti-pollution stance in a suit filed in 118th District Court indicates.

A letter accompanying the suit sent District Clerk M. Fern Cox bears this printed claim: "This paper made of 100 per cent recycled waste material". The Attorney General filed suit against G. T. Kendrick, doing business as K and W Packing Co. for alleged violation of the Texas Clean Air Act.

NO EXPLANATION
After Cox met with newsmen, he conferred privately for 15 minutes with U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica and Sirica, without further explanation, scheduled a hearing for today.

Under the state law, a business emitting offensive odor is subject to a penalty of not less than $50 nor more than $1,000 per day if proven.

An injunction may be sought to prevent continued alleged violation, and M. Lynn Taylor, an assistant attorney general, asked for a permanent injunction, the maximum fine and to recover costs in the court action.

Information leading to the suit came from Jim Fraley, an environmental health specialist with the Texas Air Control Board.

OLDER THAN HE: (Q) We have a problem. We feel rejected by our friends and family. They don't understand us and don't want to accept us. I am 19 and my boy friend is 17.

His friends laugh at him and ask him how he's making out with the "older chick." My friends joke about my "mother complex."

Our families don't understand our relationship, which they, by standard social norms, judge to be in reverse.

It is not just ages, I drive, and I call my boy friend sometimes. Sometimes I pay. We both like giving to each other and that means having to accept.

My friends seem to think he should serve me. His friends think I am dumb and that he is using me to his advantage.

We think we have something real going. How can we convince them? — Misunderstood in Pennsylvania.

(A.) What you think and what your boy friend thinks are the important points. If you think you have something real, you should not worry about what others think.

Today's emerging life styles are making it possible for girls and boys to have more freedom to be themselves. If you want to take turns taking each other to dinner, driving, or calling, there is no rule that keeps you — the girl — from occasionally taking the initiative.

The difference in your ages, just as the thoughtless comments, should be mere details to you, if you and he genuinely like what you have. If you are convinced yourselves, don't try to convince anyone else.

Playing Through

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A Sunday afternoon on the golf course meant more work for City Judge Ray Churchill.

The judge and other members of his foursome were so irritated when several motorists drove across a fairway, they jotted down the license numbers.

Five persons later appeared before Judge Churchill, who suspended their licenses and sentenced each to spend two hours in jail.

Fed Courts Lack Power To Halt Railroad Rates Okayed By ICC

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal courts lack the power to halt railroad rates approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Supreme Court ruled Monday.

The ruling represented a blow to environmentalists who had sued successfully in lower courts for an injunction against a 2.5 per cent temporary surcharge approved by the ICC for the nation's railroads last year. The environmentalists had claimed that the surcharge would aggravate a freight rate structure that already discriminated against recyclable goods to the detriment of the environment.

In other actions Monday, the court:

— Upheld legislative reapportionment plans for Texas and Connecticut.

— Ruled that the federal government may maintain mineral rights over federal lands even if a state law is violated.

— Upheld a district court ruling overturning an increase in the rates railroads charge for inspecting grain in transit.

— Ruled, in a case involving the pirating of music from commercial recordings, that states are free to pass their own copyright laws.

Five Washington area law students banded together under the name Students Challenging Regulatory Agency Procedures—SCRAP—to demand through the courts that the ICC file an environmental impact statement because, they alleged, failing to suspend the rate increase proposal constituted a major federal action.

The lower court gave them their injunction but today the high court ruled 6 to 2 the lower court acted beyond its authority.

Construction Quiz Heats Up

HOUSTON (AP) — The owner of Fitts Construction Co. here has denied that money he paid to a subcontractor was meant for a former city inspector as a payoff for approval of a project.

Floyd Skeen said he became aware of the payoff only after he was asked to make out a check directly to the former city inspector as a final payment. Skeen said he refused.

Earlier, Don Collins, who was doing service work on a Fitts project, said he paid the former inspector $1,200 to keep the inspector from shutting down the project.

Collins testified Thursday before a Harris County Grand jury investigating alleged payoffs.

Collins' attorney, Wes Hocker, said his client cashed two $600 checks in December of last year and gave the money to the inspector, who has since resigned his position.

The grand jury has not returned any indictments in the investigation.

8 ways to save money on air conditioning.

- 1 Set thermostat no lower than necessary for comfort—the lower the setting the more electricity the unit uses.
- 2 Replace disposable or clean permanent type filters as required—clogged filters make the unit work harder and use more electricity.
- 3 Provide adequate attic ventilation—helps reduce heat buildup.
- 4 Install proper duct, ceiling and wall insulation and weatherstrip windows and doors—keep hot air out, cool air in. (Helps reduce winter heating costs too!)
- 5 Keep the outdoor unit free of grass or other obstruction that might prevent proper air circulation.
- 6 Keep windows and fireplace dampers closed—prevents excessive loss of cool air and infiltration of hot air.
- 7 Shade windows from direct sunlight with awnings, blinds or draperies—it will reduce the load on the unit.
- 8 Have the unit checked by a qualified air conditioning serviceman. Do this in the spring, prior to your need for cooling.

Mike Landon Cast As Star Of Rodeo

Graduating second from last in a high school class of 301 students might easily earn one the "least-likely-to-succeed" nomination.

In Michael Landon's case, the prediction went awry.

Mike did wind up at the tail end of his graduating class, but an IQ of 151 and an outstanding record as a javelin thrower got him a fling at higher education.

An arm injury later made him give up an athlete's scholarship at college and this loss became "Bonanza's" gain.

"I didn't like to study, anyway," he says now.

MICHAEL LANDON
From Bonanza to center arena

ROD TO FEATURE

Mike — or "Little Joe" of "Bonanza" fame — will be spotlighted each night at the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo starting Wednesday.

Mike was born Eugene Orowitz in Forest Hills, Long Island, New York, the son of show business parents. His mother is Peggy O'Neill of musical comedy fame and his father was known as EMO (Eli M. Orowitz). A sister, Victoria King, rounds out the family.

"Everyone in the family went by another name, so I changed mine, too," Mike explains.

"When I started in show business, I wanted to use the name Mike Lane, but the Actor's Guild said someone had it locked up. They gave me a telephone directory and that's how I became Michael Landon."

Despite his high school debacle, Mike had scholarship offers from 46 universities, all hoping to lure his javelin-throwing ability.

COULDN'T SWIM

He accepted one — to the University of Southern California — but had to spend time in Santa Barbara making up scholastic weaknesses. He taught swimming on the side.

"That was no easy trick," he remembers now, "because I couldn't swim a stroke and was afraid of the water."

Mike bluffed his way through, reading up on swimming by day and spending evenings in the pool practicing what he was trying to preach.

INTO SHOW BIZ

"When I was with the class, I always kept my socks and sneakers on so no one would ask me to demonstrate," he laughs now. "The system worked, though; I not only turned out some good swimmers but actually saved one person from drowning."

Former Governor Leaves Hospital

HOUSTON (AP) — Former Gov. Preston Smith has been released from M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute after undergoing surgery for removal of an ulcer.

Smith, 61, of Lubbock, underwent a three-hour operation June 7 for removal of the ulcer from the lower part of his stomach. Doctors said they found no malignancy.

PARADE ROUTE

The route of the traditional rodeo parade will be the same as in former years.

The parade units will form on Main Street south from Ninth and 10th Street.

The line of march will be north on Main to Second and then south on Scurry to the point of breaking up beyond Tenth Street.

RCA Circuit Creates Big Business

From the inception of the Rodeo Cowboys Association, the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo has functioned as an approved show of the national organization of rodeo professionals.

In fact, the local show predates RCA, for it came into being in 1933, four years before RCA was founded. The Big Spring show was at first for any performers — amateur and professionals. First dealings were with the Turtle, the first attempt to weld the cowboys together in some sort of group to standard events and negotiate with show producers.

Last year the RCA-sanctioned shows were held in 539 places in 42 states. Together, these covered $4,026,742 in purses and winnings. Of course, that was the banner year, but for the past decade the average per year has been approximately $3,700,000.

Cowboy members of RCA follow the rodeo circuit, sometime utilizing airplanes to flit from one show to another compete simultaneously in two rodeos. Or they may finish up a show one night, pile their gear into the car, hook on the horse trailer then drive all night to be entered in another rodeo in another town the next night.

In the process, they put in 119,800,000 miles of highway travel annually. To speed up things, hundreds of top stars shell out $1,405,500 in airplane and airline costs each year.

RCA estimates that together they spend $24 million a year.

A breakdown of this includes such things as $5,776,000 in automobile expense, $3,800,000 for food and lodging, $3,260,000 for insurance (rodeoing is a hazardous occupation), $2 million for clothing, $1 million for lack, $2 million for horses and horse trailers.

Earnings Here Count On Title

"World's Championship Rodeo" is not an idle boast of the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo.

It's a fact. The show here is approved by RCA (Rodeo Cowboys Association), which means that all moneys earned in competition in the Big Spring show counts toward the national championships.

In fact, RCA determines its standings on the basis of each dollar of winnings. At the end of the season, the individual with the most dollar in an event is declared its champion — and the one with the most aggregate winnings in more than one event is the all-around cowboy.

Area's First Sport Back In Arena Here This Week

This area's first sport — the rodeo — will be renewed again for the 40th year Wednesday evening when Charlie Creighton, president of the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo leads the colorful grand entry parade into Cowboy Bowl in Western Big Spring.

There'll be more pageantry and specialties than ever, but the bread and butter of the exciting show will still be the test of man's skill against steers, calves and broncs — and against each other.

On tap are the traditional contests such as calf roping — Big Spring has had its share of artists including Toots Mansfield, seven times world champion and who is on the rodeo directorate — saddle bronc riding, bareback bronc riding, steer wrestling, and wild bull riding.

Exciting Event

Another event adding speed and daring is that of Girls Barrel Racing, in which two Big Spring women are in the top 15 contenders nationwide. They are Terri Himes, who is in the top 10, and her sister, Thaye Lewis, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lewis. Their father is on the rodeo board here.

Interspersed will be a number of specialty acts, including a double-bill of clowns — Tommy Lucia — of Weatherford and Tommy Sheffield of Rankin.

High speed action, balance and riding skill will be at their best in exhibitions of trick riding by Rex Rossi and Wanda Rossi, also Jeanette Plunkett and Dolly Beutler.

Bonanza Star

This year's spotlight will be on Michael Landon, known to multiplied millions more familiarly as Little Joe of the "Bonanza" television series. Backing him will be the lively string ensemble, the Western Union.

While producer Tommy Steiner, Austin, and his stock foreman, John Farris, labor to keep things moving back stage, the voice of veteran all-pro announcer, Tom Hadley, Brady, will keep the show moving in the arena.

One of the most hilarious events of all promises to be the Thursday, Friday and Saturday night competition between representatives of three squadrons at Webb AFB attempting to catch a wild Brahma calf, put a pair of bloomers on it, and then get the bawling critter back across the starting line. The squadrons will be switching teams each night, and the lowest aggregate time will count.

Popular Preliminaries

The association has put a new face on the judges stand, the corrals and other parts of the rodeo plant, and the grounds have been reconditioned for the annual extravaganza.

Two major events — always popular with the public — precede the 40th annual rodeo.

One is the street dance on Main between Third and Fourth starting 8 p.m. today — and everyone's invited.

The other is the traditional parade which winds through the downtown section and up Scurry Street at 4 p.m. with scores and scores of horses and riders — including half a dozen visiting sheriff posses and riding clubs — decorated bands and decorated floats.

Rodeo Sport Has Its Avid Supporter In Tom Hadley

Tom Hadley announced his first rodeo when he was 13 years-old in his birthplace in Indianola, Okla.

Since then he is often gone 300 days a year announcing rodeos in four or six towns a month. He may be on the road a month at a time.

"You can't get rich announcing rodeos unless you have a greater source of income, he said. He raises thoroughbreds and quarter horses on ranches in Brady, Texas, Oklahoma and Oregon.

"It beats chopping cotton because I did a little of that too," Hadley said in regard to rodeo announcing.

Hadley said that when he was growing up, a cowboy was the only hero he knew. All he wanted to do was "make my way rodeoing," he said.

He even met his wife, Virginia, at a rodeo in Georgetown. She did trick riding and roping for 30 years, Hadley said.

Hadley said rodeoing is one of the biggest of sports with the season beginning Jan. 1 and carrying through to next December. Forty states produce rodeos.

"Rodeos help the younger generation," he said, "because these kids in rodeos don't have time to get in trouble."

He said many of the circuit rodeo professionals were not raised on ranches and some have college degrees.

He said the rodeo profession had more friends within its circle than sports like football where it is "dot eat dog."

"We are all competitors," Hadley said, "but we all have to help each other. A contestant may help another get on a bull, then try to outride him." Often four cowboys may share expenses from town to town driving all night, getting on a broncing bull then piling back into the car again.

He said he thinks of his job like that of any other sports announcer who tries to tell it like it is yet keep from favoring any one man.

Swedes Pay $9 For U.S. Melon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department reports U.S. watermelons are being successfully exported to Europe. Under the program, larger in refrigerated containers melons are cut into pieces and then sold in retail stores.

Although the volume is still small, the Foreign Agricultural Service said Monday that the shipments are arriving in good condition for a 20-pound melon.

Sheffield Turns Career Of Piloting To Clowning

A college graduate, FAA commercial pilot and five year veteran of the RCA tour, Tommy Sheffield still brings the enthusiasm of a child playing in the summer sun.

Sheffield teams with Tommy Lucia as clown for the annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and evening. Like Lucia, he has his Rodeo opening here Wednesday own solo comedy routines, one piloting on his zany Tijuana Taxi.

Now coupled with the new Comedy Car act, the Tijuana Taxi, and a bullfighting ability owned by few RCA bullfighters, Sheffield has impressed people throughout the United States, Canada, and Mexico. Having been portrayed in the National Geographic book the American Cowboy "Life and Legend" and featured in the December issue of Western Horseman magazine in 1972, Tommy can't forget those that have made greatness come his way.

Whether performing as a bullfighter, doing his comedy car act, or happily stumbling through the rodeo arena Sheffield is truly an enthusiastic addition to the Rodeo Cowboys Association. Sheffield, 25, is a graduate of Sul Ross University. He makes his home at Rankin, Tex.

Clown Adds Spice, Helps Protect Riders In Rodeo

One of the men charged with adding spice and humor to the Big Spring rodeo — while distracting irate bulls and assuring rider safety — is Tommy Lucia, rodeo clown.

Lucia is a young man just past 30 years of age, who has already spent over 16 years in professional rodeo. Tommy found out what he liked early in life . . . he liked rodeo. When he was 15 years old, he started riding bulls and bareback broncs and for the next five years was a regular contestant in rodeos all across the United States.

In 1961 he was entered in a rodeo when a friend of his, a rodeo clown, was injured. As a favor to the friend, Tommy got into a costume and agreed to try to keep the laughter going

Show Grew From Pasture To One Of Region's Best

From a cow pasture setting to one of the outstanding rodeo plants in the Southwest, this is the 40-year story of the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo.

The 40th annual production begins Wednesday evening with shows following, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, keeping alive one of the longest continuous strings of such shows in the state.

In the autumn of 1934, a group of local ranchers and others threw together an impromptu show that surprisingly drew some 4,000 people although there weren't any facilities — just temporary corrals and rope fences for an arena.

Stimulated by this success, the show was incorporated first for $1,000, but then raised to $10,000 — the amount invested in 11 acres of land and a new plant north of Eleventh place and west of Birdwell Lanes (only then there wasn't any Birdwell Lane — just open country.)

After a little more than a decade and with demands for residential space rocketing after the war, the association acquired a tract in western Big Spring and turned the open end of a canyon into a natural bowl setting. Seating capacity was suddenly boosted up to 6,000 or 7,000 people without a bad seat or post in the house.

Pens are under one end of the stadium for roping calves, and the judges stand, riding chutes and corrals at the other, making it ideal for turning out and catching rodeo stock. The floor is sandy enough to pad the fall of performers, but firm enough for good footing.

Another feature of the layout is an ample amount of space for parking, although the association carved out a couple of acres for the Howard County Fair Buildings.

First officers of the rodeo were Jess Slaughter, president; M. M. Edwards, vice president; J. L. Hudson, secretary; Ira Driver, treasurer and manager; Tom J. Good, Charlie Creighton, Harry Lees, and R. V. Middleton. Mr. Good was soon named president, and Creighton and Edwards serving as two vice presidents. Of the founders, only Creighton survives today, and he has been for many years the president and guiding genius of the rodeo. Two sons of the founders — E. P. Driver and Harry Middleton — are on the board, and one grandson, Skipper Driver.

Alexander Is Leading

DENVER, Colo. — Joe Alexander of Cora, Wyo., won his second straight world championship in bareback riding last year, and set a winnings record in the event along the way, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said.

Alexander won $32,126 in the gruelling arm-jerking event last year, breaking his previous record of $28,669 when he won the title in 1971. Right now he's leading the pack with $12,216 for the third straight year came for the 1973 season — nearly $2,000 ahead of Rusty Riddle, Stampede rodeo, where he finished first in the average for only one of last years leaders a total of $2,757.

The 29-year-old joined pro ranks in 1970, and finished fifth for the title that year. A bareback champion of the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association in 1968, he attended Casper Junior College in his home state, and later the University of Wyoming.

He won money at 61 rodeos last year. His biggest single win

Most bareback riders agree that Alexander has a spurring "lick" virtually unequalled today; he's nearly always in complete control of the bucking, pitching horses clear up to the eight-second whistle.

A native of the Cowboy State, he was born in Jackson Hole, and the Alexander family ranches near Cora on 10,000 acres.

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am nearly 17, and have two kids. They are both by Willie, who is 19. He's in the Army now. We're not married because my mom wouldn't sign for me. When I got pregnant the first time Willie wanted to marry me, but I was only 15, and Mom said I was too young. She said the same thing when I got pregnant the second time.

I work as a waitress, and I live with Mom. She's practically raising my kids. Once in a while I go out with a guy just to get away from the house so my mom made me go on the pill. I guess she doesn't trust me. She stands right there and says she wants to SEE me take it every morning. She says as long as I'm living with her she doesn't want any more kids to raise. This really bugs me.

How can I get my mom to sign for me when Willie comes home in two months?

WILLIE'S GIRL: You can't. Wait until you are of age. Then if you and Willie still want to marry, you won't need anybody's permission.

DEAR ABBY: I have been a lonesome widower for a year. Three months ago I ran into a nice widow I had known in school 40 years ago. We are very much infatuated with each other.

The complications are: She has an ideal home in a large town. My home has fewer conveniences and is in a smaller town.

National ABWA President Addresses Local Chapters

The three local chapters of the American Business Women's Association honored their national president, Miss Ina Hintze, and district vice president, Mrs. Joyce Hilliard, at a banquet here Saturday.

The dinner meeting was held in the NCO Open Mess, Webb Air Force Base with members of Cactus, Scenic and Spring City chapters in attendance. A social hour preceded the dinner.

Mrs. Owen McComb, banquet chairman, served as mistress of ceremonies, and the Pledge of Allegiance was led by Mrs. Linda Jackson of Spring City Chapter. Other chairmen assisting with the arrangements were Mrs. Troy White, Miss Shirley Lee, Mrs. A. A. Wadle, Mrs. Charles Hans, Miss Barbara Phares, Ms. Sadie Wallace and Mrs. Lillie Fryer.

The first speaker was Mrs. Hilliard who is general manager of R.B.M. Leasing Company, Houston. Mrs. Hilliard has distinguished herself in ABWA work with her current Houston chapter, as well as her previous chapter in Shamrock.

"Business women need this organization," said Mrs. Hilliard in describing the benefits of membership in ABWA. "They need it to continue to improve and educate themselves in the business world, and such help comes through helping each other, through our vocational speakers and through information in our ABWA magazine.

In noting other benefits of ABWA, Mrs. Hilliard mentioned insurance and hospitalization which is available and the travel tours which are offered to members at reduced rates.

In conclusion, she said, "One of the best benefits is the friends you make through ABWA."

A highlight of the evening was recognition given to local ABWA members who have received honors from their chapters. Introduced as being "women of the year" were Mrs. White, Scenic Chapter; Mrs. Wadle, Cactus Chapter; and Miss Molina, Spring City Chapter.

MRS. JOYCE HILLIARD

Recognized as being Inner Circle members were Mrs. Carl Aagesen, Mrs. A. C. Moore, Mrs. Fred Butler and Mrs. Lambert Misek.

Miss Hintze, the main speaker, is affiliated with Prairie Schooner Chapter, Grand Prairie, and held various district and national posts before assuming the presidency. Her topic was "Democracy."

"Democracy is governed by the people, either directly or indirectly," she said. "It is the belief and practice of social equality. A modern democracy gives every individual the freedom and liberty to shape his or her own career and the liberty to conduct his or her own business."

In likening ABWA to a democratic system, the speaker said, "Last October, ABWA elected nine national officers to govern us. Officers elected must adhere to state and federal constitutions. The national slate has to uphold national by-laws, and each chapter of ABWA must uphold national and chapter by-laws.

"Democracy is based on the principal of rule by the majority with the right to be heard reserved by the minority. A near perfect system is in our ABWA if the national and local chapters follow the by-laws.

"Teamwork is the foundation of a perfect chapter. If officers, chairmen and members work together as a team instead of placing individual desires and goals ahead of what is best for everyone, then you have teamwork. Each individual has an important asset to add to his or her team.

"The team that works together on a common goal can utilize the strength and talent of each member, thereby indirectly helping the member develop his or her strength and talent.

In conclusion, Miss Hintze urged the chapter members to follow national by-laws and parliamentary procedure in electing officers, then to support the officers to the best of their ability.

"In a democracy we are all equal, and we all get one vote," she said. "Life goes on, regardless of who is in office."

The benediction was by Mrs. Misek.

An estimated 80 persons were in attendance at the banquet. Mrs. Butler and Mrs. Pete Watts presided at the register.
