AS SHOOTING BEGAN — A member of the Peronist civil security guard, foreground, drops to ground and draws his pistol Wednesday as gunfire disrupts giant welcoming ceremony for former Argentine dictator Juan Peron at Argentina's Ezeiza Airport. At least 20 persons were killed and 400 others wounded when the terrorists opened fire moments before the jetliner carrying Peron was to land. The plane was diverted to a nearby military field.

Hope To Find Survivors Of Flaming Plane Crash

PUERTO VALLARTA, Mexico (AP) — Four rescue workers prepared to make a hazardous parachute jump into dense jungle Thursday morning hoping to find survivors of an Aeromexico passenger plane which sputtered flame and crashed near Puerto Vallarta.

The plane, a DC-9 flying from Houston, Tex., crashed into a rugged mountain about 25 miles south of this Pacific Coast resort Wednesday night with 27 persons—including several Americans—aboard.

Witnesses said the plane appeared to explode or burst into flame as it made its final approach to the Puerto Vallarta airport. It then plowed into El Moro mountain between the villages of Chimo and Chocala in an area so rugged that rescue workers could not reach the sight on foot.

The four parachutists, members of a specially trained Red Cross unit from Mexico City, were awaiting a low cloud cover to clear before attempting to jump into the crash scene from a light plane.

Officials directing the rescue operation said at 7:30 a.m. EST they had no definite word on the fate of the 23 passengers and four crew members, but those who had flown over the site at low altitude said they saw no sign of life.

BRIGHT LIGHT
The last word from Fernandez De Lara was confirmation of tower approval to descend from 14,000 feet to 4,000 feet and land on the airport's No. 4 runway.

"We saw a red flash at low altitude over the sea," said Luis R. Rosales, a Puerto Vallarta resident. "It was a bright light in the sky. We didn't hear anything but we saw this bright flash."

The plane was over the Pacific, or over Banderas Bay, when the last contact was made.

The flight controller said the pilot tested his landing lights just before radio contact broke off and that was when he saw a fiery burst in the sky.

An official passenger list released by Aeromexico Thursday morning listed no home towns but it appeared several of the passengers might be Americans. Fourteen of the passengers who boarded in Houston remained aboard after a stop in Monterrey, where nine other passengers got on the plane for the flight on to Puerto Vallarta, Acapulco and Mexico City.

BANGS MOUNTAIN
Pedro Vega, the Puerto Vallarta police commandant, said a school teacher made his way from Chimo to Puerto Vallarta by boat to report on the location of the wreckage. He told Vega he saw the plane crash into El Moro mountain. It was first thought the plane may have fallen into the sea or onto one of the tiny fishing villages.

Victims

Aeromexico listed the following as having boarded the plane in Houston:

1. David Burdett, New Orleans.
2. Estevan Palomares, Chicago, Ill.
- 3-4. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burnham, Palo Alto, Calif.
- 5-6. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Magavero, St. Louis, Mo.

10. Mrs. Mildred P. Hall, Houston.
11. Guillermo Guerra, Mexico City.

Nuclear Arms Bill Signing Slated Today

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) — President Nixon and Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev will sign today an "agreement on principles" regarding limitation on nuclear offensive weapons.

The agreement, to be signed in mid-afternoon in the White House East Room in Washington, will outline basic principles of negotiation for U.S. and Soviet negotiators at the now-recessed Strategic Arms Limitation Talks—SALT—in Geneva.

Ziegler said Nixon and Brezhnev put the finishing touches on their agreement late in the evening Wednesday in their summit talks here.

He said the President and the Communist leader, at the same time, will sign a second agreement between their two countries "on scientific and technical cooperation in the peaceful uses of atomic energy."

The announcement came as Nixon and Brezhnev prepared for their fourth day of direct talks.

They were to get together at 11 a.m. after meeting first privately with top aides.

Nixon and Brezhnev, who came to this presidential retreat 75 miles northwest of Washington Tuesday night, spent most of Wednesday afternoon and evening talking about international issues and the stalled efforts to achieve permanent limitations on their countries' massive nuclear arsenals.

As they began Wednesday's session, Brezhnev told newsmen that his talks with Nixon "without question" would produce "good results."

GLOOMY REPORT Higher Costs For Clothing, Food, Gas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher costs for food, clothing and gasoline pushed consumer prices up sharply again last month, the government reported today. The increase was at a slightly slower rate than in April, however.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported the rise in the cost of living in May at six-tenths of one per cent. This worked out to an annual rate of 7.2 per cent, down from the 8.4 per cent annual rate of increase that was projected in April.

In a separate report, the bureau said the purchasing power of workers declined last month because of price increases.

FOOD INDEX
Food again accounted for a big rise in the cost of living, increasing nine-tenths of 1 per cent in May to a level 14.5 per cent above a year ago. On a seasonally adjusted basis, grocery prices rose 1.1 per cent in May, off from the 1.3 per cent jump the previous month and a record 3 per cent boost in March.

The over-all food index, which includes food purchased in grocery stores and restaurants, jumped 1.1 per cent in May seasonally adjusted. This followed increases of 1.4 per cent in April and 2.4 per cent in March.

However, the bureau said meat prices dropped one-tenth of 1 per cent unadjusted, reflecting in part the effects of the ceiling on meat prices ordered by the administration in March.

Pornography Restricted

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a 5-4 decision reversing a decade-long trend toward permissiveness, the Supreme Court today severely restricted the range of pornography protected by the Constitution.

In an opinion written by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, the court held:

Local community standards rather than national standards may be used in determining whether material is obscene and therefore not protected by the Constitution.

—That juries and courts no longer need to find that material is "utterly" without redeeming social value before they declare it obscene.

Instead, Burger wrote, they may determine whether the work "taken as a whole lacks serious literary, artistic, political, or scientific value."

POW Divorce In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The 17-year marriage of ex-POW Lt. Col. Elmo "Mo" C. Baker has ended in divorce.

Court officials confirmed today that Baker and his wife, Merry, were divorced Monday by District Court Judge Franklin Spears.

Mrs. Baker, 35, asked for the divorce, claiming irreconcilable personality conflicts. Baker will retain custody of the couple's two children through the remainder of the year.

Baker, 41, was released about three months ago by the North Vietnamese who held him captive five and a half years after his plane was shot down.

Mrs. Baker was an unsuccessful candidate for the San Antonio City Council in 1971.

Officers, Hounds Hunt Killer

CHINA SPRINGS, Tex. (AP) — Officers with bloodhounds searched Central Texas today for a man who allegedly broke into a home here, shot and killed Pay Anderson, 30, and wounded her son, and hit her brother over the head with a shotgun.

The woman died from a shotgun blast in the chest, while her son was rushed to a Waco hospital in critical condition. The brother was less seriously injured.

F111 Funds Fight Waged

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional committee has voted to continue production of the controversial F111 swing-wing fighter-bomber, apparently trying to override acting Defense Secretary William P. Clements.

Clements had ordered production of the F111 halted, and Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., charged that through this action Clements was trying to force Congress to approve the new B1 bomber.

The bomber version of the F111 is considered the only alternative to the B1 in replacing the aging B52 bombers now in use.

The amendment proposed by Stratton authorizes $172.7 million for 12 more of the F111s to keep the production line open. The committee approved it by voice vote.

Reportedly Stratton said that with production of both the B52 and F111 shut down, Congress would have no alternative but to approve the B1.

Spills Add Thrills As 40th Rodeo Show Opens

By MARJ CARPENTER
Spills during the grand entry as well as the show thrilled a large crowd at the opening performance of the 40th annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo here Wednesday evening.

Cool summer breezes made it an almost perfect night for watching the action-packed show. They also whooped it up for Michael Landon, television-film star, and the Western Union string ensemble.

NEW EVENT
This evening's card will include the competition between four Webb AFB squadron teams trying to put bloomers on a burly Brahma. Opening presentations kept it off the first-night card, but it will be a feature the rest of the way.

The 278 entries was announced as a new record for the show, and the grand entry parade appeared to shape up in the same category, plus unscheduled excitement.

Sixteen posse and riding groups, plus scores of individual riders, thronged into the arena for the opener and one Stanton girl was thrown from her horse in the excitement. She was back up on her feet before an ambulance could wind through the crowd to get her.

RIDERS COLLIDE
When the posse units returned to be presented their trophies, a horse ridden by a Snyder youth refused to stop and sprinted back out of the arena crashing into a Lamesa equestrian just entering the gate.

Prizes in the junior riding division, presented by Charlie Creighton, rodeo president, went to Lubbock Rangers, Snyder

Downowners and the Scurry County Junior Riding Club in that order.

In the senior division, the Texas Redwings, Lubbock, were first followed by the Lubbock Saddle Club and the San Angelo Saddle Club.

BRIEF MEMORIAL
A few moments of silence was observed in memory of original board members, R. V. Middleton and Jess Slaughter, who had died during the past year.

In the opening event, Rusty Riddle of Mineral Wells, lived up to his reputation and record as one of the top bareback riders this year, and led opening night with a score of 75, riding on Old Rotation.

Larry Mahan, Dallas, fighting to gain honors as the world's top cowboy, placed second with a 70 on Red Pepper. That was all the luck he had in the evening, being thrown off a bull that has never been ridden and drawing a ride in saddle broncs, which he took after the show. He was competing in two more rodeos this week.

WARD PLACES
Third in the bareback riding was James Ward, Odessa, who is sitting sixth in over-all standings for world rodeo cowboys.

The first rider out in the calf roping, Paul Howard, Farewell, led the roping with an 11.7 followed by Tony Carroll, Killeen, 12.9 and Alan Frazier, Trent, 14.8. These times may

Mexican Border Town Calms After Shootout Between Cops

CIUDAD ACUNA, Mex. (AP) — A federal prosecutor from Nuevo Laredo took over the investigation today of a shooting between local police and federal agents Wednesday that left one man dead and a federal agent wounded in the chest.

Ciudad Acuna chief of police Hipolito Garcia said the shooting was the result of a "regrettable mistake" when the federal agents, sent from Nuevo Laredo, tried to arrest a suspect at a nightclub in the red light district, Ciudad Acuna is across from Del Rio, Tex.

MISTAKE?
"Our investigation will determine whether it was a 'mistake' or 'something else,' federal prosecutor Salvador del Toro told The Associated Press from Del Rio where his wounded agent was reported in satisfactory condition. The agent, Miguel Hernandez, 25, was taken to the Val Verde Hospital in Del Rio.

Del Toro said that eight persons were taken to Piedras Negras northwest of Ciudad Acuna, for questioning in connection with the shooting.

The shooting broke out when agents walked into the nightclub 7-11 and tried to arrest Mario Aguilar Perez, 38, a resident of Ciudad Acuna, for questioning in connection with drug traffic.

Witnesses said that Ciudad Acuna municipal police intervened and the shooting followed. Perez Aguilar was shot and killed during the battle which lasted about 30 minutes.

BIG DANCE
Federal agents threw down their weapons and were taken in by municipal police. Later

Army officials intervened to obtain their release and their action sparked reports that the Army was establishing martial law in the city.

"The Army has not taken over control of the city," Garcia said. "The situation here is normal. We have a big dance at the plaza and we are getting ready for our annual fair."

Garcia said the shooting was a "regrettable mistake."

Among those taken in for questioning were three members of the Villa Acuna police department and a girl who reportedly was with Perez Aguilar when agents arrived to arrest him.

Del Toro said his men had moved into Ciudad Acuna in the first step of an expanded campaign to fight contraband and drug traffic on the Texas-Mexico border.

Hoover Told Nixon 'Bug' Used Against Him In '68

WASHINGTON (AP) — The late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover once told President Nixon that electronic surveillance had been used against Nixon in the 1968 presidential campaign, John W. Dean III has quoted the President as saying.

Nixon is said to have replied he would have to use bugging to his own advantage sometime in the future.

The exchange is reported in an official summary of Dean's closed-door testimony before the Senate Watergate committee last Saturday.

The summary gives few details. Sources close to the investigation said Wednesday the conversation was not pursued at the executive session and the fired White House counsel indicated he would explain it further at the committee's televised hearings next week.

The White House has refused to comment on Dean's testimony until after he appears "in public under oath."

The summary gave this account of a meeting between Nixon, Dean and former presidential Chief of Staff H.R. Haldeman last Sept. 15, the day a federal grand jury returned indictments against seven men in the Watergate break-in and bugging case:

"Dean met with the President after the indictments had been handed down. Nixon said Haldeman reported what a good job Dean had done.

"Nixon said that Hoover had told him that Nixon had been bugged in the 1968 campaign, and Nixon said that sometime in the future they would have to use it to their advantage."

ACTION — Some of the world's top cowboys were among those at opening night at the 40th annual Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo. The show will perform three more nights starting at 8:30 p.m. Here Ronny Proctor of Belton loses his hold on a bareback bronc named Sunset.

Governor Claiming He Never Asked Tax Favor

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Gov. Dolph Briscoe says he has never tried to get an unfair tax advantage for the 20,506 acres of land he owns in the under-financed Asherton Independent School District.

He called a news conference Wednesday to reply to a statement by Asherton Supt. Coleman Bailey that Briscoe had rendered his property at $7.11 per acre while ranches were selling for $150 to $200 per acre.

Phil Creclius, the governor's tax attorney, said he had consented to the district's new schedule of valuations which raised assessment of the land from 2 1/2 to 4 times what they have been.

ingless token figure, Creclius said. Renditions are designed simply to get property on the tax rolls, he said, and are made in the knowledge that a higher value will be assessed.

Bailey used Briscoe's property—without naming Briscoe—as an example of under-valuation by the Dimmit County tax assessor-collector before the district decided this year to set up its own tax office. The superintendent spoke to the House Education Committee Tuesday.

The committee hearings were designed to apply pressure on Briscoe to call a special legislative session to revise the system of state aid to public schools.

the Legislative Property Tax Committee is in the process of gathering, which would be the basis to determine the actual ability of a school district to support its schools," he said.

And this information is not expected until just before the 1975 legislative session, the governor added.

INCOMPLETE

He called Bailey's testimony concerning his land "incomplete and inaccurate."

"This land has in the past, is now and will be in the future assessed and taxed as all other land in the district," he said.

"The ad valorem tax matters for Briscoe Ranch, Inc., are handled by a professional ad valorem tax firm, Institutional Tax Service of Houston. I had no knowledge of what they had done with the Asherton Independent School District until I talked with Mr. Phil Creclius yesterday."

Creclius did most of the talking and said he told Mrs. W. E. Casey, Asherton school district's new tax assessor-collector that Briscoe Ranch would not challenge the valuation she had placed on its land for tax purposes: $25 per acre of brush and $40 per acre of pasture.

The district taxes at $1.50 per $100 valuation.

$10 PER ACRE

In the past, he said, the land—along with all other acreage in the district—had been assessed at $10 per acre.

The tax attorney said, his firm had agreed to work with Mrs. Casey in counting cattle for further taxation and in determining how many acres were brush and how many were pasture land.

"Our sole purpose is to see whatever schedule of taxation that is used by any school district is applied equally and uniformly between our client and the other taxpayers in the district. This is all we have ever asked," Creclius said.

Briscoe has said that he favors using the fair market value of taxable property as a measurement of a local district's ability to support its own schools and, conversely, of how much state aid it should receive.

Asked if he saw any conflict of interests between his role in reshaping the school finance system and his position as the owner of giant landholdings, Briscoe said:

"Certainly any taxes would affect me as it would anyone else in this state. I certainly have no special interest in it at all."

Briscoe also was asked if he had used his influence as a powerful landowner to bring about improvements in the 99 per cent Mexican-American district.

POLICY

He replied that he had not opposed the creation of a separate district tax office.

"I represented that district when I was in the legislature some years back and made great improvements at that time that were helpful to the Asherton district. I have made it a policy not to interfere in any way in the recent bond election they had there..." he said.

Why does he collect antiques? "I just enjoy it," he said.

TAX ROLLS

The amount at which the land was rendered—he said it was $8.37, not $7.11—is a mean-

Items From Old West Are On Display By Vaughan

An exhibit of Old West guns and other items is available to be viewed at the home of A. J. Vaughan, 606 Scurry. Rodeo visitors are especially invited.

Vaughan began collecting antiques two years ago and now has quite a display including many items familiar in the early days.

The collection includes 34 pairs of oxcart shoes dated 1849, and a mule saddle from 1878.

Among the rifles in his collection is one like that used by Buffalo Bill, a Pennsylvania rifle, and an 1876 Winchester. He also has one of the silver spurs made in the Arizona territorial prison at Yuma. The prison was known as the "Hell Hole" of the Southwest, and a recent story on the spurs in the Old West magazine says that everything can be imprisoned except imagination.

The handmade spurs are large and heavy and beautifully ornate. He also has in his collection a large spur from the days of the Spanish conquistadores.

PEPPER BOX GUN

The guns in the collection include a Derringer, a front lock Charlenek, and a silver inlay German pistol. He also has an 1845 "pepper box" gun.

An Indian tomahawk and a bull bell made 140 years ago are among western items of interest. A well-worn pair of chaps at one time belonged to Miller Harris, a former Howard County sheriff.

Branding irons, lanterns and other items from the frontier are among the many antiques on display at Vaughan's home.

She was wearing the same dress as shown above.

Narcotics Agents Snare Lawyer, Two Merchants

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — U.S. narcotics agents arrested an El Paso lawyer and two merchants Wednesday on indictments charging conspiracy to violate federal drug laws.

They were among 41 persons indicted by a federal grand jury in Nashville, Tenn., as part of what was described as a drive against drug pushers and suppliers in five states and Canada.

Those taken into custody here are Lee Abdou Chagra, 37, well known as legal counsel in crim-

Want To Be Sure Agents Taxing Tequila For Texans

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—State liquor officials want to make darn sure their agents are taxing Texans' tequila.

For years, Texans have crossed into Mexico by car and on foot to buy booze at cheaper prices, paying only an additional state tax as they returned.

But a recent experience on the border by R. L. Thornton Jr., a Dallas banker and member of the Alcoholic Beverage Commission, apparently disturbed him enough that he has the staff investigating liquor tax collections at all 15 international ports of entry on the Texas-Mexico border.

EL PASO TARGET

This includes heavily traveled El Paso, Juarez and Laredo. Nuevo Laredo, where a recent survey showed 3,200 cars come into Texas from Mexico in eight hours, from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m.

A preliminary report showed $123,422 in taxes were collected at the 15 border crossings in May, including $36,621 at El Paso, $25,291 at Laredo, $19,669 at Brownsville, $14,942 at Hidalgo and $7,226 at Del Rio.

"The location that we are most apt to lose revenue at is the Bridge of Americas in El Paso" because the tax collection booths are so far from the U.S. Customs stations, said Kenneth Pearce, director of ports of entry, in a report to the commission.

He said a state agent with a walkie-talkie has been assigned to the customs booth to relay auto license numbers and descriptions to state tax agents, 75-100 yards away.

One of the problems, it was indicated at the commission meeting Wednesday, was that the federal inspectors were not sending persons with liquor to the tax agents.

JUAREZ PARTY

A person connected with the alcoholic beverage industry said Thornton was upset when his party returned from Juarez, Mexico, and declared that they had liquor in the car, but federal agents waved them on through to keep the traffic moving.

Showing no signs of emotion, Chagra and his co-defendants were represented at the arraignment by Cid Abraham and Chagra's younger brother and law partner Joe.

All were lodged in the county jail pending approval by the Nashville court of the defendant's surety bonds posted by El Paso bondsman Victor Apodaca.

Magistrate Jamie Boyd informed the defendants he had not received the indictments against them and knew only that they were charged with violations of federal narcotics law.

In Nashville, U.S. Atty. Charles Anderson declined to comment on the indictments and arrests of about 20 alleged heroin dealers in that area.

Anderson said the indictments followed a nine-month investigation of marijuana traffic. He said the investigation was not aimed at the typical pot smoker.

"We're interested only in large quantities—250 pounds to a ton," he said.

It is estimated that it takes no more than 40 seconds for federal inspectors and tax collectors to check cars.

In addition to his personal experience, Thornton appeared before a May 22 House resolution which stated that failure to collect the tax costs the state a "significant loss" of revenue and also has bankrupted numerous Texas retail liquor stores.

Thornton asked for a full report next month on what the commission is doing to correct the "apparent laxness."

"What we're doing may be all we can do with the manpower and money we have, but I want to know," said Thornton.

MONEY WOES

Commission administrator O. H. Humphreys said the regional commissioner for the U.S. Department of Treasury, Cleburne

Maier, has instructed one of his aides to visit all Texas-Mexico ports of entry.

"The federal agents have been instructed to route persons (crossing the border with liquor) to the tax collectors, regardless of the traffic," Humphreys said.

"Any money due this agency, taxes or otherwise, we intend to collect," said commission chairman Tom Gordon of Abilene

Victims Of Mail Fraud Recover

More than $6 million was restored to potential victims of mail frauds during a recent nine-month period, Postmaster Frank Hardesty reported today.

Hardesty said he had been advised by Chief Postal Inspector and Assistant Postmaster General William J. Cotter that the Postal Inspection Service enforcement activities resulted in $6,222,640 in restitutions to those victimized by mail frauds. The report covered the first three quarters of the current 1973 Fiscal Year, through March.

"It is worthwhile for those who have good reason to conclude they have been the victim of a scheme to defraud in which the mails were used to report this to the post office," Hardesty said.

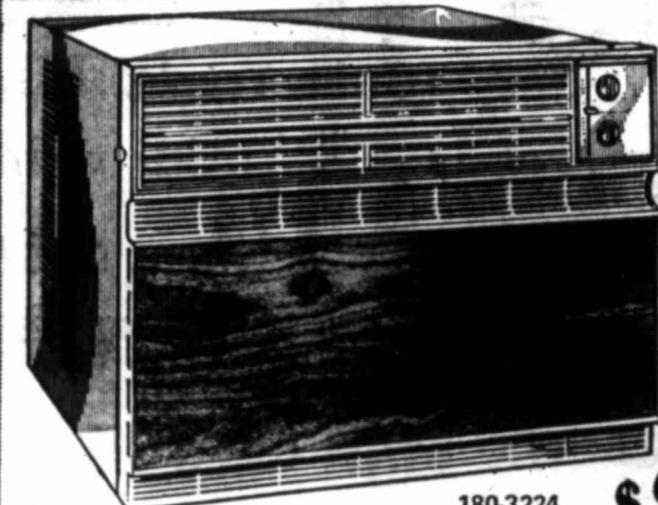

The restitutions resulted from 3,630 promotions that were discontinued largely on Inspection Service action. Restitutions ordered by the courts totaled $2,853,528; "voluntary" restitutions totaled $2,009,706 and an additional $1,359,406 resulted from other recoveries.

'THE LIGHT IN THE SKY' CRAZE

Number Of UFO Fans Increase

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The serious effort to gather accurate information about UFOs (unidentified flying objects) in the Midwest continues. And one leader in the effort says more and more people are becoming serious about UFO sightings.

"It used to be that 30 to 40 per cent of the sightings could be classed as ding-a-ling or screwball," says John F. Schuessler of the St. Louis suburb of O'Fallon, "but today I would put these reports at only about two per cent of the total we receive."

Schuessler is deputy director of a group known as MUFON, for Midwest UFO Network. The group has members in 26 states and attempts to trace reports of UFO sightings in an effort to learn the source of the event. It's a job the Air Force tried for years but abandoned in 1969, saying a further effort could not be justified on grounds of science or national security.

NO HOAX

Schuessler, an engineer and scientist at McDonnell-Douglas Corporation near St. Louis, says of his inquiries, "It's not unlike what a detective would do. We check various explanations for sightings and sometimes we check on the people reporting them to make sure it's not a hoax."

He says the group takes care to guard the privacy of persons who cooperate, saying "We don't throw people's names around if they see a UFO."

Law enforcement agencies, which find they seldom can devote time and resources to following up UFO reports, routinely refer callers to MUFON, which has distributed "UFO Alert Cards" to police stations, broadcast stations and other agencies.

It's a busy hobby. "We've been chasing our tail this spring," Schuessler says. Considerable publicity was generated by multiple reports of sightings around Piedmont in southeast Missouri, but Schuessler says there have been several good reports since then requiring investigation.

On Friday night June 15 he says a group of 14 people ranging in age from four to about 60 saw what he calls "the light in the sky" type of UFO in south St. Louis. He says it may have been a police helicopter and the investigation is continuing.

SEEING SOMETHING IN THE SKY

He said one good report involved a coach driving a car full of ball players returning from a game. They reported that a UFO followed them along the road and they first thought it was an aircraft in trouble. The other "good report" involved a pilot who said he aborted an approach to the airport at Farmington, Mo., because he feared a midair collision with an object.

NEWSLETTER

Schuessler says MUFON's work has found "no good ground evidence" for the UFO's in southeast Missouri and southern Illinois.

He says a physics professor at Southeast Missouri State University in Cape Girardeau has consented to do some field work this summer in an effort to find UFO-related radiation or other data.

He says this kind of effort is indicative of what MUFON finds. He says well-educated people are becoming less skeptical and more willing to address themselves to the fact that a large percentage of sightings are never identified or explained.

The group publishes a monthly newsletter, edited by Mrs. Norma Short, a former newspaperwoman who lives at St. Louis, Mo. He says it circulates to about 500 subscribers.

Call Mr. Sam 'A Great Man'

BONHAM, Tex. (AP) — Friends and relatives of the late House Speaker Sam Rayburn heard him praised as "a great man — a great American."

That salute to North Texas' Mr. Sam came from State Sen. A. M. Aiken of Paris, a boyhood friend who was main speaker for the opening of a $96,500 project to restore the Sam Rayburn home as a historical museum.

There were about 100 persons at the site west of Bonham to hear eulogies of the former congressman, who died in 1961, and to see Mrs. Tom Rayburn, his sister-in-law, cut a ribbon in the dedication of the state-funded undertaking.

The new museum is three miles west of the Sam Rayburn Library in Bonham, which contains the papers of the Texan who served in the U.S. Congress under eight presidents. Funds for the project were appropriated by the Texas legislature in 1971.

Production Of Crude Oil Climbing To Record High

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — World-wide production of crude oil is climbing to a record high estimated at 56 million barrels per day this year, the Oil and Gas Journal said.

Production was estimated at 55.9 million barrels daily, up 1.9 million or 10.2 per cent from 1972.

Non-communist production will climb to an average 46.4 million barrels daily, up 10.8 per cent.

Expansion of Middle East production is chiefly responsible for the increase, the Journal said. That area will add 3.59 million barrels per day to production this year. In the next two years, Middle East capacity should surge 10 to 13 million barrels daily to a total of about 28 million to 31 million.

The Middle East produced an average of 20.8 million barrels daily in the first four months of 1973 compared with 18.1 million barrels daily in 1972. Africa, which peaked at six million barrels daily in 1970, then dropped back to about 5.7 million per day the past two years, is moving back toward six million again this year, the Journal reported.

Asia-Pacific production should jump about 16.4 per cent, or 310,000 barrels daily, due primarily to new and developing offshore fields.

European production will increase from about 374,000 barrels daily to 390,000 barrels due to North Sea production. In a few years, North Sea development may double or triple that figure, the trade magazine said.

The Western Hemisphere, including Canada and the United States, gained 9.9 per cent to just over five million barrels in the first four months of this year. Canada is expected to register an 18.4 per cent gain to over 1.8 million barrels daily.

Production in the United States was estimated at 9.31 million barrels daily, a decline of 1.6 per cent.

Rock Star Father Of Her Daughter?

LONDON (AP) — An apparently unconcerned Mick Jagger flew to Rome "on business" a few hours after American singer Marcia Hunt claimed in court that the Rolling Stones rock star was the father of her two-year-old daughter.

Ignoring a barrage of questions from reporters at London's Heathrow Airport Tuesday, Jagger said only, "What's the title of her latest record?"

Jagger's wife, Bianca, was more direct: "I don't give a damn. People can say what they like. Mick and I are very happy," she said. They then boarded the plane with their 18-month-old daughter, Jade.

Miss Hunt, 26-year-old star of the London production of "Hair," made her claim in London's Marylebone Court. A Rolling Stones spokesman said Jagger is contesting the suit, which was adjourned until July 31.

HE WANTS TO QUIT — John Connally, the Democrat turned Republican, tells a Washington news conference Wednesday he's not unhappy or upset about his White House job but wants to quit as soon as possible.

Isn't Working Out For Connally

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Connally's first mission as a Republican isn't working out the way he had hoped and he apparently is finding it difficult to bow out gracefully.

Consequently, the political future of the most prominent Democrat-turned Republican may be not good.

On May 10, when President Nixon announced that the former chairman of Democrats for Nixon was becoming a part-time White House advisor, Connally appeared to have come up with the ideal situation.

It offered the opportunity to establish himself as a credible Republican by coming to the aid of his adopted party in its hour of need. On the other hand, by not taking a more formal job with a title, he didn't get close enough for the Water-gate taint to rub off on him.

But while denying a string of published reports that the job has turned sour for him, Connally said he hoped his news conference Wednesday would get the message to Nixon "that I hope we get through by the middle of the summer."

"He obviously wants to disassociate himself from the administration," one associate said. "He wants to put as much water between him and the President as possible."

Among the reports that have been leaking out about Connally are that he is at odds with White House Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler, who he reportedly thinks should quit, and has called the White House operation "a screwed-up mess."

Rumblings too frequent, too forceful and too authoritative to be ignored despite public disclaimers say Connally feels frustrated and stifled, ignored and under-utilized.

Connally also is reported to have given Nixon some unwelcome advice about Watergate, which has cooled the once warm relations between the two. Other reports say he seldom gets to see Nixon privately and does not have the punch he did formerly as Secretary of the Treasury, which he held as a Democrat during Nixon's first term.

Painless Dentist?

DUBLIN, Ga. (AP) — Police say 22-year-old Ralph Wadley of Soperton got mad at his dentist and hit him with a pistol after the dentist told him a loose tooth required no treatment.

Dr. A. J. Bowen, a dentist with offices here, said Wadley came to his office complaining of a loose tooth but that an examination showed nothing wrong.

Bowen said he met Wadley later in the parking lot and the patient hit him with his fists and with a pistol.

Wadley has been charged with aggravated assault. He is free on $2,000 bond.

DALLAS (AP)—Dist. Atty. Henry Wade has opened a battle on pornographic movies after an indication that organized crime is seeking to move in on the Dallas porno business.

Wade filed for temporary injunction in Judge Dee Brown Walker's 162nd District Court Wednesday to prevent Topar Theaters of Texas, Inc., from exhibiting, advertising and using facilities to show movies depicting sexual acts.

Only 24 hours earlier, a porno movie house operator, Richard Edgar Hayes, 46, was gunned down on his own doorstep in a gangland style slaying. Police have suggested that organized crime is interested in pornography outlets here.

In his statement, Wade also named as defendants Casa View Arapaho Theaters, Inc., Jerome T. Ragsdale and S. L. Cashlon Investment Co., whom he said were owners of land on which the theaters are located.

Wade contends in his suit that Topar Theaters including the Continental, French Arts and Lido are exhibiting "motion pictures which show humans engaged in sexual acts."

He claims such movies are without redeeming social value and "appeal to a prurient interest... patently offensive because it affronts contemporary standards."

Outside the court, Wade called this first step to eliminate pornographic movies a "test case." "It is a unique approach to the problem," he said. "The law allows us to test only one movie at a time. This type of legal action has never been tried before."

Judge Walker set June 29 for a hearing on the requested injunction.

Sonny Siebert Knocks Twins From Lead Spot

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Texas Rangers owner Bob Short, often criticized for some past trades, sounded like he did more than all the king's horses and all the king's men in an early season deal with Boston for Sonny Siebert.

"Humpty Dumpty," Short described the deal. "He was available and we picked him up. It's only going to cost us a minor leaguer."

Siebert, a 26-year-old right-hander, made the Minnesota Twins feel like they took the big fall Wednesday night as he beat them with a 3-0 six-hitter and knocked them out of first place in the West Division of the American League, half a game back of Chicago.

"He really hasn't had a bad outing for us yet," said Texas Manager Whitey Herzog. "He lost one game 4-3 when we gave up four unearned runs and lost 1-0 to Baltimore last Friday on an unearned run."

Siebert, now 6-4 with the last-place Rangers and with an earned run average of 2.43, was 12-12 with the Red Sox last season.

"BOSTON'S BEST"

"I felt I was Boston's best pitcher the first half of last season," said Siebert, who was 7-3 at this time in 1972. "But I sprained my ankle, and it bothered me the rest of the season."

"I guess you could say Manager Eddie Kasko and I had some problems. I lost with about 10 games left to play in the stretch drive and didn't pitch the rest of the year."

Siebert made the Twins wish he was still in the doghouse with seven strikeouts and only one walk—plus putting an end to second baseman Rod Carew's 18-game hitting streak, driving in two runs with one Vic Harris led the eight-hit second inning and scoring Texas attack against Dick after the other on a single by Woodson (5-4) with two triples, Ken Suarez in the eighth.

I GOT IT! I GOT IT! — When Kansas City's Paul Schaal hit a high pop fly to short right field in the seventh inning, Oakland's first baseman Mike Hegon ran back, then crouched in the foreground as second baseman Ted Kubiak, who got the ball, and right fielder Reggie Jackson ran full speed into Kubiak. Both were shaken and knocked to the ground — but Kubiak held on for the out. Later Jackson retired before the KC Royals won the game in the 12th.

Skidding Pirates Slide Safely Into Basement

By The Associated Press — "At this time of the year, it doesn't matter whether we are in first, last or fifth place," said Pittsburgh Manager Bill Virdon, who was saying, "The only time that matters is the last day of the season."

The Bucs, defending champions in the National League East, took occupancy of the basement by losing 5-3 Wednesday night to the Chicago Cubs while the Philadelphia Phillies were scrambling into fifth place by edging the New York Mets 4-3. The Cubs retained their 4½-game lead over Montreal's surprising Expos and dumped the Pirates 9½ off the

BUT HE TIPPED BAMBINO Babe's Last Mound Victim Blasts Today's Hurlers

SHANNON, Miss. (AP) — The man who gave up Babe Ruth's final two home runs says present-day pitchers should think about only one thing when they face Hank Aaron: if the Atlanta slugger is up against them seeking his 715th home run: knock him down.

"If I was pitching and Aaron came up needing one more home to break Ruth's mark, I'd dust him off," says 70-year-old Guy Bush. "Anything to get him out of the game. He would know I'm not his friend."

Bush commented after several National League pitchers said they would not mind giving up Aaron's 715th home run, the one that would break Ruth's all-time home run record.

Bush had no kind words for those pitchers, nor for baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, who warned the pitchers they could be suspended for "helping" Aaron.

"I've never heard anything like what these pitchers are saying," Bush said. "It's absolutely criminal. If this happens, I'll be ashamed I ever played the game."

Bush says Kuhn was too soft on the pitchers. He says long-time commissioner, Judge Kenesaw Landis, would have dispensed quickly with such utterances.

"If Landis were the commissioner of baseball now," said Bush, who gave up Ruth's final two homers on May 25, 1935 in Pittsburgh, "he'd have this little matter cleared up in about one hour."

Bush was reminded he'd been accused over the years of throwing some fat pitches to Ruth.

He denied it.

Bush did admit, however, instructing his catcher to tell Ruth what was coming. He said he wanted to challenge Ruth with his best fast ball.

"It went right where I said it would," Bush says of the pitch Ruth hit for home run No. 714. "And let me tell you—Babe caught it in the meat of the bat and sent it over two decks in old Forbes Field. It was the longest ball I'd ever seen."

"Ruth," he says, "was just too much for me."

Wottle Runs A Sizzling 3:53.3 Mile At Eugene

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — "I knew I had him after three laps," exulted Dave Wottle, victor over Steve Prefontaine Wednesday night in a sizzling mile clocked at 3:53.3.

Another Olympic gold medal winner, Rod Milburn, equaled his own world record in the 1200 yard high hurdles at 13.0 seconds. No one was within 10 yards at the finish.

Miller Enters Akron Event

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Johnny Miller shook his floppy blond hair and there was a faraway look in his blue eyes. "I'm still someplace else," the soft-spoken, 26-year-old U.S. Open Golf champion said before teeing off today in the first round of the $100,000 American Golf Classic.

Some promoters figure that for the right man—a U.S. Open victory could be as much as a million dollars.

And Miller could be that man. While the bulk of his money should come from personal appearances, from increased exhibition fees and a flock of expensive endorsements, he's already nailed down much more than the $35,000 first prize with shots at the prizes in several other tourneys.

Although he's due for a let-down after the excitement of his Open triumph, he ranks as one of the prime attractions in first prize.

Other leading contenders in the field of 99 include Jack Nicklaus, Tom Weiskopf and Arnold Palmer. Nicklaus is the only four-time winner this season and leads the money-winners with $190,000.

ASTROS VICTIM Of Worm-Turn

SAN DIEGO (AP) — On May 20, Houston was in first place in the National League West. Since then the Astros have lost 16 of 27 games and Manager Leo Durocher sounds as if he is whistling in the dark.

"There are four teams in the race and the best club might not win it," Durocher said Wednesday night after San Diego snapped a 10-game losing streak by beating the Astros 6-2.

"It's the kind of race that is so close that the winner could be the team that puts together any kind of streak in September."

The Padres broke a club record-tying losing string behind righthander Steve Arlin and rookie outfielder Dave Winfield.

"It was fun, real fun to pitch well against a club like Houston," said Arlin, 3-4, after he scattered nine hits to break a personal three-game losing streak and gain his first victory since May 23.

It was the veteran's first complete game since Oct. 1 last season and he had the support of an 11-hit attack led by Winfield.

Playing in only his second pro game, the 21-year-old bonus baby fresh off the University of Minnesota-campus hit a single and sacrifice fly to drive in his first two runs in the majors.

"I was rooting so hard my head felt like it would split open," said San Diego Manager Don Zimmer, tortured by 13 losses in 14 previous games.

WILKINS OUT

Oregon's Mac Wilkins never got a chance to go after Randy Matson's collegiate record in the discus. Wilkins, who won the AAU title Saturday with a throw of 211-11, pulled a groin muscle while hurdling in practice Tuesday.

World record holder Jay Silvester won the discus with a throw of 202-9. Olympian Tim Volmer, formerly of Oregon State, took second at 202-3.

Jon Anderson of the Oregon Track Club and Mike Keogh of Manhattan were dead even with 300 yards to go in the three-mile. Then Keogh spurred away and won in 13:27.6, with Rick Riley pouring it on down the stretch to take second. Riley, formerly of Washington State, was clocked in 13:29.6.

Anderson, the Boston Marathon winner, was third in 13:32. Benny Brown of UCLA won the 400 with 45.7.

Texas Slumps In Golf Tournament

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Ben Crenshaw notwithstanding, host Oklahoma State, Florida and Houston made it evident Wednesday that Texas will not have an easy time winning an unprecedented third straight NCAA golf championship.

Florida led the pack after the first round of the 76th annual tournament with a five-under-par team total of 275. The Gators were paced by Gary Koch's three-under-par 67 and Andy Benja's 68.

Oklahoma State was one stroke back, with Danny Edwards and Henry DeLozier matching Koch's low round. The Cowboys would love to win the tournament as a retirement present for Labron Harris Sr., OSU coach the past 26 years.

Houston, which stood third with an even par 280, also has added incentive. The Cougars were runners-up to Texas in the last two national tournaments.

TEXAS HAS 69 Texas, with Crenshaw shooting a 69 along with 11 others, was fourth at 284 followed by Georgia Southern and New Mexico at 285, and Southern Cal at 286.

Koch and Edwards were among several golfers given a chance to stop Crenshaw in his bid for an unprecedented third national title.

No one was about to count Crenshaw or Texas out of the title picture.

Said Koch, "Ben's biggest asset is that he will go out and not play that well but get a good score. That's the difference in the top players."

OTHER LEADERS Bunched behind Koch, Edwards and DeLozier at 68 were Ben, Georgia Southern's Jimmy Ellis and Houston's Bill Rogers. Eleven others were at 69 besides Crenshaw.

The strong southwest Oklahoma winds didn't prevail Wednesday, accounting for an unusual number of sub-par rounds on the tricky, 6,534-yard, par 70 Stillwater Golf and Country Club course.

BURRIS PACES STARS TO UPSET OF JETS Mark Burris slammed a homer and a triple, and Brad Martin hit a double and two singles to pace the Stars to a 6-4 upset of the Jets in an American Little League game Wednesday evening.

Oscar Garcia chipped in with two hits.

The Stars pulled it off with a four-run rally in the bottom of the fourth, then blanked the Jets in the last frame with steady hurting of Darrell Martin. Brent Peares was charged with the loss.

Billy Bartosh had a great night at the plate with three hits for the Jets, and Rodney Floyd two.

The victory bare the Stars a 9-8 record, while the Jets were held to 7-6.

PSYCHOLOGY? West Population Worries Coaches

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Auburn Coach Ralph "Shug" Jordan feels the balance of collegiate football power—just like track, baseball and basketball—is shifting to the teeming populations of the West Coast.

"For a number of years the PAC Eight was down, but they've rebounded in a strong way... I wouldn't be surprised if the balance of power is shifting to that place," said Jordan, who is the East coach in Saturday night's 13th annual Coaches All-America football game here.

Jordan said, "I know we have substantial football in the Deep South. It's good in the Big 10, the Big 8 and the Southwest Conference, but all those people on the West Coast kinds of worriers you."

John McKay, coach of the national champion Southern California Trojans, is the mentor for the West squad for Saturday night's nationally televised 7:30 p.m. CDT, kickoff in Jones Stadium.

McKay has brought five of his players with him for this game.

Jordan, it might be noted, is a master at psychology. His club upset Colorado in the 1972 Gator Bowl to culminate a 10-1 Cinderella season which also included a victory over arch rival Alabama.

"In a game like this, it doesn't hurt to try to fire your team up," Jordan grinned. "They already know how to block and tackle."

The East stunned the favored West 42-20 last year to draw the series even at six games apiece.

SPORTS BRIEFS

TENNIS LONDON — Chris Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., downed Sharon Walsh of San Rafael, Calif., 7-5, 6-1 to move into fourth round play in the London Grass Courts Championship, while Iie Nastase of Romania gained the quarter-finals by defeating South Africa's Ray Moore 6-0, 6-2.

HOCKEY BUFFALO — Floyd Smith, who guided the Cincinnati Swords to the American Hockey League's Calder Cup championship last season, signed a new multi-year contract with the club as coach and general manager.

GENERAL VALLEJO, Calif. — Jack Robinson, 46, a jockey for almost thirty years, was killed in a spill during a quarter-horse race at Solano County Fair.

Will Recognize Baseball Champs A community salute to the state Class AAAA baseball champions, the Midland High School Bulldogs, will be held during the Midland Cubs-San Antonio baseball game this evening.

Recognition of the players, coaches, managers, and batgirls will be held during the fifth inning of the game.

Players and the honors they have achieved include: Randy Blansett, all-district and all-state; Allan Buonera; Jeff Caldwell; Greg Campbell; Steve Chastain, all-state; Terry Copeland; William Goode; Mike Hurt, all-district; Louis Perez, all-district, all-state and All-State; Danny Rey; Robert Shaeffer, most valuable player in District 5-4A, all-state second team; Steve Widner, all-district; and Clarence Zachery, Gary Hinds is head coach.

Red-Faced Precedent

Who was that designated hitter? THAT was no designated hitter—THAT was Cy Acosta.

The Chicago White Sox player Wednesday became the first pitcher to hit for himself in the American League's Year of the Designated Hitter.

"I didn't realize he was the first one when I sent him up," said Chicago Manager Chuck Tanner after the White Sox 8-3 victory over the California Angels.

Acosta's historic appearance was hardly worth it—he struck out.

In the other American League games, the Cleveland Indians beat the Detroit Tigers 7-8; the New York Yankees trimmed the Baltimore Orioles 2-1; the Boston Red Sox turned back the Milwaukee Brewers 3-2 and the Texas Rangers blanked the Minnesota Twins 3-0.

Wade Advances In Mobile Meet

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Top-seeded Tom Edleson of Los Angeles faced Joe Wade of Pan American College today in the bama Adult Tennis Championships.

Edleson downed Harold Molin of New York 6-0, 5-7, 7-5 Wednesday in the second round of the tournament, which ends Saturday.

Second-seeded Bill Higgins of Carefree, Ariz., defeated John Williams of West Virginia 4-6, 6-2, 6-3, Hernet Belus PraJoux of Peru today.

Humphrey Hose, the third-seeded player from Corpus Ward of Tuscaloosa 6-2, 7-5, earning the right to meet Mark Shires of Cardiff, Calif., in the other quarter-final match.

Midland Upends San Antonio

The Arkansas Travelers and the Alexandria Ages split a doubleheader Wednesday night while Memphis and Shreveport were fighting to 2-2 standoff in a suspended game, and the Travelers are still on top in the Texas League's East Division.

West division leader El Paso fell again, this time to Amarillo, 7-5, but so did second-place San Antonio, to Midland, 5-1.

$400 MILLION SPENT BY CANDIDATES IN 1972 ACTION

Campaign Spending Could Be $1-Billion Business By 1984

WASHINGTON (AP) — By 1984, political campaigning could be a $1-billion election-year business if spending continues to escalate as it has in the past decade.

Congress is trying to legislate a lid. Watergate, and the campaign inflation that confronts all politicians, is likely to bring action. One Senate committee has approved, and another is considering, a bill that would set a ceiling of 25 cents per eligible voter on spending by each candidate in future campaigns for federal office.

Critics say that still would be too much money, but at this point there is no ceiling on what candidates can spend. TOO MUCH MONEY Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., who has proposed more stringent limits coupled with partial public financing of campaigns, ventured the $1 billion estimate of total campaign spending by candidates for all offices in the 1984 elections.

It is a projection based on a 212 per cent increase in over-all campaign outlays between the 1960 and 1972 elections.

The spending pressure is indeed upwards. No less an authority than the man in charge of collecting money for President Nixon's 1972 campaign has testified that the campaign budget soared to the point of overkill.

It ran to over $50 billion, about twice what the Democratic effort is reported to have cost.

SOARING BUDGET "My job was to raise an unbelievable amount of money," Maurice H. Stans told the Senate Watergate committee. As Stans told it, he complained repeatedly about the raised the issue with President Nixon in September 1972.

runaway political spending took effect on April 7, 1972, but obviously it didn't work. That law set ceilings on some categories of expenditures, notably television and radio, but not on over-all spending. It also imposed new requirements for disclosure of political contributions.

An estimated $400 million was spent by all candidates in the 1972 campaign.

AWAITING ACTION A bill awaiting action in the Senate would attempt to cut spending indirectly, by seeking to reduce the duration of campaigns. That measure would set presidential and congressional elections ahead a month, to the first Tuesday in October, with national nominating conventions to be held in August.

So far, a law designed to make tax money available for presidential campaigns has been a flop. That is the arrangement under which a taxpayer can designate a dollar of his return for presidential campaign financing.

'Alligator' Is Accused Of Castration Assault

HOUSTON (AP) — A prisoner at the county jail has been indicted, after another prisoner revealed he was nearly castrated after he refused to perform homosexual acts, county officials say.

The incident, which occurred last Friday, was not revealed until the wounded prisoner, James Franklin Goodrum, 19, talked to reporters Wednesday from his bed at Ben Taub General Hospital.

The prisoner's father, Dude Goodrum, charged that young prisoners were being tossed to the "alligators" in the jail and that county officials were attempting to cover up the assault on his son. The charge by the elder Goodrum was denied by Hal Husbands, director of confinement and detention for the county.

RAPE CASES The elder Goodrum charged the county was "trying to hush" the incident and also said young prisoners aren't safe in jail "where the young ones are chunked in for the alligators to eat up."

Goodrum, held in jail since June 6 for allegedly being absent without leave from the Marine Corps, told newsmen he was beaten last Wednesday when he refused to perform homosexual acts.

Husbands denied he was attempting to cover up the assault on his son. The charge by the elder Goodrum was denied by Hal Husbands, director of confinement and detention for the county.

On Friday, several prisoners grabbed him and told him they would castrate him if he refused. Goodrum said while one prisoner held him another took a piece of a tin can and partially sawed through his scrotum.

The prisoner holding him let go when he saw Goodrum's blood, the young man said. He said he then spent about three hours in the cell before he could get medical attention.

Goodrum said he first told officers he cut himself when he fell in the shower. He lied, Goodrum said, because other prisoners had threatened to kill him and his family if he told the truth.

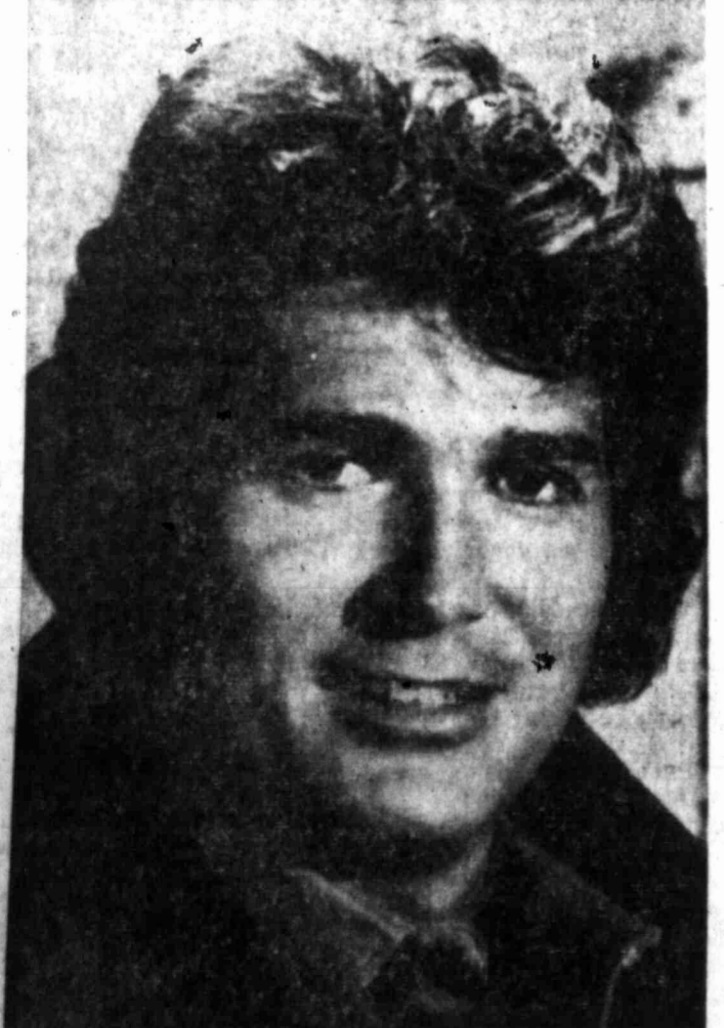

Raff said Larry Joe Aguilar, 26, of El Paso was charged with possession of narcotic substances to deliver and sell, and his bond was set at $73,000.

On Friday, several prisoners grabbed him and told him they would castrate him if he refused. Goodrum said while one prisoner held him another took a piece of a tin can and partially sawed through his scrotum.

Raff estimated the street value of the marijuana at $688,000. He said the sheriff's office received a call Saturday morning about a man who was walking around a cafe at Palestine, west of here, with a pistol in his back pocket.

The prisoner holding him let go when he saw Goodrum's blood, the young man said. He said he then spent about three hours in the cell before he could get medical attention.

Raff said a deputy apprehended the man and obtained a search warrant for the truck, where the marijuana was found.

Domed City Plans Told

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — A group of Indiana businessmen disclosed plans for an air-conditioned domed city dedicated to clean environment, personal relationships and abolition of war.

The city would be built inside a giant 20-story high vinyl dome at a cost of $250 million, they said.

Joseph Szalay, a South Bend, Ind., clothing designer and president of the development group, said, "The city is designed to be a high density experimental community, a laboratory for the latest advancements in science, technology, the humanities and the arts."

Szalay said the self-contained city, complete with exhibit areas, hotels, restaurants, offices, residential apartments, stores, a medical center and education facilities, would cover 100 acres near Walt Disney World.

He said it would be called World Peace Exposition. Szalay chose the site "to take advantage of Disney World and its attractions which draw large numbers of visitors."

The elder Goodrum said doctors had told him it was too early to say if his son has been permanently damaged.

UNIQUE GIFTS—Mrs. William Orenbaun displays a few of the ceramic items she has in various stages of completion. Since obtaining her own kiln, she is able to make more items, but she says most of them are given away to friends and family.

Her Cooking Reflects Mexican Upbringing

By BARBARA LORD
A lot of women have scores of American recipes in their heads which they can make from memory, but when it comes to foreign foods, they reach for the cookbook. For Mrs. William Orenbaun, it's the other way around. She prepares Mexican dishes from memory, and reaches for the cookbook for American standbys.

Mrs. (Joy) Orenbaun grew up in Mexico, where her parents served as missionaries. They lived "way down in the country," about 180 miles south of Mexico City.
Today, Mrs. Orenbaun puts what she learned about Mexican cuisine to good use in preparing meals for her family. Orenbaun is local station manager for Texas International Airlines, where he "does everything but fly the airplane." The couple has two children, Bill, 4 1/2, and Kris, 11 months.

The Orenbauns have gotten used to a schedule that includes a late supper. He usually arrives home by 8:30 p.m., and Mrs. Orenbaun has dinner ready. Although Mexican and American foods are their favorites, Mrs. Orenbaun occasionally throws in something different for variety.

"I've tried my hand at Japanese food," said Mrs. Orenbaun, "and it was pretty good. Also, my family likes casseroles pretty well as long as I don't run them into the ground by serving them too often."

One of the family's favorites also includes dove with wild rice. Orenbaun is a hunter and easily provides the dove. This year he also bagged a deer, and Mrs. Orenbaun said she has gotten where she likes venison better than beef.

"Whenever you're cooking anything wild, it takes some time before you learn to get the wild taste out of it," she said. "But once you learn, it's really good."

Although Mrs. Orenbaun likes to cook, first on her list of favorite activities is ceramics. She started taking lessons about two years ago, and now has her own kiln for baking the pieces she makes.

"Ceramics is one of those arts where you never learn everything there is to know," said Mrs. Orenbaun. "I learn something new every week at my lessons. You can make some nice items, and I've made a lot of gifts. I really do think people appreciate gifts much more if they are bought."

During pleasant weather, the Orenbauns like to be outdoors. They eat outside quite often, and on weekends they take off for camping trips in their Volkswagen camper-van. They have a boat, and the whole family likes to fish and swim.

Mrs. Orenbaun also keeps busy in church activities at First Baptist Church, where she is a member of Baptist Young Women. Also, she serves as first vice president for the Jaycee-Ettes. She is originally from Arkansas, and her mother now lives in Big Spring. She is Mrs. Ruth VerLee, 710 Birdwell.

Orenbaun attended the University of Arkansas but is from Big Spring. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Orenbaun, Cheyenne Drive, and has worked for TIA for about seven years.

Let Hors D'Oeuvres Do Double Duty As Supper

One of the most pleasant ways for a hostess to entertain a large gathering is the cocktail route, with an assortment of original, interesting appetizers and canapes. When the party is really great, guests tend to linger longer and the hors d'oeuvre do double duty as a light buffet supper!

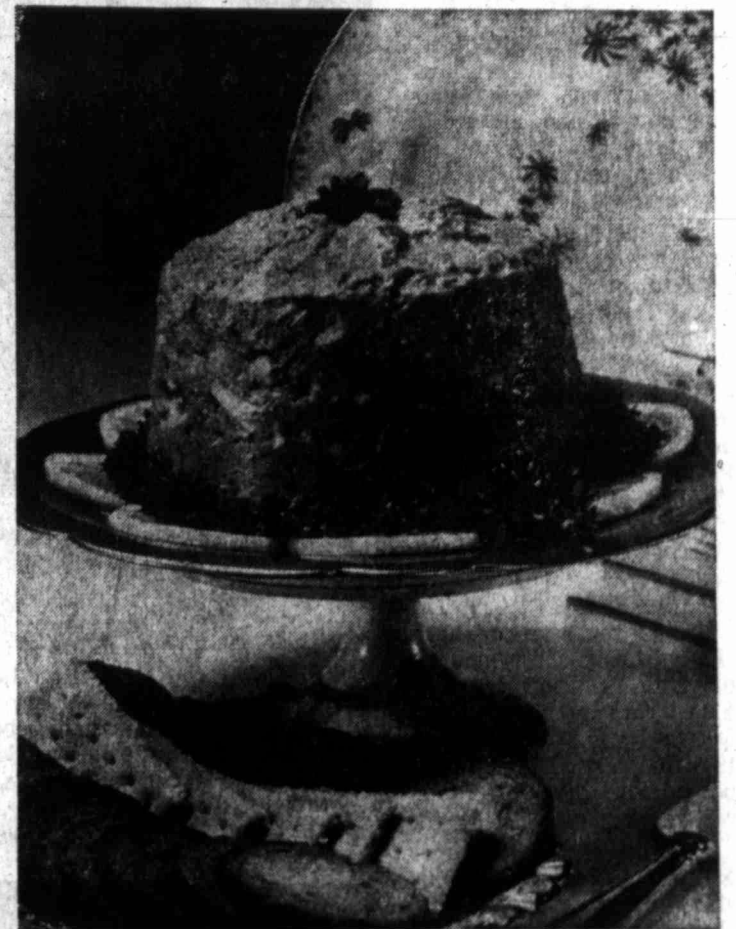

Unflavored gelatin is a welcome guest in the kitchen long before the festivities begin. Way ahead of time, it helps shape the tastiest, handsomest molds that chill until just minutes before the doorbell rings announcing the first guests.

Because it is both flavorless and colorless, it permits all the tangy flavors of capers, mustard, garlic and thyme to blend harmoniously with hard-cooked eggs and ripe olives.

Served on a pretty pedestal dish, garnished with lemon slices and parsley, it makes a delicious spread with simple crackers and Melba toast. If there is any of this egg-olive appetizer left over the next day, you might serve it on lettuce leaves as a tempting side dish salad.

EGG-OLIVE APPETIZER
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1 can (5 1/2 ozs.) pitted ripe olives, drained
1/4 cup drained capers
1 clove garlic
1 bay leaf
1/2 tsp. dried leaf thyme
1/4 cup mayonnaise
1 tsp. Dijon mustard
1/2 tsp. lemon juice
1/2 cup parsley leaves
1/2 tsp. pepper
1/2 tsp. brandy
2 tsp. salt
2 hard-cooked eggs, divided

Remove from heat; cool slightly. In container of electric blender combine drained olives, capers, garlic, bay leaf, thyme, mayonnaise, mustard, lemon juice, parsley, pepper, brandy, salt and 1 hard-cooked egg. Add dissolved gelatin. Cover and process at medium speed until pureed. Turn into bowl. Finely chop remaining 2 hard-cooked eggs; fold in. Turn into 3-cup mold and chill several hours. Unmold, garnish with lemon slices, parsley, and chopped olives, and serve with crackers and Melba toast. Yield 3 cups.

Technique Tips For Good Gelling Results

As good cooks already know, unflavored gelatin is a most reliable product. It has a predictable nature but you should be familiar with its character. Here are some tips for anticipating its behavior in the saucepan:

Rather than using a very small saucepan to dissolve gelatin, use a medium pan, about 2-quart size. This provides more liquid surface area, permitting the gelatin to dissolve faster with better heat distribution.

Sprinkle gelatin over cold liquid, sprinkling evenly over the surface area. Avoid pouring the envelope of gelatin in one heap.

Gelatin absorbs water almost immediately, and dissolves in 2 or 3 minutes over low heat. It does not absorb milk as readily because of the serum solids in milk, so sprinkle and let stand a few minutes to soften while measuring other ingredients.

Make sure all the granules are dissolved before removing from the heat. In other words, when the gelatin granules have disappeared they are ready to do their gelling work.

It is important to stir constantly, not vigorously, when the gelatin is dissolving. A rubber spatula is best for this. If you stir too briskly, some of the gelatin will be lost on the sides of the pan and the gel content of the dish may be scanty.

Calorie Count In Gelatin

Unflavored gelatin goes into a variety of delicious low-calorie dishes. Each envelope of unflavored gelatin contains only 28 calories.

WAF ANNIVERSARY SPEAKER

Dr. Louise Luchsinger Sees Changes In Women's Roles

"Today is for women," said Dr. Louise Luchsinger. "We have more opportunities available to us than any of the other minorities. As women today, we have to be very concerned about our image, and all of us are going to have to do something to dispel the bad image of women."

Dr. Luchsinger, business professor and marketing department chairman at Texas Tech, Lubbock, spoke at a luncheon Tuesday at the Webb Air Force Base Officers Open Mess, commemorating the 25th and last anniversary of the Women in the Air Force (WAF). Her topic was "What Women Have to Look Forward to in Business and Society."

LABOR FORCE
Women make up one-third of the labor force and a majority of its reserve, according to Dr. Luchsinger. She said by 1975, it is estimated that 40 per cent of the work force will be women.

"The increase in the number of working women has also brought an increase in alcoholism, drug abuse and abortion among women," she said.

Dr. Luchsinger discussed the reasons women work, noting that of 107 business women contacted, 69 per cent worked for economic reasons; 24 per cent for self expression and attainment; and 7 per cent from a desire to change from home to career work.

Personnel managers interviewed named the major differences between men and women in the work force as temperament, absenteeism, training requirements and physical facilities requirements. The managers said family responsibilities and lack of career goals on the part of women make women less suitable for many jobs, but that they do better in jobs of clerical or repetitive work. About 85 per cent of those interviewed felt the rate of absenteeism for women workers is higher, but Dr. Luchsinger said statistics prove this thinking wrong. Also, she said supervisors and members of technically oriented firms think women require more training and more physical facilities. Personnel managers and supervisors think recruitment of male employees is more difficult than of female employees, and that turnover rate for females is higher.

"What we have is a false image of women," said Dr. Luchsinger. "You must create a new image. Women must put forth the effort to become all that they have in them to become, or they will forfeit their own humanity."

"MYTHS"
Dr. Luchsinger emphasized the importance of disproving the myths associating with employment of women in high positions. She said it is up to women to prove they are capable of more than clerical or repetitive type work. As of 1970, about one-fourth of all employed women were confined to five fields: secretary, stenographer, household worker, bookkeeper, elementary teacher or waitress. The increase in high level and professional positions has not been as great as the increase in the work force.

In the latter part of the 1970's, Dr. Luchsinger said there will be many changes in working opportunities for women. Teaching jobs will become more scarce because a vast majority of women attending college are preparing themselves to teach, thus decreasing the source of employment. The proportion of women in the work force will continue to rise, and married women will account for a major portion of the increase. She said substantial problems will arise in child care arrangements. There will continue to be subtle elements of job and salary discrimination.

Dr. Luchsinger said, in the future, there will be more willingness and initiative on the part of women to invade new ideas and occupations.

"In 1970 I really couldn't be too optimistic about the future for women," said Dr. Luchsinger. "However, between 1970 and 1973 we have seen the women's liberation movement gaining additional momentum. Eliminating discrimination against women as employees is one major thrust of our social reform group.

"Let's stop talking about the problems of being a woman, and let's start talking about what we can do as individuals. If you are going to talk about equality and 'leaders of men, you better start thinking about being leaders instead of about how you have been wronged in the past."

The speaker said women have capabilities to be leaders, and that there will always be opportunities open to anyone who has the initiative to find them. She defined leadership as "independent judgment in the handling of problems and people."

"The individual who conceives and develops ideas is the best leader," said Dr. Luchsinger. "In second place, but still good, is the person who can accept and adapt good suggestions and put them into operation. Behind these, and practically useless as leadership material, are those who cannot think of new and improved ways of doing things and cannot accept, understand or apply suggestions from others."

The more personal qualities a person applies to her work, the better leader she will be, but Dr. Luchsinger stressed that all of these qualities are useless without some amount of ambition. She said ambition is a dynamic thing; a driving force that makes a person want to be, not just appear, the best.

"Decision making is a commitment of yourself," said Dr. Luchsinger. "You cannot always go by the plotted course. Realities may contradict charts and statistics. A leader must also cultivate the capacity to change her mind. When your people produce new evidence of a convincing nature, repudiate your yesterday's."

TIME TO THINK
Dr. Luchsinger said a good leader will always take time to think and must learn to think positively. It shouldn't be a time when there is nothing else to do, but rather a time specifically set aside for thinking.

Capt. Regina McGuiness, senior WAF at Webb AFB, introduced the speaker after providing a brief history of the origin of the WAF. She said President Harry Truman signed a bill June 12, 1948 which gave the WAF legal status. This was nine months after the Air Force and Army had become separate forces. She read part of a letter from Col. Billie M. Bobbitt, director of the WAF, who said that since women are such an integral part of the Air Force, it is time to stop celebrating a separate anniversary.

Col. Stanley M. Umstead, Webb wing commander, said "I hold admiration and respect for the job the WAF have always done and will continue to do. I am certain the women will live up to the challenges before them."

Two guests recognized were Miss Susan Falkner and Miss Phyllis Smiley, both Air Force selectees who plan to enter basic training in September. Several WAF currently stationed at Webb AFB were on hand to assist at the luncheon. Guests included officers of local women's organizations, civic leaders and Webb personnel. Invocation and benediction were by Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Kenneth Summy.

In The Swim

Dear Abby,
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I are installing a swimming pool, and already everyone we know is asking if they can come over and use it when it's finished. We are not rich. We both work and are paying for this pool with our hard-earned money.

If we wanted to swim with a bunch of people, we'd go to a public pool. We are putting in our own because we want our privacy.

How do we tell these people that we aren't looking for company after our pool is completed? Or worse yet, what do we say to the neighbors when they come knocking at our door in their swimsuits?

HIS AND HERS
DEAR H AND H: People with pools must have rules, but there's no point in alienating everyone before your pool is finished. Wait until it's ready for use, and alienate them one by one.

DEAR ABBY: Women are getting so nery now with the Women's Lib thing, they are asking men to dance.

I had a harrowing experience the other night when my wife and I were at a public dance hall. She left me to go to the powder room, and you wouldn't believe the number of klutzes who moved in on me, asking me to dance with them. I am 68, bald and no bargain, but that didn't seem to make any difference.

Next time I'll go to the powder room with my wife. Phooey on equal rights!

BALDY
DEAR BALDY: Don't "phooey" so fast. Why shouldn't women be able to ask men to dance? Some men would be delighted. And those who aren't can always say no.

Perpetuating Good

The board of the Dora Roberts Foundation has made another distribution of earnings by announcing grants to several agencies, among them locally the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, the Big Spring Boys Club, the YMCA, the West Side Youth Center, the Heritage Museum, and the Salvation Army.

This adds to nearly $100,000. Over the years the foundation has distributed something like $3 1/2 million to various institutions and agencies, and a major share of that has gone to support local enterprises.

In all probability we would have no rehabilitation center rather than one of the finest in the region; we would have a YMCA with far less utility than our versatile facilities; Howard County Junior College would be far less the institution than it is (remember the pivotal student center and the Horace Garrett Applied Sciences building are among the gifts to the college).

And on and on the list can be expanded. The good influence of the good woman who established this foundation goes on and on. It is a splendid example of how others, who have gained wealth from their efforts in this area, can perpetuate their own influences for years and years to come.

These things do not supplant what political subdivisions can do; on the contrary they complement them, and in many more instances, they simply have represented challenges to the community to exert just a little more effort. The result of all this is that we now have many plus qualities to bless the people of this community because the foundation has put its shoulder to the wheel again — and again.

We give a prayer of thanks for the memory of Mrs. Roberts, and voice our thanks to the board for its patient consideration of our needs.

Dusting An Old Proposal

President Nixon dusted off an old proposal — as old as the Republic, in fact — when he recommended the creation of a bipartisan election reform commission to look into four-year terms for House members and a single, six-year term for the president. With the Watergate scandal still in full bloom, Congress is most likely to give this proposal a decent, quiet burial.

With an effort, it is possible to sympathize with U.S. representatives who have to go through the pain and uncertainty of an election every two years. It does seem to be an imposition. They could spend four full years attending to the people's business if it weren't for the two-year term.

The founding fathers weighed these considerations, but were not persuaded that they were important as making the representative close-to, and responsive to, the people. The Federalist explained that representatives were held to two-year terms so they will "have an immediate dependence on, and intimate sympathy with, the people."

The framers of the Constitution considered the six-year term for president, too. The Federalist disposed of the argument in these words: "Nothing appears more plausible at first sight, nor more ill-founded upon close inspection." One four-year term is too short to complete a presidential program. So is one six-year term.

Untrustworthy

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

Noticed a quiz in a Sunday supplement that mentioned the type of people whom people trust and distrust.

AMONG THE MOST trusted were clergymen, doctors, psychiatrists, psychologists, lawyers and others.

Among all of us who were among the untrusted were reporters, insurance salesmen, businessmen, bankers (of all things), law enforcement officers, finance companies, and used car salesmen.

Well, so be it. In the list, television people and radio people fared no better than the newspaper reporters. We all went down together in a crumbling heap.

I NOTICE they didn't include photographers, so possibly people still believe what they can see but not the comments that go with them.

I decided the entire quiz was stupid, naturally when they listed us poor reporters as untrustworthy. But then I have also known many trustworthy bankers, law enforcement officers, finance companies, businessmen, insurance salesmen, and I know at least one honest used car salesman that sold me the only used car I ever bought.

ON THE OTHER hand, I've known some clergymen, doctors, psychiatrists and lawyers that might have deserved the gimlet eye as much as the rest of us.

The article went on to say that a trustworthy person could be told by whether or not he left his car unlocked. That might also show whether or not a person was an idiot first class, if he had anything of value in the vehicle.

THE ONLY THING I agreed with in the entire article was that the general public has become less trustworthy of everybody. And why not? The general public has also apparently become less honest.

Thankfully, there are still some honest people. Every day some small deed will happen to restore your faith in the honesty of humans. And that same day 10 deeds will probably happen to tear it down.

NOT ONE of my kids ever told me that they chopped down the cherry tree. If something was broken around the house, they all three would maintain firmly that they knew nothing about it. Absolutely nothing.

If they could get away with nobody being punished, they would hang firmly together, but if somebody was going to catch it, the real culprit would stand up and confess.

We all know that when we trust our offspring, we have better results and they become more trustworthy.

BUT BY the same token, who is going to go out nowadays and mutter like an inane Pollyanna, "I trust everybody." And then leave packages and purses lying around in an unlocked car.

Let's face it. Our times have become desperate. And with desperation comes dishonesty.

I heard a grown man say once that he didn't go to church because he didn't trust the deacon and figured he would steal the offering out of the collection plate. I would hate to become that suspicious.

But most of the reporters I have known are fairly trustworthy. They usually are concerned with accuracy and dedicated to locating truth. This might be why many of the general public doesn't exactly trust them. How sneaky can you get — digging around and coming up with things like truth?

60-Day Decision

By Rowland Evans
And Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — In picking his new anti-inflation program last week, President Nixon rejected advice from political activists to take the inflation issue across the country in a daring series of stump speeches which would highlight his personal concern and dramatize his personal involvement.

INSTEAD, MR. Nixon chose an across-the-board price freeze. He hoped the drama of the freeze announcement by himself would restore the credibility of his leadership, now staggering under Watergate.

But the concept of a price freeze in a swollen economy had been brutally and repeatedly opposed by his economic advisers, both the academicians like Secretary of the Treasury George Shultz and the politicians like part-time White House adviser John B. Connally. When the freeze came last week, it was immediately attacked by business, labor and most economists. As for the politicians, they saw it as strictly a delaying action, a postponement of the really tough and meaningful decision to come later in the still unknown Phase IV.

That was not what Connally and other political activists advising Mr. Nixon had in mind.

IN A WHITE House session the end of May, Connally made a cool but highly persuasive case that the President should immediately embark on a national speaking tour, spelling out a workable, mandatory, wage-and-price control system in major cities (specifically named were Pittsburgh, Los Angeles, Detroit and Chicago).

Connally's pitch: inflation was one issue the President could use to bring all Americans into his tent. Handled wisely, such a nationwide stumping tour explaining the new, mandatory program might take voter minds off Watergate and create a new following for the embattled President.

WHEN CONNALLY put the case to retired Gen. Alexander Haig, White House staff chief, Leonard Garment, the President's counsel, Shultz and Stein, he was quickly put down. Haig reminded Connally that Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev would soon be in Washington. Garment kissed off the idea as "cockamamie place" — slang for balderdash.

Still another reminded Connally that the President might be booted if he showed up for a large public gathering. Connally demurred, saying that if handled correctly even boozing could be turned into a presidential asset, but to no avail.

Alas, Poor Rip

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — I was walking down Pennsylvania Avenue the other day when I ran into an old man. His hair was white and his beard was gray and he was muttering to himself.

"What's the trouble, sir?" I asked. "I NEVER thought I'd see the day when the hammer and sickle would be flying from the Executive Office Building next to the White House."

"Don't get upset," I said. "It's just to honor Leonid Brezhnev's visit to the United States. He's the general secretary of the Communist Party in the Soviet Union and he's visiting the President. Don't you read the newspapers?"

"I'VE BEEN asleep for 20 years," the old man said. "Richard Nixon warned us this would happen." "You don't understand, old man. Nixon is the President and he's the one who is entertaining Leonid Brezhnev." "It couldn't be the same Nixon," the old man said adamantly.

"THE NIXON I knew sent Alger Hiss to jail for playing footsie with the Communists. In every political campaign he warned of the Red menace. He fought the Communists while everyone was being duped by them. Nixon would never entertain one in his home."

"Times have changed, sir."

"THE NAME'S Rip," the old man said.

"Well, since you've been asleep, a lot of things have happened. The President has even visited the People's Republic of China."

"Oh? How's Chiang Kai-shek?" "Not that China, Rip. The other one — mainland Communist China."

"The President of the United States went to Communist China?"

"YES, AND then he went to Moscow. And he's sworn friendship to the Socialist People's Republic of the Soviet Union on Russian television."

"Didn't Sen. Joe McCarthy try to stop him?" cried Rip. "McCarthy is dead."

"No wonder Nixon could get away with it," Rip said. "Listen, Rip, I think I'd better clue you in on a few things."

There is no such thing as a 'Red menace' any more. The President of the United States has made his peace with the two major Communist powers in the world. Communism is no longer a threat to the security of the Free World except in Indochina.

A Devotion For Today

"Why then did you not put my money into the bank, and at my coming I should have collected it with interest?" (Luke 19:23)
PRAYER: Father, give us the courage to keep striving to make our lives useful, to make our talents, whatever You have given us, bear fruit for the kingdom. For Jesus' sake. Amen.
(From the 'Upper Room')

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

This letter comes from a very desperate person. My husband and I have been married for 32 years, have reared five children, a happy home. However, our marriage got started wrong. You see, I had been with a man before I married my husband. Later, I confessed the truth, and then my troubles started. Now, my guilt is killing me. Furthermore, my husband says he's in love with a girl at work. What can I do?

T.D.
Many people today are being taught that free sex is all right, as long as the relationship is loving and meaningful. Your case, however, points up the fact that it is difficult for our old-fashioned consciences to keep up with new-fashioned morality. It's just inevitable that any transgression of God's law leaves a mark upon us. In your case, you have carried this guilt for these years, and are still paying the "wages of sin."

But now, there is a way out. Jesus said to the adulteress, "Neither do I condemn you; go your way and sin no more" John 8:11. What He wrote on the ground is anyone's guess, but I have an idea that Christ wrote something like this: "This poor woman is guilty as charged; but I will pay the penalty for her sins upon the cross." That is the reason that He dismissed her with words of hope and forgiveness. Each of us, and I mean each, has sinned seriously against God, perhaps in different ways, but nonetheless we are guilty. Thank God the Bible promises: "We have redemption through His blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of His grace." Ephesians 1:7.

I suggest you let faith in Christ rid yourself of this destructive guilt, and then give you the ability to be a loving, patient wife. It's only in that role that you stand a chance of beating the competition and temptation that every couple face today.

... EITHER THAT OR LIVE COVERAGE OF THE ANTI-SOVIET PROTESTS. YOU PLAYIN'?

Authority On Erotic Humor

Hal Boyle

BY JOHN VINOCUR (Substituting for Hal Boyle)
N I C E, France (AP) — There's something distinctly unfunny about a man who has fled away over 60,000 dirty jokes.

Gershon Legman admits it himself: for someone who doesn't mind being called the world's greatest authority on erotic humor, he's not a very ha-ha guy.
Legman has an archivist's heart that makes his telling of a filthy story turn into something like an ornithologist's sighting report.

"I heard this one first in central Tennessee" . . . he'll say, and then fill in an historical-psychological analysis of the story before absent-mindedly tossing away the punchline.

He began research in 1938 for the first volume of a book, "The Rationale of the Dirty Joke."

Until he stopped to spend more time on folk songs and limericks, Legman, of Scranton, Pa., went around talking to people about anything long enough until he could lay his standard question on them: "What is the dirtiest joke you've ever heard?" The answer was normally fed into the Legman filing system with scholarly rigor.

Legman, though an American, has lived in the south of France for about 23 years with much of time going into his great compilation, which has been published in about 10 languages.

What he has perceived is that American dirty stories often have racial or homosexual themes. The Germans and Dutch are scatological, he says, and the basic French motifs deal with adultery and impotence. Whatever the subject, he says, British jokes are essentially aggressive and full of one-upmanship.

Legman's theory on why people tell dirty jokes is that they are an outlet for hostility and anxiety.
"The teller is often forcing his jokes on his audience, and passing his fears on to them. When you laugh, he's reassured. Tell me your favorite story and I'll tell you something about your sex life."

Many Things May Help

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Five years ago I had a radical mastectomy (breast removal). I have had regular checkups and have been in good health since. Six months ago my arm started to swell up for no reason and my surgeon suggested a lymphedema sleeve.

Is there no alternative? Could medication dry up the fluid in my arm?

I would like another opinion on this problem, but am having difficulty getting results. I have called other surgeons, but as soon as I tell them my story they refuse to advise me since I had my surgery with another doctor. I cannot understand this.

Is this professional ethics that one doctor will not advise another patient if he requests another opinion? The arm swells me but this attitude is even more disconcerting.

Would you give your opinion as you are far removed from the scene? — Mrs. J.F.K.

Yes, I'm far removed, but can sympathize with your problem, which is not unusual (although not inevitable) after an operation like yours. Sometimes it develops in a few months, sometimes not until a long time after the surgery, as in your case.

The trouble stems from a disturbance in lymph drainage, as a rule either from interference with the lymph ducts or scar formation.

Frankly, there is no medication to get rid of the swelling. There is treatment, however, and it is usually of conservative nature — exercises, positioning of the arm, a long elastic sleeve, sometimes other physical therapy of similar purpose.

Details of the treatment program can vary with the amount of swelling and degree of progress. There may be variations in the pattern or frequency of exercises, but the basic idea is pretty standard, and I think you are wasting time to try to find some different method or instant cure.

Free Concerts In America

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Park Service and American Landmark Festivals are giving nine weeks of free concerts, two a week, at two historic sites here.

The sites are Theodore Roosevelt's birthplace, where he lived for the first 15 years of his life, and Federal Hall, a site once occupied by the Capitol of the United States, where George Washington was inaugurated as President.

Historical exhibits at the sites will be open to visitors before the concerts and during intermissions. Music will include songs by the early American composer, Francis Hopkinson, whom Washington knew and liked.

Chilean Notes

William F. Buckley Jr.

Mr. Tad Szulc, foreign correspondent for the New York Times for 20 years, reported recently at a Temple University seminar, that coverage of Latin American affairs in the United States press is "bad." He is correct. One fears, however, that the conference Mr. Szulc addressed, at which 400 educators from 40 Pennsylvania colleges participated, suggests that if coverage were done by American specialists on Latin American affairs, the coverage would not greatly improve. As witness conclusions about Chile, paraphrased by Prof. Jerry Knudsen of Temple University's Department of Journalism.

FERNANDO ALEGRIA, described as "one of Chile's most distinguished writers," informed the congress that "reporters who have said there is chaos in Chile are referring only to the chaos they have in their own minds."

—Mr. Alegria is — how to put it? — not quite one of Chile's most distinguished writers. But he is, as Prof. Knudsen did not trouble to relate, the Chilean Cultural Attache to the U.S. in Oakland, Calif. Cultural attaches are appointed by the government. Alegria can be expected to serve the line of President Allende as slavishly as Ron Ziegler serves the line of President Nixon. Or whether the situation is chaotic: on May 5, Allende declared Santiago an emergency zone.

THE CONFERENCE reported that "in 1971 industrial production increased 12 per cent — the best record in 30 years — and copper mining production increased six per cent, although the rate of this increase declined a year later."

—It is true that copper production increased by 12 per cent. But "good" coverage of Latin American affairs should have brought out a few qualifying figures. At the end of 1970, shortly after Allende's election, two new mines were completed: La Exotica and La Andina. 1970's output was 716,000 tons. The two new mines were expected to bring 1971 production to 1,200,000 tons. Instead the figure was 741,000.

THE CONFERENCE heard that "food consumption went up 27 per cent in 1972, despite political sabotage from the rightist opposition which has withheld production and encouraged hoarding."

—In 1970, Chile imported 185 million dollars of food — $50 million of so-called tropical foods (coffee, sugar, cacao, bananas, none of which grow in Chile), and $135 million of general foods (wheat, corn, butter, meat, all of which are produced in Chile).

IN 1972 THE imports increased to $420 million. Allende's excuse is that food prices have risen all over the world, and that food consumption in Chile has increased because the poor are eating more. But analysis shows that the disparity between the importation of the tropical foods which are necessarily imported (up to 20 per cent) and general foods, (up over 100 per cent) which are imported only because they are not grown internally, suggests that Allende is covering up for great agricultural crises that almost everywhere result from nationalization and thoughtless land redistribution. Meanwhile there are shortages, there is rationing, and in 12 months ending in 1972 there was inflation of 173 per cent — the highest in the world of any country not at war.

THE CONFERENCE heard that "The Allende government has been the most liberal in civil liberties of any government in Chile's history."

Too Young?

Jean Adams
TEEN FORUM

IN AUGUST: (Q.) My boy friend and I are both 19. We have been engaged for two months. My parents say we are too young to marry.

We have all talked it over — his parents, my parents and us. We have also talked to a marriage counselor. We are going to get married anyway, on Aug. 17.

We don't want to upset my parents, so what can we do?

I've had a year of college but plan to quit. My fiancé will go ahead and finish college. — Engaged in Virginia.

(A.) You say you are going to be married on Aug. 17. That makes your question, "... what can we do?" beside the point. If you do precisely what your parents do not want you to do you can hardly avoid upsetting them.

I agree with them that you should wait. I also remind you that giving up your college education will be unfair to you.

However, if marriage is the only way you can live your lives, I believe all your parents, even if they are upset, should support the marriage and try to help you make it work.

CHANGE: (Q.) I have been going steady with a boy for about a month now. At first everything was smooth. He talked to me a lot. Now he doesn't talk to me any more. He just stands and watches me from a distance.

He has told everyone we broke up. When I ask him what is the matter he says there isn't anything the matter. But he does not talk to me or ask me for any dates.

Do you think I should call it quits? — Trying in Texas.
(A.) Your boy friend has already called it quits, so you are not holding onto anything. Admit it to yourself. It is not necessary to say anything to him about it. Just stop expecting anything from him.

Howard Hughes To 'Get An Extension'

LONDON (AP) — Britain isn't about to show the door to Howard Hughes and his billions.

Hughes, who entered the country last Dec. 27, needs a new permit to stay in Britain past June 27. He hasn't applied out a British official said Monday. "There's no doubt he'll get an extension."

Few Londoners have seen Hughes during his stay. The 68-year-old tycoon and his entourage are known to occupy a penthouse suite in the Inn of the Park, overlooking the backyard of Buckingham Palace. But the hotel staff declines to acknowledge Hughes is a guest.

Investigation Of Airlines

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A federal antitrust grand jury continued deliberations Wednesday in its investigation of Braniff Airways and Texas International Airlines, a federal spokesman said.

The grand jury has been hearing testimony in the case since the latter part of last year. It has taken no official action.

In court orders which were entitled "Grand Jury Investigation of Braniff Airways, Inc., and Texas International Airlines, Inc.," two former Texas International officials were granted immunity from prosecution earlier this year.

The grand jury apparently is looking into competition in Texas markets among Braniff, Texas International and the relatively newer Southwest Airlines.

A spokesman could not say whether the grand jury will be in session Thursday, although the panel's original schedule called for meetings through Friday.

Italy not only won the World Bridge Olympiad held in Miami Beach last June, but captured the Women's Team event as well. A strong performance by South Africa, whose contingent, incidentally, was coached by my good friend and longtime teammate — Peter Leventritt of New York City, enabled them to emerge with runnerup honors. The United States finished third.

In today's hand, taken from the match between Italy and the American Ladies' Team, the latter muffed an opportunity to gain a substantial swing. The bidding is presented at the table where the United States held the North-South cards. West opened the bidding with one club and East responded with one diamond. Inasmuch as South held substantial values and both major suits, she chose to make a takeout double in preference to overcalling in spades.

North chose to respond with one heart on a three-card suit, in preference to bidding one no trump, which usually designates about 8 or 9 points. When South showed her spades next, North rebid one no trump. As North had shown some signs of life, South took the slightly aggressive course of jumping directly to four hearts. For obvious reasons, North corrected to four spades, which became the final contract.

West opened the ace of diamonds and shuffled at trick two to a low club. North played the eight, East the queen and South won the trick with the ace. Declarer cashed the ace of spades and, when the jack appeared from West, continued with the king on which her left hand opponent discarded a diamond.

A low heart was led to dummy's king so that declarer could sluff her losing club on the king of diamonds. A diamond ruff put South back in to lead the ten of spades which dislodged East's queen. A diamond return forced declarer again and she had to use her last trump, the ten, to draw East's remaining spade.

South was down to the A-9-7 of hearts while West retained the queen-ten and the king of clubs. Declarer was obliged to concede the lead to her opponent in hearts and the latter cashed her high club for the setting trick. If declarer had finessed North's jack of hearts at trick five, instead of leading over to the king, she would have taken 10 tricks on the deal.

At the other table, when the Italian Team held the North-South cards, they never entered the auction. The American West opened the bidding with one diamond and her partner responded with one spade on the East hand. This call served to keep South out of the auction altogether. West rebid two clubs and East took a simple preference to two diamonds which was passed out.

Declarer was held to seven tricks and Italy scored a profit of 50 points at both tables. If the American South had made four spades, her team would have gained 370 points on the deal [the bonus for a non-vulnerable game is 300 points] instead of losing 100.

SURE THERE'S A GAS SHORTAGE, BUT THIS? — The going is mighty slow for four-year-old Kristie Jacobsen, rear, of St. Paul, Minn., and Ray Branton, three, of Seattle, Wash., as the two youngsters sit on the turtle at Como Park Zoo in St. Paul.

Postal Contract Called Excellent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lead-year under the agreement, which would become effective July 20, the expiration date of the current contract. Although the pact exceeds the administration 5.5 per cent guideline on wages, it is about in line with recent settlements in other industries and is not expected to be challenged by the Cost of Living Council.

Postmaster General Elmer T. Klassen said he would ask the Postal Rate Commission for a 2-cent increase in the first-class letter rate to pay for higher labor costs. If approved a letter that now costs eight cents to mail would cost ten cents.

It's Sticky Business

A tthis time, one director of public works is not so sure that he wants to get involved in another seal coating program. Telephone calls to the City Hall have been numerous and include complaints that there is too little gravel and too much asphalt and complaints that there is too much gravel and too little asphalt on streets given the treatment.

The program, now complete, involves 128 blocks in the city, including 35 blocks in the city (Comanche Trails) park. Other strips of seal coat ranged from one block to five in length on 33 different streets within the city.

Total cost to the city of the project was $20,563. The total cost of the project was $26,933, but the city already owned $6,370 of the materials used.

Time To Be On Watch For Elm Leaf Beetles

FORT STOCKTON — The elm leaf beetle, with its from one of the bottle-shaped, destructive ways, is abroad in West Texas," says Charles W. Neeb, Fort Stockton.

Neeb is area entomologist for the Agricultural Extension Service of Texas A&M University.

He describes as lacelike the appearance of elm leaves after the beetle has skeletonized them to satisfy its hunger. The leaves then fall prematurely, and the tree is left even more vulnerable to yet another insect pest, the tree borer.

The elm leaf beetle is most destructive, by the way, when it is in the larval, or worm, stage of its life cycle.

What to do, to prevent the beetle from damaging your favorite elm?

Neeb says homeowners can easily spot, on the underside of leaves, the elm leaf beetle as a worm (1/4 to 1/2 inch long, nearly black when newly hatched, but dull yellow with when older).

The worm will have emerged from one of the bottle-shaped, yellowish orange eggs also attached to the underside of leaf and, despite its wee size, easily seen as being one in a cluster of 15 to 20 eggs laid there by the beetle as an adult.

Spraying with any of the following insecticides, says Neeb, will control the pest: malathion, toxaphene, Sevin or a preparation for general purposes.

"Spray the tree thoroughly," to and around the base, because it is around the base that the insecticide will also kill those worms that are changing into adults.

If your hose-on spraying device is not strong enough for the insecticide to reach the very tops of some tall trees, Neeb suggests tying the device to the end of a sturdy fishing pole, or like object. He also urges great caution in using the insecticides, which should be applied solely according to directions on the label of the container.

DOLLAR'S BUYING POWER OVERSEAS DIPS Worth Only About 75 Cents

LONDON (AP) — An American who put aside money 18 months ago to pay for a trip abroad will find each dollar worth only about 75 cents of its value as a result of three devaluations.

BUYING POWER
He probably heard about the Cost-Sharing Is Still Available On SC Projects

LAMESA — Cost-sharing is still available to help area farmers and ranchers with conservation projects such as terracing, irrigation pipelines, and grass planting. Bob Kral, district conservationist at the Soil Conservation Service in Lamesa, said that 50 to 80 per cent of the cost of approved practices can be paid through the Great Plains Conservation Program.

"Funds are limited so anyone who wants to work on conservation jobs next fall and winter should get their names on the list now," Kral said. He explained that cost-sharing is based on a complete conservation plan for the farm or ranch. Contracts may be signed for 3-10 year lengths, depending on the individual situation and desires of the producer.

Terraces, diversions, grassed waterways, livestock water facilities, irrigation pipelines, tanks for irrigation gathering systems, grass planting, brush control, and cross-fencing are eligible practices in the program. Persons interested should contact the SCS office in the Federal Building at Lamesa.

Find Three Bodies In Plane Wreck

MENA, Ark. (AP) — Authorities said Wednesday that the wreckage of a light plane and the bodies of its three occupants had been found in a mountainous area about 25 miles southeast of here.

State trooper Tom Morrow said the plane, which had been missing since April 30, was discovered by Boy Scouts hiking in the area.

The victims were identified as the pilot, Marvin Brown, 20, of Austin, Tex., and Gerald Chapman of Ridgeport, Ill., and Scott Lidner of Stanton, Iowa.

The plane was on a flight from Longview, Tex., to Red Oak, Iowa, when it crashed.

The victims were students at LeTourneau College in Longview.

first two devaluations—formal steps announced by the White House and sent to Congress for approval. They reduced the dollar's buying power overseas by 8.58 per cent in December 1971 and by 10 per cent in February 1973.

The third devaluation might be a surprise to the traveler. It was a creeping devaluation, informal and unannounced, and decided in the market place, rather than through negotiations among governments.

Since devaluation No. 2, the dollar has been allowed to float against other important currencies according to supply and demand. Governments no longer were obligated to defend fixed exchange rates.

In some respects, the floating system worked. There were no more world monetary crises. But the dollar kept floating—more or less steadily downward. Since February, it has lost about 7 per cent in its buying power against an average of leading world currencies, bringing the total shrinkage from the three devaluations to about 25 per cent.

Associated Press correspondents in several European capitals asked bankers, gold dealers, economists and government officials to explain the dollar's weakness since February.

Their answers were remarkably alike on the causes. But proposals for correcting the weakness were far apart.

All those questioned in The AP's survey mentioned Watergate and inflation prominently. They suggested that Watergate would weaken President Nixon's ability to solve U.S. economic problems and that American inflation would erode the value of the dollar.

INFLATION
"I see deeper economic causes in worldwide inflation," said Paul Lichtenberg, spokesman for the executive board of Commerzbank in Frankfurt, Germany. "The Watergate affair was probably only the psychological trigger factor..."

As confidence in the dollar has waned, wealthy individuals, multinational corporations and Middle East oil interests have shifted their assets out of dollars into the relative safety of gold.

"No one can say for certain whether the growing distrust in the dollar set off the run into gold or whether it was gold that undermined confidence in U.S. currency," a Zurich gold dealer said. "It is like asking which came first, the chicken or the egg."

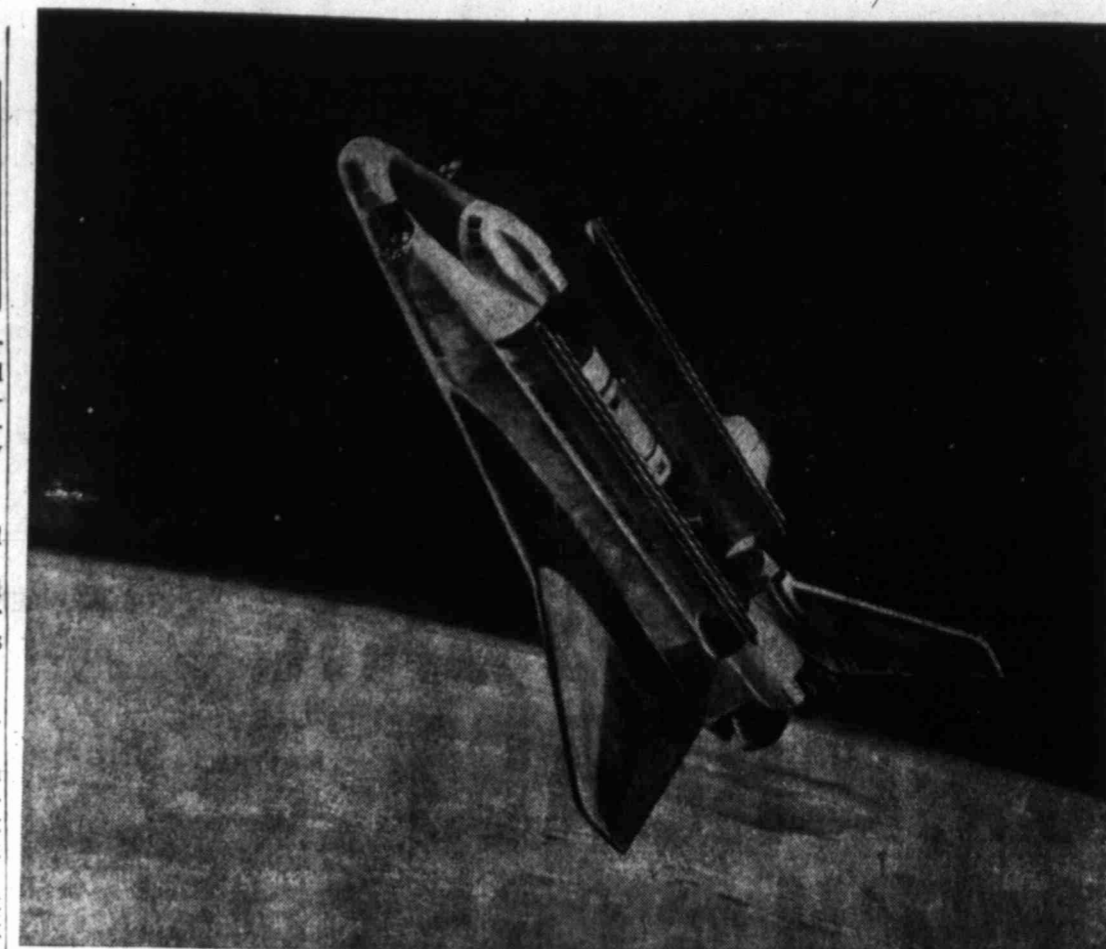

Guido Carli, influential governor of the Bank of Italy, this month suggested either raising the official price of gold or letting government central banks sell gold on the free market. "Either move would take pressure off the dollar."

French Finance Minister Valery Giscard d'Estaing said the United States should support the dollar by resuming dollar purchases on world money markets.

GOLD DOWN
Neither view has attracted much international support. Economists, officials and bankers also differ on whether floating or fixed exchange rates are preferable.

While the arguing continues, money markets remain uncertain. At the moment, gold is down from record highs and the dollar is up from record lows. But no one can say for certain what will happen next.

There is nothing to prevent the dollar from floating back up again, if the market decides it was oversold during its long slump. But more Watergate developments damaging to the Nixon administration could depress the dollar further.

SPACE SHUTTLE ORBITER — This unusual craft will be utilized in the space program... and the LTV Aerospace's Vought Systems division in Dallas has been awarded a $30 million subcontract to work on it. LTV will design the leading edge structural subsystem portion of the orbiter's thermal protection system. It's expected to encounter temperatures over 3,000 degrees on re-entering the earth's atmosphere.

market in the spring of 1920 forced the sale of the ranch, prompting the two brothers and two sisters to forsake their marrying years to reclaim the spread.

Four 'Kids' Live By Rules Of Earlier Age On Ranch

By JIM KLAHN
Associated Press Writer

WOLF CREEK, Mont. (AP) —

The four Hilger kids live by the rules of an earlier age. Bryan, Susan, Dan and Amelia, who count 243 collective years on their dry 10,000 acres along one of the prettiest spots on the Missouri River, never did leave home.

BAD TIMES

Just as most of the country was going into the roaring 1920s, bad times struck the country it's hard to move Bryan. Since the 1950s they family ranch founded by Grandpa Nicholas Hilger in the pathetically so this year, just run about 85 cows and a few hard winter and a poor cattle market in the spring of 1920 Missouri cuts through a narrow gorge with 2,000-foot, tree-lined limestone cliffs. It is a play of the four, said most of their trying years to reclaim the ground for the deer and the spread.

Through the 1920s, '30s and '40s, the Hilgers bought up what land they could from gone-broke homesteaders.

By the late '40s they owned some 5,000 acres and later leased 4,000 more to get the near-10,000-acre spread in the gates of the mountain country between Wolf Creek and Helena.

LITTLE CHOICE

As the Hilgers collected land, they built a herd of milk cows, then went to Herefords for slaughter. Given the rain-starved pasture, however, they could not count on raising commercial cattle and turned to raising champion polled Herefords.

"We didn't have much choice but to go for select stock," said Bryan. Since the 1950s they have concentrated on improving their herd and presently run about 85 cows and a few breeding bulls.

Amelia, known as Babe, forced the sale of the ranch, which she is the youngest. The Hilgers gave up their mar-sales are as registered stock to commercial breeders who want to improve their herds.

Why have they stuck together all these years? Bryan, slim and with an air of agelessness despite his white hair, pondered the question.

NO TIME TO WED

"We just got to working so hard building up the ranch we didn't have time to get married, I guess," he said. "By the time we got it all straightened out we were too old."

Ranch and house chores are split among the four. Babe and Bryan take care of the cattle. Dan, 65, handles the farming on 40 irrigated acres and Susan, 63, takes care of the house.

Their mother, Bertha, a sturdy 90, shares the modern, green ranch house. Their father, N.D. Hilger, died in 1949.

The Hilgers raise their own garden, make their own ice cream and churn their own butter. Dan estimated they spend about $45 a month in Helena for groceries, mostly flour, sugar and coffee.

The ranch has a few modern mechanical contraptions lying about and Babe and Bryan still hitch up a team to ferry hay to the cows in the winter and early spring.

Profits on the ranch, says family spokesman Dan, are "hit and miss. Some years you make it, other years you don't."

NO DEBTS

Still, they are proud of having no debts. "We don't owe anybody anything," said Dan. How long the Hilger Valley will remain much as it has been for generations is something that concerns the Hilger family.

Across the river, on the American Bar, there is a new land development with 90 lots. "That won't look so good," said Dan.

The Hilgers have received innumerable offers for their land and they realize they'll have to leave someday.

"We'll have to sell," said Bryan, noting there's no one in sight to take over the operation.

They said they had considered relatives, but "ranching doesn't appeal to them."

Meantime the Hilger kids go on with their work.

Land Transfer Date Is Fixed

Aug. 14 has been fixed as the date for formal transfer of title of 137.61 acres of Martin County land to Howard County Junior College.

Cong. Omar Burleson is due to be here for the occasion, said Dr. Thomas Salter, HCJC president.

Sam G. Wynn, assistant regional director of surplus properties and utilities for the Department of Health-Education-Welfare, which conferred title of the tract to HCJC, also has approved the date, said Dr. Salter.

The land formerly was utilized by Webb AFB as a secondary ordnance point when the 331st FIS was stationed here and has been declared surplus to base needs.

Oilfield Theft Charges Filed

STANTON — In a crackdown on oil field thefts, Sheriff Dan Saunders has filed charges against two men, Roney Scroggins and Danny McGee.

McGee was charged with theft of equipment in the field from Carl Ham Well Servicing of Andrews, and Scroggins from the Parkwell Services of Lamesa.

This week, a weight indicator valued at $2,200 has been stolen in Martin County from the Big Horn Service Co. of Odessa, said Saunders.

Sheriff Saunders also reported that there has been extensive vandalism damage to Machen Well Service equipment where culprits shot holes in a rig, and indicator and tank battery.

May He Rest In (Woof!) Peace

A neighbor in the 1300 block of West Fifth became all excited Tuesday when she discovered a small grave in a vacant lot marked with a cross and flowers.

Police detectives checked the grave out in the neighborhood and discovered it was the burying place of a well-loved German shepherd dog.

STANTON MAN PLEADS TO 'TURN OFF KNIFE MACHINE'
STANTON — David Workman, president of the Western Production Credit Association here, had been planning to cut down on expenses, but he has more cutting implements than he intended.
Actually, he recently ordered a set of knives for a present for an acquaintance. The company sent him the wrong set.
He wrote and told the firm again what he had ordered. The company sent a second set. It was further removed from the original order than the first set.
Again, he contacted the representatives and received a third set. It was correct. He was delighted. He began to prepare to return the first two sets.
The following day, he received a fourth package. It was a set identical to the first one that arrived. He now has four sets of knives, wants only one — and is afraid to go daily to the mailbox.

'Military Food' Called Dangerous
SAN DIEGO (AP) — A cardiologist says fatty foods at Navy and Marine Corps mess tables and tax-free cigarettes aboard ship increase the risk of heart attack among servicemen—but for one kind of officer, the stress of command is just as dangerous.
"He is the Type A, the term psychologists give to hard-charging, dynamic men, the kind the Navy and Marine Corps want for leaders," Cmdr. W. V. R. Vierweg of San Diego Naval Hospital said in an interview. "We realize we can't have zombies in those positions and we have to look for compromises."
Vierweg said a psychologist at the hospital is studying ways to "condition the hard-charger—or at least teach him—how to relax, rather than change his approach to being a commander."
Vierweg and Capt. D. A. Lee of Bethesda, Md., wrote in the current issue of Naval Institute Proceedings magazine that the Navy and Marines should change their policies on food and smoking to cut down on coronary heart disease.
"The Navy and Marine Corps unwittingly subsidize smoking by allowing cigarette sales without federal tax on board ships at sea," they wrote.
"Even on military bases on shore, tobacco is sold cut-rate. Ironically, cigarettes are included in 'survival kits' for downed aircraft crews, and shipwrecked men."
The doctors said military menus are rich in high-fat foods like butter, ice cream, eggs, whole milk and deep-fried foods. They recommended use of polyunsaturated foods, skim milk, poultry and margarine.
Vierweg conceded that such a diet would cost more, and added, "I think, too, the dairy industry would object to substituting skim milk for whole milk."
