

'Enemies List' Includes Texan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The "enemies list" that John W. Dean III says was maintained by the White House included groups and individuals of diverse backgrounds and interests, the Washington Star-News said today.

Dean, the ousted White House counsel, mentioned such a list in his testimony to the Senate Watergate committee Tuesday. Today he submitted a number of documents in support of his testimony and named a few names.

But the complete list was not immediately made public.

Quoting sources, the Star-News said the list actually is a series of memoranda with the general heading of "Opponents List, Political Enemies Project," and included:

Sens. Birch Bayh, D-Ind.; J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark.; Harold Hughes, D-Iowa; George McGovern, D-S.D.; Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.; Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn.; Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine; Gaylord Nelson, D-

Wis.; and William Proxmire, D-Wis. Also, former Sens. Fred Harris, D-Okla., and Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn.; New York Mayor John V. Lindsay, Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace and Reps. Robert M. Drinan, D-Mass., and Wright Patman, D-Tex.

Also, columnists Jack Anderson, Mary McGrory of the Washington Star-News, Tom Braden, Rowland Evans; Tom Wicker and James Reston of the New York Times; CBS correspondent Daniel Schorr, and Edwin O. Guthman, national editor of the Los Angeles Times who was an aide to the late Robert F. Kennedy when Kennedy was attorney general.

Also, the National Welfare Rights Organization, the National Committee for the Impachment of the President, actors Paul Newman, Gregory Peck and Jane Fonda, General Motors heir Stuart Mott, Harvard economist John Kenneth Galbraith, and Arthur Schlesinger Jr., a former aide to President John F. Kennedy.

Ex-Aide Swears Nixon Lied About Watergate

WASHINGTON (AP) — John W. Dean III testified today that he did not tell President Nixon personally and directly the story of Watergate and the cover-up last Sept. 15, but nonetheless believes Nixon knew.

Frederick C. LaRue, 44, wealthy Mississippi oilman who was in charge of the South in Nixon's 1968 presidential campaign, made the surprise appearance and plea in U.S. District Court. He waived his right to grand jury indictment.

R-Fla., said his charge that the President was aware of the Watergate cover-up late last summer seemed based on an impression.

THE FACTS

"I'm reporting the facts as I'm able to recall them," Dean told the Senate's televised Watergate hearings. He said he doesn't have a tape-recorder memory of that meeting with Nixon.

Gurney confronted Dean with a series of detailed questions about the Sept. 15 meeting, which included the then-White House counsel, and presidential aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman.

That is the first point at which Dean has said he had first-hand knowledge that Nixon was aware of campaign and official involvement in the Watergate wiretapping and cover.

Gurney: "It was at that meeting that you felt the President knew all about Watergate . . . ?"

Dean: "I would say this, when I came in, the indictments had been announced, it was a very cordial circumstance. The President asked me to sit down and told me that Bob had told him what I'd been doing. He expressed appreciation for it . . . You can tell when you're talking to the President whether he understands or not . . ."

DEEPLY INVOLVED

Dean has testified that by that time, he was deeply involved in the cover-up, and had been reporting to Haldeman and Ehrlichman.

Gurney asked for specifics about the conversation. Dean said it included a discussion of the Watergate criminal case, in which seven men had been indicted, about civil suits filed in connection with the wiretapping, and about prospects for a House investigation.

Dean said the meeting lasted 30 to 40 minutes.

Gurney asked whether there was discussion of specifics about the Watergate cover-up.

"Given the fact that he told me I had done a good job," Dean said he assumed Nixon was pleased with what had been done to keep the Watergate case from being linked to the administration.

Gurney then asked whether Dean had discussed with Nixon payoffs to the Watergate defendants, destruction of documents, possible use of the CIA as a cover, or wiretapping materials, or plans for perjured testimony.

Each time, Dean said no. Gurney: "How can you say the President knew all about these things from a simple observation by him that Bob tells me you've done a good job . . . ?"

Dean: ". . . This was the hottest issue that was going on in the campaign . . . I can't believe the fact that we were going to contain this matter would totally escape the President's attention and it was to me a confirmation and a compliment that I had done this . . ."

Murder Suspect Admits Being At Slay Scene

SNYDER, Tex. (AP)—James Robert Hurd, 20, on trial on a murder charge, said he was at the scene of the slaying of Elizabeth Goodlett, a statement read in court revealed Tuesday. But he did not say he killed her.

Dist. Atty. Leland Greene read the statement, which he said was made to Sheriff Keith Collier March 10, the night of the murder.

The statement recounted that Hurd drove to the farm house owned by the parents of David Dillaha where the girl was staying.

The statement said Hurd recalled meeting the girl at the back door and going into the house, but after that he blanked out.

The body of Miss Goodlett was found in the house. She had been stabbed numerous times.

First FBI Boss To Win Senate Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today confirmed Clarence M. Kelley, the police chief of Kansas City, as director of the FBI.

He thus became the first FBI director ever confirmed by the Senate, and the bureau's first permanent director in more than a year.

Today's action followed unanimous approval of the nomination Tuesday by the Judiciary Committee.

Kelley, 61, will succeed the legendary J. Edgar Hoover, who served as FBI head for nearly half a century before his death in May 1972.

In the interim, first L. Patrick Gray III and then William D. Ruckelshaus have served as acting director.

Under legislation passed in 1968, Senate confirmation of the FBI director is required. And under consideration is a plan to provide a fixed term for the director and to bring the FBI under closer congressional scrutiny.

China Nuclear Blast Checked

BOMBAY, India (AP) — China detonated a small nuclear device today in the atmosphere over Sinkiang province in the far southwestern part of the country, Indian scientists reported.

A spokesman for the Bhabha Atomic Research Center near Bombay said the blast occurred in the Lop Nor region of Sinkiang, China's main nuclear test area. He said the device had power equivalent to one or two million tons of TNT.

The spokesman said the microbarograph network of the Indian Department of Atomic Energy picked up indications of the test at about 9:25 a.m., or 11:55 p.m. EDT Tuesday.

TOWER WRONG Nixon Vetoes

Bill To Halt Bombs Money

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — The California White House said today President Nixon has vetoed a bill that, among other things, would cut off funds for U.S. bombing of Cambodia.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald Warren said the controversial legislation reached Nixon's desk early Tuesday evening and that Nixon decided upon his veto after conferring by telephone with Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and House GOP Leaders Gerald Ford of Michigan.

The veto was decided upon shortly after the legislation cleared the Senate by a vote of 81-11. Nixon's actions sends the measure, a $3.4-billion supplementary money bill, back to the House. Republican leaders there are confident they can gather enough support to prevent the two-thirds vote needed to override the veto.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield warned that a Nixon veto of that measure could precipitate "a constitutional crisis" between a Congress demanding that funds for the bombing be cut off and an executive refusing to do so.

"It would be most unwise," Mansfield said of a possible veto. "The intent of Congress is crystal clear."

After Tuesday's Senate vote, one top Senate Republican leader, Sen. John G. Tower of Texas, had said he thought Nixon would accept the bill.

Will Debate Social Security

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate debates today a bill to grant a 5.5 per cent cost-of-living Social Security increase effective next January.

The boost is tied as a rider to a debt limit extension bill that must become law by the end of this week.

It is one of a half-dozen items that Congress must dispose of before it can begin a 10-day Fourth of July recess.

Congressional leaders have told their colleagues that, if these all are acted on, the recess can begin this Friday or Saturday instead of next Tuesday as originally planned.

While the ousted White House counsel faced detailed and intensive Republican questioning at the Senate's televised Watergate hearings, a top official of Nixon's re-election campaign committee pleaded guilty to a charge of conspiring to obstruct justice.

IMPRESSION

The single charge was brought by a special prosecutor, who said LaRue has been cooperating with the government in the Watergate cover-up case.

As Dean testified for a third day before the Senate investigators, Sen. Edward J. Gurney,

Artesia Hall 'Truth' Vow By Lawmakers

HOUSTON (AP)—A Texas House welfare subcommittee, pledging to "get to the truth," today began its third day of hearings on Artesia Hall, a school for troubled teenagers in Liberty County.

The subcommittee, chaired by State Rep. Laje Denton of Waco, is investigating how the school obtained a license from the Welfare Department after four highly critical reports had been made by licensing investigators and an injunction had been sought by Liberty County officials to close the school.

The school was taken over by the state last week after its director, Dr. Joseph Farrar, 56, was indicted on a charge of murder in the death of a pupil. He is accused of refusing medical aid for the girl who took poison.

The subcommittee recalled Bob Platt, program director of social services for the state welfare agency. He was on the stand when the hearings adjourned Tuesday.

"We are going to look into this matter until the truth comes out—and I assure you it is coming out," Denton said in opening the third day of questioning.

Also expected to testify during the third day were Sue Kenney, regional director of social services for the state agency, and W. Kendall Baker, a former member of the State Board of Welfare.

The panel had expected to end testimony Tuesday but was unable to finish even with a night session.

Ruth Urry, a licensing supervisor in the department, said Monday she was told that Mrs. Kenney awarded a license to the school in 1971 three days before a court hearing to shut it down because it did not have a license, only because of pressure from Baker who had been hired as Farrar's lawyer.

Testifying Tuesday, Bob Platt, program director of social services and directly under Mrs. Kenney, said he personally did not like the fact that Baker was representing Farrar.

"Frankly, I believe Farrar hired Baker because he was formerly on the welfare board," Platt said. "I thought it was a bad case."

SEVEN SHOOTING DEATHS 'Had To Take Matters Into My Own Hands'

PALOS HILLS, Ill. (AP) — The telephone rang unanswered at Paul Clesson's modest brick home, one of many strung along a tree-lined street in this quiet Chicago suburb. A neighbor and close friend of Clesson and his wife, Neta, had been trying to reach the family Tuesday afternoon to tell of four persons who had been shot to death only three blocks away. Inside the home, the 72-year-old Clesson lay slumped in a chair, a bullet wound above his left eye, blood covering his shirt and coat.

The body of his 75-year-old wife lay on the floor near that of their son, Paul Clesson Jr., 47. They, too, had been shot.

"I was trying to call Neta to tell her about the Workmans, but I couldn't get her," said Mrs. Rhea Timmons, 62.

Earlier Tuesday, police had found Raymond Workman, 69, and his wife, Dina, 64, shot to death in their home. Across the street, officers found the bodies of Henrietta Cliff, 35, and her 12-year-old daughter, Kimberly, in their home. They also had been shot.

Police charged that they were the victims of the Workmans' 43-year-old son, William.

"I am God's son," the younger Workman told a city judge at his arraignment on four counts of murder. "I had to take matters into my own hands."

Police said all seven persons had been shot with a .22-caliber weapon. Ballistics tests were being conducted to see if the bullets that killed the Clessons were fired from the rifle police say was used in the other four deaths.

As of late Tuesday, Workman had been charged only with the slayings of his parents and the two neighbors.

Council Wants Elective Mayor

Big Spring's mayor will henceforth be elected by the populace at large if voters approve this revision to the City Charter in an election set for Oct. 2.

The City Commission passed the proposal Tuesday along with a series of other potential changes to the 47-year-old charter, which must have the approval of a majority of voters to become effective.

Commissioners okayed changing the method of choosing the mayor by the commission to one elected by the voters. D. A. Brazel, member of a past charter revision committee, termed the method more democratic than the present provision. He said this will make the mayor more responsible to the people and eliminate the "buddy-buddy" system which sometimes exists within a commission.

The proposal was approved on a 4-1 vote with Polly Mays voting no. The vote allows City Attorney Jim Gregg to prepare an ordinance calling an election.

On Commissioner Eddie Acrt's suggestion, the Commission also voted to change its name to City Council with members called councilmen and councilwomen. The change would put the local body in line with municipal governments throughout the state.

After holding a public hearing, the commission passed on first reading a resolution levying assessments for the cost of paving portions of 25 streets scheduled to begin in July.

RESIDENTS FAVOR

A number of residents spoke up at the hearing concerning their specific streets. Most were in favor of paving the streets which were left out of previous paving programs.

City Manager Harry Nagel said the city will assume 35-40 per cent of the cost of the paving while the street residents will pay the rest. He said the city will finance the cost at a six per cent interest rate in monthly installments.

"We realize that 60 to 70 per cent of the residents on some blocks don't have the ability to pay," Nagel said. "We're not going to take their homes away for street assessment," he added, saying that something can be worked out with homeowners who cannot afford to pay the assessments which range from $360 to $1,200.

In other action, the Commission:

—Passed the three per cent hotel-motel occupancy tax on second reading.

—Appointed W. D. Broughton to the Board of Adjustments and Appeals.

—Hired Stewart G. Dalton, 27, as a police officer.

—Granted the purchasing agent permission to advertise for bids on 28 dumpsters, 18 of which will be bought out of the 1974 budget.

—Approved on third reading a zone change for Sam Robertson, from SF-2 to R and LC. Also, approved on second reading a zone change for Sophia Ortega Alcantar, from SF to NS, for a beauty shop in the Bauer Addition.

—Voted to reimburse the Industrial Foundation $2,500 for providing utility service to Walls Industries.

—Okayed to pay a $20 membership fee in the Signal Association for a city employee, and a $25 fee for the city to join a state-wide utility association formed to help cities regulate utility rates.

Nagel announced that the city will sell 30-gallon plastic bags in rolls of 40 for $1.75 at the utility office.

He also reported his intent to tighten enforcement of the junk car ordinance by using a city wrecker to pick up abandoned cars and trailers parked on city streets. These will be impounded, he said.

Tale Of Cave With Gold Bars Revived

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — Tales of hidden treasure in the mountains of southern New Mexico are older than the White Sands Missile Range, where a group of clients of Boston attorney F. Lee Bailey say they found a cache of gold bars worth millions of dollars. A Bailey associate reported Tuesday that the group of 35 to 40 persons stumbled on the gold in a cave on the 4,000 square mile missile range in south-central New Mexico. The announcement stirred anew the tales told by a New Mexico prospector, E. M. "Doc" Noss, who said that in 1937 he found a cave filled with gold bars stacked like cord wood. Noss said the cave had been blocked off by a dynamite charge that he set off to enlarge a tunnel. The prospector was shot to death in 1949, after taking on several different partners in various attempts to dig a path to the sealed cavern. Stories lived on about the Noss cave, located on his claim in Hembello Canyon below Victoria Peak, on the southern part of what is now the White Sands range. However, the announcement by Bailey associate, Wayne J. Smith, gave no location of the cave that reportedly yielded to Bailey's clients the 292 gold bars worth an estimated $26.6 million. And there are any number of caves in the stark San Andres Mountains, which meander the distance of the 110-mile-long missile range in a north-south direction. Other portions of the range hold few possibilities for such a cave. To the east of the San Andres lies an alkali flat. On the western side of the mountains the range includes a portion of the dry and desolate Jornada del Muerto, or Journey of Death, named by the Spanish Conquistadores. The Army and Treasury Department carried out joint operations around the Noss cave site in the early 1960s, but the commander of the missile range halted further exploration.

Cotton Is Squaring

Cotton is squaring and about to bloom, Bruce Griffith, county agent, said after a tour of the county Tuesday.

As a result of herbicide application, he observed some hormone side effects but no apparent over-growth damage.

With the exception of scattered spots, cotton looks really good, he said, but a slow two-to-three inch rain is needed. A large amount of grain and forage sorghum has started to curl because of dryness.

Scattered flea hoppers have been observed on cotton, but Griffith said populations did not warrant spraying or dusting. Boll weevils appear to be absent so far, leading him to believe the pest will cause no economic damage this year.

Complaints About Fireworks Grow

As the Fourth of July nears, city police have been receiving numerous calls from citizens reporting fireworks being shot off, mostly by children.

Police received five calls each on Monday and Tuesday. Melvin Daratt, police deputy, said a city ordinance prohibits the use of fireworks within the city limits. Although a fine of up to $200 may be imposed, police usually warn violators to stop and sometimes take the firecrackers away.

Daratt said the state of Texas is expected to completely outlaw fireworks soon.

Rotarians Name Paul Meek Outstanding Citizen Of Year

Paul Meek, president of Cosden Oil & Chemical Co., was named by the Big Spring Rotary Club as outstanding citizen for 1973. The award was made at the club officer installation dinner Tuesday evening.

"Paul Meek is responsible for the new industry we have acquired," Adolph Swartz told Rotarians and their families. "I firmly believe he deserves more credit than anybody else."

Meek served as president of the Chamber of Commerce two years. He is a former president of the Big Spring University of Texas Ex-Student organization. He also is a director of the Chamber, trustee of the United Way and on the board of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center. Meek has been active in many other affairs.

$20,000 FOR LUNCH Swartz told how the Dora Roberts center was short $20,000 in operating funds for the year. "At one little luncheon, he got more than $20,000" in contributions.

Jim Thompson, director of the center, presented Rotarians with a certificate of appreciation.

With Thompson came Heather Birdsall, 3, unofficial sweetheart of the club. Thompson told about Heather learning to live with a birth defect which left her partially paralyzed.

"You know we as Americans spend millions of dollars on athletic programs," Thompson commented. "Yet many times it's difficult to get enough money to teach one of these little children to walk."

W. W. (Woody) Pyeatt, Sweetwater, former district governor for Rotary and an electronics and cattle raising entrepreneur, spoke to the group.

"We should all be sure this community is a better place, because it has a Rotary Club," he said.

Neighbors Sue In Effort To Close Church Communes

HOUSTON (AP) — A church whose members have opened their homes to society's outcasts is under legal attack by its neighbors.

The Episcopal Church of the Redeemer, a dying church in a declining neighborhood until it was revitalized in the 1960s and gained national prominence, is the defendant in a state district court suit.

The University Oaks Civic Club and 112 Houston residents filed the suit seeking to end the 40 communes the church has set up in its neighborhoods.

The communes, church officials say, are staffed by church families who open their homes to the mentally and physically unwell.

Local Horses Win Places

Six members of Howard County 4-H Clubs returned from the District 2 horse show in Post Tuesday with several honors.

Carolyn Roane, Big Spring, rode the reserve champion gelding in the halter classes and had third in barrel racing. Both of these placings qualified Carolyn for the state 4-H horse show.

Ruth Slape, Big Spring, took seventh in the grade mare class. In the registered mare class, D'Ann Hall of the Knott 4-H Club made seventh.

Also showing in the halter classes were Rene Slape, Big Spring, and David Hall of the Knott group.

Qualifying from halter classes were Rene Slape and Carolyn Roane. Dana Westbrook of Gayhill 4-Hers made finals in the reining class.

"Competition was strong," Ronnie Wood, assistant county agent, said, "so the 4-H members did a good job of representing Howard County."

About 200 horses from 20 counties were entered in the show. Of these, 30 qualified for the state horse show to be held in Odessa Aug. 1-4.

House Restores HEW Funds, Action Might Spark Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has restored most of the money President Nixon cut from health and education programs. Among measures saved would be the Office of Economic Opportunity's antipoverty program run by local community action agencies.

The bill, sent to the Senate Tuesday by a 347 to 58 vote, would boost Nixon's budget for the departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare by $1.2 billion.

SURE AS YOU'RE BORN

"In its present form, just as sure as you're born, this bill is going to be vetoed," said Rep. Robert H. Michel, R-Ill. He had tried to cut the increase in half but failed, 213 to 188.

As approved by the House, the bill would appropriate $31.5 billion for HEW, $827.5 million for the Labor Department and $487.2 million for related agencies. The total represents 40 per cent of the entire 1974 federal budget.

Nixon, as part of his plan to shift more responsibility for health, education and welfare programs to the states, had cut out dozens of programs and drastically cut others.

The approach found few supporters, even among Republicans, however, and an amendment by Rep. Earl F. Landgrebe, R-Ind., to restore Nixon's budget figures was shouted down without debate.

OEO REPRIEVE

The House action gave a reprieve to the OEO's community action agencies, which Nixon had planned to close. The federal courts blocked the administration's effort to phase out the program during the current fiscal year and if the Senate supports the House action, Congress will have bailed OEO out until June 30, 1974.

Other increases in the House bill would restore programs for the construction and staffing of hospitals and mental health centers and the training of medical researchers.

The largest single increase voted by the House was in the aides funds to school districts. Impact aid program that provides heavy concentrations of children of federal employees. It was boosted from the $41.5 million requested by Nixon to $591 million.

Runnels County Funds Shortage

BALLINGER, Tex. (AP)—County Judge Elliott Kemp said Tuesday an accounting firm had found a shortage of $15,335.83 in funds of the Runnels County tax assessor-collector's office. The funds apparently have been missing some time.

Jack Farmer, who took over the office in January, asked for an audit in March because none had been made in several years. The commissioners denied the request, then ordered an audit later when a shortage of more than $8,000 was discovered.

The preceding assessor-collector, Pannell Legg Jr., told the commissioners in March that he had known funds were missing and believed he could solve the mystery but could not.

CHARGED IN TRIPLE MURDER — Gordon Haas, 29, his hands handcuffed behind his back, leaves police station after being charged with three counts of murder in the asphyxiation slaying of his wife, Shirley, 27, and her two children, Gordon, 4, and Melissa, 2, in their Ipswich, Mass., home Tuesday. The bodies were found in the family's new, colonial-style home. Police said a medical examiner found the bodies with plastic bags around their heads.

Chief Says Triple Slaying Not Racial

IPSWICH, Mass. (AP) — A judge has ordered psychiatric examination of Gordon Haas, 29, of Ipswich, charged in the asphyxiation slayings of his wife and two small children.

Haas was ordered held on $200,000 bail.

Bodies of Shirley Haas, 27, and her children Gordon, 4, and Melissa, 2, were discovered Tuesday morning.

Police found them after receiving a call from someone who told them to "check on the welfare of the Gordon Haas family." They did not identify the caller.

Officers said the victims had plastic bags taped around their heads. They were in bed in their nightclothes.

Police Chief Armand Brouillette said Haas told them he received a telephone call at work from someone Tuesday morning saying: "Your family has been taken care of. Black and whites don't mix."

Haas is white, his wife black. Brouillette denied the triple slaying was racial.

"There are not any racial overtones in this case," he said. "It is not that kind of problem."

At a hearing before Judge Samuel E. Zoll in 3rd District Court, Asst. Dist. Atty. John Jennings said three handwritten notes were found in Haas' possession.

One note contained a list of names, Jennings said, including "rhesus, mask, tape, bags, gloves."

The Worst Is Yet To Come

BONN, Germany (AP) — For Germans trying to lose weight, the worst is yet to come.

Doctors and health experts plead with them, but Germans find themselves unable to cool their ardor for their favorite food—the sausage.

It often packs more than 70 per cent fat, the Health Ministry says. But who listens to the Health Ministry?

This nation wolfs down an estimated one billion pounds of sausage a year.

"Diet sausages" have been brought out, to accompany "diet beers." Neither has got very far.

Apparently nothing can compete with traditional varieties of sausage, temptingly flavored with everything from tomatoes and truffles to honey and rum.

Germany has 1,456 kinds of sausage, and everyone has his favorite kind.

The frankfurter is the sausage best known in America and originates, logically enough, from the city of Frankfurt.

One family near Frankfurt has been in the frankfurter business for 113 years and claims to be the world's biggest producer of hot dogs, with daily output of 50,000.

Their franks are filled with a specially cured, high-quality lean pork that comes from Germany. But the skins are made from sheep intestines from Iran and Outer-Mongolia.

TEEN FORUM

HE GOT MAD: (Q) I was going with Margaret until about a month ago. Then some people started a rumor that she liked another guy. This made me very mad. I was so mad that I told her I hated her.

Well, after I broke up with her I found out that I still liked her, and also that the story about the other boy was just a rumor.

By that time she was going out with another boy. She still is, but I think they are going to break up. I want to go back with her but everybody thinks I hate her, and they would tell her I am using her.

She is very popular. What should I do? — Sorry in Alabama.

(A) Tell her the truth. Go to her and tell her yourself. Do not send a messenger. After you have told her the truth about getting mad with no basis and the other mistakes you made, ask her to forgive you and take you back.

After this, find out the truth about rumors before you take action on them. And ask your self, when you want to say something unkind to someone, if it will really do any good. Usually it won't.

DIVORCE: (Q) My mother and father are getting a divorce. I have to live with her. That is all right, but we have a lot of fights. About three or four little fights and one BIG fight every week. I love her, but sometimes I don't like her. I am afraid I will run away. Please help me. — A Boy in Texas, Age 13.

(A) Think of this. Your mother needs help as much or more than you do. You can help her. You can listen to her, and you can understand that it isn't you, but other problems, that make her hard to live with at times.

Talk to her as well as listen. Tell her about little things that happen to you during the day. There will be times when she will be lonely and want to talk with you.

The more you two can talk, quietly and calmly, the less you are likely to fight. The more you can really talk to her and really listen to her, the less you will want to run away.

Lone Star Asks Rate Increase

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Lone Star Gas Co. has completed its argument before a Railroad Commission examiner for an increase in the company's price from 41.40 cents per thousand cubic feet (mcf) to 51.86 cents.

Lone Star, which supplies 527 cities in North Texas, presented its case Tuesday.

Cities that oppose the requested increase have until Monday to file an amended answer to the company's petition.

Louis B. Hulcy, senior vice president of Lone Star, said the cost of gas to the firm has gone up 4.24 cents per mcf since the rate was last set in 1969. The cost of service by the Trans-Texas supply system has gone up 5.63 cents per mcf, he said, and an additional .59 cents per mcf is needed to reimburse Lone Star for prepayment for gas.

The company has paid $9,646,416 in advance to obtain rights to certain gas reserves, he said.

The company also asks for permission to pass on to customers 100 per cent of cost increases monthly rather than a maximum of 65 per cent of such increases twice a year.

The rate permitted by the commission is that charged by the company for delivery to the utilities that distribute the gas to municipalities.

East and West were made to work for their bread in today's hand taken from a recent tournament. Deprived of the privilege of playing five hearts by sacrifice-minded opponents, they had to defend with imagination as well as accuracy to obtain adequate recompense.

A slam can be made in either hearts or diamonds, but no East-West pair reached that far on the deal. A 800 point bonus is awarded for a vulnerable game in duplicate bridge, so that the score for a game contract in hearts, making six, is 600 points. South reasoned that if his loss at five spades could be confined to 500 points, a three-trick set, the result would beat all those North-South pairs who defended against a game. Had the opponents made the slightest slip, his judgment would have been vindicated.

West opened the king of diamonds and continued with the ace, to which all hands followed and declarer dropped the queen. West was aware that a heart shift might be expected to produce the setting trick. However, unless several additional tricks were forthcoming, his side would not receive sufficient compensation for the vulnerable game which South had denied them by taking his sacrifice.

The club suit offered the only reasonable hope for additional revenue, so despite dummy's somewhat impressive holding in that suit, West shifted to the three of clubs. East cashed his honors by playing first the ace and then the king—which is the conventional method for showing a doubleton consisting of the top two honors. He then boldly underled the ace, king, queen of hearts in a desperate attempt to put his partner back in. Fortunately for East, West won the trick with the nine and returned a third club which East ruffed for the sixth defensive trick.

This was the trick that hurt, because it spelled a 700 point set for the declarer—more than the value of the game bid by his opponents—and resulted in a top score on the deal for this particular East-West pair.

WALKOUT: (Q) Every time I go out with a girl, I seem to lose interest in her. Recently I was out on a date with a very nice girl. She left me in the middle of a movie. A male friend and I went to a movie the next night and I was not at all bored. Do you think there is something wrong with me? — Worried in Texas.

(A) Your letter says the girl left YOU in the middle of the movie. Maybe she lost interest in YOU. Or maybe you did something stupid and she left in indignation. Or maybe you ignored her. You should not ignore a girl you are out on a date with, even if she is not the most exciting girl in the world.

I think your problem may be that you just need more experience with girls. You feel more comfortable with boys because you are more used to them.

Needs A Name

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I desperately need advice. I can't consult a lawyer because I can't afford it. I am a 38-year-old expectant mother. The baby's father is married and has no intentions of divorcing his wife or acting as father to my child.

I have never been married. I know that what I have done was wrong, but I was so emotionally involved with this man that I wasn't thinking straight.

My baby is due in three weeks. I plan to keep it, but I don't know what to do about the birth certificate. The baby's father is urging me to leave his name off. He says he will be ruined if I use his name. He has suggested that I make up a name.

Please tell me what to do, Abby. If I make up a name I'm afraid the baby's father will be relieved of all responsibility for the support of his child, and that is not fair because he is well able to help me. (He hasn't paid for even a diaper pin so far.)

I am so alone and troubled. Please help me.

NAME WITHHELD
DEAR NAME: Get in touch with your local Legal Aid Society. They will guide you. Make no decisions until you speak with them.

DEAR ABBY: Last night my wife threw a tantrum because I wouldn't take her on a business trip with me. She smashed cups and plates against the wall, so I took her across my knee and gave her a good, sound spanking.

Now she claims I "beat" her, and she's suing me for divorce. Abby, she acted like a child so I treated her like one. Was I wrong?

How do you feel about husbands spanking their wives when they have it coming?

HURT AND ANGRY
DEAR HURT: I disapprove of physical punishment in any form. A "good, sound spanking" serves only one good purpose: It gives the spanker an opportunity to vent his anger. But I recommended a punching bag — not another person.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69706, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

MR. AND MRS. ALAN GEIS

Pharmacist Serving Internship Locally

By BARBARA LORD

After six years of schooling to learn to be a pharmacist, Alan Geis is now receiving "on-the-job-training" as a pharmacy intern at Leonard's Prescription Pharmacy. Geis and his wife, Marcia, arrived here in the middle of May from their home in Weatherford, Okla.

Following a six-month (1,000 hour) internship at Leonard's, Geis will be eligible to take his Texas state board exams to become a full-fledged registered pharmacist.

"I always thought pharmacy work sounded interesting," said Geis. "It's a constantly changing profession, and you have to do a lot of reading to keep up with it. I was lucky, because Southwestern State College in Weatherford has a good pharmacy school."

While Geis was in school, Mrs. Geis kept busy with a job in a local fabric store. The job fit well with her favorite hobby of sewing, and she was able to pick up a lot of sewing hints that she still puts to good use. She also likes to crochet.

Mrs. Geis was born and reared in Weatherford, and her husband is from the nearby town of Gotebo, Okla. The move to Big Spring is Mrs. Geis's first time away from her hometown and family.

"It was a shock at first to not have my brothers, sisters, nieces and nephews around," said Mrs. Geis. "But I really do like it here. The weather is nicer because there's less humidity."

Mrs. Geis has been busy unpacking and getting the new home organized at 1601 Robin. She has learned her way around town and enjoys walking and talking to people.

Convention Highlights Reviewed

Highlights of a recent state convention for Credit Women International, held in Fort Worth, were given Thursday by local club delegates, Mrs. George Weeks and Mrs. J. B. Apple.

The women discussed three convention speakers. Dr. Kenneth McFarland's topic was "You Can Do Something." He stressed the role of parents in planting values in family members. He said people need to believe in something, and that they need ideals and a sense of value to accomplish anything.

"How to Increase your Horsepower" was the subject explored by Dr. Harold C. Bryson, who emphasized the importance of developing ideas through action. He said people must stop wasting so much time and should not be afraid of change. In another seminar, a representative from BankAmericard and Mastercharge discussed policies of giving credit to women.

New state officers installed included Miss Maxine Guittar, El Paso, president.

The local meeting was held at the Settles Hotel with Mrs. Weeks presiding. Miss Becky Ragan was a guest.

FLYING AUTO FLIES — An experimental car-plane hybrid — half Ford Pinto and half Cessna Skymaster — lifts off the runway at the Ventura-Oxnard, Calif., airport in a secret test flight. It reached an altitude of 120 feet in initial tests, then made an unscheduled landing in a field a mile and a half away because of a propeller problem. Test pilot Charles (Red) Janisse drove the undamaged craft back to the airport on a road cleared of conventional auto traffic.

Grand Jury Looks Into Contributions To Nixon

HOUSTON (AP) — The national finance chairman of President Nixon's re-election campaign testified Tuesday before a federal grand jury probing campaign contributions.

Paul Barrick of Washington was one of three witnesses the grand jury heard Tuesday in what sources close to the grand jury say is an extension of an earlier investigation into campaign finances.

Last month the grand jury heard testimony about a $100,000 contribution from Robert H. Allen, board chairman of Gulf Resources and Chemical Co. The sources say the probe has been broadened to include other campaign contributions from the Southwest.

er court actions relating to the Watergate bugging and cover-up investigation in Washington. Allen and Roy J. Winchester, a vice president of Pennzoil Corp. also were called before the grand jury Tuesday. They and William C. Liedtke Jr., Pennzoil's president, testified last month.

Roger Witten, on the staff of Archibald Cox, special prosecutor appointed to look into the Watergate affair, is leading the Houston investigation. He flew here Monday from Washington.

The grand jury is trying to see if Allen's contribution came from him—as he claims—or from his corporation. Federal law prohibits such contributions from corporations.

'Freedom' Is Ready To Ring

The Big Spring traditional July 4th program, "Let Freedom Ring," will be 8 p.m. Wednesday, July 4th, on the east side of the courthouse lawn, Barbara Giles, Chamber of Commerce secretary, said.

This is the eighth year for the program which was originated by Mamie Lee Dodds, chairman of the Chamber committee of cultural affairs.

The public is invited to attend and urged to wear colonial costumes.

A fireworks display on Scenic Mountain will start at dusk after the program.

Participants in the program include a color guard from Webb AFB, the handbell choir of the First Methodist Church, the Big Spring Squares (dancers), Girl Scouts, Officers Wives Club, Howard County Sheriff Posse, the Key Club and several individuals.

The $89,000 in bank drafts and sent it back to Houston along with $11,000 in cash. The bank drafts and cash was then included in some $600,000 which was flown to Washington in a Pennzoil airplane according to participants. The money arrived in Washington April 5, 1972, two days before a new law took effect which would have required the gifts and then donors be made public.

The $89,000 in bank drafts were cashed in the Miami.

Much Of Sharing Funds Goes Into Equipment

Of $304,563 in revenue sharing funds received, County Commissioners Court has approved spending $177,483, according to a report in the county judge's office.

Paid for are a $5,568 truck, $31,635 motor grader and ($850) air conditioning installation at the fair barn.

Also, shouldering machine, $14,646; low boy trailer, $9,000; a motor grader exchange which included $9,000 of county money; four dump trucks, $5,977; and seven pickups, $17,486.

Also one front-end loader, $22,174 and one ice machine, $1,466 for the road department.

Going to the sheriff's office were two new cars, $6,048; one station wagon, $2,530; and one four-wheel drive vehicle, $3,879.

Old vehicles and equipment was traded for some purchases. The court allocated $10,000 to the Howard County Library. Increasing appropriations this amount makes the library eligible for the benefits of belonging to the state library system.

Purchase of one electric motor grader adding machine at $91 is the only other item listed.

Revenue sharing funds paid in several checks dating back to 1972, earned $2,136 in interest.

Prosecutors To Fight Drug Resentencing

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Texas prosecutors will fight a provision in the comprehensive new drug law that allows persons previously convicted of first offense marijuana possession to ask for a new sentence, says Travis County Dist. Atty. Bob Smith.

Smith is president of the District and County Attorneys Association, which met in Galveston last week. All the state's district attorneys agreed informally to resist resentencing, Smith said.

"If we lose, we'll be swamped for six months by retrials of all the marijuana convictions we've had," he said.

The first petition for resentencing in the state was filed here last week by Clemente Soriano, 31, who was sentenced in 1967 to 15 years in prison for the sale of 44 marijuana cigarettes in two transactions, Smith said.

Under the new law, which becomes effective Aug. 27, sale of marijuana is a third degree felony, punishable by a prison term of 2-10 years and/or a $5,000 fine. In a judge's discretion, this may be reduced to a Class A misdemeanor—a jail term up to one year and a fine up to $2,000.

Smith said he would oppose resentencing on the ground that it unconstitutionally attempts to grant executive branch pardons and parole power to the judiciary.

But Soriano's petition will be opposed on the ground it was filed before the new law becomes effective, Smith said.

In the House-Senate conference committee negotiation on the bill May 26, some House members argued that resentencing was unconstitutional. They cited an opinion by Atty. Gen. John Hill to that effect.

Senators said Hill might be in error. It would do no harm to put it in, they said, because if the courts knock it out, the rest of the law will still stand since it contains a severability clause.

If He'd Only Use More Of His Brain
 SAN DIEGO (AP) — Anthropologist Margaret Mead says man is capable of solving his problems, if he'd only use more than 10 per cent of his brain.

Mrs. Mead's speech attracted an overflow crowd of 4,000 to the Civic Center.
 "Mankind has the potential to solve problems..." she said. "The brightest person we have ever produced used only one-tenth of his brain."
