DEAN DISCLOSES WILD, CRAZY WHITE HOUSE SCHEMES

Challenging Nixon To Testify

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Watergate Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr. challenged today whether President Nixon did anything "to perform his duty to see that the laws are faithfully executed in respect to the Watergate affair."

The North Carolina Democrat attacked certain White House statements after winning acknowledgment from John W. Dean III that some presidential decisions and White House actions not related to Watergate violated the First and Fourth Amendments to the Constitution.

Questions by Ervin at the fourth day of Dean's testimony appeared aimed at challenging Nixon to testify on the Watergate scandal. Later, committee counsel Samuel Dash said the question of whether to invite the President to testify had not been resolved.

never the master of a conspiracy to conceal the truth.

The ousted White House counsel replied to the administration counterattack with a new offensive of his own before the Senate Watergate committee Wednesday.

SURPRISE MOVE

He produced what he said was the official White House black list of the President's enemies in Congress and in politics, business, labor, journalism, the universities and the theater.

And Dean supplied the committee with copies of White House memos that indicated preparations were being made two years ago to "use the available federal machinery to screw our political enemies."

Meanwhile, in a surprise move, Frederick C. LaRue, a former Nixon campaign aide and White House consultant, was permitted to plead guilty in U.S. District Court to a single conspiracy charge in exchange for his promise to testify against others involved in the Watergate scandal. In return, prosecutors had agreed not to press any other charges against him.

Dean is to return to the Senate witness stand for a fourth day today to undergo a cross-examination, based on a series of questions written by White House special counsel J. Fred Buzhardt.

In San Clemente, Calif., a

White House spokesman again refused to predict the President might comment on Dean's testimony. Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said Nixon did not want to respond "in a fragmentary way" and that comments "while the hearings are in progress would not be beneficial to the committee."

The White House questions will be put to Dean by Democratic Sen. Daniel K. Inouye of Hawaii.

NEW INFO

It was learned that when that process is completed, Inouye plans to ask Dean another series of questions—on Dean's knowledge of the complicated financial transactions that enabled the President to buy his ocean-side estate at San Clemente, Calif.

It was understood Dean has new information about the deal, and was willing to talk about it with the committee.

Wednesday, the White House provided the first serious challenge to Dean's position.

In a statement read to Dean by Inouye, Buzhardt asserted that Dean was the prime mover in the cover-up, along with former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, whom Buzhardt called Dean's patron, and Jeb Stuart Magruder, the former deputy of the Committee for the Re-election of the President.

Later, it was announced that Mitchell's testimony, originally scheduled for this week, will be postponed until July 10, when the committee reconvenes after the Independence Day recess.

"There is no reason to doubt that John Dean was the principal actor in the Watergate cover-up, and that, while other motivations may have played a part, he had great interest in covering up for himself," the Buzhardt statement said.

The White House statement, and the questions that went with it, drew the battle lines sharply between the President's credibility and that of the 34-year-old lawyer he fired just two months ago.

PROGRESS

Dean insisted in reply that there was just no way that he could have covered up the Watergate facts and deceived his White House superiors in the process. He said that authority for the cover-up had to originate exactly where he placed it—the top layer of the White House hierarchy.

Dean has testified repeatedly that he made progress reports on the cover-up to then White House chief of staff H.R. Halde- man and John D. Ehrlichman, the former chief domestic adviser, and received instructions from them.

Earlier, Dean fenced with Sen. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., who, in his questioning, did not mention that Dean has testified that Gurney was the only committee member in whose political loyalty the President expressed complete confidence.

PROXMIRE DISGUSTED

Schlesinger Is Confirmed As Secretary Of Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate confirmed President Nixon's nomination of James R. Schlesinger as secretary of Defense today.

The action came after Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., dropped his objections to the nomination.

Proxmire told the Senate that he is still disturbed about Schlesinger's statement that, under certain conditions, he would recommend resumption of U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

In response to Proxmire's request that he elaborate, Schlesinger said the only condition he could foresee for such a recommendation would be "major aggressive actions by North Vietnam which would threaten South Vietnam in violation of the Paris agreements."

Proxmire called that "so generalized" an answer it didn't mean very much.

However, Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., acting chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he didn't see how the nominee could answer the question any other way.

Had he sided with Congress on the question of Indochina bombing, Symington said, he would be embarrassed at Cabinet meetings and might have his name withdrawn.

Schlesinger, former head of the Central Intelligence Agency and the Atomic Energy Commission, will succeed Elliot L. Richardson, now attorney general.

FORT STOCKTON TRAGEDY

Judge Denies Making Deal With Murderer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)— A judge under intense questioning denied in a special hearing Wednesday that he made a deal for probation for John Russell Kincaid, 23, who pleaded guilty to murdering his father and mother.

The hearing was before visiting State District Court Judge Lewis Holland.

Judge Holland said he will send his finding to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, which will determine if the Fort Stockton slayer is due a new trial.

Kincaid was assessed two concurrent 10-year terms Nov. 8, 1971, for the slayings. He claims he pleaded guilty because the trial judge, his lawyers and prosecutors agreed he would be granted probation.

The trial jurist, District Court Judge John G. Benavides, however, denied Wednesday being a party to a probation in a "deal."

Kincaid's wife, Kathy, testified she was unaware Benavides was involved in any plea bargaining.

"I heard Warren Burnett and Neil Caldwell (her husband's defense attorneys) say my husband would be given probated terms, but I did not hear Judge Benavides say so," she testified.

Kincaid pleaded guilty to two charges of murder with malice for the shooting of his stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bert Kincaid, on Jan. 21, 1971, at the family ranch near Fort Stockton.

Under interrogation by Burnett, Benavides declared, "I was not, under any circumstances during the trial, involved with attorneys or the defendant in any plea bargaining or negotiations."

Burnett asked Benavides if he recalled Burnett telling him attorneys for both sides had agreed on 10-year probated sentences if Kincaid changed his plea to guilty.

The judge answered sharply, "I told you many times, Mr. Burnett, that it is not the policy of the court to be bound in sentencing by any issue concerning probationary periods."

Burnett told the court that he received assurance from Judge Benavides that Kincaid would be given probated sentences.

Predictable Welcome To Bombing Decision

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The government gave a predictable welcome today to President Nixon's decision to continue bombing in Cambodia.

It said this could enable its forces to control the military situation and shorten the war.

Nixon's decision coincided with the Phnom Penh command announcing a series of offensive operations to recapture territory in several areas. The operations reportedly were on a relatively minor scale.

WAR TO END?

Maj. Gen. Sosthene Fernandez, commander of the armed forces, said continuing American air bombardment will inflict heavy losses on Khmer Rouge insurgents and their North Vietnamese allies. "and the war will end very quickly."

The war has been going on for more than three years and

U.S. bombing during that time has failed to prevent the loss of all but about 15 per cent of Cambodia's territory to the Communists.

Meanwhile, U.S. tactical air strikes were continuing only nine miles from the city, and the thud and rattle of exploding bombs rattled Phnom Penh's doors and windows.

Nine miles south of the capital, government troops were reported in action around the district towns of Kompong Kanto and Day Kraham in an area which has been under increasing insurgent pressure during the last week.

73 VIOLATIONS

Communist-led troops just west of Kompong Kanto have been moving in on a key junction between north-south Highway 3 and provincial Rte. 38, which links it with Highway 2 to the east.

In Saigon, the South Vietnamese military command claimed 73 more Communist truce violations during the 24 hours ending at dawn. A communique said in one of them Communist troops shot and killed a hamlet chief and five civilians and wounded two other civilians after penetrating a hamlet in the Mekong Delta about 75 miles southwest of Saigon.

Meanwhile, the Viet Cong charged that the South Vietnamese government obstructed an investigation by the International Commission of Control and Supervision into "illegal land-grabbing operations" by government forces in Communist-controlled areas of the delta.

Blast Kills Terrorist

PARIS (AP) — An explosion today in a parked car outside the science buildings of the University of Paris killed an Algerian, who police identified as a member of the Palestinian terrorist Black September group.

The dead man was Mohamed Boudia 41, sought by Italian police in connection with a series of attacks, including blowing up the oil pipeline in Trieste.

It was not immediately clear if the car was booby trapped or if Boudia himself may have been handling explosives that went off by accident.

French police said Boudia had apparently gone underground here.

An employee at a nearby service station said he saw Boudia reach inside the car and turn on the ignition before he stepped inside.

"The car exploded immediately," the employee said.

The car was registered in Boudia's name.

IDEA STILL COOKING

In other highlights from testimony by ousted White House counsel Dean:

—He kept no notes of most of his meetings with Nixon because "some of the things that were being said in these meetings... were very incriminating to the President."

—He believed "I was a restraining influence at the White House. There were many wild and crazy schemes, some of which I have not testified to." He was not asked to elaborate on the schemes.

—The President pulled him aside shortly after the Jan. 20 inauguration ceremony to get "something done" about a demonstrator who had briefly breached a police line during the inaugural parade. A Secret Service agent had earlier told him that the President was quite angry about the incident, Dean said.

STAYS WITH STORY

Dean insisted in response to a series of questions from the White House that his memory is sharp, and his accusations against the President are truthful.

The White House counter-attack was in the form of a series of questions submitted by special presidential counsel J. Fred Buzhardt, and put to Dean by Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii. Inouye said Buzhardt told him today that Nixon had been briefed about the questions.

Dean's grilling is part of a White House counterattack against the 34-year-old former counsel, who in his fourth straight day stuck to his story that Nixon and his top aides plotted together to cover up the wiretapping affair.

Pressed for his recollection of a key meeting with Nixon on Sept. 15, 1972, Dean said he could not repeat the exact words used by Nixon, but said his mind "certainly perceives the message being given."

Dean said conversations in the meetings included discussions of such matters as clemency for E. Howard Hunt and payoffs for convicted Watergate defendants, all mentioned earlier during his previous three days of testimony.

NEWSPAPER STORIES

In response to White House questions about how Dean was able to remember what had happened several months or a year ago, Dean said he had kept a file of newspaper stories that often acted as a "trigger" to his memory.

Dean testified he has no knowledge that John D. Ehrlichman, Nixon's former top domestic aide, had prior knowledge of the Watergate break-in.

Inouye was posing a series of questions prepared by J. Fred Buzhardt, special counsel to the White House.

The questions followed up on a complex White House memo read by Inouye Wednesday which accused Dean of being a man ready to sacrifice the President to save himself from jail, and which also abandoned any White House support for former attorney general and Nixon campaign chief John N. Mitchell.

NEVER THE MASTER

Dean has steadily refused since presenting his six-hour case Monday to recant his story that Nixon and his chief aides, particularly Ehrlichman and H. R. Halde- man, were fully aware of the lengthy and elaborate cover-up.

He insisted he was always the messenger and

Open Heart Operations

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — A brother and sister with inherited heart defects underwent delicate corrective surgery this morning while their two brothers awaited identical operations later today.

Surgeons hope the open heart operations will give the four children another 15 or 20 years of life expectancy.

Karen Costello, 4, and Richard, 15, entered adjoining operating rooms at Stanford University Medical Center for surgery to close holes in their heart chambers.

Their brothers, David, 18, and Kevin, 13, also will be operated on by Dr. Norman Shumway, pioneer heart transplant surgeon, and Dr. Edward Stinson, veteran member of his surgical team.

A hospital spokesman said all four children of Santa Rosa truck driver David Costello were "very nervous" but eager for the operations, which were described as "serious but fairly routine."

Searching For 'Living Doll'

LONDON (AP) — Police searching for 6-week-old Kristen Bullen, an ailing prematurely born baby snatched from her carriage three days ago, said today they believe schoolgirls may be hiding the child and playing with her as "a living doll."

Detectives checked schools around Bromley, the southeast London suburb where Kristen disappeared Monday.

SHOWERS?

A 70 per cent chance of showers this afternoon and tonight. High today and Friday, upper 90s. Low tonight, near 70.

Not Much, But It's Rain!

A cool, cloudy sky threatened but delivered only a light sprinkle first and five-minute rain later this morning.

The U.S. Big Spring Experiment Station recorded .69 inches falling during the short rain and not a trace earlier. Bill Fryrear, location leader, said the rain fell at a rate of one inch an hour.

The McDowell Ranch near Lomax caught a short shower. Reporting only sprinkles were the gravel pit west of Moss Creek Lake, Coahoma, Knott and the J. R. Anderson farm near Luther.

Earlier this morning, light showers were reported between Big Spring and Lenora. It "just sprinkled" at Ackerly and Elbow, and Luther counted only a few drops. To the west, the Barber Ranch, near Moss Creek Lake, reported no rain.

OLD WAGON LOSES MATCH

A trailer came loose from its tow vehicle this morning and rolled down hill, crashing into an antique wagon used for advertisement, Deputy Sheriff Eddie Owen said.

Jarjensen Ray Anderson, San Angelo, was pulling a rented trailer for a San Angelo school system when the trailer came loose two miles south of Big Spring on U.S. 87.

The trailer rolled into a wagon owned by Roy Bennett.

Hint Statewide Probe Of Child-Care Institutions

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The State Welfare Board awaited a report today on Artesia Hall, a Liberty County school for problem teenagers, which appears certain to touch off a door-to-door investigation of similar schools in Texas.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe told a news conference Wednesday he had requested a state investigation as a result of his visit last Friday to Artesia Hall.

But he said Vowell had written the attorney general and the Department of Public Safety last Thursday to investigate procedures for licensing child-care institutions.

The attorney general's office said five assistants are working fulltime on Artesia Hall.

Thinks Time Is Right For Texas To Have Speaker From Big City

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Rep. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, said today he thinks the time is right for Texas to have a speaker of the House from a big city area.

Parker formally announced Wednesday night at a Beaumont fund-raising dinner that he would be a candidate for Speaker in 1975.

"I think the time is right and the need is recognized for someone from one of the more populous areas to lead the House," Parker told an Austin news conference today.

"In recent years Texas has changed from a rural agricultural state to an urban industrial state. It is not only appropriate but it is almost necessary that the presiding officer over the next legislature be one with some experience in dealing with urban industrial problems."

He noted that all recent speakers have been from rural, small town areas.

Parker said he "realistically" thought he would have to spend $10,000 to $25,000 to get elected speaker.

Parker said he would "accept" contributions that are legal. He will take them from anyone scene, 4:25 p.m. Wednesday.

with the understanding they are not buying anything."

He said he did not know how much he would profit from the Beaumont dinner but would report it as soon as possible.

Parker, 38, speaker pro tem of the House, made his formal announcement at a $23-a-plate dinner in Beaumont Wednesday night.

Parker said he made his decision after consulting with "family friends and colleagues in the House."

The Port Arthur solon, said he had 28 firm votes committed and 14 condition votes.

Parker, the ninth candidate to announce or indicate aspiration for the speaker said, "Under the leadership of Speaker Price Daniel and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, this last session of the Legislature has made fantastic progress toward restoring confidence in state government and restoring openness and democracy in the legislative process."

The other candidates who have announced or are expected to announce include:

Reps. Fred Head of Troup, Bill Clayton of Spring Lake, DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi, Terry Doyle of Port Arthur, Dave Finney and Chris Miller of Fort Worth, Tim Von Dohlen of Goliad and Jim Nugent of Kerrville. Head and Nugent attended the dinners.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge today froze educational money impounded by the Nixon administration and which otherwise would have reverted into the general revenue fund at the end of the fiscal year, two days away.

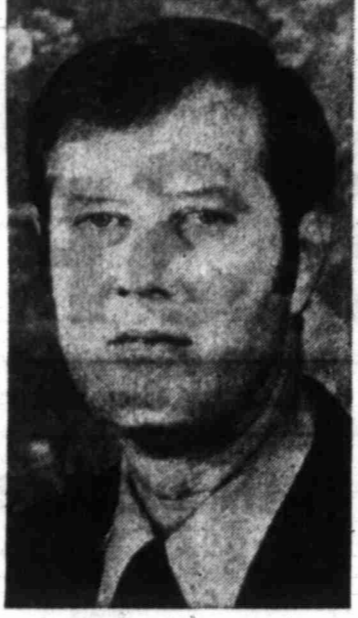

The ruling came in a case initiated by the State of Pennsylvania which challenged President Nixon's impoundment of more than $380 million for educational programs.

Pennsylvania brought the action to force the government to release the funds and was joined in its suit by 10 other states.

U.S. District Judge Joseph C. Waddy's order calls for the funds to be frozen until a decision can be made on the merits of the state's request for a preliminary injunction against the impoundment.

Federal funds which are not spent by the end of the fiscal year ordinarily would revert back to the general revenue fund.

The other states joining Pennsylvania in the suit were Hawaii, Vermont, Nevada, Nebraska, Wisconsin, Washington, Oklahoma, Texas, Illinois and Massachusetts.

Lions Hear Of Flowers

When the desert blooms, there's nothing like it, Chesley M. Wilson, range conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service, told the Downtown Lions Club at its Wednesday meeting.

This was the last for Jim Lemons as president; he will be succeeded July 11 by John F. Smith. There will be no July 4 meeting due to the holiday.

Wilson projected colored slides of plants which bloom in West Texas, and commented on them. These are from the collection of Wyatt Ipscomb of the SCS at Odessa and lean heavily on examples in the Trans-Pecos area.

However, there were numerous wildflowers familiar to this vicinity such as cholla cactus blue curl, paper flower, white prickly poppy, Tahoka daisy, basket flowers, scrambled eggs yellow and firewheel gerardia, etc.

Many native plants were used by Indians for medicine and food, said Wilson. He also warned against chewing on wild plants unless familiar with them, for some are poisonous to both man and beast.

Several domesticated plants also contain poisonous elements, though generally in tiny amounts, though pointed out.

THEFTS

Henry Hayder, San Angelo, reported $400 worth of carpet laying tools stolen out of his pickup.

UW Budget Panel Hears Requests

Budget committee members of the United Way Wednesday heard representatives of four local groups requested a total of $98,046 for the 1973-74 fiscal year which begins in November.

Hearings resume this evening with eight groups to ask for funding. George Zachariah, UW executive director, said the committee will probably be able to draw up the budget late tonight after listening to all the groups.

Scheduled to appear at tonight's session which gets under way at 7 are representatives of the YMCA and its Lakeview Branch, the United Fund and Texas Community Center, the Salvation Army, Boys' Club, U.S.O. and the West Side Community Center. These groups are seeking a total allocation of $62,600.

The committee heard last night from spokesmen of the American Red Cross, the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts.

Total amount being sought by all the organizations was $163,151 until the County Commissioners Court voted Monday to relieve the UW of its $2,400 annual expenditure for milk and medicine for poor families.

The current UW budget for fiscal 1972-73 is $113,640, with $100,140 of that going to the same 11 organizations plus two others. These groups had asked in last year's hearings for $133,851 but were granted some $53,000 less.

The five-member budget committee is headed by Jimmy Taylor.

Chamber Panel To Confer With Motor Freight Lines

To motivate still better motor-carrier freight service, the Chamber of Commerce Community Development Council decided Wednesday to set up a meeting with representatives of the local freight firms probably in July or August.

Council members decided that such a meeting would be the logical first step in efforts to make local freight delivery faster and more dependable.

Alternatives discussed included the possibility of attracting to Big Spring another motor-carrier service institution of a terminal or establishment of a cooperative service by Chambers of Commerce along Interstate 20.

In other business, the council tabled immediate consideration of Charles Driver's proposed city zoo project until a series of suggested developments can be reviewed and given priority ratings in a long range planning study. The council is now seeking a chairman to oversee the planning expected to take several years.

Murder Trial Arguments

SNYDER, Tex. (AP) — Final arguments were presented Thursday morning in the murder trial of James Robert Hurd, 20, accused in the stabbing death of Elizabeth Goodlett, 16.

During the three-day trial, prosecutors offered statements they said Hurd made admitting he killed the Scurry County girl.

Both defense and prosecuting attorneys called psychiatrists to testify about Hurd's claim he "blacked out" at the time of the slaying.

Conflicting testimony was given by the two psychiatrists. Hurd said in the statement that after he was told the Goodlett girl had been killed, "I knew I had done it."

Miss Goodlett was found stabbed to death in the den of the Dillaha Farm home in south Scurry County March 10. She had been visiting there.

The defendant's statement said he recalled going to the back door and going into the home. After that, he said, he blacked out.

BRIDGE TO REPLACE CAUSEWAY — Carla Bass, right, and Becky Meyer distract from the view of the new $2.5 million bridge, which will open June 28 connecting Corpus Christi to Padre Island. Layoffs Likely DALLAS (AP) — Anderson Clayton Foods, which has plants at Sherman, Tex., and Jacksonville, Fla., is cutting back on some operations beginning today.

The announcement by the firm's vice president, B. E. McMenamy, said the cost of raw materials has risen too rapidly to be offset by prices stuck in the latest 60-day freeze.

McMenamy said soybean oils have risen from 11 cents a pound six months ago to 20 cents or more today. Other vegetable oils show the same trend, he said.

Some workers will be laid off in the cutback, the company said. Anderson Clayton employs about 300 persons at the Sherman plant and 350 to 400 at Jacksonville.

Some 230 Sherman workers have been on strike since early May over a contract dispute unconnected with the present price situation, and the firm has been hiring replacements. The new workers are unlikely to be affected by any possible layoff, McMenamy said.

He indicated that Anderson Clayton is cooperating with other firms and industry associations in a joint approach to the Cost of Living Council. The groups hope the situation can be corrected soon.

Official Of Nixon's Vote Committee Pulls Surprise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frederick C. LaRue, senior official of President Nixon's re-election committee, pleaded guilty Wednesday in U.S. District Court to a charge of conspiring to obstruct justice.

LaRue, a wealthy Mississippi oilman, made a surprise appearance before Judge John J. Sirica and waived his right to grand jury indictment.

The single charge was brought by a special Watergate prosecutor who described LaRue as "very cooperative with the government to this point."

Sirica deferred sentencing until after any other defendants are tried.

The conspiracy charges carry a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Information presented by the prosecutor alleged that LaRue conspired with unnamed individuals to impede the investigation of the Watergate break-in.

It charged that LaRue and others "would and did participate in meetings to develop and prepare false, deceptive and misleading testimony to be given to the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the U.S. attorney's office, the grand jury and ultimately, to the U.S. district court."

The information said that LaRue and others "would and did covertly acquire, transmit, distribute and pay cash funds for the benefit" of the original seven Watergate defendants "for the purpose of concealing the identities of other participants in the violations charged in said indictment and the scope of these and related activities."

LaRue, 44, earlier was reportedly under federal grand jury investigation concerning receipt of $70,000 from funds that financed the wiretapping of Democratic national headquarters and for obstructing justice in the initial Watergate probe.

He has been identified in public testimony as having been in on approving plans to wiretap the Democratic headquarters at the Watergate hotel complex.

LaRue reportedly also directed destruction of records at President Nixon's re-election committee offices that could have connected the committee with the Watergate affair.

Tony Through With Movies

LONDON (AP) — Tony Curtis says he's through with the movies.

"If I had my way, I'd load all those Hollywood producers into a truck and drive them into the middle of the Pacific," the 48-year-old American actor was quoted by London's Evening Standard. "From now on I'm going to be my own man."

Curtis, who lives in the elegant Belgravia district of London, is celebrating his 25th year in films. Now he's preparing for a new career, a Broadway debut in a stage play by Bruce Friedman called "Turtlenecks."

"Everything else is so automated. In the theater you have got live people. And that's what counts," Curtis was quoted as saying.

LaRue was in charge of the South for Nixon's 1968 presidential campaign which former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell ran nationwide.

Later LaRue worked as an unpaid consultant for the White House. His duties there were never officially explained.

In January, 1972 LaRue joined Nixon's re-election committee as an unpaid special assistant.

Wilson told a party rally that his wife "had seen a little old lady moving from one part of the shop to the other, pricing all the things she wanted, who eventually went out clutching a pathetic little plastic package of two slices of meatloaf."

Wilson noted that Britain's cost of living had risen by 30 per cent in the three years since Prime Minister Edward Heath's Conservative government took power.

There are no price controls on cattle on the range or in feeder yards. But ranching and feed lot costs are increasing because there are no controls on prices of feed for cattle, either.

Federal controls are imposed only when the packer sells processed beef to wholesalers or retailers.

Because there is a point at which packing houses cannot pay more for live animals and still break even, prices are in effect frozen to the rancher and the feeder.

And feed costs continue to go up.

Texas ranchers and feed lot operators say the squeeze could force them into losses as high as $10 to $20 a head by autumn.

"We see a distinct possibility that feed grain costs could exceed the (cattle) market price. If this happens, we will cut back," said Tom Herrick, president of Randall County Feed Yard near Amarillo.

Texas leads the nation in the beef cattle population, with 6.3 million animals as of Jan. 1, according to state Agriculture Commissioner John White. This was almost three times as many as second-ranked Oklahoma's population of 2.2 million, he said.

The issue arose in 1966, he said, when some manufacturers accused their competitors of scripping on the number of cherries in their pies.

In following years, the FDA published several proposed or final standards stayed enforcement every time because of industry objections.

The new rule deletes minimum weight of cherries in pie pans of different diameters. Stalwin said, to permit firms to market "economy" products in shallow pans.

In addition, the FDA abandoned its definition of a bleached cherry for use in frozen pies and adopted the Agriculture Department's more lenient definition.

"It's like playing a guessing game with the government," said feed lot operator Jack Carrothers of Friona, Tex.

Grain prices have risen dramatically since government surpluses were diminished by exports to China and the Soviet Union, the cattlemen say.

Johnny Summerour of Nortex Feed Yards of Dalhart, Tex., estimates grain sorghum—a major cattle feed—is up 30 to 40 cents a pound.

Rising Feed Prices Pinch Beef Producers In Texas

DALLAS (AP) — Cattlemen in Texas, the nation's No. 1 beef-producing state, say they may have to cut back on production this fall if the current squeeze between their costs and the prices they get continues.

There are no price controls on cattle on the range or in feeder yards. But ranching and feed lot costs are increasing because there are no controls on prices of feed for cattle, either.

Federal controls are imposed only when the packer sells processed beef to wholesalers or retailers.

Johnny Summerour of Nortex Feed Yards of Dalhart, Tex., estimates grain sorghum—a major cattle feed—is up 30 to 40 cents a pound.

The beef producers are asking the government to ease controls on beef, both through the American National Cattlemen's

Association and in individual letters to congressmen.

"If we can't make a profit, production will go down, and the consumer will suffer even more," Carrothers said.

Ranchers and packers both say their profit margins are narrowing because of the squeeze.

The profit per pound on steers, sold for feeding has dropped by 25 per cent since January, according to Jim Humphries of the Pitch Fork Land and Cattle Co., Guthrie, Tex.

Humphries said the company is selling its cattle at a younger age to reduce the cost of feeding them. Another factor which has hurt cattlemen is the Food and Drug Administration's ban on a cancer-linked growth hormone—DES—once added to cattle feed, Humphries said.

Dave LaFleur, president of Missouri Beef Packers at Plainview, Tex., said the plant there cut back 20 per cent, and the Midwest plant 30 per cent because of the increased price of live beef.

He said the company expects to resume normal production in four to six weeks.

DEMAND DOWN
LaFleur noted that demand for beef is down about four per cent from this time last year. Since the beef boycott last spring, demand has been down 5 to 10 per cent, he said.

"I don't think anyone is making any money," he said.

The entire industry could suffer if feeder profits get lower in the future, LaFleur said.

As in the poultry industry, large operations are not feeling the cost squeeze as much as smaller ones who purchase feed grains on a monthly basis.

Feeders who have a feed supply bought several months ago at lower prices, and feeder cattle bought in lower markets still will show a profit, said Johnny Summerour of Dalhart.

He said that losses will begin to show, however, when cattle bought in March are ready to market at the end of the current six-month feeding period.

When a partnership uncovers a fit in two suits, a problem frequently arises in deciding which one should be trump. To many players it becomes a question of merely selecting the longest and strongest suit. The obvious choice is not always the best one, however, as there are other considerations which may take precedence. Today's hand, taken from a recent tournament, presents an interesting case in point.

The first round of bidding was more or less normal. When South made a free bid of one heart over East's one diamond overall, North's thoughts naturally turned to slam, and he flashed the signal by cue-bidding the opponents' suit. His two diamond call is unconditionally forcing to game and permits him to indulge in a relaxed investigation without fear that partner will drop him somewhere along the way.

When South revealed the club fit, many Norths were satisfied to play the contract in that suit and it became merely a question of the level to be reached. Some were content to settle for a small slam which they were able to claim shortly after the opening lead was made. Others went all the way to seven clubs and suffered disappointment when they learned that there was no way to get rid of declarer's losing spade.

Only one North-South pair reached the maximum contract of seven hearts, and this was the result of further exploration. When South bid three clubs, North contented himself with a simple raise to three hearts. When South merely returned to four clubs, North was still not certain how far to go, and he made a cue-bid of four spades to elicit further information.

South's bid of five hearts was most revealing. It cleared up in North's mind any lingering doubt as to the solidity of the hearts. The only remaining hole was North's ten of spades. If South had five hearts, a discard becomes available on the long card in that suit. However, if South has only four hearts, it might be essential to utilize the club suit for discards. In the interest of safety, therefore, North bid the grand slam in hearts.

There was nothing to the play of the hand. South ruffed one diamond in dummy, drew trumps, and routinely took 13 tricks for a top score on the deal.

Center Is Ready For Open House

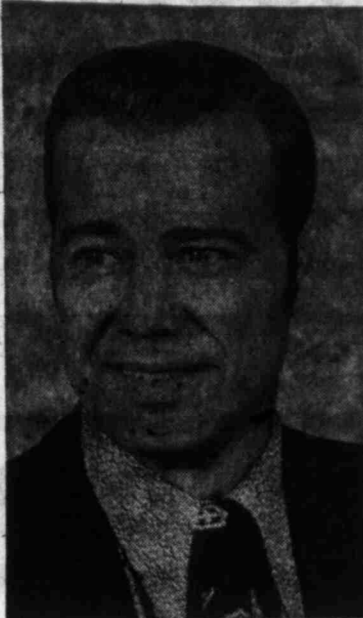

Don Crawford, newly authorized Pontiac and Datsun dealer in Big Spring, is holding an open house at his sales center at 504 E. 3rd today through Saturday.

Crawford, who moved to Big Spring in April from Texarkana, has set a goal to sell 400 new cars a year. He is inviting the public to come and look around the sales lot, which handles new and used cars, and the service department.

The dealership so far employs 12 people. Crawford said he plans to open a body shop later.

"West Texas is my country. The people are just more neighborly out here," said Crawford, a Seymour native who has been in the automobile business 10 years in Port Arthur and Texarkana.

Crawford, who lives with his wife, Fonda, and their two children at 3608 Calvin, is in the process of building a new home in the Silver Heels Addition where he owns eight acres of land. He has bought two horses since he came to town. He said he enjoys riding, flying, hunting and fishing.

DON CRAWFORD

The open-house began at 8 a.m. today and will last until 10:45 p.m. with the same hours to apply Friday and Saturday. "We've got in a tremendous inventory and we'd like the people to come and browse around and get acquainted," Crawford said.

Farmers, Ranchers Want Nixon To Reduce 'Pinch'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas top officials have appealed to President Nixon to do something about the pinch Texas farmers and ranchers are feeling from the new price freeze. "Employ every device and recourse at your disposal in an attempt to alleviate this inequity which is threatening the very foundation of our agricultural economy," said a telegram sent Wednesday by Gov. Dolph Briscoe, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and State Agriculture Commissioner John White.

"Your current price control program . . . is placing an insupportable squeeze on our agricultural industries and already is forcing many producers out of business," the telegram said. "The spiraling production costs and the lid imposed on prices with other trade levels leaves the producer unprotected from a situation where his costs are exceeding any hope of a profit return. The situation is serious and will grow more critical in our poultry, dairy, beef and swine industries."

Earlier Wednesday Hobby put out a statement urging Texas farmers and ranchers to seek out a new federal program in their efforts to get fuel for agricultural production.

Hobby said the Federal Voluntary Allocation Program for Crude Oil and Refinery Products assigns priorities to all food producers, health and government-related services and the transportation industries.

Under the program fuel suppliers have agreed to provide their past customers with the same amount of fuel they received during the last quarter of 1971 and the first three quarters of 1972.

Hobby said those who no longer have a supplier should call the Department of Interior's office of oil and gas in Denton.

Drug Conspiracy—Counts Name Five

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Three Texans and two Florida residents have been indicted here in connection with an alleged marijuana distribution scheme which stretched from Florida into Mexico.

The five men were indicted last week by a Del Rio, Tex. federal grand jury after investigation by U.S. Customs agents.

The indictment, unsealed Wednesday, alleges conspiracy to import marijuana, possession of marijuana with intent to distribute and possession of a firearm in the commission of a felony.

According to the indictment, the defendants held meetings and made phone calls among each other between March 26 and May of this year in San Antonio, Austin, Houston, Eagle Pass and Laredo, Tex.; Mobile, Ala.; Pensacola, Fla. and Mexico.

According to the indictment, they conspired to import 405 pounds of marijuana from Nuevo Laredo and Piedras Negras, Mexico.

Defendants are Robert Irwin, no age given, and Barry Beck, 27, both of San Antonio; Humberto Gutierrez, 52, of Laredo; and Daniel Bernard, 30, and Rocky Kim Smece, 23, both of Pensacola, Fla.

Irwin was released on a $50,000 bond here Wednesday. He operated the Loser's Club here before it was destroyed by fire in 1972. His former partner in the club, Rudy Limon was slain in gunfire 14 months before the fire and the shooting is still unsolved.

Two persons were named as co-conspirators and not defendants in Wednesday's unsealed indictments including Dr. Rudy Lee Ingersoll, 31, a San Antonio dentist, Ingersoll already was under indictment.

KDTV Sale Announced

DALLAS (AP) — The Christian Broadcasting Network (CBN), will acquire KDTV-TV, Dallas Channel 39, from Doubleday Broadcasting Co., CBN announced Wednesday.

M. G. "Pat" Robertson, president of CBN, said he has executed a preliminary written agreement with Doubleday for a combination purchase, lease and donation of the station totaling $5.4 million.

CBN will pay about $3 million over a 10-year period as part of the purchase agreement, and will lease the KDTV studio and transmitter for about $1.6 million over a 20-year period.

The Christian network operates KXTX-TV, Channel 33, in Dallas. CBN also operates stations in Portsmouth, Va. and Atlanta, Ga.

It is a non-denominational, non-profit corporation funded primarily through viewer contributions, Robertson said.

Yarborough Stays Busy At Constitution Confab

DALLAS (AP) — Former Sen. Ralph Yarborough provided some humor, some history lessons and a fair amount of filibustering to Wednesday's hearing of the legislative committee of the Constitutional Revision Commission.

Obviously enjoying his role as a committee member, Yarborough questioned and discussed points with each witness who appeared before the 5-man committee.

Another committee member, who dominated the afternoon session as Yarborough had dominated the morning one, W.

Gambling Raids Net Six Persons

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Authorities say more arrests may come today in connection with a large interstate gambling operation broken up here. Six persons were arrested Wednesday.

Officials say the alleged numbers operation ran from May until this month.

Charged Wednesday with conspiracy to conduct and participate in a lottery were Elwyn Nichols, 41, and Eugene Shiver, 35, both of Gary, Ind.; Roma Jean McElroy, 22, of Houston, Tex.; Johnny Walker of Maxwell Air Force Base in Montgomery; Dorothy Jean Smith, 30, and Barbara Youngblood, 22, both of Montgomery.

James Kronzer Jr., a Houston attorney, joked: "We're having a contest to see who will get the filibuster award."

At one point, Yarborough, a history buff, gave a short biography of Mirabeau B. Lamar, and noted that not since Lamar has any political figure made such a rapid rise as Eddie Bernice Johnson.

Mrs. Johnson filed as a candidate for state representative on Feb. 7, 1972, was elected June 3, 1972, was named vice-chairman of the State Democratic Convention last summer and served on the credentials committee of the National Democratic Convention.

Yarborough then got into a philosophical discussion with Republican State Sen. O.H. (Ike) Harris.

Harris had remarked that he is often asked why Texas is so backward. But he feels it is not backward, only geographically divergent, which often makes it difficult to get a consensus of opinion of the Legislature.

"I will tell you the reason people think we are backward is because, according to statistics, we are," Yarborough said.

After Yarborough's dissertation on the subject, Harris, a conservative Republican, replied: "I guess you and I still have a basic philosophical difference."

Yarborough also got into an argument with Commissioner John Whittington, a Republican, Dallas County challenging the need for judges to run on non-partisan ballots, as Whittington suggested.

Yarborough said he had never heard an attorney complain about a judge because of the judge's party affiliation.

Whittington explained that what he meant was that a certain group of lawyers—Republicans—are "systematically excluded" from judgeships.

Yarborough's morning performance prompted one member of the audience to observe: "I think he's already running for governor."

Jet Crash Kills Two

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Two Air Force crewmen were killed Wednesday night when their F-4 Phantom jet crashed in the Avon Park bombing range, officials said today.

The jet was on a routine training mission from MacDill Air Force Base in Tampa when it crashed in the Central Florida bombing range.

An Air Force spokesman said a military board of inquiry would be convened to determine the cause of the crash.

The two crewmen were identified as First Lt. Tommy Sargent, 24, of San Antonio, Tex., and First Lt. Kenneth Vidrine, also 24, of Bossier City, La.

Youth Is Held For Burglaries

Deputy sheriffs have arrested a 16-year-old local boy in connection with the burglary of the K-C Steak and Seafood House, IS 20 west, earlier this week.

The youth was released to Ed Cherry, juvenile probation officer, Sheriff A. N. Standard said.

A salesman's report of a broken window and open door at the steakhouse was relayed by police to the sheriff's office.

Deputies reported finding a juke box and cigarette machine broken open.

FISH DIE IN LAGOON — Fish are shown dying by the thousands in Rio de Janeiro's lagoon, Lagoa Rodrigo de Freitas, behind the posh residential districts of Ipanema and Copacabana. The lagoon is used as a giant outlet for sewage and often clogs up causing the fish to die for lack of oxygen. It took 120 street cleaners to remove the 48 tons of dead fish, thus far.

Peking Says It Conducted Test For Defense Reasons

TOKYO (AP) — China announced today it tested a hydrogen bomb for defense purposes and to break the "nuclear monopoly" of the superpowers.

The Peking Radio announced the explosion over the western part of the Chinese mainland Wednesday that several other countries had already detected.

NO TREATY
By superpowers, China meant the Soviet Union and the United States. The Chinese test was set off just five days after the U.S.-Soviet summit agreement aimed at preventing nuclear war, and as France was preparing a nuclear test in the Southwest Pacific over opposition of numerous countries and of the World Court.

China and France are the only nuclear powers that have refused to sign the treaty against atomic tests in the atmosphere.

Japan, the only atom-bombed country, expressed regret over the Chinese test and prepared to file a formal protest with Peking. Fallout of nuclear ash from the explosion was expected to hit Japan starting Friday. Unusual changes in atmospheric pressure attributed to the blast were reported at several places in Japan.

POWERFUL
The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission said in Washington the blast packed an explosive yield in the range of two to three megatons, the equivalent to two to three million tons of TNT.

This made it one of the most powerful of the 15 Chinese nuclear explosions detected since that country began testing in 1964. A three-megaton blast was touched off in March 1972. The previous test, in March 1972, was estimated at 20,000 to 200,000 tons of TNT.

Indian scientists said the explosion occurred in the Lop Nor region of Sinkiang, China's main nuclear test area.

The Peking announcement gave the location merely as China's western region.

The official Hsinhua News Agency announcement almost 26 1/2 hours after the test at noon Wednesday declared:

"The conducting of necessary and limited nuclear tests by China is entirely for the purpose of defense and for breaking the nuclear monopoly by the superpowers, with the ultimate aim of abolishing nuclear weapons. The Chinese government declares once again that at no time will it be the first to use nuclear weapons . . ."

President Abolishes Congress In Uruguay

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Uruguay, once the showpiece of democracy in Latin America, is back in the grip of dictatorial rule shared by President Juan M. Bordaberry and his military overseers.

Six months of bitter quarrelling ended Wednesday when Bordaberry dissolved Congress and announced a new Council of State will assume legislative powers.

Soldiers and tanks sealed off the Parliamentary Palace for the first time since 1933 and patrolled Montevideo streets, which were deserted because of a 24-hour protest strike.

No violence was reported, but a dozen opposition congressmen were believed to have fled the country to avoid military arrest. Severe censorship was imposed, barring any criticism of Bordaberry's move, and two cabinet members resigned in disapproval.

Bordaberry went on national television Wednesday night and blamed subversion by the Marxist Tupamaro guerrillas and congressional "obstruction" as the reasons for his decision.

The ultimate act that brought about the collapse of democracy was insistence by the armed forces that congressional immunity be lifted from leftist Sen. Enrique Erro so that he could be tried by a military court. Erro was accused of being a "civil chieftain" of the Tupamaros, a charge he repeatedly has denied.

A warrant was issued for Erro's arrest shortly after Congress was abolished, but the senator was in Buenos Aires for a lecture series.

Bordaberry, a conservative rancher installed for a four-year term in March 1972, said the still-named Council of State will prepare constitutional reforms to be submitted to a national vote.

The armed forces gained control over Bordaberry's administration in February when they forced the president to fire his defense minister and create the military-dominated National Security Council.

Since then, the generals have applied pressure on Congress, demanding apologies for any criticism of the armed forces and insisting that Erro be removed from the Senate and turned over to the military courts.

With the generals in virtual control of the government, Uruguay's armed forces have come full circle from their position 10 years ago, when the military was a small, nonpolitical, professionally manned defense force.

AMA ACTION 'The Right To Die In Dignity'

NEW YORK (AP) — The governing body of the American Medical Association is being asked by its Connecticut delegation to approve a statement by which a person can ask for "the right to die in dignity."

The delegation said the fact that medical technology to prolong life exists does not eliminate the need for "human choices" regarding the use of that technology.

"This is especially true when a patient is irreversibly ill," said the delegation. "The decision to cease employment of artificial means or heroic measures to prolong life of the body belongs to the patient and/or the immediate family with the approval of the family physician."

The discussion of death is included in a resolution presented by the group to the AMA's House of Delegates at organized medicine's 122 1/2 annual convention. The house, faced by a host of measures on medicine and its social and economic impact, will consider the Connecticut resolution this week.

Under the resolution, this statement would be made available to any patient:

"To my family, my physician, my clergyman, my lawyer:

"If the time comes when I can no longer actively take part in decisions for my own future, I wish this statement to stand as the testament of my wishes.

"If there is no reasonable expectation of my recovery from physical or mental and spiritual disability, I request that I be allowed to die and not be kept alive by artificial means or heroic measures. I ask also that drugs be mercifully administered to me for terminal suffering even if in relieving pain they may hasten the moment of death. I value life and the dignity of life, so that I am not asking that my life be directly taken but that my dying not be unreasonably prolonged nor the dignity of life be destroyed."

"This request is made, after careful reflection, while I am in good health and spirits. Although this document is not legally binding, you who care for me will, I hope, feel morally bound to take it into account. I recognize that it places a heavy burden of responsibility upon you, and it is with the intention of sharing this responsibility that this statement is made."

Ex-Policeman Draws 50 Years In Assault Case

DALLAS (AP) — Felix Florio, former Dallas police officer convicted of assaulting a 22-year-old woman, will appeal the 50-year sentence set Tuesday by a jury, his attorney says.

The 33-year-old Florio was convicted Monday of assault with intent to rape when a Dallas insurance clerk identified him as the man who tricked her into letting him in her apartment. The woman said Florio smashed her left eye and shot her in the head while attempting to rape her. He had been investigated about a year ago in connection with the shooting of an airline hostess at a party. Florio claimed his pistol had discharged when it fell, accidentally killing the woman. He was reinstated to the police force when he was not billed by a grand jury.

THE WOMAN BEHIND 'THE GREEN DOOR' — Arlene Elster, owner-operator of the Sutter Cinema, is pictured in her office in the theater where the film, "The Green Door," brought the police and put Arlene in the news. She has a degree in biological science from the University of Texas and worked in the research department of a blood bank when she first came to San Francisco. Arlene says she got into the making of nudity films because she wanted to try something "different, something creative."

Jamboree Still Has Openings

Eighty boys and leaders will participate in Jamboree — West, an encampment of 40,000 Scouts to be held at the Farragut State Park in northern Idaho, departing on July 27 and returning on Aug. 12.

Any boy who is a registered Scout is eligible to participate, and openings still exist in both the Jamboree — East and Jamboree — West Contingents. Further details on participation may be obtained by contacting the Scout Service Center, Box 1508 Midland, 79700.

Ends One Career, Starts Another

In 1928 an 18-year-old boy from Winters came to Big Spring, finished high school and got a job with Frank Pool and Travis Reed at a Piggly Wiggly grocery store.

That "boy", who now 63, Orbin H. Daily, quit the grocery business after about 12 years and went to work with the post office in 1942.

Daily worked there for about 31 years until June 27 which was his last day on the job before retiring.

When he first went to work with the post office Daily was a substitute clerk-carrier for a year and half, then moved inside as a dispatcher-clerk. He has been a window clerk over 20 years.

Only Weldon Bryant, assistant postmaster, had been at the post office longer than Daily.

"It's kind of hard to quit something you've worked half of your life at," Daily said. "I've worked under three postmasters: Nat Shick, Elmer Boatler and Frank Hardesty. I've seen many a hand come and go."

"I enjoyed waiting on the public," he said. "A big majority of the public is nice. My policy has been to wait on them like I'd like to be waited on."

Mr. Daily has had a license to sell real estate for about a year and plans to work out of his home at this after he retires.

He had such an interest in hunting that he took a correspondence course in taxidermy to preserve some of his trophies. This blossomed into a side business, but "it got to where working at the post office and taxidermy was making me work such long hours I just had to quit," he said.

Back in the '50s he was asked to preserve an elephant killed when a circus truck overturned. He turned the job down. "I would have needed a block and tackle. It was just too big," he explained.

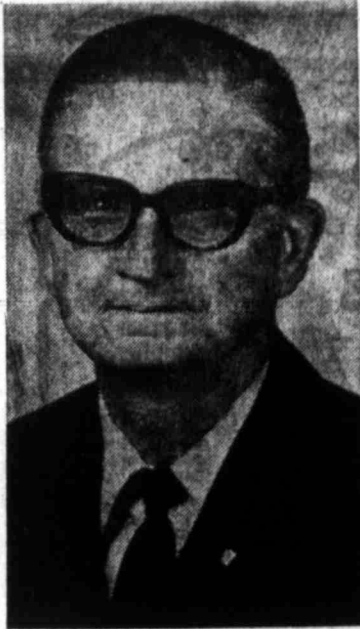

Daily has held many offices in the Masonic Lodge and is Worthy Patron of the Eastern Star.

He and his wife, Barbara, have a son, Orbin Jr., who works for Texaco Oil Co. here in Big Spring and a daughter, Barbara, who lives in San Angelo.

EMPLOYMENT COUNSELORS ... ready to serve

Big Spring Employment Offers Careful Selection

Employers are constantly seeking new employees in today's changing world. Behind the scenes of each job opening is a number of hours of pre-screening job applicants so that employers will not have to waste time interviewing applicants who are not particularly qualified for their particular job openings. In the field of office skills, the Big Spring Employment Agency carries on an extensive testing program. For example, if an employer wants to hire a secretary, applicants are given a shorthand test, typing tests on both manual and electric typewriters, verbal, numerical and clerical aptitude tests. Included also are tests on situations. The result of these tests may be used as a selection instrument in hiring applicants and as an indicator of future possibilities. Private employment agencies render a different service from state and federal employment offices in that it is not involved in unemployment compensation. They devote full time to job counseling, interviewing, testing and filling job placements and they enjoy a high degree of success. This is because of their timely and professional ability at properly matching jobs and applicants.

Crash Caused By Turbulence

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Transportation Safety Board said today air turbulence created by an earlier plane caused the fatal crash of a Delta Air Lines jet at Greater Southwest International Airport in Fort Worth, Tex., last year.

Three Delta pilots and a Federal Aviation Administration official were killed and the aircraft destroyed in the May 30, 1972 crash. The plane was on a training flight when it crashed while in a landing approach. The board said the Delta apparently encountered invisible air turbulence caused by the touch-and-go landing of a larger American Airlines jet minutes earlier. It said the pilot was warned of possible turbulence.

The smaller Delta jet began to oscillate as it approached the airport and finally rolled 90 degrees to the right. The right wing tip struck the landing strip and the aircraft crashed and burned.

The board said the Delta plane was 53 to 54 seconds and 2.25 nautical miles behind the American jet during its final run.

It said the accident might have been prevented "had there been greater separation between the two aircraft."

But it added there was a need for more research on vortex turbulence problems and called on the FAA to study the matter.

The board made eight recommendations to the FAA after the accident. The FAA last summer issued special instructions calling for new and increased separation of all aircraft operating behind the giant DC-10 and L-1011.

Force Reductions In Europe Okayed

VIENNA (AP) — The North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Warsaw Pact announced today they will discuss "mutual reduction of forces and armaments and associated measures in central Europe" in a conference beginning here Oct. 30.

The announcement was made in a final communique issued after a 30-minute session of the 19 delegations of the two military pacts. They concluded almost five months of preparatory talks on the issue of troop cuts.

The communique added that the participants in the preparatory meetings agreed that "the general objective of the negotiations will be to contribute to a more stable relationship and to the strengthening of peace."

The forecast was that the troop cut talks would be tough and long.

The communique left out the word "balanced" for the cuts to be discussed. The label for the talks had been "mutual and balanced forces reductions" when the preparatory round opened Jan. 31.

But Henry Kissinger said at the end of the Nixon-Brezhnev talks a few days ago that adjectives were not important and that the Soviets had pledged to enter "serious negotiations" on the troop cut issue.

The date and place of the fall talks had been a foregone conclusion after they were mentioned in a summary of the Nixon-Brezhnev talks. The final communique on the preliminary round here merely put the NATO seal of approval on it.

Fort Worth Five On Nixon's List?

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Lawyers for the Fort Worth Five says the names of their clients may appear on a so-called "enemy list" of President Nixon marked for government harassment.

Existence of the list was disclosed Wednesday by the Senate's Watergate investigating committee. It was said to contain the names of political adversaries of the Nixon administration.

IRISH-BORN
The Fort Worth Five are Irish-born New Yorkers who have spent 11 months behind bars under a contempt citation for refusing to testify before a federal grand jury investigating gun smuggling from Texas to Northern Ireland terrorists.

They are Kenneth Tierney, Daniel Crawford, Paschal

Moran, Thomas Laffey and Mathias Reilly, and they are trying to win their release under a writ of habeas corpus.

Appearing Wednesday before U.S. District Court Judge Leo Brewster, defense lawyer William Cunningham cited testimony by John J. Caulfield, a former White House security agent who told the committee he once "earned an award for turning in a group of Irish radicals in the Bronx."

Cunningham told the court Caulfield left the White House to become head of the Treasury Department's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, which initiated the grand jury investigation of the gun running.

"All I need say is that he (Caulfield) has been in two places now where lightning has struck Irish radicals," Cunningham said.

HARRASSMENT
"Two parties were conspicuous in this case from the first day on—the Justice Department's Internal Security Division and the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms."

In testifying before the Senate committee Tuesday, former White House Counsel John W. Dean III said Caulfield helped furnish names for the list and the names were handed over to various government departments for "harassment."

"This one proceeding which has caused all of us so much trouble for a whole year might only be a result of, quote, 'Somebody having some trouble made for them,'" Cunningham said.

Brewster denied summary judgment on the motion for a writ and set a full hearing for Friday, but not before defense lawyer Ed Polk raised evidence that the Justice Department directed wiretapping on another Fort Worth Five lawyer, Frank Durkan.

Executives Must Testify In Airline Route Inquiry

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A senior vice president of public relations for Texas International and two other Houston men are under orders here to testify before a federal anti-trust grand jury.

The three men were granted immunity and compelled to testify under orders signed by U.S. District Judge Adrian Spears, court records show.

Listed in the latest orders are James A. Cassidy, who directs the Texas International public relations operations; Clinton B. McCutcheon, former vice president of research for Texas International, and Tom R. McCauley, regional vice president of Braniff International.

The immunity orders, granted under provisions of the Organized Crime Act of 1970, says each man "has refused under oath to answer certain questions propounded to him or give testimony on the basis of his privilege against self-incrimination."

The grand jury taking such testimony was empaneled last September and is thought to be looking at air line competition in Dallas, Houston and San Antonio.

According to subpoenas, the grand jury wants to study certain actions of Texas International and Braniff regarding a new airline, Southwest Airlines, which operates in the three Texas cities.

The orders for Cassidy, McCauley and McCutcheon are entitled, "Grand Jury Investigation of Braniff Airways, Inc. and Texas International Airlines, Inc."

Blow At Pornography

The Supreme Court, after numerous tries, found majority in favor of the proposition that local communities may enforce specific laws regulating obscenity.

The obviously difficult business of defining, probing and convicting on violations of law based on obscenity law will move next to the tough question of determining local standards.

The court cautioned that laws had to be carefully drawn but that local standards do find support in constitutional rights of the residents. Chief Justice Burger commented in the majority decision, that the people of Maine and Mississippi don't have to accept standards of Las Vegas and New York City.

Clearly, the mushrooming hard-core pornographic movie shops and the smut-shop joints have abandoned any attempt to present even the faintest redeeming social value. Further, there are disturbing signs that they are mob-controlled.

If the new decision does no more than break, or seriously interfere with national distribution of pornography it will have been worthwhile.

Local standards, even when legislators finally write them into law, will be challenged but carefully-written law, the court has said, is enforceable. Smut shops are a public nuisance. They devalue adjacent business. They contribute nothing of value.

To some, the decision smacks of a step toward censorship. But the smut shops offer a collection of material which make no contribution to art or literature, no matter how you stretch the definition. Most of the stuff is debasements and deviations which would make an animal shrink. That stuff has no place in our scheme of things.

Tragic Sense Of Value

There was a sad story the other day out of Clifton, Ariz., about a 13-year-old girl who was treated cruelly because her parents happened to be poor.

The girl was sent home in tears from her eighth grade graduation ceremony, according to reports, because her dress did not conform to arbitrary rules. Eleanor Stacy couldn't march in the ceremony because her dress had pastel yellow flowers on it.

School officials had decreed that graduating girls would wear plain pastel dresses. So a girl's school memories are tarnished by a hard-headed demand for conformity. Eleanor's parents couldn't afford a new dress and she was penalized for their poverty.

The school board president said, "We had 66 graduates and we couldn't have everybody different. She was defying authority." The school principal said, "Sure it hurt her feelings, but we wanted it to be a formal affair and not have many different kinds of dresses."

It is frightening to see people like this in charge of helping shape our children's values.

The Many Fourths

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

Next Wednesday is the Fourth of July.

That means different things to different people. When I was growing up in South Texas, it was a day that my Dad always had off, and we all knew we were going to get to go to the beach.

THAT WAS really a wonderful event. We'd take a huge picnic lunch and drive to Port Isabel and rent a boat to get over to Padre Island.

That was in the wonderful days before Cameron County built a causeway over to the island and before Sen. Ralph Yarborough helped to get it designated a National Seashore.

Instead of miles and miles of motels, people, litter and beer cans, we had miles and miles of beautiful beach.

WE GOT off the boat, told them what time to come back and walked across the island to the Gulf. There was one old hotel over there with dressing rooms and cold drinks and shade.

The beach was beautiful and lonely. The seashells were many. There was no litter. The few people who went carefully packed bottles and papers back into their picnic basket. The beach was too beautiful to mar.

When I get to South Texas, I still go to that beach out of nostalgia. The waves and the sky are the same and still worth going to see. Everything else has changed.

BUT IT was a wonderful way to celebrate the Fourth of July. We always thought of our country as beautiful on the Fourth, because that beach was beautiful.

When we got home, we shared one box of sparklers and two Roman candles apiece. Dad shot off one sky rocket. Those were depression years, and that was lots of fireworks. I thought that was the way everybody celebrated the Fourth.

Then one year, in 1939, we found ourselves in New York State visiting Yankee relatives on the Fourth. They had a big family reunion and picnic. The kids raced around and played all afternoon, the men all played poker out in the garage and the women sat in the house and gossiped. I missed the beach. Late in the day, we went and watched a motorcycle hill climb. They had mountains, but I missed the beach.

THEN LATER, after many years in South Texas and always returning to the beach for the Fourth, I moved to Pecos with my husband and one-year-old child. In Pecos, the Fourth means rodeo, where the town boasts of the world's first rodeo on Independence Day. They still celebrate the Fourth with a rodeo.

PECOS HAS a huge parade with many floats and most of the town gets into the act. They literally party all week long. So my oldest child grew up thinking that everybody celebrated with a rodeo on the Fourth. When she went down to Austin to college, on the Fourth she asked where the rodeo was going to be?

Of course, they all cracked up laughing. Austin has a boat show and boat races.

THEN WE moved to Andrews, where they hold what they call an old-fashioned Fourth of July. This includes a community barbecue, fireworks, beauty contest, watermelon eating and horned foot races. Now that was fun, too.

I understand that Big Spring takes it back even further and has an older-fashioned-than-that Fourth. It seems the bell ringing celebration held here on the evening of the Fourth of July is patterned after the original Fourth. Also this year, the tennis center will be busy with the Highway 80 tennis tournament on the Fourth.

I GUESS it doesn't really matter so much how you celebrate it, if sometime, during the day, you remember what it's all about — the date we declared our independence as a nation.

Professionals?

William F. Buckley Jr.

The early testimony of John Dean throws light on the risky uses of the term "professional." There was, for instance, the so-called Liddy Plan. This Plan was unveiled by Gordon Liddy before John Mitchell and Jeb Magruder and John Dean in the early months of 1971. It called for doing a real job during the political conventions. In Miami, prostitutes would be loosed throughout the Democratic Convention, to tease secrets from the politicians and delegates. In San Diego (where the Republicans were at that time scheduled to meet), the anticipated anti-Nixon demonstrators would be — presumably Liddy was talking about the ringleaders, though who knows, who knows — mugged, and others of them kidnapped south of the border to Mexico, where they would lose their appetite for anti-Nixon activity.

THE ENTERPRISE, Liddy said, would cost a million dollars. But — only professionals would be used. The very best girls. Presumably, also, the very best muggers, and the very best kidnapers. No amateur kidnapers. And then Dean said that on one "Social" occasion he had been told by one of the security people gathered around the White House about tapping the telephone of a "Newsmen." That was really something, the bugger had said to Dean. He remembered having simultaneously to hold the ladder for the technician who was installing the bug at the other end, while at the same time having to look to the right and to the left in case anyone showed up in the back alley in which they were doing their business. One could only think of Abbott and Costello installing a wiretap.

JOHN MITCHELL'S reaction, said Dean, was to wink surreptitiously at Dean and Magruder while Liddy was solemnly going on about the kidnapers and muggers and prostitutes. Then — and here I think is a clue to the surpassing mysteries of Watergate — John Mitchell did what, Dean said, he characteristically did in any situation. He puffed on his pipe, and then said the most banal things he could think of, more or less to decompress the human tension. Bismarck, and one supposes J. Edgar Hoover, would have puffed on a pipe and then ordered the men in the white suits to come and take him away. John Mitchell just said that a million dollars was too much. It is only surprising that Liddy, who prided himself on thinking of every detail didn't say that they could get the million back in ransom money for the kidnapped demonstrators.

SO IT WENT during that strange season. Somebody said that Sen. Kennedy should be followed day and night. Somebody else said look, that's going to be rough, because it just isn't likely that you can follow a guy like Kennedy day and night without somebody noticing. In fact, the somebody who notices could very well be a security man assigned to protect Sen. Kennedy and he might suspect that the people following Kennedy day and night are trying to kill him. So they report to the FBI. And the FBI comes and arrests the people following Kennedy — only to find that they are working for the White House. One gathers that the plan was most reluctantly dropped.

PROFESSIONALISM! The entire lot of them, said Dean, didn't find out, so far as he knew, the name or the names of anybody who was leaking the security information to the press. It is as if one were to drop a hydrogen bomb on a small city with the intent of doing away with a statue, which was then spotted by aerial photography as the only artifact left standing. I remember the passage published a dozen years ago in a journal of opinion: "The attempted assassination of Sukarno last week had all the earmarks of a CIA operation. Everybody in the room was killed except Sukarno."

HOW DOES one cultivate professional skills in such activities as the Committee to Re-Elect the President, and the White House security people, were asking for? One hopes, and then sometimes wonders, whether other matters are being professionally attended to. For instance, the economy, which sometimes looks as if it were one of Gordon Liddy's lesser projects.

IS THAT WHERE IT'S HEADED?

Yeah, Why Go To Pot?

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — "What am I going to do when I retire?"

This question stirs a feeling akin to panic in many Americans as they near the end of their time in harness.

Most of us complain now and then about how routine our lives are, but as retirement looms we begin to look upon that routine as a kind of sanctuary. We want to cling to it. It is our lifeline.

Survivors agree that the best way to minimize retirement panic is to prepare for it ahead of the event by making constructive plans on where you will live and how you will spend your time.

Somehow I have the feeling this advice falls a little short. It seems to me that it is as important to decide what you're not going to do after retirement as it is to decide what you will do.

The list is purely tentative, so far, but at the moment here are a few things I am determined not to do:

Go to pot. Cigars are good enough to me.

Develop a hobby. What is the use of collecting things after 65? Your heirs only throw it out later as trash.

Join a Golden Years Club immediately. I don't feel like jumping into a sardine canful of old folks the very day I retire. Later maybe.

Learn to play bridge or chess. Most of the people you meet who make a ritual of games are bores or small-time card sharps.

Haunt a golf course. I'd rather work every day than have to play golf every day.

Marry a rich widow. Why go to hell so soon? There is no worse hell than living off a wealthy woman's alms — even if you're 80.

What are the things a fellow can do after retiring that will enable him to lead a more contented life? Here are a few things on my list of things to do:

Become more crotchety. An old man without crotchets is as dull as a bowlful of tapioca pudding at an orgy.

Take a trip or two on a tramp steamer.

See Africa from stem to stern.

Learn a foreign language in a place where they speak it.

Never visit a dentist again.

Make a bonfire of my 25 books on dieting.

Run off with a red-haired nurse or waitress even if it keeps me broke the rest of my life buying her hair dye.

Who's afraid of retirement? Not the man who is prepared.

Exit Herb Klein

Rowland Evans

WASHINGTON — The coincidence of John Dean's devastating Senate testimony and Herbert G. Klein's final week in the Nixon administration points up why Richard Nixon's presidency is on the brink of ruin.

THE WIDELY known but largely untold story is that Klein, as the administration's director of communications, has been ignored and humiliated by the White House. At one scarcely believable point last summer, the Nixon palace guard was ready to deepen the humiliation by preventing him from even attending the Republican national convention. Like other Nixon lieutenants similarly demeaned, Klein was guilty of having contacts beyond the White House walls and advice the President found unpalatable.

THE CONCLUSIONS are inescapable. Had Herb Klein been able to maintain his old, pre-White House intimacy with Mr. Nixon, he might well have discovered the Watergate affair. Had he discovered it, he surely would have protested and warned the President. Instead, the new generation of Nixon advisers ushered in disaster.

Klein is not alone among White House aides who might have prevented Watergate but instead were eased out of authority: Pete Peterson, Robert Ellsworth, John Sears, Robert Finch, Stephen Hess, Bryce Harlow, Pat Moynihan, Donald Rumsfeld. The common denominators of this varied lot are broad experience and widespread contacts.

MR. NIXON once relied on such broad-gauged assistants, including San Diego newspaper editor Klein, one of his closest advisers in the late 1950s and during his 1960 presidential campaign. But as Mr. Nixon's attitude toward the press hardened, so did his attitude toward Klein. Even in 1960, he complained privately about Klein's "crybaby" recommendations for easier press access, brumbling that Herb wanted to make it easier on himself rather than help the candidate.

Mr. Nixon knew what he wanted for his second presidential try in 1968: a hard-nosed press secretary without friends in the press or unpleasant recommendations. H. R. Haldeman came up with a young advertising executive named Ron Ziegler. Klein was kept at arm's length, increasingly criticized by the Imperious Haldeman.

KLEIN'S HOPES of becoming presidential press secretary were disappointed in 1969 when the entirely programmable Ziegler was appointed and Klein got the new post of director of communications for the executive branch. Still, Klein maintained his loyalty. The reward was more humiliation. Kenneth Clawson, a Washington Post reporter, last year was given control of Klein's department (while Klein kept the title). Presidential aides leaked word that Klein would be quitting by election day but never so informed Klein. The final provocation — as planned — was to make life unbearable for Klein by keeping him home in Washington while every Nixon ribbon clerk went to the Republican convention in Miami Beach.

Brezhnev's Info

WASHINGTON — Leonid Brezhnev stopped off to see French President Georges Pompidou on his way back to Moscow and, of course, they talked about their mutual friend, Richard Nixon.

"MON CHER ami," said President Pompidou, "how was your visit to the United States?"

"Is fantastic!" said Secretary Brezhnev. "I was at the White House, Camp David and San Clemente."

"Alors," said Pompidou, "when I met with Nixon all I got to see was Iceland."

"GOSPODIN POMPIDOU, you should see the dacha Nixon has in San Clemente. It must be worth two, three million dollars."

"I didn't know he was doing that well as President."

"He doesn't do that well but he has friends. He explained to me how he bought the place. It seems he has this friend Abplanalp who loaned him the money to buy San Clemente. Then Abplanalp bought back everything but five acres so Nixon didn't owe Abplanalp anything. Nixon got the house for nothing, and Abplanalp got the land around San Clemente and everyone was happy."

"HOW CAN he keep up three houses on his salary?" Pompidou asked.

"Is simple," Brezhnev replied. "Security."

"Quelle security?" Pompidou asked. "Every time something has to be done to San Clemente dacha, Secret Service says is for security."

"BON IDEE!" Pompidou said. "I think I'll meet with my security people and have them fix up my home at St. Tropez. I could use a new guest house and a sauna."

"I am going to tell my security people to build me a movie theater and a golf course," Brezhnev said.

"What else did Nixon tell you?" Pompidou wanted to know.

"He said the best investment he ever made was buying the dacha at Key Biscayne. He got the government to make $579,907 worth of improvements on this dacha so if he ever wants to sell it, it will be worth three times what he paid for it."

POMPIDOU nodded. "I have always said about Nixon that he may not know how to protect the dollar abroad, but he really knows how to buy Florida real estate."

Poor Old Toilet Seat

"Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like to know if there is any danger in sitting on a toilet seat in a public rest room. My husband says I should put toilet paper on the seat first.

I go to college every day and use the rest room every hour or so between classes. I say if the seat is cold, any germs would be dead. What do you say? Should I take the extra time to line the seat first?" — Mrs. L. B.

I am sure lining the seat would be a waste of time — and unless you dispose of the paper afterwards (as some people don't) you have a messy-looking place for someone else to use.

The poor old toilet seat has taken quite a beating over the years, but when you get down to facts, I don't know of any disease that is disseminated that way. Fear of it is an emotional rather than a logical reaction.

So I'm not worried about your welfare in that regard — but I am curious as to why you urinate so frequently. Is it a matter of "nerves" or do you have a urinary infection? If the latter, you might do better to have your doctor check on it.

There's no special reason to be afraid of it, because somebody else has touched the seat, any more than you acquire diseases by touching the railing of a stairway — which in a public building may be touched by 20 or 50 or 100 times as many people.

Of course I am as repelled as anyone else by a rest room that is just plain dirty, and I stay away from such a place as I would from any other place in such a category.

But really, the only genuine risk I can think of in public rest rooms (and it isn't confined just to rest rooms) is perhaps picking up a louse. If the place is lousy, stay out of it, because lining the seat with paper isn't going to do much of anything for you anyway.

Generally a doctor prefers to use a word that describes more accurately the type of pneumonia involved.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a girl, 22, and have been douching every day because I have a heavy discharge. Could this be harmful? My doctor says there is nothing physically wrong with me. — M. J.

A heavy discharge is not normal. About the only sensible suggestion I can make is that you see a gynecologist — a specialist in such matters.

this term. Is there really such a thing? — B. J.

Oh, yes. It's merely a loose term for pneumonia, or pneumonitis, when the patient has an inflammation or infection in the lungs but isn't sick enough to realize that he ought to go to bed until the infection is overcome.

Sometimes such patients are rugged enough to throw off the infection anyway; but sometimes the case progresses into a really serious one.

It's not a very exact term. Generally a doctor prefers to use a word that describes more accurately the type of pneumonia involved.

MY ANSWER

I read all your wise sayings in the papers, and watch you on television. Why is it, though, that you have never mentioned Matthew 22, and that reference to Caesar? Don't you think we are defacing God by placing Him on our money?

I assume you have reference to the statement on our money "In God We Trust." Actually, there is no representation of God I am aware of on our coins or bills that would qualify for worship.

In the chapter you mention, Christ was teaching that if they accepted the coins of Caesar, they were obligated to pay taxes to him. The principle of government loyalty and support was here established — a principle, however, that was incorporated in a higher one — that of loyalty to God.

The enemies of Jesus that day were trying to establish a conflict of duty. He showed them, however, that there was really a harmony, which linked both of them together. Naturally, Jesus called them hypocrites because knowing their hearts, He saw their desire to trap Him while ostensibly seeming to flatter Him.

As a matter of fact, if Americans don't have a healthy dual allegiance to both God and country, we invite our doom as a nation.

A Devotion For Today..

God keeps faith, and he will not allow you to be tested above your powers, but when the test comes he will at the same time provide a way out, by enabling you to sustain it. (1 Corinthians 10:13)

PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, help us to trust Thee for all that is to come. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Vandals Drain Water Tank In Lordsburg

LORDSBURG, N.M. (AP) — Mayor Alan Koff asked residents today to use water only for drinking and cooking because of a severe shortage. Koff said a combination of vandalism, excessive use and extremely hot weather caused the shortage. He said he had no idea how long the shortage might last.

Because of the vandalism, Koff said, police are guarding the main water tank. Koff said this city of 10,000 population had been consuming about 2.5 million gallons of water each day and production is considerably less than that.

At 9 a.m., he said, there was only one foot of water in the city's 250,000-gallon storage tank. All three of the city's wells were operating at full capacity, he said. The main cause of the shortage, Koff said, was repeated attempts by vandals to drain the main water tank. They have been partially successful each time, he said. The latest incident was Tuesday night.

Turbine Idea Saves Energy

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston mechanical engineer says the wind-powered, rooftop turbine ventilator could help solve the energy shortage problem.

John V. Felter, president of Triangle Engineering Co., Inc., said the use of turbine ventilators have saved homeowners up to 20 per cent or more in electric bills which in turn represents an enormous savings in electric energy.

"The wind-driven turbine cools the home 24 hours a day without using any energy," Felter said. "Even on a windless day the trapped attic heat is released through the turbine roof openings."

"By eliminating the radiant heat load above the household living areas, it is possible to increase the efficiency of home air conditioning units."

"Actually, the many letters we have received claim greater savings but for the sake of discussing energy saving we have established $5 a month as the average savings."

"We already have sold more than 500,000 turbine coolers which are on about 250,000 households. This totals $1,250,000 a month, saved on electric bills during hot weather. If electricity costs 1 1/2 cents per kilowatt hour, which is the national average, it multiplies out to 187,500,000 KWH saved per month."

So Far, No Cases Of Screwworms Reported Here

Howard County has not had a report of screwworms since the season began in May, Ronnie Wood, assistant county extension agent, said. Texas also is down in sharp contrast to the 4,197 cases reported last year, Texas A&M University, reported.

Wood said the problem last year probably originated in Mexico where an eradication program had not been as stringent. Wood said the screwworm eradication laboratory in Mission almost completely controlled the situation for eight or 10 years until the sudden outbreak last year. Now Mexico has stepped up its control program, apparently turning the tide.

The screwworm fly lays eggs in open cuts or scratches of warm blooded animals, and these hatch worms that eat the surrounding flesh.

The laboratory sterilizes male flies with atomic radiation and releases them to mate with females to hatch only once, Wood said.

The laboratory is in the U.S. Department of Agriculture and cooperates with Arizona, California, New Mexico and Mexico and well as Texas.

One-Joint Rule For Cops Erased

DALLAS (AP)—You can become a Dallas policeman now even if you once smoked a marijuana cigarette.

The police department has announced it has removed its rule automatically disqualifying any candidate for the force who admitted to smoking one marijuana cigarette within 12 months of his application.

Half the candidates screened during one month were rejected because of the one-joint rule, said Lt. Bird E. Senter, commander of the personnel division.

Vote Cost-Of-Living Increase For Persons On Social Security

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate-House conference today approved a 5.6 per cent cost-of-living increase for persons on Social Security, a move that appears to have a good chance for House acceptance.

As adopted by the Senate 72 to 17, the higher Social Security payments would not result in increased payroll deductions. If approved by the House, the increase would face an uncertain fate in the White House. Nixon administration officials have opposed the higher payments.

Managers of the measure said they would try to arrange a Senate-House conference today. The Social Security hike was a rider, attached with many others, to a bill that would extend the present $465-billion national debt ceiling for 5 months.

This ceiling drops to $400 billion at midnight Saturday, unless the bill is enacted. The government could not meet its financial obligations under the lower figure.

The Senate remained in session until 11 p.m. Wednesday taking 15 separate roll call votes to complete action on the debt limit measure.

Other riders would liberalize benefits for aged, blind and disabled persons on the welfare rolls; try again to enact the ban on use of federal funds to bomb Cambodia, which President Nixon vetoed yesterday on an appropriations bill; restrict sharply the President's impoundment powers; revise the $1 tax checkoff presidential campaign financing plan; fix a $268.7-billion spending ceiling for fiscal 1974; increase from $2,100 to $3,000 a year the amount a Social Security recipient can earn without losing any retirement payments; and liberalize the emergency unemployment compensation program for long-term jobless persons.

City To Refill Elevated Tank

The elevated water storage tower will be filled Monday, following weeks of being empty while work was done on the reservoir, according to City Manager Harry Nagel. Filling the storage will increase the water department's storage capacity and improve water pressure in some areas of the city, Nagel added.

MAY BECOME FIRST TEXAS HIGHWAY PATROLMAN

Judith Ann Prince, a 23-year-old blue-eyed brunette from Odessa, may become Texas' first uniformed female state highway patrol officer. The 5-foot-8-inch, 144-pound former Texas Tech University student began training as a member of the new Department of Public Safety training class at the academy in Austin Tuesday. Here Miss Prince sights down the barrel of a .357 magnum pistol which she will learn more about in the latter part of her training.

Trains To Become Texas' First Fem Highway Cop

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A petite brunette with close-cropped hair and sparkling blue eyes began training today with the aim of becoming Texas' first uniformed female state highway cop.

Judith Ann Prince, 23, of Odessa, signed up Tuesday as a member of the new Department of Public Safety training class at the DPS academy in Austin. She got her issue of khaki pants and shirt just like all the male students in her class.

It was obvious her companions liked the way the khakis fit.

Miss Prince, a 5-foot-8-inch, 144-pound former student of Texas Tech University, is single, and has no previous law enforcement experience. She has 58 hours of college credit at Tech with a major in physical education.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Prince Jr., of Odessa. Her father is an accountant.

The DPS class will graduate Oct. 26 after 18 weeks and 849 hours of law enforcement studies. Those who successfully complete the training will be assigned to one of the four uniformed divisions of the DPS—the actual highway patrol, the license and weights division, the motor vehicle inspection division and the drivers license division.

The University of Texas of the Permian Basin will become the primary center for the Permian Historical Society archives next week when the move begins Monday to house the society's entire collection of books, artifacts and records at the new University.

To be housed in the Rare Book Room of the Learning Resources Center, the collection will be accessible to society members and the public.

As the official curator of the historical society, UT-Permian will develop and collect items of historical interest to the Southwest and the Permian Basin area.

In addition to the historical society material, the UT-Permian library is the center for university archives and recently was named Texas' first Regional Resource Depository.

David Clyde Wows Fans With Big League Debut

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Twins 4-3 before a sellout crowd of 35,698. The lefthander walked the first two batters and thought, "Good Lord, here it is the first inning and I'm not going to get anybody out. They're just gonna rip me."

Then Clyde struck out Bob Darwin, George Mitterwald and Joe Lis to a thunderous ovation from the fans, who've had precious little to shout about in the Rangers' two years in North Texas.

Astros Double Up On Reds

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Astros had Cincinnati seeing double Wednesday night in a 10-2 rout of the defending National League champion Reds.

The Astros scored six runs on doubles by Skip Jutz, Tommie Agee and Doug Rader to start a new winning streak. The Reds had whipped the Astros 5-1 Tuesday, snapping a four-game winning streak.

Jutze's batterymate Jerry Reuss went the distance for Houston, picking up his 10th victory against five losses.

Reuss broke up a scoreless game with a run-scoring single off loser Fred Norman in the fifth before the Reds took a 2-1 lead in the sixth on RBI singles by Dan Driessen and Dave Concepcion.

Then the Astros cracked back with two of their doubles in the sixth. Rader started it with a two-run clout. Jutze added his two-bagger for two more runs and Reuss drove in another score with a sacrifice fly.

Young Fireballer Gets 4-3 Victory

TEXAS pumped a little homegrown excitement into its ballpark Wednesday night, unveiling 18-year-old No. 1 draft choice, against the Minnesota Twins.

The Rangers came away from the young lefthander's debut with a 4-3 victory and perhaps more important, something for a record crowd of 35,698 to talk about.

"I don't want to wind up like John Carlos, Tommie Smith and those others who couldn't cut it in pro football because they had no work in college," Dill said Wednesday night after becoming the first winner of two gold medals in the 1973 Pacific Conference Games at Etobicoke Centennial Stadium.

Before the game, many fans expressed confidence that Clyde would succeed. "Why wouldn't he be here if I didn't think he was good?" asked one. No one was more confident

Youth Keeps Pace With Veterans At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The youth movement in tennis is keeping pace with the established stars this week at Wimbledon.

While Margaret Court and Ilie Nastase both top-seeded, advanced, their feats were matched by Bjorn Borg and Chris Evert, who also won.

Borg, the 17-year-old Swedish ace, scored a 6-4, 6-2, 6-4 victory over Belgium's Patrick Hombbergen. Seeded No. 6 in the tourney, he is providing some glamour to the men's singles division, which was stripped when the Association of Tennis Professionals ordered its boycott in sympathy for Niki Pilic.

Nastase, the flamboyant Romanian who is defying the boycott, had to suffer with a bad back during his 6-2, 7-9, 7-5, 6-1 victory over Ivan Motna of Colombia.

Two Players Hit The Cycle

Joe Torre had never done it before. Mike Schmidt had just nine days earlier.

What 33-year major league veteran Torre did Wednesday night was hit for the cycle—single, double, triple and home run—as the St. Louis Cardinals pounded out 22 hits and blasted Pittsburgh 15-4, pushing the beleaguered Pirates back into the National League East cellar.

What Philadelphia rookie Schmidt did was repeat his act of June 19 when, just like Wednesday, he followed an intentional walk to Tommy Horton with a grand slam home run against New York.

THE HUCKSTER Ali Beats Drum For Norton Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — "I been takin' a lot of abuse because you been in the ring playin' and I don't like that," shouted the man, shaking his fist at Muhammad Ali.

"I'm through playin'." Ali shouted back — and the crowd roared approval.

The scene was outside a movie theater on 125th street in Harlem, one of a dozen stops Ali made on a bus tour Wednesday to the metropolitan area to "meet my people" and promote the closed-circuit telecast of his rematch with Ken Norton Sept. 10 in Los Angeles.

While he hollered, posed, mock-spurred and signed autographs at each stop, Ali seemed to put something extra into his Harlem appearance.

"I'm back home," the native of Louisville, Ky., shouted as he stepped off the bus before launching into verbal exchanges with an appreciative audience that crackled like hammad Ali.

"Nobody is going to break my jaw and get away with it," he shouted in reference to his 12-round loss to Norton in which his jaw was broken. "He's gotta pay for it."

Then it was back on to the bus, which pulled away for the next theater, with Ali sitting at a window with a bull horn. For a full 12 blocks the former heavyweight champion put on a non-stop verbal blitz which told everyone within earshot that he was the greatest, the prettiest, the real champion and a living legend.

Ron Hovda held the Starfighters to three hits while his mates on the Rockets blasted two pitchers for 13 hits and an 11-3 International League victory Wednesday evening.

The stylish young hurler struck out 12 batters, then collected one of the Rockets hits. This strengthens the Rocket claim to second place, leaving their season's record at 13-3.

Paul Dunbar had the hot bat for the Rockets with two doubles and a single. Joel Howard chipped in with a pair of doubles and Chris Smith's double in the top of the sixth with the bases loaded drove in three runs. Others with timely hits included Anthony Cherry with two singles, Mark Salazar a double.

Jake Valenzuela and Wayne Coffey toiled on the mound for the Starfighters. Scott Goodlife figured in all the runs for the losers, getting two doubles, driving in two runs and scoring the other one himself. The Rockets and Starfighters were even through the first two evenings, then the Rockets pulled ahead in the third, while the Starfighters were blanked the rest of the way.

Artificial Turf Neither Villian Nor A Panacea

NEW YORK (AP) — Artificial turf may not be all it's cracked up to be—but it's not the villain that the National Football League Players Association says it is.

The NFLPA asked Commissioner Pete Rozelle last week for a moratorium on the installation of artificial turf, contending that it may be the cause of increased and more severe injuries.

But on Wednesday, Rozelle said there won't be any moratorium and released a study by the Stanford Research Institute which says that, when it comes to causing major injuries, there's no difference between artificial turf and the real thing.

But the lack of a constantly cleared "buffer zone" along the sidelines, the lack of proper warmup time after halftime and the improper use of equipment came in for some blame and the NFL is taking steps to correct those problems, Rozelle said at the league's annual owners meeting, expected to wind up early today.

Teams will have a few more minutes beyond the usual 15-minute halftime break for more extensive warmups, Rozelle said. And each team will be subject to fines if it fails to keep its buffer zone clear of all its own personnel and players and anyone else along its sideline.

Quarterbacks and running backs—the men who usually carry the ball—are subject to greater injuries than the men in "the pit," the linemen, said the study, which noted that linemen are capable of playing with more injuries than the ball-handlers.

Cubs Honor City Sunday

Mayor Wade Choate will toss out the first pitch Sunday when the Midland Cubs stage "Big Spring Night" during their series with league-leading El Paso.

A pre-game clinic for the youth baseball players of Big Spring and a special money-raising project for the local Little League highlight the night, first of its kind sponsored by the Texas League Cubs.

Game time is 7:45 p.m., but the clinic, to be conducted by Manager Al Spangler and the Cub players, will get under way at 6:15 p.m. Players in their baseball uniforms will be admitted free.

Other prices will be $1.25 for adults and 50 cents for students, but if spectators present special ducaes 25 cents on each adult ticket and 15 cents on the student admission will be refunded to the Big Spring Little League. Tickets are being distributed through the Little League players here.

Yanks Belt Birds, 20-1

The Yankees exploded just about every time they got a chance Tuesday night and walked away with a 20-1 Sophomore League win over the Orioles.

Winning pitcher Lynn Dixon allowed just two hits, both to Tindol of the Orioles, as the Yanks upped their season mark to 7-2.

Dixon, Woods, Olague, Sanchez and Rubio all had two hits in the winning effort, and Hernandez added one. Glen Daniels was the Orioles' losing pitcher.

Crampton Even Bet To Get In Million Dollar Circle

CHICAGO (AP) — Bruce Crampton is an even-money bet to pass the million-dollar mark in career earnings this week in the $175,000 Western Open Golf Tournament.

It's something he'd very much like to do — join Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Billy Casper and Lee Trevino as the game's only official millionaires. The sturdy Australian veteran would be the first foreigner to hit that figure.

"The money is important, and the titles. Don't let anyone tell you that it isn't," Crampton said before teeing off today in the first round on the 6,654-yard, par-71 Midlothian Country Club course.

"But it's at least as important, to know that you've competed so successfully over here," or example, he pointed to the $32,000 first prize he won last week when he made the American Golf Classic his fourth victory of the year.

His fourth victory of the year last week in the American Golf Classic, and its $32,000 first prize, boosted him into the season's leading money-winning spot with $204,209. He's the first foreign player to hit $200,000 for a season.

And he now has $995,652 for his career—just $4,348 short of becoming the game's fifth million-dollar winner.

He could finish as low as 10th in this tournament and make it. Since he's finished ninth or better in exactly half his starts this season—10 of 20—he figures to be an even money bet to make it before heading for Scotland and the British Open.

Other standouts in this old tournament—this is the 70th Western Open—include Trevino, Palmer, Casper, Masters champ Tommy Aaron and defending titleholder Jim Jamieson.

Talons' Uprising Beats Sabres, 8-2

An explosive third inning propelled the Talons to an 8-2 victory over the Sabres in an International Little League game.

The Talons turned six hits into as many runs in their big frame. Richard Trevino, Yarbrough, Walton, Mota and Larson each got two hits for the victors, while Yarbrough shackled the Sabres with two hits by J. Huckaba and Fulkerson.

GEORGIA CAGER PICKS CLEMSON

Recruiting Ordeal Finally Over

CORDELE, Ga. (AP) — "I but I don't know the exact number," says Mrs. Wilma Robinson. "It's a nasty job." She speaks from experience. College recruiters flocked to her modest three-bedroom brick home in this south central Georgia town seeking for their firstborn's 18th birthday on May 16 because it was "just a nice growing 7-foot-1, 220-pound son, Wayne 'Tree' Rollins.

The family has lost count of nice. The number of schools contacting them.

"It was 232 before I played in a national all-star game during basketball, waiting until his Kentucky Derby week at Louisville, when an older brother got him. There were others after that.

As a sophomore, he transferred to the de-segregated Crisp County High School where Coach Bud Denham spotted the then 6-foot-6 youth and persuaded him to play.

It wasn't until his junior year that Rollins made the varsity, averaging 17 points and 15 rebounds per game. Last season he averaged 25 points, 18 rebounds and eight blocked shots, setting single game school records in the respective categories of 42, 29 and 20.

Mrs. Robinson, a staunch Baptist who is an instructor in a retardation center here, made an early decision to watch closely the recruiting of her son.

"When they first started recruiting him," she said, "I noticed in the papers and on TV schools being placed on probation. I told Wayne not to take anything, to work for whatever he got. They kept saying what they would give him if he signed with their school. I didn't like that at all."

One school Mrs. Robinson declined to identify really drew her ire.

"It seemed like every time I drove home from work this guy was sitting out front in a new car. He said it would be Wayne's if he signed with them. I told him to take the cars away. If he brought one, he must have brought five."

The offers also included cash money, Tree said.

"A whole bunch of them offered me $200 a week," he said. "They offered me a lot. I followed my mother's advice on all that though."

The National Collegiate Athletic Association twice sent investigators to this town to check on Rollins' recruiting.

"Clemson didn't offer me anything but a scholarship," he said. "Yes, the NCAA checked that out, too."

Rollins says he will major in parks and recreation and minor in math at Clemson. He graduated from high school with a C plus average, having trouble only with English, in which he made Ds.

Mrs. Robinson is glad the ordeal has ended.

"We'd go to bed with that phone ringing," she said. "It was always some coach. It was enough to drive a sane person up the wall."

"You bet I'm glad it's over. One school is still sending him letters, but I don't even let him see them."

Although outbit by the Jets, the Colts nevertheless took advantage of their opportunities and the opposition's mistakes to win a 10-3 American Little League victory Wednesday evening. The Jets got six hits, the Colts 5.

Ricky Daniels got the win, which made the Colts 16-3, and Rodney Floyd absorbed the loss that left the Jets at 8-11. Daniels had two hits for the winners, but Scott Vick, Mike Gomez and Terry Howell scored two runs each.

For the Jets, Jim Cordes and Billie Joe Minchew each had two hits, and Carl Mills, Bruce Carroll and Jim Cordes turned in a double play. The Colts picked up three runs each in the second, third and fifth.

Colts Notch Win In American LL

Optimists Explode For 14-4 Victory

The Optimists spotted the Hardwares three runs before they erupted with a five-run rally in the third and went on to win a Hi-Junior league game Wednesday, 14-4.

Gary Roberts of the Hardwares greeted Kenneth McMurry, winning pitcher, with a home run blast in the first inning, and the Hardwares built this to a 3-0 lead through the second. Mark Callahan absorbed the loss.

Virgil Spargo led the Optimists with three hits, two of them doubles and scored a pair of runs. Jodie Bennett of the Hardwares had a pair of hits and runs. The win pulled the Optimists up to 4-7 and left the Hardware team at 7-3.

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

Just like always, I'm a year behind on my reading. This time though, it's probably just as well. If I had read "Meat On The Hoof" when it was released, I might have felt compelled to say something anti-establishment, rash young man that I was, and the consequences might have been Mafia-like.

No kidding, I felt like the Eyes of Texas were upon me as I pored over the work of Gary Shaw, an also-ran football player at the University of Texas who took it upon himself to expose the corruptions of college football. If anyone had seen me reading a book that was actually ANTI-football, being a bona fide sports editor and all, well, I might have ended up in a dark, isolated cell deep in Memorial Stadium or somewhere.

The book was to be expected in our times of social change — as a matter of fact, Shaw reminded me of Dave Megyesy, who authored the controversial "Out of Their League" — and there's plenty of inside information everyone likes to read. But while it uses the juicy controversy as a selling point, "Meat On The Hoof" has much too much of Shaw's philosophical side, which is pretty dull reading unless you happen to be a sociologist.

Instead of devoting the entire book to stories, incidents, and people, Shaw seems very intent on luring people through these happenings just so he can analyze the characters and motives rather than letting the readers reach their own conclusions. Which is fine, I guess, if he can get people to follow him through these not-so-readable portions while waiting for him to return to the interesting stuff. I mean, it's his book.

Shaw was a high school hotshot as a linebacker at Denton in the early 1960s, and after the normal wooing and bidding by the colleges, he chose Texas — and was immediately brought back to reality.

He soon found that the coaches weren't really as interested in him as it seemed during the recruiting, and that for all its pretty red, white and blue covering, college football is actually big business. And that's why Darrel Royal (Daddy D, they call him) is probably the most popular man in the state today.

From the first taste of freshman hazing upon his arrival at Austin, through actually torturous spring drills, unattended injuries and agonizing sessions with trainer Frank Medina, and all the way up to a near mental collapse, Shaw keeps us intrigued with the way things functioned in the system. He makes Royal look like the original Plastic Man, and somehow you get the idea that the educational process in the world of the "jock" centered around the easiest courses and teachers they could find — and there was plenty of help from the UT brass.

Whoever said "We want a university our football team can be proud of" may have been joking, but according to Shaw, he had to be thinking Orange and White.

John Elliott, a defensive tackle for the New York Jets who was recruited at the same time as Shaw, saw things differently — quite differently. "That's just one person's viewpoint," said Elliott, who lives in Camp Wood, near Uvalde, in the off-season. "If I were a writer I'd write about how good it all was. To me, it was the greatest thing that could have happened."

"The way I look at it, who would Gary Shaw have been if he hadn't played football? We're both making money off it — just in different ways. Why knock it?" Elliott said he was never close friends with Shaw, but always considered him "a real intelligent, studious guy."

Elliott said Shaw's evaluation of Royal wasn't fair. Shaw said that many players never had more than one or two private conversations with Royal during their whole four years at UT. "I talked with Coach Royal quite a bit while I was there," Elliott said. "If they were too bashful to talk to him, that's their fault."

"He seemed to make a big deal about the harrassment. It's true, but I was from Warren, a Class A school with 120 kids, and if anyone should have been scared it should have been me. But all that hazing is half the fun of college. I'll agree, there were times when the coaches were awfully hard, and there were plenty of times I wanted to quit. But a lot of that is just to see what guys are made of."

"That book is his viewpoint, and I hope the public doesn't think all the players feel that way."

City-County Keep Costly Big Fleet On Road Work

By MARI CARPENTER and JOHN EDWARDS

Keeping up the streets and roads in Big Spring and Howard County is big business — and involves a lot of equipment and manpower. Together, City and County have 77 pieces of heavy equipment valued at upwards of $700,000.

The city street department alone has 24 pieces of heavy equipment with which it keeps up 172 miles of paved streets and 28 miles of unpaved streets, as well as 100 miles of alleys within the city limits.

Estimated actual value of the city's equipment is $250,000, according to James Campbell, director of public works.

City equipment includes two motor graders, two track-type loaders, one rubber-tired loader, four dump trucks one five ton steel-wheel roller, one 20 ton crane, one 800-gallon water truck, one 1,000-gallon asphalt distributor, two street sweepers, one 10-ton pneumatic roller, two low-boy semi-trailers, one tractor truck, and five flat-bed trucks.

TWENTY EMPLOYEES

The city has 20 fulltime employees in the street department who work trying to keep them in good shape, clean and repaired.

The total salaries, including fringe benefits for these 20 persons is $135,000.

In addition to the street department equipment, the city also operates one landfill loader which is in constant use by the sanitation department.

COUNTY ROADS

With an estimated 550 miles of county roads, including around 240 in paved roads, Howard County maintains a larger fleet of equipment than the city.

With new equipment recently purchased, the county will have 53 pieces of equipment, including 10 pickups, one double-bladed motor grader, nine motor graders, 12 dump trucks, two front-end loaders and one tractor with a front-end loader.

Also, two fuel (or service) trucks, two water trucks and two water-tank trailers, three winch trucks, two rotary sweepers, two rollers and one grid roller, one distributor and one chip spreader.

Also two asphalt carrying trailers, one low-boy trailer for hauling tractors, one float trailer, one tractor, one tractor-mower, one tractor post-hole-digger and mower, one patching truck, one pony drag, and one car.

HEFTY INVESTMENT

This list was prepared from an audit inventory dated July 1971, and extended to include the net new purchases. Mrs. Virginia Black, county auditor, said the 1971 inventory is soon to be updated. The purchase price of inventoried equipment, plus contracts for new net equipment, represents a total investment of around $450,000.

Of the above equipment, the county inventory shows three pickups were obtained through the Civil Defense program at minimal costs.

Most of the equipment was obtained in 1967 or after.

EMPLOYEES

Employed in the road department are 26 permanent employees and nine summer employees. Included in the 26 are management and the maintenance shop crew.

Last year, Marvin Hanson, road administrator, said more were employed in the road department. Salaries totaled $217,000 in 1972, according to the annual financial report.

But Mrs. Black estimates salaries will cost around $188,000 during 1973.

Agnew Denies 'Leaks' Rap

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has denied "categorically" that he was the source of leaks concerning the Paris peace talks on Vietnam in 1968.

However, Agnew said Wednesday that he was not disturbed by reports that former President Lyndon B. Johnson ordered the FBI to investigate at that time whether Agnew was the source of such leaks.

In a brief statement, Agnew said: "Certainly I have no complaint concerning any investigation of my activities for national security reasons if authorized by competent authority."

"With regard to the specific issue raised concerning the Paris talks in 1968, I deny categorically any involvement whatsoever."

The Agnew inquiry was one of the instances of political surveillance by the Federal Bureau of Investigation raised by John W. Dean III, the ousted White House counsel being questioned by the Senate Watergate investigating committee.

New Hymnal Published In Spanish

GEORGETOWN, Tex. (AP) — The first new Spanish language United Methodist book of hymns in 64 years was dedicated here recently through the efforts of an annual conference committee, a seminary and the denomination's publishing house.

Dr. John E. Proctor, president and publisher of the United Methodist Publishing House, presented a mock-up copy of the "Hymnario" to the resident bishop of the Rio Grande Annual Conference, O. Eugene Slater, in ceremonies at Southwestern University.

The annual conference is the denomination's only Spanish speaking conference. It is composed of 17,000 members in 146 churches in Texas and New Mexico.

Dr. Alfredo Nanez, editor of the hymn book and faculty member of Perkins School of Theology, Southern Methodist University, said the hymnal contains 394 hymns, the Psalter, General Aids to Worship, and The Ritual—all in Spanish.

"The project began nine years ago," said Anita Gonzales, Austin, secretary of the Rio Grande annual conference's Comité del Hymnario.

"Many time-honored favorite hymns have been translated, but some new hymns not appearing before in any collection have been included," said Mrs. Gonzales.

Mrs. Gonzales said Mrs. Nanez, wife of the editor, wrote several of the new hymns. "I have six of my hymns in the hymn book," said Mrs. Gonzales.

A 32-page "sampler" of the new hymnal was used during the June 8-11 annual conference.

Serve Noodles Fit For Kings

Food in early Russia was just sustenance until the ascendancy of the House of Romanoff to the throne. Then exciting new ways of life were introduced. Husbands were encouraged to bring their wives out into the open world. Members of the court were ordered to give balls and attend banquets, and, not too surprisingly, they found it was easy to grow accustomed to luxurious living.

From the period of the height of the Romanoff rule comes a treasury of recipes for rich soups, spectacular desserts, fish and game dishes and fancy roasts. Richness was the key word, and it's little wonder so many wonderful sauces, even to this day, bear the title "a la Romanoff."

One of the most familiar preparations is Noodles Romanoff, which, in its modern dress, offers a spicy and delicious high-protein element to lunch or dinner and helps the budget along by being filling as well as nutritious. A superb blend of spices and herbs gives this recipe its element of Romanoff richness, and extra food value is added when the thick, smooth sauce is made with Foremost Half-and-Half. For more protein bulk, that virtually eliminates the need for meat, stir two cups of cottage cheese into the sauce along with the noodles and two tablespoons chopped parsley.

NOODLES ROMANOFF

1/2 cup finely chopped onion
3 tbsps. butter
3 level tbsps flour
1/2 tsp. chervil
1/4 tsp. powdered thyme
1/4 tsp. powdered oregano
1/4 tsp. paprika
1/2 tsp. white pepper
2 tbsps. lemon juice
3 tbsps. salt
2 cups Half-and-Half
4 cups water
8 ozs. noodles
2 cups (1 pint) Cottage Cheese
2 tbsps. finely chopped parsley

Paprika for garnish
Cook onion in butter until soft but not browned. Blend in flour, herbs, paprika, pepper, lemon juice and 1 teaspoon salt. Blend in half-and-half. Cook and stir until sauce simmers and thickens. Keep hot. Bring water and remaining 2 teaspoons salt to boiling. Add noodles and cook just until tender, 8 to 10 minutes. Drain well. Combine hot sauce with noodles, Cottage Cheese and parsley. Turn into serving dish and sprinkle with paprika.

PIZZA-STYLE ICE CREAM SUNDAE
A hit with any crowd

Cookies, Ice Cream Make Snazzy Pizza

Get into the swing of things. Bring on a groovy pizza-style sundae made with Black Forest Torte. Pizza Pie Sundae is shaped like a pizza, and looks like a pizza, but the taste of the Torte, the crumbly cookie crust and a cherry sauce topping, won't be found at the local pizzeria!

Your hungry teenagers will agree that this is a real superstar snack. And it will be a hit with you, too, since the sundae can be ready at a moment's notice.
PIZZA PIE SUNDAE
1/2 gal. Black Forest Torte
Pizza Cookie Crust
1 can cherry pie filling (1 lb. 5 oz.)
1/4 cup white corn syrup
1 tsp. lemon juice
1/4 tsp. almond extract
Scoop balls of Black Forest Torte onto flat pan. Cover with foil and store in freezer. Bake and cool cookie crust. Combine cherry pie filling, syrup, lemon juice and almond extract; chill. When ready to serve, arrange torte balls on cookie shell and spoon on some of the sauce. Serve remaining sauce separately. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Pizza Cookie Crust:
Combine 1 1/2 cups fine vanilla wafer crumbs and 1 tablespoon sugar (set aside 2 extra tablespoons vanilla crumbs). Cut in 1/4 cup soft butter as for pastry. Add 1 beaten egg and mix well. Grease an 11-inch pizza pan generously. Sprinkle with the extra 2 tablespoons fine vanilla wafer crumbs. Pat cookie mixture in a thin, even layer in prepared pan. Bake in a 350 degree oven for 9 to 10 minutes, until edges are very lightly browned. Cool before filling.
Note:
Baked cookie shell may be topped with torte balls wrapped in foil and stored in freezer until ready to use. Allow to stand at room temperature about 10 minutes to soften slightly, before serving.

Mrs. Lancaster has two sons. Jerry Shortes is a court reporter in Midland. Larry Shortes and his wife, Joanne, reside in Lubbock where he is division manager for Pioneer Gas Company. Lancaster's son and his wife, Margaret, live with their two daughters in San Bruno, Calif.

When Mrs. Lancaster isn't traveling, she has a number of activities that keep her busy at home, and the one she enjoys most is interior decorating. Since moving into her home at 620 Birdwell about 2 years ago, she and her husband have changed about everything.

"The main thing we want in a home is comfort," said Mrs. Lancaster. "Nothing sumptuous, we just want it homey. I like people, and I want them to feel they can come over whenever they want to."

The Lancasters have knocked out walls and doors to make their home meet their life style. They prefer spacious rooms. They completely remodeled their kitchen, replacing old metal cabinets with rich-looking wooden ones. In the paneled den, they made a trundle bed that pulls out of one wall. Over it is a cedar closet. The home presents an open and comfortable appearance.

In her remodeled kitchen, Mrs. Lancaster is a skilled cook who enjoys the art. She prepares at least two meals a day, always beginning with breakfast. The couple has the larger meal of the day at lunchtime, and usually snacks in the evening.

"When I'm having a group in for a meal, I prefer simple preparations," said

Mrs. Lancaster. "Many times, I prepare things ahead of time and freeze them. This also helps when people come in on the spur of the moment."

For everyday eating, Mrs. Lancaster likes one-dish meals. She likes small and impromptu parties, and occasions like bridal or baby showers. The Lancasters belong to an "84" club. She is also vice president of City Home Demonstration Club, and does volunteer work at Big Spring State Hospital and local nursing homes. The Lancasters attend College Baptist Church, where she serves as an associate teacher for an adult class.

Lancaster likes fishing and some small bird hunting. He and his wife both like to read. She is a horseback riding fan, and also does some crocheting, sewing and ceramic work.

Mrs. Lynn Gray, travel consultant for First National Bank, outlined bank services available to people who are planning a trip, when she spoke Monday evening to National Secretaries Association at Coker's Restaurant.

Mrs. Gray said banks have facilities for assisting groups or individuals planning to travel. She said all contacts and arrangements in other cities and countries can be made through the bank's travel department, and that it is more economical to let a bank handle travel details locally.

Mrs. J. L. Ryals presided as the women discussed the upcoming international NSA convention July 17-22 in Denver, Colo. The next local meeting will be at 7 p.m., July 23 at Coker's Restaurant.

Not 'Applying'

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Cindee and I want to get married, but we have one small problem. Her father, He wants to be sure I will be a good provider. He is the personnel manager of a large company and he says before he decides, I will have to submit three letters of recommendation.

I know this sounds silly, but he is serious. I don't think getting married should be like applying for a job.

I feel certain I can support a wife but I don't think I should have to dig up any references. What should I do?

APPLICANT IN SEATTLE

DEAR APPLICANT: Would Cindee's father have submitted to such mumbo-jumbo to win her mother? After all, you're not marrying Boeing Aircraft. If you want Cindee and Cindee wants you (and you're old enough), tell her dad you'll do your best to support his daughter but the letters of recommendation are out.

DEAR ABBY: About two years ago I met an accountant in a bowling alley. Every night we'd have a few beers together and we became good friends. One night my friend told me his sister had invested in some stocks and had a very good week financially. Since I was going to make a deposit in the bank the next day,

Decorating Tips Given

Mrs. Henri Ann Wisener, interior decorator demonstrator, offered several decorating suggestions when she was guest speaker Monday for Howard County Young Homemakers in the home making room of Coahoma High School.

Using an assortment of wall and table top accent pieces, Mrs. Wisener created various arrangements and showed how the same pieces can be used to achieve several different looks. The decorating accessories included Spanish, early American, Mediterranean and contemporary pieces, many of which would blend with any decor. The items included wrought iron sconces, wall planters, plaques, mirrors, pictures and sculpture.

Mrs. Wisener said each room should have a central point of attention. She stressed the importance of attractive decorating in the entranceway and in the bathroom, saying these are areas that many guests see.

Mrs. Bobby Badger, vice president, presided. The next meeting will be July 23, with Mrs. Gary Roberts as hostess.

Bentsen Calls For Fast Pay, Price Lids

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, noting that the dollar is in effect being devalued for the third time in a year right now and that the economy is in serious trouble, has called for a swift reimposition of wage and price controls.

He said the intermediate freeze imposed by President Nixon isn't working and a resumption of controls similar to those in Phase Two should be applied, and fast.

He said the Watergate scandal is "a depressant for the entire country" but he said the economic instability was more responsible for the troubles with the dollar and the jitters on Wall Street.

The Texas Democrat reiterated his feeling that controls were abandoned prematurely earlier this year and that, as a result, inflation has soared.

"It is very important that we go into Phase Four very soon and get off this total freeze," he said, "so that the economists and people here and overseas can understand what's happening. I think the new controls should be something like in Phase Two, which was working and was taken off too soon."

Bentsen said he hasn't been watching the Watergate hearings taking place a floor above him in the Russell Office Building and he indicated that like everybody else he has to turn to the back of the newspapers to find news of anything else but Watergate.

He steered matters away from Watergate every time it has broached at his news conference, said he's participate in no talk of impeachment of the President and said "the other business is going on."

"The majority of decisions are being made within the bureaucracy," he said. "I think the President's influence in being able to mandate things is being lessened and there is more balance between the White House and Congress now."

While Bentsen said he hadn't formed opinions about the facts being brought out at the Watergate hearings concerning White House involvement in covering up the burglary, the senator said he thought Nixon ought to "hold a press conference and answer some of your questions."

He said he thought that would be preferable to his being summoned to Capitol Hill to testify. Bentsen said he was encouraged at the progress being made on legislation to limit future campaign contributions, which he sponsored. He said he also thinks cash contributions over $100 should be forbidden so that all future transactions can be traced.

Bentsen also said he was asking for two Senate committees to look into domination of the stock market by a handful of large banks and other institutional investors who are largely unregulated.

Pick Delegates For Seminar

Four high school students will make up the Howard County delegation to the 41st Annual Students Citizenship Seminar sponsored by the Texas Farm Bureau at Baylor University in Waco July 16-20.

To be among 500 students expected to attend are Carla Walker, Big Spring High junior; Alan Roman, Coahoma High junior; Gave Mosley and Cindy McDonald, both Sands High School seniors.

The seminar will include lectures, films and discussion concerning the American heritage and the threat of communism. Among speakers will be W. Cleon Skousen, former FBI agent and author of the book, "The Naked Communist."

First Manager Now On Duty

STANTON — Jimmy Mathis, the first city manager ever hired by the City of Stanton, began serving this week at the City Hall. He was obtained partly through the efforts of the Permian Basin Regional Council of Governments.

Mathis, who originally was from West Texas and born in Sterling City, had been serving in an administrative capacity in South Texas and was city manager at Schulenburg before coming to Stanton.

He and his wife, Jean, have a married daughter, and a nine-year-old son, Todd.

Stopping Federal Paychecks, Bombing Choice Up To Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate appears headed toward giving President Nixon a choice between stopping the bombing and stopping federal paychecks.

Senate war critics Wednesday began immediate efforts to force the issue after Nixon vetoed a bill that included a stop-the-bombing amendment. The House upheld the veto.

Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., chief sponsor of the anti-bombing provision in the vetoed $3.4-billion supplementary money bill, immediately won its inclusion in a bill extending the federal debt ceiling, where its fate was uncertain.

SEEMS CERTAIN — The amendment also was included in a third bill, the continuing resolution to provide funding for federal agencies after Saturday night, when the current fiscal year ends. Congress has not approved regular appropriations for the fiscal year beginning July 1, and government agencies need the continuing resolution if they are to have funds to operate.

The appropriations bill proposed to come before the Senate today, and seems certain to reach the President, with the anti-bombing amendment, before the week ends.

As passed by the House Tuesday, the amendment provides funds, both already provided and those appropriated by the resolution, to be used for any U.S. combat activities in or over Cambodia or Laos or off the shores of Cambodia or Laos.

Unlike the vetoed supplemental money measure, the debt ceiling bill and continuing resolution must become law by midnight Saturday for the government to continue to meet its financial obligations.

With a majority of the Senate clearly determined at this point to insist on a halt in bombing, the choice for Nixon could come down to a choice between the continued bombing of Cambodia or funds for federal operations, warned Eagleton and Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

"If the President doesn't want to stop the bombing and wants instead to stop the government from functioning, that is the President's responsibility," Mansfield shouted.

The fate of the first vehicle for the anti-bombing amendment was never in doubt, despite a statement Tuesday by Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., that Nixon might accept it.

A veto message was being drafted within hours of its final approval. Issued in San Clemente, Calif., it warned that the Eagleton amendment "would cripple or destroy the chances for an effective negotiated settlement in Cambodia."

Beginning and prospective motorcyclists are reminded that a free safety training program open to the public will be held Saturday.

The sheriff's office and Western Yamaha are conducting the one-day training session. Registration starts at 10 a.m. at the Memorial Stadium parking lot.

Both motorcycles and helmets will be provided by the Yamaha dealer.

Ex-POW Will Deny Charges

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Marine lieutenant colonel will deny "completely and vehemently" charges that he aided the enemy and mutinied while held captive in Hanoi, attorney Melvin Bell says.

Belli said he will defend Lt. Col. Edison W. Miller, who was the highest-ranking Marine held prisoner by North Vietnam.

Rear Adm. James B. Stockdale, deputy commander of all POWs held by North Vietnam, filed charges Tuesday against Miller and Navy Capt. Walter E. Wilber.

"Miller is amazed at the charges and doesn't know their basis. He says he never met the admiral who filed the charges," Belli said. "He says he never did anything at any time illegal and never tried to harm anyone else, any soldier or the country."

Miller, 41, whose wife filed for divorce May 31, will issue a three-page statement "in his own words completely and vehemently" denying the charges, Belli said.

SUBJECT OF MANHUNT — Joseph Bryan Sainton III is being sought in nationwide alert for the slaying of Mrs. Evelyn Estelle Howe who was found dead June 14 in her Dallas home.

Dollar Slumps To Record Lows

LONDON (AP) — The U.S. dollar jumped to record lows in European exchanges today to send the value of the West German mark above 40 cents for the first time.

The dollar set record lows in Frankfurt and Zurich and neared its lowest level in Paris. In London, the British pound reached its highest level in relation to the dollar since it was freed a year ago to float in line with market forces.

In Frankfurt, the dollar fell to 2.4750 marks amid rumors of an impending new upvaluation of the West German currency in relation to its Common Market neighbors. The dollar had opened fairly steady and virtually unchanged from Wednesday.

The dollar hit 4.1750 francs in Paris, only half a centime above its record low.

By midafternoon in Zurich the dollar was down to a record low of 3.008 Swiss francs.

The British pound jumped from 2.5785 dollars to 2.5945. Dealers have placed the blame for the dollar's weakness on American inflation, the Watergate scandal and U.S. trade problems.

As the dollar strengthened in Europe, the price of gold eased in bullion markets. It opened at $120.50 an ounce in London and $120.25 in Zurich. The price closed at $122.75 an ounce in both centers Wednesday.

The mark, which reached record highs in dollar terms earlier in the week, was straining at its links to the currencies of five other Common Market countries — Belgium, Denmark, France, Luxembourg and the Netherlands.

The Common Market partners decided last February to jointly float their currencies, agreeing to keep their exchange rates within 2.25 percent of each other.

Violence In Prison

EL RENO, Okla. (AP) — Three guards at the El Reno Federal Reformatory were injured Wednesday when they rushed to the aid of two inmates who had been stabbed.

It was the second outbreak of racially tinged violence in three days.

Correctional Supervisor Richard Barnett said a group of about 25 black inmates congregated near one of the dormitories. He said they apparently were involved in the stabbing of Ryan R. Rader, 23, of Austin, Tex., and Terrance Piercy, 22, of Albany, Ky., both white.

One guard was knocked unconscious with a trash can cover, another was beaten in the face by two black inmates and the third was cut on his right hand while trying to lock a door to the dining room to prevent other inmates from rushing out, officials said.

Both injured inmates were reported in satisfactory condition.

Two inmates were injured Monday in fights which officials said had racial overtones.

Who Is Telling Truth In Watergate Affair?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Time and again, the Senate Watergate investigators return to the question no single witness can answer: Who is telling the truth?

President Nixon denies involvement in the Watergate affair, or knowledge of the cover-up that cloaked its origins throughout the 1972 campaign and well into 1973.

John W. Dean III testifies that Nixon knew of the cover-up, of the efforts to prevent the scandal from reaching the White House or his campaign organization.

The White House counter-attacks, charging that Dean was the principal actor in the cover-up, and the author of the constitutional and political crisis spawned by the scandal.

Dean denies that, says that as a White House subordinate there was no way he could have done all that.

And the truth of the matter is not yet evident. One man's fact is innuendo to another.

Dean, the fired White House counsel, claims first-hand knowledge that Nixon was aware last September of the cover-up. Sen. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., terms Dean's account no more than an impression.

Sen. Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M., put the quandary to Dean: "How do you expect us to resolve the truth in this matter when you state one story... and the President states another story... and he does not appear before this committee?"

"I strongly believe that the truth always emerges," Dean replied. "I do not know if it will be during these hearings. I do not know if it will be as the result of further activities of the special prosecutor. I do not know if it will be through the processes of history. But the truth will come out some day."

With that, he offered to take a lie detector test.

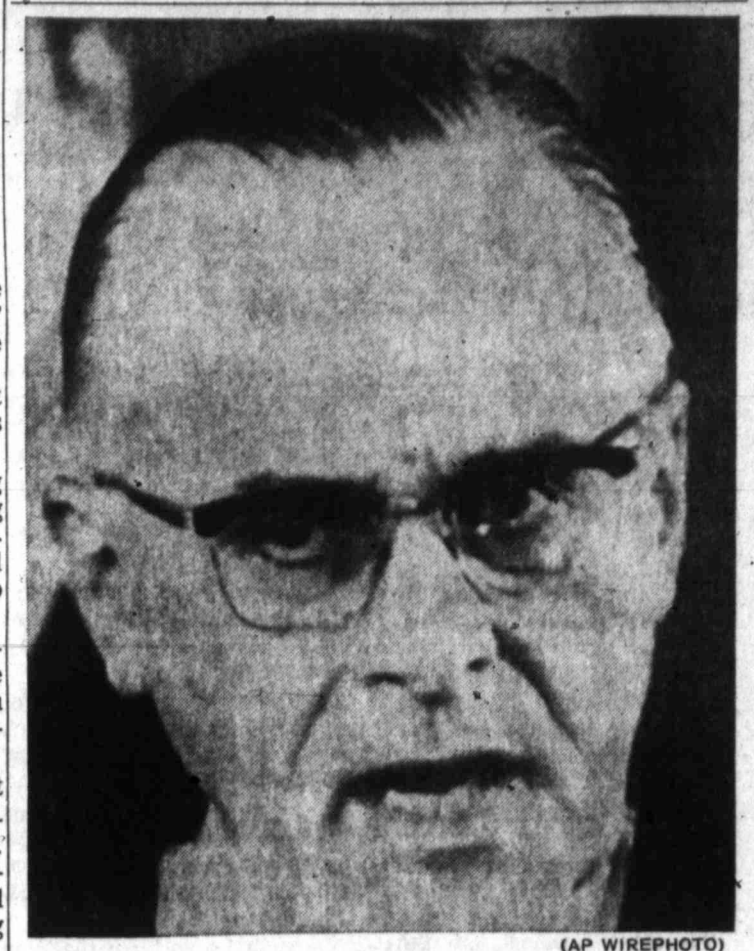

But there is no simple test for truth in a matter such as Watergate.

Only more witnesses, long hours of questioning, he testing of every account and recollection, can lead the Senate panel toward the truth about who knew what and who did what.

Dean faces such questions today. But witnesses to come are likely to be more important in determining whether his account stands.

And Nixon himself has not spoken directly on Dean's accusations of the past three days. Instead, White House spokesmen said the President stood on a May 22 statement denying any knowledge or involvement.

In his Senate testimony, Dean disputed portions of that statement as less than accurate.

MAKING A MOVE Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz

Calls Embargo On Exports Of Soybeans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration, alarmed at soaring livestock feed costs has ordered an immediate embargo on further exports of high-protein soybeans and other oilseed products.

"This is a drastic action," Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz told a news conference Wednesday. "It was not taken lightly."

Butz said, however, that the embargo—directed mainly at soybeans—would not reduce their exports greatly. He estimated that about 30 million bushels of soybeans probably would be saved by the embargo, a quantity he said might be worth $300 million at current prices.

One official said that a savings of 30 million bushels of soybeans represents less than a two weeks supply for U.S. users.

Sales to foreign markets from the 1972 soybean crop were roughly 450 million bushels.

The order was issued by Commerce Secretary Frederick B. Dent, who said that the embargo would last at least until new crops of soybeans and cottonseed, also covered, are harvested next fall.

Farmers, particularly poultry men, have complained that soybean meal, a prime ingredient in feed preparation, is so costly that they have had to cut back on production.

Cost of Living Council director John T. Dunlop called the embargo a move by the administration to put American consumers ahead of foreign trade.

George B. Watts, president of the National Broiler Council, told a reporter that the embargo effect might be slow in coming.

"We'll have to wait and see," Watts said. "It may provide relief, especially to those who are out of meal and can buy more if the price goes down. For those who have already stocked up, it could be another story."

The broiler chicken people want further relief, including exemptions from the price freeze to help offset high feed costs. Butz, answering reporters' questions, said the freeze is causing "a creeping paralysis" in the food industry.

However, Dent added quickly that the embargo on soybeans had "no relation" to the freeze and was taken strictly on the basis of reports that exports were rising much more rapidly than previously anticipated.

In Tokyo, the Japanese government expressed anger and concern over the embargo, but officials said the nation's supplies of the commodities are adequate for the immediate future.

Soybeans are a staple of the average Japanese diet. The country uses about four million metric tons of beans a year, about 90 percent of which is imported from the United States.

A spokesman for the Agriculture and Forestry Ministry said he was surprised by the embargo because the United States had repeatedly said it would take no action detrimental to Japan.

"There are many reasons why we are angry," he said. But he added that chief among the reasons is the fact that during past months the United States continually pressured Japan to increase its purchases of U.S. farm products.

Other Japanese government officials expressed concern that a prolonged U.S. embargo could lead to food shortages in Japan and subsequent soaring prices.

Listen To Mama

Jean Adams
TEEN FORUM

BIG PARTY: (Q.) I am invited to this party. A whole bunch of teen-agers are invited. It takes about an hour and a half to get there.

The person who is giving it is a man in his 40s. He used to live in my town. He had a son our age (16) who died of cancer. He wants us all to go up. The party is for us. But my mother won't let me go. She says it's too far!

I want to go because this man is very nice. How can I get my mother to let me go? He is going to have slides, a cookout and telescopes to look at the stars. Do you see anything wrong with this? — Misunderstood in Indiana.

(A.) The way you describe it, the party sounds exciting. But parties of this nature do not always end the way they begin.

Your mother, I am sure, is worried about more than the distance. Listen to her, take her advice, and thank her for caring for you.

LETTER: (Q.) I just got a letter from the girl I love saying she doesn't love me. It was quite a shock. I am going into the Navy next week and am afraid I'm going to start drinking hard again.

I had it under control, because I thought there was a good reason to give it up.

She Was Almost Too Close To Deer

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (AP) — Montana's second largest city, Great Falls, has no "deer crossing" signs on its street. Perhaps it should.

A full-grown deer leaped over the hood of Betty Lanners' car as she was driving to work at a hospital early the other morning. Then it ran down the street and disappeared.

"I had to pull over to the curb and collect myself before I went to work, it startled me so," said Mrs. Lanners. "That's the closest I've ever been to a deer, and it was almost, too close."

but this letter tells me I'm wrong. If I should slip back to where I was last summer even the Navy won't want me.

I really thought she loved me. She never gave me any reason to believe otherwise till this letter. Please help me. — 17 and Topsy in Texas.

(A.) Give the girl an A for honesty. She did not want you to leave believing something that wasn't true.

Now you can start fresh on all fronts. You will be in a new and challenging environment and you can make new friends, including girl friends.

You will be so busy that you won't have time or need for drinking.

Jean Adams reads and considers every letter, but she regrets that she cannot answer each personally. Mail your questions and comments to Jean Adams, care of The Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 3002, Houston, Texas 77001.

CON MAN OUT OF HIS PANTS

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Two Texas women accused of conning a Lake Charles man out of his pants and his money after he made a race track killing were free under bond today.

Police said Linda Baugh, 26, and Patricia Keepers, 32, of Orange were arrested and charged with felony theft of some $500. They were released on $2,000 bond.

The man told police he had won the money at Evangeline Downs race track. He said the two women offered to spend the night with him at a hotel.

But as they were driving toward Lake Charles in the women's pickup truck, they decided to stop on a gravel road, where the women asked him to take off his pants, he said. When he did so, the women grabbed the pants containing his wallet and drove away, leaving him stranded. A purse belonging to the women fell out of the truck, and their identification in it led to the arrests.

Austin Workmen's Comp Testimony Under Way

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Three city officials testified that Austin requires employees to report any injury within 24 hours despite a provision of the Texas Workmen's Compensation Law that gives them 30 days.

The testimony was given before the State Industrial Accident Board in a hearing on a complaint filed by former sanitation worker Walter Brown. Brown was fired by the city May 7 after suffering a back injury Jan. 19, from lifting a garbage can. He was denied compensation benefits by the city.

The board is scheduled to give its decision within several days.

Safety Officer John Estes testified he told Brown he would be eligible for future medical treatment for only six months after his discharge by the city. Compensation laws provide lifetime benefits.

Estes said he gave Brown the six months figure after reading a doctor's report that recommended Brown's medical case held open for six months.

Estes, Civil Officer Phil Morgette and the workmen's compensation clerk, Mrs. Tony Cabrera, all testified that the city's personnel policy requires employees to report any injury within 24 hours instead of the 30 days provided by law. Morgette said city personnel employees do not tell workers about the 30 day reporting period because they do not have the authority to go beyond city council-approved personnel policy.

Morgette and Mrs. Cabrera told the board they had "heard" of cases where city supervisors had told employees to return to work against doctor's orders, merely to stay around the office and be carried on the payroll, thus maintaining the city's safety record. Public Service Supervisor Bennie Sanders said this has never been done in his department.

Sanders said Brown was fired "because he simply couldn't perform any of the work we had for him to do."

'Sex Symbol' Asks Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Being a sex symbol, it is very sad to spend most of your time alone," actress Edy Williams sobbed in filing for divorce against X-rated film producer Russ Meyer.

Miss Williams, 28, said that Meyer, 51, who first gained fame with his "The Immoral Mr. Teas," both ignores and beats her.

Meyer "pulls disappearing acts," she said in a suit filed here in Superior Court. In a recent 10-day hospital stay for nervous exhaustion he only visited her once, she said.

"I am a sex symbol, and I don't want to be alone," she said. "I am not a promiscuous lady, and I want to start over again the right way. I am really very sad about it because I believe in fairy tale marriages."

It was the first marriage for Miss Williams, who had starred in some of Meyer's pictures before their marriage three years ago today. It was his third marriage. They have no children.

Strong Sex Urge Of Lord Lambton

NEW YORK (AP) — Lord Lambton lost his job as under-secretary in the British Ministry of Defense because of photographs taken of him in bed with two call-girls.

"Men with great ambition very often have with it a strong sexual urge that isn't satisfied easily," he said by way of explanation in a television interview taped in London and aired here by NBC.

Lambton told interviewer Barbara Walters that his wife accepted his infidelity with calmness and sympathy and added: "English women realize that their husbands are not ideal, and that it is a male characteristic to wander and stray upon occasion. But the American woman thinks that her husband must always be faithful to her."

200 PERSONS NAMED POLITICAL ENEMIES

Washington's Newest Social Register

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some call it Washington's newest Social Register, but the White House didn't intend it that way. Nearly 200 names of the rich, the famous and the not-so-famous who didn't get along with the Nixon administration are inscribed on a so-called "Enemies List." John W. Dean III says the list came from White House files entitled "Opponents, List and Political Enemies Project."

The list itself and various related memoranda were turned over to the Senate Watergate committee Wednesday by the 34-year-old fired White House counsel scheduled to return to the witness chair today for his fourth day of testimony.

SURPRISE
Some of those named expressed surprise. Others considered it an honor, and several people in the hearing room were disappointed at not making what one called "Washington's newest Social Register."

Former White House special counsel Charles W. Colson, whom Dean described as having had a key role in the enemies project, said the lengthy list prepared by the late George T. Bell in 1971 was kept solely to insure that those named weren't invited to the White House for dinner.

Dean testified that priority targets were selected from the list by Colson and other White House officials, in keeping with a plan to "use the available federal machinery to screw our political enemies."

DEALERS
Dean admitted he drew up the plan on Aug. 16, 1971, and submitted it in a confidential memorandum to presidential Chief of Staff H.R. Haldeman, domestic-affairs adviser John D. Ehrlichman "and others at the White House."

He recommended Lyn Nofziger of the Republican National Committee for project coordinator. His job would be to "determine what sorts of dealings these individuals have with the federal government and how we can best screw them; e.g. grant availability, federal contracts, litigation, prosecution, etc."

Dean also prepared a briefing paper for Haldeman to be used as the basis of a meeting with Internal Revenue Service chief Johnnie Walters. He complained that, because of a "lack of guts and effort" on the part of Republican appointees at IRS, the White House had been

Brisco Inks Unitization Air Base Plan

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe has revealed that he has signed a contract for an air base unitization plan due to the scheduled closing of Laredo Air Force Base in September.

The contract is with the South Texas Cultural Basin and City of Laredo. The agreement is for $10,000 with another $15,000 grant expected soon.

The governor disclosed this Wednesday night at the annual dinner of the Laredo Chamber of Commerce.

Briscoe also reviewed accomplishments of the 63rd session of the legislature as they applied to his campaign promises prior to the general election last year.

He listed the code of ethics bill to increase public confidence in state government, the open meetings bill and the workmen's compensation bill as major pieces of legislation that came from the 63rd session.

The governor noted that the workmen's compensation bill raises taxes from the bottom of the scale for payments to injured workers or to the families of workers killed on the job.

Briscoe also cited the enactment of the water district measures, Texas' first consumer protection act and vocational, technical and bilingual educational programs and adult education programs.

Although he observed that a 20 per cent increase in educational expenditures will come in the next biennium, he said most of the accomplishments from the legislature were made without an increase in taxes.

Another area of accomplishment lauded by the governor was insurance reform, and he noted that the discussions and decisions in the legislature occurred in public open meetings.

He also cited the establishment of the greater South Texas Cultural Basin project which will combine the resources of state, local and federal agencies to attack the economic and cultural problems of that area.

Teen Drowns
GLADEWATER, Tex. (AP) — Rescue units from four East Texas cities recovered the body of Rex Dockery, 16, of Logansville, Ga., from Lake Gladewater late Wednesday night. Dockery reportedly had gone into the lake to retrieve a beach ball about 3 p.m. Wednesday when he went under in 30 feet of water. A swimmer heard one cry for help but was unable to locate Dockery's body when he attempted a rescue.

Mahan Gains On Leader

DENVER, Colo. — Record crowds viewed the week's two largest rodeos — at North Platte, Neb., and Reno, Nev., the Rodeo Cowboys Association said.

Prize money between the two totaled nearly $40,000, and some cowboys were able to compete in both. Of the more than 100 cowboys who placed, Larry Mahan of Dallas, Tex., was the biggest single winner, taking the saddle bronc riding at Reno for $1,169.

The only other cowboy to break a thousand was Merrill Bond, Rocky Ford, Colo., who took the calf roping average at North Platte for $1,291 altogether.

Mahan's win put him only $76 behind Bob Ragsdale of Chowchilla, Calif., who still leads for the 1973 world champion all around cowboy crown with $27,178.

Ragsdale said Monday he is still recuperating from his injury of June 17, when he was gored by a horn while competing in steer wrestling. He hopes to resume competition during the hectic Fourth of July weekend.

Event leaders include:

- Saddle Bronc — Bill Smith, Cody, Wyo., $10,388, and Shawn Davis, Mitchell, Mont., $9,957; bareback bronc, Joe Alexander, Cora, Wyo., $12,976, and Rusty Riddle, Mineral Wells, Tex., $11,411; bull riding, Dan Gay, Mesquite, Tex., $11,330, Pete Gay, Mesquite, $10,433; calf roping — Ernie Taylor, Hugo, Okla., $20,967, and Ragsdale, $15,212; steer wrestling — Billy Hale, Checotah, Okla., $11,240, and Tom Ferguson, San Martin, Calif., $10,960; GRA barrel racing — Allene Gayler, Colorado Springs, Colo., $8,205, and Gall Peltka, Tecumseh, Okla., $5,357 (also Terry Himes, Big Spring, Tex., $2,081 for seventh and Thy Lewis, Big Spring, $1,500 for 14th).

Guerrilla Violence, Political Backbiting

BELFAST (AP) — Northern Ireland's voters choose a provincial assembly today amid a wave of guerrilla violence and political backbiting.

In filling 78 assembly seats, the one million voters have a choice of 210 candidates bearing 19 different party labels. Essentially, the fight is for leadership of the province's Protestant majority.

The new assembly is intended by its British designers to ease the feuding between Protestants and Roman Catholics, which over the past four years has cost more than 800 lives and untold damage in bombing and riots.

The pro-British Unionist party, the dominant power here for half a century, has lost some support to the moderate center and a lot to hard-line militancy.

Brian Faulkner, the Unionist leader and former prime minister, will almost certainly win his personal contest for a seat in the assembly but could find himself embarrassingly short of backers.

During the three-week campaign, 25 people have died violently and the province has suffered more than 75 bombings.

CONTEMPT CITATIONS THREAT VOICED

Testimony Ires Texas Lawmaker

HOUSTON (AP) — The chairman of a House welfare subcommittee investigating Artesia Hall, a school for troubled teen-agers, says he may seek contempt citations against two witnesses for not answering questions.

State Rep. Lane Denton, D-Waco, was so displeased at testimony Wednesday from Sue Keeney and Bob J. Flatt that he threatened to seek the citations.

BAD MEMORY

The lengthy hearing on how the controversial school near Cleveland, Tex., was able to obtain a license from the welfare department after four highly critical reports had been made was continuing today.

Mrs. Keeney, regional director of social services for the state Department of Welfare, and W. Kendall Baker, a former member of the State Board of Welfare, were expected to be among the next witnesses.

"In all my years in the legislature with many committees, I have never heard people say 'I don't remember' to questions about their own actions so many times," Denton said.

Mrs. Keeney testified Wednesday she was never told to fire or demote a department employe because of the employe's opinion about Artesia Hall.

Ruth R. Urmy, former licensing supervisor, testified that she found child care conditions at the school so "dangerous" she refused to give the director, Dr. Joseph Farrar, 56, a license application.

'DANGEROUS'

Mrs. Urmy testified that Mrs. Keeney overruled her findings and allowed Farrar to apply for a license. Mrs. Urmy said Mrs. Keeney awarded a license to the school in 1972 because of pressure from Baker, who had been hired as Farrar's lawyer. The school, which specializes in teen-agers with "behavior problems," was taken over by the state last Thursday after Farrar was indicted by a Liberty County grand jury on a murder charge in the death of a 17-year-old pupil at the school.

DIFFERENT ANSWERS

Mrs. Urmy testified she was demoted and that Baker used his influence with the department to get her demoted. Mrs. Keeney denied this in her testimony Wednesday.

CHILD CARE

Flatt, a program director for the department, testified he signed a child care license for the school because he had reports which showed the school met state requirements.

Under questioning, Flatt said he ignored other recommendations from several licensing supervisors and case workers which said the school should not be granted a license. Flatt spent all of Wednesday after testifying for more than five hours Tuesday. He said an outside study by a Houston psychiatrist, Dr. Charles E. Hauser, indicated the child care standards at the school had been met.

At the start of Wednesday's session, Denton chided Flatt.

"I am disappointed in your answers," Denton said. "I assure you we are going to get to the bottom of this."

Gerald Applewhite, a Houston lawyer representing Flatt, appeared on the witness stand with his client and at one time told the panel it was asking the same question several times.

"And we are getting several different answers," replied Bill Alshing, a panel staff member.

FEARED SERVICE Charged Ex-POW Takes Own Life

COMMERCE CITY, Colo.

(AP) — An hour before he shot himself to death, a former prisoner of war charged with collaborating with the enemy in Vietnam told a doctor he feared the military would find some excuse to keep him in the service.

Marine Sgt. Abel Larry Kavanaugh died on Wednesday of one bullet in the head from a .25-caliber handgun, Adams County District Atty. Floyd Marks said.

"From the evidence we have now, it would appear that it was a suicide," Marks said. The bullet entered the left temple, police said.

Police Sgt. Jack Baldwin said, "We're officially calling it a self-inflicted wound. At this point, we don't know if it was accidental, but I would strongly doubt it."

Kavanaugh, 24, was the second former POW to die since returning from captivity. Air Force Capt. Edward Allen Brudno died of an overdose of barbiturates on June 3 in Harrison, N.Y.

Dr. John W. Bolin, a general practitioner in nearby Aurora, said he completed a physical examination of Kavanaugh about an hour before the young Marine shot himself at the home of his father-in-law in this Denver suburb.

"I found he was in absolutely perfect physical condition, but he said he was afraid the military would make something up and find an excuse to hold him in the service," Bolin said.

"He was very quiet and seemed depressed and very anxious," Bolin said. "When I asked what was wrong, he said he had been a POW but didn't go any further, saying it was a military matter."

Kavanaugh, here on a 60-day convalescent leave, was one of eight former POWs charged with aiding and conspiring with the enemy at a prison compound called the Plantation, near Hanot.

Col. Theodore W. Guy, of Tucson, Ariz., the ranking U.S. officer in the POW compound, filed the charges. The secretary of the Navy is considering the charges to determine whether a formal inquiry which could lead to court-martial should be ordered.

Although the family was secluded, friends said the young sergeant had been reticent about discussing his case or POW experience.

Kavanaugh was captured April 2, 1968, while on patrol in South Vietnam and was listed as missing in action for 3 1/2 years before his family learned he was a prisoner.
