KALMBACH HAD ABSOLUTE TRUST IN PRESIDENTIAL AIDES

Raising Payoff Money Criminal Act

WASHINGTON (AP) — Herbert W. Kalmbach testified today that he now realizes his fund-raising for the Watergate wiretappers was a criminal act.

But he said that when John W. Dean III and John D. Ehrlichman asked him to raise the payoff money in late June last year he believed it was proper because he had absolute trust in the presidential aides. He said he considered Dean, particularly, to be "the alter ego of the President" in some matters.

DIDN'T TELL NIXON

Kalmbach said he made no attempt to tell the President, his law client, about the payoffs even when, in mid-August last year, he became concerned about the propriety of the activity and refused to raise more money. By that time he had come up with $220,000, which Dean swore was intended to buy silence from the wiretap defendants.

Kalmbach said that before that he saw no impropriety in what he was doing, despite his own admitted use of furtive calls between telephone booths, code names, secret couriers, briefcases full of cash and secret, prearranged transfers of money using trash cans and luggage lockers.

Kalmbach was questioned closely on that point by several members of the Senate Watergate committee, where he appeared for a second day of televised testimony.

"I find it extremely difficult to believe that you were unaware that illegal activities were being carried out," said Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii.

ILLEGAL ACT

"Are you now convinced that you were involved in a criminal activity?" Inouye asked.

"I now realize from what Mr. Dean has testified that it was improper, an illegal act," Kalmbach said.

"I did not speak to the President. I spoke to Mr. Dean and Mr. Ehrlichman," Kalmbach told the Senate's televised Watergate hearings. "If I had known at the time when I met with Mr. Dean that he was asking me to do an illegal act, I would have immediately gone to Mr. Ehrlichman and spoken to him about it."

The instructions from Dean came on June 29, 1972, 12 days after the wiretapping burglary at Democratic headquarters. Kalmbach quit the fund-raising effort about three months, and more than $200,000, later.

MORAL OBLIGATION

He testified before a Senate committee preparing to ask for tape recordings of Nixon's conversations with key figures in the Watergate affair.

Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., pressed Kalmbach for an account of his motivation in raising the money.

"I just didn't think of it, that these men would ask me to do an illegal act," Kalmbach said.

Kalmbach said again he believed that in raising the money he was helping to discharge a proper, moral obligation to the men indicted for the Watergate wiretapping. He said he thought the money was to help pay their legal fees and support their families.

The money allegedly became part of the Watergate cover-up. Kalmbach has denied knowledge of that.

But later in the summer, Kalmbach said, his concern about the propriety of the fund-raising increased, and he finally decided he would not be further involved.

I DID NOT

"At what point in time did you really say to yourself I've had it..." Weicker asked him.

"That was sometime in the latter part of August or in September of 1972 that I knew I had reached that point of concern," Kalmbach said.

"And you made no attempt at that point in time to contact your client, the President of the United States?" Weicker asked.

"No, sir," Kalmbach replied. "I did not."

Kalmbach said that in enlisting him to raise the money, Dean did not tell him that the case could lead back to the President himself.

Sen. Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M., read Dean's earlier testimony, in which the former White House lawyer said he had told Kalmbach on June 29, 1972, virtually everything he knew about the origins of the Watergate wiretapping. Dean had testified that he expressed concern "this could lead right to the President."

'WE' WHO?

Kalmbach said he did not recall it that way. "My recollection of that conversation was simply that he indicated that he wished we, he used the word again 'we,' were being asked to raise funds for the legal defense of these people and for the support of the families," he testified.

Kalmbach also said he saw nothing illegal about his fund-raising at the time. But he said he and former White House secret agent Anthony Ulasewicz used public telephones when discussing the money, for fear that their conversations might be overheard on wiretaps.

"Who did you think might have tapped you?" Montoya asked.

"We just didn't know," Kalmbach said.

DIDN'T KNOW

He said he had met Ulasewicz only two or three times before agreeing to use him to carry the secret funds for the Watergate wiretappers. Kalmbach said he trusted Ulasewicz to handle the sensitive task because he knew the former New York City policeman had carried out assignments for the White House over a number of years.

Kalmbach said he didn't know what those assignments were, even though others have testified that Kalmbach's law office handled Ulasewicz's salary.

Kalmbach said that although he saw nothing improper about the fund-raising at the time, "in retrospect... I feel it was something I should not have been involved in."

Kalmbach, who says he had only four or five telephone conversations with Nixon since 1969, said under questioning that he had a direct telephone line to the President from his California home.

Kalmbach, a Californian, testified Monday that at the request of Dean and former White House aide John D. Ehrlichman, he raised some $220,000 in cash for the Watergate defendants in the three months after the June 17, 1972, break-in at Democratic Party headquarters.

White House Bugs Could Tell All

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon will not release tapes of his personal conversations to the Senate Watergate committee, the White House indicated today.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon met for 35 to 40 minutes in his suite at the Bethesda Naval Hospital with acting White House counsel Leonard Garment and special counsel J. Fred Buzhardt, his principal Watergate advisers.

Ziegler wouldn't discuss details of the meeting, but said the tape recordings are considered presidential papers. Nixon has refused to give the committee presidential papers.

In a July 6 letter to committee Chairman Sam J. Ervin

Jr., D-N.C., Nixon said he would not appear before the committee or provide it with presidential papers under any circumstances.

The White House is standing by that letter and Ziegler's classification of the tapes as presidential papers clearly demonstrated Nixon's intention to withhold them from the committee.

In response to a barrage of questions about the tapes at what was billed as a briefing on Nixon's medical condition, Ziegler said, "I'm not going to get into a discussion of this subject."

He said the White House will address this "at some time in the near future."

Garment and Buzhardt also visited the Bethesda hospital Monday night after Federal Aviation Administrator Alexander P. Butterfield testified at the televised hearings about the existence of the tapes.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury George P. Shultz said today that President Nixon's Phase 4 economic controls will be announced Wednesday.

Wage-Price Blueprint

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, feeling improved after a restless night, scheduled decision-making meetings today on his Phase 4 economic program with Secretary of the Treasury George P. Shultz and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Nixon set up a morning appointment with Shultz, one of his principal economic advisers, and with White House counselors Melvin R. Laird and Bruce N. Harlow.

The White House said Phase 4 also would be the principal topic at a 4 p.m. Nixon-Agnew meeting. The President and vice president have not talked since Nixon entered the Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospital last Thursday.

The administration's new blueprint for wage-price restraints will be announced later this week, according to White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler.

Nixon had a fever of 99 degrees during the night but had returned to normal by morning, the White House said today.

After dining Monday night on beef tenderloin, string beans, carrots and fettuccine, the report said, "the President slept well throughout the night without difficulty."

Nixon's two principal Watergate counselors, Leonard Garment and J. Fred Buzhardt, made an unannounced trip to the hospital Monday night. The White House said they did not see Nixon but met with Ziegler and White House staff chief Alexander M. Haig Jr.

The President had an hour-long visit Monday night with wife Pat, daughter Tricia Cox, and Florida friend C. B. "Bebe" Rebozo.

Afterwards, Mrs. Nixon told reporters "He's great."

She and Tricia brought along the family dogs on leashes and Tricia reported that poodle Vicki, terrier Pasha, and setter King Timahoe "really perked him up."

Dr. Sol Katz, pulmonary disease specialist, called in as a consultant from Georgetown University Medical School, said he expected Nixon to leave the Bethesda, Md., Naval hospital Thursday or Friday. He said the doctors then would like to see the President retire to some place where he can get peace and quiet for a week or more of recuperation.

Arrest Four, Seize Pills

JACKSONVILLE, Tex. (AP) — East Texas officers arrested four persons in connection with the seizure of more than 45,000 narcotics pills, they reported today.

The officers said more than 44,000 pills of matamphetamine were seized when three men were arrested on a farm road Monday and that another 1,000 pills were found when officers went to a Jacksonville residence where a woman was arrested.

Ochotorena, Grice Are Seeking Salary Boosts

Peace Justices Gus Ochotorena Jr. and Walter Grice asked County Commissioners Court Monday afternoon for raises before the new budget year starting Jan. 1. But the court showed no indication their salaries would be raised before 1974.

Ochotorena is paid $426 monthly plus $50 car allowance. Inquest fees and tips from those being married before Ochotorena bring the total to about $536 per month, he indicated.

Rather than car allowance, Grice makes $50 per month more in salary.

Both men complained about after-hour work and wages of others in the courthouse by comparison.

"You both knew what the salary would be when you ran for it," County Judge A. G. Mitchell said. Ochotorena said he was not aware of all the work involved.

"If we fool around here and give you two fellows a raise in the middle of the month," numerous employees will start coming to the court for money at all times, Judge Mitchell said.

"We felt Mrs. (Lulu) Adams (justice of the peace in Coahoma) was paid grossly out of line. That's why we made an adjustment for her," Commissioner Bill Crooker commented.

LG Distributors Insist Demands Can't Be Met

T. H. McCann of Big Spring was one of the LPG dealers allowed to voice his opinion when West Texas farmers, county judges, drillers and liquefied petroleum gas dealers turned out Monday in Austin to urge railroad commission examiners to assure supplies of LPG to heat West Texas homes and preserve the area's economy.

McCann, Donald Day of Abilene and Jack Walcher of Midland were among the dealers who spoke and told the commission "It's going to be terrible this winter — there's no way we can supply these people."

These sentiments were echoed and re-echoed by numerous witnesses during the day. The dealers told the commission they have made attempts to locate additional supplies and need them desperately by winter.

Many of the dealers testified that they have lost 25 per cent of their supply — which goes to homes, agricultural uses such as irrigation pumps and drilling rigs — that they have not been able to replace.

The commission was told that five times as big a supply is needed during the winter months as the summer months in the West Texas area.

Borden County Judge Glen Toombs said the county-wide school system at Gall depends on LPG, added that the school cafeteria did as well. Students are bused 70 miles and they can't go home for lunch.

Judge Toombs, in answer to a question by the commission as to whether there was any other fuel available quipped, "Not unless you count mesquite wood or cow chips."

Asperment Independent School District told of similar problems.

Kent County Judge Norman Hahn told the examiners that Kent County has an oil well for every man, woman and child in the county and said "It's hard for us to conceive of a shortage of any kind."

Written statements are still to be filed by many of the major LPG suppliers. All of the local dealers have representatives in Austin today and also took their attorney.

To Help Learn Fate Of Yanks?

SAIGON (AP) — The United States asked today whether North Vietnam intends to help it learn the fate of 1,300 Americans missing in the Indochina war and to help it recover the remains of those who died in captivity.

The North Vietnamese delegation to the joint military team investigating the missing failed to attend a meeting of the team today, and the U.S. delegation said this raised "serious questions about the intent of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam delegation to support the work of the four-party joint military team."

There's No Statute About Tarantulas

City officials were stumped today when they received a call from an irate housewife who wanted to know "What is the city going to do about the tarantulas that are coming in across the prairie and walking across my lawn?"

The city advised the lady to contact a pest control firm. "We have ordinances about dogs and cats — but nothing about tarantulas," they added.

Petroleum Plant Fire Burns Nine

WINNIE, Tex. (AP) — Nine men suffered burns today in a fire in the Union of Texas Petroleum Plant near this Southeast Texas town.

Five were hospitalized at a Winnie clinic and two were later transferred to a Beaumont hospital in critical condition.

Cause of the fire was not determined immediately.

Taxes Of Cosden, Three Other Concerns Reduced

By JOHN EDWARDS

With Commissioner Bill Crooker opposing, the County Commissioners Court, sitting as a board of equalization Monday afternoon, voted to reduce taxes for Cosden Oil & Chemical Co., by $3,380.

This $3,380 tax loss does not include similar losses to the state and Howard County Junior College.

Controversy centered around whether Cosden should pay taxes on the 100 per cent value of their inventories on Jan. 1, asphalt excluded.

Commissioners Simon Terrazas, Jack Buchanan and Bill Bennett voted to tax 60 per cent of the value of Cosden inventories, asphalt excluded, because it was said other businesses do not report 100 per cent of their inventories.

Cosden and three other local plants must report inventories monthly to the State Comptroller, Earl Bruce of Pritchard and Abbott said.

Asphalt was not included in the Jan. 1 Cosden inventory report to the state, Bruce said after the meeting.

MUST REPORT
In addition to Cosden, inventories belonging to Sid Richardson Carbon Co., Cabot Corp., and Skelly Oil Co., will be taxed on the basis of 60 per cent of their reported true market value. These firms also must report inventories to the state.

Actual reported Jan. 1 inventories totaled $3,817,182 at Cosden, asphalt excluded. At Cabot, state records show $504,146; Skelly $89,640; and Sid Richardson, $52,600.

Tuesday, Bruce explained that he considered the $3,800,000 inventory high. Cosden inventories, on the average, fluctuate between around $2,500,000 and $5,000,000 or $6,000,000, he added.

The Big Spring school board has adopted similarly "softer" than the 100 per cent inventory reported to the state because of less than 100 per cent inventory reports for other businesses.

Crooker argued against the 40 per cent reduction, saying the law required taxing at 100 per cent. If other businesses are not taxed at 100 per cent of their inventories, the board of equalization should bring them up.

To this, others contended raising all businesses inventories would take more tax appraisers than is practical.

"It's pretty late in the year to go ahead and clarify" all business inventories, Terrazas commented. "At this time, I don't see how we can pick up one or two firms when we have the whole thing imbalanced."

Complimenting Pritchard and Abbott, the oil and gas roll property appraisers, on a "good job" over the years, Bennett noted: "My feeling is that we ought to go along with what they recommend."

"I'm not going to gripe about

The Joseph of Genesis was a great man, wise, and with God-given vision. Changing one's name is a matter for court action, and you should first get your parent's cooperation if you insist on going ahead. You will probably also need a lawyer's help.

Once your change of name is legalized, you will need to notify all the people you are connected with. School and church records will have to be changed. Social Security records. Other tax records. Possibly many other records. Think seriously before you take this big step.

Tax Info Reflects Wealth Of Briscoe

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Morning News Monday detailed some of the vast, previously undisclosed landholdings of Gov. Dolph Briscoe, saying he owns 303,125 acres in five South Texas counties.

STATE'S LARGEST It was the first time Briscoe's acreage in the counties of Uvalde, Maverick, Dimmit, Webb and Zavala had been made public.

Briscoe, reputedly the state's largest individual landholder with an estimated one million acres, has not made his property ownership public. He has said he will do so next year when a new state financial disclosure law becomes effective.

According to the copyrighted News article, Briscoe owns 32,529 acres in Uvalde County, 22,831 acres in Maverick County, 58,249 acres in Dimmit County, 149,866 acres in Webb County and 19,640 acres in Zavala County.

There are about 5.2 million acres in the five counties. Briscoe's holdings make up 5.4 per cent of the total, the News said.

CONTROLS MORE The governor paid a total of $113,309 in county and school taxes in 1972 for that land, the News said. The figures were supplied through a check of tax records.

The News said Briscoe also is believed to control even more land in the area through leasing arrangements.

The News said assessment of most of Briscoe's land was about $10 to $20 per acre, depending on whether it was brushland, pasture, or irrigated land. At only one place in the five counties was it assessed at more than $100 per acre, the article said.

The News said $125 per acre is the "rock-bottom" price for most local estimates of land in that area. Assessment of land is a ma-factor in raising money for Texas school financing, which rests on the use of the local property tax.

The bidding:
South West North East
1♠ Pass 3♠ East
4♠ Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Queen of ♠

The finesse is a strange creature. Generally, when you take one, you hope it will win. There are times, though, when you wish it to lose—for example, when you have bid to game and a finesse depends only on a spade. And there are those times when you don't much care whether it wins or loses because the motive for finessing had nothing to do with winning that particular trick.

With an opening bid facing an opening bid, North made the textbook response of a jump raise of his partner's one spade opening. South had nothing in reserve and was quite content to settle for the major suit game. West led the queen of hearts, and dummy was a pleasing sight. The club suit would produce more than enough discards to take care of declarer's losers. However, the diamond suit was a weakness that, given the opportunity, the defenders might be able to exploit.

If East could be kept off lead, the king of diamonds was safe from attack. Since the only obvious losers were one diamond and one heart, declarer could afford to lose a trump. Therefore, he built a campaign around keeping East off play.

The first step in his plan was to allow West's queen to win the first trick. Declarer won the heart continuation with the ace and entered dummy with a low spade to the ace. The trump jack was led, and when East played low, declarer allowed it to run.

This was a finesse that declarer did not care whether it won or lost. If West had the queen, he could win that and the defenders could take the diamond ace for their book, but the remainder of the tricks would belong to declarer. When West failed to follow suit in trumps, declarer was able to pick up East's queen for an over-trick.

After all, good technique should be rewarded!

D.A.R. Chapter May Be Organized Here

Procedures for organizing a D.A.R. chapter were detailed Thursday evening by Mrs. F. Hastings Pannill of Midland when she was guest speaker for the Genealogical Society of the Big Spring. Mrs. Pannill is state regent for the D.A.R.

After explaining the organizational structure, Mrs. Pannill described programs and accomplishments of the D.A.R., noting that it supports two colleges, assists schools in remote areas of the United States, donates citizenship manuals, helps restore old homes of historical interest and works closely with the Red Cross. It has one of the largest libraries in the United States.

The Texas chapters of D.A.R. own a 300-acre forest in Jasper County, and the preservation of the Freeman Plantation home at Jefferson is one of its projects. It is here that most of the chapters' books and antique furniture is kept.

Nine members of the Genealogical Society and seven guests were present for Thursday's meeting, including Mrs. Richard Denham of Midland D.A.R. state chairman.

Persons interested in becoming a member of a D.A.R. chapter in Big Spring are invited to attend the next regular session of the Genealogical Society of the Big Spring, which will be held Aug. 9 in the conference room at Howard County Library.

Still Chaste

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Doesn't a girl have the right to be chaste anymore?

My boy friend and I are soon to be married, and we don't want any kids yet, so I talked to my mother and she suggested I get birth control pills before I get married.

I called the local Family Planning clinic about getting pills; they said I would have to come down for a pelvic and breast examination by their own doctor. I asked if they had any women doctors, and they said no.

Then I called a couple of private male doctors, and they said I would have to be examined before they would prescribe the pill for me. Then I called a woman doctor and she said an examination wasn't necessary for me to get the pill as long as I felt well.

I think these male doctors are unfair and have no regard for a girl's feelings. I wonder why the male doctors require examinations and the woman doctor didn't? Is it male chauvinism, or greed for the extra examination fee?

WONDERING IN TOPEKA
DEAR WONDERING: A normal pelvic and breast examination by a male physician will in no way violate your chastity. Furthermore, medical authorities tell me that it's considered risky to prescribe the pill without having examined the patient, because not all women can use the pill safely. Most doctors, male and female, concur and take no chances.

DEAR ABBY: I've been dating a lovely widow for over three years. While dating her, I also dated a couple of divorcees. Without going into detail, let me just say I did more than hold hands with all three of these ladies.

For the last few months I've been dating the widow exclusively, and we are seriously considering matrimony. She is very inquisitive, and knowing that I have dated the two divorcees, she keeps quizzing me about the relationships.

In fact, she presses me for the most intimate details. Must I reveal everything this woman wants to know? We aren't kids. We are both in our fifties. Rush your answer to me and I'll abide by your advice.

SETTLING DOWN
DEAR SETTLING: What went on between you and the other ladies in your life is none of her business. Tell her you'd no more consider disclosing what went on between you and THEM than what went on between you and HER. That should settle it.

DEAR ABBY: I've a 70-year-old sister with whom I've been estranged for many years. She became widowed (for the second time) a few months ago. She has written to say that she and her 50-year-old son, who is extremely obnoxious, are coming to visit me and my wife.

This sister visited us 20 years ago and I'll never forget it. She made such a row that I had to call the police and have her forcibly evicted.

Frankly, this sister is not normal in the head and she makes trouble wherever she goes. I've discussed this with my wife, and she wants no part of my sister or her son.

I intend to consult a lawyer who will send a registered letter to my sister, telling her that she is not welcome here, and advising her that there are protective laws for persons who do not want to be molested by undesirable relatives.

Will you please let me know if you think this is advisable and effective? Or have you perhaps some other suggestion that would accomplish the same end?
CANADIAN
DEAR CANADIAN: You know Sister better than I do. Let your lawyer handle it.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Bloodless Coup Ousts King Of Afghanistan

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Radio Kabul announced today that Afghanistan has been proclaimed a republic, apparently ousting King Mohammed Zahir Shah.

A spokesman at the Afghan Embassy in London said he understood the coup in the Central Asian nation was bloodless.

The 59-year-old king went to Italy 10 days ago for medical treatment. A spokesman for his embassy in Rome said he was still in Italy but declined to say where.

The broadcast from the Afghan government radio said the republic was proclaimed by a former prime minister and relative of the royal family, Gen. Mohammed Daud Khan.

The broadcast said the deposed regime was "false" and led the country to "near bankruptcy." The general and his colleagues promised to lead Afghanistan toward real democracy and neutrality, the broadcast added.

Daud, who was prime minister in 1953, said in another broadcast that the former "corrupt system" of government "no longer exists and the new system replacing it is the republican system which is in accordance with the genuine spirit of Islam."

Daud spoke in Pushtu, the Afghan national language.

None of the Kabul broadcasts made any mention of the king, who took the throne in 1933 at the age of 19 after the assassination of his father.

Afghanistan has been suffering from drought for three years resulting in widespread famine and an estimated 80,000 deaths, or one out of every 10 persons in the central province of Ghor and surrounding areas.

MOHAMMED ZAHIR SHAH

Parliament last December ousted Prime Minister Abdul Zahir and his cabinet on a vote of no confidence, charging them with failure to deal effectively with the famine. Abdul Zahir was replaced by his foreign minister, Dr. Musa Shafiq, a 40-year-old graduate of the Columbia University Law School and one of the drafters of the 1964 constitution.

It was Shafiq's government that was overthrown by the coup.

The previous Afghan governments enjoyed friendly relations with both the Soviet Union and the United States and got substantial economic aid from both of them. Daud said the new regime would base its foreign policy on nonalignment and would not join any military pacts, Kabul Radio reported.

Afghanistan is strategically located, with Pakistan, the Soviet Union, China and Iran on its borders.

It has an area of 250,000 square miles, much of it mountainous, with a population of 13.6 million, 2.5 million of them nomadic tribesmen.

Kabul is the capital.

Indian Tribes Reveal Plans For Expanded Tourist Center

LIVINGSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Alabama and Choushatta Indian tribes, who were living in poverty 10 years ago, took the final step to economic self-sufficiency Monday with the announcement of plans to expand the tourist center on the reservation.

Chief Fulton Battise outlined the spending of a $2.4 million federal grant for expansion, an $832,000 housing project and a $350,000 tribal community center.

—Daniel pointed to the reservation's success story. "Great things have been brought about in this Indian reservation," he said.

INDIAN ARTS

The new facilities made possible by the latest grant will include:

—A 1,600-seat outdoor amphitheater where a two-hour drama about the two tribes will be performed nightly, starting June 27, 1975.

—An Indian arts and crafts factory to produce pottery for sale. The first phase employing 20 tribal members will be completed Sept. 1, 1975, with the second phase employing 60 persons by 1980.

—Improvements of campgrounds on Big Sandy Creek including electrical and water hookups, hot showers and picnic facilities.

—Improvements to Lake Tombigbee campgrounds including a recreation building and snack bar, boat docks and log cabin guest lodgings.

—Construction of a service center to include a grocery, washateria and gasoline station.

Construction of a water system with storage and connecting lines all through the reservation.

IT'S FIRM

The tourist facilities will be constructed with the grant from the U.S. Economic Development Administration. The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development has made loans for construction of 39 brick, three-bedroom homes. The community center will be built with a grant from HUD.

Carson Watt, director of tribal enterprises, said the reservation expects to be self-sufficient by 1978 and require no more state or federal assistance.

"It's as firm as we can predict right now," he said.

Almost $1.5 million has already been invested in the tribe's tourist facilities which include various exhibits of artifacts, dances, and tours in trains and buses through the nearby Big Thicket at the reservation between Livingston and Woodville.

Motorcycle Club Sues Police For $1 Million

HOUSTON (AP) — The Bandidos Motorcycle Club, who wear Hell's Angels garb, has filed a $1 million federal suit against the Houston Police Department, charging them with harassment.

The suit, filed Monday, claims that police arrest members on the streets, put them in jail, and then release them hours later with no charges being filed or only traffic tickets given.

The suit says the club has 5,000 members with some 200 living in the Houston area.

Club members say part of their life is riding their motorcycles on the streets of Houston and one of their club rules is that members wear their "colors," a blue jean jacket with a Bandido insignia on the back.

Uncover Big D Crime Ring Dealing In Stolen Goods

DALLAS (AP) — Police have uncovered a crime ring dealing in assorted stolen goods and linked to gang contract murders, the Dallas News reported today.

The newspaper gave these details in a copyrighted article: One man was arrested Monday and jailed in lieu of $100,000 bond, and charges have been lodged against three other men and two women. Investigators withheld their names pending action on the cases by a county grand jury.

Up to 30 persons operating in the ring have dealt in liquor, beef, cashiers' checks, stocks and other items stolen from international, interstate and Texas shipments.

City policemen R. L. Kavanaugh, W. E. Robbins and R.H.L. Jackson of the burglary detail began the investigation in May.

They said a man believed to have been involved in the case, Dovie H. Ward of Euless, agreed to meet Kavanaugh last Friday and discuss an offer of immunity from prosecution in return for testimony against leaders of the ring. Ward failed to appear and his body was found later in a field northeast of suburban Garland.

Officers said they believe Ward was killed by confederates.

Investigators began gathering evidence after three informants told them about a 38,000 pound load of beef which was stolen in Arkansas and hidden near Sulphur Springs, Tex. Subsequent information concerned a big truck loaded with stolen Canadian whisky.

Detectives said members of the ring were trying to sell the shipment of beef for $15,000 and the whisky for $25,000 to some of the better known fences in Dallas. They placed the retail value of the two loads at $160,000.

A state highway patrolman found the hidden trailer full of beef and confiscated it. The truckload of whisky has disappeared.

One of the informants gave officers a book in which operators of the ring listed for sale loads of television sets, firearms, whisky, automobiles, bank money orders and corporate stock shares, all stolen.

Moss Creek Lake Traffic Is Off

Moss Creek Lake is full and the fish are waiting, but sightseers and picnickers are relatively few, R. E. Robey, lake caretaker, said.

Robey said recent rains or pumpage from Lake Spence had put the lake up a foot.

About the same number of fishermen are visiting the lake, he said.

But the number of miscellaneous permits for other activities is down 25 or 30 percent from last year, Robey said.

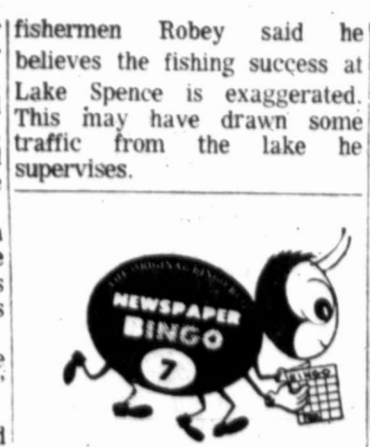

"People just aren't up and moving around," he said. "They're not in the mood, and those in the mood don't have any money."

He said that usually after a long winter the tendency to be active during the summer is greater, but last winter was extra long.

"They (people) stayed home so long they got to like it," he said.

After talking with friends and fishermen Robey said he believes the fishing success at Lake Spence is exaggerated. This may have drawn some traffic from the lake he supervises.

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

You'll have to forgive Harold Wilder if he seems a bit presumptuous these days. His HCJC Camp of Champs basketball clinic doesn't start until next Monday, and he's already calling it a success. But it's his first to organize, after helping run others, and he's filled it with 61 eager youngsters, you see.

They've got what amounts to a week of solid basketball ahead of them, with a little bowling and miniature golf thrown in, and there will be 14 coaches aiding the effort.

The "Little League," made up of players below the eighth grade, is about as full as it can be, the Jayhawk coach is happy to report, and with 27 registered in the "Big League," he can handle about three more. So far, applications have come from as far away as Tulsa, Okla., and Lake Jackson. Seven of the campers will be from out of state.

Helping Wilder lead the group are Larry Horton, Ron Plumlee, Oakie Hagood and Mike Scarbrough, all from Big Spring High School, along with Jayhawk cager Bobby Beall and Rob Evans, assistant basketball coach at New Mexico State University. John Varnell, Sharon Green, Curt Mullins, Pat Owens, Ezra Smith and Joe Bailey round out the staff.

Wilder isn't all complete smiles, however. He doesn't laugh much at all when he thinks back five days, and how close one of his returning players, all-conference inside man Taylor Williams, came to losing his life.

Williams, working for Coston Refinery during the summer months, had the closest call of his young life Thursday afternoon when styrene fumes overcame him while on a catwalk 40 feet above the ground. The fumes knocked him down and momentarily blinded him.

Stunned, he jumped up and began running, almost stepping off the edge before fellow worker Jerry Barron stopped him. He was helped to the ground and washed off, and then rushed to the hospital where he remained in serious condition for a while due to the fumes he inhaled.

He was released Saturday, and is now about as fully recovered as he could hope to be, considering . . .

Transcript Case Probed By Jury In Galveston

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) - A grand jury stood ready today to investigate the changing of a transcript for a Galveston Ball High pupil which resulted in the University of Oklahoma having to forfeit most of its 1972 football victories.

The grand jury Monday subpoenaed at least two school board members—president William S. McRae and Mrs. Ray Schaper—to appear before it today with school board lawyer Edward Schwab. Former Ball High registrar Betty Bore was directed to appear Wednesday.

None of them would say what the grand jury wants to ask but Dist. Atty. Jules Damiani said Monday it is looking into the changing of transcripts of three Ball High pupils, two of whom went to Oklahoma and one to the University of Colorado.

Damiani said the changing of the records could be a misdemeanor under the Texas Education Code and punishable by $1,000 in fines or a year's jail sentence or both.

Two other board members said late Monday night they had not been subpoenaed. Two more and School Supt. Eli Douglas could not be reached for comment.

Transcripts of Kerry Jackson and Michael Phillips, both of whom attended Oklahoma, were changed here and at the university. Ball high football Coach Joe Woolley has admitted altering Jackson's transcript and after an investigation, school trustees said he was present when Phillips' transcript was changed.

Woolley was relieved of his coaching position earlier this year but last week was reappointed coach by the school board. After that move, eight other coaches at the high school resigned their positions in protest. Woolley said Monday night he had not received a grand jury summons.

The third former pupil whose transcript was changed was Thomas Hilton, according to Richard Streiff, director of guidance with the school district. Ball High principal Jim Watson, in a statement Monday, reported what he described as a threat if he did not keep quiet about the alteration of Jackson's transcript.

The principal said he was told an Oklahoma supporter might burn his house down if the school was required to forfeit its winning season, as it later did.

Cedeno Nails Down Spot On All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP) - The Cincinnati Reds cranked up the Big Red voting machine and placed three players—catcher Johnny Bench, outfielder Pete Rose and second baseman Joe Morgan—on the starting National League All-Star team announced today.

The National League stars will meet the American League July 24 in Kansas City's new Royals Stadium.

Bench, leading the league in runs batted in, garnered 1,738,557 votes as the most popular player in either league.

Morgan, leading the league in stolen bases, amassed twice as many votes as his nearest challenger—Pittsburgh's Dave Cash—while Rose, among the top 10 hitters in the league was top vote-getter in the outfield.

He'll start for the third time. Along with Rose in the outfield will be Billy Williams of the Chicago Cubs and Cesar Cedeno of the Houston Astros. Cedeno nailed down the last starting outfield job by slipping in ahead of San Francisco's Bobby Bonds, 860,575—855,344.

First baseman Hank Aaron of Atlanta, moving in on Babe Ruth's career home run record, received 1,362,447 of the 4,011,237 votes cast overall, second only to Bench. It will be Aaron's 15th time as a starter and his ninth in succession.

Chicago's Ron Santo, with 808,720, topped Joe Torre of St. Louis by almost 100,000 votes and will be making his fourth starting appearance at third. Shortstop Chris Speier of the Giants, who received 930,353 to 537,608 for runner-up Dave Concepcion, is in his first starting role.

Willie Stargell of Pittsburgh finished far back at Aaron at first with 608,424, Dave Cash of Atlanta, moving in on Babe Ruth's career home run record, received 1,362,447 of the 4,011,237 votes cast overall, second only to Bench. Nationals Oppose Tower In Tourney

Midland Tower and Big Spring National clash at 8 o'clock this evening in the Big Spring American League Park. The winner of the District 3 Little League Tournament qualifies to tangle with the survivor of Wednesday night's contest between Big Spring International and Midland Northwestern, a contest that will wind up first-round competition in the 12-team event.

The tournament continues through Monday night, with the winner moving into Area playoffs.

Only one Big Spring team has qualified for the second round thus far. That would be Big Spring Texas, which ousted the lone Lamesa entry last weekend, 4-0.

In last night's game, Midland North-Eastern battered Midland Eastern, 24-7, scoring in every inning but the first.

John White led North-Central's 17-hit offensive with three blows.

John Hanson pitched brilliantly in relief for North-Central. All of White's hits were doubles.

Robert DeWitt collected three safeties for the losers, as did Johnny Keets. One of Keets' blows was a sixth-inning home run with a mate aboard.

If Allen is unable to play, the starting assignment would probably go to Kansas City's John Mayberry, who had some 300,000 fewer votes.

In addition to Allen, other American League repeaters named for All-Star starting berths were second baseman Rod Carew of the Minnesota Twins, Baltimore Oriole third baseman Brooks Robinson, and outfielders Reggie Jackson of Oakland and Bobby Murcer of the New York Yankees.

Both leagues set records for the number of votes cast, with National League fans casting 4,011,237 votes and the American League 3,911,989.

Dodgers Retain Circuit Lead

By The Associated Press "I don't want it, you can have it" is the kind of play on the field that causes some baseball teams to lose games.

But the Los Angeles Dodgers are playing that kind of game in the clubhouse—and maybe that's one reason why they're winning.

The Dodgers raised the "team spirit" bit to its ultimate Monday night following their sixth straight victory, a 1-0 squeaker over the Pittsburgh Pirates on the strength of Don Sutton's six-hitter and Willie Crawford's second-inning home run off Nelson Briles.

Senate To Outlaw No-Knock Raids?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate may consider going beyond new Nixon administration curbs on no-knock narcotics raids by outlawing them completely.

The Drug Enforcement Administration has admonished its 2,200 agents to rush into private homes only sparingly and with proper authorization and full regard for individual rights.

Despite the new rules issued Monday, some senators questioned whether anything short of repealing the no-knock law can guarantee what the Constitution describes as "the right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures."

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., a key critic of recent no-knock raids, called the new rules "a welcome and needed clarification," but said they don't go far enough. An aide to Percy said the senator is "seriously considering" introducing legislation repealing the no-knock authority granted by a 1968 law.

MORE SUPPORT

The aide said there appears to be growing Senate support for the view that "the mere existence" of legal authority for no-knock raids encourages abuse.

The constitutional rights subcommittee headed by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., is reviewing that possibility as well as other legislation to allow victims of mistaken raids to sue

Called Risk After Taking Drugs In Call Girl's Room

LONDON (AP) — A British commission reported two former ministers involved in a sex scandal with prostitutes betrayed no state secrets but one of them, Lord Lambton, had become a definite security risk.

In a report to Prime Minister Edward Heath the five-man commission said the 50-year-old Lambton—a cousin of Foreign Secretary Sir Alex Douglas-Home—had become "wide open to blackmail" because of taking drugs in a call girl's boudoir.

But a second, and more serious, risk was that the drug may have led to unconscious disclosures of information that would have been valuable to foreign spies.

Lambton, married with six children, was Royal Air Force minister in the Defense Department.

The commission said the second member of the government who admitted using call girls, Lord Jellicoe, had been doing so "occasionally and discreetly." His conduct was neither criminal nor abnormal and involved only minimal risk of blackmail. He had in no way become a security risk, the commission concluded.

Jellicoe, 55 had been a member of Heath's Cabinet and was government leader in the House of Lords. Twice-married, he has seven children.

Poll Reveals Kennedy First

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The latest Gallup Poll shows Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts the overwhelming choice of Democrats for their party's 1976 presidential nomination.

Kennedy was the first choice of 40 per cent of Democrats polled. His nearest competitor was Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama, with 16 per cent.

The poll also shows Kennedy defeating two possible Republican candidates. The Massachusetts senator was given 51 per cent of the vote to 38 per cent over Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and 50 per cent to 36 per cent over former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally.

The poll on the Democratic nomination showed Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine with nine per cent, while the party's 1968 choice, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, and the 1972 nominee, Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, each received eight per cent.

Adami is free on $100,000 bond.

Panel Will Issue Rules To Keep LPG Flowing To Rural Areas

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission intends to issue rules on the distribution of liquefied petroleum gas (LPG) in an attempt to keep energy flowing to thousands of rural Texans, the agency's chief lawyer says.

And it will do so despite challenges to the commission's jurisdiction lodged at a hearing Monday by LPG producers, said chief counsel Fred Young.

Young was clearly miffed when producers' representatives, except for one, refused to give their side of the story on the LPG shortage.

IDLE GESTURE

He said he will make his report to the three commission members in about four weeks.

"The commission didn't make an idle gesture on issuing this (hearing) notice," Young said when he saw that LPG producers were going to sit mute. "They intend to write a regulation. I take it the industry doesn't wish to offer any assistance at this time."

Again asking for industry testimony, Young said:

"We do need help. I believe that all of you sitting here today have learned of a situation that is much graver than you thought. ... I realize you all take the position that the railroad commission is without jurisdiction. But the commission takes the position that they have the jurisdiction, and they are going to proceed."

OUT OF STATE

The Texas Liquefied Petroleum Gas Association's lawyer, Tom Watkins of Austin, sought to show through written exhibits that LPG supplies formerly allotted to rural Texans are being channeled out of state—and even out of the country—by producers.

He also produced numerous LPG dealers who told of cancelled contracts from suppliers and of frustrating efforts to keep gas flowing into customers' propane and butane tanks.

Watkins displayed a chart showing increasing LPG production over the past three years. He said at least 29 producers are exporting LPG to Mexico, including 89.4 million gallons during the first quarter of 1973—"a time of severe crisis."

Lowry Carpenter, executive vice president of the LPG association, urged the commission to pass a rule saying gas supplies can't be diverted into other markets until local consumer demand is satisfied and a surplus exists.

COLD WINTER

He said 1.5 million Texans depend on LPG, and many of them face the "dread spectre of a cold winter in 1973-74."

Rep. Bill Clayton, D-Springlake, said an LPG shortage could cut agricultural production in his area by 10 to 20 per cent.

"We estimate that about 10 per cent of all irrigation wells, including return systems and lake pumps on the irrigated acreage in my district are fueled with LP Gas. Looking from the standpoint of tractor, trucks, harvest equipment, grain dryers, etc., we figure that approximately 20 per cent of all these items use LP gas. ... Consequently, how can we afford to lose 10-20 per cent of our production in an area such as my legislative district because of a shortage of LP gas?" Clayton said.
