ONLY BEEF REMAINS SUBJECT TO STRICT CEILINGS

Americans Facing Higher Food Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans are facing significantly higher food prices now that President Nixon has lifted the price freeze from the food industry as part of his Phase 4 anti-inflation program. Only beef remains subject to strict price ceilings, and then only until Sept. 12. Lifting the freeze from the food industry was Nixon's first move into his new Phase 4 wage and price controls system.

GAS CEILING
Non-food items will remain under the provisions of the 90-day freeze announced June 13

by Nixon, until its expiration Aug. 12. At that time non-food goods will become subject to Phase 4 regulations.

There will be price ceilings for gasoline, heating oil and diesel fuel under Phase 4, and big business will be required to absorb some of its increased costs by cutting down on profit margins.

The President said in a settlement issued Wednesday: "There is no way, with or without controls, to prevent substantial rise of food prices."

"The evidence is becoming overwhelming that only if a rise of food prices is permitted now can we avoid shortages and still higher prices later," he said.

NEXT FEW DAYS
Prices are likely to increase the most in the next few days for poultry and pork products, and fresh fruits and vegetables, all of which were reported to be severely pinched by the price freeze.

The President said he would do "everything in my power" to end wage and price controls by the end of the year, but said he did not think it wise to set a specific date for lifting controls. With President Nixon in Bethesda Naval Hospital recovering from viral pneumonia, Secretary of the Treasury George P. Shultz released the following outline of Phase 4 to newsmen at the White House Wednesday:

60 OR LESS
—The price-freeze lifted immediately, for all food, except beef, permitting the passing on to consumers of increased costs for raw agricultural products that have occurred since June 8. Raw agricultural products remain exempt from controls.

—It will be a mandatory program, requiring advance 30-day notification of price increases by businesses with annual sales of more than $100 million.

—Small businesses employing 60 persons or less will be exempt. So will the lumber industry, public utilities, rents, interest rates and long-term contracts for coal deliveries.

—The guidelines for wage increases will be kept at 5.5 per cent, plus a seven-tenths of one per cent hike in fringe benefits, the same guidelines in effect during the Phase 2 and Phase 3 programs.

—The Health service industry—hospitals and institutions—will be exempted from the freeze at once and returned to the mandatory controls that existed specifically for the health industry under Phase 3. It was not immediately clear how doctors and dentists would be affected.

—The insurance and construction industries will have special regulations.

—The new ceiling prices for gasoline and the gasoline octane rating must be posted on service station pumps after they take effect Aug. 12.

The objective of Phase 4 was stated as "to moderate the rate of inflation existing during the first six months of 1973 with a minimum adverse effect on supply."

FUNNY MAN
Inflation was increasing at an annual rate of about 9.2 per cent a year at the time the freeze was imposed June 13, with food prices increasing at the virtually unprecedented rate of 22.4 per cent.

Shultz told newsmen the administration would make no new forecast for inflation or the increase in food prices.

SIX INMATES Saw Way To Freedom In Del Rio

DEL RIO (AP) — Water dripping down from a second floor leak alerted officers to the escape of six inmates from the Val Verde County jail early today.

Chief Jailer J. B. Webb said the prisoners sawed their way to freedom and jumped 15 feet from the jail to the ground below.

He reported a guard discovered the break because the escapees also sawed through a pipe and water trickled into the first floor.

Border Patrol officers Texas Rangers and state highway patrolmen joined in a search for the fugitives, concentrating near the Mexican border where they were believed to have fled.

After a head count, sheriff's officers identified the missing prisoners and charges on which they were held as William Lovelace, 21, murder; Ricardo Perez Hernandez, felony theft; Pete Moya Rodriguez, 26, and Roy A. Hilly, 30, burglary and theft; Mario Arturo Gomez Alvarez, 32, possession of marijuana, and Oscar Portillo, 22, transporting illegal aliens into this country.

Police Convinced

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A man arrested for investigation of burglary demonstrated what police mean when they warn motorists to remove their keys when parking their cars.

Police said Wednesday they were escorting Lonnie Warinner, 19, on a tour of places he allegedly burglarized.

Lt. Don Peterson said Warinner was able to free one hand from the cuffs he was wearing and bolted from the patrol car. Detectives Jerry Farmer and Kent Smith parked the unmarked vehicle and gave chase on foot.

But Peterson said Warinner doubled back and finding the key in the car, drove off. The car was found about two hours later, but Warinner remained free.

Police said they had arrested Warinner Tuesday for investigation of burglary and possession of stolen property.

Deputy's Wife Shot To Death

CHARLOTTE, Tex. (AP) The wife of an Atascosa County deputy sheriff was found shot to death today and her husband wounded critically after an armed man abducted them, highway patrolmen said.

Officers said the couple was found two miles from this South Texas community near Texas 97. Deputy Louis Garza was taken by a Department of Public Safety to a San Antonio hospital. Authorities said the fugitive apparently fled on foot.

Both his car and the deputy's car were found at the scene of the shooting, officers said.

Patrolmen said Garza and his wife were abducted at gunpoint and forced to drive from Charlotte several hours earlier.

Clean Sweep Tried By Night Visitor

A lot of housewives might be willing to testify that the person who robbed the Pizza Inn at 1702 Gregg Wednesday was in desperate need of something to steal.

Reporting missing from the rear of the store were items valued at $152, including a mop and bucket, broom, dust mop and mixing bowl.

But proof that thieves will take almost anything came with another call to the police Wednesday concerning a local theft.

J. C. Owen, 1315 Mesa Drive, called police to report that somebody had entered his home and stolen two saxophones valued at $1,200.

House Shuns War Powers Veto Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has ignored a veto threat by President Nixon and approved a bill that would require presidents to halt within four months any war commitments they make unless Congress grants approval.

The bill was passed 244 to 170 after Nixon served notice by telegram that "I am unalterably opposed to and must veto any bill containing the dangerous and unconstitutional restrictions" in it.

The Senate could approve its own war powers bill Friday, setting the stage for an early showdown between Nixon and Congress.

Nixon's telegram was read to the House by Republican leader Gerald R. Ford, who objected to the bill saying it would let Congress force a war halt in 120 days by "twiddling our thumbs" and doing nothing.

"If we don't want a conflict continued the Congress should have the courage and the guts to stand up and vote against it," Ford said.

The bill also came under fire from the House's most outspoken war critics, who contended it would give presidents authority to wage war on their own for 120 days.

"I think there are enough loopholes in this bill to fly sorties of B52s through," said Rep. Bella S. Abzug, D-N.Y.

Grand Jury To Consider Charges Involving 45

District Attorney Bob Moore will submit cases involving 45 defendants, some of them in more than one alleged offense, to the grand jury next week.

Robert Lee (Little Brother) Phillips, 38, Fort Worth, is charged with murder with malice in the May 8 shooting death of Earsie Miller.

One man not formally charged will be considered as the defendant in a case of assault with intent to murder, Guy Talbot, special investigator, said.

VICE VERSA
Charged with assault with intent to murder each other on two separate dates are Ismael Sosa Juarez and Manuel Alvarez Marquez, 42, of 1002 NW 1st St.

Tommy Lee Mitchell, 23, of 1002 N. Main St., Apartment 16, faces possible indictments for assault with intent to murder Tommy Lee Hutchinson and sale of marijuana.

Most of the complaints accuse defendants of drug offenses.

HEROIN SAID SOLD
Lonnell Banks, 35, of 505 NW 4th St., is charged with three counts of sale of heroin. Doris Moten, 49, of 409 N. Bell St., faces complaints charging sale of heroin and sale of marijuana.

There are two counts of sale of marijuana against Willie Roy English, 34, of 701 Carey St.

Earnest William Annable III is charged with two offenses also: sale of marijuana and burglary of the Lucelle's Interior Designers store. Fred William Brown is named also on a complaint for this burglary.

The grand jury will consider cases of possession of narcotic

Gunman Frees 15 Hostages

ATHENS (AP) — An armed Palestinian gunman held 75 persons hostage in an Athens hotel for more than four hours today, then released them and was driven to Athens Airport with three Middle East ambassadors.

The gunman held the hostages at a hotel after failing to smash his way into the local offices of the Israeli airline.

Late this afternoon he walked out of the hotel in the company of the Iraqi, Libyan and Egyptian ambassadors. All four entered the Iraqi's car and drove off toward the airport.

DEATH THREATS
The gunman had demanded safe passage out of Greece. At first he had asked to be accompanied to the airport by Deputy Premier Stylianos Patakos, threatening to kill the hostages if his demand was not met.

Patakos refused, according to a police official who quoted the deputy premier as saying: "I won't negotiate with every bum around."

SHARPSHOOTERS
The gunman told an Associated Press newsmen at the hotel that he wanted safe passage to the Mideast. Police sharpshooters took up positions in a garden and a building across the street from the hotel and others in vehicles surrounded the hotel.

By then the Libyan and Egyptian ambassadors had arrived at the luxury Amalia Hotel to talk to the gunman, who spoke only Arabic.

The hostages included American guests in the hotel, two Greek policemen, a priest, some children and hotel employees. The Palestinian took 40 persons hostage at the hotel initially, but released all but 15 of them.

One of those freed was Mrs. Androniki Ezlambadioti, 70, of Wilmington, Del.

A LIGHT — Fred LaRue, former official of the Nixon campaign, lights his pipe while testifying before the Senate Watergate Committee today in Washington.

Says Mitchell, Dean Aware Of 'Grand Cover-Up Scheme'

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Watergate investigation took a bizarre turn today when the chairman announced that he had been told President Nixon would release tapes of his White House conversations, then discovered it was all a hoax.

WASHINGTON (AP) —

Former Nixon campaign aide Frederick C. LaRue testified today that he, former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and ousted White House Counsel John W. Dean III were all aware of a "grand cover-up scheme" to hide the facts behind the Watergate wiretapping.

LaRue told the Senate Watergate committee that when he sought Mitchell's advice in March of this year whether to make a $75,000 payment to one of the Watergate lawyers, Mitchell knew the money was part of the cover-up.

Under questioning by Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, the bespectacled Mississippian continued to peel back, dollar by dollar, the story of the payoffs in the Watergate cover-up. LaRue also said that the $12,000 he took from White House and campaign funds didn't completely cover his own personal expenses in carrying cover-up cash.

YES SIR

Inouye asked LaRue what Dean knew about the $75,000 payment. "He knew it was part of a grand cover-up scheme?" Inouye asked.

"I think that would be a safe assumption," LaRue said.

Q. Were you aware?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Was Mitchell aware this was part of the grand cover-up scheme?

A. I would say, Senator, that that is a correct assumption.

The $75,000 payment was the last one LaRue said he made. He said he gave it to William O. Bittman, lawyer for Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt, shortly before Hunt was sentenced on March 23 for his part in the break-in at Democratic national headquarters.

LaRue said Dean, who had helped direct earlier payments to Bittman and others, refused to authorize the final $75,000 and suggested he contact Mitchell. LaRue said he told Mitchell the money was for legal fees, and that Mitchell advised LaRue to go ahead and make the payment.

NO COMMENT

In another development today, special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox conferred with Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., who chaired closed hearings of the Senate Armed Services Committee into an alleged administration effort to involve the Central Intelligence Agency in the Watergate cover-up.

A CANTER PAST THE COPS — Deb Brinegar and Karen Coffee pause by a police car on a leisurely ride around the city. No, the police weren't making an inquiry as to whether animal or vehicle has the right-of-way. This might be regarded as one of the typical sights of summer in Big Spring, since horse-riding is becoming increasingly popular here.

HOWL TO GO—With a command of "lets go," as many as nine dogs start their howl and jump into the old truck to head out on a skunk hunt.

ODESSA — Robert Lee Carty Jr., 22, remained in Ector County Jail Wednesday in lieu of $5,000 bond. He was charged with arson following a Monday night fire at the Odessa Cleaners.

Grice Suspends Five Licenses

Peace Justice Walter Grice suspended the driver's licenses of five persons who did not appear for a hearing Wednesday. He gave 19 persons who did appear probated license suspensions.

Probation periods ranged from three months to one year and sometimes involved posting bond.

Police Det. Capt. Floyd Hudson said Carty made a statement implicating himself in three other recent fires.

Police received a call at 7:46 p.m. from Mrs. Perkins at 203 N. Goliad that a man had been shot in her yard or close by.

Garza was rushed to Medical Arts Hospital by Alert Ambulance where he was given emergency treatment for small caliber bullet holes in his foot and shoulder. He then left the hospital and took a cab to the home of his parents at 110 Lockhart according to a police detective here.

A friend then took Garza from his parents' residence by automobile. By Thursday morning, Garza had re-admitted himself to the hospital.

He refused to sign a complaint on the man who did the shooting so lawmen were at a standstill on the case, police officers stated today.

However, Garza himself was facing a misdemeanor charge at the sheriff's office on a warrant seeking him on a trespassing charge. So officers went back to the hospital this morning to issue that warrant.

Nixon's Phase 4 At Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here, at a glance, are the basic elements of President Nixon's Phase 4 economic program:

GENERAL — The price freeze is lifted immediately on food and health industries. All other sectors of the economy remain frozen until Aug. 12, when new price increases will require 30-day prenotification and will be restricted to dollar-for-dollar reflection of actual costs with no added markup in profits.

WAGES — The general 5.5 percent guideline in effect during Phase 2 and 3 is continued.

EXEMPTIONS — Controls will be lifted Aug. 12 on public utility rates, wages and prices in lumber and plywood industries and small businesses with fewer than 60 employees.

FOOD — A two-stage program will permit price increases only when they reflect an actual dollar-for-dollar increase in the cost of raw agricultural products since June 8. Beef prices will remain frozen until Sept. 12 when manufacturers and processors will be allowed to pass on all cost increases on a dollar-for-dollar basis.

PETROLEUM — Price ceilings will be imposed Aug. 12 on gasoline, heating oil, diesel fuel and crude oil.

RENTS — Rents were not included in the 60-day freeze announced earlier by the President, and remain exempt from controls under Phase 4.

Most Area Schools Facing Problems Concerning Fuel

By MARJ CARPENTER Schools faced with the need of oil and gas bids for the coming school year have been encountering some difficulty in obtaining bids throughout the state.

Apparently those rural schools who use butane might be facing the biggest obstacles. Sands schools at Ackerly are among the schools which let bids for fuel in August. Their supplier last year was a Big Spring butane dealer, who was among the delegates in Austin early in the week requesting the Texas Railroad Commission to force dealers to sell within the state, to avoid a fuel shortage this winter.

Borden County's Judge Glen Tombs was a spokesman at that meeting and one of the items he was concerned with was a fuel supply for Gall schools for both heat and transportation.

NEEDS FILED In Big Spring, the schools found themselves almost without bids on petroleum and oil when they sent out letters to the usual dozen dealers this month.

They received two answers. One was from Gulf Oil, which did not bid gasoline but quoted 92 cents per gallon for their oil. Exxon indicated it was unable to supply gasoline needs and bid $1.07 per gallon on oil.

Don Crockett, assistant superintendent of business, contracted Jimmy Jones, agent for Continental Oil Co., who was their supplier last year.

Continental's quotation was 23.7 cents per gallon, state tax included for regular gasoline and 66 cents per gallon on one type of oil and 85 cents per gallon on another. Continental also offered a quotation on greases and gear lubricants.

NO PROBLEM Jones also told that board "as we have been your supplier of fuel in the past, allocation of gasoline has been made to us to cover the needs of the Big Spring Independent School District and your requirements can be met at all times in the foreseeable future. Changes in price on gasoline, if any, will be based on current tank wagon price."

The board accepted the bid, expressing gratitude for the agent's concern for the school supply.

At Forsan, Supt. Herb Smith reports that district does not take bids but simply alternates between the two local stations and "has had no problems."

Coahoma also uses a local station and has received no indication that there are any problems at this time.

Shooting Victim Winds Up In Legal Trouble

Videl Garza Jr., 27, apparently got the worst of a shooting which occurred in Big Spring Wednesday night.

He not only was the victim of the shooting but due to his own choice turned out to be the only one facing the long arm of the law.

Police received a call at 7:46 p.m. from Mrs. Perkins at 203 N. Goliad that a man had been shot in her yard or close by.

Garza was rushed to Medical Arts Hospital by Alert Ambulance where he was given emergency treatment for small caliber bullet holes in his foot and shoulder. He then left the hospital and took a cab to the home of his parents at 110 Lockhart according to a police detective here.

A friend then took Garza from his parents' residence by automobile. By Thursday morning, Garza had re-admitted himself to the hospital.

He refused to sign a complaint on the man who did the shooting so lawmen were at a standstill on the case, police officers stated today.

However, Garza himself was facing a misdemeanor charge at the sheriff's office on a warrant seeking him on a trespassing charge. So officers went back to the hospital this morning to issue that warrant.

Voters Likely To OK Bonds

MIDLAND — Voters will most likely approve next Tuesday the sale of $3.5 million of general obligation bonds for improvements to Midland Air Terminal, Midland City Councilman Robert Holt predicted this week.

If okayed by voters, the project will include reconstruction of the airport's two primary runways and connecting taxiways.

Three-fourths of the total cost will be paid by the Federal Aviation Administration. Although the city must guarantee the bond issue over a 20-year period, the actual liability to Midlanders will be about $300,000.

Midland Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr., said last week that he thinks the Air Terminal will generate more revenue in the next 20 years than is needed to pay off the bonds. General obligation bonds in Midland currently total about $4 million.

More Motels May Be Built Here

A local Realtor and a restaurant manager today confirmed rumors that several motel companies are considering building motels in Big Spring.

The manager of Denney's Restaurant reported that representatives of an economy motel firm contacted him last week about locating on property near Denney's.

He said that the firm is not connected with the Denney's corporation in any way and that he has not heard from the representatives since.

Two other motel firms, one out of Dallas and one from Alabama, are also considering several Big Spring sites, according to the Realtor who preferred to remain unnamed.

One of these, he said, may also build a medium-sized apartment complex.

Test Of Patience

Ugandan President Idi Amin is miffed with Washington. The erratic general took it out on 112 American Peace Corps volunteers.

Amin ordered the young people held in Uganda after their plane made a refueling stop there. He said he suspected they might be mercenaries planning "imperialist" or a "Zionist" subversion in African countries.

Subversion is a big thing with Amin. He also appears to be a bit of a racist. In March 1972, he expelled 70 Israeli military advisers, claiming they were "planning subversive activities." Last September he said he understood why Hitler killed six million Jews during World War II.

Amin also has expelled tens of thousands of Asians from Uganda and took over their businesses. He has expelled Christian missionaries. He has seized British-owned businesses and plantations. He has kicked out British foreign aid workers.

To express its displeasure with Amin's actions and statements, the United States last year withheld a $3 million loan. Since then, Amin has attacked the U.S. role in Vietnam and the U.S. recalled its ambassador. The burly general also sent a nasty note about Watergate to President Nixon.

Fortunately, the Peace Corpsmen were not hurt. They had a spice of adventure added to their tours. It is difficult to figure out why Amin thought the 49 women in the group were mercenary soldiers.

Amin's latest caper hasn't done anything to

Hard On Home Building

That old American dream of each family owning its own home is becoming more distant. Many Americans today are simply priced out of the home market, and conditions threaten to get worse.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board has increased the ceiling on interest savings and loan institutions and banks could pay their savings customers; the ceiling was removed entirely on time-deposits of four years duration on deposits of $1,000 or more. The move is designed to prevent a dollar drain from the savings institutions into improve strained relations, but it's probably of little consequence except as an example. It reminds us again that it is the big nation that is obliged to exercise patience and to respond, as former Secretary of State Dean Rusk once pointed out, within predictable patterns. Otherwise, characters like Amin could tender to touch off powder kegs.

the money market where investors can get a higher return.

But the move will have another predictable effect; it will increase the interest rates on home mortgages. That will make the cost of buying and paying for a home, already accelerated by labor and materials, rocket beyond reach of money.

We hope we're wrong, for only within the past six months or so have we had an over-revival of residential construction in our community. It's hard to have a balanced prosperity without this facet showing strength.

Sick Symptoms

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

Well, it seems that I'm not the only one that thinks all machinery has a mind of its own. After I wrote a column to that effect, I've had many calls and comments. Several have requested that I go ahead and comment on cars as well — well, somebody did.

LIKE MOST women, I left all of the car worries to my husband until he was dead and gone. Up to that point, I filled the car with gas, drove it and honked the horn.

But I've learned a lot since then. And I now have eight years of advice for widows that have to drive a lot.

IF THE car suddenly sounds like somebody is dragging a stick along a paled fence, like mine did near Pyote, the fan belt is broken. This is bad. You must have another fan belt before you can go on. Without the belt, the fan will not fan and the motor has an affinity for instant overheating.

If the car sounds like a hissing teakettle, the hot light comes on and suddenly it Wink, you hear loud sounds like you have never heard before (or since), you have thrown a rod. This is terrible, disastrous and tragic. You need a wrecker. And a big checkbook. And an understanding banker.

IF YOU are coming back from an oilfield fire near Jal, N.M., and the car quits after many unusual sputtering sounds, get out and hitchhike. You have blown a gasket. This is a piece of cardboard poked full of holes, but it is very important on account of it is a water and gas seal. You cannot go without it.

If a filling station attendant in Vega tells you at midnight on a Saturday that your alternator has gone out, prepare to spend many hours hunting a mechanic who will get up and fix it, if he in turn, can find an auto supply man who will get up and sell him one.

IF YOU have noticed a loud chugging noise and rattle in the rear of the car and suddenly hear a crash, you are in trouble. Your tailpipe just fell off.

If the car won't start in Santa Rosa, N.M.; Alpine, Tex., or Wichita Falls, it may be one of several things — a corroded battery cable, a dead battery, or a worn-out starter. All of these are bad news, although the corroded cable is by far the least bad news. Just listen for the feeble click on the starter.

If the water is pouring out near Big Spring, you may need a new water pump. Or if the hot light comes on near Odessa, you probably have a stuck thermostat.

IF THERE is a loud bang, something slaps the underside of the fender, rubber flies up in the air, and you nearly go over in a ditch, you have just blown a tire, near either Kermit, Tex., or Tatum, N.M., or any other remote place.

If you have a very old car, and suddenly at Wink, you hear loud sounds like you have never heard before (or since), you have thrown a rod. This is terrible, disastrous and tragic. You need a wrecker. And a big checkbook. And an understanding banker.

If you are driving a new car, in which the hot light fails to come on, but suddenly near Brownfield the motor ceases and flames flare up in the motor, you get out and cry a lot. Something unusual has happened, and it is called fire. You need a wrecker and a copy of the warranty immediately.

IF THE CAR suddenly stops in utter silence near Wickett, your coil has just quit. This too is bad. You can't go anywhere without one. You'll have to find somebody to install one, if you can find one.

Now I know there are still many other interesting things to happen to cars. After all, it's only been eight years. And there are still fuel pumps, carburetors, pistons, valves, spark plugs, filters, brakes, and goodness knows what else on those cars, every single one of them smarter than

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

In your book, "World Aflame," written several years ago, you said you did not believe as a nation we had passed the point of no return. You felt all was not hopeless. A lot has happened since then, and I wonder if you still feel the same. How much longer do you suppose the Lord will allow this wicked world to stand?

D.A.

A statement on the closing page of that book says: "This is still an age of grace. God's offer of forgiveness and a new life still stands." I would not retract that statement, even though, as you say, a lot has happened since 1965 when "World Aflame" was published.

With the passing years and the further entrenchment of evil, the "right-about-face" that conversion involves does seem a little more remote, a little less possible. And yet Biblical history shows that as the forces of Satan step up activity, so does the Spirit of God amplify His message of forgiveness and hope.

Don't forget that the increase of wickedness is not taking God by surprise at all. Jesus said in Matthew 13:30, after the parable of the good seed and the tares, "Let both grow together until the harvest." The plan of the ages provides the freedom for evil to assume the ascendancy — until (and that's a key word) the fixed time of the end is reached.

This world will keep going, no matter how evil, until the cup of iniquity is full, and the age of God's grace concludes. When that is, nobody knows. The wise person, however, seeing the drift of the times and knowing the importance of faith in Christ, will make his spiritual welfare certain. Don't waste one moment figuring out how long God's patience will last; just share the Gospel's good news whenever you can.

About Amnesty

William F. Buckley Jr.

If I were a rich deserter hoping for amnesty, I would begin by buying up the entire inventory of the American Civil Liberties Union's pamphlet on the subject, throwing them into the vasty deep, and begging the author please to espouse somebody else's cause. If I were a poor deserter, I would rob a bank, do likewise to the pamphlet, and get the Rev. William Sloane Coffin Jr. to fetch me up a divine justification for bank robbing as a means of protesting the Vietnam war.

I DO NOT for a moment disparage or profane the motives of Mr. Coffin, in this or other matters. But Friends of Amnesty ought to know that the surest way to damage the movement is to insist that amnesty ought to be the means by which the community of Americans who believed in the Vietnam war should atone for our legal and moral atrocities. That is the burden of the maladroited pamphlet of Mr. Henry Schwarzhild, director of the ACLU Foundation's Project on Amnesty.

The pamphlet is done in question-and-answer form. To the simple question, "Why amnesty?" the ACLU answers: "America owes to itself and to all the war resisters the enactment of a universal unconditional amnesty. The ACLU believes that the American involvement in the war in Southeast Asia was unconstitutional, and that compulsory military service to carry on that war was unconstitutional. Those who refused to participate — to kill and to be killed — in an unconstitutional undertaking by our government ought not to be subjected to criminal or administrative punishment... they made the crucial decision of their young lives in the light of what millions of Americans and many of our political and religious leaders said: that the war in Vietnam was a terrible mistake, if not a ghastly crime."

NOW WHAT is wrong with that argument psychologically is obvious. Southern rebels pleading for amnesty after the Civil War would not begin their argument by reminding Abraham Lincoln that he had conducted an unconstitutional war against secession, for that was of course the position of the Confederacy, and much better grounded in constitutional doctrine than the ACLU's position on the unconstitutionality of the Vietnam war. The ACLU is very quick, in other matters, to enjoin upon us all obedience to the interpretations of the Supreme Court. Well, the Supreme Court, with only a single member dissenting, declined to hear arguments alleging the unconstitutionality of the Vietnam war.

INTO A SINGLE sentence one can limn the principal reasons why: more than 100 military actions taken by the United States have been done without a declaration of war; we were bound by treaty obligations that extended by protocol to South Vietnam to provide aid against Communist aggression; the Gulf of Tonkin Resolution authorized the President to take such steps as he deemed necessary to contain that aggression.

The amnesty bug is very much with us — although there are just over 5,000 (not 50,000 as claimed) — and, as I say, the heart and the mind harden upon reading the hairy-chested moralisms of the ACLU. The pity is that, among the deserters, there are men who deserve consideration. In particular those who are now old enough to recognize the imperatives of democratic practice. No one should be so much a slave to democracy as to commit himself to his country no matter what — let those who believe this country irremediably corrupt go on to Canada or Sweden; but they will hardly be seeking amnesty.

'HE'S SOUND AS A DOLLAR... BUT I EXPECT HIM TO MAKE A FULL RECOVERY.'

Green Thumb Saga

Hal Boyle

By LOUISE COOK
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — "Enjoy the beauty of plants without the worry," read the advertisement. "Needs no watering or care. Buy a terrarium."

It sounded ideal for someone whose thumb turns green only with envy at the gardening ability of others.

Since a terrarium is, virtually a closed container, the water simply recycles itself. Just stick it on the windowsill and watch it grow.

There are umpteen different kinds of terrariums — terraria? Some are easy to eliminate. They cost too much — up to $85 for a big glass bowl and a handful of dirt.

Having narrowed the price range I discovered other problems. Did I want a spherical terrarium or an egg-shaped one? How big an air hole should there be at the top? What kind of drainage stones should there be at the bottom?

The problem was solved by the discovery of a kit that contained everything from dirt to seeds — a major factor since most of the terrariums did not include any sort of plants.

Unfortunately, the six-page instruction booklet belied the claims of simplicity. One kind of seed had to be soaked for 24 hours before planting; the soil had to be prepared with exactly the right amount of water at exactly the right temperature. The seeds, none of which was bigger than a pin prick, had to be pressed into the soil just so, then covered with another layer of dirt — not too thick, mind you — and resprinkled.

After scurrying about for measuring cup, thermometer and plenty of paper towel to clean up the mess I was sure to make, I approached the terrarium bowl with the care of a surgeon. I doled out two cups of 80-degree water, pressed the seeds carefully into the soil, discovering in the process that it's very difficult to tell a seed from a piece of dirt.

Finally the terrarium was planted and placed on the windowsill. But wait. The instruction booklet said the temperature had to be at least 70 to 80 degrees. Out came the thermometer which registered 88 — uncomfortable for me, but at least the seeds should be happy.

I watched and waited. The instructions said ungerminated seeds should be watered with one tablespoon of 80-degree water. It didn't say how often, but every other day seemed to be a good compromise.

When I woke up in the morning, I'd rush to peer at the terrarium. Coming home in the evening, I'd scurry to see if I could spot anything growing.

Exactly eight days after my initial foray into gardening, patience was rewarded. Two tiny green sprouts appeared. Triumph!

But would they grow? Did they need fertilizer? Were they getting too much sun? Should they be rewatered?

The sprouts haven't died yet. Of course they haven't grown very much either. But I think I've spotted a little bit of green on my thumb.

Problem Of Undescended Testicle

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Doctor: I have an undescended testicle. I am 22 and want to know how much effect this will have on having children. Does one undescended testicle usually render you totally sterile? — J.S.

The fact that you have a single undescended testicle does not necessarily render you sterile.

The fact that only one testicle is undescended (has not dropped into its normal position) would tend to discount the possibility that your problem is hormonal. This would mean that the other testicle is probably functioning normally.

Just how sterile you are could readily be determined only by a sperm count. I advise you to have one. That would settle the thing for good.

Your situation might be like that of a woman with but one ovary.

After all, it only takes a single egg and one sperm for conception to occur.

If detected early, say before the eighth or ninth year, the undescended testicle can be treated either surgically or by hormones. In other cases, the testicle has been known to pop out into its proper position of its own at puberty.

In your case, it is a bit late for either treatment, but I would advise you to see a doctor. The undescended testicle is probably better removed to discount the possibility of malignancy later on.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: After having had a mastectomy, I think it is all wrong. I am sorry I ever had it, no matter how many people try to paint a rosy picture. Believe me, it is used in the vein also. All unaware to my wife.

She now wants to have a baby. Is it possible for her to have a healthy, normal baby? Please help me. I don't have an addiction. This has been going for a year or more. — W.G.

Your wife probably could have a normal child, but that isn't what worries me. You do. When you get to the stage of shooting junk into the veins, you may not be addicted today but might be tomorrow.

And if your wife has a baby, it shouldn't have to have a junkie for a father. So get control of yourself.

spread to surrounding tissue, the cancer will keep on growing.

If the surgery is for cysts, removal of all of the cysts is necessary for comfort — and in cases of cysts that are serious the cysts usually are pretty well scattered throughout the breast tissue.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 21 and an occasional drug user. I have used heroin and smoked pot, also recently tried a new drug called "Mexican mud," used in the vein also. All unaware to my wife.

She now wants to have a baby. Is it possible for her to have a healthy, normal baby? Please help me. I don't have an addiction. This has been going for a year or more. — W.G.

Your wife probably could have a normal child, but that isn't what worries me. You do. When you get to the stage of shooting junk into the veins, you may not be addicted today but might be tomorrow.

And if your wife has a baby, it shouldn't have to have a junkie for a father. So get control of yourself.

Poor Granny

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Before the presidential election in 1972, Charles Colson, who had the reputation as the most ruthless man in the White House, said he would run over his grandmother, if necessary, to get Richard Nixon re-elected President of the United States.

Not much has been heard of Mr. Colson's grandmother since November 1972, and I've been wondering about her.

This scene keeps going around in my mind. Colson drives up to his grandmother's house, parks in the driveway and goes to the door.

HIS GRANDMOTHER, still on crutches from the '72 election, answers the knock.

"How are you, Granny?" Colson asks, kissing her on the cheek.

"I'm coming along fine. The ribs are mending, and the doctor says my hip should be healed in a matter of months. I must say, Charles, when you ran over me with your car, you really ran over me."

"NOW DON'T start complaining again, Granny. You know as well as I do that the President's re-election depended on my running over you."

"Charles, I never asked you this before, but did President Nixon know you ran over me to get him re-elected?"

"No, he didn't, Granny. I never told him and he never asked me. I thought it best that he not know. Running over a person, even if it's your own grandmother, is considered a crime, and had the President known, he would have had to lower the boom on somebody."

"DID JOHN DEAN know you ran over me?"

"It was his idea. Any crime committed in the White House in the last five years originated with John Dean."

"When did the President first find out I had been run over?"

"As far as I can recollect at this point in time, it was either on Dec. 21 or March 22 of 1972 or 1973. He was upset about it and made a statement that the running over of people's grandmothers had no place in the American political system."

"YOU'RE A fine boy, Charles. Loyalty has always been a Colson trait. What do you plan to do to save the President?"

"Granny, would you step into the driveway for just a moment?"

"Oh no, you don't, Charles. I'm not going to fall for that one again."

Letters To Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

We realize that the people of Big Spring were bombarded with requests for donations to help finance the Meistersingers trip to Europe, but we would like to add one last chapter.

We were privileged to be a part of that trip, and we want the City of Big Spring to know how very proud we were of this fine group.

The first time they performed on Sunday, July 1, was at St. Gottweig, a monastery in the Vienna Woods. When we sat there and heard their wonderful voices echoing through this beautiful building, we had a lump in our throats.

We want the people of Big Spring to know that all the efforts that went into this trip were well worth it. The group was well dressed, well mannered and represented Big Spring in a way in which we were proud.

We cannot end this letter without saying how lucky Big Spring High School is to have Jack Bowers as its choral director. Mr. Bowers demands excellence and receives it. Our group received the only standing ovation in Czechoslovakia, this was on their last night to sing. It was a sentimental moment for many of our seniors, since this would be their last concert.

When we returned to Austria to begin our journey back home, it was a sentimental moment for many, everyone was tired, homesick, but a little sad about leaving. We had all grown very fond of our Austrian bus drivers and guides who had remained with us for 16 days. Burt (Adalbert), one of our guides, says he is coming to Big Spring next year if possible. We look forward to that reunion.

Last, but not least, most of us returned with a deeper appreciation for our homes, families and the privilege of being an American.

A Devotion For Today..

"All good giving, every perfect gift, comes from above, from the Father of the lights of heaven. With him there is no variation, no play of passing shadows." (James 1:17)

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, we thank You that You are the divine source of light by which we may see the variations of color in our lives. We ask that we may reject our imperfections and be diligent in our search to make the spirit and acts of our lives to match Your expectations. Amen.

Price Daniel Seeking Con-Con Chairmanship

LIBERTY, Tex. (AP) — House Speaker Price Daniel announced Wednesday he will seek the chairmanship of the 1974 Texas Constitutional Convention. He also said he had enough votes to get the job.

"After several weeks of seriously considering all the many matters that go into a decision as important as this, I have decided that I will allow my name to be nominated as chairman of the convention," Daniel said from his home in Liberty.

112 VOTES?

He claimed 112 votes from the 181 convention delegates whose job it will be to write new state documents for submission to Texas voters.

Daniel had been considering running for the job for several months but delayed a formal announcement.

Bid To Increase Tortilla Prices

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A strike by tortilla shops in Mexico City, which would have deprived many residents of their favorite staple, was prevented today when the government agreed to study a request to increase tortilla prices.

Carlos Gonzalez, president of the National Dough Industry Chamber that claims a membership of 100,000, said he met privately with industry and Commerce Ministry officials and the government agreed to consider the chamber's price hike request.

Tortillas, round, flat corn dough cakes, are used by most Mexicans to accompany their meals and for tacos.

The chamber has asked for a five-cent price increase per 2.2 pounds of tortillas, now selling at 11 cents.

He said taking the job could "have a negative effect" on his seeking any other statewide office next year such as governor or lieutenant governor.

"While I am not closing the door and am not ruling out any of those possibilities, let me just put it this way: I don't presently have any desires or aspirations or plans to seek another statewide office. The bug hasn't bitten me."

"All I'm going to be spending my time on is getting ready for the constitutional convention," he said.

Daniel said he hopes to pick up support from most of the remaining 69 convention delegates not committed to him.

"Those I haven't visited with are of both political parties and of widely varying political philosophies," Daniel said. "I'm sure as soon as I have an opportunity to visit with them that there will be a number of them who will join with the 112 in support of me."

Also Wednesday, in Austin, Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr., D-Paris, sent a letter to legislators saying he would nominate Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr., D-Paris, for the convention chairmanship.

"I think the convention should have a choice," said Creighton, in reference to Daniel's bid for the post. Creighton predicted Aikin, the most senior member of the Senate, would accept the nomination.

The convention is comprised of members of the 63rd Legislature, which includes 150 representatives and 31 senators. It convenes in January and will set to work, using the recommendations of the Texas Constitutional Revision Commission, to write a document replacing the state's 1976 constitution.

Couple Air Force Sergeants Killed

DEL RIO, Tex. (AP)—Two Air Force sergeants were killed Tuesday night when their car went out of control and crashed on the eastern side of town on U.S. 90.

Killed were M. Sgt. Dwight D. Smith, 39, of Ada, Okla., and T. Sgt. Clarence Johnson, 29, of Worthington, Ind. Both were stationed at Laughlin Air Force Base.

NO ANTI-NUDE DANCING LAW

WACO, Tex. (AP) — An uncovered dancer has thwarted the efforts of undercover policemen at a night spot near Baylor University because city and district attorneys were able to find no local or state law that stops bottomless performing.

Last week a stripper was reported to be wearing only an open shirt during her dance, but a warrant was never served against her because prosecutors could not find an anti-nude dancing law.

A lawyer in the city attorney's office said Tuesday any proposal for an ordinance here would depend on a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision.

Opinions Differ On New Drug Price-Posting Law

By ANN STEVENS

Required posting of drug prices in Texas drugstores won't have much effect on the shopping practices of Big Spring residents, several local pharmacists predicted this week.

Passed by the recent session of the legislature, a new law to become effective this fall requires pharmacies to post prices of the 100 most frequently prescribed drugs.

"RIGHT TO KNOW" Who will decide which are the 100 most prescribed drugs and other details of the new regulation have not yet been worked out. Pharmacists expect to be briefed on the requirements within the next couple months by the State Board of Pharmacy.

"I think it will have an overall good effect because the people have a right to know what they are going to pay for any thing," said Ed Corson, of Leonard's Prescription Pharmacy, who claimed that required posting would end exploitation of the public.

Saying he resents governmental intervention into private business practices, Bruce Wright of Wright's Prescription Center seemingly disagreed with Corson. "If the customer wants to know a price, all he has to do now is ask," Wright noted.

Wright said the law may benefit consumers in the large metropolitan areas where surveys of pharmacies indicate a wide variance in drug prices. "Locally, though, I don't think there is a wide variance in prices, and I don't think anyone here is giggling the public," he said.

Two other pharmacists took a more neutral position on the new law's requirements and effects.

"It is not going to bother me as far as being an inconvenience, but as a whole, the consumer in Big Spring won't find this law making any differences at all," said Robert Knight of Knight's Pharmacy.

He saw the gas shortage and rising gasoline prices as hindering potential benefits to the consumer. "With gas prices going up as they are now, the consumer would probably spend

Snuff Two Fires At Home For Girls

CORPUS CHRISTI, (Tex.) — (AP) — Two separate fires at the Rebekah Home for Girls just west of here heavily damaged two sofas and a mattress Wednesday.

Both fires apparently were set by residents of the home, fire officials and a spokesman at the home said. No injuries were reported.

The first fire broke out about 3 p.m. in a living area on the second floor while a state deputy fire inspector from Austin was making a tour of the institution.

A second fire, reported shortly after 7 p.m. was in a mattress in one of the dormitory rooms on the second floor of the same building.

In each instance, the furnishings that were afire were thrown from a rear window shortly after the blaze was discovered.

probably would have opened the bidding with one diamond, North felt he had enough to proceed directly to slam.

West found the only lead to cause declarer a problem—a trump. With a spade or a diamond lead, declarer can ruff two diamonds in dummy, discard a heart on the ace of spades and, if trumps split no worse than 3-2, take the heart finesse for an overtrick.

It seemed that declarer would have to find the king of hearts with West to bring in his slam. However, a 50 pct. chance did not appeal to South, and after some thought he found a more attractive line.

The trump lead was won with the ace, the ace and king of diamonds were cashed and a diamond was returned in dummy. Declarer ruffed in his hand with a spade ruff and drew the outstanding trumps. Then he led his fourth diamond.

Had West held the remaining diamond, declarer would have had to rely on the heart finesse for his contract. However, Dame Fortune smiled on South, for East won the fourth diamond and was employed.

With nothing left but cards in the major suits, East had to lead into one of dummy's tenaces. The ace-queen in whichever suit East elected to lead and the ace of the other suit took care of South's three hearts.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The top Republican on the Senate Watergate committee has been confidently facing millions of television viewers, his trousers held up by a safety pin.

Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., has lost some 30 pounds on a new diet and his clothes hang loosely on him.

Baker gained the weight in his 1972 Senate campaign, thanks to Tennessee's political hospitality.

TEEN FORUM

SOMEONE SPECIAL: (Q.) Every boy I really like does not like me. It's been that way all my life. I'm tired of not having a boy I like and who likes me. I'm not bad looking. I am going to modeling school. I get along well with boys and girls, and I dress well. But when I pick out a boy to like, he likes somebody else. Please tell me how to find someone special who will like me. — Unlucky in Oklahoma.

I can't go on like this. — Prisoner in Pennsylvania. (A.) Your grandmother needs help in opening her eyes to today. Invite your girl friends to visit you. Let your grandmother see how they dress and groom themselves. On shopping trips, point out the brief and sensible clothes that young (and not-so-young) women are wearing. At church, point out to her the length and style of dresses worn. The visits of your friends to your home should help convince her that they are decent and trustworthy. Maybe she will relax and let you visit them more often.

(A.) I get the impression that some boys like you, but they are not "special." Maybe they do not appear to have all the glamour you feel you deserve in a boy. Why not try getting along with one or more of these not-so-special-seeming boys? Dat's them. Try to have fun with them. But do not be sticky. Do not mislead any of them into thinking you care more for them than you really do. Do not try to force caring for or loving any boy. But give some of them a chance. In giving them — and yourself — a chance, you may find that some boy who until you knew him better seemed like an everyday kind of guy is exactly the special boy you are looking for, the most glamorous boy imaginable in your world.

STRICT: (Q.) I live with my grandmother. She is very strict and old-fashioned. She doesn't let me wear halter tops, shorts, or pants of any kind. My dresses have to come nearly to my knees. She also thinks I should stay home all the time. It is cruel not to get to visit my friends. Please help me.

Robbery Suspect Arrested In Ohio

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A man accused of the robbery of a savings and loan company here has been arrested in Dayton, Ohio, following the robbery of a savings and loan association there, the FBI says. The FBI said David A. Washburn, 41, who is charged here with the robbery July 6 of a branch of the Alamo Savings Association, was arrested Monday after being followed by an officer of the Homestead Savings and Loan, which had been robbed. Washburn also is named in bank robbery charges in Dade County, Fla., the FBI said.

Roloff Homes Investigation

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — A Roloff Evangelistic Enterprises camp for boys is located on state-owned land, it was revealed. The camp is one of three Roloff juvenile facilities scheduled for investigation by the state attorney general's office. The camp is The Lighthouse, located on the edge of the Intracoastal Canal some 40 miles south of Corpus Christi. A new law passed this year by the legislature gives the Texas School Land Board authority to issue permits for structures on state lands in bays and estuaries. The home operates year round as quarters for several dozen older boys. Started in 1937, the colony includes eight or 10 buildings and a string of satellite camps. The installation is on a spoil island created when the canal was dug. Persons often build on these without permission. The new law, to take effect shortly, will allow the state to issue permits to persons with structures on spoil land. The Lighthouse and the other Roloff installations—Rebekah Home for Girls in Corpus Christi and Anchor Home in Zapata County—are being investigated following reports of maltreatment within the institutions. All the institutions are operated by the Rev. Lester L. Roloff of Corpus Christi.

Cash Returned

LUFKIN, Tex. (AP) — Virtue was more than its own reward for a Lufkin boy who returned $1,700 to its rightful owner last weekend.

Lufkin grocer Otis Shelton, the owner of the money, took ten-year-old Randy McKelvey to a local hardware store to pick out a new bicycle. As his reward, Randy chose a new 10-speed model.

Saturday night, Randy had found a money receipt bag containing about $1,700 behind Shelton's store. Since he said he didn't know Shelton's number, he called police to find him. Shelton, who apparently had dropped the money enroute home, hadn't even noticed it was missing.

Five No-Show Employees Convicted At Newark

NEWARK (AP) — An All-America basketball player and four other persons have been convicted of conspiring in a widespread scheme to defraud the Newark Board of Education through no-show employees.

George Reynolds, 25 of Newark, who made the All-America team while at the University of Houston and later played with the Detroit Pistons in the National Basketball Association, was found guilty Wednesday of 14 counts.

These included conspiracy, falsifying public records and obtaining money under false pretenses.

Reynolds was a "checker" with the board, whose job was to check night security employees involved in the no-show ring. The prosecution claimed that without the cooperation of Reynolds and several other checkers the no-show racket could not have continued.

Reynolds was a "checker" than 50 board of education employees, including the superintendent of schools and other top officials, indicted by an Essex County Grand jury last December of allegedly participating in the no-show scheme and other fraudulent practices.

A number of the defendants, including six teachers, have either pleaded guilty or have been convicted of the charges. Additional trials are scheduled for the fall.

Reynolds faces up to 42 years imprisonment on his conviction. The other four defendants convicted Wednesday were Norman Simpson, 38, a Newark bondsman described by the prosecution as the "brains" behind the scheme; John Keaton, 37, and suspended Newark patrolman and former board employee; Paul Ellis, a checker, and Gladys Fisher, a board accounting clerk.

Without a doubt, there'll be some strange scenes around pro gridirons this fall should the drug-minded groups get their way. What I mean is, with all this talk of urine-testing to determine who has and hasn't been hitting the loco weed, something funny has to happen.

"Coach, uh, I know it's the fourth quarter and we've got to keep the ball on the ground and I'm the only fullback you've got, but coach, I need to tinkle! If I get hit one more time I'll explode all over that field."

"What? No, you can't do that. You some kinda nut? You know you've got to get tested after the game's over, and if you can't deliver, they're going to think something's up."

"But coach—"
"No buts, just hold it. I thought you guys were supposed to be tough. Hah, can't even hold off mother nature."

"But coach, you don't—"
"Now knock it off, Flake. This is a big game and I don't have time to waste being a nursemaid to you. Now beat it."

"Coach, I really need to . . . uh oh. Never mind. Er, did the manager bring any extra pants on the field, huh?"

"Hey Charlie, we've been waiting here for three hours for that dried-up quarterback of yours. When's he gonna get here?"

"How should I know? I'm not his kidney. You press guys shouldn't get so impatient. I mean, where were you when we coaches needed you, back when all this talk about drug-testing came out? Why didn't you step in and help us then?"

"Aw, for cryin' out loud. Who'd think it would take more than a couple of minutes to—"

"Well, you just shoulda thought about that six months ago. Now he can't answer your asinine questions until he gives them what you want, and Rozelle only knows how long that'll take. You know he can't work under pressure. He proved that out there today. Shoot, we might be here all night."

"Awww, nuts. I wonder if we can hook up some kind of communication with the men's room before next Sunday. Some of us have a deadline, you know . . ."

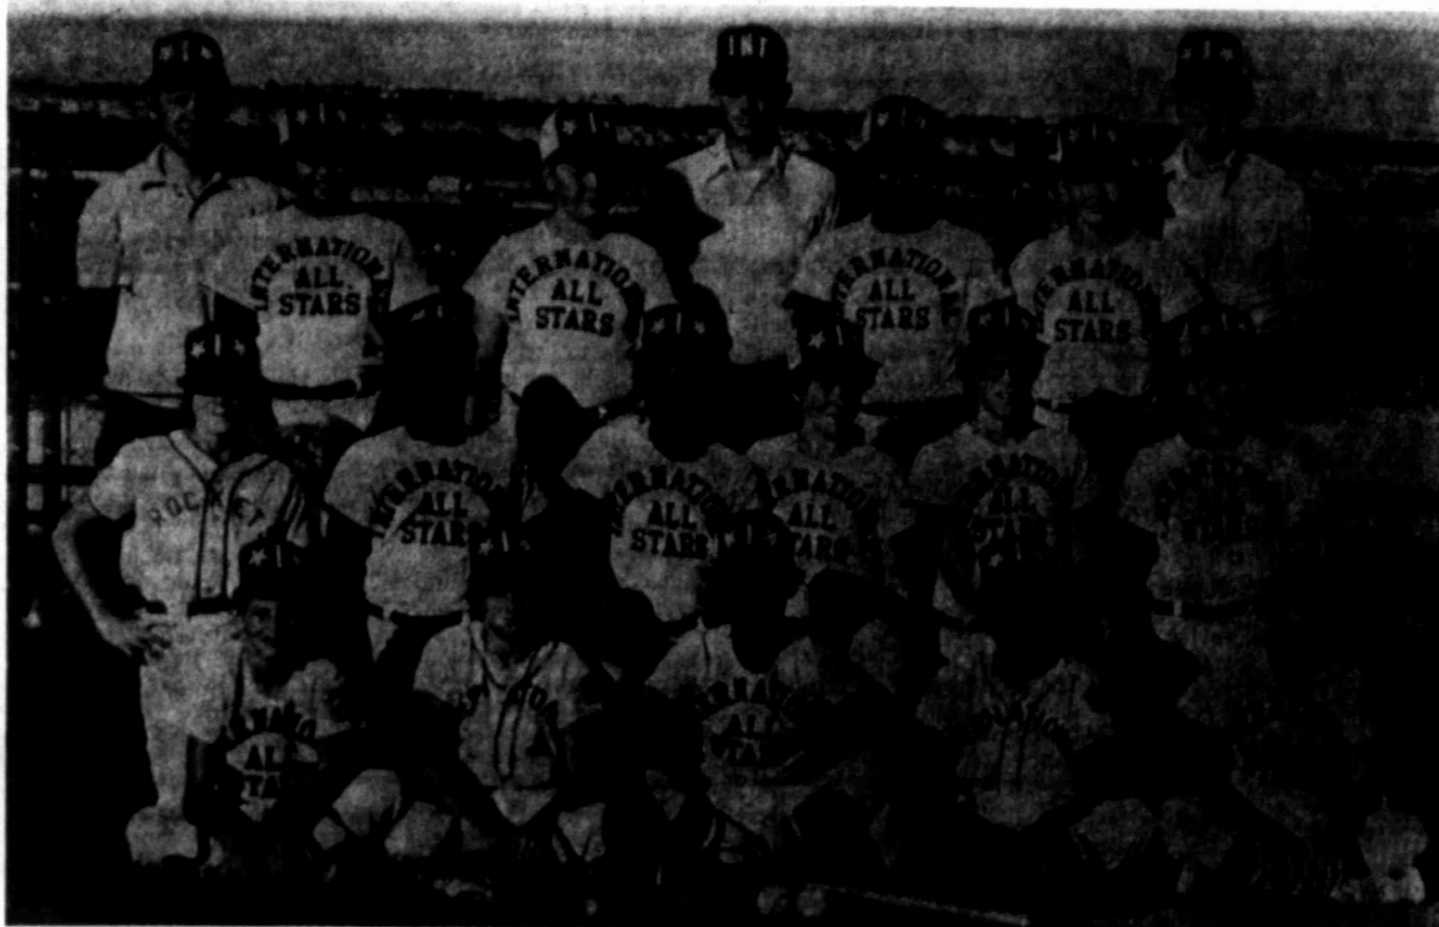

"Hey, great game Endgate, real fine. Gosh, you showed some moves out there today I never knew you had, know it? You know, after winning a game like that I don't even mind standing in this stinky room waiting for some nut to tell me whether I'm hopped up on greenies or not. I'm just glad it's over and we won."

"Yeah man, far out, wow."
"Uh, yeah, far out. Say, you seem a little bit . . . My gosh, Endgate, your pupils are as big as nickels. What have you been doing?"

"Oh, pretty good man, how you been doing?"
"I said what, not how, you nut. Look, if they see you like this we'll have to forfeit that game. Shoot, I wondered how you were making all those catches when you got crunched and still got up giggling."

"Relax, man. Everything's cool, I mean really groovy."
"Sure, that's easy for you to say, freak. Oh no, here comes the dope-tester. Look, squint your eyes like you got konked on the head and don't say a word. I'll do the talking . . ."

"Hello there sir, nice day, isn't it. My, what a workout we've had today. I hope everything's gone well for you."
"Yeah, man, like really far out, you know . . ."

Times Weren't Always So Rosy For Trevino

(Editor's Note: Bob Boyd, golf writer of the San Antonio Express-News, attempts to go behind the headlines in discovering what Lee Trevino, golf's "Super-Mex" is really like. He interviews people who know Trevino during the last years, when Trevino was a struggling youngster in Dallas, here is the first of an eight-part series on one of the game's great entertainers.)

By BOB BOYD
Lee Trevino is the rarest type of entertainer-sports star in the national spotlight today. He projects a self-made image. No Madison Avenue brain trust of publicity experts put together the "Super-Mex" image which he invented and which has catapulted the 33-year-old Texan to the highest rung of the celebrity sales market.

Trevino's standard fee for a one-day exhibition is $12,000. His earnings from commercial endorsements, personal appearances and other lucrative sidepaths of national fame far exceed the more than $200,000 a season he has averaged for the last three years on the pro golf tour.

Lee's accomplishments as a golf professional are already legend. He rose from obscurity to win the 1968 United States Open. He is one of only five players to win more than $1,000,000 on the pro golf tour, and he accomplished that feat in less time than the other four — six years.

He has won the U.S. Open and British Open championships twice each, as well as a dozen less prestigious tour stops. In 1971 he captured the hearts of sports fans all over the world when, in one incredible month, he spurred to three national championships (U.S., British and Canadian).

Yet, throughout his meteoric rise to the top of his profession, Lee has retained and refined his feeling for the down-home humor of the common man. His most creative clowning acts rival his golfing feats in fame — the time he waved a rubber snake in front of Jack Nicklaus before their final showdown round in the 1971 U.S. Open, the time when he was being interviewed on national television after winning a tournament, and he faked a telephone call. "Honey, I just won, see you tonight," he said, then added, "Now let me call my wife and we can start the interview."

Lee is like a North Texas twister, blowing full of gusto and unpredictability. He is bubbling over with ability, personality and something else — that something which a writer can search for but can never quite capture in a phrase. It is a kind of magic he works on people of all sorts and sizes — the poor, those barely making it, and the comfortably rich: blacks, browns and whites; the weekend duffer who is an accountant for an oil company and the macho brown power advocate alike.

But who is this phenomenon who insists on calling himself "Super Mex"? Was there a time in his past when he did not hang that title across his back like an advertising shingle from depression days?

How did such a marvelous talent develop and how did his mind grow sharp and clear in the unheated shack where he lived until he was 17?

What of his childhood as the oldest son in a house without a father? How did the blatant racism which he experienced growing up in Dallas affect him and did it leave scars which only his most intimate friends have ever glimpsed?

What about the legends that are springing up about Lee's early days as a hustler at the gambling hotspot of Dallas, Tension golf course? Was Lee really a hustler, and what does the word "hustler" really mean?

The success of Lee Trevino is one of the most heart warming stories in American sports history, and in its own way, it is a reaffirmation of a system which, whatever its flaws, permits such a man to rise to the heights of financial success and popularity.

He was a boy who never knew his father, who grew up in a hard-core poverty environment, who quit school in the eighth grade to help feed his family, who was brown skinned in a city not known for an enlightened attitude of racial equality. Trevino rose above it all to become a modern folk hero. And he did it his way, keeping the rough-around-the-edges humor and outlook of the sporting-hustling-bet-your-1-a-1-dollar-on-your-own-ability world from which he emerged.

This series is an attempt not only to show what Trevino was like as a child and a young man, but to draw a picture of the slightly whacky, but fascinating world in which he matured.

Crenshaw: 'Too Easy'

HOUSTON (AP) — Few amateur golfers could find any complaints after shooting a 65 for the lead in the Southern Amateur Golf Championships — but Ben Crenshaw isn't just any golfer.

"It was too easy," the flashy University of Texas junior said Wednesday after his near record six-under-par round gave him a two-shot lead after one round over Mickey Van Gerbig of Palm Beach, Fla.

Crenshaw referred to the Cypress Course of Champions Golf Club, site of the 1969 U.S. Open. It normally plays 7,200 yards, but Southern Golf Association officials had it playing a short 6,400 yards for the first round.

"I don't like to see it played like this," said Crenshaw, the low amateur the past two years at the Masters. "Champions is a true test of golf and it should be played to its length."

"The tees were so far up the women were complaining we were messing up their tees," laughed Carl Ahrens of Houston, one of 30 amateurs who equalled or bettered par from the field of 208.

Lilly Ponders Future, Sets Talk With Brass

DALLAS (AP) — Veteran Bob Lilly, the Dallas Cowboys' unhappy tackle, will fly back to California with the club's General Manager Tex Schramm today, a team spokesman said.

He added, however, that Lilly has not reached a firm decision on whether to play another year in the National Football League.

Schramm and Lilly agreed to go back to the Cowboys' training camp at Thousand Oaks, Calif., after meeting in Dallas twice Wednesday night.

As a result, the all-pro defensive tackle cancelled a news conference at which he had been expected to disclose his retirement here today.

Lilly, a former All-American at Texas Christian University, originally set the meeting with newsmen for Wednesday but delayed it to permit "good friends" in Fort Worth to attend.

A close associate had said Lilly, 33, was ready to retire his famed No. 74 after 12 years because of "a combination of things," adding, "There's no more influential person in the world than Texas Schramm, but I doubt Bob will change his mind."

Lilly signed a new two-year contract with the Cowboys for about $70,000 a year several days ago.

He started to the California training camp Monday but apparently became depressed over team problems while talking in flight with Jethro Pugh, the other starting Cowboy tackle. Pugh had been having contract problems with the club's management.

Lilly did not report to camp, telling his wife Ann that instead he was coming back to Dallas until management "gets this mess straightened out."

Coach Tom Landry, Schramm and teammates Lee Roy Jordan and Roger Staubach had been trying to talk Lilly back into the Cowboy camp by telephone.

Lilly had promised to be the latest of several members of the 1972 Super Bowl Champion team to leave. Center Dave Manders retired Tuesday, and quarterback Craig Morton is staying away from training camp in a contract dispute.

Other stars who retired in off-season included Lance Alworth, Chuck Howley, Mike Ditka and George Andrie.

Lilly has never missed a game with the Dallas team, playing 168 in a row despite numerous injuries. He has been an all-pro pick eight times, and on the Pro Bowl team 10 times.

While departures were worrying the Cowboy coaching staff, it was the return of running back Duane Thomas that was creating a stir in the training camp of the San Diego Chargers.

Coach Harland Sware lifted the suspension he had placed on the moody former Dallas Cowboy star when he failed to report on time Sunday. Sware said, however, that an undisclosed fine would stick despite Thomas' return. Sware said Thomas phoned him Tuesday night and asked to come to camp.

Teammates are still waiting to welcome Larry Brown who is trying something that is a new first in the bizarre world of contract negotiations.

The 1972 NFL most valuable player has not reported to the Washington Redskins' training camp at Carlisle, Pa. because he said he wants an agreement on a multi-year contract, beginning with 1974, after his current three-year pact ends.

In effect, what Brown is doing is holding out a year in advance, and Edward Bennett Williams, Redskins president, is having none of it.

Dennis Holman announced that he was retiring from pro football, after three years at Dallas and two at Kansas City. The pass catcher was sidelined much of last season with a hamstring injury.

Veteran running back Greg Jones left the San Francisco 49er camp, apparently ending his football career, while the 49ers placed eight other players on waivers.

The Dolphins announced that Larry Csonka had pulled a high muscle during a training camp workout and might miss the July 27 game against the College All-Stars in Chicago. Coach Don Shula said the injury will sideline Csonka for seven to 10 days.

The Philadelphia Eagles suffered their second major injury of the preseason when 260-pound rookie tackle Branislav Keser tore ligaments in his leg. Linebacker Bob Creech suffered a similar injury Friday.

SANDS FETE SET SATURDAY

ACKERLY — Howard County Junior College basketball coach Harold Wilder will speak at the graduation ceremonies for the Dawson County Junior Pro Basketball Clinic in the Sands gym at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Forty-one boys and girls from 8-14 years of age participated in the clinic, conducted by former Sands High School coach Bob Davis, who will take over as basketball coach at Follett this year.

The Junior Pro program, headquartered in Lexington, Ky. with Adolph Rupp, Hank Iba and Jack Twyman among its officers, is designed to teach proper fundamentals to the youngsters.

Kennedy Won't Be 'Lame Duck' Boss

NEW YORK (AP) — Walter Kennedy, who has announced his retirement as National Basketball Association commissioner when his contract expires on June 1, 1975, says he has no intention of being a "lame-duck" czar in the next two years.

"I won't be a lame-duck, nor will I be a dead duck," the affable Kennedy said at a news conference Wednesday in disclosing his future plans. "I hope to be a live goose."

Kennedy, commissioner since Sept. 1, 1963, will help choose his successor in addition to tending to his duties as commissioner for the next two years. He and New York president of the league, the New York Knicks and a founder of the league since its inception in 1946 as the Basketball Association of America, have been named by the league's owners as members of the screening committee to find a successor to the outgoing commissioner.

Kennedy, who will be 62 when he retires, emphasized there was no pressure on him to relinquish his position, despite two published reports in the past two months that he would be fired.

"I owe it to my family (his wife, three children and two grandchildren) to devote more time to them, to do more traveling, which I enjoy, and to do more work for the public service organizations of which I am a member," he said.

However, when he relinquishes his post as commissioner, the devoted Kennedy will not completely sever his ties with the NBA. He will be a consultant for the league, at a salary in excess of $500,000 for 10 years.

Irish also said that the League's Board of Governors, at its meeting in Beverly Hills, Calif., late last month, had offered Kennedy an extension of his present five-year contract, but he rejected it.

Astros Bumped By Hit Batsman

HOUSTON (AP) — Ron Hunt has another bruise today and the Montreal Expos had another victory.

The Expos' second baseman scored the winning run Wednesday night in the 10th inning after being hit by a pitch as Montreal edged the Houston Astros 3-2.

It was the 225th time in his career for Hunt to be hit by a pitch.

He scored the winning run on a wild pitch as the Expos made it two in a row over the Astros.

Cecil Upshaw, taking over from Houston starter Jerry Reuss at the start of the 10th inning, hit Hunt in the upper back.

"I normally pick up the ball and flip it back to the pitcher just to show him it didn't hurt me, as sort of an insult," Hunt said.

"This time, though, I didn't do that. I noticed how he rubbed up that ball, how he seemed to like it. So I grabbed it and rolled it to our dugout. Not for a souvenir for me, I just wanted to upset him if I could."

He may have succeeded. After Hunt took first base, Upshaw threw two balls to Clyde Mashore before Juan Pizarro was called in to pitch for the Astros.

Mashore then put down a sacrifice bunt and an intentional walk was given Ron Woods.

Hal Breen forced Woods at second base, with Hunt going to third. With Bob Bailey at bat, Pizarro threw one high and wide that Houston catcher Skip Jutze couldn't handle and Hunt scored what turned out to be the winning run.

Montreal's other two runs came on homers by Breen and Ken Singleton.

The Astros picked up a first inning run on two walks and Roger Metzger's single. Montreal tied it in the fifth on Single's 15th home run.

The Expos took the lead on Breen's eighth home run in the sixth but the Astros tied it 2-2 in the seventh on Tommy Helms' double, a sacrifice bunt and Jimmy Wynn's sacrifice fly.

Mike Marshall picked up the victory for Montreal, relieving rookie Steve Rogers at the start of the ninth inning. Rogers was making his major league debut.

GIANTS WIN SOPH CROWN

The Giants defeated the Red Sox 5-3 Wednesday night in playoff action and earned a berth in the District Sophomore League Tournament here Aug. 1.

Randall Jones was the winning pitcher as the Giants wound up the season with a 13-3 standing. Cliff King suffered the loss.

Joining the Giants in the district meet will be teams from Abernathy, Lockney, Monahans and Odessa.

Hardware Wins Loop

Big Spring Hardware sacked up the Big Spring Hi-Junior League championship Wednesday with a 12-6 triumph over Kiwanis.

The victory puts the Hardware group into the District Tournament, set for the first weekend in August in Odessa.

Jody Bennett stopped the Kiwanis on five hits and Keith Stone slammed a home run and a single in pacing the victory.

The Hardware team had 10 hits in all, including two each by Mark Moore and Junior Matthews. Gary Roberts, Kelly Ragland, Billy Osborne and Bennet all stroked singles.

For Kiwanis, Ray Don Box had a pair of hits and Pat Carroll, Richard Ewing and Ricky Watkins added one.

Roger Battle was the losing pitcher.

Dodgers Top NL Pitching

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Cincinnati Reds' Manager Sparky Anderson, has shown his respect for the Los Angeles pitching staff in making his selections for a pitching staff for the National League All-Star team.

Starters Claude Osteen, 11-6, and Don Sutton, 12-5, and reliever Jim Brewer were among the eight pitchers Anderson selected for the National League All-Star team that will face the American League next Tuesday night in Kansas City.

Anderson's other All-Star pitchers will be Jack Billingham of the Reds, Tom Seaver of the New York Mets, Wayne Twitchell of Philadelphia, Rick Wise of St. Louis and Dave Giusti of Pittsburgh.

Seaver was picked to play in the midsummer baseball classic a seventh straight year. Osteen and Sutton are the only other 1973 selections who have seen All-Star Game action.

Anderson chose six right-handers and just two lefties—Osteen and Brewer.

Anderson will announce the remainder of the National League squad Friday. League batting leader Manny Mota of the Dodgers is among the players hoping for admission to the team then.

Big name pitchers left off the team this year include seven-time All-Star Bob Gibson of St. Louis, Ferguson Jenkins of the Chicago Cubs and Steve Carlton of Philadelphia.

Homan Retires

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs will play the coming season without wide receiver Dennis Homan.

Homan has notified Chiefs Coach Hank Stram he is retiring from professional football to devote full time to business interests in Dallas.

Connors Eyes Feature Clash

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — The $60,000 U.S. Pro Tennis Championships continued on a week-long collision course today with young Jimmy Connors scheduled to meet Ray Moore of South Africa in a feature match at Longwood.

Connors, a former UCLA star from Belleville, Ill., hopes to make a farce of the seedings. He is unseeded as a non-member of World Championship Tennis, the pro group which manipulated the seedings.

"I don't think there's anything wrong with the seedings," Connors said before eliminating top-seeded Stan Smith in an opening round match Tuesday night. "After all, if I can't get past Smith I don't deserve to go further."

Smith and eighth-seeded Tom Gorman have been the only seeded casualties in the tournament so far.

Second-seeded Arthur Ashe, a former U.S. Davis Cup star, advanced easily Tuesday night. Then the players seeded through third seventh moved through second round matches Wednesday.

Third-seeded Marty Riessen ousted Paul Gerken of East Norwalk, Conn., 6-4, 7-5, and fourth-seeded John Alexander of Australia survived a struggle in defeating Brian Gottfried of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., 7-6, 3-6, 6-4.

Fifth-seeded Cliff Richey easily whipped Andrew Pattison of Rhodesia 6-2, 6-4, sixth-seeded Dick Stockton of Port Washington, N.Y., eliminated Nikki Pilić of Yugoslavia 7-6, 5-7, 6-3, and seventh-seeded Rescoe Tanner of Lookout Mountain, Tenn., downed Graham Stilwell of Great Britain 6-4, 6-4.

CUBS KEEP LEAD Skid Isn't Critical

By The Associated Press

"I've always believed that August and September are the crucial months of the season," says Pittsburgh's Willie Stargell. Whitey Lockman of the Chicago Cubs isn't even thinking that far ahead.

"Losing six in a row is not what I consider real adversity," Lockman said Wednesday after his Cubs lost 8-5 to San Diego in Chicago and nearly handed their first-place berth in the National League East to St. Louis.

"The Cardinals are hot, but by the time we play them here the last weekend of July, we might be six or seven games ahead of them."

The Cubs are still a razor-thin half-game ahead of St. Louis, thanks to the San Francisco Giants who snapped the Cards' five-game winning streak with an 8-3 victory.

In the rest of the National League, Pittsburgh downed Los Angeles 3-2, the New York Mets lambasted Atlanta 12-2, Cincinnati beat Philadelphia 7-3 and Montreal edged Houston 3-2 in 10 innings.

Giants 8, Cardinals 3

The Cards were victimized by San Francisco's 14-hit attack. Gary Matthews led it with a two-run homer and a run-scoring double and Tito Fuentes kicked in with a pair of RBI singles in the Giants' 8-3 victory.

Put St. Louis Manager Red Schoendienst was hardly pessimistic after failing to take over first place, recalling that the Cards tried and failed four times before finally getting to the 500 break-even point.

Pirates 3, Dodgers 2

Stargell's 27th home run of the season in the sixth inning snatched a tie, gave Pittsburgh a 3-2 decision and halted Los Angeles' winning streak at seven games.

He had a perfect four-for-four night with two singles, a double and the home run.

Mets 12, Braves 2

Rusty Staub led the Mets' 15-hit, 12-2 stampeding of the Braves with five runs batted in on a pair of homers, his ninth and 10th of the season, and a bases-loaded walk.

John Milner kicked in with a three-run homer as Tom Seaver five-hit Atlanta.

Reds 7, Phillies 3

Andy Kosco had a hand in both of the rallies that carried Cincinnati past Steve Carlton 2-1 and the Phillies 7-3. Success (ouch!) 225th time of his black-and-blue career. It happened Morgan and Dave Concepcion leading off the 10th inning gave the Reds two quick runs in the sixth inning and, after a walk, Kosco gave them three more with his second home run.

Upshaw wasn't around long enough to get upset. Juan Pizarro took the mound immediately—and a few minutes later, with Hunt on third, unleashed a wild pitch.

Expos 3, Astros 2

The Expos' Ron Hunt, who has a habit of getting hit by leashed a wild pitch.

AL's Star Hurlers Prove Their Worth; Texas Falls

By The Associated Press

As American League pitchers go, Bill Lee and Jim Colborn are not exactly household names.

Both were named to the American League All-Star team earlier this week, however, and Wednesday they showed why.

Lee, rumored to be on Boston's trading block this spring, pitched the Red Sox to a 6-1 triumph over the Chicago White Sox, scattering eight hits. The victory moved Boston 1/2 game behind the first-place New York Yankees in the AL East.

Tommy Harper provided the batting support for Lee against the White Sox, belting a three-run home run—his fourth homer in the past week.

Colborn, meanwhile, hurled a five-hitter—despite having his disagreements with home plate umpire Joe Brinkman—as the Milwaukee Brewers posted a 3-0 win over the Texas Rangers.

"He made me fight all way tonight," noted Colborn. "I understand he later called me a crybaby. It's a good thing I didn't hear him say that, or I would have been kicked out of the game."

Dave May cracked a two-run homer to back Colborn up.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Minnesota Twins blanked the New York Yankees 3-0, the Detroit Tigers routed the Kansas City Royals 14-4, the Baltimore Orioles stopped the Oakland A's 5-2 and the Cleveland Indians beat the California Angels 10-8 in 11 innings.

Twins 3, Yankees 0

Veteran Jim Kaat scattered six hits and designated hitter Tony Oliva smacked a two-run homer, leading the Twins to a 3-0 decision over New York at Yankee Stadium.

"I had my best stuff today, even better than when I pitched a one-hitter at California earlier this month," Kaat said.

Tigers 14, Royals 4

The Tigers tied their season highs for runs and hits, routing the Royals 14-4 with an 18-hit barrage highlighted by three-run homers by Gates Brown and Dick McAuliffe.

Micky Stanley and Duke Sims also homered for Detroit, while little Freddie Patek homered for Kansas City.

Orioles 5, A's 2

Merv Rettenmund led off the game with a homer, then added a two-run blast in the second inning, sending the Orioles on their way to a 5-2 decision over the Oakland A's.

Jim Palmer, 10-6, fired a six-hitter for Baltimore. Oakland's runs came on a two-run homer by Gene Tenace in the second inning, his 17th of the season.

Indians 10, Angels 8

John Ellis' two-out, two-run homer in the 11th inning lifted the Indians to a 10-8 decision over the Angels.

California had jumped out to an 8-3 lead on the strength of a five-run second inning. But Cleveland chipped away at the lead, tying the score with two runs in the ninth on singles by Buddy Bell and Oscar Gamble, a wild pitch and a single by Charlie Spikes.

Jail Six After Officer Slain

CLAYTON, N.M. (AP) — between Clayton officials and Clayton Police Sgt. Emilio Maestas was shot to death early today following a day of tension

Maestas, a 54-year-old veteran of the police force in this small northeastern New Mexico community, died of a bullet wound in the right side of the head at about 6 a.m. in Northwest Texas Hospital at Amarillo, Tex.

State police said he was wounded when several shots were fired from the vicinity of a southeast Clayton residence. The incident occurred shortly after midnight and followed a high speed chase through the city, police said.

State Police Sgt. Bill Holder said six persons, including one female, were being held for questioning in the shooting. He declined to identify immediately those being held, saying some were juveniles and the investigation was too incomplete.

He said several other persons are being sought. No weapon was recovered.

The incident began, Holder said, when city police attempted to stop a car that "was driving erratically." Holder said that the vehicle stopped, but took off again after the officers had gotten out of their squad car.

A high speed chase, involving speeds well over 80 miles an hour, ensued, with city, county and state officers in pursuit of the vehicle.

Holder said the car stopped in front of a house on Oak Street in southeast Clayton. Several persons were in front of the residence, he said, and some rocks were thrown at the police cars.

"As the city officer was getting out of his car with several other officers, several shots were fired from the vicinity. The officer was struck in the head," Holder said.

Showers Dot West Texas

Rough weather threatened parts of West Texas anew today while the rest of the state stayed hot and dry.

Heavy thunderstorms started developing in early morning in far West Texas about 20 miles north of the Rio Grande between Marathon and Sheffield.

There also were light to moderate thundershowers from around Amarillo northward in the Texas Panhandle and into neighboring areas of New Mexico and Oklahoma—just ahead of a weak new cool front showing southward from Southwest Kansas.

Official observers looked for the frontal system to touch off still more thunderstorms and a rash of showers as it moved deeper into the state.

Skies were clear to partly cloudy outside the shower belt, and fog hung low around Alice in deep South Texas early in the day.

Temperatures near dawn ranged from 66 degrees at El Paso and 67 at Dalhart up to 81 at Galveston. Wednesday afternoon's top marks climbed as high as 99 at Wichita Falls.

SEN. PROXMIRE FIRES SHOT

Claims Military Brass Living Pampered Lives

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said Wednesday the U.S. military machine "is fast becoming luxury-bound" with a swollen officer corps living pampered lives.

A frequent critic of Pentagon spending, Proxmire said in a prepared Senate speech that "generals and admirals are providing the worst kind of example to new recruits."

Besides detailing what he called "soft-life" items provided for high-ranking officers, Proxmire said the U.S. military has a "top-heavy command structure." "There now are more generals, admirals, lieutenant generals, vice admirals, colonels, captains, lieutenant colonels and commanders than at the height of World War II, but there are 10 million fewer men in the military," he said. "There are too many chiefs, too many command echelons, too many headquarters, too much self-indulgence, too much money, and too little performance," he said. The Pentagon responded to the charges with a statement saying, "Most of these officers have served their country with distinction in two wars and some in three. In between wars and emergencies, they have worked and are working long, strenuous hours in furtherance of our national security."

Shooting Spree Claims Three

DALLAS (AP) — A flurry of pistol shots killed a woman and two men and wounded a teenage daughter of the slain woman at an East Dallas food store Tuesday.

Police said Rex S. Vasquez, 33, took his own life after slaying Dolores Barrientos Abeyta, 45, and fatally wounding Elmer May, 59.

Officers said Vasquez, an ex-boy friend, had threatened Mrs. Abeyta previously.

Dolores Abeyta, 15, was hit in the shoulder. She was reported in fair condition at a hospital.

Mrs. Abeyta and her daughter parked their car and entered the drive-in food store about 5 p.m. Vasquez, with a pistol in each hand, followed them inside. May, another customer, arrived about the same time.

Store clerk D. L. Bard, 71, told of hearing Vasquez mutter something in Spanish and said, "I heard the girl holler, 'No! No! No!' and then I heard the guns."

Vasquez emptied one gun into Mrs. Abeyta after wounding her daughter and, for no apparent reason, shooting May after spotting him close by. After that Vasquez turned a pistol on himself.

Energetic Housewife Plans Busy Future

By BARBARA LORD

Mrs. John (Jean) Denton has two goals in life and the enthusiasm and drive to turn them into realities. First, she wants to become an interior decorator, and second, she wants to open her own ceramic shop.

For the time being, Mrs. Denton is busy with her family. She hopes to have the ceramic shop when her husband, T. Sgt. John Denton of Manpower and Management at Webb Air Force Base, retires in about seven years. The Dentons have two children, Johnny, 7, and Tonia, 6.

At one time, Mrs. Denton owned about 70 ceramic molds, but as an Air Force wife, she was afraid they wouldn't withstand the years of moving and storing without damage. She still does a lot of ceramic work, and is a qualified instructor in the art.

Interior decorating is an innate talent for Mrs. Denton. During her travels around the world, which included years with her father who was also a career Air Force man, Mrs. Denton has acquired an array of furniture, paintings and home accent pieces which she uses to make her home a comfortable yet elegant and unique place to live.

"I usually know exactly what I want for a particular place in my home," said Mrs. Denton. "We spent two years in the Philippines before coming to Webb AFB and I spent a lot of time trying to draw pictures of what I wanted made by the local craftsmen. I designed all of our wrought iron items, plus the bar we had made."

Mrs. Denton is a collector of pen and ink drawings and oil paintings. She has about 50 of them, all framed and stored in closets so she can frequently interchange pictures on her walls. Another of her favorite collections includes five dolls made from antique Jakarta coins. She makes it a point to acquire a bracelet charm from everyplace she visits, plus at least one knick-knack or unique item for her home which is representative of the culture.

In her own home at 188-A Hunter, Mrs. Denton has chosen an oriental decor which is carried out with furnishings she had made in the Philippines. However, she doesn't spend all of her time decorating her home. She has a part-time job at the base exchange and makes all of her own clothes. In addition, she is president of the Webb Non-Commissioned Officers Wives Club, heads committees for the Webb Women of the Chapel and for Beta Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, and is a member of Marcy Parent-Teacher Association. Mrs. Denton also makes stereo tapes of her favorite music.

Another favorite hobby for Mrs. Denton is cooking, and her specialty is oriental cuisine.

"Oriental cooking takes a long time," said Mrs. Denton, "but most of it can be done ahead of time. It just takes a while to chop everything up as finely as is required. Once everything is prepared, the actual cooking takes just a matter of minutes. I must admit, it's a little hectic assuring everything is done at the same time."

For her day-to-day meals, Mrs. Denton has a variety of menus she has collected from friends, restaurants, newspapers or magazines. During summer months, the family eats outside quite often, and Mrs. Denton is always asked to furnish baked beans when they are invited to a group picnic.

"I don't have a recline for beans, and I don't even like them," said Mrs. Denton, "but people always like the way I throw them together, so I keep making them."

Set, and Mrs. Denton are both from Arkansas and grew up only a few miles from each other. However, they didn't meet until they were in Spain where she lived with her parents and he was stationed with the Air Force. Set, Denton is an avid motorcycle rider and president of the local motorcycle club. He also likes fishing. The Dentons have a family boat, but Mrs. Denton prefers skiing, swimming or "just boating" to fishing.

Sophisticated Soda is a fitting "piece de resistance" to a lovely afternoon. And because it's so simple to prepare, you can remain cool and fashionable in your kitchen.

SOPHISTICATED SODA
4 egg whites
1/2 cup sugar
1 tsp. instant coffee powder
2 cups cold, strong coffee beverage

Makes 5 or 6 servings.

Variation: Omit coffee powder and use 3 or 4 drops mint extract and 3 or 4 drops green food coloring for meringue.

TREASURE HUNTER—Mrs. John Denton found this antique chest while rummaging through stores in the Philippine Islands. During her two years in the islands, Mrs. Denton designed much of the family's furniture, such as the wrought iron spiral piece shown in the background. She also designed the family's patio furniture.

RECOMMENDED RECIPES

Used By Mrs. John Denton

CHICKEN WITH CASHEW NUTS
1 1/4 cups cooked chicken
2 tbsps. water
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. sherry
1/2 tsp. baking soda
1 1/2 tsp. corn starch
1/2 tsp. Accent
2 lge. black mushrooms
1/2 cup whole bamboo shoots
1 green onion
1 bell pepper
1/2 cup cashew nuts
Cooking oil.

Cut chicken, mushrooms, bamboo shoots, onion and pepper into 3/4-inch pieces, and set aside. Combine water, salt, sherry, baking soda, corn starch and Accent, and marinate chicken in mixture for one to two hours.

Fry cashew nuts in one tablespoon oil for about 1/2 minute, before they turn brown. (Be careful, as they burn easily.) Set nuts aside, and discard oil. In a hot pan, put two tablespoons cooking oil, add mushrooms and bamboo shoots and stir fry. Set aside. In another clean, hot pan, put another two tablespoons oil, and stir fry onion and chicken until onions are almost done. Add peppers, mushrooms and bamboo shoots. Add frying sauce (see below), cashew nuts. Glaze and serve.

Frying Sauce:
2 tbsps. soy sauce
1 tsp. sherry
2 tbsps. water
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. corn starch
1 tsp. sesame oil
Combine all ingredients and mix.

BEEF WITH PEPPER STRIPS
1 flank steak
3/4 cup bell pepper, thinly sliced
2 green onions, sliced in long pieces
3/4 tsp. grated ginger
3 tbsps. cooking oil
Marinade:
2 tbsps. soy sauce

3 tbsps. water
2 tbsps. oil
1 tsp. sherry
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. corn starch
Frying Sauce:
2 tbsps. water
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. sugar
1/2 tsp. Accent
1 tsp. sesame oil
1/2 tsp. corn starch
1 tsp. sherry

Cut steak in half by cutting with grain. Then, cut cross-grain into bacon-thin slices (matchstick size). About one cup is needed. Marinate beef pieces in marinade for 1/2 to 1 hour.

Prepare frying sauce and set aside. Slice bell peppers and green onions. In one tablespoon oil and one tablespoon water, stir fry green peppers for a few seconds only. Remove from pan and set aside. In two tablespoons oil, fry ginger, green onions and beef. Fry until meat is almost done and changes color. Add green peppers and frying sauce. Glaze and serve.

FANCY CHOCOLATE BOXED CANDY
1 can condensed milk
1 can shredded coconut
1 cup chopped nuts
1 stick margarine or butter
2 boxes powdered sugar
1 paraffin brick
1 lge. pkg. chocolate pieces

1 tsp. vanilla
Combine all ingredients except chocolate and paraffin. Chill well. After chilling, roll into small balls. Melt paraffin and chocolate, and dip candy balls into the mixture. Yields about 3 1/2 pounds.

Variations:
Different flavorings other than vanilla can be used, such as black walnut, rum, etc. To do this, mixture must be divided into sections before adding flavoring. Also, you may substitute cherries or candied pieces for the nuts. The final product looks like store-bought chocolates, if placed in candy wrappers.

SHRIMP ON TOAST
1 cup shrimp, fresh, frozen or canned
1 tsp. ginger, grated
1 egg
1 tsp. Accent
1 tsp. sugar
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. corn starch

Tangy Lemonade Is Cool As A Cucumber

The thermometer is the best indicator for lemonade weather. The higher the mercury rises, say growers of this tangy fruit, the busier the lemon squeezer. Lemonade made with slices of fresh cucumbers is a double refresher! It's a lively combination of fresh flavors that will make your lemonade something special.

Like other citrus fruit, lemons are wonderfully rich in vitamin C. Very low in calories; one medium size lemon, 2 inches in diameter, has only 20 calories. Lemons are in the market all year, so keep them on hand and plan to use them often.

CUCUMBER LEMONADE
12 cucumber slices
1 cup sugar
1 cup fresh lemon juice, divided
Rind of 3 lemons, cut in strips
Ice cubes

Combine sugar, 1 cup water and 1/4 cup of lemon juice in medium saucepan. Mix well. Place over low heat; stir to dissolve sugar. Bring to a boil; boil 2 minutes. Remove from heat. Add lemon peel. Cover, let stand 5 minutes. Remove lemon peel. Add remaining 4 cups water and lemon juice. Place 2 to 3 ice cubes and 2 cucumber slices in each tall glass. Fill glasses with lemonade. Makes 6 tall glasses.

Probe Conditions At Dilapidated Rural School For Girls

'My Mama Was A Winehead Who Beat On Us'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Beth, attractive in a tight pullover and flared pants, spoke matter-of-factly of "trying to kill myself a whole bunch of times. My mother and I didn't get along."

She's 15.

Baby-faced Jeanine, in shorts and sandals, stood beside a cucumber patch and talked casually of "drugs and things." Her father is dead, she said, and "I ran away a lot because my mother beat me."

tally retarded or emotionally disturbed, and "they have everything to gain and nothing to lose by convincing anyone who will listen that the place should be shut down."

She said the girls had told her Denton had promised to return them to their homes as encouragement to complain about the school.

Mrs. Crump was asked if this was true, she replied, "Absolutely not."

Jo Ann, 14, claimed, however, another girl had been locked up for three nights "for drinking bleach."

Asked about herself, Jo Ann said, "My mama was a winehead who beat on us." She said she had been in three foster homes, starting when she was 6. Asked what she would like to do, she said, "I'm hoping to go to another foster home."

and others had broken out of there, too.

The girls complained of heavy sedation, and Denton stated that in relating the dosage a staff worker exclaimed, "that's enough to kill a cow."

The nurse, Mrs. Betty Carpenter, also admitted some of the girls were receiving birth control shots every three months—but only if their parents agreed to the shots.

Jeanine, one of eight in the maximum security unit up a dirt road from another house, which accommodates nine girls, said "those inside maximum security got 'treated better' than the others. She said the others "exaggerated a lot" and were always "fighting and cussing" the staff.

side professionals—such as the nurse—for more than two hours at midday.

Denton said he had made his first visit because of complaints he received during the past three weeks of investigating the licensing of Artesia Hall, a Liberty County school for children with behavior problems. It was closed by the state June 28.

As chairman of the subcommittee on public welfare, Denton indicated he might turn up at child care institutions, day care centers and welfare offices throughout the state.

"Legislators have an obligation to make as many on-site inspections as possible," he said.

Mrs. Crump said she founded the Mary Lee school in 1963 as a private, non-profit corporation.

She said most of the girls' care is financed by state agencies, which pay $230 a month. She said for others the school receives from zero to $450 a month. She claimed the school lost $29,000 in the past fiscal year, but the loss was "made up" by depreciation.

TRIED TO KILL

The girls are referred, she said, by agencies, such as the welfare department, parents and judges.

Mary Alice Sacken, a University of Texas student doing an "internship" at the school, said she found the "environment pretty therapeutic. The girls are good friends."

"It's the best place I've been so far," remarked Jeanine.

Behind her, staring out a window was Glenda, 13 or 14. She had tried to kill herself twice, Denton said, and had run away. They brought her back.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

FOUNDER OF GIRLS SCHOOL — Mrs. Charlene Crump, founder of the Mary Lee School for problem girls near Austin at a news conference at the State Capitol Wednesday. Rep. Lane Denton, D-Waco, led a caravan of newsmen on a visit to the school which he said should be investigated by state agencies. Mrs. Crump said all the girls at the school have been diagnosed as mentally retarded or emotionally disturbed.

BARBED WIRE

Jeanine is locked behind a chain-link fence topped by barbed wire most of the day and all night.

She's 14.

They are spending their youth at the Mary Lee school in the country, a 42-acre campus of dirt roads and a dilapidated schoolhouse. The girls say they get $5 a week to spend, but the staff holds it back if they refuse to do what seems to be their primary summer work—making clothespins, three for a penny, in a rundown old poultry barn.

Rep. Lane Denton, D-Waco, who made two unannounced visits to the school Sunday and Monday, thinks the conditions are bad enough that he has asked three state agencies to make an immediate investigation.

He led a caravan of reporters to the campus Wednesday, after describing it at a Capitol news conference.

A young woman in charge of the girls' treatment, Mrs. Judy Henslee, who said she has a master's degree in social work from the University of Texas, told reporters many of the girls have "histories of hostility, belligerence and violence."

The founder of the school, Mrs. Charlene Crump, said all have been diagnosed as mental-retarded or emotionally disturbed.

QUIET ROOM

Asked if he had made such a promise, Denton snapped, "Absolutely not."

He said since his visits with Rep. Ben Reyes, D-Houston, a peep hole had been installed in the door to a walk-in closet, which Mrs. Crump refers to as the "quiet room."

He said two girls had been locked for as long as seven days in the closet, which is carpeted and reinforced with one-inch thick plywood. But when

PENNED UP

The girls pointed out a six-foot chain-link fence next to their living quarters where they said girls were penned up until they broke out many times. A concrete block house also was used to "isolate" the girls, Mrs. Crump said, but that structure is no longer used.

Beth said it was because she

Blame High Food Costs On 'Insiders'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former governor of the Chicago Mercantile Exchange said here that insiders manipulating the commodity futures market are a major cause of high food prices.

The recent surge in soybean prices from $3.31 a bushel to $12.90 could not have occurred without the operation of a handful of commercial houses, Harry H. Fortes told a House Judiciary subcommittee studying food prices. He suggested the Justice Department examine the futures market for possible antitrust violations.

"It is my opinion that the last $5 or $6 of the increase in the July soybeans was the result of said Fortes, who left the exchange in 1970 and is now a Chicago attorney specializing in the trading of agricultural products.

The Chicago Mercantile Exchange trades mainly in cattle, hogs, pork bellies and shell eggs. Grain futures are traded on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Fortes said the increases in grain prices following the Russian export deal also were made worse by manipulators. Antitrust action to halt grain trading at the time could have saved U.S. consumers hundreds of millions of dollars, he said.

Fortes described trading in futures, in which the actual commodities are rarely delivered, as "unique and esoteric" and only a few firms and individuals understand the operation.

This makes outside regulation difficult, he said, and internal policing is also ineffective because most governors of the exchange are traders themselves.

Sheriff's Posse 2nd At Snyder

SNYDER — The Howard County Sheriff's Posse took second place honors in the senior riding division in Wednesday afternoon's parade kicking off the 38th annual Scurry County Rodeo. The San Angelo Saddle Club won first place.

A near capacity crowd watched the premiere rodeo performance Wednesday in the arena west of Snyder. Performances continue nightly at 8:30 through Saturday.

Although the rodeo is a professional rodeo sanctioned by the International Rodeo Association, local non-member contestants are allowed to enter if they live within a 125-mile radius of Snyder.

Hoyle Nix and the Cowboys, a Howard County group, will provide music each night for the rodeo dance following the arena performances.

Goat Raisers Convention

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A Dallas legislator believes "the days of agricultural surpluses are over."

State Rep. Fred Agnich, a Republican, said it is imperative that everything possible be done to alleviate agricultural shortages.

Agnich, speaking at a news conference at the 58th annual convention of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association, said additional food supplies can be produced by controlling predators of livestock.

He said his state House Wildlife Preservation subcommittee helped push through a bill allowing aerial shooting of predators in the western half of the state.

He said his home area was free of coyotes years ago but now large numbers of the animals are appearing.

AIN'T IT A SHAME?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The editor of an Agriculture Department newsletter today struck a blow for more clarity in government reports.

Edward D. Curran, who sends his "Farm Paper Letter" to 1,500 newspaper and magazine editors, included this example of government in a report about lamb production:

"A growing lack of downward flexibility in retail lamb prices since 1965 has tended to widen wholesale-to-retail margins and has aggravated the competitive position of lamb compared with beef and contributed to its declining consumption."

Curran added an explanatory footnote: "It means things ain't been going too well in the lamb industry lately."

Charities Look To Clubs For Financial Support

By JOHN EDWARDS

Seven local civic organizations spent more than $12,500 on charitable and non-profit causes during 1972.

Morning Optimist Club contributions during 1972 totaled about $1,000 and looked like this, James Balios, secretary-treasurer, said:

"A growing lack of downward flexibility in retail lamb prices since 1965 has tended to widen wholesale-to-retail margins and has aggravated the competitive position of lamb compared with beef and contributed to its declining consumption."

Curran added an explanatory footnote: "It means things ain't been going too well in the lamb industry lately."

EYE GLASSES

The Downtown Lions collected $1,700 from light bulb sales and $800 from broom sales during 1972, Jim Lemons, president, said. Exact figures are being determined but Lemons said all this money went toward charitable causes like eye glasses for youths.

Largest donation made by the Kiwanis Club here last year was $720.42 in proceeds from a rodeo barbecue last summer, Billy T. Smith, secretary-treasurer, said. This money went to the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

Sponsoring two teams, Kiwanians sent $600 to baseball programs last summer. This summer, they are sponsoring a third team, for girls.

At Big Spring High School, the Key Club, which is sponsored and led by the Kiwanis Club, draws about $350 yearly. Glasses for underprivileged students takes another $350 yearly.

Funds for advertising the Workama summer program for students come from the Kiwanis Club. The Texas Employment Commission coordinates the program.

The local organization sends two or three boys to the Kiwanis summer camp at Mason. And a recognition day is held for athletes, excluding the basketball team, at Howard County Junior College.

BINGO GAMES

The Big Spring Chapter of American Business Clubs gave $1,900 to local non-profit organizations alone during 1972, according to an AMBUC news letter.

Receiving $1,000 was the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center; teen-age baseball, $150; bingo games at the Big Spring State Hospital, $300; Christmas parties at the West Side Center and State Hospital, $250; and the United Way and others, $300.

For the Evening Lions Club, the annual barbecue in September netted $71.68. C. W. Tanner, secretary-treasurer, said.

During 1972, the Evening Lions donated to the Big Spring Boy's Club, Lions' permanent disaster fund, Teresa Denton Fund, a Little League team, the Lions' Camp for Crippled children and eye glasses for the needy and flowers for the sick.

BASKETBALL

Evening Lions collected enough clothing for the Big Spring State Hospital to provide an adequate supply for the future.

This year, they have continued many programs, donated to the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center and Care In April, they held a March of Dimes Basketball tournament.

Hi-Noon Optimists gave around $3,600 to charity and non-profit organizations during 1972, Jack Price said.

He estimated $1,100 went to the Boy's Club, $672 went to the Meistersingers, $237 to the West Side Community Center, $250 to the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, $250 to Webb's International Little League and $500 to the Sophomore League.

Information was requested but not provided concerning contributions made by Jaycee and the Civitan Club.

Ranch Town Appeal Looms

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Four plaintiffs in the San Antonio Ranch Town environmental suit say in a court notice they will appeal a judge's refusal to halt development of Ranch Town above the Edwards Underground Reservoir.

Notice of appeal was filed with U. S. District court Judge Adrian Spears by the Sierra Club, Citizens for a Better Environment, League of Women Voters and the American Association of University Women.

The four groups also want Spears to join the defendants to "maintain the status quo" of the new town until Spears' judgment is reviewed by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

According to the plaintiffs, denial of such an injunction would encourage speculation and satellite development in the Edwards recharge zone.

Spears ruled in favor of the developers of Ranch Town and the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, which had approved a loan for Ranch Town.

He found that environmental guidelines had been followed in approval of the loan but he retained jurisdiction so that reports on the purity of the reservoir could be filed periodically for his monitoring.

Anteater Fails To Dig Yogurt

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When an anteater walked up to Mrs. Bari Silvern of Hollywood outside her home, she invited it in.

"It's just darling, with such soulful eyes and so friendly. It seems secure, fearless, but moves very slowly. Its feet turn in, sort of pigeon-toed," she said.

Mrs. Silvern turned the anteater into the local animal shelter after offering him pineapple yogurt because she didn't have any ants.

She said that, if no one claims the anteater, she might just make it a permanent house guest.

LOST THAT LOVING FEELING — Mrs. Elizabeth Clifford poses in London Wednesday, after a court awarded her over $10,000 in damage from a highway accident four years ago. A judge said the injuries left a sensitive area on her face and lips, and "she does not like to be kissed, with a consequent disinclination to receive warmly, or at all, the ordinary advances a wife and mother may expect and enjoy."

EPA Teams Take Stiff Criticism

Witnesses at air pollution hearings in Texas cities continued Wednesday to protest Environmental Protection Agency proposals to clean up the air.

In El Paso, city officials said the EPA should have taken into account the pollutants from neighboring Juarez, Mexico, when making up regulations for the Far West Texas city.

Assistant City Attorney John Ross also charged that the EPA's data on El Paso air was two years old, and did not reflect improvements that have since occurred.

Mayor Mario Jaquez of Juarez, a larger city than El Paso, said he would join El Paso officials in opposing the regulations.

Witnesses in Austin told EPA examiners its proposals might make the problem worse, and could even be unconstitutional.

Glenn Green, executive assistant for the Texas Good Roads Association, said special bus and car pool lanes and restrictions on downtown parking probably would create more pollution than present traffic arrangements.

Allen Bell, a Texas Air Control Board official, told the EPA its requirements of auto emission control devices on pre-1968 cars might violate the 5th and 14th amendments. He said the expense of installing the devices might place a discriminatory burden on the poor.

At the Houston session, the president of the Houston Chamber of Commerce said he wondered if the federal agency's next step would be to "regulate

Nursing Home Quiz Sought

Houston (AP) — State Rep. Ben Reyes says he will ask a legislative committee to conduct hearings on nursing homes which care for handicapped persons and geriatric patients in the same facilities.

The Houston Democrat is a member of a House welfare subcommittee probing Artesia Hall.

Reyes complained Wednesday about the "atmosphere" in which young quadriplegic patients live at the Four Seasons Nursing Center here. He said the center was the only nursing home he knew of which cared for both young handicapped persons and geriatric patients.

"This is really a bad atmosphere for people who are trying to get through college," he said.

Phillip Schaper, acting administrator of the home, said there were some advantages to the arrangement.

Pulled Off Floor By Her Hair Twice

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — Testimony was to continue today in a U.S. District Court suit which has seen numerous witnesses criticize Texas juvenile rehabilitation schools.

Inmates from the Crockett State School for Girls told the court Wednesday that they were denied medical attention on occasion, received inadequate counseling and were otherwise mistreated at the Texas Youth Council facility.

Students from the state schools and experts on juvenile delinquency and rehabilitation have appeared as witnesses in the suit filed by 12 former state school inmates against the Texas Youth Council.

One girl testified Wednesday that the Crockett school superintendent asked her when she arrived, "Do you plan to spend the rest of your life doing the same things that brought you here—being a whore and a drug addict?"

Another girl testified that a Crockett house parent had picked her up off the floor by her hair on two occasions.

The 16-year-old witness said she had tried three times to run away from the school. For one attempted escape, she was placed in the security center for 24 days, she said. On another occasion, she was left in the security center with no bed and no mattress, the girl told the court.

Her Car Window Blasted Out By Police Gunfire

HOUSTON (AP) — Florida Williamson Bethold, 48, says she was wounded slightly in the shoulder and her car damaged by police gunfire when she stumbled upon an armed robbery in progress.

She said patrolmen apparently mistook her car for the getaway vehicle after an attempted holdup at a drive-in grocery store Wednesday.

Mrs. Bethold said the rear window of her car was blasted out by shotgun fire while the bandits apparently escaped on foot.

The police report said two officers exchanged gunfire with a man and a woman who threatened the store clerk.

Lt. William Doss of the robbery division said no inter-departmental investigation had been ordered. He declined further comment.

Fatal Crash

HOUSTON (AP) — Barbara F. Kelminson, 52, was killed Tuesday night in a two-car collision on Houston's Gulf Freeway.

INSTRUCTOR PILOT OF THE MONTH — First Lt. Ben M. Bristow was named the outstanding instructor pilot for the month of June at Webb AFB.

MEXICAN OFFICIALS PROTEST Electronic Sensor In Use On Texas Border Two Years

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) - An electronic surveillance plan now under protest from the Mexican government has been used in the Laredo area during the past two years, according to the acting chief of the U.S. Border Patrol at Laredo.

Charles Feary said Wednesday the portable electronic sensor had been used at intervals since 1971 to monitor illegal aliens and contraband.

Mexican Foreign Minister Emilio O. Rabasa has asked for a "full explanation" of a plan, now under debate in the U.S. Congress, to install the electronic fence along the entire border.

Congressional debate on the surveillance measure disclosed that the device had been used in the Chula Vista, Calif., area, but Feary's statement Wednesday was the first indication that it had been in operation elsewhere.

U.S. Rep. Henry Gonzales, D-Texas, has criticized the sensor plan as a source of "psychological problems" in U.S. Mexico relations.

Feary said the controversial device was developed for use in the Vietnam War at the direction of former U.S. Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara.

The sensor, still in experimental stages, is a "highly sophisticated" system that is buried underground, Feary said.

If it is implemented, the device would cost about $1.5 million, he said.

Recent statistics from the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service show that the device may be effective in halting illegal aliens. About 3,000 persons were detained in the Laredo sector for attempted illegal immigration in March, Feary said.

Chapel Group Ends Retreat

Forty-one members of the Webb Chapel community returned recently from a week-long religious retreat in the Colorado Rockies, according to Chaplain (Capt.) Jim Ewell, base coordinator for the trip.

The group attended the regional Christian Encounter Conference which was one of five held throughout the U.S. Both Protestant and Catholic members of the Air Force attended. Estes Park, Colo., was the site of this year's conference as it was last year.

The conferees attended various workshops, morning and evening worship services, and relaxed during the afternoons.

Workshop topics included: Bible study techniques, parent-child relationships, teacher skills, values clarification and transactional analysis (a study of the way people relate to one another).

One of these conferences is held annually, with military personnel attending on a permissive temporary duty status at no cost to the government.

The conference was sponsored by Air Training Command and the theme for this year's conference was, "God is Hope - God is Now." Daily themes were, "Prepare Now, Relate Now, Celebrate Now and Serve Now."

Good Old Mom

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our son is 34. He has a shaky marriage and two fine children, ages 10 and 12. He has changed jobs frequently and is always in debt.

We like his wife. My husband and I have pulled them out of debt several times. It has cost us a total of $3,000. They have never mentioned paying us back.

The problem: Our son has won a trip to Hawaii on his job, but if he wants to take his wife he will have to pay her way. He doesn't have the few hundred dollars it would cost to take her, so naturally he is sort of looking in our direction for it.

They have never taken a trip together. (No money.) I think the trip might help their marriage and have told my husband how I feel, but he says I am a soft touch.

What should I do?
GOOD OLD MOM

DEAR MOM: Offer to lend him the money on a business basis. Ask him to sign a promissory note with a date set for repayment. And this time insist that he live up to his obligation.

And don't lend him more than the few hundred he needs. Good Old Mom has to be Tough Old Mom if she wants her son to be a real man.

DEAR ABBY: My sister, who is 62, and my brother-in-law, who is 57, have been happily married for 23 years.

Because of health reasons, my brother-in-law is contemplating retiring and will in time be collecting social security. Since my sister will also be eligible to collect social security, my brother-in-law suggested that my sister get her birth certificate. This is frightening to my sister as she has never told her husband that she is five years older than he is. (He thinks they're afraid if she told him her real age, when they first met, he wouldn't marry her.)

Now my sister is afraid of repercussions, as she has always been completely honest with her husband.

Do you think she should tell him now? MINNIE
DEAR MINNIE: After 28 years of marriage, I doubt that your sister's husband would hold it against her for having knocked five years off her age. I think she should tell him and get it over with. A 62-year-old woman who can pass for 57 needn't be ashamed.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter, Pam, was invited to be a bridesmaid. She was thrilled because she had never been in a wedding party before. The bride's mother invited all the girls in the wedding party over to plan a shower for the bride.

We have a nice large finished basement party room, so Pam offered to have the shower here. The bride's mother said: "Oh, no, I
