Cost Of Living Spirals Again

PER GALLON Milk Prices Up 8 Cents

People may have been expecting it all along now it is official, milk prices will go up Monday, Buddy Calhoun, Gandy's area distributor said. The increase comes after the lifting of the price freeze imposed by President Nixon June 13.

Calhoun said a new price list he has just received from San Angelo set the price of a gallon of milk up eight cents.

Russell Leggett, Foremost area distributor, said he was expecting a similar increase any day.

The increase is four cents less than what was previously expected before the price freeze was imposed. Calhoun said there had been talk of a 12 cent increase per gallon.

Milk related products such as cottage cheese is expected to go up also but not as much as milk, he said.

Calhoun had expressed some concern over the possibility of milk supplies becoming shorter but Loy Gandy, San Angelo chairman of the board, said the number of dairymen has decreased but the supply of milk has not.

"Three years ago we had 165 dairymen supplying us (Gandy's) and now there are only 70," he said. "But the milk supply has increased."

He said the smaller dairy farms are selling out to the larger ones but the larger farms are more efficient.

The larger farms do not necessarily mean lower prices for the consumer because a Federal Milk Market order sets a minimum price that a processor can pay dairymen, he said.

Gandy said it was anybody's guess whether or not milk prices will decrease next year when more feed and gasoline are more available to farmers.

Duties Overlap; Marshal Resigns

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND, Tex. (AP) — After telling town council members that official duties took too much time from her beauty shop job, the town marshal of this South Texas resort town resigned.

Mrs. Ronalyn Adams had served less than two months after being elected town marshal by write-in votes. She is an attractive beautician and the mother of two children.

Mrs. Adams described her job by saying "I had a few calls, but I didn't put anybody away."

Asked if she might want to work in law enforcement again, Mrs. Adams said, "You never know what might happen tomorrow."

Dirty Shirts Get Attention At A&M

A story in the Big Spring Herald about a Colorado City councilman bringing his red-streaked white shirts to the council meeting to protest the water situation brought help for the city.

Texas A&M was preparing to hold a pure water meeting in Snyder for Scurry and Mitchell counties. When an A&M official spotted the article about the councilman's dirty linen, he wrote the councilman. The letter went astray.

So, when the pure water expert got to Snyder, only two workers from the Colorado City water department were present.

He decided to stop in Colorado City en route back to A&M. He was welcomed with open arms and has remained for several days to do a detailed study of the problem.

So, one councilman's dirty shirts attracted attention all the way to Bryan via Colorado City and Big Spring. That's what happens when one really airs that dirty linen.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher retail prices for food, fuels and household services showed the cost of living up seven-tenths of one per cent in June before President Nixon froze prices, the government said today. It marked the fifth straight month of sharply higher consumer prices.

The big gains were again led by higher grocery store prices which rose 1.7 per cent in June and were nearly 16 per cent higher than a year ago.

Fruits and vegetables rose 4.9 per cent last month, the sharpest jump since a 3.6 per cent increase in December 1971.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said last month's cost of living figures were collected before the 60-day price freeze went into effect June 13.

Consumer prices rose during the five months of the largely voluntary Phase 3 economic controls at a seasonally adjusted rate of 8.3 per cent, compared to a jump of 3.6 per cent under the 14 months of tighter Phase 2 controls which the Nixon administration lifted in January.

FREEZE LIFTED

President Nixon's new Phase 4 economic controls lifted the freeze on food immediately and on most other sectors of the economy Aug. 12. This is expected to bring even higher prices in the months ahead.

The seven-tenths of one per cent increase in the June Consumer Price Index was one-tenth of one per cent higher than in May. This matched increases in February and April but was two-tenths of one per cent less than the March increase. After seasonal adjustment, the June increase was six-tenths of one per cent, the same as in the previous two months.

'Poppycock,' Says Nixon Of Rumors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Promising to "work right up to the hilt," President Nixon told his White House staff today that any suggestion he would resign before the end of his term is "just plain poppycock."

Speaking informally to several hundred White House employees in the Rose Garden following his release from Bethesda Naval Medical Center, Nixon said:

"Let others wallow in Watergate. We're going to do our job."

Acknowledging that his doctors have urged him to slow down and take more time for relaxation, the President said, "No one in this great office at this time in the world's history can slow down."

Nixon declared in promising to work "at full tilt all the way" that the health of the nation and the world is more important than the health of any individual.

"There is so much that we want to do and so little time to do it," he said, urging the staff to join him in bearing down on the job.

The President—smiling, looking fit and cracking an occasional joke—said some have suggested that he might resign because of the burdens of his office and "some of the rough assaults" any President is subjected to.

"That's just plain poppycock," Nixon said. "We're going to stay on this job."

Nixon was hospitalized for a week for treatment of viral pneumonia.

He credited "the spirit of Bethesda" and the spirit of all the Navy medical corpsmen for giving him the lift to get well sooner than expected.

Aide Says Nixon Asked For Tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former assistant attorney general testified today that President Nixon personally asked him to get tapes of White House-ordered telephone taps away from the FBI and into the White House.

Robert C. Mardian told the Senate Watergate committee he was summoned to the Western White House by Nixon after an FBI associate director had warned that the politically sensitive tape might come into possession of J. Edgar Hoover.

FOUND IN SAFE

The tapes of bugged conversations by newsmen and employees of the National Security Council were found this spring in the safe of former White House domestic counsel John D. Ehrlichman.

They were made as part of an administration effort to end what it called national security leaks during 1970.

Mardian, in his second day of testimony before the committee, said he was called in early summer 1971 by William Sullivan, then associate director of the FBI under Hoover.

Sullivan "told me he wanted to talk to me about a very sensitive matter. He said he and Hoover were not getting along very well. He anticipated his removal as associate director."

"He told me there were some very sensitive national security surveillance logs that... were kept in his safe in his office."

"He felt that the highly sensitive nature of these tapes were such they should not be kept there, particularly if he were to be removed from office."

"My recollection is he thought Hoover might use these tapes for the purpose of preserving his position as director of the FBI."

Mardian said he told Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and heard nothing further until July, when he was asked to fly on short notice to meet the President in San Clemente, Calif.

TO EHRlichMAN

"The President directed me to obtain the reports from Mr. Sullivan and deliver them to Mr. John D. Ehrlichman," said Mardian.

"The reason at the time was to keep Hoover from having possession of the records?" asked Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga.

"You'll have to draw your own conclusion," said Mardian.

Mardian also confirmed that "the tapes concerned electronic surveillance authorized by the President at the request of the National Security Council."

Mardian, who quit the Justice Department in 1972 to join the Nixon campaign, also testified that a conversation he had with Mitchell a week after the Watergate break-in made him assume Mitchell had at least gone along with advance plans to wiretap the Democratic national headquarters.

While Mardian underwent Senate committee questioning, President Nixon told his staff: "Let others wallow in Watergate. We're going to do our job."

Space Ship Touched Down On Moon Four Years Ago

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — "Tranquility base here. The Eagle has landed!" That was four years ago, on July 20, 1969. The first human voice from another celestial body.

The world a quarter million miles away breathlessly followed the adventures of Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. as the two American astronauts probed the alien planet.

Orbiting the moon, awaiting the return of the explorers, was the third member of the Apollo 11 expedition, Michael Collins.

Now four years have passed. Ten other men, all Americans, have since walked on the moon—and the United States, for the foreseeable future, has abandoned manned lunar exploration.

Instead, America's manned space program has turned attention back to earth with orbiting projects intended to reap benefits for mankind.

The first step in this new direction is Skylab, an 85-ton orbiting space station in which experiments are conducted in the fields of medicine, earth resources, astronomy and space manufacturing.

The Skylab 1 crew returned home June 22 after a record 28 days in space. Next week, on July 28, the Skylab 2 crew is to rocket up to the lab in an attempt to double that mark to 56 days. Starting in October, Skylab 3 will inhabit the station, also for 56 days, perhaps longer.

Photographs taken by Apollo astronauts from deep in space helped trigger this trend to look more inward toward earth than outward toward the stars. They showed earth as a fragile ball in vast universe, its life protected from the harshness of space by a thin veil of atmospheric gases.

Recalling his flight last year, Armstrong remarked: "As I stood on the Sea of Tranquility and looked up at the earth, my impression was of the importance of that small, fragile remote blue planet."

"People everywhere have, by television and photographs, shared that perspective and shared our concern for the security of our globe."

"AN ACCIDENT"

"I suspect it to be more than an accident that a phenomenal increase in the awareness of the importance of ecology, conservation and pollution control have characterized the years since the flight of Apollo 8 on Christmas of 1968 — when man got the first view of his planet from afar."

Armstrong also said he regretted that the spirit fostered by his "giant step" faded as the public seemed to lose interest in the moon program after the first couple of landings.

Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins were feted around the world on their return to earth. None of them liked the glare of publicity as they put in a tough year of public appearances, goodwill visits abroad and seemingly endless autograph signing.

TOKYO (AP) — Japan Airlines said one of its Boeing 747 airliners was hijacked shortly after it left Amsterdam's Schiphol Airport today by what airline officials believed were Palestinian guerrillas.

IRA Commander, 16 Men Captured By British

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The Irish Republican Army in Belfast was reported in disarray today following the capture of its local commander and 16 of his men.

The guerrillas struck back outside the capital, killing a militiaman and blowing up a tavern.

The militiaman was the 851st confirmed death in the four years of warfare between Northern Ireland's Roman Catholic majority and its Protestant minority.

Marine commandos rounded up another half dozen men in the New Lodge quarter. They reportedly included Hugh McCann, a battalion commander, and his staff.

A squad of soldiers grabbed Adams as he was eating lunch in a house in the Catholic Falls Road district with two of his staff, Tom Cahill, 38, and Brendan Hughes, a 23-year-old bomb expert. The army said Adams was fingered either by an informer or undercover military agents but wouldn't say which.

IRA Commander, 16 Men Captured By British

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The Irish Republican Army in Belfast was reported in disarray today following the capture of its local commander and 16 of his men.

The guerrillas struck back outside the capital, killing a militiaman and blowing up a tavern.

The militiaman was the 851st confirmed death in the four years of warfare between Northern Ireland's Roman Catholic majority and its Protestant minority.

A squad of soldiers grabbed Adams as he was eating lunch in a house in the Catholic Falls Road district with two of his staff, Tom Cahill, 38, and Brendan Hughes, a 23-year-old bomb expert. The army said Adams was fingered either by an informer or undercover military agents but wouldn't say which.

Memphis Officers Free Boy After Wild Chase

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — With a knife pressed against his son's heart, a disgruntled father led police on a wild, five-mile chase before they subdued him and freed the 4-year-old boy.

Police identified the man as Fred Sims, 27, and said he had marital problems and had been fired from his job hours earlier.

Police said no charges were placed against him, pending an assessment by prosecutors and what statutes were violated.

Sims and the child were taken to a hospital for examination. Authorities said the father was not hurt and the child was reported in satisfactory condition Thursday night.

Deputy Police Chief W. O. Crumby said the incident began at the home of Sims' estranged wife. He said Mrs. Sims refused to allow the father to take his son Tony from the home. Crumby said Sims placed the boy in a car and Mrs. Sims called the police.

A chase with police followed, reaching speeds in excess of 70 miles per hour during rush hour traffic. One of about 30 patrol cars involved in the chase crashed and burned, but its officers were not hurt seriously, Crumby said.

"All during the chase, whenever the police would pull up by Sims, he would stick the knife in the boy's throat," Crumby said.

The chase ended in the downtown business district when Sims' car plowed into a patrol car blocking the street.

Sims pulled the child out of the car, held the blade to his heart and ordered, "Get back, don't make me kill my baby," Crumby said.

Sims then began backing away from officers, threatening to kill the child if they tried to arrest him and pleading, "Look, just let me kiss my boy. Just let me give him a kiss. Let me kiss my baby. Please, let me kiss my baby goodbye."

He walked backwards for nearly one block with the knife

Did FBI Lean On Wrong Guy

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The FBI indicated it would have a statement today on reports its agents were after the wrong man Wednesday when a young Black Muslim was killed as they attempted to arrest him on charges of being an Army deserter.

Television Station WVUE reported Thursday night it had learned that the victim, Milton Leon Scott, was in Baton Rouge during 1972 at the same time the Army said a Milton Leon Scott—with the same social security number—was in training at Ft. Ord, Calif.

The station quoted members of Scott's family as saying his wallet, with all his identification cards in it, had been stolen in 1970. The family suggested that someone must have enlisted in the Army using Scott's identification papers.

A spokesman said an FBI investigation was still in progress Thursday night.

The station quoted reliable sources as telling it that fingerprints taken from Scott do not match those of the deserter being sought by the Army and that this was the basis for further investigation.

Scott, 21, was shot during a struggle with two FBI agents who went to his Baton Rouge home with a warrant for his arrest on charges of deserting from the Army.

The FBI account said one of the agents shot Scott in the chest and abdomen as Scott attempted to get the other agents pistol. Both FBI men showed signs afterward of having been in a fierce fight.

They said they did not draw their weapons until Scott tried to obtain an agent's pistol.

If the mistaken identity account proved true, it could shed light on an unexplained incident contained in the FBI's account.

That account said Scott answered the knock of the FBI agents and acknowledged that he was Milton Leon Scott.

However, when the agents informed him they had a warrant for his arrest as an Army deserter, Scott was quoted as telling them he had never been in military service and would not go with them.

Agents said he then closed the door to this home and the struggle started when the FBI men tried to enter the house.

The victim's 19-year-old wife also was quoted as saying her husband had never been in the Army.

Brad Ingram Three Sands Youth Cited

Three members of the Sands Chapter of the Future Farmers Association received awards from a recent state convention in Fort Worth.

Brad Ingram, chapter president, Dennis Armstrong and Billy Reed won the Lone Star Farmer Award, the highest degree on the state level.

Ingram and two other area II members also received the Santa Fe award for achievements in area II. He will be given a free trip to the national FFA convention in Kansas City in October.

Cindy McDonald and Marsha Dyer attended the Fort Worth convention as delegates from the Sands chapter accompanied by Buddy Dyer.

Ingram is area II first vice the El Rancho district and has served as president of the Sands chapter conducting team.

WALKS IN ON CRIME — Miss Margaret Lowrey, retired school teacher, walked into the First National Bank of Bells, Tex., Thursday morning. After entering the bank, she noticed unusual quietness and lack of people. About this time, one of the bank robbers instructed her to get down on the floor. "I wasn't scared," said Miss Lowrey. "And I don't know why. I just couldn't believe that it was happening and that I was part of it. I did get a little nervous after it was all over." She is pictured in her home at Savoy, Tex.

Pressing Need For Oil

A study prepared by the staff of the Federal Trade Commission blames major oil companies for the current fuel shortage.

"Anticompetitive" practices, according to reports "leaked" to the news media, have been fostered by government regulation and manipulated by oil producers to protect their profits.

Further the study charges that the large oil companies have used the shortage in an effort to eliminate their independent competition.

The FTC study does not dispute, however, the reality of the gap between fuel demand and fuel supply.

And the alleged mishandling of oil resources does not alter the fact that new resources must be developed to meet the critical needs of an economy, that runs on oil.

The proposed 789-mile pipeline from the untapped oil fields of Alaska's North Slope to the ice-free port of Valdez appears to be the quickest way to bring new oil to the American market. The $3.5 billion project now has a lease on life with the Senate's approval.

But efforts to impose another 14-month delay on the pipeline construction (by further studies) ignores the urgency of the nation's energy deficits.

Legislation passed by the Senate grants the right-of-way essential to beginning work on the trans-Alaska pipeline. The bill specifically prohibits export of the Alaskan oil unless the President declares such exports to be in the national interest. If the senators are truly worried about the oil companies' motives, let them make the export bans more rigid.

A measure of relief for the country's thirst for oil must not be sacrificed on the altar of regional greed or to unrealistic resort to environmental scares. Due protection for environment is being provided — we hope the oil will be, too.

Kelley Deserves Help

The Federal Bureau of Investigation, once almost unanimously acclaimed for integrity, ability and devotion to duty, has taken its lumps in recent years.

Especially since the death of legendary Director J. Edgar Hoover the FBI has been torn by dissension at the highest levels and to some degree politicized. President Nixon's attempt to get L. Patrick Gray confirmed as director failed when his role in the Watergate mess cover-up came to light.

Fortunately, both President Nixon and members of the Senate recognized the need for quick action to install leadership that could reverse the decline of the FBI, keep the agency out of politics and hopefully restore it to somewhere near its previous level of respect.

The President nominated Clarence M. Kelley, a long-time FBI agent and more recently police chief of Kansas City, as permanent director. He told senators, "I have never bowed to political pressure, and I don't mean to start," and he was quickly confirmed.

Kelley faces a tough task. He must modernize the bureau, fill its depleted executive ranks, revive morale and make it once again a crack crime-fighting force.

He deserves all the help Congress and the President and everyone else can give.

Rare Experience

Around The Rim

Walter Malone

Because my father is a locomotive engineer for Southern Pacific railroad, I have had experience with something most people my age have never had — I've ridden a passenger train.

MANY PEOPLE born 40 or more years ago have probably ridden a train sometime in their life even though it may have been paid for by the U.S. Army. Since those days of extensive passenger service during the '40s they have memories of the clackety-clacking, smoke blowing steam engines.

Well, it seems a lot of young people have missed out on that. I have a car now but before I drove to college I rode the train from El Paso to San Antonio many times.

Because there is no train service to Waco I took a bus from San Antonio.

Today there is no black smoke or hissing steam and even the clackety-clacking has been reduced because modern rail is much longer, making joints farther apart.

BUT THERE are still dining cars and porters who sell pillows and conductors with ticket punchers. It is still exciting to watch the approaching headlight and to listen to the electric horn.

It always fascinated me to watch the rail give at the joints as the train passed over and I marveled at how the porters could pull a lever and make steps unfold from underneath the exit platform of the pullmans.

When I was younger the most fun of all was walking between cars. The doors are power assisted and after punching a place marked PUSH on the door people crossed the banging, swaying couplers to the next car.

ANOTHER THING that interested me was how well the architects could conserve space. The restroom lounges were lots of fun. There was a separate little sink to brush your teeth and a place to plug in an electric razor.

Of course, it was lots of fun to flush the toilet but I won't go in to that.

I'm glad the government has forced the railroads to continue some passenger service even if it is subsidized. AMTRAK is what it is called and although a lot of the spit and polish is gone, the glamour still lingers in a ghostly way.

My

Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

I am a very happily married young Christian mother with a small child. Once, however, I became involved with another man — an episode I have regretted ever since. I confessed this to God, but not to my husband, because I feel it would upset him and place our marriage in jeopardy. Do you think God will forgive me for not telling him of this unfaithfulness?

M.T.

Stress in marriage is a frequent experience today, and the sexual reasons for it outnumber most others. Fewer and fewer couples can survive a lifetime relationship without the intrusion of some sexual temptation. The question, of course, is: how you handle it.

All right, you faced a particular temptation and succumbed to it. You were right in seeking God's forgiveness, but wrong, I believe, in hiding it from your husband.

First, communication in a marriage is of paramount importance. Your assumption that divulging this mistake would threaten your marriage is perhaps unfounded. You husband may think more of you for your candid confession.

Secondly, a mature marriage operates on the principle that each partner has contributed to a problem. Neither is entirely aloof or immune, and your husband needs to have a chance here to handle his involvement in that episode.

Thirdly, God's forgiveness is tied in to human forgiveness, where a third party is involved. Not that God is limited in His pardon, but for our good, He expects that we will share our repentant spirit with others who may have been wronged. See Luke 19:8.

You and your husband need to restructure your relationship, even though he is aware of no problem. The wedge of guilt will be dissolved if you handle this promptly in a spirit of Christian love.

Dame's Tricks Won't Fool Her

Hal Boyle

Hal Boyle is on vacation

NEW YORK (AP) — Never throw out today what you may be able to wear tomorrow.

If I had only followed that maxim I could become the most stylish lady on my block by just digging into my attic instead of my wallet.

What goes out will soon be back in, and hoarders eventually have a collection of old clothes that rivals the latest collections from Paris.

Take twin sweaters, for instance. In their first incarnation not too many years ago, the matching duo made Nos. 1 and 2 on the wardrobe hit parade. With single-mindedness I pursued the accumulation of this double fashion feature. I went out and bought twin sweater sets like they were going out of style.

Which they did. Nobody would have been caught dead with a matched sweater set in her bureau drawer, and I surely wasn't going to be caught alive in possession of such outmoded attire. Out they went, every last two of them.

Players of the fashion game have made numerous calculated moves since that time, and now they've stopped once more at the square marked Sweaters, Twin.

When I started seeing double again I dashed to the trunk that serves as our apartment-size attic in hopes that a couple of strays might have survived the passage of time, the Goodwill bag and the appetite of our resident moths.

Not a trace. The only two-of-a-kinds I found were a few pairs of pointed shoes that went out of style the same week that I finally got my toes trained to pile themselves one on top of another rather than line up side by side.

I got caught again in the belt boom, bust and boomerang. Before the sack dress gave them the status of a raincoat in the Sahara I had a supply of leather circlets that threatened to put cows on the endangered species list.

In fact, I had such an investment that I couldn't bear to throw them out and kept them for years coiled like snakes in dark corners of closets. I finally gave up and discarded them — only one season before belts surged back onto the fashion scene.

I'm saving all my mid-dresses.

Forecasting Downturn

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Why are so many economists now forecasting a downturn in business that will perhaps reach its depths in the final quarter of this year and the first few months of 1974?

While you may look to the economists for an explanation, they are studying you for the same reason. They say it is you the consumer who is likely to bring about the downturn.

There is a good deal more of the psychological factor than usual in this outlook. In fact, you don't have to search long to realize that some economists are viewing the consumer as sort of a manic-depressive.

THE MANIC state was exhibited in this fashion:

—While the consensus of forecaster was that consumers would raise their savings rate in the first quarter to 8 per cent from 7.6 per cent, they dropped it instead to 6.6 per cent.

—Consumer credit soared during the same period. Installment debt rose from a late 1972 rate of $19.5 billion a year to $24 billion in the first three months of 1973.

—The lower savings and higher credit pushed retail sales to a rate that, if sustained for a year, would mean a 29 per cent increase over 1972.

—Consumers increased their spending for durable goods, especially for automobiles, by more than 30 per cent on an annual basis. Spending for cars alone jumped 35 per cent on an annual basis.

THESE ARE some of the highlights of a peri od described by university analysts who prepare a quarterly summary for Commercial Credit Co. as "one of the strongest periods of growth in consumer spending recorded in U.S. economic annals."

Quite understandably, such enormous demand put upward pressure on prices, as demonstrated by an 8 per cent rise in the Consumer Price Index for January-March, and a leap of 20 per cent in wholesale prices.

Some of this increase resulted from anticipatory buying by consumers who correctly assumed that future prices would be higher and that savings of a sort could be realized in turning their cash and credit into goods.

IN SO doing, they "stole" business from later in the year. What might have been bought in October was purchased in March instead.

Many economists say such behavior is clearly unsustainable, financially or psychologically. The cash eventually runs out, but probably even before then the spirit is drained from spenders.

This appears to be confirmed by the recent consumer surveys, which shows that consumer confidence faded abruptly as summer approached. The University of Michigan analysts, who watch their words, called it a "precipitous decline."

THE SURVEYS now show that consumers are talking about bad times and recession and the possibility that inflation won't be controlled for a long time.

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was told four years ago that I had rheumatoid arthritis. My doctor told me when it bothered me to take aspirin and otherwise forget about it.

It doesn't bother me much, but I wonder if I should be on medication. Would you advise me to see a rheumatologist? — Mrs. J. B.

There's something about your letter — your attitude, and your doctor's — which makes me wonder whether you have rheumatoid arthritis or have some other form of arthritis.

There are many varieties of arthritis, and although some people almost automatically append the word "rheumatoid," they aren't all rheumatoid — fortunately. For true rheumatoid arthritis is the most dangerous form of arthritis.

It can exist, true, in rather mild form. It also can be so severe that without the most careful treatment it can be devastating and crippling.

You will find the different types of arthritis outlined in my booklet, "How You Can Control Arthritis," and I recommend that you read it. Send 35 cents for printing and handling costs, and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of (the Big Spring Herald). After reading the booklet, you will have more basis for finding answers to your questions.

For the moment, my suggestions would include asking your doctor directly whether your arthritis is rheumatoid or isn't. (Have you seen your doctor since you first saw him four years ago?) If you learn that, for example, you really have osteoarthritis, not rheumatoid, that will have quite a bearing on your course of action.

In that case, aspirin to ease the aching, applications of heat if necessary, and sufficient movement to prevent joints from becoming excessively stiffened — those will probably be all you need in view of your remark that "it doesn't bother me much."

If your arthritis is indeed rheumatoid, you may benefit by a continuing use of aspirin (not just when it bothers you), since rheumatoid arthritis has the nasty habit of easing for a period, then flaring up. What you must aim at doing is forestalling these flare-ups if you can.

Should you see a rheumatologist? If you really have rheumatoid arthritis, I think it would be wise, if for no other reason than to have made contact in advance in case the disease has a dangerous flare-up.

What causes "balance" trouble? What can be done to correct or overcome it? Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Dizzy Spells," discusses loss of balance, vertigo and nausea, Meniere's disease and labyrinthitis. For a copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope.

Pay Dilemma

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — That old devil inflation hovers over the bureaucracy as it does over the citizenry across the country, and it has a lot to do with excellence in government and the drain of brain power. The thorny question of how to compensate for the rapid rise in the cost of living is inevitably tied up with politics.

THE REPORT, still kept confidential, of a high-level commission recommends a 25 per cent across-the-board increase for the executive branch of government, the judiciary and Congress. This comes at a moment when by every index bureaucrats and politicians are less respected than at any time in this century. With the burgeoning scandals at all levels it would seem the wrong time to go after a pay raise.

Yet the commission, required by law to report to the President every four years, compiled extensive data to show that many top administrators are opting out, and these are the best and the brightest. They have had no increase in pay since 1963 and during that time the cost of living has jumped 25 per cent.

But what about members of Congress? This is the large fly in the ointment. The last pay raise for Congress came on March 1, 1969, when senators and representatives went from $30,000 a year to $42,500.

WITH PERQUISITES that is substantially increased. A member of Congress does not have to refund his postal allowance over and above what he actually needs. Free trips back to the state, free long-distance calls, staff pay — all these add up to a big plus for the incumbent. In terms of income it puts most members of Congress above $50,000.

To vote yourself a raise of $10,000 a year will not be popular back in the district. That is more than the income of millions of Americans. For families on relief it looks like the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

IF THE President fails to act on the recommendation of the commission and it goes over into 1974 — an election year when Congress would never vote a pay raise — then the whole matter can be postponed until 1977. By then the cost of living may have jumped to 35 per cent over 1969. A measure has passed the Senate and will likely pass the House requiring the commission to make recommendations every two years instead of every four. Should that pass, a proposed pay increase could come in a supplementary budget, with action by Congress by early fall.

WHILE ALL this may sound like mere bureaucratism touching only the slothful tax eaters, it gets down to the efficient direction of government. Civil servants at the top level of government are leaving to take pensions which include, unlike their salaries, a 6½ per cent increase geared to the cost of living. Then they are free to take jobs in private business at $20,000 or $25,000 a year, and many are doing just that with business eager to get brainy men and women knowledgeable in the ways of government. The make-work types stay on. More and more this is true.

Big Spring Nursing Inns Welcome All Volunteers

Summer volunteers are always welcomed at Big Spring Nursing Inn.

This includes interested teenagers and adults. The volunteer's most valuable role at the local nursing home is just to keep the patients company.

The Big Spring Nursing Inn gives the very best care to their patients. There is a pleasant nurse-patient relationship at all times.

The meals at Nursing Inn are prepared and served in a personal home style, which is in keeping with the home-like atmosphere maintained at all times.

When a patient is admitted, his physician selects a proper diet. In addition to the regular diet, the staff also prepares diabetic, bland foods, low sodium, high protein and low residue diets. Three well-balanced hot meals are served daily.

But Big Spring Nursing Inn can use you as a helper. Why not give it a try?

Learn To Fly At Big Spring Aircraft

Big Spring Aircraft just had a woman pilot solo last week. She is Joyce Blanks, 25, who has been instructed by Leon Anderson.

All of the pilots out at Big Spring Aircraft are ready to teach you to fly if you have a yen to go up in the clouds.

Big Spring Aircraft also has air taxi service anywhere in the Southwest. Air taxi service is the perfect way for busy businessmen to travel long distance. They don't have to be at the mercy of commercial airlines schedules. Air Taxis can take them almost anywhere they want to go, easier and faster than ground transportation or commercial airlines.

The excellent flight instructors and commercial pilots are there to serve the Big Spring citizens interested in flying.

If you have always wanted to learn to fly, don't put it off any longer. Go out to Big Spring Aircraft, Inc. today at the Howard County Airport and make plans for learning to fly.

Ask Joyce Blanks. She thinks it's lots of fun and was soloing after a couple weeks of lessons.

If you are already a pilot and need to gain a higher rating, come on out.

Big Spring Aircraft is here to serve the Big Spring flying enthusiast at any level.

Many Housewives Issue Claim That No Roach 'Really Works'

We know we must be doing something right... That's why one housewife will tell another "the only way — the modern way — to keep your home free of cockroaches, and other crawling insects is with brush-on Johnston's No-Roach."

Imagine having an exterminator working for you 24 hours a day for weeks at a time, to keep your home free of cockroaches, ants, spiders, silverfish, etc. ... but that's just what happens with easy-to-use, long-acting brush-on, Johnston's No-Roach... the modern scientific formula that's proven effective in over a hundred thousand homes.

Simply brush this odorless, colorless liquid around baseboards, sinks, tablelegs... behind cabinets and appliances... on shelves and inside cabinet doors. Use Johnston's No-Roach in bathrooms and anywhere cockroaches may be found breeding. It dries fast to form an invisible path of death that kills cockroaches, ants, silverfish, spiders, all crawling insects... and best of all, it continues to kill these pests for months.

Johnston's No-Roach eliminates the need for frequent applications of messy, unsafe sprays and powders. Buy No-Roach today... It's clean and easy to use. Available at Safeway, Furr's, Piggly Wiggly, Gibson's, Foodway, Giant Discount and all grocery stores. Distributed by Kimbell.

Ryan Falls Short In Third No-Hit Outing; Birds Win

ANAHEIM (AP) — Nolan Ryan missed his chance for two straight no-hitters with just two outs to go, yet the flame-throwing right-hander figures he still has a chance at a record third one this season.

Baltimore eventually won the game 3-1 in 11 innings, putting Ryan's record at only 11-12 on the day he had been selected to the American League All-Star squad.

Asked if he had previously spoiled a no-hitter late in the game, Belanger—who went into the game hitting .214—laughed. "Spoil a no-hitter. Heck I have trouble getting a hit but if anybody was going to spoil it, I'm glad it was me."

Asked if he had gone after Ryan in his last three games, setting an American League record and equalling the major league mark held by Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

RYAN IN NO-HIT ATTEMPT—California Angel hurler Nolan Ryan, shown here in double exposure, pitches against the Baltimore Orioles Thursday night in an attempt to become the first pitcher in baseball history to toss three no-hitters in one season. Ryan held the Orioles hitless until Mark Belanger hit a looping single in the eighth inning. The Orioles went on to win, 3-1, in 11 innings.

Williams Adds California's Ace To AL Pitching Staff

BOSTON (AP) — Nolan Ryan of the California Angels, who came within six outs Thursday night of becoming the only major league pitcher to hurl three no-hitters in one season, has been added to the American League roster for next week's All-Star Game in Kansas City.

Tuesday's classic. They are: First base, Carl Yastrzemski of Boston and John Mayberry of Kansas City; second base, Cookie Rojas of Kansas City and Dave Nelson of Texas; third base, Sal Bando of Oakland and Buddy Bell of Cleveland.

land; shortstop, Eddie Brinkman of Detroit; catchers Thurman Munson of New York and Bill Freehan of Detroit; outfielders, Paul Blair of Baltimore, Willie Horton of Detroit and Dave May of Milwaukee.

Williams, who was hospitalized in Oakland Thursday for emergency appendectomy, said he selected his pitching staff before Ryan pitched his second no-hitter against Detroit last Sunday.

Ryan held the Baltimore Orioles hitless for seven innings Thursday, but gave up a pair of looping singles to Mark Belanger in the eighth and 10 innings and took a 3-1 loss.

Williams, whose Athletics won the 1972 World Series, probably will be replaced as All-Star manager by Chicago White Sox Manager Chuck Tanner.

NL Star Squad Complete; Mays Named As Captain

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Willie Mays, a last-minute addition to the National League squad, will be captain of the team for Tuesday night's All-Star Game in Kansas City.

The other All-Stars named today were catcher Ted Simmons of St. Louis and infielders Nate Colbert of San Diego, Dave Concepcion of Cincinnati, Darrell Evans and Dave Johnson of Atlanta, Joe Torre of St. Louis and Willie Stargell of Pittsburgh.

Anderson's other selections, completing the 29-man squad, included right fielder Bobby Bonds of San Francisco, left off the starting team selected by baseball fans despite his batting average of .304, with 25

Coaches Join Local Staffs

Several coaching additions and advancements in the past few days have firmed up the staffs for Big Spring schools for the 1973-74 school year, head coach and athletic director Bob Burris has announced.

The most recent addition to the group is James Griffin, who comes to the Steers from Barnes Junior High in Corpus Christi. Griffin, a Cleveland Miss., native who played college basketball at Hardin-Simmons, will handle the junior varsity cagers and will work with a ninth grade team during the football season.

Griffin replaces David Verner, who has moved to the high school football staff and will assist in the freshman track program.

J. B. Wilson, junior varsity baseball and ninth grade football coach, has resigned his position and joined the staff at Ballinger. At Ballinger, Wilson will join head coach Pete Simmons, whom he coached with at Coleman.

Four other additions also helped complete the staff.

Rod Carter, who has been head football coach at an Amarillo junior high, will take over here as head freshman coach and ninth grade cage boss. Carter, from Rogers, Ark., attended Ouachita Baptist College.

James Smith, a former Eastern New Mexico griddle who coached junior high football at Quanah last year, will be a seventh grade coach at Goliad. Smith, 30, played his high school ball at Quanah, and after a stay at ENMU, spent four years in the service before finishing at the University of Texas at Arlington.

Two coaches will be getting their first assignments in the Big Spring system. Duke Atterberry, a defensive end and defensive tackle at Oklahoma University, will serve on the staff at Goliad. A Pawhuska, Okla., native, Atterberry received his degree this summer.

J. B. WILSON

Mike Dixon will be replacing Sonny Monroe at Runnels, as Monroe will become a ninth grade football assistant and will coach a freshman basketball team. Dixon, who attended Phillips High School, is a recent graduate of Southwestern State College in Oklahoma.

In other advancements, Rex Scofield and Ben Neel will be elevated to the high school staff from local junior highs. In addition to working with the football teams, Scofield will also be a baseball assistant.

Thomas Sent To Redskins

IRVINE, Calif. (AP) — Duane Thomas' non-career with the San Diego Chargers has ended, appropriately, in silence.

Coach Harland Svare said the end came Thursday when Thomas, wordlessly, went through the motions during what was supposed to be an all-out afternoon practice.

Thursday night Svare handed Washington Redskins' Coach George Allen the problem of what makes Duane run. In return for Thomas, who never played a National Football League game for San Diego, the Chargers got Washington's No. 1 draft choice in 1975 and No. 2 in 1976.

"He does things in his own special way," Svare said of the powerful, puzzling running back. "I asked him about it (the lackluster practice). He didn't give me an answer. At that moment, I made my decision."

Thomas flew home to Dallas, leaving the next move up to Allen, who already has problems with his star running back, Larry Brown, the National Football League's most valuable offensive player, who has been fined $300 a day for his four days of absence from the Redskins' camp in contract dispute.

Lilly Returns To Camp

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — The anchor of the Dallas Cowboys Doomsday Defense, Bob Lilly, has rejoined the team at their training camp here.

A team spokesman said the perennial All-Pro would begin workouts today.

Lilly, a defensive standout with the Cowboys since they joined the National Football League as an expansion club in 1960, reported to the camp Thursday after the Cowboys' general manager, Tex Schramm, swayed the 12-year veteran from retiring.

Lilly said he had no problems with his two-year, $70,000 contract, and added that he had had doubts about his physical condition on "back . . . knee, but they have given me no trouble," he added. The former Texas Christian University

All-American was reportedly unhappy with the team morale. Earlier this season he and other veteran players, Dave Manders, Lee Roy Jordan, Craig Morton, Jethro Pugh and Pat Toomay and the Cowboy management had differences of opinion on salary negotiations.

Manders, the Cowboys' center, retired, and defensive end Pat Toomay signed Monday afternoon. Lilly linemate, Jethro Pugh, and linebacker Lee Roy Jordan still had not signed contracts. Quarterback Craig Morton still has not signed either. He's not in camp.

Elsewhere, veteran tight end Marv Fleming of the Miami Dolphins ended his holdout but running back Larry Brown of the Washington Redskins continued his.

Fleming, who had been fined $200 a day for the eight days he had held out, walked into the Dolphins' training camp after signing a lucrative three-year contract.

That left all-pro safety Jake Scott as the only player missing from the National Football League champions' camp because of a contract dispute.

Brown, the NFL's most valuable player in 1972, was absent from the Redskins' Carlisle, Pa. training site for the fourth day Thursday, and Washington

Coach George Allen emphasized that the $300-a-day fine he has levied on Brown would stick.

Lee's Starting Point--Hardy's Driving Range

(Editor's Note: Bob Boyd, golf writer of the San Antonio Express-News, attempts to go behind the headlines in discovering what Lee Trevino, golf's "Super-Boss" is really like. He interviews people who know Trevino during the lean years, when Trevino was a struggling youngster in Dallas. Here is the second of an eight-part series on one of the game's great entertainers.)

By BOB BOYD

SAN ANTONIO — The place is one of those retreating changes of pace that break up and make more bearable the creeping, plastic sameness of urban sprawl.

Located in North East Dallas, with high rises slowly encircling it and housing projects and apartment complexes coming ever closer, Hardy's Driving Range now stands as a doomed reminder of a time when you could live in the city and still find room to breathe.

The driving range and its owner, Hardy Greenwood, have been landmarks on the Dallas scene for three decades. Many of the best golfers Dallas has ever produced have spent some time practicing at Hardy's. There is a warmth of the place and there is always something to laugh about.

But Hardy's has become neighborhood since he was just a little kid. He and his mother and grandfather and brother and sisters lived in a little shack over across a field from Glen Lakes (and close to Hardy's).

I remember seeing Lee when he was just a little boy hauling a five-gallon milk can down the road to get a load of water.

"Lee had his swing back when he was 14. In fact, it was probably prettier than it is now. They didn't have any running water or electricity out there. I never remember Lee not being clean. I used to pick him up in the mornings sometime and give him a ride to school and he was always clean. His clothes were all patched up, but he was as neat as he could make himself. He used to swing all day long, mowed grass, worked in the office, picked up balls, worked over at the pitch and putt. He did everything around here."

"When he was 15, I entered him in the city junior tournament. He shot a 78 in the qualifying round but lost his first match to Moe (Moses Brooks, a black who grew up as a caddie at Tenison and later became a hustling partner of Titanic Thompson).

"I remember telling Lee when he was 15, 'Son, you got two choices in life, you can either be a $1 a hour laborer the rest of your life, or you can be a golf pro. I told him I didn't mean a hustler, but a real pro and I told him I would help him get to be one."

"When Lee got out of the Marine Corps, he came back to work for me. He split his time between the range and running the pitch and putt. All those stories about how he was only making $30 a week here before he left town are damn lies. I called one newspaper and told them if they printed that again, I'd sue. Sure, Lee worked a lot of hours for me, but he was making about $100 when he finally quit."

One of Hardy's proudest possessions is a yellowing photograph prominently displayed inside his shop. It shows Lee striking a victory pose after winning one of the first pro-ams he ever entered. He was still working for Hardy when it was taken, and he was probably about 24-years-old. He was beaming his famous smile and appeared to be downright skinny.

"Yea, ol' Lee was strictly a flat-belly back then," Hardy recalled. "He only got that gut on him when he started to make it in the big time."

in recent years, not for some of its clientele, but for one of its employees. A Mexican-American eighth-grade dropout named Lee Trevino, who worked there from the time he quit school until he was 26-years-old and one year away from the start of his meteoric career on the professional golf tour (minus four years in the Marine Corps).

Greenwood, a heavy-jowled, 57-year-old who looks older, has his memories and enough stashed away to enjoy his retirement. He thinks about the old days more often now, and when he does, he thinks about his long and complex relationship with Lee Trevino, a boy who was more like a son to him than an employee.

On a recent hot and lazy afternoon, Hardy recalled some of those memories.

"I hired Lee in 1954 when he was 14. He had been working on the maintenance crew at Glen Lakes Country Club. I started him off at $35 a week, which was considerably more than he had been making. I had seen Lee around the neigh-

Killian Two-Stroke Leader In Amateur

HOUSTON (AP)—Champions Golf Club's Cypress Creek course has put on two different faces for Florida's Mike Killian in the Southern Amateur Golf Championships—and Killian smiled at both.

There were complaints after the first round of the 67th annual tournament that the course had been made too easy. Killian shot a 68.

Southern Golf Association officials made up another look for Thursday's second round and Killian responded with a four-under-par 67 to take a two-stroke lead over Texas' Ben Crenshaw, who skidded from the first day lead to a 72.

"The course played much tougher today, but I played well because I concentrated more," said Killian, who ramed in six birdies during his round for a 68-67-135 total. "The course was much easier the first day and you got to expect a birdie."

"But today you really had to concentrate."

Crenshaw, who had a first day 65, ran into putting troubles and a double bogey six for a 137 total and second place tie with Mickey Van Gerbig of Palm Beach, Fla. Van Gerbig shot a 70.

TOURNEY POSTPONED

This weekend's Match play, Medal-Play Tournament at Municipal Golf Course has been postponed until September, Big Spring Golf Association tournament director Jimmy Welch said Thursday.

Welch said that due to vacations and other outside interests, there was a lack of entries which caused postponement of the meet.

"We only had about 30 players entered by the deadline Thursday, and we needed at least 56 for a successful tournament," Welch said.

Smith Eyes Decathlon

ANDREWS — Big Spring's Doug Smith is among the high school entries in the Third Annual Southwestern Decathlon Championships at the Mustang Bowl today and Saturday.

Mike Turner, a senior at Andrews High School, is the defending champion, while Darl Locke, a former Abilene Christian College runner currently teaching in Andrews, won the Open Division last year. Also added to this year's competition is a Junior High Division.

Today's action starts at 5 p.m. with the 100-meter dash, with the long jump, shot put, high jump and 400-meters to follow. Saturday, the 110-meter hurdles gets the event underway at 4 p.m., while the discus, javelin, pole vault and 1500-meter run round out the affair.

Smith's top events are the sprints, 1500 meters and long jump.

Harte-Hanks Earnings Up

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Harte-Hanks, newspapers, Inc. reported Thursday an 18 per cent quarterly increase in per share earnings over the last year. Adjusted earnings for the second quarter of 1973 were 34 cents, compared to 30 cents for the same time last year, said Robert G. Marbut, president of the company. Revenues were up 24 per cent to $21.4 million, compared to $17.2 million in 1972, he said. Profit after taxes increased 24 per cent while earnings per share increased 13 per cent. For the half, net earnings climbed 24 per cent to $2.5 million or 58 cents a share, compared to $2 million or 52 cents a share a year earlier.

Get Plain Talk

Jean Adams
TEEN FORUM

CLOSE: (Q.) There is this dude John. He is black, I am not. We have been very close. Some people call it intimate. He is 16 and I am 14.

I can't talk to my parents about boys or sex. They don't know anything about John. I did talk to my grandmother about him. She said "No!" very loud.

The next time I saw him I told him I couldn't see him any more because of my grandmother. He told me I was letting her make my mind up for me. I thought that made sense, and we had one more date. That time we were very, very close.

The next day I decided we had been too close and dropped John. That was a month-and-a-half ago. He still comes around and tells me he likes me a lot. I still like him. Should I go back with him or give him up for the sake of my granny? — Undecided in New Jersey.

(A.) Much more than your grandmother's preference is involved here. You are in a situation that demands that you talk plainly and openly with your mother and father. Do just that — today. Tell them everything. Ask them to help you decide what to do.

DESERTED: (Q.) Mike and I have been going together a year. About eight months ago he broke up with me. I didn't know it for two months because he didn't tell me. He just quit coming to see me.

During that time he went out with another girl. When he came back to me five months ago he told me he did not trust girls.

I guess he has broken up with me again. I have not seen him in a month. Why does he break up with me without telling me? I love him and do not fool around with any boy but him, — 18 in Connecticut.

(A.) Your letter indicates that you have chosen Mike as a prospective husband. Please reconsider this decision. He does not respect you enough to confide in you, and if you become his wife you will face a long life of uncertainty and misery.

Some boys and men should not be trusted with one's love, no matter how strong the love. Give your love to someone who is worth it, Mike isn't.

BIG SPRING HERALD

SEC. B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JULY 20, 1973 SEC. B

COMBO COATS of narrow horizontal or vertical bands of suede and leather in two shades of green, lined with matching opossum fur, were presented by Irene Galitzine at the fall-winter showings in Rome Thursday. They can be dressy (right) or casual enough to be worn over a trouser suit (left).

Suits Important Part Of Italian Collections

By ODETTIE MENGIN
(AP Fashion Writer)

ROME (AP) — Italian fashion designers are stepping back a few decades in their fall and winter collections. Some hover between the 1950s and the 1940s while others are going back as far as 1920.

This trend is most evident in skirt lengths. On the second day of the fashion showings Monday, hemlines were decidedly longer than in recent years. All covered the knee and some reached down almost as far as the ankle.

One designer brought back the hour-glass shape, emphasizing shoulders and marking waists while the skirts narrowed below the knee.

Suits were an important part of every collection and some times came in three pieces. Different woolen fabrics were then used with houndstooth patterns for jackets, stripes for vests and checks for skirts. Colors were dark and subdued.

Di Lazzaro featured waterproof capes and velvet dresses with cutouts in the shape of tear drops.

Evening dresses often combined lace over silk or satin, creating a draped effect. Others were highlighted with silver or gold threads.

The designer also edged the narrow, plunging neckline with multicolored feathers.

Evening trousers were present in the shape of baggy Zouave pants worn with gold booties and a flowing hostess gown in printed chiffon.

The off-the-shoulder look and fluid easy-to-wear styles have come back to Italian fashions.

Princess Irene Galitzine on Wednesday offered a vast collection of fluttering evening gowns and pajamas that had none of the stiffness and cramped effect of other fall and winter collections.

Men Gardeners Plan Convention

Preliminary plans were made Tuesday evening at the home of Bob Butler for a regional convention of Men's Garden Clubs which will be hosted in October by the local club. L. R. Saunders Jr. presided, and following business, members toured Butler's lawn and garden. The next meeting will be Aug. 21, place to be announced.

Party Honors Miss Welsh

Miss Leslie Welsh, who will be married to Jimmy Johnson Saturday evening in St. Mary's Episcopal Church, was honored at a pre-nuptial gift shower Wednesday evening at Big Spring Country Club.

Hostesses were Mrs. Jack Irons, Mrs. Harold Hall, Mrs. Luther Bean, Mrs. Tom South, Mrs. Tommy Gage, Mrs. Gail Bonner and Mrs. Odell Womack.

A white carnation corsage was presented to Miss Welsh, who was attired in a full-length, sleeveless dress with a touch of blue at the neckline. Similar corsages were received by her mother, Mrs. Eugene Welsh of Goldsboro, N.C.; her fiance's mother, Mrs. James L. Johnson, and his grandmother, Mrs. C. M. Adams.

Mrs. Richard Knocke and Mrs. Kathy Hopper, sisters of the future bridegroom, presided at the guest register.

The all-pink table, appointed with silver, was laid with a floor-length cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink carnations and candles. The pink theme was also used on the register table.

Among the guests was Mrs. Frank Eldredge of Fort Worth.

Day Care Center To Open Here

Mrs. Don Wiley has been chosen director of a Day Care Center to be operated by the directors of Westside Community Center, according to an announcement Tuesday by Julian Patterson, Day Care Center committee chairman.

Patterson discussed licensing, catering services and other arrangements which need to be handled prior to the Sept. 1 target date for the opening of the center.

Mrs. Ben Boadle presided at the board meeting, and the Rev. Jim Collier, program chairman, announced the fall schedule at the community center will begin soon after Labor Day. Activities to be continued this year include children's choir and piano lessons, arts and crafts, pre-teen girls' club, sewing, knitting and crocheting classes.

Additional activities proposed by the program committee are guitar lessons, quilting club, senior citizens' activities, teenage basketball team, cooking class, Boy Scout troop, study hall and tutoring.

It was stressed that many volunteers will be needed if the new activities at the center are to be implemented. Volunteers would supervise the activities or answer telephones. Anyone interested in helping may contact Mrs. Boadle at 267-2203, or Mrs. Doug Williams at 263-6406.

Club Announces Local Projects

A planning session for the 1973-1974 club year was held Tuesday by the 1970 Hyperion Club in the home of Mrs. Howard Carleton, Garden City Route.

Philanthropic projects agreed on included assistance to Boys' Club of Big Spring, a local nursing home and Big Spring State Hospital. Monetary donations will be given to Boys' Club, and volunteer hours will be provided at all three facilities.

The women will study the book, "Man, Myth and Magic." Plans were made for a Christmas party and gift exchange. A luncheon followed the meeting.

The group will meet again at the Hyperion Council luncheon 12:30 p.m., Sept. 28 at Big Spring Country Club.

O. W. Scuddays Host Barbecue

FORSAN (SC) — The O. W. Scuddays hosted a barbecue at their home Saturday evening with over 25 persons attending. Attending from out of town were the C. B. Longs and the Earl Hughes, Big Spring; the Jerry Matthews, Eastland; and the Norman Eldros and Mrs. Judy Clary and children, all of Odessa.

Wrong Signals

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm 22, better than average looking, and I'm told I have a good personality. Although I don't pretend to be "Miss Super Virgin," I don't care to jump into bed with a guy on the first date.

How does a girl tactfully let a guy know this when he doesn't exactly come right out and ask her to go to bed with him, but he just keeps pushing himself on her?

I must be going about it in the wrong way because even though my date and I really have a good time, when it comes to the moment of truth he gets disgusted with me.

This happens on every date I've had lately and I'm beginning to feel like a failure when a guy rushes me home, says, "I'll see you around," and I never hear from him again.

BIG PROBLEM DEAR PROBLEM: Your big problem is the way you conduct yourself during those moments that lead up to the moment of truth. Your actions undoubtedly telegraph the message that you would be a willing partner. Put the brakes on during the preliminaries, and you won't find yourself faced with "the moment of truth" so soon. And by the way, a guy who disappears permanently because a girl refuses to jump into bed with him on the first date is no bargain.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 64-year-old man who has been a widower for two years. I am in good health, college educated, and I'm considered presentable. I had a wonderful 38-year marriage, but I dislike living alone and I would like to marry.

The problem: I've been out with numerous ladies who seem pleasant and decent and would make fine companions, but they do nothing for me — physically.

I am not a wolf, but I'd like a woman about whom I can really become excited. One I can't wait to see again. I don't mean young girls, either. I mean a woman in her fifties.

Can this happen to a man my age? Or should I settle for a nice woman who qualifies in every other way and put aside these dreams of romance?

I don't want to be crude, but I would like to know if it's possible for a man past 60 to fall in love — and physically do something about it.

READY AND WILLING
DEAR READY AND WILLING: If you are in good health, you are also "able." All you need is the right woman. Keep looking.

DEAR ABBY: May I commend you for your understanding advice to "Heartstick Mother" whose beautiful 22-year-old daughter had an all-consuming interest in another girl.

You told the mother: "Let your daughter know you love her and accept her as she is. There is no more convincing proof of your love."

I hope she heeds your advice. My only son turned out to be a homosexual. I was heartbroken, but never let him know it.

Although I couldn't understand it, I accepted it. Today he has adjusted to it, has an excellent position in a distant state and the respect of those he works for. And yes, he has a "special" friend.

Had I rejected him, he might have had many more problems. Before going to his present location, he wrote me a letter, thanking me for accepting him as he is. Neither one of us ever mentioned it again.

Thank you, Abby, for understanding.

Birthday Party Held At Stanton

Mrs. L. C. Stovall of Stanton was honored on her 75th birthday Sunday with a party in the Texas Electric Reddy Room at Stanton.

Hostesses were her daughters, Mrs. Ted Gross, Big Spring, and Mrs. Irvin Currie, Midland. Mrs. Stovall's sons are Travis Stovall, Fort Worth; Wayne Stovall, Iowa Park; and Neil Stovall, Houston. All the children, along with their husbands and wives, attended the party.

Mrs. Stovall, the former Annie Inez Caffey, was presented a corsage of pink carnations. Born in East Texas, she has resided in Stanton for 40 years. She was widowed in 1970.

The refreshment table was laid with white lace over red linen and centered with a floral arrangement in pink, red and blue.

Thirty-seven friends and relatives attended, including four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

MARRIED — Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Crawford, 709 Johnson, announce the marriage of their daughter, Judy Kay, to James Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dee Rogers, Brownwood. The couple, married July 16 in Lovington, N.M., is at home at 112 E. 14th. He is associated with Quality Food Service at Howard County Junior College.

St. Thomas Catholics Schedule Mid-Summer Festival Today

By MARJ CARPENTER
The St. Thomas Catholic Parish is holding their annual mid-summer festival today and tomorrow at the church at 506 N. Main.

Activities began today at noon with the sale of hot tamales and will continue through Saturday night with a crowning of the festival queen.

Mexican food and hot tamales are on sale to go or at the church. They also will sell hamburgers and other items.

All kinds of games and prizes are available including the traditional cake walk, fish pond and other carnival games with fun for all ages.

There will also be a new car for a door prize. Donations are being solicited by all members of the parish, for $1.

All profits will benefit the church who are seeking to build a new youth center hall.

The public is invited to attend, to either purchase Mexican food to go, or eat at the carnival and attend the games.

A GROUP OF YOUNG people from the Anderson Street Church of Christ reported having a fantastic time on a mission trip to the West Indies.

Sandra Kiser, 22, Karen Kiser, 19, Kyle Kiser, 17, and Jacalyn Minchew, 20 all accompanied Perry Cotham, a former minister of the 14th and Main Church of Christ here to door to door with tracts and Bibles and helped with the evangelism services with Kyle, who attends Coahoma High, leading the singing.

Cotham, who now centers his mission efforts from his home in Grand Prairie reported a good deal of success with the mission.

The Kiser youths are children of R. D. Kiser, minister of Anderson Street Church of Christ.

THE WOMEN'S MISSIONARY Society of The First Church of God met for their regular monthly meeting in the home of Mickie Dickson, Coahoma. The meeting was presided over by president Anna Smith. Eight members were present and two visitors. The program was presented by the Stewardship Chairman, Arah Phillips, entitled "What Can I Do Lord?" She used posters to direct thoughts to areas of service. She said we needed to learn to listen to God. She asked each woman to make personal inventory of her talents and abilities. A skit was presented also, entitled "Are You Listening?" Those taking part were Mrs. Edwin Beasley and Mrs. Melvin Phillips.

Cedar Ridge C. Of C. Sets Dedication For Sunday

A dedication service will be held for the Cedar Ridge Church of Christ at 2110 Birdwell Lane at 3 p.m. Sunday. Regular worship services will also be held at 10:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. Their Wednesday services are at 7:45 p.m.

In the fall of 1952 a small group of about 15 people began meeting on Sundays for worship in the American Legion Hall in Coahoma. Plans to secure a permanent meeting place soon materialized and a lot was purchased and building erected, mostly by donated help by the members and friends, and the congregation was designated as the South Side Church of Christ in Coahoma, after moving into the building in 1953.

new site was purchased for a future building program at the northwest corner of Birdwell Lane and Cote Lane.

Plans materialized and have been brought to fruition by the completion of a new sanctuary, furnishings, and adequate paved parking area at that location.

The congregation, now designated as the Cedar Ridge Church of Christ, has about 100 members, with an additional 30 children in attendance, not included in the membership count.

The congregation has never had a full-time preacher, but has always met its pastoral responsibility through the volunteer services from within its membership, with occasional visiting speakers. Most of this responsibility is met at present by brethren Paul Keele, Grady Teague, Randall Morton and Lester Young. Previous activities include the maintaining of a weekly radio program on local stations for the last 10 years.

MOVED TO BIG SPRING
The decision was eventually made to move the congregation to Big Spring. After purchasing a site located at the northwest corner of the intersection of Marcy Drive (FM 700) and Birdwell Lane, the congregation and the building were moved to that location in the summer of 1960. The congregation consisted of about 30 to 35 members at that time, and became known as the Marcy Drive Church of Christ.

As the congregation increased in numbers and parking facilities proved inadequate, a

Main Street C Of C Will Host Gospel Meeting

A gospel meeting will be held at the 14th and Main Street Church of Christ from July 22-27.

Meetings will be held twice each day at 7:15 a.m. for a morning devotional and 7:30 p.m. service, according to Ralph Williams, minister. The public is invited to attend.

Main speaker will be Paul McClung, who is a graduate of Abilene Christian College and is a well-known gospel preacher. His first preaching was done in Springtown, Tex., his home town. He has served as minister of churches in Plainview, Lamesa, Amarillo, Wichita Falls and

Fort Worth, Tex. At the present he is serving as minister of the Meadowbrook Church in Fort Worth, Tex. He has been preaching for more than 30 years and has conducted gospel meetings throughout the Southwestern part of the United States and in several foreign countries.

In the summer of 1955, McClung made a six-week tour of Europe and the Bible lands visiting 17 countries. The colored slides which he took on this trip have been shown several times by McClung in connection with lectures he has presented on Bible geography.

In 1972 McClung conducted evangelistic campaigns in four of the major cities of New Zealand.

McClung has served as guest speaker on the internationally broadcast "Herald of Truth" radio and television programs.

It is clean air, outside living, and a warm, semi-dry climate located near Mexico, San Antonio, magnificent Amistad Lake, and resort areas. The city of Uvalde (P. 12,000) is ideal for anyone who dreams of living or rearing a family away from the metropolitan rat race, traffic, jinx, smog, noise, and deaer-sensitization. WHY: The professional opportunity for learning a variety of nursing skills and medical surgical nursing, emergency, intensive and obstetrical care as well as supervisory skills is available under a highly competent Director of Nursing in a new, well-equipped, 70-bed hospital. HOW MUCH: Wages are competitive with other Texas hospitals, and living expenses are less than in large cities. Wages are negotiated in relation to the experience of the applicant and the responsibility of the position assumed. DIRECT INQUIRIES to Alan Holmes, Administrator, Memorial Hospital, Uvalde, Texas, 78881; or Lila Schoenfeld, Director of Nursing, Memorial Hospital, Uvalde, Texas 78881; or call collect (512) 278-4251.

Locals Place In Snyder Rodeo

SNYDER — Big Spring entries swept the honors in barrel racing and steer wrestling in Thursday night competition at the 38th annual Scurry County Rodeo.

Carolyn Roane took first place in barrel racing with a time of 18.33. Cheryl Roane came in second with 18.46 and Zane Neal placed third with 18.52. All three were from Big Spring.

In steer wrestling, Steve Fryar won with a 9.4 time while Joe Scott placed second with 28.8. Both are from Big Spring.

Threats of rain discouraged a high attendance Thursday. The rodeo continues at 3:30 p.m. today and Saturday in the arena west of Snyder.

GRAB INCREASING SHARE OF PUBLIC FUNDS PIE

New York City Spends More On Pensions Than It Does On Cops

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's public pension plans, their costs fattened by political expedience, hard union bargaining and rising wages, are looming ominously over the cities and states which created them.

New York City spends more on pensions than it does on police. Pension commitments ate up 22.5 per cent of the New York State payroll in 1971 and legislators have put the problem on the agenda of a special session starting next week.

INSTEAD OF CASH

About a third of Los Angeles' property taxes go into fire and police pensions. And there are estimates that in years to come some communities will spend at least half their budgets on pensions, some of which were once intended to avoid out-of-pocket expenses.

"State and city officials found it easier to grant workers an increase in pensions, the cost of which would not have to be paid for many years, than to provide them with an immediate increase in cash wages," said Dr. Dan M. McGill of the University of Pennsylvania.

NATIONAL DISGRACE

The obligations have mushroomed. The ranks of public employees have increased. So have their traditionally low wages upon which many pension plans are based. Retirees are living longer and workers still on the job have unionized and pushed for greater benefits.

"Pensions are a national disgrace," said Victor Gotbaum, head of the New York City Council of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

"There's no doubt that we do better than industry workers as a result of negotiation . . . The question is, how do you live in this crummy city on $3,700 a year?" That, Gotbaum said, is the average retirement wage for the 125,000 union members he represents.

NOT ENOUGH

Public retirees tend to get a bigger share of their pay as pension than do industrial workers. Actuarial studies show a 65-year-old making $10,000 a year after 30 years' work would get retirement benefits equal to $5,000 under a typical public plan. A private industry worker would get $2,500.

Even though public plans together have assets of $66.1 billion—more than General Motors and the four other largest American corporations combined—it's still not enough to cover future pension obligations.

Many public pensions were set up on a pay-as-you-go basis instead of on a funded basis, which is the way most industry plans operate. Under a funded program, large initial reserves are set aside to cover the pension's future obligations.

Experts say the investment income of these large reserves through holdings in securities—help ease the rising costs of pensions in later years.

PRIVATE PLANS

Private plans require a higher degree of funding than public systems, according to actuaries, in order to protect themselves from terminations arising from business failure or acquisition. State and local governments, by contrast, are considered enduring institutions that can cover their costs through additional taxation.

Government contributions to pension payments, generally expressed as a percentage of payroll, now stand at a nationwide average of 7 1/2 to 8 per cent. Experts say it could climb as high as 25 per cent if those governments switched to full funding with large reserves, although long-run costs would be lower.

Some cities that slipped behind in financing pension plans have been taken to court by employees.

Detroit taxpayers pay a special property assessment this month to satisfy an $18.2 million court ruling ordering the city to bring a bus drivers' pension fund up to par.

OBLIGATION

Philadelphia, which has a $950 million obligation for future retirement system benefits, has been forced to almost double its pension payments as a result of two court actions.

Illinois teachers won a court judgment ordering the state legislature to make regular payments toward their retirement fund's $1.7 billion debt.

Pension costs will grab an increasing share of the public funds pie as costs continue to rise. McGill estimates some communities may spend at least 50 per cent or even 70 per cent of their budgets on pensions in the next decade or so.

Collective bargaining and militant unionism have given government workers considerable leverage.

MORE ON ROLLS

New York City workers who opened draw bridges to Manhattan two years ago and snarled commuter traffic for two days were trying unsuccessfully to negotiate a pension plan similar to one won by city sanitation workers. The sanitation workers had just matched a police plan which allowed officers to retire at half pay after 20 years' service.

Rosson Speaker

Rep. Renal Rosson urged Kiwanians to maintain an active interest in the legislature and to contact their legislators on matters of interest. Rosson spoke to the club members at their weekly luncheon Thursday. Ralph Williams was a guest.

Opening lead: Queen of ♠

A famous bridge writer once wrote: "If your opponents have never made a doubled contract against you, you aren't doubling enough!" He should have added a stricture against doubling and thereby enabling the opponents to land an otherwise unmakeable contract.

South's three spade opening is a sound vulnerable preemptive bid. North added his five quick tricks to his partner's presumed seven or eight, arrived at a minimum of 12 tricks and bid the slam with no more ado. West could not resist doubling, as he had what appeared to be two certain trump tricks.

West led the queen of diamonds, and when dummy came down it was obvious to declarer that West had to have all the missing trumps for his double. To avoid two trump losers, declarer had to shorten his trumps to the same length as West's. Therefore, he had to ruff four times. For him to accomplish this, West had to have exactly four cards in each minor suit.

Dummy's king of diamonds won the first trick. The ace was cashed, and a diamond was ruffed. A club was led to the nine and dummy's remaining diamond was ruffed.

The king of clubs was cashed, the queen of clubs was overtaken with the ace and the fourth club was ruffed. Declarer now completed his trump reduction by leading to the king of hearts and ruffing the ace.

At this point, declarer was down to the ace-jack-ten of trumps only, while West held king-queen-nine. Declarer simply led the ten. West won the queen, but he had to lead away from his king-nine of trumps into declarer's ace-jack-tenace.

Without a double to guide him, declarer would certainly have been defeated. The natural way to play the hand would have been to lead a trump at trick two, and there would have been no way to recover.

West was greedy. His double stood to gain 100 points. Instead, it ended up costing his side, 1,660 points.

Best Control Is That On Government Spending

By OMAR BURLESON, M. C. WASHINGTON, D. C.

Whatever is done to hold down inflation with wage and price controls under Phase IV, the chance of any great degree of success is in doubt unless there is a dramatic reversal in current government spending.

There is general agreement among the economists that increased inflation during the first half of this year can be attributed to an over-stimulation of the economy through federal deficits, excessive expansion of money supplies, a general world-wide inflationary trend and a shortage of some agricultural products due to large exports and unfavorable weather.

We should make up our minds that we can not continue to spend beyond our means. Even with a ceiling on fiscal year 1974 expenditures, a deficit in the neighborhood of $12 billion is in prospect. Common sense tells us that this sort of spending of more than is taken in from revenues is a key to higher prices.

Controls are having the effect of reducing production and particularly in critical agricultural commodities. There has been an imbalance of prices related to productivity. Anything that hinders production and especially farm products is self-defeating. Shortages are occurring which could have no other effect in the long run of increasing the cost. Increased production of food and fibers, new plants and equipment and stricter controls by Congress of government spending is the medicine which must be taken for the ills of inflation.
