BRIBERY, EXTORTION, TAX FRAUD

Investigating Agnew

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says he is under investigation for possible criminal violations but has done nothing wrong. Newspaper reports today said the investigation involves allegations of bribery, extortion and tax fraud.

Agnew made the disclosure Monday night through his press secretary, J. Marsh Thomson, and declined further comment "other than to say that I am innocent of any wrongdoing, that I have confidence in the criminal justice system of the United States and that I am equally confident my innocence will be affirmed."

contracts during Agnew's tenure as governor of Maryland in 1967-1968 and from federal contracts in Maryland let since Agnew became vice president in 1969. The federal contracts were let by the General Services Administration, the agency in charge of constructing federal buildings.

The Washington Post and the Baltimore Sun also reported that the investigation involved allegations of kickbacks from private contractors to Baltimore County and Maryland political figures.

NOTIFIED
The Journal said the investigation is being conducted by U.S. Atty. George Beall of Baltimore and that Agnew was notified formally by the Justice Department last week in a hand-delivered letter. The newspaper said the vice president sought a White House audience after learning of the investigation, presumably to inform President Nixon.

A Nixon spokesman declined comment Monday night but said the White House was aware of Agnew's statement before it was released.

The Journal said the letter to Agnew was cleared by Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson, who then notified Special Watergate Prosecutor Archibald Cox, although there is no direct connection of the case with Watergate.

TO FIND OUT

Beall, a 36-year-old Republican appointed U.S. attorney by Nixon in 1970, refused to confirm or deny that Agnew has become a subject of his investigation. The New York law firm of Paul, Weiss, Rifkin, Wharton & Garrison is representing Agnew and a spokesman said a representative would be in Washington today to find out more about the case.

The Journal said Agnew has not been called to testify in the case and the prosecutors have not presented the evidence they have assembled to a grand jury sitting in Baltimore.

If the case did proceed to the grand jury stage, the prosecutors would have to confront the constitutional doctrine of separation of powers, the doctrine Nixon is invoking in the Watergate case, the Journal said.

Files Brief Supporting President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lawyers for President Nixon told a federal judge today that the court lacks jurisdiction to enforce the subpoena served on the President by Watergate special prosecutor Archibald Cox.

An attempt to enforce the subpoena demanding presidential tape recordings, they said, "would be an unwarranted and unconstitutional violation of the constitutional doctrine of separation of powers."

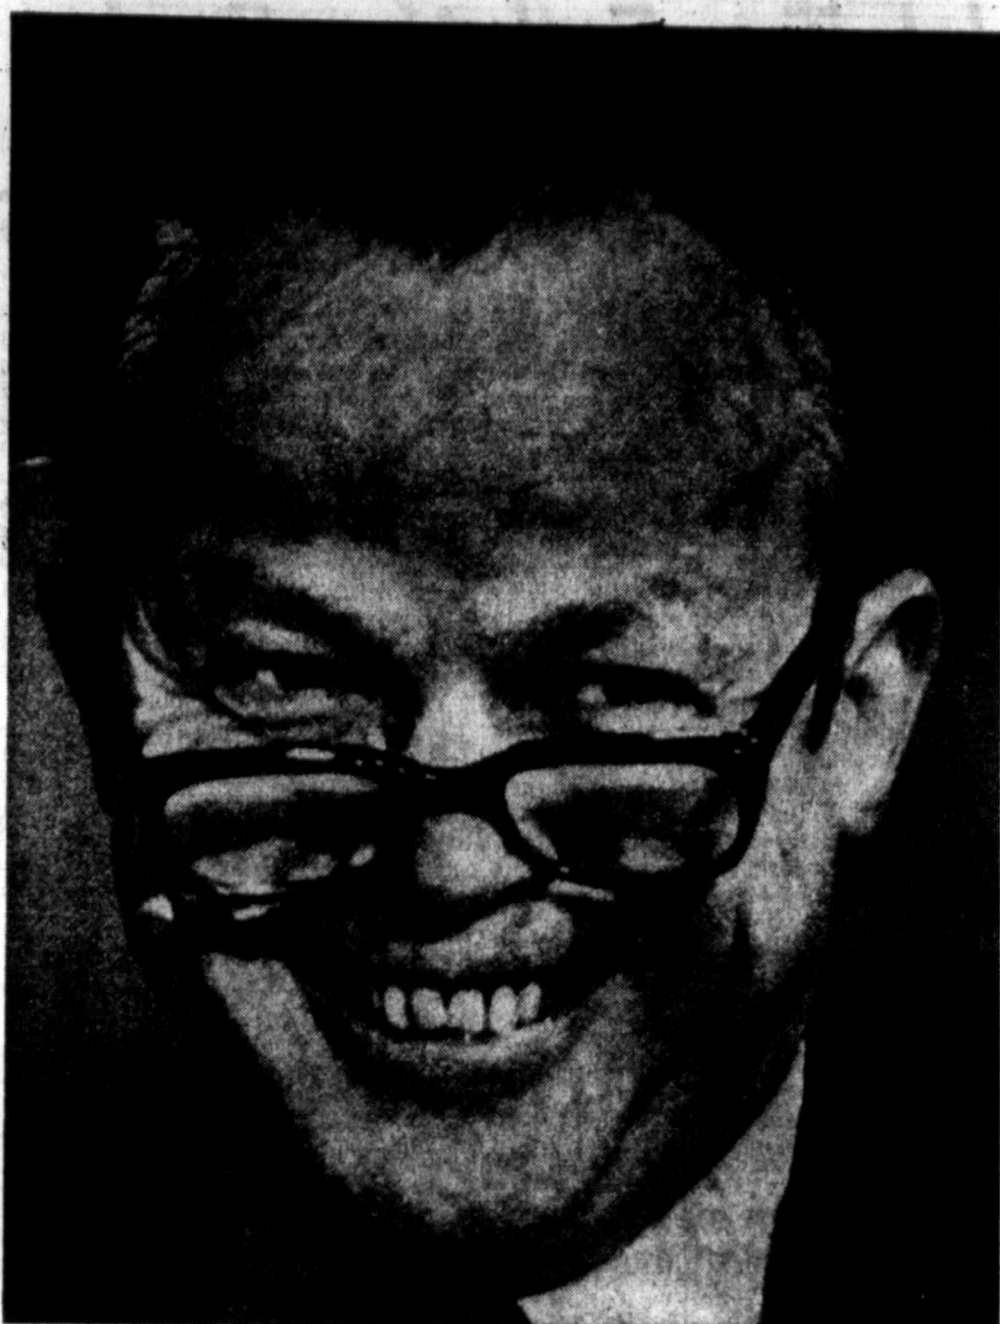

J. Fred Buzhardt, special White House counsel, in a court appearance lasting less than two minutes, filed a lengthy legal brief supporting the President's refusal to turn over White House tapes subpoenaed by Cox.

The action came shortly after the Senate Watergate committee decided to postpone any legal action of its own to obtain tapes and related documents pending disclosure of Nixon's reply to the Cox subpoena.

The committee apparently decided to put off its lawsuit because of some concern that federal courts might refuse to accept the case on grounds that they lacked jurisdiction.

"The committee decided to postpone filing the suit until counsel for the committee have an opportunity to ascertain and study the reaction of the White House attorneys to the motion of the special prosecutor," Watergate committee chairman, Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., announced before the start of the day's hearings.

The committee's suit had been expected today or Wednesday. Ervin gave no hint of how long postponement of the action might be.

A VIVID MEMORY — Richard Kleindienst, former Attorney General, with his glasses on the end of his nose, laughs as he tells the Senate Watergate Committee he has a vivid memory of the taped telephone conversation between himself and former White House aide John D. Ehrlichman.

KLEINDIENST Says Nixon 'Dumbfounded' When Told

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon was "dumbfounded" when told that his closest aides had been accused in the Watergate case in mid-April of this year, former Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst said today.

Kleindienst told the Senate Watergate committee that he first learned of accusations by White House counsel John W. Dean III and former Nixon campaign deputy Jeb Stuart Magruder early in the morning of April 15.

HE WAS VERY UPSET

He said he immediately sought a meeting with Nixon, and relayed the information to him early that afternoon in Nixon's office.

"He was dumbfounded, he was very upset," Kleindienst said.

Kleindienst said Justice Department officials told him, and he told the President, that Dean and Magruder had implicated former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, campaign aide Frederick C. LaRue, themselves, White House aides H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, former campaign aide Robert C. Mardian, "you name it."

"This is the first time since June 17, 1972, that anybody had given me any credible evidence that any of them were involved in any way," Kleindienst said.

The hearing was disrupted for about 10 minutes during the morning session by a half dozen young people who took turns reading aloud from a statement. They called themselves representatives of "the National Caucus of Labor Committees."

Old Mexico Aura Evident Tonight

The city amphitheatre will assume an atmosphere of Old Mexico tonight as the Starlight Specials continue with Fiesta-Night.

Some 400 attended last night's session "black and white night."

A juvenile mariachi band from Odessa, El Mariachi de Memo Ramirez, will top tonight's program and accompany the various soloists.

George Bustamante will sing and perform a Mexican hat dance, accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Lydia Molina who will also sing.

Francisco Rubio will provide humor for the evening with two comedy monologues.

Burritos will be sold beginning at 6 p.m. by a group from Sacred Heart Catholic Church led by Mrs. Raymond Garcia. Performances begin at 8 p.m. Admission is 25 cents.

Schedules Can Be Claimed

Schedules for junior and senior high school students should be picked up Wednesday, Aug. 15, according to Lynn C. Hise, assistant superintendent.

Goliad seventh graders will pick up their schedules at 9 a.m. in the school gymnasium, and the eighth graders at 10:30 a.m. in the same location.

Ninth graders, and all other students attending Big Spring High School for the first time, will meet in the high school auditorium at 9 a.m. There will be a two-hour orientation session.

Those in the 10th, 11th, and 12th grades will pick up their schedules at the front entrance to the high school building from 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The defendant remained on the witness stand today as the second murder trial of Charles V. Harrelson drew to a close.

Harrelson, 35, of Houston, is being tried in the July 6, 1968, execution-style shooting near McAllen of Sam Degelia Jr., a Hearne grain dealer.

The former dental supply salesman spent the entire day Monday on the witness stand answering questions for defense lawyer Percy Foreman of Houston.

Hidalgo County Dist. Atty. Oscar McInnis was expected to begin cross examination of Harrelson sometime before noon today.

GUN-RUNNING

Foreman lead the defendant through a day-long recitation of his alleged relationship with Degelia, the Hearne man's defense-alleged connection to a Houston-based gun-running operation, and the defendant's alleged common law marriage with a key prosecution witness.

Harrelson testified he did not have a pistol with him when he and Jerry O. Watkins came to McAllen the day of the Degelia slaying. He also said he accompanied Watkins for what was to be a meeting of the principals in the gun-running scheme.

The defendant also said that a pistol found on a road near the McAllen airport which had been purchased by him in Utah the previous year had been loaned to Watkins about two weeks before the slaying. He said Watkins never returned the pistol, replacing it with a pistol Watkins purchased in Arkansas.

"NO, SIR"
Asked specifically by Foreman if he killed Degelia, Harrelson replied, "no, sir."

The defense contends that Mrs. Sandra Sue Attaway, who gave the most damaging evidence against Harrelson, was actually his common law wife.

Mrs. Attaway, who once lived with Harrelson, testified that he had lost some heroin belonging to Pete Scamardo, Degelia's former business partner.

'A FAVOR'

Mrs. Attaway said Harrelson told her he killed Degelia because he owed Scamardo "a favor." The prosecution contends Scamardo, convicted as an accomplice in the Degelia slaying, wanted his business partner murdered so he could collect $50,000 in life insurance.

Saying he first met Degelia in 1963 at a rodeo in Hearne, Harrelson testified that he later

Revenue-Sharing Money Plans Are Solidified

The proposed revenue sharing budget for fiscal 1973-74 was sent by the city administration to the city commissioners this morning.

Out of $620,618 expected to be available to the city through revenue sharing next year, preliminary plans have been drawn up for the expenditure of $554,135 of it.

This money would, if approved by the City Commission, be spent for street paving and seal coat programs, a new city garage and warehouse, the Owens Street overpass, a possible new softball complex, improvements to the sewer plant and the laboratory at the water filtration plant, and for various pieces of equipment.

So far this year, the city has received $37,102 in revenue sharing funds, $292,954 of which will probably be spent by the beginning of the next fiscal year Oct. 1, according to Robert Massengale, finance director.

This will leave the city with a surplus of $244,148 which can be spent next year.

Cafeteria Director Facing Meat Shortage Problems

By ANN STEVENS

The possibility of making daily protein substitutes for meat in Big Spring school cafeteria lunches does not seem very probable to cafeteria director Ray Lawlis but he concedes that meat may be hard to get.

With school to begin in the district Aug. 16, Lawlis was to begin negotiating with area meat suppliers today. Some 4,000 lunches are served to students each day, and the state requires that two ounces of protein be included in each "Type A" lunch.

"We do some substituting for meat already," Lawlis said, noting that servings of pinto beans, cheese dishes or peanut butter, cookies are sometimes substituted for part of the two-ounce protein requirement.

WONT DISAPPEAR
But, although school districts throughout the country fear high prices and few bidders on meat contracts, Lawlis does not think meat will altogether disappear from school lunch trays this fall.

"As far as the budget allows, we will try to keep buying meat," he said. "There's just not enough other protein sources."

Don Crockett, business manager for the district, said, "I think we'll be able to get the supply needed, but I don't know what prices will do to us."

Beef prices are expected to soar after the President's price freeze is lifted Sept. 12.

Lawlis said he will try to keep buying meat on weekly contracts. Longer term contracts are not possible due to a lack of adequate storage facilities.

He noted, though, that several of the firms from whom the district has bought meat in the past have recently closed down.

EARLY LIFTING?
"Whether we can get the supply is all going to stem from whether Mr. Nixon lifts the freeze before Sept. 12. I bet by the end of this month, he will lift it," Lawlis conjectured.

Although he said he anticipates the district will have to pay more for its meat and possibly other foods, he said he hopes lunch prices do not have to be raised. Lunches now cost 50 cents in the three secondary schools and 45 cents in the elementaries.

While some school districts throughout the nation are reportedly having trouble obtaining adequate canned food and other necessary supplies, Lawlis does not expect that to happen here. He said he was told by one grocery concern with which the district does business that there is not a big shortage on anything.

Crockett seemed to summarize the attitude of the two when he said, "I anticipate near-regular cafeteria service. But you just can't make plans like you did six months ago. Now, it's a whole new ball game."

Construction Is Vigorous

Construction costs in July brought the total so far in 1973 to well over double the total from January-July 1972.

The 32 building permits issued by the city in July represented a total construction cost of $468,896, bringing the 1973 total to $2,278,077.

July 1972 construction was $323,605 while January-July construction during 1972 was $1,107,872.

Biggest single new project for July was the city garage costing $85,200. Other permits issued were reroofing, five; additions, nine; enclosures, three; carpools, six; utility buildings, two; moving buildings, four; and new residences, two.

Nixon's Security Costs $10 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has made an unprecedented accounting for some of the secret costs of the presidency while ordering a full disclosure on his purchase of homes in California and Florida.

Acting on the President's instructions, officials at the White House, Secret Service and General Services Administration revealed Monday that nearly $10 million had been spent by the government since 1969 for security, communications, and other work at the First Family's out-of-town residences and offices.

QUESTIONS

At the same time, presidential spokesman Gerald L. Warren announced that Nixon had hired a private auditing firm to prepare "a complete, detailed accounting of the acquisition of the homes and property" he has purchased since taking office in San Clemente, Calif., and Key Biscayne, Fla.

That report will be released within a month, Warren said as he told newsmen it would "include everything . . . on which you have had questions."

The White House has been barraged with questions since May, when it disclosed that Nixon had borrowed $625,000 from industrialist friend Robert M. Abplanalp to purchase the San Clemente estate in July 1969—and that the loan was canceled in a complex transaction 18 months later when Nixon sold to Abplanalp 23 of the 29 acres in the ocean-side tract.

GSA administrator Arthur Sampson, in an apparent reference to Watergate, said his agency divulged its $3.7 million in spending for security and administrative support of the President and his family because of "the atmosphere that exists today government wide."

POOL CLEANER

He said virtually all the work was requested by the Secret Service in line with its duty to protect the President and his family "both from malicious harm, and from safety hazards."

Many of the items listed in a 70-page fine-print breakdown supplied by Sampson dealt with presidential security. But a few did not—including $89 for "four decorative pillows" for the President's San Clemente den, $475 for a "swimming pool cleaner" for the Key Biscayne compound and $6.53 for "picture frame supplies."

Sampson said some such items will be reclaimed by the government when Nixon leaves office and no longer needs them.

Warren said the same is true for more than $600,000 of the nearly $6 million in communications installations and other work financed by the military at San Clemente and Key Biscayne.

Capitol police to a room in the basement of the Russell Senate Office Building.

Kleindienst also testified that he warned Ehrlichman less than two months after the June 17 break-in that he might be involved in an obstruction of justice. And Kleindienst said he threatened to resign if Ehrlichman didn't stop meddling in the investigation.

He also said the mastermind of the wiretapping, G. Gordon Liddy, approached him the afternoon after the raid and said that White House or Nixon campaign employees might have been included among the five men arrested inside Democratic national headquarters.

He said he immediately gave orders against any special treatment for the men, and told Liddy to leave the golf club where they met.

TRIGGERS TEARS

But Kleindienst insisted he didn't have evidence of high-level involvement in the case until Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry E. Petersen, the man in over-all charge of the wiretapping, told him about the accusations of Dean and Magruder.

That was after the White House Correspondents Association dinner. Kleindienst met at his home with Petersen, U.S. Atty. Harold Titus and federal prosecutor Earl Silbert.

Kleindienst, a personal friend of both Mardian and Mitchell, said he reacted emotionally to the accusations. "Two of those men were the closest friends I have ever had in my life," he said. "I think one of the things I did that night was, I wept."

He said the affair saddened him more than anything since the death of his mother when he was a young boy.

NIXON CONSOLED HIM

He said Nixon consoled him in their meeting that afternoon, when Kleindienst laid out the charges. Kleindienst said he immediately withdrew from the wiretapping investigation, and put Petersen in over-all charge. Kleindienst resigned as head of the Justice Department two weeks later, April 30, when Haldeman and Ehrlichman quit and Dean was fired.

Suicide Verdict Returned Here

An autopsy performed by Abilene pathologist Dr. Jarrett Williams of a woman found shot four times July 23 here has shown the wounds to be self-inflicted, Walter Grice, peace justice, said today.

Mrs. Gretchen Baker Ray was found dead at 12:50 p.m. by F. W. White at his residence on Driver Road in the Silver Heels Addition.

She had four .22 caliber bullet wounds in her body.

Grice said the autopsy showed one bullet went through her heart and into her lung, one in her shoulder, one in her torso and the other one apparently was not found, he said.

He said that .22 caliber bullets are small enough not to produce great damage unless many shots are fired or if the shots are not in vital areas.

ACC Agreeable To Consortium

Abilene Christian College has agreed to a consortium with South Texas Junior College in Houston, according to a joint announcement by the two schools today.

In the consortium agreement, ACC will offer junior and senior level courses leading to a bachelor of science degree on the South Texas Junior College campus at 1 Main Plaza in Houston.

South Texas Junior College currently offers freshman and sophomore level courses in criminal justice. ACC's Metrocenter, which offers a bachelor of science in Criminal Justice, will coordinate its Houston offerings with South Texas Junior College in order to provide its Houston students the opportunity to receive a bachelor's degree. In addition to the criminal justice offerings, the Metrocenter will offer twenty-two courses on the South Texas Junior College campus in business, English, communications, history and sociology.

Solar Physicist Gets His Chance

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Dr. Owen K. Garriott, the first solar physicist to fly in space, got his long-awaited chance to observe the sun through Skylab's telescopes today.

While Garriott manned the telescope console, his Skylab 2 crewmates, Alan L. Bean and Jack R. Lousma, concentrated on medical experiments in the orbiting laboratory.

Mission Control let them sleep an hour later than usual because of a heavy day Monday in which they wrote a record space walk into the books.

The Skylab 1 astronauts earlier operated the solar astronomy telescopes, but Garriott's training as a solar physicist should enable him to make many on-the-spot decisions and evaluations.

He initially aimed the instruments at "active region 85," a area of the sun where ground observers have detected several moderate solar flares recently.

By studying the sun from above the earth's obscuring atmosphere, scientists hope the Skylab astronauts will be able to determine how the sun affects weather and communications on earth.

DEATHS

Palbearers were A. R. Groves, Jimmy Bailey, L. D. Cunningham, Willard Wise, Bobby Brazel and Bobby McDonald.

MASON — Services will be at 10 a.m. Wednesday in Mason Funeral Home Chapel for Mrs. Lettie Behrens, 68, who died Monday in the home of a sister after a short illness. Burial will be in Gooch Cemetery. Among survivors is a brother, Raymond Bolt, Big Spring.

Surviving are her husband, Lorraine; a daughter, Mrs. Rosa DeLaCruz, Haskell, Elrigido DeLaCruz, Jr., and Manuel Arturo DeLaCruz, Sweetwater; 11 grandchildren and two brothers.

W. A. Edgerton — Services were held at 2 p.m. today in River-Welch Funeral Chapel for Walter Andrew Edgerton, 68, a retired plumber who died of an apparent heart attack at his Big Spring home Sunday.

The Rev. C. R. Perry, pastor of Phillips Memorial Baptist Church, officiated. Burial was in Trinity Memorial Park.

Born in Orange County March 4, 1905, he married Maude Bruce in Beaumont in 1922. She died in 1929.

He moved to Big Spring in 1948 and went to work for Wooten Wholesale. He had been working for Garland Harrison Plumbing Co., at the time of his death. He was a World War II Army veteran.

Survivors are a son, Lenard Andrew Edgerton, Big Spring; his father, Parley Andrew Edgerton, Big Spring; two sisters, Mrs. Alean McGill, Big Spring, and Mrs. Annie Ellis,

Told To Falsify Data Of Cambodian Bombs

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former Air Force officer testified today he was secretly ordered to falsify reports of tactical air strikes by American fighter planes deep into Cambodia as late as April 1971.

The testimony by former Capt. George R. Moses significantly broadens allegations of false reporting of the Cambodian bombing campaign ordered at the highest levels of the Nixon administration during 1969, 1970 and 1971.

Previous military and civilian officials have acknowledged the deliberate misreporting of 3,630 B52 strikes during 1969 and 1970. But Moses is the first to indicate that tactical air strikes were also involved.

Saying there was a dual reporting system for tactical strikes similar to that used for the B52 strikes, Moses testified before the Senate Armed Services Committee that "America does not need to be defended by lies and deception."

Moses said that shortly after the May 1970 invasion by U.S. forces in Cambodia he received written instructions to establish an elaborate false reporting system for the strikes by U.S. fighter planes.

He said that as an intelligence officer in three different tactical air units, he was required to report missions west of the Mekong River in Cambodia as having occurred in an area closer to the South Vietnamese border where North Vietnamese supply convoys moved down the Ho Chi Minh trail.

Moses, now a member on the staff of Rep. Robert Leggett, D-Calif., said he questioned the procedure with his superiors and was answered with a shrug and a reply that "7th Air Force Headquarters wants it that way."

Seventh Air Force was headquarters for all U.S. air operations in Indochina.

Late today the committee was expected to hear Special Forces men say that secret cross-border patrols into Laos and Cambodia suffered much higher casualties than have been reported by the Pentagon.

'POLITICALLY MOTIVATED' Carr, Osorio Seeking Dismissal Of Charges

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas state banking commissioner testified today he tried to delay filing of the government's civil suit against Sharpstown State Bank and others Jan. 18, 1971 because he felt "the resulting publicity would wreck the bank."

Robert E. Stewart of Austin told of an all-day meeting with officials of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission in Fort Worth that day. The meeting ended abruptly, he said, when SEC regional administrator Gerald Bolt told him after receiving a telephone call that the suit had already been filed and there was no point in continuing.

Stewart said he was called as a witness by former Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr who with four other defendants, is seeking dismissal of federal mail and wire fraud charges on grounds the case was politically motivated.

Stewart said he asked for the meeting with the SEC after being told Quentin Thompson, regional director of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, that the SEC intended asking its complaint that the federal court put three banks into receivership—something which Stewart claimed only the state banking department could do.

The banks were Sharpstown State Bank, Dallas Bank & Trust and City Bank & Trust.

UNDUE ATTENTION — Stewart said he believed that a statement in the complaint, that the banks were insolvent and their situation was getting worse every day, was simply not true. He managed to get that language removed from the complaint.

Stewart also said he felt the names of political figures who had loans from the banks would draw undue attention to the banks but in this case he failed to get any changes made.

At another point in his testimony, Stewart said that his bank examiners had found the Sharpstown bank insolvent in November 1970. He called a meeting with Frank Sharp, chairman of the bank board, and his directors and demanded the bank be restored to solvency or else he would be duty-bound to close it.

Sharp offered to transfer assets of the Sharpstown Shopping Center in the bank's name and Stewart said this made the bank solvent again and it remained so until the SEC filed its case.

Under cross-examination by Robert Mahoney, prosecutor from the Justice Department, Stewart agreed that Sharpstown had always been a problem bank because of liberal management and a liberal loan policy.

He said that Sharp "didn't pay an awful lot of attention to his department's request for more competent and capable management."

Carr, John Osorio, his former Austin law partner, and three other defendants are seeking to show there was a political motivation behind their indictment on federal mail and wire fraud charges. They are to be tried Oct. 23, along with a sixth defendant who does not associate himself with this particular line of defense.

Carr and the others want the case thrown out by U.S. District Court Judge William M. Taylor Jr. If the judge rules against them, they will seek to subpoena certain government witnesses, including former U.S. Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst and former Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. Will Wilson.

BRIGHT FUTURE — An affidavit from Carl Freund, Fort Worth correspondent of the Dallas Morning News, said he was told by Gerald Bolt, regional administrator of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, that the unnamed state officials referred to in the SEC civil suit were Gov. Preston Smith, Dr. Elmer Baum, and "a young man with a bright future," whom he took to be former House Speaker Gus Mutscher.

According to Freund's affidavit, however, Bolt insisted that the date for filing the suit—Jan. 18, 1971, on the eve of Smith's inauguration, as governor—had been dictated by clerical rascals and Bolt had not been aware of its political significance.

Fred Harper, a reporter on the Houston Chronicle, said rumors were circulating in Houston on Jan. 18 that an important suit was to be filed in Dallas that day, but he couldn't recall the source for the rumors.

Earl Golz, Dallas Morning News reporter, was closely questioned by Carr about a number of his articles, as Carr sought to show that government officials had leaked information.

Besides Carr and Osorio the defendants are Dallas lawyers Tom Max Thomas and Jarrell Ormand, Houston lawyer Thano Dameris, and Dallas oilman David Hoover. All but Ormand are associating themselves with Carr's bid to show that their prosecution stems from political motives.

Wilcox Is Free On $2,000 Bond — Jerry Wayne Wilcox, who was arrested and charged with possession of dangerous drugs Monday, has been released from county jail on $2,000 bond posted by Don Heritage of Lubbock.

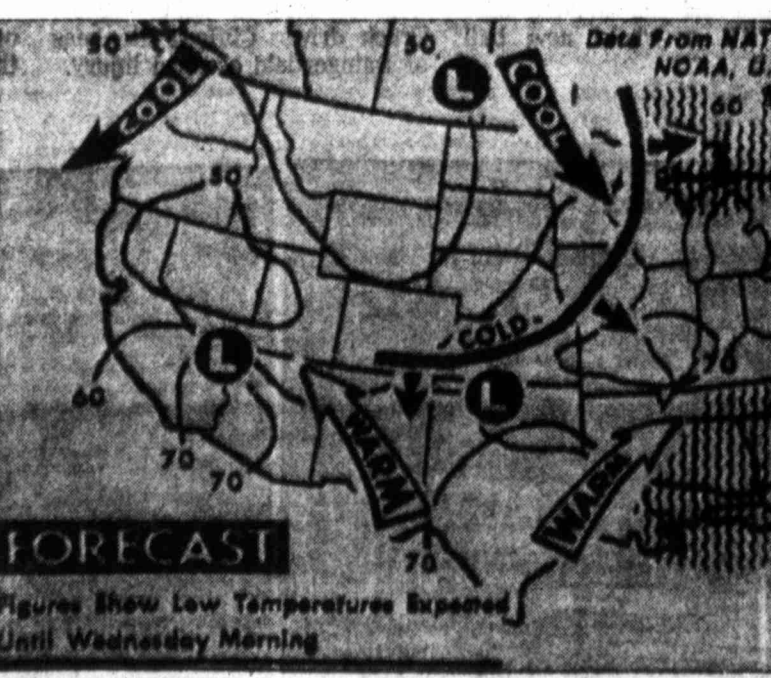

Wilcox had been a druggist at a local pharmacy only three days when arrested.

Judge Frees Six Women

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge has refused to sentence six women arrested at the White House, stating that there was White House pressure behind the prosecution of recent antiwar demonstrators.

The women were charged with unlawful entry under District of Columbia law. They had stepped from a tour line to pray for an end to the bombing in Cambodia.

Judge Charles W. Halleck accepted pleas of no contest to the charges, but suspended imposition of sentence.

"To be singled out and prosecuted . . . to do no more than read a prayer from the Bible," said the judge, his voice breaking. He did not complete the statement.

"I may not be able to keep the executive branch from prosecuting . . . but it's a judicial function to impose sentence. As a judge and as a human being, there's no way I'd have any of these people spend one day in jail," he added.

The arrested women were identified as Ginny Ives of Baltimore, Patricia Moore of Boston and Rochelle Linner. Kathleen Thorsby, Jean Gregory and Mary Caron, all of Washington.

Blames Congress, Not Oil Firms, For Energy Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of Texas' oil and gas regulatory agency told lawyers today that the energy shortage has been "contrived"—but by Congress, not the nation's oil industry.

For more than 20 years, said Jim Langdon of the Texas Railroad Commission, the oil and gas industry "has been caught in the same type of cost-price squeeze" as farmers who slaughtered baby chickens because they could not afford to feed them.

The oil and gas industry has been "unable to generate enough capital from the sale of old reserves to pay the cost of replacing them with newly discovered reserves," Langdon said.

CRUDE OIL

His remarks were prepared for delivery to the Section of Natural Resources Law of the American Bar Association.

Langdon said Texas produces approximately 33 per cent of the nation's crude oil but by 1978 or 1979 "Texas will not only cease to be a net exporter of petroleum products, it will no longer afford to wait for someone in Alaska to start building oil and gas pipelines to us—say it is time we started building pipelines from our state to the Alaskan oil and gas reserves," Langdon said.

He added that "appropriate economic incentives" could lead to the recovery of 10 per cent of our presently "unrecoverable" crude oil reserves, or the equivalent of three new North Slope Alaskan oil fields.

Alaskan reserves are estimated at 10 billion barrels.

CRUDE OIL

"In summary," Langdon said, "we are producing all the crude (oil) we can, under present economic, technical and regulatory conditions."

"For the immediate future the only solution" to finding more fuel supplies "is to continue to increase imports. Sufficient superports must be constructed to handle these tremendous volumes of imported petroleum. Along with increasing the supply of petroleum energy, this nation must conserve its remaining reserves and increase the use and development of alternate energy sources."

Priest Killed Near Malibu

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — A parish priest from Wichita Falls, Tex., has died of injuries suffered when struck by a car while crossing the Pacific Coast Highway in nearby Malibu.

Highway patrolmen spokesman identified the victim as the Rev. James J. Fitzpatrick, 45, of Sacred Heart Parish in Wichita Falls.

Officers said the priest died Monday night two hours after he was hit while crossing the scenic coastal route against a red light.

Busing Order Turns Sour

SOUR LAKE, Tex. (AP) — A court order issued last week to stay the Hardin-Jefferson School Board from going ahead with a busing plan may interfere with the scheduled opening of classes, school officials said Monday.

A hearing was scheduled before District Court Judge Clyde E. Smith at 9 a.m. Friday in Woodville to determine whether the restraining order will continue, pending trial of a suit to oust the school trustees from office.

The suit, filed by members of the Hardin-Jefferson Committee Against Busing, accuses the seven trustees of "incompetency or official misconduct."

One of the alleged grounds for removal is the trustees' decision to adopt a scheme for massive busing of all children in grades from kindergarten through high school.

Using Less Rice In Their Beer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's beer drinkers may not have noticed but, the Agriculture Department reports, brewers are using less rice in their beer.

Reporting late last week that "the long-run upward trend in total domestic demand for rice may be leveling off," the department attributed the finding primarily to "a sharp decline in rice used for beer."

Per capita consumption of rice also dropped — nearly one pound between 1966-69 and 1969-72, to 7.1 pounds.

DESPITE DIETS, EXERCISE Body Weight Tends To Remain Stable

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — A Cornell University researcher says he has found evidence that an individual's body weight tends to remain stable despite repeated diets, rigorous exercise or even the surgical removal of fatty tissue.

David A. Levitsky, a physiological psychologist, says research has led to the theory that each body has an "ideal weight" that it strives to maintain.

In doing so, the body is alternately efficient and inefficient in processing its intake of foods, Levitsky said.

BRAIN WAVES

"It's almost as though your brain doesn't trust your mouth," Levitsky said.

He said the brain apparently monitors the total amount of fat in the body, compares this with some ideal value and determines how efficient it will be in burning off the calories.

Levitsky's research, sponsored by a $10,000 grant from the Weight Watchers' Foundation, is aimed at discovering the mechanism through which the brain monitors the body's state of fatness at any moment.

Explaining his theory, Levitsky said: "Each fat cell produces a messenger in proportion to its size, which it dumps into the bloodstream. The larger the fat cell, the greater the concentration of these messengers in the blood. At present, however, we have no idea what the messenger is."

"FAT MESSAGE

Once the nature of the messenger is discovered, the treatment of overweight persons should be relatively simple, he said.

He said obese persons could be given chemical substitutes for the messengers; these substitutes would force the brain to read a false "fat" message and direct the body to become increasingly efficient in its metabolic processes.

Levitsky said steroid contraceptives, such as the pill, work in a similar manner, fooling the brain with certain symptoms of pregnancy so the pituitary gland does not stimulate ovulation.

New, higher rates on savings

At Big Spring Savings, you get the full benefit of new, higher rates of interest compounded daily and paid quarterly on passbook accounts, and all NEW certificates.

| Rate ... | Yield ... |
|--|-----------|
| 5.25% Passbook Savings | 5.39% |
| 5.75% 180-Day Certificates $1,000 MINIMUM | 5.92% |
| 6.00% 1-Year Certificates $5,000 MINIMUM | 6.18% |
| 6.50% 2-Year Certificates $10,000 MINIMUM | 6.72% |
| 6.75% 30-Month Certificates $20,000 MINIMUM | 6.98% |

The new rates were effective July 1 on all passbook savings accounts. New certificate accounts will be opened at the new rates. Existing certificates will continue to earn at their original rates. Under the new rate provisions, withdrawals from certificates of deposit prior to a maturity date will reduce earnings since the date issued to the passbook rate then being paid, and cause a forfeiture of 90 days' interest. Federal regulations require the forfeiture of 90 days' interest on funds transferred to these new rates from existing certificates of deposit before maturity. To earn maximum interest on your savings, we recommend you hold existing certificates of maturity, then re-invest in a new, higher-yield certificate.

Keeping The Tax

The uneven application of assessments under the ad valorem tax has led us to question it as a state revenue source, but on the whole we must conclude that the Texas Constitutional Revision Committee probably acted wisely in voting to retain this on real and personal property. It is at once a guard against a sanctuary of untaxed wealth, also a source to which the state could turn if necessary.

For many years 35 cents on each $100 valuation was levied by the state to support the public free school system. A constitutional amendment adopted in 1968 provides for the gradual phasing out of state and valorem taxes for public schools. But the state ad valorem tax for other purposes yielded $64 million in 1970, or a little more than 2 per cent of the state's total revenue.

While the ad valorem tax is not used by Texas now as a source of major revenue, it can, if needed, be the major source of revenue to the state, just as it now is the major source of revenue for counties, cities and school districts. No other tax, save the sales tax, has such a potential for high income.

Most Texans probably now concede that the ad valorem tax for school purposes is not uniformly applied. In poor districts a punishing tax must be applied, while in districts with rich sources of ad valorem taxation the rate is low. An appreciation of this disparity has persuaded many Texans, including legislators, that the only fair way to apply the ad valorem tax is on a

An Accurate Appraisal

In Washington to visit President Nixon, Australia's Prime Minister Gough Whitlam was given occasion by reporters to comment on the current round of French nuclear tests in the Pacific, which Whitlam's nation has bitterly opposed. The prime minister characterized them as both "unforgivable" and "pitiful."

And that is about as accurate an appraisal as can be provided, particularly the second adjective.

The French, at the behest of Charles de Gaulle, embarked on a nuclear program in pursuit of past glories. A French nuclear force is an ex-statewide. The money for operation of local schools would then be apportioned on a per capita basis that would ensure reasonably equal educational opportunity to all Texans. There must be a way to apply assessments more equitably.

But the possibility of using a statewide ad valorem tax for school support is alone sufficient to argue persuasively for its retention.

pentive symbol, a pretense at superpower status that that nation no longer can claim. No one can believe a small French nuclear force provides any viable deterrent to aggression against the French.

The greatest danger, however, is that continuing French nuclear development in defiance of world opinion may encourage other nations not now possessing nuclear capability to seek it. That could include a mixed bag of states with unstable governments and little to lose in a "localized" nuclear confrontation — which could lead to a world nuclear holocaust.

Has Its Merits

Around The Rim

The Los Angeles Free Press publishes stories that are inflammatory (and advertising that is not for the squeamish) but I buy it, anyway, because it prints an excellent roundup of current and coming events in the Bay Area, San Diego and Las Vegas.

REQUESTS FOR such information come often from people scheduling vacations or wives who plan to accompany their husbands on business trips. There is not always time to write hotels or chamber of commerce offices for such information before departure.

Most often asked is "Who's playing where in Las Vegas?"

If you're headed that way soon, here is: Caesar's Palace, showroom, Petula Clark and Joan Rivers, July 26-Aug. 15, Andy Williams, Aug. 16-Sept. 5, and Tom Jones and Pat Henry, Sept. 6-Sept. 19.

At the Desert Inn, the showroom will feature Frankie Laine and Rich Little through Aug. 13, followed by Don Adams and Patti Page, Aug. 14-Sept. 10; while at the Flamingo, there's Connie Stevens and Charlie Callas through Aug. 29, after which Sandler and Young occupy the showroom Aug. 30-Sept. 26, giving way then to Sergio Franchi, Sept. 27-Oct. 24.

THE FRONTIER'S music hall has Phil Harris, Harry James and Frank Sinatra Jr. on hand until Aug. 15, then Robert Goulet, Aug. 16-Sept. 5, and Bobbie Gentry with John Byner, Sept. 6-Oct. 3.

In the Copa Room at the Sands, Wayne Newton will have his show until Sept. 4, giving way then to Phyllis Diller and Jerry Vale, Sept. 5-Oct. 2. The Sahara will feature Buddy Hackett until Aug. 17. Current performers are not listed for the Las Vegas Hilton or the Riviera, but the Tropicana showroom continues with the new Follies Bergere.

The Dunes is highlighting "Casino de Paris," and the Mills Brothers, always popular, are slated indefinitely at the Jewel Box Lounge in the Hacienda and the lounge of the Flamingo until Aug. 15.

VARIOUS thumb-nail revues, combos and individual performers are spotlighted at the Aladin, Castaways, and Silver Slipper.

There's something for everyone, and the musical bill of fare ranges from the Union Plaza's production of "Sound of Music" to the Fremont Hotel's "Minsky Revue."

Exit Peppery Voice

William F. Buckley Jr.

If he had lived in the Middle Ages, he'd have been the cause of fratricidal wars. If he had lived in Renaissance Italy, he'd have been burned at the stake for impiety. If the Democrats ever achieve total power, they will no doubt enact a constitutional amendment to permit a bill of attainder for the purposes of removing the protections of the First Amendment from John D. Lofton Jr.

MR. LOFTON is in the news now because the Republican Party is folding its peppery weekly publication "Monday," which Lofton brought to life several years ago, fresh from an apprenticeship as a young journalist in Vermont and Florida. "Sources at the Democratic National Committee," wrote Columnist Richard Starnes last summer, "incline toward melancholy when the subject of 'Monday' is brought up." With good reason.

For one thing there is the quality of tenacity in Lofton. Last summer he put in a call to Charles Guggenheim, producer of occasional epics on any available member of the Kennedy family, and at the time producer of a packaged television life of Candidate George McGovern. Lofton wanted to know why Guggenheim's half-hour panegyric omitted any mention of an entire decade in George McGovern's political life: specifically, the decade during which he backed Henry Wallace for President. "Monday" transcribed the telephone conversation:

"I DON'T KNOW," Guggenheim replied (long pause) "... talk to the man who wrote it." When informed that his production manager earlier in the day had said that the omission was a "creative decision" that Guggenheim was "responsible for," Guggenheim hung up the phone. "Monday" then called back eight times only to have the phone hung up each time after one ring. On the ninth call, the phone rang over 50 times, then was answered by Guggenheim and the dialogue was as follows:

"Guggenheim: 'Capt. Dougherty, Third Precinct.'

"Monday: 'Capt. Dougherty, I'd like to speak to your superior to complain about your taking so long to answer my phone. This could have been an emergency and a matter of life and death.'

"At this point, Guggenheim hung up again."

ANOTHER SPECIALTY of Editor Lofton is Perfect Recall. When the "New York Times" published the Pentagon Papers, receiving them secretly from a source that had been in the government, Lofton came up with a "Times" editorial on Stewart Alsop, who after the Bay of Pigs published the inside story of the catastrophe, quoting from a secret meeting of the National Security Council.

"The secrecy of one of the highest organs of the United States Government has been seriously breached," groaned the "Times." "How can advisers to the President be expected to give advice freely and easily and at all times honestly and with complete integrity if they have to worry about what their arguments will look like in print a few weeks later? What kind of advice can the President expect to get under such circumstances?" You got to be really mean to do that kind of thing.

IN THE current issue, in our Watergate-besotted summer, Lofton comes up with an old newspaper column by John Roche, former chairman of Americans for Democratic Action and aide to President Lyndon Johnson. "Somehow or other," Roche had written, "we used to get advance texts of Sen. Goldwater's key speeches. The consequence of this was that before Goldwater had even opened his mouth, we had five speakers primed to reply. Maybe he sent them over as a courtesy, but all I know is that when I innocently inquired how we got them, the reply was 'don't ask.'"

'THREE FAINTINGS AND TWO HYSTERICS ALREADY TODAY'

Ever Tickle A Fat Girl?

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions: What the Watergate affair has proved to most of us is something we probably really knew all along — that you can confuse any issue if you put enough lawyers on the witness stand.

Any year is wasted in which you don't at least once smell a lilac bush in bloom after a light rain. It is the cleanest, clearest scent on earth.

If you think it is more fun to tickle a skinny girl than a fat girl, that shows one thing about you—you've never tickled a fat girl.

When it comes to shopping, men divide into two classes: those who like to buy new shoes, and those who hate the thought of giving up their old ones.

What is a fatalist, father?

I'm glad you asked me that, son. A fatalist is a husband who lets his mother-in-law pick out the neckties he wears.

Future generals spend their youth refighting yesterday's wars. And, unless they are exceptionally able, when they mature and reach command, they tend to fight their own wars the same old way.

What is the most frightening thing that can happen to anyone? The most frightening thing I can imagine happening to me would be to look into the bathroom mirror some morning and see the rear end of a spider climbing into my nose. What's your favorite fear?

The big advantage of color television is that it offers you a fresh and harmless way to show your distaste. If a commercial or program comes on the screen that you don't like, you can get revenge by twisting a dial and make everybody's face turn blue. How often do you get a chance like that in real life?

Single young secretaries have become the transients of the business world today. Half of them will quit a job and move on to another one within three months if the office they work in doesn't have an eligible young bachelor in it. They are looking for husbands, not pensions.

Isn't it nice to be worth more as you get older? In my youth I was told that the chemicals in a human body were worth only about 87 cents. But now, what with the rising price of gold, any middle-aged man who has much dental bridgework in his mouth, should be worth at least $15 to $20, and maybe more. Who says it doesn't pay to grow old?

Not If, But When

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Field reports from Vietnam warn that Communist forces, confident that U.S. bombers will never reappear in Indochina after Aug. 15 and hopeful that vital U.S. supplies will dry up, are sure to challenge Watergate-paralyzed Washington with a general offensive.

BOTH WRITTEN reports and departed officials passing through Washington agree that Hanoi's new offensive is a question not of "if" but of "when." It could come in mid-October or perhaps not until spring or even later. But all observers believe the refitted North Vietnamese legions will strike from new bases in South Vietnam to attempt the conquest of the entire country.

Present combat readiness of North Vietnamese troops, worn out only six months ago, is a byproduct of the peace agreements negotiated in Paris. But the enhanced prospect of a Communist offensive soon stems from Hanoi's reading that the mood in Washington today will prevent President Nixon from helping the South Vietnamese.

THE OVERRIDING new development in South Vietnam since the ceasefire is the development of a Communist-controlled "nation" in the wilderness (widely called the Third Vietnam). Secure behind those borders in the mountainous northwest, the North Vietnamese army has lickered its wounds and prepared for battle.

TO GIVE the impression that the so-called "Provisional Revolutionary Government" really has its own country, Hanoi has been trucking civilians from North Vietnam (recently including truckloads of single women). Hanoi's optimum wish is for refugees to flow out of Saigon-controlled areas into the Third Vietnam.

THAT HAS NOT and surely will not happen. Despite continuing corruption, the people of South Vietnam have made their choice for President Nguyen Van Thieu's government. That is confirmed by a secret public opinion survey conducted by U.S. officials in the populous Mekong River delta.

The threat from the Third Vietnam, therefore, is not political but military. With the American-trained South Vietnamese army (ARVN) neither equipped nor trained for guerrilla raids into the new base area, the Communists have safely rebuilt their army. Intelligence sources now evaluate North Vietnamese forces as at least their size when the massive spring 1972 offensive was launched. In terms of tanks, heavy artillery and aircraft carriers, they are considerably superior.

WHAT HAS SO far inhibited a new offensive is the Hanoi politburo's difficulty in reading the intentions of the inscrutable Americans. Amazed at Mr. Nixon's resumption of bombing twice in 1972, Hanoi has feared his response to any new aggression. But experts believe that Hanoi now views Mr. Nixon, politically crippled by Watergate, as unable to resume bombing anywhere in Indochina after the Aug. 15 statutory deadline. With that inhibition gone, there is only one thing for the Communists to do with their refitted army: use it.

Tennis Faults

LONDON (AP) — Tennis, once the most popular sport in Britain, is losing ground, says a survey on how the British spend their leisure time.

The game today has a dull, suburban image, the market research report says. Despite low admission charges, public courts are rarely in full use.

Squash, a relative expensive pastime, has surpassed tennis as Britain's most popular sport.

MY ANSWER

Billy Graham

I am 63 years of age, in good health, and have a job teaching mentally retarded children. I was 44 before I received my Master's Degree. A problem has arisen that I cannot cope with. It's prejudice against older people. Even though I'm twice as enthusiastic and confident as I was 30 years ago, employment people are treating me as a "has-been." Can't you use your influence to help the "over 40" group? T.L.

My own birthdays have accumulated so that I can well identify with your group. share your concern, of course, for harnessing the capability of America's senior generation.

History is on your side, affirming the potential and the productivity of people over 60. Many of the great scientists, artists and inventors have been older people, some of them even octogenarians.

Among the Hebrews and Orientals, generally old age was held in honor, and respect was required (Leviticus 19:32). In fact, a mark of the low estate of a nation was that "the faces of the elders were not honored" (Lamentations 5). The Scripture reveals that superior wisdom belongs generally to the aged (Job 12:20) and therefore positions of guidance and authority were given them.

But now, even though the structure of society and the channels of employment move you out at age 65, your usefulness need not be over. I appreciated a suggestion made in Portland recently, where retired business executive Owen Cooper was re-elected president of the Southern Baptist Convention. He suggested that retired people be used in voluntary mission service on a wholesale basis. That's good! A whole reservoir of talent will be uncovered.

Your example of Israel's premier Golda Meir is a good one. Like her, I'm confident you too will find rewarding places to serve your fellow men at any age. If business and the professions don't provide such opportunities, you sound ingenious enough to make your own.

A Devotion For Today

If we live, we live to the Lord, and if we die, we die to the Lord; so then, whether we live or whether we die, we are the Lord's. (Romans 14:8, RSV)

PRAYER: We are glad, our Father, to know that neither life nor death can separate us from You. Help us to live and die with this faith, given through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

(From the "Upper Room")

The Personal Point

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — John Ehrlichman testified before the Senate Watergate committee two weeks ago that it was "well within both the constitutional duty and the obligation of the President" for White House aides to break into the office of Dr. Daniel Ellsberg's former psychiatrist.

SEN. SAM ERVIN JR. of North Carolina disputed this interpretation of the President's power and argued there was nothing in the law which gives the President the right to suspend the Fourth Amendment's protection against unreasonable searches and seizures.

Since this is a great constitutional issue, I sought out my old law professor, Heinrich Applebaum, who holds the Chair of Jurisprudence at the Watergate Technical Institute of Perjury.

"PROFESSOR, who is right in the constitutional dispute between Sen. Ervin and John Ehrlichman?"

"They're both right, and they're both wrong."

"What kind of answer is that?"

"Well, Ehrlichman is right in saying the President of the United States has the duty and obligation to break into anybody's psychiatrist office that he wants to. But he's wrong in saying that White House aides could do it for the President."

"DO YOU mean if the President

wanted Ellsberg's psychiatric records, he had to break into the office himself?"

"Now," had President Nixon borrowed a wig and a camera and tools from the CIA and gone to Dr. Fielding's Beverly Hills office, broken into the files and retrieved the Ellsberg records, he would be acting within the law. But the fact that the President turned over the mission to two White House plumbers was his undoing. As a lawyer he should have known that."

"JOHN EHRLICHMAN's lawyer, John Wilson, has argued that the President has a vast reservoir of power given to him by Congress which makes it possible for the President to commit what would otherwise be an unlawful act for national security," I said. "Do you agree with this?"

"Ehrlichman's lawyer has so well pointed out, the courts have never ruled that he couldn't do it."

"THEN IF I hear you right, Dr. Applebaum, Nixon's only error in the Ellsberg affair is that he did not burglarize the office himself."

"That's the only constitutional issue they've got him on. In fairness to Nixon though, any President could have made the same mistake."

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been trying for several months to lose weight and so far have been very unsuccessful. I really don't understand why I am not losing weight because I exercise every day, once in the morning and again in the evening. I usually eat a small breakfast and lunch and a moderate supper and my calorie count for a day averages 1,200 or less. What could be wrong? — K.H.

If I were a little bird and could sit on your shoulder all day long, maybe the answers to your question would be obvious. Maybe.

But since I'm not sitting on your shoulder, the best I can do is suggest some of the pitfalls that prevent people from losing weight when they think they should.

First, you say you exercise "once in the morning and again in the evening." But for how long? Doing what? How strenuously? Don't you get any exercise the rest of the time? How much do you walk in a day? And how do you walk?

A brisk walk uses up more calories than the same time just strolling along.

It takes a good deal of exercise to burn up any substantial number of calories. The fact is that a good many overweight people expect too much from too little exercise.

Second, I've found that a great many folks who say they are on a diet of 1,200 calories (or whatever figure they cite) are eating more calories than they think. They'll figure "one small portion" of something at so many calories — but what they eat is a large portion and what they count is a small one. You may even have to start weighing some of your portions to get a good idea of how big they really are.

Third, they forget about odds and ends that count up disastrously — they count the calories of "one slice of bread" but forget to count what they spread on the bread — which can double the calories. Or worse.

They forget that liquids may (or may not) be high in calories, and it's up to them to know which are which.

They sometimes don't realize what fried foods do, and instead of eating "a small potato" (allowable) they eat the same volume of french fries at four times the calories.

If you'll read my booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," you'll discover a lot of these pitfalls which ruin the efforts of people who sincerely want to reduce. If you'd like the booklet, send 35 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is your opinion of megavitamins? I hear they are good for almost everything including asthma about which I am most concerned. — R.G.A.

I take a dim view of any nostrum that is supposed to be "good for almost everything." Large doses of vitamin A, and D may be harmful. Large doses of others are wasted because they are eliminated in the urine or stool.

They forget that liquids may

$1 Billion Refineries Expansion

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Twelve companies have committed more than $1 billion to expansion of U.S. oil refining capacity, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

The commitments have followed President Nixon's energy policy statement of April 18. The 12 companies plan to add 1.13 million barrels daily in refining capacity at 16 plants, the trade magazine reported.

It will be 1976 before the new refining capacity can provide much relief from seasonal shortages of gasoline and fuel oil because of time required for construction.

"Beginning in 1976, supply should be in better balance with demand-providing the U.S. is able to bolster domestic crude supply and import the fast-growing volumes required for foreign sources," the Journal said.

The magazine said 10 other companies are in various stages of construction studies or proposals involving another $51,000 to 901,000 barrels per day of refining capacity in new and existing plants.

The Exxon Co. plans the biggest expansion, a $400 million outlay at two Gulf Coast plants and one in New Jersey. Bulk of the work is scheduled at Baytown, Tex., where a jump to 600,000 barrels per day in capacity will make the plant the world's second largest.

BS Cheerleaders Gain Laurels

Big Spring High cheerleaders returned Friday from a six-day cheerleader school in Commerce with three superior ribbons and two excellent ribbons for their performance in competition.

The cheerleader squad, composed of Micky Fletcher, Nadine Teague, Kendra DeWees, Leslie Harris and Nancy Conway, also brought home a spirit stick for being rated one of the top 10 squads in competition.

Some 200 delegates from Texas high schools attended the school. They stayed on the campus of East Texas State University.

Soul Singer Hurt In Crash

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Blind soul singer Stevie Wonder is in satisfactory condition after being injured in a highway accident, Baptist Hospital said today.

Wonder, 23, was hurt when a car driven by John Harris, 24, of New York City collided with a logging truck Monday near Salisbury. Harris was listed in good condition.

Wonder and Harris were taken to Rowan Memorial Hospital in Salisbury after the wreck. Wonder later was transferred to the larger Baptist Hospital. Authorities said Wonder suffered head injuries.

Wonder, a native of Saginaw, Mich., is regarded as one of the country's most popular soul singers. He has had 13 gold records.

Shots Required Of All Pupils

Immunizations required for students entering school this fall are being offered free to anyone each Tuesday from 8-11 a.m. and 1-4 p.m. at the city-county health unit, 201 Lancaster.

Students entering school throughout Texas are required to have completed a three-shot DPT (diphtheria-pertussis-tetanus) series, a three-time polio oral vaccine series and one-time shots for rubella and measles.

Given a reprieve at the opening gun, declarer used what knowledge he gained from the auction to land a four spade game that seemed doomed to defeat.

West's preemptive opening bid was passed round to South, who balanced with three spades. North realized that his partner might be bidding under pressure, but he felt that his fine trump support and general values merited a raise to game.

In an effort to obtain a quick ruff, West attacked with the ace of diamonds. For safety reasons, East decided to encourage with the nine—if South held the ten of clubs, a shift to that suit might prove fatal for the defense. West duly continued with a diamond to the ten and jack, declarer ruffing, and it seemed there was nothing declarer could do about his two potential club losers.

It was obvious that West could not hold the king of clubs. He had opened with a preemptive bid and had shown up with the ace of diamonds. As he probably held the king-queen of hearts, he could not hold another high card. Apparently, declarer would still have to lose two clubs and a heart. The only way to avert this would be to endplay East.

Trumps were drawn in two rounds and the ace of hearts was cashed to strip East of that suit. His preliminary work done, declarer led the queen of diamonds from dummy. East covered with the king and declarer discarded a club—a loser-on-loser play.

East found himself with a diamond trick he did not expect to make, but he was not especially pleased with this Greek gift—he was caught in an endplay. If he returned a club, it would run around to dummy's queen and declarer's only losers would be two diamonds and a heart; if he led a diamond, declarer would get a ruff-and-sluff.

South gave up a trick he didn't need to lose and got back two in return—a bargain at any price.

Tips for using electricity efficiently:

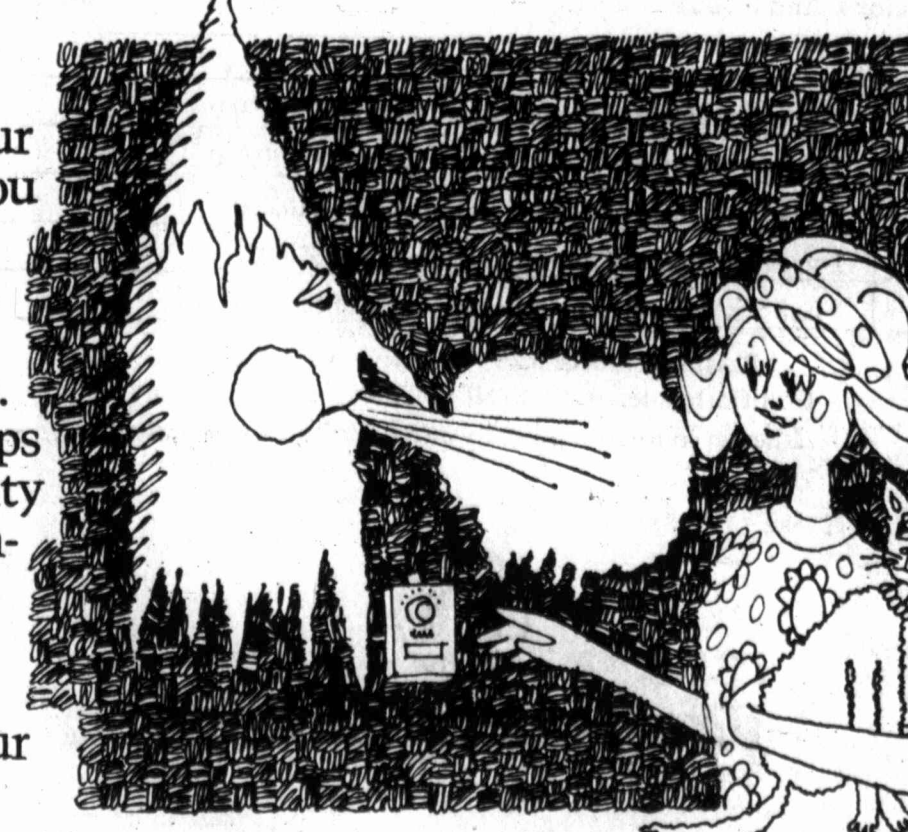

Resist the temptation to set your thermostat lower than you need to.

Air conditioning engineers recommend that thermostats be set at 76 to 78 degrees for comfort and economy. Every degree below this requires units to work harder and use more electricity. However, if you plan to be away all day, you can economize by raising the setting five degrees. Turn off the unit when you go on vacation, unless there are items that might be damaged by the heat. If so, leave the unit on, but raise the setting at least five degrees.

Here are some other things you can do to keep your costs as low as possible:
Enjoy cleaner air and lower costs by keeping the filters clean. A dirty filter causes the unit to work harder. Check them at least once a month. If it's a permanent-type filter, clean it according to the manufacturer's directions. Disposable filters should be replaced at least every 90 days, or earlier if necessary.

Also, keep out direct sunlight with awnings, blinds or draperies. Weather-strip doors and windows, and properly insulate walls and ceilings. Be sure the fireplace damper is closed. And, when possible, bathe, cook and do the laundry during cooler parts of the day to prevent heat buildup.

It's our job at Texas Electric to help you get the most value from your electric service. When you have questions about electric air conditioning, or any other use of electricity, please call us. For our free booklet, "Tips to help you use electricity more efficiently throughout your home," call or come by our office, or request one on the comment portion of your electric service bill.

Horse Fever Fears Voiced

KOUNTZE, Tex. (AP) — Dr. H. A. Hooks told members of the Hardin County commissioners court Monday he worked constantly over the weekend to coordinate efforts of massive spraying of mosquitoes to combat a potential outbreak of equine encephalitis.

Hooks, of the Hardin County Health Department, said local officials were consulting with the Texas Health Department on the situation.

Hardin County commissioners sent to Austin Monday some blood samples from a dead horse. If the horse was killed by encephalitis, the state would resort to aerial spraying, Hooks said.

A Luberton man hospitalized last week was removed from intensive care at a Beaumont hospital. He was a horse fever suspect.

Recession In 1974 Hinted

NEW YORK (AP) — While 1973 has been a boom year so far, a number of leading economists believe business is in the early stage of a slowdown that could accelerate into recession proportions by mid-1974.

Most of the economists interviewed by The Associated Press expected the slowdown would continue and probably worsen next year, but few made an outright prediction of recession. When they did, they said it would be moderate and not necessarily bad for the country or consumers.

UNEMPLOYMENT

The economists were in general agreement on three other major economic questions.

They predicted: —The inflation rate would continue to rise, but not as sharply as this year.

—Unemployment would increase slightly to 5 or 5½ per cent.

—A credit crunch on the order of 1969-70 was unlikely, although interest rates would remain steep.

When a slowdown becomes a recession can be a semantic problem. The National Bureau of Economic Research defines a recession as two or more consecutive quarters of decline in the "real" Gross National Product — GNP — discounted for price increases.

Many economists are now talking in terms of a 1974 "growth recession," in which real GNP continues to expand but at less than its customary minimum level of 4½ per cent.

SKY HIGH

One economist who believes an actual recession is inevitable and the only question is when it will occur is Milton Friedman of the University of Chicago.

A monetarist who links growth of the money supply to rising prices, Friedman sees recession as good for the national interest. He says it would "correct" prices that have been driven sky high by the country's insatiable demand for goods and services.

It all depends on the policies of the Federal Reserve Board, which acts as the nation's money manager, according to Friedman. If the Fed tightens the country's money supply it would increase the likelihood of a recession in 1974, but if the Fed allows money to expand at the level of the first six months of this year that prospect would be delayed.

HANGOVER

"You can only go on a drinking bout for so long," says Friedman. "Sooner or later you're going to have a hangover."

The map is fashioned out of embroidery floss mounted on cardboard, each country bearing a different color. Troop 5 will embark Wednesday on its return trip, reaching here Saturday.

Standards Are Hoisted For Meals At Forsan

Economic eligibility standards for free and reduced price school lunches have been raised by Forsan County Line school district by 25 and 50 per cent respectively.

Application forms and copies of the eligibility guidelines will be given to school children in grades one through five on the first day of school, Aug. 21. High school students will receive copies on pre-registration day Aug. 17.

Children from families whose income is at or below the levels shown on the chart are eligible for free or half-price meals. Regular school lunches cost 40 cents.

A co-driver of the truck, Herless Burton, 33, Richardson, Tex., was described as in fair condition.

STOCKING UP ON MEAT 'Like Kids Going After Cookies'

By The Associated Press

Shoppers in scattered parts of the nation are reported to be stocking up on meat in fear of higher prices or a serious shortage. They're "like kids going after cookies," one grocer observed.

A survey indicates higher prices of some meat products, occasional rationing of beef and industry predictions of more problems to come.

FREEZE

A number of bulk purchasers, including New York City and several Navy installations, reported they had run out of beef.

In San Francisco, a federal judge refused on Monday to order the Cost of Living Council to lift the freeze on beef prices.

U.S. District Court Judge Robert F. Peckham turned down a preliminary injunction request from the Pacific Meat Jobbers Association, which represents 80 wholesalers and packers of beef products.

In Washington, Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz said again that the freeze will remain in effect until Sept. 12.

On the retail level, grocers reported some shortages and expressed fear the worst was still to come. There was only scattered rationing by stores, however.

TJUANA MEAT

The manager of a supermarket near Spokane, Wash., said he was limiting purchases of ground beef, pot roasts and chicken but not steak. "We wouldn't have this problem if the customers would ration themselves," Bill Scalise said. "We can't watch them all the time. When I go out and come back, there's no meat in the case."

U.S. citizens are also buying foreign beef. Customs inspectors in California report large numbers of Americans returning from Tijuana, Mexico, with meat purchases. Butcher shops in Tijuana report selling meat to Americans as fast as they get it from the slaughterhouse. Customs officials Albany, N.Y., also reported an increase in Americans returning with Canadian meat.

New York City has run out of beef for prisoners, hospital patients and day-care children. In Quonset Point, R.I., the naval officer who purchases food for commissaries in New England said he has been unable to buy meat for the 80,000 to 100,000 patrons in Rhode Island, Connecticut, Massachusetts and New York.

LOT OF BEEF

The shortage has been attributed in part to the unwillingness of farmers to send their cattle to market during the freeze. "There's a lot of beef that's not getting to the market. It's out in the pasture," Culberston said.

Heavy Rain In Panhandle

By The Associated Press

Moderate to heavy thunderstorms dumped heavy rain in parts of the Texas Panhandle along with occasional hail during the night, gradually dwindling into scattered showers by this morning.

There also were occasional showers again along the Texas Coast and into the Gulf of Mexico.

Skies were clear to only partly cloudy in other sections of the state, and it was rather humid in most areas as a weak ridge of high pressure sent warm and damp air flowing inland.

Forecasts called for little change.

Temperatures near daybreak ranged from 79 degrees at Pinaloc on the coast down to 67 at Dalhart in the Panhandle. Monday's top marks went as high as 98 at Wink in West Texas, and Galveston was the coolest spot with a maximum of 83.

'Back To School' Fashions Shown By Webb Children

One could almost hear school bells ringing at the August Officers Wives Club luncheon at Webb Air Force Base when children of members modeled "Back to School" clothes Thursday.

Showing what well-dressed youngsters will be wearing to class later this month were Adelle Clements, Katharine Clements, Shannon Miller, Peyton, Miller, Kimberly Bridewell, Ken Filzen, Phillip Adams, Tricia Sparks, Michelle Moore, Melaine Leonard, Chris Hoshour and Jeffrey Russell.

Fashions were from The Kid Shop, and Mrs. Brenda Ellis served as narrator as the young models showed additions to their fall wardrobes. The children's clothing, looking like miniature replicas of adult fashions for fall, featured pantsuits, jumpers, smocks and coordinated separates, mostly of polyester and cotton blends.

The wives of Class 74-03 were hostesses, with Mrs. Diana Kamback serving as general chairman. Other chairmen were Mrs. Cheryl Lake, menu; Mrs. Sarah Jubela, decorations; Mrs. Zayda Stephens, treasurer; Mrs. Bernita Orcutt, publicity; and Mrs. Stacy Stofor, Mrs. Jane Hendricks and Mrs. Sally Roberts, door prizes and programs.

Dining tables were decorated with old-fashioned ink bottles holding straw flowers, and the head table was centered with a dried arrangement in shades of orange, brown and gold.

Mrs. Clayton Cole, first vice president, was the presiding officer, and the invocation was by Mrs. James Ellwell.

Introduced at the head table were Mrs. Stanley M.

KEN FILZEN

Umstead, wife of the wing commander; Mrs. Robert G. Liotta, wife of the base commander; and Mrs. Whitcomb Jones, wife of the deputy commander for logistics.

Guests introduced were Mrs. Signora Kamback, Mrs. Teresa Kamback, Mrs. D. W. Finch; Mrs. Richard Atkins, Ms. Cindy Eickman, Ms. Celia Sudderth, Mrs. Un Soon Lee, Ms. Cleo Schild and Mrs. Jo Bright.

Mrs. Robert Craig, third vice president, announced details of a contest in which the winner will receive a one-way airline ticket to any city in the continental United States.

In other announcements, it was noted that workers

Attendants' Luncheon Saturday

Bridesmaids participating in Saturday's wedding of Miss Susan Cape to Clark Woodruff were honored at noon that day with a luncheon hosted by Mrs. Paul Meeks and Mrs. Adrian Randle.

The luncheon, held in the Meeks home at 2801 Crestline, featured a pink theme, and the bride was attired in a pink crepe dress with full sleeves and pleated skirt. Corsages of hot pink baby carnations were presented to the bride and her mother, Mrs. James Cape.

Attendants were Mrs. Lonnie Ivie, Fort Worth; Miss Amy Cape, Miss Ellen Gossett and Miss Paula Norris, the latter of Brownwood. Other honor guests were the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Clark E. Woodruff, Amarillo; the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Hazel Davis of Argyle and her great-aunt, Mrs. Robert Wade of Denver, Colo.

The tables were covered with white damask cloths and centered with silver bowls arranged with hot pink miniature carnations and babies'-breath.

Coahoma Club Has Breakfast

The Coahoma Past Matrons Club held its monthly breakfast Saturday in the First Methodist Church, Coahoma, with Mrs. Fred Beckham, Big Spring, and Mrs. Edith Jackson, O'Donnell, as hostesses.

Mrs. Fred Adams presided, and Mrs. Bert Shive gave the invocation. During a brief business session, club finances and dues were discussed.

The register and serving tables were decorated in fall colors of rust, yellow and green with matching place cards and napkins. Members of Wesleyan Service Guild served.

Due to the Labor Day holiday, the next meeting will be Sept. 8, at 9 a.m. in the church. Mrs. Shive and Mrs. C. J. Engle will be hostesses.

Officers Wives Club bridge will be played Aug. 16 and Aug. 30 at 9:30 a.m. Reservations should be made with Mrs. Lee Miller, sports and games chairman, 267-5708. There will be an organizational meeting for an OWC bowling league at 1 p.m., Aug. 22 in the Officer's Club. Persons who would like to bowl in the league, but cannot attend the meeting, should call Mrs. Warren Hodges prior to the meeting.

Gift certificate winners at the luncheon were Mrs. Donna Weidenbusch and Mrs. Beth Klatt. Mrs. Katie Acquaro won the centerpiece.

Mrs. G. Harrell Shower Honoree

Mrs. Glynn Harrell was honored Thursday evening at a baby shower in the home of Mrs. Richard Belew, 433 Dallas.

The honoree was presented a corsage of yellow carnations highlighted with a baby rattle and ribbons. The refreshment table was covered with a print cloth and accented with summer flowers and stork figurines.

Guests called between 7 and 8:30 p.m., and each guest received as a favor, a small doll trimmed with net and ribbons. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Danny Kenenur, Mrs. Curtis Wells, Miss Janie Hale and Miss Ethel Jackson.

'Family Life Is Dead' Teachers Are Told

"The American family is dead; on our return from the cemetery, let us examine the heir," said M. Arthur Neiman, guest speaker at a recent state in-service conference in Houston for homemaking teachers. Neiman is vice president of Scholastic Magazines.

"Fifty per cent of our wives and mothers are currently working outside the home," continued Neiman. "This figure will increase to 75 per cent during the next 10 years. We will move to a more democratic family in which all members share domestic tasks."

Neiman said homemaking teachers across the nation must open their classes to young men as well as young

Wedding Ceremony Performed In Plano

Miss Debra Kay Low became the bride of Keith Wilbanks during a candlelight ceremony at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Life Style Club House, Plano.

The Rev. James Palmer, pastor of First United Methodist Church, Plano, performed the rites as the couple stood before an improvised altar at the club house fireplace. Spiral candelabra flanked the fireplace, and arrangements of assorted summer flowers accented the mantle.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Low and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Wilbanks, all of Plano. The Lows are formerly of Big Spring.

The bride wore a formal-length gown fashioned in polyester dotted Swiss. The empire bodice featured a squared neckline, edged with lace, and full, lace-edged half sleeves. Bands of lace highlighted the skirt, and her shoulder-length illusion veil was held with a band of lace petals. She carried a bouquet of white daisies, carnations and babies'-breath.

Mrs. Kris Myers served as maid of honor, and Miss Terri Low, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. The attendants wore floor-length gowns of pink dotted Swiss with empire lines.

Paul Adams served as best man, and the bride's brother, Jody Low, was ring bearer. Altar tapers were lit by Miss Dana Rosser.

Following a trip to the Gulf Coast, the newlyweds will reside in the Plano Life Style Apartments. Mr. and

MRS. KEITH WILBANKS

Mrs. Wilbanks are both graduates of Plano High School.

A reception was held in the club room following the ceremony. The serving table was covered with a white

Pink, Blue Party Held Thursday

A pink and blue shower honored Mrs. Glen Wakefield Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Claud Fryar, 1500 Johnson. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Curtis Blake, Miss Rhonda Newton and Mrs. Duane Murphree.

The Raggedy Ann doll theme was used in decorations, and the serving table was accented with a cake shaped like the doll. A matching figurine centered the table.

Mrs. Wakefield was presented a corsage made of baby socks and rattles.

satin cloth and centered with an arrangement of daisies. A traditional tiered cake accented the table, and appointments were of crystal and silver.

Refreshments were served by Miss Karen Wilbanks, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Paula Langston.

Guests attending from Big Spring and area were Mr. and Mrs. Ike Low, Stanton, Mrs. Jack Touchstone, Mrs. Don Statham and Mrs. Roger Park, all of Big Spring.

Is He Chump?
Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 55-year-old man whose wife died three years ago. I am going with a 51-year-old widow. She is a high class, attractive woman whose husband left her as well off financially as I am. (Maybe better.) I am not the only man she goes with, and I see other women, but we both see more of each other because we seem to enjoy each other's company more. (Yes, it is a "love" affair, too.)

This woman is always suggesting that I buy her expensive presents. I never figured her for a gold digger, mainly because she can buy anything she wants, but she insists that I buy her things. I haven't bought her anything yet, but I am on the verge.

She's never bought me anything, but then, why should she? Part of me says, "Buy her something to please her," but part of me says, "Why should you? Don't be a chump." What do you say?

NOT TIGHT—JUST CAREFUL
DEAR NOT: "Why should you? Don't be a chump." (P.S. If she's no gold digger, she shouldn't act like one.)

DEAR ABBY: This is just like waking up in the middle of a nightmare! We have been married for two years and are now in the process of moving. Yesterday I found nine handwritten "thank you" notes I had written for wedding gifts received shortly after we were married. They had fallen behind a desk drawer. I feel two inches high, knowing that these people have never been thanked for their wedding presents. They are probably wondering what kind of manners I have. Or do you think they have forgotten about it by now?

What should I do?
MORTIFIED
DEAR MORTIFIED: It's a hundred to one they have not forgotten. Better late than never. Send the original "thank you" note,

Texas Stars' Debut Nears

WACO — The Texas League All-Stars of Big Spring make their first appearance in the Texas Little League Baseball Tournament here today, meeting Berger Northern in a first round match at 8 p.m.

David Montanez, whose baffling curve has led him to a 15-0 record and seven no-hitters this season, is scheduled to be on the mound for the opener. If the Texas Leaguers win tonight they'll advance to the quarterfinals for the 16-team event and an 8 p.m. tilt Wednesday night. A loss would send the Big Spring group into the consolation bracket, with the next game set for 10 a.m. Wednesday.

The TL squad has been strong in gaining the state meet, scoring 46 runs in four victories to six for the opposition. Montanez has hurled three of the triumphs, including two shutouts and one no-hitter, and Freddie Martinez got the other decision.

"This is the best-hitting club I've ever seen," says TL Manager Jessie Zapata. "There's not one weak bat in the whole starting lineup. They can all hunt and they can all hit the long ball." First baseman Willie Ray Miles has been the master of the long ball so far, with two home runs to his credit in the four wins.

Joining Montanez and Miles in the starting lineup will be catcher Ysa Rubio, second baseman Tony Rubio, third baseman James Magers, shortstop Martinez, and outfielders Allen Cramer, Johnny Hernandez and Robert Lara.

Winner of the state tournament will advance to the Southern Regionals in St. Petersburg immediately after the finals Friday night. From there, the champion goes directly to the Little League World Series in Williamsport, Pa.

"This is the first trip ever to the state meet for a Texas League squad. Big Spring has never had a LL state champion."

Colts The Mystery Team In Pro Ball

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colts, two years removed from a Super Bowl championship, are clearly the question mark team of the upcoming National Football League season.

Many observers feel that the bold moves by Joe Thomas during his 13 months as general manager will pay off much sooner than if he had approached the rebuilding problems piecemeal.

Since an aging squad posted a 5-9 record last year, Baltimore's first losing season since 1956, Thomas has made 17 trades. Twelve veterans, including such household names as Johnny Unitas, Tom Matte and Bubba Smith, have been dealt off and another retired.

With the opening day 40-man roster likely to include about a dozen rookies and 10 second-year players, inexperience and transition difficulties stand out.

But Howard Schnellenberger, in his rookie season as head coach after seven years as an assistant to the 1973 Super Bowl adversaries—Don Shula and George Allen—is not easily deterred.

"Whether it's realistic or not," Schnellenberger said, "our objective is to somehow, somehow, scratch to win enough games to qualify for the playoffs."

He concedes, however, that cohesion may be lacking in the two departments which need it most—the offensive line and the defensive secondary—and that more experience is needed on the defensive line.

Conversely, he is more than satisfied with quarterbacks Marty Domres and rookie Bert Jones, tight end Ray Chester, running backs Don McCauley, Lydell Mitchell and Don Nottingham, and the linebacking crew of Mike Curtis, Ray May and Ted Hendricks.

NCAA Votes Separation

CHICAGO (AP) — Major college football powers now can run their own legislative show under an historic three-division split of the National Collegiate Athletic Association membership.

At the first special convention in its 67-year history, the NCAA voted overwhelmingly Monday to establish three autonomous divisions for its almost 700 members.

That junked the NCAA's traditional big school-vs.-small school convention lineup in which the smaller colleges dictated over-all operational policies by almost a 2-10 ratio.

As of last Jan. 1, the breakdown was 243 major schools and 451 in the college division and the small schools often overrode the big schools on prime issues such as recruiting, financial aid, and academic standards.

Now, there will be about 245 big schools in Division I, 200 colleges in Division II and 225 even smaller schools in Division III, each normally calling their own legislative shots.

WIDOW ACCEPTS AWARD — Mrs. Roberto Clemente thanks the crowd Monday at the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y., after her husband, a former Pittsburgh Pirate, was placed in the Hall posthumously. Clemente was one of five inducted during the ceremonies.

Spahn Survives Tense Moments During Induction

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Warren Spahn always was tough in the clutch.

Just after he began his acceptance speech during induction ceremonies for baseball's Hall of Fame Monday, his brother-in-law, Les Curran of Buffalo, N.Y., collapsed.

Spahn stopped his speech and moved into the crowd as doctors administered to the stricken man.

Although shaken by the incident, the winningest left-handed pitcher in history resumed his talk as the ambulance, siren blaring, took Curran to the hospital.

He was reported in satisfactory condition after suffering from exhaustion.

Spahn, 52, praised his father, Edward, who was present. "He taught me how to pitch," said the former Boston and Milwaukee Braves' star who ranks No. 5 on the all-time winning list with 363.

One of the game's toughest competitors, Spahn, now a coach with the Cleveland Indians, probably would have been elected two years earlier to the Hall if he didn't pitch briefly in the minors after winding up his big league career in 1965.

Spahn was elected in his first try by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

The late Roberto Clemente also was elected by the writers after the five-year waiting period was waived. His widow, Vera, accepted the replica of the Hall of Fame plaque.

Yankees Lose Battle For AL East Position

By The Associated Press

After eight innings Monday night, the New York Yankees looked like a first-place team.

Unfortunately, the Yankees' game against the Detroit Tigers lasted 10 innings—and by the time it was over, the Yankees were fourth in the wild American League East, and Detroit was on top of the heap.

First a two-run pinch-homer by husky Frank Howard with two out in the bottom of the ninth capped a three-run rally that erased New York's 4-1 lead and sent the game into extra innings.

Then Aurelio Rodriguez scored all the way from first with the winning run in the 10th inning—thanks to a pair of Yankee throwing errors and a missed play at the plate.

Meanwhile, the Baltimore Orioles, who had been first in the AL East before Monday's play, lost a 5-3 decision to the Boston Red Sox. That dropped Baltimore to second place, one-half game back of Detroit. Boston and New York are each one game out, although the Red Sox are one percentage point ahead of the Yankees.

The Orioles were knocked out of first place by unbuttoned, 23-year-old lefthander Roger Moret, who posted his fifth victory of the season with relief help from Bob Bolin.

The Cleveland Indians beat the Chicago White Sox 7-3 in the only other American League game.

In National League action, the New York Mets beat the St. Louis Cardinals 10-3, the Houston Astros edged the Cincinnati Reds 5-4, the Montreal Expos topped the Chicago Cubs 7-3

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

Jessie Zapata is a confident soul today as his Texas League All-Stars move into the State Little League Tournament in Waco.

The TL manager says his bunch is the best-hitting team he's seen in his relatively short career with the Little Leaguers, and that's pretty potent stuff. However, if something should happen to the Big Spring bats, it's no cause for alarm. There are other ways to win games.

"If we can't beat them by hitting them, we'll bunt on them. Or we'll do something else," Zapata says. "If things aren't going right for us we test a team and try to find out where its weakness is. And when we find it, we pick at it and keep picking at it."

That's what the Texas Leaguers did to Lamesa in the first round of their district meet here three weeks ago, finding the ball time after time when they discovered that was the best way to get on base. And the way they scoot around the diamond, that was all it took. They won, 4-0.

And in the second round, Zapata and Coach Fred Jara saw that the shortstop of a Midland team had trouble fielding balls to his right, no matter how hard, so that's the direction his started flying. Another team's vulnerable place was behind the infield, because of the position the shortstop and second baseman were in. Etc., etc.

"I'll say this," Zapata offered. "I think we've got the best chance a Big Spring team has ever had to win state. It's a well-balanced team, the kids know how to run the bases, they can hit the ball and they're not afraid to challenge a pitcher."

Talented David Montanez, with a perfect 15-0 record and seven no-hitters to his credit this year, will be on the mound tonight when the Big Springers take on Berger in an 8 p.m. battle, and that alone makes the locals a pretty good choice.

It's not like you might think. The world hasn't come to a complete end for the Big Spring Cardinals. Despite Sunday's 5-0 loss to the Tiger Cubs in the opener of a double-header at Steer Park, the Cards still consider themselves No. 1 in this area among semi-pro baseball teams. And rightfully so, with a record of 21-1.

The team seemed to take the loss well enough. "I'm glad it was them and not somebody else," Billy Pineda said of the Cubs. "They deserved it. They work hard." The Cardinals proved something to themselves after the initial loss, however, as they came back and swept the nightcap 10-1. "We just got together after that first game and talked about it," Pineda said. "We told ourselves 'We came out here to play ball, so let's do it right.'"

The Cardinals have a 2-1 edge over the Cubs this season, and it's possible the two teams could meet twice more this year. Both are entered in the Odessa tourney this weekend, and the following week the James Duncan Invitational will be played here with the two teams hosting that one. Could be an interesting rematch.

His young lasses didn't win it all, but Bill Davey's Miss Softball America Major League All-Stars didn't come home from last week's state meet in Abilene empty-handed. They won the Sportsman Trophy, after losing in the semifinals. Casa View scored five runs in the last inning and nudged the Big Springers 8-8.

But what really hurt Davey was that Midland dounced Casa View 23-1 in the finals, and strange as it may sound, the manager thought Midland had just the type team his girls would like to pound on. "I really think we could have beaten them and won the whole thing," Davey said.

Memberships to the Big Spring Quarterback Club — $5 a whack — are being mailed out these days, and by the time the leaders of the group get through, they'll have sent out around 500. Hopefully, all will trade five bucks for the little piece of paper and the club can buy a set of solid gold posts or something.

QB Club co-captain Harold Canning says not to panic if you didn't get a notice. All you have to do is to get in touch with him or one of the other co-captains, Byron Smith or Wilma Grice, and all will be taken care of.

Netters Like Davis Format

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Despite being involved in sets that lasted 76 and 52 games, members of the United States Davis Cup tennis team are against use of the tie-breaker in Cup play.

"I don't think we need to change the format," said Dennis Ralston, non-playing captain of the U.S. team. "The Davis Cup is a test of ability, endurance and conditioning."

The U.S. team displayed all three qualities in routing Chile in the American Zone finals that ended Monday.

The Americans wrapped up the competition when Stan Smith and Erik Van Dillen, behind by two sets at one time, won three straight sets from Jaime Filloil and Pat Cornejo to give the United States an insurmountable 3-0 lead. Chile won the first two sets 9-7 and 39-37—the longest set in Cup history—but Smith and Van Dillen won the last three sets, 8-6, 6-1, 6-3.

Local Seniors In State Action

SWEETWATER — Big Spring kicked off its quest for the State Senior League crown today with a 4 p.m. tilt against Waco in opening action of the double elimination meet.

Earl Reynolds was scheduled to pitch the game for the locals, who earned the berth by eliminating Midland in bi-district play.

Other first round action today sends San Angelo against Dallas, Haskell meets Houston and Sweetwater takes on Victoria. Four more games are set for Wednesday.

Other starters for the Big Spring Quality Volkswagen team include infielders John Thomas Smith, Gregg Crawford, Willie Williams and Troy Kerby and outfielders Jerry Knoepfel, John Knoepfel and Fernie Parediz. Bruce Felts is the catcher.

BSGA Tourney Date Postponed

The Big Spring Golf Association City Championship has been postponed from this weekend until Aug. 16, according to Municipal Course Pro Charles Brantley.

Entry fee for the match-play event has also been raised to $10, as $170 in golf merchandise will be awarded the top three finishers in each flight. First place will receive $80 in merchandise, second place gets $30 certificate.

Golfers have three days to complete their matches in each round.

49ers Tough At Goal Line

CLEVELAND (AP) — San Francisco 49ers' Coach Dick Nolan has been drilling his squad in defensive goal line lands and Monday night in Cleveland Stadium it paid off.

The 49ers stopped the Cleveland Browns twice with second down and goal situations and defeated the Browns 27-16 in a National Football League exhibition game.

"We're looking for improvement on the goal line," Nolan said. "We've been working hard and well and put forth a lot of effort."

Forty-nine middle linebacker Frank Nunley threw veteran Browns running back Leroy Kelly for a two-yard loss in one of those stands.

"We weren't doing anything really fancy," Nunley said. "The first time they ran the weak side and cornerback Bruce Taylor closed it up."

"We were just doing basic things. We have several variations of the goal line we haven't put in yet."

On both goal line stands the Browns were forced to settle for field goals.

The 49ers also capitalized on three Browns' fumbles.

Forsan Athletes Take Physicals

FORSAN — All male athletes in the Forsan schools, from the seventh grade up, are being urged to report to the Big Spring High School gymnasium at 1 p.m., Thursday for their annual physicals. All coaches in the system will also be on hand, according to head coach Jack Woodley.

Tohill Returns With Chuckle As TCU Begins Grid Work

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Billy Tohill got down to business Monday and the first item on the agenda was all this talk about Texas Christian finishing last in the Southwest Conference football race this fall.

"We laughed a little at the predictions," said Tohill, who survived a near-fatal automobile accident in the spring. "I'm not going to finish last. In fact, I think we're going to shock and surprise a lot of people."

Tohill held his first full scale meeting with defensive coordinator Frank Young and offensive coordinator Russell Coffee.

"We had so many little things to catch up on," Tohill said. "On Tuesday, we'll have a full staff meeting."

Tohill, who lost a foot in the accident, walked on crutches but had surprising pep during the long day.

"I was up at 7 a.m. to go through some physical therapy and then went to the orthopedic doctor," Tohill said.

When he arrived at his TCU office, a ladies football clinic was underway. He helped out on that then started the meeting.

"I can walk pretty good but I still don't have all my balance," Tohill said. "I've got to watch it and not drag a foot because if I do I'll fall and bust my fanny."

Tohill said "My endurance is coming long. I stay up a long time. I should be able to chuck these crutches fairly quick and go to a cane. Man, it's getting to the time of the year where I can't be tired."

He said "Dadgum it's good to get back into thinking football. I'm tickled to be back at work."

Tohill said he is so tired at night that "I usually drop off to sleep by 9 o'clock. I've been sleeping good."

He was wracked with the pain in the weeks after the accident in which his automobile struck a bridge abutment. A good night's sleep was a rarity.

"I think we should have things organized pretty well by the time we have our first game (Sept. 22 against Texas-Arlington)," Tohill said. "I'll use a golf cart to get around during our practices but I think I should be in good shape to move on my artificial limb along the sidelines by the time of our opener."

Tohill's immediate plans include extensive film studying and a golf cart to Colonial Country Club to Watch the other Southwest Conference coaches play golf Thursday.

"I'll kinda drive around and hurrah 'em," said Tohill, a low 80s shooter until his accident.

There's one thing Tohill still isn't going to drive awhile and that's a car.

"I don't want to rush that," he laughed.

Great Thoroughbreds battle this weekend in the $35,000 RIO GRANDE FUTURITY

Come see the flashing speed of top Thoroughbreds and Quarter Horses this weekend in the cool pens of Ruidoso Downs. Saturday, magnificent Thoroughbreds rood through four furlongs as they battle in the $4,500-added RUIDOSO SPEED HANDICAP. Then on Sunday, the finest two-year-old New Mexico-bred Thoroughbreds blaze over six furlongs in the $35,000 (est.) RIO GRANDE FUTURITY.

Make this your weekend to come to Ruidoso Downs. It's just a short drive into beautiful Southern New Mexico where you'll find great racing action... and no gasoline shortage.

Hospital Taxi Offer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Because the family car is so often tied up taking the breadwinner to work, a hospital here says it is offering a free pick-up service to some emergency patients on a trial basis.

The taxi service for Lutheran General Hospital, a 200-bed facility, began Monday operating for 90 days on a 7-day, 50-hour week.

"Many hospitals don't have a need," a Lutheran spokesman said of the service. "Many of our patients are in a sort of ghetto area here."

He said some checking by the hospital leads officials to believe the service may be the only one of its kind by the city's hospitals.

Upon orders of a doctor, the hospital will pick up ambulatory patients at home or wherever they are and bring them to the hospital. If the doctor wishes, the patient will be taken to his office.

A spokesman said the taxi will even deliver the patient to another area hospital, if the doctor wishes, since another hospital may have specified testing equipment unavailable at Lutheran General.

MISHAPS

Sonic Drive-In: Martha Stone, Ackerly, and Elizabeth Reed, 2410 E. 24th.

An accident five miles south of Ackerly at 4:38 p.m. Monday sent Maxine Roper to Medical Memorial Hospital where she was in good condition this morning with minor cuts and bruises.

Scholarship Is Started Here

Big Spring Kiwanis Club directors voted Monday evening to establish a scholarship fund at Howard County Junior College for former Key Club members who have completed high school work.

Young men who meet this qualification are invited to inquire to Bob Bradbury, president, station KHMM, concerning the scholarship.

The board also voted $100 to the Texas-Oklahoma Foundation in memory of Roscoe Newell, a member of the club.

Deadline Moved Back By Forum

Deadline for application for a GI Forum scholarship to Howard County Junior College has been extended to Aug. 22, Gus Ochotorena, peace justice, said.

Ochotorena said three $300 scholarships will be selected before the fall semester Sept. 4.

Anyone who would like to apply can go to the Forum headquarters 510 N.W. 4th or see John Fierro, 607 NW 9th, chairman of the Forum.

Laredo Students Transfer Here

Sixteen undergraduate pilot training students, all second lieutenants, from Laredo AFB which recently closed have been transferred to UPT classes at Webb.

Andrew L. Burg, Richard L. Harvey, Michael P. McKinney and Dennis Murphy have been assigned to UPT Class 73-04. James A. Hashour, Arthur L. LaPointe, Coleman C. Weidenbush, Jack C. Ellis Jr., Neal O. Macaigor and Joseph N. Tyner Jr. are now in Class 73-03 while David W. Engelbregson, Richard J. Thiele, James L. Bissett and Christopher A. Lingblad are in Class 73-06.

Lot Is Bother To Residents

Cosden Oil and Chemical Inc., will be able to supply asphalt to crews paving the Howard County Junior College parking lot but not for about 10 days, A. G. Mitchell, county judge, said.

Residents north of the proposed lot have complained the current sandy lot is a source of dust which settles over their lawns and into their homes when the wind blows.

Fees Are Set For Hunters

AUSTIN — Something new has been added to public hunts on Texas Parks and Wildlife Department installations — hunting fees.

In a recent meeting the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission voted to charge hunters for the privilege of hunting on management areas to help defray the costs of running the hunts.

Public drawings will still be held to determine who will hunt for deer, javelina, turkey and quail on management areas. After the drawing lucky hunters will be notified and asked to send in their fees.

On management area dove, squirrel and waterfowl hunts not requiring drawings, fees will be paid at the gate when hunters come on a first-come, first-served basis.

Fees will be:
Deer — Two-day permits, $20. One-day permit, $10; Javelina — $3; Turkey — $5; Mourning Dove — $1; Quail — $1; Squirrel — $1; Waterfowl — $3.

No fees will be charged for hunting on the Pat Mayse Wildlife Management Area or that portion of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineer's property on Dam "B" Reservoir under license to the department, with the exception of deer hunts on the Pat Mayse area.

Department officials say the fees came about because costs of hunts conducted solely for recreational opportunity could not be absorbed in research funds.

CHILDREN WAIT FOR TREATMENT—Cambodian children wounded by an accidental B52 strike Monday near Neak Luong wait for medical treatment today at a hospital in the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh. The accidental bombing of the Cambodian government base on the Mekong River, 32 miles southeast of Phnom Penh, was the worst bombing accident of the Indochina war.

Another Accidental Bombing Disclosed

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Another accidental U.S. bombing near here was reported today as the U.S. Embassy announced casualties in the B52 bombing Monday of a government base town on the Mekong River totaled more than 400 dead and wounded. The second bombing in error, this time by a U.S. F111 fighter-bomber, was reported to have killed four civilians and injured 13 on a government-held island southeast of Phnom Penh in the Mekong.

NO EASING
The island was six miles upstream from Neak Luong, the naval base town on which a U.S. B52 heavy bomber dropped a string of bombs before dawn Monday. U.S. Embassy spokesman Donald Doergel said he had heard reports of the second bombing accident but "I don't wish to talk about it."

There was no letup in the U.S. bombing. Heavy explosions could be heard from areas around Phnom Penh as U.S. fighter-bombers kept up their support of government ground forces. There was no word of B52 operations, but it was considered unlikely that

Obscenity Suits May Blot Movies

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Adult movie theaters here are operating this week but their days may be numbered if the district attorney is successful in the filing of four dozen civil petitions against them.

The petitions, on file in seven state district courts, allege 19 theater operators at 11 locations have violated city and state public nuisance statutes and Texas business laws.

In the petitions, Bexar County Dist. Atty. Ted Butler asks for injunctions which would forbid operation.

Since Butler's office did not ask for temporary restraining orders against the theaters "before they have their day in court," an assistant prosecutor says civil law permits the theaters to remain open now.

The prosecutor, Jim Lawrence, said he understands one or two of the theaters may have already shut down voluntarily, pending the outcome of the civil proceedings, but the rest are open.

The theaters, their operators and owners began receiving citations that proceedings were being instituted against them last Thursday. The same day, suits were filed.

According to the petitions, six of the theaters are close to school, day care centers or such facilities where they are a "danger to children of tender years."

The petitions allege the theaters "have an injurious effect on the health, welfare, safety and morals of the community."

Butler promised six weeks ago that injunctions would be sought. His announcement followed the U.S. Supreme Court decision which allows local discretion in defining what is or is not pornographic.

Butler said after the petitions were filed that a ruling by a Dallas federal district judge which halted closings of theaters there is not binding on San Antonio.

"We have tried to handle our cases in such a manner as to

Pickle, But No Steak

TAYLOR, Tex. (AP) — An outdoor party to honor U.S. representatives that dates back to 1948 will have a menu change this year because of the meat shortage.

"Due to the meat shortage, we will not be able to serve steak this year, but the catering service promised the food will be as good as usual, if not better," said the host, Wilson Fox.

This year, for the first time, two congressmen—J. J. Pickle of Austin and Bob Poage of Waco—will be honored at the party, Aug. 23.

The parties started in 1948 when Homer Thornberry of Austin represented the 10th Congressional District, and political leaders, including the late President Lyndon Johnson, have attended.

Two congressmen are being honored because Williamson County, long a part of the 10th district, now is in the 11th district.

It will cost $4.50 a person to eat—even if there are no steaks.
