

Graves Yield Eight Nude Bodies

HOUSTON (AP) — A teenager who says he was ordered to sexually attack a naked girl tied to a torture board has led police to the lime-caked graves of eight other youths where police today continued digging operations.

BAD SMELL
Meanwhile, police in suburban Pasadena began digging up the lawn of a dead man they were told was responsible for the killings.

"In 22 years of police work I've never seen anyone capable of doing such a thing," said homicide Lt. Breck Porter.
Police supervised jail trustees in uncovering the stench-filled boat stall of a large L-shaped building in an industrial district. The 12-by-30-foot stall yielded eight skeletons and decomposed bodies during the night.

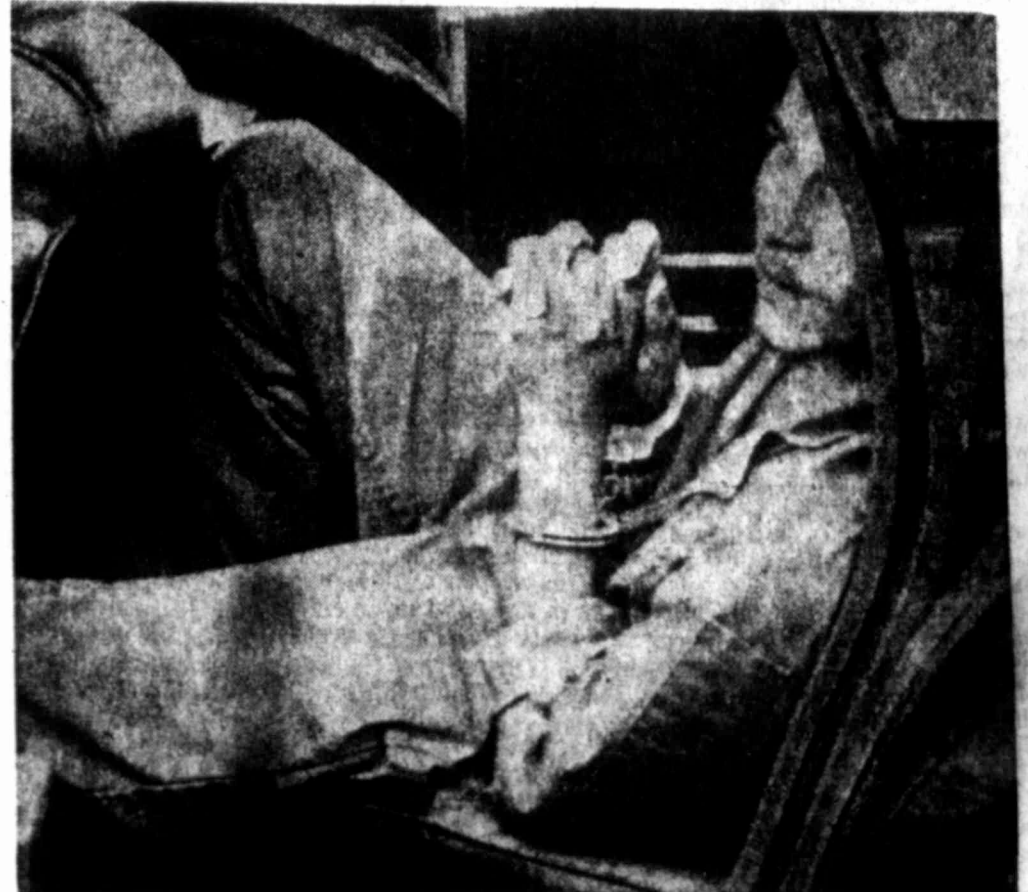

A man living near the building said "the smell was so bad last night I had to take the kids and leave."
The bizarre case broke Wednesday afternoon when, Pasadena police said, Elmer Wayne Henley, 17, telephoned them and said he had shot to death Dean Allen Corll, 33, earlier in the day.
SEX PARTY
Police found Corll's body at his home from where they said Henley led them to the boat stalls in Southwest Houston.

Police said Henley told them he had killed Corll in self defense following an all night sex party at Corll's Pasadena home.
Police said Henley gave them this account:
Henley had brought another youth and a 15-year-old girl to the party which police said was primarily a homosexual gathering. Henley, the girl and the other youth sniffed acrylics from a bag and passed out.

TORTURE
"He (Corll) woke us up and was tying us up and handcuffing us. He said he was going to kill us all but first he was going to have his fun," Henley said. He said Corll threatened him with a knife

"I sweet-talked him and promised I'd torture and kill them (the girl and other boy) for him if he'd let me go, so he did," Henley said.
He said the girl and the other youth were stripped naked and tied spread-eagle on five-foot boards, their hands bound and their mouths covered with tape.
Henley said Corll wanted him to sexually attack the girl while Corll performed homosexual acts on the other youth.

Henley said Corll had laid aside the .22-caliber pistol, and Henley shot Corll when Corll menaced him again.
'NICE' MAN
Corll an employe of the Houston Lighting & Power Co., was described by friends and co-workers as "the nicest, most courteous guy you'll ever meet. He had an infectious smile."

Payoff Reports Lies, Vice President Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proclaiming that he will not be impaled on a sword of "damned lies," Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has taken up his own defense against allegations that he accepted political kickbacks. And Agnew insists he will not resign.

and I am labeling them—and I think a person in my position at a time like this might be permitted this departure from normal language—as damned lies."

WILL NOT RESIGN
In fielding a wide range of questions about the probe, Agnew also said:

—He will not resign, nor will he even step aside on a temporary basis while the investigation is going on.
—He has "no expectation of being indicted."
—He met with President Nixon for more than an hour on Tuesday, discussing the investigation. Agnew said he is satisfied with Nixon's expressions of support, although he feels he could stand on his own feet and isn't seeking support from anyone.

—He finds his position a distressing one for a public official to be in, but is more concerned about proving his innocence than he is about whatever damage the charges may have done to his political future.

—If and when the Baltimore investigation goes to a grand jury, he will decide then whether to appear before it.

Meanwhile, a federal grand jury which since January has been investigating political corruption in Maryland went back into session in Baltimore this morning, although federal prosecutors would not say whether Agnew was the subject of the session. One of the prosecutors told a U.S. marshal outside the grand jury room that no indictments were expected today.

Breaking a self-imposed silence that lasted less than 48 hours, Agnew called newsmen together Wednesday to denounce assertions that he accepted kickbacks of $1,000 a week while governor of Maryland and a payment of $50,000 from one contractor after becoming vice president.

According to Dallas lawyer Jerry D. Birdwell, Dean told him that the relationship between Sharp and Wilson had the White House worried. The file contains details about low interest, non-collateralized loans said to have been made to Wilson while he was in office.
If the judge gives a first favorable nod to the Carr-Osorio claims, an effort will also be made to have the court subpoena witnesses such as former U.S. Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst and Wilson himself.
Osorio has testified he is virtually penniless and unable to finance their appearances in Dallas.

One particular target of Agnew's displeasure appeared to be that Jerome B. Wolff, a Baltimore County consultant, had told prosecutors of alleged $1,000-a-week kickbacks beginning in 1962 and of the alleged $50,000 kickback for past and possibly future services.

CARR, OSORIO 'VICTORY' Will Issue Subpoenas For Seven Witnesses

DALLAS (AP) — A federal judge agreed today to issue subpoenas for seven witnesses—former U.S. Attorney General Richard Kleindienst among them—and to hold a hearing Sept. 18 to go into allegations that fraud charges against Waggoner Carr and John Osorio were politically motivated.

Judge William M. Taylor said he would issue subpoenas for Kleindienst, assistant Atty. Gen. Henry Petersen, former Assistant Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, Justice Department lawyer Charles Ruff, U.S. Atty. Anthony J. P. Farris of Houston, Robert Watson of the Securities and Exchange Commission and Frank W. Sharp, kingpin of the Texas stock scandal of 1971.

The judge also directed that the government turn over to him for his private study all documents relating to the issuance of immunity to Frank Sharp.
Taylor refused, however, to grant the subpoena requested by the defense for certain documents which John W. Dean has said were stored in the White House.

NO INTENTION
"I have no intention to be skewered in this fashion and since I have no intention to be so skewered, I have called this press conference to label as false and scurrilous and malicious these rumors, these assertions and accusations that are being circulated," Agnew said.

The reports that Agnew accepted kickbacks were published after he disclosed Monday that he was a subject of an investigation by U.S. Atty. George Beall in Baltimore.

The investigation involves allegations of bribery, extortion and tax evasion arising from kickbacks allegedly paid by building contractors, engineers and architects to Maryland and Baltimore County political figures. Republican fund-raising efforts also are involved.

Asked if he was unequivocally denying the kickback charges, Agnew replied: "I am denying them outright,

Is Sen. McGovern Dad Of Illegitimate Child?

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — A state judge has cleared the way for a newsman to determine whether a birth record at the State Board of Health lists a George S. McGovern of Mitchell, S.D., as the father of an illegitimate child.

Fiery Crash Near Seymour

Sen. George McGovern, the 1972 Democratic presidential candidate who is from Mitchell, has branded a story linking him with the child as false.
Circuit Judge Pro Tem F. John Rogers on Wednesday ordered the board to make a "full, true and exact copy" of the record available to reporter William Ferguson of the Fort Wayne News-Sentinel.

SEYMOUR, Tex. (AP) — Officers sought the identity of two persons buried beyond recognition in the fiery crash early today of their car with a truck on U.S. 82 near Seymour. They said the impact ruptured the truck's diesel tanks, causing the blaze.
Harry Ward, 46, of Moore, Okla., the truck driver, was reported in satisfactory condition at a Wichita Falls hospital.

Balloonist Hits Water

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia (AP) — An American balloonist seeking to reach Europe from Maine was rescued today after ditching in the choppy Atlantic off Newfoundland, a spokesman for the Canadian armed forces said.

The newspaper last week obtained a court order granting limited approval for a search of Fort Wayne-Alen County birth records. Two lawyers found a birth certificate they were searching for but said the name of the father had been removed.

'Western Night' Is Scheduled Tonight

The matter arose during testimony at the Watergate hearings, when a memo from H. R. Haldeman referred to the "Fort Wayne story." Haldeman did not elaborate.
The Washington Post later said the story was that McGovern had fathered an illegitimate child in Fort Wayne in the 1940s.

After an open night Wednesday, the Starlight Specials will resume tonight with "Western Night" in the city amphitheatre in Comanche Trail Park.
Six country-western bands will make up the program which begins at 8:15 p.m.
Performing will be Tom Castle and band; Billie Miles, Jess Miles and J. R. (Bill) Horton; Dr. Gail Kilgore and band; Don Tolle and Melodie Dabney; Smoky Burgess and band; and the Country Cousins.
Admission is 25 cents. Joe Dunn is program chairman.

Okie Faces $2 Million In Fines For Wire Sales

ATOKA, Okla. (AP) — Feed store operator Bud Pitts learned Wednesday that he faces $2 million in fines because of "over charges" in baling wire sales.
Pitts says the economic stabilization division of the Internal Revenue Service notified him of the possible penalties following an investigation earlier this month.

The size of the fine also was no surprise, but he admits "they have no shadow of a chance of getting that much out of me."
The difficulties between Pitts and the federal government arose after Pitts sold 864 rolls of baling wire for $21 each. He says each roll cost him almost as much as he sold them for because he paid retail prices, shipping costs and telephone bills to get the scarce wire.

Supreme Court Justice Blasts His Colleagues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas has charged his colleagues on the court with acting beyond the law in overturning his order to halt U.S. bombing of Cambodia.

That action stood for less than seven hours. The Nixon administration brought its own petition to the high court and Marshall acted again, this time in effect overruling Douglas. Marshall noted in so doing that he had contacted the seven other members of the court and they agreed with his action.

surprise. The size of the fine also was no surprise, but he admits "they have no shadow of a chance of getting that much out of me."

Douglas' criticism was directed at an order by Justice Thurgood Marshall which was issued at the court Saturday. Douglas' dissent was also dated Saturday but was not made public until today.

It was this final action by Marshall that brought the ire of Douglas.
"What members of the court told brother Marshall to do on Aug. 4, 1973 does not conform with our ground rules," wrote Douglas. "It may have been done inadvertently, but it is nonetheless not a lawful order. Therefore, I respectfully dissent."

"All I've been trying to do," Pitts maintains, "is help my fellow man. I'm not trying to raise a fuss with anyone."
The feed store owner says he made less than $1 profit on the sale of each roll of wire. The IRS, however, says that Pitts cannot sell the wire for more than $14.25. That is the price he paid between June 1 and June 8 when he had his own supply.

COMPLEX PATHS
The complex legal paths taken by the Cambodian bombing issue began when a U.S. District Court Judge in New York ordered the bombing halted.

"The principles are that the court is a deliberative body that acts only on reasoned basis after full consideration, and that it is as much bound by the law of the land as he who lives in the ghetto or in the big white house on the hill," Douglas said.

'GALLUP POLL'
"With all respect I think the court has slighted that law. The shortcut it has taken today surely flouts an act of Congress providing for a necessary quorum," Douglas continued.
Marshall, although he consulted the other members, issued his order as a single justice. Douglas was particularly critical of this, calling it "a Gallup Poll" type by telephone.

The U.S. Circuit Court in New York stayed that order pending a hearing. On Wednesday of last week, Marshall refused to tamper with the Circuit Court order.

"One justice who grants bail, issues a stay of a mandate or issues a certificate of probable cause cannot under the statutory regime designed by Congress vacate, modify or reverse what another justice does," Douglas said.
"The court, of course, can do so—and only the court—but when the court acts it must have six members present," Douglas said.

Pitts has until Aug. 13 to rebut or appeal the remedial order. But Pitts said at his store Wednesday that he wasn't sure what he was going to do.
"I suppose that's what it computes to," he said. "But this case is still in the rebuttal stage. . . I just wouldn't want to comment at this time."

THE HOUSING MARKET-II Money Game: Dreams Drift Away

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Ginny and Riley Gibson have lost a lot of sleep in recent weeks. They're trying to buy their first home. Like an increasing number of young couples, the Gibsons are seeing their dreams drift away. The reason is money—or lack of it. Money is extremely tight these days. That has made mortgages almost impossible to obtain in some parts of the country or has sent interest rates skyrocketing.

GETTING SMALLER Riley, 26, an Alabama Health Department employe, and Ginny, 25, an Alabama Journal reporter, have been living in a rented brick house since their marriage four years ago. They pay $125 a month.

WRONG AGAIN Best of all, the 15-year-old house cost $18,000. The Gibsons thought that, with their $16,000 combined income, they would have no trouble getting a $14,000 loan, after a $4,000 down payment.

NO SYMPATHY "I have no sympathy for realtors," said Ginny, who did most of the house hunting. "I would tell them what we wanted, and they would inevitably show me something different. . . . They showed me $35,000 and $40,000 homes that were crack-boxes, that just weren't soundly constructed. There was no way we could afford that. It got to the point where I would get to the front door and say 'no' before even going in." One $35,000 house would have required an $18,000 down payment, Riley said, shaking his head.

But finally they found "exactly what we wanted," she said. The house is set on more than an acre of land in lush, green country, seven miles from downtown. It has four bedrooms, two baths, a combination kitchen-dining room and a spacious living room with exposed beams and a stone fireplace.

They weren't eligible for an FHA or VA loan because the house is in a flood-control zone—less than half a mile from a river. They could not qualify for another government program because their income was too high. Banks and savings and loan associations were not loaning any money because they had none. "I called one savings and loan, and the man said they weren't even taking applications," Ginny said. Then came a series of fruitless queries to mortgage companies.

Finally, the Gibsons found a mortgage company that would give them a 15-year loan at eight per cent interest on a decreasing principal. The monthly payments would be $145. But the company requires a $5,400 down payment.

He figures that, with the loan, the home eventually would cost $25,600. "One year ago, we could have gotten this house with no problem," he said. "It's the personal things that hurt. We've started thinking how we want to decorate it, to make it ours. . . . And now we may not get it. I just want to cry."

THIRD NEW HOME—Barbara and David Matlow stand in the driveway of their $77,000 home in Westport, Conn., with their two children Jeff and Laura. It is their third new home in five years. Matlow comments on the rising housing market which has kept others from purchasing homes. "There is no such thing as selling a house for less than you paid for it."

BUYS $77,000 HOME WITH EASE

Advice To Young People

By JURATE KAZICKAS Associated Press Writer WESTPORT, Conn. (AP) — David and Barbara Matlow bought a home this summer, a three-bedroom split-level worth $77,000. It really was no big deal.

It was the Matlows' third purchase in five years; and each, because of his steadily rising salary and the spiraling value of housing, has been easier.

When the Matlows' third purchase in five years; and each, because of his steadily rising salary and the spiraling value of housing, has been easier.

Now, as was the case when the Matlows occupied their present home in mid-July, many home buyers are facing a tight market, especially those purchasing their first home. Mortgages are difficult to get in some areas. Interest rates are running as high as nine per cent, where available.

Matlow had no trouble getting a 7 1/2 per cent mortgage on his present home. He was able to make a 50 per cent down payment.

have two children, aged 6 and 7. Barbara Matlow, 32, still remembers their first house in New Haven. They found it after a month's search of more than 30 homes in the spring of 1968.

They found a well-kept, 17-year-old home costing $32,000, more than they wanted to pay on an income of $15,000. But they decided the house was worth it, put down 30 per cent and took out a 25-year mortgage at 6 1/2 per cent.

Eighteen months later, Matlow was promoted to sales manager for southern New England, and they sold the house within two weeks for $36,000.

The Matlows moved to Framingham, Mass., and settled in a neighborhood filled with rising young executive like David who knew they'd be moving on. They paid $36,000—40 per cent down on a 6 1/2 per cent mortgage—for the 6-year-old house. They were its fourth owners.

"We lived in the house with the intention of upgrading it for resale," said Mrs. Matlow. She redecorated the master bedroom, adding paisley-patterned window shades and matching drapes, touched up various furniture.

area have set mortgage limits of $60,000 to $75,000 on any price house making it difficult for buyers of higher-priced homes. But realtors say demand for homes exceeds the supply.

Matlow said he has heard of young couples who can't get mortgages. And as a successful home owner at 33, his advice to young people is:

"Project ahead into the future. Think of the money you'll be earning, the kind of life you'll be living. One should not make decisions on the circumstances of today. Things change so fast. One thing is sure, a house will be worth a lot more in the future."

Some banks in the Westport area have set mortgage limits of $60,000 to $75,000 on any price house making it difficult for buyers of higher-priced homes. But realtors say demand for homes exceeds the supply.

When Matlow was transferred to New York in May, they sold the house for $46,000 to a young couple looking for its first home. It took less than three weeks.

Dr. Sheldon Is Again Named

Dr. Robert Sheldon, Big Spring, and Roy Bell, Odessa, have been reappointed to the State Advisory Council on Alcoholism in the Texas Commission on Alcoholism for 1973-74.

Dr. Sheldon is the clinical director at the Big Spring State Hospital and consultant to the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism. Bell is an attorney in Odessa and serves as chairman of the Board of Clover House, which is Odessa's halfway house. Both Dr. Sheldon and Bell have been involved in area work in the field of alcoholism for many years.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe has designated the Texas Commission on Alcoholism as the state agency to administer the state plan, which was developed in compliance with "The Comprehensive Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism Prevention, Treatment and Rehabilitation Act" passed by Congress in 1970.

Grice Corrects Autopsy Report On Mrs. G. Ray

Peace Justice Walter Grice corrected a report he gave The Herald Wednesday of an autopsy performed on Mrs. Gretchen Baker Ray found shot four times in the Silver Heels Addition July 23.

The Herald reported only three bullets were found from the four wounds but Sheriff A. N. Standard said all the bullets were recovered.

The bullets all entered the upper left chest area, the autopsy reports. The death was ruled by an Abilene pathologist as self-inflicted.

Two bullets were lodged just beneath the skin and did not penetrate the body. One bullet entered the chest area and lodged in the left shoulder. The

Work Progresses On New Building

Exterior of the new $85,200 city garage has been erected and construction will probably be completed by late September, according to James Campbell, public works director.

The prefabricated steel building at 911 E. 2nd will be a complete service center for city vehicles and equipment. Construction is by Wadleigh Construction Co. of Snyder.

When the new garage is finished, the present wood frame facility at the same location will be used for storage. In another public works project, curbing and guttering is over 50 per cent completed on streets throughout the city which will be paved under Phase I of the long-term paving program.

John Henry -- A Man Who Broke Drinking Habit

John Henry's drinking habit was a thing of wonder. He now wonders why he had it; researchers for the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation are wondering how he broke it.

John Henry had worked 20 of his 51 years of life in an alcoholic haze. He consumed anything that hinted of alcohol. He had spent more time in jail than most men devote to their work.

Out of desperation, John Henry went to a state mental hospital, seeking help, asking for refuge and wanting to shake the monkey off his back.

GETS HELP

After weeks of intensive therapy by hospital staff workers, John Henry began to find himself. He was released from the hospital and checked into a halfway house operated by a community MHMR center.

BOTTOM AND BACK

Billy Joe began drinking in earnest. He hit the bottom of the barrel. Skid row and jail became a way of life.

His former boss saw him on the street one day, recognized Billy Joe's plight and, working with police, the family physician and an understanding judge, committed him to a state hospital.

Some of life's everyday problems still are difficult for John Henry. He no longer turns to the bottle for solace, however. He returns to the community MHMR center for weekly group therapy sessions. He gets frequent counseling from Alcoholics Anonymous, too.

THE DIFFERENCE

But for some unexplained reason, Billy Joe just couldn't cope. He hit the bottle again. Before reaching the bottom, however, he again returned to the state hospital.

PROFIT ANGLE

All but the country's 1,700 largest firms will be able to increase prices almost immediately to reflect increased costs. But they cannot increase prices for profit.

ANOTHER STORY

There is another story though. It concerns Billy Joe. He had a good job with a bright future. His family, a wife and two children, were happy in a new home. Life was pleasant and without too many pressing problems.

He had a job. He worked with A.A. counselors. He participated in the community center group and individual therapy programs.

TOO EASY

Dunlop said Tuesday that food price increases since July 18 have been "about what was expected," but said it is too early to give a definite opinion on food price behavior.

Suddenly Billy Joe's social drinking became more than that. Instead of waiting until he arrived home for a beer or cocktail before dinner, Billy Joe began stopping off at a tavern. What started out to be a couple of beers with friends stretched into evenings of drinking. Soon Billy Joe felt the compulsion for a drink or two at lunch. Next he wanted a drink to get him going in the morning... a confidence builder... a demanding job ahead.

Publisher's Home Fired

WESTERLAND, Isle of Sylt, Germany (AP) — Right-wing publisher Axel Springer's luxurious summer residence was damaged by a fire started by six incendiary devices, authorities say.

Police said the devices, triggered by clocks, had been hidden in the building's thatched roof. Four went off at the same time Sunday, and the home immediately was engulfed by flames, they said.

Authorities said there were no injuries. Among the better known of Springer's publications are the Hamburg mass circulation Bildzeitung and the conservative daily Die Welt.

155 to 98: (Q.) My girl friend and I are very close. Because I love her I have to come to you for advice. You see, she was really heavy. She weighed 155. I teased her. I said she looked like a basketball in her bikini. She said she was going on a diet.

to a restaurant. She looked at all the food and turned white and fainted. I took her home right off, but she made me promise not to say anything about it to her mother.

Yesterday I took her to an amusement park. She looked like death warmed over but said she felt all right. We went on the fast ride. When she got off she grabbed her stomach and couldn't straighten up. She started to cry. I carried her to the car, and again she made me promise not to tell her mother.

When I went over to her house today she was in bed. What should I do? — Afraid in Pennsylvania.

(A.) You should tell her mother everything that has happened. She should have consulted a doctor before she went on a diet. Now she should go, or be taken to him immediately.

It is possible that she has some illness in addition to the weakness that is normal with intense weight loss. No girl or boy should go on a diet without seeing a doctor first, getting his advice, following it, and returning to him at intervals for a checkup.

Price Freeze To Thaw Monday For Tiny Firms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many small and medium-sized firms will be allowed to increase their prices starting next Monday under final regulations announced here.

The present 60-day price freeze is scheduled to expire at 11:59 p.m. Aug. 12 and is replaced by the Phase 4 anti-inflation program, replacing phases 1, 2 and 3.

But major auto manufacturers, steel companies and appliance manufacturers would not be allowed to raise most prices before Sept. 12.

There are differences in details between the regulations released Tuesday and the preliminary regulations announced on July 19. But Director John T. Dunlop of the Cost of Living Council said the basic purpose remains the same.

Final regulations for petroleum and insurance are scheduled to be released later this week, and proposed regulations for the food industry should be released within a week to 10 days, Dunlop told a news conference.

The price freeze was lifted from the food industry, except for beef, on July 18 so that prices could be increased to reflect higher raw agricultural costs.

New regulations for food, to provide for increase in other costs, are scheduled to go into effect Sept. 12.

Dunlop said Tuesday that food price increases since July 18 have been "about what was expected," but said it is too early to give a definite opinion on food price behavior.

Although prices can be increased by many small and medium sized firms on Monday, they can only be increased to reflect higher cost, under the "dollar-for-dollar pass-through"

TOO EASY

Dunlop said Tuesday that food price increases since July 18 have been "about what was expected," but said it is too early to give a definite opinion on food price behavior.

FLEXIBILITY

A company or firm will be given some flexibility to increase prices on some items more than others after it has justified the over-all increase on the basis of increased costs.

But on an individual item of not more than 10 per cent, plus a percentage of the increase justified by costs. This is to keep firms from concentrating price increases on a few highly salable items.

Dunlop said the final regulations also differ from the preliminary draft because they will not restrict profit margins of firms which do not increase prices above their lawful price of last year or their freeze prices.

He said many of the changes resulted from comments received from business people and others after the preliminary regulations were issued on July 19.

He noted that the health industry is operating under mandatory regulations that prevailed during Phase 3, but said that new regulations will be developed later this year following extensive study by the newly appointed Health Advisory Committee.

Kneeling Nets Comedian Cell

WASHINGTON (AP) — Comedian Dick Gregory has been arrested and charged with unlawful entry for kneeling in prayer among a line of tourists on the steps of the White House.

Gregory thus joined more than 65 persons who have been arrested since July 6 at the White House when they protested U.S. bombing in Cambodia.

The comedian was arrested Tuesday after he and two others refused a request by White House guards to move along and stop blocking the line of tourists entering the White House.

MRS. VARD GRIFFITH

Couple Will Live In Dallas

Mr. and Mrs. Vard Griffith are at home in Dallas following their wedding, Aug. 4, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Brandt, 105 W. 16th. The candlelight ceremony was performed by the Rev. Clarence McMillan, a Baptist minister.

The bride is the former Miss Gwen Olds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Olds, Lamesa, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Buri Griffith, Forsan.

The bride wore formal-length gown of white tulle with a full bodice featuring a bib front of scalloped lace and the long, full sleeves ending in wide French cuffs. Scalloped lace fell the length of the skirt. Her floor-length, layered veil was attached to an organza bow and edged in white tulle. She carried a bouquet of white daisy mums and pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Brandt served as matron of honor, with Miss Paula Anderson of Ackerly as bridesmaid. They were identically attired in floor-length gowns of blue dotted Swiss featuring a ruffled neckline and a large ruffle on the bottom half of the skirt. They wore blue garden hats and carried nosegays of blue carnations and daisy mums.

Ricky Klahr served as best man, and Dale Griffith, brother of the bridegroom, served as groomsmen.

The reception followed, and the traditional wedding cake was placed on a table covered with a blue floral cloth and centered with a gold and crystal candelabra.

The bride is a graduate of the Academy of Hair Design, and the bridegroom attends UEL, an electronics school in Dallas.

A LOVELIER YOU

Sounds Of Laughter Not Always Pleasing

By MARY SUE MILLER
Nothing makes the male more uncomfortable than a giggling female. When a covey of girls giggle behind their hands, a boy is convinced that the joke is on him. A woman giggler so jangles the sensibilities that everyone within earshot makes a quick getaway.

More damaging, perhaps, everyone judges a giggler as self-conscious or unsure. Yet the estimate may not be justified. Her problem may stem simply from a habit formed in childhood — from the gurgling that enraptured her dotting family.

In any case the afflicted are seldom aware of the problem. You became so inured to the sound of your laughter that its qualities are lost on you. To gain awareness, and every lovely should try, you have to concentrate — really listen — to your laugh.

If you hear a low, smooth warm flow of real mirth, you're in the clear. A high rapid "tee-hee" signals the giggling habit. How can you break it?

There are three steps: 1. Listen to the laughter of others and try to copy the most pleasing. Most of the sounds we make are imitative, and laughter is no exception. 2. Learn the actor's trick of taking a deep breath at the end of a sentence. You can't giggle and breathe in at the same time.

3. Concentrate on what you say, not the impression you make. Also concentrate on what is said to you. Undivided attention balks the untoward giggle and releases winning laughter — in the right places.

Parents Win

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have always been a horse lover, and at age 13, I finally got my own horse. Now, two years later, we are sort of a team.

We (me and my horse) were selected to represent our county at a six-state horse exposition. I was thrilled, but here is my problem:

The horse show falls on the same dates as the High Holy Days, and I am Jewish!

What can I do? This means everything in the world to me, and I am really not all that Jewish, but my parents are, and they won't hear of my taking part in the horse show on the High Holy Days. I am so unhappy about this I am becoming deeply prejudiced against Judaism. What can I say to my parents to convince them that horses mean as much to me as their religion means to them?

LOVES HORSES
DEAR ABBY: I can't think of anything you can say to convince them. Even though it's a dead heat, they win, because they're the parents, and you're the minor. Sorry.

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem which is ruining my life. I have been to doctors everywhere and none of them can help me. In fact, several of them have suggested I am "imagining" things, but I KNOW I'm not.

I can smell a strange unpleasant odor about myself all the time. I bathe every morning and put on fresh underwear, but I still smell bad. After I've done my housework, I bathe again and put on fresh underwear. No improvement. It is not perspiration, either. I use plenty of soap, deodorant, and cologne, but I can't get rid of that terrible odor. Even though no one has mentioned it to me, I know they can smell it, too, so I don't ever get close to anyone.

The doctors say I am a healthy woman. My scalp is always clean (I don't even have dandruff!), and I brush my teeth and gargle several times a day. And it's not my feet, either.

Please tell me how to get rid of this terrible odor! I can't live like this any longer.

SMELLS BAD IN ROANOKE

DEAR SMELLS: Go to one more doctor. A psychiatrist. He may be able to sniff out the answer.

DEAR ABBY: My dad has been bald for 18 years or longer. I have seen pictures of him when he had hair, and they just don't look like Dad.

Mom got him to get a hairpiece — the kind they cut and style for the individual. When Dad came home with it he looked so strange to me. He is 39 years old, Abby, and he

Miss Price Is Shower Honoree

A linen shower honored Miss Betty Price Tuesday evening in the home of Miss Debbie Harris, 1303 Dixie. Mrs. Mary Dean was co-hostess.

Miss Price is bride-elect of Capt. Robert F. Tilton. Guests at the shower included her mother, Mrs. R. Earl Price. The refreshment table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of lavender and white sweet peas and lavender candles. Appointments were crystal.

The honoree was attired in a brown and white checked street-length dress. She and Capt. Tilton will be married Aug. 17 at First Presbyterian Church.

doesn't have to look like a kid of 20. Mom is crazy about it, and I'm not sure whether Dad wears it to please Mom or himself, but he wears it all the time.

I can't get used to it. Do you think he ought to wear it or not?"

HIS DAUGHTER

(Age 18)
DEAR DAUGHTER: If Dad likes it, he should wear it. Keep quiet. You'll get used to it.

Sorority Hosts Farewell Party

Mrs. A. A. Wadle, who is moving to Abilene, was honored at a called meeting and salad supper of Texas Delta Delta Chapter, Phi Sigma Alpha, Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Betty Johnson, 101 Jefferson.

Gifts were presented to Mrs. Wadle from the club. Mrs. Ernest Bauch presided during a short business meeting and named Mrs. Callie Mason to serve as yearbook chairman to replace Mrs. Wadle.

The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m., Aug. 4 in the home of Mrs. R. L. Nall, 1305 Scurry.

Fall Tea Scheduled By Scenic Chapter

The annual fall tea for Scenic Chapter, American Business Women's Association, is scheduled from 3-5 p.m., Sept. 9 at First Federal Community Room. The date was announced Tuesday by Miss Shirley White, tea chairman. The tea will include a style-show of fashions outlining the history and progress of ABWA.

Mrs. George Mixon presided at the Tuesday meeting, and guest speaker was Walter Malone, who is doing his internship in journalism at The Herald this summer.

Malone, a senior at Baylor University, traced some of his experiences during the past three years at the university. He said the freshman year is filled with meeting new people, learning traditions of the university and becoming acclimated to the atmosphere of college. Also, he discussed homecoming activities and several humorous incidents involving campus life.

Newcomer Club Units Plan Coffee

A combined coffee for members of Newcomers Bridge Club and Newcomers Handicrafts Club is scheduled Aug. 29.

Preliminary plans for the event were made Tuesday at the Pioneer Gas Flame Room by members of the bridge group, and Mrs. David Finch and Mrs. J. B. Thompson were named to organize the coffee.

In other business, Mrs. Verne Stevenson was named "sunshine" chairman for the group. High score was won by Mrs. John Davenport, followed by Mrs. Thompson, second. Mrs. Doug Warren won Bridge-o, and the attendance prize went to Mrs. Mark Bathurst.

Hostesses were Mrs. Finch and Mrs. Bill Cooper. The next meeting will be at 9 a.m., Aug. 15 at the Flame Room.

Cultures Differ In Mate Selection

Many cultures still support family-arranged mate selection. When arranged by parents, selection stresses social and economic considerations, assuming that satisfactory interpersonal relationships will develop after marriage.

Wedding Ceremony Performed Saturday

Miss Katherine Marie Little and Lloyd Coleman Nalls were married Saturday evening in Bethel Baptist Church, Luther, with the Rev. Ben Neel, pastor, officiating. The altar setting was enhanced with an arch of greenery trimmed with white flowers and traditional music was by Mrs. Ferrell Dillard, Big Spring, pianist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Little, 1710 Young. Parents of the bridegroom are Lloyd Nalls, 812 E. Third, and Mrs. Ann Nalls, Houston.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Big Spring High School, is employed by the Big Spring Independent School District. The bride also attended BSHS. The couple will reside on the Gail Rt., Luther.

The bride was attired in a white, full-length gown styled in empire waistline, short puffed sleeves and high neckline trimmed with small blue flowers. Her floor-length veil of blue and white tulle was attached to a white headpiece adorned with blue flowers, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations tied with white streamers.

Miss Debbie Little attended her sister as maid of honor, wearing a full-length gown with puffed sleeves and a lace panel accenting the front yoke. Her nosegay of blue carnations was tied with white streamers.

James Bayburn was best man, and Rob Nalls, brother of the bridegroom, served as usher.

Prior to leaving on a wedding trip to San Angelo, Mr. and Mrs. Nalls were honored at a reception in the fellowship hall of the church. Crystal and silver appointments were used on a table covered with a white lace cloth and blue underlay. The tiered cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom, and the centerpiece was a cupid vase arranged with blue flowers.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Paul Mize, Mrs. Larry Peterson and Mrs. Lloyd Underwood. Miss Pam Eisler presided at the guest registry.

The bridegroom's mother attended from Houston, as did Scott Nalls. Other out-of-town guests were Mrs. Irene Tolston, Brownwood; and Mrs. Jerry Smith, La Jara, Colo.

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

After one and a half hours of haggling, jockeying, needing, threatening, flattering, sweating, smoking and bluffing here Tuesday, District 5-AAAA administrators took one tiny step toward solving the baffling problem of football schedules. You might not think that such a thing as setting up games for a season more than a year hence would be so tough and exasperating, but then you've probably never sat in on a 5-AAAA Executive Committee meeting.

At the close of the excitement, the league's biggies had decided to give San Angelo Supt. G. B. Wadzeck another chance at coming up with a suitable schedule — mainly because he was the one raising the stink. Sept. 26 was set as a date for the final decision.

Ordinarily, he couldn't be given much hope for finding an answer, since computers hadn't been able to make any headway. No matter how easy it sounds to work up a normal home-and-away schedule for an eight-team district, in this case it can't be done. Or at least it hasn't been.

But this time Wadzeck, who threatened to walk out if something wasn't accomplished, will try for success by using one new ingredient and tossing an old one out. The new idea is to try to use the open week separating pre-district and 5-AAAA games as a possible way of breaking up out-of-town dates. And not only that, Wadzeck will rejoice at the possibility that he has at last done away with his long-time pet peeve — the season-ending intra-city games that pits Abilene against Cooper, Midland and Midland Lee, and Odessa vs. Permian.

Wadzeck complained bitterly that with the present scheduling there was no way the Bobcats' slate would jive with that of San Angelo Lake View of District 3-AAA, causing both the schools to be at home on the same night three times during the 1974 season. That, he claimed, not only resulted in the city being without high school football on several Fridays, but it also cut into the games when they were home.

Big Spring Head Coach Bob Burris, who admittedly had fewer worries about the schedule than anyone else, was still in favor of utilizing the open date. The schedule can be bothersome. For instance, this year the Steers are at home Sept. 21 against Snyder, and after one off-week and two out-of-town dates with Midland and Abilene, they return to take on Permian Oct. 19. That's a month without a varsity game on the home turf.

Tense as it may sound, the meeting wasn't a completely sour one. Once, when Wadzeck, seemed particularly pushed out of shape, Abilene Supt. A. E. Wells started in on him. "I've got the solution for you, Blackie," he said, puffing hard on his cigar and looking off into the distance. "All you have to do is switch some of those kids over to that 3A school and make it a 4A." Wadzeck mumbled something and then said "We're just barely 4A right now." That one really brought giggles.

Some of the best comments of the day came from out of the mouths of coaches, when asked for their opinions on the outcome of the district race for the third time. "I won't pick you if you won't pick me," said one of the favorites, and another one aimed in the direction of OHS coach Dick Winder "Do you spell Odessa with one d or two?"

Speaking of District 5-AAAA, the annual magazine from San Angelo telling the goods and bads from each school, is out now, chock full of advertising with a few pictures and stories to spice it up. The magazines are being distributed by local stores who advertised in it.

Jacobson Named Defensive Coach

Head Coach Bob Burris has given a touch of experience to his 1973 Big Spring Steer coaching staff with the addition of C. E. "Tip" Jacobson.

Jacobson, for 22 years the head coach and athletic director at Ardmore, Okla., has been named the defensive backfield coach, replacing Tommy Jackson. Jackson resigned two weeks ago to accept the head coaching position at Electra High School.

The 58-year-old Jacobson, who was inducted into the Oklahoma High School Coaches Hall of Fame this week, will also assist

BS Seniors Eliminated

SWEETWATER — Three Big Spring home runs weren't enough here Wednesday in the State Senior League baseball Tournament, as San Angelo earned an 11-7 victory and eliminated the locals from the tourney.

San Angelo jumped on Big Spring hurler Earl Reynolds for nine runs in the first two innings before John Knoepfel got the Quality Volkswagen crew on the scoreboard with a solo shot in the bottom of the second.

Greg Crawford smacked a three-run homer in the third as Big Spring cut it to 9-5, but the Angeloans pushed across two more runs in the top of the seventh to put the game away. John Thomas Smith added the last round-tripper for the Big Springers in the bottom of the seventh with one man on.

John Knoepfel and Willie Williams each had a pair of hits to pace Big Spring at the plate, and Boyd, Reynolds, Crawford and Smith each had one in the eight-hit attack.

Miller Wants 'Smart' Round In Open Today

CLEVELAND (AP) — John Miller, almost forgotten in Tom Weiskopf's hot streak, scoffs at the thought he can become the first golfer to win the U.S. Open and PGA in the same year since Ben Hogan 25 years ago.

"Records don't mean that much to me. I just want to play as smart as I did in the Open," said the 26-year-old Californian. A record round of 63 was part of Miller's winning 279 total in the Open.

Despite the major title and more than $118,000 in 1973 earnings, Miller didn't rank as a favorite among the PGA field of 148 that attacked Canterbury Golf Club's immaculate 6,852-yard course today.

The role of favorite was being shared by the sizzling Weiskopf, winner of five of his last nine starts, and Australian Bruce Crampton, the year's leading money winner.

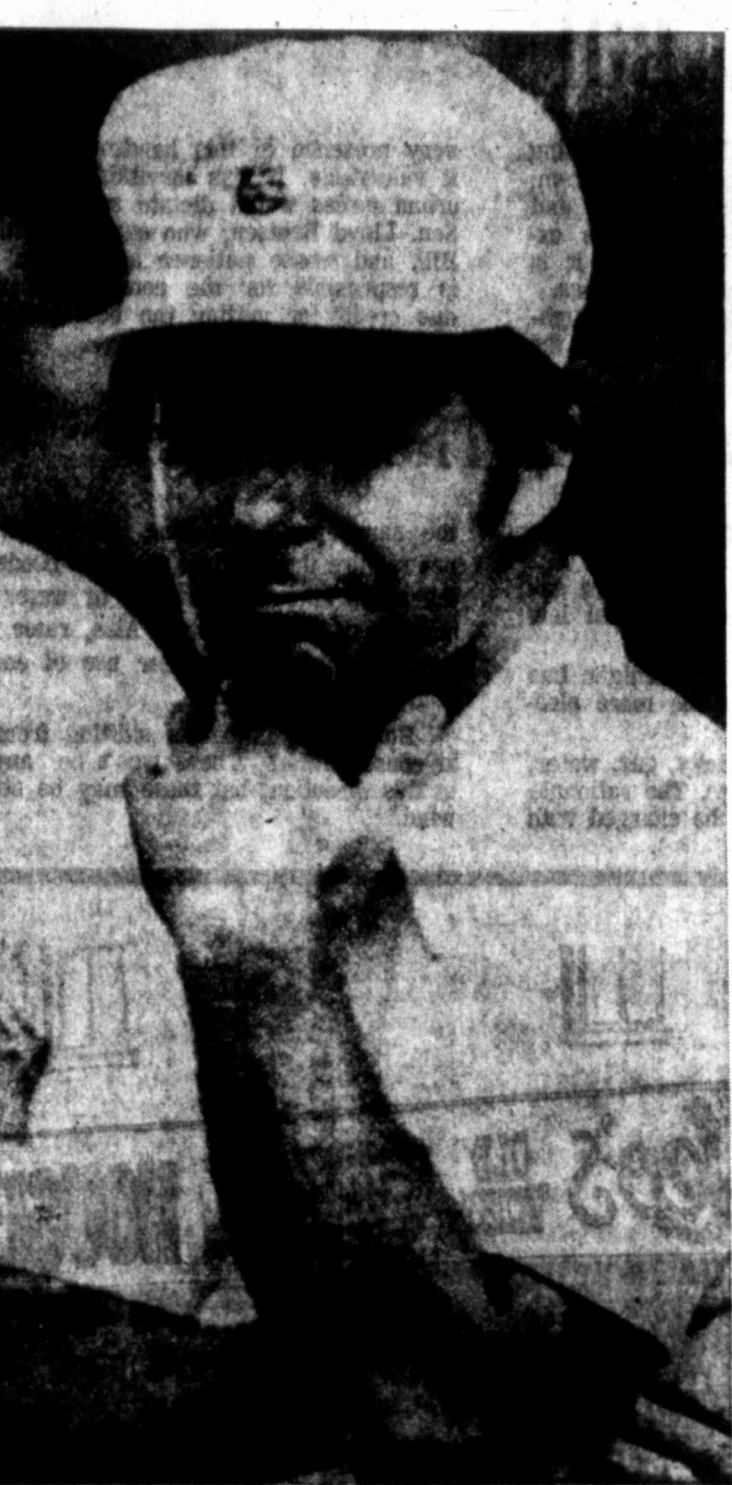

Veracruz Fans Riot

VERACRUZ, Mexico (AP) — An estimated 200 baseball fans spent the night in jail Wednesday after a riot in a stadium here when the local team lost.

Scores of persons were slightly injured in the free-for-all but none was hospitalized, authorities said.

Fans threw empty beer bottles, balloons filled with water and seat cushions when the umpire suspended the game shortly after hundreds of spectators invaded the playing area, police said.

Policemen then moved in and started making arrests, authorities added.

Cepeda Smacks 4 Doubles For Sox

York's starter. But on the first pitch, a bunt single by Dave Nelson, Peterson reinjured his thigh and Beene had to take over. Nelson eventually came around to score and, in the fifth inning, Bill Sudakis hit a lead-off homer.

The Yanks got that run back in the bottom of the fifth on Felipe Alou's sacrifice fly. In the ninth, the Rangers still led 2-1 and Peterson still stood to be the losing pitcher. "I felt bad about that," Beene said.

But Bobby Murcer opened the ninth with a double and Thurman Munson singled to tie the game. Then Alou beat out an infield single and Munson scampered home from second on Gene Michael's bloop single to right.

OU, Rivals Stunned By 2-Year Penalty

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The two-year probation slapped on the University of Oklahoma by the Big Eight Conference for recruiting violations has shaken officials at both Oklahoma and the conference's other schools.

The Sooners also were barred from television and bowl games. At the same time Wednesday, the conference placed the Sooners on probation for a similar period in basketball, but without sanctions, and ordered two assistant coaches, Wendell Mosley in football and Dennis Price in basketball, not to take part in recruiting for one year.

Oklahoma was found guilty of 10 infractions in football, including falsifying the high school transcript of quarterback Kerry Jackson, three in basketball and one general violation.

The Sooners, ranked No. 2 in the nation in football each of the past two years, will be unable to compete in post-season football games in 1973 and 1974 or to play televised games in 1974 and 1975.

Athletic directors at the other Big Eight schools immediately began to scrutinize their athletic budgets, aware that taking the Sooners out of the bowl and television picture would likely cost each member an estimated $125,000 to $250,000 in revenue.

The Sooners were ordered to forfeit four conference games in which Jackson played, thus stripping them of the league's championship and handing it to Nebraska. The revised standings put Oklahoma in a tie for fifth.

Jackson, a freshman last season from Galveston, Tex., Ball High School, was the only experienced quarterback on the Oklahoma squad which operates from the Wishbone formation.

Sophomore Steve Davis has inherited the post with Jackson's ineeligibility. Oklahoma officials, who made the first announcement of the irregularities last April, were stunned over the stiffness of the disciplinary action.

Texas Leaguers Post LL Victory

WACO — Freddy Martinez and the Big Spring Texas Leaguers rebounded from their opening round setback and nailed down a 3-0 victory Wednesday morning over Houston Windsor in the consolation bracket of the State Little League Tournament.

Martinez tossed a one-hitter as the TL squad advanced to a semifinal consolation game against Wilacy County, played this morning at 10 a.m. A victory in that one would mean a berth in the finals of the consolation play, called the "Position Bracket," Friday at 10 a.m.

Willacy defeated Sheppard AFB 3-2 Wednesday. Martinez allowed the lone safety in the first inning of Wednesday morning's game, a scratch infield single by third baseman Ellerman.

His teammates helped out with a pair of runs in the bottom half of the third inning, and tacked on the clincher in the fifth.

Willie Ray Miles paced the effort with two hits, and Tony Rubio, James Magers, Johnny Hernandez, Ysa Rubio and Martinez all managed one hit each. All seven Big Spring hits were singles.

Senn was Houston's losing pitcher.

Viridon's Intuition Sparks Pirates Past Astros, 4-3

PITTSBURGH (AP) — You won't hear any long-winded explanations of baseball strategy from Bill Viridon, whose pet phrase is, "It felt like the right thing to do."

Viridon was in true form Wednesday night after his intuition helped the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 4-3 win over the Houston Astros.

His first major decision came in the sixth inning with Pittsburgh trailing 3-1. Lefty Jim Rooker had been pitching well and the game was far from over, but Viridon yanked him in favor of pinchhitter Gene Alley.

Alley responded by drawing a walk to launch a three-run rally that gave Pittsburgh a victory on a night when all other National League East teams were losing, except the New York Mets.

Alley took second on an infield out, moved to third on a single by Dave Cash, and scored on Al Oliver's sacrifice fly.

Willie Stargell then doubled Cash home and scored the winning run himself when Richie Zisk stroked a single up the middle off losing pitcher Dave Roberts.

Yet Viridon's decision didn't stop there. He still had to send a pitcher out to face the Astros over the final three innings.

Reliable Dave Giusti, 6-1 with a 1.48 earned run average, was available in the bullpen, but that's where he stayed.

Instead Viridon called on Bob Johnson, tagged for a home run last week in a loss to Philadelphia.

"I didn't give any thought to bringing Giusti in," Viridon explained. "I just felt I'd be better off with Johnson."

FOR SUPER BOWL RETURN Shula: Miami Mentally Right

MIAMI (AP) — The Miami Dolphins won all 17 games last year by having the best offense and defense in the National Football League, but their greatest strength may be mental attitude as they attempt to repeat as Super Bowl champions.

When asked if the players had the maturity or were taught it, Coach Don Shula said, "I think it's a combination."

The $26,000 worth of playoff spoils enjoyed by each player after the 14-7 trouncing of Washington in the Super Bowl apparently changed nothing.

"The attitude has been great in camp," said Shula. "They reported in fine physical condition and with a great mental attitude. All of them are working."

There were no apparent flaws, even in bench strength, on the basically young team of last season. After hours of reviewing game films, Shula has found no reason to make any major lineup or roster changes. He is trying to field the first team to win back-to-back Super Bowls since Green Bay won the first two. People called those teams part of a dynasty built by Vince Lombardi, but Shula grimaces when somebody suggests he might be on the verge of the same thing.

"We'll let others talk about our football team," he replies, gritting his teeth at the word "dynasty" the same as he does the word "loss." Neither word belongs in his vocabulary.

The facts speak for themselves. Miami rushed for 2,960 yards, an NFL record, with fullback Larry Csonka getting 1,117 and Mercury Morris 1,000. No other NFL team in history has had two 1,000-yard runners in the same season. "Substitute" Jim Kick gained another 521 yards.

Quarterback Bob Griese, who suffered a broken leg in the fourth game of 1972, ranks fifth on the active American Conference passing list. Seemingly ageless Earl Morrall replaced him for 10 regular season games and led the AFC by completing 7.3 per cent of his tosses for touchdowns and by gaining an average of 9.07 yards per throw.

Paul Warfield is considered by many to be the best wide receiver in the game, and he is complemented by Ron Sellers, Howard Twilley and Marlin Briscoe — all proven veterans.

Larry Little has been named the outstanding lineman in the AFC three times by the NFL Players Association. His fellow linemen are center Jim Langer, guard Bob Kuechenburg, tackles Norm Evans, Wayne Moore and Doug Crusan and tight ends Jim Mandich and Mary Fleming.

Safeties Jack Scott and Dick Anderson are both All-Pro. End Bill Stanfill was AP All-NFL running mate Vern Den Herder All-RFC. Garo Yepremian made 17 of 18 field goal attempts inside the 40 yard line last year. Punter Larry Seiple averaged 39.9 yards per kick.

The Highway Bill

The nation is about to embark — tentatively — on devoting more attention to development of alternatives to the private automobile as our prime means of transportation.

The Congress has passed a compromise highway bill which for the first time earmarks funds from the Highway Trust Fund for mass transit projects. The Highway Trust Fund up to now has been held sacred for the building of highways to handle automobile and truck traffic; great has been the anguish of road builders and state highway departments at any mention of using these funds for any other purpose.

The bill, a result of a Senate-House conference to reconcile differences, isn't a massive incursion into the trust fund by any means. It will keep the fund intact for highways the next fiscal year; in fiscal 1975, $200 million in trust funds may be spent on buses. In fiscal 1976, the last year covered by the bill, the entire $800 million earmarked for urban highways could be spent on bus and rail systems instead.

When it's considered that the bill calls for a total of $20 billion in expenditures, including $8.6 billion for the interstate highways system, $3.2 billion for primary and secondary roads and $2 billion for highway safety, the possible expenditure on mass transit isn't much. But it is highly significant for the precedent it establishes.

While we have contended for keeping the Highway Trust inviolate for highway purposes, the very presence of this handsome fund has made it vulnerable. It was inevitable that the clout of urban forces would dictate some diversion of it. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, who engineered the Highway Bill, and whose patience and skillful negotiation is responsible for the compromise measure, is due credit for getting the best possible deal — and a highway bill.

Straws In The Wind?

The principle of volume buying, applied to utility rates, may be in for second thoughts.

One South Texas city, which has its own gas system, has decided to eliminate a special low rate to extra large consumers.

At least one power company in Michigan has begun charging a higher rate for the more electricity consumed.

Heretofore, big users of electricity, gas, water, etc. have been granted lower rates. The rationale has been that a lower rate could be charged with the same profit resulting, since delivery would not require the multiple facilities needed to supply the same amount of energy or water to a great number of small users. Also, rates have been used to encourage greater use of energy to encourage industry, etc.

But is the emphasis shifting from expansion to conservation? There won't be any big rush in this direction, but these may be straws in the wind.

A Railroad Nut

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

I think it might be time to admit that I'm some kind of a railroad nut. It's a good town to make such an admittance. I noticed that Walter Malone, our summer intern from El Paso, said that he's one of the few kids his age that have ridden a passenger train.

ALL THREE of mine, who are 23, 21 and 17, took one heck of a wonderful passenger train trip with me back in 1964. We went from Pecos to Dallas to St. Louis to New York to Philadelphia, Washington, New Orleans and all sorts of places in between by train. It was a fantastic trip.

Twice, the Texas Association of Railroads honored me by selecting a feature story that I wrote about railroads as the best in Texas and gave me a plaque with an electric clock, a check and a dinner. I was quite thrilled because I had a Grandpa that used to work for railroads over in Raton, N.M. and back in Somerset, Kentucky.

The stories I wrote were about the old T&P Roundhouse in Toyah and one about a shortline railroad, the Pecos Valley Southern near Balmorhea.

I've already written a lengthy article on my experiences with cars. So, when I start off on a car trip, I always do so a little leery. My Daddy ran a car parts store, so I don't hate cars. But for a relaxing trip, I sure did like those old passenger trains.

FOR THOSE of you who love to fly — I love to fly when I'm in a hurry and I've flown in both commercial and private planes. I enjoyed every minute of it. It's really pretty up there.

But you sure don't see much scenery. The first time I took a passenger train any distance, I went with my Dad back in 1939 and very excitedly I inspected that train from front to caboose in every corner they'd let me look.

I finally went to sleep and when I woke up the next morning, we were crossing a wide, wide river in Arkansas. It was beautiful.

I remember waking up my own three kids early one morning as we chugged into Harrisburg, Pa. over the water and the lights of the capitol were just being turned on. It was also beautiful.

And did you ever ride a train around a horseshoe bend at night and look back?

Oh, I don't really know why I like trains. I just like them. I wish the passenger train would return and with the feeling that it started out with — a feeling of great pride.

AS LONG as the T&P went through Pecos, I used to take Brownie scouts annually by train to Toyah. I nearly lost one girl one trip. I counted them as they got off and I was one short.

I went tearing back to the "little girl's room" and literally grabbed one girl and snatched her off that train.

I don't suppose we'll ever again see lots and lots of passenger trains, but I hope they never die out entirely. When I'm older and greyer, I'm going to go find me one and ride the "choo choo" one more time. I like them.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

Pondering this matter has almost cost me my faith. I'm told that if you pray for something sincerely, and in the name of Jesus, your prayer will be answered. Experience, however, says "Taint necessarily so." I've prayed for something for 25 years, and I'm running out of hope. Help me out of this impasse. S.R.B.

The Bible presents prayer, not as some energetic exercise of the soul, always followed by beneficial reactions, but as a sort of communion experience. It's pictured as the fellowship between a child and his father.

In your letter, you recognize the will of God as a factor in prayer's response, but you seem to be critical of God if the "will" runs contrary to your desires. Jesus Himself was always careful to allow for the Father's will. In fact, His own prayer in Luke 22:42 was not answered, because God's will preempted it by His plan for the world's salvation.

Prayer has always been the vital breath of the Christian and the church. While prayer is properly a supplication for benefits (for yourself — called a petition, or for others — called intercession) yet it has a wider significance. Since there is in prayer the elements of confession, adoration and thanksgiving, it becomes an act of worship. Seen as such, it can never cause you to become impatient or disillusioned.

It doesn't matter for what you have been praying for 25 years. If it still seems worthwhile — keep it up! I suggest, however, you remind yourself of the many prayers God has heard and answered — rather than the one seemingly ignored.

Your faith in Christ will not self-destruct over one thing God has not done! Cultivate the attitude of the crowd in Mark 7:37: "They were overcome with utter amazement. Again and again they said, 'Everything he does is wonderful.'"

Charming People

William F. Buckley Jr.

It is important to remember about the English that they are the most charming people in the world precisely because they are a) wonderfully adventurous, b) superbly humorous, and c) absolutely the world's top confidence men. G. K. Chesterton wrote that the upper class in England were tolerable precisely because, when all is said and done, they don't really take themselves seriously. The best indication of GK's point is the glorious profiteering done by August, not to say egregious, representatives of the class.

I GIVE you His Grace, the Duke of Leinster. I have a communication from His Grace, and so, probably, do you. How do I know it's from him? Blazoned across the top of the page is: "From His Grace the Duke of Leinster." This is in case the majesty of the provenance of this form letter should miss you. It is signed, "Leinster," which is the approved way for Their Graces to announce themselves.

ANYWAY, His Grace is inviting us to buy a piece of his property. Listen to the pitch. "Anderita is the site of some of the most momentous events in English history. The Romans were here, the Saxons fought here, and it was at Anderita that William the Conqueror landed to conquer a turbulent land and establish a line of monarchy that runs through 29 generations to the reign of our present Queen Elizabeth the Second." His Grace is giving us a chance to buy into that land. You can buy 25 square feet for $675. That comes to $1,176,120 per acre.

My irrepressible friend Sir Arnold Lunn, an octogenarian, writes me to remark that the recent sex scandals have presented the English with a grave dilemma. You see, he says, it is progressive "1) to approve of fornication, adultery, and homosexuality; and 2) to disapprove of aristocracy and aristocrats. So what is the correct avant garde line when a Lord commits adultery with a call girl?"

"I SEE," writes Sir Arnold, "no nice avant garde solution so far as Lord Jellicoe is concerned, but as all convinced Progressives are enthusiastic egalitarians the difficulty of combining 1) and 2) might be resolved in the case of Lord Lambton, for he habitually went to bed with two call girls, which few could afford. Egalitarianism demands One Man-One Call Girl."

Sir Arnold, author and essayist who in his twenties invented the device in skiing known as the "slalom" and, incredibly, escaped the penalties of the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Sportsmen, rejoices in the natural republicanism of Americans.

"P.S. — he writes. "Could you tell me whether it is improper to address an American on an envelope as A. B. Smith, Esquire, rather than simply as Mr. A. B. Smith? A newly appointed American concierge at a hotel in Switzerland thought that Esquire was a family name and assumed it must be a very large family, to judge by the number of letters addressed to different members of the Esquire clan."

And then there is the English zoologist, who has just now written to a correspondent in California to say that he desires to emigrate to California. He isn't protesting the monarchy, or the likes of Leinster, or even the Labor Party. He just likes America, and finds that California is, well, 110 per cent American.

Cub In A Naughty World

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a Boy Scout cub gets tired of hearing: "If you want to do a good deed, Freddy, stay home and watch your little sister while mother goes shopping."

"You were the smallest Cub Scout in your group, and now you're the smallest tenderfoot in the history of the Hawk Patrol."

"I think you look real cute in your summer uniform, Freddy. It shows up your knee dimples."

"Use a match, Freddy. I don't think it's a good idea to try to start the kitchen stove by rubbing two sticks together."

"If you want to do a good deed, Freddy, you can march over right now and apologize to that little girl for all the mean things you said to her yesterday." "He saved up all winter to get enough money to buy himself a Boy Scout knife, and then what does he do? Fifteen minutes after he gets it, he cuts his finger with it."

"As your scoutmaster, Freddy, it is my duty to be sure you are prepared to deal with any emergency. Now just suppose a big hungry bear invades your tent on our first overnight hike. Just how would you handle him?"

"I hate to bother you at the office, dear, but can you leave for home a little early tonight? Freddy has been studying to win a merit badge in knots, and he's got himself so tied up in the rope I can't get him loose."

"If you want to do a good deed, Freddy, go help your mother with the dishes." "Yes, Freddy, there is a chapter in the scouting Handbook that considers the subject of sex. But I think that in your case we can wait a year or two before we take it up."

"If you want to do a good deed, Freddy, go out to the backyard fence and bring in some firewood. You're not afraid of the dark at your age, are you?"

"You look a little bit guilty to me tonight, son. Are you sure that all day long you have been trustworthy, loyal, helpful, friendly, courteous, kind, obedient, cheerful, thrifty, brave, clean and reverent?"

"You must be near-sighted, kid. I don't need any help in crossing the street. I'm only 35. Get lost."

Something To Worry About

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My daughter has me worried. When my grandson was just a week old the doctor gave her a prescription for medicine to make the baby rest and for its bowels. (Too many movements.)

The baby is now four months old and against her doctor's advice she put the baby on 2 per cent milk. She claims a baby's stomach can't digest whole milk. You can just see the baby lose weight. She contends the baby is gaining weight.

The baby stays up late nights, as do the parents. She gives it the medicine to make it sleep. Sometimes it slumbers until noon the next day; some days it's never alert until late in the evening.

I have tried to talk to her about this. Can a baby become addicted to medicine of this kind? Will it cause any type of brain damage by constant use for four months? — Mrs. S.V.

I join you in worrying about that grandson.

As to the 2 per cent milk: it's fine for a child who is gaining too much weight, because much of the fat has been removed from the milk.

That's the only difference, however.

If this grandson is LOSING weight, then he isn't getting enough to eat, and certainly should be having whole milk. While some youngsters are allergic to cow's milk, most are not, and they certainly have no trouble digesting whole milk.

Item 2: I think it is inexcusable to keep a baby up late except in instances in which the whole family (because of a night job) has to live upside-down hours. In such cases the baby still must get his required rest, but it doesn't have to be in the same hours as for a daytime baby. But if this grandson is groggy until evening, something's wrong.

Item 3: Not knowing exactly what medicine was prescribed, I can't comment very specifically on that. If it was a paregoric mixture, then continued use can cause addiction since paregoric is a narcotic. If so, how is the mother getting it? Paregoric is a prescription drug.

If the medication was some safer sedative, there may be no brain damage or addiction — but if, as you say, the baby isn't alert until evening, something's wrong.

Why, incidentally, is it necessary to give the baby anything to make him sleep? Is he restless? Does he cry? Maybe he's hungry.

My thought would be to tip off the doctor as to what is happening — but if the mother won't follow his instructions, that baby may be in for a rough time.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Do support stockings cause broken veins in the legs? I had heard they could possibly cause them. Also what methods would you suggest for removing broken veins? — D.F.

If by "broken veins" you mean varicose veins, no, support stockings do not cause them and will not correct them, although they may make your legs more comfortable.

If you mean the tiny, so-called "spider veins" which look rather like hair lines, again no, support stockings do not cause them. I know that some surgeons are rather skilled at making them less obvious by means of electrocoagulation.

That is a fussy, time-consuming process and not always successful. Since spider veins do no harm, except for appearance, my usual advice is to (a) ignore them or (b) use cosmetics to match your natural skin color.

Forecaster On Grill

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — After the Senate gets finished investigating the Watergate, I have another subject for them to delve into. And that is the weathermen on television — who promise you a sunny weekend, and then it rains like hell. Here is how this investigation would go:

SENATOR: Please state your name and profession.

HARGILL: Archie Hargill. I am the weather forecaster for television station WFOG.

SENATOR: Now on July 27, according to your own statement, you predicted that there would be clear skies, warm and sunny weather. Do you have that statement in front of you?

HARGILL: Yes sir. I may have said it, but I don't recall it.

SENATOR: Now according to witnesses, it rained on both Saturday and Sunday of the weekend. Could you, in your own words, explain why you predicted a nice weekend?

HARGILL: I think we have to look at this in perspective. At that point in time, I had received information from the Weather Bureau that a cold front was moving in from Canada. I assumed from this information, which I believed to be correct, that the weekend would be sunny.

SENATOR: Didn't you think you owed it to your viewers to go outside and check to see if it was raining?

HARGILL: In hindsight, that is probably what I should have done. But in the period we're talking about, I accepted the Weather Bureau's assurances that this cold front would move in.

SENATOR: Now when you realized you had made a mistake, why didn't you go back on the air and admit you had erred? Don't you think that would have been the decent thing to do?

HARGILL: I'm not sure. It could have cost the station a sponsor.

SENATOR: Are you trying to tell me that a sponsor is more important to you than the thousands of people who were making plans to go away for the weekend?

HARGILL: Senator, I believe you're putting words in my mouth.

SENATOR: Let's go back to your log for early July. You predicted, and I'm using your own words now, "great sailing weather and a blue sky from Boston to Nantucket."

HARGILL: I assume you're talking about the day there were hailstorms all across Cape Cod and a tornado on Martha's Vineyard. I know this may sound strange, but I don't recall it.

SENATOR: When you found out about the hailstorms and tornado, why didn't you tell the president of your station? Don't you think he should have been informed about this catastrophe?

HARGILL: He was in Key Biscayne at the time; I did tell his administrative assistant that I thought something was fluky. But until the tornado actually hit Martha's Vineyard, I had nothing more to go on than hearsay.

Unease Over Cox

Rowland Evans

WASHINGTON — Investigation of the ITT affair by special prosecutor Archibald Cox has advanced so far that some of the incriminating memoranda were in his hands when their existence was first revealed by the Senate Watergate committee last week.

MOREOVER, COX is pressing a reluctant White House to release its secret ITT file. Whether or not that succeeds, Cox has sufficient evidence to seek indictments of high-level figures, including former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell. What's more, evidence showing political influence in antitrust decisions will come perilously close to President Nixon.

Sen. Sam Ervin's Watergate hearings may indeed turn out less important than the special prosecutor's ITT investigation. Whereas senior aides at the White House believe Ervin's threat has subsided, they fear the breadth, intensity and duration of Cox's expanding operation.

NOWHERE IS THE danger to a beleaguered President greater than in Cox's probe of how a government antitrust suit against the merger of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. (ITT) with the Hartford Fire Insurance Co. was blocked. Although Cox is tight-lipped, Justice Department sources believe he is not far from going to the grand jury.

Actually, Cox was not aware of the March 30, 1972, memorandum by Charles W. Colson, then White House special counsel, unveiled by the Ervin committee last Wednesday. But he was well aware of some of the incriminating documents listed by Colson.

SEEKING MORE evidence, Cox for weeks privately requested ITT documents. White House special counsel Fred Buzhardt did not say yes or no, but stalled. Frustrated, Cox went public July 27, demanding the Fielding file. Cox's informal demand for the Fielding file poses fuzziest problems than his subpoena for the celebrated tapes.

A Devotion For Today

Do your best to present yourself to God as one approved, a workman who has no need to be ashamed, rightly handling the word of truth. (2 Timothy 2:15, RSV)

PRAYER: Our Father, we thank You for the difference You make in our lives. Help us to be aware of the needs of others. Whatever we do, help us to do our best that we may not be ashamed of our selves. In the spirit of Jesus. Amen.

Illegal Beer Is Confiscated

LAMESA — Nearly 50 cases of beer, whiskey, wine and sherry were confiscated from three residences in this dry town by city police over the weekend.

Roger Hilburn, W. L. Harris and Reynaldo Acosta were arrested Saturday afternoon and charged with illegal possession of alcoholic beverages. Bonds were set at $750 each.

Search warrants were used to raid the residences. Estimated value of the haul on the bootlegger market was $1,300.

The liquor was turned over to the Texas Liquor Control Board which will eventually auction the haul off with revenue going to the state's general fund.

The total haul accumulated by police in the past two weeks was over 100 cases.

Fallon Will Speak Here

A Big Spring High School graduate will discuss his "survival kit" for teachers as a three-day teacher in-service workshop begins Monday in the Big Spring school district.

Dr. Berlie J. Fallon, associate dean for graduate studies at the Texas Tech University College of Education, will talk on his book, "How to Extend Your Prime Beyond Your Time," at the Monday morning general session in the high school auditorium.

A 1938 graduate of BSHS, Dr. Fallon has been actively engaged in research on educational innovations throughout the nation for the past 15 years. He has published three books in that field, plus numerous periodical articles.

He has been a full-time staff member at Texas Tech since 1955. For 10 years he was extensively involved in research and in-service training programs with public schools while executive secretary of the West Texas School Study Council.

Mascot Tryouts Slated Aug. 17

Try-outs for a young mascot to join the Big Spring High cheerleader squad at home varsity football games will be held at 4 p.m. Aug. 17 in the high school auditorium.

Boys and girls between the ages of three and five are eligible to try out. Candidates will be allowed to dance or "do their thing" while a tape recording of the school fight song is played.

The public is invited to attend the try-out session and to vote on their favorite for the post.

The mascot will join the cheerleaders in boosting team spirit at home games and pep rallies. He or she will be required to purchase a black and gold uniform.

Cable TV Gets OK In Lamesa

LAMESA — City councilmen here gave preliminary approval Monday to a 20-year franchise agreement for Lamesa Cable TV.

The council also authorized the city manager to take bids on three new trailer-type units for garbage collection. Bid opening for the units, expected to cost $20,000-$25,000 apiece, is set for Sept. 17.

CANNED BEAGLE—Barney, a beagle pup, got his head stuck in a milk can recently and gave Springfield, Ohio, firefighters a chance to prove that man can be dog's best friend. At upper left, after firemen punched a hole in the bottom of the can so Barney could breathe, they tried cooking oil to slip pup's head out but was unsuccessful. Metal cutter was brought in, upper right, and Barney, as shown in bottom photo, finally was freed.

Rechargeable Pacemakers; Hook Your Heart To Outlet

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — Mrs. Helen Chambers, a 77-year-old grey-haired Baltimore resident, recharges her implanted cardiac pacemaker "while I'm reading, or watching TV, crocheting, or doing embroidery."

Robert Frazier, a 33-year-old athletic looking amateur weightlifter, sometimes recharges his "while I'm sleeping or watching TV."

Mrs. Chambers and Frazier, both of whom have serious heart conditions, are two wearers of the world's first rechargeable pacemakers. The devices, implanted beneath their chest skins, are recharged weekly by the patient themselves.

They do so by first donning small "vests." They then plug wires from small chairside boxes into regular house electric outlets.

LINKED TO HEART

The box sends current to a small recharging coil attached to the vest over the implanted pacemaker, which is linked to the heart by a wire.

The coil converts the current to a magnetic field. This is transmitted through the patient's intact skin and recharges the battery of the implanted pacer. A yellow light flashes on the chairside box and a warning-buzzer sounds if the pacer is not being properly charged.

The two Baltimore patients told Tuesday about the do-it-yourself recharging process at a news conference called by scientists of the Johns Hopkins University, developers of the device.

Development of the pacemaker was first disclosed last May. The scientists said in a progress report that they have implanted pacemakers in five patients at the Baltimore hospital. They said nearly 50 other pacemakers have been manufactured and that most of these have been implanted and are working successfully in patients at a number of other American medical centers.

The new stainless steel pacemaker is about the size of a flat cigarette-lighter.

State's Newest Passenger Train May Be Money Maker

Editor's Note: While many Texans wait for Amtrak passenger train service to reach full stride, Texas Export Railroad Co. is already operating between Bridgeport and Jacksboro. The recreational train hauls passengers over a scenic route not easily seen from today's rail lines.

JACKSBORO, Tex. (AP) — Texas Export Railroad Co., the state's newest passenger train, has made a relic of the past relevant in the present. Operating over abandoned Rock Island tracks between Bridgeport and Graham, the train made its debut passenger run July 1 in what the company hopes will be a prosperous recreational enterprise.

NO. 1107

On board for the first run from Bridgeport to Jacksboro and return were 66 members of the Trinity Valley Railroad Club of Fort Worth. The group rode in the club's Frisco car No. 1107, completely refurbished in a two-year project by the club.

The coach is leased to Texas Export which is operating the 57.4-mile stretch from the Rock Island connection at Bridgeport to the terminus at Graham.

The first run was marked by whistles and bells as the solitary engine eased away from the boarding point, east of Runway Bay, headed toward Jacksboro with a lunch stop at Ft. Richardson State Park.

The line skirts the south end of Lake Bridgeport and the Runway Bay resort then meanders through rugged post oak and mesquite country, past the Vineyard guest town and into Jacksboro.

A catered barbecue meal is served with drinks for passengers to stroll through the Ft. Richardson museum and parade grounds.

BAGS CAR

Texas Export expects to add a converted baggage car to the train soon, to be used as a combination passenger-concession car.

The Trinity Valley Club, which is providing the passenger equipment on a lease basis, also has four Burlington Lines coaches.

Club spokesman Murrell

Hogue says the future is "unlimited."

"There are a lot of things going for the future of such an operation as this," he said. "These factors include the energy crisis, pollution concern, more leisure time, the best scenery in this part of the state, nostalgia, the natural yearning to recapture the days of yesteryear when life was simpler."

User Fees Bill Is Cleared Up

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Congressman Omar Bureleson said the President has just signed a bill clarifying the collection of user fees by the Army Corps of Engineers at lakes and reservoirs.

Last February the corps announced its intention to charge fees at undeveloped projects within its control which had not previously been designated as fee areas. This would have included several lakes and recreation areas within the 17th Congressional District. Rep. Bureleson and 22 other congressmen co-sponsored legislation designed to end the controversy and prohibit the collection of fees at these undeveloped areas.

Now fees may not be charged for access to or use of any campground which does not include the following: showers, flush restrooms, paved or dustproofed access, visitor protection controls, picnic tables and fireplaces, designated tent or trailer spaces, refuse containers and sanitary disposal stations, and potable water.

Smoke, Smoke That Cigarette

WASHINGTON (AP) — More and more "no smoking" signs are popping up around the country, especially in cities, on trains and in elevators.

But, the Agriculture Department noted recently, Americans consumed 2.5 per cent more cigarettes between June 1972 and April 1973 than they did during the matching 1971-72 period.

MRS. TONY WYNN

Family Wings Way To High-Flying Times

By BARBARA LORD
The sky's the limit for the Tony Wynn family each weekend as they hop into their six-seater Bonanza aircraft and take off to visit friends or relatives in various parts of the country. A weekend seldom goes by that the Wynns don't take a trip, and they enjoy the excitement of each excursion.

learn to land the aircraft in case of an emergency, but that is all. Whether the Wynns are going to visit family in Medina, Dallas or San Antonio, or friends in Memphis, Tenn., they are always accompanied by their three sons, Douglas, 7, and the twins, Scott and Chris, 3.

MOVING

"Flying is actually Tony's hobby," said Mrs. Wynn, "but I go with him every weekend, so I consider it a hobby, too. He wants me to get my flying license, but I'm not too comfortable about the idea. If a weekend comes that we don't go anywhere, I'm terribly disappointed, but when we do go I'm always afraid all the time we're in the air." Mrs. Wynn said she may

The Wynns moved from Beaumont to Big Spring in December. He is vice president of Howard County Junior College. "We got here just in time for the bad stretch of weather," said Mrs. Wynn, "and I didn't have a very good first impression of the city." The move marked the couple's seventh in eight years of marriage. "Moving is a real hassle," said Mrs. Wynn; "especially with children. I hope we're here for a long time." The family has bought a lovely home at 2906 Hunters Glen which Mrs. Wynn has decorated in bright and comfortable yellows and golds.

Mr. and Mrs. Wynn like to entertain, and she takes the opportunity to try new creations in the kitchen. Cooking is one of her favorite activities, and although the Wynns prefer small dinner parties, guests can always depend on something special.

"I don't get extremely fancy when I have guests," said Mrs. Wynn, "but I do like to make the meal somewhat out of the ordinary." Mrs. Wynn's most unique course of the meal is apt to be dessert. Making pastries is her favorite part of cooking, although she said most of what she makes is given to friends and neighbors. Also, she likes to experiment with casseroles and meat dishes.

LIKES PRODUCE

Her experimenting doesn't extend to foreign dishes, but Mrs. Wynn said she loves to eat them. She finds no cause to learn to cook Mexican cuisine because there are "so many good Mexican restaurants around that are inexpensive." She said it just isn't worth the mess it makes of her kitchen to cook it herself.

Mrs. Wynn was reared by her two grandmothers, one from New York and one from Texas. She feels she benefited from the cooking expertise of them both. Her Texas grandmother concentrated primarily on "country cooking," while the one from New York made a wider variety of foods.

Good produce is a requirement of Mrs. Wynn's grocery shopping, and she grows some of her own in a "very small" vegetable garden. It is her first garden, and she's so proud of it that she goes out each morning to check the okra, cucumbers and tomatoes.

In Beaumont the Wynns enjoyed eating fresh seafood, and they also did a lot of boating. They still own a fishing and ski boat, but haven't had much opportunity to use it since arriving here.

Mr. and Mrs. Wynn met in San Antonio when they were students at Trinity University. Wynn received his BA degree there and his MA degree at Texas A&M, College Station, with a major in computer science.

RECOMMENDED RECIPES

PARTY CHICKEN

8 boned chicken breasts
8 slices bacon
2 pkgs. (6-oz.) wafers
sliced smoked beef
1 can undiluted mushroom soup
½ pint sour cream
Rice
Wrap each chicken breast with a piece of bacon. Cover bottom of a greased, flat 8x12x2-inch baking dish with smoked beef. Arrange chicken on beef. Mix soup and sour cream, and pour mixture over chicken. Refrigerate overnight. Bake at 375 degrees for one hour, uncovered. Serve over rice. Serves 8.

BARBECUE BRISKET

1 4-lb. boneless brisket
Salt and pepper
Season brisket with salt and pepper and bake uncovered at 300 degrees for four or five hours. Let brisket cool, and then slice.
Sauce:
1 cup vinegar (apple cider)
2 tbsps. sugar
2 tbsps. Worcestershire sauce
½ cup catsup
½ tsp. paprika
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. dry mustard
Dash pepper
1 clove garlic, minced
½ green pepper, chopped
1 small onion, minced.
Mix all ingredients, and simmer for 15 minutes. Pour over cooked and sliced brisket. Cover and bake at 325 degrees for one hour.

MARINATED GREEN VEGETABLES

2 cans vertical packed green beans, drained
1 cup cooking oil
4 tbsps. apple cider vinegar
2 garlic cloves, squeezed
½ tsp. pepper
1 large jar sliced pimento
2 tbsps. sweet pickle relish
2 tbsps. chopped salad olives, chopped
2 tbsps. parsley, chopped
4 tbsps. capers, drained
2 tbsps. sugar
1 tsp. salt
Dash pepper
Place beans in casserole dish. Mix all remaining ingredients together and shake. Pour mixture over beans, and refrigerate overnight.

RUM CAKE

2 cups flour
1½ cups sugar
5 eggs
½ lb. margarine
1 tsp. vanilla
1 tsp. butter flavoring
2 tbsps. rum flavoring
Cream margarine well, and add sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, and beat after each. Add flavorings and flour. Mix well. Pour into a Bundt pan and bake at 325 degrees for 50 minutes.

Top with glaze.

Glaze:

1 cup sugar
½ cup water
2 tbsps. rum flavoring
Bring water and sugar to a boil. Remove from heat and cool. Add rum flavoring. Use pastry brush to apply on warm Rum Cake.

STRAWBERRY PIE

2 pints fresh strawberries
¾ cup water
1 cup sugar
3 tbsps. cornstarch
1 tsp. lemon juice
2 pkgs. (3-ozs. each) cream cheese
4 tbsps. cream
1 small container Cool Whip
1 9-in. baked pie shell.

Select one cup of the smallest berries, add water and simmer five minutes. Combine sugar and cornstarch, and stir into cooked berries. Stir constantly, until syrup is clear and thick. Stir in lemon juice and cool slightly. Set aside. Mix together the cream cheese and cream, until fluffy. Fold Cool Whip into cream cheese mixture. Spread mixture over bottom of pie shell. Place reserved whole berries on top of cream cheese. Pour thickened syrup over top of berries. Chill well before serving.

Pantry Pickups

For a Saturday sandwich that's bound to be a hit with Dad, just wrap assorted cold cuts around creamy coleslaw and pile on hard rolls.

Miniature franks make the greatest appetizers. And they come thoroughly cooked ready to eat right from the package or heat in quick time.

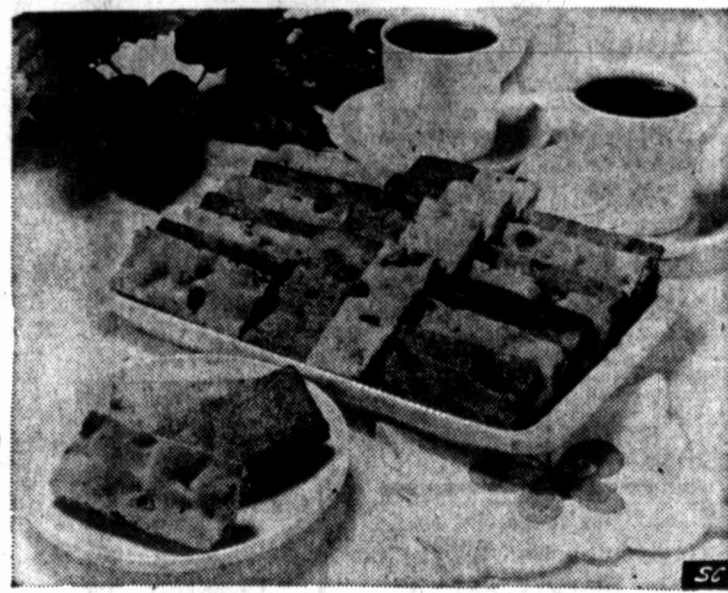

The pork loin is often divided in three roasts; the center and the two ends. The blade end contains the blade bone; the sirloin end, a portion of the hip and backbone. Select whichever best fits your needs. All three make outstanding meals.

Sauces and herbs are intended to accentuate meat's flavor, not overpower it. A true gourmet gets a thrill of accomplishment in devising a unique and flavorful basting sauce.

Rinse your hands in cold water when you are shaping meat balls.

Two-In-One Sticks Have Double Delight

For an extra treat or something sweet to put in the cookie jar, try the Two-Way Honey Sticks. The Honey Sticks are easy to make. Be certain to divide the batter in half. Mix 1 cup unmelted morsels into one half of the batter and 1 cup melted morsels into the remaining batter. This way, you will have two different types of Honey Sticks.

TWO-WAY HONEY STICKS

2 6-oz. pkgs. (2 cups) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
3 cups flour
2 tbsps. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
1 cup shortening
½ cup sugar
2 tbsps. cinnamon
2 tbsps. vanilla extract

2 eggs
1½ cups honey
Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Melt over hot, (not boiling) water 1 6-oz. pkg. (1 cup) chocolate morsels; cool. Combine flour, baking powder and salt; set aside. Combine shortening, sugar, cinnamon and vanilla extract; beat until creamy. Beat in eggs. Alternately add honey and flour mixture. Divide batter in half. Stir 1 6-oz. pkg. (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels into one half and melted morsels into remainder. Spread each batter into a greased 15x10x1 in. pan. Bake at 400 degrees for 12 minutes. Cool. Dust with sifted confectioners' sugar, if desired. Cut into 3x1-in. sticks. Makes 8 dozen cookies.

'THERE'S A WORLD OF DIFFERENCE'

Agnew's Rapid Response In Stark Contrast To Nixon's Tactics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Their situations are different, but Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's rapid response to allegations of wrongdoing stands in stark contrast to President Nixon's tactics on Watergate.

Agnew distributed a comment until the investigation was completed. But after Tuesday's denials and field questions, he quickly acknowledged his probe and proclaiming his innocence. His Monday night statement said he would have no further to say on the matter.

But after Tuesday's denials and field questions, he quickly acknowledged his probe and proclaiming his innocence. His Monday night statement said he would have no further to say on the matter.

Had he considered stepping aside during the investigation? "I have not," Agnew said. "I have not." Agnew said. "I have not."

Even as Agnew faced the questions in a windowless conference room in the Executive Office Building, Nixon was continuing to work on his response to Watergate across the street in the White House. After receiving reports on the president's news conference, Nixon boarded his helicopter on the White House lawn and headed for the woody seclusion of Camp David to complete the statement he will deliver.

ACCUSATIONS

Nixon, who soon plans to take his case again to the public, never found himself directly confronted with the type of accusations leveled against Agnew—a fact that White House aides are quick to point out.

"There is no parallel, no parallel situation at all," said one presidential aide. "There's a world of difference."

Agnew himself made somewhat the same point in his news conference Wednesday. He observed that Nixon had not gotten a letter from the U.S. attorney advising him he was under investigation for possible violation of criminal statutes, as the vice president had.

Thus far, the allegations are just that. No charges have been filed against Agnew and no grand jury is considering the case.

'DAMNED LIES'

The vice president called the news conference to confront allegations that he was involved in a kickback-bribery scheme in connection with government contractors. He denied the accusations as "damned lies."

In Nixon's case, the allegations have been less direct. Basically, investigators are checking whether the President allowed subordinates to cover up criminal activities involved in the Watergate bugging. As far as is known, no one has alleged to a federal prosecutor that Nixon committed a crime.

'THIRD-RATE'

In the days following the Watergate break-in almost 14 months ago, Nixon spokesmen sought to dismiss the affair as a "third-rate burglary." At an Aug. 29, 1972, news conference, the President said investigation by White House Counsel John W. Dean III showed no one presently employed in the administration was involved—an assertion later questioned by the since-fired Dean.

During the 1972 presidential campaign, Nixon continued to stand aloof from the Watergate scandal. But, in the months after his second inauguration, continuing disclosures forced him onto television on April 30. At that time he announced he had personally taken charge of the investigation, had fired Dean and had accepted the resignations of close aides H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, and Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst.

DENIALS

Later, May 22, came another presidential denial of awareness or involvement in the Watergate case. Since then, there has been silence. Now, with the Senate committee investigation in recess, Nixon is at his Camp David retreat preparing a public response to the latest Watergate charges.

In contrast to Nixon's seemingly laggard defense of himself and his administration, Agnew struck quickly.

Even as newspapers Monday night were preparing to disclose that he was under investi-

MEN IN SERVICE

DAVID SLAUGHTER

Airman David L. Slaughter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orbia L. Slaughter, 1206 Dixie, has graduated at Sheppard AFB, Tex., from the U.S. Air Force aircraft mechanic course conducted by the Air Training Command.

Airman Slaughter is being assigned to Tyndall AFB, Fla., for duty with a unit of the Aerospace Defense Command. He is a 1970 graduate of Denison (Tex.) High School. His wife, Nondas, is the daughter of Mrs. Martha Steele, 402 N. Houston, Denison.

ROBERT O. BENTLEY

Navyman Robert D. Bentley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Bentley of 614 Tulane, Big Spring, Tex., completed the Photographer's Mate School here.

Navy photographers work at shore stations, aboard ships and in aircraft to produce photography used in Naval intelligence, operations and public affair efforts.

JACKY HARP

Airman Jacky J. Harp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Harp, Welch, Tex., has graduated with honors at Sheppard AFB, Tex., from the U. S. Air Force aircraft mechanic course conducted by the Air Training Command.

Airman Harp is being assigned to Cannon AFB, N.M., for duty with a unit of the Tactical Air Command.

The airman, a 1969 graduate of Dawson High School, attended Texas Tech University.

Army Spec. 4 John D. Sanchez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Gonzales, 710 N. Iowa Ave., Lamesa, participated in a yearly tank gunnery qualification test at the Army Training

Hawaiian Joins Recruiting Staff

Ronald G. Fellows has joined the staff of the Army's Recruiting Main Station for West Texas, based in Amarillo. Sgt. Fellows will serve as chief of the advertising and information division.

Prior to coming to Texas, Sgt. Fellows was responsible for establishing the first joint services newspaper in southern Germany, the "Augsburg Scene," a tabloid publication for the Army, Navy and Air Force military community in Augsburg, Germany. Previously, he has served as chief of public affairs for the Army's Giessen Support Center, Germany.

Horses Die

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP) — Army veterinarians ruled that carbon disulfide in a worm medicine was responsible for the deaths of 21 horses and two mules of the 1st Cavalry here.

The medicine was mixed in the wrong proportions, they said Wednesday.

The animals belonged to a horse platoon used for ceremonial purposes.

Falcons Due To Solve Woes Of Birds Banging Planes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The falcon, mascot of the Air Force Academy, is being flight-tested as a predator capable of clearing airport runways of birds that smash into planes.

The principal researcher revisiting the ancient art of falconry for the Air Force is The Rev. Edwin Mattingly, a 55-year-old Roman Catholic priest who has been training the birds since his college days in Indiana.

In "Operation Prairie Chick-

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thurs., August 9, 1973 3-B

step of the experiment. Mattingly said his falcons' claws were dulled and none of the prairie chickens, an endangered species, was killed at Whiteman. But he conceded many probably died because they were flushed from their breeding grounds.

James Rod, an official of the National Audubon Society, said his organization has no objection to use of falcons for clearing out birds that are in plentiful supply. But he promised an investigation of Mattingly's experiment with prairie chickens.

Mattingly said falcons, used for centuries for hunting small game, are a last-resort solution to a problem that annually costs the Air Force $13.5 million in damage to planes.

Three other bases—Ellington in Texas, Vance in Oklahoma and Hill in Utah—are being considered as sites for more falcon experimentation.

Permian Gas Ceiling Hiked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Power Commission has approved a new rate schedule allowing higher prices for much of the natural gas shipped to states in the Southwest and Midwest.

Members of the commission said they sought to balance consumer and investor interests in approving a new rate schedule more than doubling the production ceiling price for gas produced from the Permian Basin in West Texas and parts of New Mexico.

Gas produced from this field serves the Pacific Southwest, New Mexico, Texas and two Midwestern pipelines — Natural Gas Pipeline and Northern Natural Gas.

The rate schedule affects prices at the wellhead. The EPC specifically refused to speculate on the effect of the change on consumer prices.

The rate approved calls for an increase from 16.5 cents per 1,000 cubic feet to 35 cents on gas produced under contracts dated since Oct. 1, 1968. Gas produced under contracts drawn before that date had its ceiling price increased from 14.5 to 23 cents.

"It is only in this manner that we can attempt to alleviate increasing pipeline curtailments and assure adequate and safe service to meet consumer demands," the commission wrote in its decision.

Since the action by the FPC affects ceiling prices, it will not necessarily change prices under current sales contracts. However, as new contracts are signed or old ones renegotiated, the prices included could be expected to move toward the new ceilings.

7,000 Houston Teachers May Strike This Month

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Independent School District, sixth largest in the nation, may be faced with a strike later this month by 7,000 Houston school teachers.

Mrs. Norma Kacen, executive director of the Houston Teachers Association, has warned that unless conditions improve, teachers may decide to strike.

The HTA is seeking an $1.00 across-the-board pay hike for the new school year. Teacher salaries now range from $7,100 to $12,060.

Mrs. Kacen said the entire membership of the HTA would decide what to do at a meeting Aug. 14 or 15. "If the teachers decide to strike, then we will strike," Mrs. Kacen said.

Dr. George Oser, the school board's presiding officer, said Tuesday even though a strike would be against the law, Houston School District policies do not prohibit a teacher representative from talking about a strike.

School board attorney Harry Patterson said in his opinion a strike would be illegal. George DePillo, district personnel director, advised the board a third party entry in contract talks is illegal under a state law that forbids collective bargaining for public employees.

"State law doesn't prohibit fact-finding and mediation to reach a voluntary agreement," Mrs. Kacen said.

Mrs. Kacen said a neutral third party was used to resolve teacher contracts in Austin and Fort Worth.

She Ties Yellow Ribbons On Trees

POINT MARION, Pa. (AP) — Wayne Astolias returned to this southwestern Pennsylvania village last weekend after a 28-month Army hitch in Germany, and his wife Laura prepared a special greeting.

She tied 100 yellow ribbons around the old trees at the Point Marion Bridge.

Westbrook Ex Is On Expedition

WESTBROOK (SC) — Ross McKenney 22, of Abilene, is one of 32 persons on a zoological expedition which began July 3 to the Ecuadorian mainland and Galapagos Islands off the Ecuadorian coast.

The expedition is affiliated with the Charles Darwin Research Institute in Dana Point, Calif., which has accepted McKenney as a zoologist.

The institute is directed by the University of Guayaquil in Ecuador.

McKenney is the son of Jack McKenney of Westbrook and Mrs. Doris McKenney of Abilene.

McKenney is a 1973 graduate of the University of Texas where he majored in biology. He worked for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department in Palacios in 1972 where he helped with experimental commercial raising of shrimp and oysters.

He is a graduate of Abilene High School.

McKenney may be with the institute for a year.

WINNER — Mark Jones, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clement Jones, poses here at Farragut Park, Idaho with his map of the world, which won first place in the string art division at the National Scout Jamboree. Mark, a first class Scout from Troop 5, spent 2 1/2 months working on the map. Presenting the award is Tom Chell, Rowland Heights, Calif. Mark, and a score other members of the troop, together with leaders Bill Bradford and Curt Strong, will return here Friday evening.

Funds OKed By Council

ODESSA (SC) — Directors of the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission Wednesday approved about $200,000 in state and federal funds for four agencies and appointed a drug abuse advisory committee.

The action was taken at the regular monthly meeting.

The Commission approved $40,000 for the Texas Highway Department to finance the second year of operation of the Midland-Odessa Regional Transportation Study.

The Commission approved $93,576 for the University of Texas of the Permian Basin for Texas Criminal Justice Council funds to partially fund the first year of operation of a two-year project for law enforcement education.

The Permian Basin Rehabilitation Center will receive $60,000 from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to improve services of the speech and hearing department.

The Winkler County Council for Retarded Children will receive $8,310 from HEW to help finance the opportunity center operated by the council.

Regional Alcoholism Services developer, Ron Purcell, will be ex officio secretary of the 21-member drug abuse advisory committee.

The PBRPC received $14,000 of $336,445 from the Texas Commission on Alcoholism. The $336,445 in federal funds covers 24 regional alcoholism authorities in Texas.

County Judge A. G. Mitchell said Big Spring was not represented at this month's meeting.

Local Librarians Await Workshop

Three local librarians will be among 40 or 50 library officials to attend the annual "management for Small Libraries" workshop at Texas Tech University in Lubbock Aug. 23.

Larry Justiss, librarian, and Joan Crowover, reference librarian, of Howard County Library and Mrs. Ray Redman of the Webb Library will attend the second day of the meeting. The whole conference lasts Aug. 22-24. Joy Burnsed, HCJC librarian, may attend.

The workshop is sponsored by the Tech Library, the Lubbock city-county libraries and the Texas State Library Field Service Division.

RAPPING ABOUT WATERGATE—John Ehrlichman, President Nixon's beleaguered aide, talks about Watergate with teen-ager Pam Pearson.

'WE'LL MAKE POLITICIANS STAY HONEST' A Teenager Looks At Watergate

Editor's Note: Pam Pearson, a New York City high school student, recently went to Washington, D.C., to attend the Watergate hearings. While there she got a chance to talk to John Ehrlichman, President Nixon's aide, about what Watergate would do to youth's respect for politics and politicians. Her fresh and vivid firsthand report follows.

By PAM PEARSON
Copley News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C. — My feet felt glued to the floor and there was a lump in my throat. John Ehrlichman, the President's aide, had just sent word that he wanted to talk to me.

I'm 16 years old, and I had come to Washington to watch the Watergate hearings.

I'd been watching it on TV, of course, but when I heard Gordon Strachan, another one of Mr. Nixon's aides, tell young people to "stay away" from politics, I decided to come to Washington and ask other young people at the hearings if they believed what Strachan said.

Somehow John Ehrlichman heard about why I was there. During a lunch recess of the hearings he asked me to come up to the witness table, under the hot glare of the television lights, and talk to him about it.

I made my way nervously across the Senate hearing floor, hands thrust deep into the pockets of my jeans. I realized, red-faced, that I was the only woman reporter there wearing blue jeans.

I WAS NERVOUS

"Sit down over here," Mr. Ehrlichman said, motioning me into the chair where his lawyer, John Wilson, had sat. I guess he saw I was nervous, because he smiled really warmly at me.

been the last thing on your mind." I added a little apologetically.

"Oh, no," Ehrlichman said. "I've got a houseful of teenagers myself."

STRAINED SILENCE

There was a sort of strained silence for a moment. I decided to fire off my one and only question.

"Do you think Watergate will discourage young people from going into politics?" I asked.

My voice seemed to be a little high. He answered immediately. "I was surprised at what Mr. Strachan said. I don't happen to agree. The institution of government is like an automobile, a vehicle for moving things along.

nobody should drive—is missing the point.

"There are a lot of highly motivated young people in this country, and I think the slogan should be not 'stay away' but 'come and do better.'"

MAKE HISTORY

I've been wondering ever since then if I didn't help to make history at that moment, because the next day Mr. Ehrlichman said the same thing on national television as part of his closing statement to the committee.

tonholed them in the rotunda outside the old Senate Caucus Room.

Tom Troy, 17, of Bethesda, Md., told me that he admired what he called "democracy" work in the Senate hearings, big investigation and hearing and a court trial and all that. Tom said he respected the skill of the senators in questioning but he also admired the way Ehrlichman stood up under the questioning.

Virginia Barnes, 24, of Louisville, Ky., said that Watergate is going to make politicians more responsive to voters.

"I think that the politicians are beginning to see that the public is going to look twice at a candidate before the vote," she said.

But the feelings of most young people at the hearings were probably best summed up by Wallace John, 28, of Iowa City.

CORRECT

"I think Ehrlichman is absolutely correct, even though I disagree with everything he stands for," John said. "The Watergate hearing has really confirmed that you have to be part of the political process in order to have any input at all."

John and other young people like myself, aren't fed up with politics because of Watergate. What we want to see is politics that pays more attention to what people want, and that goes about its job honestly. And we'll make sure that politicians stay honest — even if we have to jump in and do the job ourselves.

Will Result In 15-Cent Newspapers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The supply of newsprint for the nation's newspapers is tight and may get tighter, which probably will result in more 15-cent newspapers and higher advertising rates in the future, according to industry spokesmen.

The country's 1,761 daily newspapers have been under warning for some time for the American Newspaper Publisher's Association that demand for newsprint is catching up with supply.

"The present situation is not yet acute," said Stanfor Smith, president of the ANPA. "The situation is that news papers cannot get larger shipments as fast as they might like to have them with the exact specifications they would like to get," he added.

Smith said he had not heard of any cases where newspapers have missed editions because of a lack of newsprint, but added a number of newspapers have taken steps to avoid wasting newsprint.

But Smith and others feel the big problem may lie ahead. Newsprint mills are already producing at capacity or near capacity in both the United States and Canada while demand from the newspaper industry continues to surge.

"If the economy moves up in 1974 and 1975, there could be a very tight supply situation," said Howard Post, a Department of Commerce specialist for forest products. Newsprint is currently selling for $175 a ton. Post estimates the price would have to increase to between $225 to $250 per ton to provide adequate incentive for new investment.

Paper Is Bought By Paper Chain

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) — Freedom Newspapers, Inc., has announced purchase of the Kingston, N.C., Free Press as the 20th daily in its group.

No price was given for the 18,000 circulation afternoon daily in an announcement by C. H. Hollis, chairman of the board of the Santa Ana-based company.

The sale was negotiated with agents for the estates of Henry G. Braxton and Theo Pennington Braxton, Hollis said.

The Free Press is the second North Carolina paper in Freedom's group, which includes five dailies in California, five in Texas, three in Florida, two in Ohio and one each in Colorado, New Mexico and Nebraska. Combined circulation of the group now exceeds 553,000, Hollis said.

He said no changes in personnel are anticipated in the management and production of the Monday through Saturday publication serving the community of 23,000 in southeastern North Carolina.

Soldiers Supported By Yank Bombing

PHNOM PENH (AP) — Supported by massive U.S. bombing, Cambodian troops advanced from two directions along Highway 1 today in an operation to clear the west bank of the Mekong River and reopen the road to the government's base at Neak Luong.

Col. Am Rong, chief spokesman for the military command, reported one government force backed by armored personnel carriers pushed eight miles southeast down the highway from the village of Deyeth.

WEAK RESISTANCE
Another government column fought its way six miles up the road from Neak Luong, he reported. This left about eight miles of rebel-held road still to be cleared before the two forces link up.

It was while U. S. planes were softening up the insurgents along the Mekong as the operation got under way that American fliers accidentally bombed Neak Luong and an island to the north of it Monday and Tuesday. At least 145 persons were reported killed and 280 were injured.

SOFTENING UP
With the U. S. bombing support continuing for only a week longer, the Phnom Penh government is trying to clear the insurgents from the banks of the river to make things easier for supply convoys from South Vietnam.

Am Rong said government forces met only weak resistance as they moved down the highway into the village of Chruoy Dang, 21 miles southeast of Phnom Penh. One government soldier was reported killed.

From the other direction, government troops reached the village of Koki Thom.

The Pentagon said U.S. bombing in Cambodia is at its highest level in a month because of increased pressure by the insurgents. It said the number of single B52 strikes rose from 40 to about 50 a day and that the number of fighter-bomber strikes was more than the 200-a-day average of recent weeks.

Parts Of City Get Sprinkles

Some Big Spring residents may have been surprised Wednesday afternoon by a small sunshower, although it wasn't much.

The Agricultural Experiment Station recorded only "a trace" and the Texas Electric Service Company switching station has received none since Aug. 1.

AWAITING TRANSFER—A mother and son sit amidst equipment, including two M16 rifles in foreground, at Phnom Penh staging area awaiting movement with Cambodian government troops being moved from Svay Rieng to Meak Luong. Troops are replacements for soldiers killed and wounded in mistaken U.S. bombing raid Monday.

Ain't No Country Music Fan! I Din't Know That

By JAY SHARBUTT
NEW YORK (AP) — Okay, gang, tonight's assignment is to check out "Dean Martin Presents Music Country" on NBC-TV. Particularly if you don't like country music. The show may change your mind.

I, pardon the personal reference, ain't a country music fan. It reminds me of too many gloomy Army days at Ft. Benning, Ga., too many nights of voices softly howling. "Ah Din't Know God Made Honkey-Tonk Angels."

TO BE PITIED
There's little of that on NBC's country show, primarily because country music has lost much of its raw sound in the last five years and allowed such outside influences as jazz and string sections to sneak in.

But the best things about the program, a seven-week summer replacement, are (a) the way it captures the musical feel of Nashville, Memphis and lesser Tennessee locales, and (b) the audio engineering, which is far superior to that of most music shows on television.

Item A is hard to explain to anyone who never visited Nashville or Memphis. I guess the best way to put it is that anyone who doesn't play or appreciate guitar or fiddle is looked upon there as a bit odd and someone to be pitied. It's a great atmosphere for any kind of music.

Singer-guitarist Jerry Reed, who appears on several of the NBC country shows, is perhaps the best example of how good and varied the Nashville-Memphis music scene has become.

He can play a fine, driving jazz guitar, yet slip into the Chet Atkins style — and do it well — at the drop of a pick. He's equally good at singing either pop material or what some might call pure country.

He didn't do much of either on the show we caught last week, but it still was a fine way to spend an hour. It didn't go in for useless chatter. It simply let performers like Mac Davis, Loretta Lynn and even an ancient, obscure fiddler do their thing, one after another.

NICE SOUND
It nicely captured the beauty of the countryside — I'd forgotten there still are pastures without beer cans in them — as well as the wry amusement of local residents who showed up to watch the proceedings.

The sound reproduction thanks to a four-man NBC team headed by Joe Ralston, was great. It even sounded good on the matchbox-sized speaker of my TV set, a feat akin to making the sun rise in the West.

Tonight's effort, headed by Mac Davis, features such stars as Rita Coolidge, Waylon Jennings and Tom T. Hall. If it's like last week's model, you'll also see a few young and old performers known only to their families or the patrons of certain Nashville and Memphis pubs. It's a nice blend.
