Looking For More Sex Gang Victims In Texas

HOUSTON (AP) — Investigators in the Houston mass sex slayings case found bodies number 24 and 25 in quick succession today, making the grisly toll equal to the Juan Corona killings in California, the nation's biggest incident of mass murder.

ANKLES TIED

Both corpses were found along a deserted stretch of beach near High Island on the Gulf Coast.

Jefferson County sheriff's deputies said they were led to the 24th body by a man unidentified to newsmen. Officers said the man had recognized newspaper pictures of Elmer Wayne Henley, 17, and remembered

Henley as a motorist whose car had become stuck on the beach about eight months ago. Henley already has admitted to police he participated in some of the slayings. Deputies said they found a depressed section of sand, near where the man said Henley's car had been stuck, and they began digging. They found a badly-decomposed, but fully-dressed body, about four feet under the sand. The ankles of the corpse were tied together.

Unlike the other victims found so far, the corpse was not wrapped in the plastic sheeting which has become familiar in the case, nor was lime sprinkled over it.

NEWS MEDIA

The 25th corpse, fourth to be found in the area since officers began digging Friday, was found in Chamber County while the 24th body was found about three miles away in Jefferson County.

While officers were locating the bodies, Houston Police Chief Herman Short conducted a news conference in which he defended his department's handling of missing persons reports.

"It appears that some people, and some of the news media, are trying to make it appear the police department has not done all it could or should have in this case," he said.

He said many parents don't do an adequate job of controlling their children.

Henley was to have had a morning court appearance in which he was expected to seek a psychiatric examination but the hearing was postponed until later in the afternoon.

TERRIBLE

Henley has been charged with two counts of murder here in the series of slayings and three counts of murder in San Augustine County in East Texas where four bodies have been discovered.

Another Houston teen-ager, David Owen Brooks, 18, has also been charged with one count of murder. Dean Allen Corll, 33, who according to the boys was the instigator of the series of slayings, is dead.

It was his shooting death by Henley last Wednesday that touched off the investigation and subsequent terrible finds.

Only five of the badly decomposed bodies found in Houston and the other two locations have been positively identified.

West Texas Water Plan Not Feasible

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. Tom Creighton, D-Mineral Wells, disclosed today that the U.S. Corps of Engineers will state in a report that it is not economically feasible to import water from the lower Mississippi River to Texas' High Plains region.

Creighton commented at a news conference, and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby quickly noted that this did not mean Texas "wants to rule out the importation" of water.

A key feature of a proposed statewide water plan was a proposal to divert surplus water from the Mississippi to West Texas for irrigation and other purposes. A proposal, however, authorizing $3.5 billion in state bonds to pay part of the costs of the overall $9 billion was rejected by the voters in an August 1969 election.

The plan has never gotten under way. Creighton, Hobby and Sen. Max Sherman, D-Amarillo, announced the creation of four regional citizens' advisory councils on water resources. Each council will consist of eight to 10 residents of the area and two to three members of the Senate Natural Resources Committee.

"Water is the most precious resource we have," Hobby said. He enumerated some of the current water problems—"In some coastal areas subsidence caused by decreasing underground water tables threatens hundreds of acres with flooding from the Gulf (of Mexico) and bays. In East and Central Texas water erosion destroys top quality farm land. In West Texas we are depleting our water tables so fast that people are beginning to predict that we will run out of water for irrigation in the next decade or so."

Hobby said he envisioned the councils recommending water legislation applying to their specific areas.

Sen. Jack Hightower, D-Vernon, was appointed chairman of the West Texas Council and Sen. H. J. Blanchard, D-Lubbock, will be vice chairman. The citizen members are Jim Hedgecoke and K. "Burt" Watson, both of Amarillo; Troy McNeill, Dumas; A. L. Black, Friona; Dr. Marvin Baker, Levelland; Kent Hance, Lubbock; Marshall Formby, Plainview; Charles Stewart, San Angelo; Mrs. B. M. Sims, Wellington; and R. E. Chambers, Wichita Falls.

CITES POWER

The special prosecutor filed his brief in U.S. District Court in response to the White House argument that the courts lack the authority to compel President Nixon to obey subpoenas.

"The subpoena was properly directed to the President and the court has power to enforce it," Cox said.

He called the White House argument that the President is immune from court orders "inconsistent with our entire constitutional tradition."

He argued that the grand jury under whose authority the subpoena was issued "is not seeking to control the President in the exercise of his constitutional powers, for, as we show, he has no constitutional power to withhold the evidence sought by the subpoena merely by his own declaration of the public interest."

SEEK EVIDENCE

"The grand jury is seeking evidence of criminal conduct that the respondent happens to have in his custody—largely by his personal choice."

EYE AGNEW'S PAST Probe Alleged Maryland Political Corruption

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. attorney's office was prepared today to begin picking through a mountain of subpoenaed documents spanning Spiro T. Agnew's past public years in an investigation of Maryland political corruption.

Agnew was told about two weeks ago by U.S. Atty. George Beall of Baltimore that the vice president was under investigation for possible bribery, extortion, conspiracy and income tax law violations in connection with a probe of corruption in Baltimore County and the state of Maryland.

Agnew has unequivocally denied any charges that he accepted political payoffs, calling them "damn lies" and added that he had "absolutely nothing to hide."

Parents Of Boys Missing Rip Police Indifference

HOUSTON (AP) — There is bitter resentment toward the police among the parents whose sons have been missing for as long as three years and may now be in the grim remains of Houston's mass sex murders.

"We're highly disgusted with the Houston police department," says Walter Scott whose son Mark, 18, left home with parental permission for a trip to Mexico in April, 1972, and never returned.

"They could have helped and they didn't."

Police are said to be irritated by such criticism, Police Chief Meriman Short was expected to answer the criticism during a scheduled news conference today.

The last word from Mark Scott was a postcard sent from Austin, Tex., where he said he had a job making three dollars an hour, and would come home when he made enough to pay a lawyer who had helped free him on a charge of carrying a prohibitive weapon, in this case a knife.

But then Mark didn't come home. Scott says he wrote the Austin police twice and never received a reply. The Houston police explained that the boy was 18, and even if found they could not make him come home.

Scott said he pleaded with them. "Two broken hearts," he said shaking his head. "A mother and father with broken hearts."

'Freeze' Ends Except For Beef, Petroleum

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation is now under Phase 4 wage-price regulations, which took effect today.

Under the new rules imposed by President Nixon, prices set by small and medium sized businesses may be increased to reflect cost increases since the last quarter of 1972.

However larger firms, the 1,700 companies with business of $100 million a year, will have to give 30 days notice of any price hikes.

REGULATIONS Exempt from the new regulations will be businesses with 60 employees or less, as will the lumber industry and public service industries.

Gasoline and petroleum products will remain frozen until Aug. 19, and beef prices will be frozen until Sept. 12.

Special rules will apply to the insurance and health industries. The 5.5 per cent wage increase guideline is to continue from Phase 3.

PREDICTIONS Commerce Secretary

Frederick B. Dent says Phase 4 will probably be ended this year, but no firm date for ending it has been set.

The administration has not made predictions as to the results of the new program and no target for the rate of inflation by the end of the year has been set.

The goal of Phase 4, officials said, is to permit inevitable price increases to take place gradually, rather than suddenly, and to limit increases to cost increases and not allow profit hikes.

Officials hope Phase 4 will be the last attempt to control the nation's economy. Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz has said he doesn't expect to announce Phase 5.

FOOD PRICES

Shultz said he believes either Phase 4 will be the last such program or he won't be the secretary if Phase 5 is needed.

Food prices were partially unfrozen in July and some government officials have shown concern over the price increases since then.

County Pay Raises Could Depend On U.S. Checks

By MARJ CARPENTER

Howard County Commissioners were expected to approve a budget in an extended session this afternoon which is below last year's budget, with the tax rate remaining the same.

Commissioners eyed the budget in a public hearing meeting this morning but postponed action until after lunch to further study proposed five per cent salary increases for all personnel.

Judge A. G. Mitchell pointed out, "Goodness knows, the employees need the increase, with the cost of living soaring like it has in recent weeks — even to be able to put decent food on the table. However, we need to be aware that if we had not had revenue sharing funds to purchase equipment the county would be in a mess right now."

County Auditor Virginia Black concurred to this statement. Cy Terrazas pointed out that the commissioners court must be aware that they would be in trouble if the revenue sharing funds were ceased.

WATCH THE WELL Jack Buchanan added, "We need to have a good water tank if the well runs dry."

Judge Mitchell pointed out that if an over-all salary increase is included in the forthcoming budget that all elected officials need to understand that we might have to revoke the increase if revenue sharing should be halted. All employees would need to understand that we were not going to raise taxes to uphold the increase in salaries."

REVENUE HELPS

Mrs. Black pointed out that using the revenue sharing to purchase big equipment items had relieved the county enough so that next year's total budget shows a decrease of approximately $99,345.50.

However, the county is also faced with a decision in regard to exempting senior citizens from a county tax on their homesteads in 1974. A delegation of senior citizens appeared today at the court requesting a decision on this matter.

Judge Mitchell asked that the matter be put on the agenda for the regular meeting next Monday so that a decision could be made at that time.

AMBULANCE INCREASE

The court also upped ambulance service to $300 per month in place of the $150 now being paid to Alert Ambulance. This was instructed to be included in the new budget.

A request by the special investigator of the district attorney's office for an increase in his car allowance was denied with commissioners stating that "If we grant one car increase, we will be faced with many others."

Commissioners did approve the county agent's purchasing a saddle tank for his pickup, speculating that saving in cost of gas carried on out of town trips would quickly pay for the tank.

FILE BIDS TABLED

The commissioners studied three bids on files for the county clerk's office and tabled action until the next meeting. They also heard a representative of the Xerox copying machine discuss a new machine requested by the county clerk.

They were told that the machine would be considered under revenue sharing funds, possibly in a September meeting "but probably after the first of the year."

Lawrence Tank Company was instructed to build a $1240 fuel tank for county equipment. It is expected to be complete in around 15 days.

The commissioners also approved improvements in the jailers quarters following a request from the sheriff. They heard a report from Marvin Hanson, road administrator, and heard an insurance presentation by Frank Wentz. No action was taken.

Total budget expected to be adopted shows total expenditures and balances of $1,563,338 in comparison to $1,663,183.50 this year.

Stanton Couple Hurt In Crash

A freak airplane accident about 2 p.m. Sunday 17 miles north of Fort Davis on State Hwy. 17 sent two passengers to Brewster County Hospital in Alpine.

Toby and Aubline Graves, both of Stanton, were listed in satisfactory condition in the hospital late Sunday.

According to Department of Public Safety investigators, the Cessna aircraft reportedly struck a mobile home as the plane attempted to take off from the highway. The plane was owned by the Stanton Aero-Club.

Two other passengers, including Granville Davis of Stanton, escaped unharmed.

Copies Of Paper Are Stolen Here

It must have been hot news that tempted someone to make off Sunday from Coker's Restaurant with eight copies of the Big Spring Herald.

A waitress reported the theft to police at 8 a.m. Sunday. The papers were valued at $2. Charges were not pressed against the news-hungry thief.

Mob Violence In Plainview

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (AP) — At least three law enforcement officers were reported injured early Sunday as they tried to break up a jeering mob of youths fighting among themselves.

The Hale County sheriff's office said the trouble started Saturday night when a man began fighting with a carnival attendant. When officers tried to part them, a crowd gathered and started throwing rocks and bottles. At least 17 arrests were made.

The crowd dispersed when the officers fired warning shots in the air, but later continued fighting among themselves.

Heavy Vandalism Reported Here

Extensive vandalism was done to a new county maintenance during the night Sunday, according to investigating officers at the sheriff's office.

Windows on the new equipment had been broken and apparently some of the gauges on the equipment had also been damaged. The equipment was located three miles south of Knott.

Marvin Hanson, road and bridge administrator, reported the bad news to the commissioners at their regular meeting this morning.

Judge A. G. Mitchell stated, "Whoever did this damage should realize that it hurts every tax payer to damage needed road equipment."

U.S. Planes Race Clock In Cambodia

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Khmer Rouge insurgents attacked a government position less than five miles west of the Phnom Penh airport today and captured Skoun, a road junction town 35 miles northeast of the Cambodian capital, military sources reported.

American pilots kept up their round-the-clock campaign to kill as many of the Khmer Rouge as they can before the bombing ends in two days.

A battalion of about 500 paratroopers at Skoun had been under heavy attack for the past two days. The sources said they were attempting to slip past the insurgents in small groups.

UNDER ATTACK
Skoun's civilian population of about 5,000 abandoned the town two years ago when it first came under attack. But field reports said families of some of the paratroopers were still there when the final Khmer

Rouge assault began. West of the Phnom Penh airport, the insurgents were attacking at the village of Tuol Leap, one of the major links in the airport's defenses. U.S. bombers could be heard trying to drive back the assault force.

In Phnom Penh itself, the rolling thunder of heavy B52s and the thud of the smaller explosives from F111 and Phantom fighter-bombers continually jolted the refugee-swollen city of 1 1/2 million persons.

Meanwhile, Information Minister Sun Chum told a news conference: "We would like to have peace with honor. We will fight on for a just peace and to defend our country."

He said there had been contacts between the Communist insurgents of the Khmer Rouge and government loyalists. But he said the "Khmer Rouge cannot come freely because they are under the command of the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong who stop them from coming and having any negotiations."

DETERMINED
Asked if the government, after the end of the U.S. bombing, would seek aid from the neighboring anti-Communist governments in Thailand and South Vietnam, he replied:

"Until now, Cambodia has been determined to defend the city of Phnom Penh and the country by means of its own forces and its own weapons. However, as a country whose neutrality was guaranteed by the 1954 Geneva agreement (ending the French Indochina War), the republic has the right to appeal to friendly nations to help us."

He said there had been contacts between the Communist insurgents of the Khmer Rouge and government loyalists. But he said the "Khmer Rouge cannot come freely because they are under the command of the North Vietnamese

Harms The Skin

Jean Adams

TEEN FORUM

PEELER: (Q.) I'm down in the dumps. All my friends, both boys and girls, have beautiful suntans. All I have is a burn. In a day or two I won't even have that, because it will start peeling.

At parties, with everybody else all tan, I look like a ghost. Is there anything in the whole wide world that will give me a good tan — Soft-Skinned Boy in Maryland.

(A.) A deep, genuine tan is fashionable, but the absorption of sunlight that it requires can damage the skin. In baking themselves, your friends are asking for old skin early in life.

You should not, with your tender skin, try for a real suntan. For parties or other special events, you can apply tanning lotion the night before, leave it on while you sleep, and look like you have been out soaking up sun.

Follow the directions carefully, and do not overdo it, because this lotion too may dry your skin.

is too young. My boy friend, who is already 18, and I know everything will work out. If my parents still say no when the time comes, should we run off or should we wait till I am old enough I don't want to wait. — Ready in Texas.

(A.) I agree with your parents that you will be too young at 17 for marriage, and I believe it would be a mistake to run away and get married against their wishes.

But why fret more than nine months ahead? You may change your mind. Your boy friend may change his mind. Your parents may change their minds.

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS

Q. 1—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KQ853 ♥A85 ♦63 ♣A94
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 3 ♦ Pass
3 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—With two first round controls and a good trump suit, your hand poses as the essential ingredients for a slam. Take your choice as to the way you want to proceed: even a direct bid of six spades has a good approval.

Q. 2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AK72 ♥1073 ♦A84 ♣Q65
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
Pass Pass 1 ♠ Pass
2 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. Partner is a passed hand so you should not even consider the possibility of game, especially since partner could have jumped to three hearts with a near opening. Hearts should be as good a spot as any for this part score deal.

Q. 3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠10753 ♥KQ ♦K73 ♠A1054
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass Pass 1 ♠ Pass
3 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Despite the fact that you passed originally, partner is flabbergasted by your bid. He has more than you do, so we suggest you cooperate by bidding five clubs. Alternatively, you could try Blackwood, intending to bid slam if partner shows a suitable number of aces.

Q. 4—Neither vulnerable, your partner has opened with one heart and you hold:
♠A108 ♥17642 ♦5 ♣432
What is your response?
A.—Two hearts, which accurately describes your hand. Just because you hold five trumps does not mean that you should leap to four hearts. The hand does not have sufficient playing strength for a preemptive raise.

Q. 5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠Q2 ♥A9874 ♦J105 ♣873
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
1 ♠ Pass 3 NT Pass

What action do you take?
A.—Pass. It is true that four hearts might prove to be a danger, but there is a danger that the backdoor of partner's three no trump bid is a long, running club suit. Partner's failure to double three spades for takeout might be a warning that he is unprepared for the other major.

Q. 6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠3 ♥J8752 ♦AJ92 ♣J9
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
3 ♠ 3 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Partner's jump in clubs has shown that he holds values where you need them most. His jump raise, which was forcing to game, was based on the possibility that you might have a minimum opening bid. However, you hold much more than a minimum with splendid distribution and three first-round controls. Your slam chances must be good, so we suggest a direct bid of six clubs.

Q. 7—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AJ104 ♥A106 ♦AQ10964
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
1 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass
3 ♥ Pass 3 NT Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Partner's jump in clubs has shown that he holds values where you need them most. His jump raise, which was forcing to game, was based on the possibility that you might have a minimum opening bid. However, you hold much more than a minimum with splendid distribution and three first-round controls. Your slam chances must be good, so we suggest a direct bid of six clubs.

Q. 8—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

Semantics And Common Sense

In a recent address, Francis G. Turner, former federal highway administrator, had something to say that is worth sobering consideration.

In addressing himself to the premise that the cure for the urban and the magalopolis tangle is a super-system of mass transport, he cited the case of Washington D. C.

Here construction is underway on a rail transit system at a cost of $3 billion, and things have a way of actually costing a lot more than government estimates. (He pauses parenthetically to note that this is more than has been expended on roads and streets in the whole Metropolitan Area since the beginnings of the road and street network nearly two centuries ago.) At any rate it is estimated that this system will serve five per cent of the transportation load in the metropolitan area. The remaining 95 per cent will have to move on existing road and street systems. Does this make sense?

The city council in Austin has received a study for proposal of a rapid rail transit which its backers say could be operative by 1975 if everyone gets in a hurry. The price tag on this 19.2 mile north-south route is estimated at $144 million.

And again, so far Travis County has spent less than $97 million for all state highway construction since 1918. You may be sure that in Austin the percentage of traffic served, as to the whole, will not greatly exceed the Washington factor, if indeed it equals it.

It's great semantics to let the words "mass transit" roll from our lips, but this should not blind us to the necessity of subjecting these schemes to rigorous cost-benefit ratios.

What Is Best For Whom

Quite aside from any implications of wrongdoing, there are several timely lessons being pointed up in the hearings on the Watergate affair.

One is the view outlined by H. M. R. M. (Bob) Haldeman on how a presidential campaign should be run. One would expect pride of authorship would induce his defense of the system under which the 1972 campaign of President Nixon was operated. That, however, does not make it right.

When Sen. Howard Baker asked him to consider if it might not have been better to have the president, any president, more involved in the mechanics of a campaign that, by Haldeman's account President Nixon was in 1972, Haldeman did not agree. His view seemed to boil down to aloofness or separation on the grounds that if anything goes wrong, then the Candidate is protected.

Now this ignores one vital consideration: What is more important — what is best for the candidate or what is best for the country?

If it is a natural and old play for the incumbent, seeking reelection, to maintain the "high road" by pretending to be above campaigning for the reason of a job to do. But any individual, in any campaign, aspiring to the highest office of the land, owes it to the people whom he will serve to state, and if need be, defend his position of the relevant issues of the day.

Around The Rim

Tommy Hart

One thing and another:

PROBABLY the earliest English language joke book still in existence is "A Hundred Merry Tales," which dates back to 1526. Some of the humor heard on television, the stage and in the movies emanate from that priceless collection of stories.

The world's most pathetic individual is that dour soul which goes through life without seeing anything funny. One of the things that makes life tolerable is the fact that we can look back on what was once an embarrassing situation and see the humor in it.

"The world is doomed without laughter," a sage individual once said. How right he was.

THOSE CLUBS which stage pancake suppers and charge adults $1.50 and children up to 12 half that likely have their price scale all wrong.

How many adults do you see go back for seconds? Young boys, on the other hand, have an enormous capacity for all food.

ISN'T THE AVERAGE man's idea of helping in the kitchen an offer to scramble eggs at 2 a.m., when the wife has the guests on their feet and headed toward the door?

When we're poor, we try to mask the circumstance by posing as people of substance. If we ever get around to writing our life stories, however, we are prone to look back upon that time with no little amount of pride.

A RARE coincidence occurred in 1956 when Easter Sunday occurred on April 1. That won't happen again until the year 2018. April 1 and Sunday showed up at the same time again this year but Easter was three weeks removed.

It's hard to say what is worse, recalling what prices used to be, or fretting over what they will be.

JOHN LAHR, son of the late comic, Bert Lahr, author of a recent book ("Notes on a Cowardly Lion") says we are a society of worshippers, obsessed with living the fantasy lives of celebrities.

"The whole culture is spellbound — by sports figures, politicians, stars," he adds. "The real world is untenable. All around us is poverty, war, crisis, death. Rather than deal with it, we turn to fantasy . . . And we all do it. I've given myself the Nobel Peace prize dozens of times. And I've had this very intimate relationship going with Rita Hayworth, although she doesn't know a thing about it. The only answer is to clear your head, understand how fantasy works, and you're less likely to be taken by it."

Stock Market Woes

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Those rising interest rates are like a searing wind blowing over an already parched stock market, where a few weary bulls still trudge toward an oasis that the bears have already declared a mirage.

WITH THE prime lending rate already up to 9 per cent, and expected to go higher, the market is hurt in at least two ways:

1. Investors will be drawn away from stocks by a high, almost riskless return from lending rather than investing their money.

2. Corporations will find their expenses rising, thus reducing the profits which attract investors.

The aridity of the market is probably best illustrated by the failure of the Big Three automotive companies, General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, to attract great numbers of bulls despite record high earnings.

Even before the major banks announced a lending rate of 9 per cent to big corporate customers, General Motors was selling at only 8 times earnings, Ford at 5 and Chrysler at 4.

These incredibly low price-earnings ratios follow reports by GM of one of the best years in its history, by Ford of the best quarter in its history, and by Chrysler of the best April-May-June period ever.

Match those ratios — or multiples of current earnings at which these stocks are selling — with the 50s and 60s so common seven years ago among some stocks that offered little but promise.

THOSE WERE the days of the so-called performance game. If a stock performed, if it offered a lot of action, then it was considered a stock to who still believes in some of the once-powerful blue chips such as General Motors, and some of the smaller emerging giants of tomorrow. watch. The fundamentals? Not nearly so important.

How ironic. The fact was that many of those companies really didn't perform; they were, to some degree, a product of the imagination — of hopes, publicity, promotion and, it is suspected, even of manipulation.

In contrast, some corporations today are performing as never before, but their stocks aren't. There is no vast public in the market as there was 10 years ago. It is an institutionalized market, a shrunken market.

Some days, in fact, the major portion of trading is by insurers and banks and funds. But these institutions aren't investing in the market as a whole. They have selected some 50 to 80 stocks in which to participate.

A glance at the price-earnings ratios of these select stocks shows the impact of this concentration. All have P-Es in the double figures, most of them well over 20.

AN ARTICLE in the "Institutional Investor" magazine describes the perplexity of an investment adviser. The adviser showed a visitor two specially prepared charts. "One showed Kodak passing General Motors last year in total market value although GM's earnings exceeded Kodak's net worth."

The other chart, "similarly constructed to depict irrationality in the way market values have been assigned, matched IBM against the total value of all stocks listed on the Amex" or American Stock Exchange.

The explanation lies in the P-Es. Kodak sells at 33 times current earnings. IBM sells at 33 times earnings, or eight times the P-E of Chrysler.

When Is It Obstruction?

Harrison, an appliance salesman, waltzed so strenuously at a company party that he suffered a fatal heart attack. Was his widow entitled to collect workmen's compensation for his death?

THE COMPANY said no. "Obviously, he was not at work when he was dancing," the company reasoned in a court hearing.

But Mrs. Harrison pointed out that the party had taken place on company premises, under company sponsorship, as part of a company contest — and that all the company's salesmen were expected to show up.

The court decided that the dancing had indeed arisen out of the job, and granted the widow's claim. The court said the party was simply the company's way of inspiring its employees to greater effort.

WORKMEN'S compensation laws generally cover accidents that occur in the course of employment. As a rule, courts have included any recreational activities that are closely connected with the job.

This is especially true when the company plays an active role in the event.

THUS, IN A case arising out of a company picnic, the court granted compensation for an accident largely because of the participation of the company president. It seems he would use these occasions to present special prizes to employees and to give them pep talks about "our one big family."

STILL, NOT every recreational occasion is covered. In another picnic case, a woman employee was hurt during a foot race. But when she sought compensation, the company pointed out:

1) that it paid only part of the cost of the picnic;

2) that the picnic was held on a non-working day, away from the company premises, with no pressure on anyone to attend; and

3) that the company had nothing to do with the arrangements.

THE COURT decided it would be stretching language to call the woman's injury "an incident of her employment." Result: no compensation.

A Devotion For Today

A man shall be as an hiding place from the wind, and a covert from the tempest; as rivers of water in a dry place, as the shadow of a great rock in a weary land. (Isaiah 32:2)

PRAYER: O Lord, our God, we thank Thee for Thy enfolding love which surrounds those who look to Thee. Through Christ, our Savior and Lord, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

(From the 'Upper Room')

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

In visiting another city, I was shocked by the flag arrangement in a particular church. Both the Christian and American flags were at the back of the sanctuary. After inquiry, I was told that placing them up front would detract from the cross hanging in the center. I believe they should be up front. Am I right?

H.D.K.

From my Encyclopedia, here are some excerpts from the article on the flag: "If it is displayed in the chancel of a church . . . or on the speaker's platform . . . the flag should occupy the position of honor . . . and be placed at the clergyman's right as he faces the congregation. But when the flag is displayed . . . in a church elsewhere than the chancel . . . it shall be placed in the position of honor at the right of the congregation."

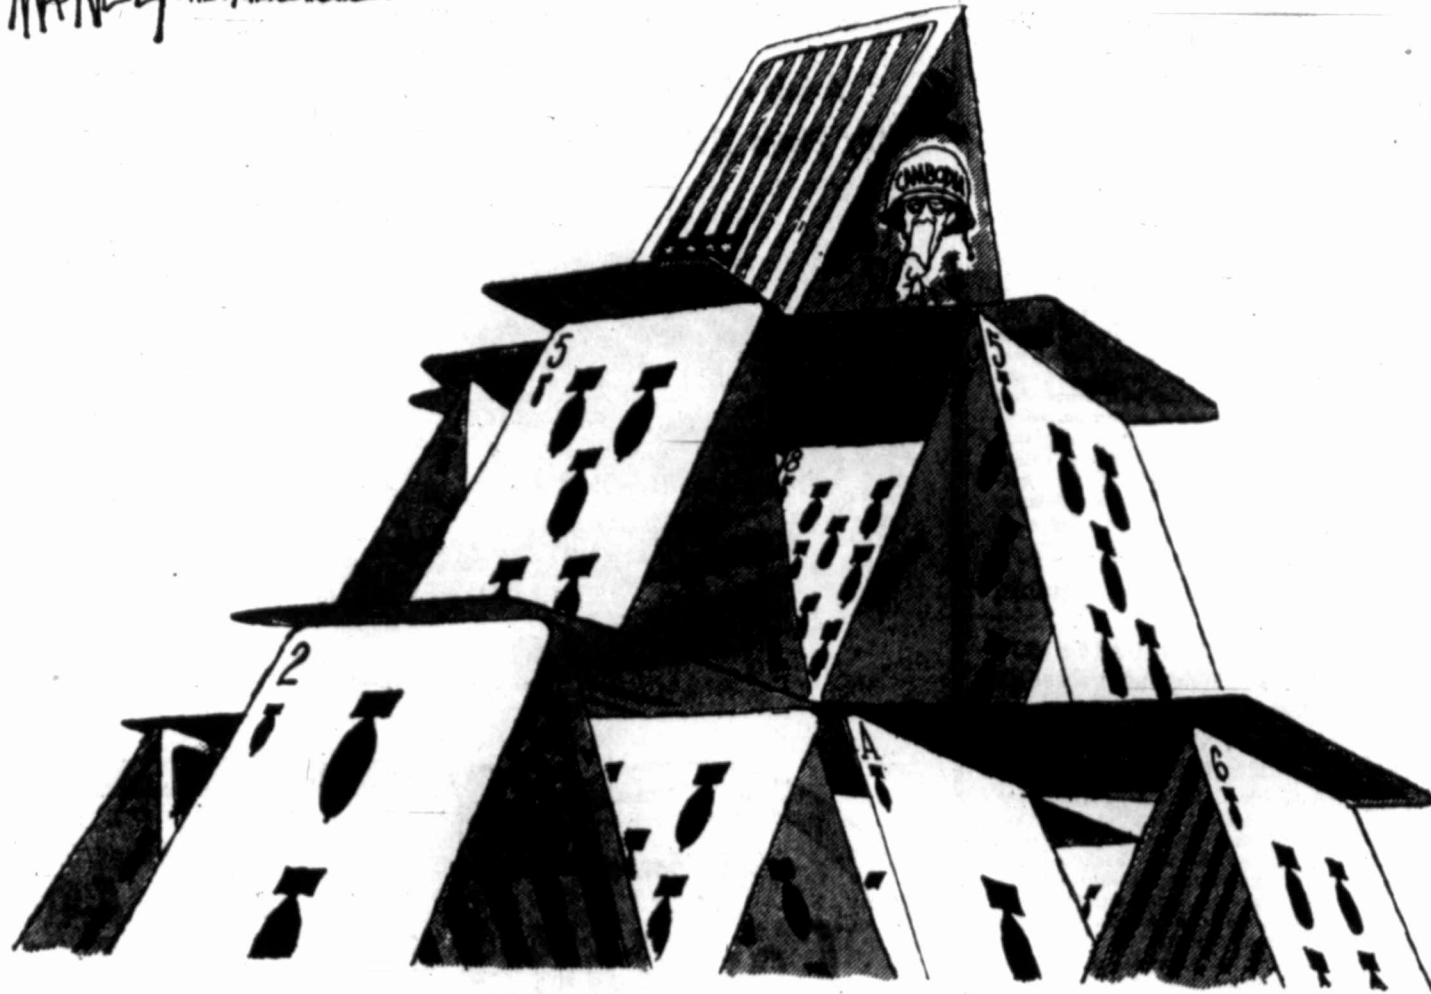

Custom would seem to dictate placing the flag up front, but apparently variations are allowed, as long as the place is one of honor.

More important than the surroundings of our worship, however, is the worship itself. On one occasion, a woman asked Jesus about the geography of worshipping God. His answer was clear: "It's not where we worship that counts, but how we worship — is our worship spiritual and real?" John 4:23, 24.

I only hope that your alarm over the placement of flags in the sanctuary doesn't reflect a petty and critical spirit. As a matter of fact, God wants us to have that sort of corporate worship experience, which almost makes us oblivious to surroundings — human and otherwise. That's what will happen when worship is the expression of a love affair with God.

Taught By Failure

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Larry Uttal flopped in doughnuts. He flopped in the retail clothing field. He flopped as a songwriter. He flopped a couple of times as a music publisher.

But now, at 51, Larry Uttal has made a fortune as one of America's top record executives.

"You learn more from your failures than you do from successes," said Uttal, the bearded, unconventional president of Bell Records, one of the top companies in the business. Recently his firm had the No. 1, No. 2 and No. 3 top hit singles on the sales charts, a feat unprecedented in the industry.

His firm over a two-year period has become a leading producer in Great Britain and turned out 20 gold records, each of which has sold more than a million discs.

"But you can lose money, even on a hit record, if you spend too much for the talent or promotion," said Uttal. "The things that count in this business are continuity and follow-up."

"You don't have time to enjoy the luxury of a hit record. It may gross $400,000 for the manufacturer, but he may net only five per cent of that. Its life as a heavy seller usually lasts only about six weeks. At the end of from three to six months it is dead — and there is nothing deader than a dead hit record. If you aren't ready then to follow it up with another hit, you'll probably be dead soon, too."

Part of Uttal's success is attributed to his skill in handling artists and discovering new talent.

The Bell stable includes such stars as the Partridge Family, the Fifth Dimension, David Cassidy, Dawn, Edison Light-house, Vickie Lawrence, a featured performer on the Carol Burnett television show, and young Gary Glitter, who has been hailed as "The Elvis Presley of Great Britain." Bell also turned out the original cast album of the musical "Godspell," which won the industry's Grammy Award.

Larry, who studied statistics in college, became a captain in the medical corps during World War II. He said he turned to pop music chiefly to escape the ordeal of "12 hateful years of playing classical music" as a child.

He learned from his two children to appreciate rock music, of which he is now an expert judge.

Most Common Kind Of Cysts

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What are cysts? What causes them? Could they be a result of some food allergy? How are they treated? I've heard that in some cases they are just "allowed to go away on their own." Is it serious if they persist and seem to spread? — Miss J. L.

What is a cyst? Any sort of sac or enclosure containing liquid or semi-liquid material. It would take from here to the bottom of the column just to list the various kinds of cysts (many of them rare) that are known to medicine. Which may give you the correct idea that your question isn't as simple as you intended it to be.

Cysts can occur in the skin, bone, ovaries, breasts, pancreas or other organs. They can occur in the liver as a result of parasitic infestation. And so on. But the commonest cysts are those which occur because some secretory gland — a gland that produces a substance of some sort — becomes clogged and the matter, instead of being released by the gland, piled up inside it. Hence swelling? A "cyst."

One of the commonest types is a sebaceous cyst in the skin — clogging of one of the tiny sebaceous glands which produce an oily secretion to keep the skin supple. As a rule these don't amount to much, just a harmless little lump. place. Then again such a cyst may become infected, inflamed and sore and in need of treatment. Opening such a cyst, along with use of antibiotics if indicated, usually is sufficient.

If a particular gland clogs and becomes big enough to be painful, it can be lanced (that is, opened up by piercing it) but in some cases the gland will just clog again and you go through a repeat performance. In such cases removal of the gland is the answer.

Another frequent type of cyst is in the female breast, called cystic mastitis. Breast tissue is full of countless little milk glands, and in some women there is a tendency for these to become cysts.

There is the pilonidal cysts, which possibly might be called a sort of minor birth defect, the cyst containing hair and sometimes other kinds of tissue.

Since glandular tissue is particularly suitable for cysts, they can occur in the ovaries, with corresponding problems. But as a generality, there are two things to do about cysts. If they don't cause any particular trouble, ignore them. If they do cause trouble, removal of the entire cyst quite frequently is the better course, since lancing a cyst may result only in its recurrence.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: You wrote about a medicine or pill or something a woman could take to stop or delay the menstrual period so they could go on a vacation without worrying about it. I didn't cut the article out of the paper, so could you write about it again? — V. B.

Menstruation can be suppressed with one of the birth control pills that has a high progesterin content — but this should be done only on advice and prescription from your doctor.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: X-rays show I have a high hernia (hiatal hernia). Until recently I have had only infrequent trouble with it.

Recently I have had discomfort after being asleep for an hour or two. — J. G.

For that particular problem with a hiatal hernia, I've often suggested using blocks of some sort to raise the head of your bed six inches or so. Try it.

To learn of the many factors that can be involved in the treatment of hiatal hernia, which concerns the esophagus, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of his booklet, "Hiatal Hernia and Eight Ways to Combat It," enclosing a long self-addressed (use zip code) stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Premarital Sex, Nudity Attitudes More Liberal

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — A recent survey indicates American attitudes toward premarital sex and some nudity have become much more liberal than they were four years ago, says the Gallup Poll.

In the July 6-9 survey, 48 per cent of the 1,544 persons questioned said they thought premarital sex is wrong. In a 1969 survey, 68 per cent held that opinion.

Forty-three per cent said it was not wrong when asked: "Do you think it is wrong for people to have sex relations before marriage or not?" The remainder had no opinion.

In July, 55 per cent of those surveyed said they would be offended by nude pictures in

The poll also indicated that American attitudes on premarital sex vary not only according to age and education but region and religion.

Fifty-three per cent of Protestants found premarital sex wrong, while 45 per cent of Roman Catholics expressed that view. In the 1969 poll, a greater percentage of Roman Catholics, 72 per cent, held that view than did Protestants, 70 per cent.

The poll showed most tolerance toward premarital sex in the East, where 38 per cent of those interviewed found it wrong. Percentages elsewhere with that view were 41 in the West, 51 in the Midwest and 58 in the South.

Black Elks Meet In Big D 'For LBJ'

DALLAS (AP) — The Improved Benevolent Protective Order of Elks — better known as the Black Elks — opened the business portion of its weeklong convention here today.

The 20,000 delegate convention began Saturday with banquets, introductory sessions, and a Saturday night speech by Dr.

Dolores Hunter, assistant to Texas Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

The Black Elks are not affiliated with a white organization known as the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks (BPOE). The white group recently voted to accept blacks, but the black group has always allowed white membership.

Hobson Reynolds, head of the Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Monday, Aug. 13, 1973 5

Black Elks, said the late President Lyndon B. Johnson invited him to bring the convention to Dallas.

"Well, here we are, and LBJ is gone. He would liked to have met us," said Reynolds, who ranks Johnson as the greatest civil rights president since Lincoln. Reynolds is listed by Ebony magazine as one of the country's top 100 black leaders.

Reynolds describes the Black Elks as a service organization and says it once granted a college scholarship to the late Rev. Martin Luther King, who had to research and write a speech on the U.S. Constitution. "While researching his speech," Reynolds said, "young King discovered the great ironies that have existed in American life. He saw for the first time that many, many Americans have not been given a shot at the American dream."

"So it was there, researching his scholarship speech, that he told us he had his dream that someday all men would be free and equal."

Girl Scouts Can Enter Exhibits

A Girl Scout division has been established in the women's department of the West Texas Fair slated in Abilene.

Girls wishing to enter crafts at the fair should send details to Mrs. L. O. Berg, 1202 Leggett, Abilene, Texas, 79605. The information should contain what age level the girl is entering, whether Brownie, Junior, Cadette or Senior. Also, the craft category should be listed.

For all levels, there is a category called "Memories of Summer" (prints). Others are Brownies, collections: Juniors, needlecraft; Brownies and Juniors, art string; and Cadettes and Seniors, "Do Your Own Thing" (macrame).

Mrs. Berg said craft entries should be brought to the Modern Living Mall of the West Texas Fair on Sept. 5, between 1 and 6:30 p.m., or on Sept. 6, between 8:30 a.m. and 12 noon.

Summer Covers Aid Veins, Tans

Transparent leg makeup and body bronzers are particularly helpful during the summer. They cover close-to-the-surface veins and even out tans.

She Blew It

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Phil and I were married for two years, and I thought we had a great marriage. He was 23 and I was 25.

Then Phil went back to college full time while I worked and paid the bills. (I'm a surgical nurse.) It was working out fine until Phil became more than casually involved with a female classmate, and in a sequence of events they were both kicked out of school. (He had stolen a test and they were both caught in possession of it.)

Phil then transferred to another school. The girl also transferred with him. By the way, she's 21, divorced, and has a child.

I demanded a showdown and Phil said he "loved" us both and couldn't decide between her or me.

My pride was hurt, so I locked him out, and now, of course, he is seeing her.

I still love him and regret locking him out. I don't want to lose him, but I couldn't take his running from her to me.

Please tell me how to get him back. SORRY DEAR ABBY: You could swallow what's left of your pride and ask Phil to reconsider, but after locking him out, I'd say you blew it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a working girl, 19, and I live at home. I have several younger brothers and sisters, and it is really sad to find that someone in your own family steals. That is my problem, and I don't know which one it is.

I have hidden my purse in my bowling bag, underneath my clothes in drawers, and even far back in my closet, but someone always finds it and helps themselves to some money. I have missed 5s, 10s, and even $20 bills. (They never take it all.)

How can I find out who is guilty? DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: I know of no "traps" you can set, although I'm sure there are many. Why don't you put a lock on a drawer (or closet) and wear the key around your neck on a chain?

Bandages Made By Club Group

Cancer bandages were turned in at last week's meeting of the Sew and Chatter Club in the home of Mrs. Ruby Billings. The club has been making the bandages, for local use, under the direction of Mrs. Clyde E. Thomas of the American Cancer Society.

The club has sold a quilt which will be tacked Wednesday in the home of Mrs. A. C. Moore. The next regular meeting will be Aug. 22 in the home of Mrs. C. Y. Clinkscales, 705 W. 18th.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

The annual Hull family reunion was held last week at Stanton with 84 participating at the Stanton Community Center.

Hull, Stamford; Earl Hull, Floyd Hull and Mrs. Leona Baugh, all of Big Spring. Unable to attend were Clyde Hull, Phoenix, Ariz.; Henry Hull, Hobbs, N.M.; and Mrs. Edna Davidson, Big Spring.

There were 11 children born to Mr. and Mrs. Hull. At the reunion, besides the children, were 21 grandchildren, 29 great-grandchildren and 22 great-great-grandchildren. Next year there are prospects for three great-great-grandchildren.

Birthday Party For Kyle Holtorf

Balloons and candy were favors at a birthday party Saturday for Kyle E-nock Holtorf, 3, son of Mrs. Pam Holtorf, in the home of his grandmother, Mrs. H. H. Dyer, 1703 Aylford. A train-shaped cake carried out a circus theme. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pickett (Candy Dyer) and daughter, Toya, Dallas; and Melinda Hogue, Midland. Miss Hogue has been visiting the Dyers, and the Lloyd Hodnetts, Vincent.

Couple United In Marriage

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Cherith LaVerne Miller and Leslie Jay Woods at 3 p.m., Sunday in the New Hope Baptist Church, Arlington.

The bride is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Verne Miller, Arlington, and Woods is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Woods, Rt. 1, Big Spring.

The rites were performed by Rev. Miller, and traditional nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Wesley Miller, organist, sister-in-law of the bride. The bride's brother, Wesley Miller, was best man.

The newlyweds will reside in Arlington, where both are students at the University of Texas. Self employed, he is a graduate student at Arlington Baptist College. Mrs. Woods attends the University of Texas at Arlington.

A reception honored the couple in the home of the bride's parents. Guests attending from out of town, in addition to the bridegroom's parents, were Mr. and Mrs. Philip Clary, Austin, brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom; and Mr. and Mrs. Terry Woods of Richardson, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom.
