FINAL LANDING FOR OLD TOWER—After 11 years of vacant vigilance at Tulsa International Airport, the old control tower became a victim of the demolishing experts.

IN MIDLAND HEW Hearing Set Tuesday

Big Spring school officials and their attorney go to Midland at 10 a.m. Tuesday for the official hearing by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in connection with alleged violations of the desegregation rules set up by the department.

Big Spring was one of six Texas schools included in allegations last spring that they failed to "HEW the line."

Accusations originally centered around the Lakeview School. Later the department added Bauer and Runnels to the list as violating the rules.

In pre-trial hearings, they withdrew alleged violations by Runnels, admitting that they were well within the rules set up by the department.

Going to the hearing tomorrow from the schools will be Supt. Sam Anderson, Don Crockett, assistant superintendent of business; Roy Watkins, president of the board, and Steve Morgan, principal of Lakeview Elementary, and Harlan Huihregtse, principal of Bauer.

Gul Jones, school attorney will represent the interests of the school.

'Bad Bomber' Punished

AGANA, Guam (AP) — An Air Force officer who was found principally responsible for the accidental bombing of a Cambodian village has been suspended from duty, reprimanded and ordered to forfeit $700 pay, the Air Force announced today.

Another officer was reprimanded and suspended, and two were given letters of admonishment said a spokesman for the 8th Air Force Base.

An admonishment is the lightest form of punishment possible in the Air Force, and a reprimand is the next lightest, according to the Pacific Air Force Command in Honolulu.

The officer, Capt. Prince A. Brumfield, was the radar-navigator aboard the B52 bomber which dropped its bombs on the village of Neak Luong Aug. 6, killing 137 Cambodians.

A Pentagon report Friday said the radar-navigator had failed to flip a critical offset switch, causing the bomb load to miss its intended target.

41 On Plane Perish?

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — A Colombian airliner carrying 41 persons crashed into a foggy hill outside Bogota and burned today minutes after takeoff. All aboard were reported killed.

Officials said 36 passengers and a crew of five were on the turboprop airliner of the domestic Colombian line Aero-Condor when it took off from Bogota International Airport. It was on a flight to Cartagena, Barranquilla and San Andres Island, a Colombian possession in the Caribbean.

Five minutes after it lifted off, the plane hit the fog-shrouded Cerro del Cable mountain, they added. Newsmen who went to the scene of the crash said the aircraft slammed into the hillside with such force that it split in two.

"There were pieces of legs and cut and burned bodies scattered all over the hill" said one of the newsmen.

Indian Leader Bellecourt Shot

ROSEBUD, S.D. (AP) — American Indian Movement leader Vernon Bellecourt was shot and critically wounded this morning on the Rosebud Indian Reservation, authorities said.

Bureau of Indian Affairs Agent Robert Lyke said Bellecourt, 43, was shot at 9:40 a.m. in the yard of a home three miles north of Rosebud.

Lyke said Bellecourt, of Denver, was listed in critical but stable condition at a Rosebud hospital.

Judge Rules In Vending Machines Suit

DALLAS (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Eldon Mahon issued a temporary restraining order today preventing the state from revealing corporate records of former owners of the B&B Vending Co.

The release of the records had been announced last week by House Speaker Price Daniel Jr. who had scheduled a news conference in Austin today to make the records public.

Judge Mahon set a hearing on the issue for 10 a.m. Sept. 6.

Raymond B. Williams and his brother, Burnie H., former owners of B&B Vending Co., filed the suit Friday asking for an injunction. The suit claimed that the Williams brothers "would be exposed to possible abuse, wide-spread publicity and circulation of infamous and ill-based stories if the speaker went ahead."

Youth Lucky In Accident

John M. Sanders, 18, of Big Spring, miraculously escaped serious injuries in a fiery wreck Saturday at 11 p.m. 8.1 miles east of Coahoma on Interstate 20.

Sanders is hospitalized at Medical Arts Hospital with a possible broken jaw and other injuries around the mouth.

The wreck occurred when Sanders was driving toward Big Spring and apparently lost control of the car, turning over in the culvert between the four-lane highway. The car burst into flames.

The driver was apparently thrown out of a window of the vehicle as it rolled over. A bus driver passed the scene and notified the highway patrol of the flaming wreck. Jimmy Parks was investigating highway patrolman.

FUND STILL IN LOW GEAR

The campaign to raise funds for the Big Spring High School Bible Fund remains very much a drive to be won after gifts tapered off over the week.

The drive is scheduled to continue throughout this week under the auspices of the Howard County Ministers' Fellowship.

As of noon today, a total of $2,607 had been raised, which leaves the campaign far short of its objective of $5,800.

Donations since Saturday morning total $110, including one for $25 from the Quarters Sunday School Class of the First Methodist Church.

Checks should be made payable to The Bible Fund and should be forwarded either to the Rev. Caleb Hildebrand, pastor of the Wesley United Methodist Church, or to The Herald.

Latest gifts include:

'Girls Plead For Lives'

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The besieged gunman holding four hostages in a locked bank vault told police early today that he had tied them to the walls. He said that if anesthetizing gas were pumped in they would strangle when they lost consciousness.

Police immediately suspended operations to capture the gunman and a convicted murderer with him and free the three young women and a man taken hostage last Thursday.

TRUCE ENDS

The police agreed to a truce until 9 a.m. EDT, lowered sandwiches and drinking water through an opening they had drilled in the ceiling of the vault, and withdrew their forces from the area. The truce ended as scheduled, but there was no noticeable sign of action except that a large number of police began gathering near the bank.

"We would not like to see these young people hanged, that's why we agreed to a truce," said Police Chief Curt Lindroth.

"We are dealing with an inhuman being who does not hesitate at anything. We could hear the girls plead for their lives. Their despair was genuine."

Police began drilling through the ceiling of the 19-by-40-foot vault Sunday night in apparent preparation for the gas attack.

The gunman fired one shot into the vault's ventilator drum during the drilling, but nobody was hit.

The police had been trying to starve the gunman out since the six were locked in the vault on Saturday. Police had refused them food, water or a portable toilet.

David Neill, 17, Dies In Accident

David Earl Neill, 17, was killed instantly in a one-vehicle turnover at 8:30 p.m. Sunday 23 miles northeast of Big Spring on FM 55.

A pickup driven by the youth went off the east side of the road into the soft dirt. The driver apparently cut back to the right and lost control of the vehicle which turned over once, throwing Neill out of the pickup.

The wheel came to rest on part of the youth's body. Justice of the Peace Walter Grice ruled Neill dead at the scene.

The youth, a high school student at Coahoma, lived in the Vincent area. Don Bates was investigating patrolman.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. Tuesday at Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel with burial in Coahoma Cemetery. Officiating will be Ralph Beistle, Coahoma Church of Christ, and Ray Cunningham, Vincent Baptist Church.

The youth was a member of the Coahoma FFA and CVAE program and a member of the Vincent Baptist Church.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Neill, two sisters, Terry Neill and Tommie Neill, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Proctor, maternal grandparents, and Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Neill, paternal grandparents, and great-grandmothers, Mrs. Ivy Atchley and Mrs. Emma Neill, all of Coahoma.

Contract Nearing End; City Facing Problem

The city gasoline supply situation remained "very definitely wide open" this morning, in the words of purchasing agent Bob Butler.

With the city facing the end of its year-long contract with Continental Oil Co. (Conoco), Butler was expecting a call today from the President's Cost of Living Council. Continental has let the city know it will not bid for next year's contract.

Cost of Living Council guidelines ask that oil companies continue to supply their customers on the basis of 1971-72 allotments.

Butler said Continental has claimed that under those guidelines, Gulf Oil Co. should pick up the city's contract next year as Gulf held the 1971-72 contract. Gulf, however, has refused to go back and pick up on any old customers, Butler said.

"The only thing the Council can do about all this is to bring about a like interpretation of their guidelines by both companies," said Butler. A Council staff member told him Friday that help would be on its way by today.

"We're not trying to cause Continental any grief or to cause Gulf any grief," he remarked. "We just want our gasoline."

Butler was able this weekend to acquire two loads of 1,980 gallons each from Newcomer Butane Co. of Ackerly to help stave off a possible repeat of last Thursday's situation in which the city ran completely out of gas.

He said Conoco came through with two loads late last week and that those, added to the Newcomer supply, had brought the supply up to capacity, 18,000 gallons, this morning. How long the city will be able to get by on this and whether it will be able to acquire a lasting contract by next week still "looks wide open," according to Butler.

He added, though, that he expects Conoco to deliver one more load before its contract runs out Friday.

Texas Law Changes For 18-Year-Olds

By The Associated Press
More than 670,000 Texas young people crossed the legal threshold from child to adult at 12:01 a.m. today.

That was the hour a new state law dropping the age of majority from 21 to 18 took effect.

LEGAL CONTROL

Gone are the old legal restrictions that required an 18-, 19- or 20-year-old to ask his parents to co-sign a note when he borrowed money—even if he was out of school, married and holding a job.

A person 18 and over now has full legal control over his or her body. Doctors no longer must obtain parental consent before performing needed surgery. A young woman can obtain an abortion without letting her parents know or asking for their permission.

While probably few persons in the 18-through 20-year-old age group have had trouble obtaining alcohol, they now can buy beer, wine and liquor without subterfuge.

Atty. Gen. John Hill issued an opinion saying the Texas

Youth Council must release about 200 persons from state reform schools because they are adults and no longer under council jurisdiction.

CAN MARRY

The new law also had the effect of lowering the age at which young men can marry without parental consent from 19 to 18. Women already could marry at 18 without their parents' permission.

Under another law that took effect today, 18-year-olds are to be called for jury service along with all other qualified adults.

Truth Test Implicates Agnew In 'Kickbacks'

NEW YORK (AP) — Time Magazine says a lie detector test has shown that a prime witness against Vice President Spiro T. Agnew in the investigation of an alleged kickback scheme "told the truth about personally delivering funds extorted from contractors to Agnew."

rome Wolff, "has agreed to testify, in return for limited immunity from prosecution himself, that Agnew has extorted bribes from state and federal contractors."

Time also said Wolff, president of Greiner Environmental Systems Inc., has turned over to prosecutors "a diary listing some of the payoffs he purportedly delivered to Agnew" in 1967-68 while Agnew was governor of Maryland and Wolff was head of the state road commission.

According to an article in the magazine's current issue, Wolff's firm is among eight contractors named as suppliers of illegal funds in the indictment last week of Baltimore County Executive Dale Anderson.

'DIRTY TRICKS' Martha Says Her Husband 'Going To Jail'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Martha Mitchell says her husband, former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, is "going to jail," and she plans to leave him, according to the Washington Star-News.

'GOT AHEAD OF HIM'

An article in the newspaper's Sunday edition said Mrs. Mitchell was interviewed in a telephone call from her New York apartment. She indicated that she is bitter toward President Nixon, the newspaper said, saying her husband "had a fine reputation on Wall Street" until Nixon "got ahead of him."

Mitchell, currently under indictment in New York on charges of obstructing justice and attempting to defraud the government in connection with alleged campaign contributions to the Nixon campaign, resigned in July 1972 as director of the President's re-election campaign.

"We have been suffering" the newspaper quoted Mrs. Mitchell as saying in reference to the Watergate scandal.

SHE WAS 'BEATEN UP'

Mrs. Mitchell was quoted as saying that she and her husband love each other very much, but their relationship was finished after an incident in California during the campaign in which she claimed she was "beaten up" by a Secret Service agent. Mrs. Mitchell told the Star-News that the agent manhandled her to keep her from talking to the press.

The newspaper said Mrs. Mitchell said she had seen a "leather-bound campaign strategy book," containing plans for "dirty tricks," which was written by Nixon and his former aide, H. R. Haldeman.

She was quoted as saying the book included "the procedures of everything that has happened — I saw it with my own eyes."

The Star-News said it had contacted presidential Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren, who said there is not and never has been a brown leather book connected with the 1968 and 1972 campaigns.

The article also quoted that Mrs. Mitchell said her husband talked frequently with Nixon during the summer of 1972 and that the President was aware of the truth of the Watergate case at that time.

Embassy Explosion

WASHINGTON (AP) — A secretary at the British Embassy was seriously injured today when a letter bomb exploded while she was sorting embassy mail.

A spokesman for the U.S. Postal Service said the letter was delivered to the embassy by the British diplomatic courier system and "did not enter the United States mail stream."

The explosion occurred about 9 a.m. on the sixth floor of the embassy.

HAND LOST

Within hours Acting Atty. Gen. Robert Bork ordered the Federal Bureau of Investigation to conduct an intensive investigation into the incident.

Bork said the probe would be carried out "in cooperation with the embassy and the metropolitan police." The U.S. Secret Service also was investigating the incident.

George Washington University hospital officials identified the victim as 51-year-old Nora Murray and said she lost one hand and that the other was seriously injured.

SHOCKING ACT

Meanwhile the State Department issued a statement saying the United States "strongly deprecates this shocking act of violence against a diplomatic mission accredited to this country."

"We express our deep regret both to Her Majesty's Government and to the innocent victim of this senseless attack," the State Department said.

Seeking Prowler, Man, Wife Shot

An excited trailer home resident accidentally shot through his left hand and shot his wife in the forearm early Sunday morning while seeking a prowler near their residence.

Richard Holt Moncus and his wife, Patricia Ann, who reside in the Mountain View Trailer park, thought they heard strange noises outside their trailer shortly after midnight Saturday.

Moncus and his wife went to the door of the trailer and he held a .22 revolver cocked in his hand, according to what he told the investigating deputy from the sheriff's office.

As Moncus opened the trailer door, he hit the pistol and it went off, the bullet penetrating his hand and hitting his wife in the forearm. They admitted themselves to Webb Air Force Base Hospital with flesh wounds and were treated and released.

Sgt. Robt Puente from the sheriff's office took a statement in regard to the shooting.

Canadian Rail Strike Action

His move strengthened speculation that the government will recall Parliament out of summer recess to consider legislation to halt the crippling walkout.

Court-Ordered Busing Under Way In Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Buses rolled across the city today carrying an estimated 28,000 pupils to the opening day of the public school classes under a court order to desegregate one of the South's largest school systems.

Officials said the busing of about a fourth of the registered enrollment went smoothly except for anticipated and minor first-day problems.

Find Body In Motel 'Ice Box'

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — The nude body of a 17-year-old girl was found Sunday in a motel refrigerator here.

Dr. Joseph Rupp, county medical examiner, said today Graciela de la Torre Ramirez died of asphyxiation. He said she could have been strangled, gagged or smothered.

Officials said the daughter of Sunset Motel manager Frank Haskell found the body as she cleaned the kitchen of the unit.

Haskell said the last occupant of the room was a truck driver who left Aug. 17.

No ruling was made at once on the cause of the woman's death. Vernon Moore, an investigator for the Nueces County medical examiner, said no wounds were found on the body.

The motel manager said a table had been propped against the refrigerator door to hold it shut. Because the last occupant complained the table needed repairs, Haskell said he thought the table had been placed against the refrigerator for support.

Police Lt. C.F. Wimble said fingerprints were being taken in the room where beer cans, pornographic magazines and a pair of shoes that may have belonged to the dead woman were found.

Medical examiners found blood in the bottom of the refrigerator and on a stove in the two-room unit.

Proposed Rate Hike Comes Up

City commissioners are expected to award Alert Ambulance a $200 monthly subsidy increase and will rule on a 26.6 per cent rate hike being sought by Pioneer Natural Gas Co., at a 9 a.m. meeting Tuesday in City Hall.

In other business, the commission will consider initiation of a merit pay plan for city employees and adoption of the 1973-74 tax roll still based on the current tax rates.

Several Courses Firm For Off-Campus Pupils

Classes begin this evening and continue with first sessions during the week for the Sul Ross University off-campus courses at the Big Spring Education Center.

Several courses are firm, and several others need only a few additional registrations to insure that they will be offered, according to Veri Green, director.

Those interested are urged to register at the first class session, or certainly during this week at the center, which is at the education office at Webb AFB, where information may be had by calling Green at 267-2511 (Ext. 2464 or 2404).

formally on the same stage in the LBJ Library where Johnson made his last public appearance at a civil rights symposium before his death Jan. 22.

The speech which brought tears to the eyes of his widow and daughters was given by Marvin Watson, who was postmaster general during part of the Johnson administration.

"Historians will remember Lyndon Johnson and the link between an America founded on promises, and an America which moved to fulfill those promises," Watson said. He concluded with "Happy birthday, Mr. President."

Mrs. Johnson looked up and smiled, but afterwards she wiped her eyes with a handkerchief. Linda Bird removed her glasses and blew her nose, and Luci wiped her eyes with her hand.

In a hoarse voice, Mrs. Johnson said it was appropriate that her husband be honored with a postage stamp because "mail was to Lyndon what food and water and sleep were to the rest of us."

Later today, Mrs. Johnson and the other family members were to fly to Houston for dedication of the Lyndon B. Johnson Manned Spacecraft Center.

Council Items Are Routine

Nothing more important than bids on a filing cabinet for the tax office and a typewriter for the sheriff's office were handled in the regular session of Howard County Commissioners today.

A report from Marvin Hanson, road and bridge administrator, included such items as final cost of vandalism to a county maintainer at $118 and a discussion of how a new wheel was finally obtained for the Jonesboro fire truck.

A report was also heard on new county equipment expected to be delivered during the next month.

The items which are on order include dump trucks and beds expected to arrive by mid-October, a motor grader expected by the end of September and a low boy and bulldozer expected to arrive by mid-September.

Following a lengthy discussion on the typewriter bids, the county awarded the bid to IBM on a high bid of $495, because this was the type machine desired by the deputy in the sheriff's office who would be using the typewriter.

The low bid was from Graham's Office Supply for $334.64 and the third bid from Marlin's Business Machines was $466.58.

In purchasing a filing cabinet for the tax office, the county awarded the low bid of $924.21 to Stafford-Lowden of Fort Worth. Other bids ere Pender Company of Abilene and Hester's of Big Spring.

Steps To Death From Camper

PICACHO, Ariz. (AP) — A 9-year-old boy stepped to his death from the door of a pickup camper as his parents drove along Interstate 10, unaware he was gone.

The Department of Public Safety said Mr. and Mrs. Jack Zellstra of Phoenix reported their son missing Sunday night shortly after the department received reports from other motorists of "something on the road" two miles east of here.

Jack Edward Zellstra had been run over by a number of vehicles, officers said.

A department spokesman said the boy's father told him his son was asleep in the camper and he believes the boy woke up, went to a door he thought led to a bathroom but opened the outside door by mistake.

THEFTS

Stan Maggard, Crestwood Trailer Park, reported to police at 1:13 a.m. Sunday a breaking and entering at his residence. Nothing was missing.

Leslie Joy, Rt. 1 Box 385, reported the theft of a paper rack from the Holiday Inn.

GOOD YEAR FOR TOMATOES — Some large tomatoes are often compared to baseballs in size but these took on the appearance of volleyballs. They were grown by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Biggs, who reside in a mobile home near their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Noel Harville, on North Moss Creek Road. One of the tomatoes pictured here weighs a pound and five ounces, another a pound and three ounces and Mrs. Biggs (pictured) says fruit of such size is the rule rather than the exception. The Biggs also have good crops of watermelons, cantalopes, okra, sweet potatoes, butterbeans, turnip greens, squash and black-eyed peas. Two wells and a windmill on the Harville place give the Biggs all the water they need to irrigate.

NEWS, BOXES, BAGS Shortage Of Paper Causing Problems

NEW YORK (AP) — Shortages of paper are causing increasing problems in the supply and availability of newspapers and such basic items as business forms, corrugated boxes, waxed paper and paper bags.

Much of the attention so far has focused on newspapers, some of which have run low on newsprint because of paper mill and railroad strikes in Canada. But increasingly tight situations also are being reported in a wide variety of other paper products.

A Los Angeles maker of bags and wrapping paper reports it is able to buy only 60 to 70 per cent of the paper it needs. A Bridgeport, Conn., grocery store says it is running out of paper bags. Gulf Oil Corp. says it finds suppliers are reluctant to bid on large orders of business forms.

Shortages of paper are causing increasing problems in the supply and availability of newspapers and such basic items as business forms, corrugated boxes, waxed paper and paper bags.

An emergency procurement system based on national security priorities has been invoked "seven or eight times" in the recent past to supply paper to the Department of Defense, the Central Intelligence Agency and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, a GSA spokesman said.

The reasons cited for the paper shortages are many and complex. A principal consideration, observers say, is that new paper mills are costly and take two to four years to build. Several years ago, there was a glut of paper, prices were low and there was little incentive to build new plants.

Then came the business boom of the early 1970s, at the same time as governments were moving toward stricter pollution control. Industry officials say that over a billion dollars, or approximately one-half of all new capital investment, went into pollution control, cutting into funds for expansion.

Today, mills are reported working at full capacity. Yet industry officials say they have been hampered by such factors as economic controls, labor problems, bad weather in lumber country, power cutbacks and a lack of investment capital.

"The return on investment has not been sufficient to attract a large amount of commitment to build new capacity," said Edwin A. Licke, president of the American Paper Institute.

Some critics contend that, faced with overproduction and low prices in the late 60s, the paper companies deliberately avoided developing new capacity to create a tight supply and thereby raise prices.

VIOLENT DEATHS

Crash Kills Three Abilene Residents

By The Associated Press
A private plane crash and auto accidents causing multiple deaths sent the toll from violence skyrocketing in Texas during the weekend.
Late reports boosted the total to 39 fatalities, including 24 in traffic.
State police reported a one-engine Beechcraft Bonanza airplane cracked up about 9:55 p.m. Sunday in a timbered area 25 miles west of Lufkin in East Texas, and all four persons aboard were killed.

Moody had been beaten.
Kristie Gray, 20, and her infant son were killed, and her husband was critically injured Sunday when their car hit an I-20 bridge abutment near Fye, about 15 miles west of Abilene. Officers said it appeared the husband Acme Morris Gray, 21 of Arlington, was driving about 75 miles per hour.
SHOT, KILLED
Hattie Dennis, 62, was shot and killed Sunday at her Dallas home. Police held a man, 43, arrested inside her apartment with a .22-caliber pistol.
Officers reported Peter J. Fischer, 31, of Dallas died early Sunday when his car hit guard rails on the city's North Central Expressway and side-swiped another vehicle.
Jerry D. Boshier, 21, of Cedar Hill, a Dallas suburb, suffered fatal injuries Saturday when his car ran off R. L. Thornton Freeway in South Dallas.
A car struck and killed Billy Michael Hernandez, 13, of New Braunfels while he was pushing his bicycle across busy Interstate 35 there Sunday night, state police reported.

Robert Morales Mendoza, 24, died early Sunday when his runaway car hit a barricade on El Paso's new north-south interchange, ran off the roadway and came to a halt upside down on an exit ramp.
Four other young people escaped as a car traveling at high speed hit another auto, burst through a wire fence and plunged into an El Paso canal but one of the passengers—Gloria Lou Betancourt, 17—was killed.
A Bellville woman, Bennie McCowan Hoff 24, was killed Saturday in a two-car collision about a mile south of Wallis.
FAULTY FAN
Firemen said a faulty fan apparently caused a Houston apartment fire that took the lives of three children—James Alvin Thomas, 2, Betty Sue Thomas, 3, and Melissa Ann Thomas, 4—Friday night.

CAR ROLLS

One of the more serious traffic accidents took the lives of three Abilene residents and injured five other persons late Sunday near the Denton Valley community about 13 miles southeast of Abilene. The fiery crash, involving a motor home, killed Harry Walker, president of Saxon Oil Co., and Margaret Langford, 15, and Kathy Merrell, 15.
These were among the other victims:
Thomas Megna, 17, of Abernathy was killed Sunday when his car overturned on Farm Road 597 about 2 1/2 miles west of Abernathy.
Roy Lacy, 32 of Pearsall, was killed Sunday when two cars collided head on near the town of Dillie.
Joe Torres Jr., 20, of San Antonio drowned Sunday while on a family outing. Witnesses said he was trying to save a half brother, John Torres, who made it safely to shore.
CAR HITS TREE
A one-car accident seven miles south of Alamo on U.S. 281 took the lives of three persons Sunday. Investigators said the car hit a tree and caught fire, burning the occupants beyond recognition. They were identified as Louis Manuel Gonzalez, 20, and William Charles Cody, 32, both of Harlingen and Juan C. Hernandez, 22, of San Benito.
Betty Moody, 40, was found dead in bed at her home in Huntington near Lufkin Sunday. Police said it appeared Mrs.

Nixon Seeks Relaxation By Cruising On Freeways

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Three times in three days last week, the Coast Guard sentry snapped to attention with a brisk salute as an ordinary-looking sedan approached.
On Thursday, Friday and Saturday, President Nixon went out through the gate of the Western White House, seeking relaxation by cruising on California's busy freeways.

"BEBE" DRIVES
The President doesn't do the driving. At the wheel of the latest excursions was either a Secret Service man or Nixon's Florida friend and neighbor, C. G. "Bebe" Rebozo.
Rebozo, who left Saturday after spending five days with Nixon at his oceanside estate, completed several years ago the driving course the Secret Service gives agents who drive the President's car.
After leaving the closely guarded compound, Nixon's car pulled onto nearby Interstate 5, a six-to-eight-lane freeway linking Los Angeles with San Diego.
The sedan, specially equipped with radio telephones but otherwise indistinguishable from other Lincoln Continentals, eventually ended up at "Red Beach," an isolated stretch of Pacific coastline usually used by Camp Pendleton's Marines to practice amphibious landings.
Before reaching the beach, the President usually spent an hour or more following a meandering route along the freeways, trailed closely by a station wagon loaded with Secret Service agents.
For the past three years, other cars containing a four-member news service reporter-photographer pool also followed the President's freeway excursions.

But during his current stay, White House aides have refused to inform newsmen in time for them to join the presidential entourage.
The White House won't give a reason for the change in procedure. But it comes amid growing indications that Nixon is unhappy about being followed everywhere by Secret Service men and reporters.
At his news conference Wednesday, the President said he had sought unsuccessfully to have his Secret Service detail cut by one-third, saying: "As far as protection generally is concerned, I don't like it, and my family does not like it."

Two days earlier, Nixon gave Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler a forceful shove when he found that newsmen were about to enter a New Orleans convention hall door reserved for the official party.
"I don't want the press with me," he told Ziegler. "You take care of it."

Tech Ranch In Spotlight

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Texas Tech University's Ranch Headquarters is featured in a cover story in the current issue of "Parks and Recreation," the official publication of the National Recreation and Park Association.
Duncan G. Muckelroy, until recently research historian for the Ranch Headquarters, is the author of the illustrated article for the magazine which has a circulation of 30,000.
The Ranch Headquarters' slogan of "preservation, education, recreation in an outdoor museum of ranching history" is an indication, according to Muckelroy, that the Ranch Headquarters serves a wide variety of needs.
"The Ranch Headquarters is not a shrine," he wrote. "On the contrary it is a viable means of interpreting the everyday sweat and toil of early ranch life.
Muckelroy pointed out that, unlike many interpretive restoration programs, the Ranch Headquarters represents a multitude of phases or periods of history. As a consequence, the interpretive format of the one-room log cabin built in the 1830s and originally located east of San Antonio is quite different from that of the dugout built in the 1890s and moved from west of Lubbock.

Guilty Plea In Acid Case

GREENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A 17-year-old Athens, Tex., youth has pleaded guilty to charges of assault with intent to maim or disfigure in connection with an Aug. 16 acid attack on Charles Bone, 49.
Judge Hollis Garmon Thursday assessed Aubrey Thyndell Hawthorne the maximum penalty of 10 years in 196th District Court.
Hawthorne, who threw a pan of sulfuric acid on Bone as he answered a knock on the door, told police officers that Mrs. Dorothy Bone, 45, had given him the acid with instructions to throw it at her husband. She denied the charges.
Mrs. Bone is still in the Hunt County jail also charged with assault with intent to murder. She is being held under $75,000 bond.

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS
Q. 1 — Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A43 ♠AQ2 ♠A1082 ♣A98
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 2 NT Pass
4 NT Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—Whatever you do, don't pass. Your 14 points are of the highest possible quality, equal to many 15-point hands. A bid of six no-trump is acceptable to this department, but if you wish to show three aces en route by responding five spades, on the off-chance that partner may be able to suggest a safer slam contract, by all means do so.
Q. 2 — As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠Q1094 ♠A862 ♠Q42 ♣75
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ 3 ♣ Pass Pass
Dble. Pass ?
What do you bid?
A.—Vigorous action is called for. East's preemptive tactics made it difficult for you to show your moderate values on the first round, so you should be thinking in terms of game now that partner has shown he has a good hand. A bid of three hearts or three spades, which partner will presume is forced, would be quite inadequate. Nor should you guess which major suit to bid at the four-level. A better choice would be a cue-bid of four clubs, allowing partner to select the suit.
Q. 3 — Neither vulnerable, partner opens with one heart and you hold:
♠AJ10654 ♠5 ♣AK ♣AK106
What is your response?
A.—Two spades. Despite the lack of support for partner, your hand is so strong as to suggest a possible slam even in the face of the misfit. Your hand is worth 22 points, and the slam signal should be flashed at once.
Q. 4 — Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠QJ107 ♠105 ♣AK ♣AK1043
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—One spade. The hand is not strong enough for a jump to two no-trump. A bid of one spade is suggested as a temporary measure. Should partner pass, it will be because he is very weak and

Gibsons Donate $50,000 To Baylor University

A personal gift of $50,000 to Baylor University from Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Gibson Sr., of Dallas, founders of the giant Gibson Discount chain, was announced recently at a banquet at the Baker Hotel.
The gift will go toward a $1,000,000 endowment to sustain an H. R. Gibson chair in Baylor's Graduate School of Business for a special course of study on Personal Management Development.
Dr. Abner McCall was one of several special guests at the banquet, attended by several hundred Gibson Discount owners, managers and employees.
Plans for the major endowment were announced by Cecil Streich of Wichita Falls, long-time associate of the Gibson organization and owner of a group of Gibson stores. Chairman for the project is J. B. Escue of Waco, another long-time Gibson associate.
The course of study is unique. It will train its students in various facets of business never before attempted by a major university, Dr. McCall said.
Donations for the endowment will be made substantially by owners of Gibson Discount Center franchises and other business associates who desire to honor and perpetuate the name and memory of the founder of Gibson's.
The course will attempt to instill in its students those qualities that spell the differences between success and failure; between outstanding performance and mediocre performance.

Research Reveals Cotton Disease Can Be Slashed
LUBBOCK — Take a cool, wet season, a not-so-thick field of cotton on land planted in cotton year after year, and you have ideal conditions for that dreaded disease that takes millions of dollars from South Plains cotton growers annually — verticillium wilt.
According to research conducted by Dr. Earl Minton, USDA plant pathologist cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock, yearly destruction and heavy economic losses by verticillium wilt can be reduced.
"Rotating the cotton crop at least every three years to an alternate crop and planting thicker stands are the most effective solutions," says Minton.
In crop rotation studies conducted from 1965 to 1972 at the Experiment Station, barley was the most effective alternate crop in reducing disease losses, the scientist explained. Also, rotations with sorghum, wheat, castor beans and soybeans, substantially reduced the severity of losses.
"Cotton should never be grown continuously on the same land," Minton added. "Every possible effort should be made to plant an alternate crop at least as many consecutive years as the cotton crop is grown."

TEEN FORUM

TRUCK LUCK: (Q) I have a crush on our garbage man. He's not really a man — he's a teen-ager. I have seen him only two times, and both times he said "Hi" to me.

Couldn't that be a sign he would like to get to know me? I don't know his name or anything else about him except he looks nice. Is there any way I could meet him before school starts? If I don't I may never see him again, because he comes by in the morning on Tuesdays and Thursdays. — 15 in Florida

(A) A good way to meet a garbage man is to carry out the garbage at pickup time. Your mother will probably be happy to have you do this.

Smile and introduce yourself. Be warm and friendly. If he is friendly, be there again the next time, give him your telephone number and suggest that he call you some time.

That second time, you might take him a can of cold soda from the refrigerator. If there are others on the truck, take soda for them, too.

MEASUREMENTS: (Q) My girl friend finds it very hard to tell me certain things about herself. I am talking about measurements — weight, etc. When I ask her she blushes and clams up.

I don't have to know. I just want her to feel that she can talk to me about anything. — No Figures in Maine

(A) A boy should not be pushy about learning a girl's weight or other measurements. Females can be very sensitive about such things.

If your girl friend weighs more than she should — or thinks she does — she may feel that telling you the actual figure will make you like her less.

And even if she is exactly the right weight and shape, she may be reluctant to talk about such things as hip or thigh or bra measurements because these involve quite personal parts of her body.

Cambodian Insurgents Cut Two Key Road Supply Lines

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Communist-led insurgents pushed closer to Phnom Penh today, cutting the capital's highway to the sea again at a point 15 miles from the city.

The fighting for control of Highways 4 and 5, the country's major supply lines, was the heaviest since the end of U.S. bombing 12 days ago. Battles were reported at several spots along both routes.

AMBUSH
In the closest major clash, Khmer Rouge rebel forces surrounded a company of government troops a half mile from Ang Snuol on Highway 4, about 15 miles west of Phnom Penh. A civilian vehicle was ambushed and two persons were killed and another was wounded.

Highway 4 connects Phnom Penh with Kompong Som, Cambodia's only deepwater seaport, from which supplies flow into the capital city.

FIGHTING
Highway 4 and Highway 5, which connects Phnom Penh to the rice-growing Province of Battambang to the northwest, were cut Sunday for the first time in nearly two months.

"Fighting is reported on the principal routes during the last 24 hours," said Col. Am Rong, the government's chief military spokesman. "The enemy is trying to create some difficulty by stopping supplies to Phnom Penh."

The spokesman said both highways were cut at points where they are crossed by the insurgents' supply corridors. He said the Khmer Rouge and their North Vietnamese allies were trying to keep their own routes open so they could supply their forces in the southern part of the country before the monsoons in mid-September.

Map Boycott In Protest Of Desegregation Order

WACO, Tex. (AP) — A selective boycott of public schools here, designed to reduce federal and state funds to the local system, is expected Tuesday by some black pupils protesting a court-ordered desegregation plan.

Waco public school pupils all go to their schools for registration for the fall term today.

The Rev. Robert Gilbert said the protest, designed to reduce

A recent desegregation plan ordered by U.S. District Court Judge Jack Roberts was flayed

by the Rev. Mr. Gilbert, who said it puts a burden on black pupils who comprise 25 percent of Waco enrollment.

A Shortlived Honeymoon

The AFL-CIO convenes Oct. 18 for its 10th Constitutional Convention; how long it will stay in session is uncertain.

But one thing is certain, according to its president George Meany. President Nixon will not be invited to speak, nor will other administration figures be welcome.

So much, apparently, for the "new majority" the President had sought to forge. Only a few months ago, Meany was if not firmly in the President's camp, at least closer to him than labor had been to the Republican party leadership in a long while. This honeymoon, which began shortly before the 1972 election and resulted in Meany withholding AFL-CIO backing from Democrat George McGovern, has ended in estrangement; divorce seems certain to follow.

This turn of events can be chalked up to two factors: Inflation and Watergate. Meany has repeatedly of late criticized administration economic policy. And his criticism of Watergate, and condemnation of the White House role in the scandal, has been just as acid.

No doubt the Democratic party leadership has helped the process along. The "quota system" of convention delegate allocation, which resulted in 1972 in many labor leaders being deprived of seats and labor's power in the party being greatly weakened, is on the way to the scrap heap.

In any case, the "new majority" which was to have given the Republican party election victories for years is now a Watergate casualty, along with many of the men who forged the strategy intended to create it.

Solons Can't Wait

If cigarette smoking is as hazardous to health as the surgeon general says it is, we might expect the habit to die out eventually through the force of common sense. The Arizona Legislature is not patient enough to wait, however, and has passed the nation's first state law prohibiting smoking in public places.

We have a hunch that this triumph of Arizona's anti-smoking lobby has not settled the issue. How long will it be before a defiant tobacco addict deliberately blows smoke into a policeman's face in Phoenix and is hauled off to jail waiving his copy of the Bill of Rights? He would surely take his case to the Supreme Court — puffing and coughing all the way.

Chopper Charisma

Around The Rim

Tommy Hart

One thing and another:

THE DENTISTS are mounting a campaign to equate good teeth with sex appeal, money and success — pushing the idea that the first of the three is hard to come by without a healthy set of teeth. The other two will naturally evolve, the dentists are suggesting, if the old chopper carisma is there.

The dentists can project themselves as examples of the unbeatable combination. Most have, or should have, a firm bite and most of those I know loan banks money.

STILL, people are reluctant to look up dentists and the ivory carpenters reason people neglect their teeth due to fear of sitting in the dentist's chair.

"The welfare patient who doesn't avail himself of the free dental care he's entitled to can be found in a department store buying a color television," a spokesman for one of the dental associations said recently.

"The hardest thing is not filling teeth," he added. "It's dealing with the psychology of a patient in an environment in which he doesn't want to be."

DENTISTS are fighting their image by creating a relaxing environment.

Equipment which looks like gas station pumps is kept out of sight. A lounge chair has been substituted for the old-fashioned dentist's chair. The average dentist's office also comes "color-coordinated." There is carpet on the floor and the dentist himself may approach his patient in street clothes rather than in the smock he once had.

THE MOST important sales approach recommended to the dentist is the ideal "bedside manner" — the idea that "I care" which must be conveyed to the patient.

I think even more important is conveying the thought that "pretty soon all this will be behind you. Think how good you'll feel then." The dentist who can do that will never want for customers.

ONE FELLOW I know says his wife does bird imitations — she watches him like a hawk, chatters like a magpie when Cesar Cedeno has a 3-2 count on him in the ninth inning and makes like an owl until he comes home at night.

If you dread the thought of cleaning out the garage once a year, just think what a job lies ahead if we are to build a better world.

Nixon Counterattack

Rowland Evans

NEW ORLEANS — Portraying not the self-confidence of a President convinced of his own rectitude, Richard M. Nixon launched a counterattack here on his legion of political enemies that even in the pro-Nixon bastion of the Veterans of Foreign Wars fell short of the mark with a sometimes painful thud.

"YOU NOTICED," a delegate to the VFW national convention lectured us later, "that no one here booed the President. That's why he comes to places like this, because he knows he will get a polite reception."

"Polite" was the fight word: a thoroughly decent, unenthusiastic response to an uninspired speech that some of the President's own advisers felt did nothing to ease his agony with enemies or consolidate the loyalty of friends.

Yet, as an attempt to rally the waning Nixon constituency the speech here was an important one that placed Mr. Nixon squarely on the political offensive for the first time in months.

The President's first strictly post-Watergate political foray to restore the activist presidency that gave him a near record landslide election nearly 10 months ago was tarnished by an unfortunate incident even before it was launched. Thus, Mr. Nixon, for whom applause of huge crowds is singularly important as a political tonic, was denied those crowds here by a security scare. The Secret Service not only cancelled what looked like a promising motorcade through crowded sections of the city but also disbanded a mass of voters at the Rivergate Auditorium where he spoke.

LACKING THAT exhilarating crowd tonic, Mr. Nixon arrived on the stage at the Rivergate visibly nervous, unprofessional and trying too hard. He was escorted to his seat on the stage and took it quietly, with a shy wave to the packed throng of veterans. But suddenly, as though realizing an omission, he rushed to the podium, raising his arms three times in the familiar V for victory gesture. The

When It's Work Or Play

Without any doubt, punching a policeman in the nose would amount to the crime of "obstructing an officer." But what about the assorted lesser confrontations that arise daily between citizen and constable? Where does the law draw the line?

GENERALLY SPEAKING, you may be guilty of this offense even if you do not resort to any force at all.

Take the case of a youthful demonstrator who "went limp" when the police ordered him to climb into a patrol wagon. Charged later with obstructing an officer, he argued that he could not be punished for simply doing nothing.

NEVERTHELESS, the court found him guilty as charged. The court said his refusal to obey a lawful order not only delayed and obstructed his own arrest but also delayed and obstructed the arrest of others.

Affirmative action, of course, is even riskier. Thus:

A MOTORIST lost his temper when he found a meter maid beside his parked car, writing up a ticket that he felt was unjustified.

move was that of a campaigner seeking applause and running for office, and the speech which followed it was likewise a speech of a candidate, not that of a secure possessor of the world's mightiest office.

To get on solid pre-Watergate grounds, charging that Democratic administrations had plunged the country into bloody war and he had gotten it out, Mr. Nixon attempted to recreate the political atmosphere of 1968 and 1969. The veterans here found the transition difficult to follow. As a result, Mr. Nixon was forced again and again to milk his crowd for applause.

He claimed that "thousands" of Americans were being killed every month in the war when he became President but that, because of his boldness in using American bombers and mine layers, he compelled the enemy to negotiate a fair settlement and now the war was over. It sounded like the 1972 campaign, and the applause seemed only an echo from last fall.

So Mr. Nixon milked harder. If he had to face a fresh decision now, he said, he would bomb the Cambodian border regions all over again just as he did in 1969. Again, the applause rolled over him, partly because his sympathetic audience knew he was asking for it. But there was no ovation.

MOREOVER, THIS attempt to recreate a political atmosphere in which Richard Nixon in fact acted strongly and wisely more than four years ago was spectacularly out of context with his present predicament. The Cambodian bombing has not become a truly major political issue, despite efforts of the antiwar bloc in Congress to make it one. Yet, it was the central theme of Mr. Nixon's speech.

The reason seems obvious. The Watergate-shrunk base of the new Nixon majority must be dramatically expanded if the President ever again is to wield authority. To do that, he must start with natural allies like the Veterans of Foreign Wars and other special-interest groups with limited numbers.

Judging from his effort here, the mission the President launched to expand his base may prove impossible. As one VFW delegate summed it up, his speech "fits everything we stand for in the VFW, but I am still waiting to get the whole truth on Watergate."

Therein may lie the hidden trap of the President's developing counterattack.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

If you like to go to a zoo, the chances are that you are more intelligent than someone who doesn't. And you probably earn more money. A recent study found that almost three-fourths of the zoo-going public had a high school education or better. Less than half of the nonzoo-goers did. The zoo buffs also had higher average incomes.

Women who have silicone fluid injected into their breasts to enlarge their bustline may pay a later price for their vanity. The fluid can migrate elsewhere in the body. In the case of one 22-year-old woman it collected in painful masses in her abdomen and had to be removed surgically.

Needles were one of the first tools invented by man which have remained in constant use through the centuries. They have been found in the ruins of all civilizations and peoples, from the Eskimos to the Zulus.

Animal crackers: We speak of a herd of deer, a pride of lions, a school of fish, a flight of doves, a skulk of foxes, a covey of quail, a pack of dogs, a muster of peacocks, a gaggle of geese, a bevy of beauties, a swarm of bees, a watch of nightingales, a host of men, a congregation of people, a slew of bears, a clustering of beetles, and a flock of sheep. But what is a gathering of killer whales? Well, they travel in a family group called a pod.

Quotable notables: "Don't be unduly critical. Taking things seriously unless they are serious is a senile fault." — Gellert Burgess.

Tree treasures: Despite all the woodlands that have been cut for timber in this country, often wastefully, America still has 75 per cent as much forest area as existed when Columbus landed.

Forgotten firsts: In 1891 the first outdoor electric sign in the United States was erected here. It advertised Spencerian pens. The signs quickly became popular, and within 10 years the Times Square and Broadway area had been nicknamed "The Great White Way."

Worth remembering: "If we spent more time counting the blessings we have, we'd have less time to spend longing for the luxuries we don't need."

Diabetes Can Be Controlled

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I read in the newspaper that Ron Santo, the star third baseman for the Chicago Cubs, has diabetes. In school we were told this is a bad disease to have. Could you tell me why Ron can play baseball if this is such a bad disease? He is having a good season, too. — F.C.C.

Last time I looked at the standings, all the Cubs were having a good season. But to answer your question, my young friend: diabetes is a bad disease to have, but there are worse ones.

I'll try to explain diabetes. Some people (quite a lot of them) have a defect in the pancreas in the gland that produces insulin in the body. Insulin is necessary to keep the amount of blood sugar at a proper level. Without sufficient insulin, a person will have too much sugar accumulate in the blood.

Over a period of time, this shortage of insulin will interfere with circulation, damage the eyes and even cause blindness, and sometimes can affect the nerves and cause pain in various parts of the body. Before insulin was discovered, patients with severe diabetes died.

But today, with proper care, the blood sugar can be kept at a safe level, and to all outward appearances the person is perfectly well. He's not lame as with arthritis, or feverish, or short of breath, or any of those things. That is — if he controls the diabetes.

This can be done by not eating sugar, and limiting other foods to an amount necessary for an active life. Sometimes the patient has to inject insulin every day; sometimes medication by mouth is sufficient.

Of course exercise helps use up sugar (other foods are converted into sugar by the body) so the secret an athlete has to learn is to balance his food intake against the energy he expends. He takes a little less insulin, or eats a little more food when a strenuous game is coming up. If he figures a trifle wrong and he uses up too much sugar he will sense an "insulin reaction" coming. Most of them keep a little hard candy, or a sweetened drink, or other form of sugar handy if it is necessary to bring themselves back into balance.

These days the people who get into serious trouble from diabetes are those who don't take the doctor's warnings seriously, and don't eat properly, and develop high blood sugar levels.

Ron Santo, by the way, isn't the only athlete who has learned to cope with diabetes. Some other examples are Bill Talbert, who was a tennis champion; Foley O'Brien, professional football player; Bobby Clark, of the Philadelphia Flyers (hockey); and Bobby Riggs who at age 55 is still playing a lot of topnotch tennis.

Golden Sun

WASHINGTON (AP) — Conversion of sunshine to electricity can open up new business opportunities, according to Dr. Van W. Bearinger, vice president of science and engineering at Honeywell Industries.

"We believe that solar energy systems and equipment offer attractive new business opportunities for advanced technology companies," Bearinger said. "Commercial solar heating and cooling of buildings can be accomplished within the current decade."

Honeywell is working with the University of Minnesota to develop a trough-shaped collector for capturing the sun's energy to provide electricity. The program is sponsored by a grant from the National Science Foundation.

Billy Graham

MY ANSWER

A lot of people are saying that the end of the world is coming soon. Do you believe these are the last days? Could the Watergate incident and the recent gas shortage be signs of something? I've even heard that the "end" is knocking at our door!

The hour is late on God's clock, but we need to be careful in making forecasts. Too many people have been discredited by setting specific dates and places.

To be sure, there are plenty of signs of the last days. Luke, in his 21st chapter discusses these. He records the question asked Christ, "When shall these things be?" Then, in the Lord's answer which like much of prophecy has a dual application, Jesus mentions several phenomena.

Things like the appearance of false Christs, the frequency of wars, the hostility between nations, earthquakes and famines, and Jerusalem compassed with armies. The further clue is that men's hearts will fall from fear. Well now, all of these things have been reported regularly in the media.

Jesus advises his followers in view of coming calamity to do certain things. All the verb forms are active, such as look up, lift up, take heed, and then the final admonition to "watch and pray." The thrust then of prophetic revelation is not to provide a specific timetable, but to encourage God's people to be alert and anticipate the return of Christ, who shall come as King of Kings.

A Devotion For Today..

I heard the voice of the Lord, saying, Whom shall I send, and who will go for us? (Isaiah 6:8)

PRAYER: Lord, here I am. To whatever task You would bid me give my time and strength this day, this hour, grant me to do it willingly. So may I express my love and devotion to You. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

Hopefuls Arrive For Miss America Quest

By CHRIS CONNELL
Associated Press Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — She's 20 years old, 5-foot-6½, weighs 118 pounds and measures a shade above 35-24-35. And the odds are she's a blue-eyed, brown-haired singer.

She's not any one girl, but rather a composite of the 50 young women who will arrive in this resort city next weekend for the week-long competition for the title of Miss America 1974.

And, according to the man who runs the Miss America Pageant, a composite is just what the judges will be looking for.

"We look for a composite American young woman who would best fulfill what the beholder is looking for, whether it be beauty, or talent or the social graces," explained Albert A. Marks Jr., a 60-year-old stock broker who for the past dozen years has chaired the pageant's executive committee.

The contestants will begin three days of preliminary swimsuit, evening gown and talent competition in Convention Hall on Sept. 5, with a successor to the current titleholder, Terry Anne Meeuwesen of Wisconsin, being chosen Saturday night, Sept. 8, over nationwide television.

The hopefuls include a 5-foot-10 violinist from Texas, Judy Mallett, and Karen Louise Mallett, a 94-pound singer from Indiana who stands a half-inch shy of five feet.

Also vying for the crown and a $5,000 scholarship will be Miss Kentucky, Lyda Lewis, who will be the third black contestant in the pageant's 52-year history. Miss Lewis, a singer from Louisville, is also the oldest state queen. She will be 25 Sept. 17.

Although there have been no black Miss Americas, and only one Jewish one — 1945's Bess Myerson, who recently served as New York City's consumer affairs director — Marks believes the pageant is "an equal opportunity operation."

In recent years, he says, pageant officials have "emphasized in our field sections that we want all cross-sections of America represented."

The state queens are picked from more than 3,000 local contests franchised and furnished with guidelines by the pageant, a private, non-profit organization.

Six of the judges will be women, including Lee Meriwether, Miss America 1955; Peggy Fleming, the former Olympic skating gold medalist, and Trudi Haynes, a black newscaster from Philadelphia, who is returning for her second year.

Marks does not expect to see a repetition of the protests by militant feminists that began with the 1968 pageant.

Bert Parks will be on hand to emcee his 19th consecutive pageant, but he will share the duties with Vonda Van Dyke, the 1965 Miss America.

FOR NEXT QUEEN—Albert A. Marks Jr. polishes the crown that the next Miss America will wear. The 50 state finalists in the contest will converge on Atlantic City, N.J. over Labor Day weekend to begin the competition. Marks is a 12-year veteran of the pageant's executive committee.

Should Be Told

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What do you tell your children when they ask how long you have been married, and you are ashamed to tell them? When I was married I was three months pregnant. We had gone together for two years. We love each other, and it just happened.

We were married as soon as possible, and now have five lovely children. The oldest is 14. My husband and I never celebrate our wedding anniversary. We just don't talk about it.

Lately, our 14-year-old asked us when our anniversary is. I said, "in December," and changed the subject. I don't know how long I can go on doing this.

My husband says we should add on a year. Would this be right? Other people know how long we've been married, and I don't want my children to catch me in a lie when I preach to them the importance of being honest. But Abby, I want my children to respect me and if they knew the truth it may not set a good example for them. Please tell me what to do. Thank you. A MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I can best answer you by submitting this exchange:

DEAR ABBY: I was born six months and two days after my parents were married. (I figured it out when I was 16.) When I mentioned it to my mother she became flustered and close to tears so I never mentioned it again.

Mom and Dad are tops as parents, and I don't care if they did have to get married, I love them just the same.

Abby, you could help a lot of people who had to get married if you would tell them how to handle it when their children bring it up.

Should they lie about the date of their marriage? Or should they say the first baby was "premature?" What's the best answer?

THEIR DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: The truth, while sometimes embarrassing, is always the best answer. But no couple HAS to get married. The boy can run off and leave the girl to face the problem alone. Or he can deny paternity.

Some girls choose abortion. Others prefer to have the child, and put it up for adoption. Some have the child and keep it.

The couple who marries when a baby is on the way, and make a success of that marriage (and there are many), deserve respect and understanding.

Fur Favorites Come In All Styles, Colors

Now coming into your favorite marts, new fur coats are packed with fashion. It's elegant and it's fun.

Coat silhouettes are both slim and full, belted and sashed. Hemlines just cover the knee. In long jackets, the shirt looks like a winner. Waist-length toppers, known as pants jackets or chubbies, have a bulk that balances wide pants and pleated skirts. Very often, contrasting fur makes the collar and cuffs of a coat; knits hand pockets.

Fabric Softener Yellows Clothes

Constant use of fabric softeners leads to buildup on clothes, causes yellowing and allergic reactions for some persons, says National Family Option, Inc., a consumer market research firm in Toledo, Ohio.

Since fabric softeners last through about three washings, save time and money and your clothes by using it less often, suggests the firm's panel of home-maker consultants.

'Quotable Women'

"Sexuality is a part of the study, but not the prime area. There will be frictions enough as it is." Anne Turner, a psychologist in Paris who helped recruit a crew in which women would hold the key command posts on a raft as it drifts across the Atlantic next month as part of an experiment in role switching.

"Sex education here is very bad, I think. Teachers do not talk openly to youngsters about the facts of all lifestyles, not simply of all own. What I miss at this conference is a focusing on how to educate the teachers and the parents, who are already far behind the facts." Dr. Ma-Britt Bergstrom Walan, head of the Swedish Institute of Sex Research, at a two-day 'Women's Sexuality Conference' sponsored by the New York chapter of the National Organization for Women.

They don't see that we elected him, the majority of us supported his Vietnam position, that in a democracy, people can disagree about anything, that's what it's all about." Shirley MacLaine speaking about her visit to China.

"I was trying to write for so many women, from 14-year-olds terrified of what their parents would think, to 45-year-old women facing menopause as well as an unwanted pregnancy. That presented enormous problems in writing, and the only solution was to be as direct and down-to-earth as possible." Beth Richardson Gatche, author of "Abortion: A Woman's Guide."

At least 95 per cent of all women in this country still get married. Then they are subtly pressured to have children; otherwise, they're less than a person.
