Tax Hike Idea Greeted By Hail Of Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — A hail of Congressional opposition has greeted a suggestion that President Nixon may try to fight inflation by increasing income taxes temporarily and returning the extra funds to taxpayers later.

The purpose of the tax increase would be to take money out of the economy, to help slow the current economic boom.

TRIAL BALLOON
 If the report given newsmen Thursday by Presidential Counselor Melvin R. Laird was intended as a trial balloon — as some congressmen suggested — it may well have been punctured.

Laird, Nixon's principal domestic aide, emphasized there had been no decision to send Congress the plan, which he attributed to Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur F. Burns.

Listing it as one of a number of ideas under consideration, Laird said the proposal was to impose a surcharge, probably of 10 per cent, so that a person who normally paid $1,000 in taxes would pay $1,100 instead. The extra $100 would be refunded in two to five years, after inflation abated.

"This is not the same as a tax increase," Laird argued, holding the plan would not violate Nixon's pledge against increasing taxes.

But most representatives and senators who commented didn't see it that way.

"It looks like a trial balloon they are already backing away from," said Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., acting chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee.

NEEDS RELIEF
 Throughout last year's campaign, Nixon promised spending control policies that would avoid the need to raise taxes. He said, for example, in an Oct. 7, 1972, radio speech, "America needs not a tax increase but tax relief."

In his message to Congress last Monday Nixon said, "This administration continues its strong opposition to a tax increase."

Ullman said of the proposal "I couldn't support it. I favor a loophole-closing tax bill that would raise revenue."

The recuperating chairman of the committee, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., said from his Little Rock hospital bed that the plan certainly would look like a tax increase to a worker who saw more funds withheld from his pay check.

Rains Cascading Down On Valley

Shot Five Times In Back

Thunderstorms sent heavy rains cascading down on the Lower Rio Grande Valley today and soaked everything south of a line running roughly from Galveston to Laredo.

The valley Weather Service reported McAllen was deluged with 6.81 inches in five hours beginning at 6 a.m., and that 1.50 inches had fallen there earlier.

There were unofficial reports of five inches of rain at Rio Grande City and three inches at Edinburg, where downtown streets were closed and water seeped 8-10 inches deep into some businesses. Street flooding also was reported at McAllen and Harlingen.

Flash flood or severe thunderstorm warnings were issued for Cameron, Willacy and Hidalgo counties.

Other showers brought scattered rain near Del Rio on the Mexican border and in the Texas Panhandle, but skies were mostly clear elsewhere.

The latest round of turbulence broke out as the forward edge of a weak cool front looped from near Tyler and Waco northward to around Amarillo in the Panhandle.

Senate Approves Webb Projects

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen announced Thursday that the military construction bill approved by the Senate contains $3,154,000 for Webb AFB.

The $2.8 billion military construction authorization bill for fiscal 1974 passed the Senate by voice vote Thursday.

The authorization for Webb is to be used for construction in three projects.

First is a 1700-square foot cold storage facility. Defense department officials explained that the present cold-storage facility is currently in a sub-standard structure over 20 years old and was designed for less than a ten-year life.

The second item is a 504 airman's dormitory to provide accommodations for single airmen residing on the base. Airmen are now housed in what was described as sub-standard wood frame structures long past design life expectancy.

The third item is an airman's dining hall of 8,370 square feet and old frame structure which the Department of Defense said had deteriorated beyond economical repair, currently in use, has an antiquated evaporative cooling system unable to cope with prevailing summer temperatures. Noise, deteriorated condition and unattractive appearance offered decided inferior dining accommodations.

House hearings on the military construction bill are scheduled to begin next week.

Cloudy

Partly cloudy skies rated as having 30 per cent rain probability this afternoon and 20 per cent tonight and Saturday. Northeastern winds 5 to 15 miles per hour becoming light and variable tonight. No important temperature changes.

Dennis Facing More Surgery

"Mike is in good spirits, even though he now realizes he has lost his feet," said Mrs. Benny Hatfield in a call to the Herald Thursday afternoon from San Antonio where she is at the bedside of her son, Mike Dennis.

Mike, 17, of 1107 Sycamore, was injured Labor Day while working at a car wash here. He was flown to the Lackland Air Force Base Hospital where he has since undergone surgery five times.

"Mike has pretty bad infections in both legs," continued Mrs. Hatfield, "but, hopefully, will not have to have surgery but a few more times."

Mr. and Mrs. Hatfield, who are staying in San Antonio with their son, had heard of the fund begun here for the family at Security State Bank.

"We want to express thanks to everyone for what they are doing," she said. "We couldn't be here if it weren't for that help, and we appreciate it." She said Mike will have to remain in the hospital "from three to six months to a year."

Persons wishing to contact Mike may write to: Mike Dennis, Wilford Hall Hospital, Ward A-7, Room 4, San Antonio, Texas.

Monday night, the Lamplighter Club at the Ramada Inn is holding a dance for Mike's benefit. No cover charge is specified, but donations will be accepted.

Deadly Barrels Of Cyanide Floating In Gulf Of Mexico

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Coast Guard warned the entire United States Gulf Coast today of potentially deadly barrels of sodium and potassium cyanide floating in the Gulf of Mexico.

The barrels were dumped into the water after a ship collision Aug. 5 about 480 miles south of Pensacola, Fla.

HARD TO TELL
 However, a chemical expert said the two chemicals would have to be eaten to be fatal unless they released cyanide in a gaseous state. And he said this would not occur unless the chemicals encountered an acid condition in the water.

The Coast Guard said it received word of the threat today and did not know why Mexican authorities failed to notify them earlier.

A spokesman emphasized that one or more of the barrels could be anywhere in the Gulf of Mexico. He noted that the passage of Tropical Storm Delia through the Gulf 10 days after the collision enhanced the possibility that the barrels could be widely scattered.

WARNING
 "It's hard to tell what effect the hurricane and current would have," said the spokesman. "They could be anywhere."

Coast Guard units along the entire 1,600-mile coast of the Gulf of Mexico from Brownsville, Tex., to Key West, Fla., were alerted to the danger.

The barrels, some containing 100 pounds of sodium cyanide and others 100 pounds of potassium cyanide, are blue with white lettering on them warning: "Dangerous Class 6 Material."

Hopes Of Small Town Ride With Flapper Named Ruby

CUERO, Tex. (AP) — The hopes of Cuero, Tex., are riding Saturday on a flapper named Ruby Begonia.

Ruby flaps because she is a turkey.

But she also runs and by doing so she'll try to settle whether Cuero or Worthington, Minn., is "The Turkey Capital of the World."

"We have confidence in Ruby Begonia. We have no fear," declares Dr. Charles Tubbs of a two-part race which begins Saturday in Worthington against the Minnesota community's pride, another dame named Silver Foot.

Ruby Begonia leaves today aboard a local industrialist's private plane after weeks of practice inside the town's baseball diamond, which is fenced. Tubbs, her personal "physician," pronounces her ready.

The first leg of the race will be down two city blocks of Worthington's main street as a feature of this weekend's "King Turkey Days." The second leg will be down the main street of Cuero the last weekend of this month during the "Cuero Turkeyfest and Jamboree."

The race, brainchild of the young publisher of the local paper here, is billed as the first annual Great Gobbler Gallop, although both participants technically are hens and not gobblers.

"Frankly, I'm doing it for the publicity and betterment of our two towns," says Ken Long, 27, publisher of the Cuero Record. Long owns Ruby Begonia.

Tubbs, a veterinarian, says if Ruby Begonia loses, "it'll be a sad day. We are not even considering that we'll be beat."

He says "Ruby is going to beat her. I'm sending up a little money up there to back that up if Ken can find any takers."

Cuero just might have a ringier, as they say in betting circles. Ruby Begonia is part wild turkey and part domesticated turkey and there's a difference, says Tubbs.

Hail Losses Are Heaviest Near Knott, Check Shows

Farmers are beginning to assess damage from the hail which fell Wednesday.

Crop damage south of Knott to the Andrews Highway a few miles north of Big Spring was reported by several observers.

An average of 25 to 30 per cent loss in 10 to 12,000 acres in strips from Knott to the Andrews Highway near Big Spring was estimated by Gerald Willborn of the Paymaster Gin, Fairview. Until ginning starts, no one will have very accurate estimates, he noted.

MODERATE DAMAGE
 Moderate damage was seen about three miles from Big Spring and then around six miles farther north. Hail falling in strips tore maize leaves and knocked down cotton bolls. Tim Teaschner, a conservation technician with the Soil Conservation Service, said following a tour of the area.

AROUND KNOTT
 Grain sorghum belonging to Donald Allred five miles south of Knott was hit.

Three farms south of Knott sustained approximately 80 per cent crop loss, a farmer told the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins believed the worst damage must have been two miles southeast of West Knott. Ronnie Wood, assistant county agent, confirmed this conclusion.

Termining this a "significant" loss, Wood felt spotted areas elsewhere around Knott accounted for generally less than significant damage.

LAMESA RAILED
 Until a few weeks pass and some damaged bolls die from damage, crop loss will be hard to estimate.

"I'm afraid some, in areas, will run up to 30 to 50 per cent," he speculated.

The U.S. Big Spring Experiment Station on IS 20 lost about 25 per cent of its cotton, Donald W. (Bill) Fryrear, location leader, said.

He marked off experimental plantings of guar varieties as a total loss. Wind, rather than hail, knocked down some sorghum.

Thursday night, at 8:30 p.m., farmers attention was turned to the Dawson County Fair, and marble-size hail shot out of the sky. Lamesa recorded .43 of an inch of precipitation, according to a radio station.

- Man Who Succeeded Spiro Denies Extortion Charge
- BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Dale Anderson, the man who succeeded Vice President Spiro T. Agnew as chief executive of Baltimore County, pleaded innocent in U.S. District Court today to charges of conspiracy, extortion and bribery.
- Anderson, one of Maryland's most powerful Democrats, was released on his own recognizance by Judge Joseph Young on the condition that he not leave the continental United States.
- Tentative trial date was set for Jan. 7. Norman P. Ramsey, Anderson's attorney, told the judge that he wanted "a prompt trial in this matter."
- Agnew is under investigation by federal prosecutors on similar charges — all involving allegations of illegal payoffs by architects and engineers for non-bid contracts awarded to them — but no evidence involving the vice president has yet gone before a special grand jury probing political corruption in Maryland.

DESPITE 107 ESCAPES IN PAST WEEK Reformatory To Stay Unfenced

GATESVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The minimum security reform school here will remain unfenced despite 107 escapes during several days of rioting this week, the head of Texas' juvenile corrections program said.

Eleven boys, mostly clad only in underwear, broke a window and ran away from the Riverside unit after the riot was pronounced at end late Thursday night.

But all 11 were rounded up either Thursday night or early today. Five of the 96 who ran during the height of the rioting remained at large, according to Asst. Supt. Carroll Duke.

GOING HOME

"Everything's calm. I'm going home," Dr. James Turman of Austin, executive director of the Texas Youth Council, said shortly before 11 p.m.

Things were quiet also at the nearby maximum security Mountain View School, where trouble broke out last week. Both the Gatesville and Mountain View schools are run by the youth council.

Some of the worst destruction at the Gatesville facility Thursday occurred in the security building, where some participants in previous destruction and escapes had been locked up. Metal cots were taken apart and used as hammers to smash through quarter-inch reinforced glass panes on doors and windows of individual cells. Some plumbing fixtures were broken, leaving puddles of water in the hallways.

More than 250 windows were broken, officials said.

Authorities lodged complaints of destroying state property against 18 youths old enough to be charged as adults and another of inciting to riot. No details were given about possible disciplinary action against others. Supt. Dwain Place said 138 boys, or 20 per cent of the school's inmates, took part in the rioting.

CHALLENGE

Duke said only one boy was sent to a hospital. He suffered a cut on the head and a broken finger or hand while in the back of a pickup truck in which he hitched a ride, Duke said.

Place said he had not tried to estimate damage yet.

Turman was asked if he thought the school should be fenced.

"It would be a mistake to fence this place. It would be just another challenge," Turman said.

Security is adequate "under normal situations," Place said.

The school has seven units, each with several dormitories. Place said that two of the units, Valley and Hackberry, were undamaged.

Officials said they were still trying to find out why the riot took place.

DISRUPTION

"It was a matter more than anything else of a few boys wanting to cause a disruption and getting other boys to follow along," Place said. "A lot of students were led into this by their compadres."

"We have heard every conceivable reason under the sun," Turman said.

Turman stuck by his previous statements that the disturbance resulted from the posting in dormitories of copies of a federal judge's court order limiting the use of physical force on the inmates.

He said a prior restraining order had prevented officials from explaining the order to the boys.

Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill, meanwhile, visited the judge, William Wayne Justice of Tyler, and returned to Gatesville with a report that Justice had authorized "such reasonable force as is necessary to maintain control and discipline."

DIFFERENCES

Three boys who had run away and said they had been recaptured near Waco, 30 miles east of Gatesville, minimized the importance of the court order as a catalyst for the rioting. They said the biggest factor was differences between units in the amount of such privileges as field trips and furloughs.

One boy said the trio made off after dormitory supervisors allowed them to go outside to play after supper Wednesday. He said about 15 or 20 rioting youths were in the area at the time. Several supervisors "just stood there and watched us" run away, he said.

Mrs. Long was formerly a teacher in her native country of Australia.

Mrs. Curt Strong, president, introduced two guests, Mrs. J. E. Meeks and Mrs. Bob West. Committee reports were heard from various chairmen.

Area Women Invited To Enter Exhibits

Interest is mounting as time draws near for the opening of Howard County Fair, the first in many years. Local women have been busy for weeks to help insure its success.

Generally, things of interest to women have been placed under the Home and Hobby Division headed by Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins.

Under the general heading come a number of other women's activity divisions, including culinary, textile, handwork, clothing, crafts etc. There is also an "Over 60" division, an art exhibit, flower show and antique display.

"Everyone in this trade area is invited and encouraged to participate by bringing items to display," said Mrs. Gaskins. "You do not have to sign up ahead of time, or notify anyone, just bring your exhibits to the county fair barn Monday."

Exhibits will be accepted from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., Monday, and judging will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday, with exhibits opening to the public at 4 p.m. Tuesday. Blue, red and white ribbons will be awarded during the judging, and a ribbon of participation will be given to each entry. Exhibitors must pick up exhibits between 3 and 5 p.m. Saturday.

Women who wish to exhibit do not have to be members of home demonstration clubs or any other organization. Likewise, all youths in the area are urged to participate, and they do not have to be members of 4-H or FFA. There will be a youth division for each adult category.

In the culinary category, there are divisions for bread, cakes, decorated cakes (non-professional), cookies, candies, canned fruits and vegetables pickles and preserves and jellies.

In the crafts and hobbies category, entries may be in the "Holiday Parade" listing which includes decorative items, or in metal craft, pictures (of various materials), flowers (of various materials) or miscellaneous.

The art exhibit includes four divisions: A — non-professional; B — Junior I (6 to 9 years) and Junior II (9 to 12 years); and D — Youth I (13 through 15 years) and Youth II (15 through 18 years). Classes are oil base, water base, graphic and sculpture and wood carving. First, second and third places will be awarded in each of the four classes of the six divisions. Also, honorable mention and best in show.

Flower show entries will be accepted from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m., Sept. 17, and entries may be made by any amateur gardener. There will be artistic, horticultural and educational divisions. Information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Garner McAdams, 267-6416, or Mrs. Odell Womack, 267-5126.

Special rules apply for the antique division, and information may be obtained from Mrs. Mabel Kountz, May Belle's Antiques, 263-4222. Suggested display items might be various types of glass, china, porcelain, pottery, ironstone, stoneware, crockery, metals, paper, wood, books, photographs dolls, small furniture and various other items.

The "Over 60" division features three categories, crafts and hobbies, foods (baked goods and canned products) and clothing construction. This division is for those people over 60 who wish to compete with their age group.

Mrs. Gaskins said further information about the fair may be obtained by calling her at 353-4411; the extension office, 267-6469; or Gerald Miller, 267-5331.

Donations To Scouts, Class Fund

Welfare donations were approved for two Girl Scout troops and the high school Bible fund when the NCO Wives Club met Tuesday at Webb AFB.

Mrs. John Denton presided, naming new committee chairmen; Mrs. Jim Walton, games; Mrs. John Hayes, hospitality; and Mrs. Billy Brown, membership.

Upcoming projects include a Thanksgiving Cheer Basket prize, with Mrs. Roy Ziegler and Mrs. Donald Murphy in charge, and a Christmas bazaar under the direction of Mrs. Hayes and Mrs. Charles Johnson.

Mrs. Marvin Holland, Thrift Shop chairman, announced that the shop is open from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m., Wednesdays and Fridays, and is now accepting winter clothing.

The door prize was won by Mrs. Hayes and the "working girl" prize went to Mrs. Walton.

The next meeting will be Sept. 25, with the program featuring the manager and assistant manager of the Base Exchange as speakers. Members are invited to bring a guest to the 7:30 p.m. meeting in the NCO Club.

Club Continues Sewing Project

Individual projects were continued by members of the Sew and Chatter Club Wednesday in the home of Mrs. M. A. Cook, 1611 Main, with 13 members present. The club will not have a booth at the county fair, but will participate on an individual basis. The next meeting will be at 3 p.m., Sept. 29 in the home of Mrs. H. V. Crocker, 1707 Benton.

Strings On Dad

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I've been going with a wonderful man who's been talking marriage. The problem is his 38-year-old daughter. She's never been married and lives with him. Her mother died 15 years ago, and she isn't interested in dating or going anywhere except with her father. This daughter has never earned a dollar in her life. She keeps telling her father he's too old to marry again (he most certainly is NOT!) and he's taken her to Europe, South America, to the Orient; name it and they've been there.

He is such a dear and generous man, he doesn't want to hurt his daughter, but he says he loves me, and if I'll just be patient, in time his daughter will eventually come around to accepting me.

I want to marry this man, but I'm afraid it's hopeless. What do you think?

GIVING UP
DEAR GIVING: It's hopeless, unless Father tells Daughter that it's important for her to start making a life of her own because he's not going to be around forever. Unless I miss my guess, Daughter might need some psychological surgery to separate her from her father. Unless Father is willing to go along with the above-mentioned suggestion, forget him. "Time" accomplishes nothing. People do.

DEAR ABBY: My "ex" and I have been divorced for 18 months, and I have custody of our four sons, ages 5 to 16. My "ex" has unrestricted visitation rights which he seldom uses, although we're all in the same city.

The few times he's come to see the boys, he just drives up in front of the house, honks his horn, and expects the boys to come running. (They do, of course.) He never offers to take them for a ride. He just visits with them while they stand in the street, and he sits in his car. I feel this is degrading to the boys and have told the older one to please tell his father that he is welcome to come in our home to visit, and I would absent myself while he's here. (The divorce was so messy, my "ex" can't look me in the face.)

The last time he was here, our 13-year-old asked him for his address so he could write to him or maybe visit him there, and his father quickly drove off without even answering him. Needless to say, the boy was hurt and burst into tears, and his brothers were upset, too.

The boys say they feel funny standing on the street. How can this awkward situation be handled?

HURTING FOR THE BOYS
DEAR HURTING: Your 16-year-old should be sufficiently mature to tell Father that it's embarrassing to stand outside, visiting, and in the future he should please come in the house. (He can repeat the fact that "Mother" will not be around.) If that doesn't do it, since you're not speaking, perhaps your lawyer could write his lawyer a letter.

The women will meet at the bowling alley Sept. 29 immediately following the dinner for postal employees at Howard County Junior College.

Tuesday's program was given by Mrs. James Slough who demonstrated the use of art paints in decorating items for the home.

The next business meeting will be at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 8 at the First Federal Community Room.

Buy Fruit With Careful Eye

Watch for deterioration when buying fruits and vegetables. Even with the most modern handling methods, quality of some products declines rapidly, points out Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

A good babysitter needs a lot more than a way with kids

Of course a babysitter should like children. And like taking care of them. But the job also involves some pretty big responsibilities.

Caring for little ones means being able to handle just about any emergency. Because emergencies often require the use of the telephone, a handy list of important numbers can do wonders for your sitter's confidence.

So write down the phone numbers for fire, police, medical assistance and the places you'll be while out. Keep the list right next to the phone, and remember to call home if your plans change.

Interested in getting more for your telephone dollar? We'll send 30 tips to help you save time and money. No charge. We'll also include an Emergency Numbers List.

Card play at bridge is an art, not a science, claim the experts, and therefore cannot be learned.

That is only partly true. Anyone can become a better technician by teaching himself to count—both the opponents' distribution and their high-card strength. In The Art of Card Reading at Bridge (Harper & Row, $8.95), veteran bridge writer and teacher Fred Karpin has collected a series of hands that illustrate how a player can uncover the holdings of the other players at the table. Today's hand is an example.

After East had opened the bidding with one no trump, South overcalled with two spades. The he had no distributional values, North felt he had sufficient high cards to merit a game try, which South accepted because of his distributional values and side ace.

West led the jack of hearts, and declarer could see three losers in the red suits. It seemed that everything depended on a successful finesse for the queen of clubs. In view of East's opening bid, it was almost certain that the spade finesse would succeed but that the ace of hearts was off-side. There was also the slight additional chance that East had a doubleton ace of hearts, so declarer played low from dummy on the opening lead. West won and continued with a heart to East's queen. The ace of hearts was led and ruffed.

Declarer crossed to the ace of diamonds and led and passed the ten of spades. When this won, declarer continued with the nine, East ducking again as West discarded a heart. Before continuing, declarer paused to review the situation. He and dummy together held 23 points, and West had showed up with 1 point. East had to have the queen of clubs for his no trump opening, which meant that the finesse was destined to lose.

Therefore, South had to find an option other than the club finesse. Before drawing the outstanding king of trumps, he led the jack of clubs from dummy. East covered and South won with the ace. The ace of spades was cashed, and a low club was led. When West followed with the seven, declarer played dummy's nine. This maneuver, known as a "backward finesse," proved successful, and the game was made.

Under normal circumstances, this line of play would be 3-1 against. However, once the normal club finesse was proved to be useless, any chance is better than no chance at all.

Stamps Can Be Mailed To You

Postmaster Frank Hardesty announced today that a new "Stamps by Mail" service will be offered in the Big Spring delivery area beginning Monday. According to the postmaster, this service will permit customers to purchase stamps and stamped envelopes through the mail using a personal check or money order.

"This service will be of great benefit to all our customers and especially shut-ins, the elderly and working wives," Hardesty said. Leaflets spelling out the details of the service will be distributed to area households and small businesses during the next few weeks.

"This new service has been tested in selected cities nationwide with very positive results" said Hardesty.

A 40 cents fee will be charged to defray the cost of two-way postage, internal processing of checks and other costs associated with this new service.

Bombings In Guadalajara

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (AP) — One person was killed in a series of four bombs explosions at downtown buildings Thursday.

Jose Jesus Navarro Jaramillo, a commercial policeman, died when a bomb went off under the wheel of a car parked in front of the Banco Del Atlantico. The car was destroyed and windows were knocked out of the bank. No other injuries were reported.

Two women reported injured in one of the blasts were treated for shock and released, police said.

Well Blowout Near Dill City

DILL CITY, Okla. (AP) — An attempt was expected today to cap a gas well which has been spewing potentially dangerous fumes into the air near this small Washita County town since it blew out Wednesday.

Officials said evacuation of nearby families and closing of a stretch of adjacent highway were possibilities because of the fumes.

The natural gas well had not ignited, but it remained un-tamed Wednesday night on its farm site 16 miles west of Cordell and seven miles west of Dill City.

Officials of McCulloch Oil Co., the lease owner, said an effort to cap the well might have to be delayed.

Some expressed fear the well's mud might "play out," leaving only volatile fumes of natural gas.

Ultra-Modern Hospital Being Built By HCA

IN SAUDI ARABIA

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — The new facility, a 250-bed acute-care hospital in Riyadh, the capital and largest city in Saudi Arabia, has been built by King Faisal for the people of Saudi Arabia and the Middle East. Cost of the hospital and related facilities and equipment, all owned by the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, is estimated at $75 million.

The 7-year contract was effective Sept. 1, and extends to Aug. 31, 1980. HCA will begin recruiting employees and medical staff immediately. The facility is scheduled to open in January of 1975.

Under terms of the agreement, HCA has complete management responsibility for the hospital and will recruit physicians and employees required to operate the medical complex.

"Although the contract is for seven years," Neff said, "we are hopeful of developing a longer term relationship with this hospital and of negotiating other management contracts for other hospitals in the Middle East." He said that expansion of the original facility is contemplated.

HCA is the nation's largest investor-owned hospital company, but this is the firm's first overseas operation. The company is currently considering activity in other countries.

Christ Fellowship Schedules Three-Day Evangelistic Meet

By MARJ CARPENTER
Christ Fellowship has scheduled a three-day evangelistic meeting at the Patio Room of the Holiday Inn on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday featuring Chuck Perkins, evangelistic speaker.

Times of the meetings, to which the public is invited are 9:30 a.m. and 7 p.m. daily, according to Tommy Williams, minister.

The group is building a church at FM 700 and 11th Place.

Perkins is a former Hollywood actor. He has appeared on many TV series such as "Route 66," "Adam 12" and "Death Valley Days." He lived in a society where drinking and drugs were an everyday way of life.

The former actor decided with his marriage on the rocks, his life in a personal turmoil to change his entire life style and turn to God for help.

Perkins also says that George Otis, Pat Boone and Harold Bredeson have had a great influence on his life. He began a full-time ministry in the fall of 1969. He has worked with young people and the drug problems abroad in Denmark and throughout the United States.

A RECORD BREAKING attendance of more than 25,000 delegates attended the 93rd annual National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., Inc., in Los Angeles, Sept. 5-9.

Dr. Joseph H. Jackson, pastor of the Olivet Baptist Church Chicago, Ill., was re-elected to his 21st term as president of the convention which represents 6.5 million members, 28 per cent of the Negro population.

The five-day program reflected an urgency by its leadership for members to work toward knitting together their religious beliefs and the problems that face today's American citizen.

The board of directors presented three major resolutions which were accepted by the delegates. Each called for local congregations to work individually in their communities. They were encouraged to fight inflation and the high cost of living by practicing moderation; develop counselling help for persons suffering from alcohol and drug abuse; support our system of government to protect rights of each citizen and urge that law violators be apprehended, prosecuted and punished. This document will be sent to the executive, legislative and judicial branches of the government.

She also announced a conference in Lubbock Oct. 13, 1-2:30 p.m. and the local mission study and salad luncheon set for Oct. 9 beginning at 10:30 a.m.

Mrs. Clyde Cantrell led the program on "Living and Acting in Love." Representing the early Christians was Mrs. M. A. Colb and representing modern Christians was Mrs. Hugh Driver.

The circle welcomed two new members, Mrs. A. C. Holcomb and Mrs. Rupert Sparks.

College, Feb. 17-20, 1974.

The 1974 Lectureship will open on Sunday, Feb. 17 with lectures at 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. Lectures will also be presented Monday through Wednesday, Feb. 18-20, at 9:45 a.m. and 7 p.m. in Moody Coliseum on the ACC campus.

Parents Just Don't Want Their Kids In Politics

NEW YORK (AP) — When the Rev. Robert F. Drinan, the nation's only congressman who also is a Roman Catholic priest, asks people whether they'd like their sons to enter politics, he says he regularly gets this sort of reply:

"No. 'Absolutely not.' 'Never.'"

"People are turned off on politics," says the Massachusetts Democrat, now in his second term in the House. He adds that this is a sad thing for the country and political office should be regarded as a high moral calling.

There is a keen need for more "deeply moral and spiritual people" in public office, including Congress, he said in a telephone interview and added:

"Obviously, since the U.S. Congress formulates the public moral policy of America and to a large extent of the world, we should have people sensitive to the moral issues to do it."

Father Drinan, 52, the former dean of the Boston College law school who in 1970 became the first Catholic priest elected to Congress, said the initial reservations in some church circles about a priest in politics have largely disappeared.

"It never was a problem in Congress itself," he said. But among some lay people and a fellow clerics who were at first somewhat skeptical of the role for a priest, he said it now not only was generally accepted but appreciated.

"This has been especially the case since the Watergate affair began coming out," he said. "My correspondence has been full of comments saying, 'Thank God you're there.'"

Although Father Drinan is the only priest ever elected to Congress, another priest, the Rev. Gabriel Richard, in 1822 was appointed a nonvoting delegate from the Michigan territory. A total of 96 Protestant clergymen have served in Congress in its history. Four do so now — two Democrats and two Republicans.

Father Drinan said the churches largely have discounted the political profession, mistakenly assuming that their automatically would be enough morally motivated men in that field to sustain public morality.

Becoming A Man

Jean Adams
TEEN FORUM

QUESTIONS AT 15: (Q.) I am 15 and a boy and have two problems that have been bugging me. One, how does one know when he becomes a man? This is how I feel. I am on a tall, narrow wall and I am about to fall. Manhood is on one side and boyhood is on the other. How do I make sure I fall on the right side?

Two, how does one feel when he's in love? I mean how does he act, feel, think, etc. How will I REALLY know when I'm in love with a girl. — Waiting in Pennsylvania.

(A.) Your questions are much more imaginative than those I usually get.

Answer 1: Each day you are becoming more a man. But now and all your life the child will occasionally emerge. This should happen less and less as you grow more and more mature. You can encourage your development into manhood by handling each day in your life and the tasks in it in the best and most responsible way you know how. Do not be afraid of falling. You won't.

Answer 2: I promise you that real love is a very beautiful feeling and that you will KNOW it when you experience it.

WRONG GIRL: (Q.) I told Eileen I thought we could really make it together. I told her I would call her back to get her answer. But when I called the line was busy, and I didn't call anymore.

I guess the truth is I didn't want Eileen at all. What I wanted was to make Margaret jealous. Margaret really gets mad when she sees me with some other girl. I really got mad last week when I saw another dude over at Margaret's house.

Please tell me what to do. I am 15 and Margaret and Eileen are both 13. — No Answer in D.C.

Town Of Post Named For Dad Of Philanthropist

DALLAS (AP) — Philanthropist Marjorie Merrivether Post, who died Wednesday in Washington at the age of 86, came from a family with a colorful Texas background.

The town of Post in West Texas is named for her father, who, among other things fired off cannons along the Caprock in an attempt to produce rainfall.

Post also built the cotton mills in Post. He later became president of the Postum Cereal Co., which became the General Foods Corp. after Post's death.

Mrs. Post was married and divorced four times and retained her maiden name after her last marriage broke up in 1964.

PAUL MEEK

Meek Filling Familiar Role

In the United Way drive, currently under way here, one division is headed by Paul Meek.

Meek is chairman of the out-of-town donations and has served in this capacity for five years.

President of Cosden, Meek is kept extremely busy by business commitments but is always willing to give time to Big Spring civic efforts.

He has served as president of the company since 1968. He has been with Cosden since 1955 when he came as a process engineer after graduating from the University of Texas. He became vice president of the chemical department in 1962.

Active in many professional organizations, he also gives of his time to local civic work and has served on the board of directors of both the Chamber of Commerce and the Big Spring Country Club. He served for two successive years as a vice president of the chamber. He is on the board of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center and the West Texas Girl Scout council.

He and his wife, Betty, have four daughters, Paula, who attends the University of Texas and Kathy, Carol Ann and Linda.
