Purpose Of 'Dirty Tricks' Was To Divide Candidates

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Miami Young Republican said today that the real purpose of Donald H. Segretti's campaign of dirty tricks was to divide Democratic presidential candidates and hopefully prompt them to start sabotaging each other.

CONFESSION
"These things weren't done to influence votes at all," Martin Douglas Kelly, 24, told the Senate Watergate committee. "The idea was to get the candidates backbiting each other and possibly doing it to each other."

Confessed political saboteur Segretti has said he was directed in his work by a White House aide, Dwight L. Chapin. Kelly testified at the Watergate panel's first public hearing not to be broadcast live on network television.

The CBS which carried live coverage of Segretti's testimony Wednesday, decided against televising testimony of Kelly and Robert M. Benz, 25, two men who assisted Segretti in sabotaging the campaigns of Democratic presidential candidates last year. Benz was to testify later today.

Kelly added some new details to Segretti's recitation of dirty tricks played on Democrats in the Florida presidential primary. And he explained how the tricks were designed in most cases to cause one Democrat to blame another for the sabotage.

'RAT FINK'

Kelly said he arranged for some Cuban-Americans to picket a news conference held by Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine and said he also released a small bird and two white mice to further disrupt proceedings. The mice had blue ribbons tied on their tails and carried tags saying, "Muskie is a rat fink," Kelly said.

He said the pickets wore buttons supporting Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, one of Muskie's rivals in the Florida primary. "When one of Sen. Muskie's aides asked me about it, I said that confidentially we were working for Sen. Jackson."

Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington was another Democratic candidate.

On another occasion, Kelly said, he passed out leaflets inviting voters to a nonexistent free lunch at Muskie headquarters. Then he called Muskie's aides, identified himself as a distraught supporter of New York Mayor John V. Lindsay and said that Lindsay's presidential primary campaign was behind the fake lunch trick.

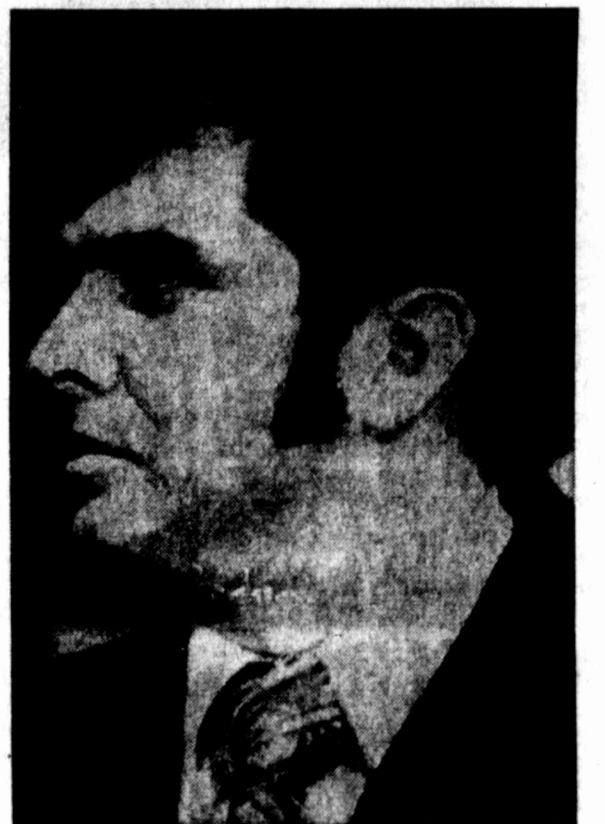

DICTATED

Kelly said that he and Segretti also attempted to make Jackson believe that Muskie was trying to accuse him of using government funds in his campaign.

He said that he sent copies of a letter, written on Muskie's stationery but actually dictated by Segretti, to columnists Jack Anderson, Rowland Evans and Robert Novak and to Knight Newspapers.

The letter said a congressman had donated typewriters and aides to Jackson's campaign, Kelly said, and a copy of the fake Muskie letter was also sent to Jackson "just in case the reporters weren't doing their job."

250 Years In Prison

AUSTIN (AP) — Howard Franks was found guilty Wednesday night of murdering his former wife and sentenced to 250 years in prison—the longest prison sentence ever meted out in Travis County. Prosecutors had asked for a 500-year sentence.

Franks was accused of stabbing his ex-wife to death May 21 while she was working at the IBM facility here.

Franks testified that when he was released from prison, May 17, he learned his wife, Alexzeta, had divorced him and married his best friend. Under Texas law, a prisoner becomes eligible for parole after serving one-third of his sentence or 20 years, whichever occurs first. Becoming eligible for parole does not necessarily mean it will be granted.

The Board of Pardons and Paroles makes the decision after considering some 40 questions, one of which concerns the likely affect on respect for the law in the prisoner's community if he is paroled at the earliest date.

Machine's Lament: I Am Color Blind

The Beaumont sheriff's office put through a request today on the statewide police teletype requesting the color of dealer paper tags and metal tags in Texas in the year 1971.

It got its answer. The teletype radioed back immediately, "I am not programmed to read color. Repeat: I am not programmed to read color. I am color blind. Please resubmit your request to human sources."

WILD STORY? NO, IT WAS WILD HOG

Mrs. Kenneth Orr of 2906 MacAusian is used to her kids creating a little bit of excitement but when she looked out in the yard and saw them approaching a wild javelina eating acorns, she got upset.

The police were called to the scene, but the javelina had left the yard, crossed a street, stopped one car while he strolled back to the mountain south of Big Spring and returned to his home in the canyon.

Mrs. Polly Mays reported that earlier the javelina had stopped in her yard to eat some food put out for birds.

Hospital To Pay Woman $250,000

HOUSTON (AP) — Methodist Hospital has agreed to pay $250,000 to settle a damage suit filed by the widow of an Odessa bank executive.

The suit was filed by Mary Brownfield who claimed her husband, Walter E. Brownfield, 40, died after hospital employees transfused him with the wrong type of blood following heart surgery in October, 1968.

Bingo Cards In Demand

Merchants participating in The Herald's weekly bingo game report brisk demands for bingo cards this week.

The reason is obvious. The prize in the contest ending Friday amounts to $150, biggest in the 12 weeks of competition held to date. There hasn't been a winner now in two weeks.

The contest winds up next week. In all, 22 people have shared in the prize money to date.

Numbers for this week's game started appearing in last Sunday's paper and show up daily in ads through Friday. The Bingo Bucks with which winners are rewarded can be redeemed at any participating merchant for merchandise.

In all, 30 merchants are cooperating with The Herald to stage the weekly contest and the bingo bugs containing the numbers appear in their ads. The cards can be obtained from those businesses.

Only those cards with all the numbers crossed out are eligible for the awards. Those who reason they have winning combinations should notify The Herald by 5 p.m., Monday.

SET AFIRE BY SIX

Torch Victim Asked For Help

BOSTON (AP) — Evelyn Wagler was a stranger in town. The 24-year-old white woman from Chicago arrived last weekend to look for a job.

She moved into the city's Roxbury section, which is predominantly black, and took up housekeeping with friends, some black, some white.

A few hours before she died Tuesday night, Evelyn Wagler, her body aflame, walked into a liquor store and calmly asked the clerk to call an ambulance. "Her face was black," said the clerk, Fred Cortney. "It was amazing she could even talk. Her clothes were smoldering. Her skin was peeling. She walked in and said, 'Will you please call an ambulance?' Then she turned around and walked out, just like nothing happened."

Police say Evelyn Wagler had been set on fire by six black youths. They said the trouble started about a half hour before when Mrs. Wagler set off down Blue Hill Avenue in Roxbury to get gasoline for her stalled car.

Before she could finish her 15-minute walk, police said, the six young blacks jumped her, dragged her behind an apartment building and forced her to drench herself with the gasoline she carried. Then they flicked a match and left her to burn.

Mrs. Wagler was quoted as having told police that she was confronted by a group of black youths Sunday near her new home, called "honkie," and told to get out of the neighborhood.

Mrs. Wagler, who was separated from her husband, had spent the day Tuesday riding around Boston looking for a job. On her way back home that night, her car ran out of gas, two blocks from the house.

It was about 9 p.m. She walked down Wayne Street, where her friends' neat red house is located, to get the gasoline. The street, like most in that part of the Roxbury section, had shifted from predominantly Jewish to overwhelmingly black over the past dozen years. Only one white family remains.

The only nearby service station was closed, so Evelyn Wagler walked 61 blocks in the opposite direction.

Big white lamps lit the street, and it was quiet. But a few houses away, it merged with Blue Hill Avenue, a teeming, crime-ridden thoroughfare.

The avenue was alive at mid-evening. Knots of young men and boys moved in and out of the shadows of trees that line the sidewalk in front of apartment buildings. Drunks slurred offers to sell dope. Couples strolled. Sirens sounded up and down the avenue.

She had to hurry past liquor stores, funeral parlors, soul food restaurants and beauty shops. Men loitered in doorways. People stood and talked at the corners.

Her walk halfway completed, Mrs. Wagler bought a small can of gas and started back. She walked through Oak Hall, one of the many bustling business districts on the avenue.

A few seconds later, at 505 Blue Hill Ave., she was stopped. She was only steps from the state welfare office, where some of her roommates work, and she was within sight of the Episcopal church on the corner of Wayne Street.

It was here, police said, that the six young blacks jumped Mrs. Wagler. Police said Mrs. Wagler told them later in the hospital that the six dragged her into a litter-filled vacant lot behind a yellow brick apartment house.

They told her to pour the gasoline on herself, and when she refused, they threatened her, investigators said. So then she doused herself with gas, and they set her afire, police said.

Police said there was no known motive. Apparently neither robbery nor sexual assault was involved. No arrests have been made.

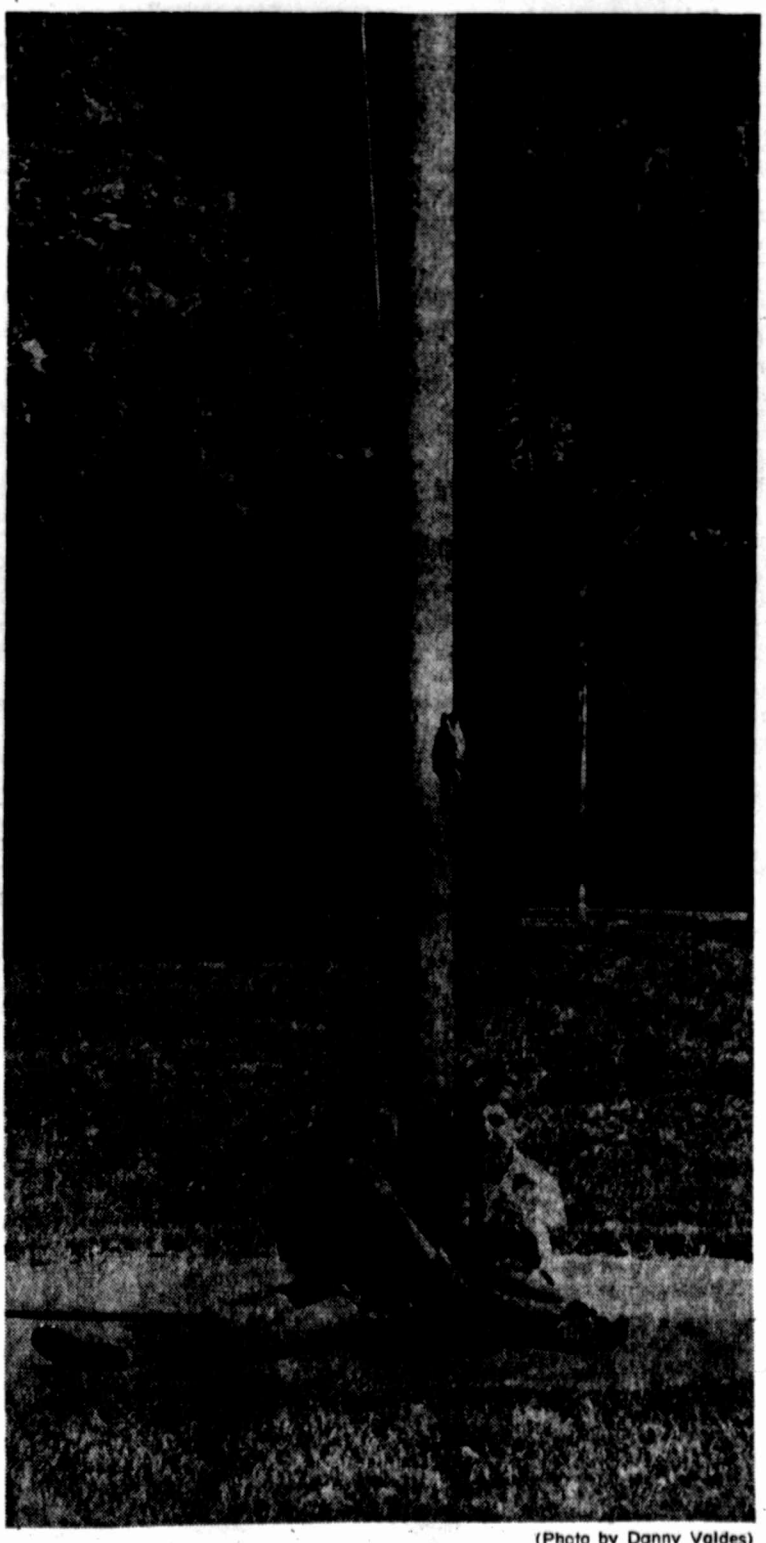

Mrs. Wagler rolled on the ground, throwing dirt on the flames. Then she got up. She was smoldering, and her long dark hair was burned to her blackened scalp.

When Mrs. Wagler got onto the sidewalk, she walked in a daze past two apartment buildings, a sandwich shop, a laundry and a record store. Then she crossed a street, passed the drunks who hang out in front of the liquor store and politely asked for help.

"Someone yelled, 'Get a blanket. Get a blanket to throw over her,'" the liquor store clerk said.

By the time the clerk called police and got the blanket, four store customers had picked off the remains of her sweatshirt and covered her with a coat. At 9:39 p.m., a police ambulance picked her up and took her to Boston City Hospital.

About four hours later, Evelyn Wagler was pronounced dead.

The World At-A-Glance

ROWLEY, Iowa (AP) — "I thought it was the end of the world—or the end of me, anyway," said an engineer who survived the collapse of a 2,000-foot broadcasting tower. Five men were killed in the twisted wreckage. KCRG transmitter engineer Leo Halsch said he crawled beneath a console in the transmitter building as the tower buckled and collapsed. Four of the victims were on a hoist removing and replacing support irons. The fifth was on the ground.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says he will not endorse any Republican for the 1976 presidential nomination until after the primaries have begun that year. "I would like to see how these various potential candidates handle themselves in primaries before making any decision in regard to who should be the candidate," Nixon told a news conference.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four witnesses have testified they heard the defendant in the shooting of Sen. John C. Stennis talk about committing the crime. Tyrone I. Marshall, 19, faces a maximum sentence of life imprisonment if convicted in the wounding of the Mississippi Democrat. One of the witnesses, Michael Ginyard, quoted Marshall as saying, "Yeah, I shot the dude twice."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Elliott Roosevelt has denied accusations he plotted a political assassination, but he faces new allegations. Patsy A. Lepera, a convicted stock swindler, told a Senate subcommittee that Roosevelt was involved in three illegal securities transactions with him in 1969 and 1970. Earlier, the son of former President Franklin D. Roosevelt denied allegations that he had plotted the assassination of Bahamian Prime Minister Lynden O. Pindling.

Tapes Denied Carr-Osorio

DALLAS Tex. (AP) — A federal judge today refused to order the White House to produce tapes said to bear on a Texas mail fraud case.

U.S. District Court Judge William M. Taylor Jr. said former Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr and former Texas Insurance Commissioner John Osorio had not proven the relevancy of conversations between President Nixon, former U.S. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and others in the periods specified by the defendants.

Clean-Up Campaign Gets $10,000 Appropriation

By ANN STEVENS
City commissioners today appropriated $10,000 from the revenue sharing budget to fund the continuous clean-up campaign launched last week by a citizens committee.

Efforts to clear alleys in the 100-block area bounded by T & P Railroad, FM 700, Gregg and Abrams streets began Tuesday. City Manager Harry Nagel said crews from the street department have already cleaned 41 alley blocks and have hauled 61 loads of brush and junk from them.

That area on which work has already begun was designated as the launching site for the project. Jack Watkins, committee co-chairman, said the committee is now in the process of dividing up the entire town into 100-block areas.

Focus will begin next week on the second of these areas, Watkins told the commission. Commissioners today authorized Nagel to immediately hire a man to maintain clean conditions in the first 100-block section at a salary of approximately $400 a month. His job will be to "manicure" what has already been done by the street department and to maintain the cleanliness of a continuous basis.

As each 100-block area is initially cleaned by the city, another man will be hired to do the same job in that area until 10 men are continuously working to keep the city's alleys and lots clean.

Monthly reports on the progress of the drive will be submitted to the commission, according to committee co-chairman Polly Mays.

To build public interest and cooperation in the beautification drive, the Big Spring Property Owners Association is offering $100 for the best name for the campaign. Entries may be mailed to Beautification Contest, P.O. Box 391 and must be postmarked by Oct. 15.

War Powers Compromise Spelled Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate House conferees agreed today on a compromise bill limiting the President's power to engage in undeclared war for more than 60 days.

The compromise bill apparently meets none of the objections of President Nixon, who said earlier that he would veto it.

The bill would provide for extension of the 60-day war-making limit only in the event of written certification from the President that continued hostilities are necessary to protect troops withdrawing from the field, unless Congress authorizes further action.

The extended period could be for no more than 30 days without congressional approval.

One Of Five Remains Free

ATLANTA, Tex. (AP) — Officers captured Wednesday night four of five youths who escaped Monday from the Gatesville State School for Boys.

The four—armed with a .22 caliber pistol—were taken on U.S. 77 outside Atlanta in Northeast Texas.

A fifth escaped youth remained free, Cass County Sheriff Bill Dowd said.

Two of the boys were picked up about 6 p.m. by a game warden and offered no resistance, Dowd said.

The other two youths captured were taken by the sheriff and Texas Ranger Max Womack two hours later on the same highway.

Dowd said the fifth youth may have been dropped off in Dallas prior to Wednesday's captures.

Cass County deputies found a 1972 car stolen from Mrs. Robert Farrell near Gatesville hidden in some trees near the highway.

"We got word they were in this area," the sheriff said. "The boys called somebody and the people they called alerted us."

FIRST OF PORNO CLASSES — Marilyn Chambers, star of x-rated movies, signs autographs Wednesday in New York after she took part in a new course called "Pornography Uncovered, Eroticism Exposed," a legitimate offering from the New School of Social Research in Greenwich Village. A standing-room audience of 500 attended the first of six classes.

Standing-Room Audience For 'Eroticism Exposed'

NEW YORK (AP) — Class teacher with three grandchildren. "I was hoping they would shed some light on why they make movies so dull." A 24-year-old Manhattan artist, Richard Martin, said he wanted to see where the law stood, but first confessed, "I'm here to meet stimulating people—you can put stimulating in quotes."

GOOD QUESTION
Miss Chambers, the star of "Behind the Green Door" and the cover girl for Ivory Soap boxes, appeared in blue jeans and blouse. The teacher introduced her and opened the floor to questions.

"I'd like to know how you do 30 or 40 takes?" one asked of the scenes in which sexual intercourse is vividly shown in the movie. And, "How do you go about getting discovered?" To the first question, Miss Chambers said even four shootings of a scene were rare. To the second: "The way you go about it... Come backstage..."

The five remaining sessions will feature topless cellists, an erotic rock music performance, underground erotic television and burlesque.

Artist Rolling In Dough For Years

NEW YORK (AP) — Artist John Fischer has been rolling in dough for years. His crafted museum-piece jewelry out of pretzels, created bleeding loaves of bread and asked 1,200 people to sweat, hammer, throw and eat their way through two tons of bread.

"Dough is like fish. It's extremely sensual to play with. Baking is a turn-on beyond belief," said Fischer. There's nothing new about using food as an art object. Creation of wedding cakes is a deep-grained American folk art.

Fischer has stuck with bread and it's far from a put-on. His works have commanded as much as $3,000. He began 13 years ago with prebaked loaves, attaching handles to make "portable" bread.

"Part of the interest was in putting the bread in a different context and changing its function completely," said Fischer, who was born in Belgium and influenced by surrealists there.

He moved into extravaganzas in the 1960s—like baking a solid 100-foot loaf, running it through an open-ended oven on a conveyor belt in San Antonio, Tex.

His latest effort is a series of large sculptures which will be on exhibit at the New York Cultural Center this week. Among them are rich-brown textured pieces of a man's torso, hands and legs.

He'll also be on hand for an outdoor baking festival in New York's Central Park on Saturday to celebrate the fourth annual National Day of Bread.

Underground Water Supply In High Plains Looks Bad

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Members who attended the first meeting of the West Texas Water Resources Council here were painted a dreary verbal picture of the depleting underground water supply in the High Plains.

They were also told Wednesday, by a former federal official, that the federal government may bring to a halt large-scale water development programs.

NOT FAVORED
Former deputy director of the National Water Commission, Howard L. Cook, said Wednesday that proposed importation of water from the Mississippi River to Texas was not favored by the commission.

Cook said the commission acted on a report last April by the Reclamation Bureau and the Corps of Engineers that labeled the long-range water transportation project financially impractical.

According to Cook, the only way the project could keep afloat would be an act of Congress.

State Sen. H. J. "Doc" Blanchard expressed both fear and optimism of the situation.

He said although the government may cease to finance the project, he was "not pessimistic."

"Within this area, we can produce enough food and fiber for the entire world. All we need is a transportable item—water," he added.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby urged the formation of the council to study statewide water needs established by legislative resolution.

Blanchard is one of three state senators and 13 private citizens who comprise the West Texas Water Council.

Two Scouts Are Given Eagle Awards At Webb

Two members of Boy Scout Troop 146, sponsored by the 78th Flying Training Wing, received their Eagle Awards in ceremonies at the Webb AFB Scout House recently.

Wayne Crenwelge, 2805 Apache, and Kyle Neighbors, 448-B Armstrong, received their awards from Col. Robert A. Meisenheimer, Webb base commander.

The two had organized a troop for boys in special education as their Eagle project. According to Lt. Dennis Vander Ven, "A project like theirs is rather unusual and very commendable."

Lt. Vander Ven said both boys have held leadership positions in their Scout troop, and are active in the community.

Neighbors is also a member of the Big Spring Steer football team and participates in Future Farmers of America endeavors. He hopes to enter veterinary medicine.

Crenwelge is a member of the Honor Society at Big Spring High School and ranks fourth in the senior class. An appointment to the U.S. Air Force Academy is what this young man hopes for.

Both youths' fathers are in the Air Force and stationed at Webb.

TIA Reveals New Flight

CLOVIS — A new flight linking Eastern New Mexico with major Texas ports was unveiled Tuesday by Texas International Airlines.

To become effective Oct. 28, the new flight linking Clovis, N.M., with Amarillo is part of a route originating from Midland-Odessa and linking Hobbs, Carlsbad, Roswell, Clovis and Amarillo.

The flight announcement is seen as a major accomplishment for Hobbs and Carlsbad which have been squabbling with TIA all year over its announced intention to drop service to those cities. TIA has also announced plans to stop serving Big Spring.

Also announced by TIA officials here Tuesday was the revision of the Clovis-Albuquerque route morning flight to better fill the needs of businessmen. The revised flight departs Clovis at a.m., rather than 9:30, and arrives in Albuquerque at 8:29 a.m.

Ship Blast Kills Three

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Coast Guardsmen are investigating to determine the cause of an explosion aboard the tanker Texaco North Dakota which killed three men.

Two other crewmen were rescued Wednesday from the ship, which was about 60 miles out in the Gulf of Mexico and heading for Port Arthur, Tex.

"I was just standing there looking at the gauges when something hit me and threw me, and then the whole room was filled with smoke," said crewman Ronald Johnson, 37, of Port Arthur, who was hospitalized here with burns.

"I was out for a second," he added, "then I managed to crawl up and out to the deck."

The dead were identified as Casimiro Conde, 51, of Port Arthur; Andrew W. Hightower, 61, of Vidor, Tex.; and Whitney McGee, 57, of Groves, Tex.

Johnson said the 565-foot Texaco North Dakota had unloaded a cargo which included a supply of gasoline in Tampa, Fla., and was returning empty to Port Arthur when the explosion occurred in the ship's pump room.

The Ector County officials took back to Odessa, Willie Boshell, 37, of Odessa, who was arrested here by Howard County sheriff's officers on warrants from Odessa on driving while license suspended and driving while intoxicated.

Jovian Peril Pointed Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — A leading space scientist has reported that a nail-biting, scientific cliff-hanger is in the offing for next month—involving the possible destruction of an American spacecraft now gunning towards Jupiter.

The word came from Dr. James Van Allen, University of Iowa physicist and the chief discoverer of the radiation belts that surround the earth.

Van Allen told a Navy-sponsored scientific conference Tuesday that America's Pioneer-10 unmanned spacecraft, heading for a "fly-by" of Jupiter on Dec. 4, could be destroyed by radiation belts presumed to surround the faraway planet—if the belts are as fearsome as he and some other scientists believe they might be.

On the other hand, he said, some other scientists hold this belief: The presumed Jovian radiation belts—believed formed by the entrapment of electrified particles from the sun by Jupiter's magnetic field—might be, in effect, softened up by the influence of some of Jupiter's multiple moons as they orbit the planet.

And, according to this theory, Pioneer-10 would safely ride through the belts.

Declaring that the spacecraft, launched 18 months ago, should begin to strike the belts late in November, Van Allen said: "Potentially, it (the belt area) is an enormously damaging region, and there's no assurance that the spacecraft will survive it."

"Thus, there will be a very high period of excitement ... beginning in late November."

Van Allen addressed a symposium marking the 50th anniversary of the Naval Research Laboratory.

Webb Ex Helping Teach Arabs To Fly Fighters

By MARJ CARPENTER

Henry D. Brewer, former Chief Warrant Officer at Webb Air Force Base, is now working out of Saudi Arabia for Northrup Aircraft of Hawthorne, Calif., helping teach the Arabs to fly fighter aircraft.

Brewer, who was back here this week with his wife, Golda, was visiting former friends and acquaintances and had a lot of tales to tell about Arabia.

After he retired from the Air Force, he went to work for Northrup who have one of the first contracts under the Department of Defense for this operation.

They teach the Saudi Arabians English, technical training, on-the-job training, and attempt to make them self sufficient in maintaining and flying the aircraft, as well as instruct them to fly the F5s.

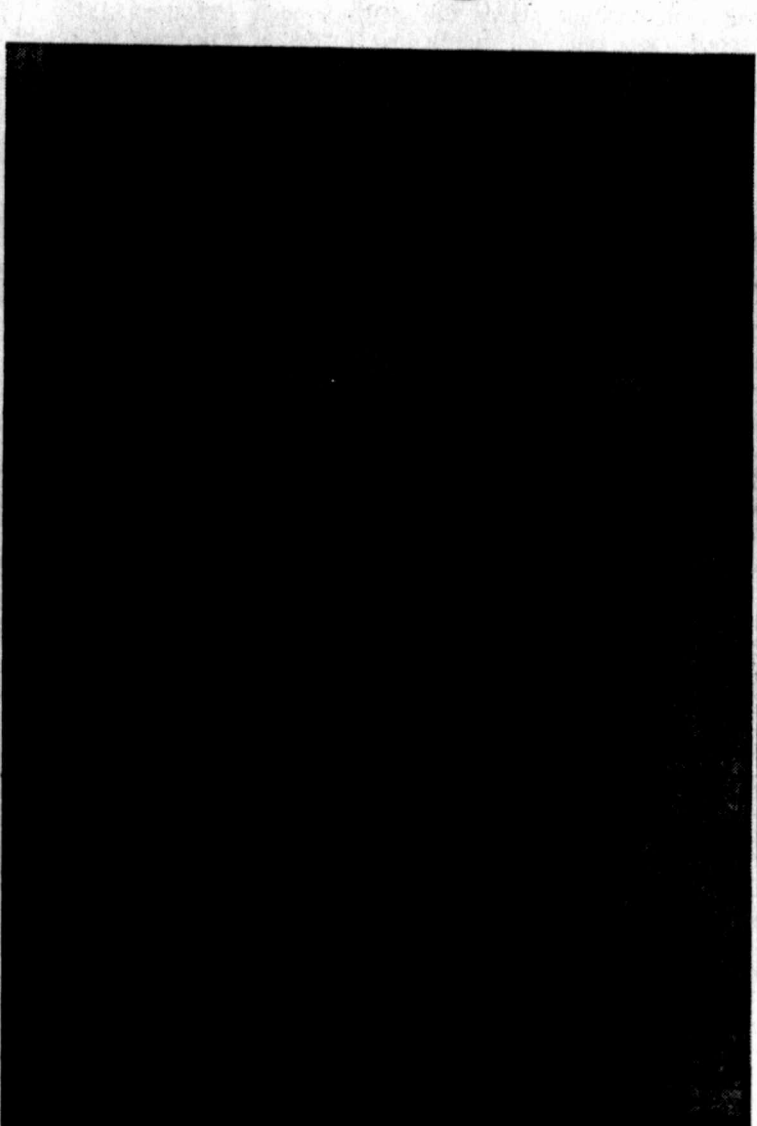

Like T-38
The F5 is like our T-38 only it includes a combat capsule. Brewer is not allowed to say how many men were there doing the training, how many planes are there, or how many men are being trained.

However, he did say that in the city of Al Khobar there are around 2,000 American families including those with Northrup and also oil people with Halliburton, Slumco, Ramco, Brown and Williams and others.

No longer able to travel in Arabia are the tourists. The only people allowed into the country are those working there such as the aircraft company or the oil people.

Brewer said their home is three blocks from the Persian Gulf, which is called the Arabian Gulf by the Arabs.

He pointed out that the climate was hot and bananas trees and date palms grow there. The nights cool off but even in the winter, it gets up to around 80 degrees during the day, he stated.

CATCHING UP — Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Brewer, former residents who now live in Saudi Arabia, are shown catching up on the news in the Big Spring Herald. "We take the Herald," Brewer stated, "and we read it almost exactly one month late."

all of the jewelry stores are clustered together on one street, all of the electrical shops on another and food markets on another.

"They expect you to barter and if you don't haggle a little over the price, they sure don't think much of you," he added.

He also noted that many of the Arabs have up to four wives and jokingly added, "but we Americans still just had one each."

Brewer pointed out that the Northrup contract to teach the Arabs to fly fighter planes is one of the first of its kind arranged by the Department of Defense.

"It's very interesting work," Brewer added, "although at times we feel like we're working on the top of a powder keg."

Big Turnouts Hear Talks

The board of directors of the local unit of the American Cancer Society met Tuesday in the Patio Room of the Holiday Inn and heard a report on Richard Hogarth's speeches here during the past nine days.

Mrs. Fran Bordofski reported that he had spoken to some 3,387 persons during his stay here. The board discussed purchasing him some batteries for his electronic voice box in appreciation.

Mrs. J. D. Hyden, educational chairman, reported that in all, some 4,257 were contacted with films or speeches and that she had distributed 5,007 pieces of literature this month.

Chris Torti, staff director from Midland discussed public education objectives, which he said Howard County regularly meets, and also crusade objectives. He reminded the board that there will be a Crusade Workshop Nov. 7 in Odessa at 9 a.m. at the Inn of the Golden West.

Mrs. W. L. Wilson Jr., president and heard monthly reports. A devotional was given by Mrs. Joe Pickle.

Murder For Hire Testimony Offered

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — Testimony was expected to end today in the probation revocation hearing for Pete Scamardo, convicted in 1970 in the murder for hire killing of his longtime friend and former business partner.

Scamardo, formerly of Hearne, was given seven years probation following his conviction in the 1968 shooting death near McAllen of Sam DeGelia Jr., a Hearne grain dealer.

Hidalgo County Dist. Atty. Oscar McInnis, who charges Scamardo with perjury and adultery, rested his case Wednesday after spending most of day concerning the brakes on an automobile Scamardo owned in 1963.

Defense lawyer Dick Deguerin of Houston began presenting his case late Wednesday.

At his trial, the prosecution alleged Scamardo offered Charles V. Harrelson of Houston $2,000 to kill DeGelia so Scamardo could collect $50,000 life insurance. Harrelson was convicted and given a 15-year prison term at Brownsville earlier this year.

It was at Harrelson's first trial in Edinburg, which ended in a mistrial, that Scamardo gave the alleged perjured testimony.

The prosecution alleges that Scamardo lied when he testified that the brakes on his automobile failed and that he left it overnight at the parking lot of an automobile dealer at Hearne. The car was reported missing the following day.

Less than a week after the incident, Harrelson was arrested.

in a rooming house at Atlanta, Ga. Scamardo's automobile was parked outside the home.

Former Texas Ranger O. L. Luther of Bryan testified he drove the automobile from Atlanta to Bryan and had no trouble with the brakes.

Productive Living Sought For People By Education

Education beyond the high school is finding a "bare market" today, and the new emphasis is upon equipping individuals for productive living.

Dr. John T. Roueche, Austin, said here Wednesday evening.

Dr. Roueche, who is professor of junior college education at the University of Texas, Austin, and director of the Texas Association for Community College Boards and Administrators, spoke at a dinner session for Howard County Junior College board members and department heads at the college.

Thursday morning he held discussions with faculty members on programs and other details.

The Carnegie Foundation projection of doubled junior college enrollment during the 1970's has been revised sharply, said Dr. Roueche. Now the prediction is 3.5 million less than before. The crop of 18 year olds was down 500,000 this year and is due to drop further next year.

Dr. Roueche took a swipe at a philosophy of education which stresses advancement over effectiveness. One-third of high school graduates, he said, cannot read above the sixth grade level. Part of the blame, he said, is upon emphasis in grading, but whatever the cause, the community colleges have a challenge to step in and help these slow achievers to be productive citizens.

So, he said, the need for the community college is great as ever, perhaps greater when the trend toward occupational education is considered to meet what he called our "greatest economic and social needs."

Moreover, vast new segments of adults need to be reached, and he forecast a booming informal educational market for the burgeoning retired population.

Dr. Roueche sees a solid future for the community college. For one thing, only six of 10 children who start school complete the high school level, and most of the dropouts certainly are in need of some occupational training.

Running Water Draws Officers

A neighbor near 634 Tulsa reported that there was water running out of that house around 6:20 p.m.

An officer went to the scene and crawled through a back window. He reported that the only occupant of the house was a dog and that it was wet in there.

The officer requested the water department to turn off the water at the residence until the owners could be contacted.

Police Recover Cache Of Goods

Police officers recovered a cache of stolen goods, apparently abandoned near the roadside of 11th Place extension near the new hospital.

Among the items recovered was a Russian rifle, a stripped down tape recorder originally worth around $600, several records, tapes, a music box, and assorted jewelry items, including three wrist watches.

The items were apparently leftovers from several robberies since two of the items have already been identified by city officers as coming from two separate robberies here.

Newsprint Prices Up $10 A Ton

LUFKIN, Tex. (AP) — Southland Paper Mills Inc. has notified publishers it is increasing the price of newsprint by $10 a ton, effective Dec. 1.

That brings the price per ton to $178. Rising costs of energy, raw materials and shipping were cited as reasons for the increase.

Southland mills here and in Houston have a combined newsprint capacity of 490,000 tons annually. Through expansion at Houston, the output will rise to 620,000 tons a year by mid-1974.

"Historically, Southland has been able to expand its newsprint capacity because it has maintained a strong financial position," said Southland President Melvin E. Kurth, Jr.

"While we have greatly improved operating efficiencies at our mills, the costs of energy, raw materials and shipping have increased at a pace beyond our ability to absorb the costs."

Southland's board, in a move to help meet energy needs, authorized the formation last month of a subsidiary to build and operate a natural gas pipeline to serve the Lufkin mill.

The mill, after suffering severe natural gas curtailments, has used oil as an alternate fuel.

The company reported 1973 sales of $89.5 million. It has about 250 newspaper customers in the South, Southwest and Midwest.

Bowater Corp., another major newsprint supplier, said previously it was asking control authority to increase prices $15 a ton Jan. 1. A spokesman said another increase of $10 a ton could be expected in mid-1974.

Some Diseases Show Increases

"With the advent of air pollution, whether from cigarettes, industry or automobiles, there seems to be an accompanying increase in chronic bronchitis and emphysema," Dr. Paul Cutler, professor of medicine, said at The University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio.

"Emphysema - Bronchitis" was the subject of the second 1973-74 health science center therapeutics seminar for physicians and other health professionals in five states. The program originated in the auditorium of the center today 12:30 p.m. and doctors at Big Spring State Hospital participated by means of a live two-way telephone connection with the San Antonio school.

Members from the center included Dr. Tony Toledo, clinical associate professor of medicine; Dr. Francisco Perez-Guerra, clinical associate professor of medicine and chief, pulmonary disease section, Wilford Hall USAF Hospital; and Dr. William Blumenthal, associate professor of medicine and head division of pulmonary disease at the health science center.

Webb Far Past Objective In Drive For CFC Funds

The 100 per cent mark was passed this week in Webb's part of the Combined Federal Campaign (CFC).

According to Major David Miller, campaign project officer, contributions reached $25,898 by Oct. 2. The goal for the base was $21,000.

One hundred per cent participation was reached by the 82nd and 83rd Flying Training Squadrons and the Squadron, with contributions reaching 250, 250 and 177 per cent of their goals respectively.

Logistics and Operations Divisions, communications and other tenant organizations have exceeded their dollar goals.

Even though total participation by all base personnel hasn't reached two-thirds, Major Miller said he expected it to near 100 per cent in the final two weeks of the campaign.

The major said off-base contributions had pushed the campaign past the goal with nearly $31,000 collected and pledged.

Key men for the week on base, the major said, were: Captains Robert Craig and Harold Beaver, 82nd FTS; Senior Master Sergeants Billy Smith, Communications, and R. E. Conn, flight simulators; Lt. Col. Robert Kaiser, base operations; Lt. David Strom, personnel; Lt. Freddie Batts and

School Offers New Course

Individuals interested in a career in electricity will have an opportunity to get a start through a new course which opens Tuesday at Howard County Junior College.

Entitled "Commercial Electricity," the 50-hour course begins with the very basics of electricity.

It deals with such things as AC-DC circuits, Ohm's law, types-sizes of wire, over-current devices, service entrance conductors, switching gear-panel boards, grounding transformers, lightning, etc.

Instructor will be Terry Walton, who has 21 years experience in industrial-electrical-electronic fields.

The tuition is $50, and the only entrance requirement will be a genuine interest in learning. Classes will be 2½ hours on Tuesday and Thursday evenings (6:30 p.m.) for 10 weeks.

Plans are to follow this instruction with other 50-hour courses in such subjects as control wiring, installation, troubleshooting.

Those interested should call Theron Lee at HCJC (7-6311, Ext. 32) or come to the initial class meeting Room 108, Practical Arts building, 6:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Coahoma Schools Keep Dress Code

COAHOMA — After hearing a presentation from the president of the high school student body, the Coahoma school board Tuesday night decided to retain its present dress and hair code.

More than half the students wanted the school policy relaxed, Marcelino Chavez, president of the student body, said today. Neither the student council or student body voted on the matter.

Chavez called the board's reception "polite." But school trustees felt problems would result from more liberal guidelines.

There being no change authorized, W. A. Wilson, superintendent, said no board vote was taken. High school students must keep their hair above their ears and collars and out of their eyes.

Girls in school here may wear dresses with hemlines up to five inches above the knee. Slacks are okay, according to policy, but shorts are not.

Also mixed by the board was a request to permit student smoking somewhere on campus. Students are not allowed to smoke anywhere on campus.

Other action included: hearing a report from George Thorburn, a Big Spring certified public accountant, on the annual audit.

Approving hiring Mr. Gwen Thompson as a teacher and Mrs. Maria Arroyo as a teacher's aide.

Purchasing a used pickup for the construction trades department. Cost was $750.

Big Drop In Wholesale Food Prices Recorded

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm and food product prices fell a record 6 per cent last month to lead the biggest decline in overall wholesale prices in 25 years, the government reported today.

The big drop in wholesale food prices, expected to start showing up on supermarket shelves in coming weeks, indicates this year's great food price rise may be slowing down.

The Labor Department's Wholesale Price Index showed the over-all decline in wholesale prices during September was 1.8 per cent on an unadjusted basis and 1.5 per cent when adjusted for seasonal variations.

DECLINE

The over-all unadjusted decline last month was the most in any month since a 1.9 per cent drop in February 1948. The seasonally adjusted drop last month matched the seasonally adjusted decline in February 1948.

The sharp decline in farm products reflected lower prices for livestock and corn, fresh and dried vegetables, live poultry and eggs. Raw cotton and milk prices increased, however.

September's drop in wholesale prices followed the biggest one-month rise in 27 years, a leap of 5.8 per cent from July to August, the period during which President Nixon lifted the midsummer food price freeze.

Despite the September drop, however, wholesale prices were still 16.6 per cent above a year ago.

FARM PRODUCTS

Farm products, after leaping a record 23.1 per cent in August, fell 6 per cent in September, the sharpest one-month drop since February 1948.

Prices of processed foods and feeds also fell 6 per cent last month.

And when combined with the drop in prices of farm products, the over-all decline in the category of farm products and processed foods and feeds was 6 per cent on an unadjusted basis and 5.2 per cent seasonally adjusted, both the biggest declines on record since the government began keeping these statistics in 1947.

The Labor Department said prices of consumer finished goods, including food and non-food commodities nearest the retail end of the wholesale chain, dropped seven-tenths of 1 per cent last month, following a sharp 3.8-per cent increase in August. The decline in this category was the first since last October.

September 1972—PROVIDENCE SUNDAY JOURNAL—"Mind Control: When You Create Images In Your Mind, Your Whole Body Chemistry Responds." Also articles in LIFE, NEWSWEEK, NATIONAL OBSERVER, NEW YORK TIMES, LOS ANGELES TIMES, SALES MANAGEMENT and many others.

One of the reports that won admittance of the Parapsychological Association to the American Association for the Advancement of Science as reported by a computer scientist was "That corporate executives using ESP and involving millions of dollars doubled their company's money."

SILVA MIND CONTROL COURSES have had tremendous success throughout the nation in teaching practical applications of controlled ESP. This is the first and only method in history to be effective in developing controlled ESP.

The "Silva Method," as this method is known, was scientifically researched by Mr. Jose Silva from Loredo, Texas, a research scientist and a pioneer in mental training, researching since 1944. He is the discoverer of the new Science of Psychoneurology and the creator of the MIND CONTROL program. Mr. Silva states, "The discovery that Human Intelligence can learn to function with awareness of the Alpha and Theta frequencies of the brain was a down in history as the greatest discovery of man."

This discovery, he adds, "is sure to change our concept of Mind, Psychology, Psychoneurology, Hypnotic Analysis and of the Subconscious."

JOSE SILVA RESEARCH SCIENTIST

Mr. Silva explains that there are four principal brainwaves: The Beta Wave, associated by some to be the outer conscious levels, physical activity, anxiety, tension, etc.; and the Alpha Wave, also associated with inner levels of mental activity, tranquility, inspiration, creativity, concentration, E.S.P., accelerated healing process, memory, learning and many other phenomena; the Theta Wave, related to deeper levels of meditation, concentration, and potentially even greater learning and recall capabilities; and finally the Delta Wave, associated with deep sleep now known as unconsciousness.

Mr. Silva continues, "In just hours of classroom instruction students can learn to function with awareness of Alpha/Theta levels." This is accomplished with the use of the SILVA METHOD of Mental Training without the use of Bio-Feedback Equipment.

MANY benefits are now known to exist for those who learn to function with controlled awareness of the Alpha and Theta levels. Our students report better memory, higher grades, less tension and anxiety, faster revitalization and healing, release and rejection of psychosomatic problems, control of sleep and headache problems, control of smoking, weight problems, and some report correction of drug habits, and also maintenance of better general health. Mr. Silva adds that these abilities are just side benefits and that the real benefit is that the student, when at these levels, seems to sense information impressed on the brain cells of others at a distance.

Mr. Silva believes that this is what some call E.S.P. or Extra Sensory Perception, but he calls it Subjective Communication. The MIND CONTROL program has changed the meaning of E.S.P. which was uncontrolled, erratic and very elusive. Subjective Communication which is controlled and defensible. He adds that perfecting the means to communicate at this dimension will be the second phase of human evolution on this planet.

Subjective Communication is being used to become aware of information for problem detection and solving.

Mr. Silva states that we somehow have unconsciously learned to interfere with the body's healing function and that this effect is known as the psychosomatic health problem. If appears that by learning to function with awareness of the Alpha-Theta levels, we automatically cease to interfere, allowing the body's internal organs and glands to return to their natural rhythmic self-healing function. We don't need to teach the internal organs how to function. Nature takes care of that when we do not interfere. The Silva Method is dedicated to help humans become healthier, more productive and better problem-solving agents. For references ask any of our graduates in the United States, Mexico, Canada, Central and South America and Europe.

Lost Soldier Victim Of Army Bureaucracy

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Leonard Thurmes had re-enlisted and volunteered for two tours of duty in Vietnam when his troubles with the Army bureaucracy started in 1968.

FRANKLY, it's ruined our lives," his wife, Denise, said of the five-year struggle with red tape.

Thurmes, now 26, enlisted in the Army when he was 17. He Thurmes said he had returned from his second 18-month tour in Vietnam and was on a 30-day leave at his home in Mahtemedi, Minn., when he received his orders on Nov. 14, 1968.

But, there were two sets of orders for him.

One set, dated Nov. 5, said he was to report to Ft. Bliss, Tex., on Nov. 1—four days before the order was dated and 13 days before he received it.

REPORT TO BLISS
The other set told him to report to Ft. Snelling, Minn., on Nov. 7—seven days before he received the papers.

Thurmes said he checked in at Ft. Snelling and was told they had no orders for him. He was told to report to Ft. Bliss.

Thurmes said he drove 1,200 miles to the Texas post at his own expense, since he had received no travel pay because he went on leave before being reassigned.

NO ORDERS
There were no orders at Ft. Bliss, either.

Thurmes said he rented a trailer there for two weeks, reporting to the base every morning in hopes that the orders would come in the promised "day or two."

When no orders came, he said, Ft. Bliss officials told him he was absent without leave and told him to return to Ft. Snelling.

Thurmes said he returned to Minnesota and kept calling the two Army bases over the next year to check on his orders. He also hired a lawyer to help straighten out the mixup.

They learned there were no longer any military records at Ft. Bliss. And a fire at the record center in Ben Huo, Vietnam, destroyed Thurmes' previous records, Thurmes said.

Thurmes said he has been working at odd jobs over the past few years because he has received no Army pay since he left Vietnam in October 1968.

He says all he wants from the Army now is his honorable discharge because his six-year enlistment expired in April 1972.

He Almost Said It

Gov. Dolph Briscoe's brief bid for the vice chairmanship of the Southern Governors' Conference — he stepped back to avoid a confrontation with Florida's Gov. Askew — was just shy of a formal announcement he will seek a second term in Austin.

Under governors' conference rules, the vice chairman becomes chairman the next year. That means Briscoe was willing to commit himself through 1975 in conference leadership roles, extending into a second term.

That's not surprising, of course. Few expect Briscoe not to seek re-election; it would be a minor Texas political earthquake if any governor did not seek a second term.

And there was another political consideration to Briscoe's move, one connected to the political aspirations of Sen. Lloyd Bentsen. The Texas senator is being mentioned as possible Democratic presidential — or more likely vice presidential — candidate in 1976. Briscoe would have liked to have had the conference leadership post as an asset for Bentsen's cause. Actually, Briscoe may yet achieve this aim, delayed a couple of years. The conference chairmanship rotates between Democrats and Republicans. The next Democratic vice chairmanship vacancy will be filled in 1975; Briscoe could hold down that post in 1976 as a result of his early move this year.

All this is a further sign of Texas' continuing political strength nationally. Both Texas senators, John Tower and Bentsen, are high in the counsels of their two parties. John Connally, of course, is a likely contender for the Republican presidential nomination. And Texans continue to hold important committee chairmanships in the House. Instead of fading from power with the end of the Sam Rayburn-Lyndon Johnson era, Texas appears on the verge of a resurgence.

The Merry Go Round

There is an air of unreality, a mixture of hopeful mysticism and hard opportunism, about the election of the aged Juan D. Peron and his young wife as president and vice president of Argentina. It is an odd package deal: The 77-year-old former strong man exiled 18 years ago and the woman evidently cast in the role of successor to the revered and long-dead Evita.

Perhaps the Argentine people know what they are doing. One gets the feeling, though, that they have been all but hypnotized by a succession of political maneuvers. When Peron returned from exile the military barred his running for the presidency. His hand-picked candidate thereupon won election last March, then resigned in July to clear the way for the one-time strongman. Now the military is out and Peron is in, and who can say when the merry go round will turn again. The sad part is that people everywhere want to turn their troubles over to some one else instead of attacking them personally.

A Cure Coming?

Around The Rim
Marj Carpenter

Are you old enough to remember the arrival of the Salk vaccine which more or less wiped out crippling polio? And do you remember all of the elements of doubt and disbelief that accompanied the first batch?

AND THEN when a handful of children up in the Midwest turned up with live viral strains in the vaccine and actually took polio, the disbelief turned to horror. However, folks finally calmed down and began to have faith in the wonder vaccine.

What brought all this back to my mind, after 19 years, was — of all things — one of the new officers of the Highway 87 group that met here last week.

In town for the meeting was Cecil Jones of Raton, N.M., who is the new secretary of the group. Back when he was a very young man, just out of Baylor and an assistant football coach in Pecos, he had a daughter named Janis who was the same age as my daughter, Cathy.

TWO WEEKS later on a Sunday, Janis and Cathy came up to me after Sunday School and Cathy said, "Mama, Janis says her throat hurts real bad." And I said, "Well, there's lots of colds around."

That afternoon, we heard that Janis had bulbar polio. And for days, we all prayed and hoped that Janis would pull through. She did.

And I turned to my husband and said, "Janis didn't have the vaccine. Cathy did. And they even drank out of the water fountain one right after the other. Now we will see if it works." Cathy did not take polio and, believe me, I was one of the first to be extremely thankful for the vaccine. Janis, according to her father, is now married and lives near Lubbock. A story with a happy ending.

But, if you're old enough, you can remember how we all dreaded the summer polio season and that whenever we would hear of a case, we would all be horror struck with fear for our own little ones.

I remember in 1946 that Kingsville was quarantined and Texas A&I shut down without graduation exercises in order to get all of the students out of town. I remember it well because that was my graduation — or would have been. In my whole life, I never seem to have any strictly ordinary occasions.

I was thinking, wouldn't it be wonderful if we got to live to see the day there might be a cancer prevention vaccine? Don't write it off as impossible.

Not of you can recall the days of little faith in the polio vaccine.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

I am 12 years old, and I am scared of death. Could you please tell me what to do? L.S.

I think if all of us were honest, we would admit that at any age, death threatens us and scares us. Underneath all the common expressions we use about death, is still the realization that it is unnatural and contrary to our creative purposes.

Actually the dread of death was felt more keenly by the Israelites in the Old Testament. Death to them was separation from all they loved — from God, His law, His people and from His land. But in this darkness has appeared the light of salvation. The Hebrews' writer reflected on this when he described Christ's death for us as a way to "deliver those who through fear of death have been living all their lives as slaves to constant dread." (2:15.)

The Bible, my young friend, is not a book of death — but of life — eternal life through Christ our Lord. In unmistakable terms it tells us of the power of faith to break the penalty of death now, and ultimately (according to Rev. 21:4) even the presence of death in the world to come.

I want you to read what Paul ex-

McGraw-Hill News Leader
Gift by Chicago Tribune

SIDEKICK.

claimed in I Cor. 15:55. You too, can look death in the face and say, "Where is your victory?" Then go out and live for the Lord.

Score For Shultz

Rowland Evans

WASHINGTON — In the valley of the blind the one-eyed king. That explains a lot about Melvin Robert Laird's role in the Nixon Administration.

LAIRD represented central Wisconsin in the state senate and in Congress for a quarter-century. Unlike Haldeman, Ehrlichman and Mitchell, unlike Kissinger, Ziegler and Haig, he had to go out and explain himself, to look people in the eye, to run for office.

But just because elective politics is considered wizardry in the White House, that does not mean that Mel Laird is as smart and sagacious as Evans and Novak say he is.

Mel Laird, in fact, can be too clever by half, manipulating the media like a mad scientist until the experiment blows up in his face and sings his Mephistophelean e y e b r o w s.

HE DID THAT last week after President Nixon on Monday pledged no new taxes. The next day, Arthur Burns met with the President for what the White House described as a private meeting.

Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, has his doubts as to whether inflation can be fought solely on the basis of balancing the budget and making borrowing too expensive, which is his job at the Fed.

So Burns discloses to a House committee on Wednesday that the President would be "sympathetic" to a new tax increase, to force

Americans to save their money instead of throwing it on the inflation pyre.

LAIRD trots out to the press room, unloads a prospectus for a Rube Goldberg device of "deferred" tax payments, then leaves, having presumably mollified Burns (whom the President doesn't want to offend) with the news that the President is seriously considering such an anti-inflation idea.

But in Tokyo, George Shultz, Secretary of the Treasury and President Nixon's chief economic adviser and chief economic spokesman made Mel Laird look less like Merlin and more like the court jester.

LAIRD CAN "keep his cotton-picking hands off economic policy," said Shultz, as he was interrupted during vital trade negotiations with the Japanese. Shultz put down Burns, too, suggesting that both he and Laird follow the President's economic policy — woeeful as it may be — and "not keep sharpshooting it week after week."

George Shultz, a former academic, is a candid man in an administration of be-foggers and traducers.

IN THE valley of the blind, he too is a one-eyed king, but his realm is one of blunt honesty, not back-slapping politics.

At least for the moment, score it for Shultz by a TKO.

Procedure And Agnew

William F. Buckley Jr.

It is hard at this point to recall how the system is supposed to work. But traditional notions of justice would require that at this point no one in the country should know that there is a case building against Vice President Spiro Agnew. News of it would come only when the indictment was handed down, even as no one knew that there was a legal case pending against John Mitchell and Maurice Stans in the Vesco business until the indictments were handed down.

THAT TRADITION isn't merely a charming convention from days gone by when it was a practical consequence. It has a meaning here and now. Unless one is supposed to take the position that everyone called before a grand jury is guilty, which is plainly preposterous, then one must suppose that efforts should be made to conceal such calls by grand juries, pending the evolution of a case against an individual. Bulletins from the prosecutor's office not only damage the reputation of the accused, who may not be indicted; they whip up a posse spirit which, if the target is a national figure, predisposes a jury towards a guilty verdict.

IN THE case of Spiro Agnew, one is almost driven to the conclusion that the Associated Press has wire-tapped Henry Peterson's office over at the Justice Department. It is hard to imagine more detailed stories about Mr. Agnew's alleged malversations while Governor. And far from recoiling at this breach of security, the prosecutor Mr. Peterson blurted out his self-confidence to a CBS reporter: "We've got the evidence. We've got it cold."

William Safire, a former speech-writer for Richard Nixon who is doing a splendid job as Our Man on the New York Times editorial page, made a fine point the other day in connection with the blast by Patrick Buchanan against the Watergate Committee. Buchanan, it will be remembered, began his session with Sen. Ervin's committee by reading dramatically from the headlines of the nation's newspapers during the preceding few days, each one accusing Buchanan of a different venality, the lot of them scribed to "sources" within the Watergate Committee.

AT THIS POINT each senator in turn unctuously disavowed responsibility and joined in deploring all leaks. What they did not do was constitute a Plumbers' Unit of their own to look into the question of who was responsible. Mr. Safire points out that it would have been very easy, and altogether convincing if the committee had suspended the interrogation of Mr. Buchanan there and then, and one by one placed its own employees on the witness stand to ask them under oath: did you give out any information against Patrick Buchanan?

The reason they did not do this, sighs Mr. Safire, is that almost certainly the leaks came from one of the senators, and an institution called senatorial courtesy prevents any truly purposive inquiry by senators into the peccadilloes of other senators. Besides, investigating leaks would take time away from deploring them, and this is too much to ask of the Watergate investigators.

BUT IN THE case of Mr. Agnew there is no question of senatorial privilege. It is too late now to repair the reputation of the vice president, pending the jury trial. But his indignation as expressed to the ladies in California is thoroughly justified. It would be reassuring if some of the professional civil liberties-oriented groups were to vow to take action after Mr. Agnew's case has been "fractured by the courts, against the Justice Department officials who leaked the stories, in order to re-establish the institution of truly secret grand jury proceedings.

Mr. Nixon arguing that a president's tapes ought not to be made available under any circumstances to anyone is more attractive when arguing the case heatedly in defense of his predecessor as president, or his successor. Similarly, Mr. Agnew, though greatly wronged by the Justice Department, is less resonant complaining about its injustices to him, than to others.

He Has A 'Runaway' Heart

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am afflicted with "runaway heart." Our doctor doesn't seem to take it as something serious, but I do. After a few hours of this hard, fast pounding I'm just "done in" for about two days. Quinidine doesn't seem to help. I am 71. — Mrs. H.M.

It may well be that, if you would just believe your doctor, you would have less trouble. There are many causes of rapid heart beat, some of them serious and some not. To give you some principal examples, too much tobacco or coffee can cause rapid heart; so can infection with fever; or overactive thyroid or other endocrine disturbances; or diseases of the lungs or blood vessels in other areas; or tension and nervousness.

Spells of rapid beating may be brief or may continue for some time.

While it worries nervous patients a good deal at times, often that's all the harm it really does. I do not, of course, mean that such rapid rhythm may not be harmful if you have some ailment affecting the heart — but your letter gives no indication of any such thing.

Quinidine is the best known of several medications used to regulate the heart beat, but if there is some underlying cause — thyroid trouble or whatever — then obviously treatment must be aimed at the underlying cause instead.

Since your doctor detects none of the causes in the serious category, I would suspect that your very nervousness may be having a lot to do with the fact that you have these spells.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please define "biliary dyskinesia" for me. — E. McC.

Rather difficult to define — theoretically, it is a motor dysfunction of the gall bladder, so that the movement of bile from the gall bladder is disturbed.

Usually physical examination and laboratory tests are normal, but the patient can have symptoms of pain, nausea, vomiting and abdominal distention.

It is, therefore, a difficult condition to pin down to a positive diagnosis. When the symptoms occur with no other explanation for them, treatment includes sedation, pain-control medications and antispasmodics to prevent cramping. This has to be on an empirical basis — used in amounts that bring relief. Surgery is not recommended for this.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I just finished your answer to the woman whose fingernails were breaking and peeling. Most manicurists and women have a habit of filing the surface of their nails instead of only the edge.

This thins the nails and causes them to break. I never ever permit anyone to rub the file on the tops of my nails. When they do, they break. — Mrs. M.K.M.

Nobody ever made nails stronger by filing them down thinner. I didn't know that that kind of filing was prevalent, but your word of advice should be helpful.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been told I have a double gall bladder. Have been told it is functioning well and not to worry about it. Is this possible? I never heard of it. — Mrs. B.B.

It's possible. You have it. You haven't heard about it because it is a very rare anomaly. As you were told, don't worry about it.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of his booklet, "How To Take Care of Your Heart," enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Hearing On Program To Sink Dozen Ships

HOUSTON (AP) — A hearing on a program to sink 12 Liberty Ships as artificial reefs off the Texas coast moved to Corpus Christi today after the Texas Coastal and Marine Council heard four witnesses here.

Some 40 persons attended the Houston hearing Wednesday but only four asked to be heard.

Joe C. Moseley II, executive director of the council, expressed hope that the project can get under way in less than a year. He said much will depend on environmental clearances.

He said current plans call for an Oct. 19 meeting in Houston for formal approval of application of applications for federal permits for the project.

Two areas are under consideration near Freeport. M.C. Raney of Lake Jackson, representing the Brazosport Chamber of Commerce, recommended an area that would be 15 to 20 miles from a site selected for a proposed offshore superport. The second Freeport area would be only three miles or so from the superport site.

FIRST PHASE

Moseley's comment was in answer to a question asked at the hearing on proposals to sink the ships in four areas selected for accessibility to fishermen but with minimum interference with shrimping, shipping and mineral development.

The project calls for the sinking of three ships at each of four locations offshore from Freeport, Matagorda Bay, Port Aransas and Padre Island.

State Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston, council chairman, said the ship project is only the first phase of an overall artificial reef program planned by the council and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The strongest criticism came from Richard P. Matthews, representing a Houston junk firm. He objected to the sinking of the hulls, which he said amounts to "giving away our resources."

Schwartz said the federal government already had decided the ships could be used that way and that the council was only trying to determine how best to do it.

Schwartz said he was for the site that is closer to San Luis Pass. He added that many of his constituents in the Galveston area were disappointed that the shallower water off the Island precluded ships being sunk there.

CITES RESOURCES

Dury L. Selig, representing the Galveston Chamber of Commerce, said he regretted this was the situation but added the chamber has appointed a special committee to seek other types of artificial reefs.

J. E. Baker of Houston, representing the West Gulf Maritime Association, requested that shipping interests be consulted. Schwartz gave quick approval.

DAUGHTER DISCLOSES Life With Ellery Queen Wasn't All Roses

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Christopher Rebecca Lee, a 30-year-old university freshman, says that her father, detective story writer Ellery Queen, was not as urbane as his books would indicate.

SHORT, FAT

"Here's Ellery — tall, dark," Miss Lee said of her father's fictional sleuth. "Here's dad — short, fat. It's hard to make the transition."

"My father was a fairly dominant personality in his own home... A great premium was placed on intellectual competence in our house. Consequently I think that without meaning to he scared the hell out of us."

Miss Lee said that her father, Manfred Lee, who died in 1971, would not have approved of her decision to resign from a New York public relations job to enroll at the University of Florida, this fall as a zoology major.

"He went off on a gamble to write," she said in an interview. "He felt that the way to do it, that wasn't the way to do it, that a good job and a decent income was still the most important thing."

DESTROYED HER

Manfred Lee and his cousin, Frederic Dannay, teamed to write 33 mysteries under the pseudonym Ellery Queen. They rarely saw each other, but regularly produced one book a year. Lee did most of the writing while Dannay conducted plot, did research and edited.

Miss Lee and seven other Lee children grew up on an estate in Roxbury, Conn. Her mother, Kaye, is still alive.

"My fifth grade English teacher was such an Ellery Queen fan and had this image of my father as this gorgeous WASP (white Anglo-Saxon Protestant)," Miss Lee said. When he visited the school one day, she suddenly realized that Ellery Queen was a short, fat man in overalls and red socks. Miss Lee said, "She was really destroyed."

Miss Lee said, "Ellery Queen's appeal has basically been that most of his detective work was done through his brain. He wasn't a James Bond, a knock-em-up, shoot-em-down. He wasn't a Mickey Spillane."

TORTURE

"My father felt very strongly that there was something special about writing," she said. "He often said writing was a torture. He had this big thing for suffering, the Jewish disease."

AGGIES DISCOVER

System For Purifying Rural Water Supplies

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — An estimated five million Americans have no piped running water in their homes, and many others get impure water from wells or ponds, but scientists here hope that situation will be remedied in the near future.

Researchers at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station here say they have discovered a system for purifying rural water supplies that uses electricity and chlorine already present in most water. The research center says the discovery is especially important since chlorine is in short supply.

The electrochemical purification system uses electricity that causes impurities such as clay particles, algae and bacteria suspended in water to settle and free chlorine from salts and kills bacteria. The center says that water treated with the system passes U.S. Public Health Drinking Water Standards. There also are significant reductions in hardness, turbidity, color iron and other minerals in the water.

Dr. Jarvis E. Miller, director of TAES, said the research was obviously in line with our responsibility to help improve living conditions in rural areas and our continuing concern for the well-being of all our citizens. Clean, pure water should be available to all our people.

Miller said the experimental prototype for water purification is about two or three years from manufacture and availability to consumers.

GRIM PROJECTIONS

Holiday Traffic Toll

CHICAGO (AP) — To the average American, a holiday weekend means a chance to relax a little, to spend some time with the family or just get away from it all.

To the people at the National Safety Council, a holiday weekend means another round of grim projections and counting of the death toll on the nation's highways.

The council began issuing its projections for the six holiday weekends each year in 1948. Current forecasts are based on accumulated experience and statistics.

As a general rule, the council says, 18 per cent more people die on a holiday weekend than during a similar amount of non-holiday time.

That figure is deceiving, however, because there are more people on the roads driving more miles. When the death rate is figured on a basis of number of persons killed per estimated miles driven, the council says the holiday toll is 11 per cent higher than the non-holiday figure.

Why the higher figure? "People are in a hurry to get home," a council spokesman said. "People are in a festive holiday mood and abuse the use of alcohol more than normally and they also neglect to use seat belts."

The council has estimated that alcohol is a factor in more than half of all traffic deaths; that speeding is involved in 30 per cent of them; and that fatalities would be cut by 20 per cent if everyone used seat belts.

There are two sets of figures to take into account. First there is the immediate death toll — the number of people who die during the holiday and whose deaths are reported within hours after its end.

FINAL TOLL
Then there's the final death toll, not available until 10 days or two weeks after the holiday period and including people who died of injuries suffered during the counting period.

The council says it issues its predictions of deaths to alert people to the dangers.

This year the council issued an "immediate death rate" prediction of between 550 and 650 traffic fatalities during the 78-hour counting period of the Labor Day weekend. An Associated Press tabulation showed 559 deaths.

Here's a rundown of the Labor Day figures for past years:
—1972: 580-620 immediate deaths estimated; 602 counted.
—1971: 600-700 estimated; 616 counted.
—1970: 570-670 estimated; 612 counted.
—1969: 625-725 estimated; 612 counted.

—1968: 575-675 estimated; 688 counted.

—1967: 560-660 estimated; 606 counted.

750 DIE
The immediate death rate tells only part of the story, however. This year, for example, the final tally showed 750 persons killed and 22,500 injured during the Labor Day holiday.

According to the council, a final tally by the council for a similar, nonholiday period including a weekend in September, 600 persons were killed and 11,000 injured.

That would be an increase of 25 per cent during the Labor Day weekend. But the council also estimated that Americans drove 12.2 billion miles during the Labor Day holiday, compared with an estimated 11.8 billion during a three-day period including a weekend but not on a holiday.

DALLAS — Rural electric leaders from Texas, New Mexico and Arizona were warned here today that the national energy crisis poses one of the most serious threats to the survival of rural electric systems that their consumer-owned systems have ever faced.

Delegates from 106 rural electric systems are attending the two-day annual meeting of Region X of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association.

Attending from Cap Rock Electric Co-op are Glenn Campbell, president of the board, and James D. Eiland, manager.

Steers Visit Eagles On Friday

(Photo by Danny Valdes)

BUFFALO GENERAL — Quarterbacking the Stanton Buffaloes Friday night when the team visits Morton's Indians will be Bill Howard, a 165-pound junior. Howard has thrown for 166 yards and three touchdowns in helping the Buffs to a 4-0 standing.

Buffaloes Eye Victory No. 5

MORTON — With the idea that a successful pre-district campaign lays the base for a successful league effort, the unbeaten Stanton Buffaloes visit here Friday looking for that perfect beginning.

The Buffaloes, 4-0 following last week's squeaker over talented Rankin, are hoping for a repeat of last year's 12-0 triumph over the Indians of Dist. 2-AA. The prestige of a 5-0 mark might come in handy when the Buffs open 7-AA action next Friday against fifth-ranked — and equally unbeaten — Reagan County.

But Stanton coach Bill Young refuses to look any further ahead than 8 p.m. Friday when the Buffaloes visit a Morton squad that has given up just one touchdown in the last two games.

The Indians are 2-1-1, the lone loss a 9-7 setback at the hands of Freshman last week as three field goals did the trick.

Morton boasts speed in the backfield, mainly because of tailback Kenneth Standmire, but 185-pound fullback Jerry Silhan adds power to the attack. Guard-linebacker Pete Soliz, a tough 160-pound senior, is the key man in the line effort.

The Buffaloes will answer with a backfield that includes powerful Mark Eiland, a sturdy tailback who has picked up over 250 yards while playing in just over half of Stanton's four games. A back ailment caused the Buffs to use him sparingly, and fullback Mitchell Irvin has filled in valuably.

Joining the pair in the backfield Friday will be quarterback Bill Howard, who ignited a much-needed passing attack last week, and sophomore wingback Elvin Brown.

When Howard gets ready to throw he sets his sights on split end Joe Louis Hernandez and tight end David Standefer, the two Buffs who were named players of the week against Rankin. Tackles H. A. Schuelke and Roger Gutierrez, guards Bruce Stanley and Ronnie Dickinson and center Dennis Iretion join the line surge.

ABILENE — Abilene High, a team that has lived above and beyond early season expectations, and the Big Spring Steers not quite jelled in three games, come together in P. E. Shotwell Friday at 8 p.m. in the first Dist. 5-AAAA warfare.

If pre-season predictions mean anything the game won't have any bearing on the final league standings since the two teams are expected to battle for the cellar. But new hope abounds from both sides of the field, and the game is likely to boast all of the excitement of a year ago, when the Steers whipped the Eagles 34-19 for their only victory of the season.

That decision snapped a 10-game Steer losing streak, and there have been nine defeats since. But Coach Bob Burris, the man who has been at the controls through the last three losses, isn't talking like a loser.

"The thing about a ball club like ours is that if we're healthy and mentally sharp we can beat anyone. With the type players we have and the type offense we have, we're not going to be embarrassed," Burris said this week.

It may seem bold coming from a leader whose troops are 0-3, but even Abilene Coach Jerry Thormahlen admits that the record could easily be the opposite.

Thormahlen's Eagles, on the other hand, a miserable 2-8 last year, have caused some more worry among the loop's favored teams during their early going. The Eagles knocked off Sweetwater as expected, then got by Cleburne and played rugged Temple a close game in their last non-district outing two weeks ago.

Both teams rested last week along with the rest of 5-AAAA, and each coach may have a surprise or two to spring on the other as a result of the idle time. Last year the Eagles had two weeks to prepare for the Steers, and when they came out they lined up in a formation that resembled a circus as four receivers were split much of the game and the Warbirds threw 29 times.

"They may have a new wrinkle or two," Burris said. "But I don't think they'll do that again." Generally, the coach expects the Eagles to line up in their Slot-I formation and send a couple of talented backs — Harold Jones, in particular — at the Steer defense.

"Really, their offense may not be as much trouble as the others we've faced this year. In the formation there's not so much misdirection and deception," Burris said.

Jones, a 155-pounder, has been the main man in the Eagles' offensive punch through three games, carrying for 223 yards and five touchdowns. He gets help from 175-pound fullback James Smith, whose mere 5-4 height sometimes catches defenses by surprise, while sophomore Donnell Baldwin and Gary Smith also pitch in.

The quarterback situation is a question mark, as regular signal-caller Chuck Sitton injured a knee during workouts last week and may miss Friday's clash. If he is out, the Eagles' attack may take a more air-oriented path, since junior Jimmy Minor is considered the better passer of the two.

Ricky Gravens has been the leading receiver with seven receptions for 114 yards and a touchdown, and Jones took his only catch 70 yards for a score. In the line there's strength in tackles Mark Condra and Rusty McLeskey, both around 220, and Condra also sees duty on the defensive unit as a tackle. David Hollon (205) is another defensive standout.

The Steers are still looking to see their first dry field of the season, after rain has hampered the first three outings. Not that a rainy field makes that much difference, though. The Steers went ahead and threw 92 times for 599 yards.

Quarterback Tom Sorley has been the man to make the Steer offense go, as he has hit on 37 of 91 tosses for all the team's passing yardage, plus four TD tosses. He's had three intercepted. When it comes to receiving, Sorley, a 6-2, 200-pounder, looks mainly to seniors John Thomas Smith and Ronald McKee. Smith has hauled in 16 catches for 265 yards in three games, and McKee has grabbed down passes worth 200 more steps.

Another new face on the receiving end this week may be 6-3, 205-pound Vicky Woodruff, whom Burris moved from fullback to tight end last week "to give us more speed at end. We have to have it in our situation," James Coffey, a 210-pound junior, moved from end to tackle.

The offense has gained just 96 rushing yards all season, but the threat is there in halfback Doug Smith (170) and fullback Lonell Banks (185). Danny Ferrell and Doug Robinson are also expected to see action on Friday.

In the line, Joel Fellows will be at center, with Kyle Neighbors and Steve Brackett at the guards and Ken Froman and Scott McEwen at the tackle positions. Woodruff will probably share the tight end duties with Casey Lovelace.

Joining the cast of defensive characters for the Steers will be Lawrence Byrd at cornerback, Barry Canning and Mark Moore at the safety spots and Joe D. Matthews at linebacker.

Reagan County Owls Lead In District 7-AA Statistics

McCamey moved ahead in team offense and Ozona is still the leader in team defense, but the fifth-ranked Reagan County Owls continue to hold the advantage in Dist. 7-AA statistics following the fourth week.

Fullback Johnny Hickman is the league's rushing leader with 389 yards on 62 attempts, and teammate Ken Stout heads up a list of Reagan County scorers with 48 points in four games.

McCamey has gained one more yard total offense than the Owls, as both have averaged 350 yards a game, while Ozona is the defense pace-setter with a 133.0-yard game average. Reagan County is second at 146.5.

Stanton ranks third in team offense with a 285.2 output, but the Buffaloes are next to last in defense after allowing 225.2 a game. Coahoma stands fourth in offense (256.6) and third in defense (150.0).

ACC Leads Grid Stats

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Explosive Abilene Tex. Christian College has a corner on the individual offensive categories again this week in the National Association of Interscholastic Athletics.

Quarterback Clint Longley remains atop the individual total offense and passing columns. He has completed 56 passes in 97 attempts for 12 touchdowns and is averaging 353 passing yards per game. In total offense, he has contributed an average of 177 yards per game.

Wilbert Montgomery, a freshman tailback, has scored eight touchdowns for Abilene Christian to lead the individual scoring category and senior wide receiver Dick Williams, with 14 receptions totaling 137 yards, is the leading pass receiver.

Gillman Accepts 'Coaching' Offer With Oilers' Offense

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Oilers General Manager Sid Gillman says he might as well be doing something instead of "second-guessing all the time."

"That is the way Gillman explained Wednesday his decision to accept a request by Oiler Head Bill Peterson to take an "on-the-field" coaching position.

"I've asked Sid to come out and help on the field with the offense," Peterson, looking tired and subdued, announced to newsmen. "Our offense has looked so bad that I've asked Sid to give us a lift and he's agreed to do it."

"The Oilers have lost all three regular season games this year and have a 14-game losing streak over the past two years. This season, the Oilers have averaged only 77 yards passing and 182.3 total offense, the most anemic output in the National Football League.

Gillman, 65, former San Diego Chargers coach and general manager who began his pro coaching career with Los Angeles in 1955, said the announcement was "nothing to shake the world up."

"I'm just going to help Pete with the offense," he said. "Maybe I'll make it worse. I don't know."

"We're in a 13-team conference and we're 13th in passing and 13th in total offense. I think anything we do has got to improve us."

"I will never believe that we've got 13th talent. This is as good a group of ends as I've ever been with. We've got good backs, too. Is the protection by our line really any worse than most other teams? Hell no, it isn't."

Asked if quarterback Dan Pastorini would call the plays Sunday against the Los Angeles Rams, Peterson hesitated and looked at Gillman.

"I'll be in the press box," Gillman offered. "We have a little different organization that I hope will function. We'll have a blueprint on that for you later."

Packers Defeat Cowboys By 27-0

The Packers scored in every quarter Tuesday and blanked the Cowboys 27-0 for their third win against one loss.

Quarterback Tracy Truette's 44-yard scamper highlighted the effort, while Brent Odum ran from 18 yards out, Loucheau Grotewol added a 88-yard TD and Billy Davey scored from 40 yards out.

Bruce Carroll, Mike Scholter and Ken Melton were other standouts for the Pack.

INTRODUCING THE STEERS

"Mr. All-Around" this year for the Big Spring Steers is Doug Smith, a halfback, receiver, place-kicker and backup punter.

"Doug does an excellent job for us as a halfback and kicker, and he plays well on defense, too," said Steer head coach Bob Burris. "He's a good receiver, and he has better than average speed. Doug's also a great competitor."

Smith, 17, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Smith of 2404 Alabama. He'll be wearing No. 14 on the field against Abilene Friday.

ACC Leads Grid Stats

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Explosive Abilene Tex. Christian College has a corner on the individual offensive categories again this week in the National Association of Interscholastic Athletics.

Quarterback Clint Longley remains atop the individual total offense and passing columns. He has completed 56 passes in 97 attempts for 12 touchdowns and is averaging 353 passing yards per game. In total offense, he has contributed an average of 177 yards per game.

Wilbert Montgomery, a freshman tailback, has scored eight touchdowns for Abilene Christian to lead the individual scoring category and senior wide receiver Dick Williams, with 14 receptions totaling 137 yards, is the leading pass receiver.

Cold Marches Across Texas

By The Associated Press
Showers and thunderstorms drenched a wide band of Texas stretching from the southwest to the northeast early today as a cold front marched across the state.

At dawn the front extended from Midland to near Sherman and rains were falling in a 100-mile-wide band north of the cold air.

The cold air barged into Texas via the Panhandle late Wednesday and dropped temperatures 10 degrees in a two-hour period at Dalhart and Amarillo.

South of the frontal system warmer temperatures and clear to partly cloudy skies prevailed. Only the Hill Country of South Central Texas reported clouds prior to the passage of the front.

Maximum temperatures across the state Wednesday varied from 98 at Wink to 88 at McAllen and 89 at Longview.

Forecasters said northern portions of the state would begin to clear today with cloudy skies and thundershowers continuing to dampen the state in a band about 100 to 150 miles behind the cold front as it pushed southward.

Partly cloudy skies with scattered thundershowers were predicted for areas south of the frontal system. Temperatures were expected to be somewhat cooler back of the front and about the same as Wednesday ahead of the cooler air.

Landmark Burns, Manager Injured

JEFFERSON, Tex. (AP) — A blazing fire here has leveled a two-story cafe designated as a Texas historical landmark and seriously injured the cafe manager.

Firemen from nearby Marshall as well as Jefferson fire fighters fought for more than an hour to save the structure adjacent to the historic Riverfront Cafe, which burned to the ground here Wednesday.

Cafe manager Roy Butler received burns around his upper body and had to be hospitalized. His condition was listed as serious.

No monetary estimate was given immediately to the charred two-story brick and wood building.

Lubbock Is Supporting Route Thru Big Spring

AUSTIN — Support from Lubbock to Corpus Christi lined up Wednesday for the proposed westerly extension of IS-27.

Lubbock representatives who had been noncommittal earlier Wednesday indicated their support of the route from Lubbock through Big Spring to another interstate highway leading to San Antonio.

Of the 45 proponents attending the Texas Highway Commission hearing in Austin, 11 came from Lubbock.

Advocates of an interstate route going from Lubbock through Snyder and Abilene to Austin appeared before the commission earlier.

Highway commissioners were receptive Wednesday but, in keeping with tradition, gave no indication of their attitude. The Highway Commission is expected to make the study recommended by Congress in the 1973 Federal Aid Highway Act.

Armistead Rust, San Angelo, presented a 20-page booklet on "The Missing Interstate Highway." This booklet told about national security and defense installations in the area. Kinds of commerce coming out of the area were outlined.

Oliver Thomas of the Lubbock

Chamber of Commerce brought a second request to the commission. Lubbock wants a four-lane highway connecting it to Dallas-Fort Worth.

Among the attending advocates of a westerly interstate were:

Big Spring Mayor Wade Choate, City Commissioners Harold Hall and Charles Tompkins, City Manager Harry Nagel and County Commissioner Jack Buchanan.

George McAlister, president of the local Chamber of Commerce; J. D. Nelson, vice president; Ralph McLaughlin, vice president; Dub Pearson, vice president; Tom Locke; and R. H. Weaver, chairman of the related chamber committee.

Gene Garrison, executive vice president of the Odessa Chamber of Commerce; Marshall McRea, chairman of the Midland chamber transportation and highway committee; Tom Green County Judge Edd Keyes; San Angelo City Manager Dick Howard; Dawson County Judge Leslie Pratt; Lamesa Mayor Lloyd Cline; State Rep. Tom Massey, San Angelo; several Lamesa and San Angelo residents; and C. J. Watson of the Corpus Christi chamber.

SHOW INCREASES IN FALL ENROLLMENTS Texas Colleges Buck Trend

By SYLVIA LEE
Associated Press Writer

Texas colleges and universities generally increased enrollments this fall—bucking the national trend toward smaller student bodies.

This was found in an Associated Press survey of typical schools which also discovered sometimes spectacular growths in junior colleges.

EL PASO 'BOOM'
One of the newest two-year institutions, El Paso Community College, almost doubled its enrollment to 5,038.

Dr. Alfredo de los Santos Jr., president of the three-year old El Paso institution, said the school is "providing a service that has been needed for a long time." El Paso Community actively recruited veterans and 40 per cent of the student body is ex-servicemen.

One of the oldest two-year institutions, Paris Junior College, had a 24 per cent increase. President Louis B. Williams attributes this to "hard work" and "the response ... to our career programs."

Slightly more than half the students are in vocational-technical programs.

LOW PRICES
For four-year institutions, 1973 has been good, too. Several show more growth than last year and some that had a decline last year have grown this fall. The largest gains are in schools with attractive new programs, attractive prices or special recruiting campaigns.

Texas A&M's efforts to recruit women to the formerly all-male school gave it the largest increase of any four-year institution in the state—14 per cent. A&M has 1,278 more girls on campus this fall for a total of nearly 4,000 women.

University of Texas at Arlington officials say special programs and an urban orientation brought its seven per cent increase while some other North Texas universities show a decline.

A new master's degree program in architecture at Arlington swelled that department by 700 students, 21 per cent more than last year.

East Texas State University President F.H. McDowell said "concentrated efforts to develop programs that fit students' needs" and a strengthening of graduate programs accounted for an unexpected five per cent increase.

COMPETITION
Almost all other state universities and many private institutions showed increases about two per cent. Texas Tech had a fractional increase, and North Texas State was down slightly.

Following is a representative sample of Texas College enrollments. The first figure is for this fall, the second for 1972. Because of some differences in reporting methods, the figures are not absolutely comparable.

U. of Texas—Austin 40,619 and 39,900
U. of Houston 27,549 and 26,473
Texas Tech 21,516 and 21,494
Texas A&M 18,520 and 16,156
North Texas State 15,427 and 15,384
U. of Texas—Arlington 14,993 and 13,900
Southwest Texas State 12,240 and 11,804
U. of Texas—El Paso 10,900 and 10,550
Southern Methodist 10,389 and 10,335
Stephen F. Austin 9,964 and 10,227
East Texas State 9,297 and 8,801
Texas Christian 6,405 and 6,595
Rice 3,200 and 3,207
Abilene Christian 3,039 and 3,315
Hardin-Simmons 1,549 and 1,515
McMurry 1,378 and 1,280
U. of St. Thomas 1,725 and 1,690
Houston Baptist 1,100 and 1,143
Texas Wesleyan 1,060 and 1,025
U. of Texas—Permian Basin 1,108 (first year)
Wayland Baptist 962 and 934
Junior Colleges:
Frank Phillips 640 and 580
Del Mar 526 and 4515
El Paso 5,038 and 2,544
Odessa 3,171 and 3,008
South Texas 2,737 and 2,179
Coke County 2,000 (1972 not available)
Paris 1,565 and 1,210
Midland 1,280 and 1,135
Vernon Regional 708 and 608
Schreiner 465 and 345
Temple 1,354 and 1,261

showed increases ranging from two to four per cent. The University of Texas at El Paso, which last year had a decrease of six per cent, is up three per cent this year in spite of a fee increase that averages $50 a semester and strong competition from the community college.

West Texas State University, down 10 per cent last year, grew by four per cent this fall. Registrar Dr. Don Cates credits new programs and an improved economic situation in the Panhandle.

Texas Christian University in Fort Worth and Southern Methodist in Dallas, private schools whose costs average $1,000 more a year than state schools, showed slight enrollment decreases.

40,000 AT UT
Baylor University President Abner McCall said, however, that his school turned away 300 prospective freshmen. The Baptist institution had a four per cent increase in returning upperclassmen, which McCall attributes to strong counseling and financial aid programs.

The giant University of Texas at Austin passed the 40,000 mark but the increase was only

BOURBON MARINADE FOR BEEF

1/4 cup salad oil
1/4 cup bourbon
2 tbsps. soy sauce
2 tbsps. Worcestershire sauce
1 tsp. garlic powder
Ground pepper to taste

Combine all ingredients and blend well. Use to marinate steaks, roasts (or meat for shish kabob or fondue) at least six hours (preferably overnight). Especially good for shish kabob, using a rump roast cut into cubes, skewered with green pepper and onion. Small tomatoes can be done on separate skewer at the end of cooking time for meat.

RICE DISH

3 green onions, chopped
2 tbsps. butter
1 can mushrooms, drained
2 cans consommé
1 cup converted rice (not minute)

Saute onions in butter until clear. Add mushrooms and consommé and heat. Butter a casserole dish and pour mixture in it. Stir in uncooked rice. Bake at 300 degrees for one hour, uncovered. If you are not ready to serve immediately, cover the dish and turn off oven. It will stay moist. Serve with shish kabob or steak.

RED CABBAGE

1 med. head red cabbage
Water
1 apple, sliced and peeled
2 tbsps. bacon drippings
1 tsp. salt
3 to 4 tbsps. vinegar
1 1/2 tbsps. sugar
1 tsp. butter
1 tsp. flour

Shred cabbage, place in large pot and add water to about half-way mark. Add peeled and sliced apple, bacon drippings and salt. Simmer 30 to 45 minutes. Add vinegar and sugar. Melt butter and add it to flour. Mix and stir into cabbage. Heat through and serve.

RHUBARB CREAM PIE

1 1/2 cups sugar
3 tbsps. flour
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
1 tsp. butter
2 eggs, well beaten
3 cups chopped rhubarb
1 pie shell

Blend sugar, flour, nutmeg and butter. Add eggs, and beat until smooth. Place rhubarb in pastry-lined pie plate, and pour egg mixture over top. Top with pastry cut in fancy shapes or lattice work. Bake at 450 degrees for 10 minutes; reduce heat to 350 degrees and continue baking 30 more minutes.

Note: If frozen rhubarb is used, keep frozen and bake same as fresh.

ANGEL PIE

Meringue Crust:
4 egg whites
1/4 tsp. cream of tartar
1 cup sugar

Beat egg whites slightly. Add cream of tartar. Gradually add sugar and beat until mixture is stiff. Place in a greased and floured pie plate, and bake 20 minutes at 275 degrees. Increase heat to 300 degrees and bake another 40 minutes. Cool. Add filling.

Filling:
4 egg yolks
1/2 cup sugar
3 tbsps. lemon juice
Rind of one lemon, grated
1/2 pt. whipped cream, sweetened

Beat egg yolks. Add sugar and beat again. Add lemon juice and rind. Cook over medium heat until thick, stirring constantly. Cool. Fold in whipped cream. Pour over meringue crust and let stand in refrigerator for 24 hours.

Pantry Pickups

Canned hams should not be frozen. Their labels should be checked for storage instructions.

Coconut that comes in cans or packages should be refrigerated, tightly covered, after it has been opened.

If shelled nuts are refrigerated in tightly covered containers they still stay fresh-tasting for as long as nine months.

Store apples in perforated plastic bags in the refrigerator; they should keep well for at least three weeks.

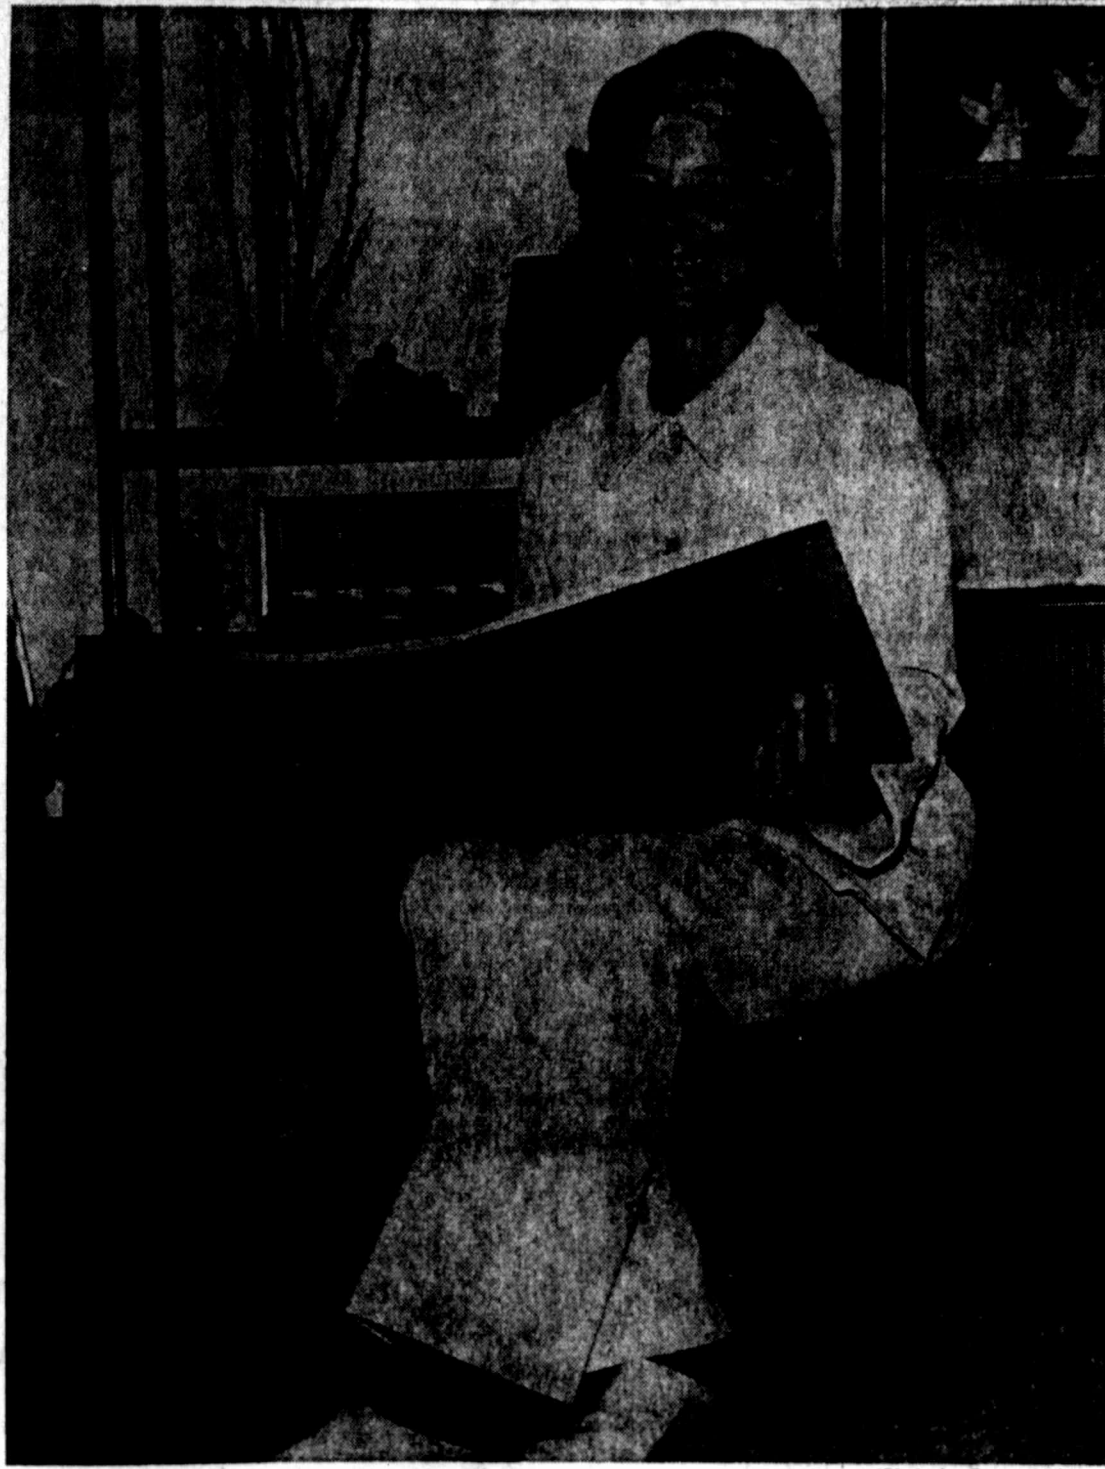

Instant cocoa mixes are usually a blend of cocoa, sugar, flavoring and sometimes nonfat dry milk.

Roasting turkey? A meat thermometer inserted into the center of the meatiest portion of the thigh can be a great help in determining doneness.

Farmer cheese has a higher fat content than regular cottage cheese. The curd is pressed into a flat package so that the cheese may be sliced easily and neatly.

OF TWO WORLDS — "Best From Both" is the cookbook which Mrs. Harold Hanson helped compile in Germany. Favorite recipes of Germany and America are included and written in both languages. Most of them are from members of a German-American Club which met monthly for dinner during her three years in the country.

Her Favorite Realm Is Outdoors World

By BARBARA LORD
Mrs. Harold (June) Hanson is one of those cordial people who can adapt her mannerisms to fit any occasion. Whether she's at a formal affair, on a camping trip or playing a round of golf, her good-natured congeniality makes her welcome company.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Hanson have been in Big Spring about two years. He is chief of the dental clinic at Webb Air Force Base. The couple has four children. Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. (Pam) Steve Garner, reside in Ipswich, Mass. Other children are Gregg, a junior pre-dental student at Texas Tech; Jackie, 13, and Sissy, 11.

Mrs. Hanson is a sports fan and is most content when she's doing something active outdoors. As president of the Webb Ladies Golf Association she golfs at least once a week. Also, she plans the Scotch Foursomes held the fourth Sunday of each month.

"The Scotch Foursomes usually end in a party," said Mrs. Hanson. "We all bring a steak and a side dish and eat together after we play golf. I look forward to those days."

Light Dessert For Company

Refreshing and not too sweet.

STRAWBERRY CREAM CAKE

Sponge Cake, baked in a 10-inch tube pan
3 pints strawberries
Sugar
1 pint heavy cream
1 tsp. vanilla

Cut the cake into 3 crosswise layers. Wash, drain and hull strawberries. Reserve 14 of the berries for garnish. Slice the remaining berries. Mix with 3 tablespoons sugar. Whip the cream until stiff, gradually adding 1/4 cup sugar and the vanilla toward the end of the beating; reserve 1/4 of the cream. To the remaining cream fold in the berries, but dribble any berry juice over cake layers. Put the cake layers together with the berry-cream mixture including spreading it over the top. Now spread the reserved plain whipped cream over the strawberry-cream mixture on top; garnish with whole strawberries. Chill.

Many weekends, the Hansons take off for a leisurely trip in a camper they bought recently. At Lake Spence, Mrs. Hanson may be found with a fishing pole in her hands or water skis on her feet.

"We used to have a boat," said Mrs. Hanson, "but we sold it just when I was getting pretty steady on skis. I had to start all over this summer." The Hansons first began camping in Germany, where they spent three years.

"Campers in Germany are even friendlier than in this country," said Mrs. Hanson. "As soon as you pull into a spot, someone is there to help you set up camp. And the people are so trustworthy and friendly. We met a lot of friends that way."

Germany also expanded Mrs. Hanson's cooking ability. She belonged to a German-American Club which held regular dinner meetings, one month in an American home and the next in a German home. Mrs. Hanson helped compile a cookbook which included recipes written in both German and English.

"Harold's first assignment with the Air Force took us to Japan," said Mrs. Hanson, "and we still love Japanese food. One of the first things we do when we move to a new home is seek out a restaurant that serves oriental food. I cook it some, too."

Mrs. Hanson likes cooking best when she's getting ready for a party, but she hasn't done as much entertaining here as she has in the past. Her everyday meals offer a variety of tastes, depending on her family's desires.

"My husband says I still cook for six even though there are only four of us at home," said Mrs. Hanson, "but the four of us seem to go through it pretty well. I do think cooking and eating habits change as your family grows up and leaves. The girls are content with salads and vegetables, but when Gregg and his roommate come for a weekend, I have to have gallons of mashed potatoes and a lot of meat."

Col. Hanson has been in the Air Force about 20 years. He is originally from Harmony, Minn., and Mrs. Hanson is from Preston, Minn. He attended the University of Minnesota and the University of Texas.

In her leisure time, Mrs. Hanson has a number of activities to keep her busy,

Presidential Punch Is Southern Original

Artillery Punch, ladled from a large punch bowl into small cups, should be served cold.

The famed Artillery Punch was created by the Chatham Artillery National Guard unit honoring President Monroe in 1819 as he visited several places in Georgia. The mixture was made with one purpose in mind; to banish inhibitions.

The southern punch, served with a molded ice ring and garnished with strawberries, is an excellent punch for anytime entertaining.

ARTILLERY PUNCH

3 cups water
1/2 cup instant tea
1 bottle (4-5 qt.) bourbon
1 bottle (4-5) claret
2 cups orange juice
1 1/2 cups dark Jamaican rum

1 cup lemon juice
3/4 cup dry gin
3/4 cup brandy
4 to 6 10-oz. pkgs. frozen, sliced strawberries, thawed

In large bowl combine water and tea; stir until dissolved. Add bourbon, claret, orange juice, rum, lemon juice, gin and brandy. Place sliced strawberries, one pkg. at a time, in blender container and process at high speed until well blended. Add blended berries to tea mixture. Let stand, covered, several hours to ripen. Serve in 1-gal. punch bowl over large ice ring. Garnish with large strawberries, if desired. Makes approximately 45-60 4-oz. servings.

'Viva' Exec Is Blonde, Sexy And Makes $100,000 A Year

By ANN HENCKEN
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Kathy Keeton looks like the ultimate sex object: long, painted finger nails, flowing blonde hair and a slender, voluptuous body.

But appearances are deceiving. Behind the soft voice is an all-business mind.

At 29, Kathy Keeton is a $100,000-a-year, group advertising director of Penthouse International, Ltd., a $75 million publishing complex owned by her boyfriend, Bob Guccione.

This fall they launched Viva, a new magazine designed for women along the lines of the monthly Penthouse. A million copies of Viva went on sale this month at $1 per copy.

The first issue includes an interview with Norman Mailer on women and marriage, a short story by Joyce Carol Oates and a color layout on a nude couple who are in love. The latter will be a regular monthly feature.

"Sex is the dominant human emotion... What's wrong with it? It's never done anyone any harm, just the repression of it has. You can't suppress an innate natural instinct," Miss Keeton said in an interview.

"Extremists in the women's liberation movement would disapprove of the magazine," she went on. "Our premise is that men and women love each other."

Besides the color spreads, Viva will carry stories on art, theater, cosmetic surgery and birth control.

"We feel there's no good women's magazine on the market. Most are 20 years behind," said Miss Keeton, adding they "keep their own concept pure by hiring no one formerly associated with any women's magazine."

"Personally, I think Cosmopolitan is a terrible put-down of women. It presents sex as an area for material gain whether it's dinner, marriage or a trip to the beach," she said.

The Viva-Penthouse concept is that sex is a lot of fun and good entertainment, according to its advertising director.

It is hoped that Viva does as well with women as Penthouse has with men. Guccione started it in London on a shoe string in 1965, and brought it to the United States in 1969. The first issue sold about 225,000 copies. Today, it sells some 3.5 million copies a month.

Kathy's enthusiasm for the magazine goes back a long way. Guccione met her in London, where she worked as a show club exotic dancer after she'd come from Johannesburg, South Africa, to accept a ballet scholarship.

When her manager complained about a snippy item on Kathy in Guccione's magazine, he went back stage to meet her at the club.

"Most of the girls had True Romances or comics in their rooms. But in Kathy's little dressing room, there was a neat pile of the Financial Times and heavy books, the kind you never expected a girl to read," says Guccione.

He promptly offered her — not a photo spread — but a 15-pound a week job as a space salesman for his magazine.

"Our image was very low.

I was called a pornographer. But she was impressed that I wanted her in business. It was a year and a half before I saw 10 cents profit. I was eating off Kathy's two shows a day," said Guccione.

Kathy took to the job — and continued dancing for six months.

Eight years and millions of dollars later, the two are living in high style at a suite in the Drake Hotel, but still working up to 20 hours a day on their business.

Miss Keeton doesn't want to get married or have children. She's dedicated to Penthouse and travels constantly on her job overseeing advertising for all 34 companies. She said she doesn't own a dress, only a wardrobe of slacks and tops, plus some extraordinary boots, with built-up soles.

She said no man has ever made a pass at her while she was working in her capacity at Penthouse.

"Men are very sensitive. Once you show them you know what you're talking about, there's no trouble," she said.

BSHS Has Courses For Adults

Summer adult education classes were discussed Tuesday by Mrs. Tolbert Grisham, guest speaker for Scenic Chapter, American Business Women's Association at Holiday Inn.

Mrs. Grisham, a home economics teacher at Big Spring High School, said both day and evening adult classes are held during the summer. Next summer, the school will offer interior decorating and drapery making.

The "psychology of colors" was discussed, and Mrs. Grisham said colors have an effect on people's emotions and feelings. Some of the effects of colors used in room decorating were told. She said yellow is cheerful; red can create nervousness; and dark blue is calming.

Mrs. Harvey Wooten gave the vocational talk. She is on the cafeteria staff at Big Spring High School. Mrs. Glen Albert was introduced as a new member, and guests were Mrs. Bob Clark, Mrs. Laverne Rogers, Mrs. Oscar Zertuche and Miss Patsy Coates.

The next meeting will be at 7 p.m., Nov. 6 at La Posada Restaurant.

Donna James State Winner

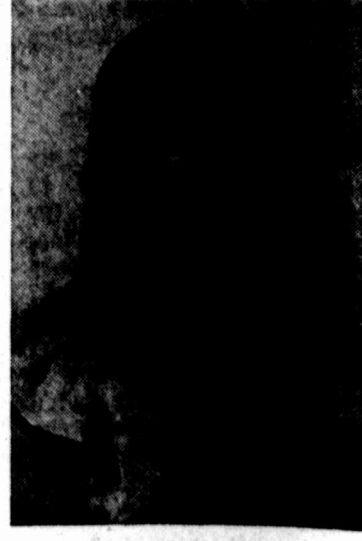

A Howard County 4-H girl, Donna James, has been selected as state winner in the Bread Program, according to state 4-H officials.

Donna will receive an all-expense-paid trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Ill., Nov. 25-29. Standard Brands, Inc. sponsors the trip and also provides for six $700 educational scholarships at the national level. Donna's State winning record book will be entered in national competition.

Donna is the 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ovis James of Coahoma. She has been a 4-H club member for six years and is a sophomore at Coahoma High School.

The 4-H'er has completed projects in clothing, foods and leadership and has exhibited prize winning hogs, lambs and steers. She has attended District 4-H Leadership Lab. Donna has served as secretary of her 4-H club and as a junior leader.

Also, she has won numerous awards at county and district food shows and dress revues and this year won a blue ribbon at the State 4-H Food Show being first alternate in the Breads Division.

Besides her 4-H activities, Donna participates in basketball and track and has been a cheerleader for two years.

After graduating from high school, Donna plans to study home economics in college.

EXPLAINS PROCESSING Oil Industry Data 'Bank'

Data processing, as it relates to the oil industry, was explained Tuesday by Neil Willoughby, manager of data processing at Cosden Oil and Chemical Company, when he spoke to Big Spring Desk and Derrick Club at the Downtown Tea Room.

Willoughby gave a brief history of computers, saying the first mechanical computer was invented by a Greek in the 17th Century. The first electrical device was built in 1939 at Ohio State University and was used to solve algebraic equations. In 1961, Univac produced the first commercial computer.

"A computer can handle anything that can be expressed mathematically," said Willoughby. Mathematical information can be logically arranged by computers, thus freeing many people to do other jobs. Today, more than 160,000 computers are handling every phase of business in the country, including air traffic control, traffic, police surveillance and industry.

Willoughby said the computer coordinates controls on many operations at Cosden refinery, plus the local Cosden payroll is handled by a computer at Calumet City, Del. Listing advantages of computers, he said they are fast and accurate and can store information with total recall possibilities. He stressed that computers need people to feed them information in the proper manner.

The speaker was introduced by Miss Ollene McShan. Mrs. Joe Blasingame presided, and Mrs. Bruce Allen was a guest for the luncheon meeting.

A proposed slate of officers was presented by the nominating committee. Election will be at the November meeting, and installation is scheduled in December.

Rushes Attend Buffet Dinner

Mrs. Robert Wilson was hostess Monday evening for a covered-dish buffet for members and rushes of Mu Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi. Mrs. Coy Mitchell, president, welcomed the guests.

Prospective members present were Mrs. Stan Allen, Mrs. Andy Campbell, Mrs. Lee Halvorsen, Mrs. Billy King, Miss Linda Morwood, Mrs. Gary Tyler, Mrs. Gary Davis, Mrs. David Smith.

A discussion period was held, and members told about various phases of sorority life. Mrs. Smith won the attendance prize. The group will hold a model meeting at 7 p.m., Monday in the home of Mrs. Wilson, 4046 Vicky.

Don't Forget To Fertilize In Fall

Many plants grow actively in the fall. Don't forget they'll be needing fertilizer as they continue to grow. And remember that nitrogen (first of the three numerical percentages) fosters vigorous leaf growth, while phosphorus (second of the three numbers) promotes roots, fruits and flowers.

For many purposes, a balanced material such as 10-10-5 or 12-12-12 will do a fine all-purpose job.

Women Continue Sewing Projects

Several sewing projects were continued by members of Pioneer Sewing Club Tuesday at the ranch home of Mrs. J. W. Overton. Members worked on flower-garden quilts, afghans and various forms of needlework. Refreshments were served. The next meeting will be at 2 p.m., Oct. 16 in the home of Mrs. Henry Parks, Forsan.

Tell Manager

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I took my wife out to dinner in the best restaurant in our small town to celebrate our third anniversary — the first one we had ever spent together because I had been in Viet Nam.

At a nearby table sat a group of older people. They all obviously had had too much to drink because they became so loud and boisterous that we and other patrons couldn't carry on a conversation.

This went on all during dinner, so while we were waiting for our dessert, I went over to this noisy bunch and asked if they would kindly lower their voices.

My wife says I should have complained to the manager and let him handle the situation. I feel that the manager would have probably lost customers if he had done so, while I had nothing to lose. What is your opinion?

A QUIET KENTUCKIAN
DEAR QUIET: If you waited until the dessert to tell the noisy bunch to pipe down, you waited too long. As soon as it became apparent that they were preventing you from carrying on a conversation you should have talked to the manager. HE might have preferred to risk losing a couple of customers to your losing a couple of teeth.

DEAR ABBY: Dick and I married after going together for about two years. He had gone with Helen (made-up name) for 3½ years, breaking up with her to go with me.

Dick and I just bought a new home and now I learned that Helen, who recently married, bought the

Food Prepared At Club Meeting

Mexican foods were prepared and served Tuesday by Mrs. Douglas Bartosh, hostess for College Park Home Demonstration Club in her home at 1600 Sycamore.

The menu included enchiladas, nachos, avocado appetizer and natillas (baked pineapple). Members assisted in preparation of the foods, and recipes were exchanged.

Mrs. J. C. Williams presided, and joined Mrs. John Couch in giving a council report. Mrs. J. C. Hampton was a guest. Members agreed to sell Christmas candles, chimes and cosmetic purses to raise funds for the county HD council.

Program recommendations of the council were approved by club members. The next meeting will be at 9:30 a.m., Oct. 16 in the home of Mrs. Gerald Miller, 606 Baylor.

house directly across the street.

I trust my husband and know he wants nothing to do with Helen, but she has different ideas. She doesn't want Dick, but she doesn't want us to be happy together, either. She has been bitter toward me ever since Dick left her to go with me.

I work days and Dick works nights, and I just know Helen will be over here talking and being friendly with Dick when I'm gone. It bothers me because I'm sure she will feel he still cares for her if he is friendly to her, and I want her to know he cares only for me.

How should I act? I don't like to be unfriendly to my neighbors but I'm afraid if I give her any encouragement, she'll be seeing Dick when I'm away.

JEALOUS
DEAR JEALOUS: You are doing a lot of second-guessing with regard to what Helen thinks. Don't pretend a phony neighborliness where none exists, just be civil. And if your jealousy can't be overcome with mature judgment, you can always change to the night shift.

CONFIDENTIAL TO OVERWORKED AND BEAT IN N.Y.C.: Don't work so hard at making a good living that you fail to make a good life.

'Happiness' Explored By BSP Speaker

Elements of 'happiness' was discussed by Mrs. John Phillips and members of Alpha Beta Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, during a program, "Self-Estimate," given Monday evening.

Mrs. Phillips led the program asking members to list tangible and intangible things they considered necessary to their happiness. Some of these included athletics, smoking, drinking, religion, dancing and movies. Mrs. Phillips played recorded music about the advantage of 'being yourself.' She stressed that personalities and needs of people vary, and what one person considers necessary for happiness, may not be important to the next person.

Meeting at the home of Mrs. Floyd C. Smith, 1004 Howell, rushees present were Mrs. Luan Abernathy, Mrs. Linda Becham and Mrs. Jean Gafford. Mrs. Jack Parrott, president, told the history and traditions of BSP, and Mrs. Chuck Ogle reviewed the BSP book.

It was announced that Mrs. Dan Whitaker and Mrs. Ogle visited Tuesday with a resident which the chapter sponsors at Mountain View Lodge. In other business, plans were made for a couples party at 8 p.m., Oct. 20 in the home of Mrs.

Simon Terrazas. "Environment, Health, Work and Play" will be the program given by Mrs.

Brent Brooks at the next meeting, Oct. 16 in the home of Mrs. Larry Harp, Old Sam Angelo Highway.

$540 Million Increase In School Funds Hinted

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The Nixon administration's proposed education revenue sharing legislation could have its purse increased by $540 million, says an administration official.

"If an acceptable proposal can be developed—and we believe it can before this session of Congress adjourns—this administration would be prepared to seek funding of programs at substantially increased levels," said Charles Saunders, Saunders, acting deputy assistant secretary for education in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, spoke to 2,000 delegates of the joint convention of Texas Association of School Administrators and the Texas Association of School Boards here.

Federal school funding continues by congressional resolution at 1972-73 spending levels since no other bill has been approved following the expiration of the 1965 Elementary and Secondary Education Act on June 30.

Saunders referred to Nixon administration proposals to consolidate federal funding for specific education programs, which now number more than 100, into educational revenue sharing.

"There is no doubt the state's need federal help," said Saunders.

He accused Congress of continuing "to sit as a national school board telling states and communities what they should spend and how much."

Under education revenue sharing, he explained, federal money will go to the states, which then own distribution formula.

The $540 million increase in funding, representing a 35 per cent hike above original estimates, could come in time for the 1974-75 school year, depending on congressional approval, Saunders said.

In other developments, the Texas Association of School Boards passed a resolution calling for property to be assessed for tax purposes at 100 per cent valuation, or fair market value.

Crime Up In Dixie, FBI Says

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — While crime rates in other parts of the country eased slightly in the first half of 1973, the incidence of crime in Southern states was up one per cent, according to figures released by the FBI.

The crime index figures indicated that Western states showed a decline of five per cent while North Central states registered a decline of only one per cent.

Of the 95 metropolitan areas reporting over-all declines, 25 were in the South. The Southern cities were led by Columbia, S.C., and Savannah, Ga., both declines of 18 per cent from the previous year.

Violent crimes increased significantly across the South. Murders were up nine per cent, forcible rapes 7 per cent, robberies 2 per cent and aggravated assaults 6 per cent. Property crime figures revealed no change.

Other Southern cities with populations of more than 100,000 which reported percentage declines were Amarillo, Tex., 7 per cent; Austin, Tex., 7 per cent; Corpus Christi, Tex., 3 per cent; Dallas, Tex., 5 per cent; El Paso, Tex., 12 per cent; Fort Worth, Tex., 8 per cent; Greensboro, N.C., less than 1 per cent.

Hialeah, Fla., 10 per cent; Huntsville, Ala., 3 per cent; Jackson, Miss., 16 per cent; Jacksonville, Fla., 2 per cent; Lubbock, Tex., less than 1 per cent; Macon, Ga., 3 per cent; Mobile, Ala., 11 per cent; Montgomery, Ala., less than 1 per cent; New Orleans, La., 11 per cent; Newport News, Va., 7 per cent; Orlando, Fla., 4 per cent; Portsmouth, Va., 13 per cent; Raleigh, N.C., 4 per cent; and Shreveport, La., 13 per cent.

New 7-11 Store Will Be Built

The Herald has learned that the vacant lot at Eighth and Gregg will be the future site of a Seven-Eleven Store.

Surveyors were working at the site immediately across Eighth from Medical Arts Hospital Wednesday. Tom Passmore, supervisor of the Seven-Elevens here, said the new store, the town's eighth, will probably be in operation by February.

'TRUTH IN A NEW FORM' Naked Blondes, Hard Beat, Rubber Monsters

LODZ, POLAND (AP) — Poland's latest rock show — probably the most farout in Communist Europe — is packing theater audiences in this textile town with a combination of naked blondes, hard beat and rubber monsters.

Called 'Naga,' meaning naked, it's billed as a rock opera. The show will be going further afield in the East bloc.

Contracts are signed with Czechoslovakia and the Soviet Union is reportedly interested — provided the girls leave on a bit of clothing.

Naga's underlying theme is to show the danger of a world menaced by technological progress.

POP STARS

Three of Poland's top pop stars portray frightened humans being chased and enveloped by out-of-control robots. They also have to cope with giant blobs of rubber that resemble the pulsating body of an octopus.

Director Jerzy Krechowicz concentrates most of all on visual impact.

In one scene, long-haired singer Wojciech Korda, after finishing his number, turns to a curvaceous blonde standing beside him and pulls off her black gown, leaving her stark naked.

There are several nude scenes. In one, a flabby rubber monster, looking like an overgrown gorilla and with the drunken sway of a Frankenstein monster, carries off one naked blonde in his arms. In the background a rock group twangs out heavy beat.

"I wanted to show truth in a new form," says song writer Grzegorz Walczak, "in a communicative and uninhibited way... thanks to which the awareness of truth becomes more universal."

'FREEDOM'

Reaction to the show in Poland's Communist party press has been mixed.

Although Naga has been playing to packed theaters, audience response is also mixed. Said a student: "For Poland, it's some achievement against prudery, and anyway it's a step forward to freedom of expression in art."

Besides Wojciech Korda, other singers appearing are Ada Rusowicz and Stan Borys. Borys was a winner in Greece's Olympiad of Song last year and more recently won high acclaim at a song festival in Caracas, Venezuela.

"To me," says Borys, "Naga shows the world around us, as presented by those shapes in the play. It's an over-mechanized and overcivilized world that is killing human feelings."

Blow Up Bank Plot Fizzles

MEMPHIS, Tex. (AP) — A 36-year-old ex-convict from Garland was picked up Tuesday in Estelina in connection with an attempt by a telephone caller to extort $30,000 from the First National Bank of Memphis, Tex., by threatening to blow up the bank.

The suspect, armed with a sawed-off shotgun, did not resist arrest when Hall County sheriff Elmer Neel and Texas Ranger Leo Hickman caught him leaving an Estelina gas station.

The arrest was made less than an hour after a man had called First National President Ben Parks and said a bomb would go off in the bank if Parks did not show up in 20 minutes with $30,000 at a rendezvous point a mile north of Childress.

Given the deadline imposed by the caller, Parks indicated it would have been a near impossibility to collect any amount of cash and drive the 90 miles to Childress. Nevertheless, Parks responded to the plot by informing Sheriff Neel of the threat and evacuated the bank.

Neel headed south toward the meeting place on U.S. 287 and met Ranger Hickman, who had been asked to survey the landscape from Childress north.

The suspect, driving a station wagon, was picked up minutes later at Estelina.

No bomb was found at the bank after a search.

Opening lead: King of ♠ "Eight ever, nine never!" is a maxim about finessing handed down to us from the days of whist. Generally, the principle is sound enough, but it is always dangerous to follow rules blindly.

South's hand had tremendous trick-taking potential. After his partner's jump raise of his trump suit, he realized that if North held the right cards, a slam was possible despite the fact that the point-count might be less than that normally considered necessary to contract for 12 tricks. Since the use of the Blackwood Convention would not help his cause—South was interested in whether North held a specific ace, not how many aces—South initiated a cue-bidding sequence. When this revealed that North held the ace of hearts and second-round diamond control, South felt that the combined values offered excellent play for slam.

The opening lead of the king of clubs was ruffed in the closed hand. A thoughtful player might draw trumps and then cash the ace and king of diamonds. If this failed to drop the queen, declarer would then have to rely on the heart finesse for his contract. On the actual lie of the cards, this would have spelled defeat.

Declarer found a way to circumvent the racks of distribution. He drew two rounds of trumps, ending in dummy, and ruffed the table's remaining club. The ace of diamonds was cashed and a low diamond was led toward dummy. When West followed with the eight, declarer finessed the ten. This unusual play succeeded, and South landed his slam losing only a heart trick.

There are those who might be tempted to suggest that South had peeked at his left-hand opponent's cards, otherwise he was wrong to finesse holding nine cards in the suit. (The play was slightly inferior to trying to drop the queen.) However, the play was technically correct once West followed to the second diamond, since it guaranteed the contract. Let us assume that East has the queen of diamonds and wins the trick. He won't enjoy being on lead, for he is left with a choice of returning a club, giving declarer a ruff in dummy while stuffing a heart from his hand, or leading a heart into dummy's ace-queen tenace. In either case, declarer will not lose a heart trick and will make his slam, conceding only a trick to the queen of diamonds.

CARR-OSORIO FIGHTING TO HEAD OFF MAIL FRAUD TRIAL

New Bid To Get Hands On White House Tapes

DALLAS (AP) — Two former Texas state officials, fighting to head off their Oct. 23 trial for alleged mail fraud, made a new bid today to get their hands on White House tapes which they believe will prove their indictment was politically motivated.

Former Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr and former Texas Insurance Commissioner John Osorio want the recordings of two conversations in 1971. They claim these talks concerned the Sharpstown stock scandal, from which the charges against them arose.

NO SHOWING

When the move was first made to secure tapes, government lawyers asked that the court quash the subpoena because it was imprecise and "there has been no showing that anyone in the White House has information relevant to this proceeding."

U.S. District Court Judge William M. Taylor Jr. has given no ruling yet, but on several occasions he warned Carr and Emmett Colvin Jr., representing Osorio, that he would not be tolerant of what he called "fishing expeditions" into administration files.

Then on Wednesday, former U.S. Atty. Gen. John Mitchell testified that he attended two meetings with President Nixon at which there was discussion about Will Wilson, then head of the criminal division of the Justice Department, who was under fire in Congress and elsewhere because of his former business association with Houston banker Frank W. Sharp, key figure in the scandal.

PUBLIC IMAGE

Mitchell could not place the exact dates of the two meetings, nor whether they took place in the President's oval office or in his office at the Executive Building. But he said Wilson's plight was discussed on both occasions.

"The concern was not so much about what Mr. Wilson might or might not have done, but more about what the public might think . . ." Mitchell explained.

He said Nixon expressed confidence in Wilson at the first meeting but, by the time of the second, came around to thinking he should resign, which Wilson did.

Shortly after Mitchell left the stand, Colvin said he would present an amended and more precise motion to secure the tapes "based on the testimony Mr. Mitchell has just given."

The court agreed to hear legal arguments on the motion this morning.

Other testimony Wednesday came from L. Patrick Gray III, former acting director of the FBI and head of the Justice Department's civil division at the time of Sharpstown. Gray said he held an administrative inquiry into the Wilson-Sharp relationship at Mitchell's order and submitted a report to the attorney general.

Gray told of a meeting with Wilson during the inquiry at which, he said, Wilson "expressed enmity" for Carr but urged that he should not be the recipient of a "heavy-handed multi-count indictment" because that might hurt Nixon.

Gray said Wilson quoted the President as saying "there was no point in kicking a man when he was down, that Waggoner Carr had a large following in the State of Texas and this could be harmful to the President."

Names of about 1,400 semifinalists in the tenth annual National Achievement Scholarship Program for Outstanding Negro Students, including that of Barbara Morris of Big Spring, has been announced by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

NMSC administers the annual Achievement Scholarship competition for black students, as well as the National Merit Scholarship Program, which is open to all high school juniors who are U.S. citizens.

Barbara is a senior this year at Brackenridge High School in San Antonio, where she moved with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Morris.

In the nine annual Achievement Scholarship competitions completed, 2,800 black students have won awards valued at $8.3 million.

"One of our goals is to help colleges locate talented black students," says L. C. McMillan, NMSC Vice-President for the Achievement Program. "The recognition and identification of able black youth is an important element in the quality and quantity of black students now receiving the attention of colleges, universities, and organizations that offer scholarships and other financial aid. Secondary schools that enroll these students find themselves on the regular itinerary of admissions and recruitment officers for many institutions."

Some 350 of the students named today will win Achievement Scholarships in the spring. At least 225 of the awards to be made in 1974 will be National Achievement $1000 Scholarships that will provide a single payment of $1,000 to the winner next fall, after he enrolls in a regionally accredited U.S. college. About 125 Achievement Scholarships will be four-year renewable awards in 1974, ranging in value from $100 per year to $1,500 per year ($400 to $6,000 for the four college years).

To continue in the competition, Achievement Semifinalists must qualify as Finalists by receiving the endorsement of their schools, submitting information about their academic and extra-curricular attainments, and meeting other standard requirements. Over 900 Semifinalists are expected to advance in the competition by becoming Finalists and only Finalists are considered for Achievement Scholarships.

IN SEARCH FOR NEWS LEAKS Agnew's Lawyers Win Subpoena Powers

BALTIMORE (AP) — The grand jury investigating Spiro T. Agnew resumed its inquiry today while lawyers for the vice president returned to their work with unprecedented subpoena power to search for news leaks in the case. The grand jury session, like those that preceded it, was held under the strictest of security restrictions. NOT KNOWN It was not known what evidence and witnesses the jury would hear, but Joel Kline, a Montgomery County, Md., land developer was seen entering the courthouse with his attorney, Stephen Sachs. It has been reported that

Kline told prosecutors he collected more than $100,000 for Agnew and other Maryland politicians and disguised the source of the funds. However, sources close to the case have said those reports were erroneous. U.S. District Court Judge Walter E. Hoffman Wednesday granted the Agnew lawyers broad authority to question anyone in the United States "they deem appropriate and necessary," providing they give the Justice Department at least 48 hours' notice. "Such depositions... shall be sealed and not be made part of any public file," Hoffman ruled. He also ordered the lawyers and the government to keep secret the names of those subpoenaed or those who testi-

NOT FRIVOLOUS Among those likely to be called for sworn statements are newsmen, lawyers, Justice Department officials and former and present friends of Agnew who may already have been questioned by the prosecutors. At a news conference Wednesday President Nixon spoke out strongly for Agnew's right "not to be tried and convicted in the press and on television by leaks and innuendos and the rest." Nixon said the charges "are serious and not frivolous."

Agnew has denounced the leaks, blaming them primarily on some Justice Department officials who were "severely stung" by inept handling of the Watergate prosecutions. Nixon, however, defended Agnew's main target, Henry E. Petersen, chief of the department's criminal investigation division.

"If I did not support Mr. Petersen's handling of the investigation he would have been removed at this time," Nixon said. The investigation of Agnew centers on allegations of bribery, extortion, conspiracy and tax violations while he was Baltimore County executive and governor of Maryland in the 1960s.

ACCUSATIONS Published accusations allege Agnew accepted kickbacks from contractors who did business with the state. Agnew has denied the allegations.

The grand jury worked for nearly six hours Wednesday and was scheduled to hear more of Agnew's evidence today after Judge Hoffman warned the public to ignore news stories about the investigation because they "frequently are wholly or partially inaccurate."

"It is your duty to see that no one is put on trial for a frivolous or ill-founded charge, or merely because the person has been subjected to undue publicity," the judge told the jurors in a stern lecture about their responsibilities.

The judge also cautioned the jury that it is not its concern "whether a person is immune from indictment or trial." This is the constitutional challenge Agnew's lawyers have raised in seeking to halt the grand jury investigation on grounds a vice president cannot be indicted.

A hearing on this issue has been scheduled by Hoffman for Oct. 12. Meanwhile, the jury probe continues.

SIAMESE MELON — Jerome Hoelscher, who farms in the St. Lawrence Community, harvested this two-in-one Black Diamond watermelon recently, which weighed out at about 50 pounds. Trying To Make It Tougher For Young To Get Married

BOSTON (AP) — Saying that teen-age marriages end in failure more often than not, the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Boston wants to make it harder for young people to get married.

The Church is developing a strict new set of guidelines aimed at discouraging teen-age marriages between Roman Catholics, especially those where the girl is pregnant.

The rules will govern what priests must do in cases when people under age 18 want to be married. When pregnancy is involved, the age limit will be 21.

The new requirements call for at least two premarital consultations with the priest at least six months apart.

If the priest has any doubts about the young couple's suitability for marriage, he must meet with them a third time with their parents, then send them to another priest as a check on his own judgment.

If both priests question whether the couple should be married, the couple would be sent for evaluation by some professional person.

If there were still disagreement, the case would go to the Chancery Office. The Chancery could either permit the marriage or postpone it for further counseling.

The new guidelines were recommended by the Archdiocesan Priests' Senate.

The age limit where pregnancy is involved was raised to 21 because figures developed by the Very Rev. James T. McHugh, head of the Family Life Bureau of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, indicate only about 10 per cent of teen-age marriages survive when pregnancy is involved.

The guidelines have been submitted to Humberto Cardinal Medeiros, who has indicated he approves of them. He is expected to issue an official decree of promulgation, officially putting the regulations into effect.

They would be effective in five counties of eastern Massachusetts.

Similar guidelines have been established in other areas, including Rochester, N.Y., and Youngstown, Ohio.

Proposes Detente In Middle East

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Arab delegates have thrown cold water on an Israeli proposal that the Jews and Arabs follow Western Europe's example and join in a new Middle East community.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban made the proposal Wednesday during the general debate in the U.N. General Assembly. He called for "a community of sovereign states in the Middle East as in . . . the European communities."

"Empty words," declared Lebanese Ambassador Edouardo Ghorra. Egyptian Ambassador Ahmed Esmat Abdel Meguid told a newsman the idea was "completely unacceptable."

What works in Europe would not work in the Middle East, said Saadat Hassan of the Palestine Liberation Organization, because "we and the Israelis are not the same people."

Ambassador Abdalla Y. Bishara of Kuwait called the proposal "the same jingoistic dicta couched in a little more civility."

Eban reviewed the failure of Israel and the Arabs to negotiate their differences but said his government did not "des-

Eban urged that Egypt, Jordan and Syria join Israel in negotiations to end the 25-year state of war that has existed between them and replace the present cease-fire lines with permanent boundaries.

Museum Here Takes Part In Exhibit At Odessa

From dinosaurs to aeroplanes, from Indian relics to meteor craters, from old saloons to a new petroleum Hall of Fame—the Permian Basin museums offer the most vivid and colorful reproduction of the history of West Texas ever imagined.

Permian Basin residents and visitors can view this variety of exhibits during Open House, Oct. 11-14.

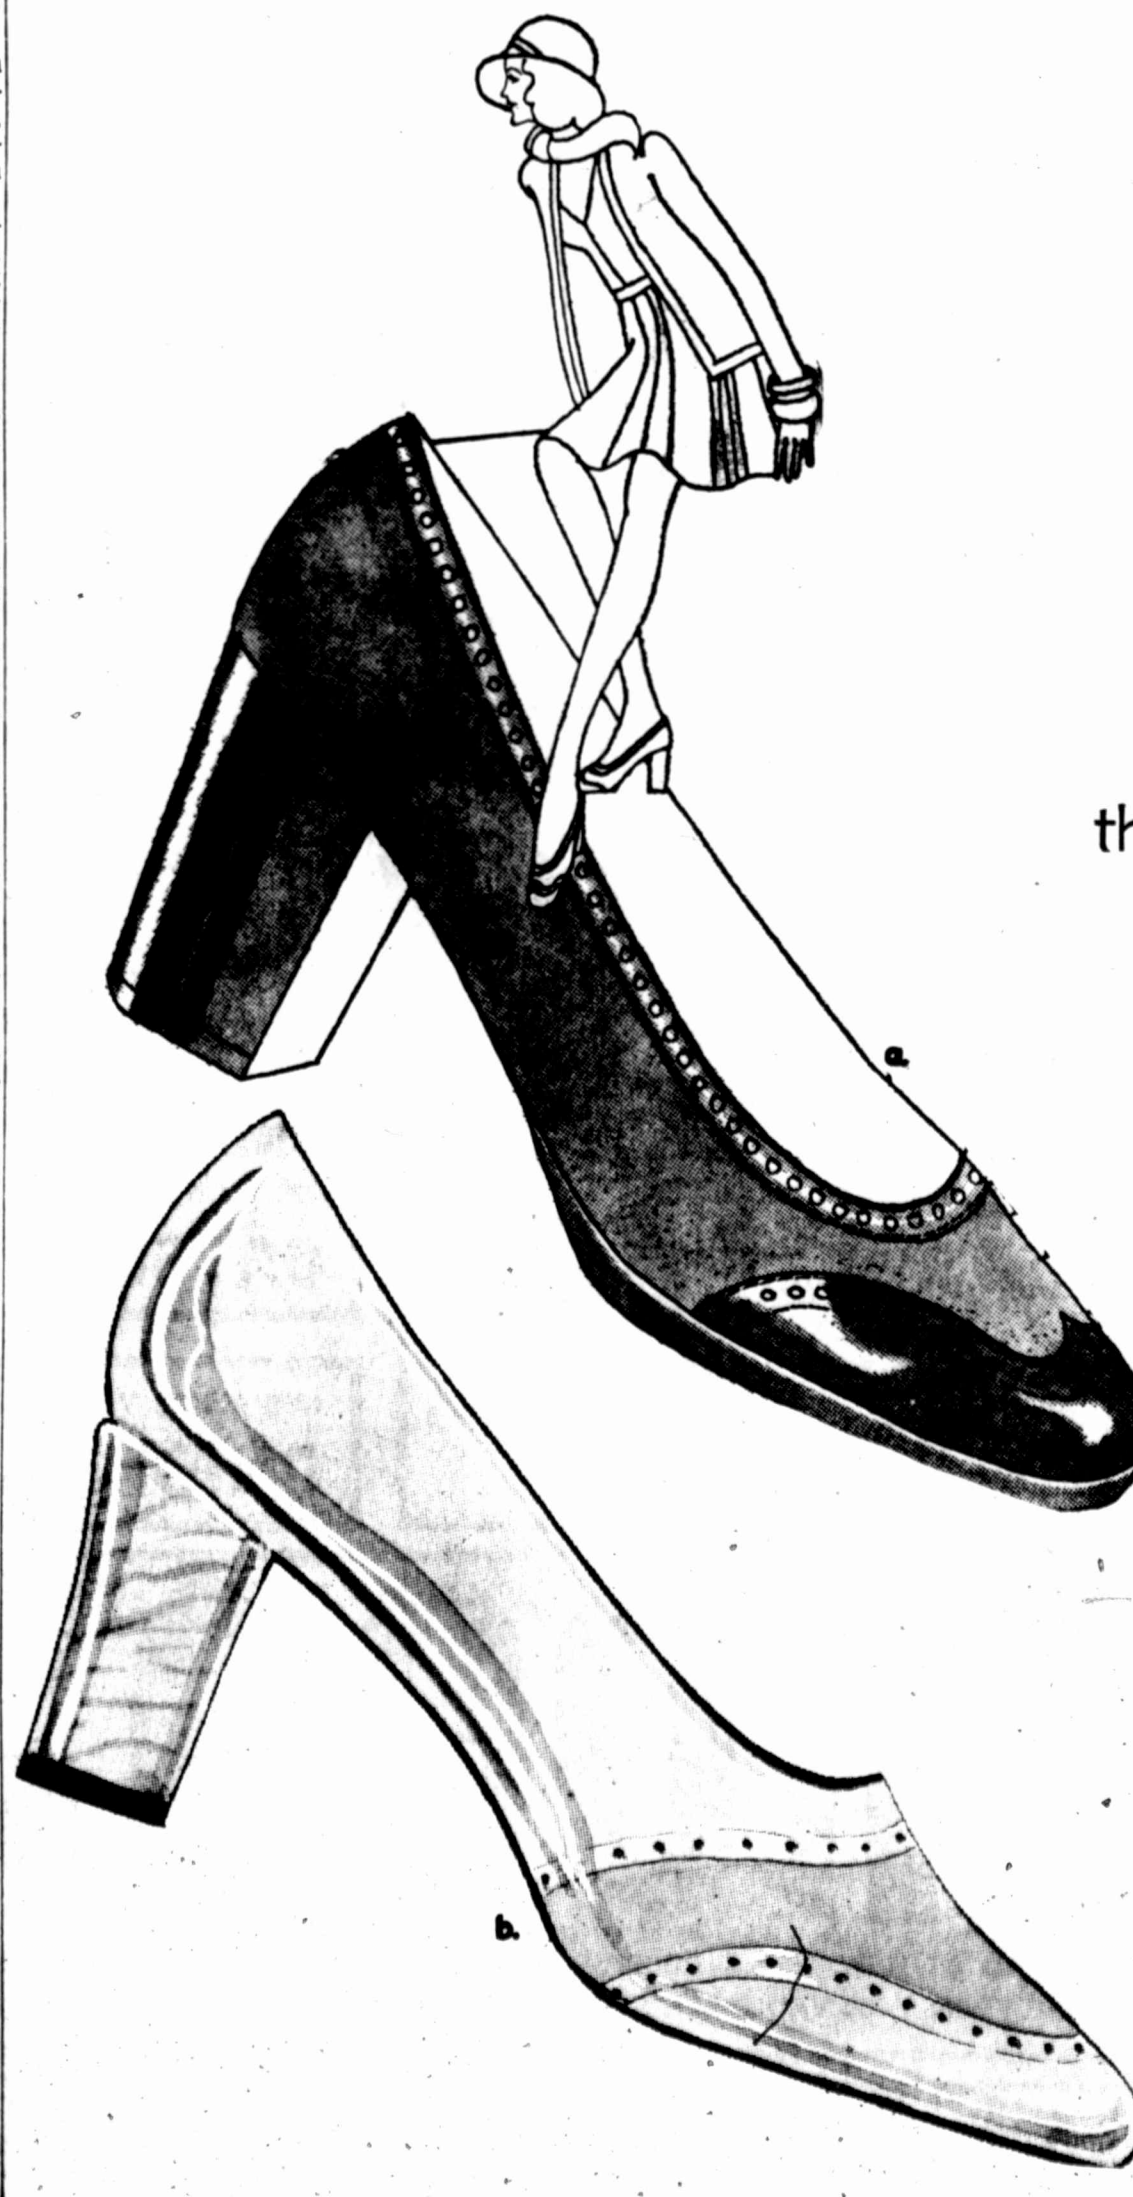

Participating in the Open House, sponsored by the Permian Basin Museum Institute, will be 26 area museums, including the "Heritage Museum in Big Spring."

The Heritage Museum contains many interesting displays, including an outstanding exhibit of pioneer photographs, many of which are blown up to display size and from which an annual pioneer pictorial calendar is compiled. Other unusual items are wood carvings by Nat Schick, pioneer branding irons, chuck boxes, shot mounds, "riatas" (leather lariats) and a manuscript of Shine Phillips' book, "Big Spring, Biography of a Prairie Town" and the typewriter on which it was written. Considered a local history classic, this was the first definitive book written about a Permian Basin city.

Other area museums participating in the Open House are the Colorado City Historical Museum and the Museum of the Southwest and the Midland County Historical Museum, both in Midland.

Thursday, Oct. 11, has been included in the Open House to encourage groups of school children and other interested organizations to make arrangements for tours of the museums.

The four-day Open House is the first major project of "Discover Permian Museum Treasures," a year-long promotional campaign launched by the Permian Basin Museum Institute and its 26 member museums.
