FOR KICKBACKS Ex-Solon Is Sentenced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Congressman J. Irving Whalley of Pennsylvania was fined $11,000 and sentenced to three years probation in federal court today for his guilty plea to charges he obtained thousands of dollars in kickbacks from his employees.

The 71-year-old Whalley limped into U.S. District Court and stood before Judge John L. Smith Jr. with his head bowed while his lawyers pleaded for leniency.

Attorney Martin J. McNamara of Washington, in a reference to the lenient sentencing of former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew on tax evasion charges, said, "a question comes up for equal justice."

Whalley, a Republican who served in the House for 12 years and did not seek re-election in 1972, pleaded guilty July 1 to one count of mail fraud and two counts of obstructing justice.

His staff members were said to have kicked back 10 to 20 per cent of their pay for a total of about $50,000.

Speaking in a broken voice Whalley said, "This has been a terrible ordeal on me and my family. I'm extremely sorry for what I have done."

Hardware Is On Way

WASHINGTON (AP) — In view of the "massive" Soviet airlift of military equipment to the Arab states, the United States began during the weekend to resupply Israel with military hardware, the State Department announced Monday.

Consumers To Pay More For Gasoline

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cost of Living Council is considering allowing gasoline retailers to pass on automatically to consumers higher wholesale gasoline costs, it was learned today.

Council director John T. Dunlop, in guarded remarks to a newsman, confirmed that an announcement to this effect probably would be made soon.

But Dunlop indicated that the proposed action would be subject to public comment before possible implementation.

If the pass-through is granted, it could mean 2 cents per gallon.

Late last month the council allowed a similar increase to gasoline dealers. But it did not allow retailers to increase prices automatically whenever their wholesale costs went up.

The question of the so-called automatic pass-through has been a major complaint of gasoline retailers during the Phase 4 anti-inflation program.

Gillman In Charge

HOUSTON (AP) — Bill Peterson, who posted a 1-18 record over two seasons, was fired today as head coach of the National Football League's Houston Oilers and general manager Sid Gillman will take charge of the team for the rest of the season.

Ford A Cinch To Make It

WASHINGTON (AP) — A weekend check of his congressional colleagues indicates Gerald R. Ford easily has the votes for confirmation as vice president, barring some unforeseen reversal.

An Associated Press survey showed virtually no opposition to Ford's nomination, although a number of congressmen preferred to remain uncommitted pending confirmation hearings which start this week.

Ford, a 25-year veteran on Capitol Hill, was nominated by President Nixon Friday night to replace Spiro T. Agnew, who resigned shortly before pleading no contest to a federal tax evasion charge on Wednesday.

Among the House members who could be reached over the weekend, 225 said they planned to vote for Ford. He only needs a simple majority of 218.

In the Senate, Ford got the tentative pledge of 57 votes, compared to 51 needed for confirmation.

However, 33 in the House and 11 in the Senate said they preferred to withhold judgment until after the hearings.

The votes of most of those responding to the poll were pegged to the condition that nothing serious against Ford is turned up in the hearings.

Only four House members actually spoke against the nomination. Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., and another member who asked that his name not be used, said they planned to vote against it.

Reps. Patricia Schroeder, D-Colo., and John Moakley, Ind.-Mass., said they opposed confirmation until after settlement of the controversy over the White House tapes which Watergate investigators are seeking to wrest from Nixon.

Under the 25th Amendment, adopted in 1967, a vacancy in the vice presidency may now be filled by a nomination from the president and ratification by both houses of Congress.

Egyptians Cement Holds On Sinai

By The Associated Press
Egyptian commandos sneaked behind Israeli lines in the Sinai today and stormed an Israeli position in hand-to-hand fighting as Egyptian tanks consolidated new lines in the desert battleground, Cairo claimed.

Israel said the Egyptian armor again tried to push forward along the Sinai front but was halted where it stood following a seven-hour armored battle Sunday. Tel Aviv did not report the commando raid.

"Troops were landed in darkness behind enemy lines, stormed a position from more than one direction, clashed in savage hand-to-hand combat and inflicted heavy losses in lives and equipment," the Egyptians said in a commu-

unique. "Our units returned to safety except for some losses in men."

ATTACK REPELLED
The communique did not pinpoint where the raid supposedly took place.

The Israelis said Sunday's Egyptian tank offensive was repelled and that Cairo's forces lost more than 200 tanks and 15 planes. The Egyptian version of the same battle said the Israelis pulled back an unspecified distance into the peninsula and lost 150 tanks and 29 warplanes.

"The pattern of today's fighting has become localized clashes in various sectors," the Egyptian statement said.

On the Syrian front, Damascus reported heavy tank, infantry and artillery battles raged as the fourth Arab-Israeli war ground into its 10th day.

Syrian shelling was slowing the Israeli advance toward Damascus and the Israeli tanks were reported about 21 miles from the ancient Syrian capital. Correspondents with the Israeli forces reported that long-range Syrian guns opened up whenever the armored columns tried to advance.

The Israeli military command also reported another naval exploit. It said its naval patrol boats sank 14 "armed fishing type" boats in harbor of Ras Gharib, on the Gulf of Suez during the night. Israel said the harbor, 20 miles across the gulf from Israeli forces on the Sinai peninsula, was an Egyptian commando base.

Otherwise, the Israeli command said, it was a quiet night on both the Syrian and Egyptian fronts.

WIDE FRONT

The Egyptian military command said the fighting Sunday along the 102-mile Sinai front "raged with utmost violence and savagery." Egypt said its forces made territorial gains all along the line.

But in Tel Aviv, the Israeli command claimed Egyptian armor units failed to penetrate the Israeli defense line which it said was still about 2 1/2 miles inland from the Suez Canal.

Associated Press correspondent Paul Kohn reported from the front that he saw no evidence that the Israelis gave up ground.

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said in a televised speech Sunday night that the "serious, decisive battle" with Egypt was yet to come.

"This is not like previous wars. It is a war of many days and much blood," he said. "The important question is not a cease-fire. It is how much equipment the enemy will have left when we have finished the war. What we would like is for the Arabs to hurt so badly that they cannot think of war."

The Israeli command announced Sunday that Israel had lost 656 soldiers in the first eight days of fighting; the state radio gave an unofficial figure of 2,000 wounded. Neither Syria nor Egypt has given casualty figures.

Egypt reported intense air battles over the northern Nile delta Sunday and claimed 15 Israeli planes had been shot down. Israel announced that its planes had bombed three air bases 50 to 100 miles north of Cairo.

Thailand's New Premier Seeks To Calm Students

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — The former military premier of Thailand, his son and the deputy premier left Thailand today in a move to restore peace to the violence-torn capital, the government radio said.

The three Army leaders—former Premier Thanom Kittikachorn, Deputy Premier Praphas Charusathien and Col. Narong Kittikachorn—were the focus of street clashes between foes of the country's government and the regime's troops and police for the past two days.

Praphas was considered the most powerful man in the ruling group. Narong, Thanom's son, is the deputy chief of national security.

Thousands of flag-waving demonstrators had demanded the execution of the three leaders.

'END BLOODSHED'
Thailand's new civilian premier appealed again today for an end to bloodshed as student bands attacked police stations, looted and burned government buildings.

Student representatives, who reportedly met with new Premier Sanya Thammasak, relayed his appeal for order to demonstrators in the square around Democracy Monument, the center of the week-long antigovernment demonstrations which erupted into violence Sunday in this capital city.

Sanya did not immediately confirm the departure of the three military leaders and the demonstrators were skeptical.

Radio Thailand, the government radio, said Sanya reported that the new government had reached an understanding with the students, but it did not elaborate.

The new premier warned that those who looted and burned government installations would be suppressed by nightfall.

Truck convoys moved into the city today, carrying troop reinforcements in full battle gear.

King Bhumibol Adulyadej named Sanya, rector of Thammasat University, to replace Thanom Sunday. But throngs of demonstrators confronted the army's troops and tanks today, and sporadic shooting sent a steady stream of casualties to already crowded hospitals.

MANY DEAD

Complete casualty figures were not available, but one doctor said a check of four hospitals indicated more than 165 dead so far. There were many more wounded and injured, he said.

Students blocked reporters from approaching the Democracy Monument, where a rally was being held. They said troops and tanks were moving into the area.

Authorities at Chulalongkorn Hospital locked the doors there. They said a band of men in army uniform had appeared at the institution and seized supplies of blood and money.

The main police headquarters was in flames. The police radio said the headquarters had been under attack since morning, many policemen had been killed, and a request for reinforcements had been turned down.

Another police radio report said 30 policemen abandoned another police station and fled and that armed marchers were attacking a third station.

Fire Destroys 20 Blocks In Boston

CHELSEA, Mass. (AP) — A wind-fed fire that raced across 20 blocks of wooden tenements and small businesses has left 1,100 persons homeless in this rundown Boston suburb.

Five firemen injured fighting the blaze were hospitalized. No deaths were reported.

About 500 National Guardsmen roped off the desolate, charred expanse of the oldest section of the city, which was destroyed Sunday when a fire devoured dozens of crumbling buildings.

The homeless, most of them Spanish-speaking, blacks and elderly Jews, sought shelter with relatives and in a makeshift dormitory set up in an armory.

"I have lost everything!" said Henry Wogciechowski, 49. "It's a crying shame. All the people who live in the stricken area are poor people. Just look at all these people standing around crying! They have no place to go from here."

Residents of the estimated 60 dwelling places destroyed rushed through the streets ahead of the blaze, carrying plastic bags and suitcases stuffed with belongings.

At the height of the blaze, which officials said apparently started in an abandoned rag storage building, 3,000 to 4,000 persons were evacuated from their homes.

Sparks leaped from building to building as gusts up to 50 miles an hour swept across Boston Harbor.

"This is a conflagration of epic proportions," said Fire Chief Herbert C. Fothergill. "A conflagration such as this one creates its own winds of hurricane force."

The fire cut a path a half mile wide through the decaying industrial section of the community of 32,000.

Many of the industries were small businesses that reclaimed scrap metal, rags and tires.

Much of the area had been scheduled for demolition through urban renewal.

About half of the 20-block area was leveled. The rest was a jumble of stark building skeletons and smoldering utility poles.

The fire, which broke out about 4 p.m., was contained at a railroad right of way about five hours later. But it continued to burn today. Policemen with dogs roamed the area to guard against looters.

Saudi Arabia Is In War But U.S. Is Hopeful

WASHINGTON (AP) — The commitment of Saudi Arabian troops to the war against Israel represents an apparent diplomatic setback to the United States but does not mean that King Faisal is about to turn off the flow of oil.

Like Jordan, whose "elite forces" entered the Middle East war Saturday, Saudi Arabia is considered a moderate Arab state with potential influence on Egypt and Syria as well as Israel's more radical foes.

President Nixon had urged restraint in personal messages to Faisal, but Sunday the official Saudi Arabian radio said troops were on their way to the Golan Heights in Syria to fight against Israel.

Faisal's move followed consultation with Presidents Anwar Sadat of Egypt and Hafez Assad of Syria. "This was in line with his majesty's conviction that our blood should mix with other Arab blood in defense of honor and dignity and to reclaim the land and liberate the sacred heritage," said the official Riyadh Radio.

However, Arab newspapers said only a token force of about 1,000 men was being sent to battle.

The U.S. embassy in Paris reported Faisal had sent word to American officials that James Aikens, the new U.S. ambassador, would be welcome and should take up his post as soon as possible. Aikens is on his way to his Saudi Arabian post.

U.S. officials here said Faisal's latest message to Nixon Friday did not threaten an oil embargo if Washington sent new arms to Israel.

Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger discussed details of a U.S. resupply operation at the White House Sunday. Officials said plans called for the shipment of planes, tanks and other equipment.

Alexander M. Haig Jr., White House chief of staff, told newsmen: "Our policy is clearly stated. It's to maintain the balance and to continue with our arms shipments."

Prayer Pal?

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This is a plea for churches to consider women counselors. Your statement: "When a secretary starts crying on her boss's shoulder, she frequently winds up in his arms," was very, very true. The same could apply to ministers.

There have been more heartaches caused by women crying on their ministers' shoulders than anyone can imagine. Ask any minister's wife, and she will tell you (if she is honest) that many women have taken their problems to their clergymen and after several sessions of unburdening themselves they tell the minister they are in love with HIM!

Ministers are only human, and some are flattered, and some even try to console the troubled women in some very unethical ways. This problem could be eliminated if the minister consulted with his female parishioners a time or two, and then turned them over to a woman for further counseling.

ONE WHO HAS SEEN MUCH

DEAR ONE: Your suggestion is an excellent one. It would lighten the burden of many an overworked clergyman. And his wife would appreciate it, too.

DEAR ABBY: I manage a large furniture store, and my problem is how to handle wild kids whose parents bring them along when they come to shop. These roughnecks tear off our price tags, pull out drawers, leaving them on the floor, and they actually jump from one sofa to the next. Most of the time the parents look the other way. When I ask the child not to do these things, many of the parents get insulted and leave.

Should I put up a sign stating that we welcome children, however, we run a furniture store not a recreational park, and parents will be charged for any damage done by their children?

How would you handle this situation?

HARRIED IN HOUSTON
DEAR HARRIED: For the sign. If a child procees to abuse your merchandise advise the parents that they will be held responsible for damage by their children. And if damage is done, sock it to 'em!

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the man who was seriously injured in an automobile accident and had the local funeral home people "call on him" while he was still in bad shape in the hospital, reminded me of my own experience.

Six months ago, I suddenly lost my husband. That was bad enough, but before he was even buried I got a "sympathy card" from a man who sells real estate. I hardly knew this man. He had written on the card: "If you want to sell your house, let me know."

I reported him to the real estate company he worked for, and now I notice he is trying to sell cars.

Winners in the north-south position were Mrs. Fred Kasch and Mrs. E. L. Powell, first; Mrs. J. D. Robertson and Mrs. John Stone, second; and Mrs. Morris Rhodes and Mrs. Henry Bell, third.

Taking high tallies in the east-west positions were Mrs. E. O. Ellington and Mrs. Elmo Wasson, first; Mrs. Doug Orme and Mrs. R. E. Dobbins, second; and Mrs. Jack Irons and Mrs. Charles Tompkins, third.

Club Hears Music Of Baroque Period

The recorder and harpsichord were featured in a Music Study Club program held Wednesday at Big Spring High School with Mrs. Curtis Compton as program leader.

"La Provencale" from Four Ancient French Dances by Marin Marais was performed by Joseph Dawes and Mrs. Mike Skaliky, and their second selection was "Sonata in F Major" by Benedetto Marcello. A recorder duet of "Allemande," written by Johann Herman Schein, was performed by Dawes and Walter Wallace.

Mrs. Compton spoke briefly in noting that the selections were examples of the Baroque period of music from the 17th century and first half of the 18th century. She said this was the greatest period for organ music and Protestant church music.

Five selections were performed by the Meistersingers of Big Spring High School as a preview of the upcoming Campus Review '74.

Hostesses were Mrs. Walter Wallace, Mrs. Carl Bradley and Mrs. G. R. Robinson, and after the meeting, several members conducted music activities at Westside Community Center.

The Nov. 14 meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Aubrey Hyden, 1725 Yale and will feature a review of Negro spirituals.

Peterson Could Get Gate After Loss To Broncos

HOUSTON (AP) — The revolving door through which so many Houston Oilers coaches have exited appeared directly in the path of incumbent Bill Peterson today.

A Houston Oilers player, who asked not to be identified, said it was common knowledge among Oilers players that Peterson had been fired after Sunday's 48-20 loss to the Denver Broncos.

Oiler owner K. S. "Bud" Adams, who was in the Oiler dressing room following the Houston's 16th straight regular season loss, said General Manager Sid Gillman wanted to meet with him today.

"I don't think Sid wants to be a head coach anymore," Adams said. "He wants to think about the overall situation and then meet me tomorrow (Monday). Maybe the coaching hasn't been 100 per cent right. Something needs to be done. I'm not sure what."

Other Oilers officials refused to confirm or deny Peterson was being let out during the second year of his contract. "Anything I'd say right now would be pure speculation," Gillman said Sunday after the Oilers' record dipped to 0-5. "I don't know how any player could know anything. You're just playing a guessing game."

When asked about his status, Peterson said "I've got a job to do and they've assured me I'll have time to do it." The unidentified player said it was after the interview that Peterson was fired.

Oiler owner K. S. "Bud" Adams made an appearance in the Oiler dressing room following the loss, something he hasn't done often this year. "Any coaching changes are up to Sid," Adams said. "He's the one that has full authority to make a change."

Poke Back Finally Catches Jackson -- After Contest

By The Associated Press

Dallas Cowboy cornerback Charlie Waters spent much of Sunday's game in Los Angeles chasing speedy Ram receiver Harold Jackson. But he didn't catch up with him until after the game.

"You're not All-American, man," declared Waters, grasping Jackson's hand. "You're All-World."

Jackson looked at least that good, catching touchdown passes of 63, 16, 67 and 36 yards from John Hadl as the Rams topped the Cowboys 37-31. Jackson hauled in seven passes for the afternoon for a whopping 238 yards.

The rejuvenated Rams are now 5-0 on the year, one of only two unbeaten National Football League teams. The Minnesota Vikings, 17-13 winners over the San Francisco 49ers, are also 5-0.

Elsewhere, the Pittsburgh Steelers dropped from the ranks of the unbeaten, falling to Cincinnati 19-7; the Buffalo Bills beat the Baltimore Colts 31-13; the Denver Broncos beat the Houston Oilers 48-20; the New York Jets edged the New England Patriots 9-7; the Oakland Raiders downed the San Diego Chargers 27-17; the Atlanta Falcons buried the Chicago Bears 46-6; the New Orleans Saints upset the Detroit Lions 20-13; the Philadelphia Eagles edged the St. Louis Cardinals 27-24; the Washington Redskins took the New York Giants 21-3; and the Kansas City Chiefs played to a 10-10 tie with the Green Bay Packers.

The Miami Dolphins play the Cleveland Browns tonight at Cleveland in the Monday night game.

Vikings 17, 49ers 13
Minnesota withstood an aerial barrage from San Francisco's Steve Spurrier, who completed 31 of 48 passes for 320 yards. Safety Paul Krause intercepted Spurrier twice in the fourth quarter, however, to kill 49er drives.

Bengals 19, Steelers 7
Cincinnati, faced with an early elimination from the NFC Central Division race, came out breathing fire against the Steelers. Rookie Charles "Booby" Clark ran for 112 yards and one touchdown, and Horst Muhlmann kicked four field goals for the winners. The Bengal defense held the usually explosive Pittsburgh offense scoreless until the middle of the final period.

Bills 31, Colts 13
The Baltimore defense held O.J. Simpson to just 26 yards rushing in the first half but he ran wild the last two periods, winding up with 166. Simpson scored twice, once on a 78-yard jaunt, as the surprising Bills increased their record to 4-1 and remained tied for the American Conference East lead.

Broncos 48, Oilers 20
Ex-Oiler Charley Johnson had a big day for Denver, completing nine of 19 passes for 214 yards and four touchdowns—three to Haven Moses.

Jets 9, Patriots 7
Bill Demory, a rookie free agent pressed into service after the Jets lost quarterbacks Joe Namath and Al Woodall to injuries, directed the New York offense on drives that resulted in three Bobby Howfield field goals.

Raiders 27, Chargers 17
Oakland Coach John Madden refused to change quarterbacks despite a poor showing by Ken Stabler in the first half. Madden stuck with Stabler and Stabler responded by completing eight of 11 passes, two for touchdowns.

Falcons 46, Bears 6
Atlanta, which hadn't scored a touchdown in three games, scored three of them in a four-minute span of the third period to break the game open. Bob Lee apparently solved the club's quarterbacking problems by hitting on 11 of 13 tosses for 181 yards and two touchdowns.

Saints 20, Lions 13
Fullback Bill Butler's one-yard plunge with 39 seconds left gave the Saints a surprising second straight victory. The score was set up by little Howard Stevens' 48-yard kickoff return.

Eagles 27, Cards 24
"We gave out 40 game balls," exclaimed Philadelphia Coach Mike McCormack after his team's first win. "It was a great, great team effort."

Redskins 21, Giants 3
The Washington defense picked off four Norm Snead passes, Dave Robinson returning one 28 yards for a touchdown and Pat Fischer setting up another touchdown with a 67 yard return.

Chiefs 10, Packers 10
Jan Stenerud's 36-yard field goal midway through the final quarter gave Kansas City a tie. Defensive end Wilbur Young, a 6-foot-6, 285 pounder blocked a pair of Green Bay three-point attempts to keep Kansas City alive.

Raiders Defeat Bruisers, 14-0
The Rannels Raiders won their third Seventh Grade Football League decision in four starts by belting the Rannels Bruisers, 14-0, here Saturday.

Running back Ernest Harris raced 25 yards for the first Raider touchdown. The point after touchdown try failed.

In the third, Harris scored again after Freddie Pruitt set up the tally with a 45-yard sprint down to the five.

On the running try for two points, Rick Gutierrez braced into the end zone.

On defense, Woodie Howell, Matt Harris and Mike Richey stood out for the Raiders while Danny Crosby and Billy Joe Combs were others who gusted on offense.

Annual Shootout Is Coming Up

It's hardly in the class of the Texas-Arkansas "shootouts" of yesteryear when the nation gnawed fingernails on every down, but the collision between the Razorbacks and the Longhorns Saturday in Fayetteville will temporarily put the victor in the driver's seat toward the Southwest Conference football title.

Arkansas and Texas have lost two non-conference games each and you'll not find their names listed in the top twenty. However, they are unbeaten in SWC warfare and that's what counts if you want to be the guest team in the Cotton Bowl.

BEAT BAYLOR
The Razorbacks, thanks to Dickey Morton's fantastic runs, are 2-0 after Saturday night's 13-7 victory over Baylor.

Texas is 1-0 but whether the 'Horns can recover from the shock of Darrell Royal's worst defeat as a coach is something else again. Of course, Texas was whipped 27-0 by Oklahoma last year and rebounded to defeat Arkansas. But 27-0 isn't 52-13, which was the count after Saturday's carnage against the Sooners.

Southern Methodist, which had an open date, and Rice, which was bounced 28-0 by Notre Dame, open their SWC wars in Houston.

Texas Tech is the only other SWC outfit with a league victory, having bounced Texas A&M 28-16 Saturday night behind Joe Barnes' three touchdown passes.

Other Oilers officials refused to confirm or deny Peterson was being let out during the second year of his contract.

Jackson Romps For Four TDs In Ram Win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Harold Jackson, the fleet little wide receiver reclaimed by the Los Angeles Rams, overdid himself in living up to his word. "The team has done well emphasizing running, but if it needs passing, we'll be ready," the 173-pounder from Jackson State and the Philadelphia Eagles commented recently. With a 4-0 record and facing the Domsday Defense of the Dallas Cowboys Sunday, the Rams coaching staff went for a game plan stressing the forward pass. Their plan prevailed 37-31 and the Rams are now one of two undefeated and untied clubs in the National Football League.

Quarterback John Hadl and Jackson, in the first half, hooked up on four touchdowns plays covering 63, 16, 67 and 36 yards. A 44-yard pass, Hadl to Jackson, set up one of David Ray's three field goals. That one, the only Rams score in the second half, traveled 35 yards. The others went 27 and 37. "That had to be my best game ever," declared Jackson, who stands just 5-foot-10 but makes up for it with speed that once clocked 9.3 seconds for the 100-yard dash.

"I think I had a game a couple of years ago when I ran up 157 yards against the New York Giants, but this was the best. Hadl is the best man I've ever had throw to me." In winning their first four games, the Rams relied primarily on the running game, a fact which didn't bother Jackson at all. "I'm glad to be back and the running game is winning," he pointed out, adding that he and Hadl had been working daily on pass patterns and timing.

Jackson was traded to Philadelphia after being activated five games with the Rams as a rookie in 1969. He promptly became the league's leading receiver last year, catching 62 for 1,048 yards—both top in the NFL. Hadl has turned in 16 games during a 12-season career when he has thrown for 300 or more yards, but he commented the first two quarters of the Dallas game constituted "the best half I have ever played."

Los Angeles led 34-14 at the intermission. Roger Staubach came back to throw touchdown passes of six and 10 yards to Otto Stowe in the second half. The Rams may have lost two running backs for next week's Green Bay game—Larry McCutcheon and Tony Baker. The former, who went into the Dallas game as the second leading rusher in the NFC, suffered a pulled hamstring, and Baker a shoulder separation.

Wins By Oklahomans, Missouri Spark Day

The eyes of Texas are on Darrell Royal's lassoed Longhorns today, waiting to see if they can rebound from the worst shelling in Royal's brilliant 20-year coaching career. "I can't ever remember taking a licking like that... ever; I don't even know what happened," tackle Fred Curran said following Saturday's 52-13 slaughter by sixth-ranked Oklahoma. It was: —Oklahoma's third straight victory over Texas. —The most points scored by Oklahoma in the 68-game series. —The most points surrendered by a Texas team since 1908. —The third time anyone ever scored 50 points or more on Texas and the third worst defeat in the Longhorns' proud football history. The weekend's other big shocker was No. 12 Missouri's 13-12 upset of second-ranked Nebraska, a victory preserved by Tony Gillick's interception of Dave Humm's two-point conversion pass with one minute left. Top-rated Ohio State rolled along with a 24-0 blanking of Wisconsin behind Archie Griffin's 169 rushing yards and a rugged defense.

Jumbo Ozaki Uses Tips To Defeat His Teacher

INZAI, Japan (AP) — Japan's powerful but at times erratic driver, Masahi "Jumbo" Ozaki, says tee-shot tips by American Bert Yancey helped him defeat his mentor for the top prize in the $300,000 Pacific Masters golf tournament Sunday.

Ozaki and three-round leader Yancey duelled to a tie in the final round with 278 totals. After a three extra hole playoff, the young Japanese golfer easily won by three strokes. "After the victory, Ozaki said: 'Yancey gave me some good driving pointers when we played together in the first two rounds. It helped steady my game.'"

Ozaki, a former professional baseball pitcher, won $65,000 and Yancey earned $32,500. It brought Ozaki's earnings this year to more than $50,000, the first Japanese golfer to earn such a total. Ozaki placed 8th in the Masters tournament at Augusta, Ga., last year.

Yancey overshot the green with a six-iron on his second shot of the par-4 8th. Ozaki also missed the green with a seven-iron shot that hit a front bunker. Yancey had to stroke left-handed which left his ball 13 feet from the pin, while Ozaki blasted out and landed his shot missed his putt by six inches and Ozaki one-putted for a par and the three-hole playoff.

Ozaki had rounds of 71-67-71-69 and Yancey 65-70-73-70.

Tied for third with 280s were the American trio of Bill Casper, Dave Stockton and Gene Littler. They were followed by Japan's Isao Aoki with 281 and Seiichi Kanai with 282.

Seattle Wins In NBA Upset

By The Associated Press "We always seem to bring out the best in the big guys we face," said Milwaukee Coach Larry Costello. Maybe that's because the Bucks have one of the best big men in the business—Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. Sunday night, Jabbar got into foul trouble and it was the SuperSonics' big men, Jim McDaniels and Spencer Haywood, who helped Seattle to a 109-100 National Basketball Association victory. McDaniels scored 29 points, and the Sonics scored 55 points while Jabbar was on the bench for 11 minutes.

In other NBA games Sunday, Detroit beat Cleveland 95-83 and Golden State beat Phoenix 120-95. In the only American Basketball Association action, Utah beat San Antonio 101-95. On Saturday, Los Angeles edged Buffalo 125-122. Houston trimmed New York 86-85, Boston beat Philadelphia 111-106, Kansas City-Omaha beat Atlanta 117-102, Chicago defeated Detroit 101-94, Portland walloped Capital 132-87, and Milwaukee defeated Golden State 97-85.

In ABA action Saturday, New York beat Carolina 111-107, Indiana defeated San Antonio 116-99, Denver defeated Virginia 125-100 and Kentucky edged Utah 103-101. Warriors 120, Suns 85. The Warriors' 60 rebounds compared to 33 for Phoenix proved to be the difference in a game in which the lead was tied 14 times during the first three periods. Pistons 85, Cavaliers 83.

The Cavaliers showed little offensive punch, except from Dwight Davis who scored 18 points and grabbed 13 rebounds. Oklahoma's rout of Texas was paced by sophomore quarterback Steve Davis, who completed five of six passes for 185 yards and hit Tinker Owens and Billy Brooks with scoring strikes of 63 and 47 yards. Owens also caught a 40-yarder from halfback Joe Washington as the Sooners victimized Texas safety Tommy Keel. Even an offensive lineman got into Oklahoma's scoring act, guard Jamie Melendez recovering a Sooner fumble in the end zone. And here's more bad news for Texas—all seven Oklahoma touchdowns were scored by players with at least two more years remaining.

Mets Say Oakland Sun Field Worst

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Mets are back home today with a split in the first two games of the World series after battling the sun, umpire Augie Donatelli and the Oakland A's. All three elements gave the National Leaguers fits Sunday before the Mets pulled out a zany, 10-7, 12-inning victory in Oakland.

report. The Met left fielder lost a ball in that torturous sun in the first inning, giving Joe Rudi a gift double in a two-run Oakland uprising. "It was the worst," said Jones, "the absolute worst. I've never played in a major league ballpark where the sun is that bad." The Mets weren't exactly thrilled with the umpiring, either. They had an opportunity to break a 6-6 tie in the 10th inning with runners at first and third and one out. Felix Millan lifted a fly ball to Rudi in short left and Bud Harrelson tagged up and tried to score from third.

But Donatelli called him out on a bang-bang play at home. "He never touched me," said Harrelson, talking about the close play at home with A's catcher Ray Fosse. Donatelli's decision brought several Mets storming from the dugout. Like Harrelson, they thought that Fosse missed the tag. Willie Mays, the on-deck batter, was literally down on his knees pleading with the umpire. "There's no question in my mind that I was safe," Harrelson said after the storm had died down and the Mets had locked up Game No. 2, "but there was a question in Donatelli's mind." The double play killed off the Mets for the moment, but they weren't completely dead as it turned out. They scored four runs in a whacky 12th inning to break the deadlock. Then, George Stone came into the tense game and nailed it down for New York after Tug McGraw gave up the A's final run.

Willie Mays Feels His Years But He Delivers

OAKLAND (AP) — It wasn't always so, but Willie Mays admits it sometimes feels he is carrying the weight of the world on his shoulders when he goes onto the ball field these days on aging legs and with rusting skills. "Those kids look up to me," the sentimental old warrior of more than 3,000 major league games, said in the aftermath of one his most dramatically heroic performances. "I can't let them down. They haven't seen me when I was young. But they expect me to be an example to them. That's why it makes me feel so great inside when I can come up with a clutch hit."

It was a clutch hit by the 42-year-old Mays in the 12th inning with Bud Harrelson on first base and Tug McGraw on third and the Mets fighting for their lives with the score tied 6-6. Old Willie, reaching back into the past for reflexes that many thought had decayed with time, bounced a single over the head of Oakland pitcher Rollie Fingers and opened the door to a four-run rally that clinched a 10-7 New York Mets' victory in the second World Series game. "You can't imagine the feeling that I experienced," he added. "I looked over at Cleon Jones. He was relaxed. The whole team was relaxed." Mays sat in front of his locker, reflecting on Sunday's vital game and games of the past, and bared some of his soul. "I am very emotional," he confessed. "You can't tell it when I'm out there on the field. I try to be the cool cat. But I've got all sorts of fires burning up inside of me." Willie was able to speak unashamedly of two catches he blew in center field late in the game—catches a younger Willie Mays would have made without blinking an eyelash—and he refused to offer any alibis or apologies. In the ninth pinchhitter Deron Johnson hit a sharp, low line drive to center and Willie, fresh in the game, dove at the ball and missed it. The hit went for a double, igniting a two-run rally that sent the "ame into extra innings. In the 12th, Reggie Jackson, Oakland center fielder, led off with a blast that almost reached the wall in deep center. Willie went back, appeared to misplay it and the blow went for a triple. "I didn't see Johnson's hit—I was blinded by the sun," he said. "The second one, I didn't go for. We were ahead by four runs and I didn't see any point of busting myself up. If we hadn't had such a lead, I would have gone for it and I think I would have caught it." Mays was asked if he was embarrassed by the two misplays in the outfield, a region he once ruled as a king. "I feel sorry any time I miss a ball," he said. "But I don't let it destroy me. It's a ballgame. I always give it everything I've got."

Charley Finley Is Likely To Be In Kuhn Doghouse

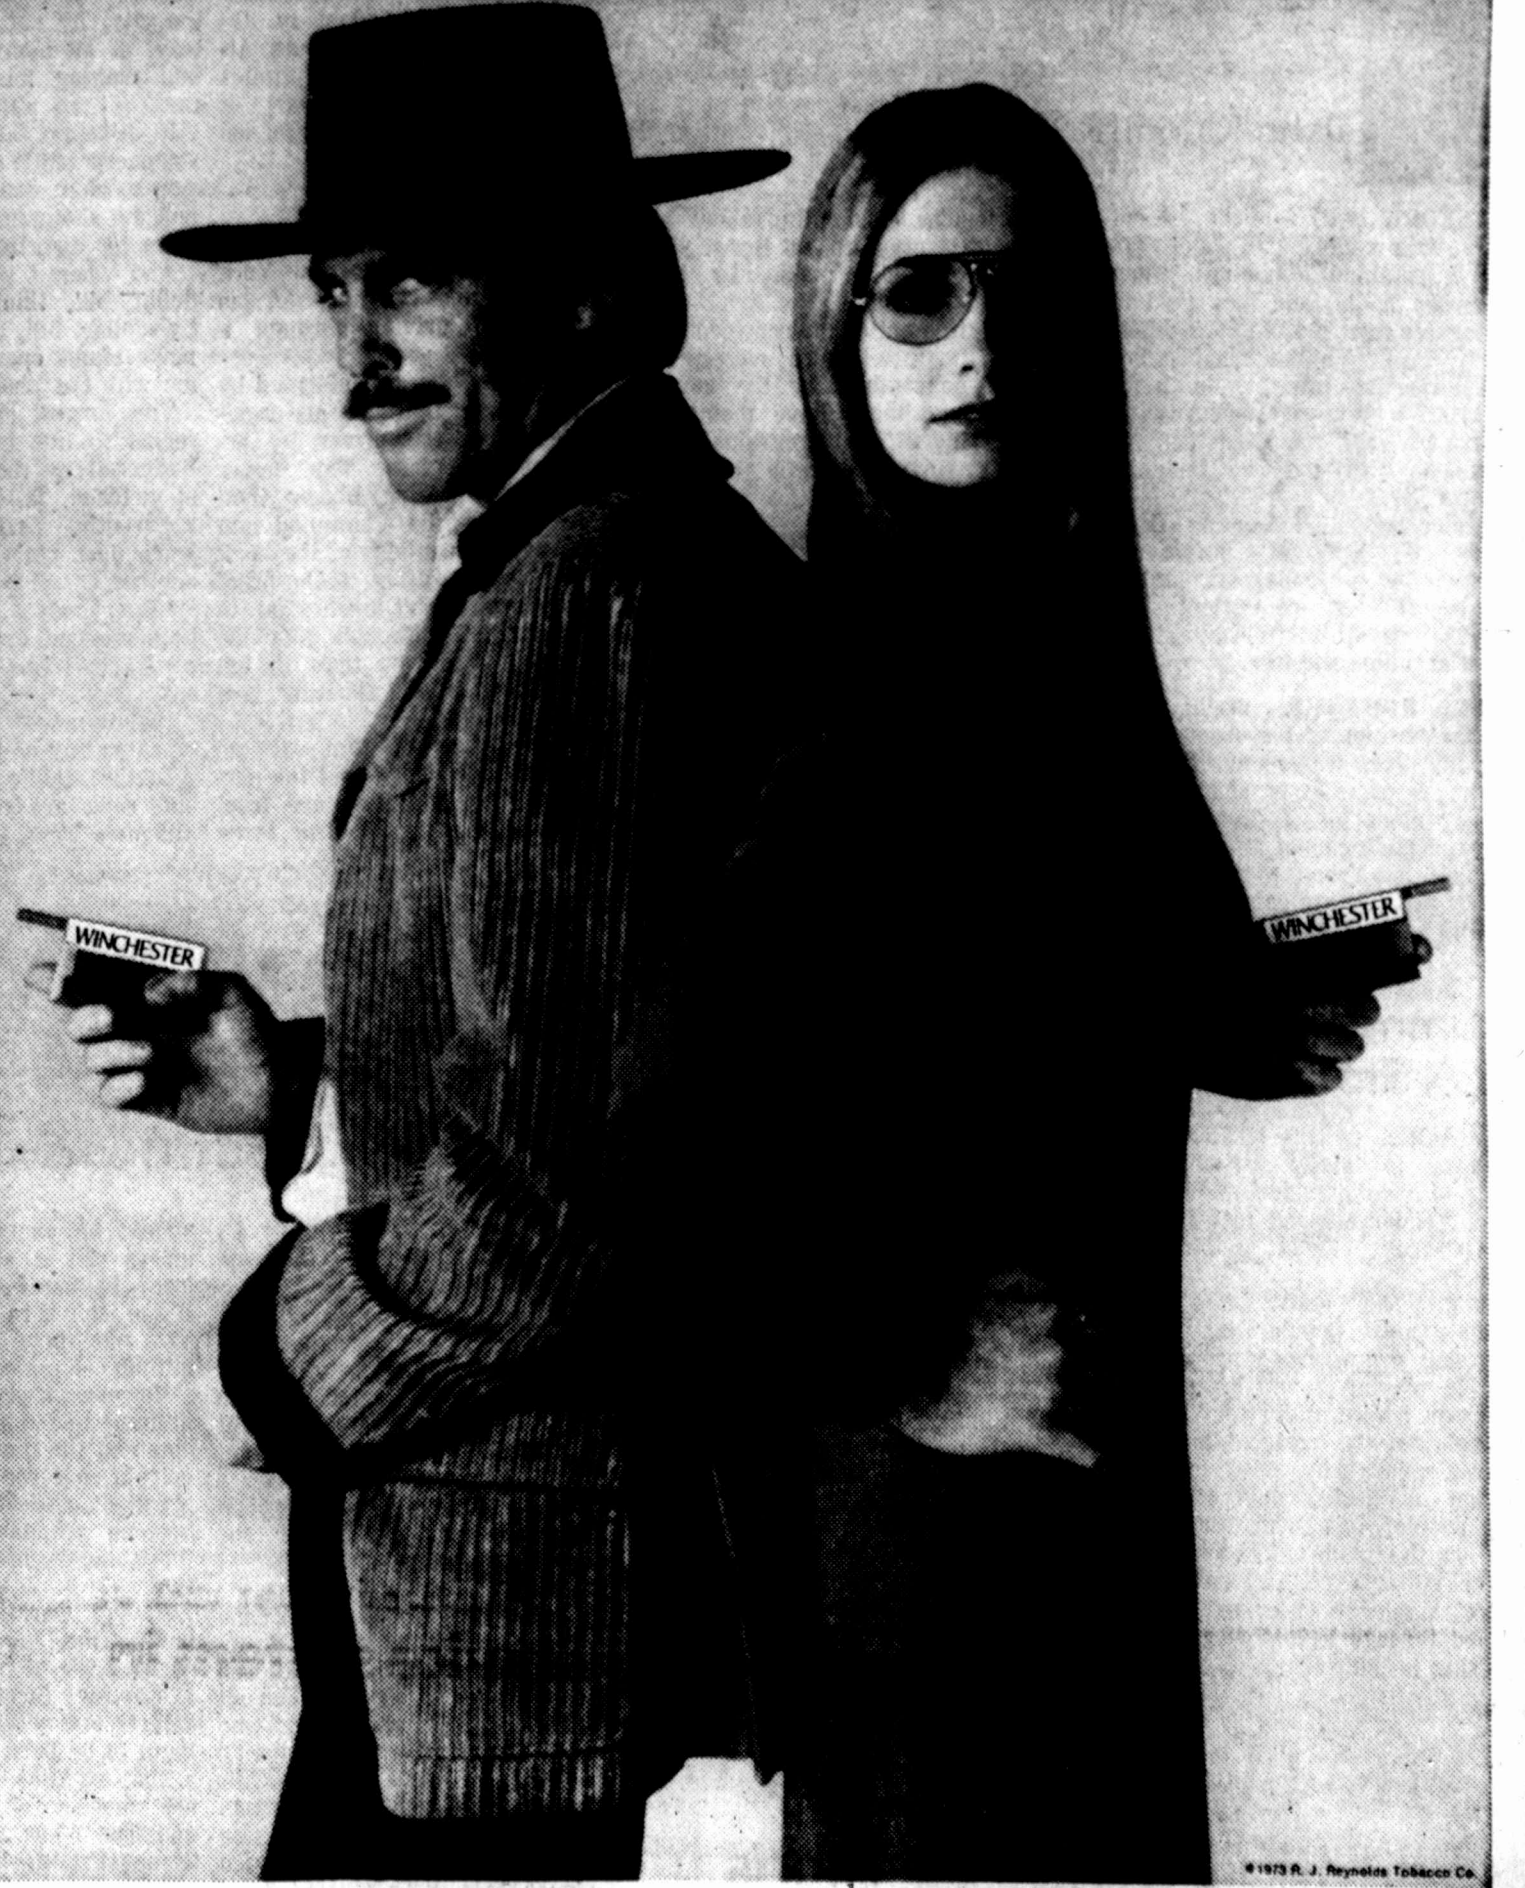

OAKLAND (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn is peeved again with Charles O. Finley, controversial owner of the Oakland Athletics and Finley faces a possible post-World Series fine. "I plan to wait until after the Series to make a judgment," Kuhn said Sunday. "I don't want a matter like this to mar the series."

The commissioner charged Finley with defying the commissioner's office and indulging in bad taste by making a public announcement during Saturday's opening game involving a player eligibility problem. The A's asked permission from the New York Mets to activate Manny Trillo, an infielder, to bring the Oakland roster to full 25-player strength. The A's had fallen one man short when Juan Morales, a catcher, was sold to Montreal in September—after the Aug. 31 freezing of Series' eligibles. The move could be made only with the assent of the rival Mets. Bob Scheffing, general manager of the Mets, was willing but Chub Feeney, president of the National League, firmly said "No." Finley was told that the refusal must not be announced public. During Saturday's game, the Athletics announced to the press and the stands that the Athletics had made the request to the Mets only to be refused. The fans booted loudly. "The announcement was made solely for the purpose of embarrassing the National League club," Kuhn told Finley in a stern letter, reminding the A's owner that such actions can be taken only with the consent of the commissioner's office. "It's grossly unfair," said Finley, who was fined twice last season. The A's owner was fined for remarks made about the commissioner after Kuhn injected himself into the contract negotiations of A's holdout Vida Blue. He also was fined for giving World Series bonuses last year in violation of baseball rules.

Is Winchester strictly a His and Ms. proposition?

Let's start with the juiciest part: the proposition. We didn't set out to be a his & hers smoke. Frankly, we thought of Winchester as largely for male chauvinist smokers—and maybe a few leathery, liberated ladies. So we made Winchester masculine, but mild. And light. With a sensuous taste that separated the men from the boys. But, surprisingly, not from the girls. Even women with bras and bridges to burn tried it. And liked it. Because Winchester's not a cigarette. Not just another little cigar. It's a whole 'nother smoke. For a whole 'nother kind of Smokers' Lib. 20 LITTLE CIGARS. Winchester. It's a whole 'nother smoke.

Keeps Dialogue Going

A Florida judge has come up with a revolutionary plan for the punishment of an admitted murderer which would also provide long-term compensation for the family of the murder victim.

Under Miami Judge Dan Satin's plan, the 19-year-old killer would be placed on probation with the requirement that he be the primary support of the widow and five children of the man he murdered in an argument. The judge said he would decide by Nov. 19 on whether to adopt the idea in the case.

While the thought may have merit, there is also considerable doubt as to the wisdom of such a sentence for a murderer. Prosecutor James Woodard, who handled the particular case, said the judge's idea was "disgusting, abhorrent and abominable."

Based on some sad experiences courts have had in child support cases, there is considerable doubt that a probationary murderer could be counted on to support his victims family even if the court served in a daily watchdog role. Many fathers jailed for failure to pay child support are released on promises to keep up payments, fail to do so, etc., etc.

Keeping the reins on a convicted slayer or perpetrator of other vicious criminal acts under conditions of no imprisonment undoubtedly would be even more difficult than in simple child support cases.

Another major stumbling block would be the matter of placing the criminal in a job which would provide a salary sufficiently large to take care of — personal requirements and the contribution to the victim's family set by a court. Most employers are hesitant in even hiring ex-convicts.

There have been a number of studies and much talk about prison reform since the massacre at Attica. One of the more frequently advanced proposals has been one of giving prisoners productive jobs and regular pay for work accomplished. The theory is that such reforms would provide an incentive for the convict, funds for the support of his family if he has one, and savings at the time of his release or parole sufficient to turn him away from further crime.

If convicts were paid for work done in prison, then Judge Satin's idea might bear logic. At least, this stirs the dialogue, although a practical conclusion seems a long, long way in the distance.

Frustrating Logjams

An article in the Herald last week regarding the flood of county court cases boiled down to this: Officials feel it would be impossible, financially and otherwise, for the county to try all cases, particularly those appealed to the court.

This may be true, but we have a feeling that the message is that you are a sucker if you pay a city court traffic fine when you can beat the rap with an appeal. This must be terribly frustrating to the poor policeman who does his duty to no avail. Even though he has uneasy satisfaction of knowing he did his part. There must be a better way — judicial administrative machinery or something which would avoid these hopeless log jams.

The Sawdust Trail

Around The Rim

Tommy Hart

Simple, garden-variety religion no longer is enough for some practitioners of monotheism. Evangelism and hoopla have become "the thing."

BILLY SUNDAY put the show on the road years ago. Billy Graham refined it, and now the woods are full of the anointed who would show a sinning world the way to Paradise.

Money is the name of the game on the big-time evangelistic trail. Some leaders promote success and peace of mind through giving and the combination never fails.

Some promise miracle cures and the yeomanry line up by the thousands to be massaged by those franchised to do the job.

ORGANIZED RELIGIONS are having trouble filling church pews every Sunday. In some religious institutions, Sunday night services have been abandoned exclusively because of the malaise that has gripped the flock. Midweek prayer meetings have long since become passe for many groups.

The evangelist who can number a "Bible toting, grace-saying" farm type among his antecedents never fails to point with pride to the stock from which he sprang, and for good reason. The revival crowds feel closer to people who emanated from such a background.

However, an individual who knew travail in his youth, who was bloodied a few times in his encounters with the rules of society, can confess to his sins and make the team.

FAITH HEALING is much more prominent than it was 20 years ago — that could be a slap at modern medicine and the fact that it is being priced out of existence to ordinary folks. Whatever the reason, some people crushed with affliction will travel 300 to 500 miles just to attend the services of an evangelist in hopes of being seen by him. If he should be so fortunate as to be touched by the great man, he feels he is 80 per cent along in his struggle to oust the thousand demons that inhabit his body.

SOME, like Oral Roberts, start out as faithhealers but become more conventional and, in time, dislike being reminded that they ever suggested they might help arrange divine intervention for those in desperate straits for good health.

Most evangelists take refuge in some remote area of the Bible to reach the people. They never feel completely at home save when they use that passage as backdrops for their sermons on faith. Still others take great comfort in attacking Communism with all the enthusiasm of Don Quixote in windmill country.

USING OBSCURE language to predict imminent natural catastrophes is another ploy favored by some of the silver-tongued gentry. If the disasters fail to come about, the speakers fail to come about, the cause can always say reform caused God to change his mind or else insist their remarks were misinterpreted.

Just to be safe, some people hung up on television evangelism will send money to three or four salvation ministers at once.

The United States could pay off the national debt by running an audit on some of the touring religious teams, but that isn't likely to happen right away.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

I'm frustrated, and by a church service no less. You see, a recent World Missions Conference we had promoted service overseas, but I have no qualifications as a nurse or minister. How can I get involved?

C.S. You should realize three things. First, that your "involvement" for the kingdom of God is not dependent on special training. Education can, of course, sharpen up talents and abilities, but a person's basic usefulness in sharing the Gospel is something inherent in every believer. God has given gifts to His church — and everyone has some ability that upon conversion can immediately be employed (see I Corinthians 12).

Secondly, you should get acquainted with the "short term" mission program that most denominations now employ. This permits people with no theological or medical training to go overseas for a few months assisting mission projects using skills they possess. This releases missionaries for other more critical tasks. It puts the missionary enterprise on a broader base — which is more appealing to foreign governments who otherwise might frown on what they see only as religious proselytizing.

Thirdly, you must not underestimate the "mission" of your own community. When the Lord described the scope of evangelism (Acts 1:8). He mentioned Jerusalem first which was the home ground of the Apostles. I'm glad you heard that mission challenge. Let it motivate you now to "brighten the corner where you are," as well as prepare for whatever future assignment God may have.

Editors note - Marcus Eliason, AP correspondent in Jerusalem, and born in South Africa, traveled 2,000 miles around the Eastern half of America. Here are some of his views on New York

By Marcus Eliason
NEW YORK (AP) — Take an ordinary cab ride in New York at night, and you may get the feeling of driving through a minefield.

Instantly you are informed by a little sign that you are separated from the driver by armor-plated glass. The driver can take nothing bigger than five dollar bills. Crammed into the narrow confines of the back seat, sealed off by bullet-proof glass, you can't even chat to the driver, although he's an amiable sort who tries to tell you, in spasms of shouting, how bad traffic is.

You may feel that all the warnings you got about the perils of New York City are true. So true, in fact, that for three weeks I have traveled around the city, by car, bus and subway, at all hours of the night, and nothing has happened to me.

If it's so bad, how come strangers smile at each other, stop to chat, don't run away or pull out shotguns when you stop them for directions?

And when I paid with a 20-dollar bill, thinking it was a five-dollar bill, how come the news stand operator ran after me with the change?

This largest city in the West seems to live on a thin edge. Badgered by the constant fear of violence, it seems its people apparently find comfort in being just plain decent to one another.

"Everybody's scared of getting mugged or raped, says a friend. "So who's mugging?" I ask.

"Who knows? The police never catch any of them."

In the Middle East, mugging and rape are extremely rare, although New Yorkers I have talked to tend to think of my part of the world as rather lawless.

Even a huge city like London suffers none of the paranoia I have encountered in New York. Yet everything I have experienced here has left me with the impression that this city is no more dangerous than any other.

To me, the crux of New York's state of mind came one afternoon as I crossed a deserted Lower East Side street. One car stood at a traffic light.

"At one point I was walking toward the car, and to my astonishment the driver hastily rolled up his windows, locked the doors and stared straight ahead.

"Are you afraid of me?" I asked incredulously through the closed window. He pretended not to have heard.

I am 6 foot 2, bearded, and was wearing a T-shirt and jeans. May I assume I am a mugger?

Reasons To Consult

Rowland Evans

WASHINGTON — No sooner had the stunning news of Spiro T. Agnew's resignation become known Wednesday than White House aides won President Nixon's quick approval to begin immediate high-level consultations with congressional leaders to ease his treacherous vice presidential succession problem.

SOME AIDES saw two dangerous obstacles to Mr. Nixon's free choice for Agnew's successor:

1. DEMOCRATIC LEADERS pushed by militant freshmen and some well-seasoned veterans as well, are not yet ready—whatever plea the President might make—to permit him complete freedom. In particular, they did not grant him freedom to name former Gov. John B. Connally of Texas as who they said would pyramid it to a certain presidential nomination in 1976 and make more probable his election.

2. REPUBLICANS backing 1976 candidates other than Connally — specifically Govs. Ronald Reagan of California and Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York — were also potentially troublesome.

BUT PRESSURE on the top Democratic leadership from such important second-level leaders as Indiana's Rep. John Brademas (deputy majority whip), had a definite impact. Speaker Carl Albert of Oklahoma reminded friends that the language of the Constitution clearly gives Congress a veto. To Brademas and other key Democrats, the 25th Amendment gives Congress as much power to reject a Vice President as the Senate had in rejecting two of Mr. Nixon's Supreme Court nominees.

DEALING with his own party could also prove difficult for the President, no matter what pledges of support and backing he is now getting from leading Republicans. The reason: the long-standing ideological split inside the Republican party, with the conservatives in the ascendancy for more than a decade. The nomination of Rep. Gerald Ford could, however, be a practical mood to amylaritate this.

The future has now arrived more quickly than anybody thought possible, bringing with it opportunities and risks for the President.

Who Has The Right Of Way?

Driving home from work, Harold crashed into an ambulance at a busy intersection. In short order he found himself facing a charge of "failing to yield the right-of-way to an emergency vehicle."

BUT IN COURT, Harold came up with the following facts in his own defense:

- 1) that the traffic light had been in his favor;
- 2) that he had not heard the siren because he had his windows up and his radio on; and
- 3) that he had not seen the ambulance until the last moment, because other cars were obscuring his vision.

UNDER THESE circumstances the court could find nothing negligent in Harold's conduct, and dismissed the charge.

Traffic codes generally do give special privileges to ambulances. However, these privileges are not absolute. In case of a collision between an ambulance and a private car, the court will weigh the entire situation on its merits.

FURTHERMORE, ambulances have privileges only when there is (or at least appears to be) a true emergency.

Thus, in another case, an ambulance that was merely returning to its home office was held not entitled to go through a stop sign.

AND AN ambulance transporting a patient to the hospital, with no apparent need for haste, was held not entitled to disregard a red light.

Still, in most situations, the ambulance's right-of-way will be upheld. One indignant citizen decided this preference was a form of unfair discrimination against the motoring public. But when he challenged it in court, the judge held that he had no kick coming.

"THE GRANT of special privileges to an emergency vehicle," said the judge, "is a proper exercise of the police power of the state. When human life may be at stake, prompt performance of the duties imposed upon drivers of emergency vehicles is imperative."

Working Women Chained In '73

DANBURY, Conn. (AP) — Chaining women to work benches might be every male chauvinist's dream, but it's a reality for the girls who work at Pitney-Bowes-Alplex here.

The shackles, however, aren't meant to keep them in line but only to dissipate the static electricity from their bodies. The girls assemble metal oxide semiconductors into printed circuit boards for computerized cash register terminals.

Even the slightest charge of electricity will "pop" the delicate electronic circuits, so the girls wear wristlets attached to chains leading to a ground on the workbench.

A Devotion For Today..

"Suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God." (Luke 2:13)
PRAYER: O Father, we join with the heavenly host in praise and thanksgiving for the joys of Your love and care. Teach us faithfulness in little things. Amen.

Sallie Mae To Rescue?

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Colleges and families with college-age youngsters share a common dilemma: They need money badly, and they tend to think they can get it from each other.

As a result, tuition and other charges rise relentlessly, to more than $5,000 a year at some private colleges and applications for scholarships and other financial assistance rise also.

An international accounting firm, Coopers & Lybrand, offers a suggestion for the colleges in a 122-page report just completed. The answer, it says, is "substantial increases in tuition and fees."

THAT, HOWEVER, would only make the position of the other party, the family, even worse—assuming that it really is possible to charge substantially more for a product most families already cannot afford.

And so, more and more students and their families are going into debt. The Office of Education estimates there is now outstanding about $4.5 billion of insured student loans. Since 1966, six million students have borrowed $5.7 billion.

Those figures don't represent the total of loans; they're merely the amount guaranteed by the government. Some banks have their own, private student loan programs. Some students borrow directly from the college.

NO QUESTION then that loans have become, if not a permanent aspect of college life at least a currently popular, necessary and reliable way of financing an education.

Nevertheless, the volume of student loans in recent months has been declining, one reason being a lack of liquidity. That is, the banks who lend under the guarantee program find themselves with lots of paper they can't sell.

Now, in the timely tradition of American heroines fighting for worthy causes, comes Sallie Mae. A wealthy gal, once she gets her inheritance, Sallie promises to relieve the lenders of that paper problem.

Sallie is the considerably strained acronym for the Student Loan Marketing Association, a government-sponsored private corporation which hopes to sell 700,000 shares of common stock, mainly to lending institutions, sometime in early or mid-August.

Once in operation, and it hopes to be set by the fall term, Sallie Mae hopes to make a profit by buying up or advancing money on the loans made by lenders under the Guaranteed Student Loan Program of the federal government and participating states.

BY THIS process, it is hoped, banks will be encouraged to make more loans than before, thus taking some pressure off colleges and families, many of which are ill equipped to provide financing.

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is German measles vaccine safe and effective?

I heard that the vaccination only keeps the vaccinated child from contracting the effects of German measles, but he can still be a carrier and transmit the disease to his expectant mother. Would you advise a woman to be vaccinated against German measles before she decides to raise a family? — C.R.

Dear Dr. T.: I am 12 and at our school the measles vaccine was given to all children who needed it except that all girls over 12 and all girls who have begun to menstruate couldn't receive it. Why? — C.G.

Yes, the rubella (German measles) vaccine is both safe and effective, and it has been shown that a vaccinated child does not transmit the disease to his mother. (This was questioned at first, so careful studies were made.)

Yes, I most certainly think a woman should be vaccinated against this disease before starting to raise a family.

Should be vaccinated, that is, unless she is already immune from having had the disease. If she isn't sure, a simple blood test will show whether she is immune — many adults are.

However, if she is not already immune and is eligible for vaccination, she must be absolutely certain that she is not already pregnant, and that she does not become pregnant for at least three months after the vaccination.

Having German measles, or having the vaccination in the early part of pregnancy, has a savage record of causing defects in babies, or causing them to be born dead.

That explains, to some extent, the answer to today's second question. When a girl has begun to menstruate, she is potentially able to become pregnant — and some do become pregnant that early, too.

Thus when the vaccine is given on a mass scale (as in a vaccination program at school) it becomes a massive task to examine all girls to make sure they are not already pregnant, or to follow up and take whatever steps are necessary to be certain they do not become pregnant for a safe time after the vaccination.

As a practical matter, not giving the vaccine to girls over 12 or who are known to have started to menstruate is a sensible way to handle the situation.

This does not mean that girls past 12 should not be vaccinated if they are not already immune — but it should be done by the family doctor who can devote the necessary time to make sure that a girl is not pregnant.

Yank More Pessimistic

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The mood of the American public is growing more pessimistic, according to the latest Gallup Poll.

The proportion of Americans who say they are satisfied with the future facing them and their families has declined 11 per cent in the last 10 years, down from 64 per cent to 53 per cent, the latest survey showed.

Among the important factors contributing to the growing pessimism regarding the future, according to the survey, were:

- Increased concern on the part of the public about the standards of honesty of the American people;
- Widespread lack of faith in key American institutions;
- Declining confidence in the way the nation is being governed;
- Frustration over unsolved national problems.

In 1963, a Gallup survey showed 34 per cent of those interviewed were, on the whole, satisfied with the honesty and standards of behavior in American society.

The figure dropped to 22 per cent in the latest survey, a decline of 12 points, despite the fact that during the early 1960s there was much discussion about a "moral lag."

Key institutions suffering in appeal were big business, with a "great deal" or "quite a lot" confidence rating of only 26 per cent, and labor unions with a 30 per cent confidence rating.

In the area of government, Gallup surveys have recorded a sharp decline over the last 22 months in the proportion of Americans who say they are satisfied with the way the nation is being governed.

A December 1971 survey revealed that 37 per cent of those interviewed were satisfied with the governing of the country, compared to the latest sampling which showed a 26 per cent rating, a decline of 11 per cent.

The Watergate scandal is apparently a major factor in the drop in confidence. A recent Gallup study showed that 67 per cent of the American public felt Watergate reduced their confidence in the federal government "a great deal" or "somewhat."

According to Gallup officials, of the unsolved societal problems that have irked Americans, the most major are high prices, "dissatisfaction with government," "corruption in government" and crime.

Two Rode UFO?

PASCAGOULA, Miss. (AP)—A Marion County civil defense official reported an unidentified flying object knocked out his radar Sunday night shortly after two scientists said they were still convinced two men were taken aboard a UFO along the Gulf Coast near Pascagoula.

Dr. James Harder of the University of California and Al-len Hynek, chairman of the astronomy department at Northwestern University, said they were convinced Charles Hickson and Calvin Parker encountered a nonterrestrial craft last week.

A short time later, James Thornhill of Columbia said he picked up an object on his radar set.

"I observed what I thought to be an aircraft," Thornhill told officials. "It got rather close to the station, about three miles, then it became stationary and all of a sudden my radar just completely jammed."

"I've never seen anything quite like this, except perhaps during World War II."

Thornhill said the radar unit developed streaks when the UFO returned later. Area residents, he said, reported seeing a craft with bright blue lights Sunday night.

Thornhill's report was the latest in a series of UFO sightings that reached its most bizarre period Thursday night.

Hickson and Parker went to authorities saying they were taken aboard a UFO. The two were interviewed by Harder and Hynek Saturday and Sunday, being placed under hypnosis for part of the sessions.

"These are not imbalanced people," Hynek said. "They're not crackpots. There was definitely something here that was not terrestrial (of this earth)."

Hickson and Parker said they were fishing when a bluish craft hovered near them and they were taken inside without force by redskinned occupants.

The pair said the craft's occupants had wrinkled skin, pointed ears, eye slits, sharp noses and holes below their noses.

"Where they came from and why they were here is a matter of conjecture," Hynek said. "But the fact that they are here on this planet is beyond a reasonable doubt."

Jackson County officials expressed belief in the incident. "They are sincere," said Sheriff Fred Diamond.

Sightings of another or the same craft were reported to authorities Thursday night by three other persons, Diamond said.

Numerous sightings have been reported in about a week across Mississippi, spreading southward from the Mississippi-Tennessee border. Earlier sightings had craft with combinations of red, green, blue and white colors.

Roloff Plans To File Suit

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—Evangelist Lester Roloff, facing closure of his two South Texas children's homes today, said Sunday his lawyers would file a federal suit to keep open the institutions.

"I dread the long icy trail up to the Supreme Court, but if that is what it takes, that's where we will go," Roloff said.

"I never really had any plans to close the homes," he said, adding a federal suit would be filed in "the next day or two."

Roloff addressed a crowd of about 1,000 in his People's Church at the "last rites" for the Rebekah Home for Girls in Corpus Christi and the Anchor Home for Boys in Zapata.

The State Welfare Department said a district court order to close the homes would be effective today.

District Judge Walter Dunham Jr. ordered the closure if the homes did not meet state licensing requirements for child care institutions.

State Welfare Commissioner Raymond Vowell, when told of Roloff's plans to keep the homes open, said in Austin, "If that is where he (Roloff) stands, and he has not complied with the court order by Monday, I will ask the attorney general to take whatever action is necessary to close Roloff's facilities."

Roloff said he planned to continue housing about 25 or 30 girls at the Rebekah home and about the same number of boys at the Anchor home.

More than 200 girls, most of them under 16 years old, have

Damage Estimate Pushed Upward

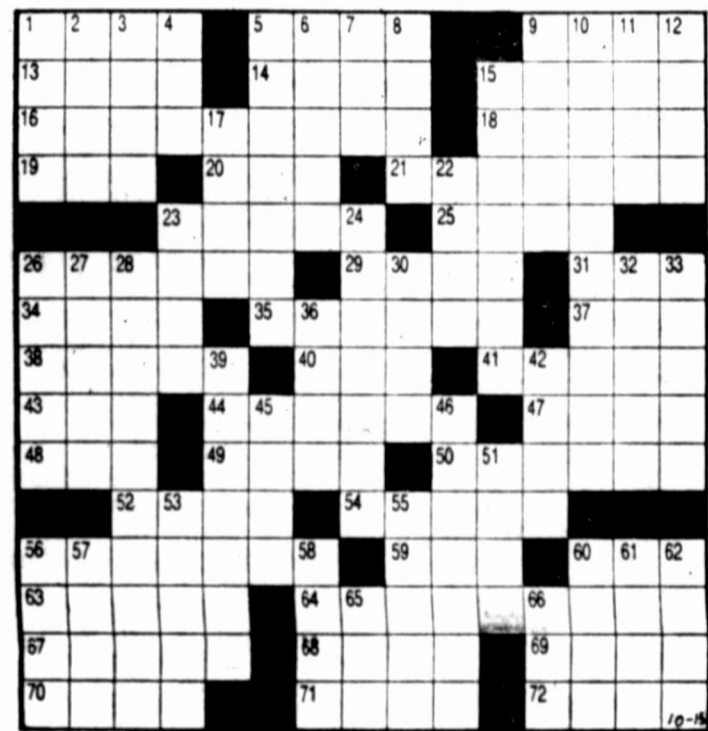

ODESSA — More damage than originally thought was suffered by the Ector County Independent School District's buildings in the June 29 hail storm, trustees learned Thursday.

Charles Walker, assistant superintendent, revised the damage figure to $440,451. Last month he had placed it at $419,456. The extra money was needed, he said, for painting and repairing the roof at W. T. Barrett Stadium.
