HORSELESS HEAD — It's all in the camera angle. What appears to be a horse's head without the horse is really a plastic emblem decorating the gateway of a suburban apartment complex in Kansas City.

Ex-Husband, Two Others Held In Death Of Four

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — The bodies of a twice-divorced woman, her two teenage children and a family friend have been found on a dirt road in the Lost Lake area of the San Bernardino Mountains. Police said all four had been kidnapped Monday.

Three men have been arrested in connection with the case, including one of the woman's ex-husbands. They are being held for investigation of murder and kidnap, police said.

The woman, Mrs. Dorothy Sanchez, 34, had been disemboweled and two of the other bodies exhibited numerous knife wounds, Sheriff Frank Bland said. Police said Mrs. Sanchez was abducted early Monday from a home in the Grand Terrace suburb of this Southern California city. Seized with her were her daughter, Toni, 15; her son, David, 14, and John E. McGrail, 19.

Bland said the daughter apparently was still alive when she was left in the rugged mountain area where the bodies were found on Tuesday. She had been bound with surgical tape and had managed to remove it partially, he added.

The sheriff said the bodies of Mrs. Sanchez, her son and McGrail bore numerous knife wounds and McGrail had an electric cord tied around his neck.

Bland said a bloodstained stick with a knob at one end and a butcher knife with a broken blade were found near the bodies.

Shortly after the kidnap, Mrs. Sanchez' mother reported receiving a telephone call from a man who demanded payment of $7,000 ransom.

Sheriff's deputies said they sent police to the ransom delivery spot and trailed a man who picked up the money to an apartment house. They said they arrested the pickup man at the apartment and recovered the money. Later, police reported arresting two other men, one of them Mrs. Sanchez' ex-husband.

After all three refused to answer questions on the whereabouts of the victims, they were booked for investigation of kidnaping and murder, police said. The trio was identified as Edward Joseph Montoya, 33, of Fresno; Philip Elwon Walters, 42, of Fontana, and Norbert "Tony" Meier, 31, Mrs. Sanchez' ex-husband.

Bland said a group of hikers found McGrail's body Tuesday in a desolate spot near Cajon Pass, 12 miles northwest of here. They summoned investigators and the bodies of Mrs. Sanchez and her children were discovered nearby.

Huge New Plant Set For Texas

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Arco Chemical Co., a division of Atlantic Richfield, announced today plans to build a $200 million plant adjacent to its Lyondell complex at Chanleville, Tex. near Houston.

The plant, which will be completed in 1976, will manufacture ethylene, propylene, butadiene and aromatics, said Arco President Robert Bent.

School Needs Extra Funds, Accountant Tells Trustees

The possibility that Howard County Junior College may have to dig up some additional revenue to maintain its present level of service was raised Tuesday.

This came in a letter from John Wilson of Hollingsworth, Wilson, Lee and Reynolds, accountants, in his observation on the annual audit, which was accepted by the board at its monthly meeting.

Observing that expenditures in the current fund were up by $126,000 while revenues increased by only $34,000, Wilson pointed out that this could not go on indefinitely (although the board had carried over surplus to meet this increased demand in costs last year).

"We feel a large percentage of the increase in expenditures is due to the over-all economy and is (therefore) a permanent increase," he said. "Therefore increases of local revenue must be found to insure a quality operation."

Except for minor matters, generally involving the posting of certain funds to specific accounts, the college accounts were in excellent order, and the college in good financial condition, he said.

He did call attention to the strength of the college in having a plant investment value of $4,673,291 with only $1,061,000 outstanding in bonds, (a net equity of $3,612,291). Under present schedules, within nine years the plant will be paid out, he said.

The auditors also noted that the delinquent tax receivables, carried as an asset, were now being listed also as a reserve on the other side of the ledger.

The audit's balance sheet showed the college with assets of $5,153,112, liabilities of $1,164,943, plus $149,926 in reserves, and fund balance (including net value of plant of $3,612,291) of $3,838,243.

During the year ended Aug. 31, 1973, the college had received $1,510,110 from all sources, of which $1,241,527 went to the current (or general) fund, $166,558

Court Orders Redistricting

DALLAS (AP) — A three-judge federal court ordered today Texas redistricted for the U.S. House under so-called Plan B which is close to the original redistricting made by the Texas Legislature.

Plan B permits somewhat greater population variations between districts but not as large as in the legislature's bill.

The legislative redistricting following the 1970 census was attacked in federal court in Dallas, largely on the grounds that the populations of the districts were too uneven to meet the Supreme Court's earlier one-man-one-vote standard.

The same three-judge federal court that acted today earlier threw out the legislature's plan and substituted Plan C, a rigid division of districts by population.

The Supreme Court returned this decision to the lower court, saying the three-judge panel interfered too much in the business of the legislature.

The Supreme Court recommended Plan B as the best.

At a hearing in Dallas after the Supreme Court acted, seven persons or groups sought to intervene with their plan and all these petitions were refused.

The panel ordered Plan B with some apparent reluctance. It wrote, "Other plans may be equally acceptable or even superior to Plan B, but this court should not attempt to correct errors less than fundamental in a constitutional sense. The Texas Legislature, equipped with appropriate procedures and ample time, is the proper place for the consideration of alternative plans."

Tanks Skirmish Near Waterway

By The Associated Press

Egyptian and Israeli tanks battled fiercely along the eastern side of the Suez Canal today as Israeli jets pounded Egyptian missile batteries on the western bank, Israel said.

Syria said the Israeli warplanes also attacked Latakia and Tartus, Syrian ports on the Mediterranean where Soviet supplies are reported arriving by sea to replenish the Arab war machine. Three Israeli jets were shot down, Damascus claimed, but it gave no information on damage to the ports.

WEST OF CANAL

An Israeli commando force reported operating west of the canal in Egypt apparently pursued its mission of hit-and-run strikes against Egyptian installations in the rear.

"If they were back, we would have announced it," said a military spokesman in Tel Aviv.

Syria said its armored forces renewed their counteroffensive against Israeli tanks that have driven into Syria along a 20-mile zig-zag front and have advanced toward Damascus along a hilly roadway to within about 20 miles of the Syrian capital.

"Fighting is raging with tanks," said a communique broadcast by Damascus radio.

Both sides had reported a big tank battle on the Syrian front

Tuesday, with Israel claiming 105 Syrian and Iraqi tanks were knocked out and Syria claiming 80 Israeli tanks were destroyed.

Egypt said its troops also fought a "vicious battle" on the Sinai front Tuesday, beating back a westward push by Israeli tanks.

The Tel Aviv command called today's Sinai tank battles "large-scale" and said fighting was raging along the central sector of the 103-mile-long waterway, which Egypt recrossed on Oct. 6 for the first time since Israel seized the Sinai peninsula in the 1967 conflict.

Maj. Gen. Haim Herzog, former chief of Israeli army intelligence and now the state radio's top military commentator, called the battle "the biggest armored clash in our military history."

Neither he nor the command said how many tanks were participating.

MEETS WITH MEIR

U.S. Ambassador Kenneth B. Keating met with Premier Golda Meir this morning "for a talk," the Israeli government reported. It gave no details.

The United States has mounted an emergency airlift to resupply the taxed Israeli arsenal and balance what Washington calls the "massive" Soviet military aid to the Arabs.

Railroad Granted Partial Reprieve

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Railroad Administration has granted the Penn Central a partial reprieve from federal track safety standards which the railroad claimed would have put it out of business.

The federal agency agreed Tuesday to exempt track used exclusively for freight operations from the new standards but said Penn Central must upgrade all substandard track on its passenger and mainline routes within 30 days.

It also told the railroad to file within the next month "a plan for the most rapid possible restoration of all other tracks."

Penn Central, claiming it had neither the time nor the money to upgrade its track, had asked the FRA to exempt nearly one-sixth of its 38,000 mile system from the regulations until the end of 1974.

However, FRA administrator John W. Ingram said the exemption was good only until the agency could complete hearings on the railroad's request. And he said a new hearing had been scheduled for next week.

The standards — which went into effect at midnight Monday — set maximum speeds for trains depending on the condition of the railroad track.

Railroads which run trains over substandard track face a maximum $2,500 per day fine. In addition, they can be ordered by a court to cease all operations over track that does not meet federal standards.

The Penn Central ceased operations on 2,789 miles of its nearly 7,000 miles of substandard track to keep from violating the law. It reinstated operations after the FRA action.

The agency said Penn Central must inspect daily all mainline track not complying with federal standards. Operating speeds on all substandard track is limited to 8 miles per hour on mainline and branch track and 6 miles per hour on yard and industrial track.

In addition, the railroad is prohibited from running freight trains on substandard track that is adjacent to track used for passenger service unless no passenger trains are using the adjacent track.

Rebozo Favored In Turndown?

LOCALS JOIN UTILITIES FIGHT FOR GAS RIGHT

A delegation from Big Spring will join those from other cities in the Texas Electric Service Company system, and those served by Dallas Power & Light and Texas Power and Light for a Texas Railroad Commission hearing Friday in Austin.

The utilities have filed a counter-motion with the commission in opposition to a motion by Central-South Texas interests asking that TESCO, TP&L, DP&L be made to give up part of gas for which they have contracted to run their plants.

The three utilities, serving some four million people in North Central and West Texas, contracted three years ago with Lo Vaca Gathering Company for ownership of gas to be used to operate their plants.

Now, the cities of Austin and San Antonio, along with Lower Colorado River Authority and University of Texas regents, have asked that the Lo Vaca contract be wiped out and that they be permitted to have a share of this gas which was dedicated though the Lo Vaca system. Unless the commission overturns the contract, their cities and area may suffer from fuel shortages, the applicants contend.

Big Springers will be supporting the view that the TESCO, DP&L and TP&L (through Lo Vaca) contract to acquire ownership of the gas was a valid trade and there is no logical basis for overturning it.

Besides, Burl B. Hulsey Jr., president of TESCO, said that North-Central and West Texas citizens have just as much right to fuel security as any other areas of the state and should not be penalized for foresight in having a dedicated gas supply.

To curtail the three companies in their gas supply could well mean having to cut back on power production, he added.

Planning to go from here are Mayor Wade Choate, City Manager Harry Nagel, City Attorney James Gregg, W. H. Pearson, Tom Locke and O. H. Ivie.

Beam Of Light Is Very Much Alive

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP) — A white intense beam of light hovering over the Gregg County airport Tuesday night created quite a stir for those who viewed the spectacle.

Longview police and Gregg County sheriff's telephones rang off the hook between 8:30 p.m. and 9 p.m. as residents frantically described some unidentified flying objects.

Police cruisers on patrol within the city were stopped by passing motorists.

The object moved north to south at a slow pace.

On investigation it was learned the UFO was a flock of snow geese.

A sheriff's spokesman said the white colored birds apparently were reflecting the lights from the city.

Clean-Up Drive Slogan Selected

"Clean Up Shape Up: Be Proud of Your City" was chosen as the name for the ongoing city-wide beautification campaign from among 39 entries Tuesday.

Mrs. Jacob Brickman, 2102 S. Rannels, submitted the winning entry and will receive $100 from the Big Spring Property Owners Association which is helping the City Council sponsor the drive.

Judging in the name contest was done by a four-member panel appointed by Polly Mays and Jack Watkins, clean-up committee co-chairmen.

The campaign was kicked off two weeks ago with an alley cleaning project in which efforts are now being concentrated in the section of town bounded by Gregg, Goliad and First streets and FM 700.

Work is expected to end there today and to advance into the fifth section bounded by Abrams Street, Hillcrest Ave., First Street and FM 700.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has rejected an application for a bank that would have competed with one run by Nixon's close friend, Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

The office of the Comptroller of the Currency said Tuesday it turned down the charter application for a bank that would have competed with Rebozo's bank, the only one in Key Biscayne, Fla.

In doing so, it rejected the recommendation of a field examiner who had urged the competing application be approved, an official said.

The chairman of the House Banking Committee, Wright Patman, D-Tex., said he has written a letter to the Comptroller James E. Smith, asking for an explanation.

"The allegations are that Rebozo used his influence with the President to establish a monopolistic position in Key Biscayne," Patman said.

Patman asked Smith for his file on the matter to determine the facts. Thomas DeShazo, deputy comptroller for charters, said the file would be made public Thursday.

Smith, named to the post by Nixon last May, refused to talk with a newsmen about the matter.

DeShazo said the action of the comptroller's office did not constitute overturning the field examiner's recommendation.

"The final decision is up to the comptroller. We have many cases of differences of opinion on these matters," he said.

A member of the rival group said the decision "boils down to who's got the clout."

"His (Rebozo's) group had the power to use the most pressure," said Mortimer Fried, a Key Biscayne lawyer.

Rebozo is chairman, president and a substantial shareholder in Key Biscayne Bank and Trust Co.

Key Biscayne is an affluent community of less than 10,000 persons in which Nixon maintains a vacation home. Rebozo lives next door.

Firms Enter Guilty Pleas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two corporations and their board chairmen pleaded guilty today to misdemeanor violations of federal campaign contribution laws in connection with donations to President Nixon's re-election campaign.

Counsel for a third company said it also would plead guilty to the same charges.

The three firms gave a total of $125,000 to the re-election effort.

Special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox filed the charges against American Airlines, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co. and the board chairman of Goodyear and Minnesota Mining.

Guilty pleas from Goodyear and its board chairman, Russell deYoung, were entered in Cleveland. The company was fined $5,000 and deYoung was fined $1,000.

In federal court in St. Paul, Minn., guilty pleas were entered by Minnesota Mining and its chairman and chief executive officer, Harry Heltzer. Heltzer was fined $500 and the company $3,000.

RARE CROP HERE — Truck driver Charles Hale, center, began delivering some 10 truck-loads of soy beans grown on the N. W. Tate place at Tarzan to the Chickasha Elevators Wednesday. Marvin Johnke, left, elevator operator, and Clyde Eager, manager, right, received the crop, rare in this area, which Eager said they will sell to an oil mill to be crushed into feed meal and oil for cooking. Soy beans are now bringing $4.90 a bushel. "We look for quite a few to be planted in the county next year," Eager said.

Health Tests Could Result From Edict

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government report says the administration's suggested retreat from clean-air standards in some areas to help ease the energy crisis would set up an unplanned experiment in pollution effects on human health. The report by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) urged close scientific observation of the medical impact of increasing pollution if national sulfur oxide health standards are relaxed and communities are permitted to burn high-sulfur fuels. No communities have yet been granted such permission, but the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has announced its willingness to grant "variances" at state request, from the national standards. The report itself did not specify the proposed variances as the opportunity for the health effects study. But its author, Dr. David P. Rall, director of the National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences, confirmed in an interview that it meant exactly that. "In view of the current shortage of low sulfur fuels a significant deterioration in regional air quality is expected to develop this winter and to be repeated for a number of years subsequently," the report said. It said "advantage should be taken of this situation by initiating a prospective study designed to document the health effects of these changes."

It said the health of children, normal adults and "special risk groups" should be studied and compared in areas where pollution increases and where it decreases. The studies would cost about $1 million a year for the first five years and smaller amounts for another ten years, the report estimated. "He (Winter-Berger) extolled Hutschnecker's virtues as an eminent doctor and said I should meet him," Ford said. Hutschnecker backed Ford's account. "He never came here as a patient in the first place," the psychiatrist said. "This is sheer fantasy."

Ford said Winter-Berger originally was introduced to him by two longtime friends from his college days. Ford said the lobbyist visited him in his office about once every three months.

Ford Denies He Underwent Psychiatric Treatment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford says the story published in a Washington lobbyist's book that he underwent psychiatric treatment for a year is a "categorical inaccuracy." The psychiatrist agrees, claiming the story is "sheer fantasy." But Ford confirmed another story Tuesday: that he helped Watergate conspirator G. Gordon Liddy get a Treasury job as a political favor to a GOP congressional candidate. Ford told newsmen: "I said, 'Ham, he's not my constituent, he's yours. It's your responsibility. But I'll make a phone call.'"

The Republican leader said he called Eugene T. Rossides, then assistant secretary of Treasury for trade, and Liddy subsequently got the Treasury job. Liddy later was hired for the White House plumbers unit which has been implicated in the burglary of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist. He later became counsel for President Nixon's re-election finance committee.

Water Directors To Pass Budget

An operating budget for 1974 will be passed upon by the directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District here Thursday morning. Indications are that there will be only relatively minor adjustments, probably on the order of about two per cent. These will be related to anticipated production, plus increases in cost, but offset in part by slightly lesser debt service requirements for the year.

The current budget is $4,708,716, of which $1,398,286 is for operations and $3,310,430 for debt service (after using $312,000 construction funds for this purpose).

O. H. Ivie, general manager, also will have a progress report on the Beal's Creek diversion project. R. B. Hodgson, Midland, has started laying 12-inch line from Three-mile lake westward, and may be finished by Nov. 1.

Lulu's Lawyer Is Arguing For New Trial

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A telephone death threat prevented a material witness from testifying at the marijuana-possession trial of former television personality Lulu of "Heebaw," her lawyer argued today. Charles Tessermer of Dallas told the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals that Bertha Louise Roman was entitled to a new trial because Marriane Hill failed to appear at the defendant's second trial. The first trial ended in a hung jury. The defendant was sentenced to four years in prison. Tessermer said a male voice told the witness over the telephone, "If you value your life, don't testify for Lulu" at the second trial.

Bob Baskett, assistant district attorney of Dallas, said there was "a substantial want of diligence" on the part of the defendant's lawyers to get the witness to the trial.

Tessermer said the witness testified at the first trial that she was present when J. C. Carroll came with an attaché case full of marijuana.

The current budget is $4,708,716, of which $1,398,286 is for operations and $3,310,430 for debt service (after using $312,000 construction funds for this purpose).

Rest Home Conditions Could Be Investigated

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A House subcommittee that touched off political feuding in a probe of the care and treatment of children wants to turn its attention to the old folks.

The subcommittee on public welfare reported Tuesday that Speaker Price Daniel Jr. was "instrumental" in Dr. Joseph Farrar's successful efforts to get a state license for Artesia Hall in November 1972.

But it added that it found no evidence that Daniel exerted any "undue pressure" to obtain the license.

The subcommittee must turn to Daniel for approval of its decision to investigate Texas nursing homes, a decision made after the subcommittee released its report on child-care institutions.

LOTS OF MAIL Rep. Lane Denton, D-Waco, subcommittee chairman, said his staff had received 100 letters or telephone calls complaining about nursing home conditions. "If half the complaints are accurate, we've got a major problem in this state," said Denton.

The subcommittee started its investigation on child care in June after Farrar, the director of Artesia Hall, a school for emotionally disturbed children near Daniel's Liberty home.

was indicted for murder in the November 1972 death of a teenage girl student at the school. Daniel ordered the investigation and testified before the subcommittee, stating that he played a minor legal role in the Artesia case at the request of Farrar's lawyer, W. Kendall Baker of Houston, a former member of the State Welfare Board.

The subcommittee said Baker used "subtle pressure" on welfare employees to obtain the license. It said Daniel was "influential" in a decision by a Liberty County district judge to delay a Sept. 8, 1971, hearing on a state motion to close Artesia Hall. This delay enabled the school to obtain a license, the report said.

Because of "contradictory testimony" regarding a Sept. 8 telephone call involving Daniel and two welfare workers, "This subcommittee is not absolutely sure the actual role of Price Daniel Jr. and others have been completely and accurately described..." the report added.

The subcommittee report was approved 4-0 after a motion by Rep. Ben Reyes, D-Houston, to delete the material on Daniel was defeated 2-2, with three members absent.

The subcommittee concluded that Artesia Hall was not qualified for a state license when it was granted, and that the license was granted by an administrator who was not qualified to judge the program.

AT REHAB CENTER Outlook Better Than Predicted

The Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center ran $5,000 behind last year, but the operations turned out much better financially than had been anticipated.

This was particularly so in view of an 80 per cent increase in the number of individuals served and eight per cent increase in total treatments.

These were highlights of the annual financial support reported to the board at its Tuesday meeting at the center. Elected president of the board for the new year beginning Oct. 1 was Chaplain Lee Butler. Other officers named were Jimmy Morehead, vice president; Mrs. R.B.G. Cowper, secretary; and Dallas Nash, treasurer.

New directors named included Mrs. W. W. Posey, John Gary, Dr. Louise Worthing, Paul Meek, Gary Turner, and Tom Locke. Despite the $5,275 disparity between receipts of $118,533 and disbursements of $118,808, the center had to dip into a special contributions fund only to the extent of $1,300 during the year to sustain operations.

Of the receipt total $43,971 came from treatment fees, but still, a majority of the center service is below cost or free (approximately $23,000 from treatment contracts, $11,417 from the United Way, $1,200 from Easter Seal Society, $13,498 from special gifts; $2,911 each from the city and county in building support, about $5,000 from miscellaneous sources and $6,500 from transfers from other funds.

Biggest item of expense was $85,654 for salaries, (plus $4,500 for Social Security taxes), around $6,300 for communications and utilities, about $5,600 for operations and $6,400 transfers to other funds. The $118,808 expended was under the $120,889 budget.

Had the center's revenues come up only to budget estimates and the expenditures matched budget allocations, the center would have been $30,000 in the hole.

Comparative treatment records showed a sharp increase — 55.65 per cent — in the number (1,899) of individuals receiving physical therapy. Even more dramatic was the increase in audiology and speech pathology cases which multiplied by four times to reach 1,061.

Total number of individuals registered for service at the center during the year was 3,301, up 80.29 per cent from the previous year. The number of treatments given was 15,997, which represented an 8.37 per cent increase over the previous year, said Jim Thompson, therapist, in his report to the board.

Three Charged With Auto Theft

Two men and a juvenile arrested by police following a shooting incident have been charged with theft of an auto. The felony complaint naming a 16-year-old from Dallas probably will be dismissed, and the matter handled through juvenile court.

Also charged with theft of a 1973 model car belonging to Roger Terry are Raymond Lopez Chavarria, 18, and Juan David Lopez, 21, both of 206 NE 19th St.

The juvenile has been released to his parents. Municipal Judge John R. Coffee set $3,000 bonds for the two adults in connection with the auto theft complaint filed with Peace Justice Walter Grice.

But the two also are charged with drunk in public and simple assault on police. Police Sgt. James Baker and Patrolman Kenneth Shores arrested the three males on a corner of Northwest Third Street at 7 p.m. Saturday.

Arrests followed a message from the sheriff's office concerning a shooting incident. E. E. (Sonny) Banks, 808 NW 5th St., told deputy sheriffs his vehicle was hit from the rear by a car and rounds were fired in his direction. He was not injured.

TWINKLE, TWINKLE, LITTLE WHAT?
 Is Alien Civilization
 Spying On Our Planet?

By The Associated Press
 Twinkle, twinkle, little what? Reddish creatures floating out of a strange spaceship with their crab-like claws? A turn-shaped flying object that blinds with a flash of light? A flying machine shaped like a cigar that can turn off car engines with a flash of light?

They're unidentified flying objects, and folks around the country have reported seeing a number of them in the last several days.

Are they for real? Is another civilization checking us out? The answers depend upon which expert is talking, and whether or not you care to believe.

HANDS FULL
 One man who has had his hands full of reported UFOs is Fred Diamond, the sheriff in Pascagoula, Miss.

Diamond said Tuesday reports of UFOs have gotten so bad and so numerous recently that he hadn't slept in 24 hours. This particular turn of events began last Thursday when Charles Hickson and Calvin Parker went fishing.

They said a blue craft suddenly appeared hovering above the water, and out of it floated three reddish-looking characters with wrinkled skin. Hickson and Parker said they were escorted into this craft, where the creatures examined them and then let them go.

Two scientists with an interest in UFOs, Dr. James Harder of the University of Mississippi and Dr. Allen Hynek of Northwestern, said they placed Hickson and Parker under hypnosis and after four hours of questioning concluded:

"They were telling the truth beyond a reasonable doubt." Harder said Tuesday similar creatures have been sighted elsewhere.

Others agreed that what the two saw were visitors from another world, but there is no documentary proof such a thing has happened.

In 1969, the Air Force ended a 21-year study which took in 12,097 reported UFO sightings. The Air Force said — and its report was endorsed by the National Academy of Sciences — that there was no evidence of folks from other planets paying visits to earth.

It said that 90 per cent of all UFO sightings prove to be plausible related to planes, satellites, balloons and various natural phenomena.

UFOs have been reported by citizens in the last four or five days in a number of widely scattered areas. Many said they were flashing objects too far away to determine exactly what they were.

WERE BALLOONS
 Astronomers and other scientists in the affected areas said those occurrences probably were reflections from Mars distorted by atmospheric conditions, or planes or helicopters or balloons. In Tennessee and South Carolina, objects reported at night as UFOs turned out to be balloons with tin foil tied to them.

But there still have been some strange developments. The Soviet news agency Tass said Tuesday that scientists at four stations have received heretofore unheard-of signals from upper layers of the atmosphere. Tass said scientists were trying to determine if the signals were artificially or naturally produced. It said "it is not concluded that they may be sent by a technically developed extraterrestrial civilization."

OTHERS PUZZLED
 Others who have been puzzled lately include James Thornhill, a Civil Defense radar watcher at Columbia, Miss., who said that last weekend he picked up a blip on his screen moving much faster than a helicopter can travel. He said it stopped and hovered about three miles away from his station.

Thornhill said his screen and radio communications suddenly jammed for 15 or 20 minutes. He said that when they returned to normal, the blip was gone.

John Lane, a Gulfport, Miss., cab driver, told police a blue object landed in front of his cab Monday night, stalling it and causing the radio to go dead. He said he heard a tapping sound on his windshield and saw a flesh-colored creature with a crab-like claw.

A woman in Tennessee reported a cigar-shaped object flashed a light and stalled her car, and a truck driver in Missouri said a turn-shaped object blinded him with a searing light.

New Hurdles
 Are Foreseen

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — John Connally told a druggists' convention Tuesday that the American ability to produce both ample food and military goods has made possible a detente with powerful Communist nations.

Connally, a cabinet officer under Presidents John Kennedy and Richard Nixon and three-term governor of Texas, said food is the most important weapon in the arsenal of the United States as he addressed the 75th annual convention of the National Association of Retail Druggists.

He said the People's Republic of China and the Soviet Union are incapable of producing foodstuffs and military gear at the same time.

However, he said, America is facing new challenges in the 1970s.

"We are no longer unchallenged at the top of the economic ladder. We must make some choices. We can't do all that we want to do in all directions."

At a news conference, Connally admitted the United States may have done poorly in last year's sale of wheat to the Soviet Union.

Board Opens Pandora's Box With Basketball Game Bids

Trustees of Howard County Junior College opened bids Tuesday on proposals for exclusive rights to basketball game broadcasts and found no solution to the problem, but a Pandora's box.

Board members, at a special session a week ago, decided to resolve competing requests for rights or exclusive rights to broadcast the games by asking for bids. This carried with it a commitment to broadcast all games.

But with the bids came other complications. One was from KFNE-FM, whose owner, Robert Bradbury, complained that it had been excluded by an AM requirement. His AM station, KHEM, has a license to broadcast only in daytime, so in effect he was washed out, he said in a letter.

His son, Gary Bradbury, appearing subsequently reiterated that regardless of whether the company bid, it wanted that right.

In the two bids received, Jim Baum of KBYG proposed spots (10 a day for a year) for college president, said that exclusive-right bids were contrary to junior college traditions in general, and that the bids had been asked "almost sorrowfully" to resolve an impasse.

Harold Davis, trustee and a former coach, noted that "the situation has changed as I understood it. I don't want to exclude anyone. Both (of the bidding) stations have been good to the college."

"This was echoed by Jimmy Taylor, another board member, who said the intention was not to eliminate anyone, raise revenue or gain advertising, but to get a commitment that if a broadcaster wanted the right to carry a game, it would be a commitment to broadcast all games, home and away. Donald McKinney and Dr. Charles Warren, other board members, were in agreement, and Dr. Warren conceded that "this was a big mistake."

At any rate, the board, having adjourned without action, put off a decision until requirements of a notice of a meeting Friday noon at the board room could be met.

Morality, No Post Or Pre

In his television swan song in a television address to the nation Monday, Spiro Agnew made three points: First, he was the suffering hero of this wrenching drama; second, he did not wrong except when measured by "the new post-Watergate political morality"; and third, that he was thus victimized by prosecutors who were depending on unreliable witnesses with bad reputations, and who had been granted immunity in exchange for their testimony against him. In short, in the venacular: I was framed.

If you grant him complete sincerity and honesty, it is possible to look upon the resignation as a gesture of nobility.

This, however, is a difficult concession in view of his light dismissal of an equivocal statement that he would never resign even if indicted and would fight any allegations to the last and his resignation and plea of guilty a week later. He brushed this inconsistency aside with "despite my previous statement."

As to the claim he was victimized, this boils down to whom you will believe, for indeed by pleading guilty he gained dismissal of criminal charges of bribery and extortion. So while Mr. Agnew complains about the injustice of immunity to prosecution witnesses, he willingly accepts immunity from criminal prosecution in a legal swapout. Somehow, this just doesn't square.

But the thing which gives us a hunting fear is his reference to the "new post-Watergate political morality," as if what he pleaded guilty to was not wrong prior to Watergate, and might not be wrong 10 years from now; would be equally wrong if done by Democrat, Republican or whatever; would be wrong whether done by a poor man or a rich man. In short, wrong is wrong.

One can feel compassion for anyone who has gone through such travail as Mr. Agnew, but this should not blind us to the urgent need for outright morality — not post or pre anything.

Reassuring Sign On Horizon

In the midst of government probes, historic governmental chances, wars on different sides of the globe, inflation, new morality and assorted other besetting problems, it is good to have a reassuring note.

Scientists and others in the Pasagoula, Miss., area are investigating reports of unidentified flying objects. It all started with a report by two men that they had been taken aboard a blue craft occupied by red-skinned creatures. Then came reports of unusual behavior of radar, and of objects which have been UFO's.

Perhaps it's too much to hope for the good old days of flying saucers, but we're showing signs of getting back to normal.

Maybe because, try as we may, we seem to come up with our share and more of typos, I find solace in the fact that this malady knows no geographical boundaries. Most often it's a misspelled word, a transposition of lines, the wrong choice of words, or an ungrammatical combination of words, but whatever the break-down, it results in an entirely different meaning, often ludicrous.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

I have been raised to believe that only God knows the future. Suddenly, along comes a person that claims predictive powers, and even says these came from God. Would God have granted someone such special psychic abilities? I'm a concerned teenager.

C.E.S. Among the disciples, whenever they got especially curious about the future, Jesus had to check their imaginations with a reminder of what things were handled by whom. In Acts 1:7, for example, when they asked about the "times" and the "seasons," He told them this was a prerogative of the Father, and not for them or anyone else to know.

Furthermore, as one author put it: "The veil which covers the face of futurity is woven by the hand of mercy." If we really could discern the events of tomorrow, prosperity might lure us to carelessness — or adversity could fill us with despair. God is good to have confined our senses to the present and the past. When life is committed to Christ, we are able to move within these limits imposed on knowledge, with a sense of security and contentment.

There have always been individuals who try the wings of prophecy. Inevitably, a certain percentage of their forecasts come true, but to claim authenticity in unwarranted. Often much of what is predicted concerns matters not able to be disproved or proved. Obviously reputations can easily be built in these gray areas of supposition. As a teenager, you won't want to waste time on speculations of the future. Devote energy and thought to what you know in the present. That includes God — through faith in Christ.

Snakes Shun Baths

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Ever wonder why you never see a snake in a Turkish bath? Well, one reason might be that snakes can't survive temperatures above 118 degrees Fahrenheit.

If your fiancée is sick of the engagement ring you bought her, it may be because she is among the 11 per cent of people who are allergic to cheap jewelry. The offending ingredient is usually nickel sulfate, found often in low-priced nickel-plated costume jewelry.

Biting off more than you can chew can kill you. In fact, the National Safety Council estimated that choking on food is the nation's sixth leading cause of accidental death and is responsible for 2,500 fatalities annually. When such deaths occur in restaurants, they are often mistaken for heart attacks.

Such cases are known in medical circles as "cafe coronaries." Steak is the food on which a majority choke, and the victims are often either heavy drinkers or elderly people who have poor dentures. The water in a giant redwood tree weighs more than the wood in it. A tree 200 feet tall contains about 4,700 gallons of water.

Quotable notables: "What a magnificent might be made of life!" — H. G. Wells. "Wasted money: There is no known instantaneous cure for arthritis. But the National Arthritis Foundation says that American sufferers spend $315 million yearly in the false hope of finding one."

A fish that's all teeth: The shark has several rows of teeth in its mouth, which move forward to replace older teeth as they wear out or fall out. But its entire skin is also covered with smaller toothlike structures covered with hard dentine. Cabinet makers once prized these rasplike scales in the making of a fine abrasive.

Worth remembering: "In marriage, no wife ever gets what she expected—and no husband expected what he gets."

To the winner: In old Samoa, after a tribal wedding, the newlyweds adjourned to a field behind a temple and started fighting each other. If the man won, he was declared lord and master of his house; if the woman was victor, the husband served her as her slave. Isn't it a shame how many fine old native customs have been ruined by the march of civilization?

In dubious praise: A teacher once wrote the parents of one of her pupils: "Not only is your son the worst behaved member of the class, he also has the best attendance record."

Folklore: Twenty-one is considered a lucky number because it is three times seven and because it is the age when one ceases to be a legal infant. Thirty is regarded as an unlucky number because Judas was given 30 pieces of silver to betray Jesus. In general, odd numbers are thought to be luckier than even numbers.

It was E. W. Howe who observed, "No man would listen to you talk if he didn't know it was his turn next."

Exit Mr. Agnew

William F. Buckley Jr.

Concerning the resignation of Mr. Agnew, a few observations:

1) Cheating on one's income tax is a deed both grubby and adventurous. The American ethic on the question is, so far as I know, unique. When the income tax was imposed in Spain for the first time 20 years ago, tax blanks were sent to 70,000 inhabitants in Barcelona whose incomes were known to fall in the taxable levels. When deadline came, something less than 40 people sent in their completed returns.

IN ENGLAND (I am told) no one has ever been sent to jail for income tax evasion — instead there are discreet negotiations. In the United States, default on income tax has emerged not only as something on the order of civic profanity, but as the offense the government gets you for when it can't find anything else. Al Capone is the traditional example. Spiro Agnew made a stupid mistake in 1967, and he also made a mistake which, judged by American cultural ethics, was dishonorable. He made the mistake while serving as governor of Maryland, far removed from the position he was soon to be drafted into, wherein he found himself, like St. Augustine of Hippo, suddenly elevated to an episcopacy whence to anathematize those sins which he had most routinely committed in his earlier years.

2) FOR AGNEW the income tax chiseler I feel nothing more than the pity I feel for the pickpocket. My beef against Agnew is that he stood before the women in California as recently as a fortnight ago and swore to them that he was innocent. That is hard to explain very hard. We have been once again what I have called the Profumo Factor. John Profumo did not fall in England because he presided over dreadful orgies, but because he looked the House of Commons in the eye and said that he was innocent. If there is an explanation for Spiro Agnew looking the ladies in the eye in California and evincing trust in me — I am innocent — I want to hear

3) ASSUME THAT there is such an explanation... Assume that — let us conjecture — the vice president was benumbed, that he didn't really need to declare that particular $29,500 as income — assuming that that moral parachute is available to Spiro Agnew, certain things need to be said. One of them is that Spiro Agnew was transformed when he became vice president. Suddenly he was no longer the county executive. Agnew should be judged by history not as the tacky deflator of 1967, but as the vice president of 1969-73.

4) AND OH what a mark he made. It was said about him briefly during 1969 and 1970 that he had agreed to serve as "Nixon's Nixon." It is correct that he undertook to serve as the cutting edge of Nixon's Presidency, and that he got the popularity reserved to the tough-talker, as also the unpopularity. It is also true that he did a job that greatly needed doing during a period when the academic population was largely frozen in physical fear and intellectual paralysis. Agnew was retreating the norms of civilized and democratic conduct, the norms the Lords Spiritual were supposed to be upholding, except that they were too busy capitulating to the kids, and making fun of Spiro Agnew. During that important period in American history Agnew distinguished himself by defending these norms, by laying blame where it belonged, by declaring in rhetoric steadfast his continuing allegiance to the ideals of liberty and order.

As the dust settles on the political thoughts of Spiro Agnew one doubts that justice in the truest sense has been done. It is always bracing when mighty men fall. But less so when they fall for such offenses as brought Agnew down. It is ironic to meditate on the great number of those who stand erect disdaining Spiro Agnew, whose crimes against society are of a truly plausible magnitude.

Calls For Personal Discipline

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My daughter is married, has three children, is 32 years old, and since teen age has had high blood pressure and a weight problem. Both problems are getting worse.

She stopped taking the birth control pill but still seems to gain weight but does not eat that much, it doesn't seem like. She is discouraged and seems to have lost interest in her housework.

I try to get her to go to a clinic, but she feels they can do no more than her family doctor is doing.

I felt there should be new drugs now that should take care of her problems or keep them under control. — M.H.

I have no confidence that I can "solve" your daughter's problems, and don't know of any new drugs that are likely to do so.

But I do have two or three suggestions, for whatever they may be worth.

and is getting worse, you tell me. So I would have to say that she is eating that much! People don't get fat from what they don't eat.

There are several possible explanations. She may be snacking, and a dabble of that and a dabble of this through the day can add up to a lot of calories. Sometimes a tremendous lot of calories.

Another possibility: She may not pay attention to the calorie value of the things she eats, particularly fats which are higher than sugar in calories.

Still another possibility: you say she has lost interest in her housework which, as I translate it, probably means that she has lost interest in most any kind of physical activity. Brisk physical exercise (whether it's work or play) every day is in most cases a necessity for those who genuinely want to lose weight. Just sitting around, or moving slowly, won't use up many calories. Hard work will.

If her blood pressure is and has always been high, getting rid of excess weight is imperative. Medication can help, but can't balance the burden of the excess flesh.

As to going to the clinic, I'd say yes. She certainly ought to have a searching physical examination, there or somewhere. It is not unlikely that she has some other problems besides sheer weight and hypertension.

But I doubt if there's a doctor alive who can do a fully successful job of restoring her health until she herself gets down to the nitty-gritty of getting her weight under control. And since she's had that problem since her teens, it is going to take some real down-to-earth efforts on her part.

High blood pressure can be controlled. To find out what causes high blood pressure and what can be done to treat it, get "Controlling Your Blood Pressure (Hypertension)" by Dr. Thosteson. To obtain a copy of this helpful booklet, write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope.

Bull Market Looms

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market has risen 97 points in the past month, based on the Dow Jones Industrial Average. It has provided evidence enough for some starving brokerage houses to declare the beginning of a bull market.

That a bull market has begun there is no doubt. But it isn't in stocks; it's in advice.

Market letter writers may be more careful than they were 15 years ago. Then bombast and wordage provided a sweet scent of romance when any intelligent investor should have demanded the facts be put under his nose.

Today's letter writers have more respect for the facts, but they still succumb to the temptation of using them to promote sales rather than to describe conditions.

Activity itself is a goal, because activity brings commissions. And commissions are paid whether stocks rise or fall. There is no requirement that analysis be correct.

The current environment is thus exemplified by statements such as "The year 1974 could be a surprisingly good year for stocks," and "We agree with the administration's chief economists that the nation has passed the worst of the economic fever of 1973."

Without attempting to define what economic fever is — it could be inflation, or too high a jobless rate, or lagging productivity, or weak exports, or the dollar trouble, or all and more — there is a case for economic improvement.

The dollar is now properly valued, or even undervalued. Exports are rising, imports slowing. Foreign money is beginning to flow into U.S. investments. Interest rates probably have peaked.

But only a promoter can ignore the grey color of consumer attitudes, the high interest rates, the devastated housing market, the possibility of chronic inflation, the failure of controls, the unhappy political climate.

These would be danger signs in any other time, but the hope of a market rally after so many months and even years of depressed prices and broker incomes, overcomes fear. A greater fear is all that red ink.

Profits, say some letter writers, have seldom if ever been better, but they omit saying that the stock market reacts to future events, not the past. They don't explain why the market didn't rise when profits were so high.

GI Wives Pinched By Devaluation

ANSBACH, Germanv (AP) — Pinched by the devaluation of the dollar, wives of many GIs in West Germany are working in local factories to give the family a second paycheck.

"It was a question of me going to work or going back to the States," said one wife. "We just couldn't make it any more on GI pay."

The dollar's purchasing power has dropped 25 per cent this year. It was worth 3.22 marks in January; now it is worth 2.41. Hardest hit are the low-ranking soldiers, who aren't eligible for army housing for their families and often hand over half their pay to German landlords.

PEOPLE FRIENDLY

"When my husband was assigned to Germany, I never thought I would end up working in a German factory," said Diane Earwood of New Lexington, Ohio, the wife of a helicopter crew chief. "The work is repetitious, but people are friendly and the pay is good."

The brown-haired 21-year-old is one of 10 American wives who make a minimum of about $11 a day, after deductions, on the assembly line at the Bosch automobile components factory in this north Bavarian town.

Forty other GI wives work in an Ansbach sausage plant. Scores more have found work in offices and factories in Schweinfurt, Wuerzburg and Nuernberg.

The American women have joined 2.5 million South European migrants who are keeping factories operating in labor-short Germany.

"For us, the dollar devaluation came at a favorable time," said Johannes Geibel, who manages the Bosch factory. "We were expanding the work force to build relay switches for seat belts on export-model Volkswagens and Fords."

TURNED DOWN

"The Americans were hired and trained for the new assembly line. We are very satisfied. The Americans work as well as our other employees."

The American women work an eight-hour day — from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. or from 3 p.m. to 11 — and earn $2.05 an hour plus incentive bonuses. About 20 per cent is withheld for German income taxes and another 13 per cent for health and unemployment insurance and pension.

"I started here three months ago. I'm working to help my husband," said Evelyn Jackson, 29, of Chicago. "We have government housing because my husband is a career soldier. But we need marks because we buy food and clothing in German stores."

Peggy Clark of Birmingham, Ala., a trained telephone operator, is assembling Mercedes-Benz blinker-light components for $55 a week because her application for an Army phone job was turned down.

Goofs, Delays Tarnish Mass Transit System

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The nation's first space age mass transit system is turning out to be an insatiable money grabber plagued by million dollar goofs and glaring delays in the start of service.

But even the harshest critics of the year-old, $1.6 billion computer-operated Bay Area Rapid Transit System — BART — believe it will work eventually. Its designers maintain that BART has sparked a nationwide rapid transit boom in spite of its problems.

BART emerged after 20 turbulent years of planning. Its history is filled with time-consuming and costly lawsuits, a strike and even gofers gnawing their way through some cable installations.

Its first year of operation has been equally turbulent.

STRIKE HURTS

There was a five-week strike and an accident which injured four people. It happened when the train was electronically ordered to speed up instead of slow down.

Nonetheless, BART compiled what one spokesman called "the best safety record in the country" and more than 5 million passengers rode in its carpeted, airplane-style cars.

Residents of three counties who approved a $792 million bond — the largest local bond issue in U.S. history — to finance BART have yet to ride the entire 75-mile length of the system. Their dreams of commuting between the metropolitan hubs of San Francisco and Oakland without facing the daily bumper-to-bumper traffic on the Bay Bridge are turning sour.

As BART begins its second year of operation, its sleek, silver trains are running only on the Oakland side of San Francisco Bay with three lines to suburban Richmond, Concord and Fremont.

Service on the San Francisco side is slated to begin Nov. 5 but the real heart of the system, a 4-mile tunnel link under the bay, won't open for at least seven months and probably longer.

To complicate matters, BART also faces a reliability crisis: each week, about a third of the trains on the line must be taken out of service because of brake and door malfunctions, erratic speed control and loss of automatic power.

HALF ARE IDLE

On top of that, more than half of BART's cars can't be put in service — many because they are undergoing modifications to fix such things as doors opening on the wrong side, or opening while the train is whizzing along at its maximum 80 miles per hour.

BART estimates maintenance costs per car in the initial year of service at $8,000 — double the $4,000 budgeted. For BART's 200 cars, that adds up to $1.6 million.

At the very outset, BART encountered a seven-month delay while it successfully fought a taxpayer suit against the bond issue.

By the time President Johnson officiated at groundbreaking in Concord on June 19, 1964, officials were predicting a mid-1968 opening.

But money and construction problems continued and a nine-week strike in 1971 at the Rohr Corp. plant in Southern California where the cars are built pushed back the opening even further.

The cost of BART has moved ahead relentlessly.

Finance Director William F. Goetz said the system's five-year operating deficit projected at $48 million in April has nearly doubled to between $86 million and $90 million.

President William Chester said Congress is the best bet to solve BART's money woes. If Congress and the state don't come up with enough money, he said he'd prefer new taxes to higher fares.

Goetz blames the huge deficit on a three-year labor contract signed in August that totaled $110 million and on a decision by BART directors not to consider increasing the maximum 60-cent fare. He warns the deficit may get bigger if transbay service is delayed again.

McCulley Gallery Works Slated For Museum Show

Olaf Wieghorst, James Boren, Stefan Kramer, Oleg Stravrovsky — these are but a few of the big names on the list of artists whose works will be displayed next week at the Heritage Museum.

This free exhibit and sale is being presented by the McCulley Fine Arts Gallery of Dallas, Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

McCulley, whose exhibit of paintings will run into the multilined thousands of dollars in value, also will bring a collection of Indian jewelry.

Several of the exhibitors are among those with works on display in a similar exhibit which attracted hundreds to the museum 18 months ago. For instance, Wieghorst's and Boren's works were tremendously popular.

"This is a service to art lovers in this area, and the exhibit is open to everyone without charge," said Joe Pickle, president of the museum. "Here is an opportunity for people in this area to have exposure to some of the outstanding works of contemporary Western art."

Donald B. McCulley, director of the galleries which bear his name, has offered to conduct a seminar on art as an investment. Tentatively, this has been set for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the museum and anyone interested is asked to make reservations at 267-8255.

JFK Film Sold For $150,000

DALLAS (AP) — An original film of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy in 1963 was sold for $150,000, an article in the November issue of Esquire magazine says.

The film, taken by Dallas dress manufacturer Abraham Zapruder on his home movie camera, was paid for by Life Magazine in six installments of $25,000, said Life's negotiator at the time of the sale, Richard B. Stolley. The original print is now in a Time, Inc., safe.

Stolley said Zapruder, who died in 1970, was extremely sensitive to accusations that he had profited from Kennedy's death and said he would not keep a copy of the film in his house. Stolley said Zapruder's sensitivity resulted in keeping the arrangement details secret.

However, Zapruder received public admiration when he donated at his lawyer's advice the first $25,000 payment to the family of J.D. Tippit, a Dallas police officer allegedly killed by Lee Harvey Oswald after the assassination.

Opening lead: King of ♠.
West performed above and beyond the call of duty on today's hand. First, he pushed the opponents as high as he dared in the auction, then he found a line of defense that matched his bidding in aggressiveness.

Holding a hand worth eight tricks on offense at a heart contract, and perhaps no more than one or two tricks in defense, West was determined not to sell out too cheaply. It was not until he was faced with the prospect of contracting for 11 tricks opposite a partner who rated to produce nothing of any value that he decided that discretion was the better part of valor.

West led the king of hearts, and East started an echo by playing the ten, to convey to his partner that he would like the suit continued. Dummy was not a pleasant sight for the defenders.

It was a certainty that they were not going to get any tricks in the minor suits; indeed, it looked very much as if two heart tricks and the ace of trumps were the defensive limit.

However, West came to the conclusion that there was one slight chance to defeat the contract, provided East held the trump jack guarded at least once. If that card could be promoted, the defenders might score an upset.

Having found a distribution that would lead to declarer's defeat, West proceeded on the assumption that that particular lie of the cards existed. At trick two, he cashed the queen of hearts, and everyone following was a ray of hope. Next came the deuce of hearts, offering declarer a ruff and a sluff.

Since to ruff low in dummy or to discard would have meant the immediate defeat of the contract had East started with the jack of spades, declarer ruffed with dummy's queen. He crossed to his hand with the jack of clubs to lead the ten of trumps. Had West played low, declarer intended going up with the king, for the bidding marked West with the ace of trumps.

West did not falter at the last hurdle. He rose with the ace of spades and led another heart, and declarer was doomed. If he ruffed with dummy's king, the jack of spades would be established as the setting trick, so declarer gambled that West held that card. He discarded a diamond, and East ruffed with the jack for down one.

INSPECT TIN ORE — Frank Getman of Albuquerque, Fay Gutierrez of Roswell, Broier Riley of Roswell and James Poor of Tijeras inspect tin ore they have been mining near the Continental Divide, N.M.

Ex-School Teacher Likes Mining Job

CONTINENTAL DIVIDE, Texas City, Tex., believed to be N.M. (AP)—Fay Gutierrez, a 59-year-old grandmother, likes ore in the United States. She did teaching school.

Mrs. Gutierrez retired from her teaching post of 20 years in Roswell last spring and joined the Getman Tin Corp. to mine tin on the Adobe Ranch, in the Hardcastle Creek area about 70 miles northwest of Truth or Consequences, N.M.

"It's turning out to be very profitable," she said.

Mrs. Gutierrez, also a Roswell rancher, dons her denims and works the placer mine with associates.

"I usually stand on the platform of one of the jigs and keep the rocks that have been separated off the screens rolling down through the trough," she said. "I also look for large nuggets of tin ore that are too large to go through the screens."

LIKE TEAR DROPS

"It comes mostly like little tear drops. It is a very heavy metal, and that's why it's like panning for gold. The rocks and gravel wash to the top, and the tin settles to the bottom."

Tin ore can easily be mistaken for iron ore, she said.

The mine has produced several loads for the tin smelter at Getman acquired the claim. A booklet from the New Mexico Bureau of Mines and Mineral Resources, "Mineral and Water Resources of New Mexico," states, "Tin has been used by civilized peoples at least since the late bronze age 3500-3200 B.C., and today it remains a strategic commodity of which the United States has little. Hence, every domestic tin deposit is of great interest."

The booklet lists the major tin producing countries as Malaysia, Indonesia, Bolivia and Nigeria.

Mrs. Gutierrez said the mining machinery has been running since June, but cold weather probably will shut operations down for the winter.

"We have to use water, and when it freezes, you can't use water," she said.

Other members of the Getman Tin Corp. are Broier Riley of Roswell, vice president; Scott Cunningham, of Albuquerque, secretary-treasurer; Jim Stout of Denver, Colo.; David Dart of Albuquerque; George Southard of Dumas, Tex., and Jim Poor of Tijeras, N.M.

OTHER MACHINERY

Equipment for tin mining wasn't available "but we were able to convert another piece of machinery," she said.

Getman, who has mining experience in other areas, said the tin isn't a new discovery.

"People knew the tin was there," he said, "but a feasible method hadn't been worked to mine it."

"When the boys were back here panning for gold they found tin (in the early 1900s)."

Solon Eyes Local Race

Charles Finnell, state representative from Holliday near Wichita Falls, was here recently making contacts relative to a possible race for state senator.

Sen. Jack Hightower, Vernon, has indicated he is thinking of making the race for Congress next year, and if he does, Rep. Finnell said he will announce for the senate place.

In company with Don Talley, Archer County Democratic chairman and a close friend, Rep. Finnell is making a tour of the senatorial district which includes 29 counties from Howard to Wichita.

Finnell and Talley plan to return late today to Holliday but will resume the tour later in the week. They attended the Scurry County celebration Saturday of the production of the billionth barrel of oil.

Condition Critical

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Cellist Pablo Casals was in critical condition today, a spokesman for Auxilio Mutuo Hospital said.

Oil Price Hike Not Political, Arabs Assert

KUWAIT (AP) — Six oil states on the Persian Gulf raised the price of their crude oil 17 per cent early today in a move they claimed was unrelated to the Mideast war.

However, a Kuwait government spokesman said his country would meet later today with other Arab states to discuss how oil might be used to pressure nations backing Israel in the Mideast war.

The Arab oil ministers said the price of light crude oil would be increased from $3.12 to $3.65 a barrel.

They said it was in reply to the "intransigence" of Western oil companies in price negotiations and brought the price in line with that charged for North African and Venezuelan oil.

The ministers added that from now on, the cost of their oil will be determined by market prices — which are rising — and not by negotiations with the oil companies.

The increase was agreed to by Iran, the only non-Arab state on the gulf, and Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, Abu Dhabi and Qatar. They produce about 40 per cent of the oil produced in the non-Communist world. Most of it goes to Western Europe and Japan; the United States gets about 6 per cent of its oil from the six countries and Libya.

The gulf producers said the price for light crude would dictate the prices of other grades of oil as well. They said if the major Western oil companies — all of which depend on oil from the Persian Gulf — refuse to pay the higher prices, they will sell to other buyers.

The announcement in effect wiped out all current price agreements the Persian Gulf states negotiated in recent years.

Cigarette Cause Of Motel Fire

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — A fire Monday at a Holiday Inn here resulted in more than $200,000 in damages. Fire Chief Paul Stanforth said.

Stanforth said a lighted cigarette in a wastebasket in the club area of the motel caused the fire.

Administration Would Like To End Economic Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is disenchanted with wage-price controls but is afraid of getting rid of them now.

That seemingly contradictory statement sums up the quandary in which the administration finds itself. It is trying to solve the predicament by gradual withdrawal.

"If the controls were dropped immediately, you would have widespread price increases," said Edgar Fiedler, the Treasury Department's chief economist. "That would only generate demands for more controls."

"It seems that we can't live with controls but we can't live without them, either," said an economist at the Cost of Living Council.

CAN'T DO MUCH

Ask almost any administration economic official and he will say that wage-price controls have not done much to restrain inflation and never will.

At a recent meeting of the Business Council, an organization of executives from the nation's 150 biggest corporations, Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz was hounded with questions on when controls would end.

"Then I asked the council members how many of them would raise prices within three weeks after the controls went off," Shultz said. "A very substantial number of hands went up. That explains the problem."

The administration is trying to work out a plan to drop controls on an industry-by-industry basis. Shultz said the plan might be proposed in public before it is put into effect so that everyone would have a chance to comment.

Gradual withdrawal has its problems, too, he said. "The more you deal with the problem, the more you have rubbed into you that the economy is not a set of separate industries," he said.

The nation's most powerful labor leaders have urged an end to Phase 4 controls by the end of the year.

Actresses Are Now Taken From Ranks Of Models

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Where do the new female stars come from? Right out of the fashion magazines and television commercials, according to the current trend.

The old movie story that starlets are plucked from chorus lines and mall shop stools is now just legend. Film producers now pick high-fashion models.

Examples: Marisa Berenson, who appeared in "Death in Venice," "Cabaret" and is now starring with Ryan O'Neal in a Stanley Kubrick film.

Cybill Shepherd, director Peter Bogdanovich's star on and off the screen. She appeared in his "Last Picture Show," is now making "Daisy Miller" for him and also played the cool heiress in "The Heartbreak Kid."

Jennifer O'Neill, the beauty who brought love to teen-age Gary Grimes in "The Summer of '42." Her other films: "Lady Ice," "The Carey Treatment."

Twiggy, who did a creditable job in "The Boy Friend" and recently filmed a thriller called "W."

Ali MacGraw, the star of "Goodbye, Columbus" and "Love Story" who married the boss of Paramount, Robert Evans, then left him for her "Getaway" co-star, Steve McQueen.

Latest to join the ranks of model-stars is Ann Turkel, whose slim brunette beauty has appeared on the cover of every fashion magazine in the United States and Europe. She is appearing opposite Richard Harris in "99 and 44-100 per cent Dead," directed by John Frankenheimer for 20th Century-Fox.

Having gone from cover girl to star in her first film, Turkel would seem to offer a case history for the casting trend. She denies it.

"I studied acting since I was 5," she said. "I was taking dramatic lessons from Sandy Meisner at the Neighborhood Playhouse in New York and I was 14 and I began playing in summer stock at 16."

"I went into modeling only because I thought it was better to be known as an employed model than an unemployed actress."

Her tall willowy frame and high-cheeked enigmatic face made her an immediate favorite with fashion photographers and magazine editors. After her first year as a model, she almost fulfilled her acting desires. Paramount picked her to star in a musical remake of "Roman Holiday," calling her a "present-day Audrey Hepburn." But the project never got off the ground, and she went back to modeling.

Her view of the model's life gives a hint on why so many of them seek careers in films.

"I'd be a liar if I didn't say it was boring," she remarked. "I know people are indignant when I say so; they ask, 'How can anything that pays so well be boring?' Well, it is."

Camporee Draws 17 Scout Units

Seventeen units and some 2,000 Scouters and leaders participated Friday and Saturday in a Lone Star District camporee here.

The approximately 150 Scouts were joined Saturday afternoon by more than 50 Cubs in a field day which included various competitions in Scout and camp craft. The climaxing event was a campfire program Saturday evening.

Guy Griffith, Scout executive, said that the camporee appeared when I say so; they ask, 'How can anything that pays so well be boring?' Well, it is."

Federal Campaign Tops Goal, Raises $34,729

"I think the total really says something about the generosity of the people here," said Maj. David Miller, project officer for the Combined Federal Campaign at Webb AFB.

Maj. Miller was referring to the $29,628 collected and pledged, which put the campaign at 141 per cent of the original goal of $21,000.

"What this means," the major said, "is that service organizations will be able to provide more services than they expected to."

Contributions from off-base federal activities added $5,101 to the drive and pushed the Combined Federal Campaign (CFC) total past $34,729. That is 193 per cent of the goal.

The CFC total will be divided as follows: $25,787 to the United Way campaign; $7,109 to the National Health Agencies; and $1,834 to International Service Organizations.

"I'd like to thank everyone who helped with this campaign," Maj. Miller said. He said special recognition should go to his key men, Maj. Cal Miller, Capt. Bob Jackson and Maj. Mick Willett.

He also thanked the key men at the VA Hospital and Post Office.

"I would like to thank everyone involved in this year's Combined Federal Campaign," Miller stated. The outstanding support that so many individuals gave insured that the drive for our goal was a success. The attitude displayed by everyone from the chairmen, through the key men, down to the individual contributors, set a positive tone that allowed us to exceed our goal. The using agencies will continue their good work, and more importantly the people who need their help will receive it."

Oil Allowable Is Reassigned Area

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Railroad Commission restored the 100 per cent oil allowable Tuesday for Adair, Adair (Wolfcamp) and Wellman fields in Gains and Terry counties.

The commission had cut the allowable to 75 per cent after its staff said excessive gas was being produced, along with the oil, under the full-production order. The commission changed its mind after looking at data from plant operators in the fields.

Marsh Promoted To First Sergeant

A new man has sewn on the first sergeant diamonds for the 78th Air Base Group at Webb.

M.Sgt. Eldon Marsh is replacing S.M.Sgt. John Rimmer, who is retiring Feb. 1, 1974, and currently in transition training. Marsh comes to the first sergeant slot from computer operations, where he was noncommissioned officer in charge.

The 404 enlisted men and women of Headquarters Squadron will have two senior sergeants to turn to until Rimmer departs, according to Marsh. He said that either sergeant may be contacted through the orderly room.

Marsh has been at Webb since March, 1971. As first sergeant, he will be responsible for squadron administrative matters, maintaining discipline, dormitory inspections, and counseling.

Look At Group Marriage Taken On Snyder Show

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP TV Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC's long-awaited contribution to television's insomniac trade — "Tomorrow" with Tom Snyder — finally got under way at 1 a.m. Tuesday with a lively look at group marriage.

It was a fascinating show, largely because of Snyder, a Los Angeles newscaster who's been called "brash" so often I was amazed he didn't start the show by tearing up his contract.

Nonetheless, he's a top-notch interrogator and far superior to the David Susskinds and Dick Cavetts who verbally putter about the national late-night TV talk circuit.

Snyder, 37, doesn't putter. He asks direct questions, emits quips in great profusion, often laughs maniacally and generally carries on as if he's having a pretty good time.

In short, it's vintage Snyder, a vintage until-now restricted to the Southern Californians who watch him anchor the 6 p.m. news each week night on KNBC-TV in beautiful downtown Burbank.

His guests on the opening show were two examples of group marriage — two women and one man, and two men and a woman.

Group A consisted of Peter Heck, publisher of "Swing," a swingers' magazine; Suzy, his wife of 15 years, and a lovely, soft-voiced British lady identified only as "Maureen."

The second team consisted of Patrick LaFollette, his wife, Ann, and a chap identified as Joe Hoffman.

Oddly enough, their discussions didn't dwell on group sex and all that, but rather on the hows and whys of their life style. All said sex wasn't the primary factor for their togetherness.

"Are you people swingers?" Snyder asked. "Do you swing, do you move about, are you sexually promiscuous?"

"We don't feel we're promiscuous," breathed Maureen, "because, well, we're close to our friends. But doesn't promiscuity connote just anyone? It isn't so in our case."

"It's not a running orgy," explained Mrs. Heck, who, when asked earlier how Maureen joined the family, said: "Oh, she came to dinner one day and she's been there ever since."

And so it went, with Snyder alternately serious and jocular, always intense, threading his way through the conversational wilds with an occasional look of befuddlement.

For the brief, other side of the story, the show's last minutes were spent with Mr. and Mrs. Percy Cartzdafer, a Pasadena couple who've been married 60 years.

A delightful couple, they told Snyder they neither believed what they'd heard nor did they believe in group marriage.

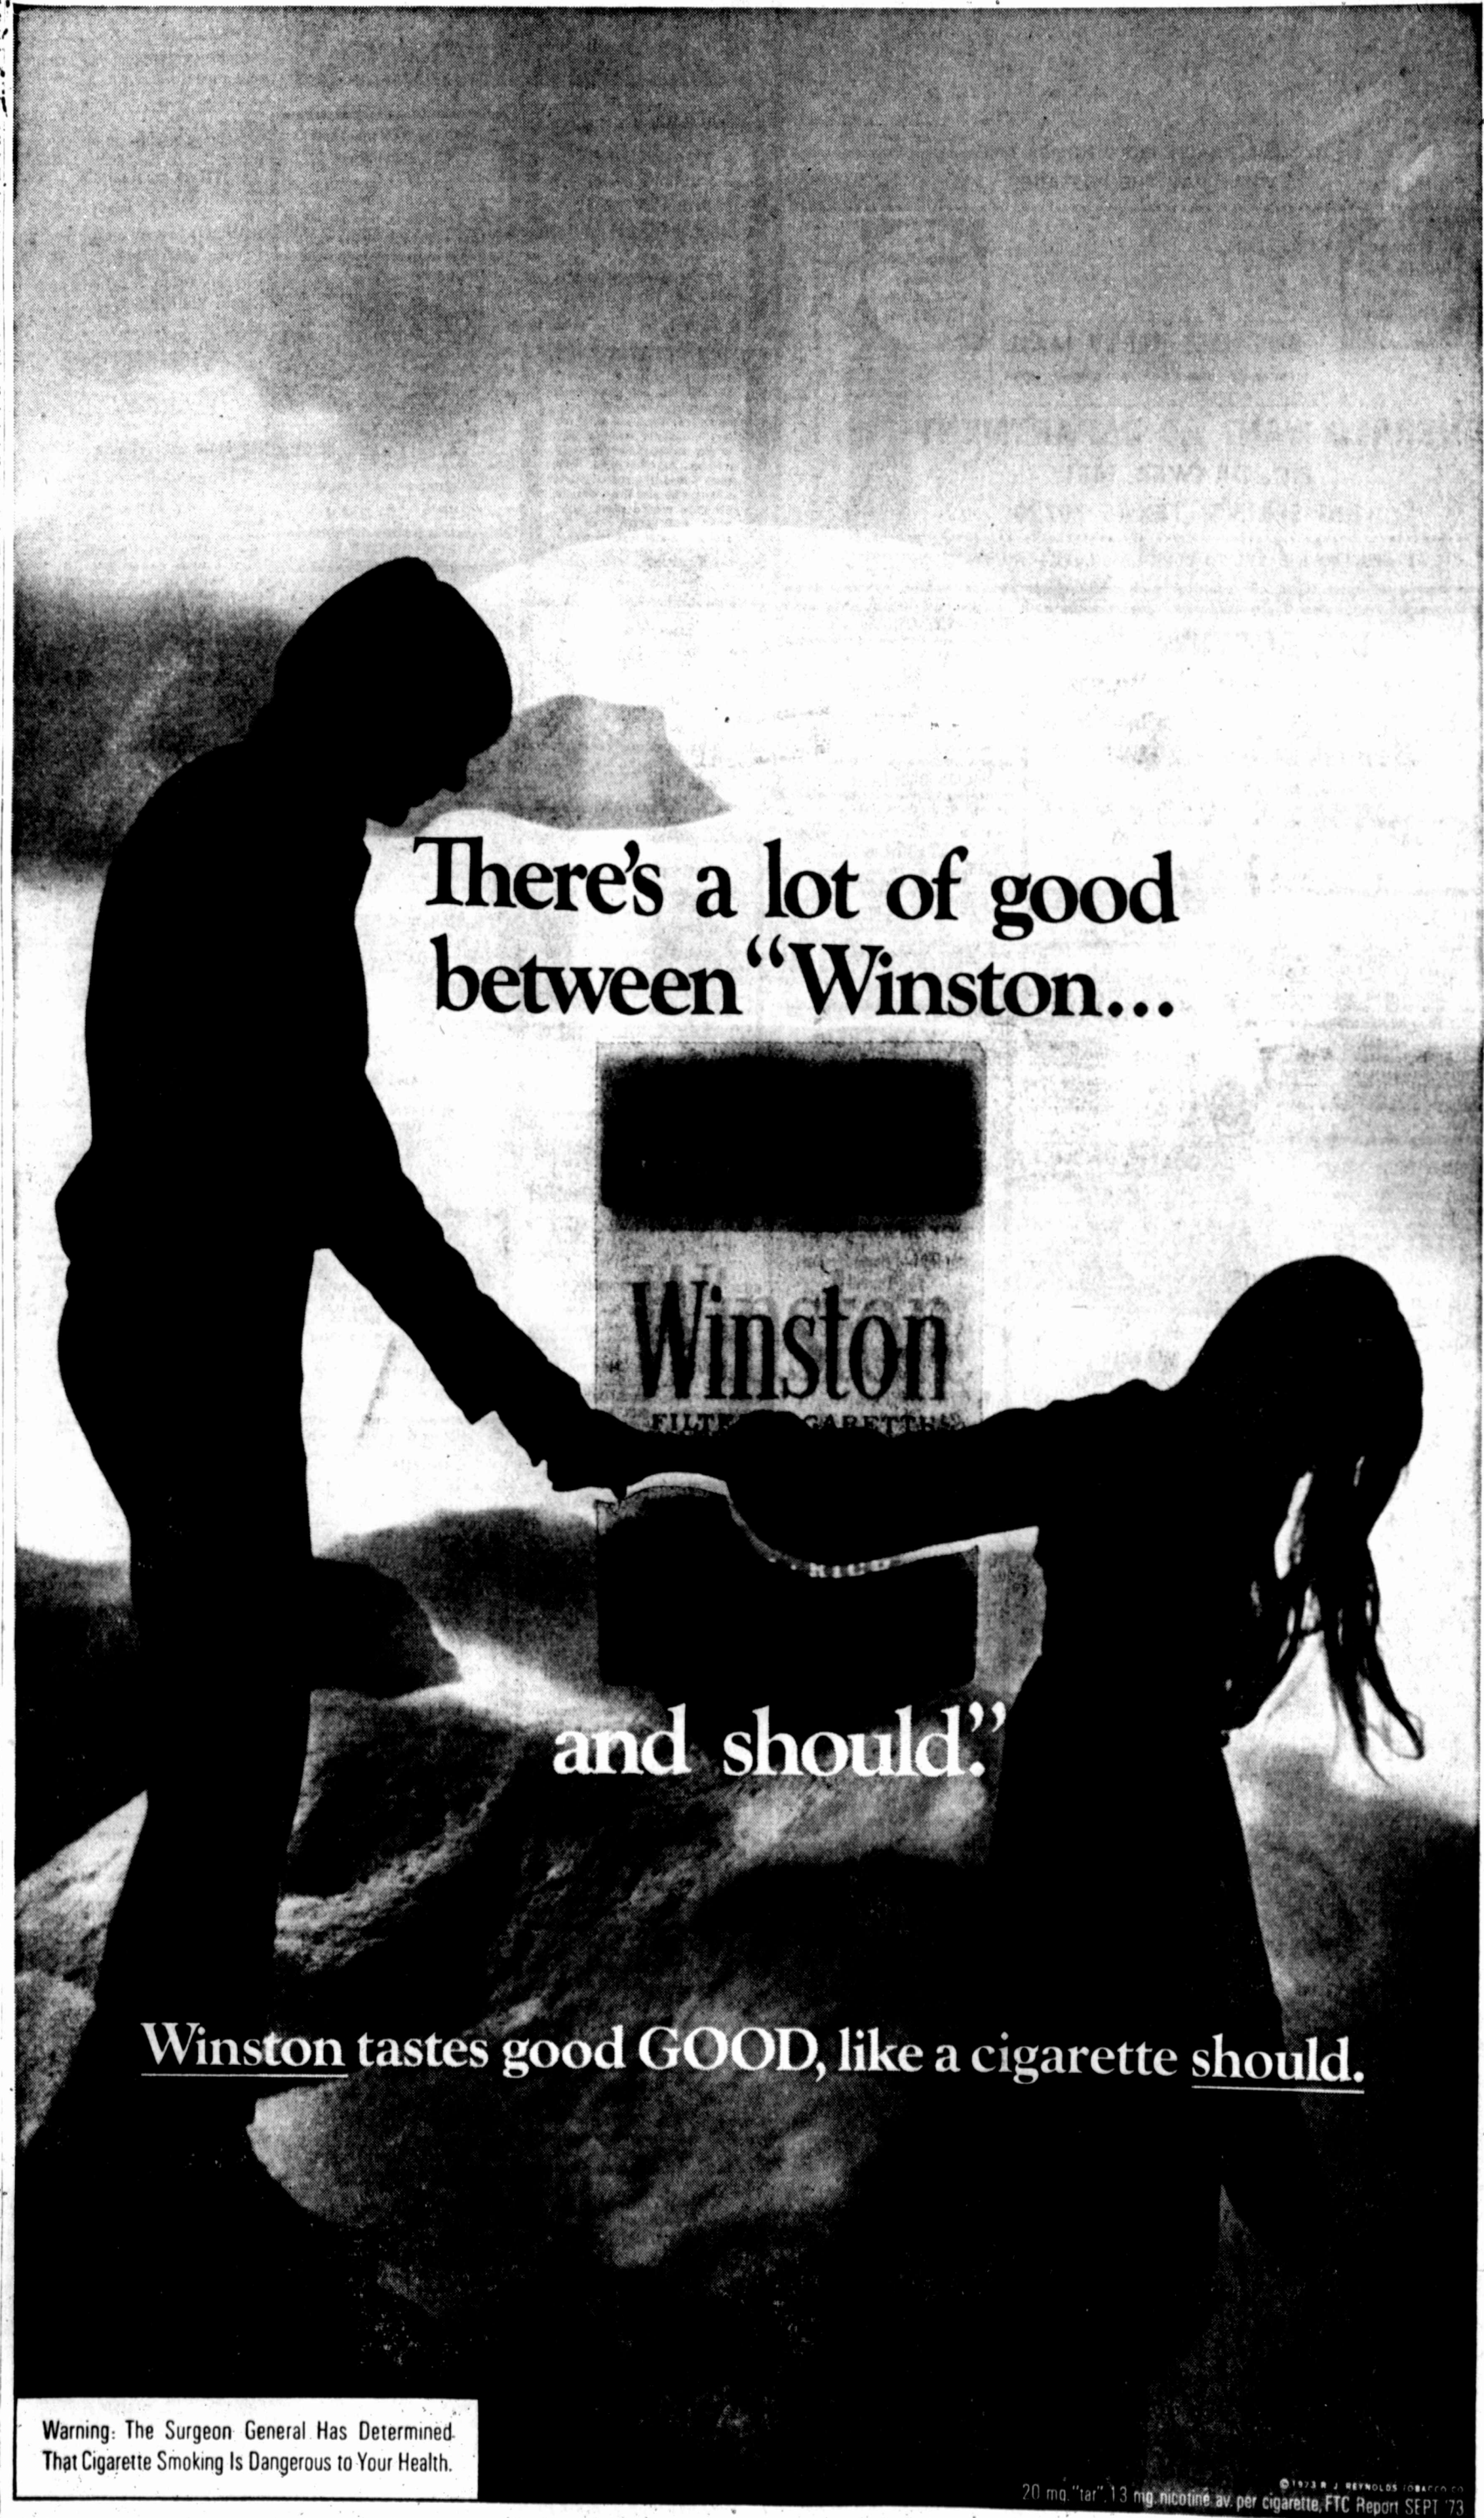

"Seems to me you're getting a little mellow to it," added the 81-year-old Cartzdafer, a twinkle in his eye.

Blood Drive Set At Webb Friday

The Permian Chapter of the Non Commissioned Officers Association will sponsor its quarterly blood drive Friday. The services of San Angelo Bloodmobile will be at the John H. Lees Recreation Center at Webb AFB from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. to interview prospective donors.

All donors will be served refreshments and will be afforded a choice of either a free golf or bowling game. Also, the Webb Federal Credit Union will sponsor a steak and eggs breakfast at the NCO Club on Oct. 20 for the first 25 donors.

All military and civilian personnel may participate. For appointments and additional information, call T.Sgt. Roberto S. Gonzales at 7-2511, Ext. 2747 or 2767.

There's a lot of good between "Winston... and should."

Winston tastes good GOOD, like a cigarette should.

Morrrows Honored On 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Morrow were honored at a reception Sunday on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary. The event was held in the Cap Rock auditorium in Stanton, with guests attending from several area towns.

Hosts were the couple's two children and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Morrow and Mr. and Mrs. James Biggs, all of Stanton. There are four grandchildren.

Two of the grandchildren, Leann Biggs and Tommy Morrow, registered guests. Serving in the house party were Mrs. Richard Woodward and Miss Velda Woodward, both of Lamesa; Mrs. J. C. Flowers, Lubbock; and Mrs. Gene Hodges, Kermit, a granddaughter of the Morrrows.

Mrs. Morrow is the former Gyda Woodward. The couple was married Oct. 11, 1923 by the late Rev. R. A. Crosby. The ceremony was held in the Coleman County home of her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Woodward, near Santa Anna. Morrow is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Morrow, early settlers of Martin County.

Mrs. Morrow was born in Miami County May 19, 1901, and Morrow was born at Plantersville, Ala., Aug. 9, 1898.

Immediately after their marriage, the Morrrows moved to Martin County where they have continued to make their home. All their married life, Morrow has been engaged in ranching and farming in Martin County where he is still active in farming. He served as county commissioner from 1955 through 1962 and as tax assessor from 1927 through 1930. Mrs. Morrow is an active member of First United Methodist Church. She has served for many years as teacher of the Friendship Class and is a member of the United Methodist Women.

MR. AND MRS. EDMUND MORROW

Big Racket

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband is handicapped. He wears heavy braces on both legs and walks with crutches.

Last year this "friend" of his talked him into going with him to ask farmers to donate Christmas trees to distribute to crippled children's homes throughout the state.

They cut truckloads of trees, sold them, and pocketed the money 50-50. This friend does all the talking while my husband just stands there on his crutches. His being there suggests that my husband is in some way associated with crippled children's homes, which he is not.

This "friend" says most people can't say no to a cripple.

They are planning to do it again this year. Abby, we don't need the money. I am ashamed for my husband to get mixed up in such an underhanded deal. He says: "It's just a little game. Don't let it bother you."

What should I do? W. K.

DEAR W. K. Tell your husband his "little game" is a big racket in case he doesn't already realize it. Furthermore, to use one's handicap to play on the sympathy of others for a handout is beneath the dignity of most handicapped people, and your husband ought to be ashamed of himself!

DEAR ABBY: I went to two weddings in June. As I entered the church, a small child took my wedding gift for the bride. What happened to the gift after that, who knows.

The bride was a good friend of mine, but I never received any kind of acknowledgement for my gift.

The second wedding, I sent only a card because this bride had a large shower to which I brought a very nice shower gift, which I thought was enough. I received a very sweet letter from the bride, thanking me for the "beautiful blanket." There is obviously some mixup. What should be done in both cases? CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: Write (or phone) Bride No. 1 and ask her if she ever received your gift. Inform Bride No. 2 that you sent her a card, and the "lovely blanket" came from someone else. (That should cover everything!)

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are in our middle forties. He is an executive, and we live in a large, comfortable home. Achieving this hasn't been easy.

The children are all in school. For the first time in my life I can come and go as I please. There are days when I feel a void and get a little depressed, but who doesn't?

My husband asked me if I would mind looking after his secretary's child five days a week, from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. I nearly flipped. I was also very hurt.

He claims he thought it would be good for me to keep "busy." Also, his secretary was having trouble finding a competent baby sitter. I wonder how many executives' wives would be hurt if their husbands tried to keep them busy in this manner?

M. L. IN CLEVELAND
DEAR M. L.: Your husband's generosity leaves me all choked up. If he thinks you need "occupational therapy," tell him you'd like the privilege of selecting your own.

Episcopal Convention Reviewed

The 64th general convention of the Episcopal Church, held recently in Louisville, Ky., was discussed Monday afternoon by the Rev. Harland Birdwell for the Guild of St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

"I believe all of the actions taken at the convention were a move toward the center," said Rev. Birdwell. "They showed a great desire for healing of old wounds and a spirit of reconciliation between groups and factions within the Episcopal Church."

The Right Rev. John M. Allin, Mississippi, was appointed to a 12-year term as presiding bishop of the Episcopal Church. Rev. Birdwell said about 15,000 people attended the convention, including 200 bishops and 900 floor delegates.

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

A quick look at this week's District 5-AAAA slate would tell you that it shouldn't be a good week for the home teams, beginning right here at your own home. While the Steers are taking on Odessa Permian's Black Beasts, Abilene and Odessa host unbeaten Midland and San Angelo and Lee is at home against a Cooper team that's on the way back.

Big Spring Mayor Wade Choate has issued a decree that this is "Beat Mojo Week," and that's interesting. I mean, lots of times when a mayor is going to issue a statement like that he picks on someone his team is favored to beat, but this way there's more excitement.

Of course, on the other hand Big Spring hasn't been favored to beat anyone in quite awhile, and any victory is becoming something of a rugged task. The mayor's brash plea isn't so brash in that light. Anyway, after five consecutive weeks of unhappy cardiac football, the Steers may decide it's time to unload — and who could be a better team to surprise than the defending state champions?

After five outings, the Steers own some strange statistics. For instance, the leading rusher has only 106 total yards, and one receiver has accounted for well over half the team's yards. Not only that, the Longhorns have scored 13 points in the first halves of games this year, compared to 62 in the second halves.

It's probably dumb to start talking about District 5-AAAA statistic championships, but I think it might be safe. If Steer quarterback Tom Sorley and wide receiver John Thomas Smith keep up the pace they've had the first two games they're liable to set records.

Since 1952, when these things began getting kept for the first time, the top passer has been Jody Turner of Lee, who threw for 1,416 yards in 1968, and the leading receiver is Hobby Stevens, a Cooper catcher who hauled in passes worth 574 yards in 1959. Sorley, with 453 passing yards in two games, might be on his way and Smith, who has caught 13 passes for 325 steps, looks like a shoo-in for that title. He's already passed last year's receiving champ, Big Spring's Nate Poss, who nabbed 20 for 287 yards.

Speaking of Poss, he caught five passes for 72 yards as a starting flanker for the Rice freshmen during a 21-0 loss to SMU's frosh Friday in Dallas. And ex-Steer Alan Davis, a punter for SMU, had a 50.5 average on his two efforts.

Former Big Spring All-State basketball player Jan Loudermilk, who once scored 75 points in a game with Odessa Ector, has been chosen by the Texas High School Basketball Hall of Fame Association as one of five inductees into the Hall for 1974.

Loudermilk was all-state the year Big Spring won its only district 5-AAAA championship, and led the Steers to the State semi-finals before falling to eventual champion Pampa.

Fred Kniffen, older brother of local high school tennis coach and Figure Seven Center pro Novice Kniffen, has been named tennis coach at Tyler Junior College. He has been pro at Rose Park Tennis Center in Abilene since 1965.

A's Fuming, Whip Mets Anyway

NEW YORK (AP) — Neither cold, nor Tom Seaver nor Charles O. Finley could stop the Oakland A's from their appointed rounds Tuesday night.

And as a result, the American League champions hold a 2-1 lead over the National League's New York Mets going into tonight's fourth game of the 1973 World Series.

"We proved what we can do despite the front office," said Oakland third baseman Sal Bando after the A's beat the Mets 3-2 in 11 innings at Shea Stadium's ice box and took the lead in the seven-game Series.

As if 50-degree temperatures and stiff winds weren't enough of a detriment, the underdog A's were saddled with a two-run deficit in the first inning against Seaver, one of the best pitchers in baseball.

Then there was the matter about Finley and the roster. Because of their eccentric owner, the A's could not use a full 25-man roster for the Series.

In a zany case celebre, Finley reportedly "fired" Mike Andrews Sunday after the second baseman made two costly errors that led to Oakland's 10-7 loss in Game 2.

His absence, combined with the loss of another player before the Series due to a front-office misunderstanding, cut the A's roster to 23 men.

Even the fact that Andrews reportedly was on his way back to the A's camp today apparently didn't help the club's general morale.

Many of the disenchanted A's have expressed displeasure with their off-beat owner, who has pulled many stunts similar to the Andrews incident.

"I guess we're that good, that we can overcome anything Finley can do to us," said outfielder Reggie Jackson.

Although Manager Dick Williams didn't have a full crew, he had enough in Bert Campaneris. The speedy shortstop helped the A's tie the score 2-2 with a stolen base in the eighth inning, then delivered the winning hit in the 11th inning.

"I felt at the moment that I was going to get a hit," said Campaneris, whose single off New York reliever Harry Parker drove home Ted Kubiak from second base.

Earlier, Campy beat a fine throw by New York catcher Jerry Grote to steal second and set up the A's second run.

From second base, it was easy for Campaneris to race home on Joe Rudi's single to right. That tied the score 2-2 and spoiled a wonderful pitching performance by Met starter Tom Seaver.

Until that point, the New York ace was in command of the situation with a crackling fastball.

"The way he was starting game into the right-field seats for his second home run of the Series and the Mets scored their second run on a wild pitch by the Oakland ace later in the inning.

Williams Plans To Leave A's

NEW YORK (AP) — Manager Dick Williams will leave the Oakland Athletics after the World Series and succeed Ralph Houk as skipper of the New York Yankees, it was reported today.

Dick O'Connor of the Palo Alto, Calif., Times, here covering the Series, said Williams had informed the players of his decision in a clubhouse meeting at Shea Stadium Tuesday night.

The Oakland manager asked the players to keep the report in the clubhouse. He said if it were leaked, he would deny it.

Williams, who has won the American League West Division title three years in a row, Oregon at Southern California: This just might be closer than you think, especially if USC has next week's opponent on its mind. Next week's opponent is Notre Dame. This week, Southern Cal 28-17.

Oklahoma State at Missouri: Mizson reached an emotional peak and knocked off Nebraska last weekend. Oklahoma State's had a week off to lick the wounds of its only setback supplied by Texas Tech. So-o-o-o... Upset Special of the Week ... Oklahoma State 17-14.

Wisconsin at Michigan: Last week, Coach John Jardine said Ohio State was the best team in the land. This week, he might change his opinion. Michigan, 35-7.

Penn State at Syracuse: Syracuse has got to win sooner or later, but this isn't it. Penn State 24-7.

Schoolboys Hold Places

It was a mild week for upsets in The Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll with only three ranked teams losing but in two cases it gave high scoring teams a chance for recognition.

Fourth ranked Longview was shutout by John Tyler 16-0 and was replaced in the Class 4A list by unbeaten Conroe, which is 6-0 and averaging 29.3 points per game and giving up 3.3. Conroe became the No. 10 team.

Hamlin, 5-0 overtook the No. 9 position in Class 2A when 10th ranked Lubbock Roosevelt was beaten last week. Hamlin is averaging 34 points per game and yielding eight.

Cooper, ranked fourth in Class A last week, was beaten by Lone Oak but hung on as the No. 10 team this week.

The top ranked teams, Baytown Sterling in Class 4A, Gregory-Portland in Class 3A, Friendswood in Class 2A, New Diana in Class A and Big Sandy in Class B, remained unchallenged for the top rung in their divisions.

All teams in Class 3A and B survived last week without defeat.

Canadian, ranked ninth in Class A, was tied 6-6 last week but the deadlock was with unbeaten Class 2A Shamrock.

Morton Selected National College Back Of The Week

NEW YORK (AP) — After two games, Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles knew that something had to be done ... and not just because the Razorbacks were 0-2.

The problem was that star runner Dickey Morton had carried only 20 times for a mere 91 yards and opposing teams were tackling him before the quarterback had a chance to throw him the option pitch.

Broyles promptly switched from the Wishbone to the Power-I and Morton has been pouring it on ever since. In five games, he rushed 66 times for 577 yards—that's 6.6 per carry—capped by Saturday's 271-yard show in a 13-7 victory over Baylor, second best rushing performance in Southwest Conference history.

For that exhibition, which included touchdown runs of 68 and 81 yards, the 5-foot-10, 175-pound senior from Dallas was named National College Back of the Week by The Associated Press.

He also was named SWC Back of the Week for the second time this year.

"I don't remember a game in which Dickey didn't put on a show," Broyles says. "I know the fans admire his 68-yard run, but some of his six-yard runs amaze the coaches even more. He seems to accelerate when he cuts. Most people have to slow down to do that."

"What every team facing us fears is that he'll get into the secondary. I know there are some great running backs in the country, but I don't know of any better than he is."

HADL, JACKSON SHARE NFL OFFENSIVE HONORS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rookie Coach Chuck Knox invited veterans John Hadl and Harold Jackson to the Los Angeles Rams' rookie camp to get acquainted with each other. They became close partners.

"He's the best quarterback I've ever had throwing to me," Jackson observed after the two were selected Tuesday as the National Football League's Offensive Players of the Week by The Associated Press.

Hadl hit the fleet little Jackson with four touchdown passes on plays covering 63, 16, 67 and 36 yards Sunday as the Rams ran away from Dallas in the first half and held on for a 37-31 victory over the Cowboys that kept Los Angeles undefeated and untied after five regular-season games. On the afternoon, Jackson caught seven passes for 238 of Hadl's 279 aerial passes.

Rice Broke NCAA Rules, Book Says

By The Associated Press

An investigation into Rice University's football program in 1971 could lead to possible probation should facts in a free lance writer's book be borne out, the executive secretary of the Southwest Conference says.

Cliff Speegle says nothing has yet been proven in an investigation by the SWC and Rice into the Owl athletic program.

However, he adds "It's serious enough to put anyone on probation as far as National Collegiate Athletic Association regulations are concerned" should the book prove correct.

On page 187 of Giles Tiptette's book "Saturday's Children" it tells of former line-backer Rodrigo Barnes, now with the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League, "borrowing" money.

The book said that C.A. Roberts, an assistant to then head Coach Bill Peterson, would phone a wealthy Rice alumnus. "Next day a check would arrive, made out to Roberts, and he'd cash the check and give the money to Barnes," the book said.

It continues "... Barnes also got more game tickets than the rest of the squad. By conference rules a player was allowed four tickets to each game. But Barnes could get 15 or 20. He'd sell these to benevolent alumni for as much as two or three times their face value."

Speegle said the joint investigation by the SWC and Rice was started after "The University called out attention to it before the book came out. Rice had a preview of the book."

He said "It hasn't been proven that the statements in the book were true. If it is, then the findings go before our faculty committee."

Queens Defeat Odessa College

ODESSA — The Howard County Junior College Jayhawk Queens toppled Odessa College 15-12, 15-3 Tuesday in intercollegiate girls volleyball action. Janice Platte, with eight points, and Theresa Caffey, with three were high scorers for the Queens.

The Queens, 10-7 on the year, now await action in their HCJC Invitational tournament Friday and Saturday here.

Sands Girls Get Second Victory

ACKERLY — Sands' girls basketball team score its second victory without a loss Tuesday, dumping Greenwood 65-57 behind the 31-point performance of Ann Nichols.

Cranford had 34 for the losers. Standout guards for Sands were Kayla Gaskins and Kaye Hunt.

In the preliminary B team game, Greenwood downed the hosts 55-46. Jody Batson hit 24 in the losing effort, and Brewer led Greenwood with 19.

FORNSAN — Janet Ellis hit 22 points and Brenda Cowley 19 as the Forsan Buffalo Queens nudged Klondike 57-53 Tuesday in the season opener for the two defending district champions.

Letha Strickland added 14 in the win, and guards Ginger Dittmore, Dorothy Banks, Teresa Walls and Glenda Woods also had good games. For Klondike, Nancy Pryblyl 20, Leslie Davis had 19 and Shara Airhart added 14.

In the junior high game, Geanna Bradford had 20 points to spark Klondike to a 40-26 victory, and Karen King hit 18 for the losers.

Vikings' Krause Selected As Top Defensive Player

NEW YORK (AP) — "It wasn't our best performance, but it was typical of the kind of defense we play," said Minnesota Coach Bud Grant. But it was typical Paul Krause—and that's about the best kind of defense there is.

The Viking free safety, with 14 interceptions than any other active player in the National Football League, added his 60th and 61st Sunday against San Francisco.

They both came at most opportune times—when the 49ers were driving into Minnesota territory in the fourth quarter.

"Both of those interceptions at the very least kept them from kicking field goals," said defensive end Bob Lurtsema.

"We're leading 14-13 and either time a field goal puts them ahead."

And for his timely standout play, Krause was named today as The Associated Press Defensive Player of the Week in the NFL.

Other nominees included Miami defensive tackle Manny Fernandez, who had 12 unassisted tackles; nine assists and was in on two quarterback sacks in the Dolphins' 17-9 victory over Cleveland; Kansas City defensive end Wilbur Young, who blocked a pair of Green Bay field goal attempts; and Washington safety Ken Houston, who intercepted two passes to thwart potential New York touchdown drives.

Knicks' Meminger Outduels Ernie D.

NEW YORK (AP) — Dean Meminger, the New York Knicks' smallest player at 6-foot-1, doesn't often get a chance to go against a man his own size.

But when he does, he delights in it.

Meminger faced Buffalo's touted rookie, 6-0 Ernie DiGregorio, Tuesday night and enjoyed the highest scoring game of his National Basketball Association career, collecting 27 points, as the Knicks routed the Braves 117-91.

In the only other NBA game Tuesday night, the Philadelphia 76ers defeated the Houston Rockets 106-101.

The San Antonio Spurs scored their first victory, beating the winless Virginia Squires 116-106 in the lone American Basketball Association game.

"When you play a man like Ernie D.," explained Meminger, "you have to make him pay the price (play defense) or he'll kill you on offense." DiGregorio scored only 12 points.

Meminger, whose previous pro high was 25 points, sliced through the Buffalo defense for most of his points on easy layups. He hit five-of-five field goals attempts in the first period, when the Knicks took the lead for good 28-22, and added 12 points in the fourth quarter.

"It's ridiculous for a guy who averages only about six points a game (Meminger's average in his two previous seasons in the NBA was 5.2), to make so many easy layups," said Buffalo's Jim McMillian, game high scorer with 29 points. "But the Knicks were executing very well."

Meminger, however, wasn't the Knicks' high scorer. That honor went to Dave DeBusschere, who celebrated his 33rd birthday with 28 points and 14 rebounds.

76ers 106, Rockets 101

Philadelphia, which lost its first 15 games in the 1972-73 season and wound up with a 7-73 record—worst in pro basketball history—needed only three games to gain its first victory this season, beating Houston 105-101.

Fred Carter paced the 76ers with 29 points and Larry Jones, who hit 15 of his 17 points in the second half, and Steve Mix each sank two free throws in the final minute sealing the victory.

The Spurs, who took over the struggling Dallas franchise, were led by Coby Dietrick's 24 points and rookie George Karl and Rich Jones' 21 each.

and was named Lineman of the Reagan County, carrying 20 times for 88 yards and a touchdown.

The 145-pound Thixton also recovered a fumble and blocked Stanton Coach Bill Young well from his position in the Bufs' offensive backfield, according to Forsan head coach Jack Woodley.

Back of the Week in Forsan was Donnie Croft, a two-time honoree who made 10 tackles as a defensive end and also started at fullback on offense, making three catches for 25 yards.

Offensive standout in the area last week was Garden City's Mike Batla, who almost single-handedly crushed Wellman as the Bearcats posted a 38-14 triumph. Batla, the Kats' quarterback, ran for three touchdowns and passed for another as the Garden City crew upped its record to 3-2. Batla was also outstanding as an outside linebacker.

Garden City coach Greg Henderson named Chris Hirt Lineman of the Week for his play at offensive guard and as a down lineman on defense. Hirt is being honored for the first time.

Stanton's Elvin Brown, a sophomore fullback, became the first area gridders to get his team's honor three times. Brown paced the Buffaloes' offense during a 47-7 loss to

Olive Branch Extended Roloff By State Aides

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe's top assistant has urged evangelist Lester Roloff to bring his two children's homes into compliance with state licensing standards, but Roloff said, "I can't compromise."

Charles Purnell, Briscoe's executive assistant, met with Roloff Tuesday afternoon to discuss the State Board of Welfare's decision to shut down the Rebekah School for Girls near Corpus Christi and Anchor Home for Boys at Zapata. Tuesday night Roloff held a five-hour rally in Austin. About 4,000 attending, singing hymns and punctuating Roloff's statements with loud "amens."

DISPEAYED

A large placard read "Brother Roloff today . . . your church tomorrow."

The evangelist, who at one point filled the stage with children from the closed homes, spoke out against Briscoe, the New Deal, the state welfare department, sociology, psychiatry, and the legislature. He also scored new accounts of his battle with the state and said a newspaper writer can never report what Roloff is doing until he gets saved.

"What used to be a lovely dream come true has become a horrible nightmare," he said, the tears running down his cheeks.

Meanwhile, welfare commissioner Raymond Vowell asked Atty. Gen. John Hill to take "necessary legal action" to see the schools are closed.

A Corpus Christi district court judge gave Roloff until Oct. 15 to either obtain a license from the welfare board or close the schools. "I've got six girls left," Roloff said Tuesday, in a school with a capacity of 300.

FIVE WITH HIM

Roloff brought five of the girls with him, a singing group called the "Honey Bees." Four wore knee-length, dark blue dresses, and one wore yellow. "Three out of the five of them I delivered from dope," he told Purnell.

"I started on drugs at 13. I really wanted love. I found peace and the Lord Jesus Christ. The Rebekah Home is like a Christian home, and teaches us about the Lord so we can be saved. I don't see how anybody could want to close it," said Reba, one of the "Honey Bees."

Tears flowed down one girl's cheeks as Roloff talked to Purnell. "Let me implore you to make another effort with the welfare department and the attorney general to put your home in a position to be certified," Purnell said.

But Roloff said, "I can't compromise." "We need freedom. If I don't have freedom, the power of God is not upon me, and I can't do anything about these dope-heads without God's power," said the slightly built evangelist.

Purnell said the governor had no power to help Roloff since the matter was now in the courts. Briscoe probably could not act anyway, since the welfare board is an independent agency and has exclusive power to license child care institutions.

Auto Fatalities Are Up Slightly

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas traffic deaths have increased by one per cent over a year ago, the Texas Department of Public Safety reported recently. The department said 2,766 persons have died in traffic accidents this year, an increase of 27 from the same time last year.

MAYNARD JACKSON

Jackson Wins Over Massell In Atlanta

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Maynard Jackson says his election as Atlanta's first black mayor is "a resounding affirmation of the principles of unity and brotherhood that have helped make Atlanta truly a city too busy to hate."

Jackson piled up an overwhelming lead in predominantly black precincts to unseat Mayor Sam Massell in their runoff election Tuesday.

Ironically, Massell won virtually all of the black precincts four years ago to become the city's first Jewish mayor. At the same time, Jackson was elected vice mayor.

Unofficial returns, including absentee ballots, gave Jackson 74,404 votes to 51,237 for Massell.

Jackson's percentage of the vote in predominantly white precincts was not immediately determined.

White moderate Wyche Fowler swamped black civil rights activist Hosea Williams, 78,209 to 44,017, for the presidency of the city council. Blacks won nine of the 18 seats on the council.

The election left the city's top leadership one of the youngest in history. Jackson is 35, Fowler 33.

Jackson swept to a first-place finish among 11 candidates in the general election Oct. 2. He polled 46.6 per cent of the vote then; Massell was runner-up with 19.8 per cent.

The election climaxed a bitter two-week runoff election campaign in which race was the prime issue. Massell attempted to link Jackson with Williams and said the "Jackson-Williams team" in the runoff "scared Atlantans to death."

At one point, Massell said, "I just have the guts to say a black man can be bad, just like whites can."

Jackson accused Massell of attempting to polarize the city along racial lines. Blacks account for slightly more than 50 per cent of the population and for 48.5 per cent of the 206,270 registered voters.

Cotton Samples Start Out Light

Cotton sample receipts from the Pecos Territory have started light this year, due to the lateness of the crop. Max Medcalf, in charge of the Agricultural Marketing Service classing office in Pecos, stated that 536 samples have been classed thus far in the season through Oct. 12. This compares with 7,971 received last year at this time.

Middling light spotted (32) was the predominant grade at 53 per cent of the classings followed by strict low middling (41) with 23 per cent and middling (31) with 20 per cent. Staple lengths ranged from 31 to 37. Mike readings were in the 3.5 of the samples. Farmers received $116 per ton for cottonseed.

Corporation Donations To Colleges Decrease

NEW YORK (AP) — Recognizing their debt to colleges and universities for research and training, America's corporations increased their financial aid throughout the 1950 and 1960s.

Gifts from business to higher education rose from about $50 million in 1954-1955 to about $375 million in the 1968-1969 academic year. But the next year corporate aid dropped by $35 million.

The explanation includes the sense of economic instability and unrest in academia. Feeling was widespread that to aid universities was to encourage goal-less students inimical to business gains.

To some degree business and education have reweaved the threads, but by 1972 corporate giving had not returned to the 1969 level.

Some of the nation's top corporate executives and officers of the so-called great universities now seek to revitalize the spirit. In effect they are saying: "We need the money, we deserve it, we will use it wisely."

Great universities? They are mainly private. They have major commitment to scholarship.

They attract the best faculty and students from the national and international community. They have outstanding graduate departments.

Elderly In Houston Push For Programs

HOUSTON (AP) — A group calling itself the Senior Citizens Tax Force of the Houston Urban League announced Tuesday it will push for more programs for the elderly here.

The campaign will kick off Thursday, said one of its members, Annabelle Fontanot, when the group will appear before Harris County commissioners to demand that they spend part of their federal revenue sharing funds for the elderly in the areas of health, housing and transportation.

One of their key demands, she said, is that the city or county subsidize the public bus system so anyone over age 55 could ride for 15 cents.

Cotton Samples Start Out Light

Cotton sample receipts from the Pecos Territory have started light this year, due to the lateness of the crop. Max Medcalf, in charge of the Agricultural Marketing Service classing office in Pecos, stated that 536 samples have been classed thus far in the season through Oct. 12. This compares with 7,971 received last year at this time.

Middling light spotted (32) was the predominant grade at 53 per cent of the classings followed by strict low middling (41) with 23 per cent and middling (31) with 20 per cent. Staple lengths ranged from 31 to 37. Mike readings were in the 3.5 of the samples. Farmers received $116 per ton for cottonseed.
