MILITARY ON WORLDWIDE ALERT

Intervention Idea Flatly Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States today ordered its forces to worldwide military alert, and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger declared U.S. opposition to the intervention of Soviet forces in the Middle East under any circumstances.

Kissinger told a nationally televised news conference that ambiguity about Soviet intentions led President Nixon "to order certain precautionary measures to be taken by the United States."

The military alert was ordered amid reports the Soviet Union might send its forces to police a cease-fire between Israel and her Arab enemies.

Kissinger flatly rejected the introduction of U.S. or Soviet forces into the area, "in whatever guise."

"The United States does not favor and will not approve the sending of a joint Soviet-U.S. force into the Middle East," Kissinger said.

Kissinger refused to discuss the details of communications involving possible Soviet moves. He said only that the administration became aware of possible Soviet intentions.

"We do not consider ourselves ... in a confrontation with the Soviet Union ..." he said. "We do not believe it is necessary to have a confrontation."

He said President Nixon decided, however, that it was essential the United States make its attitude clear.

"It is inconceivable that the forces of the great powers should be introduced in the numbers that would be necessary ..." to enforce a cease-fire. "It is inconceivable that we should transplant the great power rivalries into the Middle East ..." he said.

Kissinger said the United States is even more firmly opposed to the unilateral dispatch of forces into the Middle East by any great power, particularly a nuclear power.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said the military alert was prompted by what he called a brutal Soviet note warning that Russian forces would be sent to the Middle East if the United States will not join in a peacekeeping force.

Kissinger said Jackson "does not participate in our deliberations."

The secretary of state said the United States became aware of certain Soviet moves, and faced ambiguity in Soviet intent. He would not discuss any specific messages from the Russians.

'For Real,' Says Guard Officer

By The Associated Press

Late night telephone calls put an unknown number of Texas military servicemen on alert. Those off their posts were ordered back immediately.

"This is for real and is not a drill," said Capt. Mark A. Dull, information officer for the 147th Fighter-Interceptor Group of the Texas Air National Guard. It is based at Ellington Air Force Base near Houston.

Department of Public Safety teletypes carried this message from the Ft. Hood provost marshal's office:

"Please notify all military personnel assigned to Ft. Hood to report there. The fort is on an alert. All forts in Texas are on alert and all people assigned to military bases in Texas report immediately."

Telephone lines to Ft. Hood, the big Central Texas armored force base, were jammed with calls.

Capt. Dull said at Ellington, "We have about 1,000 men coming in to Ellington Air Force Base now. Our mission is air defense of this area, and we keep two F102 fighters on alert at all times ... That is all I can say at this time."

In surrounding states, units at Holloman AFB, N.M., and Blytheville, Ark., went on alert at 1:30 a.m.

Air Force Maj. Bill Duerre, information officer for the maneuvers, called Brave Shield VI, said, "We haven't changed our plans. As far as the exercise is concerned, it is 'go.' I cannot comment on the alert or beyond the scope of this maneuver."

Israel Waging 'Treachorous War,' Says foe

By The Associated Press

Egypt charged Wednesday night that Israel was waging a "new, treacherous war" against its forces and appealed for U.S. and Soviet troops to enforce the cease-fire in the Arab-Israeli war.

Israel said the shooting had died down on its front with Egypt and that the Syrian front was quiet.

The White House rejected the idea of sending in American and Soviet troops, commenting: "This is not the time in which the involvement of the great powers could be helpful."

Eight nonaligned nations proposed creation of a U.N. military force to bring peace to the Egyptian-Israeli front.

ON EAST BANK

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mohamed H. el-Zayyat claimed at an emergency night meeting of the Security Council that the Israelis were attacking Egyptian forces on the east bank of the Suez Canal Wednesday night with "laser-guided missiles" and Phantom jets.

He said the entire front was blazing on the west bank.

Zayyat said that was the situation at 1 a.m. Thursday. But the Israeli military command said the fighting abated at dusk Wednesday following massive Egyptian ground and air attacks in the afternoon.

Israel said its pilots shot down 15 Egyptian jets in dog-fights.

Egyptian communiques said a large number of Israeli tanks were knocked out in the day's fighting, including 13 around Suez at the southern end of the canal. The communiques said Israel suffered "serious losses."

Egypt said it shot down eight Mirage jets, some of them Israeli and others belonging to an unspecified "foreign country."

Israel claimed its armored units on the west bank were maintaining their encirclement of Suez and the port of Ras Adabiya 11 miles to the south, trapping the Egyptian 3rd Army in the Sinai.

Israel said the battle lines did not change during the day and that 15 Egyptian planes were downed in combat.

Maj. Gen. Haim Herzog, the Israeli state radio's authoritative military commentator, said the 3rd Army was penned into "a narrow strip" along the canal's southeast bank, about 25 miles long from the Little Bitter Lake to the Gulf of Suez. But Egypt claimed its holding extended 12 to 17 miles into the Sinai Desert.

Zayyat told the Security Council Israel was refusing to allow U.N. observers into areas of the Suez front that it controlled.

NONE ON SITE

Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim said he understood no observers were operating on the Israeli side while seven were on the Egyptian side.

Other observers have been manning posts on the Syrian front for several days, but they are on the Golan Heights well behind forward Israeli units.

Radio Israel reported that U.N. observers from Cairo established their first observation post between Israeli and Egyptian troops 16 miles west of the Suez Canal.

Nixon's Address Again Postponed

Have UFOs Hit Spring City?

Cody Carroll, 12-year-old sixth grader at Boydston Elementary, says he spotted an UFO Tuesday evening and then a second one, but he has no idea what they might have been.

He said he first sighted the object almost overhead the family home at 408 Donley. It seemed to move at an altitude of a few hundred feet to the downtown area ("over the Settles").

He described it as seeming to have green flashing lights and moving in an up and down pattern. A second something, which appeared to have a red bottom, moved into view.

Cody said he watched them through his binoculars and that the first one moved westward over the horizon and the other just disappeared. He added that whatever he saw did not seem to be an airplane.

Cone Has Horse, But Wants Bull

Carrol Cone would like to trade one wild small brown stud horse for a two-year old registered Hereford bull, the sheriff's office reports.

Cone has been waiting for the owners to claim the five-year old horse which was found earlier and has been damaging fences since. He has asked numerous cattle raisers about his missing bull, but his search has been in vain.

Now, he's stuck with a horse he doesn't want, and his pasture lease is expiring.

Troubled Teachers Fret About Ethics

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of a national teachers organization has written President Nixon asking him how the nation's 2.2 million teachers can impart ethical values while he himself "disregards ... high standards of morality."

Helen D. Wise, president of the National Education Association, told Nixon Wednesday the nation's teachers "share the groundswell of public outrage" in the administration's handling of Watergate.

"Teachers are asking me how they can fulfill their responsibilities in teaching young people the moral, ethical, and spiritual values required in a free society while the President of the United States disregards the nation's traditionally high standards of morality," she wrote.

She said that teachers were "heartened ... by your decision to release the celebrated secret Watergate tapes for judicial review. This action has helped restore some of the lost confidence in your ability as the moral and spiritual leader."

"You need not be a prisoner of your past record. The nation is demanding that you restore the confidence of the nation in the integrity of its leaders. You need only to turn to the people and relate to their pressing daily needs," she wrote.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, preoccupied with developments in the Middle East, postponed today until sometime Friday a television-radio news conference that had been scheduled for tonight.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said Nixon was concentrating so thoroughly on the Middle East crisis that he decided to postpone the session scheduled for 9 p.m. EDT. No time was set for the Friday news conference.

Nixon had been certain to face questioning about the possible appointment of a new special prosecutor to succeed the ousted Archibald Cox, particularly in view of his reversal of a weekend stand against surrendering White House tapes to U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica.

Nixon, it was understood, did not want to hold the scheduled news conference today because he did not want to be fielding Watergate-related questions at a session that could well have been dominated by concern about developments in the Middle East.

Strong bipartisan support has developed in Congress for the naming of another prosecutor who would be independent of the executive branch.

And Acting Atty. Gen. Robert H. Bork, who fired Cox at Nixon's order, told newsmen Wednesday the thought "has crossed my mind" that he should consider making such an appointment.

Bork also said he does not feel bound by Nixon's directive that Cox refrain from making any future court fights to obtain White House tapes or other evidence the President regards as confidential.

Man Attempts Robbery, Dies

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — A man who attempted to rob a drive-in grocery was found shot to death early today at a trailer home, police said.

Officers said the grocery's clerk, Donnie Webster, told them a man believed to be in his 20s walked into the store and sprayed a chemical in her face. She said she ducked beneath a counter and fired several shots from a .38-caliber pistol at the man.

The unidentified man was found a short time later about three blocks from the grocery after a mobile home resident reported someone was trying to break into the trailer.

AFTER MEETING — President Nixon walks outside the White House today with his arm around Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger after the two men met with congressional leaders to discuss the situation in the Middle East. Kissinger is on his way to a news conference.

'We're Right At Brink Again,' Jackson Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon today ordered a worldwide alert of U.S. military forces "for prudent, precautionary reasons," amid reports of possible unilateral intervention by the Soviet Union in the Middle East.

The White House also described the alert as precautionary.

A senior Democratic senator said the alert responded to what he called a brutal Soviet warning that Russian forces would act to enforce a Middle East cease-fire if the United States failed to join a peacekeeping force.

Word of the alert came in the pre-dawn hours. The alert order was confirmed by Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim.

Friedheim declined to go into any details, except to say that the alert order was issued by Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger about midnight.

While the White House and congressional leaders who met with President Nixon stressed the precautionary nature of the move, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., told newsmen it responded to a note "in brutal terminology" in which the Soviet Union threatened to act alone to police the cease-fire between Israel and her Arab enemies.

Jackson, a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, called for unity behind President Nixon.

"We're right at the brink again," Jackson said.

Jackson was not among the 14 congressional leaders who met with Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., who was, said the emphasis was on diplomatic, not military, moves. Albert said he did not consider the United States to be in confrontation with the Soviet Union.

Jackson said a note addressed to President Nixon was delivered to Kissinger by Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin. Jackson said it warned of possible unilateral action by the Soviet Union.

Crews Are Hopeful About Launch Date

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Ground crews planned to pressurize two fuel tanks in the Skylab 3 booster rocket today, hoping to repair damage and avoid a delay of the scheduled Nov. 10 launch date.

The exercise was expected to take all day and most of the night, with no decision on a definite launch date expected until Friday.

The Saturn IB rocket is to propel astronauts Gerald P. Carr, William R. Pogue and Edward G. Gibson into orbit for the third and final manned visit to the Skylab space station, a flight expected to last 70 days.

The dome-shaped top sections of the two aluminum tanks buckled slightly Tuesday after four fuel tanks on the Saturn were filled with 43,000 gallons of fuel. A slight amount of fuel was then drained off, leaving an air pocket at the top of each tank as protection against possible expansion and over-pressurization because of heat or humidity.

The domes sank when a partial vacuum was created accidentally inside the two tanks and the heavier outside air-pressure pushed the metal inward. Two of the tanks were not affected.

NASA explained that protective covers were placed over air vents at the top of the tank area during a heavy rainstorm Tuesday morning when the rain stopped, the agency said launch pad personnel forgot to remove the covers.

When the small amount of fuel was drained off, the vents sucked the covers down tight, preventing air from entering the tanks and creating the partial vacuum.

The purpose of the pressurization today is to try to pop the depressed areas back into normal shape.

Court Panel Won't Ban Ethics Statute

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A three-judge federal court has allowed a journalism society to join a suit against Alabama's new ethics law but refused to grant a temporary order barring enforcement of the statute.

The controversial law, passed last month in the closing hours of the state legislature's regular session, requires newsmen as well as public officials to make financial disclosures.

Two small newspapers filed suit within hours after the bill was signed into law, challenging its constitutionality.

In its order Wednesday, the panel allowed the Sigma Delta Chi journalism society to join the suit brought by the Birmingham Times, a weekly, and The Eagle Eye, a paper published by the predominantly black National Democratic party of Alabama.

MILITARY JETS SIT ON FLIGHT LINE — Military jets sit on flight line at MacDill Air Force Base in Tampa, Fla., as usual Thursday while bases around the nation are put on standby alert, apparently because of heightening tensions in the Middle East. Base officer and spokesman for the U.S. Readiness Command headquartered at MacDill refused comment. However, one source said Readiness Command had been on standby for the past 24 hours.

Relief From Rising Prices Promised

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has promised Americans substantial relief from rising food prices and more meat on the table next year. But it also projects a slight increase in unemployment and continued high interest rates. It is in the food area that the administration offered the best hope Wednesday for relief from inflation. "I'm telling the housewife that food prices will rise less rapidly and one year from now they will not be her No. 1 concern," Herbert F. Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, told newsmen. He noted that both wholesale and retail food prices declined in September and said there have been additional decreases in food prices at the wholesale level since then. For example, he noted the price of wheat has fallen 13 percent since Sept. 11; the prices of live cattle, 17 percent and chickens, 28 percent. He said the supply of beef is especially promising for the near future and that an increased supply of pork is likely next spring and summer. Nevertheless, inflation will remain a serious problem in the months ahead, continuing at a rate of above five per cent through the early months of 1974, Stein said. He said most economists agreed that a serious recession next year is unlikely, but conceded that the economy will not be able to provide jobs at the rate of the last 12 months when 2.7 million new jobs were created. "The situation we're in does imply some increase in the unemployment rate in 1974, but we don't see that as being a very marked increase," Stein said. The current unemployment rate has been about 4.8 percent of the labor force for the past four months. Stein said he did not have evidence the Federal Reserve Board is relaxing its tight money policy, which he said has been "fairly reasonable" to date. "I am sure they are aware of the danger of going too far with this," he said.

Social Actions Program Explained To Lions Club

Downtown Lions Wednesday got a briefing on the social actions program at Webb AFB. Capt. Al Crawley, social actions officer, explained that the program is an outgrowth of a human relations project and directs its efforts at dealing with race relations, equal opportunity and treatment, and drug and alcohol abuse problems. Capt. Crawley also heads up the equal opportunities section, explaining that when difficulties arise he seeks to get at the basic cause of the irritant and solve it at the lowest possible level of command. Lt. John Kelly told how race relations were handled through an 18-hour course over three days, dealing basically with how different backgrounds influence customs and behavior. This instruction, required of military, is also open to civilian workers. Lt. Harold Boone said much of his work was of a preventative and educational nature, but some rehabilitative work is involved. Drug and alcohol problems are relatively minimal at the base and in the community, he said. John Smith, Lions president, reminded that there will be a tea at 800 Harvard, in Midland Sunday afternoon honoring Mrs. Tom Nipp, wife of the 2A-1 district governor. Harlan Huijbregtse lunched out in getting to keep "Dum Cluck," the rooster that goes to some member who didn't bring a guest or introduce a new member.

Newsprint Prices Jump

NEW YORK (AP) — The Canadian International Paper Co., one of Canada's largest newsprint producers, has announced a sharp price increase. It said U.S. newspapers will feel the effect Nov. 1. The company announced Wednesday it was boosting the price of newsprint 14 percent, and said the price to U.S. customers would go up by $25 per ton to $200. A number of other Canadian producers previously announced a $15-a-ton price increase effective Jan. 1 and a $10-a-ton hike to take effect next July 1. "We can't absorb that without additional sources of revenue," said O.B. Schoepfle, chairman of the board of the Elyria (Ohio) Chronicle-Telegram. He predicted the price boost would cost the paper $125,000 more per year. Other newspapers indicated raising advertising rates would be one way for them to offset the higher newsprint costs. William Davis Taylor, publisher of the Boston Globe, said the paper was considering boosting ad rates "in every category" to keep pace with the increased costs.

It's Up To Legislators To Write Constitution

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The 37-citizen members of the Texas Constitutional Revision Commission today said the commission's job is done and the task of writing a new constitution is now up to state legislators. Some complaints on their work have already arisen. The commission met Wednesday and today for final proof-reading and corrections of the draft produced after seven months of work, including 19 public hearings over the state. Only minor changes were made in the proposed document that actually was approved Sept. 28. The last ceremony today will be the signing of a resolution by all 37 members of the commission that will submit the proposed new constitution to the 181 legislators who make up the 1974 Constitution Convention that meets next Jan. 8. On Nov. 1 the signed resolution and a bound, printed copy of the proposal will be presented to Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and

Nixon Plans To Explain Stratagems

WASHINGTON (AP) — For two months President Nixon insisted that turning over even a single tape recording to the courts would destroy forever the privacy of the Oval Office. He called his stand "the hard line."

Friday, the President explains to the nation why he changed his mind on nine tapes and made what an aide called, "this single exception."

The existence of the tapes became known July 16 in the Senate Watergate committee testimony of Alexander P. Butterfield, a former White House aide. The committee and the special Watergate prosecution force asked for the tapes, were refused, and went to court. "It is... important that the confidentiality of conversations between a President and his advisers be protected," Nixon said Aug. 15 in a televised speech. "This is no mere luxury, to be dispensed with whenever a particular issue raises sufficient uproar."

And he vowed that "I must and shall oppose any efforts to destroy this principle." A week later, Nixon said "the principle of confidentiality either exists or it does not exist... Otherwise, the individuals who come to talk to him (the president)... will always be speaking in a eunuch-like way, rather than laying it on the line."

On Aug. 29, U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica issued the order that the tapes be delivered to him for his private review to determine what portions fell in the realm of national security and executive privilege and what parts should go to the grand jury. At his next news conference Sept. 5, Nixon talked about the appeal from that order — an appeal that eventually was turned down by a higher court. Confidentiality, he said again, is essential and indispensable to a President and "that is why I have taken the hard line that I have taken with regard to complying with the lower court's order."

The White House had already said Nixon would abide by a "definitive ruling" of the Supreme Court. The President would not say what was meant by the phrase. A reporter asked assurance that the tapes do not reflect unfavorably on the President. "There is nothing whatever," Nixon said. "That is not my concern... confidentiality once destroyed cannot in my opinion be restored."

Japan's Needs May Force It To Back Arab Cause

TOKYO (AP) — The Arab-Israeli war and oil shortages may force Japan into more sympathetic support of the Arab cause, a well informed Foreign Minister official said today.

"To some extent the Arab countries appreciate our rather sympathetic stance toward the Palestinian question. Maybe we have to clarify this position in a more outspoken manner very shortly," said the official who asked not to be identified.

President Vested With Much Power

Omar Burleson, M.C. 17th District, Texas

WASHINGTON, D.C. — If a President of the United States exercised all the executive authority given him by statutory enactment over the last 40 years or so, it is doubtful we could describe our system as a democracy-republic form of government. There are more than 470 separate statutes which give the chief executive discretionary power to seize property and commodities, control the means of production, mobilize the reserves, institute martial law, take over the transportation systems, regulate all private enterprise, and otherwise control the life of every citizen. More sobering than the scope of these emergency powers is that the President could invoke them at any time, since the U.S. is now in a legal state of national emergency which dates all the way back to 1933.

He said there was "no consideration" given to breaking diplomatic ties with Israel nor did Japan want to see the Jewish state—or any other Middle Eastern country—"pushed into the Mediterranean."

But he added that Japan is opposed in principle to territorial expansion by force—which includes the Israeli expansion since the 1967 war. Japan has voted in the United Nations for the basic Arab position that Israel should withdraw from the occupied territories in exchange for secure borders. The unnamed official said Tokyo in two years has doubled its contributions to more than $1 million annually for Palestinian relief operations. Officials were disappointed when, despite this support of the Arabs, Japan was included in their 5 per cent oil production cutback "so we are a little at a loss as to what the Arab countries are expecting of us," he said. But he noted that Japan might use its influence on the United States, Israel's most important backer. However, he did not mention any specific approach that have been made to Washington concerning the Middle East.

There is no question that the President should have some extraordinary powers available for immediate action in a genuine national crisis. These powers, however, should be tailored to contemporary needs, enacted by a present-day Congress and activated by a new proclamation when and if an emergency should arise. Tyranny is a strong word but, if the possibility exists of applying all these powers by a President, it deserves the description.

More sobering than the scope of these emergency powers is that the President could invoke them at any time, since the U.S. is now in a legal state of national emergency which dates all the way back to 1933.

This situation could conceivably constitute an underlying threat to democratic government by the combination of activist Presidents, permissive Congresses, and a series of great crises and turmoils. By inadvertence or design, states or emergency have remained in force long after their justifications have faded into history. The emergencies proclaimed in 1933 and 1950 are in effect today. While many of the Presidential powers, triggered by such proclamations have never been used, some have been invoked in ways not contemplated when the laws were passed. An example is the Trading with Enemy Act of 1917, which serves as authority for modern export control. A recent example of cited authority goes even farther back. The Feed and Forage Act of 1861 authorized

Progress Steady In Creek Project

Work is progressing steadily on the laying of a 12-inch pipeline for the Beal's Creek diversion project of the Colorado River Municipal Water Project.

Around 15,000 feet of the line now are in place, and the contractor, R. B. Hodgson, Midland, hopes to complete the job around Nov. 1. Footings have been poured for intakes, and pump units are due soon. The district will pump highly mineralized water, in playalakes west of Big Spring, seeking to dry these and thus reduce or stop the flow of brackish water down Beal's Creek and on to the Colorado River above Lake E. V. Spence. Water from the lakes will be pumped back behind the Natural Dam some 10 miles west of Big Spring.

Howard Test Progressing

Fowler No. 1 M. Morgan, three miles southeast of Big Spring, was reported drilling below 5,757 in its quest of the Fusselman pay.

Fowler also recently announced plans to reenter the No. 1 Flanagan and deepen to the Fusselman. This is east of the reentry Fowler No. 1 Morgan Ranch which has been flowing from the Fusselman for the past two months. In southwestern Borden County, Green & Michaelson No. 1 Modesta continued drilling at 6,126 in lime. Hason Oil No. 2 Glendening was announced as a 4,000-foot Grayburn test three-eighths of mile southeast of a recent 1 1/2 mile southeast extension of the Phoenix (Grayburn) field in the midst of the Spraberry Trend area. This venture is six miles north of Lenora. John L. Cox No. 3-Guy Mabee was completed as a five-eighths mile west extension to the LaCaff (Dean) field in Martin County. The venture, 12 miles northwest of Tarzan, rated 230 barrels of oil. No. 2-D Guy Mabee, a half mile south extension, flowed 240 barrels. Wheelock Oil of Corsicana No. 1 Bailey Ranch, a wildcat 22 miles southwest of Sterling City, has been abandoned at 9,400 feet. It was located 800 from the north and east lines of section 13-2, T&P.

Dawson Voters Facing Water District Issue

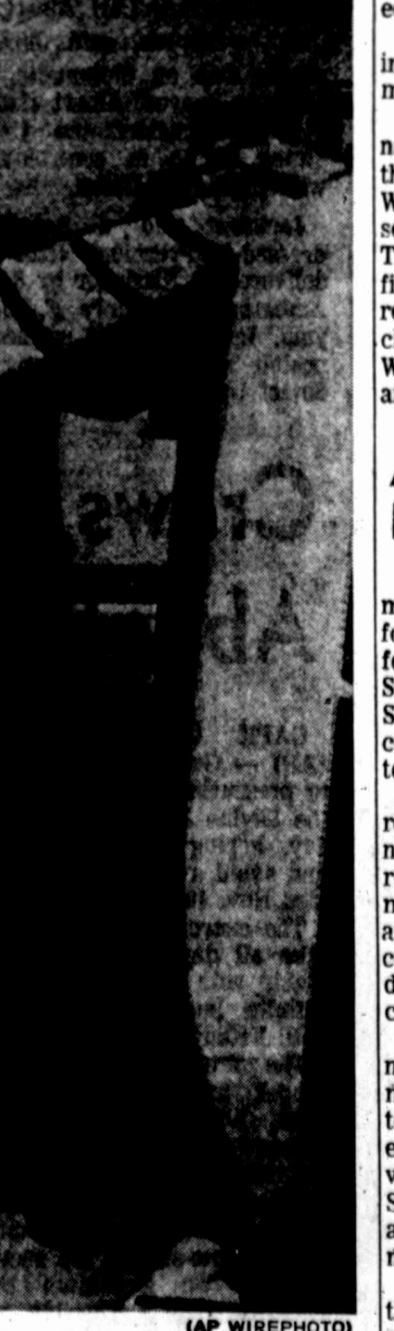

LAMESA — Dawson County voters face an extra issue when they go to the polls Nov. 6 to voice their opinions not only on nine state constitutional amendments but also on the crucial issue of creation of the South Plains Underground Water Conservation District. This issue, if approved by voters, would include parts of Dawson, Gaines, Terry and Yoakum counties and small portions of Andrews, Cochran and Lynn counties. Only residents of the area included within the water conservation district may vote on the matter. The election was called after the 126th District Court ruled in favor of the district and the Texas Water Rights Commission and against Darryl Jackson of Andrews and other plaintiffs in a law suit filed in an attempt to stop voters from holding an election. Voters will also decide whether a maintenance tax of three cents on each $100 valuation should be authorized. This rate, if adopted, cannot be raised by the board of directors. In Dawson County, the district includes the city of Lamesa and much of the area around it. Water district directors whose names will be on the ballot are those appointed by the Texas Water Rights Commission to serve until the election was held. Their appointment will be confirmed by the voters in their respective districts. This includes E. L. (Gene) Hendon of Welch of Precinct 2 for Dawson and Lynn counties.

Seymour Raids Net 24 Arrests

SEYMOUR, Tex. (AP) — County and state officers arrested 24 persons Wednesday night and early today in drug raids throughout this North Central Texas town. Sheriff Don Mooney said those arrested varied in age from 18 to 34. Officers confiscated a quantity of marijuana, pills and narcotics paraphernalia.

Council Tables Runway Bids

HOUSTON (AP) — No action was taken Wednesday by city councilmen on bids on a contract to resurface and lengthen a runway at Houston International Airport. The bids ranged from $10 million by Macomb Concrete Corp. of Fraser, Mich., to $14.2 million by Warren Bros. Co. of Houston. The wide range prompted Mayor Louie Welch to comment, "You wonder if they are talking about the same job."

WORDS FROM HOME — Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford displays a 20-foot-long telegram which he received Wednesday in Washington. The telegram contains congratulatory words from approximately 1,000 people living in Ford's home town of Grand Rapids, Mich.

ASCS Issues Date Reminder

Deadline is Monday for submitting petitions of nomination for community committee for Howard County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service, J. G. Hammack Jr., county executive director, said today. He issued the reminder in the regular newsletter which also noted that cotton production record forms are now being mailed and are also available at the ASCS office. Similarly, cotton producer loan forms (individual or through cooperatives) are at the office. Producers may substitute any non-conserving crop (except marketing quota crops) to protect the allotments and may even apply a conserving crop when used for hay or grazing. Starting with Oct. 1, 1973, set aside acres can be grazed but not harvested. Producers were reminded also that there will be no preliminary payments for 1974 production. Wheat payments will be made after Dec. 1, 1974, cotton payments after Jan. 1, 1975, and grain payments after March 1, 1975.

Veto Of Resolution May Be Overridden

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's veto of Congress' war powers resolution heads for a showdown vote in the House a week from today and a key member predicts it might be overridden.

Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., House floor manager for the bill, said Wednesday the Middle East war and the weekend Watergate uproar may give him more than the seven vote switches he estimates are needed to override the veto.

This would assure Congress its first override of a veto by President Nixon in eight tries, because the Senate easily has the two-thirds vote needed to override the veto.

Nixon vetoed the war powers resolution late Wednesday, saying it "would seriously undermine this nation's ability to act decisively and convincingly in times of international crisis."

The bill would impose a 60-day limit on presidents' power to commit U.S. combat troops abroad without Congress' approval. A president could extend the period 30 days solely for safe withdrawal of the forces he had committed.

Any time during the 60 or 90 days, under terms of the resolution, Congress could halt the war action by passing a House-Senate concurrent resolution which is not subject to a president's veto.

Contending the bill is unconstitutional, Nixon said it "would purport to take away, by a mere legislative act, authorities which the president has properly exercised under the Constitution for almost 200 years."

Zablocki contended the bill would reassert Congress' constitutional war powers by preventing a president from continuing his emergency war action more than 60 days without Congress' approval.

Zablocki said in analysis of the 238-123 vote by which the House approved the war powers resolution Oct. 12 — including how 74 absent congressmen probably would have voted — indicated a switch of seven votes would produce the two-thirds needed to override.

Municipal Meet Attracts Locals

People In Remote Kibbutz Learn To Live In Peril

KIBBUTZ MANARA, Israel (AP) — Residents of this kibbutz were watching a movie on television in their concrete underground shelter when they heard the hiss of mortar shells whizzing overhead.

Everyone in the farming village just three feet from the Lebanese border knew the Palestinian terrorists were at work again.

The 150 families of Manara, whose homes sit on a mountain top commanding a spectacular view of several Lebanese towns in the valley below, were lucky.

The mortars and rockets landed more than a mile away in the village of Margaliyot. But that was small consolation to these people who have lived a nightly undeclared war of their own, in addition to sending their sons and husbands to fight on the Egyptian and Syrian fronts.

"There's a lot of anxiety," said Esther Daniell, a kibbutz teacher. "Nobody knows when the war will really finish. And if it ends, will it end here? The terrorists have said they won't abide by a cease-fire."

When the war began, Manara moved underground on a 24-hour basis.

Now, the village descends to the shelter at dusk. The youngsters are back at school. The older children, women and older men have returned to the fields.

Kibbutz members said there's an emotional need to get back to the old routine.

The war has taken a heavy toll on Manara. It has been shelled and rocketed often, though only one empty apartment was hit.

One kibbutz member was killed in the Golan Heights and three wounded. Yet, there was laughter in the shelters. Many members were watching Laurence Harvey play a double agent in "Dandy in Aspic" on TV. A few girls cooked fresh fish in a little broiler and the men served gin and grapefruit juice.

Johanna and Tom Ripier, who immigrated here three years ago from San Francisco, said they didn't mind living in the square shelter which looked like a windowless dormitory. But they admitted it didn't look like San Francisco.

Tzofit Litib, who was born on the second day of the war, cried through the night in her crib in the clinic shelter. Her mother, Batia, could only spend 24 hours in the hospital because the doctors and nurses were busy with the wounded.

With the constant tension and hardships, why do people stay in this 30-year-old kibbutz? "War is never good," said Judith Hoexter, who came to Israel from Germany in 1939 and was a founding member of Manara. "But somebody has to stay here — otherwise it won't belong to Israel anymore."

"It's our home," said Mrs. Daniell, "and if we will leave our home when it's dangerous, we should change our home permanently."

"We think it is important for Israel and we love it, so we stay here. Besides, I think there are few places in Israel where there is full security. We have so many enemies on our borders."

RICHARD DENNING AND WIFE She's former Evelyn Ankers

Dennings Got Out Of The Rat Race

Copley News Service

MAUI, Hawaii — Richard Denning is as happy as he deserves to be.

One of the nicest guys in the world, he's also one of the most contented.

In 1965, Denning and his wife, actress Evelyn Ankers, deserted the Hollywood rat race and the Southern California smog for what they thought would be the quiet life on Maui in the Hawaiian Islands, and, though their life there hasn't been as quiet as they anticipated, it's been very nearly perfect.

Denning, an actor who made a name for himself in assorted Paramount pictures and later in various television productions including the long-running "Mr. and Mrs. North" series, still acts occasionally, but only when he feels like it.

Through what he calls "an unique arrangement," he plays the governor in the CBS-TV series "Hawaii Five-O" only when it suits all concerned.

"I'm not guaranteed any number of appearances a season," he explains, "nor do I have to appear in a segment if I don't want to."

"I can't be specific, but I think I work in about one segment out of four."

"Next week I'll fly over to Honolulu to appear in my third segment for this season, and I think they'll be shooting about their 12th or 13th episode."

Denning is an easygoing actor who became one by way of the amateur theatrical route.

Lamesa Bankers On Ag Board

Two Lamesa bankers are on the board of directors of the newly-formed Bankers Agricultural Credit Conference.

The first annual meeting has been scheduled for Dec. 7-8 at the Red Raider Inn convention center, and bankers from Districts 6, 7, 8 of the Texas Bankers Association are invited to participate, said Dr. J. Wayland Bennett, Texas Tech University professor of agricultural economics and conference coordinator.

Gene Benham, president of First State Bank in Morton, is president of the new group. Members of the board include Richard Crawley, president of First National Bank in Lamesa, and Elwood Freeman, president of Lamesa National Bank.

Purpose of the conference is to stay in touch with problems of financing agriculture and related agri-business firms.

Born in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., he moved with his parents to Los Angeles while he was still a child and, after graduating from Manual Arts High School, attended Woodbury Business College in preparation for entering his father's clothing manufacturing business.

In fact, he actually entered that trade and followed it for awhile.

However, while at Woodbury, he'd tried acting as a member of the college dramatic society and had enjoyed it so much that, after finishing school, he continued the avocation with little theater groups.

Denning became so enthusiastic about acting that he eventually entered and won an acting contest held in connection with a radio show and as his reward was given a long-term contract with Paramount.

He first attracted wide attention in "Adam Had Four Sons," a picture starring Ingrid Bergman and marking Susan Hayward's movie debut.

It was during his Paramount stint that Denning met and married Evelyn Ankers.

"We celebrated our 31st anniversary on Sept. 6," he says. "We met at a bowling match."

TOYOTA '74

In the year of the small car, the biggest choice is at your Toyota dealers.

You might think of Toyota as a car or two, just small potatoes in the small-car business. But you ought to stop in at your Toyota dealer's and see what he's got. You'll see a bigger selection of small cars than anybody else in town offers. You'll see coupes, 2-door sedans, 4-door sedans, station wagons, small pickup trucks and those very tough Land Cruisers. Twenty-three models in all, and all so you can find exactly the kind of small car you're looking for. The automotive experts say '74 is the year of the small car. We think you'll truly enjoy spending it in a new Toyota, seeing how much car your money can buy.

- SMALL, STRONG, LONG TOYOTAS. Our new trucks have the biggest engines of all the small pickups, and one has a bed a foot longer than any other small pickup's.
- LOW, LOW-PRICED TOYOTAS. Seven new Corollas this year, from the five-speed SR-5 to the lowest priced of all, the 1200 2-door sedan.
- TOUGH TOYOTAS. The three new models of the steel-clad Land Cruiser come equipped to the teeth. They're for people who like to play rough.
- SOFT TOYOTAS. The top of the Toyota line is Mark II, in three different models. Each comes with six cylinders and rich standard equipment. Worth giving up your big car for.
- NEW ALL-OVER TOYOTAS. The five new Coronas are virtually redesigned on one side and down the other. New safety features, advanced engineering. You'll see.

And so is the new Celica GT 5-speed.

The sportiest Toyotas are Celicas. A GT with a five-speed transmission, radial tires and full instrumentation. And right behind, at a slightly lower price, is the new Celica ST with a standard 4-speed transmission or automatic you can order. Racy as these new Celicas are, both offer the economy of a six months or 6,000 mile recommended maintenance schedule.

Police Told To Study NJ Pileups

KEARNY, N.J. (AP) — New Jersey State Police have been ordered to make a detailed investigation of a series of traffic crashes on the fog-and smoke-shrouded New Jersey Turnpike that left nine persons dead and more than 40 injured.

There were three major pile-ups and dozens of smaller, chain-reaction accidents on the route in the Kearny area early Wednesday when heavy smog and smoke reduced visibility to near zero. The smoke came from a week-long swamp fire in the Hackensack meadowlands. The massive pileups brought demands Thursday that the State Police explain why the superhighway was not closed when the fog rolled in.

State Police Supt. David B. Kelly said the turnpike, which runs north-south from New York to Delaware, was closed as soon as troopers realized the extent of the hazard, but he said there was no way of stopping motorists already on the highway.

Kelly said he had ordered a detailed investigation.

The crashes were the second disaster on the turnpike in less than a week. Last Friday night, eight persons were killed and 13 injured in a car-bus-truck crash near Bordentown.

Cattle Rustling Course Offered

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The California Department of Food and Agriculture is offering a 16-hour course in basic cattle rustling.

But it's not for rustlers. Its for law enforcement officers, cattlemen, students of agriculture, bankers and the like. There have been 240 students so far. The course, conducted by William Hooton of the Bureau of Livestock Identification, moves from town to town.

"We don't figure things will ever revert to the cottonwood tree and the roe," said Hooton. "But with the meat prices today, it's vital we catch these rustlers and deal with them like the criminals they are."

The department reported that roadside slaughters are up 82 per cent so far this year over the same period of last year, and the number of cattle reported missing is up 17 per cent.

Will Contradicts Itself; Woman, 89, May Benefit

DECATUR, Tex. (AP) — The will which would be worth as much as $1 million, is hand written.

"I, Ruth Cole, resident of Paradise, Wise County Texas, declare this to be my will . . ."

The handwriting is firm and, for the most part, clear. It was obviously written by someone who was up in years.

"After payments of all my just debts, I give devise and bequeath all my proper and interests of any kind and character and from whatever source derived to my sister, Laura Freeland . . ."

BED RIDDEN
Eighteen months later, Mrs. Laura Freeland, 89, is bed-ridden and subsisting on $133 a month in old age assistance.

Mrs. Cole's estate, in the meantime, has been estimated to be worth anywhere from $140,000 to $1 million.

The will goes on to name nieces and nephews as beneficiaries in the event that Mrs. Freeland is deceased.

Among those named is Thomas P. Read Jr., a nephew and the executor of Mrs. Cole's estate. Read is also an employee of the Decatur Savings and Loan where some $15,000 of the estate is deposited.

Read refused to comment on his part in the court battle over the will.

Mrs. Freeland, a widow, requires around-the-clock care since suffering a stroke four years ago, said Mrs. Ruth Gee, her daughter. Mrs. Gee is also a beneficiary of the will.

Requests that the widow be allowed money from the estate to cover medical bills have not been answered by executor Read, Mrs. Gee said.

Mrs. Cole's will was probated by Wise County Judge John A. Winder more than a year ago with attorneys for the estate and Mrs. Freeland and Mrs. Gee agreeing to submit the document to district court here for interpretation, William Nobles, lawyer for Read, said.

Interpretation was necessary because the second page of the will appeared to divide the estate, among the nieces and nephews in direct contradiction of the first page which left the estate entirely to Mrs. Freeland.

SWITCHED LAWYERS
However, before hearings on an interpretation were held, Mrs. Freeland and her daughter switched lawyers in an argument over handling of the case and contested probaton of the will on the grounds that the second page was forged.

William Nobles, attorney for the estate and for Read, said, "There were overtones of this (forgery of the second page) from the start."

Mrs. Gee said a handwriting expert told her lawyer the second page of the will was altered and probably was only an early draft of the first page of the document.

Mrs. Freeland's daughter and sons contend Mrs. Cole meant to leave everything to her sis-

Peanut Butter Lovers Watch Goobar War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz has launched a goobar war with Congress in hopes of winning concessions for overhauling the government's long-standing peanut subsidy program.

Butz admitted at a news conference Wednesday that the campaign will be rough. If adopted fully, Butz's recommendations will mean sharply lower government guarantees for peanut farmers.

"On the other hand, the stand we are taking right now should have great appeal to the urban Congress—to those who love peanut butter," Butz said.

He also pointed out that Georgia is the leading peanut state and Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., is chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Texas, another big producer, has Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex., as chairman of the House Agriculture Committee. Furthermore, House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., knows lots about peanuts.

In fact, Butz said, Poage told him that perhaps he was moving too fast on the peanut problem.

"Well, hell, we've been two years' time moving and it comes time to move," Butz told newsmen.

As shelled out by Butz, the peanut plan is to tighten up on price support for the 1974 crop and to push for congressional approval of a restyled program under a target price system which will go into effect next year for wheat, feed grains and upland cotton. A similar target price drive is planned for rice, and extra-long staple cotton.

Butz was asked if the recent White House trouble with Watergate and the furor over secret tapes might hinder his campaign to alter the peanut program.

"It doesn't make it any easier—let's put it that way," he said. "Nobody can predict what will happen in the current situation in the White House."

"I anticipate that this will ease now. I've said that before, of course. I've said it can only go up from here and it doesn't. But some day I'll be right."

Butz' aim is to rewrite old laws which he says keep peanuts pegged to relatively high price support levels. By shifting to target prices, which are keyed to domestic and export demand, he says taxpayers will be saved money and farmers given more freedom to produce for the cash market.

Angelo Nabs No. 1 Ranking

By The Associated Press
San Angelo, which fought its way into The Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll early this season, made it to the top this week—just in time to face one of its strongest opponents.
San Angelo advanced to notch to No. 1 in Class 4A when Baytown Sterling, the season-long leader, was knocked out last week by Galena Park.
San Angelo, a member of the tough Dist. 5-4A in West Texas, will have little time to revel in its new ranking. It plays fifth ranked and also unbeaten Midland High this week.
Holiday advanced to the No. 1 ranking in Class A in the same manner as San Angelo after New Diana, rated first all season, was beaten by White Oak.

Gregory-Portland in Class 3A Friendswood in Class 2A, and Big Sandy in Class B had strangleholds on their No. 1 rankings in impressive fashion. The three teams shutout their opponents by a combined score of 167-0 last week.
Two other upsets also rocked Class 4A with San Angelo free falling from 3rd to 10th after a loss to San Antonio Churchill and South Garland, seventh last week, falling out of the list after losing to Mesquite.

COMING AT YOU — Coahoma line standout Kyle Kiser will be in action Friday when the Bulldogs visit Ozone for the first of many crucial Dist. 7-AA tests. Kiser, a senior, is a two-way starter as guard on offense and linebacker on the stout Bulldog defensive squad. Game time Friday in Ozone is 7:30 p.m.

'Rebuilding' Process Still Going On In Oilers' Camp

HOUSTON (AP) — Sid Gillman is like a kid with an eraser set.
His Houston Oilers currently resemble a shanty shack on the wrong side of the tracks, but Gillman still is trying to fit the pieces together into a skyscraper.
Strapped with an 18-game losing streak and an 0-7 record, Gillman is busily shuffling his lineup, poring over other teams' waiver lists and looking for trades to end the nightmare.
When Gillman became general manager last March he went to work trading away almost half a team in hopes of bringing the Oilers back to life. So far, it hasn't worked.
"There's very little that can be said to a squad that is on this long of a losing streak except work," Gillman said Wednesday. "We're doing things now that should have been done in training camp and hopefully they will help."
"I'll say one thing, whoever traded away our team, certainly did a good job," Gillman said, apparently referring to the 1971 regime that traded such players as Roy Gerela, now a top place kicker for Pittsburgh, center Bobby Maples and linebacker George Webster.
In last week's 42-13 loss to Cleveland, the Browns raked Houston's flanks because there didn't appear to be anybody there. The offensive line, which has contributed to 236 yards lost attempting to pass, played one of its poorer games.
Gillman viewed the game films and started reshuffling.
Rookie corner back Larry Eaglin, recovering from an injury, will replace Benny Johnson. "He's tough and he's smart," Gillman said. "He's got the job at the corner and he's going to stay there unless he gets hurt."
In other moves, Gillman put free safety Jeff Severson at strong safety and plans to activate Bob Adkins and take a look-see at ace punt and kick off returner Alvin Haymond in the secondary.
Gillman also plans to activate taxi squaders Bill Thomas and George Amundson for trials at running back and announced Wednesday he had a pair of punters coming in for a tryout.

Smyer Hosts Garden City

SMYER — Garden City's Bearkats will more than likely have their hands full Friday night. That's when the Kats visit powerful Smyer, a team currently bidding to be the No. 1 team in Dist. 1-B Eight-man—if not the state.
Smyer, tied for the loop lead with a 6-0 mark, is the fastest team the Bearkats have seen on the way to their 3-3 mark.
Quarterback Randy Golsen, a good passer and an even better runner, leads the show, while another key figure is tailback Woody Lyons, the 5-10 youngster who cleared 6-8 in winning the Class B high jump last year. There is additional speed in Mark Stroope, who plays in halfback on offense but is even more impressive in the defensive secondary.
The Bobcats hit an offensive peak two weeks ago against Three Way as they posted a 93-6 victory.
Garden City will counter with an offensive backfield composed of Mike Patla, Charlie Puga and David Smith, while Mark Frysak and Joe Spurny will be at the ends, Joe Wooten is the center and Mark Black, Tommy Halfmann and Chris Hirt alternate at the guards.
Game time is 8 p.m. Friday.
Bearkat boosters will gather tonight in the high school cafeteria to view films of last week's game with Dawson, following a junior high clash between Garden City and Sterling City. The junior high tilt will begin at 6 p.m.

MSA To Elect Officers Tonight

A meeting of the Miss Softball America league has been called for tonight at 7 p.m. in the Runnels Junior High gym to elect officers for the coming year.
All coaches, managers, parents and voting members are urged to attend.

BS Squads Try Angelo

The eighth graders are at home and the ninth graders hit the road to San Angelo tonight as Big Spring teams try to improve on last week's 1-3 showing against outside opposition.
Action gets under way at Blankenship Field at 5:30 p.m. as the Goliad Mavericks, 5-1 on the year, take on San Angelo Edison in the first game of the doubleheader.
In the local nightcap, Runnels and Glenn's eighth graders collide in a 7:30 p.m. affair. Runnels carries a 3-2-1 mark into the game.
In San Angelo, Glenn's Comets and the freshmen Brahmas go in a 5:30 p.m. game in SA Stadium, as the Brahmas try to improve on their 1-3-2 slate.
The Toros, locked in a five-game tailspin after winning their opener, hook up with Edison's ninth graders at 7:30 p.m.

Packers, Vikes In Pee Wee Wins

The Packers stayed at the top of the Big Spring Pee Wee Football heap Tuesday with a 13-6 triumph over the Dolphins.
Brent Odom and Tracey Truette scored touchdowns for the Pack, now 6-1 on the year, while Ken Williams, John Breeser, Ron Salmon and David Emerson were outstanding on defense.
In a Monday game, the Vikings walloped the Rams 37-0 with John Rusbuldt's two touchdowns leading the way. Rusbuldt, the quarterback, scored on runs of 40 and 30 yards.
Also getting TDs for the Vikings were Dick Moncus, Steve Genoble, and Tim Davidson, who recovered a blocked punt in the endzone. The Vikes also notched up two safeties.

Lions, Bulldogs In 7-AA Tussle

OZONA — There's a bit of mystery and drama in the air this week as Ozona and Coahoma, two teams expected to challenge for second place in Dist. 7-AA, prepare for a Friday battle that will make one of them No. 1 — for a while, at least.
The 200-pound senior had his best game last week against Stanton, rambling for 180 yards.
Quarterback Jody Bennett and halfbacks Eddie Padron, Gary Roberts and Tim Tindol join Choate in the backfield.
In the line key men are Kyle Kiser and Dean Woods, while tackle Robbie Tindol and a linebacker Glenn Washburn head up the defensive thrust.
Game time Friday is 7:30 p.m.

San Diego Padres Buy Matty Alou From Cards

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Veteran outfielder Matty Alou, a former National League batting champion with a 309 lifetime average, has been sold to the San Diego Padres in a reversal of the club's low-budget policy.
The Padres bought the 34-year-old Alou from the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday for an undisclosed price, but reportedly substantial price.
The Padres have always run a tight-money operation. The team cut corners even closer last year after the announce-

Steers, Rebels Eye First Dist. 5-4A Win On Friday

By JACK COWAN
MIDLAND — Coach Jim Acree of the Midland Lee Rebels says Friday's game with Big Spring is the "crossroads" of the season for his team. Big Spring's Bob Burris says every game is a crossroad for his team.

Both will cross that road when they come to it Friday night at 8 p.m. in Midland's Memorial Stadium, site of one of the Steers' six losses earlier this year.

The Dist. 5-AAAA collision pits the league's two winless teams in a game that probably won't reflect that standing. Both teams have threatened the powers week after week, but have fallen short and hold 0-3 loop records. Lee is 2-4 on the year and Big Spring is 0-6, including a 27-20 loss to Midland High in Memorial two weeks ago.

"This could be a wild one," Burris said of the clash. "I hope our kids will be ready."

Physically, both teams should be ready to go. Lee welcomes back workhorse running back Jimmy O'Neal after the big senior missed last week's game with an injury, and his presence will be a shot in the arm to the Rebel offense.

O'Neal notched 178 yards rushing in the first two games, and fullback Milton Jones, who is better known for his defensive play at a linebacker spot, helped pick up the slack last week.

When the Rebels have to pass, Acree has plenty of confidence in quarterback Mark Capadonna, who has hit on 23 of 43 attempts for 218 yards and four touchdowns. His favorite target is 200-pound Brian Williams, as the pair have connected 13 times for 139 yards.

Top line hand, along with Williams, is 200-pound center John Stark. Jones and Stark are key men in the Lee defense from their linebacker positions.

"They'll be very tough," Burris promised early this week. "We're probably as much an improved team — from the first game to now — as we've seen this year."

The Rebels looked like they might have peaked for a while last week, as they had Abilene Cooper down 7-0 at the half. Cooper's power was too much to hold off for two halves, however, and the Cougs managed a 21-7 triumph to stay alive in the district race.

Big Spring provided the same type entertainment at the same time, frightening Permian with a 10-0 halftime lead before finally bowing 21-10 as the Panthers scored two TDs in the final four minutes.

But the Steers are used to that type ending, having come up just a hair short in all six of their defeats. Burris can't explain it — he just hopes he won't have to try any longer.

If the Steers do finally break loose, it'll probably be because of the passing game that has kept opposing coaches on the verge of strokes most of the season.

Double coverage has become the order of the day as defensive secondaries try to shut down Tom Sorley's aerial show, and gather around 175-pound flanker John Thomas Smith.

Smith has seen his tightest coverage the past two weeks, but he still is the runaway leader in Dist. 5-AAAA with 18 catches for 401 yards and five touchdowns. On the year, Smith has hauled in 34 passes for 688 yards as he bids for all-state status.

Ronald McKee, concentrating more on defense these days, Randy Schreengost and Bobby Jackson are other split targets, while tight end Vicky Woodruff and several slot people have become more and more open as the passing game improves.

Woodruff has done all his work in the past two district games, pulling in five passes for 62 yards and a score.

Danny Ferrell, who ranks eight among the loop's rushers with 151 yards, heads up the Steers' improved rushing game, while fullback Lonnell Banks and halfback Doug Smith are also due to see action.

The line will remain the same as last week, with Ray McCutcheon at center, Scott McEwen and Joel Fellows the tackles and Steve Brackett and Jerry Rogers at guard.

Defensively, Woodruff has been moved back to his old linebacker position after his replacement, Kyle Neighbors, was knocked out of action for the rest of the year with a broken leg last week. Stan Partee has moved to defensive end, opposite Casey Lovelace, while Joe D. Matthews will be at nose guard and McEwen and James Coffey at the tackles. Mark Moore is the left side linebacker.

John Smith and Lawrence Byrd play the corners, and McKee and Doug Robison are the safeties.

Rejoining the group after overcoming injuries are Ken Froman, a 215-pound tackle, and tight end Barry Loyd. Both were out with knee injuries. Edward Pekowski, a 160-pound sophomore nose guard-defensive end, has been elevated from the Junior Varsity for this week's game.

Finley Tells Williams 'No'

CHICAGO (AP) — Charlie Finley did it again.

The controversial owner of the world champion Oakland A's says he won't let go of his manager Dick Williams without a fight—in court, if necessary.

"If I do let Williams go, I'll have to be compensated. And compensated handsomely," said Finley Wednesday. He added he has no intention now of giving Williams a free hand to negotiate with another club.

By threatening legal action, Finley, who nearly stole the show at the World Series with the firing of his second baseman, may have started another ruckus involving the New York Yankees and the Detroit Tigers.

Williams, who has a contract with Finley through 1975, announced his resignation as Oakland manager Sunday just after the A's won the World Series. He was reportedly headed to the Yankees to replace Ralph Houk, who was on his way to Detroit as manager.

"I'm surprised," said Williams from his home in Rivera Beach, Fla. "I have high regard for Mr. Finley. He never went back on his word before."

Williams described Finley's action as a complete aboutface. He said he had received assurances from the owner that Finley would not block Williams' leaving.

Williams said he has not talked with the Yankees nor have the Yankees contacted him.

Finley said he "stunned" Yankee officials at an American League meeting in Chicago Tuesday when he denied them permission to talk to Williams about succeeding Houk, who had announced he already signed with Detroit.

The practice of seeking permission to talk contract with a prospective manager is usually a mere formality.

"I said 'absolutely no,'" Finley recalled a conversation with George Steinbrenner, Yankee board chairman, and Gabe Paul, Yankee president.

"There was quite a pow-wow between the Yankee and Tiger officials after I made it plain I wasn't going to let Williams go for nothing," Finley said.

"I wasn't in on the conversation but Steinbrenner told me the Tigers never did ask permission to talk with Houk, who also had two years to go on his contract with the Yankees," said Finley.

Rice Black Players Upset Over Teammate's Dismissal

HOUSTON (AP) — Dismissal of a black player from the Rice University football team apparently has brought unrest among other Negroes on the squad, but they were reluctant to talk to newsmen about the situation.

The black players have held at least two meetings since split end Edwin Collins was dropped from the squad Monday by Coach Al Conover after Collins cursed the coach.

Collins has since apologized and asked to be reinstated, but Conover apparently is not ready to lift the suspension.

"The blacks met Tuesday night in the room of middle guard Cornelius Walker and again in the girls' gym prior to Wednesday's practice.

McCoey McLemore, Rice assistant basketball coach, and brain coach Jack Allshouse joined in the Wednesday meeting, apparently as peace makers.

The blacks disbanded after about 20 minutes and reported for practice.

Walker said a decision had been reached "but no comment, right now."

"No comment," added defensive tackle Tom Moore.

"What can I say?" asked receiver Ed Lofton. "I don't want to say anything that'll hurt me. I just don't want to get involved in it."

McLemore could not shed

any light on the meetings.

He said the word "boycott" was never mentioned but McLemore, who also is black, didn't rule it out.

"I didn't think we used that word any more," said McLemore, who admitted he sat in on both sessions.

"Honestly, I haven't given them any advice," McLemore said. "I'm not going over Al's head. This is Al's program."

Collins was taking extra sprints as a disciplinary measure for missing Sunday's running session when a shouting match erupted between the player and Conover. Conover told Collins to turn in his equipment.

Queens Defeat ACC, McMurry

Howard County Junior College's Jayhawk Queens won a pair of games in a three-way volleyball meet with Abilene Christian and McMurry Tuesday in Abilene, defeating ACC 15-2, 15-10 and stopping McMurry 15-11, 15-1.

Marian Hobson, with seven points, and Pam Garrett with five were the top servers against ACC, while Mary Alice Terrazas had eight and Janice Platte had eight against McMurry.

The Queens are now 14-10.

Next action for the girls is Monday in the HC gym, when they host Odessa College and Tech beginning at 6 p.m.

Two Big Springers Keep Statistics Lead

Tom Sorley continues to rank as the leading passer and John Thomas Smith tops Dist. 5-AAAA in receiving, but the Steer flanker fell into a tie for the scoring lead after three weeks of play.

Meanwhile the Steers held on to the No. 4 spot among the eight league schools in team offense, while the defense lagged behind in the seventh position. The Steers have struck for 611 passing yards and 249 more on the ground while giving up 1,000 yards on the other side of the line — 796 of the steps on the ground.

Sorley, the Steer quarterback, has accounted for all of the aerial yards to rank more than 200 yards above the runner-up, and most of his strikes have gone to Smith, the No. 1 receiver with 401 yards on 18 catches.

Smith's yardage puts him ahead of the total last year's receiving champion had at the end of the year. Big Spring's Nate Poss won the title in 1972 with 387 yards on 20 catches. Smith was held scoreless against Odessa Permian last week, however, and Midland's Norris Johnson moved into a tie as both have 30 points to their credit.

Permian held on to the team offense lead by churning for over 400 yards against the Steers, with Midland second, and Cooper and San Angelo are running one-two in the team defense listing.

Mike Belew of Permian upped his rushing totals with 133 yards against the Big Springers, and now has 389 yards. Wilbord Burns of Midland High is next with 312, and teammate Mike Gaddy has 292 yards, good enough for third in the loop.

Four punters are averaging over 40 yards per kick, with Abilene's Chuck Sitton the best at 42.8 Marc Fielden of Permian, Trey Deen of Cooper and Milton Jones of Lee also rank high.

Simpson Falters, But Still Leads

NEW YORK (AP) — O. J. Simpson is human and vulnerable after all—but it's still going to be a long time before anybody catches up with him.

The Buffalo Bills' brilliant running back, who had spent the first five weeks of the National Football League season tearing up the opposition with 100-plus yard games, ran into a roadblock last Sunday in Miami.

He gained only 55 yards before retiring with a sprained ankle, an injury which the Bills say is healing quickly and won't keep him out of Monday night's game against Kansas City.

Despite his slim yardage Simpson still owns a commanding lead in NFL rushing, according to statistics released today by the league.

Simpson, who may have lost his chance to surpass Jim Brown's single-season record of 1,683 yards, has now amassed 988 yards. His closest pursuer is Calvin Hill of Dallas, the National Conference leader who bulled his way for 129 yards against the New York Giants last Sunday to boost his total to 562 yards.

Charley Taylor of Washington is the NFC's No. 1 receiver with 35 catches for 491 yards and six touchdowns. Ed Podolak of Kansas City leads the AFC with 29 for 237 but he hasn't scored a touchdown.

John Hadi of Los Angeles and Ken Stabler of Oakland are the respective NFC and AFC passing leaders.

Other NFL leaders include Oakland's Ray Guy, the top punter with a 46.1-yard average and place-kicker David Ray of Los Angeles and Roy Gerela of Pittsburgh, the scoring leaders.

But the Steers are used to that type ending, having come up just a hair short in all six of their defeats. Burris can't explain it — he just hopes he won't have to try any longer.

If the Steers do finally break loose, it'll probably be because of the passing game that has kept opposing coaches on the verge of strokes most of the season.

Hicks Wins BS Bass Tournament

The Big Spring Bass Club held its monthly fishing tournament at Lake Stamford last weekend, with Ted Hicks topping the list of 34 fishermen. It was a three fish tournament, with each day's catch a separate entry.

Mrs. Johnny Lou Avery captured second place honors, while Vic Keyes took third, Tom Henry fourth and Jerry Avery fifth.

Next scheduled meeting of the club will be Nov. 8 at 7:30 p.m. in the First Federal Savings and Loan Building. All interested persons are invited to visit and join.

Realistic Pay Level

Probably Amendment No. 1 on the ballot of proposed constitutional amendments facing Texas voters Nov. 6 will command more interest and attention than any other single issue.

It proposes that members of the Legislature be paid $15,000 a year, instead of the present $4,800; also that the legislature meet each year.

Heretofore, Texas voters have not taken kindly to suggestions that members of the House and Senate have their pay raised, and getting it from the miserably $20 a day during sessions up to $4,800 a year required repeated effort.

We have come to the conclusion that the time has come to be more realistic about this matter, that $15,000 is a reasonable figure for such an honorable position and that annual sessions are needed.

There are those, alluding to the recent disclosures on the national front, and indeed to Texas within recent years, who say that we need to raise the pay to encourage men of greater moral integrity to seek the office. We believe that this misses the point that you don't put a dollar value on honesty.

What a decent salary would do is to make it possible for people who otherwise could not entertain the idea of public service, to run, and if elected, to serve without economic pressure or unconscionable sacrifice. As it stands now, those who serve us must have independent income, or hopes that their positions will eventually earn promotion to a place that will sustain them economically. Members of the Legislature who make this sacrifice are to be applauded for what they have done and are doing, but they should not be expected to continue to bear a load that properly belongs to all the people.

Texas has grown in every way, including government, population and economy to the point that being a member of the Legislature is not a six-month deal out of two years but virtually a fulltime service. We need to compensate this work as a fulltime position, so that a responsible adult can submit his views and his philosophies to the voters and be in a position to serve if elected.

Moreover, Texas government is so big and so vital that it cannot be operated on guesses made two years in advance.

To some on the lower rung, $15,000 a year may sound like a lot of money; but we suspect the main pressure and opposition to the higher salary will not come from this quarter, but rather from those at the other extremity who feel that it is better not to put this public service within the reach of all.

Upon a re-examination of our position in the past, we now support Amendment No. 1. We hope others will restudy this matter and be prepared to vote their convictions Nov. 6.

Deserved Recognition

The Volunteers Council at Big Spring State Hospital has been cited for having the largest delegation at the state council meeting during the week at Dallas.

While this speaks well for the scope of the local program and the dedication of those associated with it, the larger recognition is the prominence given the local council on the program.

This was for the purpose of explaining a pilot program (on public responsibility) which has been operated here, apparently with considerable success.

It is this venturesome, innovative spirit, as well as that of human compassion, which has made the program here so distinctive. This gives a sustaining power that keeps this program vibrant and vigorous.

See: Pages Yellow

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

Did you ever get the feeling that the yellow pages were plotting against you? I mean, walking through the yellow pages (on your fingers, yet!) is fine, only whoever thought up all of those subject topics had a different train of thought than this reporter.

FOR INSTANCE, what do you drive? A car? That's what you think. Under cars in the yellow pages, there is only one category, Car Washing and Polishing.

Except when your machine is being washed and polished, you are driving an automobile. Because under automobile, there are: automobile body repairing and painting, automobile balancing, automobile batteries, automobile buyers, automobile camshaft grinding (I love that one), automobile dealers, and automobile dealers — used.

The only other item back there under car was car pool distributors which stated "See Warehouses — Merchandise."

SO I obligingly turned to Warehouse — Merchandise, but I didn't see anything about car pools. But I did see warehouses — household goods and warehouses — steel.

I then saw some other interesting "W" categories like warning lights, wash fountains and washateria's, as well as washing — automobile — where it referred me right back to car washing and polishing. You can go crazy pretty quick hunting a category.

THE OTHER day I was hunting nursing homes, and the pages told me to look up homes — nursing or homes — convalescent.

That kind of made me wonder if my Pennsylvania Dutch Cousin Annie wouldn't be able to read the yellow pages better than I can.

I still remember when she excitedly told me about a picnic. She said, "I'll run the hill up and I'll run the hill down and there was a snake waiting for me to bite." So she probably visits a "home nursing."

I DECIDED to look up newspapers, and there we were right under newspapers where we belonged. But when I decided to look up radio, I became confused again. There was radio aviation schools, radio communication equipment, radio dealers — retail, radio paging and signaling service, radio schools, radioservice, radio speaker rebuilding service, radio station representatives, radio systems, radios — aircraft, radios — automobile — and radios — Marine. But no radio — broadcasting.

It made me proud that our category simply said Newspaper. I'm so glad it didn't say newspapers — to read; newspapers — to line garbage; newspapers — to wipe feet; newspapers — for bottom of birdcage.

JUST THINK about it — if you had a drain running rampant and pouring water all over the house. Look up plumbers. It says, plumbers equipment, plumbing contractors, plumbing drain and sewer cleaning, and plumbing fixtures and supplies.

But then — things could be worse. If there were no yellow pages, you'd have to recall the name of some individual plumber and if you were new in town, you might drown in the process.

So thank goodness for the pages — see yellow.

Principles, Not A Man

William F. Buckley Jr.

The fault was substantially Agnew's. But the consequences of his weaknesses are substantially those of the American people. We go to such lengths to identify positions with people, that we find it hard to detach those positions from those people when it becomes convenient to do so. So comprehensively did Agnew emerge on the political scene as the incarnation of law, order, probity, and inflexible ethics, that now that he has fallen, we are made to feel that the case for law, order, probity and inflexible ethics has somehow fallen too: that ethics is itself subject to bribe and delinquency. This tendency to anthropomorphize our ideas is an American habit that can get us, indeed has just now gotten us into, deep trouble.

THE CONSERVATIVE community was outraged when, 20 years ago, Dean Acheson said following the conviction of Alger Hiss that he could not turn his back on Alger Hiss. It was felt then that Acheson was not saying merely that he would stand by — in his hour of need — an old friend, even one who had lied and lied, and who had worked for a foreign dictator, and who had attempted (indeed still does) to bring down an innocent man in order to save his own skin — Acheson was saying not merely that he would stand by that man, but that, in effect, he doubted the processes of justice that found that man guilty. That was why we were outraged.

AND WE HAVE a right to be outraged against those who, for old time's sake, and in veneration of their ideas as so trenchantly defended by Vice President Agnew, will say now: "I'm standing behind Agnew — Agnew was framed." Mr. Agnew, reaching for self-justification, was no more plausible than Alger Hiss. He lost his plausibility after looking the ladies of California in the eye and telling them that he would not resign under any circumstances, only to do so a fortnight later, pleading guilty to one felony, and acquiescing in the publication of a dossier of data about his activities which, if it is a tissue of lies, permits us to believe that the Justice Department and the FBI and the judiciary conspired together to frame Alger Hiss.

I DO NOT see that it is a part of the conservative creed to suggest that no one who believes in our creed can succumb to temptation.

WHAT YOU cannot tolerate, in politics, is precisely what is required in law: a consideration. Mr. Agnew knew all this, and it really would not affect one's judgment of what he did if he could prove that while governor he had awarded the contract to paint the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel to Michelangelo. He looked us all in the eyes and said he was not guilty, had done nothing wrong, was being persecuted by the Justice Department, would not resign; and we believed him. I think it wrong that, because we have over several years now treated Mr. Agnew and the ideas Mr. Agnew is associated with as inseparable, we should, in order to attempt to salvage those ideas, attempt to salvage Mr. Agnew. The temptation — our temptation — is, really, to salvage our own pride.

It is the highest tribute to Mr. Agnew to take his ideals so seriously as to apply them to Agnew himself. That we are so gravely committed to high standards of behavior, that we are willing to renounce those who stray from those high standards — even if they are our friends and heroes, is a tribute to our society.

Curbstone Musings

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone musings of a Pavement Plato:

Boredom and loneliness are two of the greatest curses of modern civilization.

Perhaps more than half the people alive on earth today will spend the major portion of their existence being bored or lonely — or both.

This is true despite the fact that man now has 10 times more toys and gee-gaws to divert him from his inner woes than at any other times in history, and keeps inventing fresh forms of entertainment every year.

Somehow they fail to work. Man is not amused by himself. He finds the task of killing time pleasantly increasingly difficult and stubborn work.

Why is man so bored and lonely in this century? There may be many reasons. One, certainly, is that the spread of science has made all people realize how isolated and relatively unimportant the human species is in the endless catalogue of time and space. Man dies; his universe goes on, indifferent to his fate.

How can you tell whether you are bored? Well, there's no doubt you are bored, whether you realize it yourself or not — if —

You are talking to yourself more — but enjoying it less.

You used to know the names of all the major league baseball players, but now you are not even sure of the nicknames of the teams.

Television, you think, is still nothing but a vast wasteland. You get more critical of the quality of the paper towels in the office washroom.

It has been months since you heard a joke that wasn't an echo of a joke you heard 20 years ago.

Your old and still dear friends seem to be getting a bit stupid and tiresome lately, and you have privately decided that your employer is balmy and getting balmy by the week.

You no longer look for challenges in your work — all you want from it is a few waves and a few more oats.

Reading an article such as this doesn't make you think. It just makes you annoyed.

Yep, you're bored. I'm sure of that. Which proves, perhaps, that it takes one to know one.

Baby, It's Warm

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Our TV commentators have indicated that we can survive the oil shortage this winter if everyone will conserve on their heat by two or three degrees.

IS THIS is not too much to ask, it is my personal opinion that television could play a major role in what could be the worst fuel crisis in our history.

We have all become such victims of the power of TV suggestion that, in my opinion, we easily could be brainwashed into believing that this was the mildest winter in our history.

IT WOULD require a certain amount of news slanting on the part of the networks and local stations, but it would be worth it if we can save the fuel.

I propose that the people in charge of giving us reports on television lie about the weather. If it's cold out, they must report it's mild; if it's going to snow, they must refrain from mentioning it. The words "blizzard," "ice storms" and "frost" must be banned from the air.

FOR THE next six months, any temperatures below 40 degrees may not be reported for national security reasons.

The key to this plan are the Today and CBS Morning News shows. All over America people wake up, turn on the television and listen to what Frank Blair and Hughes Rudd have to say about the weather.

THEY ARE, in effect, our national weathermen. If their maps indicate freezing weather, the housewife automatically turns up her thermostat three degrees. If they say their area can expect sunny skies, the wives turn their thermostats down. It doesn't make any difference what is going on outside the house: everyone knows that television doesn't lie.

THE LOCAL stations, which all have their own weather shows, must also join in the conspiracy. If the Billings, Mont., station would give a favorable forecast for a subzero day, they could save enough fuel to light all the neon signs in Las Vegas. If the Portland, Maine, TV station would advise everyone in January to go to the beach, we would have enough fuel to bus 3,000 fans to the Super Bowl.

I KNOW there may be some resistance by network and local news departments to lying about the weather. But it's being done in the Soviet Union and many of the Iron Curtain countries with great success. If it weren't for Soviet television telling the Russian people how nice it was outside in December, I doubt if any of them would live there for more than one winter.

Signs Need Investigation

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Fourteen years after cessation of menstruation, what would be the reason for "spotting" in a woman almost 70? Would you advise a D and C at this age? Would this stop the spotting? — Mrs. M.C.

Such "spotting" deserves — I probably should say demands — investigation, not because it necessarily indicates anything serious, but because sometimes it does. If anything serious is happening then the sooner it is identified and treated, the better.

Indeed, any abnormal bleeding, anywhere, should be investigated promptly.

Actually there are many causes of spotting after menopause. The one we fear most, of course, is cancer. But there are others. Women taking estrogen (female hormone), as many of them do, may require some adjustment in the dosage to stop the bleeding. Such bleeding also can occur with the presence of infection or numerous miscellaneous sources of irritation.

In my opinion, a D and C (dilation and curettage) is a proper part of an examination for this. Sometimes the bleeding will stop after the D and C. It won't if cancer is the cause — but the examination would detect cancer.

No, 70 is not too old to have a D and C.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you explain bullous-type emphysema? What is it and what can be done about it? My wife has it, and is told there is no chance for surgical excision. I also enclose 20 cents and a long stamped, self-addressed envelope for your booklet, "How To Control Emphysema." — G.M.P.

Emphysema, as you doubtless know, is a loss of elasticity in the lungs lose their sponge-like lungs lose their sponge-like texture. They can't expel as much air and thus can't draw in as much fresh air.

In some cases considerable numbers of the little air sacs are destroyed leaving a large cavity which is called a bulla. This is the so-called bullous type — the large cavity will show in an X-ray.

Sometimes these large bullas can be decompressed surgically, and sometimes they cannot. But there is no other means of preventing or treating the bulla.

For a comprehensive discussion of how to cope with the change of life, including scores of pertinent questions and their answers, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald for his booklet, "Make Menopause Easier," enclosing 35 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed (use zip code) envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

Something Else?

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Contributing to the deepening crisis here has been the widespread belief, both in Congress and within the Nixon administration itself, that President Nixon fired Archibald Cox as special prosecutor because he was getting too close to unpleasant truths.

THAT ENCOURAGED bipartisan support in Congress, including backing from some Republican leaders, for legislation requiring a new independent prosecutor of the Watergate affair. Simultaneously, Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry Petersen, now in charge of the case, is under intense pressure to follow investigative trails begun by Cox. To block the legislation or harness Petersen would subject Mr. Nixon to new charges of cover-up.

Thus, the President miscalculated in his lightning thrusts last weekend. Well aware of congressional reluctance to impeach a President (which remains basically unchanged, he felt he could get rid of Cox and the White House tapes controversy in one move with impunity. But instead of putting Watergate behind him, the scandal was spotlighted more than ever.

LAST WEEKEND'S stunning developments actually originated in Mr. Nixon's deep regret, encouraged by aides who share his hard-line political style, that he had agreed to Prof. Cox's selection under duress last spring. Those aides considered Cox a liberal Kennedy Democrat with a dagger at Mr. Nixon's throat. Even presidential counselor Melvin R. Laird, a voice of moderation at the White House, regarded Cox's appointment as incredibly bad politics.

THIS REVULSION with Cox began boiling over about 10 days ago when Mr. Nixon instructed Atty. Gen. Elliot Richardson to offer a compromise on the White House tape recordings that Cox would never accept. In the upper reaches of the Justice Department, this was immediately recognized as a ploy to conclude the tapes question while purging Cox and his whole operation. That it would also drive such independent voices as Richardson and Deputy Atty. Gen. William Ruckelshaus out of government was viewed as an added bonus by White House hard-liners.

HIGH-RANKING Justice Department officials believe that the special prosecutor's office, though run by Kennedy Democrats, was not embarked on a vendetta against the President. Rather, one high-ranking Justice Department official suspects the White House feared "Cox was doing too good a job." Indeed, some lawyers in Cox's office had hinted they were close to starting breakthroughs.

Cox's departure provides grim satisfaction in itself at the White House. "That arrogant s.o.b. Cox had this whole little Kennedy fiefdom, and now he doesn't have it anymore," one presidential aide told us. But White House aides were stunned Sunday afternoon when Cox's press spokesman, James Doyle, announced the Cox operation was staying intact to bring Watergate's wrongdoers to justice. This intensifies pressure on Petersen.

MY ANSWER

Billy Graham

I have a son, who has had two years of college, and has developed into what you might call an agnostic. He is not bitter, but he will have nothing to do with God, Bible and the church. This breaks our hearts. What can I say to my son? — K.F.

You may have said too much already. Frequently, when children renounce parental beliefs, the parents mount a talk campaign to verbalize them into the kingdom. I doubt that ever works.

If you read my column a few days ago, you recall the question from a 16 year old who said she was looking for the answer to life. Frankly, I think your son is among such "seekers" and that is commendable. In order to start at "ground zero," however, they often feel parental persuasions have to be discarded.

Hopefully later, if your faith is a genuinely Biblical one, he will accept it.

What is needed now is the power of a good example. It is said that when Stanley travelled in Africa, David Livingstone did not bother at first to argue his faith with him. Later, however, Stanley said, "When I saw Christ in David Livingstone, I became a Christian in spite of myself."

A portion of Scripture helpful to you is what our Lord said in the Mountain Sermon (Matthew 5:16): "Let your good deeds glow for all to see, so that they will praise your heavenly Father." You live the Christian life in all of its beauty and simplicity, and no words would be more eloquent. Pray for your son's conversion, and expect one day to hear of it.

A Devotion For Today

"If you keep my commandments, you will abide in my love, just as I have kept my Father's commandments and abide in his love." (John 15:10)

PRAYER: We thank You, Father, for the church. We want to help make it a vital force in the life of the people of the community. Fill us with new and fresh ideas of service. Amen.

The concert, specially composed by Ellington, marked United Nations Day.

Street Signs May Soon Promote Beautification

"Clean Up Shape Up" signs may begin appearing beneath city stop signs to promote citizen involvement in the ongoing city beautification drive.

City Councilwoman Polly Mays, co-chairman of the drive's steering committee, suggested to the city manager that oval pastel-colored signs bearing the drive slogan be put up throughout town.

City Manager Harry Nagel told the Herald Wednesday that 30-40 signs will be made as soon as the materials are available.

Alley clearing efforts being handled by a street department crew in the initial thrust of the drive are now concentrated in the sixth of 12 designated 100-block areas of town.

The crew is now working in the Douglass Addition in the town's southwest. Efforts wound up Tuesday in the adjacent Wason Addition.

Upon completion of the present area, expected by Friday, the crew will move into the far western sector of town bounded by Walnut, Birch and Oak Streets on the west, State Park Drive on the east, Eighth Street on the north and the main gate to Webb on the South.

As of last Friday, a total of 436 truckloads of brush, tree limbs, abandoned appliances and other junk had been gleaned from city alleys and hauled off by the special alley crew, according to the public works department.

Five fulltime employees have been hired by the city at $400 a month each to "birddog" the 100-block areas of town which have already been worked over by the street crew. Job of these new employees is to maintain clean conditions in the neighborhood on a permanent continuous basis.

Autism Society Forms In Area

LUBBOCK — A West Texas chapter of the National Society for Autistic children has been formed here to serve 75 West Texas counties.

Autism is a condition characterized by severe problems in communication and behavior. Due to lack of responsiveness, autistic children sometimes are thought mistakenly to be deaf or mentally retarded.

These youngsters are usually healthy, intelligent and attractive in appearance, but may have speech difficulties, be withdrawn, resist change, show unusual interest in inanimate objects, be extremely active or have sleeping difficulties.

More information about the chapter and its work may be had from Mrs. Marianne de Diaz, P.O. Box 205, Lubbock 79408. Next meeting of the chapter will be at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 13 in the basement conference room at St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock.

Explorer Post Sets Toy Drive

Explorer Post 146 recently set plans for an emergency service project.

Wednesday they plan to clean up the grounds and building at the Watters Radio Club on Wason Drive. On Nov. 15, they plan to collect toys for underprivileged children for Christmas.

The post also made tentative plans for a Christmas dinner. The group will paint the club trailer on Wason Road Nov. 17-18.

Anyone desiring to join the post and participate in these activities may contact J. Cody at 263-4501.

Carswell's Fuel Handling Cited

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — While everyone is feeling the fuel crunch, there is one group here which apparently has been handling the problem well.

The Carswell Air Force Base Fuel Management Branch has been selected as the best unit in the Strategic Air Command for fiscal year 1973.

The management section, which receives, stores and distributes about four million gallons of jet fuel each month, was awarded a trophy.

Second Camp Near Pleiku Captured By North Viets

SAIGON (AP) — A South Vietnamese government base in the central highlands 12 miles west of Pleiku fell to the North Vietnamese two days ago, military sources said today.

It was the second large government camp near Pleiku captured in a month.

An estimated 2,000 North Vietnamese troops backed by tanks assaulted Plei Blang after a heavy artillery barrage, the sources said. The post was defended by about 600 infantrymen, but the sources said casualties were not known.

On Sept. 22 the North Vietnamese overran the Le Minh ranger base 11 miles west of Plei Blang. More than 200 government troops were reported dead or missing. Government columns sent to retake Le Minh have been stalled for weeks.

There are an estimated 15,000 to 20,000 North Vietnamese troops in the area west of Pleiku. Intelligence sources in the city have for weeks been predicting a Communist move to link up these forces with a division based in coastal Binh Dinh province.

In Cambodia, meanwhile, the last of the Soviet diplomatic exodus is the result of the campaign in the United Nations among nonaligned and Communist nations to seat the government-in-exile of Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

In military actions, the Cambodian command said its fighter-bombers strafed behind insurgent lines southwest of the capital Wednesday night and this morning, causing "heavy losses."

The command said the air attacks prevented offensive moves by Khmer Rouge insurgents who have pressured the capital's southern defense perimeter along Highway 38.

Other clashes were reported at Ang Talek on the capital's western perimeter and around the towns of Srang and Tram Khnar, inside insurgent territory 24 miles southwest of Phnom Penh.

In Laos, a Vientiane government spokesman said clashes continued in many areas between government and Pathet Lao forces despite the Feb. 21 cease-fire.

Ryan To Become ATC Inspector

Col. (brigadier general) Malcolm E. Ryan, Jr., a former commander of the 78th Flying Training Wing, Webb, will become inspector general of Tactical Air Command (TAC) next month.

Ryan left Webb about a year ago to take command of the 12th Flying Training Wing at Randolph AFB, Texas. The transfer to TAC was announced this week. He was succeeded at Webb by Brig. Gen. Stanley M. Umstead Jr., who was moved to a post in Air Training Command headquarters in August.

Succeeding Ryan at Randolph will be Col. John P. Rollston.

Julie Says Hold Up Judgment

DETROIT (AP) — Julie Nixon Eisenhower says Americans should "feel sympathy" for former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew. "People shouldn't judge him until they know all the facts," she said.

Mrs. Eisenhower spoke about Agnew after delivering a speech Friday at a luncheon for the Curtis Publishing Co., for which she is a $10,000-a-year assistant editor.

Institutions Join In Speech Study

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Abilene Christian College, Hardin-Simmons University and the West Texas Rehabilitation Center have arranged a consortium for academic studies and practice in speech pathology and audiology.

The program will provide expanded clinical and classroom experience beyond that which could be offered by any one member of this consortium.

"ACC, HSU and the Rehab Center have worked for years toward the completion of the consortium," said Dr. B. J. Humble, ACC vice president for academic affairs. "We are happy to be able to offer a strong program to the people in this need that has existed for many years."

ACC is already offering a five-year program leading to the master's degree in speech pathology and audiology. This includes four years of undergraduate work and a year of graduate work. When completed, the student should be qualified for the certificate from the American Speech and Hearing Association.

FLOWERS GALORE — While taking a course in flower arranging at the junior college, Mrs. J. C. Williams said she had "flowers all over the house." Now she arranges them for her friends and family, but still keeps attractive arrangements at home.

RECOMMENDED RECIPES

Used By Mrs. J. C. Williams

STEAK ROLLS WITH SOUR CREAM SAUCE

1 lb. round steak, tenderized
 1/4 cup flour
 1/4 tsp. salt
 1/8 tsp. pepper
 2 tbsps. shortening
 3 tbsps. mushrooms, chopped fine (optional)
 3 tbsps. onion, chopped fine
 1 can quick crescent rolls
 Sour cream sauce
 Cut steak into four rectangular pieces. Coat with mixture of flour, salt and pepper. Brown in shortening in skillet. Drain on paper towel. Sauté mushrooms and onions. Place 1 1/2 tablespoons of mixture on one end of each piece of meat. Fold over other end, covering mixture. Unroll dough, leaving two triangles together to form a rectangle. Press to seal seam. Place meat in center of dough. Fold up sides and ends of dough, sealing edges. Place seam-side down on a cookie sheet, and bake at 400 degrees for 10 to 12 minutes, until brown. Serve hot with sour cream sauce.

SOUR CREAM SAUCE

1 cup sour cream
 1/2 tsp. butter
 1/2 tsp. parsley flakes
 1/4 tsp. salt
 Combine all ingredients, and heat thoroughly, but do not boil.

SCALLOPED TUNA AND POTATO CASSEROLE

4 cups raw potato, sliced
 1 can (7 oz.) tuna, flaked
 1/4 cup butter
 1/4 cup flour
 2 cups milk
 1/2 cup onion, chopped fine
 1 tsp. green pepper, minced
 1 tsp. salt
 1 tsp. pepper
 In a greased casserole dish, arrange alternate layers of potatoes and tuna. Melt butter in saucepan, and blend in flour. Gradually stir in milk, and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, for 8 to 10 minutes, or until slightly thickened. Add onion, green pepper, salt and pepper, and pour mixture over tuna and potato in dish. Bake at 325 degrees for one hour, or until potatoes are tender.

NO FROST CHOCOLATE CHIP CAKE

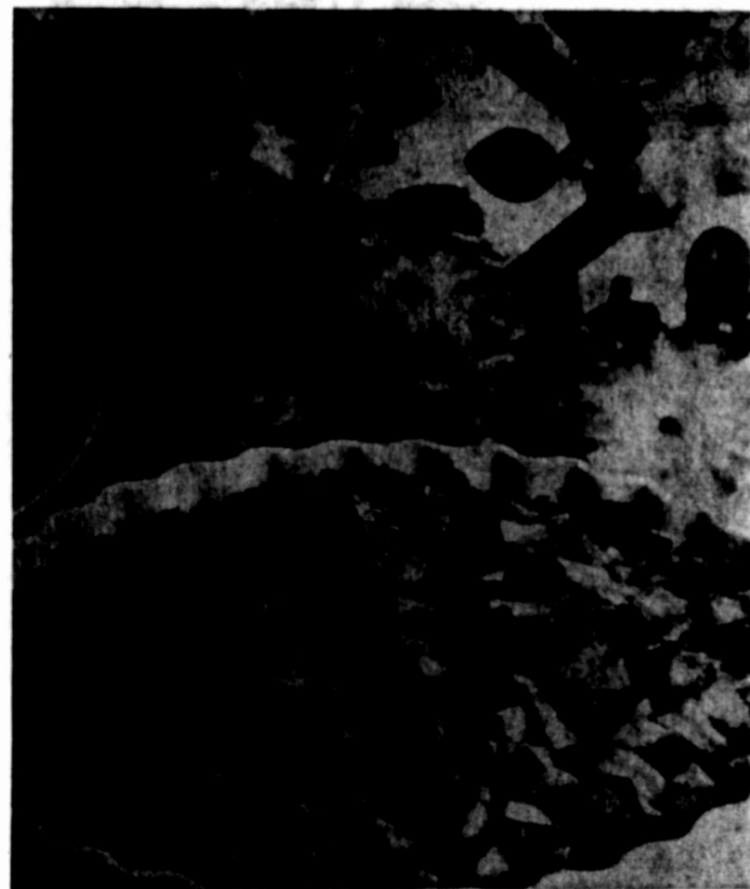

1 cup dates, chopped
 1 tsp. baking soda
 1 cup sugar
 1 cup shortening
 2 cups flour
 1 tsp. cocoa
 1 cup chocolate chips
 1/2 cup pecans, chopped
 1 cup plus 3 tbsps. hot water
 1/2 tsp. salt
 2 eggs
 1 tsp. vanilla
 Add baking soda to dates, and pour hot water over them. Cream shortening and sugar. Add eggs and date mix, flour, salt, cocoa and vanilla. Add 1/2 cup chocolate chips. Pour mixture into 9x13-inch pan, or an Angel Food cake pan. Sprinkle top with remaining 1/2 cup chocolate chips, and nuts. Bake 40 minutes at 350 degrees.

CHOCOLATE ICING (For cake or brownies)

1 cup sugar
 1/4 cup cocoa
 1/2 cup milk
 1/4 cup margarine
 2 tps. vanilla
 Combine sugar, cocoa, milk and margarine and bring to a boil. Boil one minute and add vanilla. Cool slightly and spread over cake or brownies.

COCOA BROWNIES

3/4 cup flour
 3/4 cup sugar
 1/4 tsp. salt
 1/4 cup cocoa
 1/2 cup soft margarine, not melted
 2 eggs
 1 tsp. vanilla
 1/2 cup nuts, broken (optional)
 Sift flour with sugar, salt and cocoa into a large mixing bowl. Add shortening, unbeat eggs and vanilla. Beat at medium speed for three minutes (or with wooden spoon, 100 strokes per minute). Add nuts during last few seconds of beating. Spread into greased 7x11x1 1/2-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 to 18 minutes. Do not overbake. Cool in pan. Ice or cut into squares.

COMBINE APPLES, NUTS For robust autumn flavor

Capture Fall's Flavor In Apple Pie Glory

According to data compiled by the U.S. Department of Agriculture in 1970, Americans consumed on the average, 3,330 food calories per day. Of these, 12 per cent were from protein, 42 per cent were from fats and 46 per cent from carbohydrates. About one third of the carbohydrate calories came from sugar. Calories are the units of measurement of heat energy needed for human survival.

A common misconception about calories is that some foods, such as sugar, contain a different kind of calorie and therefore are more fattening than other foods. This is untrue. A calorie is a calorie no matter where it is found. A general rule is that body weight attained at age 25 should be maintained through middle and old age. Exercise in moderation will help maintain muscle tone and good cardiovascular health.

Sugar is found naturally in many foods and as a carbohydrate is an important part of daily diet. Extra sweets eaten in reasonable amounts and after consuming an otherwise well balanced diet add much pleasure to food consumption. "Apple Pie Morning Glory," another of Imperial's "recipe of the month" series, is also ideal for breakfast or brunch. Finicky appetites will perk up when its aromas float through the kitchen. And it's easy to make even when you are still sleepy-eyed.

Crustless if you wish, "Apple Pie Morning Glory" eliminates the fat and extra carbohydrates of the usual pie.

APPLE PIE MORNING GLORY

1 egg, well beaten
 1/2 cup Imperial Brown Sugar
 1/2 cup Imperial Granulated Sugar
 1 tsp. vanilla
 Pinch of salt
 1/2 cup all-purpose flour
 1 tsp. baking powder
 4 apples, medium size, pared and chopped or sliced
 1/2 cup pecans, chopped
 Combine all ingredients and pour into greased 9-inch pie plate and bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.
 Note: This pie does not need a pastry shell but one can be used, if desired.

Club Work Increased Her Cooking Abilities

By BARBARA LORD
 "I didn't know the first thing about cooking when I got married, and my husband knew even less," said Mrs. J. C. Williams. "But when you get married, you don't have much choice but to learn."

Mrs. Williams (June) who will observe her 25th wedding anniversary Nov. 10, has come a long way in her ability as a cook. She admits it still isn't her favorite hobby, but she doesn't find it to be the chore it was at first.

Williams is a fireman with Texas and Pacific Railway, and has been with the railway for more than 26 years. The couple has one daughter, Mrs. Steve (Shery) Dreher and one granddaughter, Tiffany, 2. Mrs. Dreher and Tiffany are currently living with the Williams', while Dreher is assigned with the Air Force in Thailand.

Mrs. Williams is an active worker in county home demonstration club work. She is president of College Park HD Club, and serves as Texas HD Association chairman and yearbook chairman for the county HD Council.

"I've learned a lot about all phases of homemaking through the club work," said Mrs. Williams. "Many of my recipes are ones I've gotten through the club. I still haven't gained enough confidence in my cooking to do a lot of experimenting, but I'm getting better. I don't go much for gourmet foods."

The Williams family has a unique schedule. He works from 4 p.m. to midnight, so Mrs. Williams must prepare the primary meal of the day during the lunch hour. Williams "just pops in for supper whenever he can get away," so Mrs. Williams keeps a ready supply of quick foods on hand.

"I guess pies are my 'thing,'" said Mrs. Williams. "I enjoy making them, and we also like cobblers and cookies. Whatever I'm preparing, I follow a cookbook very closely unless it's something extremely simple."

Mrs. Williams began HD activities about seven years ago. "Before that, I was involved with Brownies, PTA and Band Boosters, as most mothers are with children in school," she said. Through the HD clubs she has learned several types of art, including decoupage, toile painting and crackle art.

"Whenever I try something new, I discover I still enjoy needlework the most," she said. "It's a relaxing hobby, and I can do it whenever I want without making a mess of the entire house." She crochets and knits, currently making afghans, and she said she usually gives the finished products away and never gets around to making things for herself.

At the sewing machine, it's a different story. She makes almost all of her own clothes, and when her daughter got married, she made eight dresses for the wedding party, including the bridal gown.

The latest project for the Williams' was an ambitious remodeling of their home at 601 Steakley. They've added new curtains and draperies, and put up paneling in the kitchen, dining and living rooms.

Mrs. Williams was born and reared in Abilene, where the couple was mar-

Tasty Salad By Mrs. Williams

LEMON GELATIN SALAD

1 lge. box lemon gelatin
 2 cups hot water
 1 can (15 oz.) crushed pineapple, drained reserving liquid
 1 sm. bag miniature marshmallows
 3 lge. bananas, sliced
 2 cups cold gingerale
 2 envelopes Dream Whip
 Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add gingerale. Let thicken in refrigerator. Fold in fruit and marshmallows. Whip Dream Whip and fold into fruit and gelatin mixture. Place in two 9-inch square pans. Return to refrigerator.

Make sauce by combining 1/2-cup sugar, 2 tbsps. flour, 2 tbsps. butter, 1 cup of juice drained from pineapple and one egg, slightly beaten. Cook over medium heat until thick. Chill. When cold, spread on gelatin mixture. Chill thoroughly before serving.

ried. Williams is a native of Baird. In their spare time, they like to travel and see new parts of the country. They are already planning a visit ("or several") to Georgia, where the Dreher's will be residing upon his return from Thailand.

OLD-FASHIONED TREATS Surprise the youngsters

Quench Thirst, Hunger With Delicious Combo

What could be a more welcome surprise for any youngster than being served an old fashioned orange tea float and Toll House cookies in his own backyard. The tasty orange tea float is almost reminiscent of the old fashioned soda. Here are the recipes.

ORANGE TEA FLOAT

1 cup cold water
 1 cup orange soda
 1 rounded tsp. Instant tea
 2 scoops orange sherbet
 In 2-cup pitcher combine water, orange soda and tea; stir to blend. Pour into two large glasses and add a scoop of orange sherbet. Garnish if desired. Makes 2 8-oz. drinks.

ORIGINAL TOLL HOUSE COOKIES

1 cup plus 2 tbsps. sifted flour
 1/2 tsp. baking soda
 1/2 tsp. salt
 1/2 cup butter or shortening, softened
 6 tbsps. granulated sugar

6 tbsps. brown sugar, packed
 1/2 tsp. vanilla
 1/4 tsp. water
 1 egg
 1 6-oz. pkg. (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
 1/2 cup coarsely-chopped nuts
 Sift together flour, baking soda and salt; set aside. Combine butter, sugars, vanilla and water; beat until creamy. Beat in egg. Add flour mixture; mix well. Stir in chocolate morsels and nuts. Drop by well-rounded half teaspoonfuls onto greased cookie sheet. Bake at 375 degrees for 10 to 12 minutes. Makes 50 2-inch cookies.

Pantry Pickups

Stir a half teaspoon of caraway seeds into an 8-oz. container of cream-style cottage cheese. Serve as a spread for cucumber slices.

If you brush your metal grater with salad oil before grating cheese on it, the oil will help keep the cheese from sticking.

Add tomato paste and tarragon to mayonnaise; use as a dressing for crabmeat salad.

Season boiled small potatoes with melted butter, lemon juice and minced parsley.

Pan-fried or broiled liver, served for supper, may be garnished with French-fried onion rings, minced parsley, lemon wedges or the usual bacon strips.

For a banana milk shake use, for each portion, a cup of milk, half a cup of mashed banana and half a cup of vanilla ice cream; buzz in a blender. Serve to the youngsters for an after-school or party treat.

Heat flaked cooked fish with cooked rice in a generous amount of butter. Garnish with sieved, hard-cooked egg. Call the dish Kedgeree and serve for brunch.

Heat French bread without a foil covering if you want the bread to be crusty.

LOSE 20 POUNDS IN TWO WEEKS!

Famous U.S. Women Ski Team Diet

During the non-snow off season the U.S. Women's Alpine Ski Team members go on the "Ski Team" diet to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. That's right—20 pounds in 14 days! The basis of the diet is chemical food action and was devised by a famous Colorado physician especially for the U.S. Ski Team. Normal energy is maintained (very important!) while reducing. You keep "full" — no starvation — because the diet is designed that way. It's a diet that is easy to follow whether you work, travel or stay at home. (Not the grapefruit diet!)

This is, honestly, a fantastically successful diet. If it weren't, the U.S. Women's Ski Team wouldn't be permitted to use it! Right? So, give yourself the same break the U.S. Ski Team gets. Lose weight the scientific, proven way. Even if you've tried all the other diets, you owe it to yourself to try the U.S. Women's Ski Team Diet. That is, if you really do want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. Order today. Tear this out as a reminder.

Send only $2.00 (2.25 for Rush Service) — cash is O.K. — to NOR-CAL Products, P.O. Box 894, Cupertino, CA. 95014. Don't order unless you want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks! Because that's what the Ski Team Diet will do. (c) 1972

Lamesa Couple Will Observe Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Adcock of Lamesa will observe their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house Sunday in their home at 312 N. 14th St., Lamesa. Friends and relatives of the couple are invited to call between the hours of 3 and 5 p.m.

Mrs. Adcock is the former Ella Mae Cox. The Adcocks first met in May, 1923 in

Robertson-Simer Rites Are Friday

The wedding of Miss Donna Simer to Rodney Roy Robertson will be held Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Vincent Baptist Church instead of Saturday as was reported to the Herald in a shower story earlier in the week.

Haskell, and were married there on Oct. 31, 1923. A Rev. Hooker performed the rites in the manse of the Haskell Presbyterian Church. The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Frey and Mrs. Hooker.

The Adcocks honeymooned in Sherman, and then spent a year in the Post Community, south of Haskell, where he farmed, and Mrs. Adcock continued high school. In January, 1925, the Adcocks moved to the Woody Community near Lamesa, and have lived in that area since that time.

The honeymoons have two sons who will be present with their families for Sunday's event. They are Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Adcock Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Adcock. Also, they have three grandsons and one granddaughter.

'Museum Is Link To Past'

"Museums are a link with the past," said Mrs. C. L. Atwell Sr., guest speaker Tuesday for Spring City Chapter, American Business Women's Association at the Pioneer Gas Flame Room.

Mrs. Atwell, curator of Heritage Museum, said museums show people the influence their forebearers had in our present-day cities. She said the concept of museums has changed, and that they are no longer considered a cultural division for the well-educated, but rather as a vital part of a community.

The first museum in Big Spring was organized in the late 1920's by a school teacher, the late Mary Bumpas, and the museum was housed in a school room. Throughout the years, the museum moved to various locations, and Mrs. Atwell said many items have been lost during the moves.

Mrs. Atwell said Heritage Museum, located at 510 Scurry, was organized in April, 1971, and is primarily concerned with heritage of Howard County and the surrounding area. She said limited space prohibits having permanent displays. Therefore, revolving exhibits are offered to provide the best coverage. The current display traces the influence of oil on the area.

During business, Ms. Nancy West was initiated as a new member. Guests were Mrs. L. K. Bartlett, Mrs. Eva White and Mrs. Geraldine Dietz.

Mrs. Jimmy Jennings presided and announced the group received a "banner chapter" award at the national convention held recently in Las Vegas, Nev. Mrs. Jennings was the chapter delegate, and was accompanied by Mrs. Fred Butler.

The vocational talk was by Ms. Florence Odom who is equipment control officer in the equipment management office at Webb Air Force Base.

Prayers were by Ms. Ollene McShan and Mrs. Harold Bentley. The next meeting will be at 7 p.m., Nov. 27 at the Permian Snack Bar.

He's No 'Yokel'

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: While flying from the Midwest to the West Coast recently, I was enjoying the most peaceful nap, when I was rudely awakened by a booming voice from over the loudspeaker which blared, "THIS IS YOUR CAPTAIN SPEAKING—we are now flying over the Grand Canyon!"

Abby, this wasn't a plane filled with sightseeing yokels who had never flown before. I am reasonably certain that most of the passengers had already seen the Grand Canyon from 35,000 feet.

I never did resume my nap, which I badly needed. Be a pal, and print this. It may wake up some of the mike-happy pilots. Thanks!

THE OOOOOOONLY WAY TO FLY

DEAR ABBY: You once wrote that there must be a special place in heaven for second wives. Well, I am wife No. 3 and hope there is more comfort in heaven than on earth for us. This is my first marriage, and I never dreamed it would be like this.

I married a man of exceptional character and ability, and watched two of his well-supported ex-wives literally wipe him out financially when he had a long period of unemployment. Now he is older than his age, discouraged, broke but still emotionally hung up on his "responsibilities" to his "other families." And they still hang on for dear life. (Five children by No. 1 are grown, but the sorry victims of an incompetent mother and an absent father; No. 2 is pitifully mentally ill.) Needless to say, my needs come last.

While my husband slowly rehabilitates himself and his business, I am supporting the whole ship. I love him, and I married him for better or worse, and feel that's the least I can do. Fortunately, I have a good career.

My faith in God is the only thing that keeps me sane, but I have all I can do to deal with his guilt and my disappointment. How do others handle such problems?

NUMBER THREE
THREE: Those with less character than you refuse to support "the whole ship," thereby adding to their husbands' guilt. It is to his credit that he feels a sense of obligation to his "other families," and to yours that you help him meet it. If you and he feel that the burden is more than you can cope with, I strongly urge professional counseling.

DEAR ABBY: I recently attended the funeral of my best friend, and I have never been so appalled in my life!

A distant relative of the deceased brought an oil painting of her three children to the funeral. It was in an ornate frame, and so huge she had difficulty carrying it.

She went around showing the painting to everyone. Several people acted disgusted but no one said anything. It appeared the only reason this woman came to the funeral was to show off the picture.

Would you say she was out of line? And shouldn't someone have told her so?

WAS THERE IN S.C.
DEAR WAS: She was definitely out of line. But I doubt if anything said to one so obviously insensitive would have penetrated.

DEAR ABBY: I am a fairly attractive widow, living on what is laughingly called "widow's row."

I have been completely captivated by a retired Marine officer who lives next door to me. He is a widower and everything a woman could want in a man, but no woman seems able to attract his attention.

Many evenings I go to sleep listening to him play the piano. It's the most beautiful music I've ever heard, but it sounds so sad. Those who have known him say that his wife died when they were both very young, and since then he has built a shell around himself that no woman has been able to penetrate.

Obviously, my problem is, how can I let him know that I am interested in him?
NEAR AND YET SO FAR
DEAR NEAR: Invite him to join you in some special dinner. If he reciprocates, you may see the start of a good friendship, at least. After that—who knows?

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 6970, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Rebekahs Plan Halloween Party

Plans for a Halloween carnival were made Tuesday by John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge No. 284 at the IOOF Hall. The carnival will be held at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, with music provided by "Burgess and his Ramblers." The public is invited to attend.

Mrs. A. J. Adcock, noble grand, presided at Tuesday's meeting, and announced lodge instruction will be held Nov. 6 by Mrs. Everett Hood, district deputy president. Also, members agreed to assist with a Christmas party for Unit 10-South, Dec. 17 at Big Spring State Hospital.

The lodge will meet for a short business meeting at 7:15 p.m., Tuesday, prior to the carnival.

Thomas T. Salter Home Scene Of Open House

The home of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas T. Salter, 8 Coachman Circle, was the scene of an open house Sunday for the faculty, administration and board members of Howard County Junior College and their husbands and wives. Dr. Salter is president of the college.

The hostess was attired in a full-length dress styled with sleeveless, turtleneck bodice in black and a satin skirt in pink, green, black and white floral print.

The refreshment table was covered with a white batiste embroidered cloth and centered with a crystal pedestal bowl holding a large arrangement of artificial fruit. Accenting the coffee table was an arrangement of Majestic daisies and spider mums in fall colors.

Presiding at the punch service were Mrs. Ralph

TRYING DADDY'S CHAIR — Seven-year-old Ricky Leback gets a kick out of sitting in his daddy's new chair in the Chicago Board of Trade Wednesday after Warren W. Leback, right, took over the job of president of the nation's largest futures market for commodities. At left is Ricky's mother, who attended brief ceremonies at which Leback, 52, was installed on the job. Activity on the board is at an all-time high this year.

Rev. H. Birdwell Explores Family Structure Changes

The changing structure within the family was discussed by the Rev. Harland Birdwell, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, when he was guest speaker Thursday for the 1948 Hyperion Club in the home of Mrs. John Hodges. Mrs. L. T. King was cohostess.

In quoting Sociologist Margaret Mead, the speaker said the family is the cultural cornerstone of society; its demise could bring demise to our society, along with social chaos.

Grooming, Fashions Discussed

"About three-tenths of a woman's looks come from nature, and the remaining seven-tenths comes from her dress," said Mrs. Dois Pace speaking Tuesday to Alpha Kappa Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi.

"Women today are lucky," continued Mrs. Pace. "Anything goes in the way of styles. Dress lengths vary from maxi to mini and anything in between."

Mrs. Pace stressed that although styles are important, some people tend to place too much emphasis on them. Some people spend too much time trying to keep abreast of all current fashions, even if the styles aren't personally flattering.

"A woman should dress to please herself," said Mrs. Pace. "You can tell a lot about a person by the way she looks. Style includes more than attire, it also means hair grooming, make-up application, shoes and accessories."

Mrs. Pace said styles are constantly changing, and said the current trend in women's fashions to revert to platform or saddle shoes, bright lips and bright cheeks.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Gary Huckabay, 9-A Albrook. A garage sale is scheduled from 7:30-4 p.m., Saturday at 1402 Princeton. Also, a bowling party for members and their husbands will be Nov. 10.

The picture contest, "Christmas for Children," is being sponsored by the chapter. Prizes will be donated by various downtown merchants. There is a $1 entry fee, and the pictures should be sent between Nov. 23-Dec. 7 to Alpha Kappa Omicron, 1405 Lincoln.

Members will furnish Christmas gifts for patients at Big Spring State Hospital. It was announced that an area convention was held Saturday in Sweetwater. Attending were Mrs. Clay LaRochelle, Mrs. Allen Carlisle, Mrs. Wayne Stroup and Mrs. Rick McKinney.

The next meeting will be Nov. 13, place to be announced. Hostesses will be Mrs. Michael Gallagher and Mrs. Jerry Myer.

During business, Mrs. Lord presided and announced a state council meeting is scheduled Nov. 10-11 in Fort Stockton. Plans were made for a Thanksgiving party for members and their husbands, Nov. 12 at the home of Mrs. Jack Price, 604 George.

The signs show up in runaways, a divorce rate approaching one out of two, and problems of old folks. The divorce rate itself is symptomatic of our life and times.

"There are positive signs in some areas; the movement toward freedom, liberation, not only racial but economic; being good, positive, healthy changes. But some things were lost. There are many pressures on the family, and we often have a 'boarding house syndrome' instead of family relationships in any real sense. People have a set of unrealistic claims on one another and demand too much of each other.

"Many marriages and families break up because the partners aren't getting out of marriage what they want or think they should have. Basically, striving for freedom of the individual rates a big plus but, it isn't ushering in the Utopian era that some hope for."

In examining what is happening now, the Rev. Birdwell said, "We are taking another look and trying to deal with premarital counseling to do a better job in preparing people for marriage."

"The church must be involved in the marriage business, because that's where people are — hurting, laughing, crying, living."

District Exec To Address AAUW

An orientation breakfast sponsored by the American Association of University Women is scheduled at 10 a.m., Saturday at Coker's Restaurant.

Mrs. Juanita Cole, Abilene, district director, will be present to outline the aims and purposes of AAUW. She will discuss legislation due to come before state and national officials on which the AAUW has taken a stand.

The purpose of the breakfast is to help new and old members become acquainted, and to review the goals of the organization. Anyone wishing to make reservations may contact Mrs. Kay Smith at 267-2753.

Drugs: When Use Becomes An Abuse

"Almost everybody is a drug user and, therefore, a potential drug abuser," said Mrs. Bobbi Lord Monday evening speaking to Alpha Chi Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha.

Meeting at the home of Mrs. Glenn McDaniel, 2700 E. 24th, the program topic was "Drugs: When Use Becomes Abuse." Mrs. Lord said there are many phases of drug abuse, including the chain smoker; the lady who starts her day with a diet pill for a pickup and ends it with a sedative for sleep; the man who habitually unwinds with several drinks; the child sniffing glue; the teenager smoking pot and the hard-core addict shooting heroin.

"Alcohol is the most abused drug in this country," continued Mrs. Lord. "There are more alcoholics in New York City than there are heroin addicts in the entire United States."

According to Mrs. Lord, there are five categories of abusable drugs. They are sedatives, stimulants, hallucinogens, narcotics and organic solvents. Commonly abused sedatives are barbiturates such as Nembutol and Seconal. The most widely abused stimulants are amphetamines such as Benzedrine, Dexedrine and Methedrine. In the hallucinogenic drugs, the speaker said marijuana is first in popularity but last in terms of potency. Others include LSD, DMT and STP. Mrs. Lord said one ounce of LSD will produce 300,000 human doses, and an average dose (amounting to a speck), produces an effect that lasts 8 to 10 hours.

"Marijuana is the least understood of the drugs," said Mrs. Lord. She pointed out that until 1937, marijuana was legal in the United States. She said marijuana affects mood and thinking, and sometimes produces hallucinations.

Carnival Will Include Hayride

A hayride will be the highlight of the annual Halloween carnival scheduled from 6-9 p.m., Saturday at Washington Elementary School. Other events will include a "spook" room, football and baseball throws, darts, cake walks, bingo, grab-bags ring toss, fish pond and sweet shop. All games will cost 10 cents. Pie and coffee will be served.

A LOVELIER YOU Sensible Use, Care Combats Eye Lines

By MARY SUE MILLER A Lovely writes: I wear sunglasses outdoors. I try never to squint. I have my vision checked yearly. Yet I am amassing wrinkles around my eyes. Why? What can be done about it?

The Answer: The three moves outlined provide excellent precautions against eye wrinkles. And there are still others. Did you know that smoking and smoky rooms make for eye irritation and then unconscious squinting? Ditto driving a car for long hours without a break? Since childhood, you doubtless have heard that poor reading lights, insufficient sleep and an inadequate diet can lead to eye-strain. Have you heeded the warning? Eye makeup, unless it is moisture-loaded, may tend to further dry the dry-prone skin of the lids. Whether you use cream, liquid or creamy powder, check the moisture content.

The under-eye area is most delicate and needs special pampering from the mid-twenties on. Beneath foundation, apply moisture cream or lotion to the entire face. Use an eye cream, stick or pack at bedtime. New packs are whipped to meringue-light consistency — not tacky or greasy, but super-concentrated with moisturizer and lubricant.

Do take care of those little lines and then stop fretting over them. Little worries attract little lines like crazy.

EYES OF YOUTH You are not lost to youthful beauty because of dark circles, puffiness, or wrinkles around the eyes. These problems can be brought under control by proper skin care, cosmetic applications, health habits and facial expressions. Methods are detailed in my leaflet, "The Eyes of Youth." To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 15 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Hydrogen Car Is Safe; Idea Half Century Old

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Hindenburg" is a word that makes Dr. William Van Vorst wince in annoyance.

For the airship of that name that exploded at Lakehurst, N.J., in 1937 killing 36 persons is what people often think of when the topic of hydrogen-powered transportation comes up.

And Van Vorst is working with the idea of putting a hydrogen car in every garage.

"Actually, we think hydrogen is just as safe or safer than gasoline," the UCLA engineering professor said in an interview Wednesday. "It is just that people are used to dealing with gasoline so they don't worry about it any more."

The concept of running an automobile on lighter-than-air hydrogen is not new. It was first proposed at least 50 years ago. But with the current anxiety about petroleum resources and dirty air, it is once again being seriously considered.

"The advantages of hydrogen as a fuel are considerable," said Van Vorst, who heads a project which has a $60,000, one-year contract with the U.S. Department of Transportation.

"It's practically nonpolluting, burning cleanly and rapidly, and can be produced from sea water and through coal gasification. The potential supply is just about unlimited."

Van Vorst credits six UCLA engineering students with turning the idea into nuts-and-bolts reality. Over the past three years they developed a hydrogen-powered car that won first place over all for cars with internal combustion engines in the 1972 national Urban Vehicle Design Competition.

What Van Vorst and his students are up against now is the central problem of hydrogen fuel — how to store it. Hydrogen in gas or liquid form would take up a prohibitive amount of room if enough were carried to give a car a decent cruising range.

Van Vorst said one of the most promising answers is a metal hydride system. He explained that pure hydrogen gas can be absorbed (condensed into a layer) on the surface of a metal such as iron, titanium, magnesium or aluminum.

"As a very rough analogy, it's like a sponge soaking up water and then squeezing it out again," he said. It may be that a driver would drive his hydrogen car into a service station and exchange the expended hydride system for a full one, he said.

Van Vorst said an automobile would need to be modified very little to run on hydrogen. A standard engine was used for the student car, and only minor carburetion changes were necessary, he added.

"Efficiency seems to be a little higher than with gasoline," he said. "And because the burning leaves no particulates, the engine should not degrade as fast as if it were gasoline-powered." The cost of such a car is one of the things that will be assessed in the feasibility study.

TSTA Sets Up Political Arm

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The failure of the 1973 Legislature to revise Texas' public school financing laws is one reason, says the Texas State Teacher Association, that it decided to organize a new state political action group.

An announcement from TSTA headquarters Wednesday said the Texas Educators Political Action Council (TEPAC) will be an "independent arm" of the 157,000-member and will be financed through voluntary contributions.

"Educators realize that, more and more, educational decisions are controlled by political decisions," said TSTA president Johnny Clark. "Those in education must, therefore, participate in those political decisions."

TEPAC said it would support nominees and candidates for public office without regard to party affiliation.

Bus Patronage Up In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — The trend toward decreasing city bus ridership, which has occurred in Dallas for more than three and one-half years may be reversing itself, according to a report submitted to the Dallas Public Transit Board.

Dallas Transit General Manager Wilson Driggs reported that for the second consecutive month the municipally-owned transit facility has recorded increased patronage. Ridership in August was up 2.5 per cent over the same month last year and in July a gain of 0.2 was registered.

The system has shown a monthly increase on only one other occasion—August, 1972—since the rider plunge began in January of 1970.

"It's far too early to tell whether we've finally bottomed out and are on the way up again," Driggs said, "and we're not sure as yet what caused this turnaround."

Sasquatch Is Spotted Again

VANCOUVER (A.P.) — Whatever it was, it wasn't your average beachcomber.

Three Vancouver fishermen all saw what may be the latest sighting of the legendary Sasquatch, the fabled, man-like ape which roams the mountains.

Nick Pisac, one of the fishermen, said he spotted the thing walking slowly along the beach. "It stood about 10 feet tall and was sort of lightish gray," he said.

Auditor Elected To State Post

Mrs. Virginia Black, Howard County auditor, was elected secretary-treasurer of the County Auditors Association of Texas this week. She will be the third woman to hold an office in the association.

Other officers are Luther T. Sebren, Orange County, president; George K. Smith, Dallas County, president-elect; Wilburn Rust, Travis County, second vice president; and Ben W. Kurio, Williamson County, first vice president.

Next year county auditors meet in El Paso. Mr. Black returned from the conference in Houston Tuesday.

EDITOR TO RETIRE — Albert Nibling, Editor and Publisher of the Sherman Democrat, will retire Nov. 1, after a 45 year career with three Texas newspapers. The other two papers Nibling was associated with are the Temple Telegram and Houston Chronicle. He has been with the Telegram for the past 27 years. A reception will be held in his honor Sunday.

ALCATRAZ OPEN TO TOURISTS — A group of San Francisco grade school children got an advance tour of the former maximum security prison on Alcatraz Island. "The Rock" is now part of the Golden Gate National Recreation Area and National Park Rangers will guide tours through the former prison starting this Friday with groups leaving Fisherman's Wharf every 30 minutes.

'The Rock' Not Same To Some

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (AP) — Former convicts and guards at Alcatraz who have returned as tourists to the once-terrifying prison have found "The Rock" just isn't the same.

The former maximum security prison will open to the public Friday for the first time since the stark, tide-swept island was ceded to this country by Mexico in 1848.

A dozen National Park Service rangers selected as guides have been cramming to learn the history of the island 1 1/2 miles off the San Francisco waterfront, and they've been talking with ex-prisoners.

"We've had a number of former prisoners and guards approach us to see if they could be guides. They wanted to get out and see the place again," said Jack Wheat, a Park Service spokesman here.

"We took them out and they told us about the life and conditions and just reminisced," Wheat said in an interview.

He said many of the former prisoners who toured cellblocks where they once marched in convict ranks, were disappointed. The once-spotless prison has become a crumbling, rusted-out shell since it was closed in 1962, bearing the marks of vandalism from a 19-month takeover by a group of Indians in 1969-1971.

"The prisoners and guards we've taken out seem to have a great pride in the way everything was polished and clean and orderly and feel sort of sad about the way it looks now," Wheat said.

The Park Service acquired Alcatraz, once the lockup for the nation's most dangerous criminals, last April as part of the 34,000-acre Golden Gate National Recreation Area.

Some Texas Land Sinks As Much As Nine Feet

HOUSTON (AP) — A group assigned to study water problems in the state has been told that land subsidence has resulted in some land in the Houston-Galveston area sinking as much as nine feet in the past 30 years.

William L. Fisher, director of the state's Bureau of Economic Geology, told members of the Gulf Coast Citizens Advisory Council on Water Resources Wednesday that one of the biggest causes of subsidence is the withdrawal of underground water.

He said the reason was that it is much cheaper to use than surface water.

State and federal officials have said that areas of Baytown have subsided 6 1/2 to 7 feet since 1943, the year they use as a base.

"Subsidence in the Pasadena channel area may be on the order of nine feet," said Robert K. Gabrysch, assistant engineer in charge of the U.S. Geological Survey.

Gabrysch stressed an end to the use of underground water is the only way to decrease subsidence.

"We have studies to show the lower reaches of Clear Lake and Clear Creek have subsided some 3 1/2 feet since 1943," said Lt. Col. Don S. McCoy of the U.S. Corps of Engineers.

"The unfortunate thing is that once land has been affected because of the use of underground water then there is no way to reverse the damage," Fisher said.

The Gulf Coast Council is one of four regional water councils created by the senate to study water problems in the state.

The members are appointed by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

The members are Sens. William N. Patman of Ganado and Walter Mengden Jr. of Houston and Morris Atlas of McAllen, James D. Dannenbaum of Houston, Barney M. Davis of Corpus Christi, Guy C. Jackson of Anahuac, Pat L. Pace of Brownsville, Rrb Thomas of Victoria and Don A. Thornton of Eagle Lake.

Hospital Officials Attend Institute

The Texas Hospital Association has announced the scheduling of an institute Saturday through Sunday at the Sheraton Hotel in Dallas.

Attending from Medical Center Memorial Hospital here will be K. H. McGibbon, chairman of the board of trustees; Dr. William A. Riley, vice chief of staff; and Norman L. Knox, administrator.

The institute will be conducted by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

Charles M. Jacobs, program director for the JCAH's professional education program, said the institute will present information on medical care audit procedures, systems for delineating and granting hospital privileges, and utilization review, plus the hospitals' legal obligations in these areas. This includes those to be expected under the federal government's new Professional Standards Review Organizations.

College To Offer More At Lamesa

Plans are now in the making to add a continuing education program as a part of the Lamesa Community College Center.

The addition to the year-old service center will be under the direction of Theron Lee, HCJC continuing education director, according to Dr. Thomas Salter, president.

Lee said a survey of course needs will be conducted through the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce, working with manager Art Roberts.

College Rodeo Team In Meet

Over 250 cowboys and cowgirls from 20 southwestern colleges and universities will be on hand for the 23 annual Sul Ross State University intercollegiate rodeo scheduled Oct. 25-28 in Alpine.

Among the group will be nine men and women from the new rodeo team at Howard County Junior College, along with its sponsor Byron Hedges.

Kay Proctor and Tawna Pettigrew will enter roping, goat tying and barrel racing with Carolyn Roane and Renee Slape also entering barrel racing.

Riley McCullough, Curtis Moore and Terry Davis will enter bull riding with Davis also trying bareback broncs. Scott Welch and Wyatt Overton will compete in calf roping.

Walt Alsbaugh of Alamosa, Colo., who has produced a great many of the previous 27 shows, will produce the 1973 event and Nat Fleming of Wichita Falls will serve as the announcer. Judges will be Tommy Owen, Odessa, and Jack Faulk, Carlsbad, N.M.

Two New Mexico schools are defending Sul Ross champions with the Eastern New Mexico men's team winning its division and New Mexico State copping that division.

Two Convicted Here Paroled

AUSTIN — Two men convicted in Howard County were among seven West Texas granted parole by Gov. Dolph Briscoe on the recommendation of the Board of Pardons and Paroles.

Frankie Lee Bean, convicted in Howard County in 1961 as a habitual burglar and sentenced to life, has been paroled to Taylor County after earning credit for 21 years 10 months on his sentence through time served and good behavior.

Edward V. Ware, convicted and sentenced to five years in Howard County in 1972 for burglary of a private residence, has been paroled to the State of Virginia after earning credit for three years five months through time served and good behavior.

Murders Cousin To Impress Uncle

HOUSTON (AP) — A jury sentenced Preston Edward Greer, 23, to 100 years in prison recently for the murder of a cousin, James Ray Dove, 23.

The prosecution contended that Greer shot Dove while he lay sleeping in order to impress an uncle Greer boasted had killed many men.

The jury deliberated just 15 minutes before returning with the sentence.

Opening lead: Ten of ♥ Today's declarer knew full well that pride goeth before a fall. Therefore, he did not consider himself above enlisting the aid of the opposition to fulfill his game contract.

North had a difficult opening bid problem. A one spade opening, while acceptable, would have left him with almost no convenient rebid. He would have liked to open the auction with one club, but the fact that he did not have an honor in that suit was a deterrent. Therefore, he elected to tell a white lie and open the bidding with one diamond. Though his partner was likely to play him for a least four diamonds, this bit of deception seemed the least of evils. However, it might have been better to rebid one no trump at his next turn despite his excellent support for South's suit, for the perfectly balanced nature of his hand was likely to be a liability at a suit contract. Note that, unless the defenders can take five fast club tricks, North-South have nine tricks on top at a no trump contract.

After a heart opening lead declarer saw that, left to his own devices, he would probably lose four tricks—three clubs and a diamond. However, dummy's ten-nine of diamonds offered prospects of an endplay.

To establish the position for an endplay, declarer won the ace of hearts and immediately ruffed a heart high. The king of spades was over-taken with the ace and dummy's remaining heart was ruffed high. Declarer entered dummy by leading the deuce of trumps to the seven and, in case East held both the ace and king of clubs, he led a low club toward the queen. West won the ace of clubs and the defenders took two more club tricks, ending in the East hand. Declarer had accomplished his partial strip.

Since a heart or club lead would give declarer a ruff-and-suff, East was forced to break the diamond suit. He tried his best to look like a man holding both the queen and jack of diamonds by leading the queen, but declarer was not taken in. South knew that the odds favored the diamond honors being split, so he won the king of diamonds and led a diamond to dummy's ten. The successful finesse was declarer's tenth trick.

Note that declarer must ruff both of dummy's hearts for his line to win. If he does not, the defenders can return a heart after taking their club tricks, and declarer will have to break the diamond suit and cannot avoid losing a trick.

More Industrial Giants Are Operating In Red

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A growing number of the nation's industrial and financial giants are finding the demands and temptations of the 1970s too much to handle. Their weaknesses are producing red ink, failures and scandals.

The problems seem of late to be concentrated among some of the second tier financial institutions, but it isn't difficult to find examples in transportation, aerospace, food retailing and other industries.

The Penn Central Railroad, the nation's largest, is involved in bankruptcy proceedings. Lockheed Aircraft avoided bankruptcy by obtaining a government guarantee for $250 million in loans, and other companies, suffering losses, have sought additional payments from government.

had 87 liquidations on its books. Reasons for failure in 65 cases involved:

- Poor books and records, recorded 44 times; misconduct 26 times; high operating costs — poor controls, 21; mismanagement 28; lack of knowledge of securities business 13; adverse market conditions 10; speculation 29.

MORE WIDESPREAD

Not just a few but many, many critics of Wall Street maintain that the very factors cited by the Protection Corp. are more widespread than the public realizes.

The chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, Ray D. Garrett Jr., told brokers in a speech this week: "We have been experiencing a truly frightening degree of fraud and callous disregard for fiduciary duty in our securities markets and in our corporate life."

Besides Wall Street, Garrett apparently referred to the Equity Funding scandal, in which scores of millions of dollars in assets were fraudulent — mere bookkeeping entries that made the company look highly successful up to this year.

And more recently, bank investors are still trying to determine what happened at the U.S. National Bank of San Diego, which collapsed last week in the biggest bank insolvency in American history. It had $940 million in deposits.

One thing that especially interests the investigators is close to $300 million in loans to interests involving its chief stockholder, C. Arnholt Smith.

SBA Bonds Up Value

DALLAS (AP) — Small contracting firms in the Southwest received a 144 per cent increase during the past year in the dollar value of contracts awarded as a result of surety bonds guaranteed by the Small Business Administration, according to Regional Director Fred S. Neumann.

Nationwide, firms received three times more contracts in the past year over the previous one.

In the first year of the program, 470 bonds were guaranteed in the five states which compose Region VI. There were 208 contracts awarded amounting to $14,414,013.

From Sept. 1, 1972, to Aug. 31, 1973, there was an increase of 80 per cent in the guarantees approved and an increase of 176 per cent in the number of contracts awarded.

Total value for both years is nearly $50 million in New Mexico, Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

ON CAMERA — Students from the HCJC campus television workshop video tape a program to be presented on KHCC-TV for the "5:15 Report," a weekly campus and community events program on cable channel three. Here the group films an interview with members of the college Hot Rod Club. Debbie Burnett, center, talks with Ed Milstead, president, and Bobby Edwards. Kirk McCuiston is the cameraman, while Kevin Calley handles the VTR and monitor.

FFA Meet Scheduled

Dr. Thomas Salter, president of Howard County College, announced that the campus will host an all day area Future Farmers of America Leadership Contest Nov. 10.

Contests will begin at 7 a.m. "The college will sponsor the event by providing the buildings, he said.

Hulan Harris, area 11 FFA supervisor from Big Spring, will direct the activities. Helping to sponsor the contest for the second year will be James Owens, chairman of the Agriculture Department, and Byron Hedges, ag instructor.

Contest categories will include FFA quiz, radio quiz, senior and junior farm skills and senior chapter conducting.

More than 250 delegates from area high schools, 45 vocational agricultural instructors and 18 judges will participate.

OTHERS FAIL

To a far less degree, many other companies have failed in some areas to adequately respond to the changing 70s despite sometimes desperate efforts to do so, and have been forced to absorb huge losses.

BCA Corp. in 1971 was forced to write off $250 million as "extraordinary charges related to withdrawal from the general purpose computer business," after declaring shortly before that it would be an industry leader.

The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. is fighting desperately with Safeway Stores to maintain its decades-old position as the nation's largest food retailer. In the red for many months, it lost more than $50 million in its most recent complete fiscal year.

Pan American World Air Ways has been in the red since 1969, and some other airlines, despite a facade of glamor and almost constant promotion of cut-rate trips, haven't established themselves as consistent money makers.

These problems may exist as notable exceptions to the trend, which finds corporations in general experiencing record-high profits. In the past year these profits have risen 34 per cent, compared with an 11 per cent rise in national output.

While some of the troubles result from industry-wide problems, as in food retailing, securities and air transportation — most of them are confined to individual companies within the industries.

Nevertheless, some critics feel the instances are more than symbolic, and that if studied more closely might reveal a common weakness in management, and in some instances irresponsibility and even fraud.

FALSE REPORTS

This seems especially true in regard to some of the securities and financial institution failures. In the biggest among securities firms, the failure of Weis Securities, Inc., the New York Stock Exchange accused the company of filing false and misleading reports.

The Securities Investor Protection Corp., which is charged with protecting investors from losses in such failures, recently

Psychology Prof Named Recipient

LUBBOCK — Dr. Charles G. Halcomb, professor and director of graduate programs in experimental psychology at Texas Tech University, has been named recipient of the Spencer A. Wells Foundation Faculty Award for 1973.

The award, which includes a honorarium of $1,000, is sponsored by the Texas Tech Dads Association in recognition of outstanding professional performance. It will be formally presented at the annual Dads Day Luncheon Nov. 2.

Jill Ruckelshaus Will Keep Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jill Ruckelshaus, wife of dismissed Deputy Atty. Gen. William D. Ruckelshaus, will continue as head of the women's division at the White House "for the present," the White House says.

Ruckelshaus was dismissed when he refused to obey President Nixon's order to fire special prosecutor Archibald Cox in a dispute over the Watergate taping.

Presidential counselor Anne Armstrong, who conferred with Mrs. Ruckelshaus after the dismissal, said Tuesday: "While her family's plans are not yet definite, I am delighted that for the present she will continue in her position as head of the women's division."

Mrs. Ruckelshaus has been working part-time under Mrs. Armstrong.

INDEPENDENT RUNNING FOR GOVERNOR

School Busing, Tax Worries Voters

HAYMARKET, Va. (AP) — As Lt. Gov. Henry Howell breezed into Davis' Grocery Store, two men leaning on the meat counter debated the two sides of Virginia politics, 1973.

In a state that once was solid Democratic territory, there is no Democratic nominee for governor this year. But the Republican candidate is former Democratic Gov. Mills E. Godwin. And Howell, running as an independent, is a former Democrat himself.

"The big factor in this election is going to be the neighborhood school issue," Kermit Moffitt of Suffolk was saying across the meat counter. His words spell "school busing," a key issue for the conservative Godwin.

But John Anderson of Waynesboro disagreed, and pointed to Howell. "I'd certainly like to see him get it so we can get rid of this retail tax," Anderson said.

CHIEF ISSUE

Howell's chief issue is the four per cent tax on food and nonprescription drugs, enacted during Godwin's 1965-69 tenure as governor.

As the Watergate and Agnew controversies swirl through the Nixon administration this fall, Virginia, the only state besides New Jersey electing a governor in 1973, is in the midst of a classic liberal-conservative fight with implications for the whole South.

Godwin hopes the result is like 1972, when Nixon swamped Democrat George McGovern in Virginia with 69 per cent of the vote. Howell hopes it is like 1968 and seeks to combine Hubert H. Humphrey's urban-black-labor base with the rural whites who supported George C. Wallace — a total of 56 per cent that year.

Though they are wooing the Wallace supporters, Godwin on racial lines, Howell on economic, the pro-Wallace American party rejected both.

Godwin, 58, is a stiff, courtly lawyer-farmer from the tiny town of Chuckatuck, who was widely viewed as a moderate when he served as the last of the old Byrd Democratic organization's governors. His backers include conservatives from both parties, including independent Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr., and moderate GOP Gov. Linwood

Holton, barred from seeking reelection.

EBULLIENT

Howell, 53, is a garrulous ebullient trial lawyer from Norfolk, tagged with the nickname "Howling Henry" as an outspoken critic of the state's political establishment. Elected lieutenant governor in a three-way race in 1971, the self-styled populist is running as an independent with tacit support of the Democrats on the state and national level.

Starting as the underdog in this traditionally conservative state, Howell last month said a poll showed him 10 per cent ahead. Godwin disputed that said he is ahead and gaining but refused to give details when pressed about his own polls.

Several independent observers, who asked not to be quoted by name, said they think Howell is ahead. State GOP Chairman Richard Obenshain warned last week, "Virginia conservatives had better wake up before it's too late."

Both candidates plan to put a large chunk of their $750,000 budgets into television in the two weeks before the Nov. 6 election, hoping to arouse what appears to be an apathetic electorate.

The scandals in Washington appear to be playing little role though Godwin had to drop plans for a law-and-order appeal and a campaign appearance by the resigned Spiro T. Agnew. Howell doesn't mention the scandals, but his strategists figure Godwin's 1972 support for President Nixon will hardly be an asset.

'ALL THINGS'

Perched atop a rickety chair in a store-front headquarters in the Shenandoah Valley town of Harrisonburg, Godwin charged Howell "is trying to be all things to all people" and said the basic issue is integrity and credibility.

"It is not integrity when one candidate flip-flops from day to day on such basic issues as the busing of school children ... the right of the people to bear arms to protect their homes and flip-flops on our very sacred right-to-work act," Godwin declared.

Howell once indicated acceptance of some busing, opposed a state constitutional amendment upholding the right to bear arms and said he favored the union shop. But he now says he won't try to buck the majority opposing busing, opposes gun control and won't try to legalize the union shop by seeking right-to-work law repeal.

Godwin called Howell's tax repeal plan a "crude hoax," already rejected by a majority of the state Senate Finance Committee.

He charged Howell is being helped by "leading leftists," mentioning Humphrey and McGovern.

Godwin has had campaign boosts from Holton and also in a northern Virginia appearance by Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, Nixon's vice presidential nominee.

There's Hope In Newsprint

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — University of Florida researchers are experimenting with a fast-growing plant which looks like marijuana, is inexpensive and could provide a solution to the nation's newsprint shortage.

"Kenaf could be the biggest thing since we learned how to make paper from pine trees," Dr. Gordon B. Killinger, assistant chairman of the university's agronomy department, said Tuesday.

"Kenaf resembles marijuana, although it's actually a hibiscus similar to the ones that grow so well in south Florida," he said. "It's native to Africa and Asia and we're importing our seeds from Guatemala and El Salvador."

The crop could produce five to seven times more pulp per year than conventional pine forests, Killinger said.

"One of the unusual things is that the crop could be harvested annually, whereas pine trees usually require over 15 years," he said.

"This could definitely end the newsprint shortage. Some company will have to start producing paper from kenaf and then it should be on the road."

Some of the paper made from kenaf was used for a news release from the University of Florida. A chemical journal also will be printed on kenaf paper, Killinger said.

He said two factors are limiting the development of kenaf growing in the U.S.—a shortage of seeds and a Florida regulation that bans it because the plant is a host for pink bollworm, which damages cotton.

The plant has been grown at the university since 1957.

Sex Education For Tadpoles?

Kindergarten Sex? DALLAS (AP) — Mrs. Barbara Cambridge, director of services for Southwestern Medical School family planning, thinks sex education should begin as early as the kindergarten.

"If we are assuming kids are brighter and more intelligent than a generation ago, then we should begin to teach them what it means to be responsible parents," she said in an interview.

Mrs. Cambridge said kindergarten teachers should be taught to deal constructively with the "look-see" experimentation that children go through in their early years.

She says her family planning experience leads her to the conclusion that, while women 25 and older are having fewer children, youths 12, 13 and 14 years old are beginning to have children.

"We've been helping those at the top," said Mrs. Cambridge, "but, man alive, we've a whole new set of problems with the younger girls."

Mrs. Cambridge, a graduate of North Carolina A&T College and Southwestern Atlanta University, was one of 35 participants in a recent seminar on the sexually active teenager, held at Warrenton, Va. She said she left the seminar feeling depressed because she thinks Dallas is not doing enough in sex education for young boys and girls.

Bondsman Pleads Guilty To Bribe

HOUSTON (AP) — A jury sentenced former bondsman James E. Merkle, 33, to five years probation Tuesday after he pleaded guilty to bribing a Harris County jailer to send him clients.

Merkle was charged with paying former deputy sheriff Jimmy D. Gonzalez $50 in 1970 in return for names of county jail prisoners entitled to post bond.

District Court Judge Garth Bates dismissed a charge of soliciting a bribe against Gonzalez at the state's request on the ground of insufficient evidence.

Gonzalez was fired from the department in 1971. In a signed statement he said he provided prisoners Merkle's telephone number and usually received $10 to $20 per referral.

Orthodox Church Moving Center

HOUSTON (AP) — The Greek Orthodox Church in North and South America is closing its Houston headquarters and moving Bishop John Theron to Denver, Colo.

The change, effective at the end of the year, results from alteration of the boundaries of the 8th archdiocesan Greek Orthodox district overseen by Bishop John.

Reaction Of Other GOPs Complicates Nixon's Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — A measure of President Nixon's continuing political difficulty is the reaction — and the lack of it — from his longtime backers in Congress during the Watergate tapes crisis.

Even after Nixon agreed Tuesday to turn over White House tapes and certain documents to U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica, many who previously stood with Nixon kept their distance.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said "Thank God" and most Republicans said nothing. Those who reacted did so cautiously.

Sen. Peter Dominick, R-Colo., his telegrams running 100-to-1 against President Nixon's ouster of special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox and his original refusal to give Sirica the tapes, said merely "He (Nixon) has taken one step" towards full disclosure.

The Senate's Republican leadership has protested to the White House over both the President's actions in the tapes controversy and his lack of consultation with them.

Meanwhile, Rep. John J. Rhodes, R-Ariz., said all House Republicans were invited to a Capitol Hill meeting today to discuss the President's recent actions.

It was expected one topic would be demands by GOP congressmen, including Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., chairman of the House Republican Conference, that Nixon name a new special prosecutor.

When the White House suggested last week that everything would be solved by having Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., verify summaries of the tapes, Sen. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., R-Md., said it was "so limited as to be ludicrous."

Top Senate Republican leaders, including Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Robert P. Griffin of Michigan, were silent.

Tribes Induct Braves Tonight

Y Indian Guide Tribes will hold an induction ceremony at 7:30 p.m. today in Birdwell Park.

Big Braves and little Braves of five tribes will be inducted. Tribes and their leaders are the Apaches, Chief Lanny Hamby; Blackfeet, Chief Homer Pendergrass; Choctaw, Chief Bob Butler; Comanches, Chief Efton Foster; and Sioux, Chief Don Minyard.

Induction will be held by John Lindsey, longhouse chief, and M. A. Snell, medicine man. All braves and families are invited.

No Lift Planned Of Martial Law

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — President Ferdinand E. Marcos says he will call another referendum next year on his martial law regime, but he ruled out any return to politics as usual.

Marcos told the Manila Times Journal that actions such as the lifting of martial law or convening the interim national assembly provided for in the new Philippine constitution are not planned.

Review Tapes, Ex-Aide Ruckelshaus Proposes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Deputy Atty. Gen. William D. Ruckelshaus says President Nixon's tapes of Watergate-related conversations should be examined by electronics experts to determine whether they have been altered.

"I think there should be some study made because a lot of people are asking that question," Ruckelshaus said in an interview.

"There should be some authentication that the tapes are what they are represented to be."

Both Ruckelshaus and former attorney general Elliot L. Richardson left office Saturday, refusing to obey Nixon's order to fire Watergate special prosecutor Archibald Cox.

Cox was then fired by Solicitor General Robert H. Bork, now elevated to acting attorney general. The Watergate investigation was handed back to Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry E. Petersen.

Ruckelshaus praised Petersen's integrity but said Nixon's actions put Petersen "in a God-awful position."

He said it would be almost impossible to pursue Watergate prosecutions without White House records and that Petersen himself might be forced to resign if the White House does not release essential documents or tapes.

Cox's insistence on obtaining such materials, against Nixon's direct orders to stop trying, led to his dismissal. But Nixon reversed himself Tuesday and agreed to release nine tape recordings after an outpouring of public protest and impeachment moves in Congress.

Richardson warned Nixon's aides that firing Cox would unleash such an avalanche, but he said they did not believe it.
