HAM ON THE LAM — Being hauled Friday to a Memphis slaughterhouse, this pig crawls through an opening in the upper deck of a two-level transport trailer in Little Rock, Ark. A moment later, he plopped to the concrete of Interstate 30 here and rolled over several times, got up, and sauntered to safety.

88-Year-Old Man Killed On IS 20

A walk down the IS 20 north service road proved fatal Friday night to a Lamesa man, Jake Mincer Ranson, 88, who was run over by a car driven by a woman identified by police as Mary Norris Green, Midland.

Investigating Officer Robert Yeager said the man had been walking south from the American Motor Inn over the north service road. He reportedly went down the embankment onto the interstate and into the path of the Green car. The accident occurred at 10:03 p.m. Friday.

Ranson was pronounced dead at the scene by Peace Justice Walter Grice. The police report said a piece of car molding entered the pedestrian's body at the collar bone and chest cavity, puncturing his heart and lung. He reportedly also suffered multiple contusions, abrasions and broken bones.

Driver of the car was not injured.

The body was taken by Alert Ambulance to Nalley-Pickie Funeral Home and was transferred Saturday to Branon Funeral Home in Lamesa.

Services will be at 2:30 p.m. today in Lamesa's First Baptist Church with the Rev. Bill Hardage, pastor, and Rev. Walter Horn, pastor of First Presbyterian Church of Lamesa, officiating. Burial will follow in Lamesa Memorial Park.

Born April 12, 1885, Mr. Ranson had lived in Dawson County 51 years. He was a retired farmer, a Mason and a Baptist.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Jack Sanders and Mrs. Kermit Jordan, both of Lamesa; four sons, Ralph Ranson, Lamesa, Leon Ranson, Levelland, Doyle Ranson, College Station, and Dr. Guy Ranson, San Antonio; two brothers, Charlie Ranson, Joshua, and Alex Ranson, Saganaw; 14 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Justice Douglas Nears A Record

Reviewing the . . .
Big Spring Week
 . . . with Joe Pickle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice William O. Douglas reaches a personal and public milestone Monday when he becomes the man to have served longest on the Supreme Court.

Douglas will have served 34 years, 196 days, exceeding by a day the tenure of Justice Stephen Field who retired Dec. 1, 1897.

The 75-year-old Douglas will not make an appearance on the bench to mark the date. The court is in a brief recess.

An examination of Douglas' life and career is planned for Saturday in Washington with Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, former Chief Justice Earl Warren, and former Justices Arthur Goldberg, Thomas C. Clark, and Abe Fortas among the speakers.

It is a career marked by controversy both private and public for Douglas, anchor of the shrunken liberal wing of the court.

In August, a bitter dissent by Douglas accused his fellow justices of violating the law and the procedures of the court in order to overrule his effort to halt the U.S. bombing of Cambodia.

Douglas has carried on a steady, if often indirect, disagreement with Burger over the court's workload. Burger has maintained that it must be reduced if the court is to function.

More recently, Douglas dramatically questioned the confidentiality of the weekly conferences held by the justices at which votes are taken on cases argued and new cases selected.

Dam Buckles In Alaska

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Gusty winds and torrential rains buckled an earthen dam early Saturday, toppling a bridge and momentarily flooding a Ketchikan residential area.

No deaths or injuries were reported.

A torrent from Carlianna Lake Dam left a path of twisted trees and overturned automobiles and trailer homes. Several mobile homes and cars were carried into the ocean moments after police waded through knee-deep water to evacuate about 50 persons.

Water roared from the mountaintop dam and washed out a two-lane bridge connecting the downtown area with homes sprinkled along a hillside sloping sharply to the ocean.

Preliminary work was started to erect a makeshift bridge. About 2,000 of the city's 7,000 residents, including employees at a large pulp mill, were cut off from the city proper.

LOOK WHAT WE FOUND

If you neglected to change your clock or watch before you went to bed last night, you don't have to wait six months before the timepiece will be right again. It's perfectly legal to take care of that little chore now.

We are now in Standard time, a development that entitled you to an extra hour's sleep this morning. Daylight Savings time ended at 2 a.m., today, which means you were supposed to move the hands of the clock back to 1 a.m. (Who says a day never has 25 hours in it — this one certainly will have).

If you miss a few appointments today, like church or a kickoff in a televised NFL game, put the onus on Washington. It gets blamed for everything else.

FOR PICKING PROSECUTOR

Democrats Reject President's Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield said "no soap," and other Democrats joined him Saturday in pronouncing President Nixon's plans for a new Watergate prosecutor unacceptable.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., chairman of the Senate Watergate committee, said he didn't "see much to be gained by the President appointing another prosecutor who would not be independent."

Rep. Thomas P. O'Neill of Massachusetts, the House Democratic leader, said: "I do not believe the new prosecutor will be acceptable to the Congress and the American public under the terms the President outlined. His action of firing (Archibald) Cox was an act of obstructing justice, and the House must continue with its impeachment proceedings."

The White House reported receiving thousands of telephone calls and telegrams overwhelmingly in favor of the President.

In his news conference Friday night, the President said Acting Atty. Gen. Robert H. Bork will select a successor to Cox, who was discharged for refusing to accept a presidential compromise on the White House tape recordings.

Nixon said the new prosecutor will be independent and will receive full cooperation from the White House. But the President did not answer directly whether the new man would have authority to press his demands in court — as Cox did.

Bork said Saturday he will consult with the White House about the appointment this week. But he asserted, "Nobody at the White House is going to dictate any names to me."

He declined to elaborate on how the prosecutor will be chosen and left open the possibility that his choice might be submitted in some way to Congress.

Mansfield said he will support legislation introduced Friday by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and backed by 53 other senators, that would direct Chief U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica to name a prosecutor the President could not fire.

A CITY THAT'S LOST ITS ZIP People Don't Smile Anymore In Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — The zip is gone, even out of the Washington party circuit. The capital has lost its humor.

At the small, candle-lit dinner parties, once the trade center for political gossip, secrets and intrigue, conversation is often as heavy as left-over dumplings.

Guests of opposing political persuasions, usually mellowed by old whisky and vintage wines, rarely poke gentle fun at each other these days.

"The mood?" asked Cleveland department store heiress Kay Halle, a grande dame of Washington life. "It's shock and dismay more than anything. People are bewildered. They don't smile anymore."

The past three weeks have been tormenting in Washington, a city torn apart by suspicion, corruption, confusion and doubt.

Less than 10 days after Vice President Spiro T. Agnew resigned and pleaded no contest to an income tax evasion charge, President Nixon precipitated a new crisis by attempting to dictate a solution to the Watergate tapes dispute.

In the week that followed, each seemingly cataclysmic event was overtaken by the next, leaving the special Watergate prosecutor, the attorney general and his deputy out of office, an impeachment move under way in the House of Representatives and American troops on alert around the world in response to fears of Soviet intervention in the Middle East.

"There's a blanket of sadness everywhere you go," said Buffy Cafritz, wife of a housing builder and a prominent capital hostess. "I am terribly depressed. I feel like it's the death of hope and trust."

For a city usually well into the fall party season, Mrs. Cafritz said social life in Washington these days "is nil."

"People don't have the desire to entertain. I can't get into the mood. Who can?"

Conversation, too, is muted in this company town where government is the factor and its politics determines the rise and fall of many of its employees.

"Before, you never discussed sex or religion," said one White House official. "Now talking about politics is like walking on eggshells."

Jane Bromley Ikard, a former correspondent in Washington for Newsweek magazine, agrees. "People usually talk politics over dinner in Washington," she said. "But they don't now. There's no give and take anymore. It's all too serious, too stunning."

The 17th and 18th floors of the hotel were guarded by a large force of security men. While the purpose of the visit was not learned, there was a report that Agnew and Sinatra were here in connection with the formation of the new World Football League.

The two arrived at Chicago's Midway Airport Thursday night in Sinatra's plane. Hotel officials said they were registered through Sunday.

'Get Out Of Town,' Smut Dealer Told

FORT WALTON BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Circuit Court Judge Erwin Fleet ordered the owner of a local "pornographic sales" shop to "get out of town by sundown" Friday.

By Saturday, the banished businessman and his X-rated books had high-tailed it to friendlier parts.

Court officials would not release the banished businessman's name but said he had been arrested 17 times in three months of operating in this Gulf of Mexico community.

HEAVY SMOKE — Firemen clear smoke from their lungs while fighting a house fire at 1311 Utah Saturday morning. The blaze, which took six men 30 minutes to extinguish, caused extensive damage to the back part of the house, belonging to Joe Delbosque, according to Fire Capt. John Waddil, who said the flames started in a bedroom closet. Two bedrooms were completely burnt out, he said. No one was hurt although a young girl had reportedly been playing in a bedroom about the time the fire started.

Peacekeeping Force Is Now In Suez City

Egypt and Israel agreed Saturday to a meeting between their military representatives to discuss the U.N.-sponsored Middle East cease-fire, announcements from Washington, Tel Aviv and Cairo said.

The meeting was agreed to as U.N. peacekeeping forces began to arrive in areas of the war front near where the Egyptian 3rd Army is reported to be panned up without water in the sweltering Sinai Desert.

There were indications from U.S. and Israeli spokesmen that efforts would be made to get non-military supplies to the estimated 20,000 Egyptian soldiers.

Cairo's official Middle East News Agency said the meeting would take place Saturday night "somewhere along the front" under the United Nations' flag. The Tel Aviv and Washington announcements did not indicate where or when the meeting would be held.

The announcements were accompanied by other developments that appeared to ease the crisis 22 days after the fourth Arab-Israeli war exploded along the Suez Canal and in Golan Heights.

A Tel Aviv military spokesman, Col. Nahman Karni, reported calm on both the Syrian and Egyptian fronts. "This is the first day since Oct. 6 that not one shot was fired in the last 24 hours," he said.

A contingent of the U.N. peacekeeping force was allowed to pass through Israeli lines in Egypt, and a vanguard force of the peacekeepers arrived in the city of Suez. Israeli officers there say the city, which is situated at the southern end and west bank of the Suez Canal, has been occupied by Israeli forces since the first cease-fire was declared last Monday.

U.S. officials have said this government wants to be sure there no longer is any danger that the Russians will make a military move in the Middle East before the United States ends the alert of its forces.

There were indications that all phases of the alert probably will end by Sunday night.

President Nixon said Friday that all 22 million U.S. troops worldwide were placed on alert before dawn Thursday "to indicate to the Soviet Union that we could not accept any unilateral act on their part" to send troops to enforce a U.N.-ordered cease-fire between Israel and the Arab nations.

Wary Military Eases Alert

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon relieved most of the 1.7 million servicemen in the United States and in the Pacific from emergency alert Saturday, but left key units at the ready in this country and Europe.

"We don't yet have all the assurances, military and diplomatic, that we need to go all the way in ending the alert," a senior official told a reporter.

By this, he indicated the United States still is not certain that the Soviet Union has removed about 50,000 paratroopers from an alert which helped precipitate a brief crisis between the United States and Russia.

Australia Is Happy To Let New Nation Have Freedom

By IAN McCUSLND
Associated Press Writer

PORT MORESBY, Papua New Guinea (AP) — Independence ceremonies are traditionally highlighted by the hauling down of the "colonial" flag and the raising of a new national banner.

This enigma of a country already has its own flag — and the majority of its 2.5 million people don't want independence. Instead of the customary pattern of freedom fighters striving to throw off an allegedly oppressive foreign yoke, it is the ruling power of Australia which is intent on liberating itself of its only major overseas possession.

PIVOTAL DATE

Papua New Guinea becomes internally self-governing Dec. 1. Independence is scheduled to follow next year on a date still to be decided.

According to government officials here and in the Australian capital of Canberra, September is the best bet.

A better bet is that the galeforce winds of change, which Australia's Labor party Prime Minister Gough Whitlam has introduced, will build up into a cyclone as it blows the 100 miles across the Torres Strait from northern Australia.

Ironically, in a county of 700 mutually unintelligible languages, the only real signs of unity have been within the separatist and secessionist groups.

Just as the country's name of Papua New Guinea is unwieldy on the tongue, so it is a throat-sticker for the 800,000 Papuans. With independence looming, they fear dominance by the fragmented, but aggressive New Guineans.

Other groups are as apprehensive as the Papuans. The conservative and often primitive highland clans living in valley pockets between towering saw-toothed mountains fear a r overlordship by their more educated coastal cousins.

A government report has disclosed that many clans — among them are some which still practice cannibalism — believe independence means they will have rights to whatever land they hold at that time.

Another complication is developing on the island of Bougainville where the people want to cut their ties with Papua New Guinea — keeping for themselves the 900 million tons of copper ore and the $564 million investment by Britain's Rio Tinto Zinc Corporation.

Throw in several mystical cults, a measure of sorcery, and a wealthy, but diminishing band of 46,000 white expatriates, and Papua New Guinea becomes a well-mixed goulash in a pressure cooker.

The man trying to keep the lid on it all is the Chief Minister Michael Somare, a short, stocky separatist and secessionist ex-journalist.

Somare, 37, gained the position following last year's general election for the 100-seat House of Assembly.

PIECED TOGETHER

Somehow — nobody is quite sure how — he managed to piece together a jigsaw jumble of parties, politics and people to form a government officially headed by his own Pangu Pati party.

It is a coalition of individuals, whose diversity is shown in Parliament which is conducted in three languages, English, Pidgin and the Papuan lingua franca of Motu.

The opposition is equally splintered, but comprises mainly highlanders whose United Party is backed financially by white plantation owners and businessmen.

While democracy is full grown, party politics are in their infancy.

"The assembly members are probably closer to their electorates than any other country in the world," said an Australian adviser to the government. "They sit around and talk for hours with villagers. The same sort of thing occurs at the top level and the net result is usually consensus and compromise instead of leadership."

Somare is aware of this. "Politics are something very new and strange here," he said. "It's not a Melanesian concept of running things. But without party politics we wouldn't have got where we are now."

Somare is a mix of the old and new. Later this year he will be inducted as the "big man" of his clan in the East Sepik region of New Guinea with traditional ceremony — but he has declined to have his ears pierced as is customary.

Somare is playing down self-government. "It is nothing to get excited about," he said. "It is merely the culmination of the process by which powers have been steadily transferred to Papua New Guinea during the past three years. That is all.

"There will be no national celebration before our own constitution is proclaimed." This is expected to be ready about May next year. In Melanesian fashion, a committee is touring the country and producing debate papers giving the pros and cons on everything from the form of voting to the form of government.

Somare has not indicated any personal preference and there is no indication as yet what sort of system will be adopted.

TV Cop Gets Dose Of Real Crime

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Telly Savalas, who plays a tough detective in "Kojak," got a firsthand dose of crime while filming a segment of the television series.

Savalas returned earlier in the week to the spot where he parked his car while filming in downtown Los Angeles to find an empty parking space. Quick work by real police recovered the car, and a man was booked for investigation of auto theft.

After being arrested and handcuffed, the man was taken to meet Savalas.

"Telly said the guy apologized and that he really felt sorry for him," a spokesman for the television series said later.

College Repeats Halloween Fest

What do you do with thousands of high school and college students with trick-or-treat mischief on their minds? And you can bet your most frightening ghost or goblin against a bushel of jack-o-lanterns that most young people have a tiny touch of bedevilment in them come October 31.

But the student body of Howard County College plans on channeling some of this Halloween energy into a carnival of rather colossal magnitude.

A "HOLOCAUST" Styled the Halloween Holocaust '73, the college will bring together dozens of booths and concessions, thrills and scares, and treat teenagers and grownups alike to a haunted evening of spooky delights.

Last All Saints Eve, the carnival was so successful that 2,000 persons appeared at the Student Union Building to participate in the activities.

One of the most successful events was the Horror House, sponsored by the campus choir. "This year we will turn the entire music building into a replica of Dracula's Castle and conduct tours," said Woody McDonell, choir director. The drama department will join the choir this year to increase manpower for the spook house.

Payroll Tax Break Due

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Employment Commission says it has a rare occurrence to report—a tax reduction.

Effective Jan. 1 the unemployment insurance payroll tax for many employers will be reduced three-tenths of one percent.

"It occurs because of the health state of the unemployment trust fund, the reserve fund for payment of jobless benefits," a TEC announcement said.

More than 60,000 employers in Texas, about one-third of those covered, will get the reduced rates.

Commissioner Sam Lane said the lower payments on 1974 payroll taxes will begin in April. Each employer will receive individual information in the mail about the reduction.

"This reduction in payroll tax is the result of low unemployment and steadily decreasing jobless benefit payments in Texas recently," Lane said.

The latest Texas unemployment rate is 3.4 percent.

Senior Citizen Film Scheduled

RSVP (Retired Senior Volunteer Program), would like to invite all persons of retirement age in Howard County to watch the film "What You Do Speaks So Loud" to be shown on KHCC, Channel 3, on Monday, at 5:15 p.m.

"What You Do Speaks So Loud" is about senior citizens doing volunteer work within their community. Those with questions may call the RSVP office at 7-2261.

MORE BOOTHS

The carnival will feature all the attractions last year, plus more booths and more clubs participating, said Anna Smith, dean of students.

There will be drawings, bingo, fortune telling, artists sketches, a bathing beauty dunking pool, Mexican food and a sponge throw at teachers.

Also apple bobbing, slot car racing, dart throw at balloons, ring over bottles, hammer and bell, book sale and the game room.

Hundreds of prizes will be given away at the booths, and a car stereo, complete with free installation, will be given away in a drawing by the Hot Rod Club.

Students will be admitted with a 50 cent contribution. Festivities will get underway at 7 p.m.

Obscene Material Seized By Squad

HOUSTON (AP) — Vice squad officers raided a warehouse late Thursday and confiscated what was described as obscene magazines and sexual material.

Police Sgt. G. S. McMenemy said hundreds of magazines intended for distribution throughout the state were seized.

Justice of the Peace Armando Rodriguez issued a search warrant which was executed by the vice squad officers.

Five persons were arrested at the warehouse.

Charged with conspiracy to distribute obscene matter, a felony, were Gary Scott Van Gundy, 35, of Spring, Tex.; his wife Marsha, 32; Carlton Joseph Stevens, 28; and Sandra Hocutt, 27, of Houston, and Vera Frans Horn, 51, of Pasadena.

Authorities said Van Gundy was held in lieu of $20,000 bond and the others were held on $1,000 bonds.

More Than 700 Tour Alcatraz Opening Day

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — More than 700 eager tourists took an opening-day tour of a new park where Al Capone once languished in a prison cell and Robert Stroud trained his birds in solitary.

They were visitors Friday to Alcatraz Island in San Francisco Bay, once home of the country's most notorious prisoners and only a 15-minute ferry boat ride from Fisherman's Wharf.

"The Rock" — as it was known to the criminals who did time here — has opened to the public as part of the 34,000-acre Golden Gate National Recreation Area.

"Pretty gruesome" and "horifying" were typical comments from the crowd as park rangers led guided tours down the corridors of the crumbling penitentiary, past the barred cells and pitch-dark solitary lockups. No repairs have been made since the prison was abandoned in 1962.

They saw the second-tier cell where gangster Al Capone lived on a corridor his fellow inmates dubbed "Michigan Avenue" in reference to his Chicago bootlegging days. They saw the cell where Robert Stroud, the Birdman of Alcatraz, turned loneliness into an opportunity to study and master ornithology.

Fifteen guided tours, each lasting 1½ hours, are scheduled daily for groups of 50 persons. Park Supt. William J. Whalen said the tours are "nearly booked solid for weeks to come." Adults pay $2, children under 12 pay $1, and tots under 5 can wander for free through the former haunts of the likes of "Baby Face" Nelson and "Machine Gun" Kelly.

Tax Valuations Will Rise On Venezuela Oil Exports

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Venezuela, which exports more oil to the United States than any country besides Canada, says it will increase the tax valuation on exported oil by 56 per cent effective Nov. 1.

The move, which will increase the cost of Venezuelan oil to foreign consumers, was announced Friday by Hugo Perez La Salvia, minister of mines and petroleum.

Observers said the decision could be compared with a city's increasing the assessed valuation of real estate, which would raise the property owner's tax payments even if the tax rate did not rise. The tax valuation of each barrel of exported oil is to be increased from about $4.65 to $7.24. It is the sharpest increase since August, when Venezuela began making monthly increases.

Oil experts said the government also may increase the tax rate, further hiking the cost of Venezuelan oil abroad. The government normally does not publicize the tax rates it charges.

There was no official explanation for the move, but a government source said the size of the increase was directly related to oil sales and price decisions by Arab states.

A number of Arab countries have stopped selling oil to the United States because of its support of Israel, and others have cut back production or raised prices.

Foreign companies—including Exxon, Shell, Gulf, Mobil and Texaco—produce 85 per cent of Venezuela's oil production of nearly 3.4 million barrels per day. Venezuela's oil production of nearly 3.4 million barrels per day. Venezuela has been exporting oil to the United States at the rate of 21,837,000 barrels monthly, compared with about 70 million barrels a month that the United States receives from Canada.

There was no immediate official comment from foreign oil companies. But one company official, who asked not to be identified, said: "With these to predict our future."

The reference value of the oil has been set unilaterally by the government at the end of each month, taking into account such factors as production, freight and market prices and other factors affecting the international petroleum trade.

Blue Shield recommended in March 1972 that Perot's firm receive the computer services contract, Kelly said. Blue Cross handled the service under an earlier arrangement.

Kelly said his firm objected on grounds that federal bidding procedures were not followed. The Bureau of Health Insurance agreed and ordered new bid specifications published, he said.

Kelly said that, even though his firm was the only one that met Blue Shield's specifications 100 per cent, Perot's firm was the only one that met Blue Shield's specifications 100 per cent, Perot's firm was again recommended.

A congressional committee and a Health, Education and Welfare Department advisory committee is looking into what Kelly called the Dallas firm's nearly monopolistic hold on the industry, he said.

Two Boys Die, Mom Suspect

HOUSTON (AP) — Two young brothers were found dead of an apparent overdose of sleeping pills in a motel here Friday while their mother was listed in critical condition from the same cause.

Kevin K. Pedersen, 10, and his brother, Ercl, 8, died of the pills. Their mother, Mrs. Joyce Pedersen, 41, was reported unconscious and in critical condition late Friday.

Homicide detectives said they found three notes in the motel room which caused them to suspect the mother gave sleeping pills to the two boys, then took them herself.

Officers said relatives told them Mrs. Pedersen is suffering from Parkinson's Disease and had been despondent.

Her husband, Huno Pedersen of Houston had filed a missing report on the three Friday, saying they had left Houston Thursday to visit Mrs. Pedersen's mother in Carthage, Tex., but never arrived.

What Happens Now In Middle East?

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The shooting has died down in the Middle East. There is a fragile kind of cease-fire with the hope that the United Nations can turn it into something more solid. Now what lies ahead? What of relations between the United States and the Soviet Union? Between the Arabs and the West? The following analysis by Special Correspondent William L. Ryan takes a look at the situation.)

By WILLIAM RYAN
Associated Press Writer

Whatever happens now in the always unpredictable Middle East, peace seems a long way off.

New wounds have been inflicted — deep ones. New complexities have been piled upon old ones. New factors have been introduced that serve to underscore a prospect of future conflict, mad the more perilous by a persistent clash of superpower interests.

It may be that things will calm down for a little while. The immediate interests of the two superpowers seems to indicate effort to persuade their respective clients to cool matters.

But the scenario of the Middle East has a terrifying way of repeating itself. Crisis moves to war, to big-power entanglement, sometimes to a glimpse of the nuclear brink, and then to a halt in the shooting, at which time the over-all situation in that immensely strategic area is immeasurably more dangerous than it had been before the shooting started.

NOBODY GAINS
What happened in the fourth of the Arab-Israeli wars in 23 years was that nobody seems to have gained enough to have made the cost and the peril worth while. All suffered losses — not only Arabs and Jews, but Russians, Americans, Europeans and others.

The fourth round changed the picture sharply. Militarily, the Arabs demonstrated an ability to use sophisticated Soviet weaponry effectively. This is new. It suggests that Israel has new worries now and far less assurance of an automatic upper hand should war break out again.

In terms of world politics, the picture seems to be changing, too. Short term, Moscow will have reason to want to avoid explosions so that the Russians can hope to reap the economic benefits they sought from the detente with the United States and the West.

But long range, Moscow seems likely to get into trouble with the West again in the Middle East. Far from a lessening of rivalry there, the prospect is for increasing competition as the Persian Gulf looms more and more important in an oil-hungry world.

Moscow's interest in that oil is both political and economic. It is political because the oil suggests influence over the futures of non-Communist countries; economic because Moscow itself may need substantially increased imports of oil in seven or eight years.

HARD TO JUDGE
The vast clouds of confusion kicked up over the scorched battlefields make it difficult to judge what the immediate impact of the war has been in the Middle East itself, among the Arab participants and their allies.

If Egypt hoped for some purchase, for bargaining, by taking and holding a strip of her former territory in Sinai on the east bank of the Suez Canal, the Israelis effectively nullified that by punching across to the west side, securing a large salient almost within shouting distance of Cairo and threatening to isolate Egypt's forces on the other bank.

If Syria hoped to get back the Golan Heights, she was worse off now than on Oct. 5, because the Israelis had driven even more deeply into Syria.

There has been a good deal of talk about a new pride among the Arabs because they fought longer and better. Still, that is going to be small compensation for what they lost. Once again the fighting has been enormously costly for them in terms of men and equipment.

Moreover Arabs will know that whatever happened to them, it could hardly be all good. They will probably claim, as they did even in 1956, that they had a victory, but they know then and they probably know now that victory has eluded them. The frustration is likely to grow again, and that frustration all along has spelled bitterness, instability and conflict.

To add to the Arabs' woes, there is a chance now once again that their unity, expressed through their joint actions in this war, will slowly begin again to disintegrate, much in the pattern of the past.

The Arabs will have fallen short of their florid vows to "liberate" Palestine, and that scar is bound to hurt again.

Israel may claim some pluses, but the war was enormously costly for her in terms of losses in men and materiel. She demonstrated she could defend herself and repel an enemy severely, but, like the Arabs, she is likely to suffer a good deal of economic pain as part of the price.

Good Weather Aids Harvest

The cotton harvest has responded to the fair weather, reports B. B. Manly Jr., in charge of the cotton division, Agriculture Marketing Service, USDA, in Abilene.

Receipts picked up from around 2,000 per day last week to more than 8,000 per day during last weekend.

According to the market, cotton prices have taken a downturn this week. Most large firms are not buying at all, or have reduced their prices. Some firms are now paying 3½ times loan prices. At this time a quality #131 premium mike brings from 33.35 to 60 cents per pound. Quality #231, premium mike would bring from $2.50 to $7.50 cents per pound. The trend was downward.

Quality of cotton declined slightly this week. Predominant grades were grade 31, 17 per cent; grade 41, 27 per cent; grade 51, 17 per cent, and 37 per cent light-spotted. Staple 30 accounted for 25 per cent; staple 31, 50 per cent; and staple 32 for 21 per cent. Micronaire readings improved slightly with 89 per cent premium compared to 86 per cent last week.

The Abilene office has processed 15,000 samples this week for a season total of 36,000, compared to a season total of 18,000 for the same date last year.

Kudler Installed As Academy Prexy

HOUSTON (AP) — Dr. George D. Kudler, a Brooklyn general dentist, was installed Saturday as president of the Academy of General Dentistry.

The 10,000-member dental organization held its annual meeting in advance of the 14th annual meeting of the American Dental Association which opens here Sunday.

Other Academy of General Dentistry officers elected were Dr. John L. Bomba of Philadelphia, president-elect; Dr. David Moline of Olympia, Wash., vice president; and Dr. Norman K. Pope of West Lynn, Ore., secretary.

The Academy of General Dentistry's chief goal is to encourage general dental practitioners to pursue a continuing program of education after graduation.

Wife Of Doctor, Man Are Held For Plot To Murder

DALLAS (AP) — Police held a Fort Worth doctor's wife and a Mesquite, Tex., hairdresser in the city jail Saturday for investigation of an alleged conspiracy to murder the woman's husband.

Charges were not filed immediately. However, Municipal Judge George Orndoff read the pair their rights and ordered them held under $150,000 bond each.

Police and jail records identified the two as Judy Langley Maupin, 25, wife of Dr. Doran Davis Maupin of Fort Worth, and Richie Turner, 30, of Mesquite, a Dallas suburb.

Police related this story: Investigator R. B. "Buck"

Parish received word that a man and woman wanted to hire a professional killer.

Parish, his supervisor and other officers devised a plan for Parish to pose as a professional killer and set up a meeting in a Dallas motel room.

Electronic devices were set up and a deal made for Parish to be the hit man for $5,000.

Sgt. K. W. Heard and Investigator Ken W. Bangs arrested Turner and Mrs. Maupin about 7:15 p.m. Friday.

Dr. Maupin knew nothing about the events until Saturday, police said, although he had been under protective surveillance by Fort Worth officers.

North Vietnamese, Cong Stepping Up Assaults

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces are stepping up their attacks and trying new tactics, a South Vietnamese military spokesman said today.

"Enemy activities have increased in tempo, ferocity and intensity within the past two weeks," Lt. Col. Le Trung Hein said. "They are aimed at our battalion-size units. Casualties are up and, logistically, the enemy is trying to cut major highways."

Hein said the change in tactics has become apparent in the last two weeks. Two major government posts, both in the central highlands, have been overrun by North Vietnamese forces in heavy fighting in the past month.

"For the first few months after the ceasefire, the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese conducted mostly scattered actions in remote areas," Hein said. "Their targets were iso-named and Viet Cong forces later outposts or villages. I think now the enemy has decided it doesn't want to give us the idea that we are in peacetime anymore."

In Cambodia, the Phnom Penh command claimed today that several North Vietnamese divisions had moved into South Vietnam. Col. Am Rong, the chief spokesman, said the North Vietnamese 5th, 7th and 9th divisions and the 367th sapper regiment had crossed the Cambodian frontier.

In another development, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the exiled Cambodian leader, said in an interview published Friday by Le Mond in Paris that he had serious disagreements with the Khmer Rouge. He rejected his requests to transfer his government from Pe-king to Communist-controlled Cambodian territory.

Cotton wet, Dr. John Hutchison, direc- harvesting was active in West- tor of the Texas Agricultural Many farmers are applying chemicals to cotton in the South Plains to prepare the crop for stripping, he said. Some cotton also is being defoliated in West Central Texas and in the Rolling Plains. DISTRICT AGRICULTURAL AGENTS gave these reports: Panhandle: About 15 per cent of the grain sorghum acreage has been harvested. The corn harvest is about 75 per cent Cotton is opening and the crop looks good. Wheat planting is about complete except in north- eastern counties. South Plains: Cotton harvest- ing is gaining momentum and field prospects and lint quality looks good. The grain sorghum harvest is making good progress with good yields. Carrots and bell peppers are being har- vested. Rolling Plains: Some wheat remains to be planted. Cotton harvesting is about 10 per cent complete. The grain sorghum harvest is complete in some counties. Peanut and pecan harvesting is active.

calving has started. Livestock shipping is active in the Davis Mountains area. West Central: Cotton stripp- ing operations are active. Some peanuts and a few late fields of grain sorghum remain to be harvested. Prolonged wet con- ditions are expected to lower peanut grades. Pastures and ranges are providing excellent grazing. REGROWTH Central: Some cotton fields that were desiccated earlier have considerable regrowth. More than half the crop re- mains to be harvested. Peanut yields and grades are expected to be lower due to prolonged wet weather. Pecan harvesting has started. A light crop is ex- pected. About 30 per cent of the small grain acreage remains to be planted. East: More than half the cotton crop still remains to be har- vested. Harvesting of corn and peanuts is about complete. Fall vegetable gardens are making good progress. Small grains are up to good stands but army- worms are causing some dam- age. Livestock are in good con- dition. Southeast and Upper Gulf Coast: Harvesting of cotton, corn and the second rice crop is making some progress. About 20 per cent of the cotton and 10 per cent of the corn acreage is still in the field. Soy- bean harvesting has started. Some spring peanuts remain to be harvested. About 15 per cent of the pecan crop is harvested. Planting of wheat and oats is past the halfway point. South Central: About 35 per cent of the cotton and 20 per cent of the spring peanut crop awaits harvesting. Harvesting of the fall peanut crop is at the halfway mark. A few fields of corn and grain sorghum also remain to be harvested. Pas- ture and livestock conditions are good. Southwest: Harvesting of corn, cotton and peanuts is complete. Heavy rains de- stroyed several hundred acres of young cabbage and onions in Dimmit County. Vegetables in other counties are making good progress with some moving to market. Range and pasture conditions are good. Stock tanks are full. South: Stalk destruction is being delayed by wet fields in the Rio Grande Valley. Citrus harvesting is increasing. A good harvest is in prospect. Livestock and pasture conditions are excellent although ear ticks and screwworms remain a problem.

Hospital Unit Will Be Dedicated To AF Flier

An intensive care unit will be dedicated at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock to the memory of the late Jerry Bolt, a member of the Air Force Thunderbirds who was killed during an exhibition last December. His death occurred in Nevada on Dec. 21 on a test mission with the crash of an F4 fighter 80 miles north of Las Vegas. He and his wife, Bibby, lived in Lubbock. His parents, Co. and Mrs. William T. Bolt of Garland, were from the Big Spring area. His mother traveled about and viewed the Thunderbirds wherever they performed and was at Webb Air Force Base on Sept. 25, 1972 when he performed here. The Thunderbirds, show squadron of the Air Force performed in Abilene yesterday and will perform at 2 p.m. Sun-

Bugs' Names Don't Bug Prof

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — If you're a scientist, you'd be thrilled to have two exotic strings of chinch bugs named after you. Such distinction was bestowed on Dr. Merrill H. Sweet, Texas A&M University biology professor, at a recent International Congress of Systematics and Evolutionary Biology.

Sweet has studied members of the chinch bug family (Lygaeidae) extensively, including a year's field trip in South Africa. In recognition of his contributions, a taxonomic group at the University of Connecticut at Storrs tagged two new South African genera "Sweetolethaeus" and "Sweetocoris."

Dr. Sweet thus joins another A&M professor in having his name scientifically embelished. Two years ago, Dr. Sayed Z. El-Sayed of the university's Oceanography Department gained immortality by having his name attached to a glacier in Antarctica.

They now have something of a rivalry going to determine which will endure longer: the glacier or the chinch bug.

Black Selected To Head Unit

HOUSTON (AP) — The first black department head in the Harris County government has been hired by the Commissioners Court. The court voted recently to name Gus Taylor, 35, as head of the new county personnel department. Taylor begins work now but his salary was not set immediately. The new department was created as a central hiring agency for county departments to establish equal pay and qualifications countywide. Previously, each county department head hired his own crew. Taylor had been working as a community relations specialist with the Justice Department here at $20,000 per year.

Farming Plan Successful In Drought-Stricken Area

DAKAR, Senegal (AP) — In the middle of this drought-stricken West African nation, a small, internationally-owned vegetable farm is rapidly creating its own little green revolution.

After one year of farming on 4,000 acres spread over two sites, BUD-Senegal has almost broken even. In a country where progress is painfully slow, and where most agricultural work is accomplished using horse-drawn or hand-made and man-powered implements, BUD's rapid success is even more striking.

While controlling interest is owned by BUD-Holland — in turn partly owned by BUD of California — 39 per cent of the company is owned by the Senegalese government. Even the country's president, Leopold Sedar Senghor, owns a small share. BUD's land is leased from the government, as well.

Despite its close relationship with the government, 90 per cent of BUD's produce is exported. During peak season, BUD sent two cargo planes a day to markets in Western Europe.

TOO HIGH

Export is emphasized because "BUD-Senegal production is priced too high for local

Painter Sues After Jailing For 91 Days

HOUSTON (AP) — An $850,000 federal court suit has been filed here by a house painter who said he was jailed for 91 days because he failed to return a rented ladder.

Roland Paul Trahan, 31, of South Houston filed the suit Friday. Among those named in the suit are former Pasadena Police Chief Ellis Means, Pasadena police officer David M. Ingraham, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pearce, former managers of the Channel Area Rental Center in Pasadena.

Trahan claimed in the suit he was in jail from Nov. 1, 1972 until last Jan. 30 when he was no longer on charges of felony theft.

He said he was unable to make a $1,000 bond and had no relatives in the area.

He said he was unable to return the ladder in the specified time because he was hospitalized for a stomach injury.

He said he returned the ladder shortly after his release from the hospital and explained the reason for the delay.

In the meantime, the suit said, Pearce had filed a felony theft complaint against him.

He said he tried in vain to explain to Pasadena police that he had returned the ladder. He was told, he said, that Pearce would have to make a written request for dismissal of the charges.

Trahan said that on Jan. 29, he found a guard at the Harris County Rehabilitation Center who "listened to my plight."

The indictment was presented to a grand jury the following day and Trahan was no longer in the suit.

A spokesman for the Pasadena Police Department said Trahan was arrested on a public drunkenness charge and fined $102.50, and rearrested on the outstanding felony theft charge.

The spokesman said law officers are required by state law to arrest anyone named in any warrant issued by a magistrate.

College Reviving Honor Society In Rites Today

Phi Theta Kappa will be revived at Howard County Junior College this fall.

The local chapter of the honor society for junior colleges today will install members and elect officers for the first time since 1971.

Installing officer will be David Conrad, president of the Eta Tau chapter of Odessa College. He is state president of the society.

INDUCTION

The formal induction will be at 3 p.m. today in the Lounge of the Student Union Building. Mrs. Susan King, instructor of English, and Miss Movelda Rhine, business instructor, will serve as advisors this year. Membership is by invitation only said Mrs. King. "A student must be in the upper 10 per cent of his college academically, be carrying 15 semester hours credit or more, and have at least a 'B' average. He or she must also be an outstanding person in his area of study."

She says a notation of membership is made on the student's permanent transcript and that membership is considered to have a desirable credential to have as one progresses through academic and professional life.

BEGUN IN 1918

The society's charter states the purpose of Phi Theta Kappa as promotion of scholarship, development of leadership and service, and cultivation of fellowship among the students of the junior colleges of the United States.

The organization was born in 1918 at a meeting of Missouri junior college presidents seeking to recognize superior students. PTK grew out of an honor society called Kappa Phi Omicron, which had been established at Stephens College in Columbia, Mo., in 1910 with six charter members.

Honors-To Go To Black Groups

HOUSTON (AP) — Leading organizations of black communities will be honored with the Fred Patterson Award Nov. 18.

Patterson, a founder of the fund, is past president of Tuskegee Institute.

The United Negro College Fund raises operating money for the nation's private predominantly black colleges.

IT'S INDIAN SUMMER YOU PUMPKIN HEAD! — Typifying the spirit of the season, Indian Summer and Halloween, is a pumpkin decorated for Halloween carved into the likeness of an unsmiling Indian. markets," farm manager Glen Knap explained. Knap, 34, from Parma, Idaho, first came to Africa to do a nine-month stint in the Peace Corps in Mali. He was hired by BUD in 1971 to research, set up, and run BUD's African operation.

Although BUD does sell some of its produce to local buyers — women in gaily-colored robes balancing huge straw baskets on their heads, and men in small trucks or on horse-carts — its owners see its value to Senegal in terms of jobs, rather than nutrition.

NOT NEW

The idea of growing vegetables in West Africa for European consumption is not a new one. BUD's success, however, is unique. Practically every day, U.S. foreign aid technicians, various government officials, rival growers, and curious tourists can be seen gawking at the lush fields. And the trip to the farm, on a rough gravel road, assures that the visitors who do come are captivated.

Asked by technicians why he has succeeded where so many other similar foreign investments and aid projects have failed, Knap smiled and said, "It's because they didn't have me working for them."

BUD's and Knap's success of a lack of challenges. Transplanting European vegetable farming to African conditions required enormous amounts of research and preparation. over 800 vegetable varieties were tested on an experimental field. Insects have proved a tremendous obstacle, especially during the rainy season, when insecticides must be reapplied after each rain. BUD currently employs a full-time insecticide expert.

Edinburg Pupils Freed On Bond

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — Two Edinburg High School pupils were freed on bond today following their arrest on charges of attempted arson in connection with an incident at the home of the school's assistant principal.

Mario Cavazos and Ricky Maldonado, both 17, posted $1,500 bond each Friday following an arraignment before Justice of the Peace Ramon Cantu.

Edinburg police said Asst. High School Principal Ruben Carrera said he found a partially burned paper bag stuffed in the opening of the gas tank of an automobile parked outside his home shortly after he saw a sports car speed away.

New Vitamin 'E' Diet Gives Fast Weight Loss

LOS ANGELES (Special) — New scientific discoveries have now produced a Vitamin E diet that quickly works wonders on overweight people, and reportedly is gaining great popularity across the country with glowing reports of easy weight loss "while still eating almost as much as you want."

Those who follow the simple Vitamin E diet report an average loss of at least a pound a day and even more without exercise or starvation. Nutritionists files are bulging with happy testimonials from formerly overweight people who are now trim and slim again. Best of all, you can still eat almost as much as you want of the "forbidden foods" like steak, chicken, fish, sauces, gravies, bacon and eggs and still lose weight.

Chewable (candy-like) vitamin E tablets, as used in the diet plan, contain a new scientific combination of ingredients that quickly curbs and controls the appetite, while also giving the wondrous benefits of Vitamin E which is so essential to good health.

The use of the new Vitamin E-Diet tablets and foods prescribed in the plan will, through natural action, act to help your body use up excess fat. According to recent clinical tests, a person who is deficient in Vitamin E or Protein "will double the speed of fat utilization" with the use of Vitamin E.

E-DIET AVAILABLE

To get a copy of this highly successful diet and E-Tablets, send $5.00 for 10 day supply (or $7.00 for 20 day supply or $10.00 for 30 day supply) to: Diet-E, 309 N. Kings Rd., Los Angeles, CA. 90048 (money-back guarantee if not satisfied). In Calif., add 5% tax. (Advertisement)

No Wonder Cotton Was Lamesa Banquet Theme

By MARJ CARPENTER

Last week was National Cotton Week and Dawson County is the number one cotton-producing county.

It was also time for annual Lamesa Chamber of Commerce banquet held last Thursday. So, in selecting a theme for the banquet, chamber women chose cotton.

The theme was carried out with a large stalk of cotton behind the speaker's stand and a horn of plenty featuring cotton in front of the podium.

Tables held floral arrangements interspersed with bolls of cotton and women at the banquet were presented corsages made from white bolls of cotton.

Dawson County, the harvest is cotton and very little else since nearly every available acre of county land is planted in cotton.

In its early history, Dawson County was primarily known for its dairy herds. There is no longer a single dairy in the county and there are very few beef cattle herds as only one

MANY FIELDS LOST

Another major problem has been the perennial water shortage in this country whose northern border faces the Sahara desert. BUD currently takes its water from the same system that supplies Dakar, Senegal's capital of over 500,000 people. During the dry spring, when the drought was at its most devastating level, many fields were lost when Dakar's water sources started to go dry.

The water shortage, however, pushed BUD into an exhaustive exploitation of different irrigation systems. One particularly successful apparatus, which feeds a measured amount of water and fertilizer directly to the plant's roots, was developed in Israel. Its installation on an experimental basis here was supervised by Israel's technicians.

In the next five years, BUD plans to expand its operations to 15,000 acres, in several different areas throughout Senegal. In addition, it is trying to organize an extension service, which would supply Senegalese farmers with seeds, fertilizer and techniques, and then buy back their produce for export. This was tried on a limited basis with mangoes this year.

In addition to its major crops of tomatoes, green peppers, eggplant, and melons, BUD will stress sorghum millet in its future expansion.

Several City Projects Await Higher Sanction

Although the citywide Clean Up Shape Up alley clearing drive is progressing at a brisk pace, other city projects seem to be lying dormant, many awaiting approval of higher governmental agencies or funding or both.

Creation of a three-man one-woman juvenile department within the police department is being held up for lack of funds.

A proposal to seek partial federal funding of the program for two years is now before the executive committee of the Permian Basin Regional Planning Council.

Police Chief Vance Chisum explained that the grant application must have approval of the PBRPC before being forwarded to the Criminal Justice Council. The city is seeking a grant of $68,000. The city itself will provide $12,000.

BALL FIELDS

The department, if set up, will operate on an around-the-clock basis dealing solely with juvenile offenders in the areas of crime prevention and investigation and criminal apprehension.

Development of a four-field ball field complex to take care of what have been called "urgent needs" for next summer softball facilities must wait for completion of a topographical map of the proposed site and a master plan for the site's use both steps necessary prior to federal funding.

The intended site is on some 30 acres of land at the Big Spring State Hospital recently licensed to the city by the state for recreational purposes only.

LANDFILL SITE

Designation of a new city landfill location is expected to take three to six months to complete. Before the necessary state and federal agencies, including the Texas Water Quality Board and the Environmental Protection Agency, can consider the landfill site, test drilling must be conducted to determine proximity of the water table and a contour map must be made.

Nagel said approval of such a project usually takes about six months but he is hoping to speed up the process by "hand carrying" papers to governmental officials rather than waiting for the project to take its normal course via letters, etc.

BILLY S. SCHAFFNER

Schaffner Is New Manager

Billy S. Schaffner has assumed his duties as the new manager for the Big Spring Educators Federal Credit Union. His appointment was announced by Doris Huijbregtse, president.

Big Spring is new to him, but not West Texas or credit union work. A native of Cross Plains, he graduated from school there, went into merchandising after work at Draughton's Business College, and then became interested in credit union work with Merchants Motor Freight.

For the past nine and a half years he has been a regional representative of the Texas Credit Union League, five of them headquartered in Midland and the last 4½ at Amarillo. He served 124 credit unions.

He said he was anxious to be situated at home and to be associated with a credit union which he is convinced the Teachers Credit union has. Schaffner is married to the former Corene Jones, who grew up in Cross Plains with him. They have three children, Shane, a seventh grader, Kyle, in the second grade, and a daughter, Tracey, 2½ years. The family resides presently at 1720 Purdue.

'Johnnie' Is Now Window Dresser

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Twenty-five years ago, he was known to radio audiences as a bellhop named "Johnnie" who cried out: "Call for Phillip Morris."

Today Dale Paulin, 50, no longer does cigarette commercials. He is a window display man for a department store in Marshalltown.

Paulin, who stands 4-foot-6, was here this weekend for a district convention of Little People of America. Eligibility is limited to an adult height of less than 58 inches.

Paulin said about 125 little people from Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska and North and South Dakota were at the gathering.

Paulin said their plight is the same as that of other minority groups, except discrimination is "worse for us. The civil rights legislation doesn't mention physical size."

"We're trying to tell all little people and the general public that, despite our handicap, we can lead normal lives," he said.

Graduate Center Talk Is Slated

Clem L. Ware, landman for Fluor Corporation, will present a lecture covering damages, rights-of-way, rights of ingress and egress, etc. Tuesday in Midland, as a part of Permian Basin Graduate Center's Principles of Land and Leasing course.

Ware was formerly employed by General Oil Company of Ohio, Inc. as a vice president and land manager; by Sohio Petroleum Company as a staff landman; and by Nevelle G. Penrose, Inc. as a landman and assistant to the vice president and president.

Sex Counseling Tips Offered

The increasing recognition of sexual disorders and the need for their treatment often creates problems for physicians who are at a loss to deal properly with their patients' problems. Doctors will be offered practical tips on sex counseling at the fourth in the current series of Therapeutics Seminars offered by The University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio. This topic is to be aired Thursday at 12:30 p.m. in the health science center auditorium. Doctors at Big Spring State Hospital in Big Spring will participate by means of teleconference hookup. Moderating the session will be Dr. James Turnbull, assistant professor of psychiatry at the center's medical school.

New Experiment Can Earn Enrollee College Credit

You are situated in a job, have family responsibilities and you can't go to college in the conventional sense.

But if you would like to earn college credit — even a college degree right here at home, a proposed experiment may help you achieve your dream.

James Copeland, director of the Open University planning for Southern Methodist University, outlined to an advisory group here Friday an approach which has proven highly successful in Great Britain (where it originated). The meeting was hosted by Mayor Wade Choate.

The Coordinating Board of the State College and University system is conducting a statewide study concerning adult and continuing education, explained Copeland. One facet is a program which would utilize modern technology in presenting college-level studies without the participants needing to disrupt their regular work and family patterns in order to "go" to college.

Called in some quarters the "Second Chance" university, the plan is to take the university to the community, or to the student where he or she lives.

Individuals who may be interested in taking part in an experimental group starting Nov. 6 are asked to call Mrs. Joy Burnsed at the Howard County Junior College Library. The only basic qualification, other than interest, is age 22 or more and a high school or equivalent certificate.

Since it is a course within itself, the experimental study will be in "Hamlet." Registration will be limited to 12 sets of material (if couples register, these two may utilize one set), and will be on a first-come-first-served basis. There is no charge for instruction or materials.

The starting date will be Nov. 5, but a special film on the subject may be projected prior to that. The course will involve the film and other instructional aids, 14 hours of outside study, plus the Nov. 5 and a follow-up class discussion Nov. 19, each about two hours. Part of the materials used will be self-study guides.

There is no credit for this, but if and when a regular program came into being, it would be possible to gain 18 hours credit per semester.

Howard County Junior College has agreed to serve as the learning center for class discussions.

Women In Line For Roles Abroad

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Isabel Peron, Latin America's first woman vice president, says Argentina probably will send some women abroad as ambassadors.

"Women are going to have many more roles to fill in the future," the 42-year-old third wife of President Juan D. Peron said Thursday after visiting her senate offices.

She spent almost an hour exploring her offices and conferring with senate vice president Jose A. Allende, who swore the Perons into office last Friday.

Penn St. Rips Mountaineers

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — Tailback John Cappelletti scored on four short touchdown bursts Saturday and unbeaten Penn State's powerful defense stopped the quick-striking West Virginia Mountaineers for a 62-14 college football victory.

It was fifth-ranked Penn State's seventh victory of the year.

The 210-pound Cappelletti carried the ball 24 times for 130 yards, the ninth time in his 18-game varsity career that he has totaled more than 100 yards in a game. He ran for touchdowns of 10 and 2 yards in the first quarter on five and two-yard bolts to put the game out of the reach of upset-minded West Virginia.

West Virginia scored both its touchdowns on long plays in the second quarter. The first was a 96-yard pass-run from quarterback Danny Buggs that made the score 21-7. After Penn State went ahead 28-7, Buggs grabbed the ensuing kickoff on his goal line, ran five yards and reversed to Artie Owens, who covered the remaining 95 yards.

GOING DOWN — A Lamesa Tornado defender puts a quick stop on Brownfield's Scott Wiley (20) Friday during the Golden Tors' 27-13 Dist. 3-AAA victory over the Cubs. Lamesa went into the game ranked No. 4 in the state.

Trendy Togs

By JO BRIGHT

The models were either red heads or blonds at the special showing Saturday at the Apparel Mart in Dallas of major fashion trends for spring and summer.

Leon Hall, commentator for the show, said the hair colors were chosen because they were "so right" with orange, the new accent color in apparel.

Retail buyers who are in Dallas for the spring market got a whirlwind preview which included the best designs being offered in both American and European markets.

Advance information promises the return of the ensemble, absent from the fashion scene for several seasons. The updated version is favored in solid color dresses topped with patterned coats.

Black is back — and beautiful — in daytime wear as well as soft, filmy dresses for dancing. Fabrics seen more and more in dresses are crepes and shantung, while other classic fabrics such as linen and chiffon are shown in new combinations.

Silhouettes in dresses tend to be bulky; the cut big and blousy through the bodice, and waistlines are accented with sashes.

Hall said American and European designers are not in agreement on hemlines, though this has been of little importance in recent years. Current thinking by Americans is that the skirt should swing just above the knee, while Europeans are insisting on covering the kneecap.

As might be expected, the holiday fashions are bright and shiny, glamorized with fluff, feathers and furs. A lady can cover herself from head to toe, or take a fling at baring her back or shoulder — she's fashionable either way. The beaded sweater, put in mothballs several seasons back, is cautiously emerging for special evenings.

What's the new look? The slip dress and something called the "hip chemise".

THESE SPRING outfits were among those shown last week by California Fashion Creators in Los Angeles, Calif. At left is a powder blue, short-sleeved blazer over beige, white and blue checked slacks in polyester knit from Alex Colman. At right is a practical travel suit for spring shown by Koret of California in durable double knit polyester. The navy blazer is worn over navy and white pin-dot slacks.

PARIS MODEL wears a dress in print linen with giant flowers during a showing in France of the collection of Paris designer Jacques Esterel.

A SKIRT LOOK in black and white for spring is shown by a model wearing white suit with black blouse and veiled hat. The fashion is by John Anthony of New York whose collection stuck strictly to black, white and red, emphasizing a skinny look with shorter jackets and narrower skirts.

SOMETHING CASUAL is eye-catching as model wears a jacket in reversible geranium wool over printed silk jumper with white gabardine trousers during showing of designs by Paris couturier Guy Laroche at the 26th International Ladies "Ready To Wear" Salon for spring-summer.

At near left is a peasant dress for evening by Jill Richards in delicate apricot rayon with matching fringed scarf.

Reception To Mark Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Loveless will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Nov. 4 with an open house from 2 to 5 p.m. in their home north of Coahoma on the old Colorado City Highway. All friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Hosting the event will be the couple's son, Louis Loveless of Coahoma, and their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. H. R. Copeland of Lake Charles, La. The three grandchildren are Brant Copeland, Brenda Copeland and Leslie Copeland.

Assisting in the house party will be Mrs. Kelly Lawrence, Houston; Mrs. J. W. Shive, Mrs. R. A. Shive, Mrs. C. M. Murphy and Mrs. A. D. Shive, all of Coahoma; Mrs. F. H. Meskimen and Mrs. Jay Loveless, both of Colorado City; Mrs. Mike Babbler, Dallas; Mrs. L. B. Edwards, Big Spring, and Mrs. Fred Willis, Lampasas.

Mr. Loveless and the former Opal A. Shive were married Nov. 4, 1923 in the Presbyterian manse at Big Spring. The late Rev. J. H. Shepherd performed the ceremony. All their married life, they have been engaged in farming and have resided on the same property. Mrs. Loveless was reared in Coahoma, and her husband was reared in Colorado City.

Mr. and Mrs. Loveless are members of the First Presbyterian Church, Coahoma, where he is an elder and they both taught classes for a number of years. He is a member of the Masonic Lodge in Coahoma and past president of the Farm Bureau. In their leisure time, they utilize their camper for fishing and other pleasure trips.

For the anniversary occasion, Mrs. Loveless plans to wear a formal-length, navy blue dress, styled with long sleeves and tailored collar. Her only jewelry will be a string of pearls, and she will be presented an orchid corsage. Mr. Loveless will receive a gold boutonniere.

Guests will be served refreshments from a table covered with an ecrú cutwork cloth and appointed with crystal and silver. Cent ering the table will be a large arrangement of fall flowers with gold being the dominant color.

Holds Meeting

FORSAN (SC) — Senior citizens of Forsan met recently for their October get-together. A covered-dish buffet was served, and games were played. The group meets the third Thursday of each month.

RESIGNED

DEAR RESIGNED: Your husband's lack of tenderness, which is simply his reluctance to learn how to please his partner, was learned, and that which was learned can be unlearned. Don't resign yourself in a martyred manner. Talk turkey to your man. He is capable of understanding a few explanations, too.

No Cuddles

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: It might do your correspondent whose husband wants no bodily contact except sex good to know that there are others with the same problem.

I have a husband who wants no bodily contact outside sex. Even kisses are few and far between. If I sit too close to him in the car, I get an elbow in the ribs. If I get too close to him in bed, I get a sharp nudge and an admonition to move over! He has a healthy appetite for sex, however, although he is completely lacking in the tenderness that turns a woman on.

After years of brooding and studying, I found an explanation for his hangup. (Explanations don't solve problems, but they do help you to be more patient and understanding.)

My husband was an unwanted baby, and his mother let him know this from the start. He had very little cuddling and fondling at home. He has never learned how to accept physical love because he has never had any, and consequently, he doesn't know how to give any.

For years I felt I was unattractive and unlovable. Now I know it's not something lacking in me... it's something lacking in him. Knowing this takes the sting out of it.

company, whose business it is to ship. I was asked to wait a few minutes as the owner was busy on a long distance call.

While I waited, the receptionist, a very attractive young woman, constantly cracked her chewing gum. The waiting time grew longer, and the noise of that gum cracking became more and more irritating.

Finally, my nerves couldn't take it any longer, so I told the receptionist I would come back later, and I left.

I located another hauler — one whose receptionist did not chew gum!

I wonder what the owner of that first truck line would say if he knew that his receptionist's gum-chewing was responsible for his having lost a good account?

NAMELESS, PLEASE
DEAR NAMELESS: He probably would have chewed her out — but good!

DEAR ABBY: I am a 40-year-old woman with children away at boarding schools. My husband and I are divorced, but we haven't told our children about it for fear they may hate us for life.

The children go to school in Ohio. I live in North Carolina, and my husband lives in California. Whenever the kids come home, he flies down here and brings enough of his clothes with him to make them think he is still living here with me. He is complaining that it is getting to be a terrible expense, and if I am going to continue this pretense I will have to start paying for his transportation.

I am only a part-time cocktail waitress and make just enough to live in comfort. My husband is paying for the children's education. Please, help me. T. IN N.C.

DEAR T.: Put an end to the ridiculous charade and tell your children that Daddy doesn't live there anymore. They'll survive.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69706, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Church Women Will Sponsor 'World' Day

Church Women United in Big Spring will celebrate World Community Day at 9:45 a.m. Friday at Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church, 1009 Hearn. All area church women are invited to attend.

On this day church women will gather in over 2,000 communities to express concern for nearby neighbors and for global neighbors as they explore the theme, "Where in the World Is My Neighbor?"

The Rev. Louis Moeller will deliver a short homily and, immediately after the prayer service, coffee will be served at the Sisters' Convent. A nursery will be available for preschoolers.

The program for World Community Day will focus on communities in the nation and world in which numerous groups, under stress for change and in search for identity, have banded together in "enclaves" for mutual protection and security.

In facing the "injustices which breed fears and tensions that lead to polarization, concerned Christian women will seek ways to breach the walls that separate and isolate." Since 1942, World Community Day has been sponsored by Church Women United to emphasize responsible corporate action for justice and peace.

The main feature of the day's celebration will be the worship service. Based on the parable of the Good Samaritan, this modern morality play will take the form of a pilgrimage in which the participants will identify with the roles of the Pilgrim, Samaritan, and Traveler. Highlighted through the voices of the travelers will be the special concerns of the aging, single women, migrants, prisoners, draft resisters, blacks and other racial groups in the United States, minorities in all countries, American military and business personnel on overseas assignments and political refugees who have fled from their countries.

MISSION

An Intercontinental Mission is used to meet the needs of neighbors throughout the world. Here are some of the ways in which Church Women United will give concrete expression to the concern for neighbors: for American Indians — educational and self-development projects, including textbook purchases, vocational training, legal rights assistance, health workshops, and joint Indian board meetings; for the war-torn victims of Vietnam, Nigeria, Indonesia, and Ireland — moral and material support; for women in the Caribbean — underwriting a women's staff working on social and economic development in many areas; for Brazil, Costa Rica, Kenya, Zambia, Zaire — neighborhood and community development; for Lebanon — delivery of health services; for students — support of programs for international students in urban areas of the USA and scholarships for overseas women from India and Thailand who are studying nutrition.

CERTIFICATES

All during the year, but especially on World Community Day, church women purchase $3 gift certificates. These contributions may be designated for specific continuing needs such as blankets, shoes for children, self-help projects, etc., or for the "Where Most Needed" category which enables Church Women United to respond to emerging opportunities and to crisis needs. In recent years, "Where Most Needed" monies have been used for hurricane victims in Texas, for flood relief in South Dakota and Pennsylvania, for people ravaged by war in Bangladesh and the Sudan, for medical supplies and vaccines in Sierra Leone, the Dominican Republic and Indonesia, for mother-child care clinics and nutrition courses in many areas.

Thomas, treasurer; Mrs. Bobbie Williams, chaplain; and Mrs. Glenn Person, yearbook chairman.

Members agreed to contribute to the National Association of Colored Women's Clubs, Inc. in Washington, D.C., to assist with financing an awards banquet slated Nov. 9. Guest speaker will be Walter E. Fauntroy, congressman from the District of Columbia, and the banquet will honor black congresswomen.

In other business, members discussed Homestead Amendments Nos. 3 and 4 which will appear on the ballot in the November election. Also, Mrs. Person was appointed publicity chairwoman.

Members will meet Nov. 7 in the home of Mrs. Perkins, 811 Pine, to finalize plans for the Thanksgiving banquet.

Civic-Art Club Plans Thanksgiving Dinner

An annual Thanksgiving banquet sponsored by Ever Ready Civic and Art Club is scheduled Nov. 16 at the Lakeview YMCA. The public is invited to attend. Tickets may be purchased from any member, and cost is $1.50.

Plans for the banquet were made Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Perry, 811 Gregg. The club's recently-elected officers assumed their duties. They are Mrs. Burel Perkins, president; Miss Rosetta Brown, vice president; Mrs. Steve Jones, secretary; Mrs. Dewey Stewart, assistant secretary; Miss Shirley

WESTBROOK (SC)—The A. D. Sparks' of Wills Point and the Dwayne Clawsons, Coahoma, were recent guests of the P. E. Clawsons. Also visiting were the 'Snuffy' Sullivans of Odessa, who were here to visit her parents, the Don Hendersons.

Mrs. W. D. Whitesides has been dismissed from Medical Center Memorial Hospital, Big Spring.

The Pent Hine's were in Lubbock recently to visit her sister.

Miss Donna Simer became the bride of Rodney Roy Robertson during a candlelight ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Vincent Baptist Church.

The rites were performed by the Rev. George Magnor, Snyder, before an archway flanked by twin candelabra. The setting featured palms and tall white towers, with a branched candelabra centered beneath the arch.

PARENTS

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Simer, Vincent Rt., Big Spring, and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Robertson, 2806 Clanton.

A prelude of traditional wedding music was played by Miss Becky Hayes, pianist.

The bride's formal gown of white Chlun lace featured a bell silhouette and a high neckline with Venice lace ruffles. Matching bands of Venice lace formed a V effect on the bodice and trimmed the long Victorian sleeves. The skirt extended to form a chapel-length train. Her lace-edged, elbow-length veil was held with a ruffled cotton lace cloche, and her bouquet was a cascade of white roses with pink and white satin streamers.

Miss Barbara Brown served as maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Cindy Brown, Miss Brenda Mason, Ira, and Miss Joyce McDuffitt, Big Spring.

Miss Barbara Brown wore a floor-length gown of burgundy crepe which was styled with an empire bodice, long sleeves and a rounded neckline. The bridesmaids wore identically-styled gowns in pink crepe. They each carried a nosegay of pink roses and wore caplets with burgundy and pink streamers.

John Bryans, Big Spring, was best man, and groomsmen were the bride's brother, Gary Simer; the bridegroom's brother, Randy Robertson; and Randy Carr. Serving as ushers were Ricky Carr and Danny Hall.

Julie Robertson, Andrews, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl and wore a gown similar to the other attendants. Brett Bolds, Clovis, N.M., was ring bearer. Altar tapers were lighted by the bride's sister, Becky Simer, and David Wyrick.

WEDDING TRIP

Following a short wedding trip to Lubbock, the newlyweds will make their home at 408 Douglas. Mrs. Robertson graduated from Borden High School and is attending Valtai Reeves School of Hairdressing and Cosmetology. The bridegroom is employed at Robertsons Body Shop.

Mr. and Mrs. Robertson were honored at a reception in the fellowship hall of the church. The refreshment table was covered with a white linen cloth and outlined with greenery. Pink roses with accents of burgundy were arranged around white tapers for the centerpiece.

Refreshments were served by Miss Sharon Plunket, Miss Linda Gass, and the bride's brothers, Larry Simer and Barney Cockrum.

Guests from out of town included Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Dean and Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Smith, all of Hobbs, N.M.; Mr. and Mrs. Reggie Robertson, Andrews; Mr. and Mrs. Robby Robertson, Fort Stockton; Mrs. Sandra Bolds, Clovis, N.M.; Mrs. Brenda Lanning, Grand Prairie; Mrs. Genita Harris and Miss Judy Carver, both of Lubbock.

Keep Halloween A Treat Event

Trick-or-treat on Halloween should be supplemented by a neighborhood meet 'n' treat, the National Confectioners Association suggests.

It suggested parents accompany children on Halloween grounds and then get together with neighbors. Such meetings promote "a spirit of neighborly sharing and good will," the association said Tuesday.

The confectioners, in a list of safety hints, said only wrapped candy should be accepted by children.

In the past there have been reported incidents of children receiving treats containing razor blades, pins, poison and drugs.

Illness Hits Abilene Band

ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — Apparent food poisoning struck 47 members of the Abilene High School Band Friday night just as they prepared to march on the field for halftime ceremonies of the football game with Odessa High School.
Eight were hospitalized overnight but were released this morning.
The 47 were carried to a hospital in all available emergency vehicles—police cars, city ambulance service vehicles and commercial ambulances—as well as some passenger cars.
Band members who were not stricken were taken to the hospital in school buses as a precautionary measure.
Dr. Life Barnard, an emergency room physician, said, "It seems like food poisoning."
Joe Black, one of the band members, said the illness started "about when we started to march about 8:30 or 9." All the players seemed stricken at one time.
Black and another pupil, Jimmie Watson, said the symptoms were severe stomach cramps and vomiting.
All the band members ate at a local cafeteria. Nick Nickerson, a band sponsor, said, "Everyone started getting sick all at one time. It seems that most of them ate fish."
Hospitalized were five girls and three boys.
For the record, the Odessa team beat Abilene, 41-0.

Nuptials Performed In Baptist Church

MRS. RODNEY ROY ROBERTSON

Miss Donna Simer became the bride of Rodney Roy Robertson during a candlelight ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Vincent Baptist Church.

The rites were performed by the Rev. George Magnor, Snyder, before an archway flanked by twin candelabra. The setting featured palms, and tall white tapers, with a branched candelabra centered beneath the arch.

PARENTS

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Simer, Vincent Rt., Big Spring, and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Robertson, 2806 Clanton.

A prelude of traditional wedding music was played by Miss Becky Hayes, pianist.

The bride's formal gown of white Cluny lace featured a bell silhouette and a high neckline with Venice lace ruffles. Matching bands of Venice lace formed a V effect on the bodice and trimmed the long Victorian sleeves. The skirt extended to form a chapel-length train. Her lace-edged, elbow-length veil was held with a ruffled cotton lace cloche, and her bouquet was a cascade of white roses with pink and white satin streamers.

Miss Barbara Brown served as maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Cindy Brown, Miss Brenda Mason, Ira, and Miss Joyce McDiffitt, Big Spring.

Miss Barbara Brown wore a floor-length gown of burgundy crepe which was styled with an empire bodice, long sleeves and a rounded neckline. The bridesmaids wore identically-styled gowns in pink crepe. They each carried a nosegay of pink roses and wore caplets with burgundy and pink streamers.

John Bryans, Big Spring, was best man, and groomsmen were the bride's brother, Gary Simer; the bridegroom's brother, Randy Carr. Serving as ushers were Ricky Carr and Danny Hall.

Julie Robertson, Andrews, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl and wore a gown similar to the other attendants. Brett Bold's, Clovis, N.M., was ring bearer. Altar tapers were lighted by the bride's sister, Becky Simer, and David Wyrick.

WEDDING TRIP

Following a short wedding trip to Lubbock, the newlyweds will make their home at 408 Douglas. Mrs. Robertson graduated from Borden High School and is attending Valtai Reeves School of Hairdressing and Cosmetology. The bridegroom is employed at Robertsons Body Shop.

Mr. and Mrs. Robertson were honored at a reception in the fellowship hall of the church. The refreshment table was covered with a white linen cloth and outlined with greenery. Pink roses with accents of burgundy were arranged around white tapers for the centerpiece.

Refreshments were served by Miss Sharon Plunket, Miss Linda Gass, and the bride's brothers, Larry Simer and Barney Cockrum.

Guests from out of town included Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Dean and Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Smith, all of Hobbs, N.M.; Mr. and Mrs. Reggie Robertson, Andrews; Mr. and Mrs. Robby Robertson, Fort Stockton; Mrs. Sandra Bold's, Clovis, N.M.; Mrs. Brenda Lanning, Grand Prairie; Mrs. Genita Harris and Miss Judy Carver, both of Lubbock.

Keep Halloween A Treat Event

Trick-or-treat on Halloween should be supplemented by a neighborhood meet 'n' treat, the National Confectioners Association suggests.

It suggested parents accompany children on Halloween grounds and then get together with neighbors. Such meetings promote "a spirit of neighborly sharing and good will," the association said Tuesday.

The confectioners, in a list of safety hints, said only wrapped candy should be accepted by children.

In the past there have been reported incidents of children receiving treats containing razor blades, pins, poison and drugs.

WEEK'S PLAYBILL On Love And Mystery

"Blume In Love," a Paul Mazursky motion picture for Warner Bros., opening Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre, is described by its creator as "a funny, sad, crazy love story about a man desperately in love with his ex-wife."

The setting is in Los Angeles, Calif., and Venice, Italy, and in the end Blume makes it abundantly clear that love is, indeed, a miracle.

The stars of "Blume In Love" are George Segal, Susan Anspach, Kris Kristoferson and Marsha Mason, with Shelley Winters in a cameo role. Segal, an actor of great comedy resources, and with a wide variety of roles in his past, plays the love-stricken husband, a Beverly Hills lawyer who is caught in some film-flam with his secretary and divorced by his wife. It's then he discovers he can't do without her.

Scenes move from a San Fernando Valley ice cream parlor to a Hollywood health spa to the Sunset Strip to the welfare office in the beach town of Venice, Calif.

From there, Mazursky moved his cameras to the other Venice, where the canals, the vaporetos, the gondolas and St. Mark's Square are put eloquently to work to reflect the many and various moods of a Blume in love.

The games people play and the frightful things they can do to one another are fully and shockingly activated in the soft Riviera sunlight in an unusual in 'Last of Sheila'

RAQUEL WELCH

motion picture made by Herbert Ross for Warner Bros.

It is "The Last of Sheila," now showing at the R-70 Theatre, an adventure in a grotesque murder game played out aboard a yacht and in sundry Cote D'Azur snuggeries, including the old town of Villefranche, an estate at Mougins, the Isle of St. Pierre and the Harbor of Antibes.

Stars of "The Last of Sheila" are Richard Benjamin, Dyan Cannon, James Coburn, Joan Hackett, James Mason, Ian McShane and Raquel Welch. They are all passengers aboard the luxury yacht where the game of "guilty secrets" is conceived and played to its ugly end. They are characters of varying discernments, riches and proclivities.

The original idea for this bizarre film came out of the minds and habits of Stephen Sondheim, the notable New York composer and lyricist, and Anthony Perkins, the actor. They turned their vivid affections for games (not deadly ones, of course) into an idea for a motion picture — indeed, a screenplay whose possibilities were quickly discerned by Herb Ross and which project was eagerly and swiftly underwritten by Warner Bros.

With "The Owl and the Pussycat" and "Play It Again, Sam," (not to mention the "Funny Girl" musical sequences) as smashing directorial works behind him, Ross was well prepared for this new yachting adventure in the Mediterranean; and with such immense Broadway hits as "West Side Story," "Gypsy" and "A Little Night Music" in his musical past, Sondheim was itching to move into his first original screenplay and his first effort in a non-musical production.

Bing, 69, Claims He 'Never Worked Hard'

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The sympathetic, musical lilt that was in Bing Crosby's voice in "Goin' My Way" is still there.

His eyes are bright, clear blue; his face has the light tan and scattered freckles of a Tom Sawyer; his manner is relaxed, untroubled and gracious; his attire the plaid jacket and mustard slacks consistent with the long-time casual image.

So, Crosby is easygoing and mellow now, at 69. But what about those busy days of movies and radio shows, was he casual then, or was he really working hard and driving? "Drive? No, oh no. I shrink from that."

"I never worked hard at anything. You know, you get a song you like doing. There's a scene in a movie, with a beautiful playback, and all you have to do is mouth the playback." Crosby lives now in Hillsborough, a 25-minute drive from San Francisco, with his wife, Kathryn Grant, and their three children.

"I play a lot of golf when I'm home, go into the city a lot for lunch. We go to the opera when it's on or to a good concert. There's a big jazz festival we've attended a few times. We keep very regular hours, 10 o'clock to bed and up at 7 a.m. We eat all our meals together, the whole family."

HUNTING, FISHING
"The children are very interesting right now, 11, 13 and 14. I try to see their problems before they get too important. You have to try and inculcate good principles and spend as much time with them as you can."

"I travel a lot, hunt and fish,

Europe every year, Africa, Mexico, Canada, Argentina. We take the kids whenever we can. Kathryn has a teacher's certificate so she can keep them up with school. But now that they're getting older, the school board frowns on that so we couldn't take them to Mexico this year, for instance.

"Sometimes we go to the movies, if we can find something to take the kids to. I know they had to bend the moral code on movies a little, but not as far as they've gone."

"At home, we have a 16-millimeter. I can screen anything in 16. I have all my old ones. The kids run them."

Crosby says he reminisces about the old days whenever he meets somebody from that time. Bob Hope works so much nowadays that most of their frequent chats are on the phone.

'Streets Of Laredo' Sets Tone Of Movie

By JOHN G. EDWARDS

Named for a line from the old cowboy ballad "The Streets of Laredo," "Bang the Drums Slowly" takes a professional baseball team and watches them deal with a dying catcher.

Young Catcher Bruce Pearson, portrayed by Robert De Niro as a dumb country boy, is dying of Hodgkin's Disease. Bruce plays for the New York Mammoths, a fictional team, and rooms with Henry Wiggen (Michael Moriarty) in the movie now showing at the Cinema Theatre.

Henry, I think it was, said something about people caring about people because everybody is going to die. "Bang" toys with this theme.

As knowledge of Bruce's impending death leaks to players, the group becomes welded together into a championship team. Bruce's prostitute girlfriend reacts differently.

"The Streets of Laredo," as sung by a cowboy-motorcyclist baseball player, sets the mood and pace of the film. A cowboy song for a film about a New York baseball team sounds incongruous at first, but it is in keeping with the motley, diverse characters which are called the Mammoths, the name of a prehistoric elephant-like animal.

Despite the similarity to "Brian's Song," a TV drama about a football player with an incurable fatal disease, viewers who want to see a sad, simple story portrayed effectively on the screen will enjoy "Bang the Drum Slowly."

High Plains Expecting A Bumper Cotton Crop

LUBBOCK — The 1973 cotton crop is almost in the bag for High Plains producers. The expected bumper crop, due to expanded acreage, uniform earliness of planting and favorable weather conditions, may bring an additional bonus, said a research scientist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station here.

Micronaire values, based on data taken from daily temperature readings, could top 3.5 or higher, he said.

Kimbell Slates Price Reductions

DALLAS — Kimbell, Inc. of Fort Worth has voluntarily agreed to refund $45,058.62 to its customers in the form of reduced food prices for 30 days beginning Monday.

Internal Revenue Service Stabilization investigators have determined that overcharges, occurring during July, August and September, were not in compliance with Phase IV regulations.

Among the 588 food and non-food items involved were staples such as sugar, margarine, flour, shortening, noodles, crackers and non-foods such as tissues and paper towels.

The 140 retail outlets of Kimbell, Inc. are known principally as Buddies Supermarkets and Foodway in the North Texas and New Mexico areas.

M. O. Clemmons, Foodway manager in Big Spring, said he does not expect the Big Spring Store to be affected.

Dr. Jack Gipson, cotton physiologist based at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center, explained that research shows a strong correlation between the average prevailing temperatures of the late summer months and the fiber quality of High Plains cotton.

"While several factors influence the quality of cotton," he says, "micronaire (a fiber quality measurement) and oil seed content are determined in large part by prevailing temperatures during August, September, and early October.

"Of the various fiber quality measurements used in the cotton industry," Gipson explains, "micronaire is of most concern to area producers since it is invariably the limiting quality character for this area.

"For the current season," he says, "it appears there will be 52 days with 75 degrees F or below in the critical period. This pegs the current season's average micronaire at about 3.5, based on the varieties grown in the past. Taking other factors into account, it seems likely that micronaire values may average 3.6 for the 23 county area."

The scientist reports that the highest micronaire recorded on the High Plains since 1957 was 3.93, in 1958. "In that year there were 37 days between Aug. 1 and Oct. 15 when the average temperatures were 75 degrees F or below.

The lowest value was recorded in 1971, he notes. That average was only 2.91, with 66 days averaging 75 degrees F or less from Aug. 1 to Oct. 15.
