Ex-Watergate Prosecutor Leaked Big Story To Press?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Archibald Cox testified today he may have been the source of a news leak about a telephone call from President Nixon instructing former Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst not to appeal one phase of the ITT antitrust case.

The ousted special Watergate prosecutor said that if he indirectly had been the source of a story about the antitrust case in today's New York Times, he was sorry and said it was an "error of carelessness."

Cox's surprise statement before the Senate Judiciary Committee followed publication in the Times of a story saying it had learned from an unidentified source that a Nixon call to Kleindienst had held up a planned Justice Department appeal of an adverse court decision in the antitrust case.

UNFAIR?

The White House called the Times' story "distorted and unfair" and accused Cox's former staff of "an inexcusable breach of confidence" in the matter.

Cox said that he was greatly upset by the leak and, after racking his brain, recalled that on one occasion it was possible he had mentioned the subject to others outside his prosecutor's office.

He went on to say that he had disclosed Nixon's reported call to Kleindienst to Sens. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and two members of their staffs.

SENATOR SICK

He told the committee that each of these four had assured him that they had not given the information to the Times. In Hart's case, he added, this assurance was received indirectly since the senator is sick.

He added he hoped the committee members would be "charitable enough" to believe that he had not intended that the information would be leaked to the press.

In explaining how he happened to disclose the information, Cox said that during the stress and strain of the last two weeks, "I spoke more freely than I intended with a few friends."

He acknowledged that he had broken a confidence with Kleindienst who was deputy attorney general at the time of the out-of-court settlement of the antitrust cases against International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

"It was inexcusable," Cox said. "I feel very badly this morning." He said, however, that it made him feel better to acknowledge "my error."

In other Watergate-related developments today:

—The Senate Watergate committee agreed to try to reinstate an agreement cancelled by the White House to give the panel access to relevant presidential tape recordings. The proposal was withdrawn when Nixon decided to obey a court order and give the tapes to U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica for review.

—The White House and Sirica reached an agreement whereby the judge will hear in closed session presidential claims of privilege on portions of the disputed Watergate tapes. White House counsel want parts of the tapes kept from the Watergate grand jury.

APPOINTMENT

—A spokesman for Sen. William P. Saxbe, R-Ohio, said Saxbe has discussed a possible appointment to succeed Elliot L. Richardson as attorney general. But the spokesman said Saxbe has not talked about the matter with President Nixon and quoted the senator as saying, "Until I do, that's where it stands."

The Cleveland Plain Dealer earlier quoted authoritative sources as saying Saxbe's nomination to succeed Richardson may be announced today or Wednesday.

—The House Judiciary Committee voted its chairman, Rep. Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J., broad subpoena powers to aid in the committee's investigation of possible grounds for impeaching the President.

COMMON GOOD

—Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., in a Senate speech, called for Nixon to resign "for the common good."

—Several hundred law students and lawyers began lobbying Congress for the appointment of a Watergate special prosecutor and continued investigation of possible impeachment proceedings against Nixon.

The Times story, quoting sources, said Kleindienst had told Watergate prosecutors that Nixon called him about the antitrust case after Kleindienst turned down a request from John D. Ehrlichman, then a White House advisor, to drop appeal of adverse court decision.

IMPEACHMENT Subpoena Powers Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee today gave Chairman Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J., broad subpoena powers to aid in the committee's investigation of possible grounds for impeaching President Nixon.

By a strict party line vote, the committee authorized Rodino to subpoena evidence and witnesses himself without waiting to get full committee approval.

The committee also revised committee rules to permit scheduling of meetings on short notice, in another step to expedite the investigation.

Republicans, who opposed granting subpoena powers to Rodino, said the committee should conduct its historic proceedings on a purely bipartisan basis.

Rep. Tom Railsback, R-Ill., offered an amendment to permit the committee's ranking Republican, Rep. Edward Hutchinson, R-Ill., to share the subpoena power with the chairman. It was rejected on a vote based on party lines, 21 to 17, the same vote by which the original amendment was approved.

Rodino assured the committee that he would not use power to "mount a witch hunt."

"There will be no wholesale issuing of subpoenas," he said. "I am only seeking contingent authority so as to avoid delay in cases of routine subpoena and in cases where circumstances make full committee consideration impracticable."

MOD Airlift To Be Conducted Sunday

An airlift to raise money for the local chapter of the March of Dimes will be held 1-5 p.m. Sunday at Howard County Airport.

Twelve local citizen pilots will take the public aloft for flights in their own planes. Each flight will last 15-20 minutes.

Cost will be $1 for those under 16 and $2 for adults, with all proceeds going to the March of Dimes.

Fuel for the planes is being donated by Bill Wilson of Bill Wilson Oil Co. Vaughn Martin is serving as coordinator of the airlift, an event which proved successful for the MOD several years ago, according to Carole Hutchinson, executive secretary.

Spooks Sometimes Careless On Walks

"Spooks are not always careful and spooks are not always easy for motorists to spot," Assistant Chief Stanley Bogard cautioned here this week in the midst of the countdown for the time the Halloween trick or treaters will be abroad in the city Wednesday evening.

Motorists are urged to watch carefully on all residential streets as excited children dart in and out of traffic seeking their treats.

The police plan to use reserve officers to help control traffic problems at all elementary schools holding Halloween carnivals and will also station an officer in charge to handle any problems which might arise outside the Halloween Carnival at HCJC.

Bogard emphasized, "Everybody use a little extra caution while driving during the evening hours of Halloween, as it is a time when a tragedy could occur."

19 CARS JUMP TRACKS

Santa Fe Train Engulfed By Flames

KINGMAN, Ariz. (AP) — Flames engulfed most of a Santa Fe freight train early today when 19 rail cars jumped the tracks near the village of Hackberry near here, officials said.

Six firemen were hospitalized and may have inhaled toxic fumes but were not burned, a Fire Department spokesman said. He described the fire as "contained but not controlled."

"We don't know what started it. Santa Fe says there weren't any tank cars on the train," said fireman H. B. Marshall. "But something spilled down the tracks and caught all those cars on fire."

He said firemen, hampered by a shortage of water, were trying to work from both ends of the blaze toward the middle. "We just can't get any water way out there," he said. "We have an 8,200-gallon water tanker, five trucks and a rescue unit there, but we're really short of water."

FLASHY FIRE

Authorities said the west-bound train, enroute from Chicago to San Francisco, derailed on a bridge a few hundred yards from Hackberry, a village of a few hundred persons along U.S. 66 about 100 miles southwest of the Grand Canyon. Hackberry is 15 miles east of here.

"It was just a big, splashy fire and fortunately no one was injured," said Bill Murie of the Arizona Department of Public Safety. "We don't know what started it yet, but it was a gasoline fire. We don't know if it came from a tanker, box car, cans or what."

In Winslow, Santa Fe's main Arizona headquarters 175 miles east of Kingman, a spokesman confirmed that 19 cars had derailed and said, "to the best of my knowledge no tank cars were on that train."

He also said Santa Fe crews managed to salvage the four rear cars by separating them from the flaming wreckage. He said the two main east-west rail lines were closed indefinitely.

On July 5, 12 persons were killed and more than 80 others were injured in Kingman when a flaming propane rail car blew apart as firemen battled the blaze. Several victims were firemen.

Sentiment Against Rock Festival, Says Pickens

COLORADO CITY — It has been proposed that a rock festival be held in Mitchell County in the spring but S. A. Pickens, executive vice president of the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce, says not more than one per cent of the county residents approve the idea.

Ten days ago, Sam Geisenberger of Houston, said such a festival, if scheduled Easter weekend, likely would lure as many as 300,000 persons. Geisenberger added he hoped to stage the program on a ranch located 13 miles south of Colorado City.

The ranch is owned by Mrs. Louise Geisenberger, long-time resident of the community. Geisenberger met with city and county officials ten days ago to acquaint them with the idea of a rock festival. The Houston man said he and his mother would promote the festival, along with a business associate in Houston.

Mrs. Geisenberger said that no outbursts were anticipated at the festival, in view of the fact that her son would have upwards to 3,000 security guards on the grounds.

Geisenberger, citing lack of preparation as a cause of trouble in previous programs of this type, said he had had 5½ months to plan for the festival. He would subscribe to liability insurance, he added.

The Mitchell county commissioners must rule on the application to stage the festival, in event it is filed. Should the commission decide against the application, promoters could file for an appeal in district court.

U.N. FORCES TIGHTEN SURVEILLANCE OF CEASE-FIRE

Accuse Egyptians Of Firing Missiles

The Israeli military command accused the Egyptians of firing three surface to air missiles at reconnaissance flights over Israeli-held territory in the Sinai today but said none of the planes was hit.

The complaint came as U.N. forces tightened their surveillance of the Mideast cease-fire. A U.N. official said in Cairo that Swedish troops have established six observation posts along the Suez cease-fire line and are trying to link with Finns to the south.

CRITICISM

He said 53 more Swedes and Finns are due in Cairo tonight to increase the special U.N. emergency force to 660.

The Israeli command said the missiles were fired at its reconnaissance planes flying over the mountainous Jidi area near where the bulk of Egypt's 3rd Army has been trapped by Israeli forces on the east side of the Suez Canal.

The Israeli government came under home front criticism Monday when it allowed supplies to reach the isolated Egyptian army without first winning concessions on the return of Israeli prisoners of war.

Egypt and Syria have so far refused to provide Tel Aviv with lists of Israeli POWs.

Premier Golda Meir held up plans to return 2,000 wounded Arab POWs until the Arabs come up with a list of Israelis they captured in the war.

Maj. Gen. Shmuel Eyal said the Israeli government believes Egypt is holding about 350 Israelis and Syria about 100. He says Israel is willing to trade the 7,000 Arabs it captured for them.

The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram said Egypt informed U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim it will give the prisoner list to the International Red Cross, but there was no immediate comment from Israel.

PROMISE

Al-Ahram said Egypt made the promise while stressing to Waldheim "the necessity of Israeli troops withdrawing" to their positions when the first U.N. cease-fire went into effect Oct. 22.

An Israeli military delegation led by Maj. Gen. Aaharon Yariv met Monday for the third time with Egyptian officers at the cease-fire line on the west bank of the canal, and an Israeli spokesman said they discussed the prisoner situation. More such meetings were expected, the Israeli command said.

Many Israelis criticized their government for permitting relief supplies to reach the encircled Egyptian troops along the southeast side of the Suez Canal.

Some said the plight of the stranded troops should have been used as a bargaining point to get the POW exchange arranged.

U.N. drivers Monday took 100 truckloads of food, water and medicine through Israeli lines

Out of 100 persons summoned, District Judge R. W. Caton said about 60 gave "death door excuses" so they would not have to appear. He and District Attorney Bob Moore were commenting today about the number of persons here who say they must care for the sick and disabled or claim to be ill themselves.

Judge Caton also mentioned the high frequency of persons moving in and out of Howard County between August and October this year.

Reporting for jury duty in 118th District Court were 37 persons.

Judge Caton said 47 appearing is closer to normal for district court here.

After a few more were excluded because of excuses Moore found he had to give up all but three of his juror-rejection opportunities. Otherwise, too few prospective jurors remained.

TO FINE

Asked if he planned to fine those failing to appear for jury panels, Judge Caton said: "If they don't start being a little more reasonable on jury service, I'm going to have to." State law permits fines for this offense of up to $50.

Judge Caton said inability to get jurors was interfering with the administration of justice.

The last grand jury session scheduled here was postponed because too few appeared. In Martin County recently, 19 out of 100 appeared for selection of a petit jury. Martin and Glasscock County also are within the 118th Judicial District.

PROPOSES PROSECUTOR — Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., explains legislation today he will introduce to establish the office of independent Special Prosecutor to conduct the investigation and prosecution into crimes related to the Watergate affair. His bill would ask the President to nominate a Special Prosecutor subject to confirmation by the Senate.

Ballistics Expert's Trip Here Goes For Naught

By JOHN EDWARDS
An FBI ballistics expert from Washington, D.C., had been at the courthouse about five minutes Monday when he learned the trial of John Howard Franklin had been postponed because of a shortage of prospective jurors.

The federal government will pay for the FBI agent's flight, county officials said.

A former Martin County deputy sheriff, now of Crane, and a former identification officer with the Big Spring Police Department, now of San Marcos, must be compensated by Howard County.

Not counting time wasted by officials, Howard County will be spending about $250 for the vain attempt to start the trial of Franklin, who was indicted for robbery by assault, Moore said.

Out of 100 persons summoned, District Judge R. W. Caton said about 60 gave "death door excuses" so they would not have to appear. He and District Attorney Bob Moore were commenting today about the number of persons here who say they must care for the sick and disabled or claim to be ill themselves.

Judge Caton also mentioned the high frequency of persons moving in and out of Howard County between August and October this year.

Reporting for jury duty in 118th District Court were 37 persons.

Judge Caton said 47 appearing is closer to normal for district court here.

After a few more were excluded because of excuses Moore found he had to give up all six miles north of Suez on the west bank of the canal, and Egyptian amphibious vehicles began taking the supplies across the waterway.

A U.N. officer said the total shipment will last the estimated 20,000 Egyptian troops about a week, but there was no word of moves toward arranging another supply operation.

The Jerusalem Post said all 120 persons who responded to its opinion sampling believed that the prisoner lists should have come before the supplies were let through.

OUR ENEMY

Maj. Gen. Avraham Adan, the commander of Israel's armored corps, watched the supplies being ferried across the canal and commented: "They are our enemy. They started the war. I never heard of giving food to the enemy — and they haven't even shown the elementary humanity of giving us the names of our prisoners of war."

Some Israeli soldiers made their criticism directly to Mrs. Meir when she visited the army on both banks of the canal Monday.

A spokesman said she told one soldier: "Nobody ever doubted you could lick old 3rd Army, but there are political considerations." She added that the United States had told her it and the Soviet Union would press the Arabs for a POW exchange.

Dean Put 'Tremendous' Pressure On FBI, CIA

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional report concludes that former White House counsel John W. Dean III put "tremendous pressure" on the FBI as well as the CIA to limit the first Watergate investigation.

The report quoted Gray as saying Dean's final calls in the effort shortly after the June 17, 1972, break-in were, in the report's words, "made in such a way as to constitute harassment."

When Dean and former top White House aides H.R. Halde- man and John D. Ehrlichman urged that the FBI not in- vestigate the so-called Mexican connection involving Nixon campaign contributions because of possible exposure of secret CIA activities, they were "in- voking nonexisting conflicts with CIA operations."

Hits Officer With Bullet

HOUSTON (AP) — Police late Monday charged a Brooklyn, N.Y., man with assault to murder in the shooting of a policeman outside a high school here.

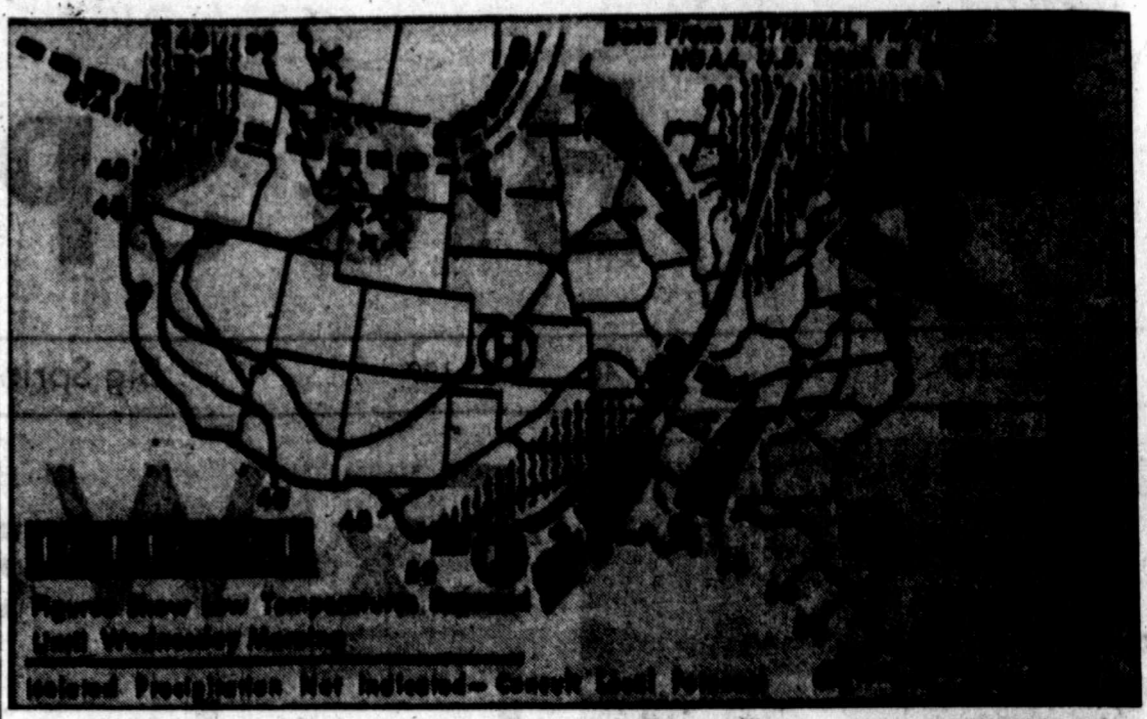

Patrolman A. K. Fain, 35, a 10-year veteran of the force, was listed in poor condition early today with arm and neck wounds.

The charges were lodged against Edward Robert Enright, 20.

Fain was shot as he tried to question a suspect in a car which had been parked outside the school for several hours. Several school girls and residents of the area told police Fain had ordered a man from the car when the suspect fired through a window.

Fain fired as the man fled on foot and then drove himself to the hospital, notifying fellow officers as he drove.

Police flooded the area with men and helicopters and they said Enright was found crouching in an apartment patio. Officers who arrested him said he was "high and hysterical."

'WE MUST CONTROL COYOTES' Judge Toombs Has Words Of Advice For Briscoe

Judge Glenn Toombs of Gail (Borden County), after appearing before the governor's subcommittee on Environmental Affairs pertaining to wildlife, wired Dolph Briscoe this week in regard to a statement he made about Texas being No. 1 in agriculture.

Until we control the coyote, sheep, goat, wool and mohair will decline as per the agriculture extension service survey given out at the rural development commission meeting last Tuesday in Austin."

MAJOR LOSSES

"Our county has lost $14,300 in lambs, some 715 head valued at $11,800. This covered only a 2 1/2 month period beginning Jan. 1, March 15 this year and this doesn't figure the cost of replacement or the loss of production by these animals that were killed by the predators. Until something is done to give us chemical agents for control, will you try to make available state funds for aerial hunting of the predator and extra funds for trapping manpower?"

Reactivated Unit Gets Flag

AUSTIN — Gov. Dolph Briscoe is scheduled to present the flag of the reactivated 49th (Lone Star) Armored Division to its commander during impressive military ceremonies in Austin at 10 a.m. Thursday.

Accepting the standard will be Brig. Gen. James L. Moreland, the commander from Wichita Falls.

Briscoe is also scheduled to redesignate Houston's airborne brigade as the 36th Airborne Brigade. Accepting the colors in that ceremony will be Lt. Col. James DeLee, of Fort Arthur.

Police To Get New Uniforms

New uniforms for Big Spring police have been ordered and are expected to arrive by Dec. 1, according to Bob Butler, city purchasing agent.

Police To Get New Uniforms

The uniforms will be blue, in the original traditional shade of police uniforms. Other officers, above the patrolman level, will also be uniformed in official blue uniforms. They presently wear gold coats.

Blimp Visits Borden Area

When the Goodyear blimp flew over Gail last week and circled the schools, the entire population of the Borden County community stood in the streets and on the school grounds to watch the event.

The craft landed on the Mardes Clayton ranch southeast of Gail where the Goodyear officials wanted to visit the site of the new evaporative ponds being used in conjunction with the American Magnesium plant just over the county line in Scurry County.

The ponds are being lined with a Goodyear product and will serve to evaporate the salt before being processed for magnesium at the plant.

Five Goodyear officials weathered a strong West Texas wind to arrive at the scene. The blimp only gets up to a speed of around 50 miles per hour at best and pushing into the strong Borden County winds, it took the blimp close to 2 1/2 hours to complete the flight from Snyder to Gail.

However, witnesses at the location reported that when the blimp took off the east, it shot off like a rocket, aided by the West Texas winds. It probably set a record returning to Snyder.

Grain Harvest Is Topnotch

Two area grain buyers report that the grain harvest in the Howard County area looks topnotch this season.

Kimbell Grain, who have 65 grain elevators throughout the West Texas area, report that they have already purchased over five million pounds of grain in the early grain which was harvested in September and now beginning to purchase the milo which is maturing after earlier hail damage.

Clyde Eager reports that grain farmers are getting a good price of $4 a 100 or $90 a ton and are averaging around a ton per acre, which is a top yield. He added, "The grain outlook here is very good this year."

Imbells purchases grain in Howard, Martin, Glasscock, Mitchell and Borden and a "little in Dawson but the farmers up there mostly concentrate on cotton."

Inadale Grain, who have elevators here and in Inadale, over in Scurry County have purchased over one-half million dollars worth of maize and wheat thus far this season. They also report that the crop is a topnotch one this season and that the harvest is just beginning in many grain fields.

ALLIES SPLIT OVER MIDDLE EAST NATO Troop Cut Talks Open

VIENNA (AP) — Negotiations for a reduction of NATO forces and Communist forces in Central Europe opened today with a Communist call for the troop totals on each side to be reduced but the ratio between them to remain the same.

"The aim of all participants should be to preserve the existing correlation of military forces on a lower level," Ingo Oeser of East Germany told the delegations from the United States, the Soviet Union and 18 other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Warsaw Pact.

"This could be done," Oeser went on, "by reducing forces and weapons at an equal percentage or an equal quantitative rate with the understanding that this includes national and foreign forces and weapons, nuclear weapons and their delivery systems."

MORE ARMS

This view is directly counter to that held by the United States and its allies. They contend that because the Soviets and their allies have many more troops and arms in Central Europe than the Western alliance, and the Soviet Union's reserves at home are much closer to Central Europe than America's, Communist cuts must be far greater than reduc-

"The last days and weeks have shown us all how necessary it is to reach this goal."

LEGAL EXPERT

During the first two days, the heads of each of the 19 delegations will address the conference. Former Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor, the head of the U.S. delegation, and Oleg Khlestov, a legal expert from the Soviet Foreign Ministry, are to speak Wednesday.

Western diplomats preparing for the arms talks have been trying to play down their differences relating to Middle East policies. But the Nixon administration made clear last week it was highly displeased at the refusal of West Germany, Britain and some of its other European allies to help the U.S. airlift to Israel.

This so angered Washington that Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger threatened a unilateral review of the 200,000-man U.S. troop commitment to West Germany, instead of waiting for the outcome of the negotiations with the Soviet Bloc.

America's European allies were angered by the failure of the United States to inform Austrian Foreign Minister Rudolf Kirchschlaeger declared: "Welcoming the delegates, them it was sending arms to Israel from American bases on their territory and also by Washington's placing U.S. troops in their countries on alert last week without informing them in advance."

ALERT

However, a White House spokesman said Monday "the State Department did consult" regarding the alert.

Objections also have been voiced over reports that the United States and the Soviet Union have already agreed between themselves to troop cuts. However, the negotiations are expected to last several years before a troop reduction formula can be worked out. Western officials admit that an agreement will not be reached quickly or easily.

Leonid I. Brezhnev, the Soviet Community party leader, has said his government will not be ready for "realistic steps" until 1975.

The Soviets and their allies have many more arms and troops in Central Europe than the NATO allies, and the Soviet Union's home force is much closer to Central Europe than America's is.

As a result, Western negotiators hold that Communist cuts must be far greater than reductions by the West. Presumably the Soviets are not ready to accept such a position.

Enrollment Up In Schools

Corrected totals on Senior High attendance brought enrollment figures in Big Spring schools up last week. The new total is 6,786, up 22 from the previous week.

The corrected Senior High total is 1,936, up 31 over the previous week, while Runnels and Goliad slipped three, leaving the secondary total at 3,201, up 28. Elementary totals stood at 3,443, down seven for the week, with College Heights and Marcy each losing four. The hospital and homebound total was 142, making the grand total of 6,786, only seven under a year ago.

Lampoon Of 'Poor Teddy' Triggers Auto Ad Recall

NEW YORK (AP) — National Lampoon has agreed to recall 135,000 unsold copies of a special edition that contained a false Volkswagen advertisement making light of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's 1969 accident on Chappaquiddick.

The recall was part of a settlement Monday with Volkswagen of America, Inc., which agreed to drop a $30 million damage suit. The car company had called the ad "coarse, insensitive and cruel."

A passenger in Kennedy's car, Mary Jo Kopechne, drowned four years ago when a car in which they were riding plunged off a narrow bridge into a creek on Chappaquiddick, near Martha's Vineyard in Massachusetts.

In an intended spoof, the satirical magazine copied a legitimate Volkswagen ad that showed one of its cars afloat in a purported demonstration of its airtight construction.

The magazine said in its text of the ad: "Poor Teddy. If he'd been smart enough to buy a Volkswagen he never would have gotten into hot water."

The ad also said Kennedy would be president today if he had been driving a Volkswagen.

Nov. 15 was the target date set for the recall of the 135,000 copies, less than one-third the number distributed throughout the United States and Canada, according to the court papers.

National Lampoon also agreed to destroy the printing plates and to publish an editorial statement in its next edition referring to the settlement.

Local Chapter At VIC Meet

Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, District I, held their fall meeting last Saturday at Andrews High School in Andrews. Contests were conducted for opening and closing ceremonies and extemporaneous speaking. There were demonstrations in job applications, chapter safety, student notebooks and other job-related contests.

The Big Spring ICT Chapter No. 15 provided a special workshop on parliamentary procedure. Entertainment was provided by the Soul Searchers of Andrews.

Those attending from Big Spring were Ronny Maines, Mark Fort, Rodney Ferrell, Tam Bolding, Karen Fuller, Carol Lanspery, Bobby Lee, John Lopez, Junior Morales, Deanna Noble, Irene Olivas, Eva Palacios, Lilly Paras, Jan Sevey, Cindy Torres, Steve Meador, Gordon McGuire, Ruth Vigil, and Don Stewart, members of the Industrial Cooperative Training Program, a class in which students attend school half a day and work half a day. Attending as class advisor was Morris Dewberry.

AF Recruiting Office To Open

The new Air Force recruiting office at 322 Runnels will hold grand opening Wednesday with open house and a ribbon-cutting ceremony at 9:30 a.m.

Guests at the ribbon cutting will include Col. Robert Liotta, Webb wing commander; Eddie Acri, mayor pro tem; and an official of the San Antonio recruiting headquarters.

Free coffee and doughnuts will be served. The public is invited to visit the new office next to the R-70 Theatre.

'Great Comet Of 1973' To Be Discussed Nov. 1

The comet Kohoutek, which may be brighter than Haley's Comet is expected to visit the neighborhood of Earth during the next six weeks, according to Gary Carlson, in charge of the high-school planetarium. The planetarium will present a public program Thursday, Nov. 1, at 7:30 p.m. entitled "The Great Comet of 73" which will give a history of major comets and will try to predict what we will witness this fall. The planetarium is best reached by using the west entrance on 10th St. It is located just south of the high school tennis courts. A comet is composed of a head or nucleus and when near now imported from the Middle East, he said. He also said individuals must make minor sacrifices to help in the energy shortage.

At a news conference, Morton said his department has prepared a rationing plan for some distillate fuel oils but it will be implemented only if it becomes apparent there is a great inequity in the distribution of available supplies.

Referring to a situation in Denver and other parts of Colorado earlier this year when gasoline was almost unavailable, he said, "Obviously, if you multiplied that situation 100 times it would be apparent rationing would be necessary."

AIR POLLUTION
Morton also said the nation may have to shift, at least temporarily, to higher sulfur fuels which cause more air pollution.

Oklahoma Rally To Praise Nixon

By The Associated Press
Two California housewives have organized a grass roots Committee to Support President Nixon, and they say they hope their efforts will spawn similar groups around the country.

"We believe that President Nixon has been responsible, deliberate and constitutionally correct in the conduct of his office," the group said Monday in a statement.

Similar confidence was voiced by Oklahoma Republican party Chairman Clarence Warner in scheduling a "support the President rally" next Saturday night at the Oklahoma City Civic Center. Spokesman for both activities criticized news media, indicating they felt the reporting was one-sided against the President. Bernice Pantell and Beverly Acker said they founded the San Francisco Bay area committee to publicize the views of those who support Nixon.

A nucleus of housewife volunteers set up headquarters at Republican headquarters in Lafayette, and Mrs. Pantell, 48, said about 1,000 people have responded favorably with calls and letters.

"I believe in my heart that there must be a majority in this country who support the President," Mrs. Pantell said. "We want to be the rallying point for people who felt like we did."

She said a statement of the group's purpose signed by supporters will be sent to the White House and members of Congress. The Oklahoma rally will be addressed by Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., and Warner predicted a big turnout.

NO PLANS TO RETIRE — Supreme Court Justice William C. Douglas, who has served on the Court longer than any other Justice, sits with his wife, Cathy, as he tells a Washington news conference Monday he has no plans to retire. Monday, Justice Douglas recorded 34 years and 196 days on the Court, a day longer than the previous record holder, Justice Stephen J. Field, who was appointed by President Lincoln, and served 34 years and 195 days.

Scientists Find Shell Dredging Isn't Hurting Wildlife, Oysters

HOUSTON (AP) — Shell dredgers working in Texas coastal waters are not hurting marine life and expansion of dredging should be allowed, a report by Texas A&M scientists released Monday said.

The study was part of a draft environmental impact statement on renewing existing federal permits for shell dredging in San Antonio Bay, released by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Under existing federal and state regulations, the study said, dredging can continue with only minor damage to oyster beds.

The report said the dredging, which is near the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge, winter home of the whooping cranes, had little or no effect on wildlife.

Dredging causes "more widespread but relatively minor and temporary damage to small animals that live in the bay bottom and furnish food for shrimp and fish," the study said.

And it added that bad weather and commercial and recreational boating disturbs the beds and animals at the wildlife refuge more than dredging.

Based on a year-long field investigation, the A&M study is the most ambitious scientific effort yet to resolve a years-long dispute over the harm, if any, inflicted on Texas bays by shell dredgers.

The $500,000 study by the Texas A&M Research Foundation was commissioned by the Army engineers, but three shell dredgers now operating in the bay paid 4 per cent of the study costs.

A Corps of Engineers spokesman in Galveston stressed that the three—Parker Brothers & Co., Lone Star Industries, Inc., and Horton & Horton, Inc., "had no control whatsoever" over the findings.

DAMAGE

The study concluded, "The temporary damage to the marine environment is considered small compared to the value of shell and shell products to the economy."

Dredging is now permitted in 33 state tracts covering slightly more than 30 square miles. This area in 1971 produced 5.9 million cubic yards of shell valued at $11.9 million.

Besides endorsing current operations, the study concluded that presently closed tracts in upper San Antonio Bay and adjoining Hynes and Guadalupe Bays could be dredged under proper management without appreciable harm to the environment.

The study said that while silt and muddy waters from dredges could be reduced by simple and inexpensive modifications, "halting dredging to await implementation of worthy modifications to regulations and operations is not warranted."

Dredging presently is authorized in tracts one to two miles off the Aransas refuge, but the A&M researchers said they found no evidence that silt was damaging small bottom-dwelling marine organisms.

The National Audubon Society in 1968 filed suit in an attempt to halt the San Antonio Bay dredging, claiming it was destroying the aquatic food of the nearly extinct whooping cranes. But the suit was dismissed.

Legion Host At Barbecue

American Legion Post 385 is hosting a barbecue at 5 p.m. Nov. 11 at the post home.

Visitation hour starts at 3 p.m. and Don Brooks, a car salesman and former radio announcer, will talk on Americanism during the meal.

Preparing barbecue will be Monroe Koenig, St. Lawrence.

Borger Officials Push Quiz In Death Of Mayor Pro Tem

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Officials of the Texas Panhandle town of Borger were to continue a personal inquiry today into the death of Borger's mayor pro tem in a fall from a downtown San Antonio bridge.

John Walter Rhea, 34, died early Monday in a local hospital of what an autopsy termed a skull fracture and massive chest injuries.

"We are just trying to find out what happened before he went home. We will try to leave no stone unturned," said Borger Mayor Bob Knight, one of a delegation from Borger attending a convention of the Texas Municipal League.

Knight said Rhea left a dinner-dance held in conjunction with the league's convention before the incident occurred.

about 12:15 a.m. Monday.

He said witnesses' recollections of Rhea's fall were "sketchy."

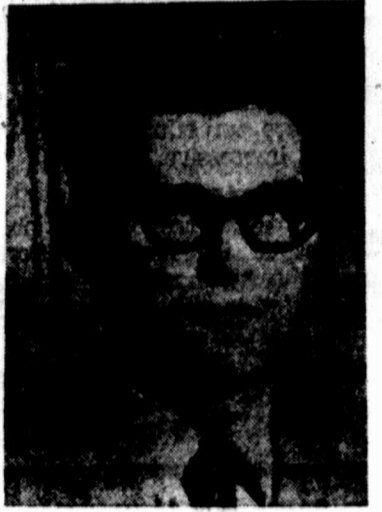

With the cooperation of local police, Knight said he learned from a young witness that about five youths were walking behind Rhea and verbally harassing him.

Knight said the witness said she saw Rhea "vault over the rail" of a bridge over the San Antonio River. He fell 17 feet to a concrete sidewalk beside the river.

Knight said there is no evidence at this time of any physical violence done to Rhea by the youths. Rhea "was not pushed over," he said.

After Rhea's autopsy, authorities ruled the death accidental. Rhea's body was sent to Borger for a funeral Wednesday, Knight said.

Police detective Frank Castillon theorized that Rhea possibly believed he was going to be robbed and thought he could escape by jumping over the bridge rail, not anticipating the severe drop.

JOHN WALKER RHEA

"It's sad to say," said Knight, "but we may never know anything or get anything out of this."

He said, however, "We intend to stay here as long as we can gather all the information."

Rhea, an employee of Phillips Petroleum, had served on the Borger city council three years and had been mayor pro tem since April, 1972, friends said.

Dentists Told Replants Of Teeth Are Possible

HOUSTON (AP) — A North Carolina dental surgeon told members of the American Dental Association here Monday that teeth knocked out in accidents may be successfully reimplanted.

Dr. Gerald M. Cathey of the University of North Carolina Dental School said such replanted teeth have survived well for from 10 to 40 years.

Cathey said the surgery is only successful if it is done quickly, preferably within 30 minutes.

If the tooth is knocked out, Cathey said, the patient should find the tooth, wrap it in a wet cloth and rush to the dentist.

The tooth should not be cleaned by the patient because tissues clinging to it are necessary for a successful implanting.

Cathey spoke at the 114th annual meeting of the American Dental Association, which continues through Thursday.

Also at the convention Monday, two dentists told of successful use of Chinese acupuncture in dental surgery.

Simple tooth extractions, jaw joint trouble and certain types of facial nerve disorders appear to be the major candidates for acupuncture, agreed Dr. Robert A. Saporito of Newark, N.J., and Dr. John I. Ingle of Washington, D.C.

"Acupuncture has a continuing analgesic (pain-killing) effect and can greatly reduce the post-operative pain problems," said Saporito.

"But it also has some disadvantages... and I don't believe it will ever replace our forms of local and general anesthesia for most dental procedures."

Ingle, who toured the Republic of China last summer, said he was impressed with some of the acupuncture procedures he witnessed, but he said he also saw some cases that didn't seem to work too well.

Saporito called for more research on acupuncture in this country.

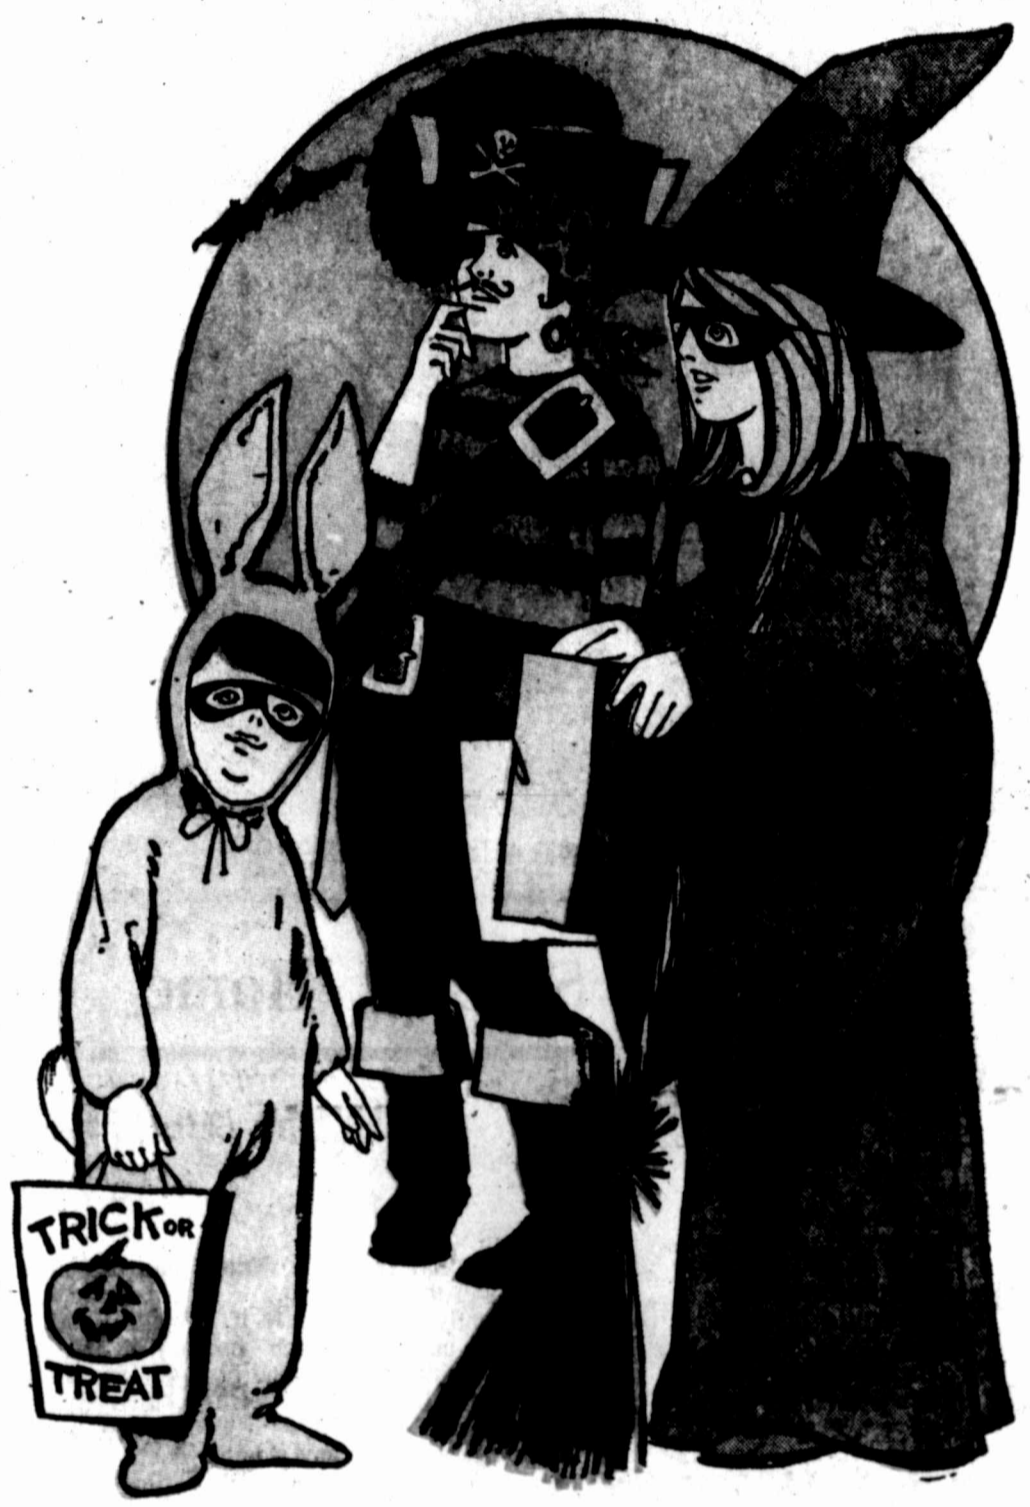

"It's up to the individual dental practitioners to learn about acupuncture... and for all health professionals and educational institutions to study it carefully."

"But in no way do I think acupuncture will replace much of what we do now," he said.

Opening lead: King of ♠

Tim Holland, whose new game "Auto-Backgammon" has recently appeared on the market, is generally regarded as one of the world's leading backgammon experts. What is not so well known is that he is also a very fine bridge player, as this deal from a recent rubber bridge game at New York's Regency Whist Club bears out.

South had a fine attacking hand, and slam was a distinct possibility when he opened the bidding. However, when North could do no more than repeat his heart suit over the jump to four clubs, South decided that the prudent course was to settle quietly in the club game. He couldn't ask for aces because that would get the auction too high if North turned up with only one.

Holland sat East and when his partner led the king of spades, Holland dutifully played the three to show an odd number of cards in the suit. West shifted to the nine of diamonds, won by East's ace. The automatic return would have been a spade, and that would have allowed declarer to make his contract.

After some thought, East realized that a spade return would be futile. West knew how many spades declarer held, and he would have cashed the ace if he thought it would go thru. Obviously, West was trying to take as many defensive tricks as possible before declarer took discards on dummy's hearts.

Since there were certainly no more tricks in the side suits, the only hope to defeat South was to make a trump trick, and East found the only defense to give his side a chance. At trick three, he switched to a heart!

Declarer won in dummy and led a trump to his queen, and when West showed out the contract was doomed. There was no way to prevent East from scoring the jack of clubs.

Notice that the heart return is vital to the defense, for it shatters declarer's communications. With any other return, declarer will win and lead the ace of trumps. When West shows out declarer can enter dummy with a heart to take the marked finesse for the trump jack, thereby making his contract.

Foreboding Disinterest

According to the Belden Poll, 53 per cent of Texas citizens think the state needs a new constitution. While hardly an overwhelming mandate, that might be taken as an encouraging sign by the Constitutional Revision Commission members now preparing their final report.

But another statistic provided by the same poll can only be put in the melancholy category. Of those interviewed, including those favoring a new constitution, those against any change (23 per cent) and those unsure (24 per cent), the number aware of an effort to alter it is under way was not impressive.

In fact, Belden found 41 per cent hadn't even heard that the revision job was in progress. This despite the fact the effort has been going on for some months, and hearings have been conducted in cities throughout the state.

One can assume that if 41 per cent are unaware of the effort, a staggering number of Texans must be unaware of specifics of proposed changes — and, more importantly, of the reasoning which has gone into those proposals agreed upon. The atmosphere of disinterest this suggests does not bode well for constitutional revision. If few have been paying attention to the effort thus far, then most will form their impressions from the Legislature's Constitutional Convention — sure to be treated with politics — or from campaigns waged in behalf of or against specific proposals after the legislature-convention has met. Either way, more emotion than reason is likely to go into voter decisions on the proposed constitutional changes. But then, that's nothing new and one of the hazards that a democracy must surmount.

Disillusioned Senator

William B. Saxbe apparently has discovered he is not the U.S. Senator. The Ohio Republican will pass up almost sure re-election next year to return home and raise cows and practice law.

It is an outbroken senator who once compared White House aides John Ehrlichman and H. R. Haldeman to Nazis, and said President Nixon had "taken leave of his senses" in the heavy bombing of North Vietnam last winter. The first-term senator has been disillusioned by the difficulty of getting anything important done and by phony political talk. He said he was both impressed and depressed by the Senate. Since Saxbe had alienated himself from his party's leader and was fed up with the Senate's system, he probably is doing the right thing by retiring and going home to Mechanicsburg.

A person has to delight in politics, to be patient, and to work for change of the system instead of fighting it to survive in Washington. Saxbe's frustrations are understandable and his outspokenness has merit. But he apparently was elected to an office he didn't understand as well as he should.

Plenty To See, Do

Around The Rim

The Calendar of Texas Events is published semiannually by the Travel and Information Division of the Texas Highway Department from information supplied by Texas chambers of commerce. In glancing over the calendar, I see no special events listed in Big Spring for the remainder of the year, but there are things going on in other parts of the state you may be interested in — if the weather remains nice and the gas shortage doesn't become critical.

IN ARLINGTON, Seven Seas fall schedule (10 a.m. to 6 p.m.) will be in effect Nov. 1-25, and the Six Flags Over Texas fall schedule (weekends 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.) will be in effect Nov. 1 through Dec. 31, and the Palestine Autumn Foliage Tours are slated Nov. 1-10. At Mineola, the Autumn Colors Holiday Motor Trail continues the entire month of November.

In South Texas, Nov. 2-10 has been set aside at Harlingen for the first Great Mexican National Recreational Vehicle Convention (with caravans departing for Pueblo, Mexico) and tentatively set for Nov. 3 is the Confederate Air Force Air Show.

Closer to home, the 13th annual Wursthfest is scheduled Nov. 2-11 at New Braunfels. This popular event will include canoe races on Guadalupe River, and the Auto Verein Rallye Wurst V, Nov. 3; Sailboat Regatta on Canyon Lake and Der Saur Krauts Concerts, Nov. 3-4; Cameron German Folk Dancers, Nov. 4 and 10; Myron Floren performances, Nov. 5-8; and Army band concert and Sausage Dog Show, Nov. 11. Great fun if you like polkas and beer!

FOR OTHER tastes, the World Championship Chili Cook-Off will be held Nov. 3 at Terlingua. For those who just like to look, try Austin Nov. 3-4 for they'll be having the Highland Lakes Arts and Crafts Trail and also a Men's Fall Flower Show. On those same days, the Rio Grande Valley Arts and Crafts Exhibition will be held in Brownsville.

On Nov. 3-4 in other areas, it looks like this: Columbus, Quarter Horse Races; Denison, Texomaland Coin Show; Kingsland, Harvest Moon Couples and Invitational Golf Tourney; Port Lavaca, Bay Arts and Crafts Festival; San Angelo, 20th annual Roping Fiesta; and Sweetwater, All Girl Rodeo.

At Bryan-College Station, the Texas "500" Stock Car Races will be a one-day event, Nov. 4. Over to the west, the 125th anniversary of Fort Bliss will be celebrated Nov. 7, while in the panhandle, Dumas will be the site, Nov. 9-11 for the Moore County Art Bazaar.

SOMETHING A little different, the Texas State Karate Championship, is slated Nov. 9-11 at Fort Worth, and on those days in Lubbock, there will be an antique show. If you don't punch your pennies too tightly, you'll probably be welcome at the Scottish Clans Gathering Nov. 10-11 at Salado or the Norse Community Smorgasbord at Clifton Nov. 14-15.

That gets us through a couple of weeks. Next Tuesday we'll look further at what is available for the weekend traveler.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

I am very disturbed about something you said in one of your telecasts. You said one comes to Christ only when the Spirit draws him. Does that mean that we can't make a decision for Christ until it's just God's right time? I see no free will in that!

O.S.

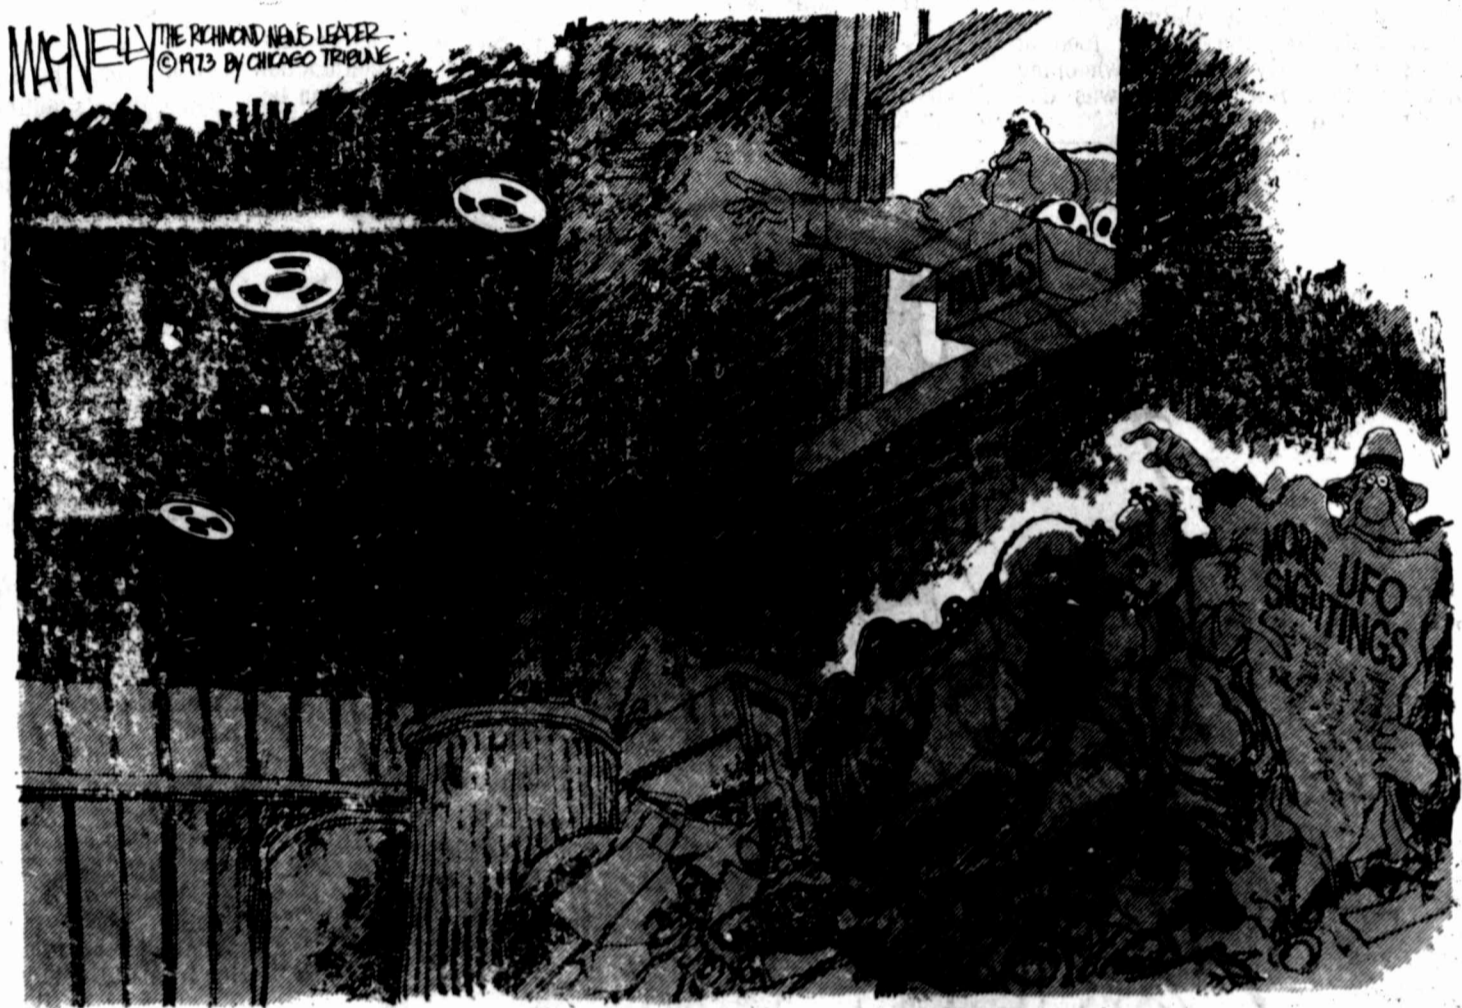

What I said was a recognition that any human conversion is due originally and primarily to the wooing influence of God's Spirit. It's never a thing of our own initiative. See John 6:44.

But now, just because the dynamic of faith is of divine origin, it is none the less yours because it is His. The poet put it this way: "Faith is a grasping of Almighty power — the hand of man laid on the hand of God." The Lord designed us with free will, so He certainly would not violate His creation.

The marvelous Biblical picture of God is as the Father seeking an errant son. It's one of constant concern and everlasting love. 2 Peter 3 says that God is not willing that any should perish. I think that establishes the cause and effect sequence.

One thing further, however, and it's a sobering thought. That if we refuse personal salvation and procrastinate in our reception of our divine grace, God gives no guarantee that faith's door will stay open. We dare not presume on mercy.

Many Bible stories, like Genesis 19 witness to the fact that God is reluctant to punish and anxious to forgive. I think it can be said, therefore that nobody will sincerely wish to believe, who will not instantaneously become part of God's family.

Muggers Safe At Home

Hal Bowie

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

A mugger is safer at home than you are, because muggers do more to protect their own apartments from robbery than the average citizen does. Since that is where they may first crash the loot from their crimes, they often keep watch dogs and install the best security locks on their doors.

When it comes to biography, most of us would rather read a good book about a bad man than a bad book about a good man.

Three out of five Americans no longer know that if you try to milk a cow from the wrong side it will try to kick you.

I instantly like any wife if I see her publicly thumb her nose at her husband behind his back when he makes a pompous remark.

I instantly dislike any woman who says she dislikes men who wear ties because she thinks they make them look silly. If all men disliked all women who sometimes wear things that make them look silly, the United States would be a nation of misogynists.

Thanks to modern advertising, it is counted a greater sin in America to have bad breath than bad manners.

It is far easier to write to the White House and get a reply — try it and see — than it is to get an answer from a guy you've written asking him to pay up on a five-year-old $10 debt.

One of the biggest woes in getting accustomed to wearing dentures is that you can still remember how good food used to taste.

Life offers an extra bonus to the man who waits until he is 50 before developing bad habits. By then he doesn't have time enough left for them to kill him.

Sequence Of Events

William F. Buckley Jr.

Students of detente will study the events of last week for many years. Herewith a humble contribution.

1. FOR A WHILE, the Arab military machine was working with great effect. The pressure exerted on Israel by the Syrians at the Golan Heights was very nearly crucial. Clearly the intention was to overwhelm the Heights and march on through to Haifa, cutting Israel in half. When Israel succeeded finally in repelling the Syrians, her attention was drawn to the invasion (if that is the right word for Egyptians swarming into Egyptian territory) in the south. At this point, United States aid was indispensable. Without it, the Israeli military would have no choice than to cloister its ravaged military machine for the defense of Israel proper. With it, the Israelis could deploy their reserves confident that they would be replaced by a massive United States airlift. The United States came through.

2. THE ISRAELIS counterattack proved brilliantly but not conclusively successful. They succeeded in forcing their way back across the Suez Canal, and they were headed south to cut off communications lines that fed the Egyptian contingent to the east of the canal. In a rare UN Security Council resolution, the Arab States voted for the UN Security Council. The strategic strain is to the policy of detente, to which our government clings with near superstitious fidelity. One wishes there were an Archie Cox in the State Department who could do to detente what was done to the Nixon Tape Doctrine. All of which reminds one,

3. NOT ENOUGH pressure. Because after a short respite, the Israelis, examining the prospective advantages of marching on and consuming their victory, began to do so. It was at this point that the Russians saw the clear threat to their own interests. They could not tolerate a total Israeli success and all that this would mean in terms of an Arab sense of betrayal in the grander theater of operations, where the principal players are the United States and the Soviet Union. Accordingly, the Soviets wrote humbly to Henry Kissinger (we have Sen. Jackson's word as regards the tone of that communication), and by way of background accompaniment, mobilized a few airborne units, announced that if the United States did not come to join the Soviet Union in a common enforcement of the cease fire, why the Soviet Union would do the job by herself.

This move scared the living bejesus out of the United States, which as we all know ordered a general military alert, and the sum total of these intricately balanced events was (and this is conjecture) to cause the United States to put irresistible pressure on Israel to "Stop This Minute!"

4. CERTAIN kinds of pressure Israel does understand, and in a matter of hours, she complied: leaving a Soviet diplomatic corps visibly pleased with the success of its maneuver, and the United States exhausted by the strains of the engagement. The most obvious strain was of course the possibility of a direct military confrontation with the Soviet Union. The strategic strain is to the policy of detente, to which our government clings with near superstitious fidelity. One wishes there were an Archie Cox in the State Department who could do to detente what was done to the Nixon Tape Doctrine. All of which reminds one,

5. THAT THE military strength of the United States, so casual a concern of Congress, was the underpinning of whatever success we had. Reminds one that the relative improvement of the Arab military over the Israeli military in the years since 1967 is at least reflected in the relative strength of the Soviet Union over the United States in the Mediterranean. One hopes that President Nixon, in addressing Congress, will be orderly and direct in describing what he could and couldn't do, because of the impoverishment of our military.

Hammertoe Home 'Remedy'

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have developed hammertoes on the toes next to the big toes. My shoes seem plenty long and anyway I usually wear a loose sandal. I'm 69, retired and quite sedentary. Is there a cure or correction?

I tried my own idea, a piece of cotton depressor under the toe and ball of the foot, taped to pull the toe flat. For a while I thought the toe was straightening out but maybe it's wishful thinking. If done regularly, might this straighten the toe? — S.B.

It might work in the early stages of a hammertoe, but keep in mind that hammertoe is a contraction in the tendon which pulls the toe up into that shape, so the length of your shoes isn't the whole story, nor even the most significant element, necessarily.

I see no objection to trying your method, but if it doesn't show very real progress in a short time (say a month) then I wouldn't expect success. So I'd suggest seeing a podiatrist or an orthopedist.

Reason for not letting it go too long is that bursitis is likely to develop on the top of the toe joint, compounding your problem.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like to know about tinnitus. What causes it and what can be done to stop it? — M.J.L. Tinnitus is a technical term for ear noises of various hissing, chirping or other such sounds, so I prefer to call the problem ear noises rather than tinnitus.

High blood pressure, ear defects and certain medications (including aspirin) are among the known causes; there are other causes that have not been established. Sometimes you can get rid of the noises and sometimes you can't. In the latter case, learning to have some competing sound makes them more tolerable. You'll probably find some ideas you can use in my booklet, "Ear Noises: Their Causes and Cures." Send 15 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like some information regarding barium X-rays including (1) preparation; (2) length of time; (3) if they are extremely painful. — Mrs. F.M.

If you just took an X-ray of some part of the digestive system, it wouldn't show up very clearly. Bones do; soft tissues, like the intestine, don't.

So the tract is filled with a barium solution, which brings out the outline of the intestinal tract on the X-rays.

If the stomach and contiguous areas are to be studied, you drink the barium mixture. It's about the consistency of malted milk, and is flavored to make it more palatable. Otherwise it would be about as tasty as chalk. That would be for an "upper G.I. series," the "G.I." meaning gastro-intestinal.

If you wanted the lower part of the intestine, colon and so on, that would be a "lower G.I." and instead of drinking the mixture, it would be given in enema form. The only difference otherwise is that you will be told to "hold onto it" in the intestine until after the X-rays have been taken.

Preparation? Your doctor will tell you how long not to eat anything before the X-ray appointment. Usually overnight — no breakfast.

Length of time? Oh, maybe an hour or so for the entire procedure. Pain? None.

What causes "balance" trouble? What can be done to correct or overcome it? Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Dizzy Spells," discusses loss of balance, vertigo and nausea, Meniere's disease and labyrinthitis. For a copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope.

Line Of Succession

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Because of all the talk about impeachment and resignation, this country has suddenly taken a very careful look at the succession of the President of the United States.

ACCORDING to the Constitution, as interpreted by the White House, only male heirs may succeed the President if for some reason he cannot carry out his duties. This eliminates Julie Eisenhower and Tricia Cox.

The nearest male heir to take over the Presidency would be Mr. Nixon's brother, Donald, the Prince of Marriott. Donald is much more of a free spirit than his brother Richard.

SINCE HE never thought he would ever assume the throne, Don has devoted himself more to the restaurant business, but people at the White House believe he would be a fair and honest ruler if duly called.

Next in line of succession would be Edward Nixon, the President's youngest brother, a dashing young aristocrat known as the Duke of Seattle. Edward has served his brother on very important missions including picking up cash from the President's loyal subjects when no one else could be trusted with the job. Unlike his brothers, Edward has managed to stay out of the limelight, and it is not certain if he would have the necessary mass appeal.

AFTER EDWARD comes President Nixon's nephew, Donald Jr., known as Bonnie Prince Don to distinguish him from his father. There has been some talk that Donald Sr., might step aside and persuade his brother Edward to give up rights to the throne, so his son, Bonnie Prince Don, could be crowned President.

Bonnie Prince Don, though still a young man, has had great experience in international relations working for Count Robert Vesco who was exiled to Costa Rica when he got into financial difficulties with the Chancellor of the Exchequer. But Bonnie Prince Don may be too young to serve, and a regent would have to be appointed to run the affairs of the country.

THE NOBLEMAN most talked about to serve as regent is Bebe Rebozo who holds the title of the Duke of Biscayne.

The duke is probably the closest intimate of the Nixon family, and has served the President by administering the land holdings that the Nixons have accumulated.

A Devotion For Today

With his own body he broke down the wall that separated them and kept them enemies. (Ephesians 2:14)

PRAYER: O Lord, forgive us for building walls when You would have us build bridges of love and understanding to those in our homes, communities, and the world. Amen.

City Garden Clubs May Join Cleanup Campaign

Plans to involve the city's numerous garden clubs in the Clean Up Shape Up campaign were furthered this morning at a meeting of the Garden Club Council.

Meeting with Clean Up committee co-chairman Polly Mays, the council decided to recommend to its member clubs that they tour the 12 100-block areas of town designated in the city's alley clearing project. List in priority order places that badly need to be cleaned and then concentrate on cleaning those places.

Mrs. Mays suggested that each garden club appoint a cleanup chairman to tour each of the 12 regions along with the region chairmen who are now being appointed by Jack Watkins, co-chairman with Mrs. Mays of Clean Up Shape Up.

After the clubs have agreed on priority locations for cleaning, property owners will be approached and asked to voluntarily clean their property. If they refuse, city code enforcer David Zellars will be sent to enforce the city's ordinances against weedy lots, junk cars, etc.

Long-range plans were also discussed whereby each garden club will be assigned to a particular 100-block region and compete with the other clubs for "cleanest region."

Council member Edna Womack announced that bumper stickers saying "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You - Don't Litter" have been ordered for all garden club members.

In connection with the cleanup drive, Mrs. Mays told the group that the city dump is now being kept open seven days a week, from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 1 to 6 p.m. on Sunday.

Also, she said the city is selling metal garbage can racks made by the high school welding class at a fee of $12.50 for double racks and $7.50 for single racks.

Racks, complete with chains for the lids, can be ordered at the water office. They will be delivered to the buyers' homes.

AFTER THE MEETING — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger walks with Ismail Fahmy, a special representative of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, as they leave the State Department Monday night after their meeting on the Middle East situation.

Nixon Will Confer With Golda Meir

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon will confer with Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir later this week after he and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger hold special talks with Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy.

Fahmy and Kissinger met Monday and again today to discuss cementing the Middle East cease-fire and the opening of Arab-Israeli talks. Nixon is scheduled to meet with Fahmy on Wednesday.

The White House announced, meanwhile, that Nixon and Mrs. Meir would meet on Thursday and said the President would meet at Camp David, Md., later today with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin.

Kissinger was asked if he agreed. "Yes," he answered, adding that the talks covered "the whole complex — the cease-fire and after."

Other officials of both governments said Fahmy outlined Egypt's traditional demands of Israeli withdrawal from conquered territory as a condition for negotiations.

In testimony before a banking subcommittee Flanigan said, "we think it is inappropriate at this time to deal with these issues" of granting the Soviets Most Favored Nation status.

He said the request for delay was temporary and could be restored if a Middle East settlement is reached with Russian cooperation.

Moscow that the United States expects the Soviet Union to act responsibly in solving the Middle East conflict.

Peter Flanigan, President Nixon's foreign economic policy adviser, asked the Senate Monday to hold up action on the administration's proposal to liberalize trade with the Russians.

He said the request for delay was temporary and could be restored if a Middle East settlement is reached with Russian cooperation.

IMPORTANT GOAL

However, they indicated the most important goal of his mission was to learn firsthand the U.S. thinking on the Middle East and examine the seriousness of the American pledges to treat the Arabs fairly in helping arrange peace talks.

LASTING PEACE

White House Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said the talks were part of the President's "efforts to bring lasting peace to the Middle East."

Willis V. Brown In Water Course

The 25th annual West Texas Regional Water Utilities Short School will be held in Lubbock Nov. 6-8, at Lubbock's Public Works Service Center.

The Short School, hosted by the Texas Water Utilities Association, Texas State Quality Board, Texas State Department of Health, and the Texas A & M Engineering Extension Service, will conduct classes to help prepare persons desiring a career in the production of safe drinking water, or treat waste water.

To pursue these careers, one must first pass an examination for a certificate of competency, required by state statute. This is the main goal of the Short School.

Participating in this year's program is Willis V. Brown of 1502 Nolan, Big Spring.

Highlights of the week are a luncheon to be held Thursday, Nov. 8, for all participants and the certification exam which is also Nov. 8 from 3-5 p.m.

MEMPHIS PROSTITUTE Feeling Of Generosity Toward Police Officers

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Authorities here are looking for a prostitute with a penchant for policemen.

Police Director Jay Hubbard said Monday that "less than 20 officers" had sexual relations with the 19-year-old woman, who was arrested on a prostitution charge and was found to have venereal disease. The Police Department's internal affairs bureau is investigating the case.

Hubbard said he wants to talk to the woman, identified only as Charlotte, who is believed to be in her home state of Arkansas.

At the same time, Hubbard disclosed that a second investigation is under way involving five other officers and another woman with a prostitution record.

"This investigation sort of bumped into the other one," he said.

Hubbard said that initial estimates that anywhere between 70 and 200 policemen were involved with Charlotte were wrong.

"We will be out with something less than 20 officers," he said. "Not all of them were involved while on duty. A larger number of these cases occurred while the officer was off duty than while he was on duty."

Hubbard said the policemen did not extort favors from the woman, nor did they pay her. "She has a great feeling of generosity toward the police officers," he said.

He said those officers involved might be guilty of "an interesting form of neglect of duty."

Ex-Bankers Draw Probated Terms

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal judge pronounced sentences Monday on two former vice presidents of the now-defunct Sharpstown State Bank who pleaded guilty to making fraudulent loans to bank examiners.

Douglas N. Lane, 36, was handed two concurrent nine-month terms by U.S. District Court Judge Carl O. Bue who also suspended two five-year probated terms for Herman Nelms, 29.

The former bank officials pleaded guilty to making fraudulent loans to state and federal bank examiners while vice presidents of the bank. The bank failed after its principal owner, Frank W. Sharp, was hit by a federal civil suit charging stock manipulation. The government claimed the two men incorporated D.N. Lane Enterprises Inc., in 1968 to borrow money from the bank and use it to make the alleged loans to examiners who were charged with checking on the Sharpstown bank.

Carl Lundquist, another vice president, pleaded guilty last year and received a one-year suspended sentence and a $750 fine for having received a bank loan while he was a state bank examiner.

Tips for using electricity efficiently:

Get well acquainted with the control on your clothes dryer.

Clothes come out of the dryer harsh and stiff when you over-dry them. And you use electricity that isn't needed. If you don't have automatic controls, experiment with the manual control to find the right setting for each type of fabric, then use it. Man-made fabrics, in particular, require extended cool-down periods.

These other suggestions also can help you make more efficient use of your clothes dryer and electricity.

Group clothes together by weight and texture of the fabrics to avoid running an additional cycle for two or three slower-drying items.

When you want to fluff pillows, sweaters, knits or small throw rugs, tumble them without heat for not more than 15 minutes.

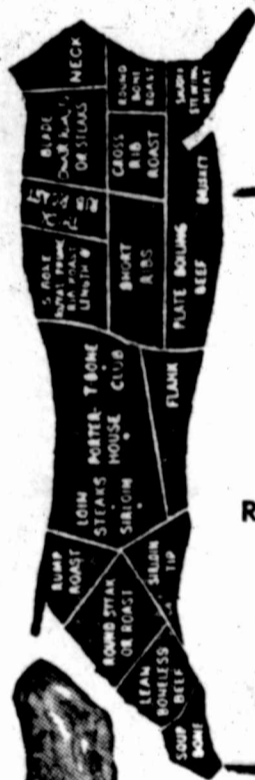

Place your clothes dryer in a heated part of your home, if possible, and have it vented to the outside. A dryer in an unheated area, such as an outside utility room or the garage, can take longer to dry your clothes in winter, because the air temperature in the drum will have to be increased.

Plans To Control Pollution Blasted

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The mayor of Salt Lake City, Utah, calls the anti-pollution proposals of the federal Environmental Protection Agency for cities its "extermination plan."

E. J. "Jake" Garn said Monday the EPA in its drive to control pollution, is endangering the economic life of nearly every major city in the United States, "without even bothering to run their programs by locally elected and locally responsible officials."

STAND TOGETHER

Both Garn and Houston Mayor Louie Welch, speaking at the 61st annual conference of the Texas Municipal League, said city leaders should stand together "for local running of local government."

Welch's target for criticism was the Texas Legislature. He said the legislature "divides us by legislation of special interest and thus raises the cost of local government." He cited a local interest bill passed by legislature's last session which forces Houston to increase its contribution to firemen's pension funds.

In another speech, Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe stressed the importance of strengthening local government in the proposed new state constitution.

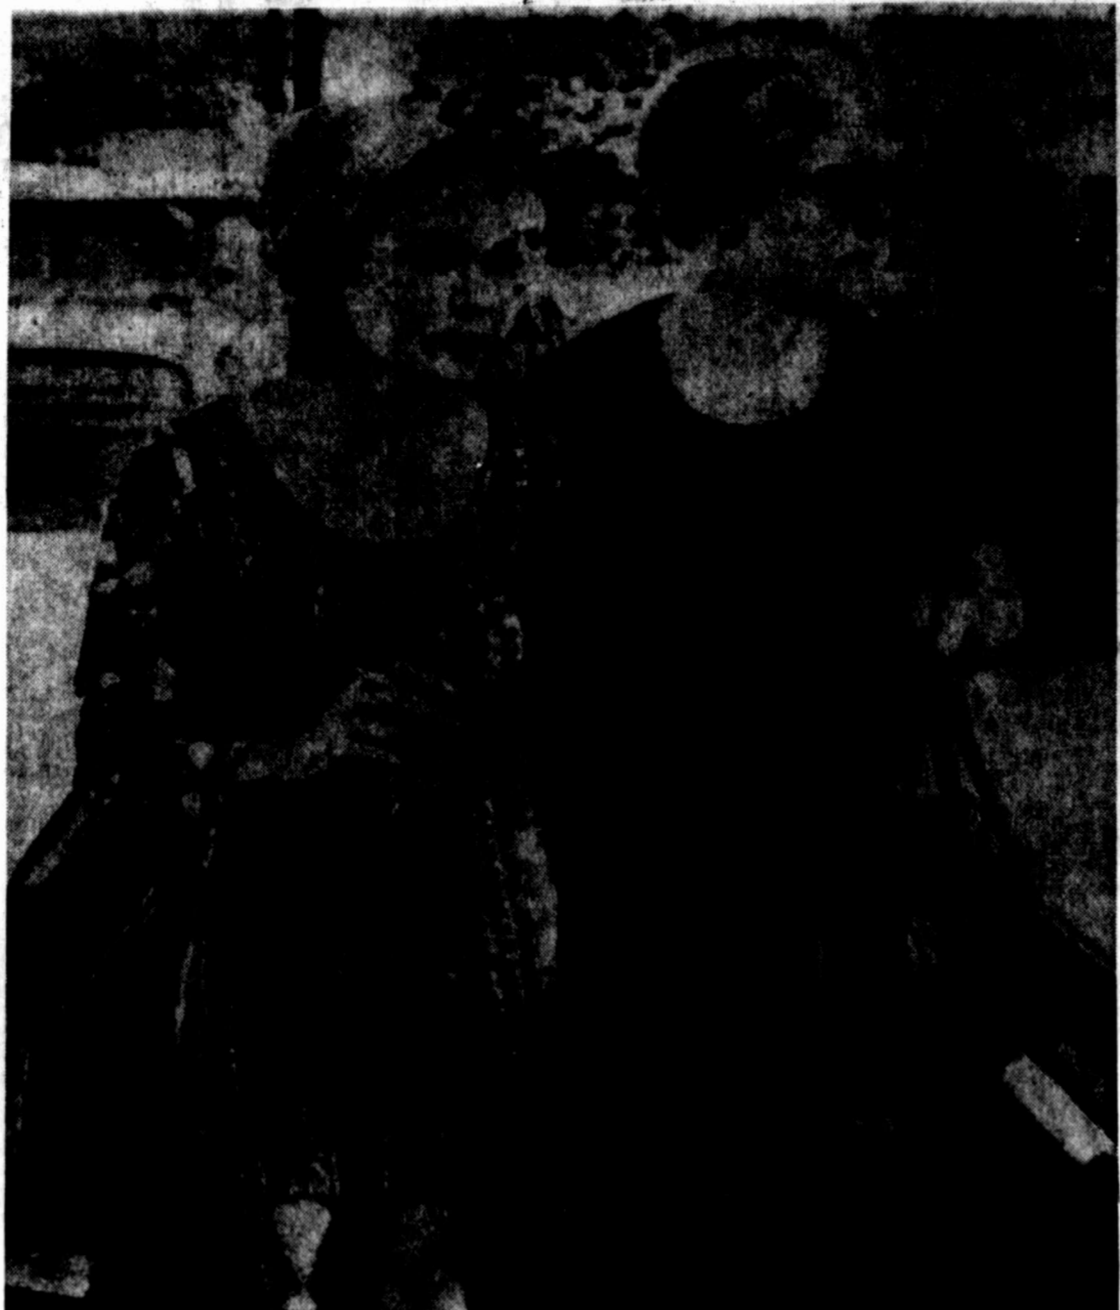

FIRING LINE

He also pleased Texas Municipal League leaders with the announcement of the appointment of Ben F. McDonald, former mayor of Corpus Christi, as executive director of the state Department of Community Affairs.

"It's a surprise, but a very pleasant surprise," said Temple Mayor Jamie Clements.

McDonald has "been there. He's been on the firing line, so he knows. It's one of the governor's finest appointments," said Clements.

About 3,000 delegates are attending the conference, which ends today.

Miss Scott, who recently lost a paternity suit against actor Chad Everett, was accused of leaving her four-month-old baby, Dale Everett, at MGM studio Oct. 5.

Environmental Regulations May Knock Out Free Parking

HOUSTON (AP) — Employees of major firms in five Texas cities who now get free parking from their employers will have to start sharing the driving next year if they don't want to start paying.

The federal Environmental Protection Agency had those words Monday when it handed out the full text of its proposed program to control air pollution in Texas.

As originally announced Oct. 15, the plan contained only general references to promote car pools and mass transit among large employe groups in Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio and Galveston.

As spelled out in the final plan, public or private employes of more than 1,000 persons who maintain more than 700 parking spaces must impose a minimum daily parking charge of $1 next July for employes not in car pools of three or more persons.

The parking fee on July 1, 1975, will rise to $2 plus the daily commercial rate charged by the three nearest commercial parking lots with 100 or more spaces.

On July 1, 1976, the fee will go up to $2.50 a day plus the daily commercial rate.

Two-rider car pools will be charged no more than half these rates.

The money collected by the companies will be used to reimburse employes who ride mass transit to work. Such reimbursements "need not exceed $200 per year per employe," the EPA said.

Employers under the EPA program must also encourage employes to commute to work by subscription charter buses or other privately operated transit facilities.

At least three months before July 1, employers must also

Cattle Ranchers Alerted In Area

Cattle ranchers in the Southwest and Midwest are being warned by the U.S. Department of Agriculture to be on the alert for signs of the infectious skin disease, psoroptic cattle scabies.

Since Jan. 1, the department noted, there have been 38 outbreaks of scabies in Arizona, Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Idaho, Kansas and Nebraska.

County Agent Bruce Griffith said local farmers should be aware of the symptoms although there has never been a case in Howard County as far as he knows.

Affected cattle usually seem restless. Their hair may be disturbed from increased licking and rubbing. In severe untreated cases, the animals may die. USDA officials stressed that scabies does not affect the wholesomeness of meat from an infected animal. Only the hide is damaged.

Sentences In Largest Marijuana Seizure Case

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Six Florida men have received maximum sentences in what authorities said was the largest marijuana seizure case in U.S. history.

The six were sentenced to 20-year terms in federal court Monday. A seventh defendant drew a 10-year sentence.

The seven were arrested on smuggling charges last March when federal and state agents raided a barge grounded near Steinhatchee on the Gulf Coast.

Agents said 9 1/2 tons of marijuana were found in burlap bags on the barge and nearby on a creek bank. That much marijuana would retail at more than $6 million, prosecutors said.

Texas defense lawyer Perry Foreman had claimed his clients were only fishing at the time.

The six sentenced to 20 years are Floyd Capo, 40, of Horsehoe Beach; Michael Knight, 23, Steven Lam, 20, David Strongosky 23, and Barry Korn, 23, all of St. Petersburg and James Maslanka 24, of Gainesville.

The seventh defendant sentenced to 10 years is Walter Er-cius, 22, of St. Petersburg Beach.

The men were found guilty Oct. 10.

Cowbelles Participate In Abilene Meeting

Representatives of the local Cowbelles chapter have returned from Abilene where they attended a state convention hosted by the Live Oak Cowbelles from the San Angelo area. Rose Ann Roberts of Klondike and Linda Beam of Patricia, both of the local Cowbelles, attended a workshop for chapter historians and a board of directors meeting as well as a reception Wednesday evening.

Slate officers were elected, and the business session was attended by Mrs. Beam, Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Janet Middleton, Big Spring; Mrs. Lucille Sterling, Vincent; and Mrs. Gloria Griffin, Vincent. The business meeting was followed by a luncheon which featured as guest speaker Stanley Franks, editor of the West Texas Livestock Weekly.

The Cowbelles, composed of women affiliated with the beef industry, were organized to promote beef. Franks said that the organization is able to surpass a professional public relations agent in their campaign to promote beef and educate the public about beef because the organization is made up principally of homemakers and working homemakers. According to Franks, consumers, which are for the most part homemakers, will listen to Cowbelles "while they would close their ears to the male chauvinist cowboy".

The next convention will be held in April at San Antonio with South Texas Cowbelles as hostesses.

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You recently published the following:

DEAR ABBY: Our brother is 21. He just graduated from college, and has a job that pays him $100 a week. Brother wants to live at home with our parents. They think it will teach Brother a sense of responsibility if he pays them $75 a month for his room and board.

Since Brother is the oldest of six children, what goes for him will probably go for the rest of us.

We don't think children should have to pay to live with someone they love. Our whole family would like to know how you feel about this.

THE OTHER KIDS DEAR KIDS: How long should an able-bodied, gainfully employed 21-year-old expect to live with Mama and Papa for free? Six months? A year? Forever? Circumstances and opinions differ in all families.

Exercise Eases Platform Sores

If you are stepping out in the fashionable platforms you may also be experiencing some foot and ankle discomfort in the breaking-in period.

There is a simple exercise that can help restore muscle tone and the comfort that goes with it. After removing the shoes, lift each foot in turn and rotate it as far as possible, left to right and up and down. Lift a pencil from the floor with the toes. Roll a rubber band under each arch in turn. Massage the feet and ankles with good quality witch hazel. Keep the skin lubricated with baby oil.

Don't Pressure Young To Marry

People shouldn't be pressured into marrying at any age. When too young, usually they're not physically prepared to bear family responsibilities.

Therefore they sometimes fall, points out Dorothy Taylor, family life education specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

however, reasonable people should be able to agree to terms that will satisfy both the lover and the loved.

Abby, let's put it this way:

DEAR ABBY: We are the parents of a 21-year-old son who has just graduated from college. Now that he has a nice apartment and is making a good salary, we would like to sell our house and move in with him. He thinks we should pay $75 a month for room and board. We don't think parents should have to pay to live with someone they love. What do you think, Abby? Sign this.

THE PARENTS: That door swings both ways. Parents who are able to support themselves shouldn't freeload on their kids.

DEAR ABBY: Who wouldn't live at home for $75 a month if Mom and Dad are dummies enough to offer it? The kid (correction - at 21, he's a man) is getting a real bargain.

The real question is: "Do Mom and Dad love him enough to push him out of the nest now that he is self-supporting?" And does he love them enough to take care of himself and ease their burden with the other five? Whether they can afford it or not, they are doing him a disservice to let him stay.

The other kids should know that loving isn't necessarily giving. It is strong stuff when you love enough to say, "GO!"

DEAR ABBY: I am writing about that girl who found out when she was 16 that her parents had been married six months before she was born. She said they were the greatest, and she didn't hold anything against them.

I am 14, and I want that girl to know that I was born four days AFTER my parents were married, and I've known about it for three years because my mother told me, and I respect her even more for being honest. You should never look down on a person because she made a mistake. A friend of mine was born illegitimate and she knew it, but she never held it against her mother until her mother denied it.

Lying is stupid. The truth always has a way of coming out. GRATEFUL

West-Tex Telephone Slates Open House

West Texas Telephone Co-Op Inc. has moved into a new headquarters in Stanton. They will hold open house at the new facility on Sunday, Nov. 4 from 3-5 p.m. when all of West Texas is invited to drop by and see the facility, according to Glenn Gates, manager. The co-op, which officially began back in 1952 serves part of seven West Texas counties. This includes Martin, Dawson, Howard, Borden, Glasscock, Midland and Reagan counties. A lot of people who were not served by telephone were given the advantage of the services of the Co-Op. For years, they had rented a building in downtown Stanton and now are located on old Highway 80 just west of the Caprock Electric building. The new facility includes five offices and a warehouse. Their telephone customers are especially invited to tour the open house but all other persons who are interested are also cordially invited to attend. "We are very happy about the new facilities and hope it improves our service to our many West Texas customers," Gates stated.

Man Charged With Murder

LAMESA — Murder charges have been filed against Carman Moreno, 25, in connection with the fatal shooting Sunday of Billy Hardaway Sr., 46.

According to police, Hardaway was shot twice, in his right side and in the back, with a .32 caliber revolver. The shooting reportedly occurred following an argument near Hardaway's home during which Moreno's father, Jesse Moreno, 55, received small stab wounds in the back.

Peace Justice Arthur Standefer pronounced Hardaway, a farm laborer, dead at the scene. Services are pending with Cook Funeral Home in Edna.

Survivors are his wife, Elvina; 12 children, Johnnie Lee Wright, Mexia, Billy Jr., Jerry, Willie Bell, Audrey, Marie, Mark, May, Lucille, O. C. and Robert Earl Hardaway, all of Lamesa, and Otis Hardaway, Camp Lejeune; and three grandchildren.

Judge Again Orders Delay In Wadley Probate Action

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — Another delay in probate proceedings concerning the will and estate of the late philanthropist J. K. Wadley was ordered Monday by Judge Henry S. Yocum.

Joe McEntire Promoted, Transferred To Abilene

Joe J. McEntire, area conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service at Big Spring, has been promoted and transferred to Abilene as area conservationist, effective Oct. 28.

McEntire is a veteran of 22 years with the Soil Conservation Service with the past two years being in Big Spring.

In his new field, he will have nine field offices covering 10 counties. In addition to being responsible for the administrative and technical phases of the Soil Conservation Services regular program of work, he will be responsible for the Great Plains Conservation Program that is applicable in the Abilene area.

McEntire, a native of Comanche County, Tex., completed requirements for an agricultural education degree at Texas A&M University in 1950. He started his career with the SCS as a range conservationist at Fredericksburg. This was interrupted by two years of service with the First Marine Air Wing during the Korean conflict. On his return to duty he served as district conservationist at Kerrville and Floydada. In 1963 McEntire was promoted to Area Conservationist at Uvalde and reassigned to Big Spring in 1971.

In addition to his regular duties, McEntire has been active in professional societies. He is a member of the Permian Basin Chapter, Soil Conservation Society of America and a past director of the Texas section of the Society for Range Management. In 1970 he received an outstanding rating and Certificate of Merit for the superior manner in directing SCS operations in the Uvalde area, and others were earned at Floydada and Kerrville.

"I have enjoyed working with the dedicated employees of the SCS in this area and I appreciate their cooperative spirit," McEntire said.

Mrs. McEntire (Gerri) has been a teacher in the Big Spring School system during the past two years. She and the McEntires' two children, Robert, a senior, and Ann, a sophomore, currently plan to remain in Big Spring to finish the school year. An older son, Stephen, is a sophomore at Texas Tech University.

was ordered after disclosure in Miller County probate court that another trust agreement allegedly established by Wadley had been located.

Several religious and educational organizations were listed as beneficiaries of one trust fund allegedly established by Wadley. A copy of the alleged trust was filed and offered along with the purported last will and testament of Wadley in Miller County probate court Aug. 15.

Earlier this month, W. Lee Sinclair of Dallas, Wadley's grandson-in-law, offered the same alleged will for probate in Bowie County, Tex., probate court.

Wadley's daughter, Mrs. Emily DeWare of Santa Barbara, Calif., contested the documents in both courts.

According to the terms of the first alleged trust, filed in August with the will, Wadley's estate was to be used to set up two trust funds.

The income from three-fourths of the estate was to be divided in varying amounts among the First Baptist Church of Texarkana, Wadley Hospital in Texarkana, the Baptist Foundation of Texas, Baylor University, Baylor University Medical Center and the J. K. and Susie L. Wadley Research Institute and Blood Bank in Dallas.

The second alleged trust has not been made part of the court records concerning the case. Sinclair testified Monday that he found the second alleged trust, the terms of which were not revealed, among Wadley's files last week.

He said he had inspected the files several times since Wadley died last January, but added that Wednesday was the first time he had seen the alleged second trust.

Sinclair and the Texarkana National Bank were appointed by probate courts both in Miller County and Bowie County as co-administrators of the Wadley estate pending resolution of court proceedings.

C. W. Dunn, a certified public accountant and the office manager for Wadley, testified he drew up the alleged second trust in 1971 at Wadley's request.

Dunn said he intended the document to be used as a "rough draft," adding that the document was never put into effect to his knowledge.
