SADAT SAYS PRESSURE BUILDING TO ATTACK ISRAELIS

Insists Forces In Egypt Pull Back

By The Associated Press
Egyptian President Anwar Sadat insisted today that Israeli forces in Egypt must pull back as a first step toward Middle East peace. Premier Golda Meir left Israel for Washington and talks with President Nixon and prospects for negotiations.

Sadat said in a news conference that there will be no exchange of war prisoners until the Israelis move back to the Oct. 22 cease-fire line.

He gave an emphatic "no" to the idea of direct peace negotiations with Israel. But he said once disengagement starts, an international peace conference on the Middle East could begin under U.N. auspices.

Mrs. Meir was expected to combine thanks for U.S. aid in the Middle East conflict with complaints about reported U.S. pressure on Israel to make concessions to the Arabs.

On departure for Washington, Mrs. Meir said, "There are naturally problems that have to be discussed." But she added, "I am leaving with the true feeling that they will be discussed in friendship."

FOOD, WATER
The Israelis permitted more supplies for the Egyptian 3rd Army to pass through their lines. A command spokesman in Tel Aviv said, "Some technical difficulties held up the relief convoy this morning, but 23 trucks are now unloading."

The food, water and medical supplies are for the 20,000-man Egyptian army that Israel says is cut off in the Sinai Desert east of the Suez canal by Israeli forces on the west bank. The Egyptians claim that Israeli forces took up new positions on the west bank between the Oct. 22 cease-fire and the second truce Oct. 24. Sadat's demand that Israel pull back to the Oct. 22 positions would allow Egypt to link up with its 3rd Army again.

In his news conference Sadat, who wore a military uniform, said his forces could easily defeat Israeli units on the west bank of the canal and pressure was building up on him to do so.

"Militarily this is easy," he said. "The east bank forces of the Egyptian 3rd Army are well entrenched while the rest and larger part of this army is now behind the Israeli forces on the west bank."

But he said he was holding back to avoid more war and bloodshed.

Sadat's view of an endangered Israeli force conflicted with Tel Aviv's claim that it has the Egyptian 3rd Army surrounded and at its mercy on the east bank of the canal. Defense Minister Moshe Dayan told the Israeli parliament that Egypt has provided a list of 82 POWs — 45 of them injured — and promised a list of all its POWs within three days.

He said there would be an immediate exchange of wounded prisoners and Israel would take the first step by freeing 75 wounded Egyptians.

"We asked them for a full prisoner exchange but we have no promise on this," Dayan said. "But once the wounded are back and once the visits of the international Red Cross are taking place and the lists have been exchanged, I believe the full exchange would follow."

PRISONERS
However, Egypt's official Middle East News Agency said the Egyptian high command had ordered a prisoner exchange only after the Israelis "return to the lines of Oct. 22, in accordance of the Security Council resolution."

It was on Oct. 23, before the second Security Council ceasefire resolution, that Israeli forces on the west bank of the Suez Canal advanced past the south end of the canal and completed the encirclement of the Egyptian 3rd Army.

Israel estimates Egypt is holding about 350 Israelis prisoner and that Syria captured about 100. Israel says it captured some 7,150 Arabs, 6,000 of them Egyptians, and will free all of them in exchange for the approximately 450 Israelis.

Dayan told the Knesset, the Israeli parliament, there had been no response from Syria to Israel's overtures for a POW exchange.

Syrian Information Minister George Saddiki said "Syria is not yet prepared to bargain, and negotiations with Israel would consequently be useless."

WITHDRAWAL
"The problem can only be solved through complete Israeli withdrawal from occupied Arab territories and the recognition of Palestinian rights," Saddiki said.

Al Ahrum said today that Egypt had sent a formal complaint to the International Red Cross Committee in Geneva, claiming Israel abducted 800 civilians from villages near Ismailia during military operations on the west bank of the canal.

A U.N. spokesman in Cairo said Swedish peacekeeping troops had established six posts in the central sector of the Suez front and were trying to link up with Finnish U.N. soldiers in the town of Suez, at the southern end of the waterway.

Associated Press correspondent Paul Zach reported from Suez that Israeli and Egyptian troops were facing each other across 30 yards of rubble in the center of town.

WORLDWIDE

U. S. Ends Military Alert

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has ended the worldwide military alert called last week, the Pentagon said today.

Defense Department spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim said about 350,000 soldiers and sailors in Europe and within the Atlantic fleet returned to normal military duties at midnight Tuesday. They were the last of the U.S. military force remaining on alert status after President Nixon's order six days ago following Middle East tensions.

At the same time, Friedheim said it appears that an alert of about 50,000 Soviet paratroopers in Russia and eastern Europe has ended also. Over the weekend, all U.S.-based units, including the elite 82nd Airborne Division at Ft. Bragg, N.C., returned to their normal routines.

Bond Approval

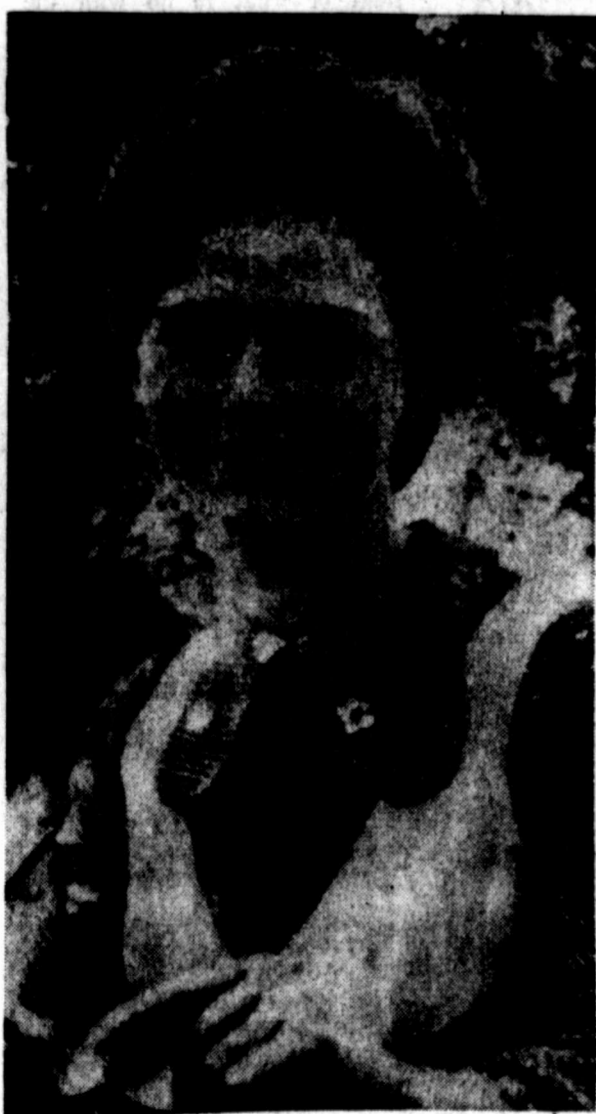

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Voters have approved a $6 million school bond issue here which calls for new classrooms and air conditioning. Some 6,385 persons voted Tuesday two-to-one to upgrade the school district's facilities.

UW Drive Inches Closer To Goal

Receiving a $10,000 boost in one day, United Way has reached 97 per cent of its goal of $117,140 set to be reached by Thursday.

Today's total was $114,569.69, a substantial gain over Tuesday's $104,303.30.

Division totals today were big gifts, $42,361.50; out of town, $5,818; public employees, $6,269.13; employees, $25,711.18; metropolitan $1,463.50; special gifts, $2,557.50; area, $965; women, $3,637; and combined federal, $25,786.88.

Trial Reset For Monday

The criminal trial of the State of Texas vs. John Howard Franklin, charged with armed robbery, has been reset for Monday in 118th District Court.

Originally scheduled to begin this past Monday, it had to be postponed because of a shortage of prospective jurors.

District Judge R. W. Caton said he expects no difficulty in getting enough jurors for the rescheduled session, however, because he is calling 20 more for jury duty than he did for the original trial.

Notices are being sent out today to 120 prospective jurors to report for duty at 10 a.m. Monday at which time jury selection will begin.

Caton said he was able to reset the trial for Monday after learning late yesterday that FBI ballistics expert Bobby Blackburn would be able to appear at that time.

Blackburn came to Big Spring Monday from Washington only to find the trial had been postponed. Luckily, Caton said, the court was able to schedule him again for this coming week. Otherwise, he would not have been available to testify until 1974, Caton said.

Also to be recalled as witnesses are a former Martin County deputy sheriff, now of Crane, and a former Big Spring policeman, now of San Marcos.

Franklin is charged with armed robbery of a local service station on Dec. 11, 1970. He is being defended by Roger Brown, while District Attorney Bob Moore leads the prosecution.

fied today that Republican dirty tricks disrupted strategy, generated suspicion and animosity among Democratic presidential candidates and demoralized Muskie's staff workers during the 1972 campaign.

Berl I. Bernhard told the Senate Watergate committee that it is difficult to assess precisely the impact of the dirty tricks on the Maine senator's unsuccessful bid for the Democratic presidential nomination, but he added:

TOOK A TOLL
"In my judgment, the unceasing events to unhorse Sen. Muskie took a toll," Bernhard said in a 44-page

Pot Resentencing Review Requested

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe said today he was asking the Board of Pardons and Paroles to review "as expeditiously as possible" marijuana convictions that would be misdemeanors under the new law.

Briscoe's statement followed the denial of a rehearing by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals in the Frank Demolli case. Demolli was sentenced to 25 years in 1971 upon conviction for possession of 21 pounds of marijuana.

Demolli sought a new sentence under the new drug law, which went into effect Aug. 27, but the appeals court said the resentencing provision unconstitutional. The governor's powers of clemency. By denying the rehearing, the high court finally disposed of the opening statement to the committee that some of the key papers in the campaign, including "the most vital document we had put together," were stolen by infiltrators—apparently spies planted by President Nixon's re-election committee.

The most vital document was the major campaign advance and scheduling proposal for use during the fall and winter of 1971 and 1972 when the Democratic primary campaign was getting under way, Bernhard said.

"This material had been completed in August 1971 and because it was the most vital document we had put together, only two copies were made," Bernhard said. "Within a few days after its production, a copy disappeared . . . It was later found on our campaign Xerox machine, the staples having been removed, apparently for copying."

Bernhard testified that the document reflected the entire Muskie political strategy and outlined where the senator was going, for what purpose and which states or conventions he might choose to de-emphasize. An opponent who obtained the document could focus disruption on key parts of the campaign and anticipate Muskie's moves, he said.

CREATED SUSPICION
"It created suspicion as to whether we had a spy among our own staff, and a number of days were dissipated in trying to ascertain what happened," Bernhard said.

case, at least at the state court level. Briscoe told the legislature last spring he would request a case-by-case review of previous convictions if the lawmakers adopted his drug program, which they substantially did.

Briscoe's decision will not affect Demolli because the dividing line between felony and misdemeanor under the new law is four ounces. The governor said he took the action "to give due and proper consideration to the legislative intent . . . the desire of the legislature to permit a lessening of sentence in these cases remains."

There are approximately 800 marijuana offenders in prison in Texas. No figures have been released on how many of these involved possession of less than four ounces.

tact by Israeli troops after they thrust across the Suez Canal into Egypt on Oct. 16.

The Israeli command spoke of destroying and overrunning Egyptian missile and artillery positions, but the capture of the SA6 was kept secret.

The Israelis captured other Soviet-made weapons already known to the United States from experience in the Vietnam war.

Among them was the SA7 anti-aircraft missile which first was captured by the South Vietnamese and brought to the United States. U.S. technicians then devised a way of using flares to divert the heat-seeking SA7s from their targets. This technique reportedly was adopted by the Israelis.

TESTIFIES BEFORE COMMITTEE — Berl I. Bernhard, who served as Sen. Edmund Muskie's presidential campaign manager, testifies before the Senate Watergate Committee today in Washington. He told the committee that Republican dirty tricks demoralized Muskie's staff workers during the 1972 campaign.

Heart Surgeon White Expires

BOSTON (AP) — Dr. Paul Dudley White, a world-famous leader in the war against heart disease, died today. He was 87.

White, who was White House physician for President Dwight D. Eisenhower, died at 11:50 a.m. EST of complications related to a recent stroke, a spokesman at Massachusetts General Hospital said.

White suffered a mild heart attack in December 1970, followed by a mild stroke last June.

He was hospitalized last August to have a blood clot removed from his brain.

For more than 50 years, White campaigned for the cause of moderation and exercise as the ways to prevent or delay heart disease.

He saw peril in man's drift toward the soft, easy, push-button life of modern civilization and campaigned for man to use his body or lose it.

"Nature is on our side if we are reasonable," he said.

"We can control our destiny by changing our way of life—by eliminating tobacco, getting real exercise, keeping your weight down and not eating too much fatty foods with cholesterol."

KEEP THINKING
"Keep moving, and keep thinking," White continued. "Don't let your brain atrophy. Too many people die from disuse of their bodies."

The small-framed physician—with his blue eyes peering from behind gold-rimmed glasses—practiced what he preached: daily walking, bicycling, no smoking, plus moderation in diet.

Many of his colleagues credited him with doing more to stimulate heart research and heart care than any other physician of his time.

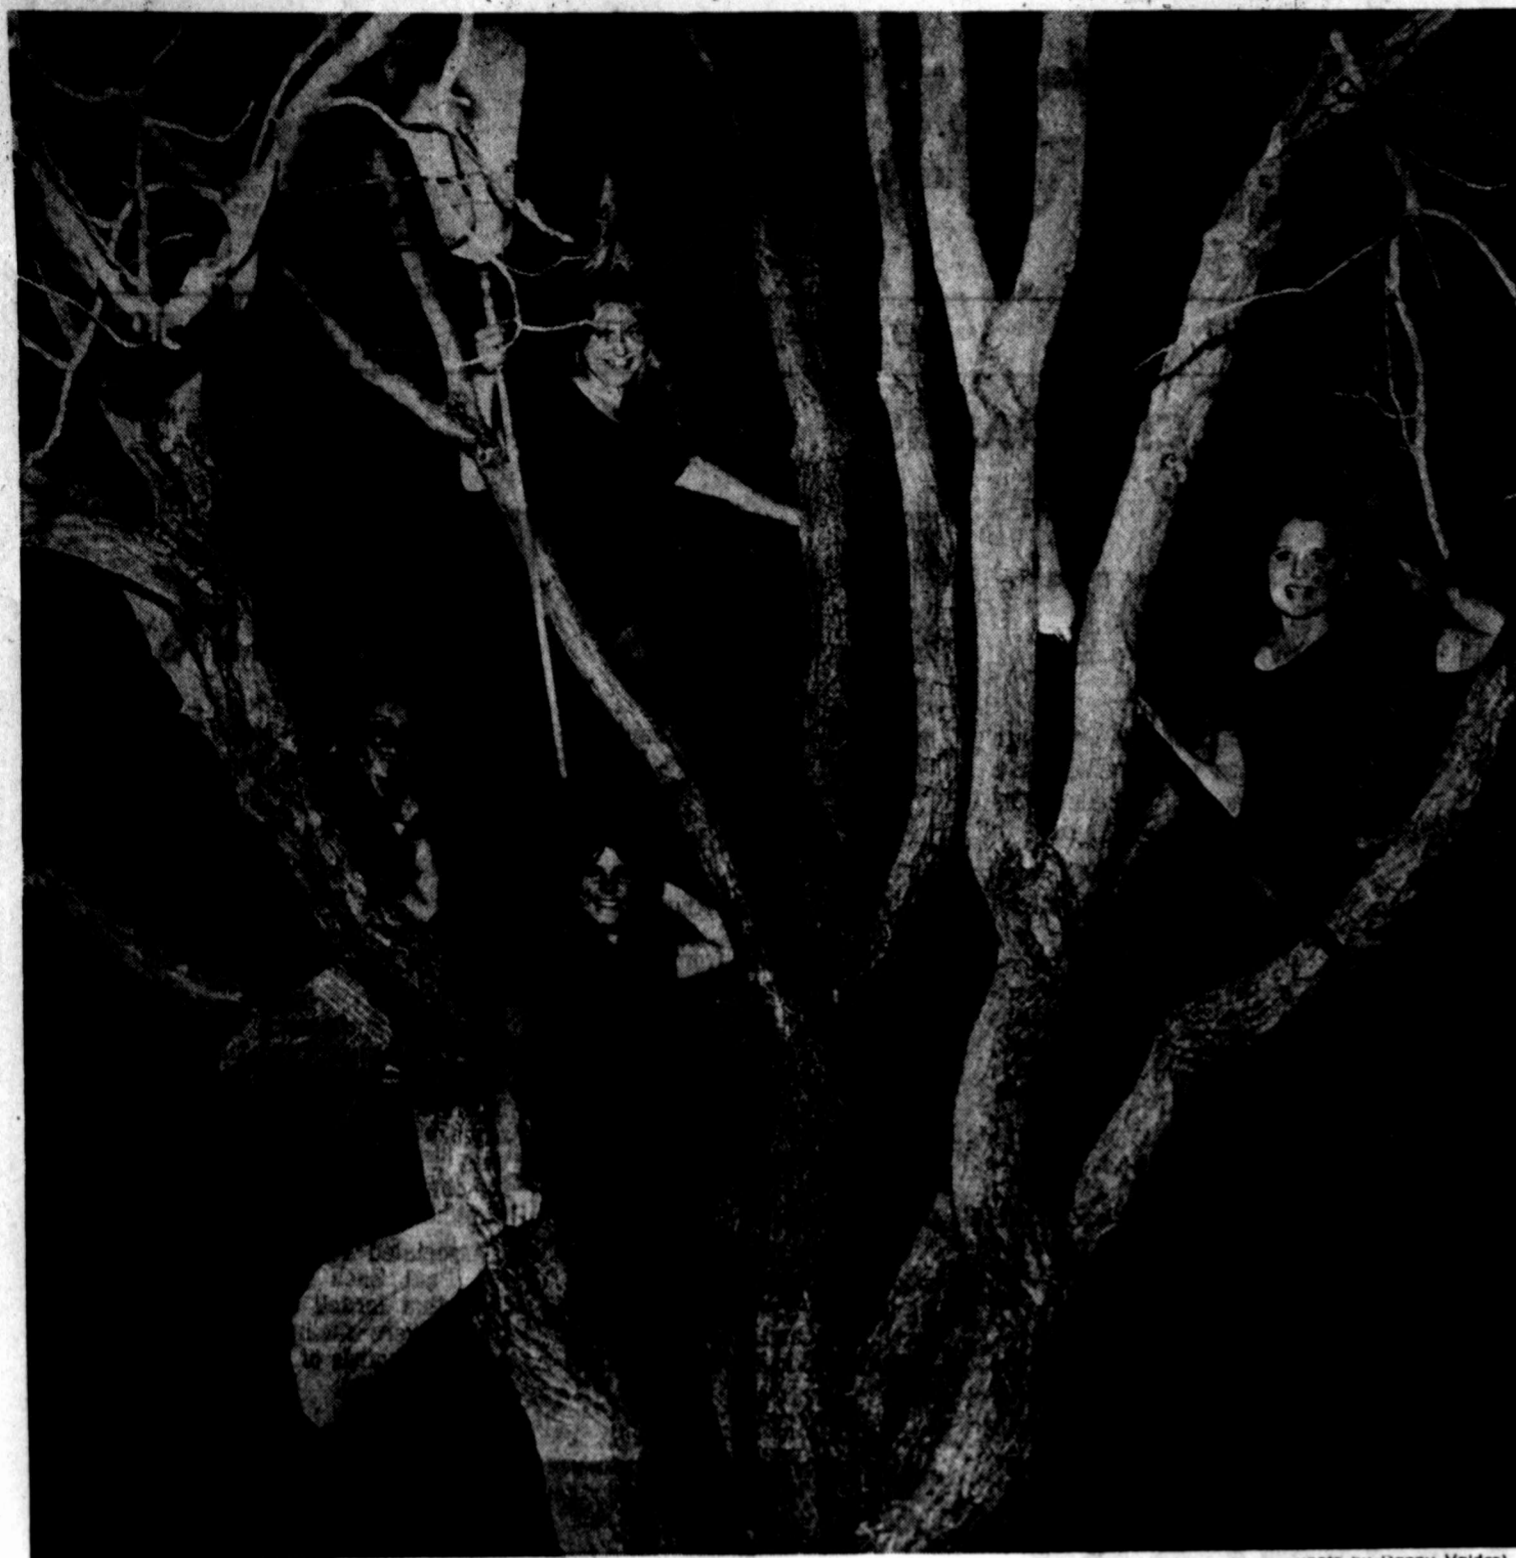

He was among the first to recognize that the blocking or constricting of heart arteries in coronary thrombosis did not necessarily mean a short life or life as an invalid.

IKE'S DOC
When Eisenhower was stricken with a heart attack in 1955, White was named the President's chief medical consultant.

White was already well known among his colleagues, but treating President Eisenhower brought the wiry, gray-mustached doctor to the attention of the general public.

FAIR

A dip to a low of 33 degrees this morning was expected to rise tomorrow when the low is predicted to be in the upper 30s. A high on Tuesday of 73 was expected to climb to the upper 70s this afternoon and Thursday. Fair weather is predicted for the Halloween spooks tonight.

A TREE FULL OF 'SPOOKS' — A tree full of comely 'witches' get into the spirit of the occasion as Halloween nears. Needless to say, the brooms are props, since the cuties are earthbound. However, they'll try to put the hex on Abilene Cooper here Friday night, when the Cougars come here to play football. The four are local cheerleaders. From the left, they are Mickie Fletcher, Kendra Dewees (at top), Nancy Conway and Leslie Harris.

College Campus Is Scene Of Halloween Holocaust

Final touches of spiders' eyes and frog legs are going into the witches brew at the annual Halloween Holocaust at Howard County College as the student body cooks up its entree for this evening.

Thirty booths and concessions are planned, and the entire Student Union Building will be converted into a carnival for the occasion. In addition, the Music Building will serve as Dracula's Castle, and the drama and choir students will provide scary tours through sinister and frightening corridors.

Ten bathing beauties are ready to be dropped into the icy tank of water on this chilly All Saints Eve as Kappl Chi passes out the baseballs to merciless pitchers.

Sledge hammers will be available to those who want to take demolishing swings at a junk car provided by the Rodeo Club. You can have your likeness sketched in an artist's booth, or Bob for apples.

Crazy photos will be taken by the Press Club, and glossy 8x10 prints returned within the hour. Fortunes will be told, palms read and the Tarot cards will predict the supernatural.

A pumpkin race is on tap by the Student Senate, a drawing for a car stereo installed free will highlight the evening, and concession delights such as cotton candy will be the keynote of the night.

Other concessions will include Mexican food provided by the Spanish Club, and snack bars treated by a food service. The recreation room will be open, and a music-by-radio dance will also be in progress.

The entire community is invited, including parents, high school students, and college students. Admission price will be 50 cents, with other activities additional.

Booths include frisbee through hoop, ring over bottle, ball in basket, bracelet pitch, penny toss, golf putt, dart to balloon, sponge throw, model car race, dime in jar, and nickel in water barrel.

If you think you are the world's greatest Halloween lover, a kissing booth is planned. Or if you are the city's superman, you can strike the pop with a mallet and try to ring the bell.

And all the while, a radio station will be doing a live remote broadcast from the SUB, playing records and giving an account of the festivities.

The entertainment will begin at 5 p.m. when a food service presents its annual Halloween dinner, which will be open to all college faculty, staff and students. The carnival starts at 7 p.m.

'Round-The-World Jaunt Bit Cheap

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Michael Henson, who police claim went on a 15-day globetrotting spree with a friend's Master Charge card, faces trial Jan. 2 on charges of receiving stolen property.

The 18-year-old New York City youth is being held in the Orange County Jail in lieu of $6,500 bond. He also is accused of cashing two worthless checks and defrauding an Orlando motel operator.

Henson was arrested Oct. 21 at a local motel.

Police said Henson may have spent as much as $500,000 in his round-the-world jaunt but added he apparently can't be extradited or prosecuted for European costs.

College Heads Hold Talks

Top officials from the University of Texas Permian Basin, headed by Dr. Bill Armstrong, president, conferred here Wednesday morning with HCCJ administrators and faculty leaders on correlation of their programs.

The session was an outgrowth of a conference recently in Odessa between Dr. Thomas Salter, president of Howard County Junior College, and Tony Wynn, vice president, and UTPEB officials.

Today's session dealt with means by which programs might be correlated and credits more readily transferred.

With Dr. Armstrong were James L. Colwell, dean of academics and education; Woody Keith, dean of admissions and registrar; J. Edwin Becht, dean of the college of management; Lee Harrisberger, dean of science and engineering; and V. R. Cardozier, vice president of academic affairs.

With Dr. Salter and Wynn on the conference for HCCJ were Dr. Wayne Bonner and Tony Ortiz, counseling services; Ben Johnson, dean of academics; Dr. Larry Key, dean of occupational education; Ralph Smith, business manager, and Leslie Lewis, dean of admissions.

Chili Supper Is Scheduled Friday

Members of the Wesley United Methodist Church have announced their annual chili supper scheduled for serving from 5:00 to 7:00 p.m. Friday.

The chili will be prepared by Jack Price. Homemade pies, coffee and tea will be furnished by church members.

Tickets are available in advance or at the door. Plate price is $1.50 per person.

Course To Start In Lifesaving

A course in junior and senior lifesaving will begin Monday at the YMCA and continue every Monday and Thursday 7-9 p.m. through Dec. 13.

Junior lifesaving is for those 12-15 years old while the senior course is for those 15 and older. Students must be able to swim 400 yards as a prerequisite.

Fee is $7.50 for Y members and $15 for non-members. The fee includes the cost of a textbook and of certification materials.

Instructor is Sally Bubela. One may register by calling the Y at 7-8234.

State Pot Law Tested

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals heard a Dallas test case today that could affect approximately 5,000 persons indicted but not tried before the new marijuana law went into effect Aug. 27.

John Luther Jones was arrested March 30 with less than two ounces of marijuana. His trial began on Aug. 27. Upon conviction, the trial court sentenced him to 60 days in jail and a $300 fine, both being probated for a period of six months.

But the trial judge designated it a felony conviction and placed Jones on felony probation, arguing that the new law permits that for persons indicted prior to its effective date, even though the punishment is reduced to the misdemeanor level.

Jones' lawyers argued that the caption of the new law gives no notice of felony conviction-misdemeanor punishment, as it must do to be constitutional.

HOW MUCH IS A MILLION? — George Murby, 9-year-old Hatfield, Pa., schoolboy, is literally up to his neck in bottle caps as Michael King, also nine, of Lansdale, Pa., pours more around him. The pupils of a Lansdale, Pa., Oak Park elementary school collected caps in a school project to determine "how much is a million?" Thus far they have collected more than 400,000 caps of all sizes.

BS State Hospital Adds Foy Richey To Staff

Foy C. Richey has joined the chaplaincy service at Big Spring State Hospital as associate of Chaplain Lee Butler.

Presently he is devoting much of his time to counseling on the alcoholic unit and in general counseling and ministry, but in January he will assume the direction of the clinical pastoral training program in addition to regular chaplain duties.

A native of the Tyler area, Chaplain Richey earned his bachelor of science degree at Abilene Christian College in 1965; then his master of divinity degree from Hartford Seminary in Hartford, Conn. He was minister of the Church of Christ at White Plains, N.Y., for two years before going to Dallas to become a chaplain intern in Parkland Hospitals while completing his chaplaincy certification in clinical pastoral education.

He and his wife, the former Sharon Mullins, and daughter, Gemma, 3, and son, Reagan, 1, reside at 2607 Cindy.

Collecting A Million Bottle Caps

LANDSDALE, Pa. (AP) — How much is a million? Nathan Fry, 10, says it's "bigger than a bread box." Steven Boone, 9, believes it's "more than a big box." Jay Harrison, 9, considers it a "pretty lot, more than 9,000." Randy Darrow, 8, explains a million is actually "more than a lot, and a lot is too much" while 9-year-old Nadia Clarn calls it like it is: "A million is a million."

These kids should know. For the past 18 months they have been collecting bottle caps trying to get one million together to find out exactly how much a million is.

The 72 pupils at the Oak Park Elementary School started the project in second grade while studying small numbers.

Their teacher, Linda Potteiger, says "when we were studying second and third place numbers, we just went on. They were interested in a million, so I thought we would start collecting the bottle caps."

So far the pupils have amassed more than 400,000. They figure that if they keep up the pace they will reach the million before they finish the sixth grade.

There is, of course, the problem of where to put 400,000 bottle caps. Right now, the school is storing them in a small room, but space is running out.

Even though the pupils are a long way from their goal, they eventually must face the problem of what to do with the bottle caps.

Hunt Family Buys Hotel

DALLAS (AP) — A trust established by the family of wealthy H.L. Hunt has bought the old Hotel Dallas-Jefferson, a relative disclosed Tuesday.

Sale of the old downtown building, condemned by the city's fire department, to a lawyer representing undisclosed interests was approved in court the day before. The price was $385,000.

Ray Hunt, president of Hunt Investment Corp., said there are no current plans for the site, which is across the street from a proposed $210 million development next to the old Dallas Union Terminal. His company is one of several figuring in the project.

"We're just going to let it sit there and hope it increases in value," Hunt said.

Brandon's Photo Now In Studio

Thirty-one Texans, including Frank Brandon of Big Spring, were among 528 photographers whose work was included in the 1973 annual Exhibit of Professional Photography in Denver recently.

In all, 43 prints from Texas were displayed, including Brandon's "Festus."

Ken Curtis, who takes the guise of "Festus Haggin" in the TV serial, "Gunsmoke," posed for Brandon during a rodeo appearance here a couple of years ago.

A total of 832 photographs were displayed during the Denver exhibition.

The "Festus" print has been returned to Brandon and now hangs in his studio at 302 E. Ninth St.

Probated Term Is Given Man Here

James Ray Black, 19, Webb AFB, was given a six year probated sentence in 118th District Court Tuesday on a charge of burglary of an automobile dealer's office Oct. 15.

Black was ordered to pay $48 in court costs and $50 for attorney's fees. He has been released to military authorities at Webb.

He had been in county custody since Oct. 22 when he was transferred from the city jail after being arrested Oct. 15 and charged with the burglary of Bill Chram's Auto Sales office. Bond was originally set at $3,000 by Municipal Judge John Coffey.

'Onion Field' Suit Filed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Convicted murderer Gregory Powell has filed suit seeking to stop sales of the best-seller "Onion Field" by author-policeman Sgt. Joe Wambaugh.
 The book, billed as a factual novel, is about the murder case in which Powell was convicted. Powell's suit filed Monday in Superior Court seeks a stop to sales until a new trial is granted or turned down.
 Powell contended that the book would make it impossible for him to get a fair trial if the state Court of Appeal grants one.
 The convict said he would settle for a statement attached to the book by the author and publishers saying the book is not a true and accurate description of events and contains fictional matter, speculation and conjecture.

Mobile Two-Way Radios Ordered

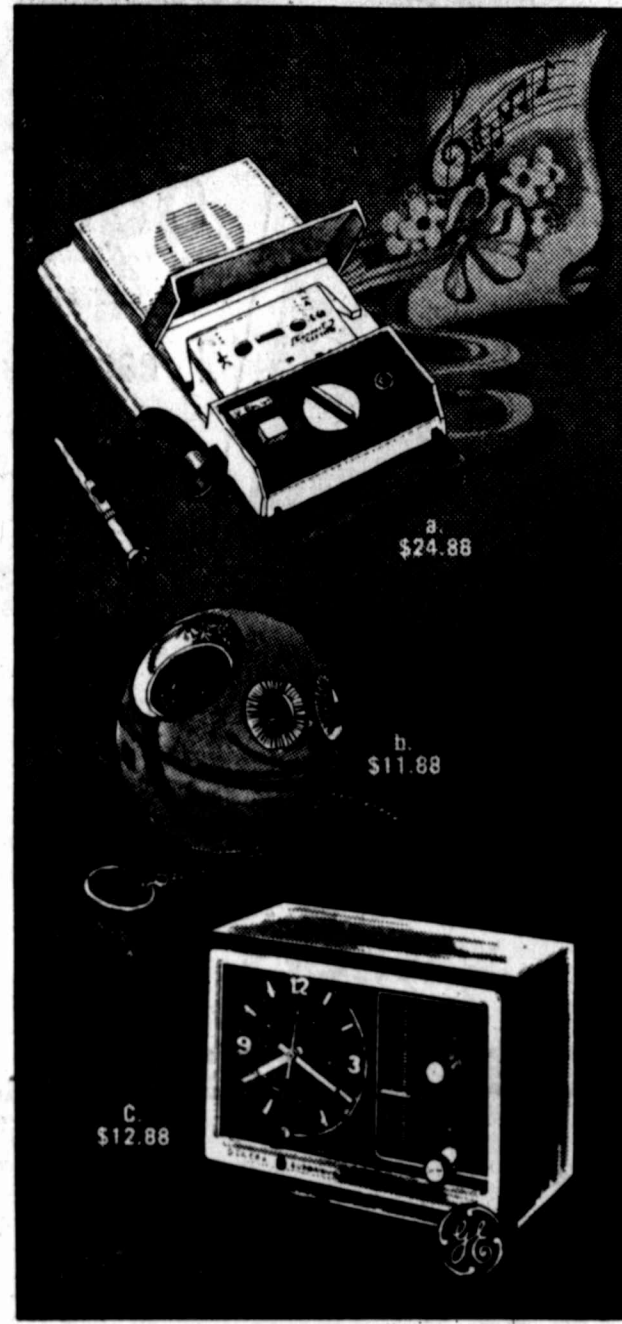

The Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission has ordered more than 250 four-frequency General Electric mobile two-way radios for use by county and city police forces in its 16 member counties, including both the Howard County Sheriff's office and Big Spring City Police.
 The equipment procurement marks the beginning of the Permian Basin regional law enforcement communications system established under guidelines set forth by the Texas Governor's Criminal Justice Council.
 In addition to the mobile radios, the Commission has contracted with GE's Mobile Radio Department to supply more than 130 eight-frequency PE Series hand-held radios, plus base stations, command control consoles and MASTR Controller remote control units.

False Rumors Bring Out New Mitchell Protests

COLORADO CITY — A false rumor that latrines were being dug on the proposed site of a possible rock festival brought new protests against the possibility of holding the event near this city next spring.
 The report, as it turned out, started when a resident saw a pipeline being dug across the ranch proposed for the festival.
 The ranch located 13 miles south of Colorado City belongs to Mrs. Louise Geisenberger. Sam Geisenberger of Houston told citizens that, if scheduled Easter weekend, the event might attract some 300,000 persons.

 Mitchell County citizens have indicated that they do not want the festival, but Mitchell county commissioners must rule on the application to stage the show, in event it is filed.
 Should the commission decide against the application, promoters could file for an appeal in district courts.
 Mrs. Geisenberger said that no outbursts were anticipated at the festival, in view of the fact that her son would have upwards to 3,000 security guards on the grounds.

War Hero Arraigned

PETALUMA, Calif. (AP) — A Vietnam war hero who won the nation's highest medal has been arraigned on four counts of selling cocaine.

Richard A. Penry, 24, described by authorities as a major cocaine dealer, appeared before Municipal Court Judge Alexander McMahon who scheduled another hearing Nov. 5 for Penry and codefendant David B. Lane.

Penry, a former Army sergeant, was awarded the Medal of Honor on July 15, 1971, for "conspicuous gallantry" in saving the life of his wounded company commander and almost single-handedly stopping an enemy attack in Binh Tuy Province.

Sonoma County Sheriff's deputies arrested Penry Oct. 4 after he allegedly sold narcotics to undercover agents.

Connally Calls For Quick Action On GOP Nomination

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Nixon Administration advisor and former Governor of Texas John B. Connally has rapped Nixon Administration critics for plotting President Nixon's political downfall.

He said a scheme had been put into motion to make Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford a hostage while new attacks, including impeachment, were being mounted against the President.

He told the New York Council of the Navy League Tuesday night, "If those particular congressmen wish to further demoralize and divide the American people, let them stay on that course."

He said if there is a good reason to reject Ford's nomination the lawmakers should act, but he added, "... if this is not the case — and I am confident that it is not — then it is incumbent upon every responsible leader in Congress to speed the confirmation proceedings and begin restoring some stability to this government."

Ford is scheduled to be the first witness when the Senate Rules committee begins confirmation hearings Thursday.

Connally did not identify any congressman by name, and he declined to meet with reporters upon arriving at the black-tie dinner.

Connally, himself considered a top contender for appointment to the vice presidency after the resignation of Spiro Agnew, also spoke out strongly against the critics of President Nixon.

He said the men who planned and perpetrated Watergate did "a great disservice" to the country, but he added: "I believe we have drifted in recent weeks into yet another quagmire, and I speak of the highly partisan, strident, blatant attempt to undermine a President and destroy his effectiveness."

Impeachment Possibility Helps Speed OK Of Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possibility of impeachment proceedings against President Nixon is playing a part in the push by congressional leaders for early approval of Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford. Congressional sources say the Democratic leadership feels that should a serious impeachment move develop, the 1972 presidential election results dictate that a Republican be next in line to assume the presidency.

Both House Speaker Carl Albert, now next in line for the presidency, and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield made clear Tuesday they favor prompt approval of Ford if nothing derogatory turns up in his confirmation hearings starting Thursday.

Albert said he hopes the House will vote on the nomination by Thanksgiving. Mansfield said "It is a fair statement" that the Democrats plan to push for prompt confirmation, barring any major disclosures.

Rep. Donald W. Riegle Jr., of Michigan, a former Republican who switched to the Democrats earlier this year, said it is "essential to have the confirmation vote in the House at the earliest possible moment."

The avalanche of telegrams urging impeachment action after the firing of special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox has had two effects.

First, it has set into motion the House machinery for impeachment, with the Judiciary Committee launching a preliminary inquiry.

Second, it has prompted second thoughts among some Democrats who first responded to Nixon's actions by proposing that Ford's nomination be held up.

Democrats are mindful of the political storm that would be created if Congress tried to impeach a Republican president elected in a landslide less than 12 months ago, at a time when a Democratic House speaker was next in line.

Talk of delaying action on the Ford nomination provoked an attack Tuesday night from former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally, who said such a delay would demoralize and divide the nation.

'NEW ATTACKS'

Connally, speaking in New York City, said some members of Congress "have schemed to make a hostage of Vice President-designate Gerald Ford" while deliberating "new attacks" against President Nixon. While it would only take a majority in the House to vote an impeachment resolution, and Democrats have that, it would take two-thirds in the Senate for conviction, and Democrats don't have that.

Divorce Dispute Parr For Course

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Jody Martin Parr was scheduled to appear in 229th District Court in San Diego today for a hearing on a 90-day contempt of court sentence issued to her several weeks ago.

The court handed down the contempt ruling when Mrs. Parr refused to turn over property involved in a divorce action with her estranged husband, County Judge Archer Parr.

A federal judge Tuesday denied her application for a temporary restraining order to keep her out of jail. The ruling by the judge also prevents disposition of any assets owned by Mrs. Parr and her husband.

Prior to the judge's denial, Mrs. Parr's attorneys filed a bankruptcy petition which stated that the multitude of lawsuits filed against her made it impossible for her to catalog her debts and assets.

The petition requested additional time for Mrs. Parr to prepare such a list.

Last Tuesday, Mrs. Parr filed a suit against her husband, the Duval County Commissioners Court, Duval County political kingpin George Parr, Judge O. P. Carillo of 229th district Court, and Emilio Davila, the court appointed receiver for property in the Parr divorce dispute.

Her suit, filed in federal court here, sought about $4 million in damages and charged that her civil rights had been violated.

Nixon Thrusts Indian Into Center Of Hassle

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has chosen an Athabaskan Indian from Alaska to head the Bureau of Indian Affairs, thrusting him into the center of a controversy over Indian policy.

Nixon announced Tuesday that he is nominating Morris Thompson, 34, head of the agency's Alaska office in Juneau, as commissioner of Indian affairs.

Thompson's nomination had been expected. The post has been vacant since Jan. 10, when Commissioner Louis Bruce resigned in the wake of disturbances during which Indian activists occupied the bureau's headquarters here.

Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D., chairman of the Senate Indian affairs subcommittee, said confirmation on hearings would be conducted soon by the parent Interior Committee.

Abourezk said Thompson would be questioned about his views on conflicting proposals for reorganization of the agency, among other matters.

Assistant Secretary of the Interior Marvin Franklin has been acting commissioner. Following Bruce's departure, BRYAN, Tex. (AP) — Jerry Waggoner, 37, has been named managing editor of the Bryan Eagle, replacing Jim Holman.

Holman will become managing editor of the Woodbury N.J., Daily Times, which, like the Eagle, is a member of the Harte-Hanks newspaper group.

Waggoner, a native of Rotan, Tex., worked for the Eagle for two years as sports editor. Before joining the Eagle he worked for the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal and the Amarillo Daily News.

New Ruling On Nepotism

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Atty. Gen. John Hill advised Criminal Dist. Atty. Oscar McInnis of Edinburg today that the sister-in-law of a school board member may not be promoted within the school system and get a higher salary.

McInnis specifically asked whether a secretary in a department could be assigned as secretary to the school superintendent.

Hill also told McInnis that a teacher, who is the wife of a school board member, may not receive a pay increase unless it also is given to other teachers occupying the same position and with like experience and training.

In response to another question, Hill told McInnis that a woman employed by the school district for 15 months may not be re-employed after her divorced husband's nephew was elected to the school board—if she has living children by her divorced husband.

The law "prohibits the employment of a person within the second degree by affinity unless the person to be employed shall have been employed continuously for a period of two years prior to the election or appointment of the officer or board member," Hill said.

Using a method of computing blood lines established by an 1878 court case, Hill added, "We conclude that a woman is related to her husband's nephew in the second degree by affinity." The divorce makes no difference.

Also, Hill advised Criminal Dist. Atty. Fred Galindo of Brownsville that a district clerk may not employ a person whose mother is a first cousin of the father of the district clerk.

Conferees Gig Allocations Under Revenue-Sharing Plan

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A federal housing official says new federal revenue sharing and urban development programs will funnel more money to the cities but Texas municipal leaders don't like what they've seen so far.

Floyd H. Hyde, under secretary of Housing and Urban Development, said Tuesday, "There will be more dollars for cities under these new programs."

Hyde, who spoke to the 61st annual conference of the Texas Municipal League, said minorities and the poor would not be shortchanged in the federal revenue sharing system which gives local control over allocation of funds.

SMALLER
In an afternoon session, league delegates criticized the Nixon revenue sharing programs' performance to the present, saying federal allocations now are "substantially smaller" than they were under the categorical grants system.

Hyde, who came here to advertise the Nixon Administration Better Communities Act, said new concepts of federal spending should be given a three-year grace period to prove themselves.

"We ought to see some results by then," he said. The Better Communities Act, which Hyde said is bogged down by Congress, would allow cities to determine their own needs and apply for grants with a minimum of paper work, he said.

The act is one way to rectify a situation in which "the federal system has made it literally impossible for local governments to govern themselves efficiently," he said.

MORE MONEY
The Better Communities Act won endorsement of the league. Other resolutions listed the league's opposition to federal land use controls and bargaining rights for public employees and its support of higher salaries for Texas legislators, as provided in a proposed constitutional amendment in next week's state elections.

Texas municipal leaders in another resolution said the proposed transportation controls of the federal Environmental Protection Agency, including special bus lanes, car pools and other steps, would harm local economies.

Officers for 1973-74 were elected in the conference's final sessions were Wes Wise, Dallas mayor, president; Bill New, San Antonio mayor, first vice president; and Lila Cockrell, San Antonio city councilwoman, second vice president.

Brutality Raps Fizzle

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The civil service commission for policemen and firemen has cleared law enforcement officers of any wrongdoing in connection with a near-riot at a skating rink here last June 10.

"The commission has not found significant grounds to warrant any disciplinary action," chairman Frank Manurelli said Tuesday.

"I think someone could have gotten killed out there" if the policemen had not acted as they did, he said. "In fact, I commend the officers for the handling of the situation."

The ruckus occurred at the Car-Vel Skating Rink. Three policemen were injured and seven youths were arrested. One alleged police brutality after being taken to jail.

The commission held three hearings, listened to testimony from 21 witnesses, and inspected the police station.

The youth disputing policemen's claim that no brutality was involved after the arrests was asked to appear before the commission but he did not show up.

His failure to appear "casts doubts in my mind on his claims," said Manurelli.

Sooners Eye UFO?

JAY, Okla. (AP) — Witnesses said a large, bright light bobbed and weaved across a 75-mile stretch of eastern Oklahoma before dawn Tuesday, eluding a pursuing policeman at Grove by going straight up and disappearing.

Police Dispatcher Bryan Sweetwater of Jay said he and several other persons saw the light from the Delaware County courthouse.

"We are definitely satisfied it's some kind of object other than something natural," he said. "It's something I've never visualized before."

"The people who saw it thought it was about 10 to 15 feet in diameter, with bright stringers trailing from it," Sweetwater said. "At times these dropped off of it."

"East of Grove (12 miles north of Jay), at the cemetery, it was about 15 feet in the air. A city policeman at Grove, Dennis Steel, was in pursuit of this object for about a mile at 85 to 90 miles an hour. Then it went straight up into the air and he lost sight of it."

Sweetwater said the object "seemed like one big light."

Carl Williams of Jay, an amateur photographer summoned by a deputy sheriff to make pictures, said the object resembled a bright planet or a large star but did not move much during the hour or so he viewed it. He said the object's light reflected on clouds above the city.

Williams said the film in his camera failed to advance properly and he did not get pictures.

Kissinger Will Visit Cairo In Bid To Promote 'Peace'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger will visit Cairo and other Middle East capitals next week as the United States tries to promote peace negotiations between Israel and its Arab foes, officials said.

The trip, to be formally announced today, is considered a prelude to talks between Israel and the Arab states late this year or in early 1974.

Kissinger will stop in Jidda and Amman to confer with Saudi Arabian and Jordanian leaders, and possibly also in Rabat, Morocco. Then, after a stop in Pakistan, he will fly to Peking on Nov. 10 for a visit postponed because of the Mideast war.

SECRET SPILLED

The White House had planned to announce Kissinger's trip following a meeting today between President Nixon and Ismail Fahmy, the acting Egyptian foreign minister.

The secret was spilled Tuesday night while the President, Kissinger and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin were meeting at Camp David, Md.

As the diplomatic pace quickened, Prime Minister Golda Meir of Israel was granted an appointment with Nixon at the White House on Thursday.

She asked to see the President amid indications that the United States was pressing Israel to yield Egyptian territory on the west bank of the Suez Canal seized between two U.N. cease-fire calls last week.

The fact that Kissinger's trip to Cairo had already been planned was taken as evidence that Washington has already decided on at least the broad outline of its diplomatic course.

Both the United States and the Soviet Union have pledged to use their "good offices" to expedite negotiations between Israel and her Arab neighbors. Of the two super powers, Washington clearly is playing the dominant role, while keeping Moscow informed principally through Dobrynin.

HARD FACT

All attempts to foster negotiations since Israel was established 25 years ago have foundered even before an agenda could be prepared. The object of the current exploratory talks is to bring the two sides together under one roof, bargaining through a U.S. intermediary or directly across the table from each other. Geneva is a potential site.

Meanwhile, George Sadiqni, the Syrian minister of information, vowed Tuesday that his country would not bargain with Israel.

Mideast problems "can only be solved through complete Israeli withdrawal from occupied Arab territories and the recognition of Palestinian rights," he said in Damascus.

Fahmy is understood to have told Kissinger, however, that Egypt, Syria and other Arab states are prepared to accept Israel's sovereignty as a hard fact of life.

THE AGONY OF UNCERTAINTY — An Israeli mother weeps for her missing son Tuesday as an orthodox Jew solemnly reads a protest declaration outside the Israeli Parliament in Jerusalem. The group was protesting the government's handling of the prisoner-of-war issue.

It's about time you relaxed. Let us do the chores, the cooking and the dishes.

Black Is Named To TSTA Post

AUSTIN — The first black teacher elected as a district president in the Texas State Teachers Association has been chosen as the future head of the 12-county TSTA District VII in East Texas.

Mrs. Helen S. Hooper, Palestine, was voted president-elect at the recent district convention in Nacogdoches. She will take office as president-elect on June 1, 1974, and will automatically become president on June 1, 1975. Mrs. Hooper has been president of her Palestine local unit of TSTA, and she now is serving on the district executive committee.

Second Meeting Called On Community Center

A second meeting of persons interested in the conversion of the Center Point school to a community house will be held at 6:30 p.m., Monday in the Center Point school.

The initial meeting was conducted Tuesday evening in the Howard County courthouse, Big Spring, at which time 10 attendees. County commissioner Jack Buchanan presided.

The Center Point building needs some renovation but is considered ideal for such use. Some work has already been accomplished on the interior of the structure. One partition may have to be removed but the two south rooms will remain intact.

Such things as 4-H Club meetings, Home Demonstration meetings, domino parties and community socials would be held in the center. Those desiring to use it would make reservations through the Center Point Community House secretary, who has yet to be named.

Election of the secretary and other officials likely will take place Monday, which will be an open meeting.

The Big Spring Independent School District has granted the center use of the facility for 10 years.

Case Dismissals Amounted To 143

During September and October, County Judge A. G. Mitchell dismissed 143 criminal cases on the motion of County Attorney W. H. Eyssen Jr.

And 61 criminal cases were appealed to County Court. Of these, all but 11 from justice courts came from Municipal Court.

According to a tabulation run by The Herald, statistics for the two months look like this:

October — 113 criminal cases dismissed, 50 cases appealed from Municipal Court and five appealed from justice courts.

September — 40 cases dismissed, six cases appealed from justice courts and no cases appealed from Municipal Court.

Alien Smuggling Rap Hits Ex-Cop

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — U.S. Magistrate John Giles, referred charges of alien smuggling against a former Dallas policeman to a federal grand jury after a preliminary hearing Tuesday.

Giles continued the $7,500 personal recognizance bond of Brulio Tamez Zapata, 48, who resigned as a city patrolman after state police arrested him Aug. 26 near Karnes City. He is accused of picking up two aliens near Kennedy in South Texas and taking them toward Karnes City.

Food Stamps Will Be Issued By PO

The first Post Office issuance of food stamps under the new state-wide Food Stamps Program will take place at 10:00 a.m., Thursday in the Big Spring Post Office, according to Postmaster Frank Hardesty and Carrol D. Crum, Regional Administrator of the Texas Department of Public Welfare.

Howard County currently has a Food Stamp Program, but it will be replaced with the new state-wide plan, which has installed this new issuance system. Certified households will be able to go to the Post Office at their own convenience and buy their allotment of Food Stamps. They can purchase their stamps between the hours of 10:00 a.m. and 3:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, except on Federal holidays.

Pilot projects in three Texas counties have shown that Post Office issuance is a faster and better way for certified households to get their food stamps.

Eligibility is determined by size of household, total net income, resources, and other considerations. Persons who are unemployed, work part-time, or receive small pension checks should contact their Food Stamp Office at the Welfare Office in Big Spring. People who are not employed must register for and accept work.

Food Stamps increase the food purchasing power of low-income households and make it possible for them to eat more and better foods. The new state-wide Food Stamp Program is administered by the Texas Department of Public Welfare and is financed by the State of Texas. The Food Stamps are provided by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Weed Problem Is Next For Crews

The first go-round in cleaning city alleys will be complete by the end of next week according to Harry Nagel, city manager.

The clean-up crews were in the Kentwood addition this morning, which is one of the last of 12 sections of the city to be completed.

The clean-up crews will return a second time to follow-up on the original cleaning of alleys and easements which has been undergone here for the first time in several years.

They hope to attack some of the weed problem on the second sweep through the city.

Majority Believe Nixon Should Not Be Impeached

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — A telephone survey taken after President Nixon's latest news conference says a majority of Americans believe Nixon should not resign or be impeached, the Gallup Poll reported.

However, the poll also said 55 per cent of those questioned had little or no confidence in the Nixon administration, and 53 per cent of those who heard the news conference found Nixon's responses on Watergate unconvincing.

Another question in the poll showed 63 per cent of those surveyed think Rep. Gerald Ford, R-Mich., should be confirmed as vice president. Seventeen per cent said they did not favor it now and 20 per cent had no opinion.

The telephone survey taken immediately after the news conference last Friday involved a random sampling of 623 persons. Sixty-one per cent said they had seen or heard the news conference. Those questioned were asked:

"Do you think President Nixon should be impeached and compelled to leave the presidency or not?"

Fifty-five per cent replied that he should not, 28 per cent that he should and 17 per cent had no opinion.

On the question of resignation, 62 per cent said Nixon's resignation would not be in the nation's best interest, 28 per cent said it would and 10 per cent had no opinion.

Party Closest To Heartbeat Of America?

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Republican party Chairman George Bush says the GOP is "the party closest to the heartbeat of America" and predicts Republicans would continue to win more elections nationwide.

"We're winning more elections... Watergate notwithstanding," Bush told Republicans attending a fund-raising dinner Tuesday night. "I think the Republican party is properly positioned toward the center of American interests."

Bush lashed out at what he called irresponsible charges being made against President Nixon. "We need to step back and be reasonable and have a ceasefire on the irresponsible charges that are being circulated about the President of the United States," he said.

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

Howard County Jayhawk Coach Harold Wilder isn't foolish enough to look ahead to the NJCAA basketball playoffs yet. But I am.

After logging scrimmage time equalling eight games the Hawks appear to be on the way back to the throne in the Western Conference after a two-year absence — but then that doesn't really get a good look until December or so. The Hawks right now are just concentrating on opening the season in the right way with a three-game road trip to the Gulf Coast next week.

Wilder's lads meet Brazosport College of Lake Jackson Monday, Alvin Junior College on Tuesday and College of the Mainland in Texas City Wednesday. The first home game isn't until Nov. 13, when they take on the Lubbock Christian College JVs.

The team had its last scrimmage session with outside opposition last weekend, and it was a good one. The Jayhawks defeated Sul Ross' varsity, a Lone Star Conference team, in a long session Friday and Saturday, and that's bound to make Hawk fans feel good. There were five halves played by the varsity troops, with HC winning three, Sul Ross one and another ending in a tie. The freshmen teams split two halves.

One of the most pleasant surprises of the year happened for Coach Wilder during the outing. Freshman Alfred Gladden eased his way into a starting forward berth as he hit five-of-five from the field, two-of-two free throws, pulled down seven rebounds and made three steals during a ten-minute period.

Gladden is currently battling Keith Lewis, a freshman from Corpus Christi Miller, and Big Springs' Mike Randle, who started every game for the Hawks last year, for a first team berth.

Speaking of basketball, the Big Spring Steers have started workouts under the raised eyebrows of Coach Ron Plumlee, and he too reports the prospects for a brighter future. Last year the Steers, a raggedy team that offered constant surprises and plenty of entertainment on the way to a 16-7 record, relied on team quickness and hoped for a hot hand each time out.

This time there will be more height, and the experience won't be bad, either. Among the 17 varsity prospects working out daily these days are returning lettermen Randy Marshall and Tim Dunn, while four players up from the junior varsity are also impressing Plumlee and his assistant, James Griffin. Ricky Traylor, Albo Smith, Jeff Kuykendall and Larry Stanley are all up from the JVs, and all should be able to contribute this season.

In addition there are a couple of sophomores expected to log plenty of varsity playing time, 6-3 James Zapp and 6-1 Jim Ray. When football lets out, John Thomas Smith, last year's leading scorer with an 18-point per game average, Tom Sorley and Vicky Woodruff should be ready to lend lots of help.

The footballers won't have much time to get their minds thinking round instead of oblong, however, since the season opener is Nov. 23, six days after the last football game. The Steers open the season with two road games, to Crane and Plainview.

Defensive Honors To Rhiddlehoover

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Jon Rhiddlehoover cost Tulsa quarterback Joe McCulley 45 yards in losses in last Saturday's football game with Arkansas.

"I was just having fun," Rhiddlehoover said. "It was cool, good weather to play. It just seemed like their offensive line was starting to let down."

The performance earned him the nod as Associated Press defensive player of the week in the Southwest Conference.

Coach Frank Broyles awarded the game ball in the Razorbacks' 20-6 victory to Rhiddlehoover and to tailback Dickey Morton.

"It was his greatest game," Broyles said of Rhiddlehoover. "It was the best pass rush we've had by far. I'm surprised we got to their quarterback as often as we did because they had an experienced line."

Rhiddlehoover, who stands 6 foot and weighs about 225 pounds, sacked McCulley four times individually and took part in two other sacks. The six sacks totaled about 55 yards.

Standing out in a statistical category normally held by linebackers, Rhiddlehoover leads Arkansas in individual tackles with 55. He's second in total tackles, which includes assists. He's got 82 and linebacker Hal McAfee leads with 100.

Jim Johnson, who coaches Arkansas defensive linemen after three years of doing the same at Oklahoma, called Rhiddlehoover "by far one of the most consistent linemen I've ever coached."

"He's got a great attitude," Johnson said. "I think that's the main reason he's playing so well. He practices the way he plays on Saturday."

Tulsa went into last week's game leading National Collegiate Athletic Association passing statistics. McCulley hit 22 of 30 for 175 yards. If the losses he suffered when sacked on passing attempts were deducted, the Hurricane would have come out with fewer than 125 yards passing.

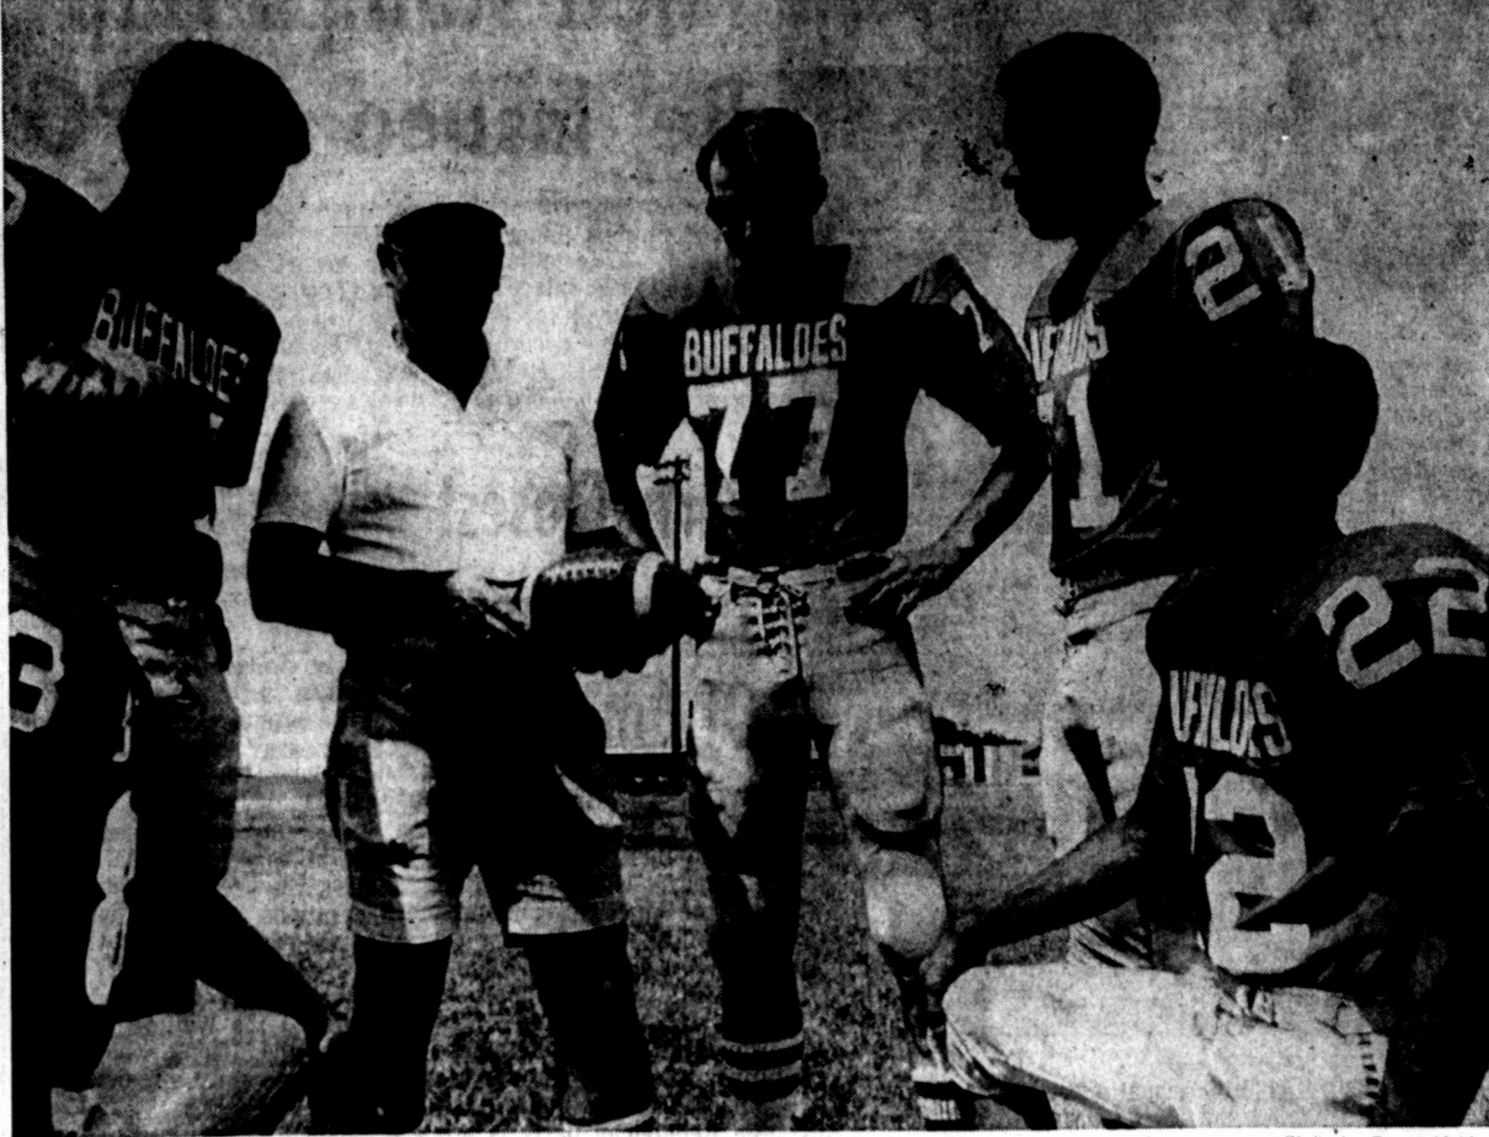

Forsan Falls To Klondike

KLONDIKE — The Forsan Buffalo Queens dropped their first game of the year Tuesday as Klondike reversed an earlier defeat at the hands of the Queens and posted a 50-46 decision.

Nancy Pribyla and Shara Airhart each tossed in 18 to lead Klondike, while Forsan's Brenda Cowley took the scoring honors with 20 points. Janet Ellis hit 16.

In the junior high game, Klondike managed a 42-20 decision as Geanna Bradford rang up 19 points. For Forsan, Karon King was high with 14 points. The team is now 2-1.

The Forsan varsity girls return to action Saturday, when they play Follett at 3:30 p.m. in a feature exhibition game during the Wayland College Girls Basketball Clinic in Plainview.

Holiday Keeps Record Clean Buff Players Of Week Chosen By Teammates

By The Associated Press

Holiday, the No. 1 ranked Class A team in The Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll for the second straight week, hasn't been taking any days off this season.

The Eagles of Coach Milford Groves have been busy at work compiling the only unbeaten, untied and unscored record left in the state this season.

They are within three games of becoming the seventh team in Texas schoolboy history to finish a season unscored on.

Holiday, now 7-0, held its No. 1 ranking this week along with San Angelo in Class 4A, Gregory-Portland in Class 3A, Friendswood in Class 2A and Big Sandy in Class B.

Holiday has outscored its opponents, including three Class 2A teams, 171-0.

In last week's 14-0 victory over Archer City, each Holiday player wore a piece of tape on his helmet bearing the 14-18 score by which Archer City beat them for the District 7A crown last season.

Only five ranked teams were beaten last week. Midland, ranked fifth in 4A, was beaten 33-7 by No. 1 ranked San Angelo and disappeared this week. Two unbeaten teams, Beaumont South Park and Wichita Falls, became the Nos. 9 and 10 teams this week.

Steelers' Wagner Is Defensive Ace

NEW YORK (AP) — Cincinnati wouldn't give up. Pittsburgh had jumped in front but the Bengals kept coming back. The Steelers' defense needed the big play.

They got it... from Mike Wagner... three times. In each case it was an interception, and the three thefts enabled the Steelers to hang on 20-13 Sunday to keep them in first place in the American Football Conference's Central Division.

For his clutch performance, Wagner was named today as The Associated Press' Defensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

"He is a 'big-play' man and this is what we are looking for in our players," Pittsburgh Coach Chuck Noll said of the Steelers' 11th-round draft pick out of Western Illinois in 1971.

The three interceptions came off Cincinnati quarterback Ken Anderson.

The first one, with Pittsburgh leading 20-6 and the Bengals on their 36-yard line, was an over-the-shoulder bomb intended for Tim George. Wagner grabbed it at the Pittsburgh 30.

The second one, with the score still 20-6, came after Cincinnati had driven to the Steelers' 25. It was a sideline pattern to Isaac Curtis. "I just cut underneath and stepped in front of him," said Wagner, who returned it 30 yards to the Pittsburgh 45.

Also nominated were Buffalo linebacker Jim Cheyanski, who

Tennessee Team Leads

By The Associated Press

Powerful Tennessee State remained on top and once-mighty Delaware almost tumbled out of the top ten in the Associated Press' weekly College Division football poll.

Tennessee State ran its record to 7-0 with a 21-6 decision over Southern University last Saturday. That was impressive enough to earn 28 of 45 first-place votes from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters Tuesday. Tennessee State collected 874 points.

Delaware, riding a 20-game winning streak two weeks ago, was beaten by Temple 31-8. It was the Blue Devils' second straight loss, against six victories, and virtually ended their hopes for a third consecutive college division national title.

Garden City's Players of the Week were David Smith, the top back, and Chris Hirt, named the outstanding lineman.

Smith rushed for 170 yards and three touchdowns and passed for 100 more, including one other TD, as he accounted for all the Bearkats' points during a 66-23 loss to Smyer.

Hirt, a guard, was outstanding as a blocker and also had a good game at linebacker on defense, according to Garden City coach Greg Henderson.

Back of the Week honors went to quarterback Dan Meacham, who impressed with his execution and ball-handling. Meacham, who also picked up 33 yards on five carries during the Bulldogs' 14-0 win over Ozona, is filling in for the injured Jody Bennett, who has been out with an ankle sprain the last two games.

Stabler Gets NFL's Prize

OAKLAND (AP) — Ken Stabler set a National Football League passing effectiveness record in Oakland's 34-21 victory over Baltimore.

But Stabler vetoed Coach John Madden's call for a pass on the play that produced the Raiders' final clinching touchdown.

Instead of throwing, Stabler handed off to Clarence Davis on a sweep. Davis broke loose for a 32-yard TD run with 1:26 left.

Stabler was named Tuesday as The Associated Press' National Football League's Offensive Player of the Week for completing 25 of 29 passes.

His .862 completion percentage broke Sammy Baugh's record of .857 set with Washington in 1945. Stabler passed for 304 yards and two touchdowns.

Other nominees for the honor were Philadelphia's Roman Gabriel, Detroit's Albie Taylor, Jim Hart of St. Louis, and Buffalo's O.J. Simpson.

"I was more concerned with points, not completions and records," said Stabler, a 27-year-old left-hander.

"We were third-and-six on the Baltimore 32 with 1:26 to go and leading just 27-21," he recalled. "We needed to control the clock. We were just working for the first down."

"At the sideline, they were thinking play-action pass, and I said: 'If that's what you want, okay, but I don't really feel it. So I talked the coach out of it.'"

After Davis galloped for the decisive touchdown, Stabler trotted up to Madden and said, "That's one for me."

"He has a feeling for finding the open man. He's just a natural quarterback," Madden said.

of Stabler, the former under-study to veteran Daryle Lamonica.

In one stretch, Stabler completed 14 passes in a row against the Colts, coming with in one completion of tying the NFL record of 15.

"When you have the caliber of receivers we have, you could just drop kick the ball out there," Stabler said of Fred Biletnikoff, Bob Moore, and Mike Siani.

PLAYER OF WEEK GETS RECORD Barnes' Show Tops In SWC

By The Associated Press

It was an ironic situation, indeed. There was Tom Wilson on the telephone in the Texas Tech press box telling Joe Barnes down on the field how to break Wilson's Red Raider offensive records.

Wilson, Tech's offensive coordinator, called all the shots in Saturday's 31-14 victory over Southern Methodist and Barnes, a senior quarterback, executed the instructions until his head drooped.

"He ran me so much I really got tired... I was winded then I got my breath knocked out on a tackle," said Barnes, who was named The Associated Press Southwest Conference Offensive Player of the Week.

Barnes rushed 23 times for 173 yards. He ran for one touchdown and passed for another. He completed six of 13 aerials for 56 yards.

Barnes got the last laugh on Wilson, surpassing the career offensive yardage of 2,902 yards.

"I've been teasing him all along that I was going to get it (the record)," Barnes said. "I was real happy. I've got a lot of respect for Coach Wilson. I feel it takes a lot of pressure off me when he calls the plays. He's been doing it for the last two years. He was happy I broke it."

The 5-foot-11, 200-pounder from Big Lake has completed 59 per cent of his passes this year and averaged some five yards a carry.

"Barnes is a winner and his record here proves that... he's an outstanding runner and has developed into a top thrower," says Coach Jim Carlen.

"If he isn't All-Southwest Conference I don't know who is." Barnes is a journalistic delight... always ready with a quip... and it's no wonder—he's taking journalism and wants to get into the public relations field.

"I love sports and I'd like to get into public relations for a professional football team," Barnes says. "I'm kinda getting used to sports writers."

Barnes does a little writing for the school newspaper. He staffs intramural football games. He's only written one article on Tech football for the school paper. The University Daily. It was just before the Texas game which the Red Raiders lost. He hasn't done another one.

Braves Claim Division Lead

By The Associated Press
"First place... how about that," crowed Buffalo rookie Ernie DiGregorio. "They said it couldn't be done."
But the Braves did it Tuesday night, shading the Seattle SuperSonics 105-103 to move into first place in the National Basketball Association's tough Atlantic Division.

Buffalo has now won four straight games and leads its division by a half-game. In other NBA games, the Atlanta Hawks coasted past the Phoenix Suns 122-101. The Milwaukee Bucks buried the Kansas City-Omaha Kings 112-78 and the Portland Trail Blazers rallied to edge the Los Angeles Lakers 114-112.

In the American Basketball Association the Memphis Tams defeated the Carolina Cougars 110-99 and the San Antonio Spurs beat the New York Nets 104-92.

DiGregorio, Bob McAdoo and Randy Smith shared scoring honors for the Braves with 21 points apiece, but the issue wasn't settled until Smith sank a pair of free throws with just one second to play.

The Sonics were setting up a final shot and Dick Gibbs bounced a pass toward Spencer Haywood. The ball went through Haywood's legs and Smith picked it up near the foul

Greenwood Sinks Sands By 46-37

GREENWOOD — Sands dropped its second girls basketball game of the year against three victories Tuesday as Greenwood posted a 46-37 triumph over the Mustang cagers.

Rene Roman led Sands with 19 points, and Ann Nichols added 15. Smith hit 24 to pace Greenwood.

In the junior high game, Greenwood notched a 53-45 verdict. Jody Batson has 24 as Sands slipped to 2-2. The Sands girls return to action next Tuesday when they host Ira.

ASU's Malone Named College Back Of Week

By The Associated Press
Two years ago as an Arizona State sophomore, Ben Malone made the longest run of his career—77 yards—only to be caught from behind.

"I vowed then never to be caught from behind again," he recalls. He wasn't caught much from any direction Saturday night, gaining a school record 250 yards on 24 carries and scoring five touchdowns in a 44-14 rout of Oregon State.

For that performance, second best in Western Athletic Conference history, the 5-foot-10, 192-pounder from Eloy, Ariz., was named National College Back of the Week by The Associated Press.

"Ben Malone's performance was the best I ever saw in one game by one of our backs," said Coach Frank Kush.

That's quite a compliment coming from a man who's coached Ben's brother, Art, as well as Leon Burton, Travis Williams, Tony Lorick and Malone's current teammate Woody Green, a 1972 All-American.

"Our offensive line did a good job and Oregon State was keying on Green, but Malone still made many a yard on his own ability," Kush pointed out. That ability comes in different styles. On his first touchdown, an 18-yarder, Malone broke at least four tackles. The next one covered 68 yards and Malone simply outran everyone.

"It's seldom you find a guy who runs over people and also runs away from them," Kush said. "The key to his success is his quickness. He's got the greatest quickness of anybody we've ever had."

Others considered for Back of the Week honors included: Running backs Mark Keller of Northern Illinois, Charley Young of North Carolina State, Wilbur Jackson of Alabama, Kim Jones of Colorado State, Chris Milodragovich of Air Force, Mike Esposito of Boston College, Bill Marek of Wisconsin and Larry Lloyd of San Jose State.

Seaver Nabs 2nd Cy Young Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Seaver once said he'd be happy to last five years in the majors. Today, he is the owner of a second Cy Young Award as the National League's best pitcher. "When I first started playing, I told my wife I'd be happy to get five years in the big leagues," the New York Mets right-hander said Tuesday after winning his second Cy Young Award in seven seasons in the majors.

"Now I want to pitch until I'm 35," added the 28-year-old Seaver, who became the fourth pitcher in the 18-year history of the award to win it more than once and the first in either the National or American Leagues to win it without at least 20 victories for the season.

But Seaver, who posted a 19-10 record, and led the NL in strikeouts with 251 and in earned run average, 2.08, won comfortably over reliever Mike Marshall of Montreal and Ron Bryant of San Francisco, the league's only 20-game winner. In voting by a committee of the Baseball Writers' Association of America, Seaver got 10 first-place votes and 70 points after being named on 21 ballots, more than any other candidate.

Marshall, who was 14-11 with 31 saves in 92 appearances for Montreal, got nine first-place votes and 54 points in posting the best Cy Young showing ever for a relief pitcher. Bryant got three first-place votes and 50 points for his 24-12 performance. However, his ERA was 3.53 and he was the first National League 20-game winner to fail to record a shutout since Willie Sherdel of St. Louis in 1928.

Others receiving support were Jack Billingham of Cincinnati, who got the other two first-place votes and 30 points; Don Sutton of Los Angeles, seven points; Fred Norman of Cincinnati, three points; and Dave Giusti of Pittsburgh, one point.

"It means an awful lot to me because of the name that's on it and because it goes to one pitcher in the league—and that's it," said Seaver after joining Sandy Koufax of Los Angeles, 1963-65-66; Bob Gibson of St. Louis, 1968-70, and Denny McLain of Detroit in the American League, 1968-69, as multiple Cy Young Award winners.

"I really didn't think I'd win it," said Seaver, who also won in 1969 when he had a 25-7 record. "It was really a surprise because of the importance of winning 20 games. But all the other numbers (innings, strikeouts, earned run average, etc.) were there and I'm glad the voters looked at them. "I think I pitched well enough to win 20," he added. During the regular season — post-season performances do not figure in the voting — Seaver lost 1-0 twice and 2-0, 2-1, 3-2 once each.

The American League Cy Young winner will be named Nov. 7.

'SLOW START' SYNDROME BACK Cowboys: Hard Times In NFL

DALLAS (AP) — If any other team in the National Football League had lost three out of their last four games, you would be tempted to punch their ticket out of the playoffs.

But the Dallas Cowboys aren't an ordinary football team. They've been to the NFL playoffs a record seven consecutive years and have made a habit of slow starts and fast finishes. Dallas won Super Bowl VI after a 4-3 beginning including a 38-0 lump from St. Louis.

There are again rumblings the Cowboys are on a downward spiral, particularly after Sunday's 30-16 loss to Philadelphia—the first victory in 12 tries for the Eagles against Dallas. "I'm not without coaching help these days," Cowboy Coach Tom Landry said Tuesday, taking note of criticism about the team's sloppy play. "Our club hasn't quit and we will not make any changes."

Louisiana State Favored Over Ole Miss By 21-10

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Coach Charlie McClendon of Louisiana State hopes his team won't be looking ahead Saturday to Nov. 22 when it plays Alabama, but he knows that Mississippi will be looking back to last Nov. 4 when the Rebels and Tigers met in Jackson, Miss.

The final score last year was LSU 17, Ole Miss 16. The Mississippi press guide lists the score as "Ole Miss 16, LSU 10 plus 7," and questions how the Tigers could get off two plays in the final four seconds.

"Was it an itchy finger triggering the clock in Tiger Stadium that was at fault, or did LSU actually have a second left to play when Bert Jones launched the pass which ended with a 10-yard touchdown to Brad Davis?" Ole Miss wonders.

LSU hasn't beaten Mississippi in Jackson since they began playing there every other year in 1965, losing three and tying one.

It says here, though, that McClendon finally will beat Ole Miss in Jackson... 21-10. Last week's mark was 30, right, 13 wrong and two ties for 793. It included the exact score of Kansas' 22-20 triumph over Iowa State.

For the season, the count is 340-117-10—744.

Notre Dame's Collins Stars

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Notre Dame linebacker Greg Collins and his coach, Ara Parseghian, were at odds over who should have been selected National College Lineman of the Week by The Associated Press.

"I don't like to have a player win an honor unless he deserves it," Parseghian said. "But I incur 100 per cent with the selection of Greg Collins." Collins said, "I don't see how any one player could have been singled out. The whole team should have won it."

WILLIE F. GARNER

W. F. Garner Is Honored

Willie F. Garner, lease operator at Mobil Oil Corporation's Chalk foreman's area, recently completed 25 years service. He was honored at a recent luncheon here and was presented with a jeweled emblem at that time. P. M. Barry, Midland, production superintendent, made the presentation. Garner, a native of San Augustine, began working for the company as a floorman at Driscoll. He worked on drilling rigs in various capacities in South Texas, South Louisiana and West Texas until 1960 when he transferred to the Chalk area as a utilityman. In 1962 he was assigned as a truck driver and in 1966 as a gangpusher. He has been lease operator since 1971. Garner and his wife, Marcelle, reside in Colorado City. They have one son, Michael, Houston. The Garners are members of St. Luke United Methodist Church, he is a 32nd Degree Mason, and is treasurer of the Colorado City chapter of Full Gospel Business Men Fellowship International.

Duck Cholera Kills 200 Fowl

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Approximately 200 ducks and other water fowl have died in Wharton County of duck cholera, says the Parks and Wildlife Department. The disease is not uncommon among water fowl but is not contagious to humans, the department said Thursday. The die-off is considered local because no others have been reported. The goose season opens Monday for most of the state, and duck season opens Nov. 10. Sick or weak geese and ducks should be left alone, the department said.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS - I

Pay Raise For Legislators

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of two stories on the nine proposed constitutional amendments that will be on the Nov. 5 ballot. The first story deals with the issue that has attracted most attention — annual sessions and legislative pay raises. The second story will cover the Veterans Land bonds and seven other proposals.

By The Associated Press

Texas voters get another chance Nov. 6 to decide if they want Texas legislators to have a pay raise, from $4,300 to $15,000.

The voters have answered "no," to pay raises three times before since an annual salary first was voted in 1960.

This time, ballots cast in the Houston area may swing the decision either way.

Although there will be nine proposed amendments on the ballot, only one — annual legislative sessions and pay raises — has attracted wide attention.

LAND PROGRAM

Five other proposed changes involve tax laws. Another pertains to creation of conservation and reclamation districts.

Another concerns court jurisdiction and still another would authorize new bonds for the Veterans Land program.

Amendment No. 1, the annual sessions-pay raise issue, has been before the voters numerous times, usually without success.

A move to raise salaries of state senators and representatives to $8,400 was defeated in 1966 and again in 1972. A hike to $6,800 was turned down in 1969. The annual sessions plan was voted down in 1972.

This time the lineup to support the amendment is the strongest ever, headed by Gov. Dolph Briscoe, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, Speaker Price Daniel Jr. and other top government and party figures. Numerous trade and civic associations, including the Texas AFL-CIO and the Texas State Teachers Association, are spending considerable money and effort in support.

ROUGH GOING

No organized opposition has appeared but there have been several signs that the amendment may have rough going.

Jim Granberry of Lubbock, a Republican candidate for governor, said he found many Texans were "concerned" about the proposed $10,200-a-year pay raise. He predicted that if the combined issue fails it will be because of the pay raise.

A recent survey (Beldon) of 524 eligible voters over the state showed 78 per cent of them favored annual sessions but 67 per cent opposed the pay raise.

Texans normally turn out in small numbers for a referendum where there are no hot political races to stir up interest.

However, record numbers of voters may turn out in Houston Nov. 6. On that day Houston also elects a new mayor and council, settles a heated school board election race and deciding on a forced referendum on cable television franchises.

In 1971, the Houston mayor's race alone drew 279,300 votes, nearly one-fourth of the entire state's usual turnout in off-year elections. There are predictions this year's turnout will top 1971.

Amendment No. 1, if adopted, would require the legislature to meet every year. In odd-numbered years the session could not exceed 180 days, instead of the current 140-day limit on biennial sessions. In even-numbered years, the session would be limited to 60 days of debate on fiscal matters and any emergency matters submitted by the governor.

"Annual sessions in this day and time are just as essential for an efficient, responsible, intelligent and accountable legislative branch to properly function and do its job," said House Speaker Price Daniel Jr.

OLD SAYING

Arguments against annual sessions claim that the job of legislator is not fulltime. An old saying is: "When the legislature's not in session they're not hurting the voters."

Daniel says that "a decent living wage for our legislators is an absolute must if we are to attract and hold honest, intelligent, independent and dedicated men and women to our legislative branch."

"It is a necessity that we pay the right amount for an honest day's work in a very high calling," said Atty. Gen. John Hill.

In addition to annual sessions and pay raises the amendment would raise the personal expense allowances of the 181 legislators from $12 a day each to $18 a day while in legislative session.

Supporters say this is a cost of living increase.

Opponents say that anyone who gets a $10,200 a year pay raise does not need a cost of living increase.

ODDS GOOD

The annual sessions-pay raise amendment is considerably different from recommendations of the Texas Constitutional Revision Commission. The commission suggested that salaries of legislators and top state officials be set by general law on recommendations of a salary commission that would include no legislators. The commission recommended that the legislature be allowed to set its own terms and length of sessions as needed within a two-year period.

There already are protests that this would allow the legislature to be in session constantly.

If Amendment No. 1 passes Nov. 6 the odds are good that annual sessions and $15,000 salaries will be included in the new constitution by the 191 legislators who also are delegates to the 1974 Constitution Convention.

If Amendment No. 1 fails Nov. 6 annual sessions and legislators' pay raises are sure to take considerable time during the Constitution Convention.

Other Citrus-Growing States Want No Part Of RGV Blackfly

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — For the most part, the destructive citrus blackfly is confined in the United States to backyards in Texas' citrus-rich lower Rio Grande Valley. Other citrus-growing states said Tuesday they want no part of the blackfly which came to Texas from Mexico and they supported a proposed federal quarantine on citrus leaves leaving Texas.

PROTECTION

The states' letters were entered into the record of a federal hearing here. The Texas Department of Agriculture, whose own blackfly quarantine would take a back seat to any federal quarantine, also favored the measure.

So did Mike Wallace, general manager of the Texas Citrus Mutual of citrus growers, who said, "We really see no other alternative."

Federal officials said the quarantine would help protect commercial citrus growers in Texas from spread of the blackfly to their groves.

The current blackfly problem is limited in the United States to two Valley counties, Cameron and a portion of Hidalgo. Although the quarantine legally must encompass the entire state, federal officials said it specifically will affect only Cameron and Hidalgo counties.

George E. Cavin, a USDA official from Hyattsville, Md., said, "The proposed quarantine will allow the free and orderly movement of Texas citrus fruit to the market."

"Citrus growers in other states need not fear infestation because all leaves of host plants will be removed under the direction of Federal inspectors at the groves and packing sheds."

NO BLOOMS

The blackfly attaches itself to leaves and not fruit and its danger to growers is in damage to producing trees.

"Severely infested trees become stunted, cease flowering and become so weakened that they are unable to withstand favorable soil and weather conditions," said Cavin at the hearing.

"In addition, the feeding of the citrus blackfly is often reflected in nearly complete lack of blooms the season following heavy populations," he said.

Once implemented, the quarantine would mean that any leaves left with the harvested fruit would be stripped at the processing plant and burned. It would also mean, according to officials, that citrus plantings being shipped from the two counties would need permits.

Only one reply from state officials about the proposed federal quarantine produced any opposition. A state entomologist from Mississippi wrote that the current state quarantine and emergency federal regulations were enough to control the problem.

STRONG STUFF

In an informal session after the hearing, Calvin Lyons, a Texas Agricultural Extension service employe from Weslaco, said he favored a federal quarantine but chastized officials from what he called "scare tactics."

"Some of your statements are awfully strong," said Lyons, who said some of the federal claims about the blackfly's danger have not been proven.

600-Piece Pie In The Baking

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Al Brown says he is going to bake the world's largest key lime pie, but he's going to have to bake it in four sections because there isn't an oven big enough in Key West to handle the whole thing.

Brown, a local antique dealer, said the pie's ingredients will include 360 eggs, 90 cans of sweetened condensed milk and 9 quarts of juice from key limes.

"We figure there will be enough for 600 pieces," he said.

Once He Bares His Teeth — Beware!

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Charles Mellor and family, posing for pictures, look like any other such grouping: smiling wife, Jacqueline, young son, Christopher, and the family dog, Dolch.

But Dolch is really not your everyday family pooch. He's a snapping German shepherd, and a trained member, along with officer Mellor, of the Philadelphia Police Department's Canine Corps.

GENTLE DOG

"He's not a gentle dog," Mellor said of the husky animal who's been his patrol partner in West Philadelphia for six months.

Dolch takes any amount of fondling from 2-year-old Christopher Mellor, but once he bares his teeth — beware.

The Philadelphia police added dogs to their arsenal 11 years ago, and now claim the animals are a major deterrent to crime.

There are some 130 dogs on active duty, according to the canine training supervisor, Richard Bridgeford, and about 25 of them staff the city's subways and elevated trains.

The rest patrol the streets of North and West Philadelphia, high crime areas, and Bridgeford says, they could eventually be all over the city.

But head trainer Jack Appolonia claims the dogs aren't vicious, even after they've completed the 14-week training.

"A dog is like a prizefighter," Appolonia said. "He only fights on signal. We build confidence in the animal, and then taper it off. You'd have a nervous breakdown walking around center city for eight hours with a vicious dog."

Appolonia said dogs will obey commands from only one person: the officer who is trained along with the dog, and who eventually will be teamed with the animal. This bond is fostered by the department, which once housed the dogs in Police Academy kennels, but now encourages the men to take their dogs home. And most do.

TOUGH ROAD

But it's a long tough road before the dogs end up in a cop's home. To qualify, the dog must be judged physically suited by the academy's veterinarian, and temperamentally suited by the trainers. Bridgeford said two out of every three dogs donated are rejected.

Then there are tests to be passed. The grounds are laid out like a mini-Olympics field, with a 14-foot barrier for the dogs to jump, a nine-foot wall to be scaled, and a six-foot ladder to climb.

With all the concentration on that agility, sharp teeth are what the public usually thinks about and perhaps with good reason.

A few years ago a dog named Captain III helped catch four men robbing a soda plant. He bit three of the thieves, all of whom had to be treated at a local hospital for wounds.

However, it doesn't look as if the program will be hurt. The department maintains four kennels throughout the city, and has built so solid a reputation that dog teams from suburban Philadelphia and New Jersey departments now are trained in Philadelphia.

"We're turning out a good product," said a smiling Bridgeford.

MEN IN SERVICE

Duty Aboard MacKenzie Like Living In Knott

Machinist Mate 3.C. Gary L. Moore of Big Spring is a typical recruit in the service today. The Navy information office recently interviewed him concerning his reasons for joining the Navy.

Gary stated, in part: "At the time I joined the Navy, I was working as an auto mechanic in Big Spring. I was out of school and pretty well doing as I pleased, still single and had very little responsibility. My education was limited to high school and my ambitions were limited by nothing. The Navy was the way to get my education, fulfill my ambitions and still see the world and make money, too. I joined the Navy with a school guarantee of aviation electronics. While in recruit training, I changed my mind though, not about the Navy, but about my field. Through aptitude tests given in 'boot camp,' I found that I was eligible for the nuclear power field if I could extend my enlistment for two more years, which I did. I am now serving on board the USS George K. MacKenzie awaiting my school convening date for nuclear power school in Mare Island, Calif.

"After recruit training in Great Lakes, Ill., I attended Machinist Mate 'A' school also in Great Lakes. After completion of my 'A' school and a three-week academics course for the entrance into Nuclear Power school, I reported on board the MacKenzie. I came aboard her in March of this year in Subic Bay, Philippines. We visited the ports of Djakarta in Indonesia, Singapore, Hong Kong, Subic Bay in the Philippines, Sasebo and Yokosuka, Japan, Midway and Pearl Harbor. We are now in San Diego.

"My life aboard the MacKenzie has been a drastic change from that of my life in West Texas. For one thing, it is a whole lot wetter! Aboard the MacKenzie I have met people from every part of the country. Everyone knows everybody and it's darn near like living in a town like Knott. "This month, I report to nuclear power school for about a year and a half of training and then to sea again. I intend to take advantage of all of it. At the end of my enlistment, I intend to have a lot more money for me than I would have being an auto mechanic."

Briscoe Discloses He'll Battle For Second Term

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe provided the climax for his highly successful fund-raising dinner Tuesday night by announcing he will seek a second term as governor of Texas.

"Janey and I want to share with you our plans for the coming year," Briscoe said at the close of his scheduled speech.

"Next year I will be a candidate for a second term as governor of Texas."

WILD OVATION

There was a wild, minutes-long standing ovation.

"We wanted to make this announcement tonight to share it first with those of you who made this possible in the first place. I will file my candidacy with the State Democratic Executive Committee in January," Briscoe said.

Organizers of the $25-a-person appreciation dinner claimed nearly 10,000 attended the affair in Austin Municipal Auditorium, Jess Hay, national Democratic committeeman from Texas and Briscoe's campaign manager, said 9,060 black metal lunch boxes were handed out. Each contained a ham sandwich, a piece of chicken, a hard-boiled egg, and a cookie. Only soft drinks were served.

"This is probably the largest crowd ever gathered for a gathering of this type in the state," Hay said.

UP FRONT

"The people who elected Briscoe in 1972 know they made a good choice . . . and they are going to re-elect him again in 1974, this time for four years. That's really why we are here tonight."

No money was spent on decorations, the orchestra was made up of groups from the University of Texas, and speeches and introductions were held to a minimum.

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson sat on the front row.

Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Tex., spoke for the Texas Congressional delegation. "He has my deepest respect, a respect shared by all my colleagues of the Texas delegation."

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., spoke briefly. "I've heard more harmony tonight than I've heard the last three years in Washington . . . The key word for the man Briscoe is 'confidence.' We have confidence that Texas is in safe hands."

Briscoe spoke, in his prepared speech, "of building a better Texas and a better way of life for each Texan. . . . Finally, I see a Texas where people have regained their faith in government, and government serves the people honestly, effectively and economically. That is my dream," he said.

FULL TIME

In remarks after his announcement, the beaming governor, with his wife at his side, said that he had found "in this office an unending number of tasks that need to be performed and decisions for which the governor is solely responsible."

"For that reason, I will not begin campaigning for re-election until next year. Between now and then I will devote my full time and all my energies to the pressing duties of the office of governor of Texas."

"There will be plenty of time for politics, there will be plenty of time for campaigning during the primary and the general election," he said. "And when that time comes, we will close ranks and march together to victory as we have marched together in the past."

Audie Murphy Hospital Open

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The new Audie Murphy Veterans Administration hospital's doors are open for patients although its formal dedication is more than a fortnight away.

Robert Yzaguirre Jr., 25, of Pharr, became the hospital's first patient Monday.

"It's a real honor being the first here," said Yzaguirre. "I don't know why they picked me but I'm glad they did."

Yzaguirre said he entered the hospital for treatment of a wounded leg which had begun to bother him recently. A portion of the leg was amputated after he stepped on a land mine in Vietnam in December 1969.

The opening of the Audie Murphy Hospital brings to 10 the number of VA hospitals in Texas, officials said. The hospital will be dedicated officially Nov. 17.

At present, 110 of the hospital's 760 beds are available.

Winter Wheat Planting Gains Steam In Kansas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fall planting of winter wheat for harvest next year gained sharply in Kansas and other plains areas by last weekend, but the crop was still behind normal schedule, the Agriculture Department says.

"By Oct. 28, winter wheat seeding had advanced to 80 per cent complete in Kansas, 92 per cent complete in Oklahoma, 91 per cent in Texas and about 100 per cent complete in Colorado," the department said Tuesday in a weekly weather bulletin.

Normally, winter wheat planting is 95 per cent done in Kansas by Oct. 28, the report said. In many areas heavy rain delayed planting for weeks or washed out many acres which already had been seeded.

That has prevented early growth of wheat in much of the

SEC. B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1973 SEC. B

Administration Due To Nominate Saxbe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Key senators have been told that President Nixon plans to nominate Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, as attorney general but the senator says he has not yet been offered the job.

Saxbe, 57, a first-term senator who recently announced he would not run for re-election next year, is a former attorney general of his state.

His nomination, which one source said was not expected until after completion of an FBI check next week, would mark the second time recently that Nixon has turned to Congress to fill a key vacancy.

UNLIKE FORD

House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford is the nominee to replace Spiro T. Agnew as vice president.

But Saxbe, unlike Ford, has on occasion sharply criticized Nixon despite a voting record generally in support of the administration.

During the Cambodian invasion Saxbe said that the President "must have left his senses."

In commenting earlier this year on whether the White House knew what was going on during the Watergate affair, Saxbe said, "That's like saying the piano player didn't know what was going on upstairs."

Saxbe said Tuesday that if he is asked to take the post, he would consider it seriously.

The firing of Archibald Cox

as special prosecutor set off upheaval in the Justice Department that brought the resignation of Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson and of William D. Ruckelshaus, the deputy attorney general.

GOOD BET

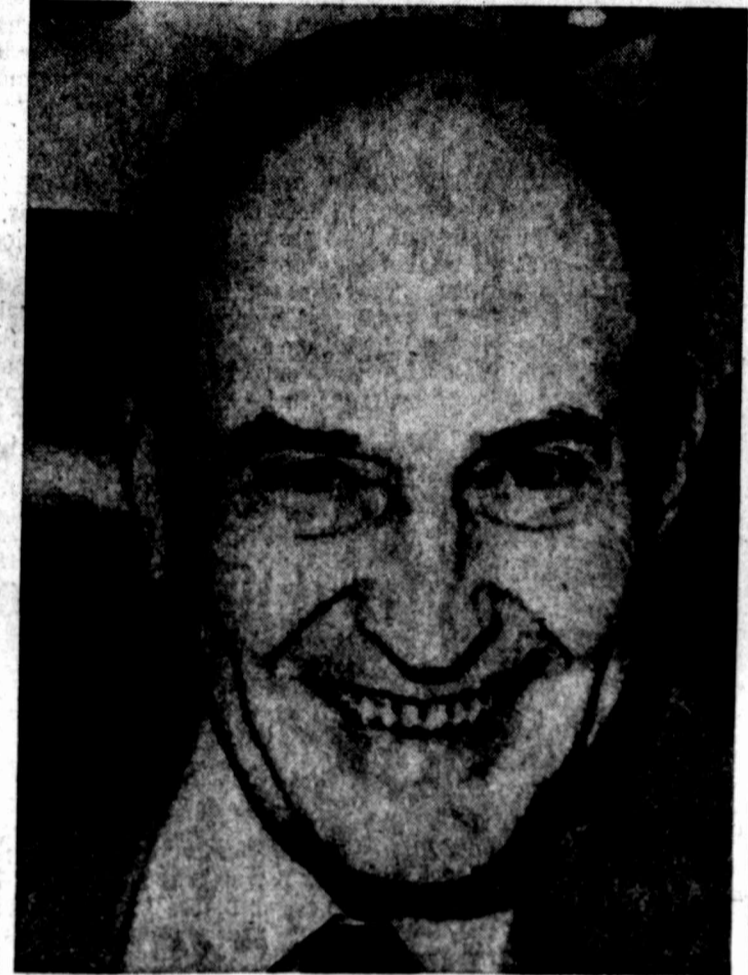

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, said he would expect Saxbe to win Senate confirmation.

But Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., a committee member, said Saxbe would have to give the same assurances Richardson did at the time of his nomination last May that a Watergate prosecutor would have full independence.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., also a committee member who is a chief sponsor of a bill to provide for a court-appointed prosecutor, said even such assurances would not solve the problem Congress faces.

"He could give all the promises but his authority could be taken away at any time by the President," Bayh said.

NOT YET OFFERED THE JOB — William Saxbe, Republican senator from Ohio, was reported Tuesday night to have been chosen by President Nixon to be nominated for the job of attorney general, but Saxbe said he had not yet been offered the job. Here, he talks with newsmen Tuesday in his Capitol Hill office.

Naked Truth About Nudists

HOBBS SOUND, Fla. (AP) — Sheriff's deputies using an airplane for surveillance, raided a weekly gathering of nudists at a public beach here and arrested 18 persons.

Sheriff James Holt said 12 men and six women were ordered to put on their clothes and march down the beach to a group of waiting patrol cars.

The 18 were charged with indecent exposure for bathing nude at a U.S. Wildlife beach, he said.

Nudists from Palm Beach and Broward counties often used the five-mile stretch of public beach for gatherings.

Holt said his deputies patrolled in an airplane and on foot and motorcycles searching for nude bathers.

He said he called in seven off-duty officers for the raid and had his men dress in casual picnic-type clothes.

Officers said the bathers were surprised at the arrests. When the first arrest was made, other curious nudists gathered around to see what was happening, deputies said.

Holt said he staged the raid after residents complained about the nudity.

Tick Fever Lids Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although cattle tick fever currently does not exist in the United States, introduction of the disease from Mexico remains a possibility unless animals imported from there are attended closely, the Agriculture Department says.

Consequently, the department has proposed a regulation aimed at tightening controls on cattle coming from areas in Mexico known to have the fever. The new rule, open for public comment, would bar exposed Mexican cattle from areas in Texas that are now under federal quarantine for ticks that carry the disease.

Officials said Mexican cattle can carry the disease but not show symptoms. There is a chance the disease could be transmitted to the ticks, which then could spread fever to other animals.

THEIR 'BUTTBRESS' — Israeli troops at the cease fire line of the West Bank of the Suez Canal induct an Egyptian goat into their ranks as mascot by giving it a helmet.

Golda Meir Bringing Gratitude, Gripes?

TEL AVIV (AP) — Premier Golda Meir left today for the United States to talk with President Nixon about Israel's cease-fire with Egypt and Syria and the prospects for peace negotiations with the Arabs.

"There are naturally problems that have to be discussed," she said, but "I am leaving with the true feeling that they will be discussed in friendship."

Maj. Gen. Aharov Yariv, the assistant chief of staff, accompanied Mrs. Meir, and they traveled on a jumbo jet of El Al, the Israeli airline, that was filled with commercial passengers.

The premier is sure to thank the President for the massive American shipments of arms. But she is also likely to plain about U.S. pressures on Israel that have put her government on the spot at home and could cost her Labor party votes in the elections two months away.

Mrs. Meir, who last visited Washington eight months ago, will spend three or four days in the U.S. capital, her spokesman said. Her travel plans are kept secret for security reasons and her itinerary is not yet final.

She is expected to reiterate to the President three basic demands of Israeli policy: face-to-face talks with the Arabs leading to a signed peace treaty, retention of key pieces of territory seized by Israel in 1967, and no change in the status of all of Jerusalem as Israel's capital.

But her top priority probably will be a discussion of the current cease-fire, which Israel says Washington forced it to accept at a moment of military strength.

The Israelis have indicated that to obtain their agreement to the cease-fire, the Americans and the Soviets promised to get the Egyptians to abide by all the agreement's provisions.

But Israel claims the Egyptians have failed to live up to the pact's spirit by going slow on a prisoner of war exchange, continuing a naval blockade in the Red Sea and failing to halt shooting incidents.

Israeli sources say the United States also pressured Mrs. Meir's government to allow food, water and medical supplies to pass through the Israeli strangled in the Sinai desert.

Mitchell Pair Die In Wreck

MIDLAND — Two Colorado City residents were killed about 3:25 p.m. Tuesday in a two-vehicle collision nine-tenths of a mile west of Midland on U.S. 80 at its intersection with FM 1369.

Killed were Charles Edgar Watkins, 78, and Martha C. Watkins, 72, both of Route 2, Colorado City.

The accident occurred when the car Watkins was driving was in collision with a pickup driven by Ronald A. Dougherty of Midland as the car attempted a left turn off 80 onto the farm road, according to DPS officials here.

Mr. Watkins was dead on arrival at Midland Memorial Hospital and Mrs. Watkins died about 7:07 p.m. at the hospital of injuries received in the wreck.

Injured in the mishap was Michael Dougherty, 15 months, of Midland, a passenger in the pickup. He was listed in fair condition late Tuesday at Midland Memorial, having suffered head injuries.

Services for the Watkinses are pending at Thomas Funeral Home in Midland.

Group Selecting Areas For Paving

Phase II of the city's paving program was being discussed Tuesday afternoon by city officials.

The group was selecting the next 50 or more blocks which will be presented to the city council for approval for paving.

Phase I of the program with over 50 blocks is still under way, delayed due to obtaining changes in utilities where needed.

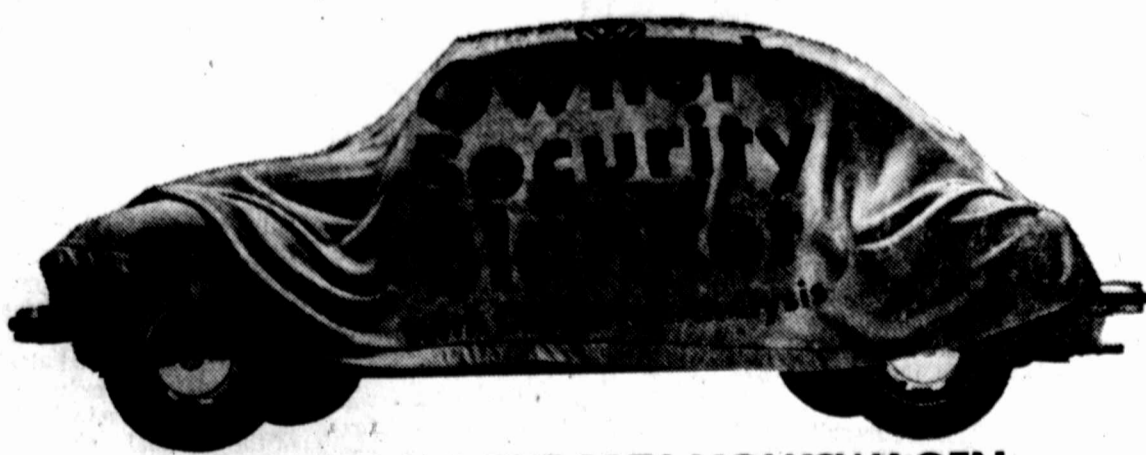

It is expected that the second phase of the program will be faster than the first, according to City Manager Harry Nagel.

Federal revenue sharing funds have been used in part of the paving program under way here.

The Tedious Task

Assuming the Middle East cease-fire works, and that may be a large assumption, the hard part comes next, that of reaching an agreement between the warring parties which has a chance to last.

The fighting has added new problems to old ones. Egypt now has a piece of the Sinai it didn't have before the war erupted. Israel has a large bridgehead across the Suez Canal and a salient in Syria that it didn't have before.

The summit diplomacy which resulted in the United Nations resolution calling for a halt to the killing came late. Russia apparently realized that it had seriously imperiled its new detente with Washington. The Kremlin had violated last spring's Nixon-Brezhnev agreement by pouring arms to Egypt and Syria. The U.S. responded with arms to Israel. Both big powers backed away before the war escalated even more.

The heart of the U.N. resolution lies in the call for the warring parties to start implementing U.N. Resolution 242, the 1968 proposal for ending the dispute.

That resolution calls for withdrawal of Israel from territories seized in the 1967 Six Day War. The opposing nations have disputed ever since whether the vague wording meant total or partial withdrawal from occupied territory.

The battle has been savage and costly to both sides. The Arabs have redeemed, in a measure, their military honor which was humiliated in 1967. Israel holds territorial bargaining chips and so

Obligation Of Duty

The spectacle of a trial being postponed because the number of veniremen reporting was insufficient is a disturbing one.

This is costly in time and money; and, for the most part, it is unnecessary.

We have contended long against tactics of counsel in wasting time of veniremen by jockeying to the very shadows of the bar to settle a case or ask a continuance. Most of this could be worked out in advance.

But it is equally inexcusable for those who do the Egyptians; but the last-minute gains by Israel west of the Suez will present a tricky issue.

Imposing a cease fire is one thing and imposing a peace quite another. Somehow, somewhere, sometime Israel and the Arabs must sit down and hammer out a workable — though less than ideal — settlement.

are summoned for jury duty and do not bother to report. One of the most cherished rights we possess is that of trial by jury, and it cannot be maintained unless citizens are willing to serve on juries. Undoubtedly, there are many called who have valid reasons for asking to be excused; but in any event they owe the court the courtesy of making those requests known. The court would be well within its prerogative as well as propriety to impose a fine on those ignoring summonses.

Fuel For Future?

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

And now comes hydrogen as the nominee for the fuel of the future.

AN INCREASING number of scientists have been researching in making use of this basic element as a fuel, particularly for mobile engines.

It has many things to commend it. It can be synthesized without too much difficulty from coal, oil or natural gas. Indeed, in some refining and petrochemical, impressive volumes of hydrogen are yielded as a by product. In some cases this is still flared; in most cases it has been used as a feed stock for furnaces, etc. Another source is by breaking down the water molecule (two hydrogen atoms to one of oxygen). Some see electrical energy derived from nuclear reactors as a potential for splitting the molecule.

ANOTHER virtue of hydrogen, it is claimed, is that it is an "ideal" fuel for the environment. When it combines with oxygen to create intense heat, it burns so completely that the only product is water.

According to a recent item in Readers Digest, hydrogen could become as cheap as gasoline or natural gas within 10 to 15 years. They don't say if cost of hydrogen will come down or gas and gasoline will go up, but they do predict competitiveness. They also claim that at a cost of less than $200, a conventional six-cylinder internal combustion engine could be converted from gasoline to hydrogen fuel.

THEY FORESEE no reason why the economics and safety obstacles of hydrogen cannot be overcome. In fact, some contend, as does Bill Gray of Pampa (who has created the "Gray vapor generator" which has shown remarkable potential in utilizing hydrogen fuel) says that hydrogen is "five times safer than gasoline." He says it would not ignite in a crash.

Nevertheless, he and others acknowledge that the average person would have to be sold on idea that hydrogen is safe. They have what he calls the "Hindenburg syndrome," as witness a lead on a recent story about hydrogen as a fuel: It began by saying that the same thing that killed 62 people on the Zeman Zeppelin airship "Hindenburg" in 1937 while landing at Lakehurst, N.J., might be the future of the fuel.

DEREK P. GREGORY, writing in the Scientific American, says that it is not an insoluble problem. "Just as we have designed apparatus and procedures to enable us to fill out automobile tanks with gasoline and carry the resulting 20 gallon 'fire bomb' at speeds up to 70 miles per hour along a crowded highway and park it overnight right inside our homes, we can surely devise safe practices for handling hydrogen."

TO PROVE his point, Gray, plus several helpers (including Pampa High School classmates) has been experimenting on a unit on Stemmons freeway in Dallas. You can't find a busier place than that to convince effectiveness and safety.

My

Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

I'm a Christian, and I teach Sunday School, but I have a problem. I still smoke cigarettes. I have tried to quit, but I just don't have the strength to do it. Furthermore, do you believe that if I have the desire to smoke, even though I give them up, that it is just as bad as smoking?

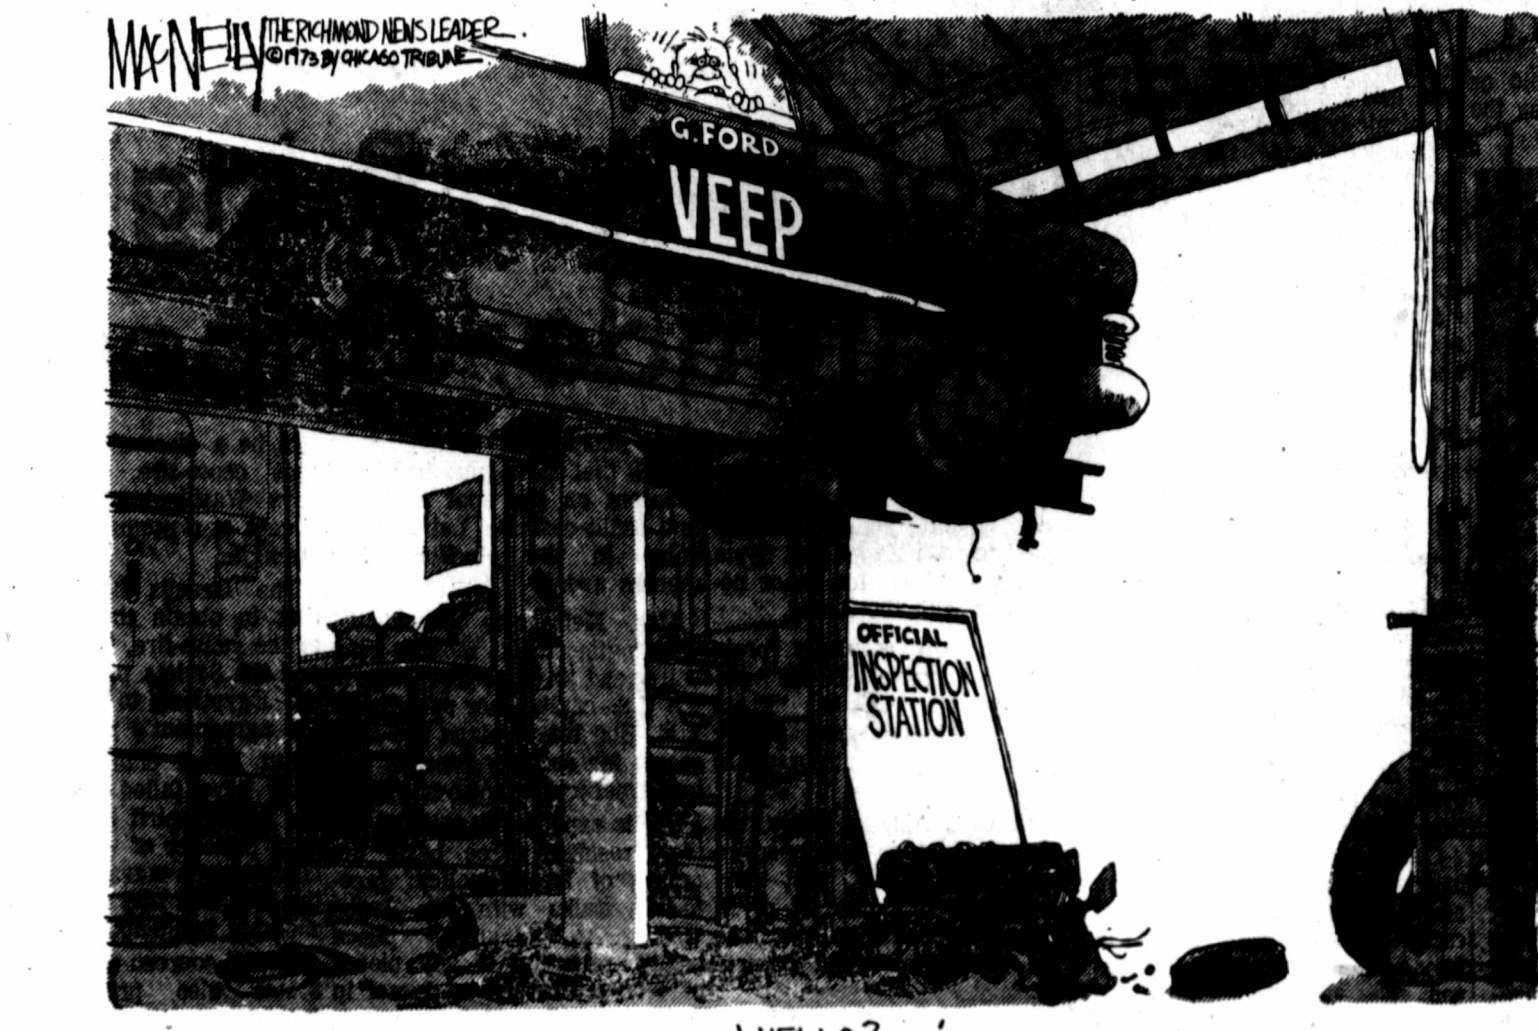

W.S. The suggestion on a pack of cigarettes is good as far as it goes. It says that the Surgeon General has discovered cigarette smoking to be injurious to health. That's commendable. But unless the user is likewise convinced, it's of no avail. Proof of this is the increased cigarette sales reported each year.

I do not smoke for several reasons. One is health, but an equally valid one for the Christian is the fact that I Corinthians 6 declares our bodies the temple of the Holy Spirit. When by any harmful habit — gluttony, immorality, smoking, etc., we abuse that "temple," we are wrong.

There's also the matter of our example. This is particularly important as a Bible school teacher. To admit defeat by this habit is tantamount to telling your class that God's power is limited. Of course it isn't. See Luke 18:27.

What you need is to get desperate enough. I mean in terms of will power and prayer. Also, get a friend who can help you during the rough first days of cigarette "withdrawal."

Furthermore, don't torment yourself by the idea that even the desire is wrong. Unlawful desire when gratified is wrong, but to be tempted is human. Jesus in Matthew 4 showed us how to overcome it.

If faith can change man's future destiny, and yet can't cope with his contemporary problems, it's not the genuine article.

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a professional telephone bugger gets tired of hearing:

"If you are so good at your work, why hasn't your name been brought out in the Water-gate investigations?"

"What do you hear, Jake?" "I want you to fix it so I can listen in on my wife's private conversation, but no one else can—and not even you."

"What would you charge to rent me some old tapes? I'm a television soap opera writer, and I'm looking for some material with true-to-life dialogue."

"I don't know how much my business partner paid you to tap my telephone, but if you can keep your trap shut I'll pay you twice as much to put a tap on his line for me. He must be stealing twice as much as I am."

"If you don't let me listen the next time you bug a movie star's apartment, Jake, I'll divorce you. As your wife, I should be entitled to get some pleasure out of this dirty work you're doing. Heaven knows it doesn't pay much."

"That was a good idea to bug the old man's dentures, Jake, but I haven't heard a word from him for an hour. Do you suppose he took them out and dunked them in a glass of water on his bedside table?"

"As your accountant, Jake, I have to say we are not doing too well. It is true that you earned $25,000 last year in blackmail money on which you didn't pay taxes, but, on the other hand, as you had to dish out $500 a week to keep the cops off your back, you'd have done better if you had spent the same time doing honest work, revolting as I know that must sound to you."

"As a man you taught the business to, Jake, even though we are rivals now, I feel I ought to tell you something as a professional courtesy. The cops hired me to put a tap on your bookie's phone, and I overheard him the other night ordering one of his strong boys to put the muscle on you if you don't pay what you owe him by Friday."

"Frankly, your medical problem has me puzzled, and I may have to call in a consultant. Just how long did you say you had this strange buzzing in your ears?"

"No, I don't want you to tape my business competitor's phone to learn his secrets. What I want you to do is to tell him the idea of tapping our phones to learn our secrets. They are driving us bankrupt, and if he stole a few they might force him to the wall, too."

"Please, Daddy, don't read me anymore bedtime stories. Just draw me a few diagrams so I can show the other kids in my class how to cheat the telephone company."

"Hi, lover boy, come over right away and sneak in the back way. Don't worry about my husband. He's out on an all-night case. And Jake's such a big dumb ox he'd never think of putting a bug in his own bedroom."

More Difficult Task

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — As mysterious as the wildest whodunit ever written are the contradictory events of the past week. They have been as baffling in some respects for Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger as for the average citizen sitting on the sidelines and wondering what in thunder is going on.

AT HIS PRESS conference Kissinger did not disclose the reaction he and his associates had in Moscow where they went at the invitation of Party Secretary Leonid Brezhnev. They were impressed by the great value that Brezhnev and the men around him put on detente with the United States. In the six hours of discussion it was the centerpiece of Kremlin decision-making.

In rapid order agreement was reached on a joint U.S.-U.S.S.R. cease-fire resolution to be put before the United Nations Security Council. Nothing was said about any Soviet-American force to police the cease-fire. The understanding was that the policing would be done by a U.N. observer force.

THIS WAS the word Kissinger took to Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir when he flew from Moscow to Tel Aviv. It was a most-welcome word in light of Israel's heavy casualties and severe losses of planes and armor.

Then without any warning the roof fell in. It was the lot of Kissinger's friend and collaborator, Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin, to bring him a note stating the Kremlin's intention to send in Soviet forces unilaterally even though the United States declined to participate. The Kremlin knew very well Washington would have none of a joint force in the explosive Middle East.

THE SPECTER that arose immediately was a split in the Soviet hierarchy between a Brezhnev-detente faction and the hard-line militarists. Not even the Kremlinologists who seize on every straw out of Moscow can say with complete assurance that this is the fact. But even after the capitulation by Jacob Malik in the Security Council the mystery remains.

Whether President Nixon overreacted in calling the 3 a.m. alert is also a mystery. The alert of the Strategic Air Command, the calling up of National Guard units, the clatter of guns and tanks across the world as American units in West Germany were ordered moved to the East German border came as the Nixon credibility gap had become an abyss rivaling the Grand Canyon.

WAS THE alert merely a diversionary tactic to draw attention away from the President's domestic trials? This was the abrasive question put to Kissinger at his press conference. He replied in the course of an impressive performance that there must be some degree of trust in the officials who are trying to conduct foreign policy.

In the bar rooms of the Old West, legend has it, was a sign that read: "Don't shoot the piano player, he's doing the best he can." That should be transposed and hung up in the Secretary of State's office.

NO SOONER was the sensational news of the alert spread across the headlines than Sen. Henry M. (Scoop) Jackson came out shooting with both guns. Professing to know exactly what was in the note delivered by Dobrynin, he took aim at Kissinger, and, if he missed at least, he raised the political dust on either side of the beleaguered secretary.

Thomas Gleason, head of the International Maritime Union, said he would order his men to cease loading and unloading shipments to and from the Soviet Union if within a deadline he fixed the flow of war material from the Soviet Union to the Arab combatants did not cease. The House of Representatives put on the shelf a trade bill that was certain to carry an amendment denying tariff concessions and export-import credits to the Soviet Union.

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

About Hyperventilation

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a lady, 45, and I will gasp for breath at times (fight for air) until I pass out. It is terribly frightening.

What causes this, how can I prevent it, and after it happens how can I come back to consciousness if I am alone? The doctor calls it hyperventilation.

Your last sentence is the clue. Hyperventilation is an odd sort of problem that is, I grant you, very frightening for the person experiencing it.

The odd thing is that the patient invariably thinks he needs more air, when in actual fact what he needs is less. Or to put it another way, what he (or she) needs is a little more carbon dioxide, instead.

Briefly, when a person goes into an episode of hyperventilation, he knows he needs something but he doesn't know what it is. So he keeps struggling to breathe harder, which is just what he shouldn't do. That's why we call it hyperventilation — breathing too much.

The more you breathe, the less carbon dioxide remains in your system, which throws your body chemistry out of kilter for the time being. You feel that you can't breathe, yet the fact is that you've already breathed too much.

This happens to tense, nervous people who, for some reason that isn't clear, suddenly find themselves concentrating on their breathing instead of letting the breathing be automatic, as it should be. Hyperventilation is quite familiar to college health services around final exam time.

The simplest remedy is to have the person start breathing into a paper bag — grocery bag or whatever. Breathe into the bag, then inhale the air from the bag. That way the amount of carbon dioxide gradually increases, and you get back into proper chemical balance.

Part of the treatment also is reassuring the patient that he really is going to be all right as soon as he relaxes. Sometimes a sedative helps.

Not everybody passes out from it, of course, but if you are alone and do so, I wouldn't worry about it. Once unconscious, your natural (automatic) breathing will assert itself and that will take care of things readily.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Does regular, or should I say frequent, intercourse cause you to age faster? I was told by my mother that every intercourse would cause me to lose my strength and become ugly and age much faster. Is there any truth to this? — Mrs. F.A.P.

Occasionally mother doesn't know best. This was one of a variety of stories invented long ago to keep young people "moral." It doesn't happen to be true.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My aunt has something called shingles. She is worried because people have told her many things about shingles. Is there a cure? — B.S.L.

If shingles breaks out near the eyes, special care has to be taken, but that isn't where shingles usually appears. It does not cause mental illness. People do get over it, but for some it takes longer than it does others.

Shingles can be a painful disease! To receive a copy of Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "The Facts About Shingles," write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

A Crisis A Day

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — The American family is getting a home study course in crisis living, a crash course presented daily in the media space once occupied by the more routine news of human events.

Like a stock market speculator who doesn't know whether to feel exhilarated or depressed until he runs the ticker tape through his fingers, they are living each day by the latest news.

Among the crises that are feared, loom ahead or actually exist are those involving air, water, food, prices, drugs, military, government, housing, cities, fuel oil, gasoline, currency, transportation.

Depending upon occupation or interest, or sometimes geographical location, here are crises involving stocks, newspaper, weather, income, jobs, profits, schools, crops.

Where actual crises don't exist there are often shortages, as in some chemicals; hostility, as between ecologists and builders; tensions, as between labor and management; conflict, as between brokers and bankers.

If the past is a criterion, some of these conflicts, tensions, hostilities and shortages will develop into crises. In the past a good deal of conflict was arranged or easily foreseen. Some of it was produced with full knowledge of the eventual consequences, but produced nevertheless.

Appliance manufacturers promoted power-operated devices while they and the utilities that supplied the power were warning of shortages.

The automobile industry produced more cars than ever while clean air groups warned that the internal combustion engine was a major polluter.

The securities industry ignored the needs of individual investors while trying to hide from the realization that they couldn't continue to exist without them.

Small-town tax collectors promoted real estate developments while making no provisions for the ecological impact on the water supply and sewage disposal systems.

A Devotion For Today

Some trust in chariots, and some in horses; but we will remember the name of the Lord our God. (Psalm 2:7)

PRAYER: Help us, O gracious Father, to fully trust Thee, the one known so well through thy Son, Jesus, Amen.

Living Costlier, Says Mortician

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The cost of living is climbing faster than the cost of dying, the president of the National Funeral Directors Association says.

Raoul Pinette, 47, of Lewiston, Maine, said recently the cost of living in the United States rose 41.3 per cent in the past 10 years while the cost of dying rose 32.1 per cent.

"Funeral costs did go up," he said. "There's no question about it, but we are proud of the fact we have been better able to hold the funeral costs down. The association opens its 52nd annual convention here today. More than 5,000 funeral directors from all 50 states, Canada and Mexico are attending the convention here.

Suit Accuses Cop, Fire Units Of Discrimination

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal suit was filed Monday by four black Houstonians, claiming the City of Houston discriminates in recruiting and promoting members of the police and fire departments.

City officials immediately denied the allegations.

The suit seeks a declaratory judgment that discrimination exists, an injunction barring further discriminatory practices and a court order requiring corrective measures.

Sydney S. Lanier, who has directed the Civil Service Commission for more than six years, said he does not think either the fire or police departments discriminate against minorities.

"I think they are actively engaged in attempting to recruit minority members," he said.

The suit notes that while Houston is 26 per cent black, of 2,115 firemen employes by the city, only 4.5 per cent are black and only 6.1 per cent of the city's policemen are black.

Of 162 policemen hired since Jan. 1, the suit says, only 13 or slightly less than 8 per cent are black.

It claims that the fire department has seven black captains out of 319 and none among the 65 district chiefs. In the police department, it notes, there are no black captains, lieutenants, sergeants or motorcycle patrolman, and only five detectives.

Black firemen generally are assigned to fire houses in black areas, the suit says, and the fire department has on occasion delayed filling captain positions in predominantly white areas to avoid appointing eligible black firemen to them.

The plaintiffs in the suit are four black men. Two of them claim they were not hired by the fire department and given no reason for their rejection and the other two say the same thing about their applications for the police department.

Lanier said promotional policies in the police and fire departments are regulated by

Demo Whip Convinced ITT Quiz Should Be Reopened

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Whip Robert Byrd said today the Senate Judiciary Committee's inquiry into the ITT affair should be reopened because of the disclosure that President Nixon personally intervened in it.

Byrd, a ranking member of the committee, said there is now evidence that perjury was committed during the panel's original ITT investigation.

Byrd said he believed former special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox had been indiscreet and had shown poor judgment in disclosing a confidential conversation about the ITT affair.

UNCLE SAM LIED?
But Byrd said, "That doesn't change the substance of the information. The issue really boils down to this: Did the government lie about the ITT?"

Byrd, interviewed on the NBC-TV "Today" show, said: "I think the committee ought to reopen the inquiry into the ITT case."

White House officials, breaking their silence in an effort to calm the rekindled ITT controversy, said Tuesday they supplied Cox with White House files on the antitrust settlement before he was fired as special Watergate prosecutor.

Documents in those files, one high-ranking official said, "do not show any personal involvement by the President in the terms of the ITT settlement in the summer of 1971."

In a memo uncovered by the Senate Watergate committee last August, former presidential aide Charles W. Colson said the secret documents would "directly involve the President" in the ITT scandal.

The comments Tuesday night by high-level White House officials — the first time they had spoken out on the issue — were clearly intended to rebut the Colson memo.

EVERY RIGHT

There were these other developments Tuesday in the controversy over the out-of-court settlement of the antitrust case against the huge conglomerate, International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

The New York Times, quoting sources close to the Watergate prosecution, reported that President Nixon told then-Atty-

Class Of '23 Attends Open House Sunday

By JO BRIGHT

An open house held Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Sullivan, 1505 Johnson, was the celebration of three special events, including the Sullivan's golden wedding anniversary.

This year also marks the 50th anniversary of the Big Spring High School Class of '23. Those graduates were invited to the Sullivan home for a reunion with his sisters, Mrs. Gene (Grace) Davernport, Farmington, N.M., and Mrs. Harold (Francis) Fritts, Tequesta, Fla., who were members of the 1923 graduating class. The two women and their husbands are guests in the Sullivan home this week.

No invitations were mailed, but as many graduates as possible were contacted by telephone. Calling hours were from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m., with Sullivan's cousin, Miss Pauline Sullivan, presiding at the guest register.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with an ecru cutwork cloth and centered with a five-branched silver candelabrum. Silver tea and coffee services flanked the centerpiece, and other appointments were of crystal and silver. A large arrangement of gold mums graced the coffee table, and a matching arrangement was placed on a serving table.

Assisting in the house party were Mrs. H. H. Rutherford, Mrs. R. V. Middleton, Mrs. James Wilcox, Mrs. Houston Cowden, Mrs. Bill Early and Mrs. Loy Acuff.

Mr. and Mrs. Davernport formerly lived in Big Spring when he worked for Cosden. Later, he was an oil jobber in Gallup, N.M., out has now retired. Mr. and Mrs. Fritts are now enjoying retirement in Florida. A former local man, he was associated with Shell Oil Company, serving as exploration manager in New York.

Mrs. Sullivan, the former Tenn Lee (Tot) Bradshaw, is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lee Bradshaw of Midland, who were the parents of nine children. During the years that Mr. Bradshaw was a manager for Burton-Lingo Lumber Company, the family lived in Midland, Big Spring and Coahoma.

Sullivan, a native Big Springer, is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Sullivan who came here in 1901 when the elder Sullivan was an engineer for the Texas and Pacific Railroad.

Sullivan graduated from Big Spring High School, and had attended A & M University a year before he met his future bride in the summer of 1922. The couple was introduced by Elmo Wasson at the George W. Miller photography studio where she was an apprentice photographer. In September of that year, she and her sister, the late Mrs. H. W.

(Bradshaw Studio)

MR. AND MRS. WILLARD SULLIVAN

Goodpaster, bought the business, renaming it Bradshaw Studio. Mrs. Goodpaster later sold her interest to another sister, Mrs. Pyle Bradshaw, and the two women have continued to operate the studio, marking their 50th year in business in 1972.

The Sullivans were married June 10, 1923 in the home of her parents, with the late Rev. Walter S. Garrett, a Baptist minister, performing the ceremony. They decided they were too busy for a honeymoon, so the wedding trip was delayed until their silver anniversary, when they took the traditional trip to Niagara Falls.

Soon after the wedding, Sullivan went to pharmacy school in Galveston and returned here to work with the late Shine Philips and to open the Cunningham and Philips Pharmacy No. 2 on Second Street. Later, he managed the Settles Drug, which he purchased in 1941. He has continued to operate the business since that time.

A 32nd degree Mason, who is active in the Suez Shrine Temple, Sullivan is a member of the Staked Plains Masonic Lodge No. 598 and is recorder for the Commandery. The York Cross of Honor was bestowed upon him several years ago. He is also a 50-year member of the Knights of Pythias and a long-time member of the Downtown

Traits Of Clubwomen Described

"To be a good clubwoman, three characteristics are required," said Mrs. C. R. Moad speaking Friday to Modern Woman's Forum at the home of Mrs. A. C. Bass, 106 Washington.

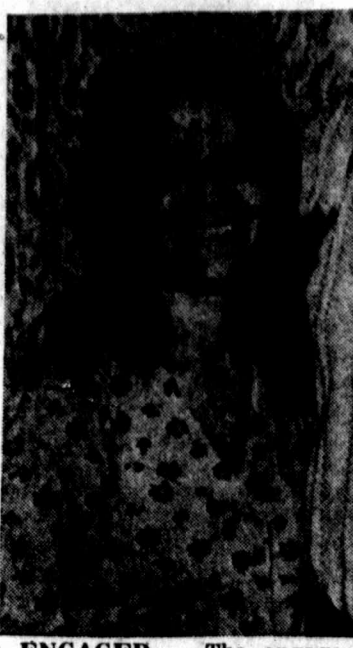

"The characteristics are efficiency, loyalty and vision," said Mrs. Moad, "and these must be followed by action." She said action must be taken for community improvement, better education and better national and international relations. In our cultural heritage, she said people must learn about and understand the American Indian, the Afro-American and the Spanish American.

Mrs. Ruby Martin discussed international clubs. She said clubs around the world study the same basic programs, but may differ in projects depending on the nations' people, heritage and particular problems.

Outlining some projects of clubs in other countries, Mrs. Martin said Canada offers a "meals on wheels" service to benefit the elderly and ill. In London, clubs are more concerned with cultural affairs and sponsor such things as operas, theatre groups, and lectures.

Mrs. Moad presided during business. It was announced that Mrs. T. G. Adams and Mrs. W. E. Moren attended the Volunteer Council meeting recently at Big Spring State Hospital. Mrs. Adams read a list of items needed at the hospital for Christmas.

The next club meeting will be Nov. 9 at the home of Mrs. H. M. Rowe, 1105 Johnson.

ENGAGED — The engagement and forthcoming marriage of Miss Isabel Torres to Jesus Roberto Gomez is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonardo Torres, San Antonio. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesus Gomez, San Antonio. The couple plans to be married Dec. 23 at Incarnate Word College Chapel, San Antonio.

Area Girl Wins District Post

Linda Chandler, a member of Garden City Future Teachers of America Chapter, was elected recording secretary for District 18 during a district convention Saturday in Kermit. She will be a voting delegate to the state convention scheduled Feb. 22-23, in Dallas.

Other members of the Garden City Chapter who attended the convention were Martha Doe, Becky Robinson, Sheryl Newell, Shirley Schwartz, Mark Frysak, Stuart Wooten, Norviningham, Harold Hoelscher and Van Gill. They were accompanied by Mrs. John Breneman, advisor.

Miss Chandler was nominated by Miss Robinson. Also, Hoelscher was a candidate for district vice president. A skit supporting the nominees was performed by several of the delegates. Miss Schwartz and Frysak were entered in the "Mr. and Mrs. FTA" contest.

Keynote speaker was Jack Paul, director of the Church of Christ Bible Chair, Texas Tech. Entertainment was by the Kermit Choir.

Homosexuality

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I want to express my gratitude to you for having the courage to repeat your statement that homosexuality is NOT a "sickness."

I am the director of Adult Ministries for the United Methodist Church in the Hawaii district, and am long past the age when I might appeal sexually to either a female or another male.

Abby, you put to shame some of my so-called "fellow Christians," who have so completely forgotten the teachings of Jesus, that they would deny God's love and compassion for the millions of people who live a lifestyle different from their own.

Thank you, Abby. Whether you believe in Jesus or not, His love shines on you when you write such columns.

FRED R. METHERED
MY DEAR REV.
METHERED: Thanks, I needed that!

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old girl who has just started to date. I don't go steady with any one guy, but there is one I see more of than the others. I like him a lot, but this dude's hands are quicker than the eye and if I let him kiss me, before I know it, his hands are all over me.

How do I handle such an aggressive guy?

CAREFUL
DEAR CAREFUL: When he gets busy with his hands, tell him to cut it out. And if he doesn't get busy with your foot, and kick him out.

DEAR ABBY: About the girl who wanted to have her nose pierced over her parents' objections: I say, let her! It isn't painful, and if it is properly done, no infection should result. I spent two years in India on an assignment, and while I was there I had my nose pierced in order to wear a small gold ring in it. It is the custom for women and girls in India.

After I returned to the States, wearing the ring in my nose, I was the object of curious stares and many rude remarks, so I removed it. However, I still have the tiny hole in my nose, and will wear the ring in it if it ever becomes the fad or fashion here.

HOLE IN MY NOSE
IN LONG BEACH
DEAR HOLE: Of course, one never knows, but I doubt if nose rings will ever catch on in the States.

CONFIDENTIAL TO
"23676" in the Missouri

Under Pressure

The first woman car designer hired by the Ford Motor Co., Dearborn, Mich., says she feels pressured in the job. Mrs. Mimi Ornes, hired in 1970, says more is expected of her than if she were a man.

Sorority Aims Are Outlined

The objectives of Phi Sigma Alpha Sorority were outlined Sunday at a tea for rushees and members of Texas Delta Delta Chapter, PSA in the home of Mrs. Betty Johnson, 101 Jefferson.

The aims were listed in a recorded speech by the sorority's managing director, Dr. H. R. Fenstermacher, Scottsdale, Ariz., who spoke recently at the PSA Texas convention in Midland. He said the sorority's goals are to unite women in fellowship through promotion of personal development and social activities.

According to the speaker, chapter work should be geared toward reaffirming individuals' rights and responsibilities as citizens.

Guests at the tea were welcomed by Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Ernest Bauch, local president. Mrs. Fay Newman presided at the register, and refreshments were served by Mrs. R. L. Nall and Mrs. W. E. Moren.

The serving table was covered with a pink linen cloth and overlaid with white lace. An arrangement of assorted white and pink fall flowers centered the table, and appointments were silver.

Guests included Mrs. Billie Sloan, Mrs. Amy Morgan and Mrs. M. E. Waddle, all of Midland; Mrs. Marcella Dunn, Mrs. Jean House and Mrs. Evelyn Smith, all of Odessa.

Quotable Women

"When I play a character, I become that character. When we stop shooting, I go back to being completely myself. I see the film, but I never can go back to being that person on the screen. I can only look at her from the outside."
Actress-model Cybill Shepherd.

"I have an active mind and I like to keep it that way. I think you're never too old to learn, and what better way to stay alert and aware of what's going on than by going to college?"
Bertha Rosenthal Farmer, an 83-year-old widow who has become the oldest coed enrolled at Bernard M. Baruch College, New York.

A LOVELIER YOU Light Hair Loss Is No Need To Worry

By MARY SUE MILLER

A Lovely writes: My hair is falling out. I do not understand why. It scares me. I neither tint nor perm. I wear it straight back in a chignon because it is quite long. Would it help to cut it short? I don't want to but I would to stop the loss.

The Answer: There is no evidence that cutting hair short stops falling or encourages growth. However, trimming off split, dry ends is a salutary step.

Many factors must be considered in dealing with falling hair. First off, a fallout is sometimes confused with breakage. Long hair, in particular, breaks off when it becomes dry, or when it is subjected to the constant use of rubber bands and circlets to keep it in place. Pulled too tightly, back from the forehead and sides, can cause trouble.

To tell whether your hair is breaking or falling inspect the scalp end of detached strand. A tiny, bulbous formation on the end indicates fallout.

Under normal circumstances the scalp sheds up to 100 strands daily, simply to make room for new growth. Losses undergo a speed-up from a scalp disorder, an illness, shock, tension and pregnancy. Too, almost every head has a molting season — usually during the spring or autumn. Birds aren't the only molters.
