

Nixon To Discuss Energy Shortage

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon will ask Congress to temporarily suspend nationwide clean air standards as part of a series of steps to meet the growing energy shortage, Rep. John J. Rhodes, R-Ariz., said today.

Rhodes revealed Nixon's intention following a briefing of congressional leaders by White House energy experts.

Nixon was expected to outline his proposals in a broadcast speech tonight.

Rhodes told a newsman that Nixon would also seek authority for the federal government to override the rights now given to state governments to establish clean air timetables, presumably to enable federal suspension of certain clean-up requirements.

Rhodes said, however, that Nixon was not expected to seek authority for nationwide curtailment of business hours.

Nor would he seek authority to impose a nationwide highway speed limit of 50 miles per hour, Rhodes said.

Those proposals have been among a number submitted to Nixon for his consideration.

However, Senate Majority Lead Mike Mansfield of Montana said lower highway speed limits would be among the President's proposals.

Mansfield also said that Nixon would propose extending daylight savings time to a year-round basis.

Gasoline rationing is "not in the picture" at present, Mansfield said. But he said steps may be taken to prepare for it early next year if conditions warrant.

Mansfield said congressional leaders at the briefing were "uniformly affirmative" to Nixon's proposals.

Rocket Shot Postponed

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The launching of the Skylab 3 astronauts, which had been scheduled for Saturday, has been delayed at least five days until Nov. 15, because of cracks in all eight stabilizing fins in the first stage of the booster rocket, space agency officials said today.

A NASA spokesman said the launch crew had started draining fuel from the Saturn 1B rocket and that plans were under way to replace the defective fins. Replacement fins were being flown here from a NASA facility at Michoud, La.

The spokesman said it was hoped the repair work could be accomplished on the launch pad. If the rocket had to be returned to an assembly building, the delay might have to be longer than five days.

NIXON'S SECRETARY ADVISED: 'Rose Mary, Tell The Truth'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential aide said today that Rose Mary Woods, President Nixon's personal secretary, will tell a federal court hearing that she has not transcribed the subpoenaed White House Watergate Tapes.

Miss Woods will be a witness, probably Thursday, at the hearing called to explore the circumstances surrounding two of Watergate conversations that the White House claims were never recorded.

WRONG WORD

On Tuesday, presidential aide John C. Bennett said Miss Woods had a total of 14 White House tapes and there was other testimony that she was typing while listening to some of them.

Bennett said Miss Woods came to his office this morning and said to him, "I read your testimony in the paper... If I'm called as a witness, I'm going to have to explain I did not transcribe."

Bennett, an aide to White House chief of staff Alexander M. Haig Jr., told the court: "I said, 'Rose Mary, tell the truth.'"

Later Bennett restated the conversation and quoted the President's secretary as saying, "I did not transcribe the tapes. Transcribe is the wrong word. If I'm called over there, I'm going to say I did not transcribe the tapes."

Bennett, a retired Army major general, said he had also had a conversation with Miss Woods after he returned to the White House from court on Tuesday.

"She informed me about some trouble on a tape — she apparently found a gap in a conversation. She said 'I want you to know I'm having trouble with it'... And I said, 'do the best you can.'"

There was no indication whether this meant that yet a third White House recording could become controversial or whether it was just a natural lapse in picking up conversation.

Richard Ben-Veniste, a lawyer for the special prosecution force, questioned Bennett on why he had talked about his testimony or the tapes when he was under court instructions not to discuss either. Earlier, Bennett had said he had not talked with anyone about his testimony, only answering a few questions from newsmen.

MIXED DATES

Ben-Veniste also pointed to a number of apparent inconsistencies in records Bennett kept about the tapes he had given to presidential aide Stephen V. Bull. Some of the tapes went to Miss Woods. The dates of recordings on one record sheet in two or three instances didn't match exactly the dates on a second sheet, both made out by Bennett and retained in his possession.

Earlier, White House lawyer Douglas Parker told U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica that Miss Woods will appear in court for the tapes hearings, probably on Thursday.

Holding Six Hostages

WADENA, Minn. (AP) — Two armed fugitives, demanding an airplane for a flight to freedom, held a family of six hostage today in a farmhouse, authorities said.

Sheriff's officers, police and highway patrol troopers kept the house surrounded throughout the night and negotiated with the two jail escapees, one of whom is accused of killing two persons.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wegscheid and four of their children were taken hostage about 6 p.m. Tuesday, according to Cass County Attorney John Plattner. He said authorities first thought only two children were involved.

The children were identified as Becky, 16; Ed, 15; Ricky, 12, and Joel, 10. Wegscheid is a livestock farmer one mile west of Wadena in northern Minnesota. He also does plumbing and heating work.

Authorities said the family had not been harmed. Plattner said a plane has been prepared, as the two men demanded, but cannot take off because of bad flying weather.

Authorities identified the jailbreakers as John P. Morgan, 37, of Glenwood, Minn., who was awaiting trial on first degree murder charges in Cass County, and William L. Winans, 18, of Forcus Falls, Minn.

Cass County Atty. John Plattner was given a list of demands by the two escapees as he spent about 45 minutes inside the farm house with them.

Plattner said the armed men had asked that a Cessna 182 be at the Wadena airport at sunrise. He said the men also asked for two parachutes, first aid equipment, two sleeping bags, a puppet and some benzadrine and dexedrine. He said the demands would be met.

Nine Persons Shot To Death

ACAMPO, Calif. (AP) — Nine persons were discovered today shot to death and strewn about a luxury ranch-style house in this small community about 30 miles south of Sacramento, the San Joaquin County sheriff's office reported.

Sheriff's deputies said the grisly discovery was made by the Acampo Fire Department this morning while answering a rescue call.

Investigators said the shootings apparently occurred about 9 p.m. Tuesday. A food market about a mile away from the house, owned by one of the victims, had been broken into and ransacked, the authorities said. A safe was looted of an unspecified amount of money, they said.

"There was blood all over the place," a reporter said of the death scene.

Two adult victims in the house were tentatively identified by police as Walter Parkin, 32, and his wife, Joanne. The other identities given were of their two children, Lisa, 6, and Bob, 4. Other names were not immediately learned.

All the victims had been shot to death, deputies said. Some of the children were found in a bedroom. Mr. and Mrs. Parkin were found in a closet. Another body was found in the kitchen.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another sharp decline in the cost of farm products pushed wholesale prices down for the second straight month in October, the government said today in a report promising consumers some relief from high grocery bills.

But, despite the decline, the Labor Department's Wholesale Price Index report disclosed a still highly inflationary economy. Wholesale prices of industrial commodities, mainly higher prices for fuels, went up a sharp 1.1 per cent on a seasonally adjusted basis.

Wholesale prices declined three-tenths of one per cent after seasonal adjustment in October, with a 3.3 per cent fall-off recorded in prices of farm products and processed foods and feeds.

Before any adjustment in the figures, the government said there was a five-tenths of one per cent decline in over-all wholesale prices and a 3.9 per cent drop in prices of farm products and processed foods and feeds.

And the report showed that wholesale prices have gone up 18.3 per cent at an annual rate in the past three months. Wholesale prices of farm products and processed foods and feeds have risen at an annual rate of 43.5 per cent in the same span.

It was the first time since late 1971 that whole prices have gone down two months in a row. In September, they fell a sharp 1.5 per cent.

Not all of the declines will be felt at the retail level, but government economists feel the sharp decreases should result in some lowering of retail food products.

The department said the drop in prices of farm products occurred mainly in livestock and oil seeds, live poultry, eggs, grains, and fresh fruit.

CRYSTAL CLEAR

The message was nonetheless clear.

Voters turned out in scant numbers Tuesday to defeat Amendment 1 to the Texas Constitution, which would have given state senators and representatives more than $10,000 each in pay raises and had them meet in costly annual sessions, rather than every two years as they do now. Fifty-seven per cent of voters disapproved.

At present, lawmakers earn $4,800 annually. Amendment 1 would have jacked that up to $15,000 a year.

Here are the latest figures from the Texas Election Bureau on the nine amendments before voters with returns from 243 of 254 counties, 223 complete:

1. Legislative pay—annual sessions for 239,794, against 312,323.
2. Homestead protection for 441,996, against 97,720.
3. Homestead exemption for 426,720, against 112,756.
4. Conservation districts for 310,337, against 199,389.
5. Coastal seawall bonds for 353,894, against 169,447.
6. District courts jurisdiction for 278,264, against 221,420.
7. Increase vet's land fund for 328,399, against 199,770.
8. Broaden ad valorem tax for 187,620, against 324,267.
9. Water tax exemption for 227,589, against 291,939.

Voters were not hesitant in extending to unmarried homeowners the same tax and civil advantages enjoyed by married homeowners, eighty-one per cent approved.

Amendment 8, calling for broadening of the ad valorem tax base, suffered stinging defeat. Sixty-three per cent disapproved.

Amendment 9 which would have exempted non-profit water supply corporations and cooperatives from taxes, a loss to the state treasury, apparently was defeated.

REVISION

Amendment 7 to extend the veteran's land program met with voter approval.

Daniel, who said Texans now have a "kind of revision toward politicians," blamed the Watergate scandal and the resignation of Vice President Spiro Agnew for defeat of the pay raise measure.

"Obviously, the vote on the amendment was adversely affected by the tragic events on the national level that have crushed public confidence in our political and governmental system," he said.

He called the pay raise and annual sessions amendment an "opportunity" to improve state government.

"The continuing saga of Watergate, the vice president pleading guilty to a criminal charge and resigning and most recently the talk of impeaching the president have left the people of this country in shock, disbelief and bewilderment," Daniel said.

The speaker said that Watergate created a "public mood" against politicians but it was Agnew's resignation that sank the pay raise ship in Austin.

"Had it not been for Watergate and Agnew the pay raise would have passed," he said.

But Daniel said the issue will rise again Jan. 8 when lawmakers consider a new state constitution to submit to voters.

SUBMIT IT

He explained that the draft given the legislature for consideration calls for a special salary commission to recommend pay for legislators and other public officials. It would then be up to the legislature to set its own pay within the maximum recommended by the commission.

Howard County Tracks State Voting Pattern

The majority of 1,236 Howard County residents voting Tuesday favored and disapproved the same constitutional amendments as most other Texas voters.

Only one in 12 persons on the voting rolls bothered to cast a ballot, or 8 per cent of the 15,260 registered voters.

Howard Countians did not want legislators' pay raised and objected to an amendment which would have allowed a more flexible city tax rate concerning general obligation bonds.

Also failing locally and statewide was number nine which would have exempted some property used by a nonprofit water supply corporation or cooperative from property taxes.

OK BARELY

Gaining a narrow okay was an amendment giving district court concurrent jurisdiction with county court on probate cases. This amendment authorizes the legislature to take away jurisdiction from either court.

Voters here wanted single persons old enough for the exemption as married persons to be offered the $3,000 exemption on their homestead taxes, and exemption from homestead a foreclosure.

REVERSE LISTING

Some confusion may have resulted among Howard Countians voting on this proposed amendment and among those tabulating votes at the 23 precinct boxes. On all amendments but No. 3 the top box was marked "for" and the bottom one, "against." But a proof error resulted in the "against" vote being on top for No. 3.

All boxes except the absentee box posted a majority against the legislator's pay increase and annual sessions.

Absentee votes were even, 9 for and 9 against amendment number one.

Amendment number eight, which would allow a relaxation of tax rate limits on bonded indebtedness, carried only in Forsan, and a tie was reported at the box in Dorothy Bennett's home.

Big Spring Celebration?

Nearly two score community leaders Tuesday indicated an interest in a major celebration, probably tied to the nation's 200th birthday in 1976.

The informal session held in the parlor of the Dora Roberts Student Union Building was the culmination of increasing overtures in this direction over the past year.

Pat Haggerty, representing John B. Rogers Company — the concern which staged the historical pageant and coordinated a number of other activities attendant on the city's celebration of the 110th anniversary in 1949 of discovery of the "big spring," spoke to the group.

He suggested that there might be a 125th anniversary celebration of the spring's discovery by Capt. R. B. Marcy and that the city and county might want to consider back-to-back celebrations.

The majority view, however, appeared to be that the community should plan an individual celebration but gear it with the 1976 nationwide birthday.

Mrs. Johnny Lou Avery of the HCJC staff, who has been in contact with state bi-centennial authorities and others, had convoked the meeting. As a result, city commissioners and the county commissioners court will be asked to consider naming of a bi-centennial commission, council or board of directors.

CARIO (AP) — Egypt and the United States have agreed to exchange ambassadors immediately, the official Middle East News Agency said tonight.

The news agency said the two governments had "agreed in principle to restore diplomatic relations soon" and meanwhile were raising the representatives at each of their small interest sections in the two capitals to ambassadorial level.

Operations have started on the Fowler No. 1 Flanagan, a re-entry project to deepen to the Fusselman in section 27.

The market was closed Tuesday for election day.

Brokers felt the demand was largely speculative and a carry-over on Monday. The average price for middling 1-1/16-inch spot cotton was 56.75 cents a pound Monday for the 11 leading markets.

Midrange prices were $5.00 to $10.00 a bale higher than the previous close. Dec. 71-52, March 70-57, and May 59-40.

Doughboys In Spotlight For Armistice Day Event

The government can jiggle holidays around if it wants to, but the Howard County post of the American Legion is going to celebrate Armistice Day — right on its Nov. 11 anniversary.

Accordingly, a big barbecue honoring all veterans, with those from WWI Vets barracks and auxiliary, as the honor guests.

Spotlighted, too, will be the Gold Star mothers. Other guests will include members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Disabled American Veterans, and patients from the Veterans Administration hospital.

TESCO Turns To Alternate Fuel Sources For Its Power

Texas Electric Service Company passed to honor the past here Tuesday evening, but President Burl B. Hulsey Jr. took an optimistic view of the future.

The occasion was the annual meeting of the Quarter Century Club dinner at Big Spring Country Club, honoring six new 25-year veterans of company service. They were A. D. (Dean) Forrest, L. T. Hargrove Jr., James H. Lemons, J. G. Mitchell and T. F. Rountree of Big Spring and J. B. Bond, Lamesa.

Acknowledging that "we are facing some of the most serious problems in the history of our company and industry," said Hulsey, "we (nevertheless) have reasons for optimism."

A prime reason for his confident outlook, he said, is the "human energy" factor in TESCO's operation, the one source of energy that was not in crisis. As to the fuel energy crisis, he said TESCO is developing sources to lessen its dependence upon gas and oil.

New fuels will cost more, and cost of electricity will rise, but it will still continue to be one of the best bargains since Americans spend less than two per cent of income on electric power — less than its alcoholic beverage bill, he said.

Although there are growing shortages of both natural gas and oil, which are increasing in cost, TESCO will have to depend on them for many years to meet vital needs for electricity — in homes, to provide jobs, improve the environment, for education, medical care, human comfort, all the things that make living possible and life worthwhile," Hulsey declared.

While operating to make maximum use of petroleum fuels by storing gas and doubling oil storage, the company is searching for new fuels.

TESCO is utilizing lignite (a low-grade coal) for generating electric power, and it is pressing toward its first atomic power plant. But lignite plants cost twice as much as gas-fired units, and atomic plants will cost three times as much.

HIGHER INTEREST — Moreover, in trying to finance a $700 million construction program over the next five years, TESCO is having to pay interest rates twice as much as they were 10 years ago.

"The only way we can finance these higher costs and provide the service our customers depend on is to obtain rate increases when they are needed," he said. "We have such a need now. Our plans have not been completed, but sometime early in 1974 we probably will ask the cities and towns we serve to approve an increase in our rates." Still, he said, electricity will be cheaper than in 1962 and it will rise in cost at a rate slower than the cost of living.

TESCO has in operation one lignite plant, two others under construction and three others on the boards. By 1980, it will have nine such plants that will produce 45 per cent of its power. By late 1974, the company hopes to have a permit to construct its initial atomic generating plant near Glen Rose. Additionally, TESCO is participating in the research program directed at developing a breeder reactor plant which would rely on fusion of hydrogen atoms to generate power. Other types such as solar energy, natural forces such as wind and waves, etc., are being studied, but Hulsey saw little hope that these could make any significant contribution to meeting energy demands before the year 2000.

COMPRESSED CHANGE — Growth calls for change, he reminded, and in these days change is compressed with dizzying rapidity. Tesco's family, he observed, is more than equal to meeting the challenges.

Following the dinner, which featured entertainment by the "Three a Crowd" group from Tarleton State College in Stephenville, employees and officials danced. Here with Hulsey for the occasion were Dale Scarth, Bill Marquart, B. L. Martin, Leroy Schull, and Bob Humphries from the general offices in Fort Worth. Tom Locke Jr., area manager presided.

INDUCTEES — Inducted as new members of the Quarter Century Club and given watches were: J. C. Mitchell, native of Coleman County, veteran of the Air Force, holder of industrial engineering degree from Arlington, active in Little League management, an arrow maker by hobby.

T. F. Rountree, native of Navarro County, Air Force veteran, rose through various posts at Big Spring, Colorado City and Sweetwater to be electric foreman.

L. T. Hargrove Jr., native of Waxahachie, lineman at Midland, Big Spring, etc., former patrolman at Colorado City, now a leadman, and a woodwork hobbyist.

J. M. Bond, reared in Big Spring area, meter specialist who has become "the meter department" at Lamesa; active in church affair's as Sunday School teacher, music director, deacon.

Dean Forrest, native of Howard County who gave up farming to join TESCO line crew and rose to be lineman first class leadman; quarter horse breeder on 20-acre farm east of Big Spring, Methodist steward.

Jim Lemons, graduate of Big Spring High, Navy veteran, worked for TESCO first while completing work at Texas A&M, manager of O'Donnell office, past president of O'Donnell Rotary Big Spring Downtown Lions district deputy governor Lions and founding director of district Lions eye bank, former vice president Odessa Jaycees, Sunday School teacher, usher.

DEATHS — Max H. Stokes

Mr. Stokes died at 7:30 p.m. Monday in a San Angelo hospital after a short illness.

A Tahoka native, he married Evelyn Smith Feb. 14, 1947 in Colorado City. He had lived in Westbrook and moved to San Angelo five years ago where he was an employee of Armour Packing Co.

Survivors are his wife; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Stokes, Westbrook; a daughter, Mrs. B. L. Brooks, Great Falls, Mont.; two sons, Max E. Stokes, Livingston, and Donnie Stokes, San Angelo; a sister, Mrs. Oren Moore, Colorado City; three brothers, Herman Stokes, Snyder, Robert Stokes, Waco, and Newell Stokes, Dimmitt; and one grandchild.

Mother Dies — LUBBOCK — Services will be at 2:30 p.m. Thursday in Resthaven-Singleton-Wilson Chapel for Mrs. Elizabeth S. Payne, 97, who died around 7 p.m. Monday in University Convalescent Home here after a long illness. Burial will be in Resthaven Memorial Park. Among survivors is a daughter, Mrs. Joe Woolever, Colorado City.

Cotton Flow Is Slower — The cotton harvest continues rather slow throughout the Pecos Territory. Grades were slightly lower than a week ago. The USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service classing office in Pecos classed 3,864 samples for the week ending Nov. 2 bringing the season's total to 10,366. This compares with 15,042 for the same period a year ago, according to Max Medcalf, in charge.

Grade 32 was predominant with 37 per cent, followed by grade 31, amounting to 28 per cent, and grade 41 with slightly over one-fourth of classings. Staple 34 continued predominant with almost two-thirds of the samples classed.

Mike readings averaged 89 per cent making 3.5-4.9. Breaking strength of fibers averaged 81,000 psi for the week and for the season.

Farmers received $100 to $110 per ton for cottonseed.

Social Security Increase Shapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee today reversed itself on Social Security legislation and tentatively agreed on a two-step benefit boost totaling 11 per cent next year.

By voice vote, the committee rejected the version that it had approved by 13 to 12 Tuesday. That version would have boosted benefits by 10 per cent effective with next July's checks, a plan endorsed by the Nixon administration and backed by the committee's Republicans.

The new version, a Democratic-sponsored compromise that could come under attack by the Nixon administration, gained temporary approval by voice vote. Committee leaders promptly ordered formal legislation drafted and said they hoped to gain the panel's final approval later today or Thursday.

Meanwhile, the House prepared to vote today on a bill that would temporarily raise the nation's debt ceiling from $465 billion to $478 through June 30, 1974. Unless Congress acts, the ceiling will automatically drop to its permanent level of $400 billion Nov. 30, at which time the national debt is expected to be about $467 billion.

The financing provision of the Social Security bill calls for hiking to $13,200 on Jan. 1 the amount of earnings from which Social Security taxes would be automatically withheld. The tax rate of 5.85 per cent would remain the same.

Translated, this would mean a worker and his boss, each of whom paid a maximum of $631.80 in Social Security taxes this year, would pay $772.20 each in 1974.

Under existing law, the wage base for withholding is to rise from $10,800 this year to $12,600, which would mean employee deductions up to $737.10 and an equal amount for employers.

Democratic backers of an alternative Social Security proposal, calling for a two-step benefit boost of 12 per cent next year, were expected to press for giving the House a chance to vote also on their version. Its financing is similar to the Republican-backed measure.

A Nixon administration spokesman said the President would be urged to sign the 10 per cent plan since it would be effective with paychecks beginning in July, meeting Nixon's goal of holding down expenditures during the fiscal year ending June 30.

The spokesman said Nixon would be asked to veto the two-step, 12 per cent boost because of its impact on the current fiscal year.

Black Militant Brown Guilty Of Jumping Bail — ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (AP) — Black militant H. Rap Brown has pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge after Maryland dropped felony charges against the former director of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

Dorchester County State's Atty. William B. Yates II said Tuesday that charges of arson, inciting to riot and riot against Brown in connection with violence at Cambridge, Md., six years ago would not be prosecuted.

Since the charges were filed, the chief of police at Cambridge in 1967 and other witnesses have died, Yates explained.

After a July 1967 speech in which Brown said "it's time for Cambridge to explode, baby," a crowd of blacks set fires which burned two blocks of the city and caused $300,000 in damage.

After the felony charges were dropped, Brown pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge of jumping bail after failing to appear for trial in 1970.

Howard County Circuit Court Judge James Macgill sentenced Brown, 30, to serve a year in jail, retroactive to Oct. 16, 1971, away from county court probation jurisdiction, 67-32; allowing a more flexible tax rate limitations concerning bonded city indebtedness, 69-31; and property tax exemptions for water supply groups, 61-40.

Dawson Clobbers Water Unit, Three Amendments — LAMESA — Dawson County voters Tuesday defeated a proposal to create an underground water conservation district involving Dawson and six other counties and rejected five constitutional amendments on the statewide ballot.

A little over 800 of Dawson's 6,400 qualified voters went to the polls.

On the amendments, they voted: No. 1, 256 for, 470 against; No. 2, 529 for, 194 against; No. 3, 498 for, 218 against; No. 4, 237 for, 454 against; No. 5, 385 for, 294 against; No. 6, 260 for, 424 against; No. 7, 373 for, 346 against; No. 8, 210 for, 456 against; No. 9, 245 for, 473 against.

On the water district issue, Dawson voters defeated the proposal by a 320-112 margin.

Seven South Plains counties Tuesday nixed a proposal to create a South Plains Underground Water Conservation District.

The issue failed throughout the proposed district by a margin of 1,432-872. Counties which would have been involved were Dawson, Terry, Gaines, Andrews, Cochran, Yoakum and Lynn.

Hospital Chief Says Fiscal Distribution Action Taken — Corrective action has been taken or is under way on all points of fiscal distribution questioned at Big Spring State Hospital by a former employee, Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent, said today.

Tad Corbet, who submitted his resignation as director of outreach Aug. 20, had complained that funds appropriated for outreach were being used for other hospital purposes.

"We didn't think we were doing anything improper," said Dr. Harrison. "We didn't do anything illegal. I know it isn't illegal."

He acknowledged that some payments line-itemed in the legislative appropriation bill for outreach activities were used for other hospital functions, but he insisted that no changes were made "unless there was some outreach involvement directly or indirectly."

Corbet had complained to the Legislative Budget board, which turned the matter over to auditors for the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, that $40,000 to $50,000 in state appropriations for outreach was applied to pay certain hospital employees.

Outreach is a service by which the hospital works through community mental health services to serve people who they reside. In this connection, the hospital here has been considered a sort of service center for these clinics and services, such as the circuit riders.

Assistant M-H-M-R Commissioner Earl Scott conceded that the practices of BSSH in co-mingling of the funds may to some extent be a breach of legislative intent. He said that an audit indicated that seven persons were paid out of outreach funds who did no direct or part-time outreach work.

Dr. Harrison contended that while this may have been a technical deviation from the item appropriation, that the outreach program, which he fathered in Texas, was part of the total mission of the hospital. Handling of the program was recommended by Corbet, he said.

He also firmly said that no employee had been paid out of outreach funds unless in some way he or she had been responsible to outreach.

He added that in the future no employee will be paid with outreach money unless he or she devotes more than half of his or her time directly to outreach. Nevertheless, he held to the conviction that sound accounting would call for expenditures of outreach funds when services are rendered for this activity, directly or indirectly.

One of the complaints that Corbet, who still resides here, made, was that one "circuit rider" doctor was being paid $4,000 a month from outreach appropriations. Dr. Harrison said that was true, but that he considered this part of the total concept of reaching out into the communities with mental health services.

In all instances, fiscal procedures have been changed to meet a strict interpretation of distribution of funds, he added, but that efforts are continuing to find an acceptable and approved formula for charging outreach for services rendered in its behalf.

Dr. Harrison recalled that Corbet had resigned Aug. 20 in a perfunctory letter, and that it came as a surprise to him because there had been no prior discussion between them on the points in question. He said the letter was accompanied by a "warm" memo which he interpreted as an expression of friendship.

Corbet contacted several officials, including State Sen. Pete Snelson, Midland, who in turn bucked it to the LBB, and the M-H-M-R auditors, who have spent about two months going over BSSH accounts.

Pursuing Antitrust Suits Against 3 TV Networks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department is pursuing major antitrust suits against the three commercial television networks despite fears that the public may question its motives.

CBS, NBC and ABC lost the first round in the 18-month battle when a federal judge last week denied their motion to dismiss or delay the case. The order cleared the way for government attorneys to begin the lengthy process of obtaining and examining network records.

OWN SHOWS
The government contends that the networks have illegally monopolized the production of TV entertainment programs and seeks a court order prohibiting the networks from producing their own shows.

The lawsuits do not concern television news, public affairs, documentaries and sports programs. The government suits claim that the networks have shut off competition in the production of entertainment programs by producing many themselves, and by retaining ownership interests in programs they buy from independent producers.

The FCC has prohibited the networks from holding financial interests in independently-produced programs, but the Justice Department wants to go further and ban in-house production of entertainment programs.

MOTIVES
Questions about the motives of the court action were renewed by the disclosure of White House memos proposing pressure tactics against the networks and other news media the administration considered unfair.

However, Justice Department sources say that President Nixon's well-known antipathy toward the networks actually delayed the suits.

The antitrust division had been preparing the cases since the mid-1950s but two attorneys, William P. Rogers in the late 1950s and Nicholas

DeB. Katzenbach in 1964, decided not to file the suits.

MUZZLED

After Nixon took office, Richard W. McLaren was installed as assistant attorney general in charge of the antitrust division. At some point, he recommended to then-Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell that the suits be filed. Sources said that Mitchell de-

Communist Attacks Aimed Primarily At Seizing Rice

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. intelligence analysts believe intensified Communist attacks in South Vietnam are aimed primarily at seizing the important rice crop.

These sources said that documents captured by the South Vietnamese indicate the Communist command has not yet ordered a general offensive. However, analysts said, such an offensive could come early next year.

According to captured documents, North Vietnamese and Viet Cong soldiers have been told that their main objective for the remaining two months of this year is to gain control of as much of the rice crop as possible and to prevent it from getting to market in towns and cities controlled by the Saigon government.

At the same time, U.S. intelligence specialists said, Communist troops have been ordered to force South Vietnamese units into defensive positions, limiting their movements while Communist political officers accelerate propaganda against the Thieu regime.

The United States has formally accused North Vietnam of violating the Vietnam cease-fire agreement by sending heavy troop reinforcements and a stream of war supplies into South Vietnam.

A senior defense official said late last week that "there is a very substantial possibility that the United States would take counteraction" in event of a North Vietnamese offensive.

Substantial U.S. air power still is stationed in Thailand and U.S. officials have indicated it is there in part to deter any new North Vietnamese offensive in South Vietnam, Laos or Cambodia.

Mike Dennis Is Making Gains

Mike Dennis, 17, Big Spring, who lost part of both legs because of a car wash accident, is improving in Willford Hall Hospital, Lackland Air Force Base.

He has undergone surgery 12 times, his mother, Mrs. Bennie Hatfield, said, and probably will face surgery three or four additional times.

Mrs. Hatfield expressed her thanks for donations and letters Big Springers have sent. She asked persons to keep sending letters and cards. Mike is staying in Ward A7 of the San Antonio hospital.

He looks forward to mail daily, she said. Mrs. Hatfield is visiting her son regularly once weekly now.

1,233 STILL LISTED Search For Missing GIs May Be Cut Short

WASHINGTON (AP) — The search for Americans missing in Indochina is slowing and Pentagon officials say it may be cut short in a few months.

There has been no U.S. decision to stop looking for the remains of 1,233 American servicemen still carried as missing in the Indochina fighting, which ended officially in January.

But three elements are contributing to doubts that more remains will be found and identified — including an impasse in negotiations with the North Vietnamese, continued heavy fighting in South Vietnam and Cambodia.

'ONLY A HANDFUL'

So far, Brig. Gen. Robert C. Kingston, chief of the Joint Casualty Resolution Center at Nakhon Phanom, Thailand, has located and positively identified the remains of nine missing men. The remains of six or seven others are undergoing laboratory examination.

Members of Kingston's 150-man staff have been limited to searches in uncontested areas of South Vietnam, although last January's cease-fire agreement called for cooperation among South Vietnam, North Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos on the exchange of information about missing soldiers.

Pentagon officials report "only a handful" of sites in uncontested territory remain to be explored in the two months before the rainy season begins. Those sites are described as much less likely to produce remains than the 20 explored so far.

SHARP FIGHTING
In other parts of South Vietnam, where there are another 250 possible sites, any search must await the end of repeated cease-fire violations. Recent reports of heavy North Vietnamese troop build-ups and sharp fighting in the central highlands make the opening of new search areas unlikely for at least several months.

Udall Raps 'Energy Pigs'

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Former Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall says Americans are "energy pigs" whose nation is operating on misguided assumptions that the energy crisis is a short-term problem.

Udall told a University of Virginia audience that the energy crisis is so severe "you can expect your first cold shower in about 60 days."

For Americans to dream of relying on Arab oil or to depend on increased drilling in the United States are foolish, shortsighted solutions, he said. Udall said the United States already is the most-drilled country in the world and oil supplies are becoming increasingly inaccessible.

He said energy conservation is the only practical long range solution and that Americans must prepare themselves for the end of the era of cheap energy.

He predicted the demise of the automobile culture and called for the rejuvenation of public transportation.

He also warned of the possibility of gasoline rationing in a few months, and he predicted gasoline prices probably would reach $1 a gallon for the average motorist within a year.

Own Tanker Fleet Wise

Since a growing percentage of oil consumed in the United States must come from foreign countries, should American tankers be allocated a percentage of imported oil?

This question has been asked, and to some degree answered by two measures introduced in Congress, HR 8193 and S 2089, the Oil Import Quota bill. Both bills would require that at least 20 per cent of the gross tonnage of all petroleum products imported by sea be carried in U.S. flag tankers. The quota would be increased to 25 per cent in 1975 and 30 per cent in 1977.

This legislation is being opposed by the American Committee for Flags of Necessity, representing shipowners who fly the flags of Monrovia, Liberia, Panama and other countries. The National Maritime Union strongly supports the measures, both because it would provide more steady jobs for their members and, in the words of Sen. J. Glenn Beall of Maryland, cosponsor of the Senate bill, to provide a "dependable system for receiving those vital shipments" of oil. In addition, Beall said, an estimated $150 million yearly saving in our balance of payments account would be realized. Certainly there can be no question that the United States does need to maintain a substantial tanker fleet, if for no other reason than the possibility of a national emergency. In such a situation there would be no guarantee that flags of convenience ships would be available. Some Americans, and not just union seamen, were upset recently when Russian tankers began delivering Egyptian crude to Getty Oil Co. facilities at Delaware City, Del. There can be differences of opinion on the subject of how much imported oil should be carried in American bottoms. But there should be substantial agreement that a healthy American tanker fleet is important to our national defense.

Opening Navy Oil Reserve

Rep. John E. Moss of California has raised a serious objection, which merits consideration, to the President's order opening the Navy's developed oil reserves to production. Rep. Moss says the move will provide a "windfall" for a limited number of private oil companies; the congressman claims at least $42 million will go to one firm, Standard Oil of California. He may be right; he may be wrong.

In question is the government's decision to tap the Elk Hills reserve in California for one year at the rate of 160,000 barrels a day. The purpose is to help alleviate the current oil shortage. It is proposed that the oil would be sold to the highest bidder.

Rep. Moss says, however, this "open bidding" provision is misleading. Pipeline facilities in the area are sparse, and thus the number of companies able to bid is severely limited, the congressman reports.

Perhaps there could be some pooling arrangement on production with bidding to be on the oil delivered to the market place.

Those Old Papers

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

Comes a nice piece from the Garden State Paper Company of Garfield, N.J., concerning recycling of paper. What it has to say of the urgency of revising paper and other materials is right, and yet . . .

IN 1889, each American used 57.9 pounds of paper and paperboard; last year that figure was 615.2 pounds. Of that total 99.2 pounds was in newsprint alone, up 19.1 pounds within the past 10 years.

What this adds to is 10,363,000 tons of newsprint for the United States, or almost three million tons more than only 10 years ago. Now consider that 15 trees must be cut down to provide the ingredients for a ton of newsprint. That comes out to 155,457,600 trees. And that's just for one year.

AS BIG AS the world is, it requires no great imagination to envision that this, plus the increasing demands of the construction industry for more and more lumber products could almost denude our globe of its forest lands. In this day of sudden awareness for ecological considerations, that bleak possibility simply is unacceptable.

THE OTHER side of this coin is that for every pound of waste such as old newspapers, cardboard boxes, paper sacks and wrappings that is manufactured, eventually there is a pound of waste that must be disposed of. It is estimated that around 20 per cent of the average town's solid waste consists of old newspapers. If they are burned, this compounds the air pollution problem.

What's going to happen when our dumpgrounds fill up? Well, we have some idea of the reaction of starting another from the protests that have been raised right here in our own city over trying to reclaim an area at the east edge of town.

SO, THERE'S a whale of a lot to be said for recycling. According to the paper company's news release, the urgency is increased by the devaluation of the dollar, which has made it attractive for foreign countries to buy U.S. products — including newsprint. So, from California within one year one the rate of newsprint export tripled, so already short supplies could be drained further. Or, turn it around by considering that for every ton of newsprint we do produce, we import two tons from Canada. So every ton of newsprint we don't have to import saves us $170 plus per ton, or some $60 million annually.

OBVIOUSLY recycling of newsprint is desirable if not urgent. And yet — Don't start saving your newspapers. The Meistersingers last year started a paper drive, only to drown in paper when the buyer also got inundated. Recently a Washington sixth grade class tried for help on storage and transportation of old newspapers.

WELL, WHAT'S the answer? I venture to predict that eventually it will be a municipal collection system, not only for paper, but other salvageable materials. This probably could be made to pay for itself, with good management even though stores of paper (why couldn't it be pulped and compressed?) might have to be held for a relative modest stretch of time? It makes no sense to me for a country to be buried in its trash when the elements of that waste are needed. Our world's resources are not inexhaustible, you know.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

Since viewing your TV program a few weeks ago, my children have been upset over a statement you made about the man crucified next to Christ. You said he was a murderer before noon, later was placed next to Christ, and was forgiven of his sins, and then by 7 p.m. was in heaven. This seems false — since Christ had not been resurrected Himself.

J.R. The statement of the criminal you refer to (Luke 23:43) is one of the most striking examples of faith in the New Testament. He was one of the few who read the inscription on Christ's cross correctly—and believed in Jesus' coming Kingship.

But the words of Christ assured him of acceptance not just in a far-off heaven, but immediately in the quiet home of the blessed, the object of all hopes. Some Bible scholars feel that he didn't even have to wait for death to get some of the benefit of Christ's words. As martyrs have shown, the joy of the faith can be almost a physical anesthetic.

Now this is the only instance of our Lords using the word "paradise," a word familiar, of course, to the criminal. Perhaps you missed my answer of a few days ago regarding the state of the righteous dead between death and the final resurrection of the body. While many questions remain, yet we know it is a state of bliss — when the departed soul is indeed with His Lord. Did not Jesus commend His soul at death to the Father — and it was in that frame of reference the promise was made. My statement is not cause for anyone to be upset, but glad.

SKOKIE, Ill. — This Chicago area suburb hardly resembles the habitat of a reindeer, particularly one of Santa Claus' team.

But here amidst rows of neat, two-story colonial homes resides the "greatest reindeer of them all" — Rudolph.

"Oh, Rudolph will be out for the North Pole soon, but he's still here now," said Robert L. May, and he should know.

After all, it is in May's home that the red-nosed reindeer lives when he's not out helping Santa.

The sprightly little animal has been a part of the May household since 1939 — when May created Rudolph while working as a catalog editor for Montgomery Ward Co. in Chicago.

In the intervening 34 years, millions of copies of Rudolph's story have been circulated, approximately 100 million recordings about him have been sold, roughly 60 million copies of sheet music have been distributed, and the homely deer has become almost as much a part of Christmas as ol' Santa himself.

"The story of Rudolph is the only important addition to American Christmas lore in this century," said James H. Barnett, an American Christmas historian.

Rudolph resulted from instructions to May to write an animal story which would be distributed in booklet form to children visiting Ward's stores during the Christmas season of 1939.

"The most logical animal to write about at Christmas is a reindeer," said May.

"I also had to make the animal sort of an ugly duckling so children could identify with him."

"Children, after all, are the little people of the world and often feel awkward and misfitting. Thus the red nose.

The choice of the name was not so easy, May remembers. "I almost chose Rollo or Reginald," he said. "But Reginald sounded too much like a sissy or a snob and Rollo sounded too happy. So we picked Rudolph, a fun name which seemed to tie in with the nose."

"Our chief object," May added, "was to develop an underdog character because Americans always are for the underdog who, through goodness and perseverance, gains the respect of everyone."

Right from the start, May's thinking bore results. Ward distributed 2.4 million copies of the story of Rudolph that first year. In 1946, after the war, the story was reprinted and another 3.6 million booklets were given out.

However, it wasn't until 1947, when May requested and received the copyright to the story, that Rudolph really took off.

That year a New York publisher agreed to distribute Rudolph on the general market and two years later Johnny Marks, a friend of May, put the story to music. That Christmas Gene Autry recorded the song and Rudolph became etched in the minds and hearts of children throughout America.

Heroic Efforts

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — The journey that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is now on is surely the boldest and the most difficult he has ever undertaken. He is searching for a peaceful solution of the Middle East conflict, which is rather like the pursuit of the philosophers' stone that alchemists in the Middle Ages considered to have the power to transmute baser metals into gold.

KISSINGER HAS won to a degree the confidence of all but the more fanatical of the Arab states. This was achieved by his marathon efforts to bring about a cease-fire that would end the slaughter.

It was the Secretary's intervention that persuaded the Israelis to stop short of destroying the Egyptian III Corps with 20,000 men on the east bank of the Suez Canal. The army could have been destroyed by direct attack or by denying them food and water in the fierce heat of the desert. Convoys described by Kissinger as humanitarian have relieved the Egyptian troops.

KISSINGER was convinced that destruction of the III Corps would have greatly inflamed blood hatreds and have made a fifth Arab-Israeli war inevitable. This Israeli victory would have been costly to Israel as well as to Egypt. It is the denial of such a "victory," as construed in Jerusalem, that has embittered feeling among many Israelis toward the United States.

But it would have foreclosed any hope of a peaceful solution beyond the confused cease-fire with its indeterminate lines. That solution may, in any event, be beyond hope. The belief in Egypt is that Kissinger is bringing in his briefcase a miraculous answer to the conflict that has seen four wars in one generation. Yet there is no miracle in the secretary's dispatch box that can bring a quick peace.

BY HER restraint and her determination to avoid recrimination,

Prime Minister Golda Meir in her Washington visit enhanced the hope for peaceful negotiation. Hard-pressed in her own country by increasingly numerous hard-liners angry that victory was snatched from them by their only friend, the United States, she held to the response under repeated questioning that pressure from Washington had not been the reason for ending the war on Oct. 22.

A lot has been written about Kissinger's tirelessness, his ability to fly around the world and arrive at a point of major conflict or negotiation in apparent good humor and prepared to use his skills unimpaired by fatigue and the jet lag. But this journey is surely a test of his capacities — four days in four Arab countries, then Iran and Pakistan, then Peking for three days and return by way of Tokyo.

WHAT HE said both in his Pacem in Terris speech and in his press conference seems to have made little impression on a people preoccupied with domestic turbulence. Put as simply as possible, he gave it as his conviction that failure of the present efforts for peace in the world — with the Middle East a vital phase of that effort — will mean a return to all-out cold war and defense budgets far greater than the present record levels.

Although some participants take this as the foreordained course, consider what it would mean in more inflation, increased taxes, the starvation of badly needed social services, the whole panoply of troubles that afflict the nation today.

KISSINGER is almost literally on his own. A beleaguered President whose closest allies are beginning to demand his resignation can give him little help. The odds are probably heavily against the success of his present mission. But he deserves better.

Maybe Yes, Maybe No

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like your opinion on health hazards, if any, for a person who has had a heart attack traveling by automobile in mountainous areas.

My husband, now 49, had a coronary heart attack six years ago. Since then he has been taking anti-coagulant medication. He has had no further heart trouble that we know of; in fact a recent ECG shows improvement.

We contemplate a trip to Colorado and the highest mountain pass we will travel over will be 11,300 feet. Would walking at that altitude, while taking a tour, be detrimental? — Mrs. H.B.S.

There isn't any yes or no answer to your question; it depends on the individual. But I can give you some guidance. High altitudes may not be tolerated well by some individuals with heart or lung disease — the rarified atmosphere, with a lower oxygen content, is the reason. (I have known obese persons to have trouble breathing at less than 11,000 feet.)

It may take a day or more for a person to adjust at a higher altitude. Your husband, evidently compensating very well six years after his heart attack, may likewise adjust to the higher altitude if you just give him a fair chance to do so, and take heed of any warning signs if they appear.

Specifically, if the increase in altitude is gradual, it is easier to adjust. You may, for example, want to stop over for a day at some mid-point.

How to tell whether he is adjusting? Walking is a good test. If he gets short of breath or giddy, he has had enough. Give him more time to adjust, or do not go any higher. (Or go back down!)

But assuming that to be the case, I would say that you should be alert to detect any shortness of breath, but other than that I would doubt that the trip would be hazardous.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I remember reading about someone having a flat, ribbon-like bowel movement rather than round. I can't remember the explanation, but would it be advisable to tell one's doctor about it at the next checkup? — D.E.K.

Any change in bowel habit pattern, pain or bleeding should be reported to your doctor. The "ribbon stool" could be one of the "changes in bowel pattern" which is listed as one of the seven danger signals of cancer.

The "ribbon" shape can result from pressure in the rectum, or it may be a harmless manifestation of a softer than normal stool. A single occurrence may mean nothing; but if the change is persistent, then yes, by all means tell your doctor.

The Iranian View

Rowland Evans

TEHERAN — Proof of U.S. "credibility" in pressing Israel to withdraw from its Arab territories in Egypt and Syria captured in 1967 would modify and possibly cancel anti-American production cutbacks by the oil-rich Arab states, the Shah of Iran suggested in an exclusive interview today.

IRAN the second-largest Middle East oil producer, did not join the production cutback.

As the leader of 32 million non-Arab Moslems with intimate ties to Washington and correct relations with Moscow, the Shah is by far the most important independent power on the edge of the explosive Middle East.

MORE TO THE point, Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi is determined to replace the British as guarantor of the most vital waterway in the world today, the Persian Gulf. Without Persian Gulf passage of uncountable oil tankers, the entire economies of Japan and Western Europe would strangle for lack of oil.

Consequently, the Shah, handsome at 54 with the sleek assurance of total authority and 32 years in power, is to be carefully listened to.

THE UNITED STATES has always supported the principle of the inadmissibility of acquiring land by force," he told us in the gold-chased office of his Niavaran Palace high in the hills overlooking his capital.

"Israel has no choice but to leave the Arab lands it captured in 1967."

But what if that doesn't happen? The Shah, choosing his words carefully, said that Israel could never alone handle a situation in which the Arabs' ally, the Soviet Union, chose to use its power. Only the U.S. could do that.

"BUT FOR WHAT reason?" he asked rhetorically. "One cannot expect the United States to risk destruction of itself and the whole world because Israel wants to stay in Sinai."

The Shah also came down hard against U.S.-Soviet participation in any United Nations force eventually established to guarantee Israel's security behind the old, pre-1967 lines. The two great powers should avoid personal involvement, he told us.

THE SHAH declined to discuss actual U.S. policy in the Middle East today; the times are too sensitive, he said. But the general feeling was expressed forcibly to us by lesser government officials. It is that Washington's Middle East policy is so muddled that it cannot really be defined.

THE SHAH does not agree that all-out U.S. support of Israel and the consequent Arab appeal for aid to Moscow explain the Soviet Union's growing presence in the Eastern Mediterranean and in Iraq, which has a long border with Iran.

Mechanical Bull

Robert E. Ford

Riding a calf in the milking lot may be fun. You can have a big old time on a half-broke horse. But it ain't rodeo.

THIS IS the highly-educated opinion of a man from Cowtown who has a story to tell of his own career on the buckin' and ropin' circuits.

The narrator is Sam Reeves, 6 feet 4 and 205 pounds, who has come up with something with which a rodeo buff can learn to ride the rough stuff without being stomped and kicked flat to death.

"Made it two years on the rodeo circuit and then got hurt real bad and had to give it up," Reeves relates. He started riding bulls when "I was a tall, thin drink of water," he reports. Reeves weighed 165 pounds then.

"I wanted to ride this bull over at Dublin, Tex. I took a little extra wrap 'round my fingers."

WHAT COWBOYS what around their fingers is a leather strap so they hopefully can hang onto the beast. Extra wrapping is dangerous.

because sometimes the rider can't get it loose in an emergency. It's about like tying yourself to a bed on the Titanic to keep from drowning.

"I got thrown, and my fingers hung up, and he (the bull) just flat tore me up," said Reeves. What resulted was a back injury that ruined his career.

"I have a boy who was a rodeo hand," Reeves related. He was talking about Mike, now 20. Mike couldn't get training, so "That's the reason I got into it," said Sam.

"IT" IS a method of training would-be rodeo performers without anybody getting all busted up.

He has developed mechanical bulls and horses which perform like rodeo stock.

They will be on a stationary platform. The mechanical animals will be surrounded by a trampoline-like arrangement to provide a soft fall.

The animals will buck, twist, jump and do anything the real animals do.

Or computerized tapes can be used. Each tape will have certain standard animal movements or certain tricks of well-known rodeo bulls or horses.

A Devotion For Today . . .

I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us. (Romans 8:18)

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, save us from living in ways which bring suffering on ourselves. Remind us that we are disciples of Jesus Christ, who faced and triumphed over the cross. Amen.

Jayhawks Nab 73-62 Verdict Over Alvin JC

ALVIN — Howard County's Jayhawks, facing their first winter freeze, overcame Alvin Junior College delay tactics here Tuesday night and claimed a 73-62 decision, their second of the young season.

The Dolphins ran a stall offense until the final three minutes of the game, attempting to neutralize the Hawk attack which had rolled up 126 points the night before. But the idea flopped from the start as the Jayhawks broke the freeze early and ran to a 19-4 edge in the opening stages of the game.

The game was at its closest at the half, as Alvin scored a couple of baskets and hit several free throws just before the intermission, cutting Howard County's lead to 34-29.

HCJC ends its first road trip of the year tonight against College of the Mainland in Texas City. The game will be broadcast over radio station KBYG beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Leroy Lumzy grabbed the Jayhawks' scoring honors again, as he tossed in 15 points. Thomas Bledsoe, who ran into foul trouble early and sat out most of the second half, chipped in 13 and Taylor Williams and David Tolliver each added 11 points.

Bledsoe pulled down 14 rebounds and Williams grabbed 13 as the two 6-7 Jayhawks dominated the boards, and Tolliver, Bledsoe's top replacement, hauled in six. Lumzy was the floor leader with seven assists.

The HC cagers weren't as hot from the field as they were a night earlier, as they hit on 29 of 71 for a 41 per cent showing.

Jayhawk Coach Harold Wilder said he was pleased with the way his team handled the unfamiliar stall. "I felt like we'd be seeing it some this year, so I guess it's good for us to face it now," the coach said. "We adjusted pretty well to their zone defense and the delay-type game, and I was happy about that."

Alvin JC was led by James Sapp's game-high 18 points, and Pete Hulzar added 13.

Baltimore's Palmer Wins AL Cy Young

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Palmer, the right-handed ace of the Baltimore Orioles, was named today the American League's Cy Young Award winner for 1973.

The Orioles' bird of beauty won in a walk over an illustrious group of pitchers, including California strikeout whiz Nolan Ryan and Oakland ace Jim "Catfish" Hunter.

The Baseball Writers Association of America, noting Palmer's 22-9 won-lost record and league-leading earned run average of 2.40, gave Palmer 14 first-place votes and six for second for a total of 83 points. Points were awarded on the basis of five for a first-place vote, three for second and one for third.

"I'm really thrilled," said Palmer. "It's nice to know that you're recognized as the best pitcher in the league. Every year I've been close and this year, I finally made it."

Ryan, also a 20-game winner, established an all-time major league strikeout record this past season with 383 and pitched two no-hitters. But despite the accomplishments, the hard-throwing Angels' star finished 26 points shy of Palmer in second place.

Ryan's total of 62 points were fashioned on nine first-place votes, three for second and eight for third. Twenty-four members of the BBWA — two from each of the league's 12 cities — participated in the voting.

Hunter was mentioned on more ballots than any player — 22 — but still fell well below Palmer's runaway total. Hunter, who had the gaudiest record of the three top Cy Young players with 21-5, had 52 points. The writers gave the Oakland control pitcher the only other first place vote, as well as 13 for second and 8 for third.

Detroit's John Hiller, the only relief pitcher named among the nine pitchers receiving votes, was a distant fourth with six points. Hiller, who saved a record 38 games and won 10 more, was awarded a vote for second place and three for third.

The other pitchers recognized in the Cy Young voting were: Wilbur Wood of the Chicago White Sox (3); Milwaukee's Jim Colburn (2); Oakland's Vida Blue (1); Bert Blyleven of Minnesota (1) and Gaylord Perry of Cleveland (1).

Five 20-game winners weren't even given a vote — Joe Coleman of Detroit; Luis Tiant of Boston; California's Bill Singer; Ken Holtzman of Oakland, and Kansas City's Paul Splittorf.

The 28-year-old Palmer, who had his fourth straight 20-victory season in 1973, is the first Baltimore pitcher to win the award outright. In 1969, the Orioles' Mike Cuellar shared the prize with Detroit's Denny McLain.

Although obviously satisfied, Palmer wasn't entirely surprised by the award. He felt he deserved it.

Palmer's strikeout total of 158 wasn't in Ryan's class, and his victories were two short of league-leader Wood's 24. "But I guess my statistics all-around were pretty good."

Palmer called the Cy Young Award a "dream come true — something I've wanted since growing up in New York."

Jordan Gets NFL Honors

DALLAS (AP) — It was after the 30-16 loss to Philadelphia two weeks ago and Dallas Coach Tom Landry was under severe fire about the performance of the Cowboy defense.

"There was a bright spot," Landry said. "You might not have noticed it, but Lee Roy Jordan played the greatest game a Dallas linebacker has ever had. He made 21 tackles and 14 of them were unassisted."

What does the 1-year veteran do for an encore? The next week the All-American from Alabama intercepts three passes in a 38-10 victory over Cincinnati — the greatest game a Dallas linebacker has ever had on pass defense. It earned him The Associated Press National Football League Defensive Player of the Week accolade.

Jordan decided to set an example Sunday for his teammates after he gave them a fiery speech earlier in the week during a meeting.

"We had a team meeting and talked about what hard work and hustle would do for this club," Jordan said. "If anybody didn't want it that way, they could go somewhere else."

Jordan added, "The last couple of weeks we'd been easing around and hadn't even intercepted a pass in practice. I bet we got 10 before the Cincinnati game."

He has been the team's inspirational leader in two Dallas trips to the Super Bowl.

Alabama Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant said Jordan was the best defender he ever coached for the Crimson Tide. Told once about a swift Oklahoma back that Alabama was going to face in the 1963 Orange Bowl, Bryant asked: "Does the guy stay between the lines? If he does stay in bounds, Lee Roy will get him."

Jordan made 31 tackles in that game.

Ken Anderson, the Cincinnati quarterback, tried every trick in the book to shake Jordan. Anderson looked in the opposite direction he was going to pass once to try to get Jordan to take a false step. It didn't pass after a tricky double reverse hand off. Jordan was there again.

Jordan intercepted three passes on three consecutive Bengal possessions and ran one back 31 yards for a touchdown.

BUT NOT PLAYING HIS BEST Leaks Tops In Country

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Longhorns' panzer fullback, Roosevelt Leaks, who blitzed SMU for 342 yards on 37 carries Saturday, says he isn't playing up to his potential.

Leaks came within eight yards of the NCAA record and is the Associated Press National back of the week, but he lost three fumbles.

No matter how good a game the 218-pound junior has, he always says he could have done better.

"I'm still not playing at my capability," he says. One fumble or one missed block makes him angry about his performance.

Leaks is a hard man to interview. He is a strange blend of confidence and shyness.

After Texas whipped SMU, 42-14, he was asked why he wasn't given the ball the two times Texas got inside the 10-yard line and failed to score in the first half. "The man don't get the ball every time," he said.

Yet, when his picture was taken after the AP's national honor, his lip trembled.

Most questions drew a "Yeah" or a "No." How does he feel about the award? "Fine."

"I think the honor should go to the offensive line," is a filibuster.

Texas Coach Darrell Royal who would rather see a devastating block than watch a one-handed catch of a 70-yard pass, repeatedly bunched up the reel at this weekly showing of game films to show knock-'em-cuckoo blocks by Leaks.

Leaks has carried the ball 175 times in seven games for 1,146 yards, a 6.6-yard average. And, as Royal pointed out after the SMU game, "I bet he didn't gain 20 yards outside tackle."

Add Leaks' 1,099 yards as a sophomore to this year's production and the total of 2,245 yards, an average of 132 yards in 17 regular season games.

Leaks needs only 157 more yards in the three remaining games to break the Southwest Conference one-season record of 1,302 yards set by Texas A&M's Bob Smith in 1950.

Asked how he felt about that, Leaks looked puzzled. Was it the first time he had been told of his chances of breaking the record? "Yeah," he said.

Cowboys Making November Sprint

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Coach Tom Landry gave the distinct impression Tuesday that the Cowboys are poised to make their patented November surge which has carried them to a record seven consecutive National Football League playoffs.

The last three years the Cowboys have stumbled out of the starting blocks but charged into the Super Bowl twice.

Dallas had lost three out of its last four games until Sunday's thorough 38-10 whipping of Cincinnati.

"It took a while for us to shake off those close losses to Washington and Los Angeles," Landry said. "We finally came to the conclusion that we had to play. We were moving better defensively against the Bengals and our kicking game came around. It's just simply making up your mind what you want to do."

The Cowboys and Washington are tied in the National Conference East Division with 5-3 records.

Landry said, "We're not really concerned with what Washington does. I'm more concerned with how we play. Our guys realize we've got to win each week or we won't make it."

Landry said it will probably take an 11-3 record to win the NFC East.

He added, "A 10-4 will get you a wild card spot and 9-5 an early Christmas."

Landry said the Cowboys are starting to get an excellent pass rush and quarterback Roger Staubach matures with each game.

"This is really the first year Roger has had full control and direction of the club from the start," Landry said. "He will continue to improve."

For the first time in three years, Landry is allowing Staubach to call the plays.

Guesser Rates Oklahoma Big Pick Over Missouri

NEW YORK (AP) — Courtesy of Kansas State's Vince Gibson, we bring you in advance the winner of Saturday's key Big Eight Conference clash between Oklahoma and Missouri.

"Oklahoma is a better football team than Missouri, but Missouri will play them close," Gibson said following a 31-7 loss to Missouri last week. The previous week, Gibson lost to Oklahoma 56-14.

The experts thought Nebraska would be leading the Big Eight by now, but there is Oklahoma with a 3-0 record (6-0-1 overall) to Missouri's 3-1, 7-1. Coach Barry Switzer says the Sooners would be "in a great position to win the conference championship" by beating Missouri on the road. But he also says it won't be easy.

This corner goes along with Gibson... except for the part about it being close. Oklahoma 31-14.

Last week's mark was 42 right and 17 wrong with fondles for .712, including picking the exact score of Pitt's 28-14 victory over Syracuse. For the season, the count is 382-134-14 — 740.

Michigan State at Ohio State: Woody Hayes is wild about his defense but is concerned about offensive errors in last week's 30-0 triumph over Illinois. "Our offense did not have a good ball-game. We made mistakes, especially in the first half, that a good, veteran team like ours shouldn't." Ohio State was unbeaten last year, too, coming into this game and lost 19-12. Hayes has a good memory. Ohio State 28-6.

Illinois at Michigan: After the Ohio State game, Illinois' Bob Blackman said he has ranked Ohio State and Michigan "No. 1 and No. 2 all season long and I didn't see a thing out there to make me change my mind." The Wolverines may help him see the light. Michigan 27-7.

Notre Dame at Pitt: Pitt hasn't had a winning season since 1963, but the Panthers now are in the Top Twenty with a 5-2-1 record. So long, it's been good to know ya. Notre Dame 35-14.

North Carolina State at Penn State: The experts predicted N.C. State would lose to Nebraska, Georgia and Penn State. They've already lost to Nebraska and Georgia. Penn State 45-21.

Stanford at Southern California: This one has been billed as the Blood Bowl ever since USC's John McKay said he wanted to beat Stanford by 2,000 points following last year's 30-21 triumph. Cardinals are coming with three in a row and it could be an aerial duel between Pat Haden and Mike Boryla. Southern Cal 34-17.

UCLA at Oregon: Ducks got caught looking ahead by Washington State. Bruins haven't stumbled in seven games since the Nebraska debacle. UCLA 31-21.

Iowa State at Nebraska: Coach Tom Osborne says Nebraska isn't going to romp despite ISU's 2-5 record. "They tied us last year and they should have won but they missed the last extra point. And they have virtually the same team back." Nebraska 34-10.

Texas Tech at Texas Christian: After losing this game the last two years, Jim Carlen of Tech says the only bowl he's concerned with is "The TCU Bowl." Texas Tech 28-14.

Baylor at Texas: Baylor has lost three in a row by six points each. Enough of that. Texas 49-20.

Wyoming at Arizona State: Sun Devils after double revenge. They lost to Wyoming last year and to Utah last week. Arizona State 56-14.

Houston at Colorado State: One loss is Houston's limit. Houston 45-14.

Miami, Fla. at Army: Will the real Hurricanes please stand up. Are they the team that upset Texas and almost beat Oklahoma or the club that struggled to defeat winless Florida State and Syracuse? Upset Special of the Week... previously winless Army 20-17.

Oilers Nab Grid Title

The Oilers clinched the Big Spring Pee Wee football crown Tuesday at Blankenship Field with a 42-0 blanking of the Rams.

Nathan Lemons scored four touchdowns on runs of 60, 50, 42 and 40 yards to highlight the show, and quarterback Gilbert Rubio scored once and passed for another to aid the Oilers' cause. Rubio's TD pass went to Joe Willie Jones.

The Oilers, who allowed just 30 points the entire season, also racked up two safeties in finishing their slate at 6-0-2.

Defensive standouts for the Oilers were Greg Jones, Dickie Wright, Jo Jo James, Luis Mancha, Brocky Jones, Joe Willie Jones and Lemons. Sam Evans is the coach and Billy Pineda the assistant for the Oilers.

Coahoma Juniors Close With Wins

SWEETWATER — Coahoma swept a pair of junior high football games from Sweetwater in season-ending action Tuesday, as the seventh graders completed their perfect year with a 16-0 win and the eighth grade scored a 16-0 decision.

Dusty Douglas scored two touchdowns from 50 yards out in the eighth grade win. Tim Greenfield and Steve Spear ran for conversion points as the team ended its year at 2-6.

For the seventh graders, unbeaten in eight outings this year, Gary Hulme ran 40 and 35 yards for scores and passed 30 yards to Larry Darden for another.

SECRETARIAT 'RETIRES' Champ Bids Farewell

NEW YORK (AP) — "Oh, you beautiful thing," said Helen Tweedy. "Yea champ." Secretariat, we'll miss you," proclaimed a bedsheet banner.

Secretariat, whom jockey Ron Turcotte once called "the people's horse," made his public farewell Tuesday with a parade through the stretch at Aqueduct between the third and fourth races.

"There'll never be another like him," said trainer Lucien Laurin of the handsome 3-year-old colt who caught the public's imagination with his brilliant performance en route to winning the Triple Crown and seemed to hold the public's affection even in defeat.

"We also were proud of him in moments of defeat," said Mrs. Tweedy, operator of Meadow Stable.

Secretariat now will go to stud at Claiborne Farm in Paris, Ky., under terms of a $6.08 million syndication. And he goes with earnings of $1,316,908, fourth on the all-time list for thoroughbreds, built on a record of 16 victories, three seconds, a third and a fourth in 21 starts. His three biggest victories were the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes.

The crowd of 32,990 on a cold, windy day began applauding and cheering when groom Eddie Sweat and exercise boy Charlie Davis, who was riding pony Billy Silver, led Secretariat into the paddock shortly before the start of the third race.

Many fans busied themselves snapping pictures during ceremonies in which Mrs. Tweedy, Laurin and Turcotte were presented mementos from the New York Racing Association. The fans received Secretariat key rings.

Dickey Rebounds, Gains Pro Honors

NEW YORK (AP) — A year ago, the doctors were saying Lynn Dickey would never play another professional football game. But then, a week ago, that's what the experts were saying about the Houston Oilers.

Well, Lynn Dickey is alive and well in the Houston backfield and the Oilers... well, they're alive, anyway.

The 24-year-old three-year veteran from Kansas State, who missed the entire 1972 National Football League season with a hip injury, one which some doctors said had ended his career, made his first start of 1973 on Sunday against Baltimore. And he made it big.

Dickey completed 22 of 32 passes for 340 yards and three touchdowns, including the last-minute game-winner to culminate a cool, precise 85-yard drive that hoisted Houston to a 31-27 triumph over the Colts, the Oilers' first victory this year that ended an 18-game nosedive.

For his outstanding comeback performance, Dickey was chosen today The Associated Press Offensive Player of the Week in the NFL.

He had played sporadically in his first year. Then, in a 1972 exhibition game, he suffered a fractured and dislocated left hip and some nerve damage.

"Last year around this time I told my wife, Sherry, I hoped that after all the work I put in to get better, I'd have something to show for it. This is it... I think everybody proved something to themselves in this game and if I was a part of it, I'm happy."

Other outstanding performances were turned in by Roger Staubach, who passed for three touchdowns in Dallas' 38-10 victory over Cincinnati, and Bobby Douglass, who ran for 100 yards and four touchdowns in Chicago's 31-17 triumph over Green Bay.

Buffs' Miranda Heads Player Of Week Picks

Dist. 3-B is beginning to learn Buffs. Johnson not only had a good night offensively for the Buffaloes, but he also stood out from his linemen around the linebacker spot as he scored 19 touchdowns and two extra points in the Buffs' 56-8 victory over Whitharral Friday night. Miranda, who was named Lineman of the Week for his efforts, also played quarterback for the Buffs' rushing attack, completing three passes for 41 more yards in the team's 30-12 loss.

The little freshman also caught one pass, good for 34 yards. It's the second time this year Miranda has won the honor.

Coach Jack Woodley tapped a good night blocking as he guard Chris Johnson as Lineman of the Week for the

In Stanton, Vernon Brown finally wrestled some of the honors away from his little brother, Elvin, as he raced for 75 yards on 26 carries during the Buffaloes' 29-9 defeat at the hands of McCamey. Stanton coach Bill Young said that Brown ran "better than he has all year," and added that the yardage was well-earned against the stiff Badger defense.

Lineman of the Week was H. A. Schuelke, a two-time honoree who stood out both as an offensive and defensive tackle. Young said that Schuelke has been one of the Buffs' most consistent performers this year.

Ricky Patterson, a sophomore making his second start in rugged Dist. 7-AA, hauled in Coahoma's Back of the Week prize for his efforts in the Bulldogs' 23-7 loss to Reagan County Friday. Patterson, a halfback, rushed nine times for 57 yards to aid the Bulldogs' offensive cause.

Lineman of the Week plaudits in Coahoma went to Kyle Kiser, the Bulldogs' talented senior all-star. Kiser had a good game from his linebacker spot.

GOING UP — Garden City Bearkats Mark Frysak (25) and Stuart Wooten go up for the ball this week in preparation for this week's season finale against Borden Co. Frysak, an end, was honored Friday as the Bearkats' Lineman of the Week for his efforts during his team's 56-8 rout of Whitharral.

Garden City, Coyotes Vie

GAIL — Garden City's Bearkats try to eliminate some of the uncertainty in Dist. 1-B Eight Man Thursday at 8 p.m. when they visit the title-seeking Borden County Coyotes.

The Coyotes, losers only to Smyer in the 1-B chase, will be looking ahead to next week's meeting with Sterling City, but a Coyote loss to Garden City on Thursday would give SC's Wildcats the title outright.

The Bearkats, meanwhile, are fresh off a 56-8 licking of Whitharral and carry a 4-4 mark into the battle. Borden is 6-1 in district, and dropped its only non-league tilt to powerful Goree.

Monte Smith directs the Coyote charge, and he gets help in the backfield from Jimmy Gray. On the line, all-state guard Audry Brummett is winding up his senior season, while ends Rex Cox and Henry Oliverez are other key performers.

Jayhawk Queens Await State Meet

Howard County Junior College's Jayhawk Queens earned a berth in the state tournament last weekend by finishing second in the district tournament at McMurry College in Abilene.

The Queens clinched a spot in the state meet by defeating long-time power Sul Ross in the semifinals. Texas Tech was defeated in the double elimination affair and will join the Queens in the state action Nov. 16-17 at North Texas State University in Denton.

HCJC gained a 13-10, 10-15, 15-9 decision over Sul Ross as Mary Lou Wilkes and Theresa Caffey, with seven points apiece in the two victories, and Isabel Juarez with four in the second game led the team in scoring.

Tech downed the Queens in the finals 10-15, 15-11, 15-12. Caffey led the first game with seven points, Wilkes had four in the second game and Janice Platte was high server in the third game with four points.

Howard County opened the meet with a 13-10, 15-6 decision over Abilene Christian as Wilkes and Mary Alice Terrazas led the way, but in the second round the Queens dropped a 15-

14, 9-15, 15-13 decision to Sul Ross. Juarez and Caffey were the top scorers.

The Queens bounced back Saturday with victories over Tarleton, 19-7, 15-9 and Hardin-Simmons, 15-6, 15-8, before getting revenge against Sul Ross, Marian Holson, Juarez and Caffey led the wins over Tarleton and H-SU.

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

Texas has its Teasippers. A&M is blessed with multitudes of Aggies. Texas Tech claims the whole panhandle and western portion of Texas and SMU, TCU and Baylor have their Methodists, Christians and Baptists. But Rice — Ah, good of Rice — has no one. Oh, there are a few scattered intellectuals and parents who follow the Owls, and still others who remember the days of Dicky Moegle, King Hill and Buddy Dial. But generally, the Owls are a lost team.

When they form a victory line at Rice the players always outnumber their backers. Instead of screaming the standard "We want a touchdown" or "Hit 'em again!" yells. Rice students can be heard clamoring "We want a miracle, we want a miracle." Other yells are the kind you don't tell your mother.

The Rice band spent its entire halftime show during the Rice-Texas game mimicking the UT band, marching onto the field like 100 Gomer Pyles and pulling a tiny drum on a little red wagon, a clever slap at the huge Longhorn drum.

It's all pretty funny, really, and that's just the way folks are at Rice — it's their way of saying that the game of football has gotten out of hand. Still, it's not exactly what you'd call conducive to winning major college football games.

But if anyone can capture the imagination of Rice fans it has to be Al Conover, whose antics have been anything but conventional. But Big Al has seen his season hit a snag in recent weeks as dismissal of one player caused a near-boycott and another player walked out of camp in an unrelated incident.

Whether or not Conover can spur the Owls to a finish like last year when Rice won its last three games remains to be seen. It would be great if the Owls could be a winning team and their fans could keep having the same kind of fun as now. It would probably move the game about 50 years — whether it would be forward or backward, though, I couldn't tell you.

Rondel Brock has been seeing plenty of action for the Owls this season, and the Big Spring sophomore seems to be enjoying himself, according to Bob Brock, his father. Rondel started the season as an offensive tackle, but last week was moved to defensive tackle.

The decision for that particular change seemed to come after the Notre Dame game, when a 6-8, 265-pound Irish defensive lineman literally picked Brock's 215-pound up and removed him from the scene.

If you're one of those kind who likes to look ahead, you can get a pretty good glimpse of Big Spring's football future Thursday night in Memorial Stadium when local eighth and ninth graders end their season with the annual intra-city clashes.

Eighth graders from Runnels, who have shown an outstanding defense this year, meets impressive Goliad, with a 7-1 record, in a 5:30 p.m. tilt and the two freshmen teams, the Toros and Brahmas, bang away at each other at 7:30 p.m. for the city title.

Democrats Score Off-Year Election Gains

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

Democrats scored strongly in off-year elections with a record-breaking statewide victory in New Jersey and municipal triumphs in New York, Philadelphia, Minneapolis and Detroit in the first national balloting since the Watergate scandal erupted.

In Virginia, conservative Republican Mills E. Godwin Jr., once the state's Democratic governor, eked out a narrow victory over liberal Lt. Gov. Henry E. Howell Jr., running as an independent in a race with no Democratic candidate.

Elsewhere, however, Republicans won few important races in the scattered off-year balloting Tuesday, a year after President Nixon's re-election landslide.

TAXATION

One of the GOP's potential 1976 candidates, California Gov. Ronald Reagan, suffered a setback on a constitutional amendment proposal. His plan to limit future state spending and taxation trailed by more than 300,000 votes with 90 per cent of the ballots counted, and Reagan conceded defeat for the plan.

"The Republican party has taken a smashing defeat across the nation," said Rep. Charles W. Sandman Jr., of New Jersey, who suffered one of the GOP's biggest setbacks in that state's gubernatorial race.

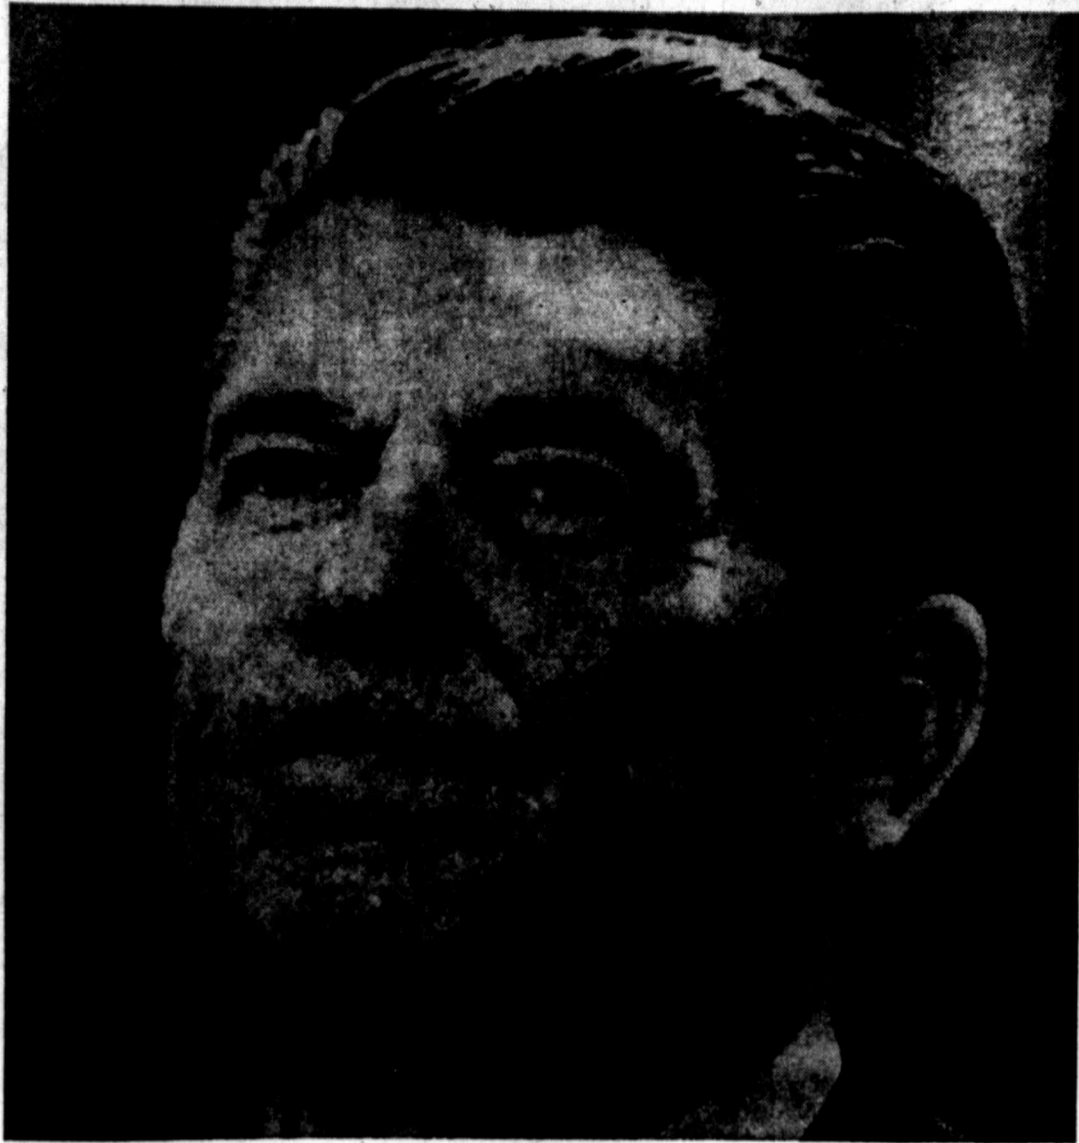

Democrat Brendan T. Byrne, a 49-year-old former judge and prosecutor, whipped Sandman by a margin of 2-to-1 and led his party to control of both houses of the state legislature for only the third time in the 20th Century.

Democratic State Sen. Joseph Merlino said the victory was a signal to the nation that voters will punish the Republican party until it decides to "dump" President Nixon.

SCANDAL HURT

Although Watergate was a campaign issue in few places, leaders of both parties saw its influence in the returns.

In Kentucky, Democratic Gov. Wendell Ford said the returns showed the scandal hurt all politicians "but it has hurt the Republicans the most." Democrats retained control of

In Minneapolis, Democrat Al Hofstede, a 33-year-old former alderman, upset two-term independent Mayor Charles Stenvig. Mrs. Gladys Brooks, a Republican who finished a distant third, said it wasn't a Republican year. "A great deal of Watergate has carried over here," she added.

STUNNED

In Philadelphia, Democrat F. Emmett Fitzpatrick stunned two-term Republican Dist. Atty. Arlen Specter after a campaign in which a major issue was Specter's role as 1972 state campaign manager for President Nixon.

In New York City, diminutive Democrat Abraham D. Beame led a citywide party sweep as he captured the mayoralty held for the past eight years by John V. Lindsay. The 67-year-old Beame will be the city's first Jewish mayor.

In Detroit, state Sen. Coleman Young, one of Michigan's top Democrats, became the city's first black mayor. He defeated former police chief John Nichols in a nonpartisan election.

LABOR BOSSES

One of the major Republican victories came in normally Democratic Cleveland. GOP

Mayor Ralph Perk swept to a 2-to-1 victory over his last-minute opponent, City Council Clerk Mercedes Cotner.

The day's two major statewide elections, in Virginia and New Jersey, presented contrasting outcomes.

Complaint Against Jaworski Over Vote Money Rejected

HOUSTON (AP) — Authorities here have rejected an election financing complaint filed by a member of a minor Texas party against Leon Jaworski, the new Watergate special prosecutor.

The complaint was filed in a mass transit election which defeated Oct. 6 by a vote of nearly three-to-one.

Jaworski, who assumed his special prosecutor's duties Monday, was co-chairman of the Community Improvement Committee, which backed the unsuccessful proposal for establishment of the Houston Area Rapid Transit Authority (Harta).

CONCLUSION

C. Leon Pickett of Houston, chairman of the newly-formed Texas Independent Party, filed the complaint with the Harris County Election Committee.

Pickett alleged that Jaworski's campaign report failed to disclose individuals who contributed $27,508 to his committee.

Sam Robertson, chief assistant district attorney here, said his office received a copy of the complaint when Pickett filed it with the elections committee. Shortly thereafter, Robertson said, Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill ruled that the elections committee had been constitutionally formed.

BIG NAMES

"The alleged complaint then was studied and the conclusion was reached that there was nothing alleged that fell under the state statute covering campaign contributions, and I so advised Pickett by letter," Robertson said.

JUBILANT NEW GOVERNOR — Mills Godwin, a former Democratic governor, was elected Tuesday to head the state of Virginia again. Godwin embraces two young supporters early today after learning he had defeated Lt. Gov. Henry Howell, an independent. Godwin ran as the Republican nominee. He will succeed Virginia's present GOP Gov. Linwood Holton.

In Virginia, Godwin became the second straight Republican gubernatorial victor. During the campaign, he stressed his opposition to school busing and denounced Howell as a leftist who would be under the control of out-of-state "labor bosses."

Returns from 1,811 of the state's 1,832 precincts gave the GOP candidate 513,546 to 504,063 for Howell, who said he would not concede until an official canvass is made.

At the same time, the state elected moderate Republican John Dalton as lieutenant governor and re-elected moderate Democrat Andrew Miller as attorney general.

PARTY SPLIT

In New Jersey, Byrne's victory capped a campaign that saw the Republican party split sharply after Sandman unseated moderate GOP Gov. William T. Cahill in a primary in which he stressed corruption in the state administration.

Cahill later endorsed Sandman but did little to help him while liberal GOP Sen. Clifford P. Case sat out the race completely.

—In Stamford, Conn., Democrat Frederick P. Lenz Jr. upset two-term Republican Mayor Julius M. Wilensky.

—In Miami, Fla., Democrat Maurice Ferre, a Puerto Rican-born millionaire, won a majority in the mayor's race over six rivals.

—In Pittsburgh, Pa., Mayor Peter Flaherty, a Democrat, had both major parties' nominations.

—In Houston, Tex., the nonpartisan mayor's race appeared headed for a Dec. 4 runoff between attorney Fred Hofheinz and Dick Gottlieb, a city councilman and former television personality.

—Black mayors were elected in Raleigh, N.C., where Clarence E. Lightner defeated G. Wesley Williams, a white, and in Grand Rapids, Mich., where Lyman Parks defeated former Mayor Robert Bolens, both nonpartisan elections.

DEAR ABBY: I'm thinking about you today, and I've got someone about to consider it wrong do it again.

I became suspicious when I opened a letter my old daughter received in the service. It was in a foreign country, full of explicit details of sexual practices, some I never even heard of. I tore up the letter before I finished reading it. He also asked her to send him some brown "grass" and send him without a red dress on the box. "grass" is marijuana. I never knew she had it.

Although I fully understand the world, I would not want to know from the knowledge of sexual practices cousin described. she will never be trash, but I feel guilty opening her mail. Don't I have to be as a parent to protect my daughter from an unwelcome influence? Should I feel anxious what she hears of sex practices? I want to know her life without knowledge and complete. She is an all-American girl who wants to keep her name and unadulterated wrong?

DEAR CONFUSION: one (parent or no) right to open a person's mail, destroy it. If the communication is open between you and your daughter, you would resort to such dialogue she has cousin. Judging from your daughter's letter, your daughter knows more than you think she does. Even the most parent can't "shut children from the world. All you can do is teach your daughter influence and example. YOU think is right and ethical, and make up her own mind.

DEAR ABBY: and her husband French people "Zsa Zsa." They children, but they dog just like a dog.

Credit Group Installs Slate

Mrs. Maxine Guittar, El Paso, president of Lone Star Council of Credit Women, installed officers Saturday evening for Big Spring Credit Women at Coker's Restaurant.

New officers are Mrs. J. B. Apple, president; Mrs. C. W. Mahoney, vice president; Mrs. Dorothy Ragan, treasurer; and Mrs. Loyd Wooten, secretary. Directors are Mrs. Raymond Hamby, Mrs. Bill Draper and Mrs. George Weeks.

Kelly Draper, a student at Howard County Junior College, opened the program with a reading of "My Favorite Things," followed by Miss Carrie Wheeler, vocalist, who sang "When You Wish Upon A Star." She was accompanied by Miss Annabeth Deats, pianist.

Draper also performed an animated reading of "The Lost Zoo," about Noah's ark, and a poem, "Charlotte's Webb," which discussed the importance of friendship. Other songs by Miss Wheeler and Miss Deats included "If I Loved You" and "Somewhere."

Gifts to outgoing officers were presented by Mrs. Noel Hull, who also gave the invocation. Dining tables were covered with gold cloths and accented with amber votive cup encircled with brown foliage and yellow mums. The centerpiece was an arrangement of yellow mums and brown foliage around a miniature wheel. The study theme is "Wheels of Change."

Guests, in addition to those who gave the program, were the District 8 corresponding secretary, Mrs. Martha Vargas, El Paso, who accompanied Mrs. Guittar; Mrs. Paul Baker, Mrs. Max Coffee, Mrs. Georgia Johnson, Bill Draper, George Weeks, Noel Hull and Mrs. A. G. Eitzen.

REVIEWER — Mrs. Clyde E. Thomas will review Jacqueline Susanne's book, "Every Night, Josephine," at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 12 at the Howard County Library. Sponsored by Friends of the Library, the program is open to the public, free of charge.

'Miracle' Grain Crop Developing In Texas

A new grain, which may become an important crop to farmers in the Southwest, was described by Mrs. Morris Patterson when the Green Thumb Garden Club met in her home Tuesday morning.

"The crop is triticale, a wheat-rye cross that has been hailed as a 'miracle crop' because of its high protein and balanced amino acid content," said Mrs. Patterson.

A small group of food producers around Muleshoe are planting the winter grain and marketing it through the newly-formed Triticale Foods Corporation at Muleshoe. The corporation is owned by 31 stockholders — farmers, investors and businessmen, and it has contracts with approximately 100 Bailey County farmers to produce about 6,000 acres of triticale this year.

In finding a way to market the grain, the producers processed it into a product called Triticakes, pancakes made from stone-ground triticale flour. It was test-marketed by a restaurant chain in Colorado and proved so successful that food distribution companies were soon bombarding the Muleshoe company with orders for as much as a million pounds of triticale flour per day.

"If the demand for triticale food products is as great as expected, Triticale Foods plans to expand into other states in the winter wheat belt," said Mrs. Patterson.

In conjunction with the program, Mrs. R. T. Piner and Mrs. J. W. Woodall, cohostesses, served hot bread made by Mrs. Woodall from triticale flour. In concluding her talk, Mrs. Patterson discussed an article from the Progressive Farmer which said farmers today, like ancient men, are essentially sun harvesters. Noting that the sun is the power source for all plant and animal growth, she said researchers are designing plants and culture systems to use radiant energy more efficiently. She said this has resulted in a marked increase in rice yields through altering planting dates and sequences so as to capture maximum radiant energy in the form of grain.

"The South and Southwest have the best combination of abundant radiant energy, land, moisture and people to provide food hope," she said.

During the business session, the resignation of Mrs. Pete Warren as secretary-treasurer was accepted, and Mrs. Adolph Swartz was elected to fill the vacancy.

The club is continuing its beautification of the grounds at Howard County Library, and Mrs. Woodall, chairman, said more work will be done on flower beds before cold weather comes.

Refreshments were served from a table accented with a fringed Mexican scarf and a woven basket arranged with vegetables, grain and seed pods.

The next meeting will be at 10 a.m., Dec. 4 at the home of Mrs. James Duncan, with Mrs. Dewey Ray and Mrs. Lee Rogers as cohostesses. The theme will be "One Big, Beautiful Spurge".

Teachers Hear Piano Students

High school courses required for students who plan to major in piano in college, or those who plan to major in music with concentration on piano, were outlined Monday evening by Mrs. Mary Skalicky and Mrs. Ann Gibson Houser for Piano Teachers Forum.

Meeting at Howard County Junior College, the group heard Mrs. Skalicky report on a survey she made of several colleges in Texas, listing requirements for piano majors. She distributed a copy of the requirements.

Nine students of Mrs. Houser performed scales, transpositions and repertoire requirements of colleges and universities. The students, who are all working toward a high school music certificate and plan to enter college as music majors, were Jay Huskey, Annabeth Deats, Karen Coffee, Lynnette Coffee, Michelle Coffee, Brenda Harland, Larry Wheat, Elise Wheat and Laurie Bethel.

During business, Mrs. Ted Phillips was introduced as a new member. Guests were Mrs. Wesley Deats, Mrs. John Richard Coffee, Mrs. John A. Coffee, Mrs. Walter Wheat and Mrs. Lynn Bethel of Snyder. Hosts were Harlen Thornton and Mrs. Anne Cheatham.

The forum will meet again at 8 p.m., Dec. 3 in the home of Mrs. Houser, 103 Cedar. A recital by students of members is scheduled Dec. 2, place to be announced.

Examination Of Literature Sees 'Woman Searching For Self'

Three areas of "women in literature" were outlined Monday morning for members of the day study group, American Association of University Women, at the home of Mrs. James Morrison, 75 Ent.

Mrs. Peter Rhymes, program leader, discussed women as authors, women as depicted by authors, and women disadvantageously used by authors. Under the first category, she read excerpts of writings by Jane Austin, Louisa Mae Alcott, Pearl S. Buck and Betty Friedman.

"Women have something to say as authors," said Mrs. Rhymes. "They write not only to other women, but to men as well." She read selections from Ann Lindberg's "Gift From the Sea."

To illustrate ways in which women have been depicted by writers, Mrs. Rhymes said "Antigone" by Sophocles, represents a

"majestic yet tragic Greek woman," and Shakespeare, in his "Macbeth," had women feared for their "feminine nature". Also, Mrs. Rhymes said the works of Faulkner indicated that he was reared in a matriarchal society.

"Tender is the Night," by F. Scott Fitzgerald, was used to show how authors use women to a disadvantage. Mrs. Rhymes said Fitzgerald used letters written by his wife, and quoted them almost verbatim.

Continuing the program, Mrs. Alvin Shroyer Jr., explored the strengths and weaknesses of Nora, the main character in Ibsen's "A Doll's House." Mrs. Shroyer traced the changes which overcame Nora throughout the play, and said it was an example of a woman in search of herself.

The program was in conjunction with the year's over-all study theme, "Woman Searching for Self." Study leaders for the year are Mrs. Paul Kionka and Mrs. Preston Harrison.

The next meeting of the day group will be at 9:30 a.m., Dec. 3 in the home of Mrs. C. R. Wiley, 1721 Yale. The program, "Women in Religion," will be given by Mrs. B. M. Keese.

Snoopy Mom

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I can't quit thinking about what I did today, and I've got to tell someone about it. If you consider it wrong, I won't do it again.

I became suspicious, and opened a letter my 17-year-old daughter received from her 19-year-old cousin who is in the service, stationed in a foreign country. It was full of explicit descriptions of sexual practices he said he had been indulging in — some I never even knew existed. I tore up the letter before I finished it. It was nauseating.

He also asked her to bake him some brownies with "grass" and send them to him without a return address on the box. I know "grass" is marijuana, but I never knew she had access to it.

Although I fully trust my daughter, I would shield her from the knowledge of such sexual practices as her cousin described. I am glad she will never read such trash, but I feel guilty about opening her mail.

Don't I have some rights as a parent to protect my daughter from unwanted, unwelcome information? Should I feel anxious about what she hears of abnormal sex practices? I lived all my life without this knowledge and still feel complete. She is the typical all-American girl, and I want to keep her mind pure and unadulterated. Am I wrong?

DEAR CONFUSED: No one (parent or not) has the right to open another person's mail, and then destroy it. If the lines of communication had been open between you and your daughter, you wouldn't have to resort to such acts to find out what kind of dialogue she has with her cousin. Judging from his letter, your daughter probably knows much more about sex than you think she does.

Even the most protective parent can't "shield" her children from the real world. All you can do is teach your daughter by daily influence and example what YOU think is right, moral, and ethical, and let her make up her own mind.

DEAR ABBY: My sister and her husband have a French poodle they call "Zsa Zsa." They have no children, but they treat this dog just like a child. Zsa

Zsa eats at the same table with them, and they even had a furrier make her a mink coat and bow to match.

They take Zsa Zsa everywhere with them. (If a place doesn't allow dogs, they won't go there.)

Abby, they even SPELL in front of this dog because they insist she is so smart she "understands" every word they say.

Well, I just had a baby girl. We named her Karen Sue, and the last straw was their sending a baby gift with a card saying: "With love to my COUSIN, Karen Sue, from Zsa Zsa."

Just imagine, putting our child in the same class with their dog! Are they sick, or what?

SICK OF ZSA ZSA
DEAR SICK: No. As a former poodle owner, I can understand their feeling. Don't judge them too harshly. Some poodles are almost human.

GOVERNMENT: GET RID OF IT

Loss No Big Surprise

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Streitz got shellacked in New York's city election. The result was neither unexpected nor lamented.

PAUL STREITZ

"If a guy gets up there and says what he really believes, no matter what, people take him seriously," he said Tuesday night. "Obviously we didn't expect to get anyone elected, but we've gotten some ideas across."

Paul F. Streitz, advertising executive by day and Free Libertarian party candidate by night, was one of a welter of minority party stalwarts on the ballot in Tuesday's municipal election.

With more enthusiasm than ambition, he sought election as one of two City Councilmen-at-large from the borough of Manhattan.

Streitz, 30, won't even know how poorly he did for another couple weeks, when the Board of Elections releases official results that include the minor parties.

But Streitz considers his appearance in a small corner of the political arena worth the effort.

"There's a certain philosophical difficulty in electing an anarchist to office," he said. "But we accomplished something."

A Vietnam veteran and a graduate of Hamilton College and the University of Chicago who would listen, has a little something for everyone.

For conservatives, there's a promise of a completely open marketplace with no government restrictions. For liberals, there's a promise not to prosecute "victimless" crimes such as prostitution, pornography and pot-smoking.

For those in between, there's the theory that a city would work better with private enterprise, not City Hall, running the show.

"I offered the idea that government doesn't really solve many problems. It's really the source of problems," he said. "It set some people thinking."

The Libertarians claim 2,000 members Nationwide and 250 here, where the branch is called the Free Libertarian party.

Of the some 77.7 million votes cast in the 1972 presidential election, the Libertarian slate of John Hospers and Theodora Nathan received a total of Disatisfaction with government and with "the sharpies operating around and outside the law" led him to the tiny Free Libertarian party, he said. He then turned candidate to spread the word about the party's philosophy of government: Get rid of it.

TIA Curtails Some Flights

Because of the nation's fuel shortage, Texas International Airlines says it will reduce its scheduled flights by more than seven per cent Saturday.

Tom Marlow, manager for TIA at Howard County Airport, said today that the cutbacks will not affect flights in and out of Big Spring.

Five weekend flights at Midland Air Terminal will be cancelled, however.

Midland outbound flights to be cancelled, according to TIA's Houston schedule director, include the 9:55 a.m. flight Saturday and Sunday to San Angelo, Brownwood and Dallas and flight 672 on Sunday arriving at 4:25 p.m. from Amarillo and departing at 4:45 for San Angelo and Abilene.

Also affected at Air Terminal will be a 9:25 a.m. flight Saturday and Sunday inbound from San Angelo, Abilene and Brownwood.

According to the Houston schedule director, tentative plans also call for terminating a 7:44 p.m. daily flight at Midland instead of continuing on to Albuquerque, N.M.

The airlines, which serves nine states and Mexico, announced Monday that additional flights may also have to be eliminated during the first quarter of 1974 if fuel supplies are further reduced.

Most of the flights reportedly will be reduced on competitive routes.

Father-Son Election

QUASQUETON, Iowa (AP) — The father failed and the son prevailed in the race for Quasqueton mayor.

Reuben M. Hansen, 69, tried to oust his son from the mayoral post in Tuesday's municipal election.

But incumbent Ronald M. Hansen, 33, was returned to office in this Buchanan County town of 450 persons by a vote of 107 to 31. Third was Jerard Marxen with 24 write-in votes.

Mayor Hansen said before the election it was "a family squabble" rather than an issue-oriented campaign. The mayor is a union steward at the Collins Radio Co. plant in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, 28 miles from here.

The father accused his son of "too much one-man rule" and said local residents wanted a mayor who would be in town all the time.

"He runs it his way and nobody else has anything to say," the father had complained of his son.

Jail Breaking Charges Filed

LAMESA — Three men have been charged with the felony offense of escaping jail here following Saturday night's Dawson County jail break.

James Edward Mason, 17, Lamesa, has been sentenced to two five-year concurrent sentences and could not be released on bond.

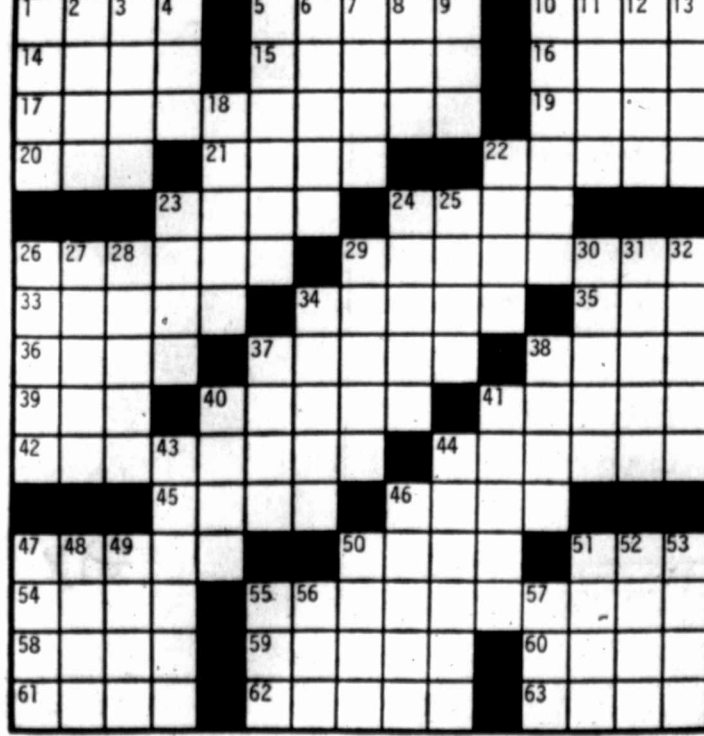

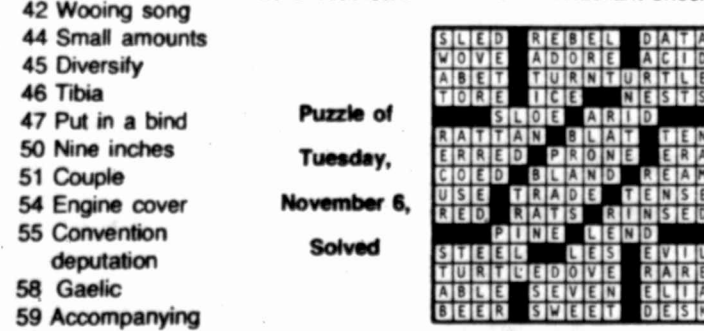

The other two have the options of staying in jail or making bond. They are Frank Coulter, 19, Amarillo, charged with burglary, and Willie West King, 24, accused of indecent exposure to a child.

Fugitive Financier Arrested In Nassau

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Fugitive financier Robert L. Vesco has been arrested on a U.S. warrant and ordered to appear at an extradition hearing next week.

Vesco was arrested Tuesday in his office at the Bahamas Commonwealth Bank by Asst. Bahamas Police Commissioner John Crawley.

The Boonton, N.J., financier is wanted in the United States in a fraud case involving funds embezzled from a Vesco-headed firm.

He also is wanted by U.S. authorities in a conspiracy case involving former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans and a $200,000 contribution to President Nixon's re-election effort, and in a civil suit filed by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

ROBERT VESCO

Bahamian Magistrate Emanuel Osadebay, who signed the arrest warrant after it was sworn to by U.S. authorities in Nassau last Friday, released Vesco on $75,000 cash bond. Osadebay confiscated Vesco's passport and set the extradition hearing for next Tuesday.

Vesco, 37, had been sought by U.S. officials since early this year.

U.S. Atty. Paul Curran said in New York that the warrant on which Vesco was arrested was based on a July 20 fraud indictment opened last Wednesday.

It accuses Vesco of falsifying records to cover the embezzlement of $50,000 from International Controls Corp. (ICC) in 1972. The funds were deposited in a Swiss bank, the indictment said.

In the conspiracy case, the government claims that in return for a $200,000 campaign contribution, which was later returned, Mitchell and Stans agreed to use their influence in Vesco's behalf in an SEC probe of his financial empire.

The SEC's civil suit accuses Vesco and 40 others of milking $224 million from Investors Overseas Service (IOS) and three other mutual funds.

City Fathers Must Sniff Out New Trash Dump Site

It's back to the drawing board for city officials in search for a new landfill site after county commissioners rescinded Monday their prior approval of a location behind Berkley Homes.

City Manager Harry Nagel disclosed Tuesday that the city staff is now negotiating with the owner of a piece of property near the present landfill in the east part of town.

If the landowner okays city use of his property for a new landfill, Nagel said he may come before county commissioners court Monday once again seeking its approval.

He explained that the State Health Department requires that city landfill sites also be approved by the county involved.

Although the county commissioners had originally okayed the city's proposed site behind Berkley Homes, the court rescinded its decision Monday after several citizens living near the proposed location objected, saying they didn't want a "garbage dump" at their doors.

"I don't believe over five people in this town know what a landfill is," Nagel said yesterday.

"It is not a garbage dump. There is no fly or odor problem. The trash is covered with dirt every night."

Concerning the county's action Monday, Nagel claimed that county commissioners have turned down two of the city's last three proposed landfill sites. The site which they did approve, south of Ramada Inn, is actually not suitable for landfill use because of wind problems, he said.

In response to what he called allegations that the city is trying to put "heat" on the county, Nagel denied that the city is trying to pressure county commissioners, pointing out that county approval is necessary because of state requirements. Otherwise, he indicated, the city would not seek county approval.

Big Parade Film Slated

An added feature to the opening of the school days exhibit at Heritage Museum, which begins Saturday coincidentally with the Big Spring High School homecoming, will call up the city's biggest people parade.

There may have been bigger and longer parades, but nothing approaching the great parade in 1961 when every member of the school board, administrators, teachers, pupils — from first grade through the 12th, and even the maintenance force marched through the downtown area in support of a school bond program.

Motion pictures of the some 7,300 individuals in that historic parade will be projected at the opening. The showing has been set for 4 p.m. at the museum and everyone who marched in it or had children in it is invited to come and view the rerun, said Bill Dawes, chairman of the education exhibit committee.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A Mt. Palomar telescope has made what officials believe is the first photo showing the developing flaming head and tail of the comet Kohoutek, due soon to deliver earth its brightest heavenly display since Halley's comet.

The photograph was taken by a 48-inch telescope in the early morning hours of Oct. 31 by the Rev. Martin McCarthy, a Vatican Observatory staff astronomer and a guest of the Hale Observatories.

The comet will be visible to the naked eye starting at the end of November or early December.

Jury Accuses Two Duval Officials Of Perjury

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Duval County Judge Archer Parr and Benavides Mayor Octavio Sanez have been indicted in federal court here on seven counts of perjury arising out of their grand jury.

Both men are scheduled to be arraigned before a U.S. district judge within the next several weeks.

Parr is charged with six counts of perjury which relate to payments of $121,500 he received from the Duval County Conservation and Reclamation District from February, 1968, to June, 1970.

According to Parr's indictment, he testified falsely when he told the grand jurors the money paid to him was for legal services rendered to the district.

Sanez is accused in a single count of testifying falsely about a $5,000 payment he received from the City of Benavides "Special Sinking Fund" in August, 1967.

According to Sanez's indictment, he perjured himself when he told the grand jurors the money was "a compensation that was agreed on by the council" for his services as mayor.

The Duval County judge is a nephew of George Parr, who is known as the "Duke of Duval County." The grand jurors, empaneled in May, 1972, were dismissed Tuesday by U.S. Dist. Judge Adrian Spears after the indictments were returned.

SEVEN DIFFERENT COMBINATIONS

How You Mail Can Make A Difference

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mail services manager for the Postal Service.

GOOD SERVICE

"There is very good postal service if people know how and where to get it," said Russell. "We probably have been remiss in not getting information to individuals."

And how you mail can make a difference. A one-pound book mailed 300 miles, for example, can cost $1.70 cents or 16 cents. The $1 buys priority mail, also called air parcel post, and is programmed to get the book there the next day. Seventy cents buys parcel post, which should get the book there in three days. Sixteen cents buys the special book rate, which you won't get if the clerk doesn't know the package is a book. The book rate, like parcel post, is designed to get the package there in three days.

SPECIAL DELIVERY

Special delivery is another item which can be a bargain or a waste of money. It costs 60 cents extra for up to two pounds of first class and air mail or 80 cents extra for any other class the same weight.

Normally the special delivery routes leave metropolitan post offices every four hours until closing time or no later than 9 p.m. Special delivery also functions on Sundays and holidays. Otherwise, special delivery is handled like any other mail.

CHEAPER

Express mail, under some circumstances, can also be cheaper than another new option, mailgrams.

To send a mailgram, you have to go to a Western Union office to file your message. The message is delivered by wire to the appropriate post office and then is delivered on the next day's normal carrier routes.

FASTER?

Since the Postal Service aims for overnight delivery of air mail posted by 4 p.m. in special boxes or post offices, under normal circumstances express mail isn't any faster than air mail within 600 miles or to selected cities.

But with air mail, you get no guarantee your letter will arrive the day you hope it will. But the Postal Service refunds your money if they don't deliver express mail the next day.

And because of time zones, some west-to-east air mail—such as Los Angeles to New York—isn't even targeted for next day delivery. Express mail is guaranteed even west-to-east, however.

TIME SAVING

Generally, parcels up to two pounds in weight and traveling long distances cost only pennies more for priority mail, yet the time saving can be substantial.

PERSISTENT QUESTION

One persistent question aimed often at the Postal Service: "Is there any difference between first class and airmail letters?"

Both air mail and first class travel by air on long distance hauls, but officials aver that priorities in sorting at the delivery point guarantee better service for air mail.

First class is targeted for overnight delivery if it reaches pickup routes by 5 p.m. and is going to an address within the same metropolitan area. First class is targeted to reach cities within 600 miles by the second day and anywhere in the country by the third day.

Psychologist Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Haim G. Ginott, 51, child psychologist and author, died Sunday. He was the author of several books on child psychology, including "Group Psychotherapy with Children" and "Parent and Child."

Enrollment Eases Off In Schools

Enrollment in Big Spring schools eased off five to 6,781 at the end of last week. Again, it was the elementary, not the secondary level, which accounted for the drop. Led by loss of seven at Marcy and five at Boydston, elementary totals dipped by 10 to 3,433. Goliad and Runnels junior high lost five together, but senior high gained three for a secondary total of 3,199. Hospital and homebound enrollment gained seven to reach 149. The week's total compared with 6,796 a year ago on the comparable date.

Vets Entitled To Headstones

Applications for headstones and grave markers for deceased veterans are running 800 a day and are expected to top 200,000 by the end of fiscal year 1974.

Jack D. Powell, director of the local VA Hospital reported. VA recently assumed responsibility for this program — formerly administered by the Army — with the establishment of the National Cemetery System. Powell noted 325,000 veterans died during fiscal year 1973, leaving the veteran population at 29,073,000 as the fiscal year ended in June. There were 29,118,000 living veterans in August. A headstone or grave marker is available for any deceased veteran who received an other than dishonorable discharge. The benefit is not available to members of the veteran's family buried in private cemeteries.

In ever increasing numbers, hotels and resorts are finding that bridge is a great attraction to many prospective clients. Several regional and national championships organized by the American Contract Bridge League are held at resort hotels. In Europe, even the capital cities are vying to attract the traveling bridge player. Two new international festivals were started this year—one in Monte Carlo and one in Brussels. Today's hand was played during the second of these tournaments.

British internationalist, Michael Wolach, was sitting South. After two passes, he decided to open one no trump even though he held a good five-card heart suit and a weak doubleton in clubs. However, when West's penalty double was passed back to him, he removed to two hearts, for discretion is the better part of valor.

West attacked by leading three high clubs, and Wolach made the first key play when he refused to ruff the third round. Instead, he discarded his low spade, a trick he would have to lose in any case. However, this tactic had the effect of endplaying West.

Since a diamond or a spade shift would almost certainly cost a trick, West elected to exit with a trump. Declarer captured East's king with the ace and played a diamond. West could do no better than go up with the king and continue the suit, but Wolach came up with another brilliant play. He overtook the queen of diamonds with the ace and ruffed his remaining diamond in dummy. Now he led a trump, and when East played low declarer inserted the ten.

South did not really care whether the finesse won or lost. If it lost, West would be endplayed again—either, he would have to lead a spade into declarer's ace-queen, or give South a ruff and sluff. However, when the finesse succeeded, declarer was happy to concede a spade to West's king. Wolach's superb dummy play had insured making eight tricks.
