Weighing Rationing, Taxes On Fuel Usage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is weighing taxes on fuel use against rationing as the best way to reduce energy consumption. Officials hope there still is a choice.

The White House said Wednesday the view that gasoline rationing would be only a last resort was shared by President Nixon and Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz, who has favored a high gasoline surcharge to discourage unnecessary consumption.

NECESSARY

But Nixon's top energy adviser, John A. Love, and Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton have predicted that rationing would be necessary by early next year.

Love has said both rationing and fuel taxes may be needed.

In an effort to resolve this question, an energy task force headed by the Office of Management and Budget has made recommendations on fuel taxes its first order of business.

STIFF TAX

A key administration official who declined to be identified told a newsmen Wednesday the task force planned to submit its tax recommendations "within a week."

He said the President "would like us to avoid a rationing system if we could, but most of the senior advisers agree there should be a rationing plan."

The situation holds the potential for a power struggle between Morton's Interior Department, which presumably would manage rationing, and Shultz's Treasury Department, which presumably would administer tax programs.

The administration official said fuel tax proposals could include not only a stiff tax on gasoline usage, but also surcharges on consumption of electricity and natural gas.

Within two or three weeks, he said, recommendations are expected from the task force on the need to ration home heating oil and the need to extend wholesale fuel allocation — now applied to home heating oil, diesel and jet fuel and kerosene — to gasoline and other petroleum products.

"HOT" OIL

In about a month, he said, the task force should produce recommendations on gasoline rationing.

The task force target of sending gasoline rationing options to the White House about one month from now, coupled with Love's estimate that it would take about 60 days to set up the system, appeared to rule out gasoline rationing much before mid-February.

As soon as possible, the task force is also to make recommendations on allocating residual oil among power plants, requiring some power plants to burn coal, cutting airline jet fuel consumption, and imposing mandatory fuel-saving measures.

The task force also is studying the economic impacts of the energy crisis.

Arrival Of Mercy Flight Applauded

FORD Offers His Reputation For Truth

The prospects for the ceasefire along the Suez Canal improved today as Israel and Egypt began exchanging prisoners of war and Israel agreed to give U.N. forces control of the highway from Cairo to the town of Suez and the Egyptian 3rd Army.

A Red Cross DC6 took off from Cairo for Tel Aviv with 26 wounded Israeli prisoners, and 44 wounded Egyptians left Tel Aviv aboard a Red Cross jetliner for Cairo.

The International Red Cross said it expected to complete the operation in about a week.

The arrival of the first mercy flight at Israel's international airport outside Tel Aviv touched off a traffic jam on the road alongside the airport, cheers and applause from a crowd of civilians and soldiers outside the terminal building and greetings from Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, the wife of Israel's president and a corps of mini-skirted girl soldiers carrying bouquets for the wounded men.

By contrast, there were no crowds at the Cairo airport for the arrival of the first Egyptian POWs.

Egypt said it was returning 238 Israelis captured during the October war, plus another nine captured in military operations prior to 1970. The Israelis had estimated earlier that Egypt captured about 350 of their troops during the 18 days of fighting along the canal.

Israel also revised its count of Arab prisoners, saying it had a total of 8,221 Egyptians to be freed.

Israel also said it captured 368 Syrians, 13 Iraqis and 6 Moroccans, and that it believes the Syrians are holding at least 127 Israelis. Syria took no part in the prisoner exchange negotiations, but Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said today he hoped the Syrians would agree to a swap.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford today offered the reputation for truth, fairness and friendliness he has acquired in 25 years in Congress "for the good of all Americans."

Appearing before the House Judiciary Committee, which is examining his qualifications to become vice president, Ford said if confirmed he would try to smooth relations between Congress and the White House and between Democrats and Republicans on Capitol Hill.

"This is not a spectacular role for the next three years but it is one I believe to be needed, and to which I can bring a certain amount of experience," Ford said in prepared testimony.

Ford had already given a similar message to the Senate, which opened its hearings on his confirmation two weeks ago. This is the start of similar proceedings in the House.

It was a friendly setting for Ford, who came to Congress in 1949 with Rep. Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., the chairman of the Judiciary Committee, and who represents a Michigan district adjoining that of the committee's ranking Republican, Rep. Edward Hutchinson.

Largely because of such long and close associations, the Judiciary Committee has conducted an exhaustive investigation of Ford to avoid any charge or appearance of favoritism.

Ford recognized the committee's dilemma and said, "Although we have been friends and I hope will be friends, I want no special favor in presenting myself for your questions."

He expressed the same views that he did in the Senate hearing on the qualities he hopes to bring to the vice presidency — a capacity for friendship and compromise, a preference for looking forward rather than backward and a conviction that politicians should always tell the truth.

Nixon Says He Is Not Resigning

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon said today he is not resigning despite pressure from what he calls well intended friends and enemies for him to step out because of the Watergate crisis.

Nixon told a cheering crowd at the National Association of Realtors convention that he had done no wrong and was not going to leave office because of the misdeeds of subordinates.

"As far as the President of the United States is concerned, he has not violated his trust and he is not going to violate it," Nixon said.

"I was elected to do a job," Nixon said.

The President then listed as the goals of his administration a permanent peace in the world, prosperity and full employment at home and creation of a "safe country, a beautiful country, one our children can invest in, believe in and love."

"That is the job I was elected to do," Nixon said. "And I assure you... I am not going to walk away until I get that job done."

The speech to a packed house estimated at 3,000 persons at a Washington hotel was the first in what appears to be shaping up as a campaign by the President to take his case to the public.

Nixon planned other appearances in Orlando, Fla., Macon, Ga., and Memphis, Tenn.

He is to appear Saturday at the annual convention of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association in Orlando, and Sunday at Mercer Law School in Macon. Tuesday, he is to address Republican governors meeting in Memphis.

'I'M TELLING YOU THE TRUTH' Verdict Snag In Case Of Ex-Dallas Officer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The judge in the trial of former Dallas policeman Darrell Cain, accused of the shooting of 12-year-old Santos Rodriguez, instructed the jury today to consider the possibilities of both murder and negligent homicide.

State District Court Judge Ed Gossett of Dallas read his charge to the seven-man, five-woman jury at the start of today's session.

Final arguments by attorneys followed.

Gossett told the jury the defendant should be found guilty of murder if it finds beyond a reasonable doubt that Cain voluntarily killed the handcuffed boy in a Dallas squad car.

JAM COURTROOM

If the jury finds that Cain did not intend to kill the boy but did so from carelessness while committing an unlawful act, then he must be convicted of negligent homicide, Gossett told the jury.

If the jury has a reasonable doubt that Cain acted carelessly or unlawfully, then it must acquit him of both murder and negligent homicide, Gossett's charge to the jury said.

Spectators filled the courtroom and many persons waited in the hall hoping a seat would be vacated.

Negligent homicide carries a punishment range of one to three years in a county jail.

Murder carries a penalty ranging from two years' probation to life imprisonment.

LAST WORDS

Cain told the jury Wednesday the shooting was accidental. Cain said he thought he had unloaded his .357 magnum revolver before leveling it at Rodriguez's head.

Rodriguez was shot about 2:30 a.m. in the front seat of Dallas squad car 98 while he and his brother, both handcuffed behind their backs, were being questioned about a service station burglary.

On cross-examination, Cain said the boy's last words were: "I'm telling you the truth."

Royal Couple To Honeymoon On High Seas

LONDON (AP) — Britain's royal newlyweds, Princess Anne and Capt. Mark Phillips, spent their wedding night at the country home of one of her cousins before flying today to Barbados for a honeymoon on the high seas.

The year's most celebrated wedding couple were booked with 18 other passengers in the first-class section of British Airways Flight 695 to the British island off the northern coast of South America. The Britannia, the luxurious royal yacht, awaited them there.

The airline said no special arrangements were made for the 23-year-old daughter of Queen Elizabeth II and her 25-year-old husband of one day — but one official did note that drinks were complimentary in first class.

Anne and Phillips were accompanied by one bodyguard, 30-year-old Detective Sgt. James Beaton.

The World At-A-Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon may be cooperating more with Leon Jaworski than with his predecessor as special Watergate prosecutor, Archibald Cox. Jaworski said in papers filed in U.S. District Court that the White House told him he would be given some sensitive tape recordings and documents for use in his investigation.

SAIGON (AP) — Government forces repulsed an attack by North Vietnamese artillery, tanks and infantry near the Cambodian border and knocked out two tanks, the Saigon command said today. It reported 40 South Vietnamese missing but claimed 100 North Vietnamese were killed. The attack was near one of three government positions captured by the Communists since Nov. 4 in what Saigon says is a drive to open a supply route along the border to Communist strongholds north of Saigon.

WINCHESTER, England (AP) — British police prepared massive security measures today after reports that the Irish Republican Army planned to seize hostages and demand the release of seven IRA men and two women convicted of bombing in London last March. One man was killed and 216 were wounded in the blasts. There were also reports that the terrorists might retaliate with more bombing in British cities.

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Two thousand students barricaded themselves inside the Polytechnic Institute in downtown Athens today, set up their own radio transmitter and called for the overthrow of the government of President George Papadopoulos. Police stood by but made no attempts to evict the students. The students took over the building after a demonstration Wednesday night. They were protesting the conviction of five persons arrested in riots Nov. 4.

Ohioan Tries Suicide Here

James L. Fisher, is in the county jail in lieu of a $25,000 bond set by Municipal Judge John R. Coffee on a charge of assault with intent to murder.

The charge was filed after Fisher knocked down Police Sgt. Claude Morris, and took his gun Wednesday morning. Morris was attempting to return Fisher to the jail after he had appeared in Municipal Court.

Fisher knocked the sergeant to the floor and seized his pistol in the scuffle. He was subdued by Paul Silva, Jimmy Wallace, Det. Avery Falkner and Capt. Sherrill Farmer, after the sergeant cried for help.

Later in the day, Fisher attempted to commit suicide in the jail. He was found by Sgt. Morris about 3 p.m. with six slashes on his arm. The prisoner was hospitalized and treated at Cowper and returned to the jail. The cuts had been made with a razor blade. Police did not know where he had obtained the blade.

Det. Falkner said today the police department has now obtained information that shows Fisher is a deserter and an escapee from Camp Pendleton, Calif. The youth is originally from Lakewood, Ohio.

Inflation, Illness Poses A Multitude Of Problems

(This is the first of three articles written by Herald staff members on how inflation has changed the buying and living habits of average Big Spring residents. Each will deal with families on different income levels.)

By ANN STEVENS

Dan and Mary have been married since January and already they have been forced to hock their wedding rings.

Saying their "I do's," they had no idea how soon their initially stable life together would be marred with financial crisis, major health problems and consuming frustration.

Dan and Mary are only one of many couples and families throughout the nation who have been significantly hurt by inflation and the rising costs of living. The couple, now living in Big Spring, are among the "nouveau pauvre" class which is continually expanding to take in more of those previously considered middle class.

VISION SHATTERED

When the two 20-year-olds got married, they both held down steady jobs in an Oklahoma metropolis. They weren't rich, but they had visions of saving money and establishing a solid credit rating.

However, things began to snowball towards a shattering of the rosy dream when Mary became pregnant and had a miscarriage, leaving her health wrecked and requiring her to quit her job.

As Mary had been the principal breadwinner for the couple, the loss of her job left the pair with an income of only $235 a month, the salary brought in by the husband, a hospital orderly.

As Mary's miscarriage was a bad one, developing into infections, the couple found themselves faced with major medical expenses. Bills from two gynecologists soon mounted to $160 a month, impossible to liquidate on $235 a month.

In a two-month period, Mary saw the price of a visit to the doctor's office rise from $7 to $10 and the cost of hormone injections which she required on a regular basis jump from $5 to $10 each.

To take care of these expenses, Dan looked for a higher-paying job or even a second job but his efforts went in vain. Neither could their parents afford to pay off all the medical bills.

MEDICAL BILLS

"It was then that we thought of joining the military. The pay and the benefits sounded good," recalled Mary.

Dan was accepted into the Air Force as an enlisted man and the remaining hospital bills for Mary's pregnancy and miscarriage were paid for by the military, except for $25.

HOPES U.S. WILL CHANGE — King Faisal of Saudi Arabia is the America's staunchest friend in the Arab World and the man who cut off oil supplies to this country. Faisal is still hoping that the U.S. will change its Middle East policy.

Fuel Crisis Pooh-Poohed By Doubters

By The Associated Press

Many Americans see the energy crisis as a real threat and say they are cutting back their energy usage as President Nixon has asked. Others say they don't believe the crisis is as bad as it's portrayed.

"We turned the thermostat down to 69 after President Nixon made his announcement," says Mrs. Stanley Korosec of Cleveland in a typical reply. "It's uncomfortable, but we dress for it. We wear sweaters and put more blankets on the bed."

FREEZING

A random survey shows the most mentioned methods by individuals for cutting back on energy consumption are: driving at an efficient 50 m.p.h., lowering the thermostat to about 68 degrees and turning off unnecessary lights.

"We're freezing," says Mrs. William Fridley of Seattle. "We used to keep the thermostat at 75 to 78 degrees. It's turned down to below 70."

She says her family has decided against buying a second car and her husband is talking about joining a car pool.

"I refuse to buy any more ridiculous appliances like electric knives and can openers. We've got just too many conveniences."

But there are some doubters, people who question the depth of the crisis or pooh-pooh it altogether.

JUST A TACTIC

Howard V. McCann Sr. of Middleton, Pa. says he hasn't done anything special about Nixon's call. He says he has always been pretty conservative about his use of power anyhow. He says cutting the speed to a maximum of 50 on Pennsylvania roads wouldn't bother him.

"But I actually don't see any reason for it," the skilled mechanic says. "About this fuel shortage, I'm not sure whether to believe them or not. I can't see where it's at right now."

New York City real estate consultant Michael Levine blames the whole thing on political favoritism.

"I won't comply with the President's request. It's just a tactic by Nixon's friends in the oil business to justify a 100 per cent rise in gasoline prices. We've had the wheat deal, the milk deal — this will be the gas deal."

But Arthur Wildhagen of Champaign, Ill., is quite sure there's a crisis. "No gas station is giving me glasses or stadium blankets or God knows what this fall" to get his business.

Wildhagen plans to cover the insides of all his windows which don't have storm sashes and to seal all windows with caulking cord.

IT'S TOUGH

Ken Patterson, a San Diego businessman, has tried driving on those famous California freeways at 50 m.p.h. "Let me tell you it's tough, with people yelling at you and blowing their horns."

"I'll keep trying, though." Mrs. Ikebalur Chowdhury, of Jefferson City, Mo., says maintaining a 50 m.p.h. average is easy.

"We've always done that," she says. "My husband always drives at 50. I think he's counted three people he has passed on the highway in his life."

Hawks Enter Meet

ODESSA — What should be the first real test of the season awaits Howard County's Jayhawks this weekend, as the unbeaten HCJC crew enters the eight-team Odessa Chamber of Commerce Invitational Basketball Tournament.

The Hawks open action tonight at 7 p.m. against Temple, and take on either the winner or loser of tonight's 9 p.m. clash between Odessa College and St. Phillips. Winners of the two games meet Friday at 9 p.m., while the losers drop into the consolation bracket for a 4 p.m. affair Friday.

In other first round action, South Plains and Schreiner battle and Ranger goes against New Mexico Junior College. Finals are set for Saturday at 9 p.m., with third place to be decided at 7 p.m. and the consolation championship set for 4 p.m.

The Jayhawks take a 4-0 mark and a 10.6 point-per-game average into tonight's clash, with rebounding strength and an impressive fast break the main weapons. Taylor Williams and Thomas Bledsoe, both 6-7 and both averaging over 15 rebounds a game carry much of the load, while guard Bobby Beall sparks the fast break and is getting seven assists a game.

Bledsoe and guard Leroy Lumzy are hitting at a 20-point per game to head up the scoring punch, and Williams, forward Alfred Gladden and reserve post man David Tolliver are all averaging over 10 points a game. Also due to see plenty of action in the tourney are forwards Mike Randle, Keith Lewis and David Matthews, and guard Willie Young.

Steer JVs Host Angelo

The Big Spring Steer Junior Varsity, racked by injuries and depth problems all year, closes out its season tonight at 7 p.m. when it hosts the San Angelo JVs at Memorial Stadium.

The young Steers, 1-6-1 on the year, will have Mike Valenzuela and Dennis Fulcher sharing the quarterback duties in the finale, with Jerry Marquez taking care of most of the rushing chores. Split end Kenneth McCurtrey is the top receiver.

Greg Spears, the team's place kicker and a wide receiver, suffered a knee injury last week against Odessa and will miss tonight's game.

The Steer JVs have lost their last six games, all to Dist. 5AAAA opposition.

Rice's Kramer May Miss Game

HOUSTON (AP) — Rice's starting freshman quarterback Tommy Kramer may miss Saturday's game against the Texas Aggies because of a shoulder injury.

Kramer injured his left shoulder in last week's 17-7 victory over the Arkansas Razorbacks and has been listed a questionable by Rice trainer Allen Eggert, who classified Kramer's injury as a first-degree shoulder separation.

Rice Coach Al Conover called it a bruised shoulder and has kept Kramer on the sidelines during practice this week.

Oilers On Road Back, Says GM

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Oilers General Manager Coach Bill Sid Gillman says the Oilers have turned the corner but after watching Thomas in action there are still some village toughies waiting for them.

"I think the astute observer of pro football can see that the Oilers are on the rise," Gillman said. "I don't want him making me turn the corner." Gillman told his weekly news conference Wednesday. "I don't know how far we've turned the corner but we've turned it."

The Oilers, 1-8 after returning to the loss column last Sunday against the Cleveland Browns, face the Kansas City Chiefs Sunday. Pittsburgh, Oakland and Cincinnati also remain on the Oilers schedule.

"There are certain areas where we are very strong and that encourages us," Gillman said. "So we have to work on strengthening the other areas where we are weak."

WAITING FOR HIS BIRDIE — Tom Watson coaches a birdie putt into the cup on the 17th hole in Wednesday's fifth round of the World Open Golf Championship. Watson, from Kansas City, Mo., took the tournament lead with a nine-under par 62.

Savard's Bruins Upend Montreal

By The Associated Press
Andre Savard, drafted by the Bruins in the National Hockey League's summer draft, returned to his home province Wednesday night and scored a breakthrough goal in the third period to help the Bruins beat Montreal 4-3.

"It's a big thrill to come back and score a goal in Montreal," said Savard, who was unhappy about not being drafted by the Canadiens, but now finds himself with a first-place club.

Elsewhere in the NHL, Minnesota stopped Vancouver 6-3; the New York Rangers and Chicago Black Hawks skated to a 4-4 tie; Buffalo tripped Atlanta 3-1; Detroit edged the New York Islanders 4-3; Toronto sank California 4-1 and Philadelphia nipped Los Angeles 5-4.

There were no games scheduled in the World Hockey Association.

Savard's fourth goal of the season snapped a 2-2 tie. "The goal happened so fast, I just found the puck on my stick and let a wrist shot go."

Veteran Ken Hodge also scored in the final period for the Bruins, who now enjoy a four-point lead over runner-up Buffalo and five points over the third-place Canadiens.

Red Wings 4, Islanders 3
Henry Boucha's goal at 17:35 of the final period gave Detroit a 4-3 come-from-behind victory over the New York Islanders. It was the Red Wings' third consecutive triumph since Alex Delvecchio was named coach a week ago.

"You can't believe team morale compared with what it was earlier in the season," said Boucha.

"Alex has a good frame of mind," said Mickey Redmond, whose second power play goal at 11:29 of the third period boosted the Wings into a 3-3 tie.

"He just lets us go out and play. The game is fun and I think that's the way it should be."

Sabres 3, Flames 1
Larry Carriere, Mike Robitaille and Don Luce each scored goals to lead Buffalo past Atlanta 3-1 and snap the Flames' seven-game unbeaten streak.

Coahoma's Choate Takes Over 7-AA Rushing Lead

It took almost a whole season, but Coahoma's Puff Choate finally overtook Johnny Hickman of Reagan County in the Dist. 7-AA rushing race — and the Bulldog junior still has 1023 yards on 195 carries, both figures high totals in 7-AA, and his 10 rushing touchdowns puts him in a tie for second in scoring.

Hickman, who has led through most of the year on the rushing charts due to playing one more game, is second with 967 yards and the loop champion Owls are idle this week.

Cervantez of Ozona ranks third with 830 yards and fourth on the list is Stanton's super sophomore, Elvin Brown, with 721 yards.

McCamey is the team offense leader with a 342-yard per game average, two yards more than Reagan County, and the Owls overtook Ozona in the second defense listings, allowing 180 yards a contest.

Regan County Quarterback Ken Stout is the No. 1 scorer in the district with 72 points and he's also tops in passing, having thrown for 820 yards. Leland Bolen of McCamey is the top receiver.

HOPES HE DOESN'T CHOKE AGAIN Watson Claims 'World' Lead

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Obscure Tom Watson, admittedly dazed with delight and grinning broadly in the wake of the best round of his career, suddenly turned straight-faced and deadly serious.

"I just hope I hold on to it," he said after a stunning, nine-under-par 62 had given him a six-stroke lead Wednesday in the fifth round of the World Open Golf Tournament, an eight-round affair that offers a record $100,000 to the winner.

"I had a four stroke lead going into the last round in Hawaii and I choked," said the red-headed, freckle-faced Watson, a non-winner in his two years on the pro golf tour.

Country Club — generally ranged among the most demanding in this country — was 65 by Ben Hogan.

HC Volleyball Team To State

DENTON — The Jayhawk Queens of Howard County Junior College go for the Texas State championship this weekend in the annual 12-team women's volleyball tournament.

The Queens, runners-up in the district tournament at Abilene last week, meet the University of Texas at Arlington in their first match Friday at 9:30 a.m. and if they win that they take on third-seeded Lamar.

Defending state champion Texas Women's University is seeded No. 1 in the two-day, double elimination meet, followed by Sam Houston State.

In other first round action, Texas plays Bee County, the only other junior college team entered besides HCJC, Texas Tech takes on Pan American, and Southwest Texas State and Stephen F. Austin collide.

The tourney will be played on the North Texas State campus and at Denton Coliseum. Finals are set for 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

Starting for Howard County, 19-12 on the year, will be Marian Hobson, Mary Lou Wilkes, Kay Lou Caffey, Theresa Caffey, Janice Platte and Mary Alice Terrazas. Also due to see action are Isabel Juarez, Kay Jones, Sylvia Montano, Marsha Shields, Jeannie Gleitz and Pam Garrett.

Wanda Ferguson is the Queens' coach.

LAMESA'S TORS SEEKING REVENGE AGAINST PONIES

SWEETWATER — The Lamesa Golden Tors, biding their time before making the playoff trail, visit Sweetwater's Mustangs Friday with a bit of revenge on their minds.

With a 9-0 mark, the Dist. 3-AAA title already in their pocket and a third-place ranking among the state's AAA teams, the Tors will be remembering last year's loss to Sweetwater under similar circumstances. In 1972 the Tors had already clinched a playoff spot when the Ponies ruined their district state.

Kent McCurtrey, the league's No. 1 scorer with 124 points, heads up the offensive surge, along with quarterback Kyle White and fullback Melvin Robinson. Most of White's aerials go in the direction of tight end Jay Duncan (185) and split end Jim Roberts.

Heading up the Tors' defensive charge are Bruce Beck (190) and Trip Chastain (225) at the tackle spots, linebacker Butch Lauderdale, guard David Halfman and lineman Cody Reid.

Russell's Return To Boston Was Unemotional, Unhappy

By The Associated Press
Bill Russell returned to Boston and it was an emotional experience — only the emotion was frustration, not joy.

"We lost to a very good team," said Russell. "We lost our poise in the fourth period and I should have called time out when we were running off all those points."

Trail Blazers 111, Pistons 108
Clutch shooting by Jeff Petrie in the final three minutes helped Portland beat Detroit 111-108. Petrie connected for Portland's final four baskets, including the winning shot with 38 seconds remaining.

Piston center scored 41 points, 20 in the last period. Jimmy Walker scored 31 points, four in overtime, to lead Kansas City-Omaha to a 118-116 decision over Houston. The Rockets' Don Smith missed two free throws with 29 seconds left, but made the penalty shot to tie the score at 106 and send the game into overtime.

Forsan Buffaloes Finish Season Friday In Bronte

BRONTE — Forsan's Buffaloes end their 1973 grid year on a rugged note Friday when they visit the Bronte Longhorns in the Dist. 3-B finale for both teams.

The Buffs, 2-7 on the year and 1-5 in district play, will be underdogs by as many as three touchdowns against the explosive Longhorns.

Bronte will be led by high-scoring halfback Randy Barbee, and quarterback Nelson Coulter. Jim Dan Raughter, a split end and defensive back for the Horns, who carry 6-3 and 4-2 marks into the battle.

Boston's sluggish offense was revived by the rebounding of Paul Silas and Dave Cowens as the Celtics erased an 83-80 deficit with a 14-2 spurt in the fourth quarter.

Silas and Cowens cleared the boards and Silas and John Havlicek scored the points—four each—in the stretch that powered Boston into a 94-85 lead in four minutes.

Jo Jo White had 25 points and Havlicek flipped in 24 as the Celtics won their seventh straight game. Spencer Hayward's 22 points led Seattle as the SuperSonics lost their fourth straight.

Steers Close Out Season In Angelo Friday

LONNELL BANKS
Longhorn Fullback

By JACK COWAN
SAN ANGELO — In a way this is the game Big Spring's Steers have been waiting for almost the whole year. The Steers, who bowed out of the Dist. 5-AAAA title run five weeks ago, meet a dumb-founded San Angelo team that might, with a little luck, be making the playoff trail in a week. But the 8 p.m. game Friday might also be the end of the football line this year for the formerly top-ranked Bobcats, as it will be for the Steers.

Big Spring will take a beaten down crew into the finale at San Angelo Stadium, and this time the depth problem will be at its worst. Three starters lost to the team due to various injuries in the past three weeks will be joined on the sidelines by two more regulars, safety Doug Robison and guard Steve Brackett, both of whom have been suffering with strep throat this week.

The Steers, however, have adopted the Angeloans as their rivals over the past years as other league teams end their regular seasons with intricacy clashes, and upsets haven't been uncommon. A victory by the Steers would be the biggest surprise in quite a while, as the Longhorn carry 1-8 season credentials and a 1-5 district standing into the meeting, compared to the Bobcats' 8-1 and 5-1 marks.

But a Big Spring win would more than just surprise. It could throw the league into a four-way jumble if Odessa could manage to knock off streamrolling Permian, the team who let the air out of San Angelo last week by an astounding 42-7 count.

And if Odessa were to upset the Panthers and San Angelo dodged the surprise, the Bobcats would make their first trip to the state playoffs in seven years.

"I don't think they'll be down," said Steer coach Bob Burris of his Friday foes. "They've still got a lot to play for." The coach pointed to the Cats' backfield speed and line size in measuring the trouble the Steers will be faced with Friday.

Halfback Vendon Beck, a 170-pounder with 9.7 speed in the 100-yard dash, ranks sixth among 5-AAAA rushers with 341 yards, and quarterback David Dodson isn't far behind with 329. Dodson also is No. 3 in passing, with 723 yards and five touchdowns through the air.

Most of Dodson's tosses have gone to split end Mike Jones, a speedy receiver who has hauled in 18 passes for 352 yards and a pair of TDs in six district battles.

The Bobcats will also be without some of their clutch performers, as fullback-linebacker Dan Junnell is out with mononucleosis and guard David Hill will miss the tilt with a knee injury. Junnell will be replaced in the backfield by Marvin Williams.

The San Angelo line is a big one, with the likes of Ramon Rosales (235) and Sherrill Barina (205) up front, and the defensive front wall averages about 220 pounds per man.

Burris, down to 25 players on the varsity, said he thinks his troops will be ready to play. "It's hard to tel, but I think they'll be ready. I think they want this one pretty bad."

Once again, the Steers' success will depend upon the passing arm of quarterback Tom Sorley and a patchwork defense that is without back-up players at three positions.

Sorley, whose passing has been a bit erratic in the past two weeks, still ranks well above the rest of Dist. 5-AAAA's throwers with 1,060 yards and 10 touchdowns. And his favorite target, 6-2 flanker John Thomas Smith, has pulled in 31 catches for 529 yards this year, a record performance among 100 receivers. On the season, Smith needs just 120 yards to go over the 1,000-yard mark.

Other tosses will be aimed at split end Ronald McKee, tight end Vicky Woodruff, back Doug Smith and wide receiver Randy Schreengost.

Junior halfback Danny Ferrell, the only Steer among the district's top 25 rushers, heads up the ground game, while plays to fullback Lonell Banks (185) have also been successful in recent outings.

The offensive line will be the same as a week ago, but the leaders will be spending more time on defense than usual with the drop in personnel. Ken Froman and Scott McEwen, a pair of rangy 215-pounders, will be at the tackle spots with Joel Fellows (200) and Jerry Rogers (185) at guard and Ray McCutcheon (200) at center.

McEwen and Fellows will double up as defensive tackles, while Woodruff and Casey Lovelace man the end positions and Edward Pekowski, a sophomore, starts at noseguard. Mark Moore and Ricky Watkins, two more sophs, will get the call at linebacker while John Smith and Lawrence Byrd are the cornerbacks.

McKee will be at one safety, and Orville Rau, a senior, will be making his first start as a replacement for Robison.

Also due to see action on the defensive unit will be tackle Joe D. Matthews and end Joe Rains.

Big Spring Fourth In Team Offense

Big Spring's Steers go into their 1973 season finale Friday ranked fourth among Dist. 5-AAAA teams in offense and seventh in team defense. Odessa High is the No. 1 offensive unit with an output of 2,188 yards in six games, and Odessa Permian is close behind with 1,888 yards on 121 carries, and as many passing yards as ground s.e.p.s, have totaled 1,609 yards and rank behind Midland.

Abilene Cooper continues to boast the most impressive defense, giving up 1,151 yards, with Permian in the No. 2 spot.

Abilene, Midland, Big Spring and Abilene follow. The Steers have allowed a hefty 1,543 yards rushing, and 691 more through the air — a 372-yard per game average.

Individually, two Steers continue to lead in the passing and receiving categories. Tom Sorley, who has completed 61 of 155 passes for 1,060 yards and 10 touchdowns, ranks at the top of the throwing list.

And No. 1 on the catching end is John Thomas Smith, who has now caught passes worth 592 yards to surpass the unofficial district receiving record.

Permian's Mike Belew, though playing just half of the game against San Angelo a week ago, still tops the rushing charts with 630 yards on 121 carries, and he's also No. 1 in scoring with seven extra points for the Steers this year, along with three field goals, tops in the league.

Heading up the punting among those with several attempts is Abilene's Chuck Sittion, who has kicked 32 times for a 40.6 average. Trey Deen of Cooper and Marc Fielden of Permian are close behind, while Big Spring's top punter has been Ronald McKee.

Mesquite Wood Offered Free
R. V. Fryar, who resides on the old Jack Wilcox place eight miles southwest of Big Spring, is willing to do what he can to help ease the fuel shortage. Fryar is cleaning his acreage of mesquite and is offering the wood without charge to anyone who will come after it. Those who gather it will need either chain saws or axes or both. No, he's not soliciting help in his clearance project. Such timber burns well in fire places and has helped many an area women in her preparation of meals in the past. Fryar can be reached from 12 noon until 1 p.m., and at night by dialing 398-1433, where the public is unsure about directions to his farm.

Program Will Pose Problems

The city recently advanced $10,000 to help with an alley clean-up program. Many citizens have been pleased with the results of the project. However, the continued maintenance of the project may create some problems. The city was divided into 12 areas for the clean-up and the biggest portion of the $10,000 has already been spent. Some members of the volunteer group are wanting hired supervisors for each section of the city to continue to keep it clean, complete with equipment for each area. Such a project would cost the taxpayers close to $75,000 annually, officials insist. Studies were being made this week by city officials and the only means of providing this service to that extent would be to raise sanitary rates around 70 cents per month or else ask for a tax increase. The city is also studying possibilities of a smaller crew attempting to maintain the entire city.

Jennings New TH Patrolman

A new Texas Highway Patrolman is working out of the Texas Department of Public Safety office in the courthouse. He is W. B. Jennings, formerly a driver's license patrolman with the D.P.S. in El Paso and a Borden County school teacher. Jennings has been working for the D.P.S. one and one-half years. Born in Fort Worth, he was graduated from Snyder High School in 1958. He earned a bachelor of science degree at Sul Ross University. He taught agriculture and sixth grade students while at Fluvanna several years. Then, he taught three years at Gail Junior High School. Jennings has two sons, one is a sophomore at Coahoma High School and another attends a Midland junior high school. He works with the Highway Patrolman as a patrolman. Jennings replaces Highway Patrolman John Ferguson, Jewdown working for the D.P.S. in El Paso.

One-Woman Crusade: Z Urges Fems To Live For Themselves

By NATALIE HALL
Copy News Service

LOS ANGELES — Zsuzsanna "Z" Budapest has a German shepherd named Ilona who has been trained to hate men. When a man enters the room, Ilona bares her teeth and growls under her breath.

"She regards men as potential attackers and she's pretty close to the truth most of the time," Z said.

Ilona has received newspaper and television coverage because of her antimalle proclivities. She made her TV debut at an antirape seminar attended by some 200 Women's Liberationists. When the cameramen arrived to cover the meeting, Ilona jumped them.

STANDING OVATION

For this, Ilona won a standing ovation. Z Budapest explained that she lives in a rough section of suburban Venice and acquired Ilona for protection. She was afraid of being mugged — or worse.

Sure enough. One night it happened. Z was attacked by a man and Ilona sprang to the rescue. That was one sorry attacker.

Ever since the incident, Ilona has reacted to the presence of a male and Z has rewarded it.

PITTANCE

Z is a counselor at the Feminist Women's Health Center in Los Angeles, the first woman-run abortion clinic in the United States. Like other staff members, the 34-year-old Women's Lib activist works for a pittance — $100 a week from the nonprofit clinic can meet the payroll.

She's not in it for the money. Neither are the others.

"Here, we all work for less than the minimum wage because we feel we're part of a revolution," Z said. "We feel that women can't be free until they have complete control over their reproduction. Abortion is the only completely certain method of birth control. None of the other birth control devices available to us is really 100 per cent sure and 100 per cent usable by all women. That's why we're here."

NOT PRETTY STORY

Z was swept up in the women's movement for deeply emotional reasons. Hers is a story of displacement, trauma and finally collapse. It's not a pretty story.

And she's not alone. Each staff member at Feminist Women's Health Center has a story to tell, perhaps not as dramatic as Z's, but each knows the secret anger that drove her to her revolutionary role.

Z Budapest was born in Hungary. She fled during the 1956 revolt and finished high school in Austria. Her grades were high and she won a college scholarship; she wanted to become an interpreter at the United Nations.

Marriage interrupted her plans. She came to this country to wed an old boyfriend from Hungary who had taken up residence here.

Pregnant almost immediately, Z stuck doggedly to her studies. But the arrival of a second child two years later proved to be too much. Her grades dropped and she lost her scholarship.

NO SUPERWOMAN

"I found out I wasn't superwoman," Z said. "I just got pooped. I couldn't care for the children and go to school, too. And somehow my husband's schooling always came before mine. So I dropped out of school. Pretty soon I started to feel trapped. I knew my career plans were wiped out."

She punished herself for her feelings. "You do see the children as the cause and a woman has a tremendous sense of guilt about blaming her children for this. This is the reason for many housewives' suicides."

After 12 years as a housewife, Z had a nervous breakdown and tried to take her own life. "I had the American housewife woman-trip," Z says. "I cracked and I know some who cracked worse."

Z left her two sons with her husband and headed for the West Coast to find herself. She discovered Women's Liberation.

FOUND FRIENDS

"I threw myself into the movement totally," Z recalled. "It gave me historical perspective on how I fit into this whole mess. I found friends for the first time."

"It took me two years in the movement to get so I wasn't crying all the time." Z is no longer interested in interpreting at the U.N.

That would be too passive for her. She sees herself now as a "full-time revolutionary."

When she proposes a toast, it's "Down with Patriarchy!"

Men come into the center to vacuum the floor. Z doesn't mind her small salary. She has what counts: a feeling of community with other revolutionaries.

"I'm not alone," she says. "I won't starve." Z became a one-woman crusade for her new way of life. "I went back to my old neighborhood," she grinned. "I started riots!"

NEW TALENT

And Z discovered a new talent through the feminist movement: public speaking.

"I can talk to an apathetic crowd and leave them with fire!" Z proclaimed.

She founded a speakers bureau and now gives lectures all over Southern California.

Z is an attractive, personable young woman. She can be happy, fun-loving, high. Or she can slip into a pensive mood.

Z's hair is drawn back in a casual ponytail; she couldn't care less about her clothes. But she's warm. She loves to talk about her work as a counselor at the center and she's good at making the patients feel at ease.

REAL EXPERIENCE

"It's a real experience to see the fear in a woman's eyes leave," Z said, glowing.

"Women should learn to take responsibility for their own health and happiness and welfare," Z said. "Even 17- and 18-year-old girls who come in here seem to live to feed the male. They get married to please their parents. They live for everyone but themselves."

Grover Says Tower Trying To Clip Him

HOUSTON (AP) — Henry C. (Hank) Grover, 1972 Republican candidate for governor of Texas, says U.S. Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., is trying to undercut Grover's campaign for the GOP gubernatorial nomination again.

Grover said Tower is doing it by backing George Bush, GOP national chairman and a former congressman.

Grover charged that Tower would rather split the GOP and hope no Republican is elected governor than share his influence in the party.

At a meeting of the Greater Houston Young Republicans Club Tuesday night, Grover was asked what he will do if Bush enters the race for nomination as the GOP candidate for governor.

"Beat the hell out of him," Grover replied.

"Bush is a fine man at the national level," Grover added. "But he has no qualifications for state government at all. In fact, I don't even think he wants to run."

"I think John Tower and a few others want us to fight it out so there won't be a Republican governor next year and the same clique will run the Texas Republican Party."

Tower has urged Bush to seek the GOP gubernatorial nomination next year, saying Bush would be an "excellent" candidate. Tower has put a "good" label on Grover.

Bush said last week he didn't expect to be a candidate for governor but had not definitely ruled himself out.

Patina Often Adds Value To Brass, Copper, Bronze

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — That blue-green coating that eventually covers brass, copper and bronze — it's called patina and art experts say it often adds value.

"This look adds to the worth and, some say, to the beauty of the object," according to Patricia A. Bradshaw, housing and home furnishings specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

SOAP SUDS

"Sometimes it's difficult to clean and shine these metals without rubbing off the patina."

"Objects sealed against air with a coat of lacquer won't develop patina," she noted.

To clean unacquainted brass, the specialist suggested washing the object in soap suds with a small amount of ammonia and hot water. Then polish it using a commercial brass polish.

"Apply it with a soft cloth — and unless the polish contains tarnish preventive, remove it with hot water."

"Commercial cleaning products for copper are also on the market, as is jeweler's rouge — a fine red powder that cleans delicately."

HOT VINEGAR

Miss Bradshaw noted that copper tarnishes from sulfur impurities and salty, moist air. The first indication of oxidation is a dull film followed by a green deposit.

"For stubborn tarnish, try a mix of salt, hot vinegar and flour."

"Dusting copper cuts polishing frequency," she added.

"Bronze, on the other hand, can be brought to a high luster

'SO QUIT BOTHERING US' About 130 Towns Nix Revenue-Sharing

WASHINGTON (AP) — "We do not want any revenue sharing," wrote an official of Ward Ridge, Fla. "We can handle our own business."

"It's not worth the worry of having the government or part of the government looking down our necks," said the letter from Mayor W.A. Montroy of Stoutsville, Mo.

About 130 of some of the nation's small towns, villages and townships have told the Treasury Department's Office of Revenue Sharing to stop sending them federal revenue-sharing money. Their reasons are both practical and philosophical.

BACK INTO KITTY

But the overriding reason is that the checks are so small, they are largely eaten up in meeting legal requirements of publishing reports in local newspapers.

"The requirements for publication and recording make it impossible for the town to retain such a ridiculous amount of revenue sharing funds," wrote the mayor of Blue River, Colo.

The Revenue Sharing Office accepts the checks back and puts them into the kitty. The total amount turned back hasn't been tabulated but officials figure it has been well under $1 million.

President Nixon signed the revenue-sharing bill in October 1972, saying he hoped the federal money could be used to improve local government and reduce local taxes. About $100 billion has been provided in the first year.

The jurisdictions returning the checks account for only a tiny percentage of the 38,000 units getting the money, according to Priscilla Crane, spokesman for the office.

DON'T NEED IT

The checks returned range from $200 to a few thousand dollars. Some small towns have sent in requests that their money be credited to the county where they're located. The government says this is legal and is done often.

Irrigated land Could Suffer

LAS VEGAS, NEV. — The nation's energy crisis will likely demand that water now used for irrigation will be directed in the future to production of metals and of oil from shale, according to Dr. Harold F. Dregne of the Texas Tech University faculty.

Dregne addressed the 65th annual convention of the American Society of Agronomy meeting in Las Vegas last night.

In his own view, Dr. Dregne expects arid lands in the future "may well see a more intensified use of dry farm and irrigated areas, less land devoted to irrigation, less intensive use of range lands for livestock, land deliberately set aside for recreation and mining where environmental deterioration will be permitted, and a heightened sense of the importance of good quality water."

"In view of the energy crisis that the United States faces," he said, "it seems likely that some water presently used for irrigation will be diverted to production of metals and of oil from shale despite the environmental deterioration that will be generated," he added.

Failure of water importation plans may lead to better use of water presently available, he said, because with ample supplies of cheap water the tendency is to waste the resources — by irrigating poor soils and impairing downstream water quality.

"Range lands will continue to be used for livestock raising for many years with a gradual changeover to feeding livestock under confined conditions, and an increase in utilization of rangelands by game animals."

"Irrigation agriculture will become more intensified and controlled environment greenhouses will become common," he said.

Space Travel In Pioneering Phase

DALLAS (AP) — An Apollo 17 astronaut said Tuesday space travel has entered the pioneering stage and the future benefits for mankind are almost limitless.

Dr. Harrison Schmitt, the first scientist to land on the moon, said in a speech before the Geological Society of America that the U.S. Space program can be compared with the westward movement in this country in the late 1800s.

Early Chores Paid Off Later

By BARBARA LORD
 "I was born and raised on a farm," said Mrs. Clarence (Grace) Peters. "I never really enjoyed all the chores I had to do around the house, but now I realize they helped me."

Mrs. Peters thinks young people today don't learn enough of the basic arts necessary for married life. When she grew up, learning to can, cook, sew and do general household jobs was just a natural part of her childhood. However, housework doesn't dominate her life now or interfere with other pleasures.

Weekends often find one of her sons home with several college friends. Frank, a senior at Angelo State, is majoring in physical education with a mathematics minor; and Mark is a sophomore pre-dental student at West Texas State University. The Peters' also have a daughter and grandson who are residing with them, Mrs. Mary Beth Dean and Kevin. Dr. Peters is a dentist, and his wife has experienced both the career and homemaking roles of life. She is a certified dental assistant.

CAREER

"I am his permanent 'temporary' help," said Mrs. Peters. "I haven't worked much lately, but there have been times when I worked full-time in his office for several months. I don't mind working, but I truly enjoy staying home. It gives me more time for my family, my friends and my own personal pleasures."

Mrs. Peters is a relaxed and efficient homemaker, but "spotlessness" doesn't take priority over having fun. She spends many of her daytime hours with Kevin — helping him operate his toy trucks, playing games and keeping him from riding his "Big Wheeler" through the plate glass doors.

"We're great friends," said Mrs. Peters. "We have a lot of fun together. He helps me with everything I do, including preparing lunch and dinner for my husband and daughter."

The family eats a light lunch, but the evening meal is usually hot and balanced. When the boys are home on weekends, Mrs. Peters often tests their robust appetites with a new recipe.

"Mexican food is my specialty," said Mrs. Peters, and Frank is the one who taught her how to cook it. He worked in a Mexican restaurant for awhile, and the owner gave him her recipes."

Although Mrs. Peters says her family would be "perfectly happy with broiled steak and potatoes every night," she tries to vary the menu often. She admits the hardest part of cooking is coming up with different recipes.

ANTIQUES

Sewing is another art Mrs. Peters learned when she was very young and, today, she makes just about everything she wears. Other hobbies include playing bridge and oil painting, although the painting has been set aside for some time now.

The Peters' home at 802 Highland is decorated in a unique combination of modern, oriental and antique. Most of her antiques have some personal meaning to her or the family.

"I'm not an antique enthusiast," she said, "but we have a lot of items that belonged to our families or that we just saw and liked." The more interesting pieces include old hymnal racks from a church formerly pastored by her grandfather and which she now uses to hold cookbooks; an antique dental office cabinet; a coffee grinder and two beautiful china cabinets. The setting provides a comfortable place for impromptu entertaining which is what the couple prefers.

Mrs. Peters is president of the 1953 Hyperion Club and a member of Market Challenge Investment Club and the Ladies Golf Association, Big Spring County Club. Originally from O'Dell, she obtained her dental assistant training at the University of Texas at Austin. Dr. Peters is from Vernon and did his pre-dental studies at UT, Austin, followed by dental school at UT, Houston.

Pumpkin, Apple Pie Combine

Decisions! Decisions! Will the turkey be too big? Will the turkey be big enough? Do we dare omit creamed onions this year? Shall we have apple or pumpkin pie?

A delicious solution to that last dilemma is today's Apple 'n' Pumpkin Pie—a half 'n' half combination of the season's traditional desserts with a luscious mixture of favorite seasonings and canned pie-sliced apples topped by a creamy layer of pumpkin.

Next to its sure-to-please taste, the good news for the busy holiday hostess about this pie is that you can make it in minutes, thanks to the convenient canned pie-sliced apples for which the recipe calls. These ready-to-use, unsweetened pie-sliced apples are already peeled, cored, and sliced so that your energy can be devoted to the creativity of cooking and the satisfactions that result.

This is a hospitable open-face pie with a fresh-from-the-oven golden glow. For an especially attractive garnish, reserve a few of the apple slices used in the pie's preparation. Their special processing keeps them fresh in color and texture, even on exposure to air.

HALF 'N' HALF APPLE 'N' PUMPKIN PIE

 2 eggs, slightly beaten
 1½ cups (14½ oz. can) evaporated milk

 ¼ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
 ½ cup granulated sugar
 2 tbsps. all purpose flour
 ¼ tsp. salt
 ¼ tsp. cinnamon
 ¼ tsp. nutmeg

Combine eggs and evaporated milk. Stir in pumpkin pie filling and mix until well blended; set aside. Combine apples, sugar, flour, salt and spices. Pour apple mixture into prepared pie shell. Pour over 2 cups of the pumpkin mixture. Bake in a 425 degree oven for 15 minutes. Reduce oven temperature to 350 degrees and continue baking about 45 minutes or until firm. Use remaining pumpkin mixture for Pumpkin Custard: Pour pumpkin mixture into 4 buttered custard cups. Place in a pan of hot water. Bake in a 350 degree oven for 45 to 50 minutes or until done.

Dependable Consensus

The pending political business of the country is to make plans to cope with three more years. For the Republican Party, first steps are being planned this week the Republican Coordinating Committee opened its first meeting since May 1968.

The political business and the economic business of the country aren't the same, of course, but the relationship is so close as to give urgency to reaching positive conclusions. Whether President Nixon continues to serve or not, the political fact of life is that he has lost his political coattails. He cannot help the party.

The economy continues strong despite trouble at the White House. That is reassuring in the face of hand-wringers who forecast national ruin because of a "constitutional confrontation." Jobs for Americans put the unemployment rate last month at its lowest level since March 1970 — 4.5 per cent unemployment, down from 4.8 per cent where it had stuck since last June.

Sharp demand for foreign trade, strongly improving a deficit situation, is helping. Opportunities for improved world conditions, given a tolerable situation in the Mideast, are good. But the political collapse of Mr. Nixon's second term is a problem desperately needing satisfactory resolution lest the political impasse adversely affect the entire national life. But the great challenge for the three years ahead was spelled out by Secretary of State Kissinger lately: "There has been a total disintegration of national consensus on foreign policy. Partly this comes from disintegration of authority. Partially it comes because, with the ending of the familiar anti-Communist stance, we are not now sure what to be for. . . . We must use the next three years to form anew the habit of civil debate. We want to build a dependable consensus." Civil debate, if it can be had, has to deal with the problems and a willingness to talk about them honestly, openly, objectively; apart from this, there can be no enduring consensus.

Another Question

We have the word of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and President Nixon that the Soviet note and troop movements which precipitated the world alert of U.S. forces fully justified that alert. Furthermore, Kissinger promised that the note would be published sometime along with U.S. intelligence reports, or the substance of them, which will support the position taken by the administration.

But when this question was raised in a White House press conference, partisans called it silly. It may be, though, that the justification for the U.S. alert, is not as relevant as the overriding question: What did Russia get in return for that note and for its apparently ostentatious mobilization of airborne forces? A great deal, it seems. And this question also should be answered.

Memorable Jurist

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

Judge R. E. Thomason died last week in El Paso at the age of 94 and with him died an age of special Thomason etiquette in the West Texas federal courts. He was a grand old man and I loved him and he ran as "tight" a courtroom as you ever saw anywhere.

HE SAID HE built his own courthouse in Pecos when he was a Congressman and approved the federal building there. Later, when he lived in El Paso and would preside in both El Paso and Pecos, a portrait was dedicated in the Pecos courtroom to him.

He had strict rules. If you came into his courtroom as a juror, lawyer, criminal, a member of the press or spectator, you dressed for the occasion like you were going to church. Men were required to wear suits and ties and women dresses — no pants suits.

You never were allowed to take a camera into the courtroom or a newspaper. In fact a newspaper anywhere in his courtroom would require a mistrial. You were on time, or you stayed out in the corridor.

In Pecos, when they were dedicating his portrait, he made an exception and said we could bring in cameras. There were photographers there from several area papers pushing each other around trying to get the best picture.

COVY BEAN from Odessa was in front of me when suddenly, Judge Thomason, who was unveiling the portrait gave him a stern look and in his best manner said, "Let the lady reporter in front, please." I was both taller and broader than Bean, so when I got in front, it did rather block his view. He was muttering behind me, "Let the lady reporter in front please. Durn."

Several years later, Billie Sol Estes was being tried in Thomason's court in El Paso. I got up at 2 a.m. and rode the bus to El Paso with a camera and notepad in my lap to cover the opening day of the trial. The bus was late. I took a cab across town and checked my camera at the district clerk's office, raced down the hall to the courtroom and burst open the doors just after the judge had seated himself. He had his gavel in mid-air and he looked sternly down the aisle at me.

I WAS IN a new bright red coat and as hard to hide as a bright red barn. There was no jury yet so all of the reporters from Time, Life, Newsweek, the Texas papers and elsewhere were all sitting in the jury box. Estes and his lawyers, all the reporters, and every spectator in the courtroom turned around and looked at me.

Judge Thomason finally spoke, "Mrs. Carpenter, the press is seated here in the jury box." And as I began the trek down that aisle, he turned and looked sternly at the reporters and said, "Gentlemen." They got the message. They all leaped up and gave me a front row seat.

The judge's eyes twinkled, he nodded and then struck the podium in front of him with the words, "This court is now in session."

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

If it is — why is it a sin to smoke, drink or eat indulgently? I thought God was only concerned with your soul, not your physical body!

L.T. In the early days of Christianity, many made the same error you have. Thinking that because Christ said, "My kingdom is not of this world," He was unconcerned about the ways we treated the human body. That's not true — either Biblically or logically.

Certain Greek philosophers taught that the body was evil — hence, it could be treated any way one wished. But this too is an error.

The Bible teaches that the human body has a dignity, originally conferred upon it by the Creator. He glorified it later by the incarnation of Christ.

The sins you mention desecrate the temple of the living God — which is the Christian's body. The Gospel says we need not serve such evil purposes in our body. Through faith, God can help us control bodily desires, thereby witnessing the power of a dynamic faith. St. Paul said he trained his body like an athlete (1 Corinthians 9:27).

To think that self-indulgence, which is really the essence of sin, would ever be winked at by God is ridiculous. If you're a Christian, self-indulgence denies your discipleship! If not, it shows you don't recognize that the body functions well only when a master is in continual and strict control.

Gas Rationing?

William F. Buckley Jr.

It is both sad and amusing to read the public speculation over just how we are to save fuel. The challenge is a delight to bureaucratic ingenuity: there is a breed of men which is never so happy as when sitting down to regulate the habits of other men. A schoolmate of mine knew the breed by instinct. He called them — fletted phrase! — "shower adjusters." I.e., people who can't bear to let you set the temperature even of your own shower, wanting to reach in and turn the knob just a little this way, or that.

With thousands of boards, before which each one of us would appear, impudently, pleading our special little exigencies. The kind of thing that used to delight the New Deal bureaucrats, who at the height of their enthusiasm for that kind of thing wanted to regulate wages, profits, and prices, and never quite forgave the Supreme Court for saying it was unconstitutional. The Nixon Administration has in it enough sensible people to resist — or so we hear — the lobby that turns instinctively to rationing as the way to handle the problem.

There is talk instead of a huge tax. But as often is the case, one form of government interference introduces the need for a derivative interference. It is feared that a tax a) large enough substantially to reduce the use of gasoline, would b) substantially reduce consumer spending power thus c) causing deflation; so that d) it is proposed that the tax having been taken from the motorist it be returned; posing the problem e) when? If the following year, the temporary decrease in purchasing power might trigger the recession. If right away, then the taking away of the money and the returning of it blur in the consumer's mind, and the effect on the consumption of gasoline would be negatory.

1) You are much better off reducing the amount of gas spent by raising the price of gasoline, than by setting up a gigantic bureaucracy charged with the impossible job of adjudicating everyone's claim to gasoline. Whereas it is obvious that the doctor or the plumber needs gas in order to do his business, it is not obvious that the old retired couple do not need gas — when in fact their principal pleasure may be their afternoon drive together.

2) WHEN there is true scarcity, basic needs must be protected. It is not yet known whether the scarcity that looms is on that order; it might be. In that event, the government would be entitled to protect the basic needs of individual drivers by — let us say — stipulating that every Monday, drivers can fill up their tanks with government-priced gasoline. But then on the following six days, gasoline venders should quite simply peg their prices according to supply. As gasoline becomes scarcer, the price of it should rise. As it becomes less scarce, competition would drive down the price. If it is not too complicated to the British pound to float, it ought not to be too complicated for the gasoline station to adjust its prices — perhaps even, like the pound's, every day, depending on demand and supply.

WHAT I am stressing, 3) is that there is no need to do away with the market mechanism merely because of scarcity. Mr. Nixon has a fine chance here to adapt conservative principles to a social emergency. Let us hope he will not miff it.

Let'em Eat Cake, Drink Vinegar

RACINE, Wis. (AP) — If you think you are paying too much for milk, consider the alternative: vinegar.

According to a recent report in Wisconsin Agriculturist, a rural publication, vinegar is the only food that sells for less per gallon than milk. Dick Halbach, a Wisconsin county agent, came to this conclusion after converting retail drink prices to gallons. Milk costs 94 cents a gallon; beer, $1.65; Coke, 1.48; orange drink, $1.16; tomato juice, $1.56 and prune juice, $2.

When You Have A Cold

Hal Boyle

By JOHN SINOR (Substituting for Hal Boyle) A little misty rain came down. Just enough to make the streets slick and the windshields smeary.

It didn't help my summer cold, either. (Well, it was summer when it started.) I get a cold about once every five years. But when I do, I don't go about it in a halfway manner. I get a real doozy that hangs on and on.

Right now the top drawer of my desk looks like a drugstore shelf. Nose drops, cough medicine, throat lozenges, pills for "fast, fast relief." So far the relief has been slow in arriving. At home they are pouring vitamin C down me. "Adelle Davis says blah, blah, blah . . ."

Adelle Davis is THE prophet in our household this year. If Adelle Davis said, "Cure a cold by jumping off a bridge," they would have me standing on the edge right now.

At the office I take an aspirin that is supposed to be good for headache, colds, body ache and neuralgia.

It suddenly occurred to me that I have been taking aspirin for years without ever knowing what neuralgia is. And it is my guess that few other people know.

I looked it up in the dictionary and I'm still not sure. I almost called in sick yesterday. I was going to say: "Sorry I won't be in, but I think I've got neuralgia." "Feed a cold, starve a fever," said grandma. She had her own ways of dealing with the ailments of man. Methods which had been passed down to her through generations of women in the Ozark hills.

A chest cold got you a mustard plaster — a fiery concoction she stuck onto your chest. It gave you an instant sunburn.

Whisky drinking was a sin unless it really was for "medicinal purposes." Just before bedtime, grandma would give the cold victim a toddy with about four ounces of rye whisky and four ounces of lemonade, heated until it steamed.

After downing this, the patient was dressed in at least two sets of long underwear and put in a bed heaped with down quilts.

Grandma called it "sweating the germs out."

The next morning you would wake up soaking wet, five pounds lighter and sometimes cured.

During the "cold season," whether you had one or not, you went to school wearing an assaetida bag around your neck. The horrible fumes from the herbs and spices in the bag were supposed to ward off colds. But I think it was more of a matter of preventive medicine.

Today we have vitamin C and Adelle Davis, eight-hour cough syrup and millions of tiny time capsules exploding in your stomach to bring you all day relief.

If It Worked, It Worked

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Re your item about a person who can't quit nail-biting, you give as the reason: "He just doesn't want to quit badly enough."

I am 71. I bit my fingernails continuously until seven years ago. It was a constant embarrassment, particularly in college and business. I certainly wanted to stop — except when I was biting my nails.

But I stopped the habit in two weeks. I was reading

"Psycho-Cybernetics" by Dr. Maltz. He mentioned that one way to break a habit is to consciously make motions typical of the habit. So I would deliberately pretend to bite my nails many times a day. That — or something else I read in the book — stopped the habit in 14 days — S.M.

If it worked, it worked. So I pass your thoughts along to anyone who wants to try them.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Last week my eye doctor told me cataracts were forming on both my eyes. I know nothing about cataracts so I got upset, but he told me not to worry because it took from one to 10 years before they become serious. Is this true, and is there something I can do to help myself meantime? — M.D.

Cataracts develop slowly, and what your doctor told you is true. There is nothing you can do to slow down their formation, but when or if they reach the point of interfering with your vision, the cataracts can be removed. I suggest that you read my new booklet, "Cataracts and Glaucoma," which will explain the situation. Send 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for the booklet.

Travail In Iraq

Robert Novak

BAGHDAD — Bitter recriminations within the Iraqi government over Soviet complicity in the Arab-Israeli cease-fire produced an astonishing series of veiled editorial attacks on the Ba'athist government in the Moscow-dominated Communist party press here.

THE DISPUTE is important for one reason — as evidence that Moscow, despite vast investment in arms development and influence here, is trying to rope in a wild stallion beyond its control. Yet Iraq is central to long-range Soviet ambitions in Central Asia.

With perhaps a mere thousand active members in the Communist party, the party operates, both above and below ground, as a legal party, with a daily organ that reaches an estimated 40,000 or so regular Iraqi readers. Stung by the anti-Soviet impact of the government attack on the cease-fire, the party organ struck back in several editorials.

THE COMMUNIST newspaper began with the surprising admission that the Israeli invasion of the west bank of the Suez Canal "threatened the supply line of the (Egyptian) Third Army," compelling President Anwar Sadat to make "persistent requests that Moscow act to guarantee the cessation of Israeli aggression." It next challenged the claim of the Ba'ath government here that Arab "masses" will never accept the cease-fire.

CONSIDERING Washington's eager propensity neatly, and often incorrectly, to pigeonhole such countries as Greece (ostensibly a gallant ally) and Iraq (ostensibly a Moscow stooge), the Baghdad-Moscow dispute is worth serious study for its bearing on Moscow's far more important ambitions in Central Asia.

When the Soviet Union first took an interest in Iraq, after the assassination of pro-West Premier Nuri al-Said in 1958, its ever-increasing investment was seen as a hedge against the possible future loss of Moscow's influence in Egypt. But today the Soviet effort here hints at objectives vastly bigger than a desire to gain a trump card to play in the oil-vital Persian Gulf where Iraq is an ever-larger exporter of oil.

THE VAST playing field of this more ominous Soviet game stretches from Iraq on the west with its Persian Gulf outlet, balanced economy, ample water and oil-financed industrial development to India on the east. In between is Afghanistan where a new Soviet-backed regime headed by a radical princeling of the royal family is already raising suspicions in Iran and Pakistan.

Bundling Plan

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Everyone is coming up with new methods of helping during the energy crisis. Some ideas are nutty, but others are very practical and should be called to the attention of the government.

PROF. HEINRICH Applebaum has been studying new methods of sharing heat. He has written a paper titled "Bundling and the Energy Crisis," which he presented to the Society of Thermostat Inspectors.

Applebaum told me after giving his report, "The place where we waste the most heat in our homes is in bed. America can no longer afford the luxury of having one person sleep in bed all by himself. If we can persuade people to voluntarily share their beds, we could turn down the thermostats in our homes seven degrees."

"WOULD THESE people have to be married?" I asked. "In normal times I would say yes. But this is an emergency. I think people should be given waivers — at least until the crisis is over."

"THEN YOU consider bedpooling as a major solution to the heating shortage?"

"Absolutely. We must make Americans feel unpatriotic if they go to bed alone. We must instill a new spirit of bundling in this country."

"It sounds great on paper," I said, "but suppose people refuse to share their beds with others?"

APPLEBAUM PURSED his lips. "Then the government will have to step in and take forceful measures. These could include putting a surtax on citizens who insist on sleeping alone. We could also give tax deductions to those who are willing to pool their beds. For example, if Bob and Carol and Ted and Alice were willing to bundle together, they would get 10 per cent off on their income taxes."

"WHAT ABOUT people who have to sleep alone, such as policemen, doctors and newspaper reporters?"

"They would have a special sticker put on their beds exempting them from the bundling laws."

"HOW DO YOU think the American people will take to forced bundling?"

"I think the American people will be willing to share their beds with others once Nixon explains it to them. Body heat is still the greatest resource this country has, and we can get through the winter providing everyone — and I mean everyone — co-operates with each other."

Cattle, Railroad, Oil Played Roles In Growth Of 'Plains'

A history of Big Spring was told Monday by Joe Pickle, guest speaker for the American Association of University Women at the Pioneer Gas Flame Room.

"At one time, this area was a sea that reached into Canada," said Pickle. "The sea eventually evaporated, and heat and pressure caused oil deposits to form. Much later, a depression filled up with fine white sand known as 'trinity sand' where Comanche Trail Park is now located. As the sea evaporated, it formed what we know as the 'Great Plains'."

Pickle said it is not known when the first man came to this part of the country, but remains of a human being found near Midland are estimated to be about 10,000 years old.

When the Spaniards came to America, Indians in this area became mobilized by using horses which roamed over the plains. Indians came to dominate the area, and Big Spring was one of their primary watering holes. When many Spaniards returned to Spain, some remained behind and ended up on Galveston Island as prisoners of the Indians.

About six years later, they escaped and traveled west on the Colorado River. In 1535, this group of Spaniards spent the night at the 'Big Spring'.

The first written information about people being here was in 1849, according to Pickle. He said a Captain Marcy came here in an attempt to find a shorter route to California during the Gold Rush days. Also, Robert E. Lee and his troops camped at the spring.

Pickle said the Army pushed the Indians back and the buffalo hunters came to the area. As the buffalo were killed off, cattle raising became popular. The Slaughter ranch was headquartered north of town, but reached as far as Lubbock and west to New Mexico.

As the Texas and Pacific Railroad pushed westward, more people came to the Great Plains area. Merchants began to realize the demand for stores in this area, and the stores 'boomed' until the depression years when many were forced out of business.

Eventually, the large ranches began to break up, and people began homesteading the land. In 1920, S.E.J. Cox drilled a small oil well. Big Spring had about 4,000 population. It wasn't until 1925 that the first commercial oil well was drilled, and in less than five years, the city's population tripled. Pickle said Big Spring has continued to grow and prosper since that time.

Pickle, editor of The Herald, has worked at the paper for 40 years. He is president of the Heritage Museum, and urged the women to visit the current exhibit on education at the museum.

A meeting of the day study group is scheduled at 9:30 a.m., Dec. 3 in the home of Ms. Lota Wiley, 1721 Yale. "Women in Religion" will be the topic discussed by Ms. Lennie Keese and Ms. Helen Ewing. "Women in Education" will be studied by the night study group at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 3 in the First Federal Community Room. Also, an "international" dinner is scheduled at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 10 at Big Spring High School cafeteria.

The Furniture With A "Secret"

Some designers call sofa-beds the furniture with a "secret" because the sofas are so attractive no one would guess they change into a bed until you actually see them change yourself.

Years ago, many sofa-beds were not so beautiful, and they were often uncomfortable and difficult to operate. Their limited use was a necessary evil.

But in recent years, through the ingenuity of the furniture designers, sofa-beds, or convertibles, have really changed into beautiful, comfortable and practical pieces of furniture.

Sofa-beds can now look like any other type of attractive sofa. In any style and they may be had in all sizes from a love-seat that sleeps one, to a long-boy containing a king-size mattress.

The versatility of design and size makes them usable in the most elegant living room, as well as the den or sun room, and the ease of operation makes it possible to convert these sofas into beds with no difficulty.

All of these features, plus the fact that for day-time use they are just as comfortable for sitting as any other sofa, makes them a good buy.

And, for furniture to fill any of your needs, it can pay you to visit us. Accept our invitation to come in and browse around.

We have just received a large shipment of sofa beds, so come on in while the selection is good.

He's Cuckold

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I write a syndicated newspaper column titled "Bernstein on Words." Recently I received the following letter:

"Dear Mr. Bernstein:

While celebrating my 45th wedding anniversary, I recalled that 40 years ago my wife had an affair with another man. My question: Was I, or am I a cuckold?"

Abby, all that came to my mind was that juvenile jingle, "How much wood would a woodchuck chuck if a woodchuck could chuck wood," with a variation something like, "Just how old is an olden cluck when an olden cuckold's he?"

However, since this question seems much more up your alley than mine, how would you answer it?

TED BERNSTEIN, CONSULTING EDITOR, NEW YORK TIMES

DEAR TED: If the wife had only one affair — even briefly — her mate was a cuckold briefly. If she had another one, he's a cuckold for sure. If she'd had them off and on over the years, he's not a cuckold — quite the reverse. He's an old kook!

DEAR ABBY: My problem is nothing new. It's my mother-in-law. My husband and I are the proud parents of a new baby, and I have returned to work part-time. Since we didn't know a reliable sitter, I asked my mother-in-law if she would babysit while I worked half days, and I offered to pay her. To my surprise, she accepted!

Abby, most grandmothers would be insulted if they were offered money to stay with their grandchildren. This is her first grandchild. My husband and I have been fighting about this ever since it came up, and he

Gives Tribute To Elderly Persons

A tribute to the elderly was given Tuesday morning by Mrs. Ollie McDaniel for Friendship Breakfast Club at Holiday Inn. Mrs. O. F. Williams, chairwoman, presided and served as hostess. Members offered thoughts about friendship and signed cards for members who were sick.

Plans were made to have a Christmas dinner and party at 6 p.m., Dec. 12 in the home of Mrs. O. L. Rodricks, 2804 Navajo. Mrs. M. B. McFall and Mrs. McDaniel will be honored for their birthdays.

Rebekahs Hear Holiday Story

The story of the first Thanksgiving was told Tuesday by Mrs. LaVerne Rogers for John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge No. 153 at the IOOF Hall. Dressed like a pilgrim, Mrs. Rogers told how the tradition of Thanksgiving has grown in this country. Members listed things for which they were thankful. Mrs. C. C. Forrest, noble grand, presided. The 28 members present reported 32 visits to the sick.

J. Watkins Addresses Club Group

Jack Watkins was guest speaker at a Saturday meeting of the civic beautification committee of the Rosebud How To Grow Garden Club. Mrs. Odell Womack, 1601 Tucson, was hostess.

In discussion of civic beautification, Watkins emphasized that the City of Big Spring wants to retain its present residential areas in good order, rather than expand to new developments, "causing tax increases and slum areas." He explained that 12 motorized units will be used to maintain alleys and that local residents can expect to have their alleys completely cleaned twice a month.

Watkins distributed forms, indicating areas of the city to be cleaned and beautified, and asked that they be filled out and returned to Mrs. Womack, district chairman. Committee members participating at the meeting, other than Mrs. Womack, were Mrs. S. J. Kamm, Mrs. Davis Grifford, Mrs. Brent Womack and Mrs. Guilford L. Jones.

Cox Says He Won't Try To Get Job Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — Archibald Cox says he won't try to get back his job as Watergate special prosecutor even though a court has ruled he was fired illegally at President Nixon's direction.

"For me to make any legal claims under (the decision) would only divert attention from getting the job done," Cox said in a terse statement shortly after the ruling Wednesday.

The action by U.S. District Court Judge Gerhard A. Gesell prompted new impeachment demands from two of the three Democratic congressmen who had sought the ruling.

FIRE
The decision also made clear it was intended to protect the independence of Cox's successor, Leon Jaworski, and discourage legislation to create a new, court-appointed prosecutor.

The White House declined to comment on the ruling, referring requests to the Justice Department where acting Atty. Gen. Robert H. Bork said he had not yet decided whether to appeal.

It was Bork who fired Cox after Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson and deputy Atty. Gen. William S. Ruckelshaus refused to carry out Nixon's directive and resigned. Bork, as solicitor general, was third in command at the time.

Bork was said to be upset by the judicial slap but uncertain about the wisdom of appealing an order that had no actual impact.

Gesell declared that Cox's firing was illegal but stopped short of ordering him reinstated or any other action taken.

GOING AHEAD
Bork, meanwhile, testified Wednesday that Jaworski is going ahead with all the investigations Cox had under way. He also told the Senate Judiciary Committee he had not been anxious to fire Cox, but carried out the President's directive because he thought it was the proper thing to do. The committee is investigating Cox's dismissal.

In his decision, Gesell noted that Jaworski, as with Cox, can

Bus Schedules Are Unchanged

Announced plans of the Continental Trailways Bus System to voluntarily cut back bus speeds to 50 miles per hour have not affected local route schedules yet.

The announcement, made by Continental's national headquarters in Dallas last week, may have been somewhat premature, said Gene Stegall, local manager, today.

Stegall said the system is currently making fuel usage tests by running buses on some routes at varied speeds, 50, 55, and 60 mph.

Schedules on the main bus routes of Continental are still the same, he said. Although he indicated that local schedules may be reworked if the system does decide to cut speeds to 50 mph, nothing is definite yet, he said.

A statement from Greyhound Bus Lines on the subject of fuel conservation and possible slower speeds is expected soon.

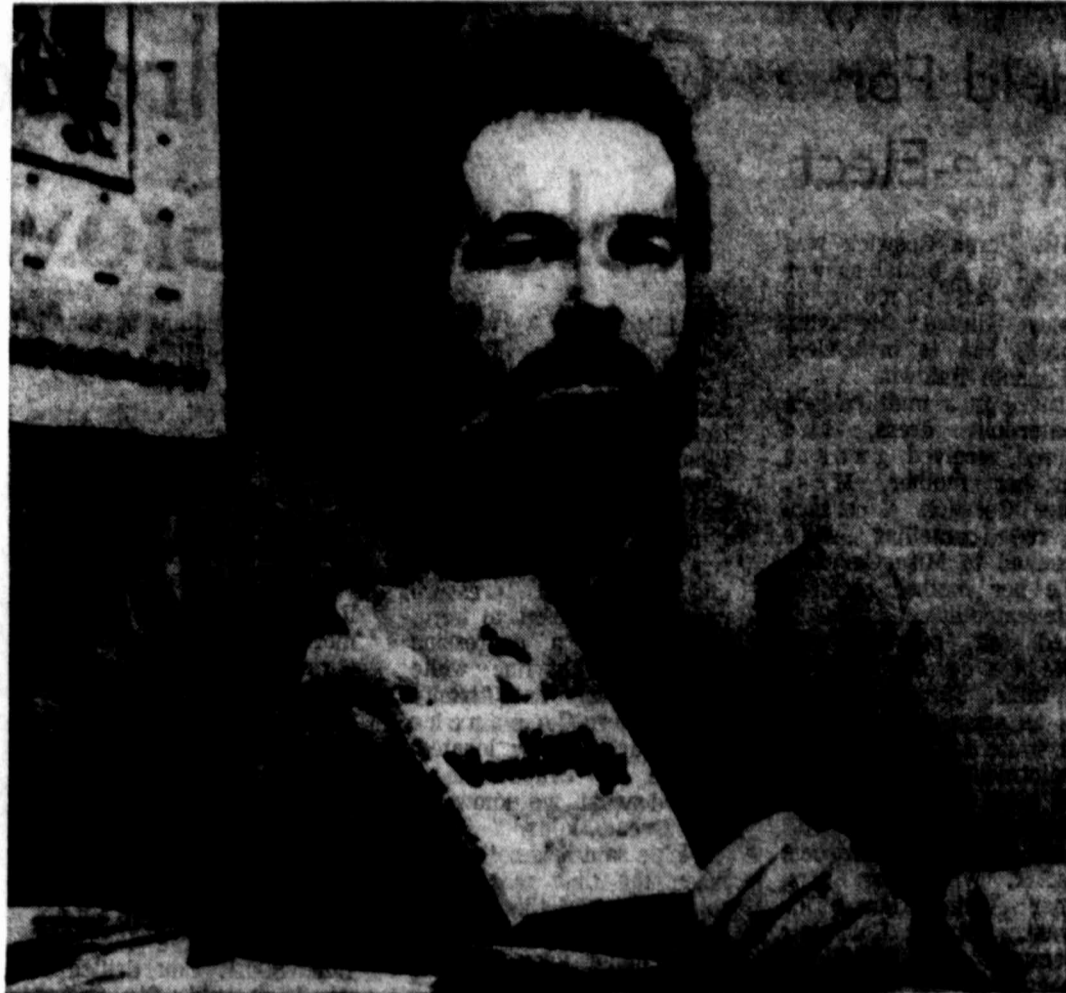

Local Greyhound manager James Owens said the system has already initiated one fuel conservation practice, that of turning off the motors when buses are not in actual use, such as during stops and lunch breaks.

Hobbs Will Host Quarterly Meet

The quarterly meeting of the Permian chapter of the Natural Gas Processors Association will be held at the Hobbs N.M. Country Club Nov. 29.

The hospitality hour will begin at 6:30 p.m. followed by dinner at 7:30 p.m. A golf tournament will be held at 1 p.m. prior to the meeting.

The dinner program will feature A. L. (Pete) Porter Jr., secretary-director of the New Mexico Oil Conservation Commission. The topic of his program will be "Lea County Production, the Commission, and You." The speaker has worked in the conservation of oil and gas since February 1945.

BOOK BURNING — Bruce Severy, 27, a Drake, N.D., High School teacher, holds copy of "Slaughterhouse Five" by Kurt Vonnegut Jr. The Drake School Board had three dozen copies of the book burned because they considered it profane, along with two other books Severy had assigned his English classes. Also scheduled to be destroyed are the school's copies of "Deliverance" by James Dickey and an anthology of short stories by Ernest Hemingway, William Faulkner and John Steinbeck.

Inventory Details Are Supplied To Lions Club

Details of a manpower inventory and analysis were outlined to the Downtown Lines Club at the Settles Wednesday.

Mrs. Mary Deats, who is directing the project financed by a $12,500 grant from the Texas Education Agency, said that the survey of local manpower needs, both as to demand and training, will be used in developing similar future studies.

Object of the study is to get a good fix on the number of employees, vacancies, potential employment and training needs. This is how Howard County Junior College fits into the picture, said Mrs. Deats, member of the faculty.

When a questionnaire earlier produced no scant results for dependable analysis, Dr. Larry Key, dean of occupational training at HCJC, and Mrs. Doris Huitbrege, coordinator of the survey, presented plans for a more penetrating study, which TEA approved and funded.

The questionnaire return, as scant as it was (30 out of 400) did show interesting figures. For instance, of the 30 replying, there were 23 immediate vacancies, there was an anticipated need for 402 employees within a three-year period, 75 employees were Dean Brooks and Teresa Sheppard. Mrs. Deats said the project was over-seen by a committee comprised of W. S. Pearson, Ron Mercer, Bob Goodwin, Mrs. Janice Rossion, Ellis Britton, Mrs. Mary Gene Harrington, Roy McNeil, Tony Ortiz, Don McKinney, and Dr. Key.

The club will be hosted at a pot-luck dinner at 6:30 p.m. today at Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room.

Opening lead: Ace of ♣

One of the fascinations of contract bridge is the way the complexion of the hand changes as the play progresses. To illustrate the peculiarities of this game, consider this hand dealt recently during a social game at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Franco Scaliamandre.

North's opening bid of two diamonds does not find favor with this department. The hand has five losers and is worth only 21 points, so it is too weak to insist on game. An opening bid of one diamond is sufficient—if partner passes, it is most unlikely that a game has been missed.

However, the resulting contract of six hearts was sound enough. Under normal circumstances, it depends either on a 3-3 spade break or a successful diamond finesse. A glance at the full hand reveals that, with the king of diamonds well situated, the slam should roll home.

That is fine and dandy in theory. In practice, Mrs. Scaliamandre, sitting West, opened the ace of clubs and continued with the queen. This gave declarer the possibility of a ruff-and-suff, and opened up a host of additional lines of play. For instance, declarer could ruff in dummy with the ace, discarding a diamond from his hand, in which case the slam would depend only on trumps breaking no worse than 3-1—a better than 90 per cent chance of success.

Unfortunately for declarer, there was also available a line that offered better than 99 per cent odds of making the slam. That was to ruff low in dummy and discard a diamond from the close hand. After cashing the ace of hearts, declarer could return to his hand with the queen of spades to draw trumps, and could then claim. The line would fail only if one defender was void in spades and had at least two trumps.

Not unnaturally, declarer opted for this latter method of play. Needless to say, it was not a resounding triumph when West ruffed the queen of spades for a one-trick set.

CRUSADING DICK GREGORY (AP WIREPHOTO)

Comedian Gives Up Night Clubs

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Comedian Dick Gregory, who gave up food 2 1/2 years ago to protest the Vietnam war, is still starving and has given up something else — night club performing.

His new crusade is against liquor, which he says is ruining youngsters as fast as dope. He has bowed out of the liquor-serving clubs that gave him his big break 15 years ago and will concentrate on college dates and lecture tours.

10 CHILDREN

"I refuse to do antidrug ads on radio and TV," he said, "because I will not be part of something that puts down reefer and drugs but doesn't say anything about alcohol. I'm saying they're both bad."

The comedian, whose causes have almost overshadowed his comedy in recent years, still lives like a perpetual passenger on the Titanic. He's worried about war, poverty, the poisons in food and the corruption of government.

His wife and 10 children, who live with him on a 400-acre farm in Plymouth, Mass., eat raw fruits and vegetables — nothing else. In case of disaster they can live off nature, he said.

Gregory, 40, consumes nothing but fruit juices, his diet since April 1971. His weight has leveled off at just over 100 pounds, and he says he feels healthy but usually hungry. He had vowed to begin eating once the Vietnam war ended, and he did break the fast for 30 days — eating only raw fruit and vegetables — but he began again because "the same mentality exists in the Pentagon today that created Vietnam. . . . You can't say you have peace if nations are killing each other."

YEH, FUNNY

He hasn't decided when he'll eat again.

With such a doomsaying attitude, the strongest thing about Dick Gregory today is that he's funny.

His latest two-record album, "Dick Gregory Caught in the Act," displays a sharpened wit and a gift for political satire that raises chuckles from the depths of his dismay. The album, the subject of his visit to Los Angeles, offers a thick serving of Watergate rumor.

"Isn't it funny," says Gregory, "that when President Nixon's enemy list came out it turned out all his enemies were Americans. You'd have thought he'd throw in a Viet Cong or two to make it look good."

He points to the meat shortage and wheat shortage in relation to his own fast: "By the time I get ready to eat, there ain't gonna be no food left!"

'Deep Throat' Mistrial

HOUSTON (AP) — A mistrial was declared Wednesday in the trial of a Houston movie operator charged with conspiracy to exhibit an obscene movie in connection with the showing of the film "Deep Throat."

Joseph M. Spiegel, operator of the Cinema West Art Theatre, was indicted after the film was seized by Houston vice squad officers April 10.

District Court Judge Garth Bates declared the mistrial after the jury had deliberated more than 16 hours without reaching a verdict. He reset the trial for Dec. 4.

The state contended the movie was obscene.

Defense attorney Marian Rosen said she was "completely satisfied" with the mistrial declaration.

Spiegel said he thought the mistrial showed that Houston was becoming "a more sophisticated community."

Will Pass Venus On Correct Side

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A signal beamed 2.5 million miles into space has assured that the Mariner 10 spacecraft will pass Venus on the correct side to take pictures and make scientific measurements.

The 20-second signal transmitted from Jet Propulsion Laboratory Tuesday ordered a midcourse correction which will bring the craft to within 3,600 miles of Venus on Feb. 5, a JPL spokesman said. The craft will then swing around and head for a flyby of Mercury on March 29.

The LBJ spokesman said mission planners were fairly optimistic that the craft's cameras would perform as planned despite exposure of the optical systems to the cold of space.

Kissinger Discusses Oil Woes With Jap Officials

TOKYO (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger told Japan's leaders today that as political and military differences in the Middle East are settled, he hopes the oil problem will be resolved, a State Department spokesman said.

Robert J. McCloskey said the oil situation occupied a good measure of Kissinger's conversations with Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka and his ministers, but he would not go into detail.

OIL SQUEEZE
Tanaka told the visiting American that Japan faces its most critical economic situation since World War II because of the Arab oil squeeze.

Tanaka also gave Kissinger a preview of the steps the world's No. 1 importer of oil will take to cope with an estimated 20 per cent cutback in its imports of crude oil next month.

The prime minister emphasized that Japan will forge its Middle East policy independently and that any changes in it will take place without prior consultation with the United States. He made clear that he was asking for advice and information as a friend and major business partner.

The question is what the United States can do to ease Japan's burden other than to point out that Kissinger has prodded the Arabs and Israel toward negotiations that could lead to a Middle East settlement.

TO SWITCH
Some American businessmen in Japan expect Tanaka's government to switch from its neutral position toward favoring the Arabs, perhaps by breaking relations with Israel. However, the government has repeatedly said it would not take so drastic a step.

With only a little coal and virtually no domestic oil, natural gas or uranium production, Japan depends on foreign sources for 85 per cent of its total energy supply, and more than 80 per cent of its oil has been coming from the Middle East.

The National Federation of Oil Dealers has decided to close the nation's 43,000 gas stations on Sundays and national holidays. And the stations will be open for less hours on other days.

NEW SOURCE
An overture from Libya, meanwhile, has given rise to hope that it may become a new source of supply for Japan. Ambassador Hassan Bukres asked on Wednesday for Japanese technical cooperation to build steel mills, oil refineries and petrochemical plants in Libya, from whom Japan buys little oil. And Libya has nothing to offer in exchange for Japanese help except its oil.

Besides briefing the Japanese on the Middle East situation, Kissinger is giving them an account of his visit to China and his views on the U.S.-Chinese communique. He is also brief-

IN JOB CORPS Training Is Available

A second chance is waiting for unemployed, out-of-school young men and women 16-21 who want to learn an occupation that pays. The name of the chance is "Job Corps", according to the Texas Employment Commission.

"Openings exist now for young men and women who would like to improve themselves and qualify for jobs in the labor market of today," said Ellis Britton, office manager of the Texas Employment Commission, 406 Runnels.

Enrollees in this residential training program receive room and board, medical and dental care, work clothing, a nominal allowance, and other benefits, Britton explained.

The length of training depends on the individual, some completing the training program within a year, and others taking up to two years.

The Texas Employment Commission interviews and screens applicants for Job Corps openings and sends the applications to Job Corps headquarters for selection and assignment.

Most enrollees can be assigned to a center in Texas, either at Camp Gary at San Marcos, for young men, or at McKinney, for young women.

Interested applicants should contact the Texas Employment Commission office, 406 Runnels, for more detailed information.

Choir Boosters Meet Nov. 19

The Big Spring High School Choir Boosters will hold their first meeting of the 1973-74 year Monday, Nov. 19, at 7 p.m.

Lack Of Oil Threatens To Shutdown Drilling

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — The lack of diesel oil threatens to force a shutdown of oil well drilling rigs.

"How ridiculous can you get?" groaned Gov. Edwin W. Edwards when he learned that many drilling rigs in Gulf Coast states were pinched by diesel allocations.

ler, division manager of Noble Drilling Corp. of Oklahoma City, said rigs need up to 2,000 gallons of diesel a day when drilling holes four miles deep in search of oil or gas.

"How the hell can we find it if we don't have fuel to operate with?" he said. "We're about to have a fit."

J. M. Flenniken, owner of Petroleum Sales Co. in Bossier City, La., said his company supplies 14 drilling rigs and "we've got just enough fuel to last four or five days."

SMOKING, DRINKING, MARRIAGE NOT ALLOWED
You've Come A Long Way, Teacher!

SAN ANGELO (AP) — Sure, you've come a long way, baby. But do you know how far? A recent series of interviews by Lee Kilgore of the San Angelo Standard-Times shows how much progress in recent years. Take women teachers for instance. Open the pages of the past, travel back to 1923, and take a look at the teacher contract for a rural school in East Texas. "Miss—agrees to teach... for a period of eight months... for the sum of $75 a month." Wait—there's more. "Miss—agrees not to get married." Not to get married? Tom Green County school Supt. Glenn Casey remembers that clause. He and his fiancée went to Bryan Dickson, San Angelo school superintendent in 1941 and asked if she could continue teaching if they got married. The school board took up the question and Mrs. Casey became the first married woman teacher in San Angelo. The contract continued—"Not to keep company with men. Not to loiter downtown in ice cream stores. Not to leave town without permission of the chairman of the board of trustees."

TOOK PITY
 San Angelo's school superintendent, G.B. Wadzeck said that all had changed by the time he started teaching in 1933. He could leave town one weekend a month. But he really got his feelings hurt, Wadzeck remembers, because none of the attractive young women teachers would go out with him. Finally, he relates they took pity on him and in a very secret session, 20 women teachers confessed they were all married, that they spent their one free weekend a month with their husbands and trusted him not to tell or they would have lost their jobs.

GOOD LIFE
 On the other hand, the marriage stipulation was quite different for a man. "I know I missed out on some jobs when I wasn't married," Casey said. "Marriage was supposed to be a kind of guarantee that a man would lead a good life, set a good example." More of the contract: "Not to drink beer, wine or whisky, or smoke cigarettes." The ban on drinking, although not in any teacher's contract today, is "kind of tacitly understood, at least in public," agreed Asst. School Supt. Lloyd Matson.

DON'T DANCE
 The smoking—well, Region 15 Executive Director Charley Bitters and the school special project director C.D. Henry remembers: Hiding in the boiler room "to have a cigarette in the 1940s." And, Wadzeck was caught smoking by the boys at a summer athletic camp around 1931. "I told them I wouldn't tell if they didn't," Wadzeck said, laughing. "And they didn't. But I kind of think it established some real rapport, them catching me like that."

Mrs. Ona Waller, elementary coordinator for the county schools, says she taught for the first time in 1923. That was in Oklahoma. Smoking and drinking were definitely not allowed, and they had to sign a statement promising not to "play cards or dance." NO FACE POWDER
 More taboos: "Not to dress in bright colors, not dye her hair... nor use face powder, mascara, or paint the lips. To wear at least two petticoats and... dresses not more than two inches above the ankle." "To sweep the classroom floor at least once daily (and scrub it at least once a week) with hot water and soap. And start the fire at 7 a.m. before the children arrive at 8 a.m."

Casey remembers that stipulation in rural school contracts in the early 1930s. "Had to be up by 6 a.m. for sure," he said. Today's teachers, dressed in the colorful fashions of the times, even wearing pants suits, leaving the sweeping and heating to a maintenance crew, winning little by little the right to equal pay for equal jobs, concentrating on keeping up with the swift paced trends in education—you have come a long way in 50 years.

Pot Raid Nets Ex-Texas Cop
 LOS ANGELES (AP) — Authorities have charged a former Texas policeman and seven others with running an air-freighted marijuana smuggling ring. Five arrests, made Tuesday were in the Los Angeles area. Three others were in Texas. Police said the men were involved in a ring that shipped marijuana from Mexico to Texas by DC3 cargo plane and other aircraft. Authorities claimed the group moved more than 20 tons of marijuana into the United States last year. Officers raided a $100,000 beach home and a 56-foot yacht owned by the men and reported finding only small quantities of drugs and a number of firearms.

Those arrested here were identified as Richard Allen Elrod, said to be a former Fort Worth policeman and decorated Vietnam veteran; Gary Alan and Randall Wayne King, brothers from Manhattan Beach, Calif.; Dr. Roger Brown, also of Manhattan Beach; and Robert Matthews of nearby Redondo Beach. Arrested in Texas were William Hodges Jr., his father William Sr., and John Henderson.

WALKING NUDE Inmate Tells Beatings Given 11 Convicts

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Eleven prisoners, walking naked from a shower, were beaten with knives, iron pipes and blackjacks because they had been talking too much to a legislative committee on prison reform, a prisoner said Wednesday.

The House-Senate committee scheduled a hearing at Angleton today to receive a staff report on the Nov. 8 alleged incident and to hear testimony from officials and inmates on the alleged "Father's Day" beatings of 10 inmates.

JEOPARDY

"I think that the committee has let those inmates that have been corresponding with them down, and put them in a position in which their life is in jeopardy," said a statement by prisoner Eddie James Ward.

The statement by Ward, in his second year of a 101-year sentence on an armed robbery charge, was released at a news conference Wednesday.

Ward's sister, Betty Russell, and a brother, Leon, said Ward suffered a concussion and severe lacerations on the face and head when he and 10 other inmates were beaten by approximately 80-100 officers and inmate-guards at the Ramsey Unit, near Angleton.

The Father's Day incident allegedly took place at the Retriever Unit, also near Angleton. Mrs. Russell said she thought the beatings were planned because Ward's head was shaved the day before, and he did not even have his hair to protect him. She said it was not until Nov. 11, after a staff member of the prison reform committee had insisted on medical attention, that Ward was treated for his injuries.

POOR DUDE

"They've given the dude 101 years. They don't need to kill him," said Mrs. Russell one of 10 blacks who met with reporters.

She said the family wanted assurances from prison director W.J. Estelle Jr. that Ward would not be killed, but "we can't get in touch with the man."

She said Estelle knows so little about the prison that "we had to tell him" they had machine guns on the walls.

Ward said officers and building tenders "are more apt to kill me and inmates who are vocal than they are an inmate that is being docile and passive and going along with the brutal treatment without even corresponding with the committee."

The Nov. 8 incident, he said, "is only a small explosion in a larger explosion that will come if the committee does not act."

Actress Dies

SARANAC LAKE, N.Y. (AP) — Lila Lee, 68, whose dark flashing eyes caught the fancy of moviegoers and such stars as Rudolph Valentino and Charlie Chaplin, died Tuesday. A star of silent films, she received at least as much notice in movie magazines for her offscreen affairs with Valentino, Chaplin and others.

'JUST ONE OF THE GUYS' — That's what Midland policewoman Monte Johnson said as she lined up on the firearm training field with male officers attending recruit school of the Permian Basin Law Enforcement Academy in Midland. The training chief said she is among the best in the class. After Nov. 23 graduation she will begin duties in the detective division. She is the daughter of DPS Capt. Alan Johnson of Lubbock and sister of Highway Patrolman Richard Keith Johnson of Mineral Wells.

City, County Agencies Are Funded By PBRPC

By MARJ CARPENTER

Big Spring and Howard County were the big beneficiaries when the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission was approving grants at their monthly board meeting in Terminal Wednesday.

The City of Big Spring saw a two year grant approved to set up a juvenile department in the police department with four persons to be hired, including three men and one woman.

It will be funded for two years with the Texas Criminal Justice Council paying $33,120 and the city $9,881 annually.

Police Chief Vance Chisum spoke to the group requesting the need for the department and was strongly backed by Howard County Judge A. G. Mitchell as well as the Ector County judge, who said he understood the problem.

GRANTED $12,933

The City of Big Spring was also granted $12,933 for microfilm document storage and retrieval units similar to ones purchased last year by the group for Odessa and Midland police.

The council also voted unanimously to back for the second year a $158,192 grant for the Big Spring State Hospital from the Texas Commission on Alcoholism for work with Mexican Americans, providing bilingual counseling to in-patients at the hospital and to outpatients in designated communities.

Last year, the grant included a counselor for out-patients in Midland, Odessa, Monahans, Pecos and Fort Stockton and this year also includes one in Big Spring. The motion for this grant was also made by Judge Mitchell.

Highway projects requested for approval by the Texas Highway Department are in Howard and Glasscock counties.

The project in Howard County is to re-surface travel lanes from two miles west of Big Spring to two miles east of Big Spring on IS 20 at a cost of $243,845.

The project in Glasscock County is to grade and surface 6.1 miles including cutting a new strip of roadway. The location is from junction of FM 1357 and RM Highway 2401, east to junction of RM Highway 1800 and FM Highway 2847. Grant total is $177,800.

In other action, the board authorized the annual $56,000 grant that helps fund the operation of the council, and heard a request from the Trans Pecos Resource Conservation and Development project for a member from the council. This is a group formed in Ward, Winkler, Pecos and Reeves counties who plan to seek assistance for lake projects and other projects, for which there are presently no funds. Judge Buck Luttrell of Fort Stockton and Jerry Cowden of the Sandhills Water Conservation were named to the board.

The group also approved a proposal of the West Texas Education Service Center for expansion of the regional drug advisory committee. They also approved additional members of the committee including Mrs. Janice Rosson, counselor at Big Spring High School.

Of others approved for the committee, all but one are teachers. They are Joe Rutledge, Odessa; Vershal Smith, Grandfalls; Norman Payne, Andrews; Rudy Carrasco, Midland; Fernando Hernandez, Pecos; Jim Witcher, McCombs; and Wilmer Ray, Odessa. De Ricki Johnson, a student at Lee High in Midland, also is a new member.

Promise Relief From Texas Heat

By The Associated Press

A weak cool front thrust deeper into Texas today with a promise of relief from record heat levels in some sections. Skies were generally clear west of a line from Dallas to Laredo and low clouds covered much of the areas to the east. Fog hovered around Corpus Christi, Cotulla and Victoria in early morning. Alice and San Antonio in the south shared the nation's top temperature of 88 degrees Wednesday afternoon. Readings hit the 80s at a number of other places, setting new records for the date in El Paso, Lubbock and San Angelo, in addition to tying one at San Antonio.

Showers were expected with the cool front's arrival in Southeast Texas during the afternoon, and the frontal system was due to move on out of state tonight, leaving generally clear skies and lower temperatures.

County Breeders Purchase Stock

Two Howard County Hereford breeders are among those buying animals at the annual Welden Edwards Hereford sale last weekend.

Patterson Bros. of Big Spring paid $2,900 for WE MI Onward #28, son of the famous "Broken Horn Bull." ROM Sire MI Onward 635AL. His descendants averaged $1,242 and $1,077 for heifers in the sale. The top 10 bulls averaged $3,847.

Rov Henderson, Big Spring, bought two heifers for $1,975 and one bull at $2,100.

Other area purchasers included Alvin Koonsman, Snyder, six bulls for $6,565, Jesse Koonsman Estate, Snyder one bull at $685; Little F Ranch, Sterling City, four bulls for $3,985.

Most Profitable Year In Company's History

DETROIT (AP) — Riding the crest of the small-car wave, American Motors Corp. reports it has nearly tripled its 1972 earnings of $30.2 million.

AMC reported on Wednesday net earnings of $86 million, or $3.18 per share for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, making 1973 the most profitable year in the company's history. The previous high was $60.3 million earned in 1959 when AMC had virtually no domestic competition in the small-car market. AMC is the nation's fourth largest auto maker.

However, the company pointed out that the earnings figure include extraordinary tax credits resulting from losses in earlier years. Without the credits, profits from current operations would be $44.5 million, or $1.65 per share, the company said.

AMC's earnings came on record sales totaling $1.7 billion, compared with $1.4 billion in fiscal 1972, the previous high.

Jobs Key To Continuing Revival Of Small Towns

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The dying American small town, once the backbone of the new Nation and more recently the heralded symbol of the death of our national innocence, may not be dying at all.

There appears to be evidence that a resurgence of a sort is taking place across the country for small-town living. Evidence suggests this attitude goes beyond just escaping to the suburbs from inner cities.

This is the observation of a group of experts on population movements who concluded at a recent conference that the small town, while not thriving, is in a remarkable number of cases, holding its own. The participants in the conference reached the consensus that what is most needed to reverse the trends of movement to the cities is an infusion of thoughtful public policy to make once again the smaller community a good place to live for a significant number of city-sick Americans.

The panelists at the three-day conference on "The Future of the Small Town," at Oak Ridge, Tenn., represented both private and governmental agencies, agreed generally on these points:

While there is reason for concern about the future of the small towns of America, their demise, as was stated by Mark Twain about himself, is greatly exaggerated. Because of a pessimistic attitude, some government planners, felt that programs to aid rural towns and communities is a waste of time.

Consequently there has not been much innovation, and business has avoided the risk of investment.

Reports suggest that towns which have made a decision to survive and grow and have acted upon it have, in many cases, had remarkable success.

Surveys reported to the conference say they want to live in small towns or at least in the suburbs and favor the more country environment for bringing up children. Only 9 percent of people want to live in cities of more than a half-million population, although 20 percent do live there.

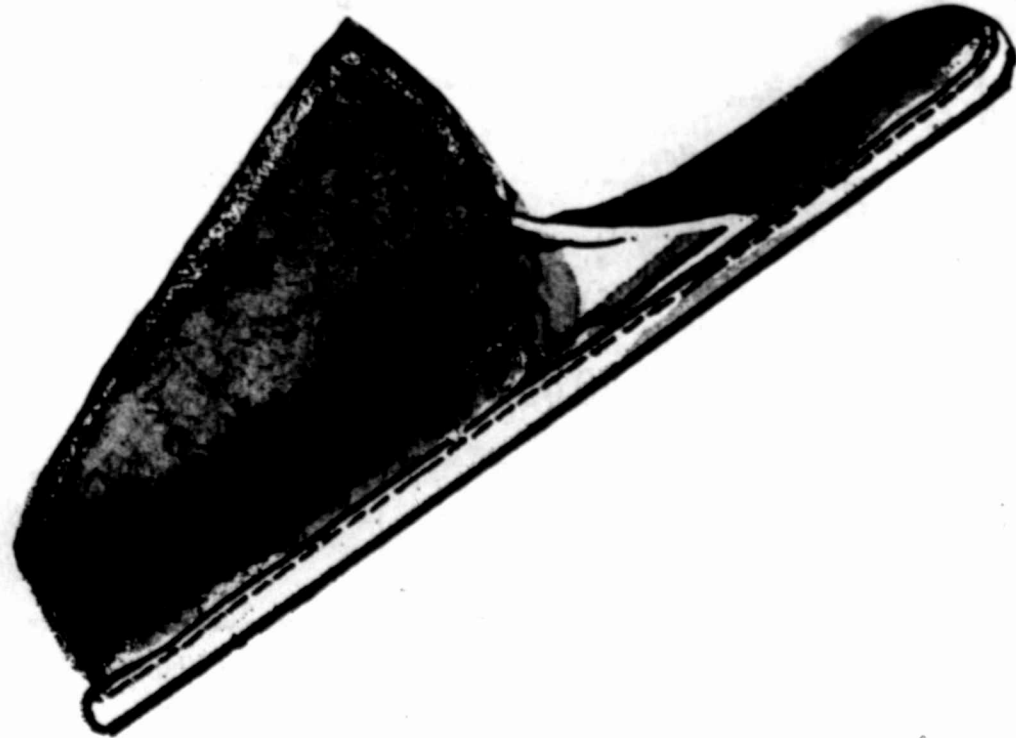

The conference also found in a collective opinion that, although there are many Federal programs which directly or indirectly aim to help small towns.

The towns have been generally unable to support new residents either with city services, health care and cultural attractions, and even more fundamentally, with jobs.

This latter, of course, is the key to it all. As much as people might want more wholesome living, after all, they have to work. Industries can not locate in areas which have a lack of water, sewer, police and fire protection, schools and so forth. This is where leadership comes in and some places are doing it.

Participants concluded that an over-all national policy is needed, but the ingredient for success must come from the local lever.
