Mysterious Tone Blots Tape Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has a new tape mystery to explain in court — 18 minutes of conversation blotted out by a tone on one of the subpoenaed Watergate recordings.

The disclosure on Thanksgiving Eve caused U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica to say the White House should voluntarily turn over all subpoenaed tapes and materials or the court should take custody of all material under subpoena and put it under 24-hour guard.

DEADLINE

He gave the White House until Monday to respond. "This is just another instance that convinces the court that it has to take some steps," Sirica said, "not because the court doesn't trust the White House or the President... The court is interested in seeing that nothing else happens."

The tone obliterates part of a conversation between President Nixon and his former chief of staff, H. R. Haldeman, on June 20, 1972, three days after the break-in at Democratic party headquarters in the Watergate office building.

J. Fred Buzhardt, one of the President's lawyers, said he and another attorney discovered the gap in the conversation on Nov. 14 while preparing an index and analysis of the tape.

JUSTICE?

It "contained a tone and no conversation," Buzhardt told the court. "The phenomena occurs in the course of the conversation in question. That is, not at the beginning or end."

Richard Ben-Veniste, a lawyer on the special Watergate prosecution staff, said after court "there is the potentiality of obstruction of justice or contempt of court," but that he did not want to prejudice the situation.

Sirica ordered all parties into court Monday to continue "with the investigation into this matter." He said if the tapes are turned over to the court they will be placed under a 24-hour guard.

FOURTH TIME

It was the fourth instance of problems with the materials subpoenaed by the Watergate special prosecutor since the White House gave up its three-month fight over making any of the tapes available to Sirica.

A week after agreeing to comply with a court order to turn over nine Watergate recordings and related material, Buzhardt disclosed that a telephone conversation of June 20, 1972 never was recorded and that the tape ran out before a subpoenaed conversation on April 15, 1973.

Then, as Sirica held a lengthy hearing into that problem, the White House said it would make the President's dictated recollections on April 15 available. But later, Buzhardt testified the dictation belt could not be found.

NO MENTION

No previous mention had been made of any gap in the June 20 tape of the Haldeman meeting and Nixon indicated as recently as Saturday that he had personally listened to it earlier this year. His personal secretary, Rose Mary Woods, said she spent 29 hours transcribing it, said she had difficulty hearing portions — but spoke of no long interlude when only a tone could be heard.

TEN YEARS AFTER THE KENNEDY ASSASSINATION

'Oh, No, No, No! My God, They Are Going To Kill Us All!'

BY ROBERT FORD

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — "My God! I am hit!" the first man cried. "Oh, no, no, no! My God, they are going to kill us all!" cried the second man.

TRAGIC DAYS

And so began 48 hours and 37 minutes of trauma and tragedy a decade ago.

The dead: President John F. Kennedy. Police officer J. D. Tippit. Lee Harvey Oswald.

Texas Gov. John B. Connally. A decade ago in time, but still vivid in the mind of a nation. Still terrible, the details of that November day in Dallas...

The air was sharp and a bright sun beamed out of a cloudless sky when Air Force One landed at Dallas' Love Field at 11:37 a.m. on Nov. 22, 1963.

The Kennedys had come from Fort Worth, 30 miles away, where they had spent the night after stops in San Antonio and Houston. A political trip to campaign for future elections and help fill the Democrats' coffers.

Kennedy was to appear at a fund-raising dinner that night in Austin, after a luncheon address at the Trade Mart in downtown Dallas.

CLUTCHING RED ROSES

With him was his wife, Jacqueline, clutching a bouquet of red roses against her pink suit. In the party were his vice president, Lyndon B. Johnson; Gov. Connally, and Sen. Ralph Yarborough of Texas.

A motorcade would take them to the Trade Mart, where already 2,500 persons were expected.

Twice on its way downtown the line of cars stopped so Kennedy could greet school children waving to him from sidewalks.

Thousands of people lined the route as the motorcade turned westward into the business section. The atmosphere was happy, and it was hard to believe Kennedy had lost Dallas County three years before.

HARD TO BELIEVE

Yet some in Dallas were fearful. The Secret Service had asked for extra Dallas policemen to help. Chief Jesse Curry gave the Service all it asked and called in still more men.

Love Glows In Darkness

CAMPO, Calif. (AP) — Burned off her hand, a 73-year-old blind woman without a family says "people everywhere wrote about what happened, and they brought me a little bit of love."

The mail also brought 14 checks with $204 from almost every section of the United States, the latest a $5 gift Wednesday.

Ruth Moffett, living temporarily with friends, said she is using the money to buy a new home, a used house trailer with a bedroom.

A brush fire that swept a seven-mile swath Oct. 27 destroyed Miss Moffett's two trailers and everything in them. She took refuge for three days in her pump house.

After an AP Wirephoto of the slim, gray-haired woman standing in ashes appeared in newspapers throughout the country, letters have arrived almost daily. A man mailed a $50 check. A woman sent $25.

A letter from second graders in a Roman Catholic school near San Diego bore 35 signatures.

"I'll keep the letters as long as I live," she said. "I love all I have."

After the fire, Miss Moffett spent 10 days with a friend at El Centro, near the Arizona line, and is staying now with Gladys Stiles. The friends learned about a 1966 trailer and Miss Moffett agreed Tuesday to buy it.

Volunteers from a boys' detention camp arranged to clean up the five acres of land. Miss Moffett has owned since 1962, and the San Diego Red Cross sent $125 for a local man to repair the tiny plywood pump house.

A watchdog or two is being turned over to Miss Moffett by Campo's animal shelter where she is able to return home in a week or two.

NEW ORDINANCE Dog Catcher Is Woman In CC

By MARJ CARPENTER

In Colorado City, man is dog's best friend. Because in Colorado City, it's "that gal" who has gone "to the dogs."

Young Mrs. Louise Linda Fuller, 28, is the dog catcher. And she's catching them dogs under a new city ordinance that requires the canines to be penned up or on a leash.

For years, a dog had his every day because there was no ordinance. However, he must be confined to quarters.

A call to the City of Colorado City about dogs running loose brings the truck of dog catcher wagon, which in West Texas is packed with a dog on the back. Mrs. Fuller is ready to load up the dogs and she carries a tranquilizer gun with darts.

There is now an ordinance that requires both a city permit and a rabies tag to have a dog in the city limits. This is also enforced by the dog catcher.

Mrs. Fuller is an animal lover and has horses and a dog of her own.

City officials said that they have had numerous complaints about the number of loose dogs in the city and the danger from packs of dogs.

"Now we have complaints because we are picking up the dogs," the councilman added. "The complaints usually come from around 'the old eat-out world that was Colorado City' and now they have a nostalgic strain of 'Where on earth is my little dog gone?'"

The answer comes in strictly female tones with a musical voice saying, "Your dog is at the vet."

It Was Only Game, When Is Told

Posing as highway friends of a 12-year-old boy were "playing a trick" when they took the 12-year-old boy, cap and all at Saturday night, the sheriff's office has been told.

Gary Burgess, 12, the victim, was riding his motorcycle in the Country Club when young men held a rope across the road and stopped him about 7:30 p.m. Saturday, the sheriff's office reported.

Gary's motorcycle was damaged in the report, but a trick on him (Gary) and that he had gotten all his things back.

Rebels Kill Yank, Three Bodyguards

CORDOBA, Argentina (AP) — A machine-gun attack today killed an American automobile executive and three of his bodyguards, police said.

Ford spokesmen in Argentina said Swift was 56, a native of Georgia, was married and had two children. The spokesmen said his wife was in the United States, but they did not know where.

Swift arrived in Argentina in February 1972 to work for the Ford subsidiary, the spokesmen said.

Trasler has about 2,300 workers making transmissions and axles for vehicles assembled in Argentina.

Cordoba, 450 miles west of Buenos Aires, is the heart of Argentina's automotive industry and its most volatile political center. Right-wing and left-wing elements of President Juan D. Peron's movement have been waging a war of revenge in apparent efforts to attain ideological supremacy.

The police have blamed most of the kidnappings and other violence on the Marxist-led ERP, but there are at least a half-dozen guerrilla groups in Argentina, including left-wing Peronists.

Holiday Traffic

By The Associated Press Traffic accidents around the nation claimed 62 lives during the early hours of the Thanksgiving Day weekend.

Rain and snow dampened highways in scattered areas across the northern third of the country. Fog and occasional drizzle ranged from the central Appalachians to the eastern Gulf states.

The count of traffic deaths began at 5 p.m. local time Wednesday and will end at midnight Sunday.

PRESIDENT JOHN F. KENNEDY

The World At-A-Glance

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — President Nixon's failure to warn Republican governors of a gap in a Watergate case is a blow to the President's credibility, says the chairman of the Republican Governors Association. Nixon met with the GOP governors in Memphis Tuesday and said there were no new Watergate bombshells that he knew about. "I came out of there assured that we've bottomed out, and now I'm not sure that we have bottomed out, because this revelation does call for some further explanation," said Tennessee Gov. Winfield Dunn.

MOULTON VIEW, Calif. (AP) — Starting Monday the hottest radio channels in the universe will be those linking earth and the Pioneer 10 spacecraft. After 60 days of traveling 49 million miles, Pioneer 10 is moving toward its baby of Jupiter, the solar system's biggest mass outside the sun. On Monday Pioneer's system will be directed to aim its dish antenna back at earth for the precise radio operation required to deliver the first closeup color pictures ever made of Jupiter.

Assassination Of JFK

wing might try a demonstration. United Nations Ambassador Adlai Stevenson had been spat upon here a month before. Scurrilous handbills had been circulated on the eve of Kennedy's arrival.
And there were all those thousands of windows in the tall buildings from which an assault could be launched. The motorcade crawled west on Main. Turn right. One block along Houston. Left onto Elm at a nondescript old brick structure seven stories high. The Texas School Book Depository.
Chief Curry drove the leading car. "Looks like we got it made," he commented as his own car passed the depository.
Three rapid shots split the air.

SKULL DESTROYED
One bullet struck President Kennedy in the neck and traveled downward. Another hit his head. "My God! I am hit!" he exclaimed. Secret Service Agent Roy Kellerman testified later.
Gov. Connally, riding on a jump seat just ahead of the president, was struck by a bullet which passed through his back and chest before emerging and causing a crippling wound in his right wrist. Then, almost spent, it struck Connally in a thigh. It was he who exclaimed, "My God, they are going to kill us all!"
Agent Clinton J. Hill jumped from the backup car and ran to the president. Kennedy's skull was destroyed.
Hill told the Warren Commission, "Mrs. Kennedy had jumped up from the seat and was, it appeared to me reaching for something coming off the right rear bumper of the car, the right rear tail, when she noticed that I was trying to climb on the car. She turned toward me and I grabbed a microphone and shouted to the back seat, crawled up on top of the back seat and lay there."

"WE ARE HIT"
In the front seat, Agent Kellerman grabbed a microphone and shouted to the lead car. "We are hit. Get us to the hospital immediately."
Agent William Greer, the presidential car driver, floored the accelerator. One agent cocked an automatic rifle.
At 80 miles per hour, the motorcade raced for Parkland Hospital. The agents rode with drawn sidearms.
Mrs. Kennedy, overcome by shock and grief, did not want to surrender her husband who was lying in her lap. He was taken from her into the hospital.
Doctors rushed to Trauma Rooms 1 and 2. No. 1 for the president, No. 2 for the governor. The doctors testified that Kennedy was breathing and a pulse could be detected in a leg.

IT WAS HOPELESS
But it was hopeless.
Two Roman Catholic priests administered the last rites.

The open-top presidential car sat abandoned at the emergency entrance of the hospital with Jacqueline's red roses trampled on the floorboards.
The announcement came: President Kennedy is dead. Official time of death: 1 p.m.
Oneal Funeral Home brought its best grade of casket and backed a black hearse to the emergency entrance dock.
Jacqueline refused to leave her husband. She walked to the edge of the dock and stood there, frozen-faced, straight as a pillar, her eyes focused a hundred thousand miles away.
Attendants rolled Kennedy's casket up behind her, placed it in the hearse and closed the doors. Mrs. Kennedy turned to the right, walked to the front of the hearse and sat beside the driver.

SIRENS SILENT
Lyndon Johnson, meanwhile, had been spirited to the airport. He slumped in the car seat. The accompanying guard cars kept their sirens silent.
He did not want to ride in Air Force One but advisers demanded it, for it held superior communications gear and Johnson was president now — if not technically at this moment, then soon.
Advisers wanted Johnson to fly away at once from what still might be a danger zone, but he balked and refused to move until Kennedy's body reached the plane and Mrs. Kennedy arrived.
He called Mrs. Kennedy to him. Then U.S. District Court Judge Sarah T. Hughes swore Johnson in as 36th president of the United States.
Dallas had two police radio networks and both crackled with orders deploying squad cars throughout Dallas. Mexican border stations were alerted.
The orders: Arrest an "unknown white male, approximately 30, slender build, height 5 feet 10 inches, weight 165 pounds, reported to be armed with what is thought to be a .30-caliber rifle."

POOR
That was a rather poor description with which officer J. D. Tippit was to spot the suspect.
Oswald rode a bus for a short distance from the depository, alighted and hailed a taxicab. It took him across the Trinity River to a point near his rooming house. Oswald went to his room, donned a jacket and came outside again, the Warren Commission reported.
He was walking down a sidewalk when Tippit called to him.
The officer opened the car door and started around the vehicle. Oswald drew a secondhand .38-caliber Smith and Wesson and shot him four times, the Warren Commission said, before Tippit could fully draw his pistol. Tippit died almost instantly, 16 minutes after Kennedy.

STALKING HOUSE
"The young man fled toward Oak Cliff's main business street, then darted into the Texas Theatre, where officers captured him even as he drew his pistol again.
He was charged with the murder of Tippit first, then of Kennedy.
It was two days later, Sunday, when police brought Oswald down from an upper cell to the city jail basement. They planned to transfer him a few blocks away to the Dallas County jail as required by Texas law after a person is charged.
By now, police feared Oswald himself would be assassinated. They provided an armored car as a stalking horse while planning to spirit him secretly in an unmarked car the few blocks to the county installation.

NOT MISTREATED
Officers seemed almost anxious, however, that newsmen be allowed at some point to see and photograph Oswald. They knew the historic nature of the events of the last two or three days. And they wanted impartial observers to tell the public that the prisoner had not been mistreated while in custody.
About 50 newsmen were present in the city jail basement, kept back from the door through which Oswald would walk.
Down the vehicle ramp from the street to the basement strolled a short, pudgy character-about-town. This was Jack Ruby, operator of two bars, the best known the downtown Carousel Club where strippers performed on stage and B-girls caged drinks largely from conventioners.
THEY ALONE WEPT
Ruby walked to within a few feet of Oswald and shot him. It was 11:21 a.m., No. 24.
Oswald died in the same trauma room where Kennedy succumbed, seven minutes later by the clock than did the president two days before. Kennedy, Tippit and Oswald all were buried on Monday, three days after the presidential assassination.
John F. Kennedy went to his resting place in solemn rites in Arlington with delegates from 100 or more countries mourning with the nation.
J. D. Tippit's services were in a small Baptist church with 400 officers in crisply creased uniforms inside and another 1,000 paying tribute to the church grounds.
Lee Harvey Oswald was buried almost obscurely in a Fort Worth cemetery, and only relatives and reporters were present. Attending were his mother, Marguerite; his wife, Marina; his brother, Robert, and the Oswalds' two small children. They alone wept.

Be Thankful...

Yes, this is that special time of year during which we all give thanks for our many blessings — for health, for happiness, for our loved ones, our homes, our jobs and the many things that enrich our lives. And on this very special day, we want to say, "Thank you" — to our many friends and customers who have helped us grow. We want you to know that we will continue our efforts to give you the very finest service any time and always — whenever you call upon us. Many, many thanks and —

A HAPPY, HAPPY THANKSGIVING!

Qualifications Are Rugged For New Position At HCJC

The position of "distinguished instructor" has been created at Howard County Junior College. But the criteria for designation are yet to be adopted. It likely will be so stiff that few will attain it, trustees indicated at their Tuesday meeting.

Unlike the distinguished professor position which is used to bring in renowned scholars, the distinguished instructor position will be used to recognize superior teaching ability, student rapport, innovation and intellectual stimulation. Because it will carry substantial extra pay, the place may also be used as a means of holding exceptional instructors, Dr. P. W. Malone, board member who proposed the new designation, explains.

A committee of faculty, and administrators will recommend standards by which the selection may be made. A recommendation from this committee, reported by Ben Johnson, academic dean, gave a blessing to the idea. It also proposed that the designation be on an annual basis, but if granted for three consecutive years, it would have tenure, that is, it would become a permanent designation. Some trustees were uncertain about this. The possibility of reviving studies of a multi-purpose facility which would house a large gymnasium, etc. was received when the board granted Dr. Thomas Salter, college president, permission to have tentative drawings made. He said that financing such a project always has been the chief barrier, but that he thought there might be source, which he could not now identify, which would open the way to a revival of the project.

At the meeting, Harold Wilder, basketball coach, explained purchasing policies, noting that wherever possible and reasonably competitive, local buying had priority, Harold Davis, board member, asked if faculty members were benefiting from professional dues, for which the college pays half. "I'm for it if they use it and feel they benefit from it," he said, "but not if it's just to build numbers for associations."

More Burglary Loot Is Found

The sheriff's office reports finding a television, assorted stereo equipment, hand hair dryer and small quantities of marijuana and pills at a residence north of Big Spring.

This property is believed to have been stolen, Sheriff A. N. Standard said. It is seemingly unrelated to burglary and theft cases which broke with discovery of stolen goods Friday leading to conviction of two men and the charging of another.

Speaking of this case, Standard said some stolen property from Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber Co., Clawson Lumber Co. and the Academy of Hair Design remains unlocated.

Items still missing include pocket knives, a few more pieces of costume jewelry and a cassette tape recorder.

"I'm sure that there are some innocent people that have got some of this stuff that need to make it available," Standard said.

Mammoth Tasks Faced By Cooks

If you think you had problems this morning cooking turkey and all of the trimmings for the family, visiting relatives and guests, be glad you weren't head cook at the Big Spring State Hospital or at Webb Air Force Base.

At the State Hospital, turkey and all of the trimmings was prepared for almost 600 and Webb cooks provided for a like number.

At the county jail, there were only ten prisoners and the fare was chicken and dressing. At the City Jail, there were ten illegal aliens and they do not have a fulltime cook, so this group had to be thankful for stew.

Speaker Calls For 'Thanksgiving'

A few hundred faithful joined Wednesday evening to give thanks for endless blessings.

The Rev. Larry D. Holmes, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, told them that the "art of Thanksgiving is Thanksgiving."

He brought the message at Services sponsored by the Howard County Ministerial Fellowship at the First Baptist Church.

Although individuals may be undeserving, God's goodness is still just as bountiful, he said, and God is waiting to fulfill worthy requests.

Numerous blessings such as life, talents, friends, citizenship and plenty were mentioned, and the Rev. Holmes ventured that "if the worst of predictions in our present crisis happened, the United States still would rank first in mode of living."

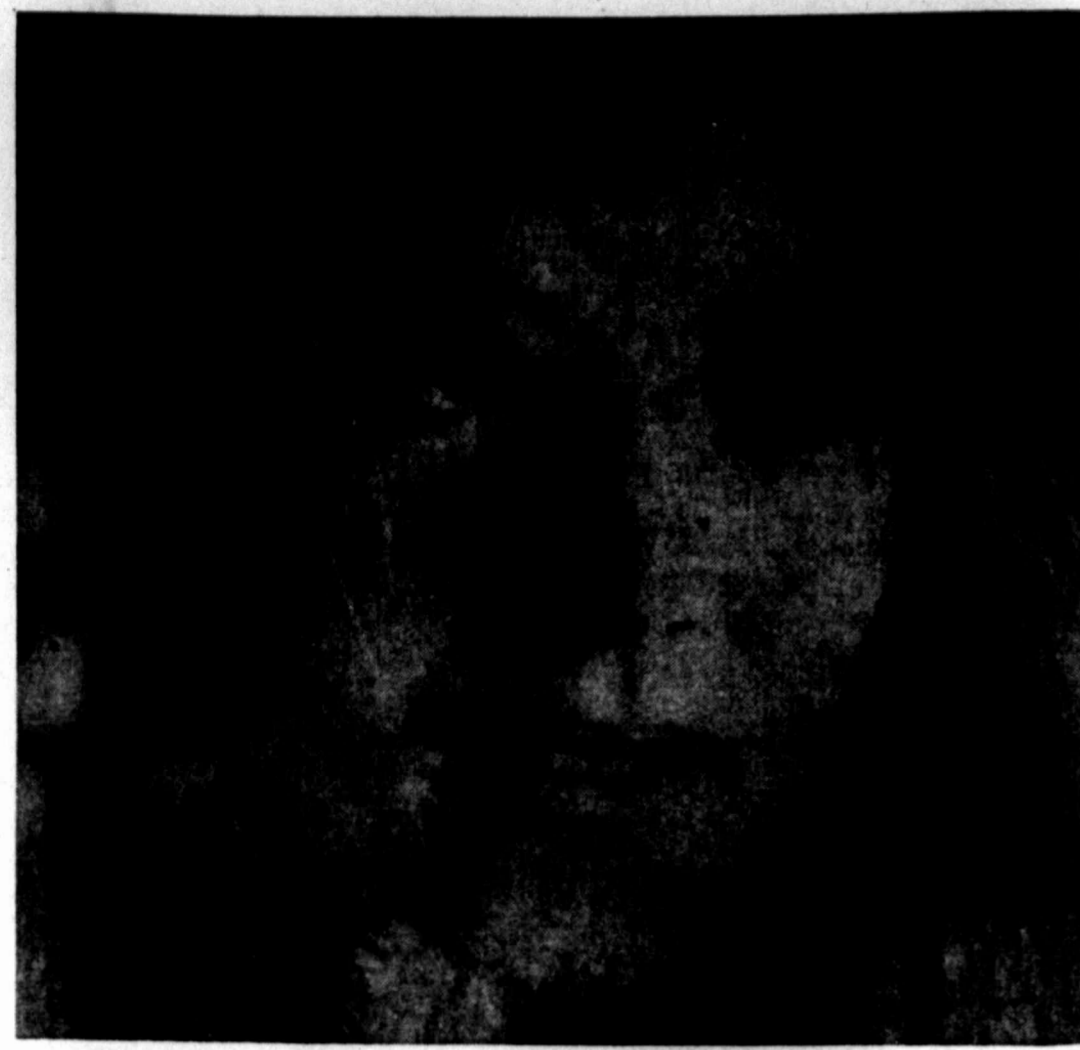

Instead of taking God's goodness for granted, he added,

"we should erect our memorials of Thanksgiving."

One memorial of Thanksgiving to come out of the gathering of many congregations was an offering which went to CROP (Christian Rural Overseas Program) to feed the hungry.

The Rev. R. Earl Price, First Presbyterian minister who appealed for the offering, said that it is difficult to realize that in this age thousands die daily of starvation.

The Rev. O. A. McBrayer, United Methodist district superintendent, led the corporate devotion. A trio of Mrs. Bobby Hill, Mrs. Joe Dewes and Mrs. Wade Bledsoe sang two songs. Prayers were led by Dr. Kenneth Patrick pastor of the host church, Rev. Price, and Chaplain Jim Elwell of Webb AFB. David Norvelle, College Baptist Church, led the music and Mrs. W. W. Grimes was at the organ.

Sun In Big D As Eulogies Spoken At JFK Memorial

DALLAS (AP) — About 500 persons paused to pay tribute at a sun-drenched memorial just 200 yards from where President John F. Kennedy was slain 10 years ago today.

The eulogies were spoken Wednesday into a strong wind and often lost in the buzz of traffic around the grassy plaza. The 30-minute salute was attended by office workers, shoppers and a few jurors on a lunch break from the country courthouse across the street.

NO GLOOM There was no November gloom, no pall of anguish, no dejected staring at the ground. The sky was sparkling blue, waxed by bright sunshine which seemed to frame the setting with optimism and hope. "We remember the greatness of the Kennedy vision ... the excitement of his presidency," extolled Charles Cullum of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce. "We've always believed we could best honor his memory with deeds of human service ... enlargement of charity," he said.

EXCITEMENT Mayor Wes Wise, a Dallas television journalist 10 years ago, said even those who disagreed with Kennedy's politics could not help but be swept up in the "excitement of a magnetic President."

"Here was a man who evoked action. And reaction. He dusted off the fallow principles of America. Ten years have not dimmed his memory nor blurred his accomplishments. He is truly well remembered," Wise said.

Wise then placed a wreath inside the memorial, which has no roof, while the Eastfield College Band and a choral group performed a selection written especially for the occasion.

The lyrics were based on one of Kennedy's speeches which began: "The voices that divide are deeper than those that unite ..."

Hunters Help Area County

COLORADO CITY — The hunting season now under way in Mitchell County for deer, turkey and quail, brings revenue to the county.

The sale of hunting leases and supplies brings about $100,000 each year, according to George Willis, range conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service, who has done a study on the economic impact of game animals.

Mitchell County contains 602,000 acres and more than half of the county is leased for hunting each year with about 359,000 leased out.

Money for that acreage amounts to close to $80,000. In the county this year, there have already been close to 500 hunting license sold and over 200 combination hunting and fishing license.

Ronnie Aston, game warden, said the deer population is up this year over last and that there are also plenty of turkey and quail.

He also reported that some persons in the county have spotted flocks of both Snow Geese and Canadian Geese in recent weeks.

Hawks Rack Up 7th Cage Win, 111-91

Howard County's Hawks went into Wednesday night's game with the McMurry JVs expecting a brisk workout, and got it.

The Big Spring collegians won without a great deal of difficulty, 111-91, but the Indians refused to roll over and play dead.

The visitors from Abilene, winless in three starts thus far, used their muscle under the boards and the scoring agility of Klondike's Cliff Stephens to make it interesting. Stephens settled for 30 points.

Harold Wilder's Hawks, preparing for tournament action at Kerrville this weekend, notched their seventh win of the season against a solitary loss.

HC jumped in front early and by half time was in charge, 59-52.

Wilder got a chance to look at all his troops and ten of them got into the scoring column. Four of those hit in double figures.

Tom-Tom Bledsoe combined 14 field goals with seven gratis pitches to lead the Big Springers with 35 points. He sat out much of the second half. When the Indians moved to within eight points of a tie as the game wound down, Bledsoe returned to play and to help Taylor Williams control the boards.

Other players in double figures for HC included Alfred Gladden, 17 points; Leroy Lumzy, 16; and Williams, who accounted for ten.

The McMurry team lost four players to fouls relatively late in the game. They were Jim Bailey, Mark Curry, Jerry Teel, and David Teel. The loss of David Teel hurt the most — he had 26 points when he split the scene.

The Hawks betrayed a weakness at the foul line. They connected only 19 times in 29 tries for 61 per cent. The In-

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Atlanta Braves slugger Hank Aaron will be guest of honor at the Nashville Banner's annual Banquet of Champions Dec. 12.

Solons Wagering Flags On Game

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A Michigan legislator and an Ohio legislator are betting their respective state flags on the outcome of Saturday's battle of the football powers in the Big Ten.

Rep. Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, said Wednesday he thinks the University of Michigan will upend Ohio State.

Rep. Mike Stuziano, D-Columbus, said this year's Ohio State team is perhaps the greatest in the Buckeyes' history and is certain to be the winner.

Jayhawks Lose Part Of Name

It's officially the Hawks at Howard County Junior College.

Trustees approved Tuesday a resolution adopting "Hawks" as the name for the college teams.

Casualty of this action was the Jayhawks, a name given the HCJC athletic and other squads since the first year.

Trustees, however, delayed a month in considering a name change for the college itself. Suggestions had been sought, but these were split among leaving it as is, using a shortened version of it, or changing completely.

The board hoped for a 30-day delay, but it appeared likely that some sort of action will be taken at the December meeting. The tone of discussions also indicated that the word "Junior" is going to go, and maybe more. Only a handful of two-year colleges now cling to the "junior" designation.

The happy little feathered fellow with the crooked beak, benign smile, monogrammed sweater and pot-belly — the Jayhawk — will be replaced by a more aggressive bird. Trustees got a look at one drawing of a hawk, swooping down with talons ready to clamp on to prey, but they wanted to look at other sketches before deciding on a basic symbol.

Harold Davis, former coach and now a board member who was in the forefront of the team name change, said he thought the Jayhawk had become the team symbol when J. W. Elliott, a transplanted Kansan who coached the first basketball team, adopted it. The hawk, not the jayhawk, is indigenous to this area, he noted, and has a reputation for being more of a fighter.

Car Fire Fails To Shake Golfer

DALLAS (AP) — David R. Nelson, a 30-year-old accountant, was going to get his golfing in, come fire or high water.

Just as he drove his car into the parking lot in suburban Richardson, the vehicle exploded and caught fire at 7:55 a.m. Wednesday.

Assistant pro John Forewell called firemen and himself began fighting the flames with an extinguisher.

As the firemen arrived, Nelson picked up his clubs and told Forewell before strolling off to the first tee, "I haven't time for this — I've got to get in nine holes before 10 a.m."

Colts To Honor Former Greats

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jim Parker and Raymond Berry, a couple of stars for Baltimore when the Colts were a National Football League power, will be honored Sunday when Baltimore plays the Buffalo Bills.

Parker, who made the All-Pro team as both offensive guard and tackle, and Berry, one of the all-time pass receivers, as a split end, will be presented their Hall of Fame rings in halftime ceremonies.

Parker, Berry and linebacker Joe Schmidt of the Detroit Lions were inducted into the Hall of Fame at Canton, Ohio, earlier this year. Dick Gallagher, executive director of the football shrine, will present the rings.

Keyes Tops Bass Meet

Vic Keyes pulled in the largest bass and had the largest string during the Big Spring Bass Club's monthly tournament Nov. 10 at Oak Creek Lake.

Keyes' biggest catch was six pounds, one ounce, while his string was 10 pounds, seven ounces. Second was Jerry Avery, whose string was 10 pounds.

Third was Wayne Henry with 7 pounds, 12 ounces; fourth went to Robert Wilson with five pounds, 10 ounces and fifth was Gerald McCasland, with five pounds, two ounces.

Coahoma Girls Get Third Win

SAN ANGELO — Theresa Beal hit 37 points and Sherry Griffin 21 as the Coahoma girls basketball team ripped San Angelo Lake View 76-52 in their third straight victory Tuesday.

In the B team game, Patty Hulme and Nancy Wood each totaled 16 points in a 44-39 Coahoma win. The JV is also 3-0.

The two Coahoma teams are at home Tuesday against Westbrook.

Coahoma Girls Get Third Win

COAHOMA (76) — Theresa Beal 17-3-27; Sherry Griffin 6-9-21; Becky Spell 3-4-12; Jane Maccham 2-0-4; Judy King 1-0-2; LAKE VIEW (52) — Nancy Cox 9-1-32; Patty Baker 7-2-16; LuAnn Phillips 1-2-4; total 17-15-52.

Score by Quarters: Coahoma 21 14 14-26; Westbrook 19 6 19-42.

Smith, Sorley Get Loop Titles

Two Big Spring Steers increased their margins in the individual categories during last week's wild 64-43 loss to San Angelo, but the Longhorns' team totals took a beating along the way.

John Thomas Smith and Tom Sorley each captured district titles with the finish of the Dist. 5-AAAA season. Smith in receiving and Sorley in league passing.

The Steers gave up 693 yards in that scoring marathon, however, and slipped into last place among district teams in team defense. In seven district games the Steers gave up 2,927 yards, including 1,933 yards rushing.

At the same time San Angelo moved ahead of the Big Springers in team offense, as the Steers finished out their effort with 654 rushing yards and 1,357 through the air for a 2,011-yard total. Odessa ended up as No. 1 in team offense with 2,641 yards, while Abilene Cooper was tops in defense.

District champion Odessa Permain finished second in both categories.

The Steers' passing success also meant the success of Sorley and Smith. Sorley finished the year as the leading passer in the district, with 1,357 yards and 14 touchdowns. His yardage

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

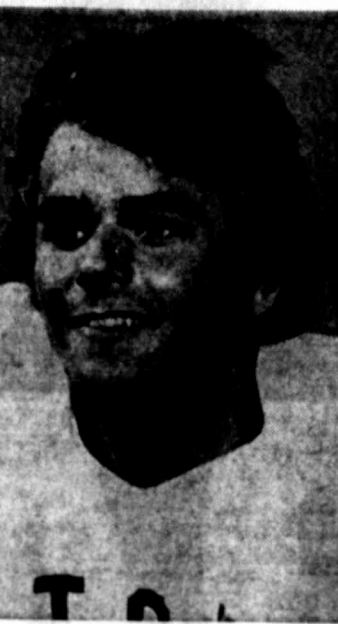

The Western Conference will be drawing its share of national attention when eyes begin to turn from football to basketball. Howard County Junior College and New Mexico Junior College are both averaging over 100 points a game, and Clarendon is giving up just 45 points an outing.

Former Big Spring Steer Dave Duncan, as far as I know the only ex-Longhorn to play varsity ball in the Southwest Conference this year, ranks second among TCU receivers going into the next-to-last game Saturday with Rice.

Duncan, a junior who has been starting at split end the entire year for the Frogs, has caught eight passes for 132 yards in nine games. The 162-pounder also rushed once, gaining four yards.

He was dist. 5-AAAA's outstanding back in 1970, and led the loop in rushing. As a freshman at TCU he played in both the offensive and defensive backfields, and then moved to split receiver his sophomore year. He was voted "most consistent receiver" by the coaches during spring training.

DAVE DUNCAN

Duncan, 21, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Duncan

About 4,000 entries are still alive in the Caesars Palace "Contest of Clout," which invited people to send in their guesses as to the dates Henry Aaron will tie and break Babe Ruth's total of 714 home runs.

When the contest closed Aug. 1 there were 102,642 entries, and most expected The Hammer to do his deed in 1973. Aaron, of course, is just one short of tying Ruth. Prizes for the two winners will be an all-expense paid weekend for two at the famed Las Vegas hotel-casino, with all kinds of other goodies thrown in.

Dist. 5-AAAA, despite all its upset potential the past season, didn't really deliver in the surprise department. Midland's league-opening surprise of Odessa Permian was the only real shocker, and it was virtually meaningless since the Panthers made it to the playoffs anyway.

With talk of a four-way tie filling the air the final week of play in 5-AAAA, San Angelo Coach Smitty Hill didn't exactly cherish the thought of the league representative being decided by a coin flip. So during the district coaches and sports writers meeting in Odessa Monday he passed out a proposal which would help make the decision a little more football like.

Hill suggested that in the event of a three or four-way tie the teams be declared tri-champions or quadruple champs, and the team to advance to the playoffs would be determined by the point spread of scores. Only the scores of the games involving the tied teams would be considered, and the maximum spread of points allowed any one team in a game would be 18 points, to keep teams from running the score up.

The Bobcat coach plans to bring it up at the next meeting of the 5-AAAA executive board.

Incidentally, also at that meeting Monday the 5-AAAA All-District football team was chosen by the loop's coaches and sportswriters. Results of the voting will appear in Sunday's Herald.

NFL SCHEDULE table with columns for Team, Home, Away, and Kickoff times for various NFL games.

Three Teams Lead 7-AA

Coahoma, McCamey and loop champion Reagan County dominated most of the categories in the final Dist. 7-AA statistics release.

McCamey finished first in team offense with a 345.1-yard per game average, while Reagan County, allowing just 180-yards an outing topped the six-team league in defense. Coahoma stood third in offense, after averaging 296 yards a game, and the Bulldogs were second in defense, giving up 190 yards a contest.

Stanton, fifth place team in the league, ended up in that position in both team offense and defense stats.

Individually, Coahoma junior Putt Choate used the extra week last Friday to improve his rushing total and gain a tie for the league's scoring lead. Choate, a 200-pound fullback, topped all runners with 1,133 yards on 212 carries for a 5.3 average, and his 13 touchdowns deadlocked him in the scoring column with Reagan County's Ken Stout as both rang up 78 points.

Coahoma's Dean Wood placed seventh in individual scoring, as he put up 39 points on four touchdowns and 15 extra points.

In the rushing column, Choate was followed by Johnny Hickman of Reagan County, and Stanton's Elvin Brown wound up fourth with 721 yards on 109 attempts, the second best average in the district at 6.6.

Two other Buff rushers, Mark Eiland and Verron Brown, ranked in the top 15, along with Coahoma's Eddie Padron.

In passing, Stout of Reagan County was tops with 820 yards and 10 touchdowns, while Jody Bennett of Coahoma and Bill Howard of Stanton ranked fifth and sixth.

Top receiver in the district was Leland Bolen of McCamey, who caught passes worth 446 yards. Wood of Coahoma and Joe Louis Hernandez also cracked the top ten.

Longhorns Open Season Friday

REBOUNING IS CRITICAL AREA

If the Big Spring Steer basketball team can get a rebound or two this season, coach Ron Plumlee thinks there's a chance the Longhorns could have as successful a campaign as they've seen in quite a while.

"Our inside game is the question mark right now," Plumlee said this week. "If we can fight the boards like I think we're capable of doing, I don't see any reason why we can't have a good season."

The coach gets a chance to find out something about his troops Friday at 8 p.m. when the Steers open their season in Crane against the Class AA Golden Cranes. The following night the Steers visit Plainview, and the next weekend they're entered in the Plainview Tournament. The first home game isn't until Dec 3, against Plainview.

In some ways, the Steers will resemble last year's scrappy crew that finished 16-17. There'll be the same fast break and the same pressure defense, but one will be the rebounding touch of Kevin Miller, the only Steer to average over 10 rebounds a game last season.

"We'll fast break whether we press or not," Plumlee said. "We plan to press if we can, but sometimes it's not wise. There'll be some kind of pressure on the other team all the time, though."

Three letterman return from a year ago, including John Thomas Smith, who was a second team all-district selection last year.

Smith just finished football last week and probably won't be ready to start for a couple of weeks, but Tim Dunn and Randy Marshall, a pair of 6-3 seniors, are back to carry some of the load.

That threesome will hold much of the hopes for the season, along with 5-10 senior guard Albo Smith and a sophomore, 6-1 Jim Ray.

There's more rebounding hope in 6-3 sophomore James Zapp and Rick Traylor, a 6-4 senior, and Plumlee says these players must come through if the Steers are to have a successful year.

Four other seniors, 5-11 Larry Stanley, 6-0 Bobby Greene, 6-1 Tom Sorley and 6-3 Vicky Woodruff will round out the varsity.

Plumlee thinks the three who just arrived from the football squad, Smith, Sorley and Woodruff, will be a big help to the Steers. Smith averaged 17 points and eight rebounds a game last year, and Sorley also logged plenty of varsity time.

Woodruff, who started for the junior varsity last season, and at 205 pounds Plumlee says his rebounding strength can be invaluable. The coach also said Woodruff is a good shooter.

Without the three gridlers, the Steers scrimmaged Lubbock and Snyder last week and gave appearances of being a good team only at times. Against Snyder the Longhorns played six quarters, winning two, losing two and tying two.

Lubbock topped the Steer cagers 70-65 in a regular game-type scrimmage.

"We only shot 31 per cent from the floor against Lubbock and 38 per cent against Snyder, but at times I thought we rebounded like we should be doing. I think it'll make a lot of difference when John Thomas gets going."

The Steer Junior Varsity, under the direction of first year coach James Griffin, will also be in its season opener Friday.

Griffin hasn't chosen his starters from a group of six players — 6-2 Mark Moore, 6-4 George Gillespie, and 5-11 Robert Aldridge, all sophomores, and juniors Bobby Winters (6-0), 5-1 David Beasley and 6-0 Gregg Brooks.

Lawrence Byrd, a 5-10 Junior just out from football, and Eddie Ross (5-10) and D. J. Justice (6-0), a pair of sophomores, will also see plenty of playing time.

Wiley Speaker At Meeting

The Big Spring Board of Realtors met for their regular meeting on Tuesday, at Cokers Restaurant.

Mrs. Marie Rowland, president, discussed ways in which the member's could join efforts with the property-owners Association in beautifying Big Spring.

Guest speaker was Jim Wiley, building officer at Webb AFB. He gave pertinent information on listing rentals at the Referral Office for the benefit of the newcomers to Webb AFB, both military and civilian.

The committee on advertising gave their report on information collected to explain the aims and purposes of a realtor. The board voted to accept their recommendations.

Twenty members attended the luncheon representing Castle, Cook & Talbot, Cox, Real Estate, Home Real Estate, McDonald, Reader & Associates, Rowland Real Estate and Shepard. Next regular meeting date will be on December 4.

Santa Expected

COLORADO CITY — Immediately after Turkey Day comes plans for Christmas.

The annual Christmas parade and the initial appearance of Santa Clause will be at a downtown parade at 2 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 1.

Colorado City, like many other West Texas cities, is putting up their decorations but plan to turn them on nearer Christmas due to the energy shortage.

Critically Ill Can Now Get Emergency Care At Hospital

With the opening of a new intensive care unit in May, the Veterans Administration Hospital now offers special emergency care to the critically ill.

The six-bed unit, located on the hospital's fourth floor, contains over $80,000 worth of specialized equipment and is operated around the clock by a 13-member staff.

Prior to opening of the new unit, critically ill patients had to be assigned to the regular wards.

"I feel like we can now give our patients the ultimate in nursing care because we have the time," said Betty Lebkowsky, one of the six registered nurses on the ICU staff.

Fifty patients have stayed in the unit since it opened six months ago. Most of the patients have some type of heart trouble according to Mrs. Lebkowsky.

The typical ICU patient has a history of heart trouble and must stay in the unit for two or three weeks, she said.

Equipment available in the unit includes a pacemaker, a heart lung resuscitator, an electrocardiogram machine, an automatic rotating tourniquet, a cardiac chair and two defibrillators.

The unit is equipped with special ICU beds with removable headboards, siderails, overhead IV stands and individual blood pressure units.

Before the unit opened, the staff members were all sent to other VA hospitals with ICUs to be trained. The Big Spring hospital is probably the smallest VA facility with an intensive care unit.

Five of the unit's RNs are certified instructors in cardiac pulmonary resuscitation. Classes have already been held in Coahoma, and Mrs. Lebkowsky said plans are to hold classes in Big Spring so that local citizens may come certified instructors.

Mrs. Lebkowsky said this is in line with the American Heart Association motto, "Teach your best friend, he may be the one to save your life."

Senior Taxpayers To Get More Relief In County

Senior taxpayers in Howard County will have more relief from their homestead assessments.

Howard County Junior College trustees have approved granting of a $3,000 exemption on assessed values of homesteads. It will be applicable only to those who apply for it between Jan. 1 and April 30 of each year.

Ralph Smith, business manager, estimated that this would represent a $21,600 revenue loss to the college. He based this on a projected 1,200 total at $18 each.

Adoption of the exemption by the countywide college district

Occupation Credit Will Count Toward Degree

The Bath Coup has nothing to do with a revolt of English peasants against the feudal lords. It is the name given to a strategy in the play of the hand at Whist, and subsequently handed down to bridge, which was first employed in the gaming rooms of Bath, England.

In a highly competitive auction, North decided that his honor cards in the side suits were all pulling their full weight. Combined with his spade shortage, this was the decisive factor that induced him to bid on rather than give his partner the option of doubling four spades. As the cards lie, East-West have an excellent sacrifice at five spades, which goes down only two tricks, but they felt they had reasonable defensive chances against five hearts.

West led the king of clubs, and South played low from both his hand and dummy. This is a version of the Bath Coup — a holdup play when you have the ace and jack of the suit in which the king is led. This maneuver forced West to switch his attack, for if he continued with clubs declarer would make two tricks in the suit. West shifted to a spade, but declarer was firmly in the saddle.

He won the ace of spades, drew trump in three rounds and played the ace, king and another diamond. East won the ten and reverted to clubs. Declarer captured West's ten with the ace and ruffed a diamond, setting up dummy's long card in the suit. Dummy was entered with a spade ruff and declarer's remaining club loser was discarded on the good diamond to just make the contract.

Note that declarer is defeated if he wins the first trick with the ace of clubs. East must gain the lead with a diamond, and a club lead thru the jack allows the defenders to score two tricks in that suit.

MILK FUNDS

Insists He Received Disguised Payments

CHICAGO (AP) — An attorney who did work for the nation's largest dairy cooperative says the group paid him more than $175,000 under the guise of legal fees for "services" which he never performed.

The lawyer, Stuart H. Russell, said in a deposition taken Monday that he received the payments from Associated Milk Producers Inc. as reimbursement for money he gave to a political operative of the dairy group.

BANK RECORDS

Under subpoena in a tangled law suit, Russell produced copies of cancelled checks and other bank records which showed that he gave a total of $176,828 to Robert Lilly. Lilly is a former political worker for the cooperative and has been implicated in previous sworn testimony with making illegal corporate campaign contributions. The suit involves other dairy cooperatives and anti-trust action against Associated Milk Producers by the Justice Department.

President Nixon has denied charges that government price supports to dairy men were raised in 1971 in return for a $2 million pledge to his re-election campaign. Nixon said he raised pressure from Congress and because he feared if he did not do so that Congress would raise them even higher.

The records introduced Monday showed Russell made 24 payments by check to Lilly between December 1969 and December 1970. The largest payment was $24,809; the smallest was $5,000. He also said Associated Milk Producers gave him $30,000 to cover increased tax liability caused by the disguised legal fees.

NOT EVER?

Russell was asked if he ever performed the services for which the cooperative was billed in the Lilly payments. "No," he replied.

"Not ever?"

"No. Not once," said Russell. Russell said he did not know what the payments to Lilly were used for, but said his idea was that the dairy cooperative wanted to cover up business it did with politically well-connected law firms.

Russell said among the politically well-connected law firms were ones which included persons such as Herbert Kalmbach, Nixon's former personal attorney; John B. Connally, former treasury secretary under Nixon; and John N. Mitchell, Nixon's first attorney general and twice his campaign manager.

Russell said the payments to Lilly were set up by Robert O. Isham, former treasurer of Associated Milk Producers, and verified by Harold Nelson, the group's general manager. Lilly and Isham have been given immunity to appear before the Senate Watergate committee.

Give Thanks

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR READERS: On Thanksgiving Day we thank God for our blessings. My personal blessings are many. Among them are the many letters I receive from those who read my column. May I share a few letters with you that have made me thankful that I am Dear Abby:

DEAR ABBY: How does a person say, "Thank you, for saving my life?" I will be grateful to you for the rest of my days for recommending Overeaters Anonymous to me.

I have been in this group for five months and have shed 58 pounds! "O.A." is a beautiful fellowship of people who are all hurting for the same reason — compulsive overeating.

You have helped thousands of people like myself. I was told that one chapter alone received more than 20,000 letters from hurting people. I am able to wear blouses and slacks for the first time in 17 years. I am so grateful to you, Abby. You have given me new hope, happiness, and a feeling of self-worth I never knew possible. Love from all of us "O.A." members.

GRACE IN L.A.

DEAR ABBY: I will forever be thankful to you for your column giving the Euthanasia Council address, (250 W. 57th St., New York) so I could send for a Living Will, demanding that I be allowed to die with dignity when my time comes.

When an animal gets old and sick, everyone says: "Aw, put the poor thing out of its misery," but human beings are kept alive in "convalescent homes..." (Convalescing from what?)

It is just as natural to die as it is to live, so why deny God's will, and prolong needless suffering with transfusions, tubes, needles and drugs?

I could write about what happened to my mother. What was done to her was brutal. I even felt sorry for the poor doctors who knew all hope for recovery was gone, but who kept that poor 90-year-old alive month after month, not wanting to be accused of "murder." What nonsense!

Until euthanasia — which is not "mercy killing," but simply NOT prolonging life uselessly — is understood, I wish I were a horse with a broken leg. God love you. DOROTHY L. IN MANCHESTER, CONN.

DEAR ABBY: Thanks for telling me to write to Fredericks of Hollywood to order a false fanny. I ordered one and have never been happier. I have a fairly nice shape, but am so flat in back, nothing looked good on me. Also I am so boney, sitting for any length of time without a cushion was sheer misery. Now that I have this padded girdle, I look great and feel wonderful.

Musical Awareness Studied By Forum

"Woman's Awareness of Music" was the topic explored Friday by the Woman's Forum at the home of Mrs. E. P. Driver, with Mrs. Clyde Thomas as cohostess.

The program was presented by Woody McDonell of the Howard County Junior College music department, vocalist; and Harlan Thornton, pianist. Selections included "Believe Me, If All Those Endearing Young Charms," and "Go Lovely Rose," both by Roger Quilter; "Wake With the Dawn," an Italian serenade by Leon Covella; and "Everyday Is Ladies Day With Me," by Victor Herbert.

McDonnell, who received his master's degree in voice from University of Texas, is choir director at St. Mary's Episcopal Church. He will leave his position with HCJC to accept a position as lead tenor with Na-

Style Show Set By Auxiliary In February

Members of Permian Basin Medical Society Auxiliary met recently to prepare a food basket which was to be delivered to a local family for Thanksgiving. Committee members designated to deliver the basket were Mrs. Jack Afleck, Mrs. David Logan and Mrs. Robert Griffin.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Griffin, and Mrs. Charlotte Isham was introduced as a new member. Mrs. Raymond Torp resigned as president as she and her family will move to Wharton.

Plans were made for a fashion show Feb. 14 at Big Spring Country Club to be presented by Zack's. Arrangements will be finalized by Mrs. C. A. Aagesen, chairwoman, Mrs. J. W. Kuykendall, Mrs. Pete Rhymes, Mrs. Henry Butler and Mrs. Clyde Thomas.

J. T. Morgans Mark Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Morgan will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary with a family gathering at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Tarter Jr., Roswell, N.M. The Morgans are spending the Thanksgiving holidays with the Tarters.

Also present for the occasion will be the honorees two sons and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Morgan, Denver, Colo.; and Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Morgan, Los Angeles, Calif. Another daughter died in infancy, and a son died during early childhood. The Morgans have nine grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan were married Nov. 29, 1923 (Thanksgiving Day) at the Methodist parsonage in Cisco. The Rev. H. B. Ellis performed the ceremony.

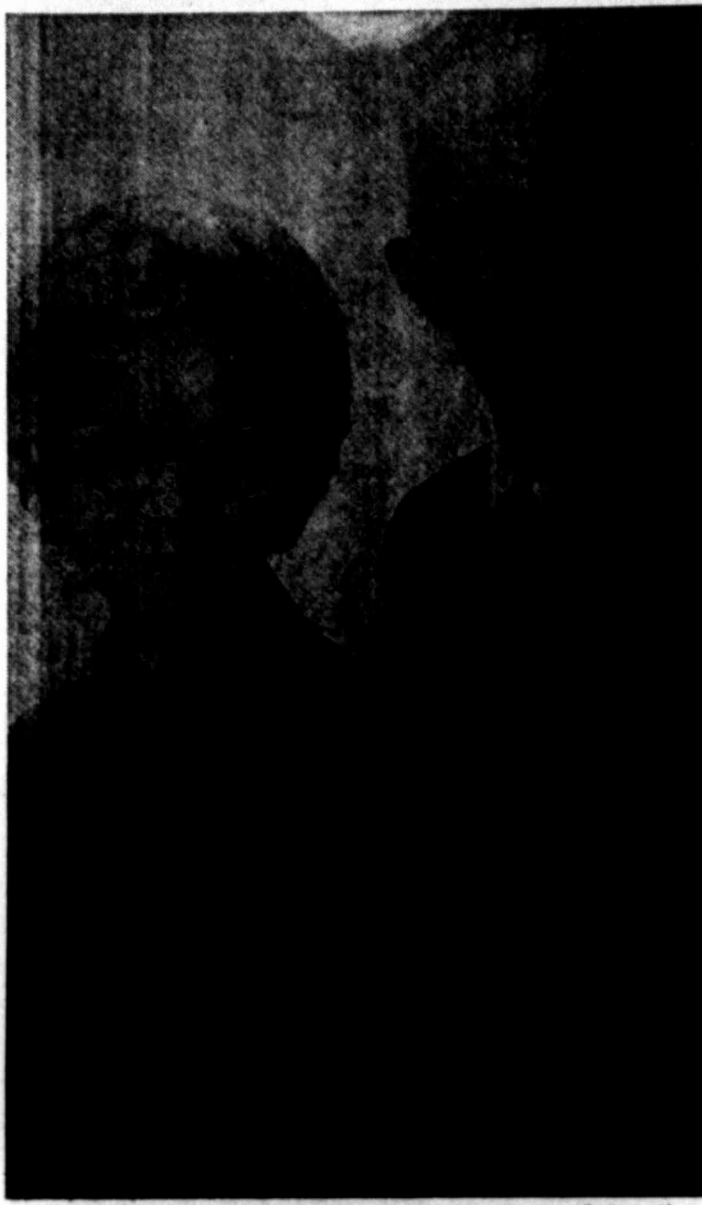

Mrs. Morgan, the former Willie Leveridge, was born and reared in Eastland County. Morgan was born in Taylor County near Merkel, but moved with his parents to Callahan County at an early age. Prior to their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan both taught school in Eastland and Callahan Counties.

During the early years of their marriage, the Morgans owned and operated a small farm in Callahan County where they planned to reside indefinitely. However, then the depression years came, Morgan found work anywhere he could to provide for his family. In the early 1930's the family moved to Throckmorton County where he did road work, operated a service station and served six years as deputy sheriff, tax collector and jailor.

In August, 1941, the Morgan family moved to Big Spring and he began work as an inspector for the Texas Liquor Control Board, a position which he held until his retirement in 1964. Since 1965 he has worked as a salesman for Trinity Memorial Park.

Mrs. Morgan has worked at various jobs throughout her married life. Her most recent employment was with the Lewis five & dime stores, where her main responsibility was operating the sub-post office. She retired in 1965 after 12 years in the position.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan are members of Wesley United Methodist Church, where she holds life membership in what was formerly the Women's Society of Christian Service. Morgan is a former member of the Knights of Pythias. His current hobbies are playing croquet and doing yard work at the couple's home at 1016 Bluebonnet.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan left Tuesday for Roswell and will spend a week there with their children.

Seven Are Accepted By BSP

Seven women were installed into Beta Sigma Phi during a city-wide pledge ritual held recently at First Federal Community Room. The ceremony was performed by Mrs. Clay La Rochelle, BSP City Council president.

Pledges accepted by each chapter were Mrs. Jeff Beckham, Alpha Beta Omicron; Mrs. Rick Isaacs, Mrs. Gary Davis, Mrs. David King, Mrs. Gary Tyler and Mrs. David Smith, all Mu Zeta; and Mrs. Robert Penner, Beta Omicron.

Following a six-months pledge period, the women will be eligible for the "ritual of jewels" to become full-fledged members of the sorority. A written examination precedes the ritual. For the candlelight pledge ceremony, the women stood at a table covered with a white satin cloth and accented with yellow candles and yellow roses. Jewel members present formed a semi-circle and each held a yellow candle.

Refreshments were served from a table appointed with crystal and silver. The white linen cloth was centered with two cakes done in BSP colors of yellow and white.

Shirtwaists Go Big For Fall

To add a little spice to the great American classic, the home seamstress can run up shirtwaist dresses in true autumn shades — like a bright primary or a jewel-toned drab. Or pick a plaid in tomato, shamrock and crayon yellow. Or choose a check in teal and redwood brown.

For a little eye diversion, sew the top in a stripe and pair it with a skirt in a polka dot or a herringbone. Keep the designs small, though, so they don't become overwhelming.

She Counts Proteins Instead Of Calories

By BARBARA LORD

Thanksgiving dinner will be as traditional for Mrs. R. L. (Eva) Nall as for anyone. She will have turkey, dressing, cranberry sauce and pumpkin pie. Perhaps the only difference will be that she makes her own cranberry sauce using raw sugar.

Throughout the year, Mrs. Nall uses a lot of raw sugar. It's just one of many changes included in health foods, and she is an avid believer in the health food diet.

"Some people are so extreme in eating and talking about health foods, that people think they are nutty," said Mrs. Nall, "but it's not really that much different. I just eat things I enjoy."

Mrs. Nall is owner and operator of the Health Food Center at 1305 Scurry and is a faithful user of its many products. She eats lots of natural rice, because white rice has been polished and lost many of its vitamins and minerals. She drinks hot herb teas, but never soft drinks or iced tea. She loves potatoes, baked or raw, and often grates them in tossed salads. In the summertime, fresh fruit from her garden is usually eaten raw, and she uses lots of nuts, seeds and cheeses.

For cooked foods, Mrs. Nall makes use of her steamer, saying items cooked in a steamer have much more flavor and preserve vitamins and minerals.

NO CALORIE COUNTING
"I never count calories," said Mrs. Nall. "I keep a close eye on protein, and I find that if I get plenty of protein, I don't have room to eat many carbohydrates. But it's not something I purposely avoid." Another principle of health food eaters is to avoid foods treated with preservatives because they are a chemical that the body has to throw off.

Mrs. Nall starts each day with a "huge breakfast" that may consist of two scrambled eggs, a piece of meat, muffins or whole wheat bread and a side dish of millet. Her main meal is at lunchtime, and she eats a very light dinner. She allows herself meat only once a day, and often likes to have it in steak form for breakfast.

"It's not hard to stick to a health food diet," said Mrs. Nall. "I suppose there are some things you'd have to develop a taste for, but most of the foods taste about the same or better when prepared according to health food methods. Once the body is accustomed to it, many people find they don't have to worry about their weight any more, because they are eating things that agree with their digestive system."

VEGETARIANS

Mrs. Nall has operated the store since 1965, and she said her customers range from strict vegetarians to people who just want to try something different. Before opening the store, Mrs. Nall traveled to Abilene, Lubbock and even further to buy health foods and ingredients. Tired of the driving, she decided to try the business here, and said she was surprised to find so much local interest.

"I work six days a week," said Mrs. Nall, "so I'm like any other working woman when it comes to wanting foods that are easy to fix. I look at a recipe, and if it isn't quick and easy, I mark it off my list. I like to eat, and I don't mind cooking, but I want it to be fast."

Mrs. Nall's main hobby is compatible with her work. "Whenever I'm tired, I leave the store and go work in my garden," she said. In the summertime she grows many organic vegetables. She makes her own compost. Also, she is currently growing chickpea and alfalfa sprouts inside.

Rising meat prices may get more people started on health foods. A granular soybean she carries in the store can be mixed half and half with hamburger, and she said the consumer can't tell the difference. Mrs. Nall helps stretch her food dollars by making her own yogurt and cottage cheese which are also healthier.

Mrs. Nall and her late husband came to Big Spring in 1927. She worked at Montgomery Ward for several years and at Cunningham Phillips Drug Store for 22 years. Her husband was former owner of Poncho's News Stand.

CHINESE-STYLE, above, or Pakistani-style, below, are both deliciously different ways to guise a leftover turkey.

China, Pakistan Offer Good Turkey Ideas

There are a lot of recipes for leftover turkey, but if you want something truly different, perk the turkey up with spices and flavors from other countries. Here are two delicious ideas.

CHINESE-STYLE VEGETABLES TURKEY AND VEGETABLES

2 cups thin strips cooked turkey
1/2 stick (1/4 cup) butter
1/2 lb. fresh mushrooms, thinly sliced
1 cup sliced celery, cut on an angle into 1/2 inch slices

About 3/4 lb. fresh spinach, washed and torn into large pieces
1 lg. onion, sliced
Soy sauce

Melt butter in wok or large skillet. Stir in mushrooms and celery and cook about 2 minutes. Push to side. Add spinach and onion. Stir to coat with butter. Cover and steam 2 minutes. Remove vegetables from pan to keep warm. Return vegetables to wok or skillet, arranging attractively. Sprinkle with soy sauce and toss just before serving with lightly seasoned cooked rice. (If fresh spinach is not available, use a 10-oz. package frozen leaf spinach, cooking and stirring only enough to heat through.) Serves 4.

TURKEY ROAST PAKISTANI-STYLE

Boneless Turkey Roast, to 5 pounds
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 stick (1/4 cup) butter
2 tbsps. dry chili peppers (5 pods with seeds inside)
1 tsp. turmeric
1 tsp. ground ginger
1 tsp. pepper
1 tsp. ground cinnamon
1 tsp. salt
2 cans (10 1/2 oz. each) tomato puree
3 to 4 cups hot cooked rice

Fresh Vegetable Chutney
Roast boneless turkey according to package directions. Sauté onion and green pepper in butter. Add spices and tomato puree and simmer about 20 minutes. Place rice on deep serving platter. Slice roast and place on top. Pour sauce over turkey. Serve with uncooked chutney. Warning: This recipe is Hot. The chutney helps to cool it! Serves 6.

Fresh Vegetable Chutney

1 lg. cucumber, scrubbed, not pared
1 med. tomato
2 green onions and tops, chopped
1 stalk green celery, sliced
1 cup dairy sour cream
1 cup yogurt
Cut cucumber in eighths, lengthwise, then into 1/2 inch chunks. Cut tomato and celery into similar-sized pieces. Combine with sour cream and yogurt. Chill and serve with Turkey Roast.

Add Simple Elegance To Holiday Happenings

When entertaining this holiday season serve your guests an attractive and appetizing tray of hors d'oeuvres.

Mini-Bouche Pastries

1 4 1/2-oz. can chicken spread
1 tbsps. chopped pimiento
1 tbsps. chopped parsley
3 tbsps. chopped almonds
2 tbsps. sour cream
1 tsp. sherry
15 mini-patty shells (baked)
2 tbsps. chopped parsley for garnish

Combine chicken spread, pimiento, parsley, almonds, sour cream and sherry. Fill the patty shells. Bake at 350 degrees for 10 minutes. Sprinkle with parsley. Serve warm. Makes 15.

HAM AND SWISS BITES

6 slices white toast
1 4 1/2-oz. can deviled ham
1/2 tsp. instant minced onion
1/4 cup chopped mushrooms

24 1 1/2-inch slices Swiss cheese

Trim crusts from toast and cut slices into quarters. Combine deviled ham onion and mushrooms, and spread on toast. Top with cheese. Broil until cheese melts. Makes 24.

Corned Beef Spread Tartlets

1 10-oz. package pie crust mix
2 4 1/2-oz. cans corned beef spread
1/2 cup dry white bread crumbs
2 tbsps. ketchup
1 egg
4 slices cheddar cheese cut into small strips

Make pastry according to package instructions. Roll out thinly. Cut into 48 2 1/2 inch circles and press into small muffin pans. Combine corned beef spread, crumbs, ketchup, and egg and fill tartlets. Top with strips of cheese. Bake at 400 degrees for 15 minutes. Makes 48.

RECOMMENDED RECIPES Of Mrs. R. L. Nall

CARROT CAKE

2 cups flour (whole-wheat or unbleached)
2 cups raw sugar
2 rounded tbsps. baking powder
2 tbsps. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. each of mace, nutmeg, ginger and allspice
1/2 tsp. sea salt
1 1/2 cups Safflower oil
4 lge. eggs
3 cups raw carrots, grated
1 cup nuts, chopped

Put all dry ingredients in mixer and mix slowly. Add Safflower oil and mix well. Add eggs, one at a time, mixing well after each. Stir in grated carrots and nut meats. Bake in an Angel Food pan or a 9 by 13-inch cake pan at 350 degrees for one hour. Good the first day, even better the second.

Note: One-half cup sunflower seeds may be substituted for half of nuts, if desired.

INSTANT CANDIES

1 jar (3 ozs) honey coconut spread
1 jar (8 ozs.) Crunchie old-fashioned peanut butter
Non-fat dry milk or unsweetened protein powder

Empty honey in mixing bowl. Use jar to measure same amount of peanut butter. Mix well, and add enough dry milk or protein powder to make dough thick enough to roll into balls. Roll each ball in coconut meal, nut meal or toasted sesame seed, and the candy is ready to serve. Variations: Candies can be varied by adding plain honey, toasted wheat germ and vanilla. Also, toasted sesame seed may be added. Place a nut on tops if desired. Ingredients may be varied any way you wish. They're delicious and healthy.

BARBECUE SAUCE

4 tbsps. catsup
4 tbsps. butter (not margarine)
1/2 cup Worcestershire Sauce
1 tbsps. apple cider vinegar
4 tbsps. brown sugar
1 tsp. dry mustard
1/4 tsp. chili powder
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. garlic salt
1/4 tsp. savor salt
1/4 tsp. black pepper

Combine all ingredients and heat until butter melts, mixing well. Sauce can be stored in refrigerator for months. Good on hamburgers, ribs, chicken, left-over roast and most all meats.

INSTANT PUDDING

1/2 cup water
3 eggs
Bring water to a boil, break eggs into water, and stir until eggs thicken. Put eggs into blender and proceed with one of the following pudding variations:
Vanilla:
To the three eggs, add 1/2-cup oil, 1/4 cup honey; 1 teaspoon vanilla and 1/4 teaspoon almond flavoring. Blend together.

Date:
To the three eggs, add 1/2-cup water, 1/2-cup oil and one cup cut-up dates. Has had.

Tin Cans Show Spoilage Signs

If cans bulge — or their contents have a film, off odor or color — the food may be spoiled. If purchased recently, return can to the grocer — or if you've had the can some time, discard it, advises Sally Springer, foods and nutrition specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

butterscotch flavor. For stiffer custard, add one teaspoon gelatin to water before blending.

Raisin:
To the three eggs, add 1/2-cup water, 1/4-cup oil, one heaping tablespoon honey and one cup figs with hard stem ends cut off. Blend, stirring with rubber spatula.

Banana:
To the three eggs, add 1/2-cup water, 1/4-cup oil and one cup raisins. Blend all together. Another 1/2-cup whole raisins may be added after blending.

Carob:
To the three eggs, add 1/2-cup water, 1/4-cup oil, 1/2-cup water, 2 1/2 tablespoons carob and one teaspoon pure vanilla. Blend together. Be sure to add carob while blender is running.

Calling All Home Makers

CASUAL ELEGANCE?

At one time, home makers with small children or pets who wanted practical furniture had to settle for furnishings that weren't always the last word in beauty; and, by the same token, furniture that was beautiful was often fragile and not practical for a growing family because you always had to be careful, and worry about it.

But, today there is in the home furnishings field a concept of "casual elegance" and strange as it seems, those two words are not contradictory to each other. Elegant things CAN be casual today and casual things CAN be elegant.

Just one reason for this change are soil-resistant fabrics that have been developed over the years. Now if something spills on a beautiful piece, you don't have the worry you once had. But that's not all. Manufacturers have been able to produce elegant furniture without the fragile construction of other years, and at the same time, they've been able to truthfully say that built-in ruggedness in a piece does not prevent it from being beautiful and graceful.

Thus, today you can enjoy the best of both worlds as never before. You don't have to settle for fragile furniture if you want beauty, and you don't have to sacrifice beauty if you want sturdy, easy-to-care-for furniture. To see a good selection of beautiful furniture, come and see us.

INSENSITIVE TO KENNEDY FAMILY?

LBJ Troubled By Accusations

EDITOR'S NOTE: Robert Hardesty and Tom Johnson served on the staff of President Lyndon B. Johnson's White House in Washington and in Austin, Texas. Hardesty now is press secretary to Texas Gov. Don Rickard. Johnson is executive editor of the Dallas Times Herald. This story was made available to The Associated Press.

By ROBERT HARDESTY And TOM JOHNSON

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—President Lyndon B. Johnson seldom spoke in his retirement years of the Kennedy assassination. "It was a nightmare," he once said. "I don't even like to think about it."

But on at least two occasions during his four years after leaving the White House, Johnson did focus on those tragic events in Dallas 10 years ago.

His first reflections with his staff came when he began working on his memoirs in 1969, and the second time when he began preparations for a CBS television interview with Walter Cronkite the same year.

take care of as best I could. I had decisions to make, not knowing if we were in the middle of a conspiracy to kill the top echelon of government. "I had a nation that needed to know that its government was not in a state of paralysis. So perhaps some of the cities were overlooked. I don't know."

"My memory differs on certain points from so many others. I really do not really remember the recent polls had intended to be. I understood the grief, for it was my grief too."

JOB TO DO

"But I had a job to do—the most difficult job in the world—and it would not wait a week or a day or even an hour."

President Johnson spoke on several occasions about having to act "to prevent a national tragedy from becoming a national crisis."

To the then-vice president of the Lincoln convert-riding in the Lincoln convert-able with Mrs. Johnson and Sen. Ralph Yarborough, the assassination itself was surrounded by a beautiful day, and the crowds of along the motorcade route were enthusiastic.

"At first, as we left the populated areas the crowds recall, however, that Mrs. Johnson and I and Sen. Yarborough commented upon the wishes of the crowd. As we drove closer to town, the crowds became quite large. I remember thinking that President Kennedy was obviously more popular with the people than the recent polls had indicated."

"We made several stops as a result of stops by the automobiles ahead of us. I did not get out of the car, but on occasion people broke from the crowd and ran over and I shook hands with them."

GO ZOOM

"Then we heard shots. It never occurred to me that it was an assassination or a killing. I just thought it was firecrackers or a car backfiring. I had heard these all my life. Any politician—any man in public life—gets used to that kind of a blur of confusion. It was the first time I knew there was anything unusual when the car lunged. My grandson, when he saw his nurse go off in a plane, used to say, 'Go zoom.' I never heard him say that but what I did remember was the way that car took off in Dallas. It zoomed. "And at the same time, this great big old boy from Georgia (Secret Service Agent Rufus Youngblood) who had been riding in the front seat said, 'DOWN...' and he got on top of me. I knew then this was no normal operation."

"And a voice came crackling over the radio system—'Let's get out of here.' I was still not clear about what was happening. I was bent down under the weight of agent Youngblood's body, toward Lady Bird and Sen. Yarborough, and I remember turning my head to make sure they were both down. They were. Agent Youngblood had seen to that."

HE'S GONE

Once the entourage arrived at Parkland Hospital, President Johnson said, "I was under orders from Youngblood all the way. In a situation like that, you don't question them. In this door... to the right... here. You follow them every step of the way. When they're good, they are the best you can find."

"Those moments in the hospital were, of course, pure agony. First there was the news that both President Kennedy and Gov. Connally had been shot. Then the sharp and painful concern for Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Connally."

"And then, the simple, wrenching few words spoken by Kenney O'Donnell about the President: 'He's gone.'"

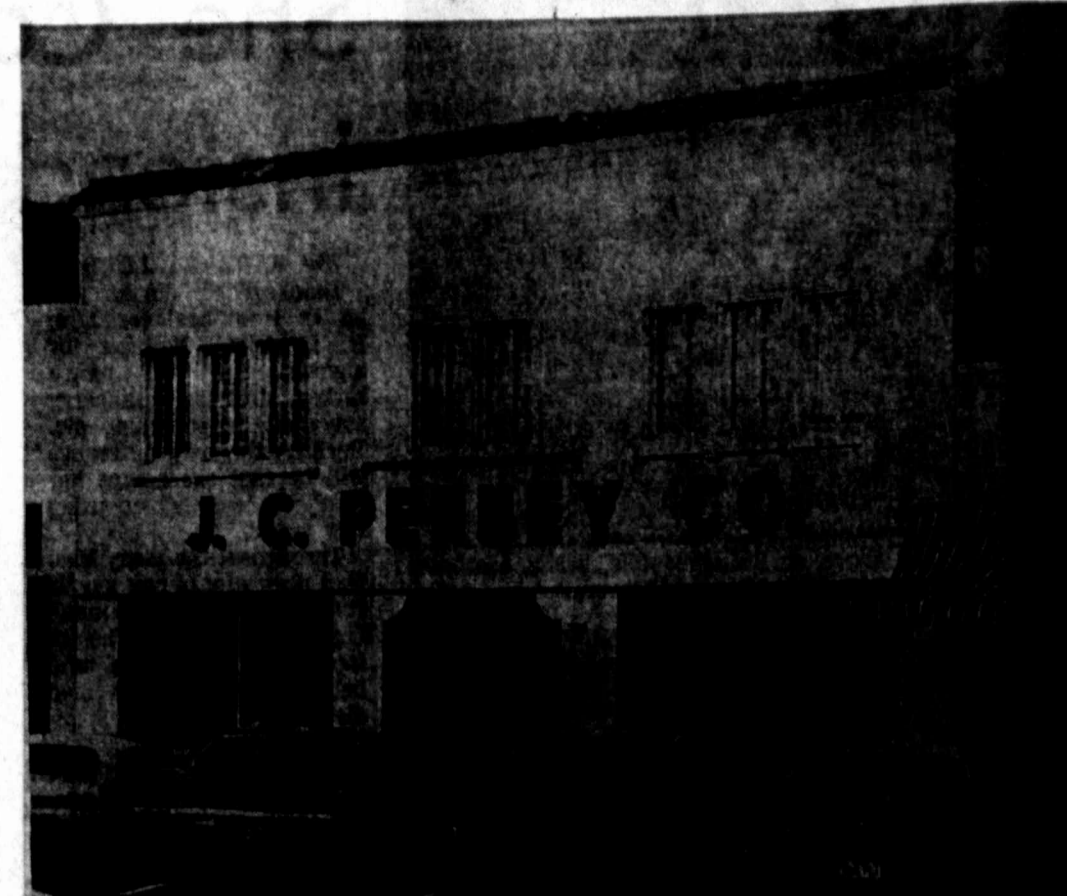

"I found it hard to believe that this had happened," President Johnson later related to his aides. "The whole thing was unreal-unbelievable."

"A few hours earlier I had had breakfast with John Kennedy—he was alive, strong, vigorous. He had been looking to the future with confidence, and the last words he ever spoke to me were: 'We're going to carry two states next year, if we don't carry any others—Massachusetts and Texas.' I could not believe that he was dead. I was shocked and sickened."

But before the full impact of the tragedy could sink in, there was work to be done and decisions to be made. President Johnson was up to it.

"If you don't lose your head," he once said, "a crisis infuses you with almost superhuman energy."

There was uncertainty, too. Nobody knew at that moment the extent of the assassination plot, or even if it was a plot. No one at that point knew who had pulled the trigger or why. What were President John-

PART OF SCENE FOR MANY YEARS — J. C. Penney Co., located in downtown Big Spring, has been part of the Big Spring business community for many years. The firms employees gear themselves for a heavy volume of business at Christmas time, because it stocks a wide variety of items, from wearing apparel to bed linens, towels, etc.

RUINED HIM

On those occasions, his memory was clear and sharp. But it obviously pained him to talk about it. He postponed interviews and discussions as long as he could.

The morning of his Cronkite interview, while the film crew set up their cameras in a guest house at The LBJ Ranch, Johnson paced nervously in his bedroom. He stopped and said to one of his aides, "do you know how many times I have been interviewed on television during my career? I couldn't count them. But do you know something? I am as nervous as I have ever been in my life."

To reconstruct the events of the assassination, he asked his staff to assemble all of the available material. This included notes taken by his staff during and after Nov. 22, 1963. He referred to Mrs. Johnson's diary, to the notes and memories of persons with whom he talked during those years, to his testimony before the Warren Commission and to the records and files of the Warren Commission which were available to him in his own White House files.

MEMORIES

But those who worked with him closest during those sessions felt that the best resource available was President Johnson's own memories—and his memory almost invariably could be documented.

The President's staff interviewed him several times for his recollections in order to work with him on drafts for "Vantage Point," his memoirs, and for the CBS-TV program.

For President Johnson, the painful memories of Dallas were not limited to the assassination or to Mrs. Kennedy's grief. In the months which followed, some former Kennedy staff members were quoted as saying the new President took charge too abruptly in Dallas and acted insensitively toward Mrs. Kennedy and other staffers.

Such accusations troubled him, particularly in view of the fact he believed he did everything he could to keep the Kennedy team intact in the early days.

"There were many who said that a major mistake in my White House years was keeping on so many of the Kennedy people who really did not care for me or my programs," President Johnson later noted. "But I felt a responsibility to President Kennedy and to his family and staff. I needed them, too. There were men like Dean Rusk and Bob McNamara and Larry O'Brien who put their country first. I always will be grateful for them. But others could not—understandably—transfer their loyalties to me."

RESPECT

"President Kennedy liked me, I believe, and I believe he respected me as vice president. I think he felt that the vice presidential job was basically terrible. He gave me important responsibilities in the areas of space, equal employment opportunities and diplomacy."

"Others on the Kennedy White House staff felt differently toward me. Being vice president was difficult for me, as I guess it had been for most who have served in that office."

"Staffs have a way of coming between a President and a vice president," he observed.

Concerning his actions immediately after the assassination, President Johnson reflected: "I did not have the benefit of months of leisurely retrospect to consider what I might have done. I could not allow the tide of grief to overwhelm me or immobilize me. I was a man in trouble, leading a country in trouble—in a world that is never more than minutes away from catastrophe."

STUNNED

"Like everyone else, I was stunned and saddened. My President—a man whom I loved and had been proud to serve—had been killed before my own eyes, in my own state. "I had a widow to console, 10

Dallas. "Many questions about the motives were unanswered when Oswald was slain," he once commented.

He did tell Walter Cronkite in his 1969 interview he did not think we would ever know the full story of what happened in Dallas.

There were moments when he wondered if there was any tie-in with Cuba.

On those occasions, his memory was clear and sharp. But it obviously pained him to talk about it. He postponed interviews and discussions as long as he could.

IF LOSES COURT FIGHT
 Fugitive Prepares Haven In Argentina

NEW YORK (AP) — Fugitive New Jersey firm which he financier Robert L. Vesco has merely headed of $30,000 prepared a haven in Argentina. He left New York about nine months ago after the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission filed a civil suit charging that he and associates looted $224 million from four mutual funds.

Vesco also was indicted along with former Cabinet officers John N. Mitchell and Maurice H. Stans in connection with a secret $200,000 contribution he made to President Nixon's re-election campaign, allegedly in an effort to suppress the SEC suit.

TURNUED DOWN
 Vesco also had been assured by Argentina that any future U.S. request to extradite him from Argentina would be denied, the newspaper said.

The article said Vesco obtained the Argentine assurances on a flying trip to Buenos Aires late last month, accompanied by Jose Marti Figueres, son of Costa Rica's president. Vesco has invested heavily in Costa Rica.

In Buenos Aires, an Interior Ministry source said today Vesco went there secretly about a month ago to solicit a visa but was turned down when his background was checked.

There was no immediate comment from Vesco or his attorneys in the Bahamas.

Present Award To Martha Raye

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Entertainer Martha Raye has received the Screen Actors Guild Award for outstanding achievement in fostering the "finest ideals of the acting profession."

Actor Dennis Weaver, the guild president, presented the award to Miss Raye in ceremonies at the Hollywood Palladium. Weaver said of Miss Raye: "With unselfish dedication, many times at the neglect of her own career, she has trudged the deserts of North Africa and the jungles of Vietnam. She has endeared herself to people around the world as well as countless men and women in uniform whom she has not only entertained but nursed when the need arose."

Garland Laws
 Rub Parlors Wrong Way

GARLAND, Tex. (AP) — Directors of massage parlors in this North Texas city claim a city ordinance regulating their activities is not only "unconstitutional" but unpatriotic as well in view of the recent presidential calls to save energy.

For instance, they said in a federal suit filed against the city, is the requirement for three 100-watt lights illuminating any room where a massage is being performed.

The lighting regulations, the Texas Association of Massage Parlors alleged in its suit, "would be in violation of the spirit of the presidential proclamation regarding saving of utility and fuel expenses."

The Association also complained of regulations requiring that employees be fingerprinted, photographed and questioned about personal and private information, and a requirement dealing with the way they should be dressed.

City attorneys said similar information is not required normally of other businesses. "But then this (massage parlors) is not exactly a normal type of business," City Atty. Bob Young said.

What To Do While Holding The Phone

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP TV Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Gary Owens, known to millions as the hand-to-ear announcer on "Laugh-In," is a man of many parts. The author part was in town the other day to discuss literary matters.

The matter was his third book. It concerns what to do while holding the phone. One suggestion: "Write a 10,000 word essay on why Vincent Van Gogh would not have enjoyed stereo."

WRONG NOMER?
The 119-page volume also has many historical facts about phones, but Owens forgot to talk about them. In fact, he forgot to talk about the book because other matters came up.

Most people think of Owens — a slender, vaguely professorial native of Mitchell, S.D. — as America's weirdest announcer because of "Laugh-In," which NBC cancelled this year after six seasons.

But he insists: "I'm not really an announcer. It's a misnomer."

Finding the right nomer is hard. He's an actor, with some 50 other TV shows in his log-book. He's a voice on TV cartoons and on the 400 or so radio and TV commercials he estimates he does in a year. He also writes and has made five comedy albums.

On top of all that, he's a top-rated disc jockey at KMPC in Los Angeles, a city where he and deejays like him emit the wildest, funniest brand of humor heard anywhere in the United States.

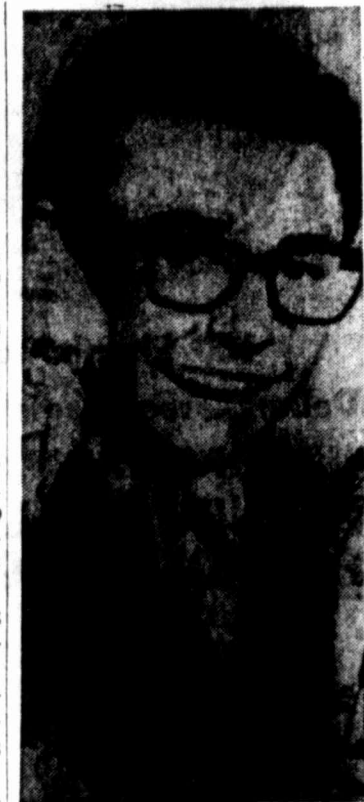

Owens said he got his "Laugh-In" job in a strange way.

He and George Schlatter, then head of the show, were lunching one day at a Burbank restaurant near the "Laugh-In" headquarters.

KEEP IT
They went into the bathroom to wash up. Owens, noticing how their voices bounced off the tiles, cupped a hand to his ear like an old-style radio announcer and intoned: "My, the acoustics are good in here."

Whereupon, he said, "Schlatter says, 'Oh, hey, keep that in.' And I said, 'What you want me to wash my hands on the show?'"

"I retained that one character throughout the show," he said, cupping a hand to his ear. "I came on like a 1930s announcer and said things like:

(AP WIREPHOTO)
GARY OWENS

The Eiffel Tower in Paris, France, is not really made of Eiffel after all."

Owens, who began as a disc jockey in Omaha, disclosed that his career also has included a stint as a TV newscaster, a stunt that laid an egg because of a chicken suit.

He wore the chicken suit as host of a daytime kiddie show on TV back in 1957. Thirty minutes later, he'd show up again on the air in a business suit, doing five minutes of news.

After the kiddie show one day, he stopped to talk and lost track of time. Suddenly, he had only three minutes before his news show and there he was, still in his chicken suit.

"There wasn't time to change, so I go on, with my beak and feathers, and I say, 'Good afternoon. Federal mediators on Capitol Hill today ...' The manager said I'd set news back 100 years."

Dancer Dies

The Entering Wedge

Whatever else may flow from the most recent Arab-Israeli war, it did provide confirmation for the Soviet Union of how slender a reed the NATO alliance has become.

The United States was given precious little encouragement and no active support in its effort to counter Soviet aid to the Arabs with its own assistance to Israel. Nor did our NATO allies assist in obtaining an acceptable cease-fire, one that did not require or allow Soviet and U.S. intervention.

The reason is simple: Oil. The Middle East oil supply is vital to the nations of Western Europe and to Japan. Rather than risk drying up of their supplies of Arab oil, our allies are quite willing to let the United States go it alone in pursuit of a policy not to the Arabs' liking.

What this portends for the future is disturbing. The Soviet Union almost certainly emerges from the recent conflict with greater influence in the Middle East. It was quick to support the Arabs; there is strong suspicion it encouraged the Arab attack on Israel to take place. The Arabs, furthermore, must look to the Soviet Union now for economic and military help in restoring their losses.

By contrast, our influence is lessened, certainly with the Arabs and perhaps even with Israel. Some Israelis are irked at this nation's cooperation with the Soviet Union in obtaining a cease-fire after the Israelis gained the upper hand militarily, preventing them from achieving their objective of destroying the Egyptian and Syrian armies.

If, as seems likely, the Arab states become more dependent upon and grateful to the Soviet Union, that will place Western Europe and Japan in the position of having to placate the Soviet Union to some degree to insure their rights to Middle East oil. In other words, the wedge between the United States and its NATO allies the Soviet Union has hoped to drive since the beginning of the Cold War seems dangerously near at least an entrance. And we may not be able to do much about it except talk.

A Day Of Thanks

It still is a hopeful sign that we at least pause officially for one day of Thanksgiving. That, alas, doesn't necessarily mean that everyone, or even a substantial part of our people, will pause to give thanks sincerely for all the blessings that have been and continue to be ours. But it does mean that we still have the grace to acknowledge the propriety of thankfulness. For when we lose the capacity for thankfulness, we lose our humility. When we lose our humility, we become calloused, and then cynical or arrogant. And when we become insensitive to needs of others or wholly consumed by self-interest, we have missed completely the mark of humanity.

My

Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

Is it wrong to dearly love your family, your new home and furnishings, and your gardening? Is it wrong to dress well and teach your children good grooming? I thank God for all these blessings, but I feel so guilty at times because many people don't have all these things.

M.C. We've come a long way from the conditions of the "Plimoth Plantation" about which was written in 1647: "After the victuals were spent... they were only to rest on God's providence; at night not many times knowing where to have a bit of anything we next day. And so, as one well observed, had need to pray that God would give them their daily bread... Yet they bore these wants with great patience and allacrite of spirit."

The contrast between that poverty and our affluence is violent — yet nobody would suggest we go back to such privations. We do need, however, two things. First, the recognition that all the blessings of life come from God (see James 1:17). Secondly, the ability to hold possessions loosely, so that with or without them, our basic happiness and ultimate purpose in life is unaffected.

The book of Job is the story of an affluent man who loved God. Yet when his wealth, and even his family were taken away, he still had his integrity and his faith (see Job 13:15). Enjoy what things you have, and give generously to those in need. But above all, a Christian, be a good steward-manager, employing everything for the glory of God.

Winterizing Yourself

Hal Boyle

By ALTON BLAKESLEE (Contributing Editor)

NEW YORK (AP) — With the fuel shortage and predictions of severe cold in the months ahead, here are some scientific tips to winterize yourself for health and comfort.

—Wear loose clothing, creating an insulating layer of air between the skin and clothes. Layers of clothing can be added or removed as necessary.

—For a bit of extra warmth, put your coat over a warm radiator before going outdoors.

This could help not because the coat is warm, but because it is dry. It will soak up moisture from the outdoor air, and gam heat. This is reverse evaporation. The coat won't feel wet, because the moisture is taken up inside the fibers of cloth.

A heavy suit and coat, well dried out, will generate as much heat in a short time this way as your body normally produces in an hour or two, by one estimate.

—Keep house temperature under 70. A good deal of research shows the 65 to 70 range is best for a feeling of well-being.

—The recommended bedroom temperature is 50 to 65 degrees. In some tests, volunteers said they felt more refreshed after sleep in that range rather than warmer or colder rooms.

Opening windows wide so the bedroom temperature drops to 30 to 40 degrees doesn't bring any additional benefit. And it takes more fuel to warm up the room during the day.

—Keep relative humidity in the room around 50 per cent. Volunteers said they felt better and functioned better at middle humidity.

—Food is your fuel for body heat. Protein and fat are turned into heat fairly quickly, so meals containing large amounts of them can be helpful during severe cold spells.

—You also produce heat by physical activity and exercise. But don't overdo it if you're not used to it.

He Had The Gout

Robert E. Ford

Fellow called up on Mr. Alexander Gram Bell's invention the other day looking for sympathy.

HE PUNCTUATED each sentence with an "O-ww," or an "Oh-h-ooo," or a simple piercing scream.

"What you need is someone to come out there and swat that big toe," he was told.

He shrieked. He cried a little. The mere thought, imparted from 10 miles away that anyone would touch his toe, sent him into hysterics.

What he had was gout.

At this point everyone is supposed to break up in hilarity.

"How can you live so high on your salary?" Jibes are endless.

But only from the goutless.

It is the unfunniest ailment known to man.

GOUT, by old wives' tales, is caused by high living. This is because the best-known cases occurred in emperors, courtiers and other wealthy and noted persons who ate and drank the best.

Yet one doctor insists that his patients stop eating pinto beans, navy beans, liver and spinach.

Gout more often than not strikes a big toe or a thumb, which may swell up several times its normal size and turn red as a beet, decorated with white streaks.

It also occurs in any joint and even the ear, nose and throat.

The pain is unbelievable. Know one doctor who uses morphine, strongest of the drugs, for relief. A victim can't even stand a sheet to touch the afflicted part.

The Roman Emperor Agrippa killed himself rather than suffer another attack.

Gout sufferers have their own way of slamming back at the goutless.

They will be quick to tell you that gout strikes only the intelligent.

UNTIL RECENTLY, this was considered another old wives' story, probably thought up by the gouty in self-defense because they have plenty of time to think. All they can do is sit, suffer and dream up counter-attacks against the jokers.

Recent scientific facts support and add to that.

of Beaumont in his book, "Gout and the Gouty," declared that the average gout victim is not only intelligent but is dynamic and an achiever and in the prime of life.

The theory is that the body chemistry which produces gout also stimulates the brain.

So strange is gout, however, that it also occurs in babies.

Dr. Smith was a skin specialist until gout struck him without warning — as it does all sufferers. Then he became an outstanding gout specialist.

HE ESTIMATES there are 750,000 gouty in the United States, 95 per cent of them males.

Gout has many disguises: Sprains, infection, or rheumatoid arthritis. It is called "the great mimic."

A survey showed the average time required for a correct diagnosis from the first attack is 8.8 years.

But a gouty doctor like Dr. Smith can spot it in a minute.

Or most times. There are laboratory tests that virtually prove it if the doctor makes them.

THEN THERE is a medicine, colchicine, that if you take it and get well then you had the gout.

Colchicine has a strange history. Mummies have shown that gout existed since the dawn of man — severe cases affect the bones.

And a plain old herb remedy, colchicum of which colchicine is a refinement, has been known as the cure as far back as the Egyptian Middle Kingdom, or 4,000 years ago.

Doctors still don't know how the medicine works. They haven't been able to improve on colchicine much, either.

COLCHICINE fell out of favor in the 1700s because it made the patient sick until the patient, and only the patient, could determine the proper dose for himself by experiment.

So pat Ben Franklin on the head again. Ben had the gout so bad when he was ambassador to France that he couldn't walk up the steps to Versailles.

Some character whispered to Ben that a little colchicum or colchicine would cure him if he didn't mind being sick.

The Dumping Syndrome

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My problem has been diagnosed as the "dumping syndrome." Can you give me any information on diet, etc? — R.D.P.

This is a distressing problem which can develop after part of the stomach has been removed — including the muscle that controls the outlet of the stomach. The result is a rush of food into the small intestine. It is "dumped" into the gut.

Since it does not remain in the stomach long enough for the stomach to do its assigned chores in digestion, the result is diarrhea, sweating, weakness, giddiness, nausea, sometimes heart palpitation.

Diet is the primary although not entire treatment. Small, frequent meals that are high in protein and low in carbohydrates (starchy foods and sugar) are the best answer. Fluids should be taken only with meals, to retard the "dumping" speed.

Medication usually is given to slow down the motility (activity) of the stomach. Occasionally additional surgery is required.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Enclosed is 20 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for your booklet, "How To Control Emphysema."

Also could you tell me where to send money to an emphysema fund in someone's memory Mrs. A.N.

The TB Association — which now has changed its name — has been extremely active and effective in combatting emphysema, so I would suggest sending such a contribution to the American Lung Association, 1740 Broadway, New York, N.Y. 10019. Or, better still, you have a local branch in your own community.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband has burstitis in his arm. Although he has had treatments for it, but he still has it.

Does this mean you have too much or not enough calcium in your body? Is heat good for it? What diet is good for it?

Mrs. W.O. The amount of calcium in the system has nothing to do with stubborn burstitis. This is a condition where the bursa, the tiny sac between the tendon and the bone of the joint, becomes inflamed.

Continued use of the joint could be a factor. Diet has no effect. Too often, the need for rest is ignored in chronic cases.

Hot, wet compresses applied periodically are effective and, in more serious cases, injection of hydrocortisone is required.

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

Holidays, for some reason, bring nostalgic memories. We can all get bogged down in sympathy very easily around Thanksgiving time.

This is fine and good for the soul, but my own Thanksgivings have included some very hilarious occasions.

Last year, I wrote about the Thanksgiving that I set my house on fire, as I was taking the turkey out of the oven, so I will not dwell on that one.

ANOTHER FUNNY Thanksgiving at my house was the first time I had to prepare the old Thanksgiving dinner without the help of Grandma.

The girls were 4 and 2 that year and I just knew that it was going to be a glorious occasion. I studied cook books for weeks and worked for days getting everything in preparation. It all turned out great and the table was loaded down with turkey, dressing, many vegetables, fruit salad, hot rolls, assorted relishes, two kinds of pie and a fruitcake.

I was really proud of myself and got carried away and got out the best china, fixed a centerpiece, lit the candles and sat down to await the comments of the children, who were used to eating in a hurry off the kitchen table.

We had the blessing, lit the candles, sat down and awaited the girls' comment. None was forthcoming from the oldest but the two year old surveyed the table calmly from one end to the other, looked me firmly in the eye and said, "Please pass the pickles."

In our family, we have names for our Thanksgivings, such as the year of the fire, the year of the pickle, and the year we had to eat in the cafeteria... just to mention a few.

BUT THERE'S another Thanksgiving that I recall with good humor. It was in the middle of World War II and gas rationing. I was in a small college where football had been cancelled for the duration. We very rarely traveled far out of town because there was no gas, and we went to classes on Thanksgiving Day because nobody had any gas to get home anyway.

One of the girls in the dormitory had her parents top the day before Thanksgiving with a surprise. They had two extra tickets to the Texas-A&M game and gas enough to get there.

Her roommate did not want to go. So she told my roommate and I that one of us could go. Her Dad was pacing in the foyer. My roommate said, "I'd have to call mother and ask."

The impatient Dad said, "Margie, do you have to call and ask?" "No," I said firmly, "Let's go." And we did. There were six of us. The parents, their son and a friend and their daughter and I.

The father bought big Texas Aggie mums. It didn't matter which side we were rooting for, because we were thrilled to death to even get to a college football game.

SOMEHOW, the father had saved up gas tickets, money enough for motel rooms, a big steak supper, flowers and the whole works. No other college game will again be as exciting as that one.

It was a fantastic Thanksgiving Day. And if we get back into gas rationing, another generation may get to find out how thankful you can be for a trip any place when you haven't gotten to go anywhere in months.

Thanksgivings can be glorious, but they can also be hilarious. And I'm thankful that they can be humorous, happy and wonderful in a free America.

The Press Parley

William F. Buckley Jr.

Richard Nixon did very well the other night in his meeting with the managing editors, and one wonders why, beseeching their attention now, and that of the newspapers he continues to charge with neglect, he has performed so stangely in the past season. After all, it was the decision of Mr. Nixon — not of the newspapers — to hold no press conferences over a period of five months. He cannot reason maintain that the lateness in getting out the explanations he now vouchsafes us is the fault of the press.

HE TOLD us on Saturday, for example, that he had made a notation in his diary of the content of his conversation with John Mitchell on June 20. This datum became extremely important after it was revealed that the conversation with Mitchell hadn't been taped. Why hadn't it been taped? Because the conversation had been over the telephone in Mr. Nixon's family quarters in the White House, and that telephone is not monitored.

The kind of thing that people start asking themselves is a) since Mr. Nixon kept a diary, why didn't he proffer the contents of it, as regards the conversation with Mr. Mitchell, months and months ago and b) why didn't Mr. Nixon divulge months ago that the public should not expect that all his conversations were recorded, that there were exceptions that his conversations from his living quarters — in the white House, in Camp David, in Key Biscayne, in San Clemente — were not recorded.

STILL, MR. NIXON was effective. He handled extremely well the whole income tax business. It was perhaps a little sly to record that it was Lyndon Johnson who had called to his attention that his vice presidential papers had tax deductible value. It is remarkable that it should have required Lyndon Johnson to communicate this datum to a lawyer worth $250,000 per year on the open market. No, of course Mr. Nixon knew they had value, and he was perfectly within his right to take the deduction. He took the opportunity not only to remind the public that Lyndon Johnson, a Democrat, did the same thing, but to give a quick run-down on his own financial history, which by political standards is snow-white. Those who, in their greed to think ill of Richard Nixon, think of him as commercially gluttonous, cannot begin to understand this complex man.

AS PRESIDENT, Mr. Nixon, without apparent embarrassment, has gone along with the usual relaxed precedents on swimming pools and that kind of thing. But hardly in the tradition of the systematic profiteers of public office, supreme among them being, surely, FDR, who contrived during his presidency the most regal arrangement in American history, endowing the people with his private home during his lifetime, on the stipulation that the care of it would be taken by the federal government. Nixon has been victimized by a crystallizing resentment of imperial presidential habits, and I happen to be glad that that resentment is crystallizing, while aware that it is unreasonable to expect standards of performance by the incumbent that are sharply and puritanically at variance with those of his predecessors.

POOR MR. NIXON. He is driven to such ignominious lengths. He must stand up again like the 39-year-old junior senator from California 21 years ago, and discuss his personal wealth. He had to tell us how much money he got from selling his New York apartment, now much from the publication of his book, how much from clients in behalf of whom he practiced law. He was driven to saying that if he had wanted to make money he would not have run for president, an embarrassing unsatisfactory statement inasmuch as most people feel that power is a satisfaction as complete as money; else why do people spend many times as much as they will earn in office, in order to attain office?

AND THEN there was the amusing anxiety of Mr. Nixon to get into the business of why he had raised milk parities. He was, in my judgment, clearly exonerated on this point, and indeed I made the same case in this column, a year ago. Why did he wait so long to make the points in his own defense. His performance somehow brings to mind the wry comment theologian George Tyrrell made a half century ago in his feud with the Jesuits. "The Jesuits," he wrote, "score off the exaggerations of their opponents. Accuse them of murdering three men and a dog, and they will triumphantly produce the dog alive."

Lyric Resisted Yuma Burglars

Y U M A, Ariz. (AP) — Nothing seemed to go right for burglars who broke into the Lyric Theater here.

First the burglars were unable to open the safe, although causing $200 dollars damage to the metal box.

They were unable to enter the projection booth, after breaking a key in the lock.

But they managed to break into a gum machine. However, the machine had been empty for several weeks and there was no money inside.

A Devotion For Today..

Whether we are Jews or Greeks, whether slaves or free men, ... one Holy Spirit was poured out for all of us to drink. (1 Corinthians 12:13)

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, teach us a humble thankfulness free from gloating, and help us test our lives by Thy spirit. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

Woodblocks, a Raggedy Ann doll, a toy phone, train set and a hardwood tool bench. These toys may look like history, but they're all a part of a Christmas catalog which has been the wishbook of children for many generations. The toys, like thirties clothes, antique furniture and Tiffany lamps, are enjoying a replay in popularity.

LOOKING BACK
"Parents today are choosing toys for their children that are almost nostalgic and represent a look back to their own childhoods," says T. R. Coble, Sears national merchandise manager for toys.

The 1973 Sears catalog features page after page of such toys. There's a large selection of natural hardwood toys. Of course, some of the wood toys represent updates on old models. Instead of a truck, there's a camper van and a sports car. There are fewer battery-powered and electrical toys.

"The less complicated a toy, the more room for a child to use his own imagination and creative potential," says Coble. "A child can do a million things with a bag of wood blocks — build a bridge, a car, a train, or create a person. The only limits on the toy are his imagination. They will keep him busy for hours."

The wood blocks are part of a Little Learners toy collection designed by educators to teach children basic skills as they have fun. The collection also includes other toys that most parents will remember, like a railroad set (this one comes with its own city, too), a doctor and nurse kits and a toy phone, updated to talk back in English or Spanish!

Also appearing in the Christmas catalog are two other toy collections with toys that have been children's favorites in years before as well as some new additions. The Wonder of Growing age-graded collection has expanded. Here again, the accent is on simple, safe toys with creative possibilities. There's the Elephone, a soft, plush elephant with a trunk that holds a telephone receiver and a plastic numbered dial that turns and rings to encourage a child's interest in imitating sounds. For the infants, crib mobiles to help him develop eye control on moving changing objects, and plastic and fabric rattles.

allow them to use their imaginations more freely. "The day of the complicated gimmicky toy is long past," says Coble. "Today's child needs just a few toys that are fun to play with and count on his own creativity for play value."

Mayors Must Go To School If...

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Degrading or not, mayors in Pennsylvania are going to attend driver improvement school if they accumulate six points for violating traffic laws, say the state police. The mayors adopted a resolution during their annual Pennsylvania League of Cities meeting last month asking that they be excused from such classes. The 25 mayors who adopted the resolution said the classes are "degrading" for elected officials.

City Of Forsan Approves Elderly's Tax Exemption

FORSAN — The Forsan City Council has approved the $3,000 homestead tax exemption for senior citizens effective next year. "There'll be some of these people who won't pay any taxes at all, as far as the city," said Mayor C. J. (Jack) Lamb. He estimated the tax exemption will reduce tax revenue by around $500.

"We're not going to raise taxes this year," the mayor said, noting a need for more money. The audit accepted at the meeting showed the city spent $11,311 and received $12,635 in the fiscal year ending in September. Mayor Lamb said it was "unusual" to end up with a surplus.

Spring certified public accountant, prepared the audit. Forsan has paid all its bonded indebtedness and is waiting for approval of a grant before issuing $65,000 in bonds for a sewer system. Mayor Lamb plans to find out the status of Forsan's application for funds when he meets with the Texas Water Quality Board in Austin Dec. 17.

Real Poinsettias Are Traditional

The traditional holiday favorite, of course, is the stately, luxurious poinsettia. Pairs of these lovely plants, with red and white flowers, make a happy holiday combination. Kept out of drafts, in temperatures between 60 and 75 degrees, and given filtered sunlight, they will bloom throughout the holidays. It's important too, that the plants be in red clay pots that will drain off excess moisture from over-watering. Another plant rapidly growing in popularity for Christmas giving is the Norfolk Island Pine. This symmetrical pine has a dignity uncommon to pine and does well as house plant.

SANTA'S REFUELING STATION — Santa's hunger pangs can always be satisfied at Foodway, located at 2602 Gregg Street in the Coronado Shopping Center. Those planning Christmas dinners can use this as a one-stop store, since Foodway lays in a supply of everything needed to fill out the Christmas menu.

Wife Of Judge Illegally Sentenced To 150 Days?

AUSTIN (AP) — The wife of Duval County Judge Archer Parr was illegally sentenced to 150 days in jail for contempt of court, her lawyer told the Texas Supreme Court Wednesday.

Jody Martin Parr drew the sentence on Oct. 31 and served three days in jail before the high court ordered her released on $10,000 bond.

Mrs. Parr sued for divorce in June. Her husband filed for divorce the next month. In a separate action filed by the State Bank of San Diego, Texas, on notes executed by Judge Parr, a receiver was appointed for all property owned by the Parris.

ASSAULTED

The receiver went to a Corpus Christi townhouse in September and allegedly was assaulted by Mrs. Parr.

A trial court judge in Duval County held her in contempt on Oct. 19 for disposing of some diamonds after the appointment of the receiver. She was sentenced to 90 days but was given a week in which to "purge herself of the contempt" by turning over all her property to the receiver. No order committing her to jail was signed by the judge, however.

On Oct. 26, the time for the next hearing in the case was postponed to Oct. 31. On Oct. 29, she filed a petition in a federal bankruptcy court, and a federal receiver was appointed for the Parr property, but the order specifically provided that it had no effect on prior contempt orders by a state court.

CONTEMPT

Lee Mahoney, representing the Duval County sheriff, who had custody of Mrs. Parr, said the trial judge had found her in contempt on Oct. 19 but since he had not signed a commitment order the length of the sentence could be changed, particularly in view of her subsequent action in removing the property from state jurisdiction.

On Oct. 31, the state court judge said she had not only failed to purge herself of contempt but had by her voluntary act of filing in federal court made it impossible to purge herself of contempt. The judge without holding a new hearing, entered a new order sentencing her to 150 days in jail.

Larry Waits, Mrs. Parr's lawyer, told the high court the trial judge had no right to enter a new order increasing the penalty without holding a new hearing.

Mahoney was asked if there was any chance the Parris could reach a settlement without forcing the high court to rule. He said there was little chance of it "unless they realize the emotional strain they are going through will emotionally and financially bankrupt both of them."

The court gave both sides until Dec. 3 to file additional briefs in the case. Mrs. Parr was allowed to remain free on bond.

Tradition Scores Win Over Crisis

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The 799 light bulbs on the dome of California's Capitol blinked back to life as tradition scored a victory over the energy crisis.

Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke ordered the lights doused Nov. 13 as a symbol of leadership in energy conservation.

Leaders of the California Legislature overruled him by voting 11-0 to turn the lights back on Tuesday night.

It costs about 13 cents an hour to power the bulbs, most of them dim 10-watt, Capitol custodians said.

Faye's Flowers Features Open House This Week

Faye's Flowers, located at 1013 Gregg Street, will hold a special holiday open house from Nov. 23 through Nov. 27. The event is to introduce the special Christmas decorations which the store is offering this year for your selection.

Faye's always has fresh cut flowers, beautiful potted plants, healthy looking ivys, and a beautiful selection in special gifts including copper, sandalwood, crystal, imported figurines and many other unusual gifts.

As usual, they will offer the very brightest in holiday poinsettias, and Christmas flowers of all kinds. They will have wreaths, greenery, holly, candles and many special arrangements.

They know that most Big Spring housewives began to plan their Christmas decor as soon as Thanksgiving is over and they invite you to drop by during their open house starting the Friday after Thanksgiving and make your selections.

If you are wanting a really unusual Christmas gift, select one of Faye's nostalgia boxes or a useful gift such as a sewing basket filled with a special Christmas arrangement which can be removed after the holidays.

Or look first at their really live looking artificial trees before you pick a tree this year. They also have beautiful and unusual tree ornaments. Or a Christmas arrangement for the front door which might include a slate and chalk for a message or a bright traditional wreath.

There are table trees for in the home or Hospital. And candy dishes filled with peppermint. In the live plant section, they have red amaryllis or Christmas lilies. You have to see it all to believe it.

You'll be glad you did. Faye's has the real Yuletide spirit this season. Come by and see for yourself.

Shaklees Stress Health For The Coming Holidays

With the holiday season coming, good health is of the utmost importance, if you are planning to enjoy the season.

Shaklee Products claim as their motto, "Yesterday's tomorrow is a reality today."

The Shaklee company claims that the time is ripe for nature's products to replace chemical cleaners, artificial foods and synthetic skin treatments.

Everywhere we go with our product, we meet people with a need, according to Mrs. Lambert Misk. "These needs are supplied by Shaklee Products, L & R Misk Distributors, 2307 Lynn Drive, telephone 263-7276."

Shaklee's National Organic Food Vitamins and Instant Protein cooperate with nature in taking care of the body if the body is supplied with them.

These are rich, wholesome foods in concentrated form, palatable and energy builders, according to Forest C. Shaklee, Sr. M.D. and biochemist, who for over 30 years has developed these products. He firmly believes in their nutritional value.

Shaklee Products include Basic-H, the organic, non-polluting, phosphate-free, concentrated all purpose cleaner.

Shaklee Distributors hold skin care clinics to show potential customers how to care for their skin with Shaklee Beauty Aids. They also feature men's toiletries and many baby products.

Working with the Miskes as distributors here are Mr. and Mrs. Maxie Cole, 3311 11th Pl. phone 7-7668; Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Newcomer, 1808 Mittel, 3-4578; Sgt. and Mrs. Donald Manasco, 608 Settles, 3-6573 and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Newcomer, Ackerly, 333-4891.

Computer Newspapers

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The Federal Systems Division of International Business Machines has entered into an agreement with the Minneapolis and seven other newspaper organizations to develop a computer-operated, full-page makeup system.

The Dallas Morning News is one of the papers.

Makeup is the arranging of news articles, photos and advertisements on a page.

Otta A. Silha, Star and Tribune Co. president, said design and development of the test system will take about three years. He said the system is the first of its type and magnitude in the newspaper industry.

Another company spokesman said it is not known if the system will be installed by any of the newspapers.

The new joint effort by the eight organizations, called the Newspaper Systems Development Group, follows a feasibility study of more than two years by IBM and the newspapers.

The system will be designed so the entire contents of a newspaper can be fed into a computer and be made up in full-page form.

Other newspapers participating in the venture include the Atlanta Journal and Constitution (Cox Newspapers), Scripps-Howard Newspapers, the Washington Post, the Norfolk Ledger Star and Virginian-Pilot (Landmark Communications), Knight Newspapers, Inc., and the Toronto Star.

You Must Remember, Holly Berries Can Poison Dog

Deck your halls with boughs of holly, but make sure they're out of Bowser's biting range. Holly berries can poison a dog. Mistletoe can kiss him off too. If there's going to be a puppy under your tree this year, make plans for a very wary Christmas. Until he grows a bit, chewing is baby Bowser's favorite sport, and you can bet your bottom Christmas tree ornaments that he'll sample everything in sight during the Yuletide season. In fact, Christmas is an especially hazardous time for puppies, according to Bob Bartos, director of Friskies Research Kennels.

Glass ornaments, tinsel, and figures in your under-the-tree creche (a holy terrier in Pennsylvania wolfed down one Wise Man, Joseph and half an angel before anyone noticed) are just the kind of thing a puppy gulps now and regrets later. Exposed extension cords, which he loves to get his teeth into, may give him the shock of his life. Soft rubber, as found in many children's toys, tears easily and can stick to puppy's insides. Wooden and plastic toys can be chewed into splinters.

Your safest course is to clear the decks of all swallowable objects when puppy has the run of the house. And while you're at it, get rid of those tempting turkey bones; a little gnawing can make them as sharp as daggers. Even an older dog will go for leftover bones, so put them safely out of reach.

In spite of the fact that canine sales shoot up 50 per cent at Yuletide, Christmas day is not the best time to introduce a new puppy to your household, advises Bartos, author of (the paperback manual) "All About Puppies." Christmas morning chaos can be terrifying to the little fellow, and if his first day in new and strange surroundings is an exhausting and frightening experience, you could end up with a nervous pup on your hands.

If a puppy heads your family gift list, why not choose one ahead of time and make arrangements to pick him up after Christmas, when all is calm? You can still make his imminent arrival an exciting surprise on Christmas morning. Hang an extra stocking filled with a new collar, leash, doggy toys, and a stuffed dog peeking out. This is one way to make Christmas last longer. Puppy might last longer, too.

If such delaying tactics won't work, do keep puppy out of the Christmas hubbub as much as possible. Remind the children that he's not a toy. Handle him

Tax Forms Improved?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Improved income tax forms to make filing easier and faster have been announced by Internal Revenue Commissioner Donald C. Alexander.

And, Alexander urged employers Tuesday to distribute W2 withholding statements as early as possible to enable employees to file early. Taxpayers who file for refunds in January usually receive them within four to five weeks, while persons filing later may have to wait up to eight weeks because of the greater volume of returns being processed, Alexander said.

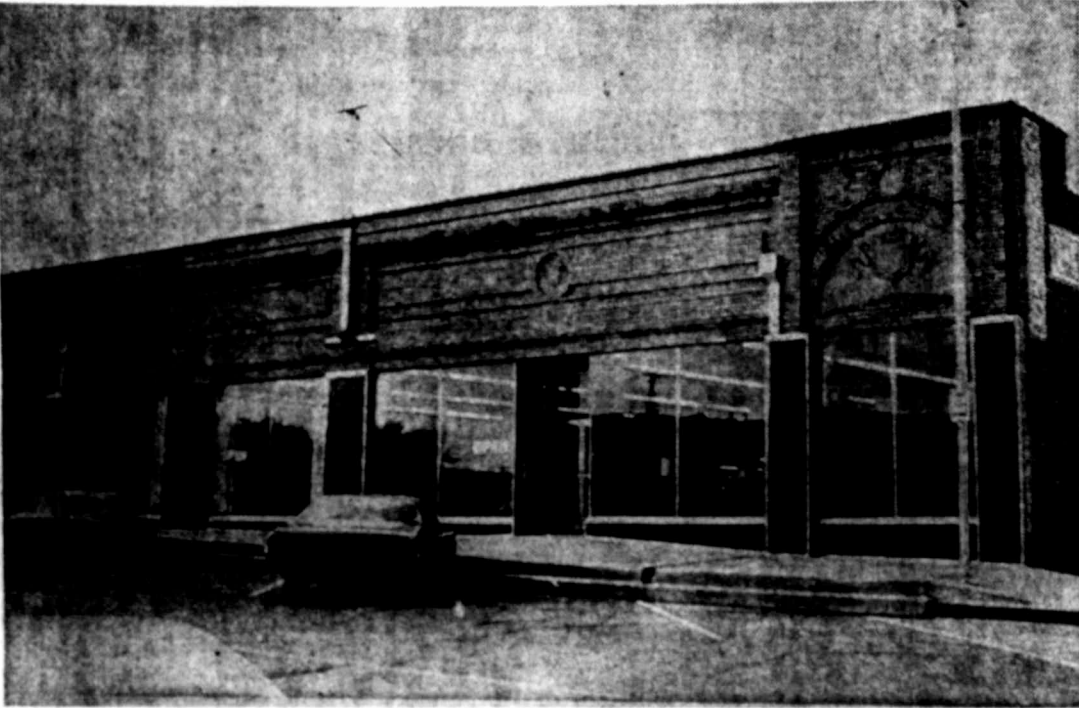

He noted that at any rate W2 forms generally must be distributed by Jan. 31.

Prosecution Relied Too Much On Bloody Knife As Evidence

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals reversed Wednesday the conviction and 99-year sentence assessed Raymond Schuenemann Jr. in Dallas County because, it said, the prosecution relied too much on a bloody knife as evidence even though it did not figure in the case. Schuenemann was convicted of burglarizing a young woman's apartment July 23, 1970, with the intent to commit rape. Court records show the woman arose nude from her bed after she heard a noise, and saw Schuenemann, with a butcher knife in his hand and one of her stockings over his head and face; She screamed, and he threatened to kill her if she screamed again. After they had talked and—his insistence—showed to the bloody knife as evidence was inadmissible since it had no connection with the offense for which the defendant was being tried. The judge overruled the objection.

The appeals court said the trial court erred in admitting the knife as evidence—that the prosecution stressed the knife during the trial. For example, in closing arguments, the prosecutor said, "We're allowed to tell you 11 months later, he (Schuenemann) was arrested with fresh blood all over him and another butcher knife in his trunk."

WIDE RANGE — Carter's Furniture, located at 204 Scurry Street, stocks a wide range of quality household goods. ## And Now, An Opportunity To Be For (Against) Fires

By OMAR BURLESON
 WASHINGTON, D. C. — A bill pending in the United States Senate calls for the establishment of a United States Fire Academy. This proposal sponsored by 20 Senators would put the federal government into the fire fighting business for the initial bargain-basement rate of $127.5 million over a three-year period.

As many such ideas come about, the recommendation was made by a commission. A report by the commission recommends that it be the policy of the federal government to create a bureaucracy of fire prevention and control based on 90 items it found to be needed. It concluded that while fire prevention and control is and should remain a state and local responsibility, the federal government must help if any significant reduction in fire losses is to be achieved.

Federal programs of one sort or another are often times found necessary because of "the indifference with which Americans confront the subject." In other words, people governing themselves at the local level are found by government bureaucracy to be unable to take care of themselves down to the proposition that they are indifferent to fire hazards. The Senate bill, like so many other proposals, seems to suggest that it is made necessary because the American people are not interested in preventing fires or putting them out when one occurs.

Among the purposes of the academy will be to establish a National data center, hold annual conferences, create relevant studies, have "citizens' participation programs," and demonstration projects. No inquiry has been made as to how this Commission came into being but obviously someone came up with the idea that a study should be made on this subject. Once made and recommendations produced, sponsors for legislation can be found. Very likely, it will end up with a bill which may have the appearance of either being for or against fires.

White Tail Deer Uniform In Size

Fully dressed white tail deer being brought in by hunters are weighing around 50 to 60 pounds, said Carl Knappe, operator and owner of a local commercial butcher shop for deer.

Field dressed, mule deer are registering at anywhere from 150 to 200 pounds. White tail deer are ranging from 70 to 100 pounds field dressed.

$1.50 A GALLON Corn Squeezins To Power Autos

LUFKIN, Tex. (AP) — The possibility of corn whisky being in the gas tank instead of behind the driver's wheel is under investigation by a pair of Lufkin High School teachers.

Whisky instead of gasoline? Sure. It performs better than gas and has a high octane, as any driver of a car knows, the teachers say.

The same optimism was expressed by Edward Smith, auto mechanics teacher.

The mixture of corn, water and sugar is being fermented and distilled by Mrs. Hill. The way she makes it, she says, it can't be consumed.

Smith got the idea from a study made by Southwestern Research Institute of San Antonio about 12 years ago for the State of Iowa.

The study showed better performance and more miles per gallon.

Mrs. Hill feels that the whisky would be "economically impractical" because of the cost of the ingredients.

Yet Smith says that with the growing shortage of fuel, the whisky cost may become competitive.

When the study was made 12 years ago, the cost of the fuel was 78 cents a gallon. With the rising cost of corn and sugar, it is estimated the fuel would cost $1.50 a gallon now.

Smith feels that with the rising price of gas and the growing scarcity, a motorist of the future may consider $1.50 a gallon a bargain.

Space Research Could Ease Crisis

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Werner von Braun, who helped guide the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to its success with moon flights, says Skylab research may help relieve the energy crisis.

The German-born scientist said super-conductive metals that could be developed as a result of Skylab experiments would make possible cross-country power lines able to carry large amounts of electricity without the power loss that is a problem with conventional lines.

Power plants then could be located far from the cities they serve, von Braun said.

TEXAS PRISON UNIT
Guards Beat Inmates To Force Harvest Of Corn

ANGLETON, Tex. (AP) — The June incident was the first time they had ever used force on prisoners.

RUBBER HOSES
"Warden Bobby L. Taylor told us to arm ourselves with ax handles and rubber hoses and take these men to work," Glenn testified. "Some inmates went to the field. Others refused. We used weapons to get these inmates to the field."

BASEBALL BATS
Lanham told the committee some of the convicts had to be carried to the field.

Glenn said the Sunday work had been ordered because the corn crop had to be harvested quickly.

The inmates said they were given no prior notice of the Sunday work and that Sunday is "an officially guaranteed day of rest from the fields."

The inmates told legislators who visited the unit shortly after the incident occurred that they were forced to run through a line of five to eight prison guards and officials armed with rubber hoses enclosed in steel mesh, ax handles and baseball bats.

The FBI investigated and urged "an immediate thorough, official investigation of this incident should be conducted by the elected and appointed, officials of the State of Texas."

Most People Count Yule Cards Postman Brings

If you're proud of the number of Christmas cards you and your family receive and count up the total year your secret is out.

According to a study by American Greetings Corporation about 56 per cent of American families take the trouble to count their cards, 47 per cent find a spot in the house to display them, and nearly a third keep the cards they receive until the following Christmas.

More than 95 per cent of all Americans send and receive Christmas cards, which adds up to a whopping 3.5 billion envelopes going through the U.S. postal system on an average each year.

Putting together the Christmas card list appears to be a pervasive activity around the holiday season, and about 17 per cent of American families the list may go over 100 names. About 25 per cent of those who send cards keep their list to between 25 and 50, about 28 per cent send out between 50 and 75 cards, and nearly 21 per cent send from 75 up to 100.

Most Christmas cards, says American Greetings, are selected by women alone, but in about 18 per cent of all families the choice is a joint one made by both husband and wife. Most selections are likely to be what the major card designer calls traditional, and about a third will be religious in tone.

About two-thirds of all families generally buy more than one card design, and for special people get specially selected designs.

Assassination Of Kennedy Called A 'Sheer Accident'

DALLAS (AP) — Change has affected all walks of life in the 10 years since the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. Here is a look at what has happened to some of the characters in the tragedy of Nov. 22, 1963 in Dallas:

Lyndon B. Johnson, Kennedy's successor, died of a heart attack on Jan. 22, 1973.

Marina Oswald, Russian-born wife of Lee Harvey Oswald, married Kenneth J. Porter, a sewing machine company employe, in 1964. They have a 7-year-old son and live in Rockwell, a rural area near Dallas, with Oswald's two daughters, June 12, and Rachel, 10.

Marguerite Oswald, Lee Harvey's mother, lives in Fort Worth, Tex., and still asserts that her son was innocent of the Kennedy murder.

John B. Connally, then the Texas governor who was wounded in the assassination, became secretary of the treasury and special adviser to President Nixon. He has switched to the Republican party and is considered a contender for the 1976 nomination.

Mrs. J. D. Tippit, widow of the Dallas policeman slain shortly after the assassination, married Harry D. Thomas, a Dallas police lieutenant, in 1967.

People from around the world donated money to the Tippit family after the assassination and in 1964 the Dallas Police Department reported the total at $656,391. There has been no further public accounting.

Sarah T. Hughes, the district court judge who administered the oath of office to Johnson, is 76 and holds the same federal judgeship.

Dr. Malcolm O. Perry, the surgeon who attended the dying president, still practices at Parkland Hospital and is now a full professor of surgery at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School.

William Wayne Whaley, who drove the taxicab carrying Oswald from downtown to his rooming house after the assassination, was killed in a traffic accident Dec. 18, 1965.

Earlene Roberts, Oswald's landlady, died of a heart attack Jan. 9, 1966.

president and the security chief of a downtown bank.

J. Gordon Shanklin remains as FBI agent-in-charge in Dallas.

Forrest V. Sorrels, agent-in-charge of the Dallas Secret Service office, retired about three years ago.

Police Capt. Will Fritz, chief interrogator of Oswald, is retired.

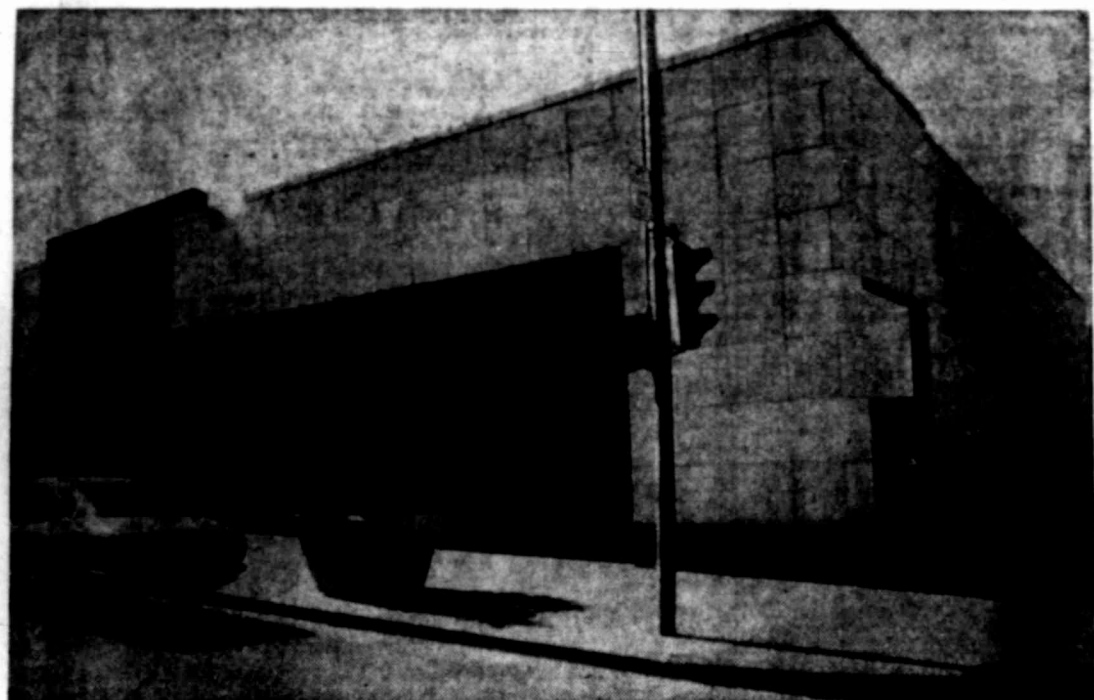

William Greer, driver of the Kennedy car on Nov. 22, received disability retirement from the Secret Service in 1966 because of an ulcer condition.

Patrolman M. N. McDonald, who grappled with Oswald in the Texas theatre and, with help of others arrested him, was promoted to detective and is still with the department.

Abraham Zapruder, the Dallas manufacturer who made the dramatic home movies of the assassination, died in August 1970, after a lingering illness.

God Comes First

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Clergymen here say there are better ways of combatting the energy shortage than forbidding Sunday driving, a move that would limit church attendance.

"God has to come first," said the Rev. Leon Ellis of the Southside Estates Church of God. "If we've not forsaken God, we've certainly ignored Him, and now we are paying some of the penalty."

There are no current government plans to ban Sunday driving, although an order forbidding service stations from being open on Sunday is considered likely in the fight against the energy crisis.

Atomic Power Seems Years Away In Texas

Editor's Note: Texas may be sitting on a lot of oil and gas, but that doesn't mean there can't be shortages. Nationwide lack of fuel can affect Texas, too. Then there's the big new hope, atomic power. How close is the state to having some?

By JIM BRIGANCE
Associated Press Writer

1901 when the Spindletop well near Beaumont gushed out the beginning of seven decades of wealth, luxury and ease.

But the winter of our discontent may come in January when the experts say the derricks of plenty will not be enough, plunging Texas and the nation into the morass of a serious energy shortage.

PLANS GALORE
But as Texas moves slower, grows dimmer and colder, a new cornucopia of energy can be seen but it's years away. It is atomic.

Atomic power for electric generating plants at several Texas locations will be too late to help in the immediate crisis.

Atomic plants already are operating at 31 points in America.

Power plants, which drink huge amounts of petroleum products, seem made for atomic fuel, thereby releasing oil and gas for other uses.

For years the sleeping nuclear giant has been lying there but few have tried to wake him.

Plans — tons of them — have been on the drawing boards for the past few years as it became more apparent even in Texas that sources of energy other than petroleum must be found.

TARGET DATE
Texas Utilities Co. TUC shipped 60 cubic feet of paperwork to the Atomic Energy Commission last summer describing a proposed nuclear power plant to generate energy for a broad area of North Texas, including the populous Dallas and Fort Worth area.

But President Nixon's recent appeal for stepped-up atomic measures won't have much affect.

"We still have to follow licensing procedures," said Ray Ward, a TUC spokesman. "The President has asked the AEC to speed up its licensing procedure but it's not likely to have any effect on our project since we still have so far to go with it. We still have a target date for operation set for 1980."

The AEC approved the preliminary report but called for more details.

Ward said, "three tons of operating, engineering and environmental studies" were shipped to Washington. Further AEC study could delay construction for a year.

The proposed Comanche Peak power plant near Glen Rose, Tex. some 35 miles southwest of Fort Worth would serve the area with two units, each generating 1.15 million kilowatts. It would account for four to five per cent of the total power needs by 1980 of about one-third of the state's population.

IS IT SAFE?
"Even after the plant is completed, the AEC will conduct further studies before issuing a permit to operate the plant," Ward said.

Similar nuclear generating plants are planned by Houston Lighting & Power Co. (HPL) in Austin County, by Gulf States Utility Co. of Beaumont near the Toledo Bend Reservoir, and by Central Power & Light Co. of Corpus with HPL near Bay City. It would serve Houston, Corpus Christi and the Austin-San Antonio areas.

But is it safe?
The answer is that nuclear reactors have been used for peace for years in Africa, Great Britain, Russia, Canada, India. They have even received acceptance in Japan where, better than any place, knows what destruction nuclear power can bring.

Besides the 31 plants in operation nationwide, another 60 are being built and 80 more are in the form of blueprints.

There is good news and bad news. Texas' late entry into the nuclear age makes it possible to avoid the mistakes of others who pioneered nuclear power plants.

BAD NEWS
The bad news is that cost estimates have tripled since 1960 and labor and materials costs and environmental concerns are growing.

Experts agree that a nuclear power plant cannot possibly produce a nuclear explosion.

But, on the other hand, there is the chance of dangerous

Business Good At San Quentin

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — Hopes of closing grim old San Quentin Prison have been abandoned, and its apple-green gas chamber is being kept in working order.

POPULATION UP
Less than two years ago, Gov. Ronald Reagan announced the infamous penitentiary overlooking San Francisco Bay would be shut by the end of 1974. In subsequent months, inmate population fell from 2,200 to 1,400.

But now the birds that found nests in the deserted five-story south cell block have been chased by a new wave of inmates. The population is approaching 3,000 and rising by 100 a week.

"Other places were getting overcrowded and here was a prison with a lot of empty beds," prison information officer Robert Nyberg said in an interview.

Nyberg said the number of inmates in California prisons is growing because the state parole board has adopted "a more rigorous policy" in refusing paroles and the courts are imposing more prison sentences on convicted criminals.

"There might be a few old-timers here who are glad we're staying open," Nyberg said. "But most people—prisoners and guards—would like to see the place closed."

DEATH ROW
He said the 122-year-old prison has very small cells, many of which will have to be shared by two inmates when the prison reaches its expected 3,800-man capacity early next year.

He said the two-seat octagonal gas chamber has been kept in working condition. It has been idle since 1967 while courts pondered the death penalty. The California Supreme Court ruled executions unconstitutional last year, but a new state law will reinstate them as of Jan. 1 for 11 crimes.

The former Death Row is being used to segregate trouble makers. Of the 107 men who awaited death there, many—including cult leader Charles Manson—have been transferred to other prisons. The rest, like Robert F. Kennedy's assassin, Sirhan B. Sirhan, remain in other areas of San Quentin.

San Quentin already has a long, bloody history, including the Aug. 21, 1971, violence in which three guards and three prisoners died, including black militant George Jackson.

Adults Join Youths In Playing Games

Playing games isn't "kid stuff" anymore.

For years children have monopolized the family gameboards while parents coached from the sidelines. Now parents are not only facing their youngsters across the same board, they're playing games of their own... especially mind-boggling ones like chess, backgammon and other sophisticated games that involve a higher degree of difficulty than children's games.

"A return to the home environment for entertainment has brought on a tremendous popularity in adult games," according to G. P. Lane, national merchandise manager of the Educational and Stationery department at Sears. "The excitement of movies in the '20s, '30s, and '40s, and TV in the '50s and '60s has given way to many different pursuits — one of which is adult games."

Old favorites, such as Monopoly and chess are offered in rich woods, leathers and pile carpeting, making them displayable items as well as complements to the home decor.

The retail chain provides the chess buff with his choice of 15 different varieties of the "thinker's" game, ranging from

Love Better If House Is Cool

TORONTO (AP) — People can live and love better with the thermostats in their houses turned down, University of Toronto scientists say.

The scientists, who have been studying the reaction of the body to temperature changes, said in interviews that people feel more active, sleep better and love better at lower temperatures.

Dr. Robert Goode, a respiratory physiologist, said male reproductive organs seem to operate at a slightly cooler temperature than the rest of the body. He said Arctic survival studies show people can survive in the nude at 32 degrees provided they don't move too much and use up body heat.

a pocket-size model to a set of Florentine designed pieces of cast metal with a leather-trimmed board. And the Monopoly expert can make the game part of his decorating scheme with a large shag rug that has a vinyl playing area.

Adults and children alike will enjoy the newest additions from Sears in the home entertainment area. A new, eight-foot slate Tilt 'n' Roll pool table has the stability of an all-steel frame with the convenience of wheels that swing out allowing the table to be tilted up and rolled away.

A puck traveling on a bed of air supplies realistic speed and action bank shots in a new, high-speed Air Hockey game. Powered by a one-fifth h.p. motor, the exciting, four-player game provides professional hockey fun for the entire family.

No matter what the name of the game may be, it's one of the unique forms of entertainment for the '70s. In just a few hours that great day of jubilation, Christmas Day, will be here. In every aspect, it is supposed to be a day for rejoicing.

'50 Is Thrifty,' Sticker Says

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — Reynolds-DeWalt Printing, Inc. is turning out bumper stickers which read "50 is Thrifty" to promote low-fuel. Earl E. DeWalt, president of the company, said he is working on a program to give 30,000 of the red, white and blue stickers to Gov. Francis W. Sargent for distribution.

SON HAS NO INTEREST IN HIS ART

Oral Historian Is Unhappy Man

DAKAR, Senegal (AP) — An aging African minstrel, called a "griot" in Senegal, bitterly complains his son has no interest in learning the ancient ballads of past generations.

The griots, pronounced greeoh, are the oral historians of West Africa, commonly found in Senegal, the Gambia, Guinea, Mali, Upper Volta and several other countries.

In Ghana, a player of the balafon, West Africa's traditional wooden xylophone, says you just can't buy a decent hand-made instrument anymore.

A traditional dance group performing on television in Abidjan, the Ivory Coast's skyscraper capital, suddenly broke out of its African rhythm into a brief waltz before ending its performance dancing the jerk.

The impact of modern life on this backward but developing continent seems to be corrupting Black Africa's art heritage.

But some say the clash between new and old may be producing hybrid art forms superior to those of the past.

The first impression, however, is that what is being lost is Africa's rich artistic tradition suffering a sharp decline.

The skilled village sculptor who once spent weeks or months perfecting his carvings or the bumper stickers which read "50 is Thrifty" to promote low-fuel. Earl E. DeWalt, president of the company, said he is working on a program to give 30,000 of the red, white and blue stickers to Gov. Francis W. Sargent for distribution.

In Nigeria, and other West African countries, woodworkers are churning out wooden mask, statuettes and other carvings by the thousands.

Africa's ubiquitous traders say they sell this "junk art" to tourists at hotels, airports and market places because very little else is being produced.

The same problem has affected other art forms.

Pebbles in soft drink bottles are replacing the traditional gourd rattles, she says, which

Some groups use metal whistles, sardine can rattles and tin can "cymbals," thereby corrupting the "purer" sounds of the past.

Instead of natural fibers, stringed instruments — such as the cora used by griots — are now being fitted with nylon fishing string or steel strings.

Turkish Excavations May Tell Much Of Olden Tribe

IZMIR, Turkey (AP) — New light was shed recently on one of the least-known ancient peoples of Asia Minor — the Lycians, whose rugged mountain country lay in southern Turkey. The Lycians are mentioned in the Iliad as allies of the Trojans under their king Sarpedon. Lycia is also known to Greek scholars as the home of the hero Bellerophon, and of the dreaded Harpies — female winged creatures with a loathsome stench who plagued those the gods had cursed. A winged female diety or angel has been discovered painted on the wall of a rock tomb in northern Lycia by Prof. M. J. Mellink of Bryn Mawr College, Pa. The creature was apparently a friendly one, however, and was depicted blessing the dead man as he bade farewell to his family. The unnamed occupant of the tomb was a tall man about 30 years old, Prof. Mellink said. The body had not survived the repeated looting of the tomb, but some bone fragments allowed a rough estimate to be made.

Two tombs have so far been investigated, both of them decorated with brightly colored frescoes revealing both Greek and Eastern influences. The Lycians' origin is uncertain, but they were under Greek influence for centuries after 1000 B.C. and ruled by the Persians from the 6th century to the 4th century B.C. Reports were given at the Tenth International Congress of Classical Archeology on excavations at the sites of two Lycian cities — Phaselis and Xanthos. The Xanthos site has produced what may be the key to the understanding of the Lycians' language, according to Prof. Henri Metzger of the University of Lyons in France. Metzger has been digging at Xanthos in southern Lycia since 1950. Several inscriptions in Lycian and Latin have been discovered from various periods, but this year, for the first time a lengthy inscription in Lycian with

Laraine Day Wouldn't Care For Regular Duties In TV

Copley News Service

HOLLYWOOD — When Laraine Day returned to surgery at MGM, it was almost like going home. For that's where she'd labored as a kid, portraying Lew Ayres' nurse and girl friend to his Dr. Kildare in a successful spate of pictures about the young medic who later became hero of a television series. Laraine had gone back to Metro's hospital halls to play a lady surgeon to Chad Everett's Dr. Joe Gannon in "Medical Center" when we met for lunch in the studio commissary. "I wouldn't like to work in a television series regularly," Miss Day said, "but I would like to do a show a month or perhaps 10 shows a year. "However, working in television isn't as rewarding as motion picture work because when you make a picture you have more time to develop your character."

VARIETY OF ROLES

During her years of absence from film making, Miss Day has been developing her own character in a variety of roles: wife, mother, grandmother, spokesman for a group of realtors, and Mormon missionary.

Both devoted followers of the Mormon faith, she and her husband, Michael M. Grillikhes, spent six months in Polynesia several years ago as missionaries preparing a Maori chorus-dance troupe for a tour of the United States and for performances at the church-sponsored Polynesian Cultural Center on Oahu in Hawaii.

"The show's still going on in Hawaii," Laraine said with satisfaction. "It's a very popular attraction."

The daughter of a prominent Mormon family, Laraine was born in Utah but did part of her growing up in Long Beach, Calif., where she had an opportunity to study drama with the Long Beach Players' Guild. A theatrical agent saw her in a Guild production and was impressed enough to get her a minor part in a minor movie. Later she was signed to a contract by MGM where she made (among other films) "Calling Dr. Kildare," "The Secret of Dr. Kildare" and "Tarzan Finds a Son."

She got her chance to prove herself as a dramatic actress when Frances Dee dropped out of "My Son, My Son" after one day's work and was replaced by Laraine in the role of Maeve.

TOUGHEST ROLE

"The most difficult picture I ever made," Laraine said, "was 'Foreign Correspondent' (with Joel McCrea) and, though the public seemed to like it, it was also the one in which I gave my worst performance. It was hard because of our scenes in the water.

"Perhaps the picture I liked best was 'The Locket.' It had such an intriguing script."

In 1947, Laraine was married to Leo Durocher, by whom she has a son and daughter.

The daughter lives in Boise, Idaho, is married and has five children, the oldest three days older than Laraine's oldest child by her present marriage. The son works for Continental Airlines and lives in Hawaii.

"I was much stricter with my older children than I am with my little group," Laraine laughs. "Maybe that's why the law of primogeniture evolved, to make up to the oldest for what he suffered as a child. Because I do think one is apt to expect too much of a first baby."

GOOD THINGS

"Despite what may happen to a marriage, good things come of it. Because of my marriage to Leo, I have my grown children and my grandchildren.

"I wouldn't have given up my career," she continued, "but my husband couldn't give up his, and one of us had to make an adjustment if we were going to be together.

"We've never left our children with nurses and baby sitters. One of us is either at home with them, or they are with me."

This being the case, Laraine has not joined the exodus of other stars who've headed out from Hollywood to various points to star in regional theater. However, her domestic responsibilities aren't the only reason she's abstained.

"Regional theater's not for me," she said, "because the audience gets gyped. You're only in rehearsal for a week, and you feel like a con artist."

Says Nixon Will Visit Brezhnev

MOSCOW (AP) — Armand Hammer, the U.S. oil executive who makes almost monthly trips to Moscow on trade missions, says Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev expects President Nixon to visit Moscow in 1974.

There has been some talk of a Nixon visit to Moscow in 1974 and another Brezhnev trip to the United States in 1975.

Decorations Out-Doors Should Be Spotlit

Inexpensive outdoor decorations can be made much more exciting and beautiful simply by spotlighting them.

Consider using a colored light, although white is always effective. The only really important thing to remember is to conceal the source of the light as much as possible.

Shrubby near a window or door is always good for cover. However, spotlights get hot, so take care that the heat is not too close to the shrubs to cause a fire.

Like to feature a twinkling star in your display? It's easy... simply cut a star shape from perforated board. Place the light behind, turning it away from the star to shine on a wall or other large, solid object close by. The light will bounce back and shimmer through the tiny holes in the star-shaped board, making it seem to twinkle.

For courtesy's sake, make sure your outdoor lighting does not shine on your neighbor's home.

Carvers Should Remember Rules

The first rule of carving to remember is that all meat has grain. Meat grain may be best visualized as bunches of tiny, closely-grouped tubes, each brimming with savory juices. When the meat is cut with the grain, the slices will consist of these tubes, side by side — in other words, chewy or tough. When meat is cut across the grain, the slices are made up of short lengths of these tubes standing end on end — tender and holding all their natural juices.

Buffalo Flourishing Again On Plains In Midwest U. S.

MURDO, S. D. (AP) — Hunted nearly to oblivion 100 years ago by sportsmen, the shaggy-headed American buffalo is flourishing again on the western plains — this time under the watchful eyes of ranchers and park rangers.

It is estimated there were 60 million buffalo in America when Columbus sailed in 1492, and that in 1850 at least 20 million still roamed the plains in great herds.

By the turn of the century, however, the dusty brownish-black bison had nearly joined blue-coated cavalry charges and Indian teepee villages as extinct Old West folklore.

An attempt at a headcount in 1889 put the total number of bulls, cows and calves in the United States at 551. At Yellowstone National Park, Wyo., home for the last free-roaming herd in the nation, only 22 buffalo were found in a census taken in 1900.

BIG HERDS

The National Buffalo Association says its records now show 15,000 bison belong to members in 39 states, another 5,000 or so are owned by other individuals and zoos and about 5,000 are in federal refuges.

Archeologists in Wyoming have found centuries-old buffalo jumps, graveyards beneath cliffs where the animals were driven over the edge by Indians armed with little more than cunning in their search for food. Crippled animals that couldn't get away were killed with stone-tipped spears.

The "ciboleros" of New Mexico hunted the buffalo from horseback with heavy 12-foot-long lances tipped with steel, and carried away wagon loads of meat for drying.

But these hunts were for food rather than sport, and left the herds virtually undiminished until the onslaught of hunters with guns in the 19th century.

Now buffalo are more likely to be herded with all-terrain vehicles, pickups trucks and helicopters than with horses. And when a herd needs thinning they are as likely to be sold to breeders as led to the slaughter pens.

Roy Houck, president of the seven-year-old National Buffalo Association, has about 3,300 buffalo at his ranch at Fort Pierre, S.D. A cattle rancher, he started with 12 buffalo in 1959, because he "always kind of admired them."

2,000 HEAD

Fellow South Dakotan Don Hight has about 2,000 head on his 35,000-acre ranch just south of Murdo, and there is another large herd at Custer State Park, S.D.

The only other herd over a couple of hundred animals is at Gillette, Wyo., where the California-based Durham Meat Co. has 2,200 head on a 50,000-acre spread.

Houck, who runs his Triple U Enterprises with two sons, is in the process of constructing his own plant for slaughtering.

"For us it's been a very profitable venture," he said. "The return is about 25 per cent higher than cattle. You have a higher investment in stronger fences and corrals, but you have quite a saving on labor and feed once you are established."

Buffalo meat, which Houck says is eaten "pretty near exclusively" at his ranch, has a slightly wild taste but is usually less fatty than beef. Ranchers also claim the muscle fiber is finer and hence easier to cook and say the meat is high in protein and polyunsaturates.

Houck markets most of his animals through restaurants and several supermarket chains, which sell buffalo meat as a gourmet item. Prices run about a third higher than beef.

DURABLE

One of the big advantages of raising bison over cattle is their durability in poor weather, says Jack Errington, manager of the Durham company.

"In winter they'll forage for themselves — you don't have to baby them."

Buf the self-managing virtues of buffalo also have a negative side, their independence. "The animals like to fight," said ranch foreman Art Busskohl, "and if one runs because he gets afraid of something, the others may follow in a stampede."

Problems with people trying to get too close to buffalo are about the only difficulties faced by rangers tending the herd of 750 that roam the 3,400 square miles of Yellowstone National Park, said Ranger Edmund couple with tourists who crowd too close trying to get pictures or trying to pet the wild buffalo, has cost one man's life and some injuries over the years," said Bucknall.

"People get in a ring around them, and whoever is standing in the way it takes to get out gets hurt."

The buffalo at Yellowstone have only one predator to worry about — the grizzly bears — and even they will rarely take on a mature bison in a fight, said Bucknall.

Door Smashing Tough On Actor

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Richard Boone is nursing shoulder and elbow injuries suffered when a door he was to break down failed to give way during a scene for NBC's "Hec Ramsey" series.

Instead, the scenery wall was pushed back 18 inches. Boone, 55, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where X rays revealed no broken bones, a spokesman said, but did indicate an aggravation to an earlier separation of his right shoulder.

X In Xmas Has Meaning

Why is "Christmas" sometimes written "Xmas"? "X" is the Greek letter symbol that is used to represent the name, "Christ."

This symbol has been discovered by many archaeological expeditions on the walls of early-Christian period catacombs.

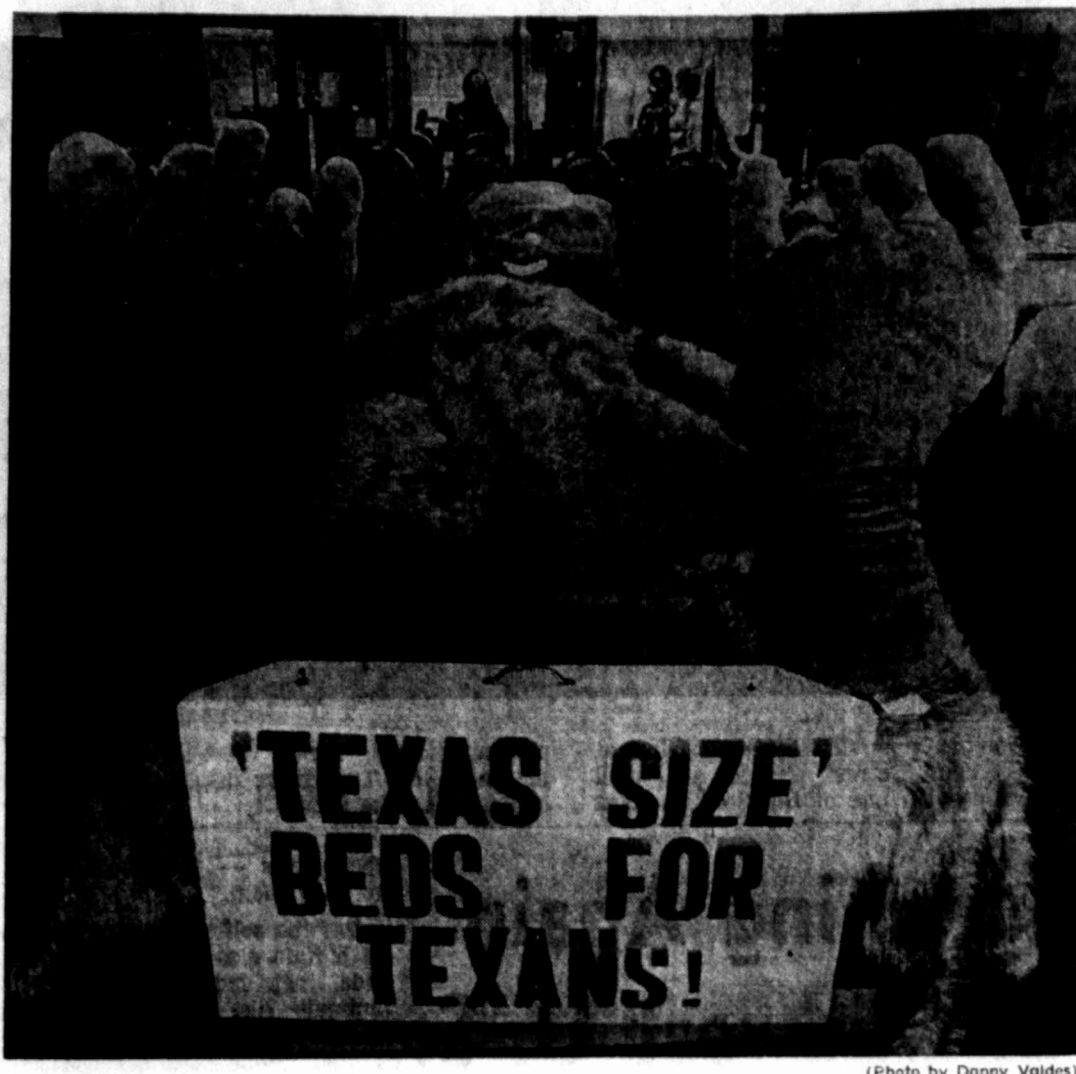

Quite recently, a group of scientists discovered the name of Jesus, carved before 70 A.D., among the inscriptions on eleven early-Christian urns.

These urns were uncovered in a cave on the Bethlehem to Jerusalem Road.

It is believed that these writings were left by a sect of Hebrews who were followers of Christ and who had denounced Pontius Pilate.

Gallup Poll On War Lids

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Eighty per cent of those surveyed in the latest Gallup Poll approve of congressional limits on a president's power to send U.S. troops into overseas action.

The Gallup organization said the poll was taken Nov. 2-5, before Congress voted on Nov. 7 to override President Nixon's veto of a bill requiring a president to explain any act of war to Congress within 48 hours.

Under the new law, Congress can order immediate withdrawal by a concurrent resolution. If Congress does not order withdrawal but does not approve the action, the president can continue the fighting 60 days and pull back the troops during a further 30 days.

The 1,550 adults surveyed were asked: "Do you think the President should or should not be required to get the approval of Congress before sending U.S. armed forces into action outside the United States?"

Gallup said 80 per cent favored such a limit, 16 per cent opposed it and four per cent had no opinion.

Doesn't Like Being Passed By 'Fast' Cop

SEATTLE (AP) — Anthony H. Stokes doesn't like Washington's new fuel-saving 50 miles per hour speed limit.

He likes being passed by a police car going faster than the limit even less.

That happened Monday. So Stokes caught up with the state patrol cruiser and honked his horn until Patrolman P. A. Wakefield pulled over to the side of the road.

"I was surprised," Wakefield said Tuesday of the incident on Interstate 5 south of Seattle. "I didn't know what the fellow wanted."

Stokes, a gas station builder, wanted Wakefield's ticket book so he could write a citation for the trooper.

But "he wouldn't give me his book," Stokes said. "He said I could call the state patrol office and complain."

Stokes did just that, reporting that Wakefield had been driving 62 m.p.h.

"A trooper is like everyone else. He takes his eyes off the speedometer sometimes," patrol Capt. Randy Jordan said Tuesday. "Wakefield was reprimanded. It's department policy not to travel over 50 miles per hour except in an emergency."

The Washington Highway Commission reduced the state's 70 m.p.h. speed limit to 50 Nov. 9 at the request of Gov. Daniel J. Evans.

Evans made his request the day after President Nixon, seeking to conserve gasoline, urged reduced driving speeds in a nationally broadcast energy policy speech.

Stokes said he drove 50 m.p.h. to Toppenish, about 160 miles from Seattle, and back during the weekend and saved about four gallons of gas—at the expense of his nerves.

Texas Insurance Firm Files Suit

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A Texas insurance company says Westgate-California Corp. and C. Arnholt Smith owe $1.1 million on a 1968 loan.

Southwestern Life Insurance Co. of Dallas filed suit Tuesday asking U.S. District Court to order payment of the loan.

The company said it lent the money to Westgate in August 1968 against collateral of 100,000 shares of U.S. National Bank stock. Trading in the stock was halted last month when the Smith-controlled bank was declared insolvent.

The suit said Smith, then Westgate chairman, and British Columbia Investment Corp., another defendant, agreed in 1971 to pay off the loan. British Columbia Investment is controlled by Smith associate Michael J. Coen of Kansas City, Mo.

A payment due Sept. 1 wasn't made, the suit said.

Smith said Coen were defendants in a Securities & Exchange Commission civil suit accusing them of scheming with others to drain millions of dollars from Westgate and U.S. National Bank. As part of a settlement reached last month, Smith resigned as Westgate chairman.

Right, Wrong Way To Write

Whose name comes first if you use a card with your names printed or engraved on it?

Here the wife's name is courteously used first: "Mary and Tom" (or "Mary and Tom Green").

Always at the top. Otherwise, they might seem like a signature.

When signing the card, whose name is written first — the husband's or wife's?

It is courteous for the person signing the card to write the other's name first. For example, if you sign the card for yourself and your husband, it should read: "Tom and Mary."

Subtle Change Noted In Life Style Of Nips

TOKYO (AP) — A few years ago, the Japanese tore up their sidewalks and substituted asphalt for paving blocks and bricks. Today they are lowering their corner curbs to street level.

These changes represent a subtle change in the quality of Japanese life, a move from the violence and economic aggressiveness of the 1960s to the more introspective welfare consciousness of the 1970s.

The bricks and paving blocks of Tokyo's Ginza, and those of Japan's other big cities, once were weapons in the hands of rebellious Japanese youth. They were hurled first at riot police, then at youngsters in rival factions, during the recurring turmoil over the Vietnam War, the campaign for the return by the United States of the island prefecture of Okinawa and the U.S.-Japan Security Treaty.

With the Vietnam War over, Okinawa returned and the security treaty issue flickering out in the light of Asian detente, the huge student demonstrations of the past are rare.

Young radicals — a handful compared to yesterday — concentrate on new targets: Tokyo's new International Airport, the struggles of fishermen seeking to halt pollution of Japan's waters by big industries, campaigns to win compensation for pollution victims.

The growing damage to the ecology is a by-product of the frenzied — and overwhelmingly successful — industrial boom of the 1960s. It raised Japan to the front rank as an economic power, boosted the Japanese standard of living and established the "Made in Japan" label worldwide.

The price in contaminated food, water and air has been high. Inflation, skyrocketing prices, scarce and expensive land and a critical housing shortage have provoked public outcries against more uncontrolled production.

The conservative Liberal-Democratic government of Premier Kakuei Tanaka has seen the smudged handwriting on the wall. With his popularity sinking, Tanaka announced a new phase, the social welfare era.

The lowered sidewalk curbs are a reflection of the changing priorities. They are part of a belated effort to make life easier for the handicapped who wish to move about the big cities in wheelchairs. Special seats for them, and for the aged — they are called "silver seats" — have been set aside in some trains.

In August the Tanaka government issued an economic white paper titled "toward welfare without inflation." A blueprint for the future, it calls for more social services, more schools and hospitals, wider participation in public health insurance schemes.

More money also has been earmarked for sewers, water, housing and transportation.

Sales Of Gas Caps, Locks Up

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Merchants here say sales of gas caps with locks have shot up.

George Wernery, a buyer for Penn Jersey auto stores, said gas cap sales have tripled in the past few weeks. "We used to sell maybe 600 locking caps a week. Now we're up around 2,000 a week," he said.

He also said sales of gas siphons have increased at the same time.

December-May Vows For Woman No Rarity

CLEVELAND (AP) — Remember the roar across the land when America's Sweetheart, Mary Pickford, married Buddy Rogers, a man 11 years younger than she?

Even those who have forgotten the name of the President in 1937 probably will recall that event.

Since 1796 — when Napoleon married Josephine, a woman six years his senior — to the current-day alliances of Merle Oberon, 56, with Robert Wolders, 37, and Dinah Shore, 33, with Burt Reynolds, 38, mankind has expressed surprise, interest and, often, disapproval at such matches.

It has been customary for a man to be older than his bride and, sensible or not, society has expected people to comply.

Today is different. QUITE OPEN

Public figures involved are being quite open about their December-May arrangements.

Celebrities included in a recent rash of weddings and affairs, in which the woman is older, have differed from counterparts of the past notably in the sense of liberation; they are quick to admit the relationship and they speak with candor.

Actress Ursula Andress, 37, is reported to have explained her involvement with married Ryan O'Neal, 32, with the comment, "When you are in love, you are in love. That's all that matters."

Sam Warner Hiatt, of the Warner Bros. Studio family, is nine years younger than singer-comedienne Kaye Stevens, the woman he says he loves.

"The difference in our ages doesn't bother me a bit . . . She's really the prime force in my life."

Dinah Shore and Burt Reynolds said, "We knew from the first day we met." He added that he had to fight his way through 40 men to get to Dinah.

"The magic of our love is that there isn't a girl alive who wouldn't want him," she said, and he reciprocated: "There isn't a man alive who wouldn't want her."

Other examples include the May wedding of Odile Rodin, 36, widow of the late playboy Porfirio Rubirosa, to Paulo Roberto Marinho, 22; Sybil Burton's marriage in 1965 to Jordan Christopher, 12 years her junior; and the late Alexandros Onassis' love affair with older British model, Fiona Von Thyssen, for whom various ages have been reported with up to 25 years difference.

Without doubt, women's lib and the human behavioral experts who have been quoted as saying, "It is better for women to marry younger men," have reinforced their decisions and enhanced their freedom in publicly expressing their feelings.

And it is great publicity. But what about the average citizen who has no need of publicity?

MOTHER-SON

Do women marry younger men, some so much so that it would be a mother-son relationship?

Perusal of marriage applications filed in Cuyahoga County showed that the December-May situation is much more common than most people believe, especially in the category of one-to-eight years differential.

Out of 2,400 marriage applications, chosen at random earlier this year, 350 women were one to eight years older; 22, nine to 20 years older.

The same check of 1,800 marriage records of five to six years ago showed 167 women in the one-to-eight-years older bracket and 17 with nine to 14 years difference. None were higher in that sampling.

Not one of the interviewed couples lied about age, at least not to each other, they reverted. But many were reluctant to talk to a reporter unless granted anonymity.

The degree of reticence increased with the age-difference with the larger difference usually had unlisted telephone numbers.

But some couples were vocal about the age question:

"Age is a state of mind."
"Age has nothing to do with it: if it's there, it's there. . . if not, age won't make any difference."
"Age has been a fallacy all these years."
"We're far too much an age-conscious society."

To a couple, the maturity of the men and the youthfulness of the women were cited as contributing factors to the relationship.

Mrs. Gerald Clark, who describes herself as "a little, bitty lady and even a grandmother," says that she was self-conscious about the 10-year-age difference between her and her 6-foot, 200-pound husband until she realized "the 26-year-old is much more mature than the 40-year old I lived with for 13 years."

Professionals indicated the same "maturity-youthfulness" responses in counseling with similar couples.

"Women tell me these men in their early 20s are so mature, and I don't understand it," reported Dr. Margaret Golton, a clinical social worker who has been in private practice for 12 years and has had 25 years of agency background.

"My guess is — and this is just an impression — that the women in a sense are nurturing the men to greater sexual adequacy."

Daylight Time Has Been Here For Long Time

Copley News Service

Daylight time, which appears to be on the way back in the United States as an energy saver after bowing out briefly last Oct. 27, has a spotty history if you look at it counter-clockwise.

Germany came up with daylight saving time in 1915 to conserve fuel to help fight World War I. In Britain a one-hour time change became law on May 17, 1916, and the Britons turned their clocks ahead 60 minutes the following Sunday, May 21.

In the United States a campaign was launched to crank up daylight time, largely the result of World War I. In 1917 Congress passed an act whereby standard time would be advanced one hour on the last Sunday of each March and set back on the last Sunday of October.

So the nation had daylight time in 1918. By early 1919, however, opposition was developing among farmers, who complained that cows were unable to adjust to a new milking time and that dew in the earlier hour was heavy enough to hinder farm work.

BOWED TO WISHES
Congress bowed to the wishes of the farmers and repealed the daylight time act Aug. 20, 1919, over President Woodrow Wilson's veto.

In the years that followed, daylight saving legislation was enacted by some states and municipal ties, until World War II again gave it national significance.

"War time," an hour in advance of standard time, went into effect nationally on Feb. 6, 1942, and continued until the end of September, 1945.

It has been a seasonal way of life for many — but not all — Americans well into the third quarter of the century.

About half the states observed daylight time for many years, usually from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in September. But in 1967, Congress passed the Uniform Time Act requiring that all states, the District of Columbia and U.S. possessions observe daylight time beginning at 2 a.m. on the last Sunday in April and ending at 2 a.m. on the last Sunday in October.

Any state, however, can exempt itself from the law. Hawaii did so in 1967, Arizona in 1968, Michigan in 1969 and Indiana in 1971.

Junk Being Recycled By Artist

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) — Peter Davidson rescues rusted water heaters and converts them into hanging fireplaces.

He finds horseshoes and welds them into plant holders. Fan housings discarded in a dump are fastened together for a brightly-colored totem or storage area.

Tins cans come together in a dazzling arrangement of cubby-holes. Davidson, 30, is an artist of recyclables and the workshop above his home in Rist Canyon near here is a place where the discards of society are transformed into decorative and useful objects of art.

"I like the idea of taking something no one else could find a use for and turning it into something useful," says Davidson.

Using gas and electric arc welding equipment, he turns out objects of art. All of Davidson's work has a rough-hewn, natural quality.

"There's not enough organic material in homes nowadays," says Davidson, who came to Colorado from New York in 1968.

"There's so much stainless steel and plastic and it's so unfeeling and cold. That type of decor tends to dehumanize people."

Davidson's home is a showcase for his functional and natural art. Hanging near the kitchen table is an aquarium made from a huge distilled water bottle. In the living room is a hanging, swinging chair made of leather and wrought iron.

In the same room is a series of lofts. A large piece of wood forms the highest stress point for the systems of ladders, lofts and cantilevered beds. The wood carved into an eagle's profile is light, both in color and weight, and heavy iron chains accent the design. Davidson also works with recycled wood.

In every corner is Davidson's touch — a river-worn rock mounted in a ring-like steel setting. The walls are decorated with assemblages of "found objects" — pieces of cork and driftwood.

Davidson said he has been a collector since boyhood. He said his pockets were always full of junk that he couldn't resist.

Shortage Cheers Some Motorists

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — A carbon paper shortage means that Tacoma patrolmen will be issuing fewer parking tickets for a while. Officials of a Midwest firm that makes the tickets books out of a high-quality carbon paper designed to insure long "shelf life" say they won't have more of the carbon paper for six months. Police asked the company to rush some forms using a lower grade carbon paper. They said the tickets won't be on a shelf for long.

Why Not Set Limit Of $1 On Gifts For Stocking?

A grab bag of fun-filled Christmas spirit — that's a stuffed Christmas stocking. No other Yuletide custom offers so many opportunities for imaginative gift-giving, whether you're aiming your gifts for fun, usefulness, or both. Why not hang a stocking for every member of the family, then set a $1 limit on the price of any gift dropped in. That way, you can afford to let even the youngsters get in on the shopping, and watch their Christmas spirits soar.

6th Fleet Alert Axed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has canceled the 6-week-old military alert for the U.S. 6th Fleet, citing a sufficient easing of Middle East tensions and a reduction in the Soviet fleet in the Mediterranean.

Some of the 60 American ships in the Mediterranean have put into port while others are returning to the U.S., a Pentagon spokesman said here.

At the same time, the spokesman said, there has been a decline in the number of ships in the Soviet Union's Mediterranean fleet from a high of 95 vessels several weeks ago to about 70 now.

Defense Secretary James Schlesinger ordered a worldwide alert of all U.S. military forces Oct. 24 in response to intelligence reports that the Soviet Union was preparing to send troops into Egypt. The alert was canceled within a few days, but the 6th Fleet was kept on increased readiness.

Two aircraft carriers now remain in the Mediterranean as do two helicopter carriers, each carrying about 2,000 Marines, the Pentagon said.

For the youngsters, there are pencil sharpeners in all shapes and colors. Novelty pencil sharpeners shaped like spiders, TV sets or airplanes are sure to please any school youngster. You might even find one of the small plastic pencil sharpeners made by Sterling Plastics that sells for only a nickel — the same price it sold for when the company first made it in 1946! The same company also makes a combination sharpener-ruler-pencil box with a multiplication table printed on top and a couple of pencils inside, which sells for only 39 cents. For the little girl in the family, you might put a smile on her face as she corrects her mistakes by giving her erasers made in the shape of tiny Oriental dolls.

Stuff Dad's stocking with a $1-or-less pen-and-pencil caddy with a built-in sharpener or a stapler set, T-square, slide rule and staple remover to make his home office work easier. For Mom, there are novelty note pads and magnetic memo holders for use in the kitchen, or a small photo album to keep all those memory-filled Christmas photographs in order. And you're bound to please the teenage girl in your family with a telephone and address book or a one-year diary, complete with lock and key.

Among the many other stationery store stocking stuffers meeting the $1 limit are handy hand-size adding machines for Mother's grocery shopping, pocket dictionaries, and an almost limitless variety of other budget-priced gifts that you'll probably find your family still using when Christmas rolls around again next year.

Watergate Investigator Suspended

WASHINGTON (AP) — A staff investigator for the Senate Watergate committee has been suspended for a month for allegedly leaking information that was used in a story sharply criticizing the committee staff.

Chief counsel Samuel Dash said investigator Scott Armstrong had acknowledged he was the source of some of the material used in a story by Timothy Crouse in the Nov. 22 issue of Rolling Stone.

The Crouse article portrayed staff members as a dedicated but largely incompetent group who spent much of their time leaking confidential information to the press.

Dash said Armstrong had violated "a pretty iron-bound rule that is broken too often." The committee is often criticized for failing to keep secrets.

Hours after the suspension was announced, committee member Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., offered Armstrong a job on his own Watergate investigation, which he is conducting apart from the committee probe.

Armstrong could not be reached for comment.

Make A Little Glitter Go Long Way This Year

1973 may be the year we all learn how to make a little glitter go a long way. Ever-rising prices are an excellent reason why we should stop trying to outspend our budgets at this time of year. Why feel that we must give the most lavish present ever, to prove our love and devotion? A well-chosen small gift conveys the same message — especially when the giver puts her own time and talents into the creation.

Capping the list of fashion accessories wanted by every female this season is: a knitted cap. Pattern books will give you dozens of ideas for jiffy caps to knit or crochet. To give the cap a Christmasy look, choose a yarn that's spangled with silver or gold.

SHAWLS POPULAR

Use huge needles, and you'll whiz along. White is the best color because it goes over anything, all year long. For a tweedy effect, knit with two threads at once — one in white, and one in the recipient's favorite basic shade such as navy or camel.

Glamour girls on your gift list will adore a box of eyeshadow powder in one of the new silvery or goldspun colors. Choose a fairly neutral shade of silver or gold, and it can be worn over any other eyeshadow color. Thus, the glamour girl gets the most mileage from your money.

Is there an old fur piece around that's worn out its welcome? Salvage enough for collar and cuffs to sew on a bulky cardigan. If you don't know how to sew skins, get a book on the subject, or ask your furrier for a lesson. The fur-trimmed cardigan, all the rage in Paris, may be too divine to give away. In that case, make it your own personal Christmas wrap!

Keep holiday entertaining in proportion too. Instead of buying an expensive hostess gown, treat yourself to a new hairstyle. One of the fluffy new cap cuts will make last year's dress look entirely different. Add a little glitter for evenings with long rhinestone earrings, lots of dazzle for the dollars.

To really look your best this season, keep an eye on the calorie total each day. When a big dinner is on the agenda, keep your calories in proportion by substituting Slender diet food from Carnation for one or more regular meals during the day. Then you can splurge at dinner time without paying for it later.

Modern Girl Rediscovers Lovely Scent

Both French and American women can now agree that love is lovelier the second time around, especially when it's Amour Amour, the perfume namesake first introduced in 1925.

The perfume of the "It" girls who swept Paris in Zelda Fitzgerald's time can now be the perfume of today's "with-it" girls. In fact, college girls touring in Paris rediscovered the nostalgia and romance of Amour Amour. After countless requests from them to Jean Patou, inc., the fragrance is finally being launched in this country once again and will be sold in fine stores and specialty shops nationwide.

The fragrance has been a favorite with American women traveling abroad since first invented by Jean Patou, the noted Parisian couturier. It is said that he was inspired by female beauty, in particular by six elegant New York debutantes.

Patou stunned the fashion world by showing his designs on these young society women of beauty, breeding and taste. They were daring and delightful, and so was their perfume, Amour Amour. It became known as a fragrance for women who were elegant, free and adventurous.

These young "liberated" women of the Twenties created the glamorous images of the fashion model. Their perfume remains a special favorite with daring young women of today.

The fragrance, a brilliant blend of mountain narcissus, fresh roses, heady jasmine, bergamot and precious oils appeals to every generation. It is both fresh and sensual, both feminine and freedom loving... qualities shared by the women of the Twenties and Today.

Imported directly from Paris, the fragrance Amour Amour will appear in a perfume, a refreshing cologne spray and tincting splash-on version.

Double Death Ruling Made

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Murder and suicide have been ruled in the shooting deaths of a couple married just three weeks.

Justice of the Peace Jim Dear said Robert Crain, 48, shot his wife, Charlotte, 47, then turned the gun on himself.

Crain, an employe of the University of Texas, married just three weeks ago. The bodies, both shot in the temple by a .32 caliber pistol, were discovered Sunday morning by Mrs. Crain's 16-year-old son.
