ORBITING TRIO TIRED AFTER RECORD SPACE WALK

Astros Focus Attention On Comet

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The orbiting Skylab station lost one of its control gyroscopes today, but officials said the spacecraft could operate effectively on the remaining two.

However, if another gyro goes bad, Flight Director Phil Shaffer said mission control probably could effectively control the vehicle only another 20 or so days and then the astronauts would have to return to earth.

DANDY ODDS
Gerald P. Carr, William R.

Pogue and Edward G. Gibson were in the eighth day of their planned 84-day mission.

Shaffer said that before the Skylab was launched last May, experts figured the statistical odds at 20 per cent that one of the three gyroscopes would fail, and the probability that two of them would fail were three-tenths of one per cent.

"The other two control gyros are healthy," the flight director reported. "We think we can do everything in the mission flight plan, but it's going to take us longer to make maneuvers and we're going to use more control gas because we don't have the energy to drive the vehicle over as fast."

"It's going to make flight planning and flight planning evaluation a lot tougher," he said. "But we feel we can handle it."

EXTRA SLEEP

Shaffer said analysis was being conducted to determine what caused the gyro failure. He said it was spinning at about 9,000 revolutions a minute when it suddenly stopped, perhaps from a bearing failure.

The astronauts were told about the problem when they were awakened this morning and expressed confidence in mission control's ability to manage it.

Commander Carr then said the astronauts were fired after an exhaustive record space walk day Thursday and asked if they could sleep an extra hour. Mission control concurred.

Later in the day they were to take photographs of the comet Kohoutek which is streaking toward the sun from the far reaches of the solar system at a distance of 140 million miles from earth. This will start an extensive series of Kohoutek studies which will span several weeks.

In 6 hours, 34 minutes and 35 seconds outside, Pogue and Gibson loaded film in four telescope cameras, developed several scientific experiments and repaired a stuck antenna.

Their outside excursion was 3 minutes and 25 seconds longer than the previous record set by two Skylab 2 astronauts last Aug. 6.

Flight Director Neil Hutchinson said Pogue and Gibson did a "remarkable job. They worked slow and steady on a tough job. You've got to give those guys a great big star."

Hutchinson said experimenters were especially pleased that the space walkers were able to restore the antenna to nearly full operation, about 80 per cent of capability. It was stuck in one position and was almost unusable in an earth resources experiment which gathers data on snow, ice, oceans and earth's terrain.

On the eighth day of their planned 84-day space journey, the astronauts today start their scientific research in earnest. The first target will be Kohoutek, the giant comet which has excited the world of astronomy like no other event this century.

For the next four weeks, the crew will snap a series of Kohoutek photos each day as the comet speeds toward its closest approach to the sun, 13.2 million miles on Dec. 23,

OR ARE THEY? Freeze Dates Co-incident

It would have to be impossible for depressions or inflations to affect the weather, almost as much as they affect the stock market.

However, this year, a hard freeze is late in arriving and a check with the records at the Big Spring Experiment Station shows that the latest first freeze recorded was in a bad financial year, when the first cold day was December 5 back in 1933.

The earliest freeze recorded in Howard County occurred Oct. 19, 1916. Just three years ago (1970), the first freeze was Oct. 27.

Last year, the first freeze arrived Nov. 13. Two years ago it was Nov. 9. Back in 1967, the date for the first freeze was late — on Nov. 29.

Twice this year, a freeze has been predicted. Each time it failed to materialize.

This Hobo Is Thankful

BEND, Ore. (AP) — Allison Middleton Coutts, 64, a hobo, is thankful they got him out of that freezing-cold boxcar where he was pinned by wreckage for three nights and two days.

He told his story while being tended at St. Charles Memorial Hospital, where he later had Thanksgiving dinner.

Coutts was a passenger—without a ticket—in the boxcar of the Burlington Northern train that derailed Sunday near Chemult, about 75 miles south of Bend in central Oregon.

"She left the tracks," he said. "That's all I remember till I woke up layin' on my head. I was in between two sides of the boxcar. No wonder they couldn't find me in the wreckage."

He had seven broken ribs, two smashed fingers and a cut above the left eye. No one knew he was on the train as crews used heavy equipment to sort the wreckage.

"God was with me on this ride," said Coutts, whose few possessions in the hospital hall include a tattered, red, leather-bound Bible.

He had eaten a sandwich before the wreck but had no other food.

"I ate a little snow that came in during the night, but that was it—I'm awful hungry," he said.

He suffered possible frostbite by the time a bulldozer operator discovered him Wednesday morning and gave him a cup of coffee.

Police Blotter Is Strangely Empty

Some Big Spring housewives said they tired of football games Thanksgiving Day but the telecasts and broadcasts must have accomplished something.

Traffic obviously slowed and thinned out, because there were no wrecks in Big Spring within a 24 hour period Thursday. An average day brings five mishaps.

Only two thefts were reported, including three mag wheels and assorted hand tools at Spring City Salvage. In addition, a ham was stolen from the residence of Mrs. Bertha Matlock, 3222 Auburn.

There were no fires and, for a change — no vandalism.

SMU Coed Kidnap Caper 'Hoax'

DALLAS (AP) — Local and federal officers said today the reported abduction of a 20-year-old Southern Methodist coed was a hoax.

The case involved Christy King, daughter of a suburban Highland Park oilman who told officers she was abducted Tuesday and forced to ride in a car to Tennessee.

J. Gordon Shanklin, head of the Dallas FBI office, said, "Investigation has determined no abduction of Christy King took place. No further investigation is being conducted by the FBI in this matter."

Miss King, reported missing by her parents Tuesday night, told authorities in Tennessee she escaped from her abductor at Lebanon, Tenn., service station early Wednesday. She later was questioned by authorities in Lebanon.

University Park police here said, "The case is closed."

ORDEAL IS OVER — Mrs. E. M. Nelson of Jonesboro, Ga., waves to well-wishers from the porch of her home Thursday after being released by kidnapers. She and her 16-year-old daughter were taken from the family home early Wednesday morning by three men seeking the release from jail of a man being held in connection with a bank robbery. Mrs. Nelson and her daughter, Debbie, were released unharmed. Officials have not yet captured the kidnapers.

Search For Three Kidnapers Pressed

JONESBORO, Ga. (AP) — South Georgia authorities pressed a search today for three young men who abducted the wife and daughter of a Methodist minister.

REST UP

Mrs. Jackie Nelson, 44, and her 16-year-old daughter, Debbie, were released unharmed Thursday after being held hostage more than 30 hours. A family spokesman said they intended today to "rest up and unwind from their long ordeal."

The women told police their kidnapers released them on a rural road more than 100 miles south of their home in Jonesboro, an Atlanta suburb. The men fled in a white Cadillac, they said.

Officers said the men were described as being in their early 20s, except for one who appeared to be about 30 years old.

The drama began early Wednesday when the Rev. E. M. Nelson awoke with a pistol in his face, police said he told them.

Three masked and armed men handcuffed the minister and left with his wife and youngest daughter. The eldest daughter, Cheryl, 18, was away at college.

Several hours after the abduction, the Rev. Mr. Nelson managed to free himself and notify police, officers said.

Nelson, pastor of the Jonesboro United Methodist Church, told officers the kidnapers promised to notify authorities of the abduction within 90 minutes. He said they wanted to negotiate the release of Daniel Warren, 36, one of three men held in the Clayton County jail charged in the Oct. 23 robbery of a bank in Molena, Ga.

Mrs. Nelson and her daughter were found by a passing motorist on Georgia 96 near Cochran. They were handcuffed together and were cold and hungry, but otherwise in good condition, officers said.

After being interrogated for 5½ hours by agents of the Georgia Division of Investigation, the tired and gaunt-faced women returned to their home in Jonesboro.

Oil A Powerful Weapon, Saudi Arabian Declares

By The Associated Press

Saudi Arabia's oil minister says the Arabs could reduce their oil production by as much as 80 per cent if America, Japan or Europe take measures to counteract reductions and embargoes in Arab oil production.

"Our oil weapon is far more powerful than what you see now. In fact we did nothing at all so far," Ahmed Saki Yamani said in Copenhagen Thursday. "We could cut production by 80 per cent."

Yamani issued the warning during a television interview when he was asked to respond to Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's comment suggesting U.S. retaliation if the Arab oil squeeze continues.

FOOD WEAPONS

Kissinger said Wednesday, "It is clear that if pressures continue unreasonably and indefinitely, that then the United States will have to consider what countermeasures it may have to take."

Some suggested countermeasures have been halts in exports of food grains and other materials to Arab countries.

Yamani said he did not doubt there are countermeasures available, but he said any such actions would be a gamble that might force the economies of areas such as Western Europe and Japan to collapse.

The Arab oil producers have stopped oil shipments to the United States and the Netherlands and reduced overall production by 25 per cent, with another 5 per cent reduction planned each month until Israel withdraws from Arab territory captured since 1967.

UNLIKELY

Saudi Arabia's King Faisal said in Lebanon he will never compromise on the oil restrictions against the United States, Japan and Western Europe until the Arab demands concerning Israel are "unconditionally met."

But in London, British and Indian diplomatic sources said Saudi Arabia, by far the largest Arab oil producer, is unlikely to continue using oil as a diplomatic weapon because of fears by Faisal of provoking reprisals.

In other developments, the Shah of Iran, whose country is the only non-Arab oil producer in the Persian Gulf, called upon Arabs to abandon their use of oil as a diplomatic weapon.

"Oil is like bread," he said. "It should not be withheld in peacetime."

In Canada, Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau said his government will reveal a series of measures next week aimed at ensuring adequate supplies of gasoline and heating oil this winter. The government is expected to prohibit the sale of gasoline on Sundays and make petroleum allocations at the wholesale level.

In Brussels, Common Market officials told representatives from its nine member countries that the organization's Commission on Transport was trying to determine what common actions may be taken to combat the oil shortage.

The West German government hinted that it may soon broaden its fuel conservation powers. Chancellor Willy Brandt told his cabinet that the oil squeeze could seriously affect the German economy. He did not rule out "social, structural and economic repercussions."

Suspect Assassination Work Of People's Army

CORDOBA, Argentina (AP) — Police suspect the assassination of U.S. businessman John Albert Swint and two of his bodyguards by a band of youths was the work of the People's Revolutionary Army. But they have no proof.

TRAPPED CAR

Police originally reported three bodyguards killed, but later said the third was critically injured.

Swint, 56, general manager of Transax, a transmission and axle plant owned by the Ford Motor Co., was killed Thursday when about 15 youths trapped his chauffeur-driven car and the following car of guards and opened up with automatic weapons and shotguns.

Police said the precision of the attack pointed to the People's Army. But at least a half-dozen other guerrilla bands roam through Argentina, including left-wing followers of President Juan D. Peron. The Marxist urban guerrillas have been blamed for much of the terrorism that has swept Argentina this year.

Swint, a native of Georgia, had served as general manager of Transax since December 1971. Ford spokesmen said his wife was in the United States. The couple has two children.

Swint was on his way to work in Cordoba, 450 miles northwest of Buenos Aires, when he found his motorcade blocked by two trucks from the front and by small cars from the rear.

MIGHT RAIN
Chances of showers late tonight and early Saturday morning are at 30 per cent, according to the National Weather Service. Partly cloudy and mild through today, considerably cloudy and cooler tonight and Saturday. High today mid 70s, low tonight mid 40s and high on Saturday, near 60.

Five Convicted Men Are Transferred To Prison

The sheriff's department transferred five men sentenced in 118th District Court recently to penitentiary terms to the Texas Department of Corrections in Huntsville Thursday afternoon.

Among those transferred were Jody Hilliard, 19, and Johnny Franklin, 34, each of whom had spent almost three years in the county jail.

Hilliard, of Monahans, and Franklin, Fort Worth, were arrested in December, 1970 and charged with armed robbery and assault with intent to murder in connection with a Big Spring service station robbery.

They received prison sentences, appealed their cases and finally pleaded guilty in district Court Nov. 5.

Hilliard was given three 18-year penitentiary terms and credit for two years, 338 days jail time. Franklin received a 25-year sentence on a robbery charge and two 30-year sentences on assault with intent to murder. He also received credit for two years, 338 days jail time.

Also transferred yesterday was Raymond Lopez Chavarria, 206 NE 10th, who pleaded guilty Nov. 14 to auto theft. He was given two six-year sentences on auto theft and burglary.

Others transferred were John Roger Turner, 1026 Birdwell, and William Craig Forshee, Garden City Route.

Turner, 23, pleaded guilty to burglary last Friday and was given five five-year prison terms to run concurrently. Forshee, 17, pleaded guilty the same day to auto theft, motorcycle theft and burglary and received three six-year terms to run concurrently.

The men were transferred by sheriff's motor coach. A deputy and reserve deputy accompanied the prisoners.

Sheriff A. N. Standard said the transfer reduced the jail count to only four prisoners, probably a record low for recent times.

Holiday Traffic

By The Associated Press

The nation's Thanksgiving holiday weekend traffic death toll reached 189 today.

Rain, snow or fog slowed highway travel in wide areas of the West and in parts of the midcontinent, South and East.

The count of traffic deaths began at 6 p.m. local time Wednesday and will end at midnight Sunday.

Parent Conferences Are Preferred Over Grading

By JOHN EDWARDS

FORSAN — The only Howard County school district operating under the soon to be mandatory quarter system will use this system to compensate for a disadvantage associated with small schools, limited classroom subject variety.

"The main purpose is to get as many courses as you can before the kiddos," H. D. Smith, superintendent of Forsan schools, said. "This gives us an out we never had before."

Many students are setting up households and getting jobs rather than going to college, he said. With this in mind, he expects the high school to consider offering short courses in business law, income tax, cooking and even a wood shop for girls in the third quarter.

LESS TESTING

This third quarter begins Feb. 26 and ends May 24. Monday, Forsan students began the second quarter.

With nine week periods replacing traditional six weeks grading segments, Smith sees less testing and more learning.

While he predicts the eventual discarding of tests in public schools, grades will be slow to go.

"People want to see what their kids are doing," he said. And they understand the letter and number grading system.

Parent conferences are more desirable, but not all teachers are good at conferences.

Asked if the new format caused classes to cover material faster, the superintendent said: "I can't see any change in paces."

"RELUCTANT"

At first, the district was "reluctant" to change over to the quarter system, as required by state law. But when the legislature gave schools a later deadline for compliance, 1975, the district was ready to go with the new system.

"We already had the material ready. People are sold on it," Smith said.

SELLING IT

"When we are dealing with kids, parents want to know this day and time," he said of the sell. "If you are going to put on something new, you better get ready to talk about it a year ahead of time."

First, the administration had to sell the board of trustees. Then, the administration began telling the public about it through the Parent Teacher Association, different lay groups, local media and even mimeographed sheets.

"We saw that every parent in this school district had a copy," Smith said.

As a result of all this preparation, everything went smoothly, the superintendent said. "I haven't heard one complaint."

Lion's Camp Discussed

The Lions camp for the handicapped served almost a thousand individuals last year, Jay Huckabay, Colorado City, told the Downtown Lions Club at its meeting Wednesday.

Huckabay is a District 2A-1 director for the camp at Kerrville. There were 740 handicapped children at the Kerrville facility during summer camp, and currently 44 blind individuals are in a rehabilitation program there. Another 204 diabetic children also were served.

He cited numerous cases, including a lad from his own city who went to the camp for diabetes only because his entire family agreed to accompany him there. Two weeks later, however, he wept when he had to return home. Now physically in control of himself, he also is making A's and B's instead of failing his school work, said Huckabay.

Pointing to rising costs of operating the facilities, he appealed to Lions to increase their assistance, noting that "we share enough when we care enough."

Kiwianians met with the Lions Wednesday, since their regular meeting came on Thanksgiving Day.

David Wright, speaking for the Key Club, announced that this group will host Kiwanians at a Tuesday 7 p.m. meeting at a Furs.

Pack 63 Slates Monday Rally

Cub Scout Pack 63 will hold a Cub Scout recruiting rally Monday, at 7 p.m. in the Jonesboro Fire Station. The station is located on Jonesboro Road off the North Birdwell Highway.

Cub scouting is a home and neighborhood centered program which parents, leaders and institutions use to help the growth and development of boys from 8-11 years old.

Cub Scouts, according to scout leaders, are constantly challenged to do new things, learn new skills and play new games. The challenge comes in meeting certain requirements in order to advance in rank. These achievements and electives which compose the advancement plan for the boys, include activities, skills and projects that will help boys develop physically and mentally, build self-reliance, encourage spiritual growth, grow in pride and teach them to assume responsibility.

Anyone desiring more information concerning the cub program may call Bob Oliver, Cubmaster at 263-3704.

POSSIBLE KIDNEY DONORS — Jocelyn Leung, center, is reunited with her brother, Oliver, and her mother Moo Ying after they flew to Los Angeles from their home in Korea last night to Jocelyn's bedside at Mt. Sinai hospital. The 23-year-old secretary came down with a kidney ailment and it's possible the mother or brother may donate one of theirs.

Editor Says Israel Might Resort To Atomic Weapons

CAIRO (AP) — Egypt's most influential editor said today that in any new round of fighting in the Middle East Israel may resort to atomic bombs. He said it is urgent for the Arab world to put up a unified strategy to produce or get nuclear weapons.

Mohammed Hassanein Heikal, editor of the semiofficial newspaper Al-Ahram wrote: "In a moment of danger the Arabs could get the bomb from either the Soviet Union or China, but if they refused the upcoming Arab summit conference has to set up a unified commission to produce it."

Heikal said he had been told that Israel already had atomic bombs.

He suggested the Arabs should allot between $250 and $770 million to produce the weapons. Heikal also disclosed that Egypt tried three times to obtain an atomic bomb, but failed.

The first time, efforts by the late President Gamel Abdel Nasser were hindered by huge expenses needed to produce the bomb, and the second time ef-orts to get the bomb from China in 1967 failed, he said. On the third occasion, in 1970 Libyan President Moammar Khadafy tried to buy an atomic bomb, "but has learned that such bombs are not for sale," Heikal said. He did not disclose the name of the country from which Khadafy tried to buy the bomb.

Heikal said his reason for discussing nuclear arms was recent information he received from a well-informed American visitor who he said has good contacts with U.S. decision-making sources.

Heikal said the visitor told him discussion of fears that Israel might use atomic bombs came up during a luncheon in Washington on the sixth day of the October war. He said the luncheon was attended by a "minister" in President Nixon's administration and a prominent member of the House Armed Services Committee.

According to the American visitor, Heikal said, "The congressman told the minister: 'I am afraid people in Tel Aviv could lose their nerve and use one of the three atomic bombs they already have to throw back the Arab attack... I do not care what will happen to the Arabs but I am apprehensive any atomic explosion now will put the world on the verge of a horrible crisis.'"

In Washington, spokesmen for the State and Defense Departments declined immediate comment on Heikal's report, but the State official said official reaction would be forthcoming.

Blood Donors Being Sought

The condition of Curtis Mullins III, suffering from an acute loss of blood, appeared to be stabilized Friday at Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene.

Young Mullins, a student at ACC, began bleeding internally Tuesday and his condition rapidly became critical. After receiving nine pints of blood, he appeared Friday to have stopped bleeding, and his condition was upgraded to serious. He underwent surgery Thursday and some sort of wound to the lining of the stomach was thought to have caused the trouble.

He has an O-negative type of blood, and since this is in much shorter supply than the usual blood type, the replacement required will be 18 pints of O-positive (O-negative will be accepted on a one-for-one basis). Friends wishing to give blood may do so at the Meek Blood Bank, N. 19th and Hickory, Abilene, or at Midland Memorial Hospital, 200 W. Illinois, Midland.

Curtis Mullins II, YMCA executive director here, and Mrs. Mullins have been at their son's bedside since Tuesday.

Here is how it works: A refunder gets a coupon allowing him 10 cents off on an 89-cent package of rolls. Then he offers the coupon to the company also offers a money refund offer, say 50 cents. The refunder uses his 10-cent coupon and pays 79 cents for the rolls, then mails in his refund form and ends up paying just 29 cents.

Stores are reimbursed by the firms for product price reductions granted coupon-carrying customers.

Of course, for refunders there are also some drawbacks. Some of the most ardent of this new breed of consumers end up eating hot dogs and pancakes, maybe at the same meal, in exchange for the savings.

Y Swim Classes To Open Monday

The third fall session of YMCA swim classes will begin Monday and run through Dec. 14. Classes are for all skill levels.

Classes will meet Monday through Thursday from 4:40-5:30 p.m. for grades one through three and from 4:30-5 p.m. for grades three through six.

Tryouts for the YMCA swim team will be at 5:30 p.m. Monday. Students between the ages of seven and 18 may attend. New team coach is Vicki Palenchar.

TB Tests Are Set Monday

A Tuberculosis skin test survey will be held for all Grady and Flower Grove school students Monday.

Mrs. Pearl Cobb, R.N., TB control nurse for the State Department of Health will give the tests and return later in the week to read them.

The tuberculin test is a simple, accurate test to find out if the tuberculosis germ is in the body. All that is done is to put a harmless material called tuberculin into the surface layers of the skin on the forearm. The place on the skin where the test has been made will be examined a few days later.

If the test is negative, that means that the body contains no TB germs.

But if the test is positive, this does not mean that a person has tuberculosis. It only means that some germs have entered the body at one time or other. However, it is recommended that the person with a positive reading have an X-ray, and his or her doctor may suggest that pills be taken to make sure the germs do not become active and cause disease.

As a result of the joint testing program of the TDH and the American Lung Association of Texas (Christmas Seal agency), 2,422 active cases of tuberculosis were found among school pupils in 1972. More information on the program can be had from the Big Country area office, 1961 W. Beauregard, San Angelo 76901.

Coulter, King Are Sentenced

LAMESA — Two men were assessed terms in the penitentiary after waiving their rights to jury trials and pleading guilty to charges in Judge George Hansard's 106th District Court.

Frank Coulter, 19 of Amarillo and Willie West King, 24, both participants in the recent escape from the county jail, entered their pleas.

Coulter was charged in the Aug. 24 burglary of Frank McKinney's gas station and was sentenced to the state pen for a period of eight years. He was on probation sentence on another conviction in the Amarillo area when the Lamesa burglary occurred.

King was charged on exposing himself to a minor girl. His sentence was for two years and he was given credit for the time he has spent in jail since the June 20 offense.

Following the pleas, Dist. Atty. Joe Smith said that he would move for dismissal of the charges resulting from the jail break at the next criminal docket call. The third participant in the jail break, James "Sugarman" Mason, was transferred to the Huntsville prison earlier this month.

THC Is Studying Proposed Road

MIDLAND — City officials of Midland and Odessa are awaiting a response from the Texas Highway Commission on a proposed highway linking the two Permian Basin cities.

Odessa Mayor Jim Reese and a group of Midland residents headed by Judge Barbara Culver requested a study from the highway commission to look in to the proposed thoroughfare.

Reese stated, "I think they were receptive. From the questions they asked and their interest, it was evident that they saw the need for the project."

The first study on the project was made in 1965 by the Urban Transportation Study, but no timetable was set.

Reese also commented, "It is our opinion that the traffic on U.S. 80 is not relieved by Interstate 20. It would also make easier access for Midland students to get to the University of Texas at the Permian Basin." The Highway Commission will study possible location and cost estimates for the project.

Ted Under Family Pressure To Forego Presidential Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ten years after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, his brother and political heir, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, is under increasing political and family pressure to forego a 1976 presidential bid.

Many Democratic leaders across the country, interviewed in recent weeks, would prefer that the Massachusetts senator stay out of a 1976 race they hope will return their party to White House control.

They fear that the lingering impact of the Chappaquiddick incident, in which a secretary in Kennedy's car drowned, could counteract the gains they expect to receive from voter reaction to the Watergate scandals of the Nixon administration.

A Kennedy candidacy, they say, could create an unnecessary note of division in what most party leaders hope can be a relatively united Democratic party.

In addition, even before his 12-year-old son's right leg was amputated last week in an effort to arrest bone cancer, Kennedy was under strong family pressure to forego a 1976 race.

The senator revealed this in an interview, filmed before his son was stricken but shown Wednesday on NBC's "Today" show. He said, "My wife Joan and my sisters, mother and nieces and nephews are uniformly against" a 1976 candidacy but that he hasn't made up his mind and imagined they would back whatever decision he makes.

He is the sole survivor of four Kennedy sons, two of them assassinated in the presidency or its pursuit. He has considerable family responsibility with three children of his own as well as the 13 fatherless children of his two brothers nearing maturity.

It was this family situation that prompted Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield to say on NBC's "Meet the Press" last Sunday that he hoped Kennedy doesn't run. However, Mansfield said he felt Kennedy could probably have the presidential nomination almost for the asking if he wants it.

SEN. EDWARD M. KENNEDY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jacqueline Onassis, widow of President John F. Kennedy, and her two children walk down the steps of the St. Bridget Church in Peapack, N.J., Thursday after attending services on the 10th anniversary of his assassination. The children are Caroline who will be 16 next Tuesday and John Jr., who will be 13 Sunday. Mrs. Onassis has a country home in Peapack.

Acting Atty. Gen. Bork Holding Job Illegally?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., says acting Atty. Gen. Robert H. Bork is holding his job illegally and wants President Nixon to take "appropriate action" to comply with the law.

The Wisconsin Democrat said in a letter to Nixon released today that Bork's "lawful tenure as acting attorney general is limited to 30 days and the 30 days was up this past Monday, Nov. 19."

Bork, who as solicitor general is the No. 3 man in the Justice Department, became acting attorney general Oct. 20 when Elliot L. Richardson and William D. Ruckelshaus resigned as attorney general and deputy attorney general.

A federal judge ruled in June that the acting head of the Office of Economic Opportunity, Howard J. Phillips, could not continue in office past the 30-day limit because Nixon did not submit his name for Senate confirmation.

In the Phillips case, U.S. District Judge William Jones ruled that the president's power concerning interim appointments, "if it exists at all, exists only in emergency situations."

The administration has taken the position that, since Bork is being acting attorney general by being the highest remaining Justice Department official rather than through appointment, the 30-day limit does not apply to Bork.

President Nixon has announced the choice of Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, as the new attorney general but has delayed sending the nomination to the Senate pending action on a measure to lower the attorney general's pay to its pre-1969 level of $35,000.

This action is necessary because the Constitution forbids the appointment of a member of Congress to a federal office whose salary was raised during his term in Congress.

Father Of Former Student To Visit

Yasushi Sakai, a Japanese professor and father of a former exchange student at Big Spring High School, will visit here Saturday.

Mrs. Jim Zike, who with her husband was host for Mariko Sakai in 1966 when she spent a year as a student here, is bringing Prof. Sakai from Tulsa, Okla., where the Zikes now reside.

An informal meeting has been set for 2 p.m. Saturday in the high school for friends of Mariko. Prof. Sakai is anxious to meet as many of them as possible.

Contest Is Off

Because of the impending energy shortage, the annual Christmas lighting contest sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce will not be held this year, Chamber Secretary Barbara Giles announced today.

DEATHS

Colorado City; a daughter, Mrs. Marion Kenny, Liberal, Kan.; a sister, Mrs. Zane Carter, Stephenville; a brother, Tommy King, Stephenville; and two grandchildren.

J. H. Pruitt
BALLINGER — Funeral will be at 10:30 a.m. Saturday in Ninth Street Church of Christ for John Henry Pruitt, 83, who was dead on arrival at a hospital here Thursday morning. Burial will be in Norton Cemetery directed by Allen Davis Funeral Home. Among survivors is a son, Curtis Pruitt, Lamesa.

BENTSEN TALK

Most other top Democrats would disagree. It is clear that Kennedy would have to battle other Democrats for the presidential nomination.

Sens. Henry M. Jackson of Washington and Walter S. Mondale of Minnesota are already out making soundings and Govs. John J. Gilligan of Ohio and Daniel Walker of Illinois are among many others expressing interest.

While a Kennedy decision to run would probably narrow the field, some of these would almost certainly run in any case.

Kennedy has indicated that he plans to campaign actively for fellow Democrats in 1974 but won't decide on a presidential race until the following year. He needs to do less advance preparation than other potential candidates because of the reservoir of Kennedy supporters around the country.

ARMY OF REFUNDERS Buys $10.23 Worth Of Food For Only $2.92

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — When Harry Heller was shopping recently, he bought $10.23 worth of food, but ended up paying only $2.92. His secret? He belongs to a growing army of shoppers who call themselves refunders.

HOW IT WORKS
Here is how it works: A refunder gets a coupon allowing him 10 cents off on an 89-cent package of rolls. Then he offers the coupon to the company also offers a money refund offer, say 50 cents. The refunder uses his 10-cent coupon and pays 79 cents for the rolls, then mails in his refund form and ends up paying just 29 cents.

Stores are reimbursed by the firms for product price reductions granted coupon-carrying customers.

Of course, for refunders there are also some drawbacks. Some of the most ardent of this new breed of consumers end up eating hot dogs and pancakes, maybe at the same meal, in exchange for the savings.

According to estimates from companies and consumers, there are some 10,000 ardent refunders throughout the country. They comb newspapers and magazines seeking refund coupons and become avid readers of boxes and bags hoping to find firms offering money back in exchange for box tops or labels.

The difference between a refunder and an ordinary coupon-clipper is dedication. Refunders must mail hundreds of letters a year for refunds and spend hours filling out forms.

The idea behind refunding is that hundreds of companies are ready to pay hard cash to have someone try their products. On everything from hot dogs to detergents there is a chance to make money.

Retired Cop Admits Lying To Jury Probing Payoffs

HOUSTON (AP) — Federal attorneys were mum but Houston police officers were stunned Thursday after a veteran police narcotics officer admitted Wednesday he lied to a federal grand jury investigating police payoffs.

Michael E. Chavez, 47, a 20-year veteran of the Houston Police Department narcotics division, pleaded guilty to federal perjury charges.

$50,000 BAIL

The plea could mean a speed up in a federal investigation into payoffs to city narcotics officers. But Ron Waska, an assistant U.S. attorney here, refused to say if the plea by Chavez meant he might be cooperating with federal authorities.

Officers who knew Chavez at the police department appeared shocked by the guilty plea. Police Chief Herman Short, who has denied charges of payoffs to his men, said Wednesday, "In that case, I don't know. If he (Chavez) did, he should be prosecuted."

Chavez was indicted Nov. 9 on charges he lied last December to a federal grand jury investigation alleged payoffs to city narcotics officers. He retired in June from the Houston department after 20 years of service, all of it in the narcotics department. He had been held in jail since Nov. 9 in lieu of $50,000 bail.

SLICED CAKE

Chavez pleaded guilty to one count of a three-count indictment for perjury. In addition to denying he had received money to keep from doing his duty, the indictment also claimed Chavez lied when he denied "slicing the cake" with convicted narcotics figure Sebastian Mirelez or discussing selling a pound of heroin with Mirelez and "splitting the profit four ways."

U.S. District Court Judge Woodrow Seals set sentencing for Jan. 2 Chavez could receive up to five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Chavez told the judge he had not been promised leniency by the U.S. attorney's office in exchange for the guilty plea but he said he was told the government would drop prosecution of the two remaining counts in the indictment.

Mirelez, who was charged with failure to report income on sales of heroin and evading $209,392 in federal taxes, pleaded guilty Oct. 29 to two of the counts.

During a preliminary hearing for Mirelez, an agent for the Internal Revenue Service said he was told by an informer that Mirelez had made hundreds of thousands of dollars in payoffs to Houston officers. The agent did not identify who the alleged payoffs went to, but later Chief Short did say the IRS was investigating Chavez and another officer who has not been charged.

$8.5 Million Bond Issue

HOUSTON (AP) — Regents of Pan American University have officially approved three major construction projects on the Edinburg campus and have set the wheels in motion to finance the improvements with an $8.5 million tuition revenue bond issue.

Meeting in Houston, the board gave the green light for construction of a multi-million dollar Learning Resource Center, a huge classroom and office complex and the addition of two 1,000-ton chillers for the cooling plant.

All projects are now on the drawing board and money to pay for the projects will be forthcoming from the $8.5 million bond issue which will be secured from tuition paid by students attending the Rio Grande Valley university.

Cassady Accepts $11,500 Offer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Former Ohio State and pro football star Howard "Hopalong" Cassady has settled his $1 million police brutality suit out of court for a reported $11,500.

The settlement, reached earlier in the week, must be approved by the City Council.

The suit stemmed from a traffic mishap Sept. 29, 1972, after which Cassady was charged with assault and battery on police officers, drunken and reckless driving and resisting arrest.

The ex-Detroit Lions back said he was beaten by two policemen after the incident. He was hospitalized for several days.

In July, Cassady was convicted of a hit-and-run charge in connection with the incident but acquitted of the other charges.

Getty Will Not Pay Thugs For Return Of Grandson

LONDON (AP) — Oil billionaire J. Paul Getty says he is standing firm on his refusal to pay kidnapers for the return of his 17-year-old grandson, missing in Italy for the past five months.

Although some police and relatives claim the disappearance of J. Paul Getty III is a hoax, a photograph purporting to show young Getty minus his right ear was circulated in Rome Thursday.

'I BEG YOU'

Along with the package of snapshots was a handwritten letter begging the elder Getty to pay the ransom in return for his grandson's release. It said:

"I beg you, grandfather, please forget my capriciousness and folly. Pay and I will be as you like for good. You, too, Papa. I beg you, forget our disagreements. Forgive me and help pay."

A spokesman for the boy's grandfather told newsmen: "Mr. Getty will never change his mind about his decision to pay nothing." The oilman, considered one of the world's richest men, has said giving in to ransom demands would open his other grandchildren to the dangers of kidnapers.

The youngster's father, who also lives in London, has agreed to pay an undisclosed ransom, according to his attorneys. Persons claiming to be kidnapers at one time demanded $17 million, but since have reportedly reduced the figure to $4.4 million.

IGNORANT

Thursday's note and photographs were made public by the Rome newspaper Il Tempo, which said its newsmen found them near the Rome-Naples expressway after an anonymous telephone caller told them where they were.

Police sources said investigators believe the pictures genuine and not retouched. They show a youth squatting on the ground, apparently in a small cave.

Getty vanished five months ago in Rome. A severed human ear and a lock of red hair recently were received through the mail in Rome along with a letter saying that the items were proof the boy had been kidnaped.

The boy's mother, former actress Gail Harris, appealed over Italian radio Thursday, begging the kidnapers to return her son and "conclude this painful ordeal."

A typewritten letter accompanying the pictures and signed "The Kidnapers" said: "We amuse ourselves cutting your son up piece by piece to send to you. We are not sadists, but the family insists on dealing with us as if we were little boys and, in their opinion, ignorant."

DEPUTIES LOOKING FOR POT—AGAIN

COQUILLE, Ore. (AP) — The Coos County sheriff's office is looking for 900 pounds of marijuana. Again.

Sheriff's officers confiscated the weed last month after it was found growing in a field. Two area residents were charged with criminal activity in drugs, and the Marijuana was held as evidence in a building regularly used to house road equipment.

Sheriff Tony Zarbano says the pot has disappeared. A spokesman for the district attorney said photographs would be used as evidence in lieu of the real thing.

House-Trained Pig Shares Lad's Bed

GRASSY KEY, Fla. (AP) — When Tim Andersen's pet wants to step outside for a few minutes, he doesn't go to the door and bark or meow.

Packer oinks. Mainly because he's a 350-pound, house-trained pig.

House trained!

"All I did was watch him close for about three days," explains 14-year-old Tim. "Everytime he would make a mess I'd rub his nose in it, spank him hard, and take him out."

"He's smarter than any dog you ever saw. I'll talk to him and he grunts right back," Tim says.

The porker shares Tim's bed and otherwise does what all good house pets are supposed to do, say Charlie and Verna Andersen, Tim's parents.

Tim acquired the pig while visiting a relative in Colorado last summer. He says he had dreamed for years of having such a companion.

Tim says Packer strolls about on a leash and defends against intruders. How? Just by walking fast toward them.

Packer is five months old and gaining four or five pounds a day.

"He'll grow to about 800 pounds," says Tim. "The size doesn't bother us... just more pet to love, I guess."

Mrs. Andersen says Packer is friendly enough with the family although he owes total allegiance to Tim.

Family Of Five Perish In Flaming Plane Crash

TUSTIN, Calif. (AP) — A family of five perished as their twin-engine aircraft crashed in flames en route to their Baja California vacation home, authorities said today.

The victims of the crash Wednesday in rugged terrain about 65 miles south of La Paz, Mexico, were identified as Harry Stanley, 53, a Tustin real estate agent; his wife, Ruth Estarza Stanley, 37; and their children Diana, 8, Anita, 6, and Connie, 4.

Victoria Estarza, mother of the dead woman, said Thursday in Tustin that Mexican authorities had told her that the Beechcraft plane Stanley was piloting "didn't land right."

"They told me the plane caught fire and my daughter and everybody else was badly burned. They said they are sending the bodies here in one casket," Mrs. Estarza said.

She said the Stanleys had a holiday home in La Capilla, near the tip of the Baja California peninsula, and had intended to return to Tustin after the Thanksgiving weekend.

Fail To Reach Agreement On Suez Cease-Fire Line

By The Associated Press

Israeli and Egyptian envoys met for two hours today at a desert highway checkpoint to discuss troop withdrawals from the Suez war front. They agreed to meet again Saturday.

U.N. sources in Cairo said the Saturday meeting would deal once again with the crucial issue of a cease-fire boundary acceptable to both sides. Negotiators had dealt with the same problem at a session Thanksgiving Day.

JUST BEGINNING

Radio Israel said Maj. Gen. Aharon Yariv and Egypt's Lt. Gen. Mohamed Gamsay resumed talks for the sixth time in a U.N. conference tent on the Cairo-Suez road, the tip of the Israeli front 60 miles from the Egyptian capital.

Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan warned that the Middle East war had not ended but was just beginning. In a speech before the Israeli Bar Association he urged fellow Israelis to have steady nerves in the event of new hostilities.

He said the Soviet Union had resupplied Syria and Egypt with weapons since the October fighting. "We are facing not the end of the war, but the beginning with the Syrians and the Egyptians, and I don't know about the other fronts," he declared.

CALL ELECTIONS

Foreign Minister Abba Eban returned from a visit to the United States and told newsmen the Israeli government had not yet decided whether it could attend a Mideast peace conference in December.

Eban said he had pointed out to U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and other officials that the government could not make significant commitments for the future until after the Israeli elections set for Dec. 31.

Israeli newspapers, summing up Thursday's meeting on the Cairo road, said the decision to continue daily talks signaled progress in the discussion of a principal issue: how to separate the opposing forces.

The key stumbling block in the talks continue to be disagreement over the drawing of a new cease-fire line as stipulated in the six-point accord worked out earlier this month during a visit to the Middle East by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Egypt claimed the Israelis made significant advancements after the first U.N. imposed cease-fire on Oct. 22 and has demanded that the Israeli forces return to where they were on that date.

But Israel said the positioning of the two armies on Oct. 22 cannot now be determined and has suggested the opposing forces return to their respective sides of the Suez Canal with a six-mile demilitarized zone on both banks.

Violence Growing Worse In Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — As violence grew worse in Mexico this week, including the temporary abduction of a government school director Thursday night, President Luis Echeverria urged calm and said the incidents were caused by a "small group."

An estimated 150 students detained National Polytechnic Institute Director Manuel Zorrilla Carcano for more than seven hours Thursday demanding 2,000 scholarships for an alleged equal number of youths who had no means to pay for their education.

Zorrilla Carcano, who had been held by the students in a school auditorium, told the students the school would not grant the scholarships and walked out unharmed when only less than 50 students remained.

Violence in the past four days included the ambush Monday of a military patrol in southern Guerrero state by alleged guerrillas which resulted in four troopers being killed.

In the northwestern state of Sinaloa on the Pacific Coast wealthy cattleman Tomas Echeverria (no relation to the president) Romero, 73, was kidnaped

Wednesday, police said. No demands have been made.

In Guadalajara, 300 miles west of here, an armed group Wednesday broke into an electronics machinery company and stole $40,000 worth of equipment.

Youth Symbolizes Revolt In Greece

ATHENS (AP) — Six tanks stood in Constitution Square, their cannons pointed at the crowd which had surged into the center of Athens. A youth, no more than 20, ran up to one, ripped open his shirt and shouted: "Strike here..."

CROWD CHEERS

The crowd cheered.

In challenging the tank, the defiant youth was a symbol of the Greek capital last week and prompted strongman President George Papadopoulos to declare martial law.

Reporters who witnessed the week's events agree the overwhelming majority of those involved were under 30, many of them high school and university students and young laborers. Thirteen persons died in the fighting which at its height touched virtually every square in Athens and left rubble in most streets in the heart of the city.

officials say privately that most of the students matured under their rule and their text books bear their symbol, a phoenix and a bayonet-bearing soldier.

Although the government claims to have made major concessions to the students, its propaganda in recent days has referred to the protesters as "an unhealthy minority of thugs and bums backed by the Communists." Universities have been closed and student associations disbanded.

DEFIANCE

In response there is continued and vocal defiance.

"Those who talk about our material well-being miss the point completely," said a woman law student. "This present revolt is primarily a revolt of intellect because the regime insults the intellect. Their false moralizing and attempt to pose as being free of corruption and violence leaves us unconvinced."

A 24-year-old engineer said: "If there were some anatics among the organizers last week, there will be many more the next time."

Independent observers noted last week that the demonstrators included members of a variety of political ideologies, including Communists, radicals, and even royalists.

Federal Formula Grant Announced For Hospital

A federal formula grant of $110,521 has been awarded to Big Spring State Hospital to provide bilingual counseling for in-patient alcoholic persons and follow-up counseling services for former patients and their families, Sen. Jack Hightower announced today. This is the second year of the program.

The Texas Commission on Alcoholism approved the grant application, effective Dec. 1. Grantee contributions amounting to $39,369 will bring the total project cost for one year to $149,890.

The project will demonstrate how adequate follow-up services as an adjunct to an in-patient program can improve the rehabilitative potential of alcoholics. The hospital will contract with the local Mental Health and Mental Retardation Centers in Lubbock, San Angelo, Midland and Odessa for the provision of follow-up services. The new portion of the program this year is that the hospital will also administer directly follow-up services in Howard, Ward, Pecos and Reeves counties.

Other goals of the project include providing a more meaningful treatment program for Mexican-Americans; reducing the incidence of re-admissions to Big Spring State Hospital; and increasing the flow of information to the in-patient staff on patients from target areas.

Project Director Jack Stovall expects that the project will reduce both admissions and re-admissions to the State Hospital by bridging the gap between long-term treatment and community treatment. The project is in its second year.

'Television Replaced Intimacy Of Family'

"There are five categories of social environment," said Jack Goble, guest speaker Monday for Cactus Chapter, American Business Women's Association. Goble is chief of security at Veterans Administration Hospital.

Goble said social environment categories are family, religion, education, industry and politics. He compared modern day ideas of each aspect with values of former years.

"Families don't communicate anymore," said Goble. "Television is the biggest cause of non-communication. With the intimacy of family-life gone, young people now seek alternates. Some alternates are good, and some are bad."

Goble said that unfortunately, many young people turn to drugs or liquor. He said good alternatives would include turning to God or making new friends. He said mental attitude has a lot to do with a person's happiness. "If a person gets up each morning thinking everything will go wrong, probably everything will go wrong," said Goble. "The person who gets up thinking everything will be great, is more likely to make a success of life."

Mrs. Cecil McDonald presided during business and announced a regional meeting is scheduled March 22-24 in Albuquerque, N.M.

Mrs. Gloria McComb, ways and means chairwoman, announced the "harvest sale" held recently at Highland Center Mall netted about $1,000 for the chapter. Members agreed to award two more scholarships with the proceeds.

Mrs. Sybil Speelman was a guest. The chapter will host a party Dec. 17 at Big Spring State Hospital in conjunction with the Kiwanis Club and Evening Lions Club.

A Christmas party is scheduled Dec. 10, 7 p.m. at the Non-Commissioned Officers Club at Webb AFB. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Sandra Bierley at 267-6678 or at 267-2579 (office).

Play To Win

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Please set me straight. Do you think it's wrong for a father to allow his eight-year-old son to win once in a while?

Father says he is going to play to win because that's what his father did to him. The child gets very upset when he loses to his father all the time. The child loves games like Monopoly and chess. What is your opinion?

A MOTHER: DEAR MOTHER: Father should play to win. But for a better reason than the one he stated. Children need to learn how to accept defeat with grace and good sportsmanship until they develop the skill to win fairly and squarely.

DEAR ABBY: My mother has been running to doctors all her life. Her complaints run from chronic stomach trouble, migraine headaches, high blood pressure, back trouble, to a variety of skin trouble. (shingles, eczema, psoriasis, and you name it.)

To make a long story short, my mother has become a self-appointed "expert" on everything pertaining to medicine and treatment. She doesn't hesitate to give out medical advice to her friends, and worse yet, she has a pill or ointment for everything.

When I tell her that she could cause more harm than good by giving her friends pills and salves, she says: "Relax, you need a tranquilizer," then she tries to force one on me. Will YOU please tell her to quit practicing medicine and pharmacy without a license? Thanks.

THE "DOCTOR'S" DAUGHTER: DEAR DAUGHTER: I'll tell her, but I can't guarantee a cure.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Probing Economic Crimes

Everyone has read shocking stories about the cost of crime — the billions lost to burglars, muggers, armed robbers, etc.

But this may be chicken feed compared to the cost of "economic crime." We don't really know, for economic crimes are rarely prosecuted or even detected.

Included in the lexicon of economic crimes are such antiquated devices as the butcher's Thumb-on-the-scales to more modern methods of bilking the consumer, such as injecting water into a chicken or ham to make it heavier — and costlier — when it freezes. Excessive charges for repair jobs on appliances or automobiles, fraudulent sales contracts, and other similar small-time swindles also take their toll.

At last somebody, besides the various consumer associations, is doing something about it. The National District Attorney's Association has formed a Committee on Economic Crime, funded with $53,175 from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, to war on the problem. Special programs will be developed, and information disseminated to prosecutors throughout the country. An attempt to enact uniform state laws, making prosecutions easier, will be made. And to get the ball rolling, a special team of 15 prosecutors throughout the country — including Houston — will add special aides to investigate and bring to trial economic crimes.

A particular target for the present will be cases of auto repair swindles. Techniques developed by those participating will be shared, and expanded into other economic crime areas. It is hoped the project will result in time in putting a crimp in such penny-ante but sordid business, to the benefit of all but the charlatans.

Director of the project, Nathaniel E. Kossack, observed that "People have as much right to be protected from being taken as from being mugged." Indeed they do — and the swindler deserves prosecution as much as the mugger. That means economic crime must get as much attention and effort from prosecutors as street crime.

Unusual Development

An unusual political development is taking place in England where the revitalized Liberal Party continues to show gains. This may reflect a disenchantment with the two main ruling parties, the Conservatives and the Labor Party.

In recent elections, the Liberals have wrested seats from both the Conservatives and the Laborites. In 12 by-elections over the past year and a half, the Liberals have chalked up more votes than either of the big two and have boosted Parliament membership from six to 11. This is nearly 100 per cent, but obviously the Liberals have a long way to go. They do reflect, however, that a growing number of voters feel disenfranchised within the major party structure, and that if the trend continues this minority could get to be a determining factor.

Ado About Nothing

Around The Rim

John Edwards

When big news breaks, reporters have to act fast. That was my thinking on a recent afternoon anyway when I saw Deputy Sheriffs M. L. Kirby and Bill Chadwell almost run to a patrol car. I followed and asked, "What's happening?"

"WE DON'T know yet," one replied, as a saved-off shotgun was pulled from the trunk of the car. I went back inside and heard Dispatcher Bernice Nail say something over the radio about Coahoma State Bank. After confirming this as the site of the incident, I made a half-run for the bright orange bomb that serves as my car.

If Coahoma State Bank was being robbed, I felt like a photo was in order and the Herald was on the way. So I picked up Chief Photographer Danny Valdez and Reporter Marj Carpenter, and we headed off toward Forsan.

After a short discussion of the shortest route to Coahoma, we changed directions. First, a woman driver prevented me from turning right on red. Then, all the lights went red as we tried to zoom away. I was prepared to run the last light when it changed to green.

My car was acting like it forgot how to go past 50 miles per hour when a trucker pulled in front of us.

WE ADVISED HIM of our sentiments and continued. It was like running a mile.

Danny was cramped into my cluttered, dusty back seat. Marj was sitting next to a pile of junk formerly occupying the front seat. And I was wondering whether my car or the highway patrolman we saw going the opposite way on IS-20 would stop us first.

At last, I sighted the one-mile-to-Coahoma sign. The next thing I noticed was a couple of deputy sheriffs moseying back to the courthouse.

Johnny Justiss, vice president of the bank, told me somehow, he didn't know how, the bank alarm had been set off.

When the bank alarm went off, the phone rang in the sheriff's office and a recorded announcement was played.

A call to the bank usually proves the alarm to be accidental, as a deputy sheriff heads to the bank.

This time, an employee at the bank put the sheriff's office on hold and in suspense.

Sadat's Diplomacy

Robert Novak

CAIRO — In a private talk with the British and French ambassadors one day after the Oct. 6 war started, President Anwar Sadat gave a careful definition of his war aims: first, a short advance into Israeli-occupied Sinai followed by defensive action to hold his position; next, a ceasefire; and finally, diplomacy.

"WE COULD go on fighting forever if we had to," Sadat said, "but we don't want to. We want to get our own land back by diplomacy. If we can't, we will have to fight." (This strategy was weakened by Israel's master military strike in driving to the west side of the Suez.)

The contrast with the late Gamal Abdel Nasser was stark: no threat to "drive Israel into the sea," typical Nasser hyperbole before the 1967 six-day war which, one Sadat intimate told us accurately, "cost us so much."

BUT THE MOST significant contrast between the two Egyptian leaders is Sadat's brilliant courtship of King Faisal of Saudi Arabia. If Sadat is to come close to achieving his goal of "getting our land back," the reason will be his clarity in understanding how essential Faisal's backing is to his own purpose.

Nasser exuded charisma and spouted revolutionary rhetoric which always played the grand theme of an Egyptian crusade leading the Arab death struggle against Israel. He talked himself and his country into deep trouble, feeding the skillful propaganda maw of his enemy in Tel Aviv. With enemies like Nasser, Israel scarcely needed friends.

BY CONTRAST, Sadat is manifestly, unashamedly bourgeois, non-revolutionary and Western in habit and thought, characteristics quite apparent in the current crisis. Last year he kicked the Russians out of his country, then intensified his courtship of the Arabian King, started in 1971.

That campaign culminated in a rare display of respect. Greeting the King on his trip to Riyadh in the middle of the war, he kissed the tip of Faisal's nose and his forehead — the highest mark of Arab respect.

A FEW EYEBROWS were raised here, but the gesture made exactly the point Sadat wanted: that the peninsula Arabs and the Mediterranean Arabs, so different in character and history, must hold together, and Faisal oil resources used for leverage.

Like-wise, when Libya's radical leader, Col. Muammar Qaddafi, came here several weeks before the war in a fabled effort to force his union with Egypt, Sadat was conveniently in Riyadh. Qaddafi's discomfiture was taken here as an amusing joke — just right for an upstart.

HE ADDED another condition that has been a sticking point for Israel. That was that Israel withdraw from most, "though not necessarily all," of the territories occupied at the end of the six-day war in 1967. This would be in accord with United Nations Resolution 242 about which Kissinger heard so much in every Arab capital he visited. "Not necessarily all" would presumably allow for the secure borders Israel considers vital to her existence.

BEYOND the conviction to support Israel, shown in nationwide polls to be widespread, a vacuum existed. The United States was not committed to make any move should the Jewish state be attacked. What we did do was to mount a massive airlift of military materiel. But beyond emotionalism and the repeated demonstration that Israel's friends will do all they can for her short of war, the relationship has been equivocal to such a point that both sides were capable of dangerous decisions.

Reports from Jerusalem tell of soul searching over the tragedy of this latest conflict and the fact that, as it turned out, the United States was Israel's only friend. The hardest blow from abroad came from Africa where Israel has put in so much money and effort. Eight African nations broke off relations and sided with the Arabs.

Her Kitchen Secret

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks you always hear the day after Thanksgiving:

"Well, the house looks a mess — but it was worth it."

"It certainly was. That was the nicest Thanksgiving dinner we ever had."

"You've been saying that for over 20 years now, John."

"Well, it has been true for over 20 years, Elizabeth. Men in my family are known for their ability to pick girls who get prettier and cook better every year."

"How many of us were there, did you say?"

"Eighteen altogether. That sounds like a lot. But in the old days, my grandfather once told me, we used to have 40 to 50 at a family reunion."

"In those days, John, your family didn't just breed like rabbits. They spawned like fish. Do you ever regret that we only had two children?"

"No, indeed. Considering the cost of a college education today, I'm eternally grateful for your forbearance in that respect. Anyway, two is a nice number — better than one and far better than none. You know, I've always thought that married people who don't have any children tend to get a little selfish as they get older."

"Many of them do, John. But, in any case, they all get lonelier."

"You know, Elizabeth, you don't have to go on cooking a big Thanksgiving dinner every year. I'd be glad to take you out and spare you all that work."

"I don't mind the work, John. A mother can fix a thousand meals for her family during the year, and nobody notices them. But if her turkey turns out well on Thanksgiving, everybody praises her as if she had passed a miracle. Besides, I'd rather spend Thanksgiving at home. It's my favorite holiday of all."

"Why is that, Elizabeth?"

"Well, the Fourth of July is too noisy, Easter is for little children and for showing off new clothes, and at Christmas everybody expects to get something for nothing — something they may want but don't really need. But to me Thanksgiving has a warmer and more truly religious feeling. People are simply grateful to God for what they have — and the fact that they can share it together."

She Has 'Detergent' Rash

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have had a detergent rash for some time. The doctor gave me a shot, some pills and an ointment which dries it up, but it keeps coming back and itches and then starts weeping.

I have tried different kinds of soaps. Nothing seems to make a difference. What can I put on it to dry it up once and for all? — Mrs. W.J.

Chances are that you'll find forget the idea of finding something "to put on it that will dry it up once and for all."

You aren't of course, the first woman to develop a detergent sensitivity. Call it a contact dermatitis if you wish, because that's what it is.

Sometimes medication can help relieve such troubles, or can make them less severe, but let's face realities. The best preventive is to avoid contact with whatever is causing the trouble.

Another thing to keep in mind: once such a sensitivity develops, the skin very often becomes sensitive to other things — primarily household chemicals, cleaning agents, polishes, etc.

Likewise, a moist, wet or sweaty skin is likely to be more sensitive than dry skin.

You say you've tried "different kinds of soaps." Do you mean soaps — or detergents? You might find that you tolerate soap but not detergents. (Or then again your skin may have become sensitive to soap as well as to detergents.)

My suggestion is to avoid all contact with detergents (and perhaps soaps, too). One way is to wear rubber or plastic gloves when washing dishes or otherwise using cleaning materials.

If you don't get rid of the rash entirely, you still may control it sufficiently so the ointment will keep you comfortable.

Dear Doctor: I belch constantly. I have been to the doctor several times and he is still puzzled. Could you give me your opinion as to what causes this? — Mrs. L.N.

The most common cause of excessive belching is the excessive swallowing of air. This can occur quite unconsciously among persons who eat rapidly or who are in the habit of talking while eating.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

I am a wife and mother and I have committed adultery. I have prayed to God for forgiveness many times, but this sin still bears on my mind, almost constantly. I have thought about going to a psychiatrist, but I know that God is the only One who can help me completely. What can I do?

D.A. What the Bible says about God in Hebrews 8:12 should encourage every penitent. The Lord there promises: "I will be merciful to them in their wrongdoings; and I will remember their sins no more."

Consider this analogy. To light a room, we don't give a second thought about getting rid of the darkness. The switching on of the bulb automatically takes care of that. Likewise, if you fill your heart and life with the truths of God and service to others in the name of Christ, your anxieties will be minimized if not completely eliminated.

God says He not only forgives those who have a repentant spirit and trust His Son as Savior, but He forgets that any charge was ever placed against them. God sees the believer then through the merits of Christ, and that means perfection. So if God forgets, shouldn't you?

Now it must be said — also that sometimes God employs means to accomplish His purposes. Not with our salvation, of course, but sometimes with our mental or physical well-being. If you do consult a psychiatrist, use that service as supplemental to the primary work of God's healing Spirit in your life.

Coal Rush In U.S.

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — While economists might disagree on the specific changes that the energy crunch will force upon the nation, they share a common belief that the United States will be more self-sufficient a decade or so from now.

"The Mideast embargo will be a Sputnik in its effect on the public," says Leif Olsen, First National City Bank economist. "We'll now move ahead with a determination comparable to that which put a man on the moon."

OLSEN REFERRED primarily to the development of domestic energy resources, some of which never have been tapped, others exploited only partially, and some which at the present time represent more of a potential than a reserve.

"This is a pretty ingenious country," said Walter Heller, expressing the view of many economists that the United States is often at its best when faced with a challenge.

"We'll develop our own resources, which are the equivalent of two or three Mideasts, and when we do I don't think energy will be a factor in slowing growth," said Heller, former chief economic adviser to Presidents Kennedy and Johnson.

OTTO ECKSTEIN, Harvard professor, consultant and former Johnson administration aide, agrees. "There'll be a major move toward coal, which will be cleaned up. There'll be development of tar sands, shale and the Alaskan Slope. And we'll move ahead on nuclear energy."

Pierre Rinfret, a consultant to business, believes "this will wake the country up. We'll stop penalizing the producer and we'll provide tax incentives to drill in the United States."

In his view, the country will soon begin a massive drive to improve its raw materials supplies, and Congress, while not becoming pro-business, "won't be against the producer."

BUT TURNING the goal into an achievement produces problems of time, which right now is in as short supply as energy itself. A nuclear electric generating plant, for example, might take eight years to build — after permission is obtained.

John McLean chairman and chief executive of Continental Oil Co., estimates the development time of a surface coal mine at two to three years, and an underground mine at three to four years. He believes Alaska pipeline deliveries are at least three to four years away.

Regardless of how quickly domestic resources are brought into use, there is a widespread feeling among economists that the days of low-priced energy are over, and that, consequently, so also are the days of energy waste.

"The price of energy has declined in the past 10 years relative to other prices," said Olsen. "This was the decade of air-conditioning in homes and cars, the electric knife and toothbrush. We dreamed up every way to use energy, un mindful of costs."

NOW, HE IS convinced, high prices will force us to be more careful and discriminating. The impact of shortages and high prices, he believes, will be as profound in their way as were plentiful supplies and low prices in the 1960s.

Many economists believe the ascendancy of environmental considerations will be sharply diminished in the immediate and distant future, with ecological and similar issues settling into equal ranking with production.

In the past five years, a period in which 10 to 15 refineries ordinarily would have been built, only one actually was constructed. Oilmen say the obstacle was environmental considerations.

OF IMMEDIATE and long-range importance is the effect of the energy shortage on the stock market. Rarely has a price break — and the present one is among the sharpest in history — been so clearly the result of one factor: oil.

The decline, coming as it does when it appears that most analysts believe prices already are far below their realistic levels, has left financial centers puzzled and fearful.

NOMINATED LBJ FOR PRESIDENCY

Assassination Scars Connally

By JIM BARLOW
Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — On Nov. 22, 1963, a burst of rifle fire in a Dallas street ended the life of one American politician and pushed another one into prominence.

The bullets killed the nation's 35th President, John F. Kennedy, and severely wounded Texas' 39th governor, John B. Connally.

HOUSEHOLD WORD

Until then, Connally had been a man of ability on a slow path upward, a political confidant and ally of Lyndon B. Johnson, holder of a subcabinet position and now first term governor of his state.

From then on, John B. Connally was a household word.

The son of poor parents, Connally was a campus wheel at the University of Texas where he attended law school and married one of the prettiest girls on campus.

From there came a career mostly in politics, as a trusted aide to Lyndon B. Johnson during his career as senator, presidential candidate and vice president.

Between his political chores, Connally gained a modest fortune working for Fort Worth oilman Sid Richardson as a lawyer and lobbyist.

At the 1960 Democratic Convention in Los Angeles it was Connally who placed Johnson's name in nomination for the presidency. When Johnson took the vice presidential nomination and was elected, Connally was named Secretary of the Navy, a post he held for less than a year before coming home to campaign for his first public office—governor of Texas.

GOOD JOB

He almost didn't make it. In a runoff for the Democratic nomination, Connally managed to squeak by a young populist named Don Yarborough by only 26 250 votes in a turnout of 1.1 million voters. In the general election he beat Republican Jack Cox by 132,011 votes but ran behind every Democratic U.S. House candidate in the state.

A poll in May, 1963 showed 54 per cent of Texas voters thought Connally was doing a good job.

But then came Dallas, where Connally suffered wounds in the chest, wrist and thigh from a single rifle bullet.

In December of 1963 after the shooting, the same poll found 79

JOHN CONNALLY JOINS GOP He Has Never Had To Look Back Politically

per cent of all Texans agreed Connally was doing a good job. He faced Don Yarborough again in 1964 and demolished him by a three-to-one margin.

From that point, Connally has never had to look back politically.

He again nominated LBJ for the presidency at the 1964 Democratic convention, and this time to cheers.

During the 1964 campaign he stumped for Johnson through the Midwest.

POWERFUL

Connally went on to serve three terms as Texas governor and once out of office, he attained tremendous power in the state.

Many political observers feel it was Connally's personal campaigning for Hubert Humphrey that put Texas in the Democratic column in 1968 when Richard Nixon was seemingly a shoo-in in the state.

Connally's critics—and there are probably as many in Texas as anywhere—say he helped Humphrey only after privately helping Nixon raise money earlier in the campaign—a claim Connally denies.

In 1971 Connally, still a Democrat, joined Richard Nixon's cabinet as Secretary of the Treasury. In 1972 he was out of the official Nixon family but heading Democrats for Nixon which helped lure voters into the Nixon landslide election effort.

In early 1973, Connally made it official by formally declaring he was a Republican—and doing it at a time when Nixon and the GOP was suffering battering over Watergate.

Whenever possible GOP candidates for the presidency in 1976 are mentioned, Connally's name is always in the forefront. But actually another Nixon favorite, the Rev. Billy Graham, might have been the first to boom Connally for the presidency, saying in 1963, "I think the Democratic Party should consider Connally for 1968."

Connally, when he's not out on a busy schedule of speeches across the country, lives in Houston in a quietly-modern home in the city's plush development.

When in town he drives himself to work in his Mercedes-Benz downtown to the law firm of Vinson, Elkins, Searls, Connally & Smith, which he joined after leaving the governor's office.

Vinson Elkins, as its usually called in Houston, is the nation's third largest law firm, one of the superpowers in the Texas establishment, and lawyer for such corporate biggies as Pan American, Occidental Petroleum, Texas Eastern Transmission and Halliburton.

A partner in Vinson Elkins was quoted recently as saying, "Everyone wants to hire him because everyone wants to get acquainted with John Connally."

Connally, who usually goes out of his way to comment on just about anything for reporters here, refused to be interviewed about the Dallas assassination or how it affected his career.

He said he had received 35 such requests and didn't have time to honor all of them. "I really don't want to talk about the whole thing, anyway," he added.

A year after his wounding, he told a questioner "how much (of his rise in political fortunes) is attributable to this experience. I am unable to say."

Associates of Connally say they believe the experience in Dallas has definitely affected how he feels about public life.

Connally said several times after his wounding he seriously considered quitting public life.

A close political associate—a Democratic officeholder who still counts on Connally as a confidant despite the switch in party—had this to say about the Dallas incident:

"A lot of people think John Connally is really being coy with the public. When there was so much speculation about John being named to replace Agnew, most people thought he was just playing games when he said he wasn't interested in the job."

"But I believe that while John — like anybody else — wants to be where the power is, I really think this terrible experience still lingers in his mind and he would be equally happy never to be a potential target again."

Cost Estimates To Be Weighed

LAMESA — Dawson County commissioners will consider cost estimates of moving utilities from the right-of-way of FM 1066 at their regular meeting Monday in the Lamesa courthouse. Miscellaneous items will also be considered.

Rehab Center Slates Clinic

The Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, in cooperation with the Howard County Easter Seal Society, will conduct its next orthopedic clinic Saturday, Dec. 1. The clinic begins at 9 a.m., and parents of children may pre-register by calling the center (267-6387) or register until 12 noon the day of the clinic. No charge is made for services.

The clinic will be under the supervision of the center's Medical Advisory Committee comprised of Dr. Pete Rhymes, chairman, Dr. Roscoe B. Cowper, Dr. W. A. Riley, Dr. Neil Sanders, Dr. Louise Worthy and Dr. Robert Sheldon. The medical director of the clinic will be Dr. Rhymes, orthopedic surgeon. Dr. B. R. Owen will be the pediatrician. All new patients to the clinic must be seen between 9 and 10 a.m., otherwise the pediatrician will not be able to see them.

All children up to 21 years of age are eligible to attend. This will include children from the surrounding area as well as from Big Spring and Howard County. It is hoped that children from Lamesa, Colorado City, Snyder, Lorraine, Stanton, Sterling City, Garden City and other cities as well, will benefit from this clinic, said Jim Thompson, therapist.

Parents of children who wish to have their children seen should contact their family physician in order to have them referred. If they do not have a physician they should contact the center or register the day of the clinic, Thompson explained.

Purpose of the clinic is to offer a diagnostic and evaluation service to crippled children through the team approach. The team will consist of an orthopedic surgeon, pediatrician, physical therapist, occupational therapist, speech therapist, public health nurse and brace man. The clinic will help to determine what kind of treatment is best for the child. The child might need one or a combination of the following types of treatment: Physical therapy, surgery, braces, corrective shoes, drugs or a home exercise program.

It is hoped that children who have so far not been treated may be located and treatment begun, said the therapist. It is essential that children who are eligible for the state crippled children program be seen by a physician, who is a member of the Board of Physicians approved by the State Crippled Childrens Division, before they can be placed under this program. Children who attend this clinic will be eligible to apply for the State Crippled Childrens Program.

18 FATALITIES Texas Traffic Toll Climbing

By The Associated Press

Violence took a steady toll through the fore part of the Thanksgiving weekend in Texas, and the number of deaths appeared certain to rise as holiday travelers return home.

The grim count reached 23 fatalities today. It included 18 in traffic accidents, which kept occurring despite fuel shortages and gasoline station shutdowns at many points.

Tabulations of the deaths started at 6 p.m. Wednesday and will end at midnight Sunday.

These were among the victims:

Three men died Thursday when a car and a pickup truck collided on the John F. Kennedy bridge linking Corpus Christi and Padre Island. They were William McKinley, 45, and Christopher Ousley of Corpus Christi and Rick Hood of Aransas Pass. Dennis H. Baker, 25, of Houston, driver of a car that plowed into the wreckage, suffered minor injuries, police said.

HIT-AND-RUN

Police surrounded a house in Harlingen from which they said a man was firing aimless pistol shots, and they reported he killed himself Thursday night after the officers spent more than an hour and a half trying to talk him into surrendering the gun. Police Chief Guy Anderson identified him as Sildviano Sanchez, 23, and said he had been drinking.

A hit-and-run driver, losing control of his car at high speed on a residential street in San Antonio, killed two children Thursday and critically injured two others. Killed were Cheryl Mollett, 10, and her brother Darrell, 7. Anthony Mollett, 8, a brother of the dead children, and Aaron Williams, 12, of Seguin were injured. Police mounted a search for the driver.

Kim Richardson, 13, of Kirbyville was killed Thursday when a 12 gauge shotgun being unloaded from a car accidentally discharged. The charge struck her in the chest.

QUARREL

A car-pickup truck collision 8½ miles south of Seguin killed Jose Manuel Castron, 26, of Austin late Thursday. Six other persons were injured.

Johanna M. Golden, 43, of Alvin was killed Thursday when the car in which she rode overturned on Texas 6. The accident occurred two miles west of Arcola in Fort Bend County.

Edward B. Cox, 49, of Houston was shot to death Thursday after a quarrel with a man at a Houston residence. Police held a 21-year-old suspect.

At Alice in South Texas, a car bearing nine members of a Mesquite and Dallas family ran off U.S. 281 and into a ditch Thursday. Bobby Diaz, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jose Basilio Diaz of Mesquite, a Dallas suburb, died in the accident.

Tommie Lee Hatfield, 62, of Seadrift was walking along Texas 185 at Seadrift Wednesday night when he was struck by a car and killed.

Airport Baptist Banquet Highlights Church Building Fund Drive In Progress

By MARJ CARPENTER
The Reverend Clayton Hicks, chaplain at the Veterans Administration Hospital, was the guest speaker for the Thanksgiving Banquet held Thursday, November 13, at Airport Baptist Church, 1208 Frazier.

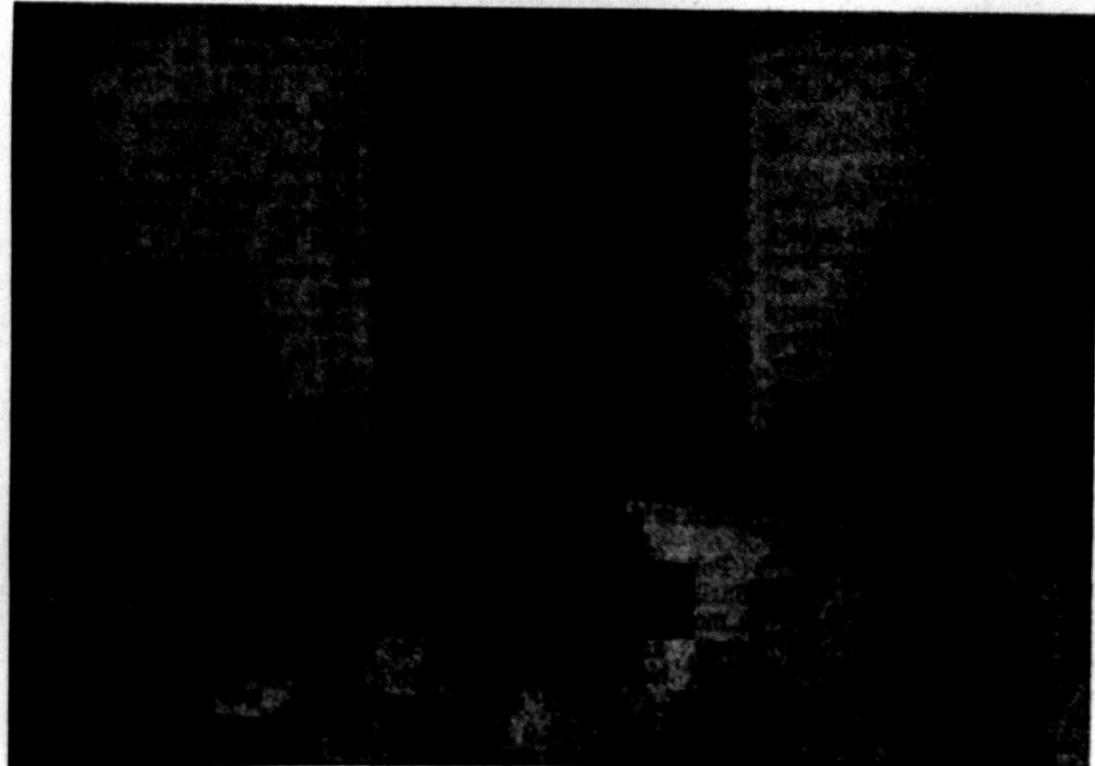

present for the Thanksgiving message by Chaplain Hicks on the sin of ingratitude and the importance of being thankful. The table fare included the traditional turkey and dressing, fruit salad, green beans, yams, tossed salad, hot rolls, and pie. The tables were decorated in the Thanksgiving motif enhanced by Scripture quotations on Thanksgiving. The centerpiece included a handwoven fish basket, one of the Christian symbols, overflowing with Indian corn, squash, and fruits of the fall harvest. The girls from the intermediate and young people's division of the church served the guests, who came from as far away as Colorado City, Alabama, and Labrador. The purpose of the banquet was to afford a time to bring an offering of Thanksgiving to be applied to the Airport Building Fund, which is being used to remodel an educational wing of the church. A goal of $3,600 has been set by the church, with $1,414.70 being received in the banquet offering.

Carroll Kohl brought the topic, entitled, "The Reformation." Mrs. Moran Applegard gave the devotional. Plans were made for a Christmas progressive party and a Chinese auction. A work day was scheduled. A gift was voted to be sent to the Good Samaritan Home at Cypress. Mrs. A. A. Graumann and Mrs. Vineyard served refreshments.

Plastic Surgeon Fails To Change Inner Spirit

By GEORGE W. CORNELL AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — As a plastic surgeon, Dr. Maxwell Maltz discovered that although he could make people look great on the outside, they often still felt terrible on the inside. "Even though I would get marvelous results, the patients wouldn't be happy. I wondered what it was all about. It puzzled me."

That questioning, through many cases in which patients were smoothed up externally but who remained inwardly marred, turned Maltz from working not just to repair the flesh but to restore the spirit. "It opened up a whole new horizon to me," he says. "I came to realize that the inner scars were far more disabling to more people, but that they could remove them with a little compassion and respect for themselves."

Acting on that premise, based on religious concepts of the divine value of each individual, Maltz has built up a wide-spread extra-professional practice of teaching inner-improvement through awareness of the "God-like quality in self." "It's a spiritual thing," he said in an interview. "It's not a new religion or a cult, but the active application of fundamental principles that sustain our sense of worth and dignity." Maltz' method for doing it — now used in numerous programs in industry, universities and churches — first was detailed in a 1959 book, "Psycho-Cybernetics," and is elaborated in a new Grosset & Dunlap volume, "The Search for Self-Respect."

Kentwood Church Offers Special Chili

Members of the Kentwood United Methodist congregation are asking all families not affiliated with a church to join them Sunday evening at their first family night.

There will be something special — chili a la Hog Scald Hollow.

This is from a recipe which originated at Hog Scald Hollow in Arkansas and was smuggled out by the Rev. Fred Witta, pastor, who says that it is the result of "men from Texas and Arkansas getting together for a Soweste-Ozark blend of chili." The concoction will be complemented by Mrs. John Whitaker's famous beans.

Mrs. Joe Hamby, newly-elected chairperson of the administrative board, extended all in the Kentwood area an invitation to come to the affair

Sad Ratings Note Hit By Sinatra

NEW YORK (AP) — The man with the ax was loose again this week, but not because of Thanksgiving. In fact, he ruined Thanksgiving Day for the stars and staffs of five ABC-TV shows.

His ax, also known as a cancellation notice, fell on a pair of five-season veterans — "Room 222" and "Love, American Style."

'ADAM'S RIB'

It also fell on the second-season "New Temperatures Rising," as well as on two newcomers — "Griff," Lorne Greene's detective show, and "Adam's Rib," a lawyerly love series.

The chop, effective in mid-January, raises to six the number of shows ABC has canceled so far. It smote "Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice" last month.

If you keep track of such things, ABC now leads in this season's cancellation derby, followed by NBC, which has lopped four shows off its schedule, and CBS, which has axed three.

All the NBC and CBS cancellations involved new shows. It makes for an amazing casualty toll: out of 13 programs canceled so far, 10 have been first-season offerings.

Be that as it may, ABC is going to try, try again in mid-January and February with four new half-hour series and two hour-long series that now make irregular appearances.

'THE COWBOYS'

The new half-hour shows are "The Cowboys," based on the recent John Wayne Western of the same name; "Firehouse," a fire-fighting series; "Chopper One," a police-in-a-helicopter show; and "Happy Days," a nostalgia comedy set in the late 1950s and concerning a family growing up then.

The 60-minute shows are "The Six Million Dollar Man" and "Doc Elliott," which will appear each week on Saturday and Wednesday nights, respectively.

All but "The Cowboys" will premiere in the week starting Jan. 14. The Western show kicks off on Feb. 6.

Deadline Posted For Knott Mail

Postmaster Susie Mae Harrell today urged residents of Knott to post their domestic and foreign Christmas mail one to two weeks earlier than the Postal Service originally recommended. In this way the energy shortage will not interfere with on-time deliveries.

The new deadline for posting domestic first-class Christmas mail is Dec. 8 rather than Dec. 15, as previously announced. Domestic surface parcels, except those for Alaska and Hawaii, should be mailed by Dec. 3, instead of Dec. 10. To Alaska and Hawaii, mail by Nov. 23 instead of Nov. 30.

Airmail parcels and letters within the United States (except Alaska and Hawaii) should now be posted no later than Dec. 15, rather than Dec. 21. To Alaska and Hawaii, mail by Dec. 13, rather than Dec. 20.

NO LONGER RAISING HOGS Bille Sol: I'm Happier Than I've Ever Been

EDITOR'S NOTE: Once a flamboyant financier, Bille Sol, Estes refuses interviews these days because of restrictions imposed by his parole from federal prison. He did talk, however, in a recent encounter with a newsmen who was present every time Estes appeared in various courts. Here are some of the things he had to say.

By FINIS MOTHERSHEAD
Associated Press Writer

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Friends said all along that you can't keep a bouncy character like Bille Sol Estes, the original wheeler-dealer, down on the farm, and they were right.

A little more than two years after emerging from prison where he served time for fraud and conspiracy, Estes now is 48 years old, a grandfather for the first time, and a busy individual indeed.

FLAT TIRES
As he dined with his wife and their sizeable family at a public eating place the other day, he pushed back a stray lock of curly black hair and declared with a wide grin, "I'm happier than I've ever been."

What is he doing nowadays? Estes said one pursuit is a part-time job approved by his parole officer during the summer as a dispatcher for Permian Petroleum Co. of Andrews, Tex., which deals in liquefied gas, gasoline and diesel fuel. Owner Marion Goodson said his dispatcher locates the products and routes trucks to customers when they're needed.

Estes acknowledged that the current energy crisis causes problems on occasion.

BILLE SOL ESTES
Crazy About Mexican Food

"Our stations keep after me for deliveries," he said, "and some of them fuss about having to fix flat tires (presumably to supplement income)."

GOOD BEEF
To a question about how else

he spends his time, Estes said merely that he devotes all he can spare to raising cattle.

After serving a little more than six years of a 15-year prison term, Estes went free under several of the couple's daughters have married and their husbands were present along with friends.

In a jovial mood, Estes introduced one of his sons-in-law to borrow the guitar of a girl entertainer at the cafe and sing several ballads in duets with the young man's mother. Another son-in-law took a solo turn, responding to Estes' applauding requests for encores.

"You know, I like to eat," Estes remarked. "And this is the best food of all—Mexican food. I could eat it three times a day."

Even for breakfast? His soft reply: "When you've been in jail, it tastes good any time."

stipulations that he engage in a national enterprise without advance approval.

He went first to raise hogs on an Abilene area farm owned by a dentist brother, Dr. John L. Estes, associates said.

"But we've had to give up on the hogs," Estes told a reporter, "because you can't get hands to help any more. That's why we're raising cattle—keep the fences up, and they'll look after themselves."

In the present operation, he said, the practice is to cross-breed Hereford and Angus cattle, occasionally infusing Brahman blood.

"The packers say this produces a good beef animal," Estes went on.

His familiar-horn-rimmed glasses covered his eyes and he was wearing a trim red sports jacket with dark slacks.

GAY MEAL
A newsmen found Estes and his blond wife Patsy gathered for a gay evening meal with their four daughters and son at a Mexican food place where Mrs. Estes is hostess and cashier. His listed owner is Ray K. Horton of Midland, who identifies himself as a personal friend of the Estes.

Several of the couple's daughters have married and their husbands were present along with friends.

In a jovial mood, Estes introduced one of his sons-in-law to borrow the guitar of a girl entertainer at the cafe and sing several ballads in duets with the young man's mother. Another son-in-law took a solo turn, responding to Estes' applauding requests for encores.

"You know, I like to eat," Estes remarked. "And this is the best food of all—Mexican food. I could eat it three times a day."

Even for breakfast? His soft reply: "When you've been in jail, it tastes good any time."

"The whole problem revolves around criminal opportunity," he says. He cites a 24 per cent drop in burglaries in Midland for 1972 as proof that he knows what he's talking about.

On a citizen's request, Johnson will go to the home, list its security hazards and make recommendations for correcting them, such as certain types of locks for windows and doors or outside lighting to discourage burglars.

'Ethnicity' In Diseases Is Studied

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A black doctor who has studied the effects some diseases have on members of his race says there is an "ethnicity" to some illnesses.

"This is not to imply racial inferiority," said Dr. Richard A. Williams. "But high blood pressure is the greatest killer of blacks, and we have to do something about it as a matter of survival."

Williams, who says he has compiled the first textbook on diseases that particularly affect blacks and white specialists who participated in the two-day

John Beauregard Johnson Memorial Symposium on Hypertension and other Black-Related Diseases.

Johnson was a black cardiologist and researcher at Howard University who recently died of hypertension.

Other specialists at the conference here said high blood pressure, or hypertension, is twice as prevalent among blacks as among whites and that the death rate for blacks under the age of 50 is five times higher than that for whites.

Dr. Jeremiah Stamler of Chicago said hypertension, while a common disease in the United States generally, is an "acute problem in the low-income community where people see doctors less often and have less effective long-term medical care."

He urged that high blood pressure screening be incorporated as a part of comprehensive health maintenance programs for these populations.

"We are all aware of certain diseases, such as sickle cell anemia and high blood pressure, which inordinately affect black people," said Williams, who is assistant medical director at the Martin Luther King Jr. Memorial Hospital in Los Angeles.

"However, there are many other diseases which are similarly devastating to the black population" which are often unrecognized by doctors who treat blacks, he said.

Traffic Safety Experts To Meet

Traffic safety coordinators from throughout West Texas will meet here for a two day "rap session" on traffic problems Tuesday and Wednesday at the Dora Roberts Community Center.

Susan Thomas, Big Spring traffic safety coordinator, will host her counterparts from cities such as Odessa, Abilene, El Paso, Amarillo, Lubbock, San Angelo and Brownwood. About 10 are expected to attend.

To be very informal, the session will give the coordinators a chance to discuss problems in their respective towns and to gain insight and knowledge from the other coordinators.

A representative from the state will also be present, Mrs. Thomas said.

Job Is Solving Crimes Before They Happen!!

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — Give Police Sgt. Fred Johnson an opening and he'll drive his crime prevention van through it.

His job is solving crimes before they happen. He uses the van, purchased with a grant from Governor Dolph Briscoe's Criminal Justice Council, to travel over the 17-county Permian Basin State Planning Region, giving programs and rendering assistance to police departments on crime prevention.

In the van he transports displays of locks, alarms and other devices to show his audiences how to make it harder for a burglar to succeed. The project stresses home security.

and Johnson gets help from various groups in spreading the word.

"The whole problem revolves around criminal opportunity," he says. He cites a 24 per cent drop in burglaries in Midland for 1972 as proof that he knows what he's talking about.

On a citizen's request, Johnson will go to the home, list its security hazards and make recommendations for correcting them, such as certain types of locks for windows and doors or outside lighting to discourage burglars.

the ace of clubs was knocked out, and South wasted no time in trying for his ninth trick via a diamond finesse. He entered dummy with the ace of spades and led a diamond to the jack. West took his queen and forced out the ace of hearts, and no matter what South did thereafter, he could come to no more than the eight tricks he started out with.

The diamond finesse was a reasonable enough shot for the ninth trick, but there was a better line available due to the fact that North held the diamond nine. Declarer should spurn the finesse in favor of playing the ace, king and jack of diamonds. This line is certain to succeed in any of the following circumstances: 1) If either defender has a doubleton queen of diamonds; 2) If either defender has a doubleton ten of diamonds; 3) If the diamonds divide 3-3.

In either of the latter two cases, the nine of diamonds becomes the game-going trick while the ace of spades is still in dummy as an entry. In the actual hand, after dropping the ten of diamonds on the second round, declarer continues with the jack, forcing out the queen. The nine of diamonds is now high, and declarer can cash it when he is in dummy with the ace of spades. His only losers are two hearts, a diamond and the ace of clubs.

With 24 points and a perfectly balanced hand, South was absolutely maximum for his opening bid of two no trump. North had just enough to raise to game.

West made his natural lead of the jack of hearts, East unblocking the queen as declarer won the king. There were eight tricks on top once the bidding:

South West North East

Opening lead: Jack of ♠

There are various explanations why the nine of diamonds became known as the "Curse of Scotland". Among the more popular is that the order for the Massacre of Glencoe was signed on the back of this card. In today's hand, however, that card should have proved to be South's salvation.

With 24 points and a perfectly balanced hand, South was absolutely maximum for his opening bid of two no trump. North had just enough to raise to game.

GONZALES, Tex. (AP) — Donald Jackson, 28, of San Antonio was killed about 9 p.m. Wednesday when his car ran off a U.S. 90A curve and rolled down an embankment about a mile west of here in South Texas.

Jackson was thrown out and the vehicle crushed him. Two companions were believed to have escaped serious injury.
