Sunday Closings Of All Gas Stations Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon scheduled a televised energy address to the nation Sunday night in which he planned to order the Sunday closing of all gasoline stations, informed sources said.

Administration sources said the service stations would be directed to close from 9 p.m. Saturday night to midnight Sunday night each weekend as a move to discourage unnecessary driving and gasoline consumption.

Nixon's speech was scheduled for 6 p.m. (Big Spring time) Sunday, and the closings were not expected to affect this weekend's driving.

The President was also expected to announce a cutback in the allocation of home heating oil.

WARM ISSUE

The sources said Saturday the aim was to reduce consumption of home heating oil in residences by 15 per cent, in commercial buildings by 25 per cent and in industry by 10 per cent.

But these sources said Nixon would not impose any direct rationing of gasoline or other fuels to the consumer and would not announce any new fuel taxes or price increases.

Such measures remain under consideration within the administration but have not yet been proposed to the President, the sources said.

They said Nixon was expected to take the following steps:

—Urging petroleum refineries to reduce their production of gasoline and increase their production of home heating oil, diesel and jet fuel and residual oil, the heavy fuel used by industry and power plants.

—Direct gasoline stations to close on Sundays.

SPEED LIMIT

—Cut back the distribution of home heating oil.

—Impose lower speed limits on interstate highways built with federal aid and ask the states to reduce speed limits as well; the President was expected to propose speed limits of 50 miles per hour for passenger cars and 55 miles per hour for trucks and buses, taking into account their different characteristics.

AIR-TAXI

—Nixon was expected to sign into law the mandatory petroleum allocation bill passed by Congress, requiring him to submit a comprehensive program for allocating, at the wholesale level, all petroleum fuels.

At present, propane gas, home heating oil, diesel and jet fuel are allocated, while gasoline and residual oils are not.

—Nixon was expected to urge voluntary reduction of nonscheduled aircraft flights such as private flying, corporation flying and air-taxi service, as a bid to reduce the use of jet fuel. Scheduled airlines have already begun reducing their flights.

Administration sources said other measures were under consideration for early action but had not been decided, as of Saturday.

They said the President might proceed soon to impose mandatory allocation of residual oil, the fuel facing the most immediate problems.

An Interior Department study predicted that residual fuel supplies would become critically short as early as Dec. 3 unless corrective action is taken.

SHORTAGES

Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton told newsmen last Wednesday that shortages of residual oil, if allowed to develop, could cause widespread electrical brownouts or even a series of blackouts, particularly in New England or the Middle Atlantic states.

The administration also may ask for voluntary reductions in decorative lighting, including Christmas lighting and commercial advertisement lighting except for signs needed to identify business establishments.

But it had not been decided Saturday whether this appeal would be made directly by the President or by his top energy adviser, John A. Love.

It also remained uncertain whether Nixon would renew his appeal to Congress to authorize increased oil production from the Elk Hills Naval Petroleum Reserve in California. This move has encountered some resistance in Congress even though the Pentagon has had to tap U.S. domestic production for its own needs to replace petroleum which it usually purchases abroad.

Nixon Trying To Deceive Americans About Crisis?

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker Carl Albert says President Nixon is trying to deceive Americans about the real causes and severity of the energy crisis and is failing to take steps "to avert a major recession."

The United States faces "a crisis of immense proportions" but Nixon "has once again chosen not to be candid with the American people," Albert said in a 7,000-word statement released Saturday.

WRONG-HEADED

Albert accused Nixon of promising more than can be delivered, of taking energy-conserving actions that "are more cosmetic than meaningful," and of trying to blame Congress for problems.

"In reality, the burden of responsibility for negligence and lack of foresight truly lies far more heavily on the administration," Albert said. The Oklahoma Democrat argued that Congress "has been at work on energy problems and is well ahead of the President."

Albert charged: "The administration's wrong-headed policies with regard to oil import controls, mishandling of price control authority, confused and disjointed leadership, failure to create energy reserves and contingency plans in the face of obvious political instability in the Middle East, and general lack of foresight and careful planning have been the primary factors in creating the difficult situation in which our nation now finds itself."

FAITH FIRST

Congress will cooperate with Nixon in solving energy problems "if this is possible," Albert said, but "if forced by the President into choosing between being honest with the people and cooperating with the administration, the Congress must of necessity choose to maintain faith with the people."

TORNADOES, FLASH FLOODING Lightning Strikes Stadium During Rice-TCU Grid Game

By The Associated Press

Lightning struck Amon Carter Stadium at Fort Worth Saturday during the Rice-Texas Christian football game as weather more like a violent spring day than a calm fall swept vast reaches of Texas.

The lightning struck an upper tier of the stadium which was empty because of a severe thunderstorm. Spectators had retreated underneath the stadium for protection and no one was hurt.

The stormy weather brought tornadoes, heavy rains, hail, blowing dust and some flash flooding.

On the southeast corner of the state, residents were warned of high tides. All during the day, an area from Del Rio on the middle Rio Grande, to Wichita Falls on the north and east to around Gainesville underwent crisscrossed lines of thunderstorms with some street flooding in places.

STORMS

Rain fell also in parts of the Panhandle and east of San Antonio, and in a large crooked storm line from Victoria to Houston to College Station and on east.

Five tornado watches were issued during the day.

Each tornado watch was for a 140-mile swath—south of Austin to east of Fort Worth, Big Spring to Wichita Falls, Del Rio to Brownwood, Abilene to Paris, and a stretch mostly in Arkansas and Oklahoma but including the Texas counties of Fanning, Grayson, Hunt, Bowie, Delta, Franklin, Hopkins, Lamar and Red River.

Flash flooding was forecast for North Central and North-east Texas and north and east in Arkansas and Oklahoma.

The new rains could cause trouble on rivers in Northeast Texas which largely were bank full already.

GOLF BALLS

A tornado was reported just south of Cisco just before noon but authorities could not confirm that it touched ground. Yet hail the size of golf balls fell in that area.

Hail also fell at Springtown, Weatherford and Palo Pinto. A tornado was sighted in the afternoon in south central Wise County, another was seen briefly on the west side of Fort Worth. Hail fell on the south edge of Fort Worth.

Winds blasted parts of West Texas. The Midland region reported 60 miles per hour gusts which is near hurricane speed of 74 m.p.h., which kicked up dust. The Snyder-Colorado City region also reported dust with visibility down to less than a mile.

Winds of 40 m.p.h. hit the Coastal Bend country.

The winds were set off by a cold front which collided with moist, warm, unstable air.

Colder weather could be expected. Temperatures at 1 p.m. were 51 at far east and south as Wichita Falls, while McAllen reported 89 degrees at the same time, and upper-80 readings were common in South Texas.

Strong southerly winds on the coast caused tides to run two to three feet above normal from Sabine Pass to the Jefferson County line. This is low country where such seemingly moderate high water can cause flooding.

TAPER OFF

The tides threatened Texas 87 west of Sabine Pass to the Jefferson County line.

The Weather Service said the stormy weather was expected to taper off during the night and Sunday with the front then stretching probably from Texas to Laredo.

Cooler temperatures and partly cloudy skies were predicted north and west of the cold front.

A SPECIAL MOTHER AND BABY — Mrs. Gail Roszart, of Los Angeles, Calif., confined to a wheel chair since she was stricken with polio when she was five-years-old poses with her two-week-old daughter, Leigh Anna. Doctors never said it couldn't be done, only that it shouldn't be; but Mrs. Roszart and her husband, Terry, were determined to have a baby after repeated visits to adoption agencies proved in vain. Delivered by Caesarian section Leigh Anna weighed 5 pounds, 1 ounce.

Excitement, Frightment At Same Time

TORRANCE, Calif. (AP) — Doctors didn't say it couldn't be done, only that it shouldn't be. But Gail Roszart and her husband Terry were determined to have a baby — and adoption seemed unlikely.

"It was excitement and frightment at the same time," Mrs. Roszart recalls of her pregnancy. Why? Because she had been paralyzed from the waist down for 23 years — the result of being stricken by polio at age 5.

Doctors had long ago warned the Roszarts that a pregnancy might create serious respiratory problems because of her weak lungs. Carrying the unborn child for all those months also might be a strain, the doctors said.

"I think we hit all the adoption agencies in Southern California," says Terry, a research engineer. "They gave excuses like there are not enough babies to go around, but they didn't feel Gail was capable of caring for a child and they never investigated what she could do and how far she could go," he said in a recent interview.

Says the proud mother: "I plan to give the baby as much freedom as I possibly can so she doesn't feel restricted by my handicap."

Reviewing the . . . Big Spring Week . . . with Joe Pickle

Those who longed back in September for a warm, dry autumn have more than realized their wish. Here it is two weeks past the average killing frost date and until now Spring weather has prevailed. Those who defoliated cotton and stripped it early may have been the wise ones, despite added cost. A wind such as Saturday's will knock some cotton on the ground, load the remaining with sand that adds weight to seed cotton hauled to gin. Quality and stable remains generally high, but the price base eases off a bit. Still, it looks like the best money crop in history.

Ralph McLaughlin, long active in civic and business affairs, has been selected as the nominee for president of the Chamber of Commerce after Winston Wrinkle withdrew his name for health reasons. McLaughlin represents the new generation of civic leadership steadily assuming responsibility.

A welcome sign was the rising of steel girders at the new HCA hospital in western Big Spring. Progress on this major project has been remarkable. From all signs, work on this structure got started just in time for orders of materials to be firm or delivered. Only now do most

THE ENERGY RACE: CAN WE WIN IT?

Cold, Darkening Gloom Begins To Settle Over Texas

Editor's Note: Texans are preparing for an energy crisis. Some are preparing down the hatch, some with resolve, some with despair, some with bitterness. This report represents contributions from an AP task force across the state in addition to material supplied by AP member newspapers.

By JIM BRIGANCE Associated Press Writer

The once-lighted dome on the state Capitol at Austin is dark. Lubbock police cars don't cruise much any more.

Garbage cans molder a little longer on San Antonio's streets. Texas Christian University, celebrating its 100th anniversary this year, has snuffed out its "centennial flame."

Government buildings all over Texas have taken on a slight chill.

A cold, darkening gloom is beginning to settle over the state.

Houston employment agency owner Tom Rawlings blames Yankees on the East Coast and environmentalists everywhere for the energy crisis.

LET THEM FREEZE

"We should let them freeze their tails off this winter. They worry too much about the caribou in Alaska and a seagull in the Gulf of Mexico," Rawlings allows.

But not all Texans are reacting this way to the crisis which looms on the energy horizon.

The only significant exception may be Arab-Americans, some of whom are rejoicing in the problem.

"I am using more (energy) than I ever did," said an Arab-American at San Antonio, if you check with others (Arab-Americans), the reaction would be the same. They have never been so pleased."

He quoted an Arab-American professor at Houston as saying "All we pray for is a very cold winter for the U.S. All these fellows, they are delighted that there is a crisis because then the Americans can see the stupidity of their policy toward Israel."

LIGHTS OUT

But for the most part, Texans are digging in to meet the shortage crouched just over the hill.

At Fort Worth, thermostats in city government buildings have been turned down; 429 light bulbs have been removed from city hall; smaller city vehicles are being used; custodial work schedules have been altered to take advantage of daylight hours; decorative Christmas lighting is switched off at 11:30 p.m.

Harlingen and McAllen have dispensed with Christmas lighting this year.

It's still warm in the Lower Rio Grande Valley so residents there are more concerned with air conditioner thermostats than heating thermostats. One patriotic resident listened to President Nixon's appeal for self-deprivation and rushed over to turn down the thermostat to 64 degrees.

NO STATE LAW

The next morning the shivering homeowner found his air conditioner had frozen up.

But most of the crisis activities are taking serious tones. Lubbock Police Chief, J. T.

Alley has rationed each police car to eight gallons of gas per shift. Patrol cars aren't doing much patrolling anymore. Instead, many are parked, their police drivers waiting for a radio call that sends them to the scene of trouble.

But Alley says necessary police services are not being jeopardized and police don't plan to ignore their responsibilities. Most other city vehicles are being allotted five gallons of gas.

Some motorists are trying to conserve fuel by reducing their highway speed to 50 miles an hour. There's no state law requiring this and it could be dangerous.

Patrick Nichols of the San Antonio Police Dept.'s traffic division says "there has been a noticeable increase in the 50 m.p.h. drivers in the past two weeks. More and more are dropping it down to 50 but it is not a majority. If they want to do their civic duty it is best to do this in the far right lane. There are some who still want to drive the present legal limit and we can't stop them from doing it," he said.

DANGEROUS

A slow driver in a fast lane is dangerous, an impediment to traffic and often irritating to faster motorists.

One motorist at San Antonio reported he experimented with driving 50 m.p.h. on a San Antonio freeway but found himself the butt of scowls and horn-blowing from others, including a trailer truck driver who "positioned himself a foot off my rear bumper and began leaning on his air horn."

Also, some drivers of little cars are starting to glare at drivers of the big gas-guzzling tanks.

CAR POOLS

"I'm already in a car pool and intend to stay in one," says Mike Murillo of Houston. "I think persons should be rewarded for being in carpools—such as extra gasoline, a tax break at the pump or an insurance break. What burns me up is driving to work every morning and seeing 18 to 20 cars with only the driver inside."

Houston salesman T. M. Bredthauer says: "People will just have to quit pulling boats

Home Building Drop Posted

AUSTIN (AP) — September home building permits dropped 25 per cent in Texas from the January peak, says the Bureau of Business Research.

But San Antonio was an outstanding exception. Its 11,578 homes authorized between January and September more than doubled the figure for the comparable 1972 period and came close to Dallas and Houston totals, around 14,000 each.

Other metropolitan areas that have had increases rather than declines this year included Abilene, Amarillo, Lubbock, San Angelo, Sherman-Denison, Texarkana and Tyler.

Link Iowa Con To Percy Murder

CHICAGO (AP) — Police say two men have identified an Iowa prison inmate as the man who killed Sen. Charles Percy's daughter in 1966.

The inmate, Francis LeRoy Hohimer, denied any involvement in the actual slaying of 21-year-old Valerie Jeanne Percy and blamed another man for the murder, Cook County Sheriff's Police Lt. James Keating said Saturday.

Keating said Hohimer, 46, is now serving a 30-year term in the Iowa State Penitentiary in Fort Madison for two house robberies.

The Chicago Sun-Times, in a copyright article in Sunday's editions, said Hohimer told a and house trailers and making pleasure trips out of town."

Can We Win It?

A Volkswagen driver at Westlaco said he resents the drivers of big cars, especially if the users of big cars cause gas rationing. "It'll be just like everything else. It will be the little guy who gets hurt . . . the middle and lower income people," he said.

Jerry Flemmons of Fort Worth was bitter about big car drivers. "Those whose ego is pampered by the ownership of a high showboat automobile are merely the most obvious conspicuous consumers who care absolutely nothing about anything or anyone but themselves," he lamented.

TO EACH HIS OWN

But, said Mrs. Bill Kemp of Fort Worth, "I don't feel that way. To each his own. We drive two of them (economy cars)." Schools at El Paso have cut out the motorized excursions, turned down thermostats and dimmed many light bulbs.

San Jacinto Park at El Paso scene each year of a large, brightly decorated Christmas tree, will have an artificial tree this year. It will be dark.

Haggard Slacks Co. at Dallas said it is maximizing its truck loads, controlling speeds of its trucks, encouraging employees car pools and turning down thermostats and turning off lights.

Vehicles owned by East Texas State University at Commerce have slowed to 50 m.p.h. The school has set thermostats at 63 degrees.

The energy crunch may mean something of a left-handed tourist boom in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

"We're going to have a serious problem in January—where to put them all," said David Alex of the Harlingen Chamber of Commerce.

"We're going to have a hell of an increase in tourism," he said. Many early winter visitors already are crowding into the palm-studded, subtropical area.

Alex said the chamber has had 1,599 requests for information from potential winter visitors in two weeks.

He said 400 to 500 out-of-stateers were recently welcomed by the Harlingen Tourist Club. For about 30 per cent of them it was their first time to settle for the winter in South Texas.

Many people seem willing to do whatever is necessary to conserve energy—including cooling off their love affairs with America's No. 1 sweetheart—the automobile.

PEOPLE

But, by the same token, most sadly admit that it won't work unless gas rationing is imposed. Some feel rationing worked during World War II because the nation was at war.

But it may be a case now of resistance to the Nixon Administration.

"There was national unity then (during World War II)—a cause—but now many people are upset with the administration," commented a man at Westlaco.

Turning off the dome light at the state capitol—for the time being—is purely symbolic. Later, there may be no option available.

PIONEER SPIRIT

Many are hoping the time-honored American pioneer spirit will prevail and Texans will tighten their belts and turn up their collars in the face of a cold, dark winter ahead.

"I probably wouldn't care as much if we didn't have a child," said Mrs. Kemp. "I'm worried about her future, or the future of the land when she gets older."

Union 'Boss' Assails GM Cutbacks

DETROIT (AP) — A top United Auto Workers official blasted General Motors Corp. Saturday for ordering layoffs at 16 assembly plants before the Christmas and New Year's holiday break.

Union vice president Irving Bluestone said he'll ask the corporation to reconsider, and at least delay, its plans. Bluestone, director of the union's huge GM division, said he would consult with GM officials Monday or Tuesday.

GM said Friday that it plans to cut previously scheduled production by 79,000 large-sized cars during the week of Dec. 17. The move was forced by falling sales of large autos which officials said was caused in part by the energy crisis.

Bluestone said cutting back before Christmas instead of after the New Year would be costly to workers without a year's seniority.

"Those workers will not get the supplementary unemployment benefits which will go to those with a year's experience, nor will they get holiday pay, Bluestone said.

Others will receive almost 95 per cent of their weekly take home pay even though they won't be working from Dec. 17 to Dec. 24. They will also receive full pay for the holiday week ending Jan. 2.

A spokesman for GM said employees with more than 90 days seniority will receive a week's holiday pay if workers ratify the contract agreement reached last week.

In many states, including Michigan, the men who are laid off will qualify for unemployment compensation, the spokesman said.

Israeli, Egyptian Troops Trade Shots In 5 Spots

By The Associated Press

Israeli and Egyptian troops traded shots Saturday in five different incidents in violation of the Middle East cease-fire agreement, the Israeli government announced.

There was no immediate word from U.N. cease-fire observers.

The Israeli press office said that in three of the exchanges, Egyptian forces south of Ismailia tried to make advances, but were driven back.

WOUNDED

In the other two incidents, Egyptians and Israelis clashed in Israeli-controlled areas on the west bank of the Suez Canal, the Israeli spokesman said. One Israeli soldier was slightly wounded, the government press office said.

On the diplomatic front, Egyptian and Israeli negotiators met for 1½ hours on how to carry out the cease-fire. The Israeli representative said there would be "many more meetings" before the thorny problem of troop withdrawals was cleared up.

MEET AGAIN

Maj. Gen. Aharon Yariv, the chief Israeli negotiator, conferred with his Egyptian counterpart, Maj. Gen. Mohamed Abdel Ghany el-Gamasy, at Kilometer 101, the Egyptian desert highway checkpoint where the cease-fire agreement was signed nearly two weeks ago.

The two sides agreed to meet again Sunday.

The Egyptian and Israeli negotiators are understood to be discussing a series of compromise proposals to the basic U.N. cease-fire demand calling for a restoration of the lines that existed at the time of the aborted first cease-fire on Oct. 22.

According to well-informed sources at U.N. headquarters in New York, the compromise proposals include varying plans for a pullback of forces by both sides.

On Monday, the spotlight will be on Algiers, where kings and presidents of the Arab world are gathering to form a united front in the peace talks with Israel.

PULL BACK

The positions of Arab states range from Algeria's insistence that Israel pull back most of her troops from the Suez Canal's west bank before peace talks begin, to Egypt's view that talks could open next month with withdrawal the first point on the agenda.

A delegation of 22 members of the U.S. House Armed Services Committee left Cairo for home after visits to Israel and Egypt. One, who asked not to be identified, predicted a changing mood in Congress from what the Arabs consider a pro-Israel position to a more balanced approach to Middle East issues.

In Khartoum, Sudan, lawyers defending eight Black September guerrillas charged with killing two American diplomats and a Belgian envoy last March demanded that the men be released.

A defense attorney said Sudanese laws empower the justice minister to pardon those accused of political crimes, which would include the killing of diplomats.

'HOT' LOCAL CAPER Suspected Car Thieves Nabbed

Police spotted the stolen 1968 model car near the Northside swimming pool. After a few blocks of pursuit, the stolen vehicle stopped, and its occupants "started running in all directions."

Three suspects were caught, a 16-year-old who allegedly used the knife, escaped. He has been identified.

A purse, tape player and tape recordings were taken from the car before the encounter with law enforcement officers.

Among those helping apprehend the juvenile suspects and investigate were Deputy Sheriff Sgt. Robert Puente, police patrolman Robert Yeager and Van Ness.

THE WEEK

people begin to get some concept of the scope of the new facility.

Howard County Junior College Trustees adopted the $3,000 assessed valuation exemption on homesteads of citizens over 65 last week. Estimates are that this will create a need of $21,600 additional revenue, most likely to be had from raising the percentage of valuation for taxation. The City of Forsan also adopted the plan, adding around $500 to tax savings of its elderly. When Coahoma and Forsan Schools are included in final figures, the total estimated savings to 65-years-plus homesteaders will be around $150,000 in Howard County.

Blaz Ballion won the coveted John Phillip Sousa Award at the Optimist's Band Banquet. Other top awards went to Paula Collins and Carol Immel. The band, incidentally won back its first division rating in district marching competition at Odessa.

Another winner for the week was pretty Sally Echols, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Echols of Coahoma. She is now Miss HCJC for this year.

Street decoration lights are up for the shopping season, but in deference to the energy situation, they may not be turned on until Christmas. Home lighting may also be later going up and on, although with the spinning reserve that Texas Electric Service has to maintain, we can't see that there will be any material saving of power or fuel. Might as well turn 'em on.

Already assured but confirmed in final, official figures, John Thomas Smith of the Steers took the district crown with 45 pass receptions for 762 yards and eight touchdowns. This was 24 passes and 254 more yards than the second-place player; also it eclipsed a previous district record of 474 yards and likely will stand for years. Tom Sorley also won the district passing crown. His 40 per cent completion rate included enough bombs to give him 1,357 yards, or 336 more than second-place man, and this also is a mark to shoot at.

When carcasses of steers at the recent State Fair were graded out, Martin County showmen still looked great. Linda Hancock, Midland, won with 54 per cent lean cuts, but Larry Hanson, Stanton, was next with 53 per cent and J. C. Tunnel third with 52 per cent.

The Chamber of Commerce has complained again East Texas Motor Freight has not made good on its promise to look into service here. Chamber official said the carrier pledged a couple of months ago to confer here with shippers, but so far nothing.

Energy Crisis Aids Amtrak

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Supervisors at the Amtrak station here say the energy crisis apparently is one cause of a surge of business.

Ron Phillips of Amtrak said first class seats on the railroad pullman cars are sold but from Dec. 20 to Jan. 5. Coach seats are available.

"The way we look at it," said Phillips, "with the energy crisis shortage, our business can't do anything but get better."

In the past three years, the number of riders on trains leaving Fort Worth south for Austin and Laredo or north to Kansas City and Chicago has tripled, Phillips said.

'Deer Crash' Kills Woman

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Mrs. Sally Baker, 37, of Corpus Christi died Saturday of injuries suffered in a two-car collision when she swerved her car to avoid a deer on the highway.

The accident occurred about 6 p.m. Friday eight miles south of Luling in Central Texas.

When she swerved to miss the deer, highway patrolmen said, her car skidded broadside into the path of an oncoming car.

Three other persons including Mrs. Baker's son suffered minor injuries.

Economic Woes May Force Heath To Order Election

LONDON (AP) — Economic troubles may force Prime Minister Edward Heath to order an election in Britain this winter.

The 57-year-old Heath's aim would be to tighten his Conservative government's loosening grip on power at a time of spreading industrial unrest.

Swift action is needed on a variety of issues if the prime minister is to head off new perils for his administration, which still has 18 months of its five-year term to run.

IN THE 'RED'

Under the British system, he can call for a ballot any time he chooses.

Inflation has sent prices of just about everything soaring. Unrest is disrupting the coal, power, automobile and other key industries. Workers' leaders are challenging the authority of the state.

In addition, the country spent nearly $750 million more abroad than it earned in the October reporting period. This record deficit compelled Heath to impose a prime lending rate of 13 per cent.

Heath's aides profess to see some rays of light in this bleak situation, saying some of these things are "the problems of success."

Yet for ordinary Britons a long, hard, cold winter seems certain. Bright city lights have been switched off to save fuel. An informal rationing system has cut back motoring, home and office heating and industrial output. Air and rail fares are going up.

STRATEGY

Heath appears already to have mapped the lines of his electoral strategy in case he feels forced to call an election.

It would hinge on a "who-rules-Britain" issue.

The challenge, Heath maintains, is coming from the leaders of Britain's 270,000 coal miners. Last week they imposed an overtime ban that has cut output by a fourth, or a million tons, in nine days alone. The ban was in support of their demands for more pay than is permitted under government limits.

British coal miners are among the lowest-paid workers in the country, with basic salaries ranging from $80 a week for surface workers to about $108 for pit workers.

At a time when power workers, too, are staging go-slows and when the Mideast crisis has dislocated oil supplies the quarrel has assumed critical dimensions.

Comet Will Not Be As Bright As First Thought

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The comet Kohoutek will not be as bright as scientists had believed, an astronomer says.

Ralph Palsson of the Astronomical Society of the Pacific said Friday that recent observation has shown Kohoutek to be a dusty, rather than gassy, comet.

On an astronomical scale, Palsson said this means its brightness will reach a magnitude of minus five, instead of minus 10 as first expected. The planet Venus at its brightest is minus four.

The comet is expected to move around the sun and be visible to persons on earth during the period just before and after Christmas.

Palsson said Kohoutek's orbit has been found to be hyperbolic rather than elliptical. He said this means that, instead of returning to the solar system within 35,000 to 75,000 years, as first thought, "it won't come back for at least a million years and maybe never."

"It could just head into space and keep going," he said.

Inmates Win Concessions After Strike

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Six hundred male inmates at the Terminal Island federal prison have won concessions after a five-day strike in which they refused to do prison jobs.

Warden Paul Walker said the agreement reached Friday included improved promotion opportunities for Spanish-speaking inmates, consideration of giving incentive pay for food service workers, and revised procedures for searches by prison officials.

The inmates, described by the warden as peaceful, were protesting alleged abuse and petty harassment by guards. Walker said the harassment contentions were turned over to the FBI for investigation and that certain type of body searches for drugs will be halted.

The inmates request for incentive pay for outstanding work will be considered by the Bureau of Prisons in Washington D. C., the warden said.

PALESTINIAN LEADERS IN SPOTLIGHT Arab Unity Appears Remote

ALGIERS (AP) — Palestinian leaders move into the spotlight Monday when the kings and presidents of the Arab world gather here to seek an Arab consensus for the peace talks with Israel.

ROYAL CABINET
The Algerian government's official news magazine Revolution Africaine described the summit as "a turning point in the history of the Arab peoples."

Civilians Slate Dec. 4 Show

The Civitan Club will present its second annual country music stage show Dec. 4 in the city auditorium.

A band composed of Dr. Gale Kilgore, Pete Jenkins, Jack Kaufman, Ronnie Solman, Joe Johnson, Easy Ezell and Buba Martin will accompany featured soloists Benny Hatfield, Dewey Byers and Don Tolle.

Admission will be free but donations will be accepted to buy shoes for local underprivileged children.

But from the outset, achievement of the Arab unity sought by the Algerian hosts appeared remote. The leaders of Libya and Iraq, who reject the concept of a peace conference with Israel, have given notice they will boycott the summit.

King Hussein of Jordan said Saturday evening that he, too, will stay away. An announcement in Amman said he will send a delegation led by the head of his royal cabinet, Bahjat Talhouq.

Yasir Arafat, chairman of the Palestine Liberation Organization, is expected to play a key role here — and at the peace conference — as the recognized spokesman of Palestinians inside and outside Israeli-held areas.

STALLING?
Arafat conferred at length with Soviet leaders in Moscow last week on his strategy at the peace conference. His reported willingness to take part in the peace talks at all was in conflict with the position of some of the more radical Palestinian leaders, who still maintain that the state of Israel must be torn down.

Argument also continued behind the scenes whether Arafat should set up a Palestinian government in exile.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has predicted the peace conference will open in Geneva next month. Arab officials here appeared less confident. They accused Israel of stalling by refusing to return to the Oct. 22 cease-fire lines.

Some Western diplomats believed the Arab insistence on such a withdrawal might ultimately serve as an alibi, if necessary, to conceal Arab disunity.

Militant Arab leaders, including the summit host, Algeria's President Houari Boumediene, maintained that the peace conference should not get under way until Israel has complied with every part of the U.N. Security Council's cease-fire resolution No. 338.

MODERATE VIEW
This meant particularly the immediate evacuation of much Israeli-held territory west of the Suez Canal. The Arabs claim most of the Israeli positions were seized between the first cease-fire Oct. 22 and the time the second order took hold Oct. 24.

A more moderate Arab view, taken notably by Egypt's President Anwar Sadat, held that the peace talks could open next month with the withdrawal the first point on the agenda, to be settled before any other point can be discussed.

The Israeli withdrawal sought by the Arabs would put an end to the encirclement of Egypt's 3rd Army.

Prowler Picks Wrong Victim

AUSTIN (AP) — A car prowler lacked both the speed and good sense for the job.

Austin police Lt. Herman Morgan was awakened just before 2 a.m. Saturday by his son, Don, who told him a man was prowling the family's two cars.

Morgan and his son rushed out. The man dropped his loot, including a shotgun, and fled.

Don, a starting defensive cornerback for the Lanier High School junior varsity, ran the man down and held him until his father arrived with handcuffs.

HIGH INTEREST RATES EARNED BY SOME

Local Agencies Show Varying Capabilities In Investments

By JOHN EDWARDS
Local governments show varying skill at investing tax dollars while idle.

Howard County is investing sums ranging from half a million to one million at interest rates no higher than those offered the average citizen with only several hundred in a saving account.

Coahoma Schools, which are operated under a $900,000 budget, at last report had $99,000 in checking accounts. Only when bond proceeds are on hand and their use is pending, does the Coahoma system make any interest making investments.

HIGH INTEREST

On the other hand, you find the City of Big Spring and Big Spring Independent School District taking advantage of high interest rates paid for treasury bills.

Treasury bills recently paid up to nine per cent interest.

HOWARD COUNTY

State National Bank won the two-year contract for county funds with a maximum interest rate of five per cent per year on any amount pledged for 180 days or more.

Howard County gets the same amount for CDs regardless of the amount of the CD.

At this rate, which was contracted for in Feb., 1973, State is paying the county no higher rate of interest than anyone else gets for a regular savings account.

Savings account deposits need not be left in the bank for a predetermined length of time as CDs are.

The county makes even less than the average citizen for amounts pledged for less than 180 days.

State National adds interest computed on the basis of 4 and 1/2 per cent yearly for amounts of county funds deposited for 90 to 179-day periods. And in the 30 to 89 day category, which the county "rarely" uses, 4 and 1/2 per cent accrues.

These rates were the best offered of applications submitted by four county banks. And still, the county draws more interest now than it did under its previous depository contract, also with State National. State then only paid four per cent interest per year for CDs with 30-day or longer maturities.

This rate, specified in a two-year contract dated Feb., 1971, brought the county $33,477.25 during 1972. Mrs. Virginia Black, county auditor, said.

On Dec. 31, 1972, the county had $1,038,243 invested in CDs tax statements having gone out in October.

Sept. 1972, ended with $576,750 in CDs. At the end of Sept., 1973, the county recorded $798,250 invested in CDs. This nearly $800,000 included about $200,000 in revenue sharing funds.

Treasury bills are not purchased.

BIG SPRING ISD

According to state law, school districts must have clauses in depository contracts permitting the district to invest their funds in treasury bills rather than certificates of deposits (CDs) Don Crockett, assistant superintendent of business for Big Spring Schools, said.

So the Big Spring school system is earning between 7 1/4 per cent and 8 per cent on investments depending on current treasury bill interest rates, Crockett explained. Should the treasury bill market slump, the school district may fall back on interest rates quotes by their depository, First National Bank.

The present depository, First National, has been awarded the new two-year contract starting Aug. 31, because of interest rates the firm promised on CDs.

For CDs under $100,000, First National agreed to pay 5 per cent simple interest if invested for less than 30 days. Amounts of less than $100,000 invested for more than one year but less than two years are due 5 1/2 per cent.

These are the quoted categories of interest for amounts of more than $100,000 invested in CDs.

For 30 to 89 days, 5 per cent; 90 to 179 days, 5 1/4 per cent; 180 days to one year, 5 1/2 per cent; one year or more, 5 3/4 per cent.

Money invested in CDs and treasury bills cannot be withdrawn before the end of the depository period specified, Crockett explained.

Investments during 1972-73 budget year yielded Big Spring schools about $60,000, Crockett said. It takes more than $5 million dollars worth of property (true market value) to produce a similar amount of revenue for the school district, he said.

Invested reserves start high, round $1.8 million, at the start of the school year and drop to a low of $800,000 to $900,000 by the end of school, Crockett said. These figures do not include funds kept in checking accounts for immediate and day-to-day spending.

The assistant superintendent of business said approximately $5,579,000 was spent during 1972-73 budget year. He did not include money budgeted for the cafeteria, athletics, Head Start and Title I, because he said these do not relate to investments.

School funds are secured by the requirement banks pledge local government bonds equal to the highest amount the district will invest, Crockett noted. These pledges are examined and approved by the financial division of the Texas Education Agency.

Therefore, in unlikely case of default, school districts may recover the bonds.

BIG SPRING

Security State Bank has contracted to pay the city 6 per cent simple interest on all CDs pledged for 30 days or more, but Robert Massengale, city finance director, said the city reserves the right to invest in treasury bills.

Rather than lose the money, Security State is paying the city interest rates treasury bills are bringing.

Interest rates have been as high as 8.75 per cent under the new depository contract. Recently Massengale was planning to invest $500,000 in CDs for 7.15 per cent simple interest.

Massengale, finance director since July, 1972, noted the previous city depository contract did not specifically say the city could put surplus to work through treasury bills.

Under the depository contract with State National Bank, the city was earning 4 per cent on CDs, he said. It was assumed all excess city funds would be invested in CDs at this rate, he said.

This depository contract terminated in May, 1973, and the city awarded the contract to Security State which offered 6 per cent on all CDs invested for 30 days or more.

MAY BORROW

In addition to the option of purchasing treasury notes, the city now may borrow from Security State at 4 per cent interest.

While the city has not borrowed money through this contract, money has been borrowed in the past, Massengale said.

During the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1973, the finance director estimated invested money earned $45,000. He contrasted this amount to around $15,000 in interest coming to the city during the previous budget year.

Revenue sharing funds this year, which have increased the reserve, explains most of the increase in interest credited to City Hall, he added.

Average monthly balances run over one million now contrasted to approximately $350,000 the previous budget year, Massengale said.

Big Spring spent an estimated $3,981,000 during the just ended budget year. And the city administration started operation under a $4,229,942 budget in October.

COAHOMA, CITY

Operating under a $100,000 budget, the City of Coahoma is making 4 and 5 per cent interest on $40,000 in CDs obtained from the Coahoma State Bank, Mayor Jack Cauble said.

Also the city owns a $10,000 treasury bill. Expenditures and revenue will be about equal this fiscal year, Mayor Cauble predicted.

COAHOMA SCHOOLS

The Coahoma Independent School District, with $900,673 in budgeted expenditures for the current fiscal year, is not investing, W. A. Wilson, superintendent, said.

Athletic and cafeteria expenses and revenue are budgeted separately from other funds. A reserve, in case of deficits in cafeteria and athletic activities, however, is budgeted with other spending.

Coahoma schools maintain on-line checking accounts at the Coahoma State Bank.

The district invests in CDs when it has money on hand from issuing bonds and use of the bond proceeds is pending.

Excluding the construction fund, the school system showed a balance of $138,000 in the operating fund in September, 1972. Add to this $18,000 for the interest and sinking fund and $42,000 in the construction fund checking account for a total $198,000.

On September 30, 1972, however, in addition to checking accounts, the district had $300,000 in construction funds in CDs at the Coahoma State Bank.

NO CDS OWNED

At the end of September, 1973, CISD counted $46,000 in its operating fund, $24,000 in its interest and sinking fund and $29,000 in its construction fund. Added together, this represents approximately $99,000 in local checking accounts.

No CDs were owned by this time. This is one of the low periods for bank balances.

Highest monthly balance for the previous budget year was recorded in January, 1973. Checking accounts contained a total of $316,000 at this point. CISD was earning interest on $100,000 in CDs belonging to the construction fund.

Anticipated revenue of $891,000 will fall short of budgeted expenses by around $10,000 this budget year which ends August 31, 1974. By advertising for sealed bids on a depository contract and then investing in CDs and treasury bills, Coahoma public schools could make up some of the difference.

CRMWD

Investments in CDs and treasury bills are expected to return $250,000 in interest to the Colorado River Municipal Water District (CRMWD) during 1973, Owen H. Ivie, general manager, said.

For 1972, the comparable figure was around $245,000. For 1974, interest from earnings are anticipated to total $260,000.

Money in the bank and investments range from seven to eight million down to a minimum of $4 million, Ivie said.

"We have to keep enough money in the bank to pay one year's principal and interest on bonds," Ivie said. That minimum is $4 million.

CRMWD has budgeted $1,547,000 for anticipated operational and maintenance expenses and $3,037,000 for bond expenditures in 1974, Ivie said. Added together this represents a $4,584,341 budget.

Net revenue is pegged at $5,869,000.

"The district can only invest in U.S. government guaranteed investments," Ivie said. In practice, this means CDs and treasury bills, depending on which is paying highest interest.

CRMWD does not enter into depository contracts. Highest paid by the First National Bank of Fort Worth for CDs this year has been 9 1/2 per cent interest on a sum more than $100,000 pledged for four to six months, Ivie said.

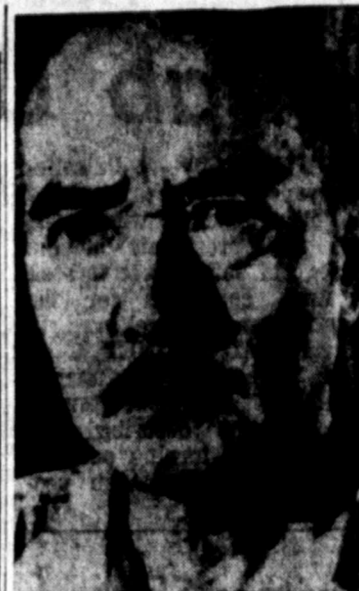

For day-to-day operations, a local depository is maintained in a local bank. Big Spring banks takes turns as the local depository.

Present local depository is State National.

Money is transferred regularly from State National to First National Bank of Fort Worth, trustee bank for the district.

First National of Fort Worth, chosen as trustee bank at the time of the district's organization, serves as a "watchdog" to look after the interests of CRMWD bond holders. The district also maintains nine accounts with the Fort Worth financial institution.

Innocent Plea By Magnate

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Soybean magnate Dwayne O. Andreas pleaded innocent in U.S. District Court Friday to making $100,000 in illegal contributions to Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey's 1968 presidential campaign.

An innocent plea also was entered for his company.

Andreas had been charged by the federal special prosecutor's office with using $100,000 in funds from the First Inter-oceanic Corp., of which he is chairman, as donations to the campaign of Humphrey, a Minnesota Democrat.

Joseph Walters, Minneapolis attorney, represented both Andreas and the corporation in court and entered the innocent pleas for both. Andreas did not appear before Judge Earl R. Larsen. The Minneapolis millionaire reportedly was in Europe.

The counts against Andreas, 65, and the corporation, charged that four contributions of $25,000 each were made to Humphrey campaign organizations in Illinois in 1968 in violation of laws governing contributions.

Larsen ordered Andreas to post $1,000 personal bond when he returns to Minneapolis and attorneys were given until Dec. 21 to file motions. A hearing on any motions will be held Dec. 27.

The charges against Andreas and Inter-oceanic, also known as Independent Bancorporation, were apparently the last filed by former special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox before he was dismissed by President Nixon.

Japanese Actor Dies

TOKYO (AP) — Sessue Hayakawa, the Japanese actor who received an Academy Award nomination for his role as the camp commander in the movie "Bridge on the River Kwai," is dead at age 84.

Relatives said he died Friday night after a lengthy illness complicated by pneumonia.

In the 1957 movie that won him an Academy Award nomination as best supporting actor, he portrayed a Japanese army officer whose duty was to build a bridge over the River Kwai in Thailand under Allied prisoners of war during World War II.

He was noted for his silent screen roles as a sinister Oriental during a bygone era, winning cinema fame in the United States and Europe before he gained recognition in his native Japan.

A Zen Buddhist, Hayakawa was also an amateur boxer. He had told interviewers as late as 1959 that he regularly topped off a day of shooting with three rounds in the ring.

In that same year he appeared in a New York stage musical entitled "An Evening of Rare Pleasures" as "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." Critics considered the role to be the best of all the sinister characters he had played in many silent movies.

He was born the son of a fisherman in Chiba, northeast of Tokyo. After graduating from a Tokyo junior high school in 1911, he went to the United States and was graduated from the University of Chicago with a degree in economics.

Louisiana Legislators To Tackle Oil Problems

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — The Louisiana legislature convenes Sunday to consider ways of keeping as much as possible of the state's oil and natural gas production at home, and to sharply increase taxes on that portion which escapes into interstate commerce.

It marks the first special session of a state legislature called in response to the energy crisis, and some officials here think Louisiana's actions could serve as a model for other oil and gas producing states.

Angered by federal government-ordered cutbacks in fuel allocations to the state's industries, Gov. Edwin Edwards is proposing laws to encourage independent drillers to keep their production off the interstate market, and commit it exclusively to Louisiana users.

Edwards also proposes taxing the state's exported oil and natural gas at perhaps double the present rate. He wants to use the extra revenues to lower state sales and income taxes, expand highway construction, reduce the state debt and give pay raises to all state employees, including school teachers.

Louisiana already gets approximately one-fourth of its state revenues from severance taxes.

Edwards has complained bitterly in recent weeks that, despite record demand, the federal government is keeping the price of Louisiana-produced natural gas artificially low, and that other states are refusing to help relieve the nation's energy shortage. "I'm not going to sit still," he declared, "and allow other states to oppose development of oil and gas offshore from the Atlantic coast because they're afraid it might adversely affect their environment, and to oppose construction of the Alaskan pipeline through the wilderness in consideration for the caribou and muskrat while they expect us to lace our terrain with pipelines for their benefit."

Now Hear This 'Mr.'

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times said today that with very rare exceptions, it would now accord convicted felons the small honor of being called "Mr."

Although it has been customary for the Times to refer to most men in its news columns as "Mr. Smith" or "Mr. Jones," convicted felons have been named only as "Smith" and "Jones" after initial use of their full names.

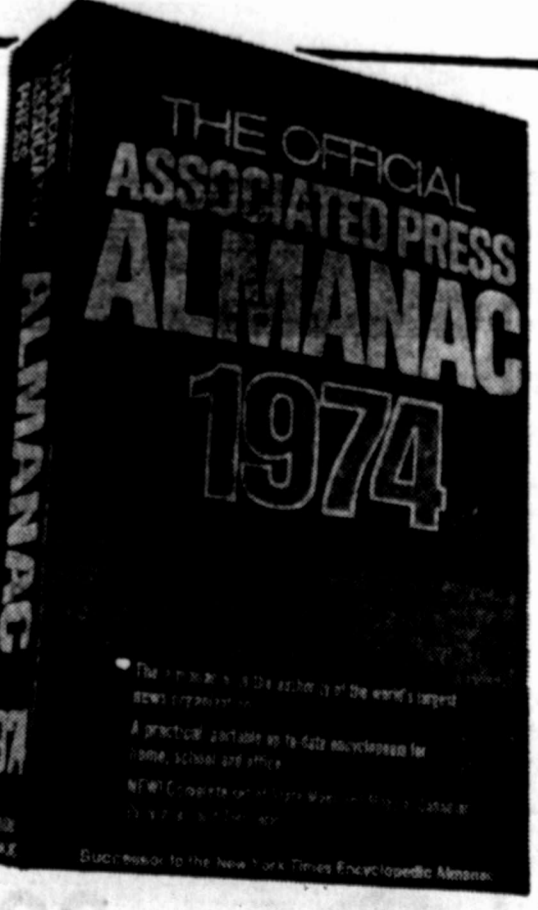

A.M. Rosenthal, managing editor of the Times, said in a memorandum to the newspaper's staff that beginning with the issue of Dec. 3 "we will no longer omit the 'Mr.' before the names of those who, as the present style states, 'have been convicted of crime or who have unsavory reputations known without question to be deserved.'"

Under the old practice of dropping the honorific, he said, "we have constantly run into the problem of appearing to make social and political judgments about different types of crimes."

Among exceptions to the new rule, editors will have the discretion to drop "Mr." in stories reporting particularly gruesome crimes — such as an attempted murder, where the use of "Mr." before the criminal name would be "ludicrously out of place," Rosenthal said.

Many newspapers do not use "Mr." for the second reference to any man and thereby avoid the problem of choosing who rates it.

Nixon's Lawyers To Begin Explaining Tone Could Wipe Out Conversation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some White House aides are worried about the effect of several questions, discrepancies and conflicts arising from the official explanation of the latest Watergate tapes controversy. The matter is due to be explored in federal court starting Monday, when President Nixon's lawyers begin explaining how an unexpected audible tone could wipe out 13 minutes of a key recording, and how the gap could have gone unreported so long.

IN PUBLIC EYE — The hearings before U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica may go on for days, keeping the issue in the public eye at a time when Nixon had been promising election-minded Republicans that he knew of no more Watergate bombshells and when he was attempting to bolster his credibility through "Operation Candor."

The prospect has Nixon's aides worried. "This is going to be a tough one," says one high White House official. "This is a reversal."

The extent of the setback will depend in part on how convincingly the White House is able to straighten out these puzzles:

— THE TONE: White House lawyer J. Fred Buzhardt told Sirica last Wednesday that a subpoenaed recording of Nixon and chief of staff H. R. Haldeman contains 13 minutes of "a tone and no conversation." It was the first time such a gap had been mentioned. No previous testimony by White House witnesses could account for such a tone. Buzhardt said technical tests had been conducted and had failed to explain it.

Prosecutors intend to ask whether the tone was produced accidentally, either at the time of recording or later, or whether it is evidence of a deliberate attempt to blot out incriminating conversation. Prosecutor Richard Ben-Veniste said it raised the possibility of obstruction of justice or contempt of court.

— THE DELAY: Buzhardt said the gap hadn't been discovered until a week earlier "since it was not understood by White House counsel . . . that this particular conversation was within the subpoena" of former special prosecutor Archibald Cox. But Cox left little room for that sort of mistake.

The White House explanation was put forth for newsmen by an official who declined to allow use of his name. He said the Cox subpoena had been interpreted as calling for a recording of a three-way meeting among Nixon, Haldeman and domestic adviser John D. Ehrlichman, but that actually Nixon met separately with Ehrlichman and then with Haldeman. He said the 13-minute gap in the Haldeman portion of the tape wasn't discovered earlier because it had been believed that only the preceding Ehrlichman recording, which is complete, was called for by the subpoena.

However, Cox filed a subpoena memorandum with Sirica last Aug. 13 in which he spelled out the time and place of the recording he wanted, and indicated he was talking about two consecutive conversations.

Specifically, Cox said Nixon "met with John D. Ehrlichman and H. R. Haldeman . . . on June 20, 1972 from 10:30 a.m. until approximately 12:45 p.m." He also said "Ehrlichman and then Haldeman went to see the President."

— THE TYPING: Buzhardt told Sirica that "no attempt had been made to reduce any of this (Haldeman) conversation to writing." This appears to conflict with sworn testimony given by Nixon's personal secretary, Rose Mary Woods.

On Nov. 8, Miss Woods testified that she had spent about 30 hours trying to type a transcript of this particular tape, the first one on the Cox subpoena. "It was between the President and Ehrlichman chiefly and Haldeman briefly," she said.

At another point, she was asked if this tape was a June 20 meeting including Nixon, Ehrlichman and Haldeman. "I believe that's exactly what I testified," she replied.

MILD WINTER Good News For Texans

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Texans got great news from the state climatologist Saturday: It probably will be a mild winter in this fuel-short season.

This prediction came from Texas A&M University's John F. Griffiths, the new Texas climatologist.

BRIGHT OUTLOOK — Dr. Griffiths bases his bright outlook on a review of National Weather Service records. Never, say the heating-degree days records which go back 42 years, has Texas been subjected to two extremely cold winters in succession.

"We had the largest number of heating-degree days last year of any period since analysis records have been maintained," Griffiths said.

"In other words, it was the coldest year on record." That doesn't mean that all-time lows were set any particular day. It was just generally cold.

FOR EXAMPLE — Heating-degree days, the climatologist explains, represent the difference on the lower side between the mean temperature for the day and 65 degrees.

"For example," he said, "if the mean temperature for a given day is 50 degrees, then you would accumulate 15 heating-degree days for that particular day."

Dr. Griffiths said the number of heating-degree days last winter was 129 per cent of normal. This was 11 per cent higher than the previous record set in 1959-60.

"The annual average for Texas is 2,000 heating-degree days," Griffiths said. "This, of course, includes great variance within the state. Dalhart, for example, has some 4,700 heating-degree days while Brownsville has approximately 650."

There is a very high relationship between the number of heating-degree days and the amount of heating fuel used, he observed.

BOUND TO HELP — Griffiths' observation that the state may have a relatively mild winter has been borne out by the overall temperatures so far this month.

"Last November was a very cold month," he said. "This November has not been."

As for the heating fuel situation, the A&M professor pointed out, "It's bound to help that we haven't been pulling on our reserves already."

He still subscribes, however, to maximum effort to conserve energy.

"Calculations carried out by the National Weather Service suggest we here in Texas would most likely save something like six per cent on heating fuel if we lowered our thermostats one degree," he said. "Again, that's a statewide average which could mean as much as eight per cent in Brownsville and some four or five per cent in Dalhart."

Drill Instructors Fined For Stomping Recruits

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Three drill instructors at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot have been fined and reprimanded after being convicted of mistreating recruits, a Marine spokesman says.

The three also were transferred from their positions with the depot's correctional custody platoon, Capt. Mike Kelly said Friday.

He said their commanding officer found them guilty of striking and mistreating recruits, and offered them the $100 fines and letters of reprimand in place of courts-martial.

Kelly said the alleged incidents took place in October but gave no further details and declined to identify the men.

However, one of the instructors, who asked not to be identified, said they were accused of punching and stomping the recruits, hitting their heads against the wall, and striking them with karate blows across the throat. He said the charges were exaggerated.

ATTORNEY GEN. HILL RULES ON JUNIOR COLLEGE TUITION

Junior college districts cannot charge higher tuition to nonresidents of their districts on that ground alone, Atty. Gen. John Hill said Friday.

Hill also issued an opinion saying the state cannot require one-year residency as a prerequisite for admission to a state hospital.

The first opinion was requested by Bevington Reed, commissioner of higher education. Hill said a higher tuition could be charged at out-of-district extension classes if there was a reasonable basis for it.

The second opinion was asked for by Dr. David Wade, commissioner of mental health and mental retardation. Hill said nonresidents of Texas could not be admitted to state hospitals, but he said a recent federal case in Arizona outlawed the sole use of a one-year residency requirement to bar admission.

Astronauts Tidy Up Their Cabin In Sky

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Skylab 3 astronauts, tired, behind schedule and still not organized, took the day off Saturday to rest and tidy up their cabin in the sky.

Astronauts Gerald P. Carr, William R. Pogue and Edward G. Gibson slept until 9:15 a.m. EST, more than two hours later than usual, then spent their ninth day in space sorting and stowing hundreds of items.

Flight director Neil Hutchinson said the astronauts were badly in need of a day off just to get their space station ready for the rest of the 84-day mission.

GET IT TOGETHER

"We've got to get this crew organized," he said. "I really think they aren't organized as yet. Until you can get everything stowed in the nooks where you want them, you can't get organized."

Told of the plan for a day off, the crew was delighted.

Among the few jobs scheduled for the day were attempts to photograph the comet Kohoutek and a small rocket firing to raise slightly the orbit of the space station.

Hutchinson said the day off would also give teams in Mission Control time to assess the effects of the failure Friday of one of Skylab's three gyroscopes.

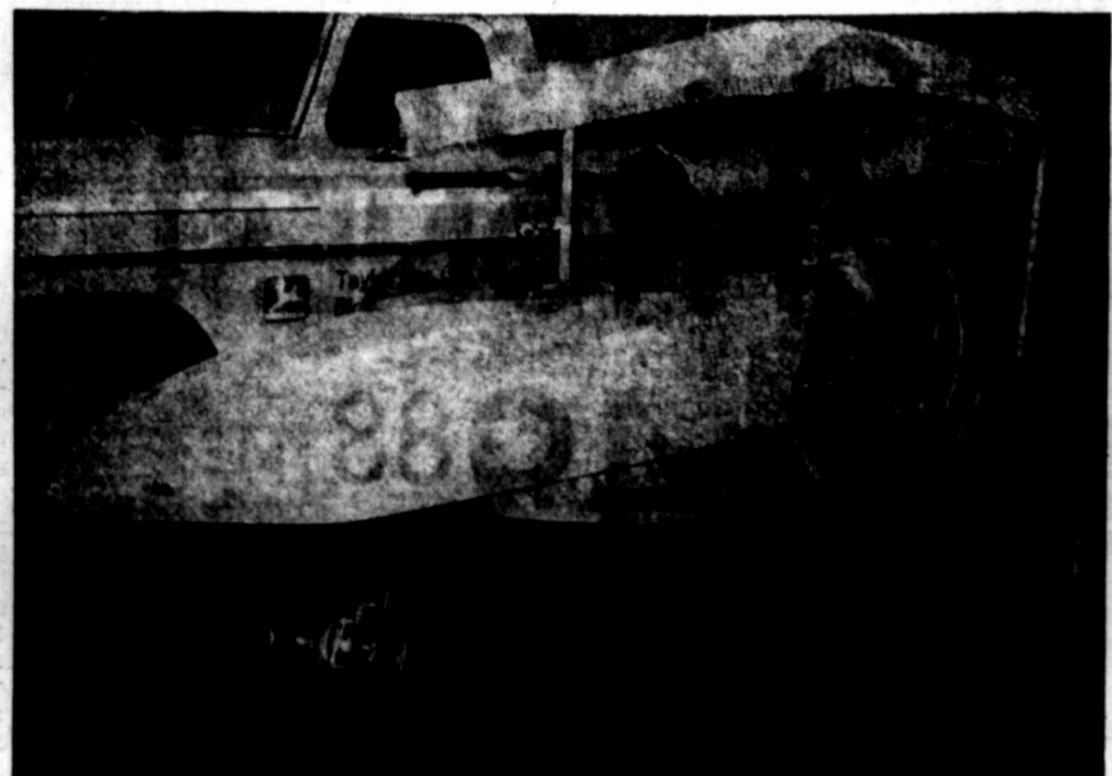

He said the space station could continue to function effectively on only two gyros, but it will take longer to maneuver the craft and additional control gas may have to be used.

BELIEVE IT

If a second gyro fails, Hutchinson said, "we'd be in a come-home case. They wouldn't have to come right home within 24 hours because we still have plenty of control gas for a while. But they'd probably come home in something like a week because we wouldn't have enough gas to do all the experiments we'd like to do."

But he added he believes the full 84-day mission can be performed.

Skylab's three gyroscopes are 242-pound wheels which spin at more than 9,000 revolutions per minute. They are used to turn the spacecraft so the astronauts can properly aim cameras at the sun or earth.

OUT FOR A SPIN — John Taylor treats reporter Ann Stevens to a drive in the new PPV (People Powered Vehicle) for which he is the local marketer.

Agnew Disbar Plea Filed

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says his no contest plea to tax evasion does not justify his disbarment by the State of Maryland.

A brief filed with Anne Arundel County Circuit Court Friday by Agnew's lawyers did not ask that disciplinary proceedings brought by the State Bar Association be dismissed.

It also did not quarrel with facts set forth in the bar association petition.

Agnew's lawyers did, however, take issue with the association's statement that the no contest plea constituted "charges of professional misconduct, crime involving moral turpitude or conduct prejudicial to the administration of justice" which would justify disciplinary action.

Agnew's answer to the bar association suit said he "submits himself to the jurisdiction of this honorable court for such action, after hearing, as the court deems proper and appropriate."

The state bar instituted disciplinary action against Agnew Nov. 12 after he had pleaded no contest to one count of income tax evasion and resigned as vice president.

Riders Supply The Power For New Type Of Vehicle

By ANN STEVENS

A sort of oversized tricycle with bucket seats, the People Powered Vehicle offers some distinctive advantages over the bicycle and automobile, according to its local marketer.

Appearing on the nationwide market in March, the PPV, run from the pedals pushing power of its riders, uses no fuel, causes no pollution and is a good means of exercise, said John Taylor of Taylor Implement Co., local marketer for the PPV.

Unlike a bicycle, however, the PPV allows two people to ride side by side in contoured bucket seats which can be adjusted for comfort.

BORN AFTER LUNCH

Manufactured by Environmental Vehicles, Inc., the three-wheeler is 78 inches long, weighs 120 pounds and retails in its convertible style for $395 (surry top cost extra).

As the September issue of "Playboy" relates, the PPV "just happened one day after lunch." Dining with his partners in Antares Engineering, Don Gates, a former engineer with General Motors, blurted out, "You know, the next great trend in transportation will be people-powered vehicles."

A day at the drawing board produced the concept of a lightweight tricycle-type vehicle with a body of molded plastic and a steering tiller connected to the front wheel.

Finally the three men developed a patented three-speed transmission that can be shifted up or down while standing still, moving or coasting.

Receiving a stock of PPVs about two weeks ago, Taylor said he has already sold two and hopes to begin selling 25 or 40 a year.

FAMILY USE

"I expect families will be its best customers because they can make a double use of it, as an exercise vehicle and a fun vehicle," said Taylor.

The PPV could be put to good use by military personnel living in the base Capehart housing to drive to the flightline each morning, Taylor noted.

The machine, which has two independent sets of pedals on the floorboard, one for driver and the other for passenger takes less energy force to propel than a bicycle, Taylor said.

"Healthy adults can reach speeds up to 30 miles per hour in it," he said, "while persons with little strength can maintain speeds of 10-15 mph for a fairly indefinite length of time."

With the impending fuel shortage and current concern for the environment, does Taylor expect the PPV to replace the automobile on city streets? Hardly.

MAINLY FOR FUN

"I see it strictly as a fun type vehicle that offers some utility for short term purposes such as errand running," Taylor commented.

He said that although spring and summer are the best times for riding the non-heated, non-cooled PPV, the vehicle still would make "an ideal Christmas gift."

The PPV may be stored in an upright position resting on its two hind wheels. Like a bicycle, it may be chained to an immovable object when not in use to prevent theft.

PPVs are available at Taylor Implement here, Cave-Bowlin, Inc. in Stanton and Wayland Taylor, Inc. in O'Donnell. It can also be purchased now in Tahoka and Lubbock and soon in Snyder, Midland and Odessa.

Prices Of Active Cotton Futures In Mart Mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices of active cotton futures in the domestic market were mixed this past week.

At Friday's close, No. 2 contracts on the New York Cotton Exchange ranged from 117 points higher to 35 points lower, compared with a range of 190 points lower to 15 points higher the week before.

Trading volume for the holiday abbreviated week was about 762,600 bales compared with 1,005,700 last week, for a daily average of 190,700 bales, against 201,100 the week before.

The open interest was reported Wednesday by the commodity exchange authority at 1,683,200 bales, a decrease of 12,900 bales from the level of the preceding Friday.

Analysts said downward pressure on prices was due to lagging domestic consumption and fears about the effects of the energy crisis on the demand for cotton in the United States and abroad.

Some price supporting factors cited by market observers included the scarcity of cotton for December delivery and favorable indications from some producing areas.

Mom, Kids Dodge Death When Train Hits Auto

INDEPENDENCE, La. (AP) — A freight train smashed into a car containing two children Saturday moments after their mother leaped from the stranded vehicle, police said.

Officers said Joann Johnson of Robert, La., suffered a serious back injury when she was hit as the auto spun around and knocked her against the train, but the children apparently escaped serious injury.

The children, aged 4 and 7, remained in the vehicle when it was struck and spun into a signpost, police said.

Police said a front tire of the car was stuck in a pothole as the train approached. The engineer of the Illinois Central freight applied his brakes when he saw the car but was unable to stop, police said.

Mrs. Johnson was hospitalized, a sheriff's deputy said.

Monday marks the opening of the return of "Sunny Days," featuring David and Susan Crawford, to the Golden Rooster Room of the Inn of the Golden West in Odessa. The group is currently ending an engagement at the Camelot Inn in Tulsa, Okla. Prior to this, they were at the Villa Capri in Austin, the Lubbock Club in Lubbock and the Towne House in Corpus Christi.

Leader and pianist of the combo is David Crawford of Coahoma. He is the son of Mrs. David Stubblefield and the late Trevor Crawford. He has studied piano under both Mrs. Lewis Latham of Colorado City and Mrs. Ann Gibson Houser of Big Spring.

As a high school student, Crawford was trombonist for the Coahoma "Border Brass" a group which for several years filled many engagements statewide. A few years back, Crawford also played several months' engagement with an earlier group at the local Ramada Inn and was at times a piano soloist at both Furr's Cafeteria and Hemphill Wells department store.

Mrs. Crawford, female vocalist with the combo, is the former Susan Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Clark, Sheffield, formerly of Coahoma. She was before her marriage a voice major at Sul Ross University.

Rounding out the musical quartet are George Harvey III, drummer, from St. Louis, Mo., and Gregg Hall, Tulsa, Okla., on the bass guitar. "Sunny Days" plays nightly until Jan. 5 in the Golden Rooster Room with the exception of Sunday.

Wave Of Arrests For Soviet Jews

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Kiev engineer has been sentenced to 3½ years in a labor camp in what Jewish sources here say is a new wave of arrests and trials in the Soviet Union.

The electronics engineer, Alexander Feldman, 26, was arrested last month after attending synagogue services and charged with "malicious hooliganism" for allegedly assaulting a woman, the sources said. Hebrew books and literature reportedly were found in a search of his apartment.

'PARASITISM'
The sources, with the Union of Councils for Soviet Jews, said Feldman, who applied two years ago to emigrate to Israel, was tried secretly this week after his family was told he would be put in a mental institution.

In a second trial, the sources said, Peter Pinkasov, a carpenter, was sentenced to five years in Derbet, Daghestan, on Nov. 13 for "anti-Soviet slander." He had received permission in September to emigrate to Israel, where his wife and children live.

SOUGHT VISA
In Sverdlovsk, the sources said, Leonid Zabeleschinsky, a 23-year-old college tutor, was arrested Oct. 23 on charges of "parasitism." He faces imminent trial.

Police searching his apartment found receipts of registered letters sent to Israel. Zabeleschinsky lost his job soon after applying for a permit to go to Israel in October 1971.

In Kishinev, Moldavia, Sender Levinson, 35, also faces trial on "parasitism" charges, the sources said. He had applied for a visa for Israel.

In Moscow, the sources said, two women, Tamara Galparina and Dina Belina, have been questioned repeatedly by the KGB secret police in what could be the first steps of a conspiracy case. And, they said, Yuri Rothstein, 25, has been held in a mental institution for 18 months outside Moscow.

The sources said this is the first string of arrests since Communist party leader Leonid Brezhnev visited the United States last June in a bid for friendlier relations between Washington and Moscow.

Uvalde Schools Stand To Lose $605,000 For Discriminating

DALLAS (AP) — Uvalde schools stand to lose $605,000 in federal funds if a Department of Health, Education and Welfare review board agrees the school district has discriminated against Mexican-Americans.

U.S. Administrative Law Judge William Walter Hentz ruled Friday that the Uvalde Independent School District forfeited its right to federal funds by discriminating against Mexican-Americans.

SEGREGATED

The judge ruled four Uvalde elementary schools are segregated and the school board fostered the segregation particularly through its location of the schools and creation of attendance zones in 1966.

He said the attendance zones continued segregation patterns in the town.

Uvalde is in South Texas and has a population of 12,000, 50 per cent of which is Mexican-American.

Hentz justified his ruling saying the district took actions which tended to perpetuate segregation in the elementary schools.

He said evidence showed two schools had more than 90 per cent Mexican-American pupils and one school was more than 30 per cent Anglo.

NOT UNFAIR

If the Hew review board agrees the district is not entitled to federal funds, the case then would be considered by U.S. congressional committees responsible for funding the federal education programs involved.

If the congressional committees agree the Uvalde school district could seek relief in federal courts.

Judge Hentz noted in his ruling that the district does not have a discriminatory policy for teachers, that the ability grouping of students in sections is not unfair to Mexican Americans and that the lack of a bilingual — cultural education program does not constitute discrimination.

The ruling was the first compliance procedure filed with the Hew based on discrimination against Mexican-Americans.

However, similar complaints have been made in federal courts, including a federal civil suit charging the Uvalde district with discrimination. That case is now on appeal to the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals.

'Daylight' Radio Break

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission said Friday it is "prepared to grant . . . appropriate temporary relief" to daylight-only radio stations, which are concerned about the impact on them of proposed year-round daylight saving time. Details were not announced.

Congress is considering instituting daylight saving time year round as a way of conserving energy by pushing ahead the time of sunrise and adding an hour of daylight to late afternoon or evening.

Some 550 stations are allowed to broadcast only between sunrise and sunset and have protested that if farmers and others go to work an hour earlier, they will miss the market and other information they need. And, the stations say, they will be unable to broadcast early school-closings in inclement weather.

The big technical problem in letting the stations go on the air an hour before dawn is that their signals carry farther in darkness and might interfere with clear-channel stations authorized to broadcast nationwide with higher power during hours of darkness. Both types of stations use similar frequencies.

Two-Car Wreck

AUSTIN (AP) — A two-car crash five miles west of Austin Friday night took the life of Billy J. Martin, 58, of Austin. He died in a hospital Saturday morning.

Hospitalized in serious condition is Thomas Roland, 21, of Houston. Patty Roland, also 21, suffered minor injuries.

Car-Truck Crash

DENISON, Tex. (AP) — Mike Lloyd Culum, 26, of Sherman, died Saturday morning in injuries suffered in the collision of a car and a tractor-trailer north of Denison shortly after midnight.

Another occupant of the car, James Allen Kepling, 29, of San Antonio, was hospitalized in critical condition.

The truck driver, Daniel O'shey, 30, of Tulsa, Okla., escaped injury.

C-City Playhouse Opens Its Winter Musical Thursday

In the historic old Opera House, the "Fantasticks" will be presented in six performances starting Thursday as the winter musical of the Colorado City Playhouse, Inc. The Schmidt-Jones (two UT exes) off-Broadway hit for many seasons features Cathy Curlee as Louisa; Carl Moore as Matt; George Womack as El Gallo; Sonny Pawkett as Bell; Tancy Curlee as Huck; Rita Krieg as Mute; Larry De Busk as the old actor; and Jacky Jackson as the man who dies.

Coleen Palmer is directing the production, staged by Porter Richardson. Others backing up the presentation are Lovess Curlee, Diane Tammon, Maxie Jackson, Jackie Palmer, Addie Payne, Porter Richardson and Eddie Haskins.

Curtain time is 8 p.m. for the Nov. 29, 30, Dec. 1 and the Dec. 6, 7, 8 showings. Reservations ($2.50) may be made by calling 915-728-3491 or by going by the Opera House lobby.

"Yo-Yo Ma, the 18-year-old cellist whose playing has been compared to that of Starer, Rose, Varga and Casals, comes to Lubbock Monday 8:15 p.m. for a concert at the University Center in Texas Tech (Tickets $1-3). At the same hour and place Thursday, Wanda Wilkomirska, noted Polish violinist, will be presented in concert. She is considered among the world's most eminent violin virtuosos. Those who go early to either of these events, may stop by the Museum of Texas Tech and view a 15-inch terra cotta plate created by the late Pablo Picasso. This was given to the university recently.

Presentation of "Celebration" by the Fine Arts Department at Howard County College is just around the corner, and the musical is shaping up well. Dates are Dec. 6-3 at 8 p.m. and at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 9 (admission $2 and 50 cents; HCJC students admitted with activity card). The Tom Jones and Harvey Schmidt play is built around the Pagan festival of Winter Solstice. The old year is symbolized by Mr. Rich (Peter Jetty), who has forgotten how to feel. The new year is symbolized by an Orphan (Kirk McCuiston), who tries to make Mr. Rich experience emotion. The plan backfires when both fall in love with Angel (Lois Bair), personification of Mother Earth. Others in the cast are John Lipscombe, Jay Box, Dana Bradford, Karen Carlton, Susan Compton, Kim Finley, Claudette Green, Robin Headrick, John Holloway, Rickie Messenger and Steve Reagan.

There has been a good volume of visitors to Heritage Museum during the past week to view the exhibit on schools. Scores have picked themselves out of pictures of classes and student bodies of long ago. These are fortified by items which had a part in education here two generations or more past. Incidentally, there has been a brisk demand also for the annual Heritage historical calendars, which many find useful as gifts.

"The Man Who Came to Dinner," rated as the funniest Christmas house guest of all time, arrives Friday (with repeats Saturday-Sunday) at Midland Community Theatre. This play ran for 739 performances on Broadway (with Monty Woolly as Sheridan Whiteside — "the Man"), and it's been a favorite of touring groups and community theatres since it was first produced 35 years ago. In reality, Whitesides was Alexander Woolcott, critic-writer who possessed a neat, nasty wit. He was eminently selfish, possessed of distinguished friends, etc. In the hilarious play, Whitesides breaks his leg when department a house party and has to stay for four more weeks. This opens the 1973 MCT season.

Opening night for "Hay Fever" will be Dec. 7 at 8 p.m. in the Globe of the Great Southwest Theatre in Odessa. This is a well-known Noel Coward comedy of a zany, bohemian family.

Dr. and Mrs. Jack Fielden have donated a priceless grand piano to the Globe of the Great Southwest. History of this unique instrument dates back to 1824 when it was imported by riverboat to Mooringsport, La., named for Col. Mooring. Fielden's great-great-grandfather.

A U.S. minesweeper, of all things, will be christened in the high-and-dry country on Highway 377 between Fort Worth and Crosson, Sunday, Dec. 2, 2 p.m. With much ceremony, the Pate Museum of Transportation is renaming the ship "The Admiral A. B. Vossler," for a retired admiral who helped obtain the boat.

STILLBORN TWIN OF SUN? First Close View Of 'Rich' Planet

WASHINGTON (AP) — If it survives fearsome radiation belts believed waiting, Pioneer 10 will hurtle past gigantic Jupiter next week, providing mankind the first close view of a moon-rich planet that really might be a stillborn star.

After a flawless 22-month, 600 million-mile trip, scientists hope the spindly unmanned space probe will pass within 81,000 miles of the bright, turbulent planet on Dec. 3, transmitting historic photographs and scientific data back to Earth.

FIRST
Pioneer 10, which was launched March 2, 1972, will be the first spacecraft to explore one of the solar system's four outer planets — Jupiter, Uranus, Saturn and Pluto.

It eventually will become the first manmade object to escape the solar system. Bolted to Pioneer 10 is a plaque with drawings that might tell intelligent life elsewhere someday who sent the craft and from whence it came.

Scientists want to know if Jupiter, rich in hydrogen, helium, ammonia, methane and probably water, might support life.

TWIN OF SUN?

Pioneer 10 isn't equipped to detect living organisms. But it should report whether Jupiter's environment resembles that of Earth several billion years ago when life first evolved.

Astronomers know that stars sometimes are born in pairs. Because of Jupiter's 12 moons, enormous size and tremendous emanation of energy, they have speculated for years it might be a stillborn twin of the sun.

In Jupiter and its moons, astronomers may be observing a miniature solar system that could provide additional understanding about evolution of the larger solar system.

Scientists hope Pioneer 10 will probe beneath Jupiter's swirling outer clouds, agitated by a planetary rotational speed 10 times that of earth.

FRIGID

Most experts consider it unlikely Jupiter has an atmosphere that abruptly ends and oceans and continents that begin, like on Earth. Instead, it is theorized, the atmosphere may gradually change to a frigid mush of liquid-solid hydrogen and finally to solid hydrogen at the planet's center.

If there are continents, they might be chunks of frozen material floating in seas of liquid hydrogen. Other theories have proposed Jupiter might have a rocky core similar to earth and its nearby planetary neighbors.

Project scientists hope Pioneer's camera and instruments can focus on Jupiter's Great Red Spot, an oval object 20,000 miles long and 8,000 miles wide that disappears and then reappears at 30-year intervals. It has baffled astronomers for centuries.

RED SPOT

Is the Great Red Spot an enormous column of stagnant gas bobbing up and down every 50 years in the planet's liquid-gas surface? Might it be a raft of solid hydrogen bobbing about?

"What we hope for is a sort of serendipity. We know so little about the outer planets that hopefully this first basic look will bring surprises and teach us a lot," said Dr. A. G. W. Cameron, Harvard University astronomer.

DIES — Soprano Jennie Tourel, New York City, above, died Friday night of lung cancer. She was 63.

Exchange Student's Dad Visits School Scenes

Yasushi Sakai, professor of education at Doshisha Women's College in Kyoto, Japan, visited here this weekend, fulfilling an ambition to see the place where his daughter, Mariko, spent a year.

His hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Zike, Tulsa, Okla., who were Mariko's foster parents during the year that she was in the Zike home. Mariko was an exchange student under the American Field Service program.

"It was a fine experience for her," said Prof. Sakai. "She gained self-confidence, maturity and judgment from her year in Big Spring. She came to think more for herself."

Being away from home may have contributed some to this, but he felt it was the cultural environment into which she entered that had the most bearing, he said. Mariko, now married, is studying Hebrew in Jerusalem and plans eventually to return to Japan, and like her father, became part of the teaching profession.

Prof. Sakai has been in the States for three months, studying the history and development of liberal arts education. This fits into his field of teacher education and history of Western education at Doshisha.

He was impressed by the vast expanse of country in West Texas and was awed by a striking sunset. A weather bonus was getting to see a sandstorm Saturday as a squall line moved across the area. It was, he said, "interesting."

Saturday afternoon, at a reception at high school, he was presented by Mrs. Matt Harrington, on behalf of Mayor Wade Choate, a plaque recognizing him as an "honorary citizen" of Big Spring. The memento was in the shape of a map of Texas with a star denoting location of Big Spring. Mayor Choate was on the AFS committee when Mariko was paired with the Zikes. The Zike's daughter, Margaret, who was Mariko's age, and her husband, Mike, came from San Antonio to meet Prof. Sakai here.

Bike More Fun In Long Run Gas Deregulation Measures Pending

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Dr. Gordon W. Falknor says he thinks some people — and their ankles — would do better riding a bicycle rather than jogging.

Falknor, a member of the faculty of the Illinois College of Podiatric Medicine in Chicago, told a meeting of the Illinois Podiatry Society he is seeing cases of "jogger's ankle."

He said the condition results from jogging or running on hard surfaces, such as blacktop or concrete, exposing the feet and ankles to severe stress before the tissues can build up tolerance. Falknor said symptoms are similar to traumatic arthritis and inflammation of the Achilles tendon above its attachment to the heel bone.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proposals to lift price controls from natural gas could cost consumers an extra $18 billion annually in increased fuel costs, Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., said Saturday.

Deregulation bills are pending in both the House and Senate. The administration and oil companies support the proposals, maintaining that the oil industry would be more inclined to seek new sources of gas if the absence of price controls made production more profitable.

The Federal Power Commission sets the price of gas sold to pipeline customers.

Aspin, sponsor of legislation that would continue the controls, based his estimate of increased cost on a commission study. The congressman said he released the study to counter oil industry efforts to play down the effects of natural gas deregulation.

That campaign, he said, has included the release of a report by the American Petroleum Institute assuring consumers that the effect on them would be minor.

"No matter how you slice it, the consumer would be forced to pay exorbitantly high prices while the gas producers reap great profits," Aspin said. "We must not let the present shortage become a wholesale excuse for cheating consumers by permitting the natural gas monopoly to suck up huge and totally unjustified profit increases," he said.

Hints Offered For Mailing

In an effort to help holiday shoppers with their "mailing worries," Postmaster Frank Hardesty offers the following helpful tips:

If a single item is being mailed, it should be cushioned with shredded paper, excelsior, compressed tissue paper, cloth, or expanded plastic foam.

If two or more items are mailed in the same carton or box, cushioning material should protect all items from contact with each other. Each item should have its own individual wrapper.

Cardboard containers, including large soap, cereal boxes, etc., larger than the gift being mailed should be cut down to about the size of the gift to minimize shaking and breaking in transit.

Fragile articles must be individually cushioned, and all four sides of the container should be padded with cushioning material.

Tape used to seal containers should be durable type and should cover or secure firmly all flaps.

Paper for the outer wrapping should be at least equal in quality and strength to the kraft stock used for grocery bags. Incidentally, such bags, in good condition, provide excellent wrapping when trimmed to the proper size to fit the package snugly.

Wrapped packages also should be secured with strong twine, not ordinary light string. Twine should be knotted at several intersecting points to keep it from loosening.

All packages that contain delicate articles should be marked — FRAGILE.

Each package should contain the name and address of the person to whom it is being mailed inside the package as well as outside. An address contained inside is insurance that it will be received promptly even if accidentally opened or if the outside address should become obliterated.

Be sure to put your return address on the package.

And finally, address the package correctly and legibly. Be sure to include the ZIP Code. (Call your local post office if you don't know your ZIP Code.) Mail with the proper ZIP Code is processed more rapidly than without the codes.

Key Club Week Observed Here

Key Club International Week is being observed by the local high school Key Club with a membership drive and a dinner with the Kiwanis Club Tuesday night.

"Main purpose of Key Club Week is to increase membership and community awareness of our organization," said David Wright, president. The observance begins today and runs through Saturday.

Key Club is a service organization for boys in grades 10-12. Twenty-eight belong to the local club led by Wright, vice presidents Ricky Gilliland and Guy Teague, secretary Glen Carlton, and treasurers Robert McEntire and Victor Garcia.

Projects of the club include volunteer work at the Veterans Administration Hospital, bringing the victory bell to football and basketball games and putting out the student activity calendar.

Gun Ordinance May Be OKed

A provision to outlaw the shooting of B.B. guns, pellet guns and similar weapons within the city limits will be among items considered by the City Council when it meets at 9 a.m. Tuesday.

The provision, not yet drawn up by City Attorney Jim Gregg, will be in the form of an ordinance or an amendment to the present firearm ordinance.

Council consideration of the matter comes in response to a recent request by Mrs. Jim Baum that usage of the weapons be outlawed to prevent injuries.

Other items to be taken up include an ordinance prohibiting the sale of raw milk within the city, a discussion on the planned alcoholic detoxification unit and a recommendation by the Clean Up Shape Up steering committee that revenue sharing funds be allocated to fund the clean-up campaign for a year.

Bids will be awarded on a number of items for the utility and street departments, and appointments will be made to the Tourism and Development Council and to the Parks and Recreation Board.

'BUT FRITZ REALLY HASN'T MADE UP HIS MIND' It's Fine If Her Husband Seeks Presidency

WASHINGTON (AP) — Over the Egyptian sun god, Ra, and the living room fireplace in the home of Sen. and Mrs. Walter F. Mondale hangs a painting of Queen Nefertiti. But Ra is standing before a microphone and has Mondale's features while Nefertiti resembles Mrs. Mondale and carries a sign that reads: "Vote."

MONDALE — Mrs. Walter Mondale, wife of Senator Walter Mondale, D-Minn., pets her dog Lonnie in her living room. The Mondales have been a political team since Senator Mondale became attorney general in Minnesota in 1960 and Mrs. Mondale was elected Democratic-Farmer-Labor party chairwoman of the 7th ward in Minneapolis.

"It's typical of our political life. Fritz is giving a speech and I'm trying to get out the vote," Joan Mondale explained in an interview. The Mondales have been a political team since he became

Discussions Set On Predators

SAN ANGELO — Certain West Texas ranchers, in the management of their livestock, look to fencing and confinement for partial protection from predators. And fencing and confinement are among those management practices to evade losses to predators that will be discussed during Dec. 20 field day at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at San Angelo. Guests at the field day will hear some dozen recognized authorities discuss the predator situation from as many different points of view. The program begins at 8:30 a.m. and ends at 3:45 p.m. Lunch will be catered and Dutch-treat.

FIRES

A bed being stored in the garage of the Jimmy McCain residence in Sand Springs burned Friday night. Sand Springs Volunteer Firemen and a Texas Highway Patrolman went to the scene. Big Spring Firemen answered a call to the Rev. William C. McMillan residence at 3015 Navajo Drive at 11 p.m. Friday. An electrical fire was reported.

Minnesota's attorney general in 1960 and she was elected Democratic-Farmer-Labor party chairwoman of the 7th Ward in Minneapolis. Now, Mondale, a Minnesota Democrat, is reportedly thinking about becoming a presidential candidate for 1976. But Mrs. Mondale says she isn't giving that possibility much thought. "I haven't thought much about it because I don't have to," said Mrs. Mondale. "Fritz really hasn't made up his mind." But, she added, "If he wants to, that's fine." Despite her lively interest in politics and issues, Mrs. Mondale doesn't attend Senate sessions and hearings as often as he would like. "The children do come first," she said, referring to the Mondales' sons, Teddy, 16, and William, 12, and daughter, Eleanor Jane, 14.

Gospel Music Disc Jockey Pounds Beat In Tallahassee

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — By day, police Sgt. Billy Hudson pounds a beat in downtown Tallahassee. But by night, he sits behind a turntable to ply North Florida airwaves with musical praises of the Lord. "I love it," Hudson, 36, says of his avocation as a gospel music disc jockey. "I've had some pretty good times out of it. I love people." Hudson's audience returned the compliment earlier this year, selecting the officer as America's most popular gospel music disc jockey in a contest sponsored by a record publishing company. "It gets real tiring at times, but if you heard the comments from the older people and letters I get, it just keeps you going."

Blacks Cool Amidst Racism

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Two black American athletes, here for rare, multiracial sports events, decline to talk about their status as "honorary whites."

Light-heavyweight boxing champion Bob Foster is willing to answer questions from newsmen "as long as they're not about politics." Foster meets South Africa's white hope, Pierre Fourie, in a title rematch Dec. 1.

Tennis star Arthur Ashe parries most queries and says, "I want to see and absorb as much of your country as possible." Ashe is competing in the South African Open Tennis Tournament. Black and white South Africans swarm around them for autographs and handshakes. Both react coolly, as veterans used to such acclaim, but Foster sometimes expresses surprise at the enthusiastic hundreds who stand patiently for hours outside his hotel.

Foster, 34, arrived Nov. 13 for the first professional fight between a white and a black in this segregated country. He is heavily favored to retain the crown in his 13th defense since winning the championship from Dick Tiger in 1968. Foster defeated Fourie on points over 15 rounds in Albuquerque, N.M., Aug. 21.

A purse estimated at $200,000 for the lanky titleholder, and special government permission to relax apartheid, paved the way for the rematch.

Foster, his wife Pearl and the rest of his entourage, were the first guests to sign into the new five-star Landrost Hotel, normally reserved for whites.

At dawn each day he is taken to Turfontein race track for some road work. The day's main event is a lunch-hour drive to a well-worn YMCA in the seedy Mayfair section of Johannesburg. White police provide a motorcycle escort for the champ and a multi-racial audience crams the gym to cheer his every move.

Ashe, who beat South Africa's Cliff Drysdale Saturday to qualify for Sunday's finals of the South African Open, has been living in a private home. Although he's the first American black to reach the finals, he's not the first to compete in the tourney. Bonnie Logan of Baltimore was here last year.

Non-white South Africans also play in the tournament.

Ashe's breakthrough was to get a visa to enter the country after several years of official rejection. This stemmed from reports quoting him as saying, among other things, that he wished to "take an H-bomb and drop it right on Johannesburg."

MOODS — TCU head coach Billy Tomihill doesn't seem to be in the best of spirits as he walks off the field after a bolt of lightning struck near Amon Carter Stadium Saturday in Fort Worth. Tomihill was told earlier this week that next week's game with SMU will be his last as TCU coach. Rice beat the Frogs Saturday, 14-9.

Steers Rap Plainsmen For Second Cage Win

PLAINVIEW — The Big Spring Steers used a pressure defense and a good rebounding game to knock off the Plainview Plainsmen by a 51-40 count here Saturday night.

It was the second victory in as many nights for the Steers, who ripped Crane 98-69 in Friday's season opener. Next action for the Longhorns is next Thursday, when they meet the same Plainsmen in an 8:30 p.m. first round game in the Plainview Invitational Tournament.

John Thomas Smith and Larry Stanley each notched 11 points to top the low-scoring Steer attack, while Albo Smith chipped in 10. For Plainview, Doug Bery was the top scorer with 10 points.

Big Spring led by five at the half, 28-23, and upped the margin to 40-31 at the end of three quarters.

In the junior varsity game, Plainview scored a 59-49 decision over the Steer youngsters. Aldridge was tops for the Steers with 22 points, and Bobby Winters hit nine.

Big Spring won the preliminary sophomore game, 40-39. It was the first game of the year for the Steer sophs. The Steers were impressive in their opener in Crane Friday, putting four men in double figures and 12 in the scoring column.

John Smith hit 18 points to lead the way, while Dunt notched 16. James Zapp had 13 and Jeff Kuykendall rang up 10. For Crane, Esquivel was tops with 15 points.

The Steers rushed to a 46-28 halftime lead as a full court press worked both for and against the Longhorns, forcing turnovers but hanging the visitors with 33 personal fouls.

"It was a real good first game effort," said Coach Ron Plumlee. "We didn't look great, but we showed a lot of potential. I thought we filled the lanes real well."

Plumlee praised the play of John Smith and Tim Dunt, and said that Larry Stanley had a good defensive game. He also had kind words for sophomores Jim Ray and James Zapp.

In the junior varsity game, Robert Aldridge rang up 30 points and Mark Moore 15 as the Steers opened with a 39-40 decision over the Cranes. The young Steers were in front 38-26 at the intermission.

SCRAMBLING RAIDER — Texas Tech quarterback Joe Barnes (12) is chased in Saturday's game with Arkansas by Razorbacks Jon Rhiddlehoover (60), Billy Burns (53) and Brison Manor (75). The Red Raiders won the game 24-17, and ran their regular season record to 10-1.

Isaac Leads Raiders By Arkansas, 24-17

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Freshman tailback Larry Isaac, who became a starter three weeks ago, scored three touchdowns to boost 12th ranked Texas Tech to a 24-17 victory over Arkansas here Saturday in the regular season finale for both teams.

Isaac, a homegrown product from Lubbock, scored on runs of 13, 14 and 2 yards. His shortest TD run came with 8:55 left in the game and broke a 17-17 tie. He finished with 99 yards on 21 carries.

The victory gave the Gator Bowl bound Raiders a 10-1 record and was Tech's first over Arkansas in four tries under Coach Jim Carlen. Arkansas finished 3-5-1.

Tech moved the ball extremely well against Arkansas, but stopped itself on numerous occasions — once on an interception at the Arkansas goal and three times on errant field goal attempts by Don Grimes.

Tech led 14-10 at the half and upped its advantage to 17-10 on Grimes' 39-yard field goal with 10:43 left in the third quarter. Arkansas went 80 yards to tie the score midway through the third period when fullback Alan Watson broke loose for 30 yards up the middle.

Isaac's winning touchdown ended a 71-yard drive that included a 15-yard pass from Joe Barnes to Jeff Jobe and a 16-yard toss from Barnes to tight end Andre Tillman. Barnes completed 8 out of 11 for 112 yards. He also rushed 24 times for 119 yards.

Arkansas tailback Dickey Morton was held to 55 yards on 14 carries which upped his Southwest Conference career rushing record to 3,317. His 595 career attempts ties the conference mark set by Texas' Chris Gilbert. Morton established a school record for one season with 1,298 yards on 226 attempts.

Tech's first possession set the tone for the Raiders. They took the opening kickoff and moved from their 22 to the Arkansas 6 before Grimes missed a field goal attempt. Arkansas got out to a 10-0 lead on a 36-yard field goal by Mike Kirkland and a 1-yard run by Marvin Daily. Daily's TD ended a 45-yard drive that began after a 30-yard punt. The big play was a 23-yard run by Kirkland that carried to the one.

Tech came right back and moved 76 yards in 13 plays with Isaac going the final 13 after taking a quick pitch when Barnes caught Arkansas in a goal line defense on fourth and one. Tech took the lead five minutes later on a 51-yard drive that followed a 26-yard Arkansas punt. Barnes set the Raiders up at the Arkansas 22 when he scrambled 25 yards and then Isaac rambled 14 yards for the score on third down.

U.S. Golfers Keep Lead

MARBELLA, Spain (AP) — The United States clung to a three-stroke lead Saturday in the World Cup Golf Tournament as Jack Nicklaus, Johnny Miller and most of the other leaders of the first two rounds slipped over par.

At the 54-hole mark, the Nicklaus-Miller tandem had a total of 420 in the quest for a 12th U.S. team victory in the 21-year history of the tournament. South Africa moved into second place with 423, followed by Taiwan at 425 and Argentina at 432.

Nicklaus went over par for the first time, taking a 73 over the 6,905-yard Nueva Andalucia course. Miller went through a day of putting frustrations to finish with a par 72.

Lu Liang-Huan, Taiwan's smiling Mr. Lu, had been the individual leader after each of the first two rounds, also faded and took 74. This left him in a three-way tie at 210 with Nicklaus and Miller for first place in the individual race.

South Africa profited most from the leaders' troubles. Hugh Baiocchi played to a 69 and Gary Player a 70 to move the South Africans from fourth to second place in the team standings. At 211 Player is now only one stroke behind the three individual leaders and Baiocchi is another stroke back at 212.

Howard Payne Tops Mexican Gridders

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Quarterback Rick Worley set a school record here Saturday with a 567 yards passing as he led the Howard Payne Yellow Jackets to a 41-7 victory over the National University of Mexico in a match played at Olympic Stadium before 26,000.

PRO FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

Steelers Are Angry, Intent

By The Associated Press. Los Angeles versus New Orleans, Chicago versus Minnesota, Cincinnati hosts St. Louis, Atlanta plays the Jets at New York, the New York Giants are at Philadelphia, Baltimore enters Buffalo and New England visits Houston.

Green Bay is at San Francisco in the nationally-televised game Monday night. One division lead has already been shaken up this week. Washington took over first place in the National Conference East when Miami defeated Dallas 14-7 Thursday.

Pittsburgh is on the mend for its game. Running back John Fuqua will probably be activated after missing three games because of a cracked collarbone and defensive star Joe Greene is a probable starter after missing part of last week's loss to Denver.

Cleveland's defense has also shown confidence in its ability. The Browns beat Oakland 7-3 last week when Mike Phipps pitched a seven-yarder to Fair Hooker for the game's only touchdown.

Both the Chiefs and the Broncos have unbeaten strings going into their game. Denver has not lost in its last six while Kansas City has won three straight behind quarterback Mike Livingston.

The Falcons hope to keep the pressure on the Los Angeles Rams in the NFC West when they travel to New York to play the Jets. Atlanta, which handed Minnesota its first loss of the season, now has won six games in a row led by quarterback Bob Lee who must now compete against one of the game's best signal callers, Joe Namath.

Iowa State Stuns Pokes

AMES, Iowa (AP) — Freshman quarterback Buddy Hardeman passed for two touchdowns and was credited with a 74-yard touchdown run as Iowa State upset Big Eight Conference football foe Oklahoma State 28-12 Saturday.

Hardeman was credited with a third-quarter touchdown run when Oklahoma State second-string offensive guard Deacon Stephens came off the bench to make a sideline tackle at the Cowboy 35-yard line.

Cyclone Coach Earle Bruce and the entire Iowa State bench stormed on the field demanding that Hardeman be awarded a touchdown.

Cougs Rip Wyoming

HOUSTON (AP) — Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl-bound Houston overcame five first-half fumbles and stumbled to a 35-0 victory over Wyoming Saturday night on two touchdown runs by quarterback D.C. Nobles.

Houston, which meets 18th-ranked Tulane in the Dec. 29 Astro-Bluebonnet game here, has a 9-1 record with one game to play and with Saturday's victory at least will equal its previous best record of 9-2 in 1969.

Nobles lost three of the Cougars' first half fumbles but the senior quarterback kept UH going offensively. Nobles led the game early in the third quarter after gaining 126 yards on 13 carries. He hit three of 11 passes for 53 yards.

Houston's first touchdown came after Cougar safety Howard Ebow recovered a fumble by Wyoming's Lawrence Gaines on the Cowboy 16 yard line. Nobles zipped through the left side of the Wyoming defense on the first play from scrimmage for the touchdown.

Hawks Lose, Then Rebound

KERRVILLE — There was another "Black Friday" for the Howard County Hawks, but just like before, the HCJC cagers rebounded in style.

The Hawks routed host Schreiner 121-91 Saturday afternoon in the second round of the Hill Country Classic, avenging a 92-66 defeat at the hands of the Pioneers in a first round tilt Friday.

It was a week earlier, on a Friday night, that the Hawks suffered their first loss of the year to the host Wranglers in the Odessa Chamber of Commerce Basketball Tournament.

But the next night, the Hawks roared back to take third place with a victory over New Mexico Junior College.

The Hawks now stand 8-2 on the year, and visit Cisco Junior College Monday for their final test before beginning Western Conference action.

New Mexico Military Institute visits the HCJC gym Thursday for the league opener.

Six-foot guard Bobby Beall hit a career-high 22 points in Saturday's victory over Schreiner, as six players finished in double figures in the Hawks' second best point-production of the year.

Big Spring's Mike Randle hit for 20 points, while the two inside men, Thomas Bledsoe and Taylor Williams, notched 18 and 16 respectively. Leroy Lumzy chipped in 17 points and Keith Lewis hit 14 in the romp.

Howard County rushed to a 57-46 halftime advantage as a full court press forced the Mountaineers into several turnovers. Lewis hit four straight baskets five minutes deep in the second half to spark the HCJC barrage.

"That's what broke it open for us," said Hawk coach Harold Wilder.

Wilder said it was a cold hand that spelled doom for the Hawks a night earlier. The Hawks, averaging over 50 per cent from the field, slipped to 39 per cent against Wharton and fell behind by as many as 18 points in the second half.

The Hawks battled back to within four points with two minutes remaining, but could get no closer.

Williams was high point man in the game with 23. Lumzy notched 18 and Bledsoe hit 17 points before fouling out with five minutes left in the game.

Tolliver was also in double figures, with 12 points.

A SUDDEN STOP — Clint Haslerig, Michigan running back, is pulled to a stop after a three-yard gain through the Ohio State line in the second quarter of the Big Ten game in Ann Arbor Saturday. Putting the squeeze on Haslerig is Tom Marendt (81), the Buckeyes' right defensive end. Michigan rallied in the second half to tie the top-ranked OSU gridders 10-10 and earn a share of the loop crown.

Michigan Rallies, Ties Top-Rated OSU, 10-10

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Dennis Franklin's 10-yard run in the fourth quarter lifted Michigan's Wolverines into a 10-10 tie with Ohio State Saturday in an exciting Big Ten contest which saw two last-minute field goal attempts by Michigan go wide.

The outcome gave the perennial powers 7-0-1 conference records, forcing a decision on the Rose Bowl representative to come Sunday after a vote of conference athletic directors in Chicago.

Fourth-ranked Michigan would likely go to Pasadena since No. 1-ranked Ohio State was the representative in last year's game against Pacific Eight champion Southern California.

Southern Cal and UCLA met later Saturday to determine the Pac Eight representative. A national television audience and a record crowd of 105,223 saw Ohio State jump to a 10-0 lead in the second quarter on a 31-yard field goal by Blair Conway and a five-yard run by freshman fullback Pete Johnson.

Following a scoreless third quarter, the Wolverines took command after stopping the Buckeyes at the Michigan 33. Michigan then took 11 plays to drive 53 yards with Mike Lantry booting a 30-yard field goal on the second play of the fourth quarter.

The Wolverines had the momentum and, after stopping the Buckeye offense, drove 51 yards in six plays with Franklin scoring on a fourth-and-one-inch play at the Ohio State 10.

SWIERC RETURNS KICK 99 YARDS Owls Rip Struggling TCU

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Rice's Carl Swierc streaked 99 yards on a kickoff return to wreck Texas Christian's final game appearance under ousted Coach Billy Tophill and lead the Owls to a 14-9 Southwest Conference triumph Saturday in game punctuated with wind and rain and delayed briefly by a fierce electrical storm.

The crippled Horned Frogs had pulled to within four points, 7-3, on Bert Simmons' 25-yard field goal in the fourth period.

Swierc took the kickoff at the one, sped up the sideline, swung diagonally across field and outran everyone to the goal.

It was a lethal blow for the Frogs, flurting with an SWC cellar and battling desperately to win their final two games for Tophill, fired Monday in the wake of a 52-7 thrashing by Texas.

The Owls, 4-6 for the season and 3-3 in SWC action, broke a scoreless deadlock in the third period, converting Chris Fisher's fumble recovery at the TCU 14 into a quick touchdown.

Quarterback Fred Geisler fired twin seven-yard passes to Gary Ferguson, the second for the touchdown, and the Owls swept on to their third straight conference victory.

TCU, now 3-7, closed the gap in the waning minutes, riding a tricky 49-yard pass from Steve Patterson to Tim Pulliam into scoring range and sending Mike Luttrell in from the two.

The electric storm crossed over the stadium at kickoff and sent a bolt of lightning streaking into the near empty stands early in the second period, prompting a 10-minute delay in the contest.

The bizarre first half was stricken with heavy rain, thunder, lightning and blustery winds but no scoring. The Horned Frogs, permitting Rice only 19 yards total offense by halftime, spent more of the tumultuous two periods in Owl territory but netted nothing but frustration.

Simmons tried to salvage three points with a 44-yard field goal, but, like an earlier 50-yard shot, the kick was short and off target.

Rice fumbled twice, once on the threshold of its own goal, but stayed off disaster by recovering both bobbles. Punting specialist Mike Landrum added to the TCU miseries all day, repeatedly kicking Rice out of danger.

The loss, TCU's fifth and sixth SWC games, over shadowed another glittering performance by Luttrell, who pounded out 137 yards on 40 carries. He had 107 at half-times.

Other than Henley's key defensive plays, and Swierc's kickoff return, the Owls had no outstanding performers, with Ferguson leading the ground attack with 39 yards.

It was Swierc who returned a kickoff 95 yards against Texas A&M last week in the final minutes that beat the Aggies 24-20.

Southern Cal Gets By Bruins, 23-13

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Southern California's Anthony Davis romped for 145 yards, scoring one touchdown and setting up a field goal, to lead the Trojans over arch-rival UCLA 23-13 Saturday and into the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day.

The ninth-ranked Trojans, 9-1-1, playing near-perfect football, captured the Pacific-8 Conference championship for the sixth time in the last eight years. In the Rose Bowl, they will probably meet Michigan's fourth-ranked Wolverines, who played Ohio State to a 10-10 tie Saturday to share the Big Ten title.

The Trojans' I formation attack, directed by quarterback Pat Haden, drove 68, 80 and 74 yards for 17 first-half points the first three times USC had the ball.

The First Assembly Believers, led by Robert Pruitt's 40, topped the Church Indoor Golf League action last week. Pruitt tied Leta Pruitt of the First Assembly Spirits for low score of the week.

RESULTS — 1. First Assembly Believers, 381 (R. Pruitt, 40); 2. Northern Super Stars, 186 (D. Thomas, 41); 3. Christian Crusaders, 191 (J. Rogers, 40); 4. First Assembly Spirits, 196 (L. Pruitt, 40); 5. College Baptist Kolamites, 294 (R. C. E. Sevier, 49); 6. Trinity Baptist South, 219 (J. Sherwood, 49); 7. Trinity Baptist North, 224 (J. Sells, 45); 8. Church of Christ Riders, 226.

Mojo's Comeback Sinks Rider, 21-14

ODESSA — Odessa Permian's Panthers rallied for nine fourth quarter points Saturday to post a 21-14 Class AAAA bi-district victory over the Wichita Falls Rider Raiders.

Permian now faces Arlington in the playoffs.

A 27-yard field goal by Jerry Burger lifted the Dist. 5-AAAA champions to a 15-14 edge in the fourth quarter, and Travis Howard rambled for 24 yards later in the period for the final PHS points.

Permian had taken the lead in the first quarter on a two-yard run by Mike Belew, who had 116 yards rushing in the tilt. Burger's PAT kick was no good.

Rider tied it up in the first quarter on a 62-yard dash by Brian Nelson, the game's leading ball carrier with 123 yards and Randy Brazil toed the Raiders into a 7-6 edge.

Permian regained the lead in the second period on Belew's 33-yard sprint, and a pass for two points fell incomplete to leave the count at 12-7.

Lesley Logan ran one yard for Rider's go-ahead points, and Brazil added the PAT.

Penn State Bumps Pitt

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — Penn State's rugged defense stopped Pittsburgh cold in the second half and the sixth-ranked Nittany Lions rallied for four touchdowns and a field goal to defeat the upset-minded Panthers 35-13 Saturday, completing an unbeaten 11-game regular season.

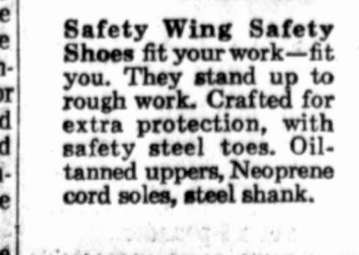

Trailing 13-3 at halftime, the defense of Orange Bowl-bound Penn State held freshman running sensation Tony Dorsett and his Pitt teammates to seven yards on the ground and 41 yards passing in the final two periods.

The confrontation between Dorsett and Penn State's John Cappelletti turned out to be no contest as Cappelletti gained 161 yards on 37 carries and scored one touchdown. Dorsett accounted for 77 yards.

JOHN SMITH, DOUG SMITH STEER HONOREES

Odessa Schools Dominate All-District

Dist. 5-AAAA champion placed six men on the honor roll. Odessa Permian, supposedly in a rebuilding year, landed eight spots on the 27-man all-district team and first year mentor John Wilkins was named Coach of the Year in a vote of coaches and sports writers last week in Odessa.

Cross-town rival Odessa High Midland Lee didn't place a man on the first team. Big Spring's record-breaking pass receiver, John Thomas Smith, was one of the leading vote-getters as he earned first team status as a wide receiver. Smith also was an honorable mention choice as a defensive back.

Steer kicker Doug Smith was the other Big Springer to gain special mention, as he was voted the district's Outstanding Kicker. Other Longhorns named honorable mention were quarterback Tom Sorley, halfback Danny Ferrell and tackle Joel Fellows.

Larry Norris of Abilene Cooper was a unanimous selection as Outstanding Lineman, Odessa's Rodney Allison was named the top back, and Chuck Sitton of Abilene was voted the outstanding punter in other special categories.

Allison headed up an impressive backfield as he was voted first team quarterback in a close race with Sorley and San Angelo's David Dodson. Permian's Mike Belew, the loop's top rusher with 697 yards, was joined at running back by Mike Gaddy of Midland and big Doug King of Odessa.

Another OHS Broncho, Derrill Eubanks, was named to the wide receiver spot opposite John Smith, and Permian's Daryl Hunt, one of only three juniors to gain first team mention, was chosen as the tight end.

Scott Middlebrook of Cooper and Rusty Pounds of Permian were chosen as tackle and Myers of San Angelo, Albert Metcalfe of Midland and Ray Nunez of Permian all tied for the two guard spots. Permian's talented Mike Herron, one of three two-way selections, topped the list of centers.

Defensively, Myers and Mark Krupicka of Odessa ranked as the top ends, with down linemen Jim Cagle of OHS, Norris of Cooper, Rusty McLeskey of Abilene, Taylor Mayne of Midland and Herron of Permian forming up the front wall.

At the linebacker spot, Mike Jackson of Odessa, Raul Madrid of Midland and Ray Nunez of Permian were honored. The defensive backfield was a close vote for four berths, as Sitton of Abilene and Midland's Steve Widner paced the list. Willie Conway of Cooper and Rusty Breazeale of Permian filled the other two spots.

John Smith was one of five vote-getters to receive as many as 10 votes, as he was a near miss in gaining two-way mention. The 6-2, 175-pound flanker led 5-AAAA receivers with 45 receptions for 762 yards, breaking the old standard by almost 200 yards. He caught eight touchdown passes.

All of the passing yards came from Sorley, who topped the league in passing with 1,337 yards and 14 touchdowns.

Doug Smith was the No. 1 kicker in the district, with three field goals and eight conversion kicks. He also scored a touchdown and caught one PAT pass for 25 points, and his seven receptions for 127 yards placed him among the top 15 receivers in 5-AAAA.

Fellows, a senior, was one of the most versatile of the Steers this year. The 200-pounder started the year at center, and later played guard, tackle and defensive tackle. In the final game of the year against San Angelo, he played all four positions as the Longhorns found themselves in a depth problem.

Ferrell represents much of the Steers' hope for next season. The 170-pound junior halfback rushed for 390 yards on 60 carries for a healthy 6.5-yard average, and stood eighth among the loop's runners. He also ran for four touchdowns.

Those performing will be the Meistersingers, men's chorus, freshman girls choir and the acapella girls' choir. All types of music will be presented at the concert. Admission will be $1 and tickets may be purchased from any choir member or at the door. The concert will begin at 7:30 p.m.

A total of 1210 annuals were sold this year as opposed to 1208 last year. High Salesman was Nadine Teague with 251 sold. She was awarded $25. Cindy Taylor was second with 209 winning $15. Coming in third was Ismael Lujan who sold 73 books. He won $5. Mark Anderson won the booby prize for selling 14 books.

A New Rivalry

A combination of a new Mexican government policy and the ambitions of Japanese industrialists means new competition for U.S. industry on our own doorstep. It's yet another sign that the U.S. economic leadership has become, like the dollar, greatly devalued even in our own hemispheres.

Earlier this year, Mexico passed a law requiring that all new foreign investment in the country must be matched by at least a 51 per cent Mexican stake. The intent is obvious: To prevent further foreign control of Mexican industry and enterprises, and to encourage Mexican ownership.

The trouble is, however, that there is not enough loose capital available in Mexico to meet that which foreign companies — particularly from the United States — wish to invest. So the result could be a slowdown in the Mexican economic expansion; some planned developments already have been delayed.

But the Japanese have seized upon the new law as an opportunity. They have begun lending the Mexican government the money it needs for its 51 per cent share in joint ventures with Japanese firms. So far, American industry hasn't been that generous; as a result, the share of Mexican industry with Japanese ownership is increasing.

Eventually, this could work to the advantage of both the Mexican economy and Japanese industry, at the expense of this country. Japanese firms can use Mexico as a backdoor to the American market, producing in Mexican factories goods for export to the United States which would not carry the liabilities of exports direct from Japan to this country.

In the process, of course, the United States' influence on the Mexican economy will be lessened, which is not a totally bad thing. Mexico will get an economic boost from Japanese-financed industrialization, which is a solid plus. And Japanese-engineered products, manufactured in Mexico, should carry lower price tags for American consumers — bad news for American industry, already losing some of its domestic market to Japanese electronics, automobile and other manufacturers.

Exemplary Fine Job

Seems like every day we have reports of burglaries, and it's easy to ask the question: "Don't they ever solve any of these?" or "No use to report this, nothing happens."

Well, they do solve many of these, and it does do good to report your losses. A case in point is the recent breaking by the sheriff's department of a burglary ring which had hit many local businesses in recent weeks. Result was the recovery of a vast amount of missing goods, and the end does not appear in sight. Already the courts have taken action on some of the individuals allegedly involved. It stacks up to an exemplary fine job of crime detection and justice, and it should be gratefully acknowledged.

BILLY GRAHAM

I have been told all the Bible words in italics are not in the original manuscripts. If this is true, wouldn't it be beneficial to have a Bible with only the actual words of the ancient writings?

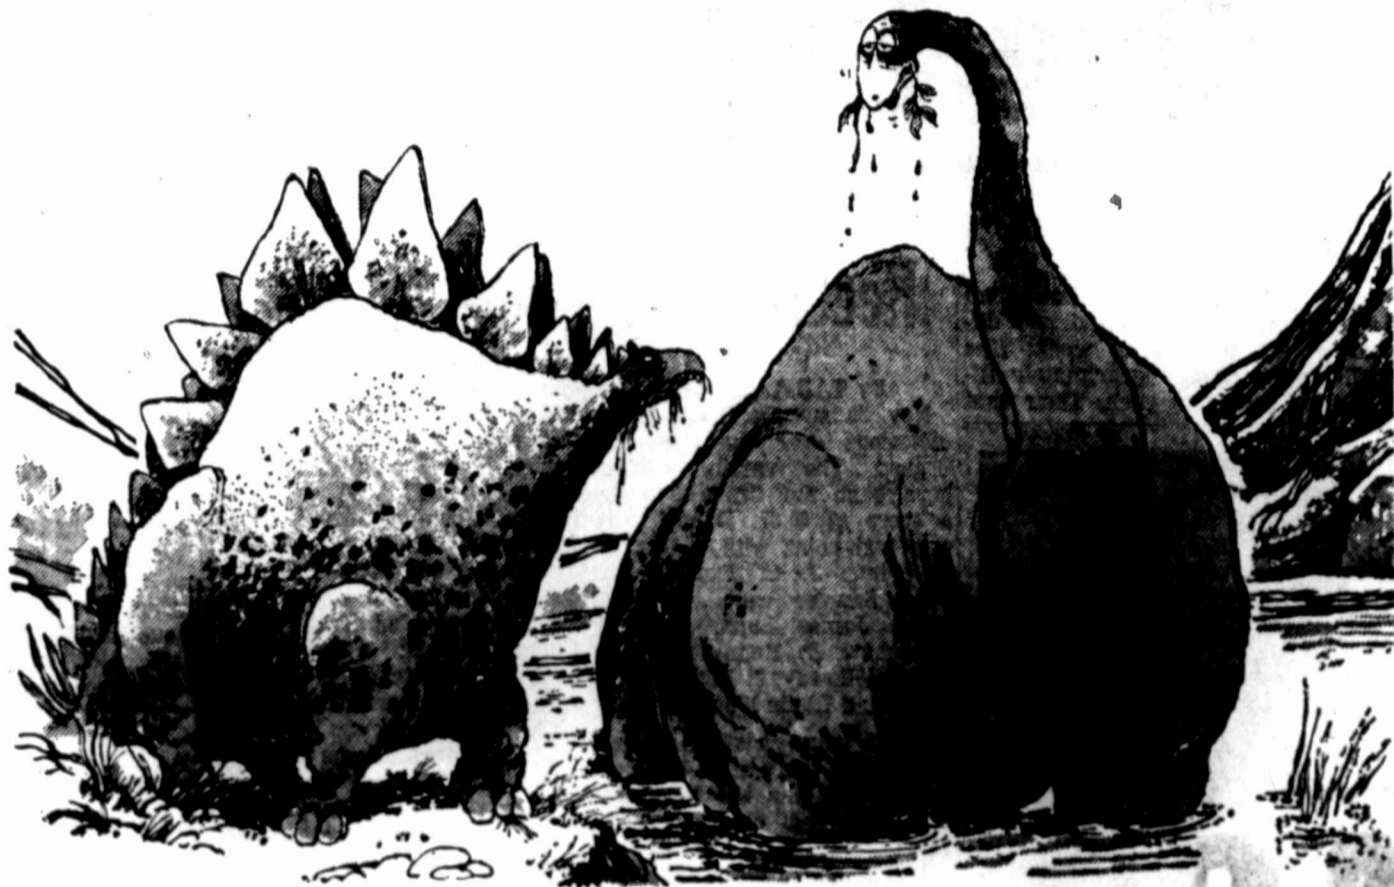

M.G.R. That's right! Italics are used by translators to indicate that a word is missing in the original, but has been added to complete the sense.

Here's an illustration: In 1 Corinthians 12:29, the translators added the word "are" to the beginning of four separate phrases. Had they not done this, there would have been confusion. The statement would have read: "All apostles? All prophets? All teachers? All workers of miracles?" In the Greek language in which Paul wrote this letter, his grammar rules did not require a verb form. Ours does!

It's very commendable to want to get back to original languages, but you would need to be a linguist to understand the language form of ancient people.

Nobody has an original Bible, or what is called an "autograph copy." These documents disappeared or were destroyed centuries ago. We can thank God, however, that what we do have comes pretty close, and makes no alteration in the original meaning. Evangelical Christians believe the Bible was divinely inspired in the initial writing. They also believe that God's Spirit has superintended even the transmission of Scripture through the years, so that doctrinal errors were avoided.

In any analytical approach to the Bible, however, just remember this, the Scripture was given not to tell how the heavens go, but through faith in Christ, how to go to heaven. That it does beautifully, simply and effectively.

Fuel Crisis Quakes Market

By CHET CURRIER

NEW YORK (AP) — The energy crisis has the stock market quaking and many economists openly worrying about a recession next year.

But, by a chain of international circumstances, it has so far been a boon to the long-besieged U.S. dollar.

In European exchange markets Friday the dollar, which has been pounded over the past few years by two devaluations and a deteriorating U.S. trade balance, climbed to its highest levels since early this year against many other major Western currencies.

Energy problems weren't the only reason for the dollar's recovery, which began gradually during the summer.

REVERSE TREND After spending $8.5 million more than it took in last year in international payments, the United States has been reporting much more favorable month-to-month trade and payments figures recently. And Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz has predicted incoming payments will exceed the outflow next year.

In addition, many monetary experts contend that specula-

The Week's Business

- Dow-Jones averages skid to lowest point in two years
- Investors fear fuel shortage may cripple industrial output
- Abroad, dollar makes a 15 per cent rally from July level
- One reason is feeling fuel pinch will hurt other nations worse
- Also, U.S. sharply improves trade balance, may go to plus side

tion against the dollar simply went too far, pushing it down to a point from which it had to rebound sooner or later.

Nevertheless, dealers in Europe this past week agreed that the dollar's recovery had been significantly accelerated by the energy crisis touched off by Arab moves to slow the flow of their oil to the West.

The line of reasoning, prompting what one dealer called "a new wave of confidence in the dollar," goes this way:

HURT LESS The United States, which has been getting some 10 per cent of its oil from the Middle East, stands to be hurt by the Arab boycott. But Japan and Europe, dependent on the same area for 80 per cent of their petroleum needs, seem to face a much more immediate threat of economic disruption.

In this line of thinking, American industry would theoretically gain a competitive advantage over its crippled counterparts in many other industrialized nations. That in turn, would tend to push the flow of wealth increasingly to the United States, putting the dollar on firmer and firmer ground.

On Friday a dollar was exchanged for 4.50 French francs, compared with only 3.92 on July 6. The British pound closed at $2.3580, the lowest level since January.

Haig's Hatchet Job

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — As though President Nixon hadn't enough troubles he and the White House chief of staff, Gen. Alexander Haig, are accused of promoting a campaign that can have no other end than damaging the reputation of Elliot Richardson. The attorney General who resigned rather than fire Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox is the target of charges of perjury and the lie as well as insinuations of personal misconduct.

RICHARDSON expects to return to the Senate Judiciary Committee to repeat what he said under oath during two days of testimony. The Nixon-Haig accusation is that the Attorney General had initially approved not only the compromise providing for Sen. John Stennis to monitor the disputed tapes but the second part of the compromise calling Cox off from any further judicial process to obtain other tapes and documents.

As related to two groups of Republican Senators, Richardson reneged and lied when he told the Judiciary Committee he never okayed putting hobbles on Cox. His resignation following the firing of Cox touched off a storm of anger, with Richardson emerging as Mr. Integrity.

REPUBLICAN Senators who are friends and admirers of Richardson are asking what can possibly have motivated the President other than vindictiveness. He had shown his confidence in Richardson by bringing him down from Massachusetts as Under Secretary of State and then giving him three Cabinet posts — Health, Education and Welfare, Defense and Justice.

Sen. Charles McC. Mathias, (R-Md.) is one member of the Judiciary Committee pushing for Richardson's recall. He is also urging the committee to subpoena Haig, who is accused of spreading the lie charge a week or more before the White House sessions. This Haig indignantly denies. He says it is merely a matter of different "perceptions" and he adds he would be willing to go before the committee to give his version.

THE FORMER Attorney General has additional evidence not yet disclosed to prove his point. On the Friday afternoon before the weekend upheaval Richardson received from the President a letter ordering him to tell Cox he was not to use further judicial process in pursuing the Watergate scandal. Since he had been unable through the entire week to see the President, he dictated a statement he intended to make public rejecting the order to Cox. Learning the White House had not released the letter, Richardson withheld his own statement. Both these documents will in all probability go into the record if and when Richardson goes back to testify.

Puzzling to Senators concerned not only over the fate of Richardson as an individual but over the future of the Republican party if men of independence can be crippled is the role of Haig. His sole experience in civilian life was as assistant to Henry A. Kissinger when the Secretary of State was special adviser for security affairs to the President.

TODAY, AS one Republican put it, he is the equivalent of a prime minister. Throughout the week when he was trying to talk to the President, Richardson could speak only with Haig.

The lowest blow, as reported by the Knight Newspapers, is to revive the drunk charge. According to the Knight report, that is traceable to agency officials who spread what appear to be fabricated reports about Richardson's arrest for drunken driving.

In the rush of esteem that came with his resignation and with his resolute press conference, Richardson was by many independents as well as Republicans had the look of a possible Presidential candidate. The man from Massachusetts who had proved himself in difficult assignments could be the answer for 1976 when so many had been tried and found wanting.

Poor 'Reversing' Chances

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I had a tubal ligation two years ago. My husband agreed to this. Now he says he would not have agreed if he had not seen me in labor and in so much pain. We have three girls.

He wants me to have the operation reversed. He thinks there may be hope. I said no, he said yes.

Please write about what to expect, what's new in techniques, and what are my chances of conceiving again? I am 30. — Mrs. T.

Questions about "reversing" tubal ligations are coming to be almost a daily occurrence, and today I had a double dose of the questions. Another woman said she thought she had agreed only to having the tubes tied, not cut and that they could be "untied."

Of course I've answered this self-same question repeatedly, but at risk of boring readers who did pay attention, I ought to repeat my answer for those who didn't.

Tubal ligation means cutting the Fallopian tubes and tying the ends, so there is no chance of an ovum passing through either tube to reach the uterus and start a pregnancy.

The inside of these tubes is no bigger than a small pencil lead. After all, the tubes only have to be big enough to permit passage of a microscopic ovum.

Trying to fit the ends back together is a neat problem, obviously. And even if you succeed in doing it, there is bound to be some scarring. It doesn't take very much scar tissue to block the tubes.

Some surgeons have tried using fine plastic tubing, which may sound foolproof but it isn't. The ovum has to travel over artificial rather than natural tissue. Whether the tubes remain open is problematical.

The Revisionists

William F. Buckley Jr.

There is a new movie making the rounds — it is called "Executive Action" — the thesis of which is that John F. Kennedy was assassinated not by Lee Harvey Oswald but by a gang of right-wing professionals working closely with critically situated officials of the FBI, the CIA, and the Secret Service. The film credits acknowledge Mark Lane, who is the major entrepreneur of the Revisionist School of Thought on the Assassination of JFK, and, almost certainly, the major profiteer of that school — there is nothing in the Bible that says, "Thou shalt seek the truth and be impoverished by the exercise," is there?

A COUPLE OF weeks before viewing the JFK movie, which apart from its ludicrousness is a most fearful, awful, excruciating bore, I saw a screening of what one might call Take Two on the Kennedy Assassination Series. This one says that Bobby was not killed by Sirhan Sirhan but by a guard who was a part of the hotel's paid protection of Bobby Kennedy. It is an earnest effort, unlike the fictionalized melodrama of the JFK movie, and one comes sadly to the conclusion that the producers believe what they contend — notwithstanding that the hypothesis is so bizarre, one would as readily accept the thesis that it was Shirley Temple who shot Robert Kennedy, in retaliation for all those sleeping pills Bobby gave Marilyn Monroe. Still, the game goes on, and there are those who eat up this kind of thing.

THE MOST recent issue of the "New York Sunday Times" carries a fine review of Mr. Daniel Belin's new book, "November 22, 1963." The reviewers, going over the work of Mr. Belin, conclude that "the verdict is overwhelmingly clear that Oswald, and Oswald alone, killed President Kennedy." Alternative theories, they conclude, "have become a permanent enclave of irrationality in our national consciousness." They then name some of the types who uphold these theories, and drop the name of Fred Cook.

FRED COOK? Well, he happens not only to have ridden the Oswald-Was-Innocent bandwagon, but another bandwagon, yes, the grand father of them all — Alger-Hiss-Was-Innocent. And indeed, in the same issue of the "Sunday Times," it is reported that the Federal Bureau of Investigation is giving up its files on the Hiss case. Specifically, to a Smith College historian, one Prof. Allen Weinstein. Deep into the story one learns that "Many scholars, Mr. Weinstein included, say it is not clear that Hiss was guilty of the perjury charges of which he was convicted by a Federal jury in New York in 1950."

AS A MATTER of fact there aren't "many scholars" who contend any such thing. There are one or two scholars who have raised particular questions (for instance the late Prof. Herbert Packer of Stanford University) about the Woodstock typewriter; but these criticisms were highly particularized, unconvincing, and they never engaged the attention of the serious critical community. There are no intellectuals on the side of Alger Hiss who came close to the standing of the "leading intellectuals" cited in the JFK review who doubt the guilt of Oswald, "including Bertrand Russell, Hugh Trevor-Roper and Norman Mailer."

ONE CANNOT predict absolutely what Prof. Weinstein, now that he has got hold of the FBI records on Alger Hiss, will come up with. If he is a Mark Lane-type, it will surely follow that he will find increasing evidence that the FBI was engaged in a plot to frame Alger Hiss. There is a wild man up in Boston who writes soliloquies for "The Boston Globe" and he automatically anticipates that the release of the FBI's files will prove Hiss's innocence. He writes, "Naturally, my cup will runneth over." Such a sentence could only have been written by someone whose cup has already run over. On the other hand, there is the refreshing precedent of the Boston journalist, Mr. Francis Russell, who thought Sacco innocent but discovered him to be guilty. Thus it will be with the Hiss records.

IT IS A large appetite, revisionism. There are people sneaking about who will tell you that Dreyfus was really guilty, that Lincoln was wasn't assassinated by John Wilkes Booth, that the Protocols of Zion are legitimate. And so on. Prof. Rouse disposes of the generic problem in his introductory lecture on Shakespeare at Harvard. He addresses the undergraduates sternly: "Shakespeare's plays were not written by Shakespeare but by another man with the same name."

Medici Art Exhibit Debut

DETROIT (AP) — Some 450 works of art from the final years of the Medici family's reign in Florence will be assembled here for the first time next spring in an exhibition jointly sponsored by the Detroit Institute of Arts and the city of Florence. The exhibition, called "Twilight of the Medici 1670-1743," will open in Detroit March 27 and will move from there to Florence's Palazzo Strozzi where it will open June 25.

The Detroit museum is gathering paintings, sculptures, drawings, tapestries and pieces of furniture and jewelry from more than 100 locations in Western Europe, India and North America. Some 150 pieces will come from such famous Florentine museums as the Uffizi, Bargello and Palazzo Pitti. Most of the works of art will be making their first appearances in the U.S.

Paintings by G. A. Pellegrini and sculptures by G. B. Foggini and Massimiliano Soldani have been committed for the exhibit. A feature of the show will be the first display in the country of the gem-studded figurines called "the jewels of the Electress Palatine" which were created for Anna Maria Luisa de' Medici whose death in 1743 marked the end of the Medici dynasty.

A Devotion For Today

While the earth remains, seedtime and harvest, cold and heat, summer and winter, day and night, shall not cease. (Genesis 8:22)

PRAYER: Dear Father, we praise and thank You for the beautiful world You have given us. Help us to trust in Your promises while seeking to do Your will. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Resists Pressure To Drop Nixon's Church Membership

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — President Nixon's pastor says he is under pressure to drop Nixon's church membership because of the Watergate scandal and the war in Southeast Asia.

Pastor T. Eugene Coffin of the East Whittier Friends Church in Nixon's hometown of Whittier, Calif., said he had no intention of dropping Nixon's membership.

Pastor Coffin was interviewed by the Oregonian on Friday while in Portland on business.

He said about a dozen of the approximately 1,000 Friends churches in the United States have written him urging that he drop Nixon's membership in the Quaker church. He said the letters cited Nixon's policies in Vietnam and Cambodia and his handling of Watergate.

"It is probably true that the President's actions were not consistent with Friends peace testimony ... but Friends also hold that each person has a right to his personal convictions and should act according to his own conscience, or spiritual light," the pastor said.

Pastor Coffin, who has conducted religious services for Nixon in the White House, said he has carried on a personal correspondence with the President since he became pastor of the East Whittier church four years ago.

'74 Front Drive Subaru GL Coupe

We gave it good looks and high mileage. (around 25 mpg)
Then we got carried away!

We built in performance:
Front wheel drive for gummy traction and straight-arrow stability. Rack and pinion steering for sports car handling. The unique Quadrozontal engine for muscle and stamina. And peace and quiet.

We loaded it with features:
Highback bucket seats (recline to 17 different positions). Tinted glass all around. AM pushbutton radio. Carpeting. Radial tires on three of our four models. And many, many more.

We added comfort:
Fully independent suspension for big-car comfort. MacPherson struts up front to make a good ride even better. "The world's most comfortable economy car," says Motor Trend.

We made a model for everyone:
The spirited GL Coupe, (with tachometer, electric rear window defogger, racing stripes and front disc brakes). The hard-working Wagon. The handsome 4-Door. The money-saving 2-Door.

Subaru '74. We could sell it on gas mileage alone.
But there's so much more. Test it today at:

Newcomers To Town Often Unable To Find Housing

(This is the first of a two-part series on the critical shortage of housing in the Big Spring area.)

By ANN STEVENS

A newcomer to Big Spring will usually be glad to tell you about his experience in finding a dwelling here and more often than not, a Herald study indicates his tale will be a negative one.

Negative because he had trouble finding a place, because it is not exactly what he had in mind, and because he feels he's paying too much for it.

Of course, not every newcomer has that experience or feels negative about the local housing market, but many do and each newcomer with a negative attitude toward the town from the outset represents a potential drain on the community's growth.

Although two apartment complexes are now under construction, the building of rental units as well as purchase housing does not seem to be keeping up with demand and need.

"WHY HE CAME"

"It looks like with the base and the college here, there would be more to rent. That's why we came here. We didn't expect any real trouble in finding a place," said Mrs. Carolyn Belk, whose husband was brought here from Texarkana by a retail company.

The Belks and their two children came to Big Spring in early November and after five days of looking found a place to live. Mrs. Belk told how they went about it:

"We were looking for a two or three bedroom apartment or house, clean and not over $125 a month rent. At first, we called up the apartment complexes but were told there were no vacancies and to get on the waiting lists.

"We didn't find anything in the paper except a house for $175 a month. It was nice, and I would have given $100 a month for it but no more," she said.

"WE'RE PAYING MORE"

"Then, we went through realtors. What they showed us, we wouldn't have stayed in unless we had to. We almost went back and took the $175 house just to have some to place to put our furniture."

The Belks finally settled in a two bedroom wood frame house for $150 a month no bills paid. "It was originally for sale but the owner agreed to rent," Mrs. Belk said. "The house is nice but we're paying more than it's really worth, I think."

She said in Texarkana, the family rented a two bedroom brick home with a fenced yard and a large den-living room combination for $100 a month. When in Shreveport, La., they rented a three bedroom brick home for that same price.

Appraising the housing situation, she said, "It's not at all a good situation here for someone new. The rent is too high and the places are not good enough. No, it's not pleasant."

MOST AGREED

Mrs. Belk's account was echoed by other recent newcomers interviewed. Of course, not all had the same amount of trouble nor voiced the same degree of dissatisfaction, but most agreed that rental housing here is not adequate in condition or price.

Apartment complexes in town have a total of 683 units, including those already complete at Barcelona and Sandra Gale Apartments. When construction on those two complexes is finished, the total number of units will rise to 719.

Queries to the managers of complexes revealed an average occupancy rate of 94 per cent. Managers of Barcelona and Sandra Gale reported that all of their finished units are full and there are waiting lists for those soon to be completed.

This would seem to indicate a need for more units. Of course, complexes are not the only available rental housing. Several motels rent rooms by the week or month and many private citizens rent out houses they own.

Jack Watkins, president of the Big Spring Rental Property Owner's Association, estimated that the members of his group among themselves own over 2,000 rental units, mostly houses and duplexes and mostly on the town's south side.

MARKET 'TIGHT'

Metropolitan housing statistics indicate the average ratio of population to number of housing units (rental and purchase) is three to one. If that is valid here, it could be estimated there are some 9,300-10,000 housing units.

Is that enough? Many don't think so.

"The housing market in Big Spring is very tight because the demand exceeds the supply," said Ron Mercer, manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

"Rental housing here is not adequate. First of all, there's not enough of it. Secondly, what there is, is not of the right size for incoming families. And third, in many cases the condition of the housing is not of the standards people want," Mercer said.

Watkins blamed this situation on two factors: a federal subsidy program and a vacating of the central residential section of town which Watkins calls the "inner core."

He claimed that the federal 236 subsidy program has discouraged private citizens from investing their capital into building rental units. However, no one as yet has built units here under the program.

"Big Spring has a lot of sound housing, built in the 20s and 40s, in the original south section of town (the number streets from about 5th to 24th). Due to deplorable conditions, people in this area are beginning to move out into new areas.

"The city has a tremendous investment there. We've got to go down there and rejuvenate the area, upgrade the condition of property there to make desirable housing available for rent and for young people to purchase," Watkins said.

"When the young don't invest in a community, that community is in trouble," he concluded.

Some of the young people who previously either rented or began to buy homes of their own are now turning to what has become a third alternative — mobile homes. It is estimated that some 550 families live in mobile homes here. One contractor said that the popularity of mobile home living has had a big effect on the conventional housing market.

This "big effect" is an increased reluctance for contractors to speculatively build, further contributing to the shortage of medium-priced housing available.

Crop Harvest In Full Swing

B. B. Manly Jr., of the USDA, Abilene Cotton Classing Office, reports that 32,000 cotton samples were graded at that office during the week ending Nov. 24. Samples representing 230,000 bales of cotton have been graded to date this season.

Quality of the sample graded during the past week was comparable to that of the previous week. Sixty-one per cent of the samples graded white, and 37 per cent fell into light-spotted grades.

Staple lengths were 47 per cent staple 31; 23 per cent staple 30; and 22 per cent staple 32.

Micronaire readings were about the same as during the previous week with 92 per cent within the desirable 3.5 to 4.9 range.

Specific grade distributions were little changed. Grade 41 comprised 36 per cent of the total samples classed, 18 per cent was grade 42, while 15 per cent was grade 51, and 12 per cent was grade 32. Sixteen per cent of the samples were reduced in grade because of baw.

Cotton prices reported to the Agricultural Marketing Service were from 3.250 to 3.550 points above government loan prices. Thus, a premium micronaire, grade 4.131 ranged in price from about 49.85 to 52.85 cents per pound. Most farmers received from $90 to $100 per ton for cottonseed.

Specifications To Remain Same

Congressman Omar Burleson called attention Saturday to an U.S. Department of Agriculture announcement that detailed specifications, applicable to bagging and bale ties used in packaging cotton and tendered to the Commodity Credit Corporation under its Cotton Loan Program, will be continued for the 1974 crop of cotton.

This will provide for the same specifications that were in effect for the 1973 crop. It withdraws the action to discontinue these specifications requirements as announced Sept. 13, 1973.

THE WHEELS OF GOVERNMENT — Mayor Bill McCormick of Topeka, Kan., called for Topekans to prevent pollution and create car pools or use the bus to ease the energy crisis. It would seem that he was setting a good example by leaving his car at home and riding his bike to the office. However, when asked if he did it because of pollution or the energy crisis, he replied, "Neither. It was a nice day and I need the exercise."

Get "Up" And Go

By JO BRIGHT

When most women travel, they try to keep their eyes on the road, the speedometer and the gas gauge.

For other women, it's a little more complicated. They watch the airspeed indicator, altimeter, ammeter, compass, oil pressure gauge, oil temperature gauge, fuel pressure gauge, fuel quality gauges, recording tachometer and stall warning indicator.

There's also the carburetor heat control, rudder trim control, stabilator trim indicator, wing flap control and a few other things.

But it's easier than it sounds. When you've earned your private pilot's license, everything falls into place, and the check-out becomes as automatic and easy as changing gears.

The days of "barn storming" and "flying by the seat of your pants" is hardly even hanger talk now. The newcomer to the world of flying is now supplied with instructional programs that have been devised by skilled professionals. For about $20 you can buy a book that tells you all you need to know about "ground school."

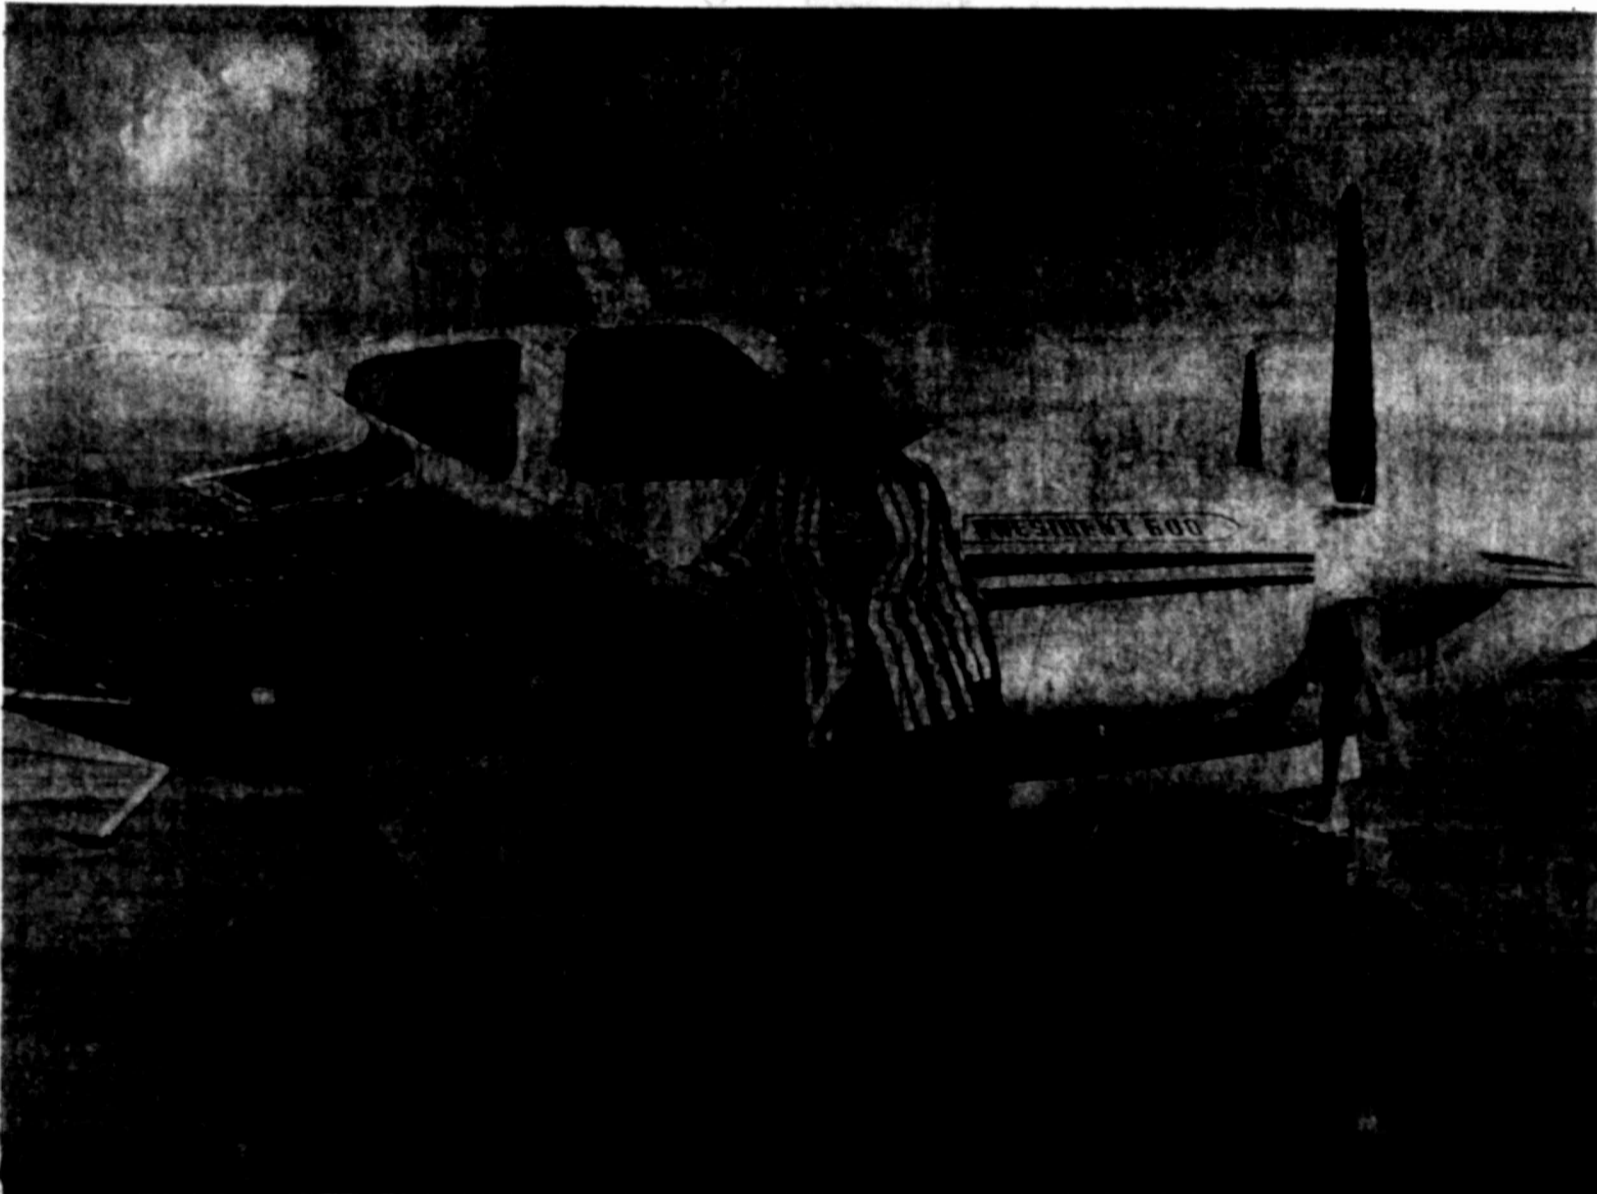

Learning to get off the ground (and back to the landing strip) will cost you a little more. At Howard County Airport, flight instruction is available for $22 per hour, which includes plane rental and instruction fee. Once you've soloed, you can rent a plane for $16 per hour.

The increase in female pilots has been evident in recent years as more women take up flying for pleasure or, perhaps, to share their husbands hobby or business activities. Pictured today are several Big Spring women who think it's "the only way to go."

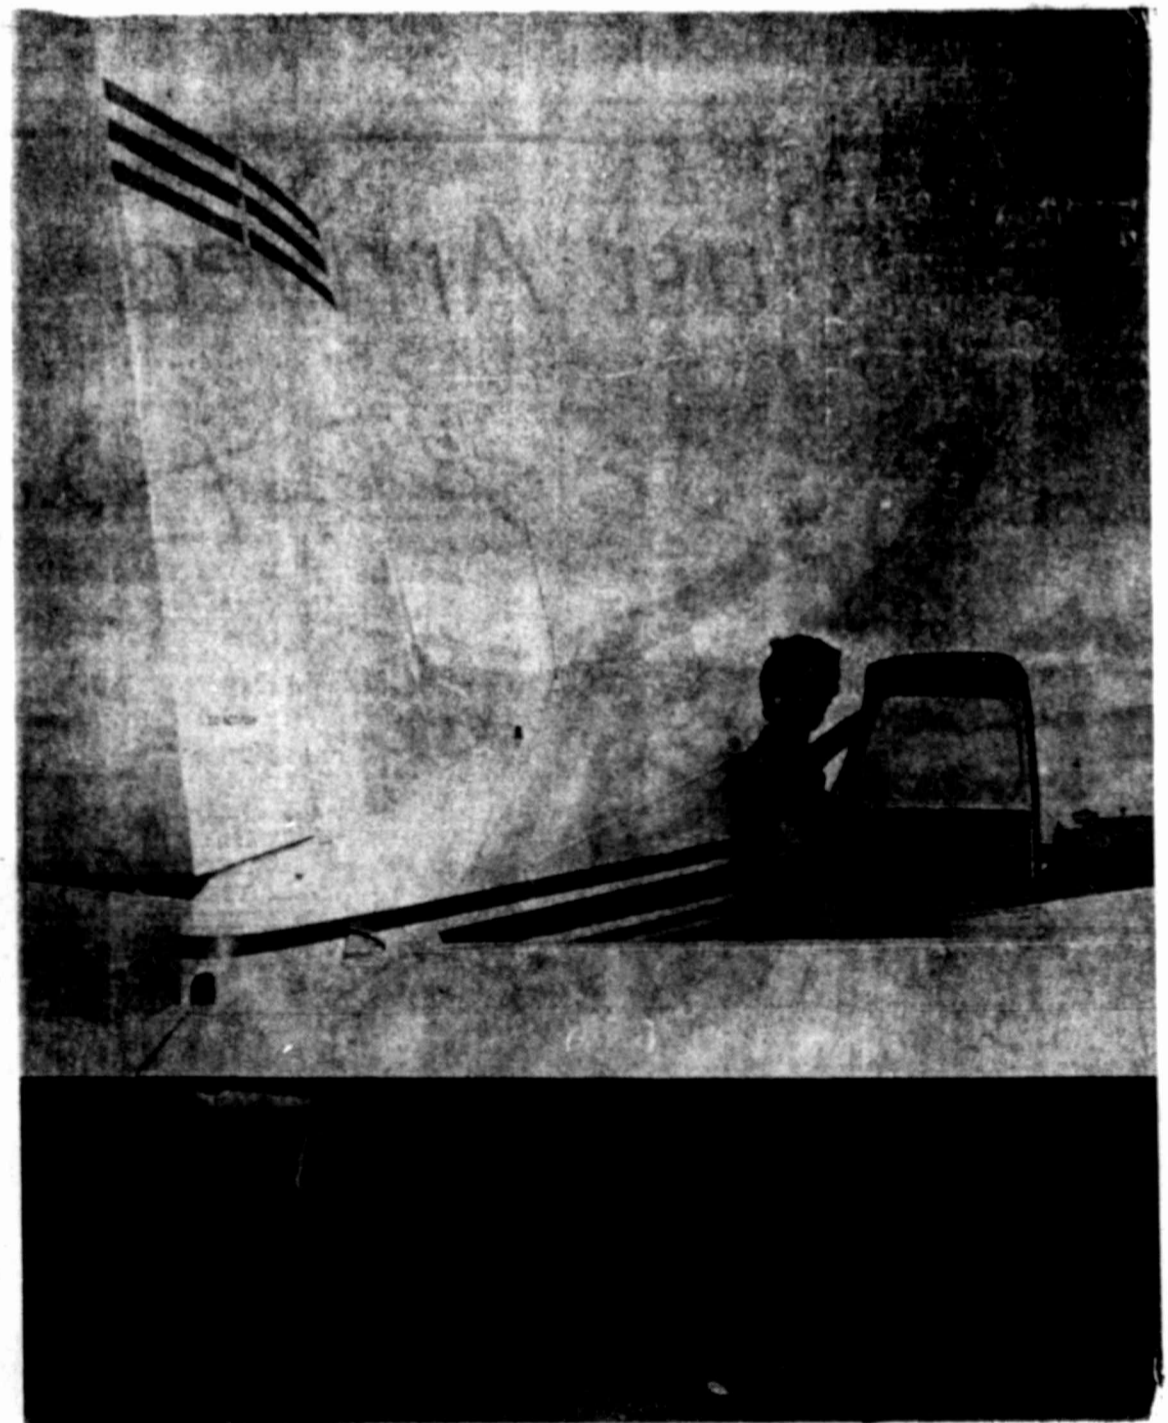

IN THE SUMMER of '64, Mrs. Jack (Thay) Lewis took her first flying lesson, acquiring about 50 hours before earning a private license in March, 1965. She has been checked out in the Cessna 150, 172, 182, 210 and the Bonanza, and is working on a multi-engine rating. Although she quit flying for about three years, she has over 300 hours total time. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis fly for both business and pleasure, owning a Beech Baron and a Cessna 172.

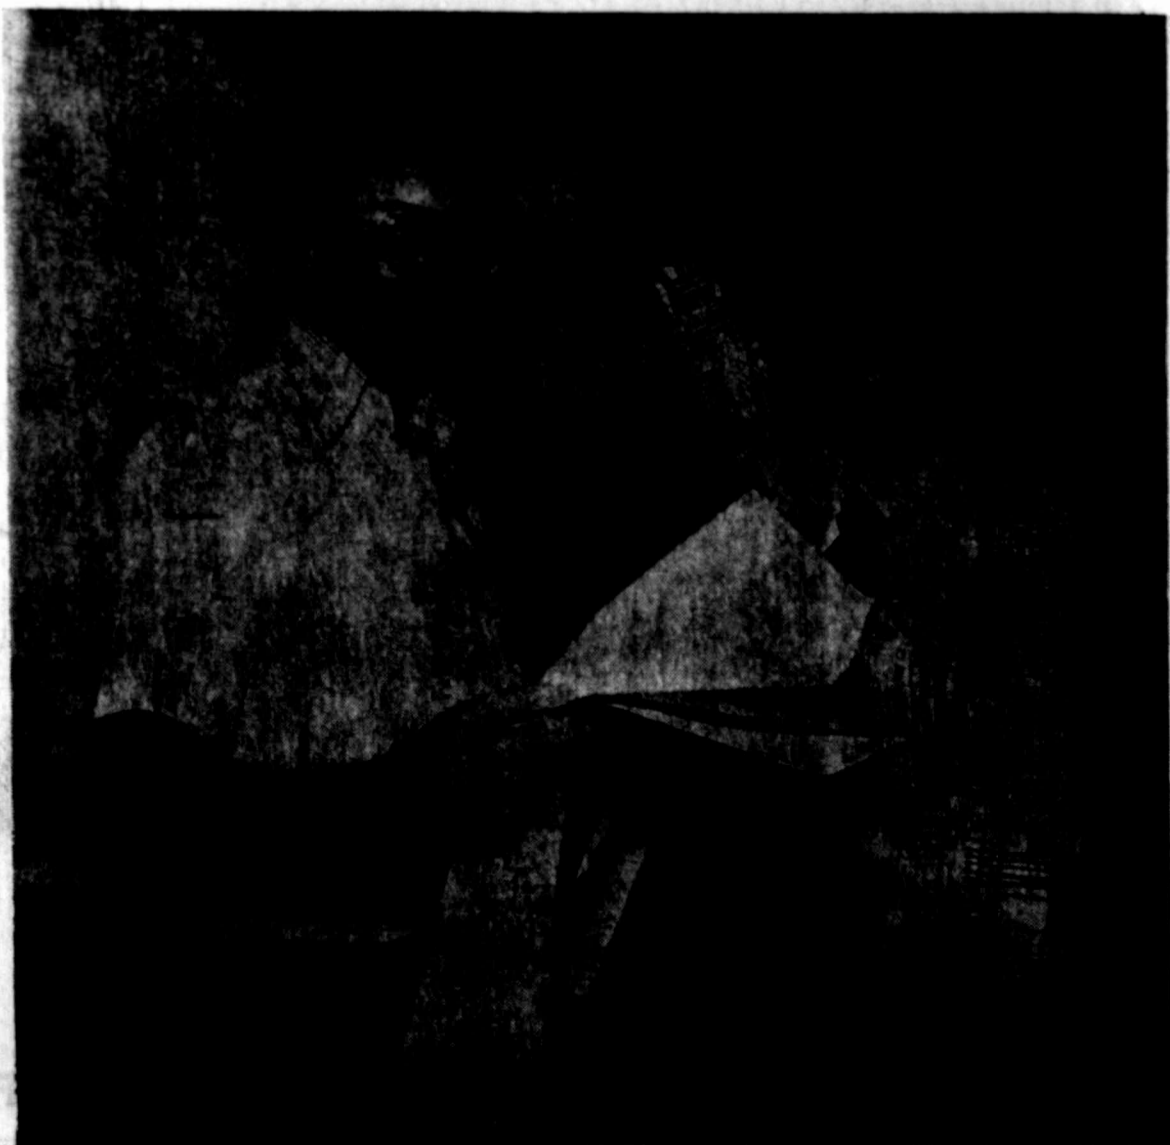

Photos By Danny Valdes

NOT NEW TO FLYING, Mrs. Lamar Green has acquired about 700 hours flying time since she earned a private pilot's license in 1965. Although most of her travels have been for pleasure, she made several trips to the Gulf Coast to bring back seafood for the restaurant which she and her husband operate. She took most of her lessons in a Piper Cherokee 180, but began training in a Piper Colt.

WEEKEND TRIPS have become a habit for Mrs. Roy G. (Charlene) Smith and her husband, who own a Piper Cherokee and who both have their private flying license. She took her first lesson in April, 1966 and got her license that summer after 40 hours of flying. She soloed after logging 11 hours. Her total flying time is now 465 hours, and she has flown various types of Piper and Cessna aircraft. The Smiths longest trip was to Atlanta, but they have also flown to Tennessee, Colorado, Arkansas and to all surrounding towns.

BEGINNING her lessons with the Lowry Aero Club in Denver, Mrs. Tracy (Nancy) Rhodes soloed with 8.7 hours and had logged 57.5 hours when she received her license, taking instruction in a Cessna 150. She now has 160 hours. The Rhodes' own a 1948 Swift which they use for pleasure trips. So far, they have flown it to Kentucky, Wisconsin, Illinois, Kansas, Colorado and "all over Texas." Here, Mrs. Rhodes studies maps with Paul Kessler of Big Spring Aircraft, Inc.

Rites Performed In Candlelight Ceremony

Miss Verna Elaine Goswick and Kenneth Lynn Baldwin exchanged wedding vows during a candlelight ceremony at seven o'clock Saturday evening in the Wesley United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Caleb Hildebrand of Midland, formerly of Big Spring, performed the rites. The altar setting was enhanced with an archway covered in greenery and interspersed with white doves. Spiral candelabra flanked the altar, and baskets of red and white carnations completed the decor.

Wedding music was provided by Miss Janis Majors, a student at Texas Tech, organist, who also accompanied soloist, Bruce Broughton, a student at West Texas State University.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Lester W. Goswick, 1804 Runnels, and Baldwin is the son of Andy Baldwin of Vernon, and the late Mrs. Billye Baldwin.

The bride's gown was a formal-length fashion of candlelight bridal satin with applied lace flowers accenting the bodice, skirt and train. The gown featured a high lace collar and long sleeves which were banded above the elbow and then billowed to shallow button cuffs. Her A-line skirt flowed to a floor-length train, and a chapel-length silk illusion veil fell from a satin caplet covered with lace and edged with seed pearls. She carried a cascade of red sweetheart roses, babies' breath and a white orchid.

The bridegroom's sister, Miss Judy Baldwin of Canyon, was maid of honor, and Mrs. Jonnie Goswick, San Angelo, sister-in-law of the bride, was bridesmatron. Junior bridesmaids were Miss Tina Lovelace and Miss Jennifer Baldwin, Vernon, sister of the bridegroom. Serving as flower girl was Miss Lisa Vaughn, Oklahoma City, Okla.

The bridal attendants wore floor-length gowns of red brocade. The empire bodices featured leg-of-mutton sleeves, high collars and A-line skirts. They carried bouquets of red camellias on fans with long satin streamers.

Eugene Bowman of Canyon was best man, and groomsmen were Jonnie Goswick, San Angelo, and Gary Goswick, both brothers of the bride; and Gary Six of Canyon. Ushers were Kenneth Walton and Junior Oden of Alpine.

Following the ceremony, the newlyweds were honored at a reception in the church fellowship hall. Red satin with an overlay of candlelight lace covered the bride's table which was centered with red carnations in a crystal and gold vase. Gold candlesticks with white tapers flanked the flowers. Nation's Morals Are Scored By Speaker

"Integrity has very little cost, and we must give thanks for it," said the Rev. Earl Price, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, who was guest speaker Tuesday for Altrusa Club at Coker's Restaurant.

The Rev. Price said some areas of life need to be questioned. People should look at themselves from a moral standpoint, and also consider the morals of the nation, which he said are now at a low ebb. His program was "Thanksgiving," and he said people need only to study the grounds on which our nation was founded to have something to be thankful for.

"We must take hold of the mess we are in, and get ourselves back on the right track to rebuild our nation into a life of truism," said the Rev. Price. "We must turn to the simpler things of life. We have found the focal point isn't the President or the Congress. Now we must try God.

"Thanksgiving is what must take place to change our nation and our lives through God's help," concluded the Rev. Price. "Our people can break the cycle it is in in order that this country, under God, can once again become morally strong."

Plans were made for the club's next meeting, 7:30 p.m., Dec. 6 at Big Spring Country Club. It will be a Christmas party, and Mrs. Clyde Thomas will present a book review. Cost is $4 for members and $3 per guest.

Get Agreements Put In Writing

Consumers ought to realize that verbal promises or representations do not count legally. Consider the plight of a customer who bought a dishwasher and was assured by the salesperson that installation was included in the price.

After the appliance was delivered, the store manager informed her of an added charge for installation. The customer had to pay and could not fall back on the "empty" promise made by the salesperson.

Beat the energy crisis. Walk! Walking rather than auto-riding saves gasoline, cuts down on pollutants, and improves your physical and mental well-being.

Miss Rebecca Hays Weds Ricky Baker

MRS. RICKY DON BAKER

Wedding vows were exchanged at 7 p.m. Saturday in Sand Springs Baptist Church by Miss Rebecca Laura Hays, Coahoma and Ricky Don Baker, 2107 Main St. Apt 3 in Big Spring.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Hays, Coahoma and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don R. Baker, 2612 Lynn. Chaplain Clayton Hicks of Veterans Administration Hospital, performed the ceremony before an altar featuring a rched candelabra holding tall white tapers, and flanked by palm trees holding additional tapers. Side baskets held white chrysanthemums and white gladioli.

Traditional wedding selections were furnished at the piano by Mrs. Dennis Polinski, who accompanied Miss Teresa Duke, vocalist.

The bride was attired in a formal-length gown of white satin with nylon net over a laced empire waistline outlined with matching lace. The deep lace yoke extended to form a ruffled lace collar. Her long full sleeves reached deep cuffs edged with matching ruffles and lace.

Her illusion veil was mounted over a coil and draped over the shoulders to fall into soft folds, extending to a chapel-length train.

She carried a cascade of yellow carnations and white gladioli with matching streamers.

Mrs. Lea Baker served as matron of honor, and bridesmaids included Miss Sharon Baker, sister of the bridegroom and Miss Jamie Belew. They both wore floor-length white gowns in princess-style with a flared skirt, long sleeves with ruffles at the wrists and the high neckline. They each carried a single long-stemmed yellow carnation.

The bridegroom's father served as best man, and Frank Davis and Steve Ray were groomsmen.

Missey Baker, sister of the bridegroom, served as candlelighter.

A reception followed the ceremony in the church fellowship hall. The bride's table was laid in a white floor-length cloth centered with a candelabra holding yellow tapers and flowers. A tiered wedding cake and punch were served, using silver appointments. The groom's table was laid in gold. Serving were Mrs. C. D. Hays, Mrs. Newlin James, Amarillo; Mrs. Bruce Hart, Midland; Mrs. Troy Roberts and Miss Connie Tucker.

Vows Are Recited In Amarillo

Mrs. Ina Richardson of Lubbock and O. E. Hamlin of Vealmoor were married Tuesday evening in the Trinity United Methodist Church of Amarillo. The rites were performed by the Rev. Jack Riley. The couple will reside on his ranch home north of Big Spring.

HD Club Studies Candy Making

Virginia Thin Peanut Brittle was prepared and served Tuesday by Mrs. L. Z. Rhodes for College Park Home Demonstration Club. Mrs. Steve Dreher was hostess, and the meeting was held at the home of Mrs. J. C. Williams.

Mrs. Rhodes said the recipe was used in a candy shop in Bristow, Okla., many years ago, and was named after the shop owner's daughter.

Mrs. Bobby Richardson was a guest. Members agreed to change the club's January meetings to the second and fourth Tuesday of the month rather than the first and third, due to the holidays. The next regular meeting will be a Christmas party at 8:30 a.m., Dec. 4 in the home of Mrs. Williams, 601 Steakley.

'Pill' Problem

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My telephone just rang. It was a doctor telling me that my 16-year-old daughter was just in his office asking him for birth control pills. Abby, what are these young people doing to us mothers? I knew she had a steady boy friend but I never dreamed they were in need of anything like that. I am heartsick. I tried to raise this girl right. Where have I failed?

tion I have been able to buy a car, all my own clothes, and still manage to put aside some money for college. My problem is my friends who do not feel that I deserve this money. They say I am "ripping off" the government every month. I think I deserve this money because my father never was able to pay child support when he was alive, and now I am being taken care of.

ASHAMED TO SIGN MY NAME

DEAR ASHAMED: You haven't failed, and if you tried to raise her right you need not be ashamed. I am NOT in favor of premarital sex, but once a girl has gone all the way, it is unrealistic to think that she will stop simply because she is denied the pill. So then what? She risks becoming pregnant. And if she does, what has the doctor accomplished? He will have been responsible for (a) an unwanted baby, (b) an abortion, or (c) a hasty marriage. Which would you choose for your daughter? If you are among the mothers who say, "If that's the way she is going to act, then let her suffer the consequences," please consider the baby. Don't you think every child should come into this world wanted by its natural mother? I do.

DEAR ABBY: I am 17, and have no living father. He and my mother were divorced 12 years ago, and he was killed in an automobile accident three years ago. After his death my brother and I were advised that we were to receive Social Security benefits to be used for our education and welfare. We have been getting these benefits for three years now, and with my por-

DIRTY MONEY: What's "dirty about it? Your friends could be jealous. And one way to put a stop to that is to keep quiet about what you have and where it came from. It's nobody's business.

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a man I love very much. My name is Christine and his name is Christopher. We are both called "Chris," which has been quite confusing at times.

I have just given birth to twins — a boy and a girl. My husband wants to name them Christian and Christina, respectively. I think this would be a terrible confusion for the twins and us in this household.

Can you offer a suggestion? Please hurry your answer.

DEAR CHRIS: For Chris's sake and yours, insist upon John and Mary, Jack and Jill, or any other combination of less confusing names.

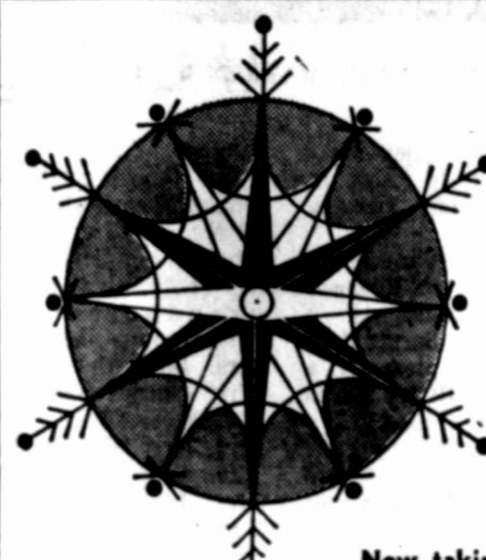

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NOSY IN WAYZATA": The last I heard, Don was in the hospital with knee trouble. (His wife found a blonde on it.)

Mrs. Ann Fairchild spent Thanksgiving in Odessa with her children and families, the Dan Fairchilds and the Sonny Sonns.

The James D. Lowerys of Cypress spent the holiday weekend with her mother, Mrs. Lois Smith, and her brother and family, the Gene Smiths.

Wedding Vows Said Saturday At College

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Debra Dian Burnett and S.Sgt. Harold E. Peterson during a short ceremony Saturday afternoon in the student union building parlor at Howard County Junior College.

Peace Justice Walter Grice performed the rites. The bride wore a delicate blue, floor-length crepe gown. The sleeveless bodice featured a low V-neckline and a tailored, notched collar. Strands of white pearls extended from the point of the V down the front of her A-line skirt.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Peterson and Mr. and Mrs. Royce

Burnett, McCamey. Miss Debra Renee Logan of Lubbock was maid of honor. Following the ceremony, the newlyweds went to Odessa for a short stay. They will reside at Randolph Air Force Base in San Antonio, where Sgt. Peterson is assigned.

Mrs. Peterson is a graduate of McCamey High School and attends Howard County Junior College. She is a member of the "el nido" staff at the college and also works at KHCC TV-3.

In addition to the bride's parents, guests at the wedding included her brother and sister, Bart Burnett and Lesa Burnett, both of McCamey.

Coahoma Couple Is Honored

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Roman of Coahoma were the honorees at a surprise party Thursday evening on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary. The party was held in the home of Mrs. Joyce Walker, 2406 Morrison.

She will demonstrate ideas for preparing and packaging food gifts. Recipes and pictures of items demonstrated will be provided for those attending.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise: Did you ever wish you had an extra alarm clock, or a silent one to wake someone in one room without disturbing others?

If you have automatic light-timers, which you use only when you go away overnight, use one of them to turn on a bright light at the time someone needs to get up early. . . . Rise and Shine

Dear Heloise: I wonder if you could please help me? I have a very nice bureau, but the drawers have a musty odor. I tried to overcome this by putting a block of camphor in each drawer, but this didn't help. Now I have the musty odor plus the camphor smell. . . . Mrs. C. Schulman

Dear Heloise: When a fly or moth gets into my bedroom and persists in buzzing and bumbling around after lights are out, this is the best way I have found to get rid of him:

Keep my lights off, but open the door to an adjoining room, and turn on the lights there. The bug will fly toward the light, and I can close the door and shut him out. . . . Mrs. Lester Short

Little Planning Will Avoid Holiday Rush

By SHERRY MULLIN
HD. Agent

You can plan now for the holidays ahead and avoid the last-minute meal time and party preparation rush. Just consider the number of guests you expect, and allow for a few unexpected drop-ins.

Make full use of your freezer by preparing main dishes, desserts, garnishes and party fare well ahead of time and freezing them until needed.

Start your holiday baking, too! Preparation of many of the traditional breads and cookies is time consuming, but it can be a pleasurable experience when done in a relaxed atmosphere.

One caution to keep in mind is to use moisture-vapor-proof wrapping or airtight containers to insure good keeping of foods. Tin cans are fine for cookies and breads. If you plan to use some as gifts, you may even gift wrap them before freezing so they will be ready to give away.

Plan main dishes to include adequate meat or other protein food preserving. Be sure to pack them tightly to prevent the development of a warmed-over flavor.

Some spices and seasonings tend to become strong under freezing conditions, so it's best to season foods lightly. Add more flavoring during the heating process before serving.

Store a few party foods and extra ice cubes in the freezer if you have space.

Include a variety of dips, since most will keep well for about six weeks. Appetizers and other similar dainties may be frozen in layers with a sheet of freezer wrap between them, with all the layers overwrapped. Pie dough for both pies and tiny tarts may be rolled into the desired size, layered flat, then overwrapped. Allow the

Vows Recited In Colorado

Miss Elva Jean Abundez and Louis Cosme Garcia Jr. were married at 7 p.m., Saturday in the John XXIII Catholic Church, Fort Collins, Colo.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Abundez, 1010 N. Gregg, Big Spring. She graduated from Big Spring High School and attended two years at Howard County College.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cosme Garcia Sr. of Fort Collins. He is a graduate of Poudre High School in Fort Collins and attended Alms College, Greeley, Colo. He is currently employed by Aztlan Roofing in Fort Collins.

Performing the wedding rites was the Rev. Peter Urban. The altar setting was adorned with a chandelier, ferns and flowers. Traditional nuptial selections were performed by the Los Pobres Orchestra.

The bride's formal-length gown was styled in an A-line silhouette of satin peau de soie with embroidery accents on the empire bodice. A bias-cut double ruffle formed the capelet collar which fell lightly around the bateau neckline. Narrow ruffles highlighted long slender embroidered sleeves. Soft gathers in the skirt swept to form a chapel-length trail. The gown and train were edged with a narrow ruffle. Her tiered illusion veil fell from a band of satin peau and narrow Venise lace.

Serving as matron of honor was Mrs. Manuel Apodaca. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Jesse De Los Santos, Mrs. Johnny Deabueno, Miss Donna Garcia, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Cynthia Abundez, sister of the bride; Miss Irene Mata, Miss Bernette Cordona, Miss Theresa Montoya, Miss Lucy Passillon.

The bridal attendants all wore floor-length gowns fashioned in gold velvet. Karen Apodaca was flower girl, and best man was Antony Carrasco.

Manuel Apodaca served as best man, and the groomsmen were Jesse De Los Santos, Johnny Deabueno, Ron Deabueno, Steve Mata, Louie Cordona, Pasqual Vasquez, Terry Sprouse and Larry Talano.

De Los Santos served as an usher, along with Sonny Carrasco.

The newlyweds were honored at a reception in the church fellowship hall immediately following the ceremony. The refreshment table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of assorted fall flowers. Serving were Miss Natividad Castaneda and Miss Mary Sandoval.

Relatives attending from out of town, in addition to the bride's parents, were Mr. and Mrs. Albert DeBueno, Colorado Springs, Colo.; Mrs. L. Garcia, Garden City, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. Polito Vasquez and family, Odessa; and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gonsales and family, San Angelo.

TIA Using Fuels Crisis As Excuse To Cut Service?

McALLEN, Tex. (AP) — The president of Southwest Airlines said Texas International Airlines is using the energy crisis as an excuse to cut service in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Texas International's recent announcement that the airline will no longer fly between McAllen and Harlingen is something the airline wanted to do for a long time, according to Lamar Muse.

An application has been filed by Southwest Airlines asking the Texas Aeronautics Board for permission to provide three flights per day from Harlingen to Dallas, Houston and San Antonio. Texas International is the only airline now serving Harlingen.

Both TIA and Braniff International, which serves Brownsville, have opposed Southwest's application.

The application, Muse said, read "to grant air service to the valley through Harlingen." The earlier version said the airline wanted to fly to McAllen and Brownsville in the future.

Brownsville officials have indicated they will not oppose the application with its amended wording, Muse said.

In making the announcement about halting flights between Harlingen and McAllen, Texas International said there would be no cut in service to and from the Valley.

to additional land use planning legislation. The Wheat and Feed Grains Conference will feature Roland Smith, PhD, grain marketing specialist, Texas A&M University who will discuss the wheat and grain situation as it relates to future public policy. Speaking at the Field Crops Conference will be Kenneth E. Frick, administrator, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, Washington, D.C. He will discuss "Producing and Marketing Farm Commodities in the Market Place."

J. D. Etheredge, superintendent, Navarro Independent School District, and Dr. Jarvis Miller, director, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, will address the Research and Education Conference.

Etheredge will discuss "Future of Educating Your Children in the Public Schools," and Dr. Miller will give a report on "Progress Made in Agricultural Research." Several TFB staff members

$5,000 Robbery

BOSTON (AP) — Three young men, two of them with weapons, robbed $5,000 on Thanksgiving Day from 35 patrons and the staff of a Howard Johnson's restaurant.

"One of the three was really violent," said Stephanie Tierney, 18, of Boston, a waitress. "I think if someone started to run, they would have shot him."

Police said the violent one was armed with a sawed off shotgun which he held to the cashier's head as he robbed her.

Another carried a pistol. They took $833 from customers and the rest from the restaurant safe and cash register. Police said, then fled out a back door. The robbery lasted 20 minutes. The restaurant is in south Boston, near an expressway.

Clean Up, Shape Up Group To Seek Funds For Drive

Jack Watkins, co-chairman of the Clean Up Shape Up campaign, is expected to ask the City Council Tuesday to approve allocation of some $75,000 in revenue sharing funds to fund the beautification project for a year.

The council originally approved an outlay of $10,000 to get the project started earlier this fall. With that money reportedly about to run out, a means is being sought to fund the drive which began with a city-wide alley cleanup and is expected to branch out into other forms of beautification.

An earlier proposal for funding in the drive — an addition of a 50-cent fee to the bills of city utility customers — has 23 years of service.

reportedly been discarded in favor of the revenue sharing route. In other business Tuesday, the Council is expected to pass on final reading an ordinance raising the rates of Yellow Cab Co. and to approve a measure prohibiting the shooting of B. B. guns within the city limits.

Bids will be awarded on a three-wheel scooter for the water department, asphaltic concrete for the paving program and for a parking area at the new city garage, a front end loader for the cleanup campaign and a ditching machine and motor grader for the utility department.

An appointment will be made to the Parks and Recreation Board to replace Mrs. Tito Arcebia and two vacancies on the Tourism and Development Council (occupancy tax committee) will be filled.

A report on the tennis center revenues and bookings will be presented, and a discussion will be held on the proposed alcoholic detoxification unit.

He Will Put Your Rabbit In Family Way For Only $1

MILPITAS, Calif. (AP) — For only $1, Henry Carter will put your rabbit in the family way.

Carter, 33, runs an artificial insemination service for rabbits. Despite the animal's legendary talent for reproduction, he says business is booming.

His main customers are professional breeders who sell rabbits to laboratories for research for as much as $20 for a healthy adult male and $12 for a female.

Carter, a reproductive physiologist, said he usually accepts a job only if the client has at least 30 rabbits he wants impregnated. He charges a standard fee of $1 per rabbit and said he can impregnate up to 50 an hour.

Power Frightening, Says New 'Moses'

Copley News Service
NEW YORK (AP) — Two firsts: Burt Lancaster wearing a Moses beard; and Moses getting thrown out of Israel because of the Middle East war. But so it was, said Lancaster, in town the other day for the opening of his most recent film, "Executive Action." In it he plays a conspirator in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.
 No conspiracy, though, about what happened to Moses. Lancaster said he and the rest of the cast in his upcoming cinema, "The Law Giver," were driven out of the Promised Land. The place wasn't big enough, it seemed, for make believe and war.
CLAUSE INVOKED
 Reality won out, Lancaster said. The war was considered an "act of God," he said, and when it interfered with the production, the "act of God" clause in his contract was invoked. Filming stopped, and cast and producers of the seven-month project left Israel for Rome to think things over.
 As it looks now, Lancaster said, the players will hie to an Israel-like part of Spain for some of the rest of the filming — to result next year in six one-hour shows about Moses for British, Italian and probably American television.
 Then, hopefully, back to Jericho and the Sinai Desert, where unfinished location shots need to be completed.
 Meanwhile, Lancaster is occupying himself with "Executive Action," by Mark Lane and Donald Freed with screenplay by Dalton Trumbo. It presents the Kennedy assassination as organized and financed by a conspiracy of powerful, wealthy men.
 Two of the three New York newspaper film reviewers have given it favorable notices.
 "When producer Edward Lewis came to me about doing this picture, he said there is a possibility there was a conspiracy from the evidence but it can't be proved," Lancaster said. "I always felt uncomfortable about the Warren Commission report. I thought there was a need to want to find someone and say, 'Yes, that's him,' because the country wanted the door closed on it somehow."
 "I read six books. The Italian rifle was so deficient, and the timing between the shots wasn't even explained by the Warren Commission. I got a call from Robert Ryan, and he said, 'I'm reading this stuff and I'm convinced the possibility of this could have occurred.'" USED AS DUPE?
 "I began to feel that Oswald could never have done it alone. That he was used as a dupe may or may not be far-fetched. I wouldn't have done the picture if I hadn't felt that way. Bob too."
 But there was a deeper reason for doing the picture.
 "Power is one of the most frightening things in the world. It has historically been true that men, in order to maintain power, would stop at nothing. We make a point of these men justifying themselves by saying they're doing this for a good purpose. They talk about white supremacy and over population and not enough food in the world and the threat of Communism. I felt the picture was worth doing to apprise people that these things can happen in our country, not just in some banana republic."
 "Executive Action" was a low-budget picture. The actors wore their own wardrobes, and Ryan and Lancaster kept consulting each other about whether their suits were okay for the characters they were playing.
 It was the last picture Ryan made before his death.

Comedienne Cass Daley Is Still Riding High

By NANCY ANDERSON
Copley News Service
HOLLYWOOD — Cass Daley, who fled Hollywood for kitchen and nursery a generation ago, thinks she's staying away too long.
 In the 1940s, the Hooper Rating, radio's version of the Nielsen, proclaimed her the No. 1 comedienne just as moviegoers were proclaiming her one of their favorite funny girls through their patronage of picture palaces where her films were playing.
 Then, however, Cass married, moved to Newport Beach, Calif., and had a baby.
 "I was proclaimed the No. 1 comedienne, and I haven't worked since," she declares good naturedly.
 "Moving to Newport Beach was probably the worst mistake I ever made, because I became terribly domestic, and I stayed out of the business longer than I should."
 "I was playing house you know. I had a new baby, and I...
 "Incidentally, the baby's doing great. He's been working in the White House the last two summers as Agnew's aide. It wouldn't surprise me if one day he'll be president. He graduates in nine months from law school."
 The son's life contrasts sharply with his mother's early years when Cass trained for her career, not as an aide at the White House, but as a singer and hatcheck girl in a New Jersey speakeasy.
 "I was born in 1915 in Philadelphia," she remembers.
 "My dad was a streetcar conductor."
 "I was working in a hosiery mill when we kids went over to New Jersey to a speakeasy — those were Prohibition days, you know — and somebody there persuaded me to sing."
 "After I'd sung a song, the boss asked me if I'd like a job as a hatcheck girl, and I took it. I also sang at the club."
 "I could keep the tips and I got a little salary; so I went from six dollars a week to about $65 a night."
 "My parents didn't approve of my getting into show business too much, but they liked the money. Things were kind of tough in those days."
 "Anyway, I stayed in that place for about a year and a half, and then I went on my own."
 "I'd met an agent who'd said if I ever left the speakeasy he'd like me to come with him, so I did, and he booked me at a walkathon in an airplane hangar."

SAYS ONE CRITIC Movies Mediocre Through 9 Months

By JAMES MEADE
Copley News Service
HOLLYWOOD — Looking back on the films of the first nine months of 1973 is easier than it was to look forward to them. From the standpoints of elevating motion picture standards; the spirits of the audiences, or box office receipts, 1973 thus far has been a failure.
 Culling the memory for anything memorable is confined to such as "Save the Tiger," "Paper Moon," "Friends of Eddie Coyle" and "American Graffiti." This quartet is likely to pop up at awards time.
 It says something that "The Man Who Loved Cat Dancing" is the best western movie of the year thus far.
 There were two productions about the 19th Century's most prominent juvenile delinquent, William Bonney. "Dirty Little Billy" proved that dusty streets get muddy when it rains. Also that Michael J. Pollard needs a director to limit his facemaking.
 "Pat Garrett and Billy the Kid" again had director Sam Peckinpah being cryptic in the sun. Kris Kristofferson was an overweight Billy and James Coburn an underweight Pat.
PHENOMENA JOINED
 The Negro film phenomena continued and was joined by Chinese kung fu via the rice eaters of the martial arts. Black films that had impact were the Ossie Davis' "Black Girl," Sidney Poitier's "Warm December," Raymond St. Jacques' "Book of Numbers," and "Charley One-Eye."
 There also were sequels to "Slaughter," "Superfly" and "Shaft." The latter finally fled to television with Richard Roundtree.

'Logan's Run' Is Set For Filming

Dan Melnick, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer vice president-production, has announced pre-production has begun for the filming of a major motion picture, "Logan's Run," to be produced by Saul David.
 At the time he became President of MGM, Frank E. Rosenfelt emphasized that MGM would remain an important and significant force in the motion picture industry.
 Stanley Greenberg will write the screenplay for "Logan's Run" based on the popular novel by William F. Nolan and George Clayton Johnson, the story of one man's determination to live beyond the legal age limit in a future society.
 As a producer at 20th Century-Fox, David was responsible for such major box-office attractions as "Von Ryan's Express," "Fantastic Voyage," "Our Man Flint" and its sequel "In Like Flint."

'Mistreatment' Causing Tension Along Border

CIUDAD JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — Mistreatment of illegal Mexican workers by U.S. border authorities is worsening and "causing tension along the border," the Mexican Consul to El Paso says.

Consul David Fernandez Farina told a group of Mexico City newsmen in this border city across from El Paso that comto solve the problem.

There was an agreement until the 1960s but it was terminated, triggering an influx of illegal Mexican workers in search of better opportunities in the United States.

"Tension has been created along the border because of mistreatment of the Mexican workers by border authorities," the consul said.

Seeks To Trim Vet Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Veterans' Affairs Committee says he wants to trim from 13.6 per cent to 8 per cent a proposed increase in educational benefits for veterans under the GI bill.

Rep. William Jennings Bryan Dorn, D-S.C., said an 8 per cent boost would be more reasonable and would probably escape a possible veto.
