SCENE OF T-37 TRAINER WRECKAGE
Site of crash is 14 miles NW of Gail

ONE DIES, ONE MISSING

Training Craft Crashes, Burns

A T-37 jet aircraft, flying out of Webb AFB, crashed in a ball of fire on the J. Dennis Rhode ranch about 14 miles northwest of Gail about mid-morning today.

Second Lt. Michael J. Dypvik, 25, student pilot of the Class 75-02 was identified as one of two killed in the crash. The name of his instructor pilot was withheld pending notification of relatives.

Lt. Dypvik was born Jan. 3, 1948 in Jolla, Calif. His wife, Margaret of Big Spring and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Dypvik of Spring Valley, Calif., are among survivors.

Information about the crash was fragmentary but a charred body, harnessed to an open parachute, was found about 25 feet from the point of impact.

The wreckage started a grass fire. The plane hit with such impact that it dug a hole about two feet into the ground. Wreckage was scattered over the area.

Workers on the ranch saw the fire which followed the crash and notified authorities. The point of impact was about two miles west of the Gail to Post road.

A rancher yet unidentified who was flying in the area reportedly spotted the burning wreckage and helped direct rescue units to the scene.

Webb officials said a statement about the crash would be issued later. The Borden County sheriff's office, state highway patrolmen from Lamesa and Howard County and fire trucks from Borden County were called in to assist in the search for the missing pilot and in dousing the fire. The blaze consumed grass over an area of about half a mile, witnesses said.

Among the first persons to arrive on the scene were Marj Carpenter and John Edwards, Herald reporters.

The crash was the first operating from Webb AFB since two instructor pilots were killed May 1, 1973 on an approach to a landing at Mathis Field near San Angelo. Another trainer was involved in a mid-air collision Feb. 22, 1972 in Little Rock, Ark., but both fliers were safe.

Campaign Financing Compromise Pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., told the Senate today he intends to talk until midnight if necessary to block congressional action on a compromise plan for public financing of presidential campaigns.

'RAID'

Allen termed the proposal a "raid on the federal treasury for the politicians of this country" that should not be allowed to "ride piggyback" on a bill to increase the national debt limit.

If he held to his threat of filibuster, it would run until the time when the temporary ceiling on the public debt would expire. Allen promptly gained help from Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., who joined in the talking. Democratic congressional leaders were pushing for passage of the campaign financing plan despite threats that President Nixon would veto it.

DEBT LIMIT

The campaign financing provision, tacked on to a bill to increase the national debt limit, would cover both general and primary presidential campaigns.

The Senate had voted for public financing of congressional campaigns as well. But that provision was dropped in negotiations between House and Senate leaders after the House refused to approve the Senate-passed version.

The current debt limit expires at midnight EST.

PUBLIC FUNDS

But Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said the nation could survive for a week or so without a new debt limit. Meantime, Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said he would urge President Nixon not to veto the bill.

Democratic sources said the compromise would ban private contributions to presidential candidates if enough public money to finance the campaigns were available.

If there were not enough public funds available, the sources said, the bill would provide for partial public financing and would limit individual contributions to $3,000.

In order to be eligible for matching public funds, in elections where there was partial public funding, a presidential primary candidate would first have to raise at least $100,000 in contributions of no more than $100 apiece.

$7 MILLION

No candidate could receive total matching payments exceeding five cents per eligible voter—or roughly $7 million. Furthermore, no such candidate could spend more than a total $15 million for the nomination.

War Powers Legislation Real Shocker

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon met with Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz today in preparation for a later meeting with his Cabinet-level energy group which may produce a "go-no go" decision on gasoline rationing.

Shultz is a member of the Cabinet group who has favored the imposition of a high gasoline tax rather than rationing. The significance of his separate meeting was not clear.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said he was discussing with the President, in addition to the energy crisis, the nation's economy and national and international issues.

DECISION

Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton indicated Thursday night a decision on rationing might be reached today.

On the ABC television Dick Cavett show, Morton said, "when the supply is not adequate and you're facing a shortage, you've got to make sure it's managed equitably . . . and one of the ways of doing it is rationing.

"The decision (on rationing) has not been made," Morton added.

WAVERING

"It's an open decision and I think tomorrow, Friday, we are going to discuss this very point in the administration as to whether we are going to move towards it or whether we're going to stay there," he said. Nixon scheduled meeting with his Cabinet-level Energy Emergency Action Group usually signals the group's readiness to recommend a course of action.

After the group met last Tuesday, an informed source told a reporter its members seemed to be reaching the conclusion that a high gasoline tax could not be passed or applied fast enough to solve the fuel shortage.

The group was described as "leaning toward rationing" and this source said even Shultz was wavering on the tax idea.

There were reports, however, that a combination might be tried combining gasoline rationing and permitting motorists to purchase additional fuel subject to a high tax.

However, Nixon is known to view rationing as a last resort. On Nov. 7 he said the American people would resent peacetime rationing "very, very much" and that he personally disliked it because of the power it gave to the officials who administer it.

YOUNG TEDDY GOING HOME

WASHINGTON (AP) — Edward M. Kennedy Jr., whose right leg was amputated Nov. 17 in an attempt to arrest bone cancer, left the hospital today with his parents, Sen. and Mrs. Edward M. Kennedy.

The 12-year-old boy walked unassisted except for crutches and was holding a football given him by Coach George Allen of the National Football League's Washington Redskins.

Doctors at Georgetown University Hospital said after the operation there is "an excellent chance" the surgery arrested the cancer.

Families Receiving Stamps Total 313

The State Department of Public Welfare food stamp office here counted 313 Howard County families who had been certified to receive the stamps Wednesday.

Disposition of about 50 applications was pending. Families are certified eligible for food stamps through the office at Third and Owens Street. Food stamps are issued by the Post Office here.

Some State Department legal specialists apparently believe that law supersedes earlier legislation barring the re-introduction of any U.S. forces, including B52 bombers into Indochina.

"I believe this is being looked into," Schlesinger said at a news conference.

On other subjects, Schlesinger said:

—The Soviet Union is continuing to refine the accuracy and size of its nuclear missile force to the extent that the United States must worry how soon it will lose "true equality" with the Russian nuclear capability.

—The Defense Department probably will have to dip into U.S. domestic oil resources once every two or three months. Invoking the little-used Defense Production Act of 1950, the Pentagon commandeered 19.7 million barrels of petroleum products on Wednesday for use through the rest of the year.

Announced plans of Texas International Airlines to discontinue service to Big Spring climaxed Thursday as a top airline official reported TIA was filing with the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington.

Don Burr, vice president of TIA in Houston, notified County Judge A. G. Mitchell Thursday afternoon that the airline intended to file that day for authorization to drop service here on the grounds of the impending fuel shortage.

Both the airlines and local representatives will be given a chance to present their cases before the CAB at a hearing yet to be called.

Hints began early in the year that the airlines was considering eliminating service in and out of Howard County Airport because of a decrease in the number of boardings.

A committee of Chamber of Commerce members, community leaders and aviation enthusiasts formed in February to try to discourage the airline from pulling out by alerting Texas Congressmen.

FEW TOOK NOTICE — Judith Neilson, 23 (left), a journalism student at San Francisco State, spent 16 minutes tied to a telephone pole on a busy residential district street as 110 cars passed before one stopped and a man asked if she were all right. Fellow student spent 15 minutes tied to a park bench in Union Square as 42 people passed him without offering assistance. The two reported on their experiment in the campus newspaper "Phoenix."

REBS WARN FORD Will Murder American Executives One By One

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Leftist guerrillas have told the Ford Motor Co. here they will murder all American executives and their families one by one.

They also said they would blow up the Ford factory here because the auto maker had "pillaged the country by super-exploitation of workers."

The threat came in a letter Wednesday and sent 25 Ford executives and their families fleeing for their lives.

But the Argentine government pledged to take all measures necessary to guarantee the safety of foreigners.

A government spokesman who gave the assurance did not specify what action would be taken, and neither he nor Ford would confirm the evacuation. But qualified sources said the executives and their families—a total of about 90 persons—were flown Wednesday to Montevideo, across the Plate estuary in Uruguay; from there some went to the United States and others to Europe.

Foreign companies have been reducing their foreign staffs since spring because of terrorist kidnappings, and Ford's action was likely to accelerate the process.

"This is going to set the whole foreign community here in a panic," one American said.

The American general manager of a Ford parts company in Cordoba, John Albert Swint, and two bodyguards were machine-gunned to death on Thanksgiving Day, and a terrorist group called the Peronist Armed Forces, or FAP, announced that it was responsible. A source close to Ford said FAP then wrote the company that it would kill all of its executives and their families and would blow up the company's main plant.

The source said the letter made no mention of ransom, indicating that FAP was motivated by ultra-nationalism.

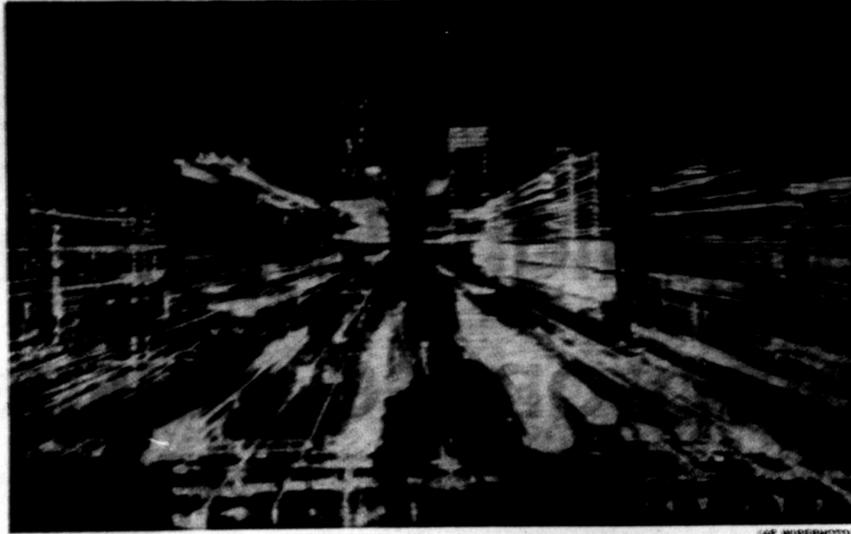

The source said Argentine executives of Ford were also given a chance to leave the country, but it could not be learned if any of them departed.

Swint was the first American killed in the wave of terrorist kidnappings, extortions and assassinations in Argentina this year. But an Argentine official of Ford was assassinated in May by the People's Revolutionary Army, and the company complied with its demand for a million dollars worth of medical supplies for hospitals and food for the poor.

HC Farm Bureau Sends Delegation

Nine delegates from the Howard County Farm Bureau will attend the Texas Farm Bureau's 80th annual convention in Atlanta beginning Sunday and continuing through Wednesday. Featured guest speaker will be John C. Whitaker, under secretary of the Department of the Interior, who will discuss the energy crisis as it affects agricultural producers. Country western singer Jeanette C. Riley will entertain during the awards program Tuesday. County farm bureaus will be recognized during the session for accomplishments during the year in membership acquisition, public relations and safety education. The local bureau is expected to be awarded a trophy for membership acquisition during the year. Membership rose from last year's 88 to 87.

THE WAY IT WASN'T — Despite the power shortage, Associated Press photographer Richard Drew found a way to get the glitter back into New York City's White House. He positioned his camera on a tripod at 42nd Street, then timed its shutter for ten seconds and made use of the moon lens. Actually, as a close examination of the photo shows, the buildings were not well lighted.

W. D. Berry Is Retiring But Will Keep CD Duties

W. D. Berry, plant estimator for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. here, retired today after 46 years and 10 months with the company. A reception honoring Berry was slated from 2-4 p.m. today at the Bell clubroom at Eighth and Rummels. Berry, 65, began his long career with Bell at the age of 17 in Fort Worth where he played amateur baseball and basketball for the firm. He began his professional career in dial system conversions. Throughout the years, he has worked for the company in Fort Worth, Amarillo, Abilene, Sweetwater and San Antonio before coming to Big Spring in 1959 as an exchange repairman. He has served as plant estimator since 1962. Berry said much of his spare time is devoted to the Big Spring-Howard County Department of Civil Defense, a post which he has held since 1961. He has received two presidential citations for outstanding contributions to the U.S. Civil Defense Council. During his stay in Big Spring, he has also been active in Boy Scout work, Elvonia Club and First Baptist Church. Now that he is retiring, he plans to continue his Civil Defense work and to devote more time to developing his place at Lake Thomas to which he says he may eventually move.

36 American Journalists Doubling As CIA 'Spies'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The five full-time staff correspondents of the Star-News said today they have learned from a source described as authoritative that more than three dozen American journalists in some 40 full-time reporters, foreign countries are doubling as spies for the Central Intelligence Agency. The Star-News said most of the reporter-spies are freelance magazine writers, stringers for newspapers, news magazines and news services, and itinerant authors. The newspaper said most agents in this category are not regularly identified with any single publication and most are full-time informants who use their writing or reporting as a cover for their presence as foreign city. Most are American citizens, the newspaper said. The Star-News said the reporter-spies also included "a small group of not more than 100 part-timers."

More Memorials Needed By Heart Association

The Howard County Heart Association board of directors met at 7 p.m. Thursday in the First Federal Community Room, 500 Main St.
President Charles Bell noted that only 149 in memorials had been placed with the Association this year, whereas last year at this time, approximately 1,200 had been collected for memorials.
Memorials are invited and needed, and may be sent directly to the Heart Association, Howard County, P. O. Box 1223, Big Spring.
The board also heard a report from Mrs. Dean Sheppard on community service projects including a recent blood pressure clinic which saw over 400 participants and 22 referrals to physicians.
Mrs. Sheppard said that another clinic will be held in late January. She also reported on the cardiac pulmonary resuscitation program which has been turned over to the Jaycees.
There are currently nine trained CPR instructors and they hope to train others. She reported that the Coahoma Fire Department also took a recent course.
Plans for the future include continued training of CPR instructors so they can teach school children.
They also are planning a possible heart screening program for first graders.
Clayton Hicks and Lonnie Coker were named co-chairmen of the coming crusade, which will be in February.

Wolff Endorses IS Extension

The proposed extension of IS 27 from Lubbock through San Angelo has been endorsed by State Sen. Nelson Wolff of San Antonio.
Wolff, who recently announced his candidacy for the U.S. Congressional seat to be vacated by Rep. O. C. Fisher, has asked the Texas Highway Department to consider routing IS 27 through San Angelo as opposed to other possible routes.
He said such factors as national defense, agriculture, trade, recreation, natural resources and transportation "clearly demonstrate the desirability of the San Angelo route."
He added that the minimal cost involved in upgrading U.S. 87 to interstate standards makes it "the overwhelming choice" for the extension route of IS 27.
The 87 route, if adopted, will also run through Big Spring.

Multimillionaire Bob Smith Dies

HOUSTON (AP) — Robert E. (Bob) Smith, Houston oilman and one of the key figures in bringing major league baseball to this city, died late Thursday after a long illness. He was 79.

He was one of the last of the famed Texans who rose from a modest background to strike it rich in oil and then branch out to ranching and real estate.

Smith was considered one of the main reasons Houston received a major league baseball franchise. He gave strong support to passage of two bond issues totaling $31 million to build the Astrodome.

Insulation Cuts Costs

Proper insulation is one of the best ways to conserve fuel in your home, according to a booklet published recently by Amoco Oil Co.

It is estimated that over 50 per cent of the heat in a house is lost through the walls and ceiling. With proper insulation, the booklet says, the average homeowner can save $77 a year on fuel costs.

The attic should be the prime target for installing insulation as warm air rising inside the house escapes mostly through the roof.

Much warmth can also escape and cold air enter through small cracks and openings around windows and doors. Weather stripping and caulking can prevent this loss, the booklet advises.

Other steps to insure maximum value of one's fuel dollar include checking the thermostat, maintaining a satisfactory level of relative humidity inside the house, installing storm windows and keeping drapes open during the day and closed at night.

Amoco recommends a daytime temperature setting of 68 degrees and an overnight setting of 65 to conserve energy.

HC Farm Bureau Sends Delegation

Nine delegates from the Howard County Farm Bureau will attend the Texas Farm Bureau's 40th annual convention in Abilene beginning Sunday and continuing through Wednesday.

DEATHS

Obie Bolin

COLORADO CITY — Services will be at 10:30 a.m. Saturday in First Methodist Church for Obie Bolin, 84, who died at 11:45 a.m. Thursday in a local hospital.

Born June 8, 1889 in Sulwigent, Ala., he married Olga Myrtle Lutton on May 28, 1911 in Durant, Okla. They came to Mitchell County in 1919. He was a retired farmer.

Mrs. W. Major

COLORADO CITY — Services were set for 3 p.m. today in Kiker-Seale Funeral Chapel for Mrs. W. L. (Margaret Ruth) Major, 77, who died at 3:45 a.m. Thursday in a hospital here.

Born Dec. 12, 1895 in Mitchell County, she married W. L. Major who died in 1941.

Fannie C. Jobe

Services will be held for Fannie C. Jobe, 72, at 10:30 a.m. Saturday at Nalley Pickle Rosewood Chapel. Mrs. Jobe died here today at 12:02 a.m.

The Rev. Collins Moore, pastor of Hillcrest Baptist Church, will officiate, and burial will be in the Trinity Memorial Park.

Mrs. Jobe, a retired cafe operator, was born Sept. 25, 1901 in Hill County and was married Sept. 24, 1917 to Lewis E. Jobe in Waco.

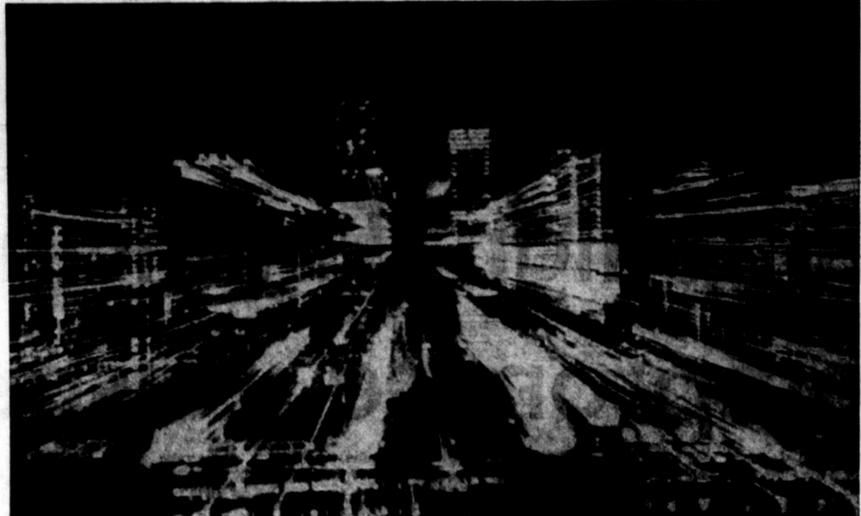

They came to Big Spring in 1929 and operated the Jobe Cafe until his death Dec. 2, 1965.

Mrs. Jobe was a long-time member of the Baptist Church. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Frances Gattiff, Big Spring; a grandson, George Gattiff, Big Spring; and one great-granddaughter; and a sister, Mrs. J. M. Robinson, Fort Worth.

W. H. Denton

W. H. Denton, 47, a life-long resident of Big Spring, died at 6:35 p.m. Thursday in a hospital here.

The services will be held 4:30 p.m. Monday at Nalley-Pickle chapel, but other arrangements are pending.

THE WAY IT WASN'T — Despite the power shortage, Associated Press photographer Richard Drew found a way to put the glitter back into New York City's White Way. He positioned his camera on a tripod at 42nd Street, then timed its shutter for ten seconds and made use of the zoom lens. Actually, as a close examination of the photo shows, the buildings were not well lighted.

36 American Journalists Doubling As CIA 'Spies'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Star-News said today it has learned from what it described as authoritative sources that more than three dozen American journalists in foreign countries are doubling as spies for the Central Intelligence Agency.

The Star-News said most of the reporter-spies are freelance magazine writers; stringers for newspapers, news magazines and news services; and itinerant authors.

The newspaper said most agents in this category are not regularly identified with any single publication and most are full-time informants who use their writing or reporting as a cover for their presence in a foreign city. Most are American citizens, the newspaper said.

The Star-News said the reporter-spies also included "a small group of not more than five full-time staff correspondents with general-circulation news organizations."

The newspaper said agency officials had found the names of some 40 full-time reporters, freelance journalists and correspondents for trade publications in its files on undercover contacts after CIA Director William E. Colby ordered a review two months ago of the practice of using reporter-spies.

The Star-News said its sources had refused to identify any of the reporters involved. Two of these agents worked for the CIA with the knowledge of their civilian employers, the Star-News said.

The newspaper said Colby ordered that the ties between the CIA and the correspondents of the general-circulation news organizations be severed "in the full realization that CIA employment of reporters in a nation which prides itself on an independent press is a subject fraught with controversy."

W. D. Berry Is Retiring But Will Keep CD Duties

W. D. Berry, plant estimator for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. here, retired today after 46 years and 10 months with the company.

A reception honoring Berry was slated from 2-4 p.m. today at the Bell clubroom at Eighth and Runnels.

Berry, 65, began his long career with Bell at the age of 17 in Fort Worth where he played amateur baseball and basketball for the firm. He began his professional career in dial system conversions.

Throughout the years, he has worked for the company in Fort Worth, Amarillo, Abilene, Sweetwater and San Antonio before coming to Big Spring in 1939 as an exchange repairman.

DEAD FOR A YEAR Wanted Her 'To Remain Part Of The Family'

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — The skeleton of an elderly woman was found in a locked-up house today, and police said it appeared as if her body had been placed in the living room by a brother and sister who wanted her to "remain part of the family."

Their bodies were found upstairs in the bed where they died of natural causes, officials said. Police said the skeleton of Cecilia Kenney, 84, was discovered on a downstairs couch facing a television set. They said she may have been dead as long as a year.

Upstairs, police found the bodies of her 76-year-old sister, Grace, lying on a bed next to the brother, Roland, 72. They were thought to have died within the last month, according to officials. Det. Sgt. Bruce Russell said in his report, "It appears that Cecilia died of natural causes and the other two dressed her and laid her on the couch so that she could still remain part of the family."

Grace and Roland continued living a normal life. Roland died around a month ago, and was asleep in his bed at the time. Grace left him there, and tried to continue her life, but found she could not. "She lay in the same bed as Roland and died a few days or weeks later," Medical examiner Thomas Mathews said there was no evidence of foul play.

Deep Outpost Is Flowing

Testing is continuing today on Fowler No. 1 M. Morgan, three miles southeast of Big Spring. Unofficial reports indicated that there was a good flow of oil from the Fusselman through perforations at 9,926-36. The hole is bottomed at 9,986.

This is a three-quarter mile north outpost from the Fowler No. 1 Morgan Ranch, a re-entry which completed as a flowing Fusselman well.

Fowler No. 1 Planagan, half a mile east of the No. 1 Morgan Ranch was drilling below 8,500 feet.

Northwest of Big Spring, Kirby Petroleum No. 1 Petty, bottomed at 7,850, was recovering load from perforations at 7,807-77 feet, which had been fraced with 20,000 gallons and 40,000 pounds. Other perforations from 7,851-91, 7,106-95, and 7,200-51 previously had been treated.

Carter Petroleum No. 3 R. T. Shafer, a venture in the Sara Mag (Canyon Reef) field near Vincent, has been abandoned at 7,608. It is located 1,650 from the south and east lines of section 12-25, H&T.C.

The board also heard a report from Mrs. Dean Sheppard on community service projects including a recent blood pressure clinic which saw over 400

Wolff Endorses IS Extension

The proposed extension of IS 27 from Lubbock through San Angelo has been endorsed by State Sen. Nelson Wolff of San Antonio.

Wolff, who recently announced his candidacy for the U.S. Congressional seat to be vacated by Rep. O. C. Fisher, has asked the Texas Highway Department to consider routing IS 27 through San Angelo as opposed to other possible routes.

He said such factors as national defense, agriculture, trade, recreation, natural resources and transportation "clearly demonstrate the desirability of the San Angelo route."

He added that the minimal cost involved in upgrading U.S. 87 to interstate standards makes it "the overwhelming choice" for the extension route of IS 27.

The 87 route, if adopted, will also run through Big Spring.

Multimillionaire Bob Smith Dies

HOUSTON (AP) — Robert E. (Bob) Smith, Houston oilman and one of the key figures in bringing major league baseball to this city, died late Thursday after a long illness. He was 79.

He was one of the last of the famed Texans who rose from a modest background to strike it rich in oil and then branch out to ranching and real estate. Smith was considered one of the main reasons Houston received a major league baseball franchise. He gave strong support to passage of two bond issues totaling $31 million to build the Astrodome.

COLD NIGHT
Originally he held 63 per cent of stock and was chairman of the board of the Houston Sports Association, which owns the Houston Astros in the National League.

In 1965 Smith broke with Roy Hofheinz, who was president of the HSA. Hofheinz wound up owning 88 per cent of the stock and Smith 10 per cent. Smith resigned from the HSA board of directors in December 1965. Funeral services were pending.

Smith was born in Greenville, Tex., Aug. 28, 1894. He was graduated from Humble High School in 1911 and then tried

Insulation Cuts Costs

Proper insulation is one of the best ways to conserve fuel in your home, according to a booklet published recently by Amoco Oil Co.

It is estimated that over 50 per cent of the heat in a house is lost through the walls and ceiling. With proper insulation, the booklet says, the average homeowner can save $77 a year on fuel costs.

The attic should be the prime target for installing insulation as warm air rising inside the house escapes mostly through the roof.

Much warmth can also escape and cold air enter through small cracks and openings around windows and doors. Weather stripping and caulking can prevent this loss, the booklet advises.

Other steps to insure maximum value of one's fuel dollar include checking the thermostat, maintaining a satisfactory level of relative humidity inside the house, installing storm windows and keeping drapes open during the day and closed at night.

Amoco recommends a daytime temperature setting of 68 degrees and an overnight setting of 65 to conserve energy.

Texas And The Pinch

An interesting and timely report is contained in the current issue of Texas Business Review, a service of the University of Texas (Austin) Bureau of Business Research. Entitled The Energy Economy (Energy Shortages and the Texas Economy), it throws some light on how the prolonged withholding of Arab oil (crude and refined) might affect us.

One immediate result is that Texas suddenly is obliged to carry 25.9 per cent of the national fuel load instead of 21.4 prior to the embargo of oil from the Mid-East.

Various areas of the economy are examined for cumulative impact. One conclusion is that Texas can handle a 10 per cent cut in gasoline without too much difficulty changing habits and simple conservation measures. Beyond that, however, transportation may be retarded, and certainly state tax revenues will suffer severely.

A reduction of flights is going to make air travel more difficult and expensive. It is going to decrease trucking, which will find costs rocketing by reason of longer hauls and reduced speeds, and by the same token will increase the load on railroads, which the report considers all to the good because "the biggest fuel bargain in transportation is the railroads... which carry freight three times as efficiently per unit of energy as trucks."

Agriculture will suffer mostly through fertilizer shortages, because gas is the raw material for most ammonia, and potash is in short supply. Shortages of natural gas and LPG (liquefied petroleum gas) could have serious effect on production in the irrigated belt of the High Plains if next summer turns out dry.

The breath-taker, according to the report, is the petrochemical industry. The Review's conclusion is that a "reduction of only 15 per cent in feedstocks for the petrochemical industry could cost the national economy $20 billion and the loss of more than 500,000 jobs. The Texas share, it is projected, would be $1 billion loss and 25,000 jobs. Similarly, other industries such as cement, refining, steel, etc. would feel the pinch.

Thus, the Review concludes that the worry is not primarily that a long, cold winter would hurt, but that the "disquieting possibilities for the economy lie in the immediate and cumulative effects of persistent shortage of energy goods."

The economic and ultimately human cost of long-continued shortages of energy materials could provide the most severe test ever undergone by the economy of Texas."

A Handy Reason

Texas International has filed to discontinue service here. Until now, the carrier had served notice of its intention to do this. As one might expect, the reason cited is the fuel shortage. How convenient. When a year ago TIA began spreading the word, of its intent to pull out the reason cited was lack of patronage. Instead of improving schedules, and thus patronage, the carrier cut out a morning flight to Dallas altogether. So now again comes the fuel crisis, and suddenly this becomes a handier reason.

Different Breed

Around The Rim

By Ann Stevens

Big Spring offers a lesson in the living for a South-Central Texas girl like me.

Controversy is a way of life in the Austin-San Antonio region from which I hail. Politics comes to a boil in the Capital City and the steam spills over into the smaller towns surrounding it keeping the public temperature hot.

WIND THERE is slight and dust almost unnoticeable but the political dust whirls constantly and would rival any real West Texas storm.

Central Texas campuses seem in a continuous state of uproar. Counter-culture dissenters populate the line of towns from Austin through San Marcos and New Braunfels to San Antonio.

Even after the end of the Vietnam War, students at my alma mater are still finding things about which to protest, to rally, to organize.

In my hometown, a university student sits on the City Council and the college students have their hands in the public school pie and in just about every other pie one can think of.

In contrast, students in West Texas seem apolitical and perhaps even apathetic. But then, a general calmness seems to exist throughout the West Texas citizenry.

PEOPLE OUT HERE don't seem to get very excited or upset over anything as a rule. And maybe that's not a bad thing — just a different thing from what I'm used to.

I'm sure that since I came to Big Spring last January, the ulcers I acquired in college from worrying over the state of the world have subsided. I seem to be having fewer headaches and my whole temperament may be evening out.

Some people would say I'm becoming conservative. And while I don't agree, it just may be that the slowness and ease of life in West Texas (as compared with elsewhere) has had a calming effect on me.

In two weeks, I will be leaving Big Spring to work in another West Texas town, Abilene, but no matter how long I stay in the Big Country area, I will always credit Big Spring with having initiated me into a new relaxed way of life.

Less And Less Oil

Rowland Evans

KUWAIT — The shortsightedness of the Nixon administration is ignoring the power of Arab oil as a weapon in the Arab-Israeli 25-year war is painfully evident here where some of the world's purest crude is produced at a cost of a mere six cents a barrel from ground to tanker.

"YOU MUST face a cold fact," a leader in Kuwait's national assembly told us in the cloakroom of the modern parliament building. "The longer the war goes on between our Arab friends and the Israelis, the better it is economically for us."

The reason: with the price of oil soaring (the posted price here is about $5 today, up from $2.88 on Oct. 6, the day the war started), Kuwait wants to reduce its production of oil far below the maximum. It cannot spend the dollar income.

YET, U.S. politicians and some high-level Nixon administration officials who ought to know better are now accusing the oil states of "blackmail" because they won't continue feeding oil to the West while Israel occupies substantial Arab territories in defiance of repeated Western pledges to restore most of the old borders.

Far worse, veiled hints of U.S. counteraction against the Arabs can have only one result: to harden the Arabs, thereby extending the oil squeeze. The fact is that the steady growth of oil production in the Arab states the past few years has served Western and U.S. ends more than it has economically benefited the oil states. The present squeeze, imposed by the political requirements of the Arab-Israeli war, is providing that point every day.

ONLY THREE years ago, the two big oil companies that operate the immensely valuable fields in tiny Kuwait — British Petroleum and Shell — were pushing the government to increase the rate of production as high as 6 million barrels a day. That would have made Kuwait second only to Saudi Arabia as a producer of crude — larger even than Iran.

Such a drastic increase in production would have been fine for BP, Shell and its Western customers but potentially disastrous for the future of Kuwait. Specialists here estimate that even a 3-million-barrel-a-day production rate would exhaust proven oil reserves in Kuwait in about 40 years. Then what?

"WE SHUDDER to think of the time when our oil runs out," one high-level government planner told us. "That's all we have. We must use it sparingly and wisely to survive as a nation."

In short, reduced future production of Kuwait's rich crude was always inevitable, and so were eventual cutbacks of the infinitely richer reserves in Saudi Arabia. In Kuwait, one oil official told us, the proper production rate may be one million barrels a day — far less than the 3-million rate when the Oct. 6 war started or the 6-million rate the Western companies were aiming for.

IN SAUDI Arabia, King Faisal had given private assurances that he would probably meet the high-pressure demand of the U.S. and gradually escalate his production to around 20 million barrels a day by 1980 — almost three times that rate before the Oct. 6 war. But such assurances contradicted harsh economic facts: the Saudis could not possibly spend the tens of billions of dollars in annual income resulting from such a production rate, which, as in Kuwait, would hasten the day when oil, its only economic asset, would disappear.

'Fantastic Denial'

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — A question puzzling millions of Americans is how the country could know as long as 20 years ago that an energy crisis was developing—and then do little about it.

The implications of the question, and its answer, are so cosmic as to provoke further basic questioning in the philosophical realm. If the ostrich is dumb, what does that make man?

In the opinion of Dr. Jarl Dyrud, a University of Chicago psychiatrist, "We are very sensitive to the idea of there being any outer limits." Therefore, he suggests, we shut out the very notion.

AMERICANS, he said, have exhibited "fantastic denial" in failing to plan for the energy crisis. We knew that fossil fuels could not be relied upon so completely, he said, but it took a crisis for the fact to be faced. "It's not simply perversity," he said. "It has to do with one of our strongest myths, the myth of progress, the myth of an ever-expanding economy."

Whatever the reason, denial is occurring all about us. Population is expanding faster than the world's ability to feed and clothe it. The car-highway-pollution-congestion syndrome is destroying cities, but solutions are avoided. IN ANOTHER glaring illustration, the mass of people continue to crowd into metropolitan areas, where living conditions grow worse by the month, while 90 per cent of the country's geographical area is untenanted.

But these are problems that by current definition haven't reached crisis stage. The energy situation has, and with it has disappeared the notion that American industry automatically responds to need and fills voids in the market.

Oil industry officials were indeed trying to win an audience two decades ago for their thesis that a confrontation with reality in the form of an energy shortage was bound to come. But few decision makers listened.

MORE ALARMING, the oil industry itself seemed to grow disinterested. It knew of the vast resources lying undeveloped beneath and on the surface of the land. But it didn't spend the money to develop those resources.

The explanation isn't difficult to understand. The fact is that the oil industry, like other industries, is committed to "progress" — to showing a year-to-year advance in profits. It's obligation is to stockholders rather than national goals.

A Devotion For Today..

The Lord said unto Joshua, get thee up; wherefore liest thou thus upon thy face? (Joshua 7:10)

PRAYER: Lord, teach us to be more concerned, more aware of our spiritual shortcomings than of our material failures. Help us to know that forgiveness is with Thee. Teach us to forget the things that are behind and to press forward — in new faith, with new joy, with rekindled purpose. In His name. Amen.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

I have had a wonderful relationship with my son, his wife and their two-year-old daughter. I love them all dearly. Recently, in a stubborn spell, the little girl wouldn't allow her mother and me to dress her. I held her, forced her clothes on, and got her ready. Now, they are angry with me, and I'm afraid this incident has come between us. Please help me.

A.S.F.

What happened seems like an insignificant incident, but perhaps, it pointed up a broader and deeper disagreement over how to bring up children.

Here's one situation where the generation gap is most obvious, but you must realize that raising that girl is not your responsibility. Logically and legally, they are the boss in setting standards and in determining conduct. Grandmothers are important, but never to replace the function of parents. Letting go is hard!

Evidently, you were a disciplinarian, and your son knows it. There's no need to continue to prove it. He will have to develop his own philosophy of family discipline, because as Matthew Henry put it, "A family without government is like a house without a roof, exposed to every wind that blows."

More importantly, however, I'm concerned about what you're doing to settle the disagreement. The Bible says in Ephesians 4:26, "Don't let the sun go down on your wrath." Your duty is to make peace, ask for forgiveness — if that's involved, and to build harmony. With the innate wisdom that God gives mothers, you'll know how best to accomplish that.

Rationing Inevitable?

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — Behind all the fine words in the President's energy message about sacrifice and independence one thing is abundantly clear. The average citizen is going to pay the cost of the fuel shortage in money, in time spent searching out scarce fuels, in disruption of familiar ways of life.

NOT ONE word in the message was devoted to price. Without some brake, as gasoline and heating oil grow scarcer, the price will rise. Predictions already have it that "regular" gasoline will go to 50 cents early in the coming year.

Profits of the oil giants, already swollen, will rise. The cynical see in the furor over the energy crisis a deep-laid plot of Big Oil to cash in on alleged scarcities. Restriction of petroleum imports has long been a successful device by the biggies to limit supply and thereby sustain demand and price.

WITH NO limit on price the cost of regular is certain to go above 50 cents, with the likelihood it will be 75 cents or a dollar before the end of 1974. In much of what the President said is the implication that driving is a kind of luxury that can be curbed with no real hardship on anyone.

While a lot of cruising about is superfluous in a nation that has rapidly lost the use of leg power, getting from job to home over long distances, with little or no public transportation, is a dire necessity. Rising costs in getting to the job and back again will have to be met with higher wages, and upward goes the spiral of inflation.

GRANTED, rationing in peacetime would be a formidable undertaking. As the President has noted, it was difficult enough during World War II when patriotism was a strong incentive. But in the opinion of this observer rationing will have to be imposed within three to six months as the inequities of the Nixon do-it-yourself approach bring a breakdown of the distribution system and hardships to millions.

Nor was there anything in the President's message about the great differences between geographical regions. With New England at the end of the heating fuel line, it will be grossly unfair to let that region freeze with the limited allocations that can be worked out of the big oil suppliers. Louisiana, running over with oil and natural gas, is proposing measures to restrict the movement of fuels outside the state's borders.

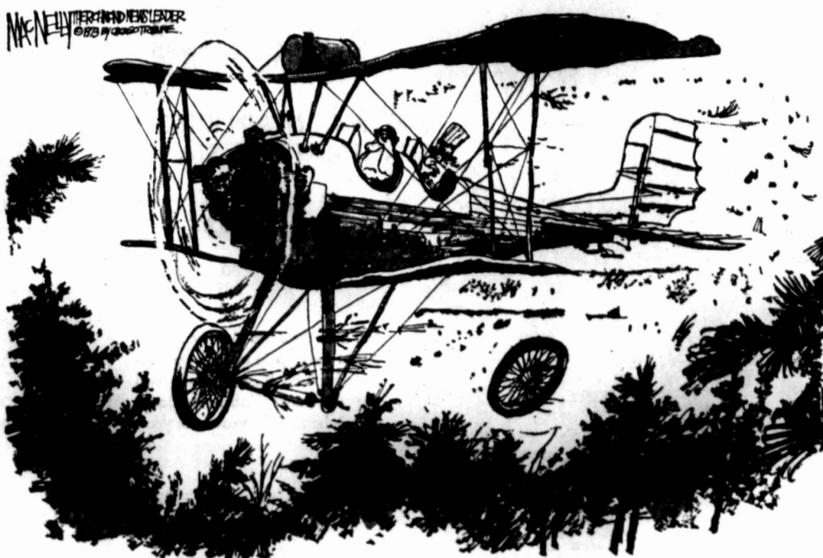

THE ALLOCATION of jet fuel for aviation as proposed in the President's message will work a hardship on those who must travel by air. With the number of flights limited by a 15 per cent cut, effective Jan. 7, planes will be more crowded and airport delays more exasperating.

The Civil Aeronautics Board has just granted the airlines a five per cent fare increase as of Dec. 1. This is for increased costs in general, and the expectation is that the rising cost of fuel will mean another fare increase in the new year. Whether increased loads will mean airline profits is questionable, since expensive planes grounded by the President's order will have to be amortized even though they are not in use. And the cutback will contribute to unemployment.

ON RATIONING the President generalizes from the particular of his own experience in the Office of Price Administration before he entered the Navy in World War II. OPA was a swollen bureaucracy. Of course, there was cheating. But within limits it worked.

With a little imagination a system of rationing might be devised less far reaching than that of the war. One problem is the divided counsel within the President's own official family. Secretary of the Treasury George P. Shultz is against all controls.

YET, IT MAY be shrewd strategy to try the half-measures proposed in the President's message. When they fall short, as they are certain to do, he can take the inevitable step of rationing. But time is running out and the interval can be all too costly.

WHAT WAS THAT YOU WERE SAYING ABOUT NOT WALKING AWAY FROM THIS JOB?

Man Is A Lazy Animal

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Wouldn't you be startled if your physician suggested trying to cure your child of measles by bleeding him? Yes, but until the middle of the 19th century bleeding was a standard remedy for this disease in several parts of the United States.

New speed limits may chafe some modern motorists, but in the days of the "horseless carriage" the speed limits sometimes were four miles an hour in the country and two in the city. Some communities even enacted the hated "Red Flag Act."

It required that a man walk 60 yards in front of an automobile and wave a red flag "for the protection of people with horses."

The fuel crisis may not be as much of a problem to India as it is to many Western countries. Cows are a major power source there. Each year India burns 100 million tons of cow dung as fuel for cooking and heat.

If you're a man, here's why Santa Claus will probably leave a necktie under your yule tree: more than 50 per cent of all ties sold yearly are purchased during the Christmas season.

Quotable notables: "Man is a lazy animal. He works when he must—for bread to feed his body or for approbation to feed his ego." —Elmer Rice.

Geographical oddity: One out of every four Canadians lives south of Minneapolis. The extreme southern point of Canada dips below Boston.

Troublesome tongue: English, now the most widely used language on earth, is also so quirky that many find it difficult to learn, including those born to it. A foreign student at an American university told his faculty adviser: "I'm glad to say I find no trouble with the English language—just its idiosyncrasms."

Household hint: To start a charcoal fire for outdoor cooking, place charcoal lumps in each depression of an empty egg carton. Then set carton afire. By the time it finishes burning, the charcoal should be well lighted.

Worth remembering: "Falling in love is like taking a picture—you're never sure how it will turn out."

Folklore: If a joint cracks when you pull a finger, that's a sign you told a lie. To cure a cold, wrap a dirty woolen sock around the neck or tie a fish skin to the feet. An unmarried woman who witnesses a corner-stone laying won't find a husband within a year.

Antibodies And Sperm

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I had a checkup to see why I could not get pregnant, and my husband was checked, too. We were told that if we were each married to someone else, we both could have had children years ago. We have been married 11 years.

I asked the doctor to explain and he said if I got a college education I might understand it all. Can you help us know what is wrong with us? We have two adopted children but would love to have one of our own — Mrs. F.

There are cases such as yours, with tests showing nothing wrong with either wife or husband, yet no pregnancy. It has been found that some women produce antibodies antagonistic to the husband's sperm. If you've read this column for any length of time, you are familiar with antibodies — particles which attack specific things.

Antibodies created by measles or other diseases protect you from having the same disease again; antibodies are created also by being vaccinated. Antibodies which attack foreign tissues are the root of the problem in transplants of hearts, kidneys or such organs.

In your case, for reasons unknown, you could have antibodies which attack your husband's sperm and prevent it from starting a pregnancy.

To overcome this, it is sometimes possible to keep these antibodies separate from the sperm for a substantial length of time, in the hope that the antibodies will subside and disappear, at least temporarily.

This is done by using a condom or "rubber" in sexual relations for from six to 12 months. In that time the antibodies should disappear and pregnancy is likely, or at any rate possible, until the antibodies appear again.

The condom should be used because it is necessary that the sperm not come in contact with vaginal tissues. Such contact would only stir up the formation of more of the antibodies.

Thus other usual methods of birth control will not work in a case like this — with the pill, diaphragm, coil or other method, there would still be such contact.

Opening lead: Queen of ♠
It is exciting to watch the thrust and parry of a skilled defender against an expert declarer. Consider this hand, played in a recent team game in Los Angeles.

East-West were using the weak jump overall, and West took advantage of this and the vulnerability to preempt over South's one heart opening bid. This was passed around to South, who described his all-around strength by reopening with a double. North showed his suit, and when South removed to three hearts, showing additional cards in his suit, North judged that his three court cards were worth a raise to game.

The opening spade lead was won in dummy with the king and a spade was led to the ace. Declarer continued with his remaining spade, ruffing with dummy's queen. East made his first good play when he refused to overruff, instead discarding a diamond.

It seemed that the rest of the hand was a formality, for declarer could afford to lose three trump tricks. He led dummy's low heart, and East made another fine play by false-carding with the seven. After some thought, declarer played low, and he was rewarded for his care when West had to win with the king. Declarer had preserved the 10-9-8 of trumps, so it was an easy matter to focus on the ace-jack and draw the remaining trump, thus making his contract.

Observe what happens if declarer covers the seven of hearts with the eight. West wins and exits with any card he chooses, and no matter how declarer plays he will have to lose three trump tricks to East's ace-jack-six.

Declarer's play of following low on the first round of hearts cost nothing, except in the unlikely event that East held four trumps to the A-K-J-7. Had the trumps divided 3-2, declarer would lose three tricks no matter what card he played to the first trump trick.

Group Wants Little Cars Exempt From Speed Limit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Small-car owners, who have been going for better gas mileage all along, are organizing to fight new lower speed limits which hold them to the same slow pace as the big gas guzzlers.

The Society of Motorists Against Lower Limits, or "SMALL," plans a rally Dec. 8 on the Washington Monument grounds to spur a national movement.

"SMALL, which fully supports the President in his fuel conservation objectives, is the foremost body of gas misers in the nation," an announcement of the rally says.

But SMALL wants the little cars exempted from the 50 m.p.h. national speed limit for automobiles.

"This is because many small cars consume less gas at higher speeds — where top gear can be used — and continuous highway driving in lower gear, apart from consuming more fuel, can damage small cars," SMALL says.

SMALL founder Norman Blumenthal, a Washington attorney, said such a plan could be administered by issuing luminiscent decals to cars which get 15 miles per gallon of gasoline, according to Environmental Protection Agency testing results.

Benefit Auction Set Saturday

An auction to benefit local retarded children will be conducted by the Non-Commissioned Officers Association beginning at 1 p.m. Saturday at the National Guard Armory.

Proceeds will be used to renovate an old house on East Third Street for use as a meeting center for retarded children, according to Sgt. Harvey Schirmer, president of the NCOA and of the Howard County Association for Retarded Children.

The building was donated by F. L. Coleman, owner of Terry's Drive-In. Schirmer said it will be necessary to put in new floors, walls, windows, heat and restroom facilities.

"We hope to raise between $5,000 and $6,000," he added.

Messiah Production Set Sunday

By MARJ CARPENTER
The annual production of Handel's "Messiah" will be held Sunday at 5 p.m. at First United Methodist Church with doors opening at 4:30 p.m.

The Minister of Music, Charles Parham will direct the presentation. A full orchestra will accompany the community choir.

The first presentation of "The Messiah" using a community choir was held in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church around 18 years ago with Mrs. Jack Ware, now of Fort Arthur, as director. For the past 14 years, the event has been held at the First United Methodist and has become a traditional opening of the Christmas music season here.

FAMILY DAY will be held Sunday at the Westside Baptist Church with a homecoming for the charter members. A history of the church, which was founded in 1930, will be presented in the morning service.

Luncheon on the grounds will be served at noon with families bringing covered dishes. Old pictures of the church and church progress will be shown. There will also be a testimonial service and various special music selections.

HILLCREST BAPTIST CHURCH will have a service of ordination for their new deacons this Sunday evening at 7 p.m. The men to be ordained are Rex Greenwood, J. M. Samuels, Mike Dobbs, and Alton Ditto.

These men will be part of the deacon body of the church. All are invited to the service and the reception that follows. All ordained men from the neighboring Baptist Churches are invited to serve on the ordaining council which will meet at 6 p.m.

THE WEEK OF PRAYER for Foreign Missions will be observed at First Baptist Church in Westbrook from Dec. 2-9 with the Baptist Women meeting each morning at 10 a.m. under a theme, "God's Gift — Unspeakable."

Mrs. Floyd Rice is mission support chairman and in charge of the programs assisted by Mrs. Altis Clemmer, Monday; Mrs. A. G. Anderson, Wednesday; Mrs. Homer Rice, Thursday; and Mrs. Gerald Rollins, Friday.

The women of the community are invited to attend, according to an announcement by Mrs. Clemmer. The church goal for the Lottie Moon Christmas offering is $600. Over-all for Baptist everywhere is $20 million. The allocation breaks down of the 1973 offering lists hundreds of items. These range from WMU publications in Ecuador to salaries for 700 missionaries in West Africa, Eastern and Southeastern Africa, Europe and the Middle East, Middle America, South America and East Asia.

ASTROLOGERS WORSHIP CHRIST

"Then Herod sent a private message to the astrologers, asking them to come to see him; at this meeting he found out from them the exact time when they first saw the star. Then he told them, 'Go to Bethlehem and search for the child. And when you find him, come back and tell me so that I can go and worship him too!'"

After this interview the astrologers started out again. And look! The star appeared to them again, standing over Bethlehem. Their joy knew no bounds!

Entering the house where the baby and Mary his mother were, they threw themselves down before him, worshipping. Then they opened their presents and gave him gold, frankincense and myrrh." (Matthew 2:7-11)

—From The Living Bible

MIDWAY BAPTIST CHURCH will show a special Billy Graham film at 7 p.m. at their church a week from Sunday on Dec. 9. More details will be announced next week.

DISASTER RELIEF VAN

Seven-Day Adventists Set Van Display In Big Spring

The disaster relief van, sponsored by the Seventh-Day Adventist Church will be in Big Spring, Wed., Dec. 5 at Gibson's parking lot between Gregg and Scurry. This van will be on display and is open for inspection. The local church points out that contributions to this work will be appreciated.

The van contains enough clothing to outfit 200 families with back-up materials, all sorted, sized and boxed. Strategically located it can be moved into any major disaster to care for the needs of the people.

It was used during the last six major hurricanes and was used during the Lubbock tornado when 12,750 hot meals were provided, 1575 blankets, 2000 new shirts, 84,585 articles of clothing and 2650 pair of new shoes.

This van is headquartered in Amarillo and is available on a moment's call. Seventh-Day Adventists have a national contract with the American Red Cross to provide these services and all of their help is voluntary.

Mrs. Jan Huff will be at the van to show people through, according to Elder Harry E. Curl.

CASKET SHORTAGE

AUSTIN (A) — A spokesman for Texas morticians says there is another shortage in the midst of the energy crisis — burial caskets.

Austin mortician Robert Creecy told a luncheon seminar at the University of Texas Wednesday that shortage of both hardwoods and steel have funeral homes hard pressed to maintain their casket supplies.

Creecy predicted that if the raw materials shortage continues caskets will be in even shorter supply and will cost more than ever. He said present prices start at $295 and range upward.

Suspects In Country Music Killings Nabbed

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Three men wanted for questioning in the Nashville murders of a country music guitarist and his companion have been arrested at a motel, authorities said.

The three were wanted for questioning in Tuesday's shooting of James Widener, 55, rhythm guitarist for singer Hank Snow, and Mrs. Mildred Hazelwood, 47, of Laguna Hills, Calif. Their bodies were dumped in a Nashville alley after they were robbed and shot.

The identities of the three arrested men were not disclosed at once.

Cochran said Widener's 1966 Continental was found in Memphis after the shootout.

Cochran said officers disarmed two of the men as they walked from a room to the motel office. He said the third man fired at officers when they tried to enter the motel room.

The injured man was treated at a hospital and released into police custody.

WILL BE PAROLED — Writer Clifford Irving will be paroled from a federal prison next Feb. 14 after serving nearly 10 months of a 2½-year sentence for conspiring to defraud a publisher with a fake biography of Howard Hughes.

Police Capt. R. A. Cochran said one of the men was wounded in the chest during an exchange of gunfire Thursday night and that tear gas was lobbed into his motel room before he surrendered.

A bullet passed through the clothing of a policeman, but he was unharmed, Cochran said.

Webb's Entries Shine In Rallye

Six people from Webb who recently participated in a rallye held by the West Texas Sports Car Club all came home with awards.

In the Calculating Class, Kerby Owens, driver, and Ken Mathew, navigator, took second place. Keith Simmons and Chuck Shults placed third.

Daryl Garton, driver, and Keith Sander, navigator, placed second in the "seat-of-the-pants" class. The team of Tom Williams and Robert McKenzie took third.

First place in the Driver's Stage Event of the rallye was taken by Daryl Garton and Keith Sander.

The rallye covered 6.5 miles of backroads just west of Webb AFB. The object of a rallye is to cover a specific course nearest to a given amount of time, observing all traffic laws and regulations.

NCOA Collecting Toys For Yule

The Permian Chapter of the Noncommissioned Officer's Association is collecting toys for its Dec. 23 Christmas party for underprivileged children.

A toy drop box has been set up in the parking lot of the NCO Club at Webb so anyone can drop off new or used toys if they wish to donate.

The public is invited to participate in this program, according to M.SGT. Lawrence Seabolt, committee chairman. For more information he may be contacted at 267-2511, ext. 2261.

BIG SPRING HERALD

SEC. B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1973 SEC. B

BOULDER DERAILS TRAIN — An engine and three cars of the Texas and Pacific Railway Co. were derailed Wednesday night south of Avant, Okla., after this boulder fell from a bluff. No one was hurt. Railway spokesman said dynamite would be used to break up the boulder, and the line would be open today at the earliest. Two of the derailed cars carried wax while a third carried cement.

FOR BEST RESULTS USE
HERALD CLASSIFIED ADS

'Deep Throat' Actress To Receive 'Wilde Oscar'

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Actress Linda Lovelace of "Deep Throat" fame will receive a "Wilde Oscar" from the Harvard Lampoon.

The award, to be presented Saturday, is given by the undergraduate humor magazine each year "to that actor or actress most willing to flout convention and risk worldly damnation in the pursuit of artistic fulfillment."

She is also to accept on behalf of the makers of "Deep Throat" the "Pitdown Mandible" awarded yearly "for filmdom's most obviously and unabashedly spurious scientific phenomenon."

The magazine will also present its "worst movies" awards, to be accepted by Elmer Green, 77, curator of the Lampoon Castle, the magazine's building.

The awards:

- Worst picture of the year, "Last Tango in Paris."
- Worst performance by an actor, Robert Redford.
- Worst performance by an actress, Ali McGraw.
- Worst director, Sam Peckinpah.
- Worst film of the century and worst performance by a cast in toto, the producers and cast of "The Poseidon Adventure."

The Boslev award, for the film critic whose writing "consistently explores the farthest limits of bad taste," will go to Pauline Kael.

Base To Have Special Day

ODESSA — Saturday will be Webb Air Force Day in Odessa's Presidential Museum as 36 pilot trainees, representing 11 countries, arrive at the Museum at 2 p.m. for a tour of the facility, through the auspices of the Foreign Liaison Office.

The Odessa museum is observing Presidential Museum Month through Dec. 16, and many area towns are booking special tours. Each will have a hand-lettered page of recognition for them to sign in the VIP Book of Record.

The Museum, non-partisan, non-profit, and admission-free, contains more than 70,000 Presidential items, including many one-of-a-kind exhibits and original works of art.

Featured during special observance month is "The Presidents on Wheels and Wings", an exhibit and presentation tracing the history of transportation through the Presidents — from horseback to jets.

Also on display are selected photographs of President Johnson's last years, from the private collection of Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

HC Council Sets Christmas Party

A Christmas party for members of all home demonstration clubs in Howard County is scheduled at 2 p.m., Monday in the fellowship hall of First United Methodist Church. The party will be held in lieu of the regularly scheduled HD Council meeting. A program will be given, and gifts will be exchanged.

Mrs. Dirks Is Shower Honoree

A bridal shower honoring Miss Kathryn Dirks, bride-elect of Walter Taylor, Lubbock, was held Saturday in the home of Mrs. Robert Rodman, Silver Heels.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Gene Peters, Mrs. Bill Gibson, Mrs. Jim Layman, Mrs. James Cape, Mrs. Huey Rogers, Mrs. Joe Knight and Mrs. J. W. Tipton.

Corsages of blue carnations were presented to the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Henry Dirks. Her sisters, Miss Mary Dirks and Miss Barbara Dirks, were among the guests.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with white linen and appointed with crystal. The centerpiece was a gold candelabrum arranged with white tapers and blue ribbons. The couple will be married Jan. 3 in St. Paul Presbyterian Church.

Flower Show Judge Shows Arrangements

The art of creating beauty with flowers and accessories, plus expressing original ideas in arrangements, was explained by Mrs. J. A. Van Auken, Midland, when she was guest speaker Tuesday for Rosebud Garden Club in the home of Mrs. Clyde Thomas, 400 Washington.

Mrs. Van Auken is a national flower show judge, well-known speaker and chairman of the State Parks and Nature Trails, Texas Garden Clubs Inc. She is chairman of a flower show school series to be held in Midland; the first school slated Feb. 25-27.

Urging gardeners to practice making arrangements, Mrs. Van Auken said this is the only way to develop skill. Included in the dozen arrangements created by the speaker was a complete abstract entitled "Don't Fence Me In" in which she used the umbrella plant. A Christmas arrangement highlighted a Madonna sculptured by her husband.

At the conclusion of the program, Mrs. Van Auken presented club members with the flowers used in her arrangements.

Mrs. J. W. Kuykendall conducted business, announcing that Mrs. Charles Sweeney, 6 Highland Heather, will be hostess for a work shop Dec. 4. After creating Christmas arrangements from fresh plant material, the women will go to Big Spring State Hospital to supervise decoration of Ward No. 3 by the patients.

The Dec. 6 event will be a luncheon at the YMCA where Mrs. Harry Williams of Levelland will speak on "Christmas Magic." All garden club members are invited to attend the luncheon. In order to raise funds for civic beautification projects, the club will hold a Christmas gift and bake sale Dec. 8 in Highland Center Mall.

Mrs. Odell Womack, a district chairman for the litter clean-up campaign, reported that more funds have been made available locally for this purpose.

Mrs. Guilford L. Jones and Mrs. Monte Wilkes were guests.

Mrs. William Martin Receives Gifts At Party

A corsage of pink and blue baby sax and flowers was presented to Mrs. William Martin when she was honored Wednesday evening with a baby shower in Pioneer Gas Flame Room.

Pink carnation corsages were presented to her mother, Mrs. L. D. Thornton; her husband's mother, Mrs. Elmo Martin; and his grandmother, Mrs. Morgan Martin.

Cohostesses for the event were Mrs. Larry Don McMurtrey, Mrs. Tommy Joe McMurtrey, Mrs. Mack Sundry and Mrs. Carl H. Bankston.

A miniature stork and crystal appointments were used on a refreshment table covered with a pink cloth overlaid with lace. The gift table featured a lace cloth with blue underlay and an ivy planter shaped like a kitten. Guests were registered by Mrs. Sundry.

Alpha Beta Omicron Fills Slate Vacancies

Due to the relocation of the president and vice president of Alpha Beta Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, major business conducted Tuesday was the election of officers to fill the vacancies.

Mrs. Wayne Stroup was named president, and Mrs. Steve Broom, hostess for the meeting, was elected vice president.

A wine and cheese tasting party was slated at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 8 in the home of Mrs. Lois Pace.

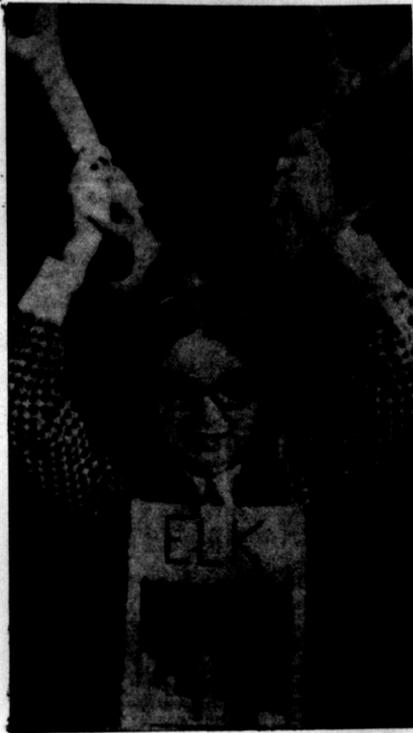

The sorority's photo contest, "Christmas for Children", will conclude Dec. 7. Entries are $1 per entry for children through five years of age. The child's photo and fee should be mailed to 1405 Lincoln. Prizes will be awarded to winners in three age categories.

"Dress is An Art" was the program presented by Mrs. Steve Broom.

"Dress is an art because it is a picture to look at," said Mrs. Broom. "One should present a good picture wherever one goes. Many people are dressing like modern art — just throwing themselves together."

Mrs. Broom went on to say that there is an art in selecting a flattering wardrobe. She encouraged careful selection of style and color and cautioned not to buy under pressure. Most important is to choose the garment that looks best instead of the most fashionable, Mrs. Broom advised.

ELK ADVOCATE — Teacher Virginia Wright testified Wednesday for the hords of Idaho elk unable to appear at a U.S. Forest Service hearing on proposed wilderness classification for two primitive areas.

Doing Time

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am in prison, but please don't say where. I pleaded guilty to a charge of child molesting, even though I was innocent. I did it to protect my cousin from the harm that prison life can do to a person. My cousin, who did the molesting, had never been in prison, and I had.

Now everyone in my family hates me because I had to make them believe I was guilty. If I tell the truth now, I will probably be released, but my cousin will have to serve time.

How can I get forgiveness from my family and still protect my cousin?

WITHHOLD MY NAME
DEAR WITH: Anyone who would molest a child is sick and in need of treatment. Although you meant well, you did your cousin no favor by taking the rap for him. Now he is free to molest other children while you are being unjustly punished. My advice to you is to confess innocence to the charge, and guilty to lying about it.

DEAR ABBY: You were asked if it was proper to send a sympathy card to parents who had a full term stillborn child. You said it was.

We disagree. We waited six years for a baby, and when he finally arrived, he was stillborn. Our family and friends knew how we felt, and sympathy cards were the last thing we wanted.

Everyone has a right to his own opinion, and ours is that it is better not to send sympathy cards for a stillborn baby.

It has been 32 years now, but we still remember. NAMELESS
DEAR NAMELESS: I respect your opinion. But because funerals are generally indicated for full term infants, I would assume that the grieving parents would appreciate expressions of sympathy from friends.

DEAR ABBY: This is how I cured my husband of using objectionable language. I bought a piggy bank, and every time he used a swear word I made him put a quarter in it. And when he used a really DIRTY word, I fined him a dollar. He quit swearing in three weeks. Once in a while he slips and uses a dirty word, but he's a lot better than he used to be.

Pass this on to your readers, Abby. It really works!

PIGGY BANK PEGGY
DEAR PEGGY: Consider it done!

DEAR ABBY: I am a 55-year-old man who has never been married. When I meet an unattached woman at a social gathering, I always introduce myself as a widower. If I should date her later on then I tell her the truth. Why do I lie at first?

PUZZLED
DEAR PUZZLED: Because you probably think most people would assume there must be something wrong with a 55-year-old man who never married. It's a false assumption, of course. Many 55-year-olds (women and men) have remained unmarried through choice. Play it straight. They might wonder why you lied in the first place.

Salters To Host Dinner

Howard County Junior College will be the scene this evening of an annual Christmas dinner for members of the administration and faculty. Dr. Thomas B. Salter, president of HCJC, and Mrs. Salter will host the 7 p.m. event.

The announcement of the dinner was made at Tuesday's meeting of Faculty Ma'am's in the home of Mrs. Tony Wynn, 2906 Hunters Glen. Mrs. Tommy Ruthledge, president, was cohostess.

Yearbooks were distributed, and Mrs. Jerry Avery was introduced as a new member.

4-H Club Views Wildlife Film

A wildlife film was shown by the Rev. John Reagan during the Gay Hill 4-H Club's November meeting, after which Tommy Wegner, Jackie Buchanan and Dana Westbrook led recreation.

Ronnie Wegner presided, with the pledge and motto led by Scott Underwood and Sid Westbrook.

It was announced that club members collected $84.53 for the muscular dystrophy fund drive. Those participating were Paul Dean Ray, Robbie Wegner, Dana Westbrook, Tricia Jackson, Brent Rhoton, Sid Westbrook, Scott Underwood and Ruby Jean Junek.

Refreshments were served, and a Christmas party was slated at Gay Hill School.

4-H Club Plans Flower Contest

Mrs. Sheryl Myers displayed Christmas decorations she had made, and explained how to make them. Monday for Knott 4H Club at Knott 4H Center. A cotton floral arrangement was shown by Tammy Peugh and D'Ann Hall. Members will have a flower arranging contest, each bringing a cotton flower arrangement to the December meeting for judging.

Hawks Roll By NMMI

By JACK COWAN
The first Western Conference game of the year also turned out to be the biggest mismatch of the year here Thursday as the Howard County Hawks notched a 110-60 decision over the New Mexico Military Institute Broncos.

Thomas Bledsoe and Taylor Williams hit 21 points apiece and controlled play on the inside as the Hawks rolled up their 10th season win against a pair of losses. Leroy Lumzy also hit 16 points and Mike Randle 10 before leaving the game with 12 minutes remaining as the second unit took over.

The game was also a milestone for Bledsoe and Williams, who became the 10th and 11th players in HCJC history to go over the 1,000 career point mark. Williams has now scored 1,017 points and Bledsoe has 1,006.

For NMMI, now 1-4 on the year, 35 turnovers ruined any hopes of keeping the score respectable and only 6-4 Robert Blue, who tossed in 18 points, was able to generate a scoring punch.

Howard County showed championship form at times, particularly in the first eight minutes of the second half in which the Hawks outscored the visitors 24-10 and raced to an 81-41 advantage. That's when Harold Wilder's Hawks had everything working — appearing awesome all phases of the game.

The Hawks got off to a strong start, as Bledsoe, Randle and Lumzy each hit three baskets to put the hosts on top 19-4 seven minutes into the tilt.

HCJC's full court press took its toll in the early going as the Broncos made most of their turnovers in the first 10 minutes. But soon they solved the press and cut the gap to 35-23 with six minutes left in the half.

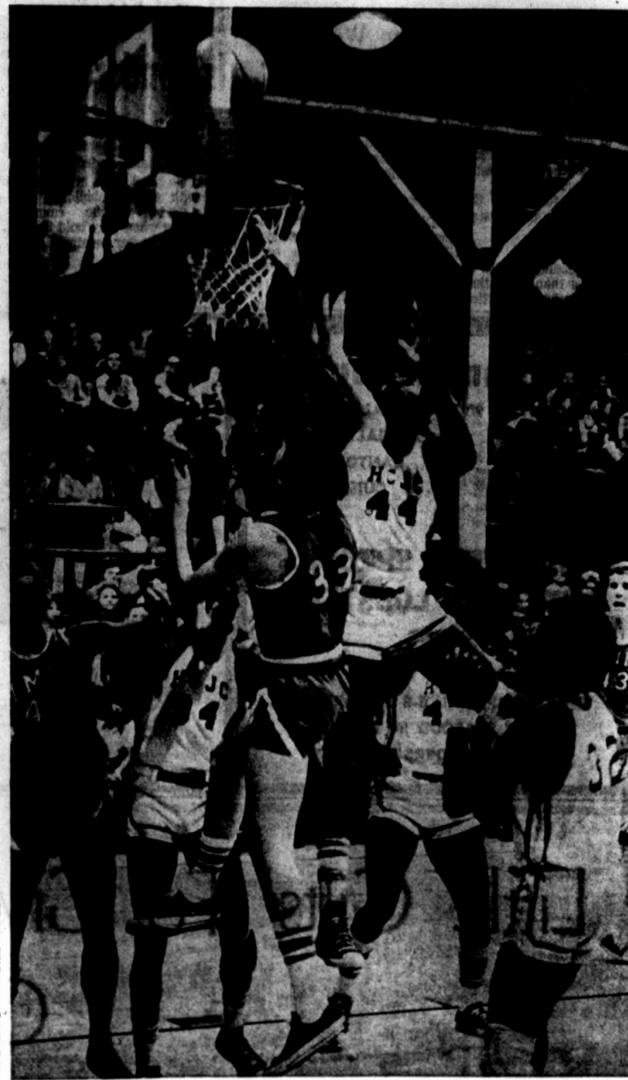

That was the closest NMMI could get, and consecutive three-point plays by Williams, Lumzy and Bledsoe just before the intermission gave Howard County a 55-31 halftime edge.

Williams and Bledsoe, both 6-7, dominated the second half from the start and the Broncos could manage just two baskets in the first five minutes as the bulge mounted to 77-35.

Three minutes later Johnny Harris, Willie Young, David Tolliver, Dave Matthews and Keith Lewis took over and continued to widen the gap, although most of the Hawks' 30 fouls were committed in the final 12 minutes.

Harris tossed in two free throws with 2:19 remaining to put the Hawks over the century mark for the ninth time this year, and Don Davis hit a pair of layups in the final 20 seconds to give HCJC its final 90-point bulge.

Next action for the Hawks is Saturday at 5:15 p.m., when they visit the Hardin-Simmons JVs in Abilene.

GOING HIGH — Howard County's Taylor Williams (44) goes high for two of his 21 points Thursday during the Hawks' 110-60 win over New Mexico Military Institute. Robert Blue (45) and Jim Stokes (33) defend for the Broncos while Mike Randle (34), Thomas Bledsoe (43) and Leroy Lumzy (32) are all in on the action for the Hawks. It was the Western Conference opener for both teams.

Sands Girls Nab League Opener

ACKERLY — The Sands High School girls entered the Forsan Tournament Thursday with an 8-3 record, after having knocked off Borden County, 44-35, in their first conference game at home Tuesday.

Ann Nichols scored 28 points for Sands and Taylor 18 for the Coyotes. Two Sands girls moved from guard to forward and got into the scoring act, each with two points. They were Kay Hunt and Lynn Hopper.

In B team play against Borden County, Sands win, 32-24.

Forsan Basketball Tourney Enters Second Round Play

FORSAN — Close games dominated the boys action but most of the girls games were runaways Thursday in first round action of the Forsan Invitational Basketball Tournament.

Merton handed Sands' ailing Mustangs their fifth loss of the year by a 54-51 margin and Klondike edged Sterling City 39-38, while the Big Spring sophomores rallied from a seven-point deficit to earn a 46-40 decision over Garden City's Bearkats. Forsan trimmed Robert Lee 55-45 in the boys' finale.

In the girls action, Klondike was the big winner with a 70-28 trouncing of Sterling City. Sands topped Merton 52-25, Garden City whipped Fabens 42-19 and Forsan stopped Robert Lee 53-46 in other opening games.

Play continues today and Saturday in the annual event, with Saturday's games all for the top honors. Consolation play opens at 11 a.m. in the girls competition, and the boys finals at 7:30 p.m. end the tourney.

Ezzie Woodard threw in 16 points and Jim Law hit 12 as the Steer Sophomores upped their season standing to 3-1. The pair sparked the fourth quarter surge, which outscored Garden City by 17-5.

Charles Puga hit 18 and David Smith added 16 as the Bearkats suffered their third defeat.

Merton had to hold off a wild Sands rally in the final moments. The Hornets' Jim Bailey led all scorers with 27 points, and Joe Bradford added 11. For Sands, Victor Rodriguez was tops with 15 and Steve Bodine hit 12.

Jimmy Bradford was high man in the low-scoring Klondike victory with 19 points, and Ken Peel was Sterling City's top scorer with 17. The lead changed hands several times in the contest, which saw Sterling City leading at the half by 19-18.

Forsan rode the hot hands of David Crooks to his win over Robert Lee. Crooks notched 31 points and Landon Soles 18 for the hosts, while Bill Rowoldt's 13 points topped the Steers' effort.

Nancy Pribityla dropped in 29 points and Leslie Davis 25 as Klondike routed Sterling City in the girls bracket. For Sterling City, Diane Gaston hit 19.

Sands used Ann Nichols' 16 points and 12 by Connie Hughes to ease past Merton. The Mustang girls led by 34-5 at

Horse Buyer 2-Time Loser

MIAMI (AP) "What have I done wrong to deserve such luck?" asked Les Austin, a Miami bar owner, after buying his second dead horse of the year in a claiming race at Calder Race Track.

Austin claimed La Cimas Court, a 5-year-old, for $3,500 before the start of the 10th race Wednesday. He said he watched the horse lead the field and thought to himself, "The only way this horse can lose is to break a leg."

La Cimas Court broke his left leg with 70 yards to go and had to be destroyed.

Under Florida thoroughbred racing rules, horses belong to claimers as soon as races begin, although former owners keep any purses from the claiming race.

Last June, owner-trainer Austin claimed Alias Mr. Roth for $7,500. The horse fell in the second race, fractured a shoulder and had to be destroyed.

An official said only Austin's two horses — among 567 claimed at Calder this year — have had to be destroyed.

"I've never been lucky anyway," said Austin. He said he didn't tell his wife, Chance, about buying another dead horse, because "My wife and her first husband went broke in racing, so she doesn't like my being in it."

Mahaffey Ahead Of Disney Field

LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla. (AP) — Baby-faced John Mahaffey has had, is at 141, three under par and just four back of the leader.

Arnold Palmer, Lee Trevino, Tom Weiskopf and Johnny Miller are not competing in this 25-year-old second-year pro said Thursday when he established a two-stroke lead after two rounds of the $150,000 Walt Disney World Open Golf Tournament.

Mahaffey, who looks much younger than his years, won his first pro tournament just a little more than a month ago in the Sahara Invitational.

And his four-under-par 68 in chilly, breezy weather gave him a two-round total of 137, seven under par, and a two-stroke lead in the race for the $30,000 first prize.

The group at 139 included Lou Graham, Dwight Nevil and three rookies — Nate Starks, Larry Nelson and Dr. Gil Morgan, an optometrist who graduated from the Tournament Players Division school as an approved tournament player just a month ago.

Jack Nicklaus managed a 71 but still remained very much in contention for his seventh victory of the season. Nicklaus, the

Owls Can Clinch Third With Win Over Baylor

By The Associated Press
The Rice Owls can perch on undreamed heights Saturday with a victory over Baylor in the final weekend of the Southwest Conference football campaign.

Rice Coach Al Conover's crew was about the only unpredictable thing in the conference this year. Texas won the title for the sixth consecutive campaign just as it was supposed to and Texas Tech was the runner-up.

But Rice in third place? You could have found a hard time getting 50-to-1 odds. Rice was generally picked to finish in the SWC cellar.

Despite a low-scoring offense, the Owls have defeated Arkansas, Texas A&M and Texas Christian on back-to-back Saturdays with a stout defense and the long-distance lightning of kickoff return specialist Carl Swierc.

"It's hard to believe Rice has won three games with just a total of 18 first downs, but that shows you what all-effort will get you," says Baylor Coach Grant Teaff.

Baylor has fallen on hard times this autumn and rests in the cellar where the Owls were supposed to finish. The Bears are 0-6 and desperately need a victory.

"We need something with a good taste to end the season on," Teaff says.

Rice is 3-3 and a touchdown favorite.

State National Tops Christians

Johnny Tonn hit 27 points and Steve Hash added 15 as the State National Bank team topped the Christian Church 80-32 in Industrial League Basketball play at the YMCA Thursday.

Mark Kaster led the Christian team.

In an earlier game, the Civitans defeated Harding Well 57-30.

Steers' McCormick Set For Regional CC Event

ABILENE — Around 80 runners from some 35 schools will be competing Saturday in the Regional I-AAAA Cross Country run at Nelson Park, located just east of P. E. Shotwell Stadium and adjacent to the Abilene Zoo.

The meet begins at 11 a.m., when runners from Class AAA and below hold their race. The Class AAAA two-mile run will begin at 11:30 a.m.

Big Spring's Ricky McCormick will be in the lineup, and Steer cross country coach Glenn Petty feels his representative may gain a berth in the state meet, which takes the top three teams and 10 individuals next Saturday.

"Ricky's got a good chance. It really depends on how strong the El Paso schools are this year, though — they're usually the ones to beat," Petty said.

McCormick has won four of seven races this year, and finished second to Odessa Per-mian's Lindon Dugan in the Dist. 5-AAAA race here two weeks ago. Abilene High won the meet, with Permian second and Midland High third, and all three teams will be represented Saturday.

McCormick, Dugan and Abilene's Nathan Coates all have a shot at finishing among the top ten individuals.

Picker Says Broncos Will Shock Cowboys

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Can the Dallas Cowboys tame the Denver Broncos? That's one of the biggest questions this weekend in the National Football League.

The upstart Broncos are in first place in the American Conference West. Yes, first place with only three games left on the regular-season schedule.

And the Cowboys are in second place in the National Conference East, one game behind the Washington Redskins.

Dallas (7-4) at Denver (6-3-2) — On paper, the Cowboys are a much better team than the Broncos — both offensively and defensively. Probably even better than the three-point edge that the oddsmakers give Dallas. We don't think enough emphasis has been given to Denver's desire, which should make the Broncos this weekend's darlings of destiny. So BRONCOS 24, COWBOYS 22.

Minnesota (10-1) at Cincinnati (7-4) — A must game for Cincinnati, which could move into a first-place tie in the AFC Central if both Pittsburgh and Cleveland lose. The Vikings, favored by seven, have nothing to gain either way. Let's go with desire once more. BENGALS 28, VIKINGS 24.

Pittsburgh (8-3) at Miami (10-1) — The Steelers may have desire, but their No. 1 and No. 2 quarterbacks are out of action against the defending Super Bowl champions for the Monday night Mouth Bowl. Dolphins are only favored by 8½.

Could be one of those candy-from-a-baby steals. DOLPHINS 23, STEELERS 14.

Cleveland (7-3-1) at Kansas City (6-4-1) — Another must game — for both teams. The Chiefs are favored by three and Jan Stenerud's toe might just provide them with the winning three points. CHIEFS 23, BROWNS 20.

Baltimore (2-9) at New York Jets (3-8) — The Colts' secondary seems to bring out the best in opposing quarterbacks this season. And that may be exactly what the doctor ordered for Joe Namath. JETS 34, COLTS 17.

Oakland (6-4-1) at Houston RAIDERS 44, OILERS 14.

San Diego (2-8-1) at New England (4-7) — The Patriots have a chance to equal their 1971 record, 6-8, by winning two of their final three games and with the Chargers, plus the Baltimore Colts as two of their three final foes, they should do it. PATRIOTS 28, CHARGERS 17.

Detroit (4-6-1) at St. Louis (3-7) — This could be the only good chance St. Louis has to win another game this season, but the Lions, except for a game against the Dolphins, have two chances — this game and an upcoming one with the Chicago Bears. The Lions are slight favorites and should pull this one out. LIONS 21, CARDINALS 17.

Los Angeles (9-2) at Chicago (3-8) — The Rams have to keep winning if they are to keep the Atlanta Falcons from catching them in the NFC West. The schedule favors the Falcons, too, so the Rams can't relax any. This would be a nice spot for one of those upsets the Bears pull off every once in awhile. But it shouldn't happen this time. RAMS 31, BEARS 14.

New Orleans (4-7) at Green Bay (3-6-2) — The Packers are favored by seven here. It's about time that they came through with a victory, but let's look for another upset and say... SAINTS 28, PACKERS 18.

New York Giants (2-8-1) at Washington (8-3) — What ever happened to Duane Thomas? Is Washington Coach George Allen keeping him in reserve for a big game? If that's the case, he won't see much action this time. Or maybe, Allen will spring him loose and let Larry Brown's aching ribs heal. Any way... REDSKINS 41, GIANTS 14.

Philadelphia (4-6-1) at San Francisco (4-7) — The 49ers are favored by seven and are at home. But the Eagles are starting to gain some respectability and will be hungrier. So, in another upset... EAGLES 24, 49ERS 21.

Buffalo (6-5) at Atlanta (8-3) — After this one, the Falcons play the Saints and the Cardinals. That's why the Rams can't relax any. O.J. may get his 100-plus yards, but Atlanta is favored by two touchdowns. FALCONS 28, BILLS 10.

'Bama, Auburn Await Battle

By The Associated Press
Alabama Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant admits he's coming into Saturday's meeting with Auburn "kind of blindfolded" by the Tigers' new offense.

But he's been working this week to shed the blindfolds so that Alabama, 10-0, will not have to face the untidy prospect of meeting Notre Dame in the Sugar Bowl Dec. 31 with a sullied record.

"This is the most important game of the year for a lot of reasons for us," the Crimson Tide coach says. "We've got to concentrate on winning the state championship and get our minds off of anything else."

While No. 1 Alabama meets Auburn on national television, Ara Parseghian's fifth-ranked Irish face the University of Miami, Fla., Hurricanes at night. Ironically, both Notre Dame, 9-0, and Alabama are four-touchdown favorites.

The oddsmakers have made Alabama, which beat Miami 43-13 earlier this season, a one-touchdown pick over the Irish in the Sugar Bowl.

Also on national television Saturday will be the traditional Army-Navy game at Philadelphia.

Other day games Saturday — the final day of regular season action in college football — include No. 2 Oklahoma at Oklahoma State, Vanderbilt at No. 19 Tennessee, Florida State at Florida, Georgia Tech at Georgia, Boston College at Holy Cross, Baylor at Rice and Texas Christian at Southern Methodist.

Saturday night contests include No. 8 Louisiana State at Tulane, Tulsa at No. 14 Houston, Iowa State at San Diego, Utah at Hawaii and Brigham Young at Texas-El Paso.

In the NAIA Division II championships, Glenville, W. Va., faces Northwestern, Iowa, at Huntington, W. Va.

Elon meets LaCrosse at Burlington N.C., and Langston meets Abilene Christian in the NAIA Division I semifinals.

In the NCAA Division III semifinals, San Diego University is at Wittenberg, and Juniata plays Bridgeport.

In the NCAA Division II quarter-finals, Grambling meets Delaware in the Boardwalk Bowl at Atlantic City, N.J.; Lehigh meets Western Kentucky at Bowling Green; Western Illinois plays Louisiana Tech at Ruston, and South Dakota travels to Boise State.

The other action Saturday sees Milliken playing Bethany in the Boot Hill Bowl at Dodge City, Kan.

LSU and Tulane both will try Saturday night to rebound from losses. LSU was defeated by Alabama for the Southeast Conference championship last week 21-7, and Tulane was embarrassed by Maryland 42-9.

Navy is a 17-point favorite to defeat the Army cadets, who have not won in nine games.

George Walsh, in his first year as coach at the Naval Academy, says he'd "rather win this one than any other. It's a game we can point to, a game we can get a little more excited about."

There must be better ways to open the basketball season than against national champion UCLA, but that's Arkansas' task tonight as the Southwest Conference starts 1973-74 campaign in a search for inter-sectional scalps.

The Razorbacks of Coach Lanny Van Eman must play the UCLAs on their home court. Arkansas has top players in 6-7 forward Dean Tolson and 6-3 guard Ricky Medlock, but lost to graduation outstanding scorer Martin Terry.

In other games tonight, Wake Forest is at Rice, Houston Baptist is at Texas A&M, and Texas Tech is at Fresno State.

Rice and Wake Forest will use the 30-second clock by mutual consent. The 30-second clock will be in use at all SWC games this year.

Tech is defending SWC champion but Southern Methodist is the pre-season pick this year.

The Mustangs, who return four of their five starters including All-SWC Sammy Hervey and Ira Terrell, are at Missouri Saturday night.

Other games on the card Saturday include Arkansas at Santa Barbara, Baylor at St. Mary's, Houston at North Carolina, Vanderbilt at Rice, Mississippi at Texas, Texas Christian at Oklahoma City and Texas Tech at Nevada-Las Vegas.

In Rental Housing, City Is Far Above Average

Responding to recent claims that rental housing in Big Spring does not meet demand, the Big Spring Board of Realtors issued a statement Thursday that Big Spring offers much more rental housing than most cities its size.

The realtors pointed out that almost 150 units have been made available in the past year with the construction of Barcelona and Sandra Gale apartments.

"If the demand continues to demonstrate more stability in the future than in the past, more rental development will probably take place despite high construction costs and shortage of mortgage money," the statement read.

Acknowledging the present rental market is "tight," the realtors attributed the situation in part to an influx of people for limited duration projects such as construction of the new hospital and to the relocation of military personnel to Webb following other base closings.

The statement, in response to a series of questions from The Herald, also acknowledged a current shortage of housing for purchase especially low-priced housing but added "it is not believed to be as extremely short (in supply) as most areas nationwide."

Cattle Raisers Given Warning

Because of the killing freeze this week, cattle raisers are advised to discontinue grazing of forage crops until prussic acid has evaporated.

County Extension Agent Bruce Griffith also said forage crops should not be baled.

Attend Meeting

District Attorney Bob Moore has joined County Attorney W. H. Eysen Jr. at the second of a two-day convention of county and district attorneys in Arlington.

Bond Election Is Pondered

STANTON — The Martin County Commissioners are expected to make a decision on a possible bond issue in connection with either rebuilding or renovating the county courthouse when they hold their regular December meeting Dec. 10.

Judge Carroll Yater said that two separate petitions have been presented to the commissioners, at this time, according to Judge Yater, are that it would be less expensive to rebuild.

"There are a few more signatures on the one for rebuilding," the judge indicated. "In all, there are around 400 signatures which is a sizable petition in this county."

The commissioners court will also hear the recommendations of their architect, Tommie Huckabee of Riberd and Huckabee in Andrews in regard to cost figures of the two different possibilities. Indications

Service To End, Thomas States

MIDLAND — Thomas Ambulance Service here notified City Manager James Brown Thursday that it will discontinue service "as soon as the city can take it over."

The decision was apparently reached after the city manager recommended that the city provide ambulance service at an informal meeting Wednesday of city councilmen and county commissioners.

Thomas Ambulance Service is operated by Wagner (Bill) Thomas, a Big Spring native.

Brown praised the Thomas family's service to Midland, saying he appreciated their willingness to continue service until the city is able to take it over.

Bench Warrants Are Obtained

District Attorney Bob Moore said Thursday he obtained bench warrants for three defendants in criminal cases.

Clara Spencer, who faces trials in connection with two robberies and one charge of assault with intent to murder, is in the custody of the Texas Department of Corrections.

William Paul Darrow will be returned from TDC custody for trial concerning sale of a dangerous drug.

Albert Lujan Sherman, who is confined in the Dallas County Jail, will be returned to Big Spring in connection with a charge of theft over $50.
