Nixon May Will Estate To U. S.

Reviewing the . . .
Big Spring Week
. . . with Joe Pickle

The military construction bill, signed Friday by President Nixon, contains some $3,000,000 in funds for construction at Webb AFB. Included are permanent quarters for 504 airmen, replacing the frame structures erected nearly a quarter of a century ago, a new airmen's dining hall, and cold storage facilities to replace antiquated units now being used. These improvements have been sought for years.

At long last, that killing frost arrived Wednesday morning with a dry 21 degrees. It apparently did a first-class defoliating job. That came on the heels of a Tuesday sandstorm which rated about seven on the Pickle scale of 10. That didn't help the cotton any, knocking some lint out of the burs and loading the remainder with hundreds of tons of dirt. From now on, however, gins will be running as fast as they can.

As if to prove the point that a cotton crop is never made until it rolls off the gin platform and into storage, fire erupted in the face of high winds a week ago this evening and inflicted an estimated $100,000 damage to unginned cotton (Continued on Page 2A, Col. 1)

Phantom Flight Is Nixed By Braniff

HILO, Hawaii (AP) — Braniff Airlines has suspended service to Hilo because of a fuel shortage, but the move apparently won't save any fuel.

"They (Braniff) haven't been here for months — maybe a year," said O. A. Byrne, manager of the airport.

Braniff schedules one weekly flight between Hilo and Dallas but routinely cancels it each week, an airline spokesman said.

Hotel Maid May Get To Keep Found Loot

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Esther Marie Bellard, 19, was going about her chores as a hotel cleaning maid when she found a cellophane bag containing $10,000—more money than she would make in three years—and she may get to keep it.

The bag was beneath a mattress. She found it over a month ago, and police have withheld the information while they tried to track the owner.

Capt. Bob Parsons said police have an idea where the money came from but could not disclose the information.

The money—all $100 bills—will be turned over to a district judge Monday, and anyone who thinks he may have a legitimate claim may make his case.

Mrs. Bellard averages $105 every two weeks, or $2,730 a year as a maid. Her husband, 20, makes $300 a month.

Police say legalities could tie up the money for months, but the Bellards are hoping they get it in time to celebrate their first wedding anniversary Dec. 30.

The Bellards share an efficiency apartment, but they have a dream house in mind—if they get to keep the money—a house with a big kitchen, a living room and a room for their young daughter, Tiffany, to play in.

CONGRATULATIONS FROM CHANCELLOR—Janice Cain, Waco, Tex., looks at fiance Johann Deutchman, Frankfurt, Germany, after the pair had been congratulated by West German Chancellor Willis Brandt via telephone. Deutchman is in U.S. studying on German govt. scholarship. Brandt called to thank Miss Cain for help she had given Deutchman in his studies only to find the couple engaged to be married. Both are students at North Texas State University.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is preparing to disclose that he and his wife will give their San Clemente, Calif., estate to the U.S. government upon their deaths, it was learned Saturday.

Close Nixon associates told The Associated Press that a family decision was reached some time ago to follow the precedent of other presidents and leave the California estate, valued at about $500,000, for public use.

Instructions relayed to lawyers preparing the Nixons' estate plan were to make certain that the oceanside villa and surrounding six acres are "free and clear" when eventually transferred to the government, sources said.

UNDECIDED

The estate lawyers reportedly are not yet certain whether the property will be turned over to the government via the First Family's will or by other means.

Within the past few days, sources said, members of a White House group now completing detailed statements on Nixon's personal finances were told that the estate plans would be disclosed this week.

The group of lawyers and other aides, working in a suite in the Executive Office Building, is poring through stacks of the President's personal records to draft statements.

One official said the statements "will disprove once and for all all the charges leveled against the President — that he used campaign funds to buy property, that he has a secret million-dollar investment portfolio or that there are irregularities in his income taxes."

According to sources familiar with their preparation, the series of statements and accompanying documents will show that all of Nixon's investments are in California and deposits.

One of the documents under preparation is a "cash flow" statement listing Nixon with gross income of $2,801,977 between Jan. 1, 1969 and May 31, 1973; and with gross expenditures of $2,428,855 during the same period.

IN ACCOUNTS

The difference between the two figures — $377,122 — was combined with $59,752 on hand at the start of 1969 and has been placed in bank accounts, the statement says.

Among those accounts are two certificates of deposit totaling $250,000 purchased from a Key Biscayne, Fla. bank headed by Nixon's friend C. G. (Bebe) Rebozo, according to the statement.

One of the certificates, for $100,000, was purchased in September 1969, sources reported, and the other, for $150,000, was purchased last March.

The statement also lists the President with a $27,444 savings account and a checking account with a balance of $148,869.

The Dade County, Fla., states attorney, Richard Gerstein, is seeking a court order to back up a subpoena for Nixon's bank records, but bank officials are fighting the case on grounds the records are privileged.

Nixon's purchase of certificates of deposit came to light last week after Gerstein issued his subpoena.

Man Is Charged With Bookmaking

Efforts of four law enforcement bodies resulted in the arrest Saturday of Sulliman Evans (Strawberry) Haynie, 48, Garden City Route Box 208, on a charge of bookmaking.

Haynie was released Saturday afternoon on personal bond of $2,000 set by Peace Justice Gus Ochotorena.

He was arrested at his residence at 11 a.m. Agencies involved were the sheriff's department, the Texas Rangers, the district attorney's office and the Department of Public Safety.

The case is expected to be turned over to the grand jury.

Forecasts Decision

HOUSTON (AP) — U.S. Rep. Barbara Jordan of Houston predicted Saturday President Nixon will resign by mid-1974.

Train Wreck At Cotulla Fatal To 3

COTULLA, Tex. (AP) — A freight train so long that five diesel engines pulled it rolled into this South Texas town Saturday, expecting to move on through. Instead, it hit a switch and rammed into another train on a siding. Three train crewmen died.

Twenty-seven cars were derailed in downtown Cotulla. The five diesel engines were destroyed by fire and flames reached some other cars containing grain and machinery.

But the blaze was contained so that it did not reach cars containing flouride and other chemicals which have explosive potential.

REFUSE TO TALK

Missouri Pacific Railroad officials on the scene refused to talk about the cause.

Witnesses, however, said that it appeared that the switch was in the wrong position or that a stone or some other object kept it from a proper connection.

Bob Davis, 53, who owns a Western Auto store just across a tiny park and street from the crash, said he heard the train coming and expected it to go on through. Time was 8:40 a.m., Davis estimated.

"There was a concussion, the sound of metal grinding and a red flash when they hit," said Davis.

"Cars started going every which way. Some of the engines came apart pretty badly. As the cars began to pile up, it looked as if it was happening in slow motion."

Two of the train crew survived. Both apparently were in the caboose. Davis told Bill Graham of the San Antonio Express and News that when he got to the train, one of the survivors, Steve Bonell of San Antonio, was walking up the side of the train toward the engines which already were blazing. Bonell helped take flames up the track to stop any oncoming trains.

DIE IN CAB

Two of the victims were crushed in the cab. The third was thrown from the train.

The impact was so great that the caboose of the train on the siding was knocked atop another car.

The train on the siding was a work train which had been in and out of this town of 3,300 midway between Laredo and San Antonio for a week as repairs were made to the tracks. To the east of the work train are a lumber yard and a hardware store separated from the rails by a street. One boxcar stopped within two feet of the hardware store door.

On the other side of the rails are a park about 20 to 25 feet wide, a street and the main business section.

FAILS TO BREAK IMPASSE

Sunday Session Set By Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Meeting for less than two hours, the Senate failed Saturday to break the impasse that has left the federal government debt $63 billion over the legal limit.

Neither side in the dispute, resulting from a measure to provide public financing of presidential campaigns, pushed very hard for action. The day's only vote was a 34-28 decision to adjourn.

As a result, the Senate will convene at 10 a.m. Sunday, the first time in 112 years it has scheduled and held a session on a Sunday.

An hour later, it will vote on a move to invoke cloture and force early action on the bill extending the federal debt ceiling, which contains the campaign financing measure.

WOULD MOVE IT

Sen. James Allen, D-Ala., the leader of the move against the campaign measure, suggested that the Sunday session be moved up to 9 a.m. or delayed until 1 p.m. "so members can go to worship services."

Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., one of the leading proponents of the plan, replied that "if we were able to pass on to the President a measure that would clean up American politics, we would be doing the Lord's work."

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield asked unanimous consent to switch the Sunday session to 1 p.m., but a group of Republican senators poured out of the GOP cloakroom to object.

That would have coincided with the kickoff for the Washington Redskins-New York Giants professional football game at nearby Robert F. Kennedy Stadium, a GOP staff aide said.

During the session, Allen, insisting he wasn't filibustering, said he wanted a vote on removing the campaign financing provisions from the debt bill. Supporters of the campaign provision, who blocked a similar move 36 to 32 Friday night, were unsure they had enough votes, so they began talking. With the House in adjournment until Monday, the Senate by itself can't do anything about the debt ceiling, which reverted at midnight Friday to $400 billion, though the actual debt is currently $463 billion.

STYMIED

Until a new bill is passed, the government can't sell bonds or conduct other legal transactions. However, there is about $4.5 billion in cash on hand to pay bonds and other debts until at least Thursday. The Treasury suspended sale of United States Series E and H savings bonds but said it expected to have authority to resume in a few days.

Some congressional action is likely before any real financial crisis occurs.

Even if cloture is voted Sunday, the matter won't be settled. That will merely permit the package bill to be sent to a Senate-House conference committee, where provisions for public financing of Senate and House campaigns are expected to be removed.

Weighing 200 Was Too Much

CARLTON, England (AP) — "I always liked Shirley a little on the plump side, but when she got beyond 200 pounds it was a little too much," Neil Turner said Saturday.

He was speaking of his 35-year-old wife, who two weeks ago had her jaws locked against solid food in a drastic bid to shed some of her 247 pounds.

Doctors at nearby Nottingham General Hospital cemented silver plates into Mrs. Turner's mouth to hold her jaws closed, leaving only a gap of a quarter inch through which she can take liquid nourishment.

A compulsive eater before locking her jaws, Mrs. Turner now cannot chew and has lost 17 pounds on her liquid diet.

Neither Shirley's husband nor their two teenage daughters has gone on a sympathy diet, although they all want Mrs. Turner to slim down.

"I hope she can make it down to 126 pounds and we are giving her all the encouragement we can," Turner said.

"This doesn't mean that the girls and I are starving ourselves for her sake. We enjoy our normal meals, but I suppose it's a bit hard having to watch us eat steak and chips while she can only take soup," he added.

Mrs. Turner is aiming for a weight of 126 pounds by June when her jaws are to be unlocked. She figures that is just the right weight for her height of 5-foot-6.

"My main nourishment is diluted tomato soup and even this has to have the finest particles removed," she said in an interview. "I have been asking people in the area to suggest alternative forms of liquid food to break the monotony."

Chewing is not the only problem. Her voluntary lockjaw has forced Mrs. Turner to speak like a ventriloquist. She cannot pronounce the letter "B" properly. Instead of saying "a bottle of beer," she says "a dottle of deer." But she makes herself understood.

Mrs. Turner said her problem was that she had become addicted to bread. "Doing housework, watching television, I always had a sandwich in my hand," she explained. "The filling didn't matter. Anything from jam to lard as long as there was bread around it. Potatoes were a passion, too," she admitted.

ISRAEL GREAT DEAD — David Ben-Gurion died Saturday at the age of 87 in Tel Aviv. He suffered a cerebral hemorrhage Nov. 18. The author of Israel's independence and the Jewish state's first premier retired from the premiership 10 years ago and from public life in 1970.

Jewish State's Founder Succumbs Near Tel Aviv

TEL AVIV (AP) — David Ben-Gurion, the tough little man who forged Israel from a struggling Jewish settlement into a proud modern state, died Saturday after a stroke. He was 87.

Ben-Gurion was Israel's first premier and served in that post twice, running the burgeoning Jewish state like an Old Testament patriarch. More than any other leader, he helped mold it into his own image — dogged and rough-hewn.

His name meant "son of a lion cub." He chose it himself when he arrived in Palestine as a Polish immigrant in 1906 and used it throughout his stormy career.

Ben-Gurion declared Israel a state and for years his fiery image, with his two tufts of white hair, represented Israel to the world the way Charles de Gaulle represented France and Winston Churchill represented Britain.

He retired from public life in 1970 and lived his last years in a prefabricated cottage on a desert kibbutz. He last appeared in public at the nation's 25th anniversary celebration in May, watching the ceremonies wearing a farmer's hat.

Ben-Gurion spent most of his final days writing his recollections of the early Israeli history he helped make. But he regularly took a two-mile walk twice a day across the Biblical sands on which Abraham once tended sheep.

He will be buried there in the Negev Desert Monday beside his wife Paula at Kibbutz Sde Boqer, near a beautiful canyon and the peach and willow trees he loved.

"I helped grow them," he once told a visitor.

Close friends said Ben-Gurion requested in his will that the desert funeral service be simple and without eulogies. But first the body will lie in state in the parliament building in Jerusalem, where it will be flown by helicopter Sunday morning to give Israelis a chance to mark their respect for the man who brought their state to life with a declaration of its existence in the uncertain days of 1948.

Since that day — May 14, 1948 — Ben-Gurion had led Israelis through two wars with the Arabs, in 1948 and 1956, and provided them with an example of courage for the third in 1967. His death came as the Jewish state was still mourning its dead from the fourth.

CATTLE CHASED — A light green car forced a cattle truck off the road about three miles west of Big Spring 1:30 p.m. Friday, the truck turned over and cattle escaped. William Clark, Paris, the driver, said the automobile was passing and the car driver appeared to be reading something. When the truck ran off the road, Clark said the automobile raced off. Clark's shoulder was bruised. Another driver, Joe Hampton, Paris, sleeping in the truck cab, was taken to Medical Center Memorial Hospital with a cut forehead. The truck was carrying 102 head. Clark counted 30 to 35 head killed in the IS-20 wreck. The truckers were transporting the cattle from Athens to a feedlot in Casa Grande, Ariz. Cattle not hurt were put in a nearby pasture. Texas Highway Patrolman Bill Priest investigated. Texas State Guard troops, the sheriff's office and city employees were among those who assisted with traffic and cattle.

NEIGHBORLY EFFORT — Some 75 residents of the Ackerly-Vealmoor-Luther area pitched in Friday to strip cotton in Leonard Hodnett's field near Vealmoor, Hodnett is hospitalized and unable to get his own crop out.

Neighbors Gather Crop For Man In Hospital

By ANN STEVENS
VEALMOOR — No energy crisis exists among the citizens of the Vealmoor-Ackerly-Luther area. At least, Leonard Hodnett doesn't think so.

With gins in the area already eight days behind, Hodnett did not have his cotton field near here even stripped last week.

Hodnett is in the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital awaiting heart surgery. He entered the hospital two weeks ago after being in and out all fall.

Knowing of his plight, Mrs. Charlene Brasher, bookkeeper of Paymaster Gin in Ackerly, recently posted a sign in the gin office asking for volunteers to help get Hodnett's cotton out.

GOOD RESPONSE
Response was overwhelming. Eighteen men brought their stripping machines to Hodnett's field Friday and some 50 other neighbors helped haul and tramp the cotton.

Stripping began at 8 a.m. Friday and was finished by 12:30 that afternoon. Mrs. Brasher said it would have taken one man three or four weeks to do the job that the neighbors were able to do together in four and a half hours.

The cotton was then taken to Paymaster where ginning began at 2 p.m. Friday and the last trailerful was completed at 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

"We were eight days behind at the gin. We had 1600 bales waiting in the yard, but we decided to put his first in line and get it done," said Mrs. Brasher.

'BEEN A PROBLEM'
He's been our customer and he's lived here all his life. We knew he'd be worrying about his crop. It had been a problem to him all fall, she noted.

The field yielded 147 bales of what Mrs. Brasher, wife of gin operator Dan Brasher, called "high quality cotton." The yield was a bale and a half to the acre.

Those men lending their stripping machines Friday included Billy Wayne Jackson, Delbert Stanley, Aubrey Langford, Sonny Anderson, L. D. Smith, Edward Smith, Alfred Herren, Dale Froman, Melvin Smith, Ross Mahaney, Velah Kemper, Joe D. Hall, Max Zant, Dan Brasher and Mike Davidson.

Hodnett's father, A. B. Hodnett, and brother, Y. B. Hodnett, also aided in the effort. Hodnett is expected to be transferred to the Albuquerque, N.M., hospital next week to undergo surgery. Mrs. Hodnett said her husband was very relieved to find his crop was out.

THE WEEK

on the yard of the Cotton King Gin eight miles west of Lamesa.

Local agencies, as well as residents, reacted positively to the President's appeals to conserve energy. Although Cosden may feel the pinch of having about one-sixth of its crude supply (that in foreign oil) cut off, operations at this stage may not be too seriously affected. It's too early to tell how much conservation efforts will save, but every little bit helps.

Texas International Airways dropped the other shoe last week. Back in August, after some six months of hinting, TIA announced plans to terminate service here last week it got around to filing the actual application with the Civil Aeronautics Board, which will set a hearing which may take 120 days or more. The initial reaction here was to fight, although, as Jack Cook put it, chances are "slim to none."

Two prominent citizens were removed by death during the week. T. H. McCann, who played a key role in preventing closing of L.P.Gas terminal closings and who otherwise did much for the community and area, died suddenly of a heart attack. On the heels of this Cecil W. Guthrie, who exemplified the ruggedness of early oil operators, died of multiple ailments. Worse than broke when he came here 40 years ago, he kept plugging until he gained extensive holdings in the entire Basin area.

You've got to hand it to those Lamesa Tornadoes. Friday, they must have decided at half-time (when they were trailing 7-6) what had to be done — then promptly did it to the respected Monahan Lobos, 26-7. This puts Lamesa in the state semifinals, and who's to say they won't go further?

While on the subject of football, Putt Choate, Kyle Kiser made it two-ways as all-district choices from Coahoma, and Dean Wood, Frank Coates and Robbie Tindal also were all-district picks. From Stanton, Elvin Brown, and H. A. Schuelke made it, too.

At latest reports, Fowler No. 1 M. Morgan, a three-quarter north stepout from the Fowler No. 1 Morgan Ranch, was making a substantial flow on test of the Fusselman. This would indicate confirmation of good prospects of developing production from that zone three miles southeast of Big Spring. Other than Morgan Ranch No. 1, nearest such pay is 20 miles to the northeast.

The city council last week appropriated $30,000 of revenue sharing funds to the Cleanup, Shapcup effort, making $40,000 in all for the initial year's effort. The original request was for $75,000. So far, principal point of attack is the alleys.

Due to press of official duties with the SCS, Gerald Miller is stepping down as president-elect and general superintendent of the Howard County Fair Association. The resumption of the Fair and its success last September is due in a great measure to his energy and dedication. Not many know he took part of his annual leave to do this job.

Air Force Board Probing Death Of Two Near Gail

An Air Force investigation board has been assigned to probe Friday's fiery crash of a T-37 jet trainer 14 miles northwest of Gail in which two Webb AFB officers were killed.

The dead were identified Friday as 2nd Lt. Michael Dypvik, 25, a student pilot, and Capt. Robert Alexander, 26, flight instructor.

A memorial service for the two men was held at 4 p.m. Saturday at the Webb Chapel with Chaplain Kenneth Summy, Chaplain James Elwell and Wing Commander Col. Robert Lotta presiding. The aircraft crashed in a ball of fire at 8:55 a.m. Friday in open rangeland on the J. Dennis Rhode ranch. It touched off a range fire which burned an estimated 150 acres before being brought under control by the Fluvanna and Post Fire Departments.

Investigators said Dypvik was apparently killed as the plane crashed while Alexander apparently attempted to eject from the craft out low altitude

Defects In Water Study Pointed Out By Group

Water, Inc., officials have reiterated their reaction to Bureau of Reclamation study findings on the Mississippi River Import Project.

Although details of the study findings were revealed at a public meeting in Lubbock in April, the printed version, dated June, 1973, was officially released last Tuesday.

"We previously pointed out several defects of the study," said A. L. Black, Friona, president of Water, Inc. "These included comparison of unlike periods in developing a benefit-cost ratio, mathematical manipulations which further widened the disparity between benefits and costs and failure of the study to give any benefit credit to the vast feedlot-livestock sector that has developed on the High Plains," he said.

"The report does show that water is available from the Mississippi River," Black said, "and it shows that such a project is engineeringly feasible. Frankly, I feel some sympathy for those who developed the study, because a rapidly changing agricultural economic picture since the study was developed has rendered moot any economic feasibility conclusions based on the study."

"Further, as of Oct. 25 this year, those traditional standards for calculating economic feasibility of such projects and upon which this study was based were replaced by a completely different set of standards, in effect creating a whole new ballgame."

The need was expressed in a statement that was a part of the organization's comments on the import study shortly after the April release of details. "More than 10 years ago, this nation was warned of a pending fuel shortage. Little or no preparation led inevitably from warning to reality, creating a crisis of major proportions," said Black. The same type warning is, in our view, needed today for food and fiber. We are convinced that if steps are not taken today to expand the nation's agricultural output, that the agricultural industry will suffer catastrophic reverses and the United States will soon become a 'have not' nation precipitating a food and fiber crisis of monumental proportions, a crisis the nation may well not survive."

Autopsies on the bodies were performed over the weekend at Webb Hospital but results were not publicized.

According to Webb information officer Capt. Bruce Baltich, services for Alexander will be held in Antlers City Cemetery, date and time not known yet. Alexander is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Alexander, of Antlers, Okla.

Services for Dypvik are expected to be in the San Diego, Calif., area, according to Baltich. Dypvik is survived by his wife, Margaret, Big Spring, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Dypvik, Spring Valley, Calif.

According to Capt. Baltich, a base radar operator had just given the pilots instructions when he noticed the plane disappear from his radar screen.

The crash was reported to local law enforcement agencies by ranch employes herding cattle near the crash site. Air Force spokesmen said the investigation will take about two weeks to complete.

O. F. Rhea, 84, Dies Saturday

Oran F. Rhea Sr., 84, died Saturday morning in a Lubbock hospital.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Monday in the Nalley Pickle Rosewood Chapel. The Rev. Roy Haynes, Gail Baptist Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

Mr. Rhea was a retired cotton gin worker. He was employed by a gin in Ackerly. He moved to Lubbock in 1972 from Ackerly, where he had lived for 40 years.

Survivors include his wife, Nancy, of the home; two sons, Oran F. Rhea Jr., Lubbock, and Morris Rhea, Odessa; and six grandchildren.

ATTRACTIVE COMBINATION — Pretty Kay Proctor poses here with a few of the unique and antique guns and hand weapons, as well as Indian jewelry, which will be on display Saturday and next Sunday at the Rodeo Club's first annual show at the Howard County Fair Barns.

Response Is Good For BS Gun Show

Excellent response has greeted plans for the first annual Big Spring Gun show being sponsored Saturday and Sunday by the Rodeo Club of Howard County Junior College.

The event will be held from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. both days at the Howard County Fair Barns. Net proceeds go toward helping underwrite travel expenses for the rodeo team, first in the college's history, for the Spring semester.

While there will be emphasis on collection of all types of guns, the exhibit will be much broader than that, covering Indian artifacts, knives, Indian jewelry, other antiques and any other thing indigenous to this area, said Byron Hedges, sponsor of the club.

Anyone interested in a display at the show ($8 per table) should phone Coy Joe McCann (267-6476) or write to him at Box 2271 Big Spring.

The show is open to anyone whether to buy, sell, or simply display.

Already, well over 20 exhibitors have indicated they plan to take part, and it appears now that a much larger number than this will take part.

Mexico Wants Bigger Share

SANTA ROSALIA, Mexico (AP) — The chief of the Mexican Fisheries Department says his country plans to request a larger share of the annual tuna catch.

Hector Medina Neri said Friday that the current international treaty protecting yellowfin tuna gives Mexico 12,000 tons of a 160,000-ton annual catch limit.

The United States is allotted 125,000, and the rest is divided among Panama, Costa Rica, Canada and Japan.

Medina Neri said Mexico plans to ask for 40,000 tons at a meeting Dec. 6 of the Organization of the Inter-American Tropical Tuna Fish Commission, which supervises the treaty.

He said Mexico will ask that limits be based both on the size of a country's fishing fleet and the length of its coastline. Mexico has 20 trawlers, compared with an estimated 200 in the United States, he said.

Yellowfin tuna also is known as "housewives' tuna" because of its common use in households.

Texans Are Likely To Pay Dearly In Energy Crisis

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — State officials are not sure what the energy crisis will cost Texas in revenue but they are not optimistic.

And if a recession comes along it will be even worse. All of which means a cutback in some government projects for the next year, particularly highway construction jobs, and a bigger tax bill for the 1975 legislature.

"We're guessing at this stage but we could lose up to $14 million just on highways," says Marcus Yancey Jr., assistant state highway engineer. Part of the loss would come from reduced gasoline tax payments due to the proposed 55 m.p.h. speed limit and part would result from expected federal fund cuts.

SURE TO HURT "It can't help but affect us," says Jim McGrew, director of the privately financed Texas Research League that specializes in governmental tax research, "and any negative effect it has will just mean that much more revenue need in 1975."

McGrew predicted earlier this year the 1975 legislature would face a new revenue need of $400 to $500 million dollars, even without a revision in the state's much criticized school financing system.

"On the negative side," McGrew said, "is the money we will lose from gasoline taxes due to any consumption decrease in gasoline. Also on the negative side will be the effect of any recession that may follow, which some national figures are predicting. On the positive side is the increase in tax money from increased oil and gas production. . . . I think there may be a possibility of increased oil and gas production taxes making up for the loss to schools from gasoline taxes but there is no way they can make up for the loss to the highway department."

Commission. Natural gas production is at a maximum to meet vastly increased demands.

The state crude oil tax, which provides about 5.6 per cent of all state tax money, is 4.5 per cent of the market value as it comes out of the ground. The state also gets three to 16 cents a barrel in pipeline tax. Crude oil taxes furnished about $210 million of state revenue in the last fiscal year ending Aug. 31.

Natural gas production taxes, which furnish more than 3 per cent of state revenue, are 7.5 per cent of the wellhead value and produced about $125 million the last fiscal year. Although natural gas now is selling in many instances for 75 cents or more per 1,000 cubic feet, the state tax is levied in many instances on long term contracts that originally called for only 20 cents or less.

MORE TAX MONEY "We certainly will have an increase in (revenue from) taxes on crude oil because of increased production," said W.B. Davis, head of the oil and gas tax division in the State Comptroller's office, "but there is no way of telling on natural gas contracts. Too many of the old, long term contracts were for 20 cents or less. Some had escalator clauses but there's no way of telling. . . . Now, some time in the future we will start getting increases from the new contracts that are being made now for 75 cents and such."

Some gas suppliers, however, are trying to get the railroad commission to reopen contracts and raise rates.

Government Outpost Is Overrun By Reb Forces

PHNOM PENH (AP) — Rebel forces attacked and overran a government outpost 28 miles west of Phnom Penh today, causing considerable losses in men and material, field reports said. A casualty count was not immediately available.

It was the second government position lost in two days, and the fourth since Nov. 1. Vihear Suor, 12 miles northeast of Phnom Penh, was overrun Friday, and more than 600 soldiers and civilians were reported dead or missing. The sister towns of Srang and Tram Khnar, 25 miles southeast of the capital, were captured earlier in November.

The village overrun today was Ror Yeap.

In Saigon, the South Vietnamese command said North Vietnamese infantry led by six tanks attacked a South Vietnamese battalion along the Cambodian border about 125 miles north of Saigon.

The chief spokesman for the command, Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, said government soldiers, using anti-tank weapons knocked out two Soviet-built T54 tanks. There was no word of casualties.

The reported assault was near Bu Song, one of three government outposts overrun by North Vietnamese forces in the first week of November. One of the outposts, Dak Song, was recaptured Wednesday.

Military sources say the fighting is along a 400-mile supply route the North Vietnamese are trying to complete between areas they control below the demilitarized zone to the Communist stronghold around Loc Ninh, 75 miles north of Saigon.

Col. Vo Dong Giang of the Viet Cong delegation to the Joint Military Commission told a news conference today that President Nguyen Van Thieu's prediction of an all-out North Vietnamese attack was a "fraudulent fabrication."

He said the Viet Cong does not intend to launch an offensive, big or small, in the foreseeable time, but if the Saigon side mistakes our self-restraint as unconditional concession, it will receive an appropriate response."

Conrad Leaving Space Program

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Charles Conrad Jr., the third man on the moon, is retiring from the space agency to become a corporation executive in Denver.

Conrad flew on two Gemini missions and was commander of Apollo 12, the second manned moon-landing mission in November 1969.

In May and June of this year, Conrad spent 28 days in space as commander of Skylab 1, the first mission to the orbiting laboratory. He and his crewmates were credited with saving the program when they erected a sunshade to cool the overheated station.

Whither Paradise? Trouble Brews In Virgin Islands

CHRISTIANSTED, St. Croix, Virgin Islands (AP) — Paradise if not lost, seems to be slipping away.

The peace and tranquility of St. Croix, largest of the U.S. Virgin Islands, has been battered over the past 18 months by crimes ranging from purse snatchings to killings — 19 of them.

Where only a few years ago residents, natives and newcomers slept with doors and windows open, now many mainland Americans who come here to live bolt themselves in at night. Many own large, vicious dogs. And many — perhaps most — carry pistols for protection.

Whither paradise? And why?

Tension has mounted steadily among white residents of St. Croix since a gang of well-armed blacks attacked a commando-style the plush, Rockefeller-owned Fountain Valley Golf Club house on Sept. 6, 1972. The blacks gunned down eight persons, seven of them white, in a robbery. Five blacks were convicted and are serving life terms.

Shortly afterward, a similar crime occurred at a restaurant called the Bauhaus. Two persons were killed. Seven suspects were later freed by the court.

Most recently, two young white women school teachers were killed during an alleged rape attempt. While an overstay alien from another island was being charged, there was still another shooting, this time in front of a bar.

VICTIMS WHITE

Most of the victims in the string of slayings have been white. And many whites have grown to fear the killings are part of a plot by native blacks to drive them off the island.

Authorities — from Gov. Melvin Evans, a black who serves as the island territory's first elected governor, down to the St. Croix police — see no connection between the first two incidents and the other slayings. And they see no plot by black natives to drive the whites off the island.

But their assurances have done little to assuage the fears of the white population.

After the latest killings, one Christiansted businessman who wouldn't be quoted by name, said he felt like fleeing St. Croix. His boat was filled with gasoline and stocked with food. "I felt like just getting out of here," he said, "and getting out."

Another white businessman, who fears his name in the newspapers might bring him harm, opened his briefcase to display a pistol. A young woman making a purchase in a drugstore opened her purse and there, too, was a pistol, for self-defense.

One woman at Estates Welcome, a white development containing many retirees, keeps a shotgun in a laundry bag at the foot of her bed. A man answers his door with his pistol in hand.

Such is the concern, a local newspaper, the St. Croix Avis, has urged public hangings as a deterrent to crime.

DETERMINED

Some whites have returned to their stateside homes. But most, including the businessman with the boat, are determined to stick it out.

The reason, in most cases, is that the Virgin Islands, and particularly St. Croix, are idyllic places to live.

St. Croix is 84 square miles of flat land and gently rolling hills. Temperatures are in 70s and 80s year-round. There are gentle trade winds, low humidity and sunshine almost every day.

The islands, purchased by the United States from Denmark for $25 million in 1917, had long enjoyed reputations as a "showcase of democracy," an "American paradise" and a model of racial harmony.

Then came the big tourist boom of the 1960s.

Bulldozers cleared land for hotels. Gift shops sprang up in the three main towns, Charlotte Amalie on St. Thomas and Christiansted and Fredericksted on St. Croix.

Native islanders weren't prepared for, or particularly interested in, getting involved. They stayed on the sidelines, and residents of other islands moved in to take the jobs offered by the tourist industry.

The population tripled from about 32,000 in 1960 to an estimated 100,000 in 1973.

Many black natives now feel they are "strangers in their own land," as one political leader put it.

And resentment began to grow among the blacks.

The tourist boom hit a peak in 1968-69, then began leveling off. Unemployment became a problem. Drug abuse and juvenile delinquency shot up. The crime rate — almost negligible before — began to soar.

Vietnam veterans and young Virgin Islanders who studied in mainland universities returned to their island with a heightened awareness of racial difficulties.

SURVIVED HASSLES

"I survived the black power hassles in the States five years ago," says Michael Joseph, 24, who returned to Christiansted last year with a degree in biology from Loyola University in Los Angeles. "I shouldn't have to go through that again."

One of Joseph's brothers is a member of the Youngbloods, a group of young blacks feared by the whites. Joseph says the young blacks imitate characters in movies like "Shaft" and learn what they can secondhand about black militants in the United States, 1,200 miles away.

"I try to tell them that even the Black Panthers aren't bad guys in the States anymore," Joseph says. "But they won't listen. I guess if I was 16 I wouldn't listen, either."

Joseph, like other returning islanders, found a business establishment almost completely controlled by whites — most of them relative newcomers to the islands.

"I tried to get a job in the hospital as a lab technician," he says. "They told me they had just hired three white girls from the mainland. So I had to go to work as an orderly for $80 a week. White people here never think of trying to train natives for those jobs. They just automatically bring in someone from the outside."

Islanders also found that whites — despite protestations that "some of my best friends are native blacks" — moved in their own circles and didn't get very involved with the native community.

Sen. Alex Moorhead, a 6-foot-10, 28-year-old native political leader, sees the crime wave as a symptom of the frustration the natives feel in the face of white dominance.

"This is a frustration the government is going to have to deal with," he says.

The senator's brother, Mario, 34, who holds a degree from Philadelphia's Wharton School of Finance, returned to the islands last year after serving a prison term for robbery in Washington, D.C. He has founded a new United Peoples Party.

Its ultimate aim is independence from the United States, both politically and economically.

The movement has little following at this point and is generally pooch-pooched by other black leaders.

COULDN'T SURVIVE

Mario Moorhead himself says, "It is doubtful that a handful of natives could be found who believe the Virgin Islands could survive for a single day independently."

But in a just-published book, Moorhead, more radical and perhaps more outspoken than his senator brother, calls colonialism "the number one problem of the Virgin Islands."

In the final chapter of his book, Moorhead describes what he found on returning home.

"Natives are stuck in barracks-type projects and housing developments in the most undesirable residential areas throughout the islands, while the hilltops and beachfronts are covered with white colonial structures. The cost of living is absolutely unbelievable, while no one seems to be aware of inflation or the cause of it. The jails are overflowing with the youth of the society, and yet the ignorant leadership is placing priority on enlarging the police force with aliens from another country and now even a national guard."

Another black native spokesman, Alexander Farrelly, a lawyer and unsuccessful Democratic candidate for governor in 1970, also feels the crime wave indicates "some social disorder."

He too points to the "visible white establishment."

Meantime, the islands appear to be headed for a lean winter for tourists.

Reservations for the prime winter season are way down. One major hotel, the Grapetree, says it will remain closed because of cancellations caused by the crimes.

Randy English, manager of the Fountain Valley Golf Club, said that business in September was down 30 to 35 per cent from last year when the killings at the club took place.

Not all of the drop is due to crime fears.

Governor Evans cites competition from other areas, particularly from Europe, where air fares are cheaper.

Evans points with pride to new schools, new highways and hospital expansion.

He has also beefed up the police department and has brought in outside help to train the local police.

Miller Resigns Fair Position

Gerald Miller has submitted his resignation as president-elect of the Howard County Fair Association.

In a letter to James (Buddy) Barr, president of the association, Miller said that his duties with the Soil Conservation Service were such that he would be unable to continue to head the Fair, which was resurrected in September after a 20-year lapse. Miller, as vice president, had a key role in reorganizing the Fair, and then in staging the successful show.

"I wish there were time to do all that is required of me with the Soil Conservation Service and carry out the duties of my position with the Fair Association, but such is not the case," he said. "It has been a great honor to have had the privilege of working with such a fine organization. I always will remember the thrill of having a part in bringing back the Howard County Fair." [The Fair, Barr likely will call Under the Fair's by-laws, the president-elect also serves as executive committee before the general superintendent of long to consider a successor.]

Solons, Nixon Blamed For Lack Of Foresight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The former executive director of a federal commission which predicted the energy crisis five months ago says Congress and the Nixon administration should have had emergency plans ready long ago.

"We could see it coming," said James Boyd, whose National Commission on Materials Policy has disbanded since publishing its final report last June.

Boyd also said major U.S. oil companies let domestic petroleum exploration and refinery construction lag, and invested abroad instead because they could make more money overseas.

The commission's report warned last June 28: "We conclude that an energy shortage, of severely disruptive and damaging proportions, is a distinct possibility in the immediate future."

"Major economic stresses resulting from energy deficiencies may occur and increase between now and 1980."

The report went on to say the energy crunch "should pose no real threat to national security if the United States acts decisively to remedy the deficiencies.

"Congress and the administration are well aware of the need for a major national effort to meet the energy challenge."

Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton and Commerce Secretary Frederick B. Dent were members of the commission that issued that report.

But while Boyd was being interviewed, a Cabinet-level Energy Emergency Action group, hastily assembled in November — and including Morton and Dent — was still trying to figure out basic administration policies on fuel rationing, prices and taxes in the energy crisis.

Asked whether he thought the administration or Congress "should have had emergency plans ready long since," Boyd replied, "Oh, yes. There's no doubt in my mind. They should have had them ready."

To the question "Why didn't they?", Boyd said, "I don't know... I don't think they really appreciated the enormity of the problem."

Both Congress and the President say they have offered legislation to meet the energy crisis but have been restricted by each other.

House Speaker Carl Albert said last Saturday that Congress has worked on energy bills for months but that the administration has been opposing or delaying them.

Nixon has accused Congress of repeatedly failing to act on his energy proposals. In a message Nov. 8, he said Congress had failed to act on six urgent bills.

Administration officials now say the United States cannot increase its oil supplies in less than three to five years without the resumption of oil shipments from the Arab nations, cut off in October as a pressure move against Israel.

Irland To Meet With Commission

Marion Irland, a representative of some senior citizen groups, will meet with County Commissioners Court.

Irland will detail his earlier proposal to establish a center for the elderly here.

HC Employees Awarded Pins

Eighteen employees of Howard County Junior College were awarded service pins Friday night at the annual Christmas buffet for all college employees. Attendance was approximately 140.

Dr. Thomas Salter, college president, awarded the pins given for longevity service.

Twenty-year pins were given to Ben Johnson, former dean and now assistant to the president, and K. H. McGibbon, chairman of the board of trustees.

Receiving 10-year pins were Jerry Dudley, Doyce Piper, Lee Thackery and Dr. Charles Warren.

Five-year pins went to Evelyn Anderson, Joy Burnsed, Mary Deats, Wanda Ferguson, Frances Hakes, Mary Skalicky, Norman Backs, J. T. Brose, Richard Hooper, W. T. Rutledge, J. D. Smith and Mrs. Horace Garrett.

Entertainment was furnished by the Choraleers, directed by Woody McDonell. This was the first appearance of the group in its new uniforms — for young men red velvet blazers and gray slacks, and for the co-eds red and gray pinafores.

Pair Arrested In Break-in

Mike Marquez, 17, and a 16-year-old juvenile have been charged with burglary and theft in connection with a break in early Saturday morning at Bauer Elementary.

Officer James Van Ness apprehended the pair standing in front of a classroom at the school shortly after 3:03 a.m. when a silent burglar alarm went off.

Entry was gained by breaking the glass in the classroom door, according to Van Ness. A desk was found overturned and a storage cabinet open inside the room.

A portable record player was found at the subjects' feet when they were apprehended.

Marquez was in city jail Saturday afternoon and the juvenile had been turned over to the juvenile officer.

called police.

It was about 11:30 a.m. near the building.

A dozen or so students clustered at the north side of the tower as ambulance attendants brought Ogburn's body from where it landed on a sidewalk, what had happened.

Justice of the Peace Jim Dear made the identification from a driver's license.

Whitman killed most of his victims—16 dead, 31 wounded—with rifle fire from the deck before police gunned him down.

Since then, armed guards have been stationed on the 28th floor, which opens onto the outdoor deck.

Sgt. Al Flowers, seated at a desk, said he saw Ogburn walk in alone, and that he was not acting unusual or strange. Four or five other people were on the four-sided deck at the same time, but none saw Ogburn go over the side, Flowers said.

Tim Arrington, 18, of Houston said he saw Ogburn falling, and Robyn Richter, daughter of former state Sen. Walter Richter, said she was working in the second floor main library when she heard the body hit. She

They were reunited for the second time in the 35 years when Ayres taped Stewart's television series, "Hawkins" (bottom photo). The show will be aired Tuesday.

Burglaries Discovered

A call reporting a suspicious male in the 11th Place and Johnson vicinity early Saturday morning led police to the discovery of two burglaries and another attempted burglary.

Upon receiving the suspicious person call at 2:04 a.m. Saturday, Officer Robert Yeager and Reserve Officer Ronnie Smith went to the area but were unable to locate the subject.

Instead, they discovered a break in at Cutie Curl, 101C Johnson, where entry had been gained by breaking the glass out of a door. Thirty dollars in damage was done, and $12 in cash and a bank with an unknown amount of change were missing.

Then, the officers noticed a window broken out at La Boutique, a dress shop next door to Cutie Curl. No entry was gained, however, because the door had been nailed shut.

A check of other buildings in the vicinity revealed another break in at Curley's Photographic Studio. A glass door was broken out, leaving $25 damage, and $9 in change was missing.

Laser Beam Is Easily Spotted By Astronauts

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Skylab 3's astronauts today easily spotted a laser beam flashed at them from earth in a test to determine if ground-based lasers might one day be used by a spaceship for guidance and navigation.

"Got it loud and clear," Commander Gerald P. Carr reported as the laser was triggered by scientists at NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center, Greenbelt, Md. "It appears like a little green spot, flashing about three cycles a second."

Capsule communicator Hank Hartsfield asked if the astronauts could see it with the naked eye.

"Yes, all three of us have seen it; it's very clear," Carr responded.

The spacemen photographed the light and tracked it as they traveled several hundred miles in their orbital home, 272 miles high.

"I don't know how we missed it the other two times," Carr remarked. "It's really bright."

He referred to two unsuccessful attempts to sight the laser earlier in the mission.

The astronauts, meanwhile, remained on alert for a possible repeat of a "klunk" sound that briefly vibrated a section of the station Friday.

Neither the astronauts nor Mission Control was particularly concerned about the noise. But they would like to know what caused it.

Carr was conducting systems tests in the Apollo command ship Friday when he felt a slight shaking. The Apollo, the astronauts' ferry back to earth, is docked to one end of the 118-foot-long station.

Discussion Is Slated Monday

A meeting "for anyone who wants to know anything about food stamps" is slated at the county court room at 7 p.m. Monday, Mrs. Paula Talbot of the food stamp office here said.

Parr Had Big Tab At Duval Gas Station

SAN DIEGO, Tex. (AP) — Duval County Judge Arther Parr has a charge account at a local service station that had over $15,000 charged to it during the first eight months of 1973, the Corpus Christi Caller reported Friday.

The Caller, in the last of a series of copyrighted articles, said many other county officials have a regular car allowance that Parr does not have.

However, Parr's charge account at Garcia's Parts and Service has had an average of $1,897.65 per month credited to it, the Caller said.

"I charge gasoline, tires and batteries there," Parr said. "I use it (the account) very little. My bill probably runs about $100 a month, if that much."

The Caller also reported Friday that Parr leases a 1973 automobile from the Duval Motor Co. for $175 a month, with the bill going to the county.

Of that bill, Parr said, "That is supposed to go to me. I'll pay that myself." He said he wasn't aware the car lease bill was being sent to the county.

The Caller reported that many of Parr's gasoline charge statements from the Garcia station bear the name of a man who until recently was employed at Parr's ranch.

Asked how the man could charge gas to the county judge's account when he is not even a county employee, Parr replied that he "works for the county at times."

The same man is not listed on the June, 1973 payroll, but his first name is on a number of gasoline tickets charged to the county judge that month.

Parr told the Caller some county employees work only two or three weeks a month and are paid little. He said he often hires them to work at the ranch when they aren't working for the county. The county payroll does not indicate any of them work as part time employees.

Parr's estranged wife has testified in court she believes her husband has been receiving $5,000 a month in money obtained illegally from the county.

The paper said Jody Martin Parr, the judge's fourth wife who now is engaged in a bitter divorce suit with him, made the statements regarding the money in 229th District Court last August.

She testified, the paper reported, that Assistant County Treasurer Silverstre D. Gonzalez delivered the $5,000 in cash to Parr shortly before the regular monthly meetings of the commissioners court.

SACROC Alleges It's Overtaxed By Snyder School

SNYDER — The SACROC Oil Production Unit has filed suit against the Snyder Independent School District, seeking a reduction in tax assessments.

SACROC claims that the true value of the properties is $908,187,266 and that its assessment at 15 per cent would be $136,228,090, resulting in a tax of $2,070.66.

The district approved a board of equalization true value of $1,126,176,466, which at 15 per cent is $166,926,470, resulting in a tax bill of $2,567,682.

The unit operators also alleged that the board of equalization did not use the same basis of assessment for other oil companies that some 350,000 acres of land with at least a $130-per acre value is on the books for much less and much personal property is not on the rolls. The plaintiff asked a temporary injunction against being billed for this year's taxes on the rates set by the board.

Unions Seeking Aid For Strikers

Permian Basin Unions will participate in a state-wide drive to raise contributions for the Christmas holiday fund of striking workers at the Farah Manufacturing plant in El Paso, it was announced Saturday by D. L. Willis, president of the Odessa Central Labor Union, AFL-CIO.

All area unions and their members are asked to make contributions of cash, toys, canned goods, and good clothing. A truck will leave from the Midland-Odessa area on Dec. 18th to deliver the Christmas items to the Farah workers, said Willis. Money or items may be sent to the Odessa Central Labor Union office at 2020 E. 8th in Odessa before noon on Dec. 17. Checks should be made payable to the "Farah Strikers Holiday Fund."

Remains of Three Family Members Are Discovered

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — The Kenney family kept pretty much to themselves, in life and in death.

When police entered a window of the high-gabled Victorian home through the fragile lace curtains and the tattered yellow shades they found the family remains Friday.

Cecilia, 84, dead for more than a year, was on the living room couch. Her brother, Roland, 72, and her sister, Grace, 76 were dead in a front bedroom, head to foot together in bed.

All three had apparently died of natural causes, police said.

"They lived over there and we lived over here and that was that," said one neighbor. And so neighbors spread the news that the family from the house on Curtis Avenue had died.

Police entered the house after the postman reported that no mail had been picked up for more than two weeks.

"We saw a form under the covers on the couch. We thought it to be a body, but when we pulled down the covers, we saw it was a skeleton," said Police Sgt. Douglas E. Wyman.

They had found Cecilia. Det. Sgt. Bruce Russell said. "It appears that Cecilia died of natural causes and the other two dragged her and laid her on the couch so that she could still remain a part of the family."

They laid her facing the television set, her head covered by a shawl, his report said.

Upstairs in the front bedroom of the house, built at the turn of the century and unpainted for more than 30 years, the two officers found the bodies of Grace and Roland.

"Roland died around a month ago and was asleep in his bed at the time Grace left him there, and tried to continue her life, but found she could not. She lay in the same bed with Roland and died a few days or weeks later," Russell said.

Both were dressed in night clothes and lay on the white iron bed with pillows under their heads. Grace lay at the foot and Roland at the head, with a sheet of plastic under him.

The temperature inside the house was 50 degrees, which slowed the decay of the bodies, police said.

Roland was retired from the state Department of Public Works. The neighbors said that Grace was a practical nurse and that they saw her drive her 10-year-old car to shop for groceries.

A bag of groceries stood on the kitchen table and $1,000 cash was found in the house, police said.

"Thirty years ago that was quite a house," said one neighbor, who like others didn't want his name used.

"In summer sometimes you'd see them sitting outside in the backyard," another said. Kenney used to mow his lawn by flashlight at 3 a.m., he added.

"That's the way they were."

Bilingual Work-Study

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (AP) — Twenty undergraduate Southwest Texas State University students are working as assistants in San Marcos public school bilingual classrooms this semester in a work-study program subsidized by funds made available through special legislative appropriations to Southwest Texas for its bilingual education program.

According to bilingual program director Carlos Rodriguez about $4,000 of the funds appropriated are being spent to pay the students' salary for this semester under the program. Each student works about 10 hours a week in San Marcos elementary school classrooms.

Enthusiasm in the program is high, Rodriguez says, as far as both the students and the classroom teachers involved are concerned and both are anxious to see it continued.

The students' activities in the classroom range from individual and small group tutoring to assisting with the physical arrangements of the classroom. Because they are bilingual, they are able to help the Spanish-speaking child as well as the non-Spanish speaking.

According to Rodriguez, all three San Marcos elementary schools and the kindergarten have at least one bilingual section in each grade, kindergarten through fifth. Crockett has two sections through fifth grade.

You Can't Raise 3 Kids On $263 Month, IRS Told

ABILENE (AP) — Can you support three children with $263 a month?

The Internal Revenue Service office here says yes, but the parents of the children insist, if that is so they are willing to give the kids to the government.

It all came about in a dispute between the Charles DeMone family and the IRS over the standard $750 deduction per child. The agency declined to allow all deductions, Mrs. DeMone said, because the three children receive $263 a month between them as Social Security benefits after the death of their father. Their mother later married DeMone, a retired Army Colonel.

Tax auditor John Mangrum said the three children could not be deducted because the DeMones could not prove that the parents provided more than half of their support.

"If they think the government provides the children's support, then let the government support them," said Mrs. DeMone as she waited, accompanied by two of the three children, to discuss the matter Friday with an IRS official.

The three children are: Sandy Hadley, 15; Susie Hadley, 12; and Cindy Hadley, 9.

Mrs. DeMone said the amount in dispute was more than $1,000. In Dallas an IRS spokesman said there was hope for the DeMones because the case would have to be reviewed by district headquarters.

And if the Abilene officials' decision is upheld, the Dallas spokesman said, the DeMones have two additional local and regional avenues of appeal which are purely administrative.

"Don't give up," the IRS spokesman advised. "You still have half a dozen ways of getting around it."

NAB 1,500 PARROTS

FABENS, Tex. (AP) — Two arrests and seizure of 1,500 smuggled parrots valued at $177,000 were reported by the U.S. Customs Service.

Treasury special agents nabbed the birds, described as the largest such haul ever made in this country, Nov. 28 at Fabens, southeast of El Paso in far West Texas.

They took into custody Hector R. Gonzalez, 33, and his wife Maryanna, 33, of El Paso and said more arrests were expected. Bond was set at $1,500 for Gonzalez and $5,000 for his wife.

The birds, from Central and South America, had been smuggled into the United States in 19 large cages for sale to bird fanciers, U.S. Customs Commissioner Vernon D. Acree said.

The Agriculture Department prohibited importation of all birds in August 1972 because a virus, known as Exotic New Castle Disease, might endanger the U.S. Poultry industry, Acree said.

Houston Man, Wife Given Prison Terms For Fraud

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston businessman was sentenced to 15 years in prison Friday on mail fraud charges and his wife received five years probation in a scheme involving bank drafts from the Bank of Sark.

U.S. District Court Judge Allen B. Hannay handed down the sentences to William Donald Shepherd, 52, and Barbara Shepherd, 30.

The couple was convicted by a jury Nov. 13 of using the mails to defraud area banks in a check-kiting scheme.

Government attorneys claimed Shepherd deposited phony Bank of Sark drafts in the accounts of his businesses and then withdrew the money before the drafts cleared the bank.

The Bank of Sark was discovered by police to be a room in a three-story walkup on an island in the English Channel. It reportedly was equipped only with a teletype machine and a supply of finely engraved checks.

Persons who obtained the phony checks from the bank allegedly used them to swindle U.S. banks and businesses of nearly $40 million before its operation was discovered.

Shepherd maintained during his trial he was a victim of con men who had issued him the drafts as part of a loan for which he had advanced cash and securities.

During sentencing he asked for the chance to "make amends" to persons who had lost financially because of his actions. "I swear to God I had no knowledge or any intent to cause any loss to anybody."

Mrs. Shepherd said "knowing full well all the charges are false, we're still in a state of shock and disillusionment."

Attorneys for the Shepherds said the convictions would be appealed.

Murder Charge

ANDREWS — Charges of murder have been lodged against Baldomero Garza Ocho, 45, Seagraves, in connection with the shooting death of Santos Saldona, 36, Seminole. Saldona was hit twice while inside Jay's Supermarket around 6 p.m. Thursday. One bullet struck him in the side while in the store, and another in the head when he fell to the ground outside. $50,000 bond was set for Ocho.

RR Agent Due

A representative of the Railroad Retirement Board will be at Room 242 in the Federal Building Thursday from 10 a.m. to 12 noon for consultation with those having business, according to John Price, district RRB manager.

Bikes, Buses Gain Favor

ROME (AP) — Bicycles and buses gained sudden popularity in Italy today as millions of Italians scrambled to keep rolling despite a government ban on Sunday and holiday pleasure driving.

The ban, which took effect this weekend, threatened an abrupt end to Italians' beloved Sunday dinner outings, beach romps, mountain hikes and wild soccer matches.

The government imposed the ban to cope with the shortage of oil products stemming largely from Arab production cuts. The measures shut down filling stations from noon Saturday through Sunday and set strict speed limits in addition to the Sunday and holiday ban on automobile and motorbike traffic.

Train and bus companies have doubled their services for the carless days, and thousands have bought bicycles. But transportation facilities still seem likely to be strained in coming days.

Some 90,000 fans are expected Sunday at Milan's San Siro Stadium for the Milan-Inter Soccer Match, a traditional clash of local archrivals. Tickets were sold out 10 days in advance, and the boxoffice total of $450,000 broke all gate receipt records for a sports event in Italy.

Impeachment Threat Is Renewed In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — A senior member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee says it would be "a presumptive case for impeachment" if President Nixon resumed bombing in Indochina without consent of Congress.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, commented on remarks at a news conference Friday by Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger.

Schlesinger disclosed that the Nixon administration is studying whether a new war powers law would allow the United States to resume bombing if the North Vietnamese kicked off a new military offensive in South Vietnam.

Schlesinger said he believes Congress has ruled out any such renewal of American military force. He confirmed, however, that some State Department lawyers believe the new law supersedes earlier legislation barring the reintroduction of any U.S. forces into Indochina.

Church said resumption of bombing in North Vietnam is barred by a provision in the military procurement authorization act signed by the President Nov. 16.

"In view of the clear and precise wording of this provision," Church said, "it is my judgment that to resume bombing or any other act of war in Indochina, without first obtaining the consent of Congress, would violate the law, and constitute a presumptive case for impeachment."

KOHOUTEK LOCATIONS — The Moody Planetarium of The Museum of Texas Tech University suggests that amateur astronomers may find these charts useful in locating the Comet Kohoutek during December and January. To the naked eye the comet looks like a star that is blurred as if it is viewed through a mist. The tail shows as a faint stream trailing behind the bright comet head. The planetarium, which will present a special show entitled "Kohoutek: Comet of the Century," at 1:30 p.m. Dec. 2, is interested in obtaining copies of any photographs taken of the comet. Astronomers suggest that photographers use a tripod, set the lens wide open, focus to infinity, and expose a very fast film for a few seconds.

Comet Kohoutek To Become Brighter In Mid-December

Although the experts now claim that Comet Kohoutek will not be quite as bright as first expected, they still expect it to be visible.

By the beginning of December, the comet should be a fine naked-eye object, rising a little before the predawn sky can drown it out. It will move faster and by the middle of December should be brighter than any star.

It will also be coming more and more into the glare of the dawn at that time which makes it more difficult to see.

Observations of the close-to-the-sun head should be Dec. 24-30 and best left to the professionals. It is dangerous to look directly at the sun through binoculars or telescopes, or even with the naked eye, according to Gary Carlsen, high school science instructor in charge of the planetarium.

By Dec. 29th, the comet will

Bison Saved By An Edict

WARSAW (AP) — Poland's bison, a close cousin of the American buffalo, has been saved from extinction by strong state laws which threaten unauthorized hunters with jail terms and heavy fines.

It requires a personal permit of the forestry minister — plus $5,000 — to shoot a zubr pronounced zhoobor. In the past 25 years only four such permits were issued, and they were to eliminate bulls sick or considered dangerous to the herd.

The last poacher to kill a bison received two years and a fine of 130,000 zlotys about $6,000.

An average bull weighs about a ton, has a hump, a flowing mane and sharp horns. But usually it's as gentle as a lamb. A zubr once wandered hundreds of miles across Poland. It had to be treated afterward for stomach troubles because children had fed it so many sweets along the way.

Applications For Summer Jobs Now Being Taken

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Congressman Omar Burleson (D-Tex) said today that the Civil Service Commission is now receiving applications for the 1974 competitive examination for summer employment with the United States Government. The examination leads to eligibility for appointment to most temporary summer jobs in the clerical field and as aides in engineering and science occupations.

Those who are interested in the summer jobs covered may apply to take the written test on or before two filing dates — Dec. 28, 1973 and Jan. 25, 1974. Burleson stressed that applications for the written test postmarked after Jan. 25, 1974, will not be accepted.

Unlike its practice in past years, the Commission will not automatically send forms to those who qualified in 1973, but who may wish to remain on the lists for consideration in 1974. Those who qualified for summer employment in 1973 must update their applications by submitting a form enclosed in Announcement No. 414. They are not required to repeat the written test.

The U.S. Postal Service is not participating in the summer employment examination for 1974. Inquiries regarding summer employment with the Postal Service should be directed to the post office where employment is desired.

Any application forms needed to apply for jobs described in Civil Service Announcement No. 414 may be obtained from most college placement offices and U.S. Civil Service Commission Area Offices.

Copies of Announcement No. 414, which provides complete information about summer job opportunities in federal agencies, are currently available on request through Rep. Burleson's Washington office, located in Room 2369 Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515.

Spinning Units Seen As Boon

The arrival of two open-end spinning frames at the Texas Tech Textile Research Center gives added hope that the recent announcement of three commercial open-end plants on the Plains is "just a beginning," says Ray Joe Riley, of Hart, president of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

"The open-end system is being hailed as a major innovation in the textile industry," Riley states, "and it could be the means for turning an already promising future into a brilliant future for the production of High Plains cotton."

Open-end spinning of cotton yarns, in addition to being three or four times as fast as conventional ring spinning, does not require or even favor raw cotton with micronaire readings in the premium priced 3.5 to 4.9 range.

On the contrary, testing to date has shown that low micronaire cottons, normally in abundant supply from the High Plains crop, may well produce yarns on the open-end system superior to those made from higher micronaire cottons. The research center is seeking to make sure of South Plains cotton ability to perform on the new systems.

Papadopoulos Is Still At Home

ATHENS (AP) — Former President George Papadopoulos, ousted from power last weekend in a military coup, is no longer under house arrest.

But a source close to his family says he is staying at home because "he is afraid something might happen to him."

Papadopoulos and his wife, Despina, rent their seaside villa in Lagonissi, 20 miles from Athens, from shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis for $500 a month. The coup leaders told Papadopoulos he could personally choose 40 guards to protect him at the villa, but they haven't revealed their eventual plans for the former strong man.

Big Turnout Due For Scout Fete

More than 200 are expected Tuesday evening for the annual Lone Star district Scout Recognition banquet at 7 o'clock in the HCJC cafeteria. Tickets may be had from Reeves Moren, Western Auto, or Guy Griffith, Scout executive.

Adults who have made outstanding contributions to the movement or who have achieved objectives will be cited. All boys who earned the highest rank of Eagle will be given special recognition. Leaders who have met unit goals will receive their awards. Those who achieved both their May 31 and Dec. 15 recruiting goals will receive a gold-edged Golden Year Recruiting patch, a one-time item commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Buffalo Trail Council.

Those who met their May 31 or Dec. 15 goals will receive the plain patch or a coffee mug, and all boys who have recruited another boy during this Golden Anniversary year are entitled to get a patch.

J. Arnold Marshall, district chairman, will be installed for a second year in the top spot of the district, and Tom Locke as vice chairman. Clem Jones will be the new district commissioner.

Guests will include Steve Odom, council executive, and Ned Truex, Odessa, council commissioner. A combo will furnish the music for the program.

Harriman Out Of Hospital

NEW YORK (AP) — Former diplomat W. Averell Harriman has been discharged from a hospital here after being confined three days for an undisclosed reason.

Harriman, 82, veteran statesman and former Democratic governor of New York, had been hospitalized at the Harkness Pavilion of Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center.

Finds It Hard To Swallow

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., says Rose Mary Woods' account of how she accidentally erased a portion of one of the Watergate tapes "is the most incomprehensible straining of credibility that one could imagine."

Miss Woods, President Nixon's secretary, told a court she pressed the wrong button on a tape recorder while transcribing the tape.

"The only thing you can say for it is that anyone with any brains could have made up a better story," McGee said at an airport news conference. He was in Chicago for an Israeli bonds dinner.

Open Beach Ruling Made

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gulf Holding Corp. cannot fence off a public beach on the western side of San Luis Pass in Brazoria County, the Texas Supreme Court ruled.

The high court affirmed, without written opinion, lower court decisions enjoining Gulf from building a fence from the vegetation line to the mean low tide on a 35.15-acre tract it claims.

San Luis Pass is a two-mile-wide body of water separating the western tip of Galveston Island from San Luis Peninsula.

Gulf built a $750,000 campground facility "on firm ground behind the line of vegetation," then put up a fence to the mean low tide, preventing access to the beach.

Brazoria County employees tore down the fence. On June 19, 1972, Gulf erected another fence and parked vehicles next to it so the county could not reach it with equipment needed to tear it down.

Gulf put up a sign that read, "Private Property. No trespassing. No longer available for public use. Violators will be prosecuted. For use of registered guests."

The county sued for and was granted a temporary injunction against Gulf. The state intervened under authority of the Open Beach Act. The fence was torn down.

Mayorial Election Nears

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston mayoral race—a sort of non-event marked by vast campaign spending and the non-appearance of candidates—stages a close this week. The city's 600,000 registered voters will be asked to choose between Fred Hofheinz and Dick Gottlieb in the runoff election Tuesday. Between both men have spent over $1 million on their campaigns which have been marked during the runoff by press conferences, much advertising, but little excitement or personal campaign. The odds are that not too many people will bother to vote Tuesday. Only about 235,000 of them turned out in the first election Nov. 6.

Voters will also ballot on two council seats and on three school board races which will decide control of the Houston School District, the nation's sixth largest.

LED BALLOT

Hofheinz, a lawyer and son of Roy Hofheinz—the Houston Astros' owner—led the ballot last month with 84,863 votes. Gottlieb, a former television announcer, now an advertising agency owner and a two-term city councilman, was next with 76,227.

For the first time since 1962, Houston will have a new mayor as the incumbent, Louie Welch, is retiring to take over the helm of the Chamber of Commerce.

Incumbent Councilman Homer Ford faces a runoff with Lawrence Pope, a Negro supermarket owner. In the other council race for Gottlieb's old council seat, lawyer Jim Westmoreland—who is considered moderate to liberal—faces Dick Maegle, a former professional football player who is now a hotel executive. Both men are making their first runs for office, although Maegle has been active locally in support of the presidential ambitions of Alabama Gov. George Wallace.

The school board race features a contest between slates backed by the Citizens for Good Schools, which has controlled the board for the past four years, and the Concerted Action for Responsible Education, which led in the first election in all races and put two of their candidates on the board without a runoff.

The CARE slate campaigned on a platform of economy and return to basic education. They pointed out that reading test scores of Houston school children have declined during the past four years and blamed the progressive education theories of the CGS candidates.

COMPLAINTS

The CGS candidates say that CARE wants to move the city's school children back into lock-step education. They also say that the decline in test scores came about because of larger numbers of minority school children who do not do as well as white middle class children on the tests.

This year, for the first time, the district had a majority of Negro and Mexican-American children.

In the mayor's race, Hofheinz' candidacy was helped by the backhanded endorsement last week of Bud Hadfield, who finished third in the Nov. 6 election with 36,120 votes.

Transpeninsular Highway Across Baja Mexico Open

PARALLEL 28, Mexico (AP) — The 1,020-mile, $95 million transpeninsular highway spanning the Baja California peninsula was to be opened Saturday morning by President Luis Echeverria, fulfilling a promise made five years ago.

At the same time, the opening marks the termination of one of the most ambitious and most expensive projects a Mexican government has undertaken.

It is also seen as the first of other highway projects in the country to integrate fully a national road network. The transpeninsular roads runs from Cape St. Lucas in the southernmost tip of the Peninsula to Tijuana at the U.S. border.

President Luis Echeverria was to officially inaugurate the highway at Parallel 28, the geographical location that marks the joining of the state and territory of Baja California, in the middle of the peninsula.

The president has been touring the recently-completed road since Friday morning aboard a chartered bus, stopping in countless small towns to dedicate public works, hear petitions from residents, supervise construction work of new population centers, deliver agrarian ejido land and see the condition of the two-lane road. The highway, which for the first time links the peninsula by land, passes through desert land, mountains and runs most of the time along the coastal land of both the Gulf of California and the Pacific Ocean.

Three years after he took office as president of Mexico, Echeverria is returning to open the highway, a project he promised on Dec. 29, 1969, as a campaigning presidential candidate while touring Baja California.

Nicklaus Rolls To Big Win In Disney Play

LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus passed another major milestone Saturday as he came from two strokes off the pace with a 67, made the Walt Disney World Open his seventh championship of the season and became the first player in golf's history to go beyond $2 million in career earnings.

His 275 total was 13 under par on the 7,162-yard Magnolia course at Walt Disney World, a layout on which he has yet to be beaten. Nicklaus has won this tournament all three years it has been played and this time scored by one stroke over Mason Rudolph.

The Golden Bear, generally regarded as the greatest player the game has produced, collected $300,000 from the total purse of $150,000 in this, the last tournament of the year on the long tour schedule.

It gave him $308,362 for the season and marked the third consecutive year he has taken the prestigious title as the leading money winner. And it gave him a total of $2,012,068 for his 12-year pro career.

He passed the $1 million mark Jan. 25, 1970 and so won his second million in less than four years, the fastest it's been done. It took him only 76 tournaments to add the second million.

The game's other millionaires are Arnold Palmer, Lee Trevino, Billy Casper and Australian Bruce Crampton.

Nicklaus scored the 51st American tour triumph of his career—putting him alone in fifth on the all-time list—on the strength of a brilliant, four-under-par 32 on the front nine.

He wrestled the lead from young John Mahaffey, who had set the pace through the second and third rounds, with an eagle three on the fourth hole. He wasn't headed again and led by two strokes most of the way until the veteran Rudolph made a late charge.

Rudolph finished with a 68—274. Mahaffey, a slightly-built tour sophomore, who won his first pro tournament just a little more than a month ago, slipped back to third with a 71—277.

UTEP Rolls In Opener

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — After seeing Quincy College take a quick lead, the University of Texas at El Paso scored 12 points in a row and went on to a 67-34 victory in its season basketball opener here Saturday behind the scoring of Gus Bailey and Ed Lynam.

The Miners missed their first four field goal attempts, but Bailey, a senior guard, sparked a rally that took them to a 12-2 lead.

UTEP's biggest bulge of the game was 40 points, 65-25 with less than four minutes remaining.

Bailey and Ed Lynam each scored 15 points for the Miners, while the visiting Hawks, now 1-1, were led by Paul Krecke and Ed Grelle, who had nine each.

STRONG FINISH — Australia's Rod Laver put on a strong finish as he defeated Tom Gorman of the United States in Friday night's opening match of the 1973 Davis Cup World Finals in Cleveland. Laver outlasted Gorman in the three hour, twenty minute match 8-10, 8-6, 6-8, 6-3, 6-1.

Aussies Romp In Davis Action

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two old tennis retdreads from Down Under, John Newcombe and Rod Laver, crushed America's Stan Smith and Erik van Dillen in doubles 6-1, 6-2, 6-4 Saturday and won the coveted Davis Cup again for Australia.

It was a 68-minute rout. The victory marked the 23rd time the Aussies have captured the symbol of world tennis supremacy, putting them even with the United States in victories.

The triumph gave the Australians an insurmountable 3-0 lead in the traditional best-of-five match series and converted to mere exhibition status the final two singles matches today. In those matches, Newcombe will play Tom Gorman of Seattle and Laver will take on Smith, America's recognized No. 1 player.

A disappointing crowd of approximately 4,500 came out to the Cleveland Public Hall to watch the 29-year-old Newcombe and 35-year-old Laver pick up from their American singles victories of Friday.

On that occasion, the Australians needed 6 hours and 32 minutes and 106 games to beat Uncle Sam's two top players, and set the tone for the return of the big silver bowl back to the country which had not seen it for the last five years.

Under the wily Harry Hopman, Australia dominated Cup competition in the 1950s and 1960s, winning 16 times, but had fallen into oblivion when professional ranks began siphoning off their top talent. Relaxed Davis Cup rules permitted the return this year of all but contract professionals and Australia was able to field the most potent team in the series' long history, with a lineup of long-time stars who had a collection of 25 major national championships.

Brahmas Topple Toros; Mavs 2nd

The Brahmas nudged their intra-school rival Toros 57-45 for the ninth grade crown and Snyder Lamar topped the Goliad Mavericks 51-37 for eighth grade honors in the annual Big Spring Junior High Basketball Tournament here Friday and Saturday.

Lamesa defeated San Angelo Lee 50-41 for third place honors and Edison dumped Lamar 67-49 to win the consolation prize in other freshman games Saturday.

In the eighth grade division, Lamesa earned third place by stopping Lee 37-27. Consolation went to Edison, 40-35 victor over Glenn in overtime.

Sparked by all-tournament selections Cornell Kimble and Bubba Stripling, the Brahmas led 11-8 after the first quarter and never trailed, going ahead 30-23 at the half and 46-37 after three quarters.

Kimble hit nine points and Stripling 14, but the game's high point honors went to Brahma Casey Wilder, who tossed in 17. The Toros' two all-tourney selections, Mike Harris and Steve Evans, hit 11 and 10 respectively.

The Brahmas are now 6-0 and the Toros stand 3-3. Rounding out the all-tournament squad were William White of San Angelo Lee, Johnny Pinchback of San Angelo Edison, Spencer and Blake of Lamesa, Beard of Lamar and Goliad fell behind, 26-17 at the intermission, and couldn't make up the point spread against the Lamar cagers as the Mavs slipped to 4-2 on the year.

Bagley threw in 13 points for the Cubs while the team's two all-tourney players were also in double figures, Clay Courtney with 14 and Clay Peterson with 10.

Goliad landed three players on the all-tourney squad, Mike Thompson, Mitch Harris and Marty Latta. Thompson rang up 11 in the loss, Latta managed eight and Harris hit six points.

Gilbert Gallegos of Edison, Drew of Glenn and Leonard Lambert of Lee were other all-tournament honorees, along with McCurley and Wellington of Lamesa.

Rummels fell to Lamar and Glenn in its first two games, and bowed out of the Meet. The Yearlings stand 0-5.

Notre Dame Rips Past Miami, 44-0

MIAMI (AP) — Wayne Bullock and Pete Demmerle each scored two touchdowns Saturday night as fifth-ranked Notre Dame smothered Miami 44-0 to finish with its first unbeaten regular football season since 1949.

The Irish, 10-0 and headed for a Sugar Bowl confrontation with top-ranked Alabama (11-0) on New Year's Eve, rolled up 230 yards rushing and 291 total yards in the first half to take a 24-0 lead.

Thanksgiving Day loss to Miami. Dallas, 7-4, is one game back of first-place Washington, 3-3. In the National Conference East. And equally important, the Cowboys are scrambling not only to move into first place but also to stay in wildcard playoff contention.

"It's going to be a tremendous football game," says Dallas Coach Tom Landry.

"There are two hot teams in the league right now — Denver and Atlanta — and we're catching one of them in their own park. It'll be a tough chore for us."

"They've always been a very interesting offensive team. They have all the weapons you need. Their defense really has played well the last few weeks. This is the big difference in their football team."

Today's other games are Cleveland at Kansas City, Oakland at Houston, the New York Giants at Washington, Baltimore at the New York Jets, Buffalo at Atlanta, Detroit at St. Louis, Los Angeles at Chicago, Minnesota at Cincinnati, New Orleans vs. Green Bay at Milwaukee, Philadelphia at San Francisco and San Diego at New England. In a key Monday night game, Pittsburgh is in Miami.

Amazing Owls Blank Baylor, Claim Third

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Rice quarterback Fred Geisler ran 3 yards for one touchdown and passed 45 yards to Carl Swierc for another to lead the Owls to a 27-0 victory over Baylor Saturday and complete their season with a four-game winning streak and a third place finish in the Southwest Conference.

The third place finish for the Owls, who had a 5-6 season record, was their highest in 10 years. Baylor finished dead last in the SWC with an 0-7 record and 2-9 for the year.

Geisler, subbing for injured starter Tommy Kramer, set in motion two first half touchdowns to engineer Rice's 14-0 halftime lead. Geisler led early in the fourth quarter with 10 of 20 passes for 220 yards.

Swierc, who had provided Rice's winning margin the past two weeks with touchdown kickoff returns of 95 and 99 yards, also caught a four-yard touchdown pass from Claud Reed with 5:43 left in the game.

Rice's Alan Pringle kicked field goals of 36 and 23 yards in the second half to complete the rout. Pringle missed on a 24 yard attempt in the first quarter for only his third failure of the season.

The error-prone Bears, hampered with 44 turnovers going into the game, lost five of five fumbles and had two passes intercepted. The Owls converted the miscues into 17 points.

A fumble recovery by Chris Fisher at the Baylor 19 yard line set up Geisler's three-yard touchdown run. Rodney Norton recovered a Baylor fumble at the fear five-yard line pre-Ed ing Pringle's 23-yard field goal and John Stanfield recovered a fumble at the Baylor 26 to set up Swierc's second touchdown reception.

Rice cornerback Don Bern Hausen also recovered two Baylor fumbles.

Rice, which has gained only 368 total yards in its last three games, picked up 378 yards in total offense against the Bears. It was the first time Baylor had been shut out since a 23-0 loss to Rice in 1971.

Baylor, ranked second in the conference in total offense, moved the ball against the Owls but miscues continued to blunt any scoring. Baylor out-gained Rice with 398 yards in total offense, but that was nothing new for the Owls.

The Owls, who fashioned their four game winning streak with rugged defense and a solid kicking game, were alert once again. John Kelley and Gary Cox intercepted Baylor quarterback Neal Jeffrey, who entered the game as the 17th ranked passer in the nation.

Jeffrey finished with 13 of 28 completions for 198 yards and two interceptions. Split end Charles Dancer, Jeffrey's favorite receiver, caught four passes for 65 yards and running back Phillip Kent caught three for 55 yards.

Swierc, who has the best kickoff return average in the nation, finished with 7 catches for 100 yards and Ed Lofton had six catches for 90 yards. Baylor tailback Steve Baird, who rushed for 176 yards last week, was the games leading rusher with 98 yards on 18 carries.

SWC Sets Probe Of Rice Program

DALLAS (AP) — An investigation into Rice University's 1971 football program will be on the agenda when Southwest Conference faculty representatives, athletic directors and coaches gather here Thursday for a three-day meeting.

An announcement on Rice's fate in the matter is expected Saturday.

Cliff Speegle, the executive secretary of the SWC, said the Rice investigation wasn't expected to be completed until early this week.

"It went into the hopper late so we don't expect a report from Holloway Associates until early in the week," Speegle said. Holloway Associates Inc. is a private investigation firm in Dallas hired by the conference.

Rice faces possible probationary action should facts be proved in Giles Tippet's book, "Saturday's Children."

The book told of payoffs to Rice football players and transportation violations.

If the findings in the book are true, the matter will go before the SWC faculty committee for action.

Speegle has said "It's serious enough to put anyone on probation as far as National Collegiate Athletic Association regulation are concerned."

Bruins Bounce Hogs In Opener

By The Associated Press

Southwest Conference basketball teams lost three of four games against intersectional opponents Friday on the opening night of the 1973-74 season, which isn't too bad considering one of the opponents was awesome UCLA.

The UCLAN's opened their quest for an eight straight national collegiate championship by trouncing Arkansas 101-97, Texas Tech lost 76-51 to Fresno State, Wake Forest nipped Rice 75-70 and Texas A&M put the SWC in the win column with a 85-72 victory over Houston Baptist.

Arkansas junior guard Rickey Medlock led all scorers against UCLA with 27, but All-American Bill Walton, who had 23 points and 17 rebounds, held Dean Tolson to seven points.

Tolson averaged 17.6 last year.

Texas A&M trailed 35-26 to HBC late in the first half, but the Aggies' 15-2 spurt gave them a 41-37 halftime lead that was never headed.

Tors Turn Back Monahans

By MARJ CARPENTER

MIDLAND — The Lamesa Golden Tornadoes came from behind for the first time this season to soundly claim the AAA Quarterfinal game over the Monahans Lobos 26-7 in Midland Memorial Stadium Friday night.

Both teams' scores in the opening half came from 10 yards out. With 10:35 left in the second period Lamesa scored first when Kent McCurley bulldozed across. The try for the PAT failed.

Four plays later the Lobos, of the game which read "12-0 and two to go" as they seek their first state football championship.

Monahans has one state title, back in 1948.

The Tors appeared frustrated the opening half as the surprising Monahans team pulled ahead of them, 7-6. The Lobos, who finished at 8-3, had a difficult time getting out of their own district, sharing that title with Pecos, and weren't expected to challenge the Tors.

McCurley scored again early in the second half when the Tors moved from their own 30 in four plays and the big halfback went over left tackle from the 20. Their attempt for two points failed and Monahans still had something to cheer about. But that was the last time.

The balance of the game was Tors-dominated with another score coming six minutes later when quarterback Kyle White went over from the one on a keeper. McCurley ran in for the two points, making his total for the year 178 points.

In the final period Jerry Calhoun suddenly sped to the one from 30 yards out. Fullback Melvin Robinson went in on the next play for the touchdown, and the try for the extra points failed.

It looked a few minutes later as if Jim Roberts would also have a touchdown on a 46-yard pass play from White, but it was called back for illegal motion.

'Celebration' Will Be Presented By HC Cast

Fine arts students in both drama and music are going into final rehearsals this week for the first big musical production of the year.

The Fall Semester debut will be "Celebration" by Tom Jones and Harvey Schmidt. They are outstanding alumni of The University of Texas at Austin. The two collaborated on the successful musical "The Fantasticks," and now have recently released their new musical "Celebration" for production.

Celebration dramatizes the Pagan festival of Winter Solstice, that time of the year when the old year dies and the new year is born. The old year is symbolized in the play by Mr. Rich, a wealthy old man who has forgotten what it is like to feel. The new year is symbolized by a young orphan who is hired to make Mr. Rich feel again. The plan backfires however when both Mr. Rich and Orphan fall in love with Angel, the personification of Mother Earth. The rest of the play is devoted to their struggle for Angel.

Mellower Goldwater May Be New Hope Of Party

Copley News Service

WASHINGTON — Nine years ago, Barry Goldwater, then the spellbinding spokesman of the far right, took the Republican Party down to the depths of agonizing defeat.

Today, it is Barry Goldwater who is in the forefront of efforts to lead his party out of the Watergate quagmire.

Following his massive defeat by Lyndon Johnson in 1964, the Republican Party revitalized itself in time for a major victory in 1968.

Goldwater's Arizona returned him to the Senate that year, and he and Richard Nixon resumed their interrupted public careers.

Then four years later, it was Goldwater, alone among major Republican figures, who began speaking out on the greatest challenge of 1973 — not the international Communist threat that had dominated his rhetoric in the 1960s, but the nation's loss of confidence in its government as a result of Watergate.

LESS ALARMIST
The 1973 Goldwater is more mellow and less alarmist, but his rhetoric has lost none of its forcefulness. There was clear evidence that Richard Nixon heard him when he said the President should tell all about Watergate "and the sooner the better."

Slowly, cautiously, other GOP leaders began to echo Goldwater, but it was not until much later this year, after national public opinion polls revealed that many had felt down deep, that any of them spoke out quite as forcefully.

But soon Goldwater and others began to give up. On Nov. 1, Goldwater said Mr. Nixon's credibility "has reached an all-time low from which he may not be able to recover."

Speaking to the President through the press, Goldwater urged Mr. Nixon to appear before the Senate Watergate Committee and answer its questions. "I feel now, more than ever, that this may offer the only way out," Goldwater said. Commenting on the White House explanation on the two missing tape recordings, Goldwater said: "As a practical person in close touch with the American people, I doubt that they will accept this."

JOINED COLLEAGUES
On Nov. 14, Goldwater joined 13 of his Senate Republican colleagues in a Nixon-initiated meeting with the President at the White House. It was part of Mr. Nixon's latest strategy to convince members of the Congress that he deserves their support.

That meeting was the first time since Nov. 22, 1972, that Barry Goldwater, long a major respected figure in the President's party and a spokesman for uncharted millions of Americans who consider him their ideological leader, had sat down with President Nixon for a chat. "There were 14 of us there," Goldwater said in an interview with this reporter two days later. "I just made some little quick remark. I said, 'You know, I've been sitting here doing some arithmetic, and with the Republican members of Congress, you have about 1,000 years of political experience. Why the hell don't you use it once in awhile.'"

"And he just sort of laughed, and that was all." Goldwater had just returned from a two-week lecture tour that took him to Kansas, Utah, Washington, Idaho, Wyoming, Kentucky, California and New York. Most of his speeches were on college campuses.

NEVER ASKED
At no time did he call upon President Nixon to resign or for Congress to impeach him. Resigning, he said, would be "disastrous" for the nation.

But Goldwater, looking vibrantly healthy despite his 56th birthday coming up on New Year's Day, returned to Washington with some observations he found sobering. "There's a definite cynicism toward politics and politicians," he said in the interview. "Now, the question in my mind is, will this cynicism display itself by turnouts at the polls, or will they stay home?"

And to tell you the truth, I think the evidence so far is they're just going to stay home. I think this is very dangerous and wrong." Looking over the local elections of Nov. 6, Goldwater said that despite the many Democratic victories, the results do not make a case for anti-Republicanism.

"My personal feeling," he said, "is that the attitude (in 1974) is going to be, 'Let's get rid of 'em.'" "But I don't think it'll be across the board I'm completing a poll in my own state to find out how I've been affected. I don't think I have, but I want to know."

After his latest swing around the nation that had rejected him so resoundingly nine years ago, Goldwater said he could not detect any "mood for change in our form of government . . . There's no lack of confidence in the American constitutional system."

Will it be tougher for incumbents of both parties to win re-election next year?

OWN PROBLEMS
"I'm thinking very seriously about that," said Goldwater, who is up for re-election next year. "I don't know what the answer's going to be . . . I think each individual's going to have his own little problems."

"I had, for example, a telephone interview from a high school in Arizona. "Some of the questions indicated to me that even though I've felt that I've kept in pretty good touch with my people, I may have some problems in certain areas."

"Because what the young are interested in is exactly what the old are talking about," he said. "There's no question you're going to face a quizzical public who will want to have you explain why you did certain things."

With pollster George Gallup telling Republican governors meeting in Memphis that November's local elections showed an ominous anti-Republican public reaction, GOP leaders are looking to the President to make the moves that will brighten party chances next year.

LITTLE FAITH
But Barry Goldwater, although he does not accept Gallup's anti-GOP assessment of the latest elections, has little faith in Mr. Nixon's ability to rebound.

WHY NOT SAVE THE TREES?

A Case Of Being Carded To Death At Christmas

By JOAN COLBY
Copy News Service

Recently the mail brought several folders designed to sell me Christmas cards. The advertisers cited several advantages to ordering my cards early. The first is that I can have them correctly imprinted. It happens though, that I dislike imprinted cards because I can never decide on an appropriate signature. While "Mr. and Mrs. Alan Colby" seems fine for business associates, it's a bit formal to send to my mother. Just "The Colbys" seems short and snappy — just our style — but makes for a lot of confusion with the relatives. And "The Alan Colby's" smacks distressingly of male chauvinism.

Then, I find selecting a favorite from the pictured cards a little tough.

Every picture I like (always hackneyed Currier & Ives scenes) contains a nauseatingly sentimental verse. Every verse I like (a simple Seasons Greetings) is emblazoned with a psychedelic Christmas tree being decorated by a cutie Santa wearing red long johns.

OVERLY SPECIFIC

Also, many of the choices are overly specific. The red chimney, with five reindeer perched alongside, cunningly puffing the message "From the Five of Us." I just know my husband will be reluctant to send this beauty to clients.

Or the wreathed door declaring "From Our House to Your House." What about all our friends living in apartments, trailers, and condos?

I don't even want to discuss the sticky-wicket of the Religious card; though a sedate design of the Three Wise Men astride camels silhouetted on a hill under a Star of David is comparatively safe and inoffensive — appropriate for all but the most virulently atheistic of our friends.

I could always be a little more personal this year and make my own cards. Usually, this is undertaken as a family project; resulting in a joint effort that looks as if it had been created by Miss Trueblood's first grade.

On the other hand, really talented persons have spent hours watercoloring miniature masterpieces as greetings to their friends. But I don't feel like devoting hours to an anticipated climax featuring our friends receiving my depiction of the Nativity which they casually toss into a wicker basket full of Christmas wishes, remarking "Here's one from the Colbys" and drawing a line through our name on their checklist.

COULD POSE

As a last resort, we could pose around a phony fireplace, stockings in hand, and allow Mr. Hawkins the photographer to snap our smiling faces. In his brochure, which I just received, I'm told we can choose between "Happy Holidays" or "Greetings of the Season" as devastatingly original messages to accompany our mug shots.

It seems to me that this honesty (my wrinkles, my husband's receding forehead, Twelve's gangliness, Eleven's braces, and Four's scabby knees) is just the other side of the coin from "The Holiday Newsletter," a device often employed as a Christmas greeting.

In this, you Xerox every promotion, scholastic award, newly acquired talent, and other congratulatory trivia; recap the whole with a paragraph extolling your togetherness as a family and sign off in a positive paroxysm of Pollyannish cheer.

Or you could decide not to send cards this year and Save the Trees.

Decision In City Suit Is Delayed

District Judge R. W. Caton Thursday afternoon postponed a decision in a suit filed by the city to have a fence and carport removed from right of way.

"It does not extend into the paved portion," C. R. Crim, surveyor and engineer said from the witness stand. "It does extend into the street right-of-way."

County Court dismissed two criminal cases on appeal from Municipal Court, and the city filed the civil suit in connection with alleged ordinance violations.

Robert H. Thomas, the man accused of building on city property, said his family and he moved into the house at 18th and Johnson streets in 1967. Thomas recalled talking to the then building inspector, Tom Newton, about a fence.

"He didn't give me permission to build it (the fence) like that," Thomas told City Attorney James Gregg. "He did give me permission to build it."

In an answer to the city's suit, the defense had, prior to the hearing, argued the statute of limitations barred a judgment for the city.

Newton, who said the fence construction regulation was not his responsibility as building inspector, said he had not objected to the wooden fence on public right-of-way.

Asked why, Newton said, "Because nobody made a complaint about it."

"I told him I was pretty sure he had it (the wooden fence) out on the right-of-way and might be asked to move it at any time," Newton said of the discussion several years ago.

No city building permit was obtained for the carport. Dewey Byers, who served as building inspector during Newton's vacation, rejected an application, Byers said.

Testimony brought out a letter written to Thomas and several instances where Newton advised Thomas against building the fence and carport on public land.

Lanny Hamby, defense attorney, brought photos in an attempt to show other residents had built on the street right-of-way.

Gregg objected. Hamby said, "There are other structures up and down the street that are in the situation we are."

Judge Caton sustained the objection, noting these other structures are "not involved in this."

ORGANI reviews t David Du Duke and

The DAR

By JO BRIGHT

Once a month, on Thursday evenings, a small group of women gather at Howard County Library to continue the work of organizing a local chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

According to Mrs. Helen Dawson, organizing regent, there are approximately 18 known DAR members in the city and surrounding area, but a nucleus of 20 is needed for the chartering of a new chapter. In January or early February a tea will be held for local DAR members and their guests, with state officials of the DAR in attendance. It is expected that the Big Spring chapter will receive its charter by late spring.

Membership is restricted to women who are direct descendants of those who fought for American independence.

The National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution was incorporated by Act of Congress in 1896 and — in accordance with the act — reports annually to Congress. The act was signed by President Grover Cleveland.

The seal of the national society features the figure of a Dame of the period of the American Revolution sitting at her spinning wheel, with 13 stars above her, and the motto, "Home and Country." More than half a million women have joined the NSDAR since 1890, and currently there are over 193,000 active members, an all-time high.

An understanding of the historical, educational and patriotic objectives of the society is being stressed as the United States of America approaches its bicentennial anniversary, thus, promoting the ideals envisioned by the founders of the republic almost 200 years ago.

In perpetuating the memory and spirit of those who achieved American Independence, the society acquires and protects historical spots and erects monuments; encourages historical research and preserves documents, relics and records of Revolutionary soldiers and patriots. In all endeavors, it fosters patriotism.

The society has collected many historical relics, which with the society's fine genealogical library of well over 30,000 volumes (not including thousands of pamphlets and manuscripts) is housed at the national headquarters in Washington, D.C. The Society publishes "The National Historical Magazine," as well as a series of lineage books recording the ancestry of members of the organization. (Records of the Registrar General contain names, data and service over 106,200 patriots whose service has been used to establish the eligibility of DAR members.)

GENEALOGY is important to membership in the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution since membership is restricted to direct descendants of those who fought for independence in the revolution. Shown as they examined books in Howard

ORGANIZING REGENT Mrs. Helen Dawson, center, reviews the DAR membership outline guide with Mrs. David Duke, left, and Mrs. C. G. Barnett, right. Mrs. Duke and Mrs. Barnett have temporarily accepted the positions of treasurer and secretary, respectively, as the local group is in the process of forming a DAR chapter here.

HELPING FORM THE NUCLEUS of a local DAR chapter are, from left, Mrs. O. D. O'Daniel Jr., Mrs. Jack W. Lipscombe, Mrs. Bill Early and Mrs. Jerry Phillips. Mrs. Early and Mrs. Lipscombe (along with her daughters, Marianne and Elizabeth) are members of the DAR. Mrs.

O'Daniel and her aunt, Mrs. C. G. Barnett, are members of the Colonial Dames, chapter of Natchitoches, La. Mrs. Phillips, who has been active in the local genealogy society, is preparing her papers for membership in the DAR.

Club Giving Slippers To BS Inn

Crocheting and knitting slippers for donation to Big Spring Nursing Inn was the activity of the Newcomer Handicrafts Club Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Mattie Watson, 1205 Douglas. Members working on the project were requested to bring these items, along with a handmade gift to exchange, to the salad luncheon at Mrs. Kay Griffith's, 2718 Central, at 11:30 a.m., Dec. 12.

The club's Christmas dinner will be held at Webb Air Force Base Officers Club at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 8. Those planning to attend should contact Mrs. Linda Colosimo at 263-0018.

New members were Mrs. Lou Ann Baker and Mrs. Janice Brown. Guests present were Mrs. Susan Ramirez, Mrs. Grace Turner, Mrs. Freny Bapuji, Mrs. Jenny Ottoson, Mrs. Lynn Spada, Mrs. Gail Wagner, Mrs. Ann Holcomb, Mrs. Denise Mullinex and Mrs. Magdalena Cadena.

Hair Styles Go Soft, Young

Few of the fall-styles are severe. Most are soft and gentlelooking.

"Bangs are a younger look and give the face a lift, instead of hanging, dragging hair. Every age could wear this," says A. Otto Katke of Kansas City, where the young are still going for very short styles.

The bangs also are combed to the side and flipped up on a moderately short cut. This side-sweep version calls less attention to a big nose than a full-fledged ruff of petals across the forehead.

He turned the bangs under with a chin length page boy; which accents pretty eyes. It's also good for chubby cheeks, as it covers them slightly. The side part also works well for full faces, he says.

Miss Cathy Pringle Weds Dennis Wells

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Catherine Marcelle Pringle and Dennis L. Wells during a candlelight ceremony at 7 p.m., Saturday in Wesley United Methodist Church.

Rites were performed by the Rev. Henry L. Salley, Crosbyton, former pastor of the church. Traditional nuptial music was played by Miss Debbie Dunlap, Abilene, organist, who accompanied Mrs. James Stuteville and Mrs. James Griffin, vocalists.

The altar was adorned with large baskets of orange and gold fall flowers and candles. A black wrought-iron candelabrum held votive cups.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd E. Pringle, 2713 Larry, and Wells is the son of Bill E. Wells, of Dallas and the late Mrs. Wells.

For her gown, the bride chose a formal-length white velvet fashion which featured an empire waistline and high rounded collar edged with satin braid and pearl roping. Rows of matching braid enhanced the bodice and accented the long, Juliet sleeves. The skirt featured re-embroidered lace flowers and seed pearls. She wore a white wool tam to which was attached a tiered illusion veil, and carried a bouquet of mixed flowers.

ATTENDANTS
Mrs. Michael Hall served her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Shirley Alberts of De Soto and Miss Karen King. The attendants wore floor-length skirts of plaid wool, long-sleeved gold blouses and tailored green blazers. Their headpieces were matching tams and they carried single, long-stemmed dried flowers with streamers.

Michael Hall, brother-in-law of the bride, was best man, and groomsmen and ushers were Charles Pringle, the bride's brother; and Richard Nicholson. Altar tapers were lighted by Pringle.

Robin Wells of Dallas, flower girl, was attired in a long red plaid skirt with green bodice and wore a green tam.

MRS. DENNIS L. WELLS

Following a tour of southwest Texas, the newlyweds will reside at 1709 Hansboro, Dallas. Wells, a graduate of South Oak Cliff High School in Dallas, is owner of Wells Grinding and Performance Center. Mrs. Wells graduated from Big Spring High School and is employed at the Blue Cross-Blue Shield office, Dallas.

RECEPTION
Mr. and Mrs. Wells were honored with a reception in the church fellowship hall immediately following the ceremony. A floor-length white lace cloth, with white net skirt, covered the serving table. Fall colors were used in the table decorations, including a basket of dried flowers. Crystal appointments were used.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Harold Hall, Mrs. George Bair, Mrs. Ursula Gomez and Miss Connie Gomez, all of Big Spring, and Mrs. Pat Weaver, Lubbock.

Out-of-town guests included the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Jewell Pringle, Lancaster; Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Alberts, De Soto; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tyra, Moore, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Collins and Mr. and Mrs. Durward Davis, all of Dallas.

Couple United In Marriage

Miss Percilla Lee Merchant became the bride of Richard Dale Greene in a ceremony performed Saturday evening in Macedonia Baptist Church, Abilene, with the Rev. Floyd Greene, father of the bridegroom, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Essie Merchant, 642 W. 16th, Abilene, and Albert Merchant, 410 N. 11th, Abilene. The bridegroom's parents, Rev. and Mrs. Greene, reside in Big Spring.

The vocal soloist was Curry Cordor, with Miss Brenda Dillard as accompanist.

Given in marriage by her brother, Willie A. Merchant, the bride wore a wedding gown of white organza and Venice lace designed with a mandarin neckline and modified empire waistline. The bodice had an illusion yoke, outlined in tating, and rows of tating circled the deep cuffs of sheer bishop sleeves. Three rows of tating circled the hemline. A Camelot cap, adorned with lace flowers, held her bouffant, chapel-length veil of illusion.

The maid of honor was Miss Marie Evans, and the matron of honor was Mrs. James Lewis of Huntsville. They wore pink velvet gowns with wine velvet sashes. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Mary Watson, sister of the bridegroom; and Mrs. James Greene and Mrs. Floyd Greene Jr., sisters-in-law of the bridegroom, and all are of Big Spring; Mrs. Susie Moore and Mrs. T. C. Bell. Their dresses featured pink organza bodices, wine velvet skirts and pink velvet sashes.

Samuel Watson, Big Spring, was ring bearer, and the candle lighters were Lonnie Greene, Big Spring, brother of the bridegroom; and John Knight.

Rev. James Greene, Big Spring, served his brother as best man, and groomsmen were Floyd Greene Jr., Big Spring, another brother; Willie Merchant, brother of the bride; Willie Shields, San Antonio; George Blueford, Sweetwater; John Hutton, San Angelo; and Jimmy Williams.

The bride is a graduate of Abilene High School and is employed by C. G. Conn, Ltd. The bridegroom attended Paul Quinn College, Waco, and is now a senior student at McMurry College and an employee of Safeway Stores, Abilene. He served two years in the U.S. Navy.

The rehearsal dinner was held in the Pizza Cave, and the reception was at the Holiday Inn.

After a wedding trip to Mexico City, the couple will reside at 202 Arnold Blvd., Abilene.

Scout Council Dinner Scheduled In Abilene

Delegates to the West Texas Girl Scout Council's annual dinner in Abilene Jan. 17 were named during the November meeting of Association 5 in Big Spring. Miss Beth Nowotny, Abilene, executive director, and Mrs. Lin Bell, field director, presided.

Delegates selected were Mrs. Denis Caverley, Garden City; Mrs. Gerald Greene, Stanton; Mrs. Larry Sparks, Mrs. Robert Meisenheimer, Mrs. Sherry Russ and Mrs. Cecil Walton, all of Webb Air Force Base; and Mrs. Bert Shepard, Mrs. Jack Little, Mrs. Tom Stevenson, Mrs. Mike Roman, Mrs. John Markie and Mrs. Wayne Beene, all of Big Spring. The nominating committee consisted of Mrs. Odys Woodall, Mrs. William Reynolds and Mrs. Calvin Daniels.

Proposal's for revision of the council's by-laws (which will receive final approval at the January dinner) were discussed. Miss Nowotny explained that associations would be dropped from the council's organizational plan, and all council business pertaining to service units would be conducted at a local level. Miss Nowotny spoke of efforts of the military to work with organizations such as the Girl Scouts and suggested ways in which the Scouts could serve military personnel to increase the involvement. Mrs. Larry Sparks, Webb AFB service unit chairman, reviewed a council-sponsored training event which she attended at Estes Park, Colo., last summer. Topics shared were organization of troops, volunteer recruitment, training, use of outside groups such as schools, churches, men's clubs, women's clubs, etc. to increase the Scout program, use of publicity, increasing motivation among volunteers and making good use of interested persons wanting to help in Scouting. Miss Nowotny explained the inter-council plan in which the council is presently involved. Four neighboring councils in Texas and New Mexico will share council programs and training activities to expand more opportunities to girls and adults. She said a training opportunity is slated at Odessa in February for service units, trainers and day camp directors. Three national staff trainers will be present at the event.

It was announced that the cookie sale, on which the council depends to expand better services to troops, will be held one week earlier in 1974. The kick-off luncheon for service unit cookie chairmen is scheduled Jan. 9 at the Officer's Club, Webb AFB.

A LOVELIER YOU

Proper Care Deters Rough, Bumpy Skin

By MARY SUE MILLER

A lovely asks: How do you account for goose flesh? I guess everyone gets it when frightened. But I have it all the time — frightfully bumpy, rough skin on the upper arm, starting at the elbows. Looks terrible with sleeveless evening clothes.

The answer: The condition is due to faulty skin care or sluggish circulation, or a combination of both. Consequently the surest cure combines remedial skin treatments and circulation stimulants. Here's a good routine:

During daily baths apply a thick lather of cream-rich soap from elbows up the entire surface of the upper arms. Then, with a loofah sponge or toilet pumice, massage the soaped area. Work upward with quick rotary motions. Follow with a brush-scrub until the skin is pink, but not red or irritated. After a thorough rinse and drying, massage with body lotion or cream.

Moisturized face creams, used during the day or at bedtime, further the cause. If the skin has become dingy, try the lightening effect of a bleach cream. Do not, please note, use a bleach immediately after a pink-up wash.

To boost circulation there are excellent stimulation creams. The biggest booster, though, takes the form of a spot exercise. Simply lie back down on a carpeted floor. Place knuckles on shoulders and repeatedly slap upper arms against floor. Not so hard as to bruise, however.

TRIMMERS, SLIMMERS Let me help you with the problem of a too-fleshy arm, chest or upper back by sending you my leaflet, "Trimmers and Slimmers." It contains a set of coordinated spot reducing exercises — easy to do, quick to get results. Just write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin.

Players include Rita Kreig (Mute), George Womack (Narrator), Cathy Curlee (Girl), Carl Beery Moore (Boy), Sonny Pawkett (Girl's Father), Fandy Curlee (Boy's Father), Larry DeBusk (Old Actor) and Jacky Jackson (Man Who Dies).

Howard County Free Library has great news for people with poor vision, or who are blind or physically handicapped now. On the shelves are numerous books in exceptionally large print on fiction, non-fiction, mystery, etc. Through the Texas State Library, many other aids are available such as various reading materials, talking books (either cassettes or reel-to-reel; players will be furnished on request), embossed pictures for children with low vision, items which will help turn pages, hold book, etc. All these individuals have to do is call their requests to Larry Justiss, librarian. Incidentally, the library will be increasing its staff in January with a new child's librarian.

Since the new exhibit on Howard County schools went up shortly before mid-November, nearly 700 individuals have viewed it. Last week, visitors included 32 students from the Kentwood class of Mrs. Jim Anderson and a dozen from that of Rodney Allison at BSHS. Many visitors come back for a second more leisurely look. Mrs. Leora R. Flanagan, surviving daughter of the first permanent settler, W. T. (Bud) Roberts, renewed her $100 patron's membership. Adults renewing were Bertie Marchbanks and Elinor Pancoast, plus a new member, Juan A. Garcia, and Mrs. Bill Early (sustaining). The Heritage Historical calendars are moving fast, and so are Christmas card copies of the H. W. Caylor "Castaway."

The 1905 Hyperion Club gave the museum $15.

The traditional Christmas ballet — "The Nutcracker" — will be presented Friday 8 p.m. in the Midland Lee auditorium and at the same hour Saturday in Bonham Junior High in Odessa. There also will be a 2 p.m. student matinee at Odessa. There is a cast of 80 in the Tchaikovsky masterpiece. Bill Martin-Viscount, dancer, and Susana Benavides, prima ballerina from Mexico City, are the title roles (he the Nutcracker Cavalier and she in Sugar Plum Fairy sequence). Through Fritz and Clara, the story-ballet spins a Christmas tale of the Victorian period. There are numerous unforgettable melodies, including "Waltz of the Flowers." Tickets are available from the Permian Ballet Association, Box 2745, Midland, 79700, or by calling 362-3142.

Tickets go on sale Monday for the Lubbock Theatre Center production of "Charley's Aunt," the English farce of the turn of the century which has delighted audiences ever since. Production dates are Thursday, Friday, Saturday, 8:15 p.m. and 2:30 p.m., Dec. 9. The theatre center is at 2508 Avenue P (phone 744-3681) Lubbock, 79405.

The annual Christmas show opens at Baker Gallery of Fine Art at 13th and Ave. L in Lubbock from 1-4 p.m. today and continues from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. through Saturday. Featured are the works of Wilson Hurley, Albuquerque, N.M. landscapist in the grand tradition; Barbara Harmon, Taos, N.M., who delights children and adults alike with her world of fantasy; and Voris Hope, Albuquerque, a genius in flowers with exquisite detail. It shapes up as a great show with offerings from lithos as low as $4 and oil grand landscapes to $1,200.

Stewart Udall, former Secretary of Interior and a leading conservationist, will speak Monday, 8 p.m. in the University Center at Angelo State on the topic, "Energy-Environmental Crisis."

Bangs Bloom
In Hair Styles

Bangs are blossoming for hair styles, and the look is slightly longer than the shaved-turnip image of this spring.

"Don't call them bangs," one hair stylist said. He said the short forehead wave is turned out like flower petals and not brushed straight down like an old Buster Brown rendition.

The petal look often needs touching up with hot turlers. It's lovely. But if one petal is askew, it looks odd.

Wedding Performed In St. Thomas Church

The wedding of Miss Susan Beverly Maddox to Spec. 4 Fernando G. Martinez was performed Saturday in St. Thomas Catholic Church with the Rev. Leo St. John officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Eloise Chatham, Loveland, Colo., and H. R. Maddox, El Paso. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Martinez, 1510 Oriole.

Nuptial selections were performed by Mike Ramirez, vocalist, and Mrs. Polly Settles, organist. The setting was enhanced with an arch accented with blue flowers and flanked by baskets of flowers. Columns were topped with white urns holding arrangements of white carnations and mums with foliage.

Miss Terry Casillas was the maid of honor, and the best man was John Ruiz, Dallas. Couples serving as attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Victor Garcia, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Martinez, El Paso; Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Flores, Mr. and Mrs. Adelaido Martinez, Mr. and Mrs. Bernardo Garcia, Mr. and Mrs. Felix Garcia Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Felix Garcia Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Jose Lopez, Mr. and Mrs. Augustin Gaitan, Mr. and Mrs. Celestino Correa, Mr. and Mrs. Luis Herrera and Mr. and Mrs. Valentin Rojas, the latter of San Angelo.

Carrying a bouquet of Spanish azares accented with net and satin streamers, the bride was attired in a wedding gown of white organza with beaded lace forming the yoke and long, full sleeves. The lace was repeated on the high collar, and ruffles formed the bouffant skirt. A face-framing headpiece of azares was attached to her tulle bridal veil.

Fight The Fire

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Last summer I met a woman I'll call "Dotty" at a housewares show. We had booths near each other, and were instantly attracted to one another. I'm a 42-year-old married man, but the fire had gone out of my marriage a long time ago. Dotty is 40. She said she and her husband were on the verge of splitting up.

We had an exciting thing going for the duration of the convention, but I never made her any promises. After I got home, Dotty started calling me at work every day. She even came to my town to see me several times! Now she says she's in love with me, is divorcing her husband, and wants to marry ME! Abby, I am not in love with this woman and divorce never entered my mind. I have three children and Dotty has two. She's talking about telling her husband and my wife about "us." That's the last thing I want.

I admit she's physically exciting, but I don't want to break up my home for her. I've been so nervous lately, my wife keeps asking me what's wrong. How do I get out of this mess?

JUMPY CLUTCH

DEAR ABBY: It was just a summer romance, and you're not a man for all seasons. If she's serious about telling her wife and her husband, you'd be ahead to tell her wife and start furnishing the divorce. Her husband will do it for you. Dotty will let you off the hook and disappear after which you should keep your mind on your business when you go to the housewares show.

DEAR ABBY: I am a salesman in a retail store. There is a small matter with the lady customers which has been bothering me.

Now that women are wearing pants suits, many forget to zip up their flies, and they come into the store with their flies open. It's easy for one man to say to another: "Hey, Buddy, your fly is open."

How does a man learn to tell a strange lady her fly is open?

DEAR ABBY: I am a salesman in a retail store. There is a small matter with the lady customers which has been bothering me. Now that women are wearing pants suits, many forget to zip up their flies, and they come into the store with their flies open. It's easy for one man to say to another: "Hey, Buddy, your fly is open."

DEAR ABBY: Recently our pet dog, a 60-pound

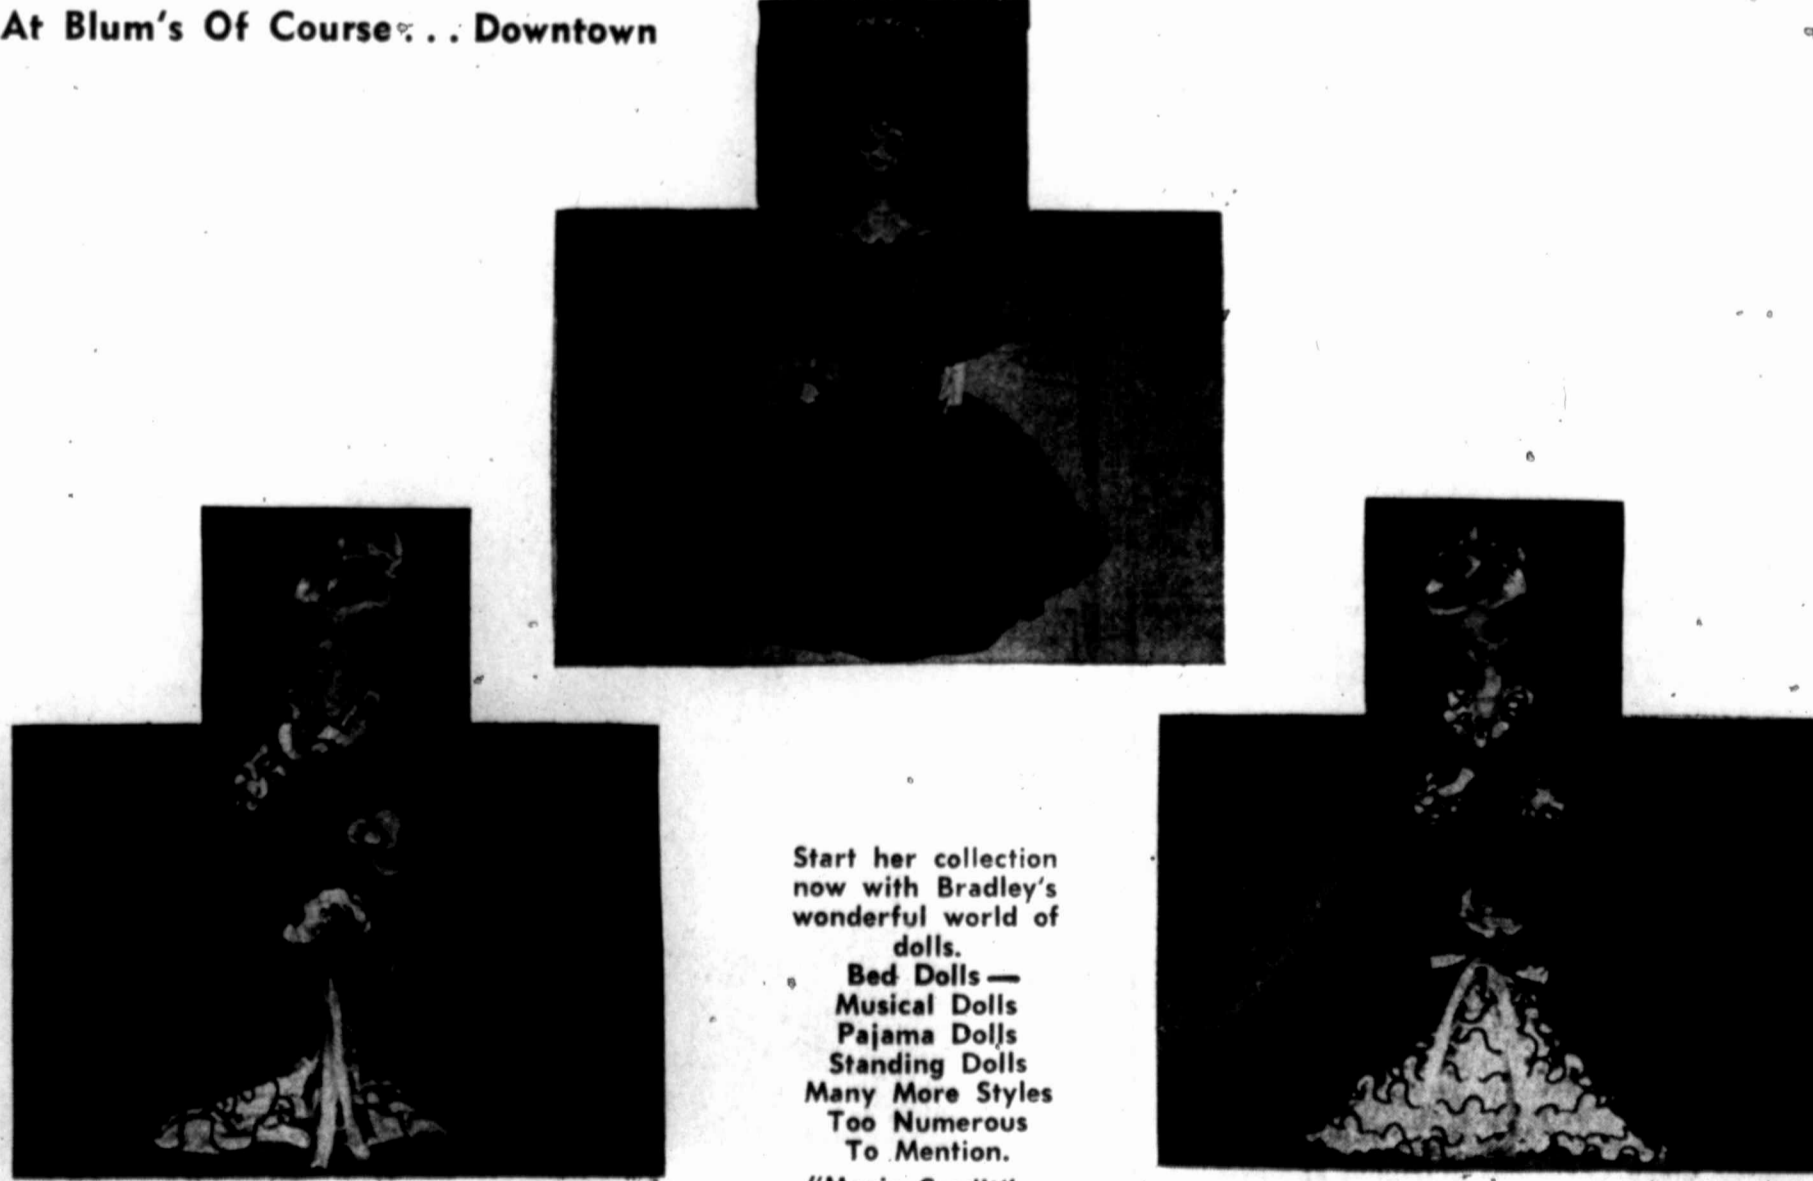

German shepherd, dug her way out of our backyard, and was returned to us the same afternoon by two teenage boys.

These boys found her about six blocks from our home. Since the dog had no leash, the boys had to hold her by her collar (which bore our address) and walk her home, mostly uphill.

I gave each boy a dollar for his trouble. My wife and children (both teen-agers) felt that I had cheapened and demeaned the boys' good deed by giving them money. They compared it to returning a lost child, while I thought it was closer to returning a lost wallet.

What is your opinion? DEAR F.M.: I think a reward was in order, assuming you didn't force it on the boys over their protests.

FOCUS ON FAMILY LIVING

Proper Cleaning Prolongs Life, Beauty Of Furniture

SHE'S NO PLAYGIRL — Christie Hefner, daughter of Playboy's publisher, Hugh Hefner, is shown in her dorm at Brandeis University in Waltham, Mass. Christi is a feminist who wants to break the Playboy image of how people should look. Miss Hefner, a senior student who is a pretty brunette, says, "I think we have a problem in this country today to define what is strictly feminine and masculine."

DISLIKES 'PLAYBOY'

Non-Bunny Daughter Is Hugh's Best Girl

WALTHAM, Mass. (AP) — One willowy Phi Beta Kappa coed at Brandeis University is cute enough to be a Playboy foldout but probably never will be. She's Hugh Hefner's daughter.

Christie Hefner, offspring of the publisher of the men's magazine, is a feminist who wants to break the Playboy image of how people should look.

"If you're female, you should have a perfect figure, a gorgeous face and a nice bust line," the 21-year-old senior said. "If you're masculine, you should be tall, have big shoulders and a hairy chest. What we're doing is creating for the vast majority an incredible sex identity problem." She said most people could never meet the image, "no matter how many silicone shots we have, no matter how much makeup we wear."

She maintains femininity has little to do with exterior appearances but does not blame her father for creating the molds.

"They were there a long time before my father founded Playboy," she said. Playboy features a nude centerfold and other nude photos of young women.

Miss Hefner does not go out of her way to tell people about who her father is. At first, she didn't tell her boyfriend, Paul Regan of South Boston, and he was upset when he found out. "Initially it was disbelief, secondarily, it was shock," she said. "He would have wished it had been otherwise. He was conscious of being snubbed because he comes from a family that is not wealthy."

She entered college with the name Gunn, her stepfather's, but decided to change back to Hefner.

She said she reasoned to herself, "Look, you're going to be 21. He's your father, and you like him, so you should return to his name." "He's not the Dad type," she said. "I don't remember his being around the house when I was little. But he's still very close to me."

There are five final finishes in the wood family: high-gloss, satin-gloss, low-gloss, authentic boiled-oil and paint. For cleaning and polishing, use only those products recommended for furniture and follow manufacturer's directions.

High-gloss finishes require a cleaning polish or a cream wax. Apply a thin coat and buff to high sheen. Liquid polishes, which require less rubbing, should be poured onto a soft cloth, never directly onto the furniture. Use a clean cloth to buff.

Satin-gloss finishes require a cleaning polish or a cream wax containing no silicone which would increase the gloss. After numerous waxings, the gloss noticeably heightens, and it is time to remove the wax completely and start fresh.

Low-gloss finishes should be polished with a low-luster polish or cleaning wax designed to clean and protect the finish without adding luster. However, if more sheen is desired, use a paste wax. Apply sparingly between two layers of cloth so that only a thin layer coats the surface. Wax small areas at a time and buff until wax is hard and dry. Under-buffed wax collects dirt.

BOILED-OIL

Authentic boiled-oil finishes need only occasional washing and cleaning with mineral spirits followed by an application of boiled linseed oil. Use a pad, rub vigorously and wipe away all excess oil. If wax has been applied inadvertently, remove with mineral spirits before putting on an oil coating. To avoid the danger of spontaneous combustion, all pads and cloths used with linseed oil should be thoroughly wet with water and disposed of immediately after use.

Slightly scratched or marred oiled furniture is easily repaired by light sanding with very fine steel wool. Always work in the direction of the grain. Then wash, allow to air dry, wipe with mineral spirits and re-oil.

Paint finishes are easy to maintain by washing with suds and water. Use water sparingly, especially around joints, but rinse well. If using wax or liquid polish after washing, select one specifically made for paint finishes.

In addition, there are special topcoatings or "super finishes" that make furniture more resistant to permanent damage from common household spills and stains and excessive heat or cold. But still, accidents should be cleaned up as soon as possible and the same general care applies to these "super finishes."

Laminated plastics are equated with easy-care and resist stains, scuffs and burns remarkably well. Plastics are available in many colors and patterns including wood grains. Found particularly in furniture designed for children's rooms and family rooms as well as kitchen and bath countertops where hard use is expected, routine washing with a sudsy sponge is care enough. A wax or polish may be used to preserve luster. Use a type recommended for plastic; otherwise, streaking may be seen at certain angles. Though tough, plastics are not indestructible and it is wise to protect surfaces from extreme heat and cutting or slicing operations.

LEATHER

Leather surfaces should be washed occasionally, using just the foam of a suds solution and wetting as little as possible. Rinse several times with a clean damp cloth. Then apply fine furniture cream. Avoid silicone polishes, heavy paste wax or liquid wax as cracking may result. If glass tops are used on leather, cushion with felt bumpers on corners to provide for air circulation. Otherwise, just dust with a clean soft untreated cloth.

Of course, the leather-look vinyls take to suds-scrubbing with safety. Being non-porous, wetting won't harm the vinyl. Care should be taken not to let water seep into seams or inlaid sections which could loosen the binding.

Marble may be washed frequently with water. As needed, use a detergent solution worked with a fiber brush to remove residue dirt. Rinse and wipe dry to prevent streaking and spotting. A colorless, light paste wax will protect the surface, but may add a yellowish tone if applied to white marble. If marble becomes dull it can be livened with putty powder, available at hardware stores, rubbed on with a damp cloth. Use a light steady touch. Fruit juices, carbonations or acids should be wiped up with a sudsy sponge instantly because these liquids tend to etch marble.

Visiting A Sick Friend? Be Careful Of Manners

Copley News Service
You dread going out today. Not because it is a dreary day or you feel rotten.

You feel fine. But your friend is home from the hospital and needs cheering up.

So you get a little dressed up and head over to her house for a visit.

What you do, how you look and what you say, will leave a good or bad imprint on the recuperating patient.

People confined to bed most often appreciate personal calls, but some visitors with good intentions can send a patient into spiraling depression.

Typical of a person with good intentions is one who breezes into a sickroom to bolster another person with his own hilarious activities of the day.

"I always want to bring a little of the outside to my ailing friends," one man says.

HE'S DEPRESSING

In reality, he depresses the sick friend with his office jokes and prattle.

He leaves his friend with a greater sense of being cut off from the world.

Life with pain and pills is contrasted with the life of the healthy friend, so that the patient's morale sinks even lower.

Another type of unwanted caller is the overzealous religious person.

"Every time my friend visits me, I feel guilty for even being sick," an ailing housewife says. She's been in bed with a back injury for 10 months.

"My visitor points out how much faith God must have in me to allow this terrible sickness to come.

"She then says God would never allow anything bad to happen to her because she just couldn't take it as cheerfully as I can."

As a result, the patient, depressed over her long confinement, has a tendency to blame herself for her condition and for her bitterness about it.

MUST THINK

To deal with this problem, the patient must think through her own philosophy.

"Sickness and tragedy are a part of life and I don't like to feel there is a God up there somewhere who chooses who will and who will not be sick or in pain," she says. One of the worst visitors is one who recounts similar case histories where the result has been permanent disability or even death.

The daughter of a woman who had suffered a severe stroke had to ban her mother's sister from visiting.

"My aunt continually told mother about the members of the family who had had strokes and how difficult it was to recover.

"She even gave a minute-by-minute description of how my uncle was in a coma and all the things the doctors did for him while he was actually dying."

"It was ghastly.

"I had to begin limiting my aunt's visits to give mother a fair chance at recovery."

Hospitals limit the number of visitors at one time, but when a patient returns home, friends often choose the sickroom for a party room, visiting with each other more than with the patient.

TOO MANY

"I had more than 11 people in my room the first night I was home after major surgery," an insurance agent says.

"I appreciated the interest people had in me, but I had to be knocked out after everyone left because of hypertension."

Which brings up another nuisance caller — the one who comes for a minute and stays for an hour.

"I was weak after trying to talk to a relative for over an hour," says an elderly woman, who lives with her married son.

"But how can you ask someone who has put himself out to come see you, to leave?"

The most effective caller is neither boisterous nor overly sympathetic.

He gives a word of encouragement, expresses his concern and stays a reasonable length of time.

All his visit needs to convey is that he cares about the patient. Then a promise to the patient to come back for another visit will be looked forward to — rather than dreaded.

George's sister, Lena Mae Anderson Gomez, was the first woman ever recruited by the Marines out of Big Spring.

Prime Time Change Urged

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — A Columbus College marketing professor says energy can be conserved by moving prime time, network television shows back one hour.

Dr. Donald Hendon said he surveyed 77 Columbus households and "19.4 per cent of the people said they would go to bed earlier" if the network feature programs ended at 10 p.m. EST rather than 11 p.m.

The 37-year-old educator said his calculations, based on residential energy consumption figures from one Georgia Power Co. substation, indicated roughly 1 per cent of the home power drain could be saved by the move.

"One per cent is not a big energy savings, but every little bit helps," said Hendon.

SON OF U.S. SENATOR

With Gore Vidal, Writing Won Out Over Politics

NEW YORK (SP) — If he'd had a choice in the matter, Gore Vidal thinks he might have become a politician instead of a writer.

"My grandfather was a U.S. senator, my father was active in government administration," Vidal says. "I was brought up in a family where politics were as normal to me as acrobatics are in a circus family. But I had no choice. Ever since I was young I wanted to write. It was born in me."

The 49-year-old Vidal notes, however, that he did take a crack at politics after he had established himself as a writer. "I ran for the House of Representatives in 1960," he says with a smile, "but I was never elected to office. When the same chance was offered to me again in 1964 I turned it down because I'd realized that you can't be a writer and a politician and be good at either one."

BOOK ON BURR

Vidal does, however, mix his taste for politics into his writing. In his latest novel, "Burr," the book's central character is Aaron Burr, third vice president of the United States and probably best remembered as the man who killed Alexander Hamilton in a duel.

"I was curious about the United States, its origins and institutions," says Vidal. "And I felt that Burr would be the perfect device through which to look at the emergence of this country. The book is pretty factual but it is a novel in the sense that I play around with motives and I enter the minds of the characters, something which a historian ought never to do."

Vidal says he researched the book for four years, and "it got to the point where I developed a loss of appetite just trying to hold all those things I like novel writing even though in my mind. The actual writing it took about a year and a half, because I get bored with a wore me out as much as that one did."

Vidal — whose other novels include "Myra Breckinridge" and "Julian" — began writing novels when he was 14. "I must have started at least five novels during those years," he recalls, "but I never finished one until I was 19 when I was in the service. That was "Williwaw."

The book as published and Vidal was off to a successful career as a writer. "I've always supported myself by writing since I got out of the service," he says, "but I first started making money writing for television and then for the movies. That led to the stage two of his plays, "Visit To A Small Planet" and "The Best Man," had good runs and now I'm back to novels again."

"EASY FOR ME"

Films and plays, Vidal says, "are easy for me to do, but I like novel writing even though in my mind. The actual writing it took about a year and a half, because I get bored with a

WEEK'S PLAYBILL 'Macbeth' Filmed

Returning victorious from the battle with the rebel Thane of Cawdor, and his Norwegian allies, Macbeth, Thane of Glamis, and his fellow general Banquo encounter three witches on the moors.

Macbeth appears mesmerized when they hail him as Thane of Glamis, Thane of Cawdor and predict that he will be "King hereafter".

Banquo is openly skeptical and shrugs off their prediction that his sons will be Kings but both men are shaken by their King's proclamation of Macbeth as Thane of Cawdor in place of the outlawed rebel.

The grateful King Duncan takes his court to Macbeth's castle at Dunsinane and presents his hostess with a magnificent diamond ring but she anxiously furthers the predictions of the witches, persuades her husband to murder Duncan and put the blame on their sovereign's grooms.

The foul deed is accomplished, Duncan's sons Malcolm and Donalbain flee separately to England and to Ireland, and Macbeth, next in succession to the throne, is crowned King.

Seeing in Banquo his possible downfall, Macbeth hires two assassins to murder the general and his young son Fleance when they are out riding.

Fleance manages to escape the knife and that night at the State Banquet Macbeth gives way to hysteria when he imagines that he sees Banquo's ghost. Lady Macbeth tries, too late, to quieten her husband.

The astute Lords Ross and Angus are already suspicious and speak hopefully of Macduff who has fled to England to beg help of the English King.

Macbeth's infirmity of mind begins to affect his wife... their guilt constantly rises up before them and that night Macbeth dreams of the three witches.

They warn him to beware the Thane of Fife, but he is comforted by their promises that "none of woman born" shall have power to harm him and that he will never be vanquished until Birnam Wood comes to Dunsinane.

This is only part of the plot of "Macbeth," a color movie produced from the famous Shakespearean play.

It stars Maurice Evans and Judith Anderson and starts Sunday at the Cinema.

'BURN, BABY, BURN'

Indiana Judge Keeps ABC From Showing Fire Risk

NEW YORK (AP) — The Indiana judge who barred ABC-TV from showing a disputed crib-burning sequence during a documentary on fire hazards says he doesn't consider his action "prior restraint" of the news.

As a general but not absolute rule, the First Amendment bars courts or the government from "prior restraint," or censoring planned broadcasts or published works before the public sees them.

But that issue didn't figure in his decision concerning ABC, said Jackson County Circuit Court Judge Robert R. Brown.

"The way that was gotten around was that it wasn't prior restraint because it (the documentary) had already been shown," he said in a phone interview from his office in Brownstown, Ind.

"It had been shown to certain selected executives at certain stations around the country. It was not really a prior restraint in that manner."

He said his temporary injunction against ABC only had restrained the network from "rebroadcasting" the disputed 40-second segment that the executives — but not the general public — already had seen.

The injunction, issued just hours before ABC aired its documentary last Monday night, was in favor of the crib's manufacturer, Smith Cabinet Manufacturing Co. of Salem, Ind.

The company, claiming the segment implied its plastic cribs were unsafe, filed a $5.5 million damage suit against ABC in Brown's court the day before Thanksgiving. It also sought to block broadcast of the segment.

The proposed script of the show, which according to ABC is in court records, noted that a "fire test" was performed on a child's plastic crib. And, the script said:

"The film you are seeing is portions of that 10-minute test — showing how the crib was ignited with a paper match and the fire grew in intensity, generating severe heat and toxic fumes."

The script didn't say who did the test, although ABC sources said it was done at the University of California's Fire Research Laboratory in Berkeley. And declined to say who did the test while the case still is in the courts.

Judge Brown said he'd read the script, viewed the entire show, the 40-second segment and the filmed 10-minute test.

In a two-page opinion that preceded his injunction, he had that the segment "is, by use of a deceptive filming process, knowingly false and misleading, as presently prepared and intended to be presented by them (ABC)."

And, the opinion added, "at issue here is not whether the plaintiff's product does burn in a given period of time, but rather whether the same has been fairly and accurately portrayed to the viewing public."

Switch To 'Bush Beef,' Africa's Farmers Told

THABAZIMBI, South Africa (AP) — The government is urging farmers of marginal land to switch to "bush beef" and raise wild animals such as eland, kudu, and springbok instead of domestic cattle.

Government experts concluded after years of study that everyone would benefit from the change: consumers, farmers and the animal kingdom itself.

Prof. John Skinner, of Pretoria University's mammal department, said there is no reason why wild animals cannot be farmed.

The eland can even be milked and Soviet scientists discovered years ago its butterfat content was higher than that of the domestic cow.

The Soviets were the first to become interested in farming game. In 1892 Russian explorers took four eland bulls and four cows back to Askaniya-Nova and since have bred 400 animals in captivity.

Apart from the high butterfat, the Soviet scientists found eland

Red China Contracts

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston firm announced receiving additional contracts to design and supply five fertilizer ammonia plants in the People's Republic of China at a cost of $130 million.

The M.W. Kellogg Co., a division of Pullman Inc., had announced $70 million in contracts for three similar plants in July.

The announcement said the over-all $200 million transaction represents the largest dollar volume placed by the China National Technical Import Corp. with any U.S. firm.

Kellogg will design, engineer and supply materials and equipment for each of the 1,000 metric tons a day fertilizer plants, with most of the equipment and materials to be purchased in the United States.

Kellogg said locations of the plants have not been released but the firm will supply advisory services during construction and startup of the eight plants.

Special Gift Shop Opens At VA Hospital Monday

A special gift shop offering free gifts, free wrapping and free mailing will open Monday for patients at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

Operated each year since 1921 by the American Legion Auxiliary, the shop allows the hospitalized veterans to select gifts for the members of their immediate families and to have them wrapped and mailed all at no cost to the men themselves.

Gifts, all brand new or homemade, are donated by the Legion Auxiliary and other veterans organizations from throughout the 52 counties served by the Big Spring VA Hospital.

Dene Sheppard, VAH director of voluntary service, said representatives of the many veterans organizations began arriving yesterday to help set up the shop in Room 219 of the hospital.

About 200 visitors are expected to help with the shop with some to stay in town through Thursday when the shop will close, said Mrs. Sheppard.

Patients will be allowed to shop for gifts between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Monday through Wednesday. Nurses will take care of gift selection for bedridden patients.

The gifts available range from toys and children's clothes to jewelry and lingerie.

Mrs. Zelda Rea, the voluntary service representative for the Legion Auxiliary, is chairman of the project, a post she has held for eight years. Mrs. H. D. Bruton, another voluntary service representative, assists her.

The gift shop is an annual project in all VA hospitals. Last year the gifts, wrapping and postage donated to the Big Spring VAH were valued at $7,000.
