Floyd County Pioneers' Ass'n Commemorative Meeting

A meeting of the committee of the Floyd County Pioneer's Ass'n will be held Saturday afternoon at the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas, May 1-3, with discussions to feature wartime manufacturing problems of the postwar years has been released by Howard W. Barlow, head of the Aeronautical Engineering Department, and co-chairman of the Conference.

One of the highlights of the conference will be the annual meeting of the Aviation Writers Association which will bring the top flight aviation writers of the country to Texas for the first time. A press room will be set up from which news of the Conference may be flashed all over the country. It is planned for these writers to be transported to and from the Conference in Army bombers.

Other organizations which have been invited to hold their annual or regional meetings during the Conference are the National Aviation Trades Association, National Association of Colleges and Universities in Aviation Training, and the Civil Air Patrol.

Full forenoon and afternoon sessions are scheduled. Guests and participants will be housed in College dormitories and will take their meals in the College Dining Hall.

Major topics slated for discussion by the Conference under present day problems include industrial training, contracting, personnel, production, and public relations; and those of the postwar era involve private flying, commercial air transportation, and aviation legislation.

A. T. Colwell, vice president of the Thompson Products Corporation, will discuss "Wings: Today and Tomorrow" at the dinner the night of May 2. "Volume Production of Aircraft" will be explained at the dinner opening night, May 1, by C. W. Perelle, vice president in charge of manufacturing of the Consolidated-Vultee Aircraft Corporation. Col. J. B. Duckworth, commanding officer, Bryan Air Field, will talk at the luncheon May 1 on "Training the Modern Pilot". A speaker is to be announced later for the luncheon May 2.

Inaugurated in 1942, the Texas Aviation Planning Conference is sponsored by the School of Engineering of the Texas A. and M. College in cooperation with Southern Flight, aviation magazine. George Haddaway, editor of Southern Flight, is co-chairman of the Conference.

Between 400 and 500 civilian and Army and Navy Air Corps representatives registered at the 1943 Conference. On account of the increasing importance of air transportation and the military air arm, a large attendance is anticipated.

Governor Coke Stevenson has proclaimed the week of April 27-May 3 to be Texas Aviation Week, and has called upon all agencies and individuals interested in aviation to support and attend the Conference.

Agencies participating in the Third Wartime Aviation Planning Conference are schools and colleges, manufacturers, operators, engineers, armed personnel, civic groups, aviation writers, and others.

That morning rush would be solved if folks realized coffee cooks quicker if put on ten minutes earlier.

MY MOTHER GAVE ME 50 CENTS
TO SEE THE ELEPHANT
JUMP THE FENCE

AND MAYBE he jumped. But I didn't see him! Because I put my 50 cents into War Stamps instead. And when I get enough Stamps, I get me a War Bond. I'll need money later on to go to college.

"I'm only a kid and I'm not supposed to know as much as you. But if I were in your shoes, and had dollars to work on instead of pennies, I'd sock every spare one of them into War Bonds."

Bonds help you today by helping the war end sooner.

Bonds help you tomorrow by providing the money to buy things every man dreams of—a house, security and independence, a decent old age.

You can't lose on this deal, Mister.

Let's all KEEP BACKING THE ATTACK!

This is a U. S. Treasury advertisement—prepared under auspices of Treasury Department and War Rel. Authority.

OPA Announce Seasonal Increases in Prices

Acting to get a better distribution of poultry throughout the year and to permit the surplus crop to be carried for distribution into the period of short supplies, the OPA through the Lubbock District Office has announced seasonal increases in prices for chicken and fowls.

These premiums, effective, April 21, will mean an average increase of two-thirds cents a pound in the prices paid by the ultimate consumer of poultry over a year. For 1944 this is an estimated increase of $15,000,000. The increase was authorized by the Office of Economic Stabilization to encourage the production of live poultry during the short months and to encourage processors to store for these months.

Premiums are effective from April 21, 1944, through the balance of April, May and June of this year, and for January through June of next year. Schedule for January is one-half cent; February, one cent; March one and four-tenths cents; April, one and eight-tenths cents; May, two and two-tenths cents; and June, one cent.

One nice thing about gas rationing, if there is anything nice about it—you don't hear of motorists running out of gas on the highways like you use to.

Young Turkeys Thrive on Green Feed

A green pasture for poults and growing turkeys during the summer months will materially cut the cost of finishing a flock for market.

According to S. A. Moore, poultryman for the A. and M. College Extension Service, turkeys consume large quantities of green feed. If it can be made available the amount of mash and grain a turkey eats can be reduced by as much as 10 to 12 pounds during the growing period. This is equivalent to an estimated saving of 20 per cent in the normal consumption of storebought feed. Furthermore, by supplementing regular feed with good pasture producers can expect the greatest average weight on the birds at market time.

Turkey growers are interested most in economical production, and providing plenty of green feed now and for the summer is one of the most useful aids at hand to achieve this, Moore says. Plenty of green feed also will increase the vitamin A intake of the turkeys, which means that the birds will be more resistant to disease.

The specialist reminds, however, that feeding hard granite grits is necessary practice, especially if the turkey poults are turned out when they are eating grass. If they do not have a sufficient amount of granite grits before them while feeding on grass, they sometimes are unable to handle fibrous grass. This will sometimes cause impaction of the crop.

Not only young turkeys, but chicks, too, need green feed, and growers can reduce cost of operation by seeing that they get it, Moore adds. The way to provide it is to plant enough to give the turkeys and chickens all they will eat for the next few months.

Students Enter Essay Competition—Time Limited

Austin, April 27.—More than 200 high schools are already reported among the contestants entered in the essay competition on the Texas Centennial of Statehood, sponsored by the Daughters of the Republic of Texas, A. Garland Adair, history curator at the Texas Memorial Museum on the campus and member of the statehood commission, reports. Dead-line for the contest; whose essay subject is "Why Texas Should Observe Its Centennial of Statehood"—has been moved up from April 15 to May 1, because of the interest in the contest. The contest is also giving impetus to the Centennial cause and to the movement to complete the museum building by the addition of two wings in time for the Centennial in 1945. A request for funds from the Legislature to complete the museum as a World War I and II memorial will be made by the University Board of Regents acting as directors for the museum, that body decided at its last meeting. The Texas Safety Association says—Use you head. Stop and think. That's the way to avoid accidents.
