Used Car Ceiling Prices Went into Effect Monday

Lubbock, July 13.—"Used car ceiling prices will serve the intended purpose of keeping our transportation system operating during the present crisis if both dealer and consumer can realize the importance of cooperation regarding the price regulation," according to J. B. Mooney, district price executive of the Office of Price Administration. Pointing out that cooperation comes through understanding the working details of the regulation, Mooney announced that price panels of local War Price and Rationing Boards will make an extensive survey of all used car dealers sometime during the week of July 12-19. The purpose of the survey he stated, is to make sure that all dealers have received copies of the regulation, to answer any questions pertaining to the regulation, and to see if they understand the provision that all cars must bear the official price tag. Proper tagging, Mooney stated, is one of the most important parts of the regulation. Local board members have received instructions from the district office on the details of the survey.

RESEARCH PROJECTS AT TEXAS UNIVERSITY ARE SLOWED DOWN

Austin, July 13.—Research projects by the University of Texas geology department have fallen victim to the wartime shortage of trained technicians. A. H. Deen, department chairman, reports. War demands have drained the department's staff to less than one half its pre-war size. Mr. Deen reports, and the faculty is too busy now with classroom teaching to conduct experimental research projects. After the war, however, Mr. Deen predicts a swift return to pre-war standards in the University's geological research.

MAHON VISITS IN FLOYDADA

Congressman George Mahon of the 19th district, visited at the Plainsman office briefly Tuesday evening. Mr. Mahon says he is trying to see as many of the voters as time will permit, between this and election day. Mahon is a candidate for re-election. Throw your scrap into the fight.

DRIVE IT HOME!

"That's the way I like to see them," said Gen. MacArthur when he saw the rows of dead Japs in the Admiralty Islands. In this war—the costliest, cruelest war of all time—our boys must fight with savage fury. Kill or be killed! And on how well each plays his part depends the lives of many of his buddies. Here on the home front, too, just cheering the attack on isn't enough. That's why there's a Fifth War Bond drive on now, a drive in which you're needed to support the men on the fighting fronts who are facing the most treacherous forces Americans have ever met in combat. We on the home front can't let them down—and we won't. So resolve now to at least double your Bond buying in the 5th War Loan drive. This is the time to do better than your best.

New Cantaloupe Resistant to Downy Mildew and Melon Aphids

By A. D. JACKSON
Cantaloupe production in many sections is frequently attended by severe losses from downy mildew and also from melon aphids. Dr. S. S. Ivanoff, pathologist at the Winter Haven Experiment Station, has developed some strains of cantaloupe highly resistant to both downy mildew and melon aphids. Dr. Ivanoff secured some West Indian cantaloupes which were inferior in quality but possessed the highly desirable characters of being resistant to both downy mildew and melon aphids. Recognizing the value of this material for planting purposes Dr. Ivanoff endeavored by crossing to transfer these characters of resistance for downy mildew and melon aphids to some of our best strains of cantaloupes. Out of these crosses he selected from each generation only plants that had a high degree of resistance and approached nearest to the high quality of our commercial cantaloupes. He followed this method for seven generations with the result that he now has established some strains of cantaloupes that are of good quality and possess resistance to both downy mildew and melon aphids. During this year he has increase plantings on which there has been little downy mildew and only slight infection of aphides whereas some commercial fields are so highly infected as to be a total loss. Dr. Ivanoff states that these cantaloupes are not immune to aphids or downy mildew but they, nevertheless, possess resistance to such a degree that both better yields and lengthening of the fruiting period will be obtained. The new strains are still susceptible to powdery mildew but work is in progress to secure strains that may reduce losses from this pest also. A small amount of seed will be available at the end of this season for growers.

Chaplain Hamilton Writes from England

Washington, D. C.—The General Commission on Army and Navy Chaplains has received from Chaplain Herbert Homer Hamilton attached to a Station Hospital somewhere in England an account of his experiences. Chaplain Hamilton is a native of Electra, Texas, was graduated from the high school, Georgetown, Texas, and was enrolled in Southwestern University when he entered the United States Navy in December, 1917. After two years in that service he entered Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas, from which he received his A. B. and B. D. degrees. Chaplain Hamilton joined the North Texas Conference of the Methodist Church in 1927 and has served pastorates at Texline, Amarillo, Channing, Jayton, Lockney, Abilene, and Sudan, Texas. While pastor at Sudan in 1942 Chaplain Hamilton received his commission. Mrs. Hamilton, who before her marriage was Miss Ruth Carney, resides with their two children at 1901 Wheeler Street, Vernon, Texas. Of his life as a Chaplain and his experiences overseas Chaplain Hamilton writes as follows: "I came into the Army as a Chaplain, July 3, 1942 with a sense of obligation to the men and women, who had been called into the service from my church and community. That sense of obligation still exists but, in addition, there is an abiding feeling, on my part, that no greater opportunity could be given a minister of the Gospel, than that which is given to a chaplain in the service. "As I have experienced it, the chaplaincy has not been a bed of roses. (Who wants that in times like these?) But I can truthfully say that not one day has passed without a flood of opportunities and rich rewards for every effort. "I reported at Camp Roberts, California, and was assigned to the Station Hospital, where I served for about a year. Many are the experiences that I could relate about my work there. If you have never been away from home for the first time, and been sick while you were away, it would be difficult to explain the plight of a typical patient. Multiply his case by several hundred and you get a glimpse of the physical, mental and spiritual strain that is placed upon a chaplain in trying to meet the needs in ministering to the homesick, in giving counsel and advice when sought and in conducting and arranging for religious services for men of all faiths. "While attending Chaplains' School at Harvard in May, 1943, I was transferred to this Station Hospital, and we soon landed in England. We have had varied experiences since arriving, many of them heart-breaking but some very pleasant. "My contact with the British people has been most pleasant. I have preached in a number of their churches, spoken at several meetings of missionary societies, schools, federations, Rotary Clubs and conferences. Their spirit of cheer, courage and faith is admirable. At the majority of my chapel services I have a number of British people in attendance. One family, who lives near the Hospital, has furnished beautiful cut flowers for almost every service. "Every effort is made to look after the religious needs and interests of all our men. Protestant and Catholic services are held re-

Claimants Urged to Call Social Security Office

Lubbock, July 13.—Procrastination is about the worst habit one can have and it often proves costly both in friends and in cash. To procrastinate, postpone, or put off calling on the Social Security Board when a wage earner reaches age 65 is even worse because immediately after he passes that age, if he has been working in employment covered by the Social Security Act, he may be entitled to monthly benefits under the old age and survivors insurance system. It is important that the worker furnish certain facts and data to the Social Security Board before a claim can be filed. Therefore, employees falling in the class just mentioned are requested to call at the Board's office at 1311 Texas Avenue, Lubbock. If the claimant cannot visit the Board's office, then the representative will call on him, if he has knowledge of the worker's age. If you can't visit the office after you reach 65, write a card or letter and the manager will call on you.

"Railroad Army" In Many Foreign Countries

While the exact number of men in the "railroad army" abroad, and the number of miles of railroad it is operating in foreign countries are military secrets, it may be said that Yankee railroad outfits now are operating on five foreign continents, according to local Santa Fe officials. The Military Railway Service of the Army Transportation Corps, made up almost entirely of seasoned railroad men drawn from American railroads, will be operating 60,000 freight cars and 4,000 locomotives in foreign countries by the end of this year. MBS, as the "railroad army" abroad is known, is the first organization ever set up by the American government to operate railroads on foreign soil. It may be said to be operating now practically "from Greenland's icy mountains to India's coral strand," and wherever United Nations forces are advancing. The American "railroad army" is at work in the Arctic, in India, in Africa, in Europe and in various places in the Far East. Five days after the allied landing at Naples, MRS had a railroad in operation.

A University of Texas Medical School professor, Dr. George A. Emerson, last week attended a conference called in Gibson Island, Md., by the American Chemical Society to consider ways of developing practical uses of the pharmacological effects of halogenated compounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Conway and little daughter, of Fort Worth are visiting Mrs. O. M. Conway this week.

Regularly here at the chapel and I take the Jewish men into a nearby town each Friday evening for their services. The chaplain's office is open at all hours of the day and most every evening for consultations. I visit the wards, quarters, day rooms, mess halls and Red Cross frequently, and associate with the men out on the playground and drill field. Wherever one finds servicemen there is offered an opportunity to serve; and I don't want to miss a single chance."

GAS cooking is proving itself brilliantly despite adverse wartime conditions.

Good cooking, always an art, has become truly a science now—under the pressures of wartime food needs on fighting and home fronts.

There is today greater knowledge of food values and better knowledge of the effect on food values of proper cooking procedures, largely effected by modern Gas cooking equipment with far better controls.

This new slant on food and cooking has not been lost on the home front, either—and therein may be a fact which will have a bearing on your own peacetime business.

Second Period For Home Canning Began July 1

A second period for the issuance of home canning sugar which will run from July 1 to December 1 of this year has been announced by the District Office of Price Administration.

"The purpose of this second period is to take care of late fruits available for canning. If you have already received sugar for home canning during the first period and can establish eligibility for additional sugar, application may be made to your War Price and Rationing Board for it," according to George H. Wilson, District Food Rationing Officer.

The rationing official stated that if you did not apply during the first period for this first allotment, you may apply now and attach to your application spare stamp No. 37 for each member of your household for which you are applying. Failure to apply during the first period will not prohibit your receiving the maximum amount granted for home canning if you can establish eligibility for all of it, he said.

ATTENTION! ALL HOME CANNERS!

Before you begin your 1944 canning, Good Housekeeping Magazine advises you: use the boiling-water bath method for tomatoes and fruits, only. Can all vegetables except tomatoes by the correct use of a pressure cooker to be sure of killing botulinus germs. In the last few years, cases of botulinus food poisoning have cropped up in widely different parts of the country. Buy, borrow, share a pressure cooker—but don't can low-acid vegetables any other way. If you want further information, write Good Housekeeping Magazine, 939 Eighth Avenue, New York 19, N. Y.

Blodgett Blasts Germans 54 Times

At a 12th AAF B-26 Marauder Base—1st Lt. Dolphus E. Blodgett, 21, 1303 Avenue G N.W. Childress, Texas, has bombed German installations in Italy and southern France 54 times as bombardier-navigator of a B-26 Marauder.

Flying with the oldest medium bomb group in the Mediterranean theatre, Lieutenant Blodgett has participated in attacks on Rome, Florence, Pisa and Cassino. On most of his missions he led a flight or element, with wing bombardiers dropping their bombs on his signal.

He led an element during two raids on the Florence rail yards, both of which were commended by airforce officials for tight bomb patterns which devastated the yards without damaging nearby religious and cultural monuments in the Renaissance city.

Lieutenant Blodgett believes that the first Allied raid of the war on Florence March 11—by picked

Marauder groups—marks the high point of the bombing he has seen. "The bomb concentration could not have been better," he says. "It went right up through the yards without even touching the houses on either side."

Lieutenant Blodgett was an element leader during the B-26's climax punch bombing of Cassino March 15. Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker said of the Marauders' work, "I doubt if there has ever been better bombing."

"I haven't seen much excitement in my missions, though," Lieutenant Blodgett claims. "Plenty of flak, of course, and fighters a couple of times but nothing sensational."

Closest shave he has had in his 54 raids came during an attack on the south Orvieto, Italy, railroad bridge in January. The Marauders met heavy flak, and Lieutenant Blodgett's ship was holed in 27 separate places, with one piece coming through the plexiglass nose and passing within a few inches of his head.
