'One Moment of Greatness ...'

(1) In the invasion of Saipan, a certain Marine platoon was given the job of cleaning out a Jap pocket which was impeding the advance up the western coast...

(2) The Japs were imbedded in a deep crevice in the face of a seven-foot cliff. Lying in a prone position, they opened up on the platoon with a murderous machine-gun and rifle fire.

(4) Twenty feet out in the tidewater, Arsenault stood erect and began pumping bullets into the crevice. Fifty enemy guns returned his fire and hundreds of enemy bullets went zinging toward him...

(7) With all the men safely evacuated, Arsenault continued to fire. Ordered to come back, he emptied one more clip. As he made for the beach, Jap bullets killed him.

MRS. ANNIE LEWIS IS HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Mrs. Annie Lewis, who had been in the Plainview hospital three weeks for medical treatment was brought home last Friday. Mrs. Lewis' condition is much improved.

Mrs. W. M. Spears and son, George, returned home Saturday from Oklahoma City, where George had a medical examination. He is suffering from asthma and hay fever.

YOU CAN'T FAIL THEM NOW!

Once there was a man named Bill

Bill was with the first Marines who went to the Pacific. For three years he fought Japs.

Then at Saipan, Bill had a quick decision to make.

He saw a job he thought should be done. He couldn't be sure it would help. He couldn't be sure he'd come back if he tried it. But it seemed worth trying.

He went ahead with the job. And it did help. And he didn't come back.

Perhaps there's a lesson in this story for some of us at home.

Bill had already done quite a bit for his country. But when the time came, he didn't stop to think about that. He didn't look around for someone else to take the risk for a change. He knew his work wasn't finished.

The same thing is true about buying War Bonds. Don't waste time wondering whether or not you've done your share.

As long as there are men like Bill still fighting—your job isn't finished yet—your job is to back them up. So keep on buying War Bonds.

WAR BONDS - to have and to hold!

HOME CANNING SUGAR WILL BE ISSUED TO ELIGIBLE APPLICANTS SAYS OPA

Sugar for home canning will continue to be issued eligible applicants in the 71 counties of the Lubbock OPA District until December 1, Food Rationing Officer Opal L. Wood has announced in reply to many inquires.

The second period for issuance of home canning sugar was designated to run through November because of late fall fruits in many parts of this District. The original plan is to be continued to provide sugar for canning late fall fruits, she pointed out.

Many local boards have reported an influx of applications for home canning sugar following a recent report that October 31 was the application deadline in some Districts in Texas.

SPAAF COMMANDOS WILL PLAY GEORGETOWN PIRATES FRIDAY NIGHT

The SPAAF football Commandos, still picking on some of the toughest opposition in the state, this week journey downstate to Georgetown for a game with the Marine-studded Southwestern University Pirates.

The Commandos tangle with the Pirates Friday night, in an effort to gain revenge for last year's 40 to 0 setback they received at the hands of Southwestern.

After the Georgetown trip, SPAAF returns to Tech Stadium for four straight games before the home folks. Starting the home stretch drive the SPAAF team plays West Texas State Teachers College at Tech Stadium, Friday night, November 10. Then the Commandos will tangle with Fort Bliss Saturday night, November 17. Then the Commandos will tangle with the University of Mexico Sunday, November 26, and Texas Tech Saturday, December 2.

TWO GENERALS VISIT SOUTH PLAINS ARMY AIR FIELD DURING PAST WEEK

South Plains Army Air Field has played host to two generals within the past week, both of whom inspected training activities at the nation's largest advanced glider pilot training center.

First to visit at SPAAF was Brig. Gen. Earl H. DeFord, commanding general of the 32nd Flying Training Wing.

One week later, Brig. Gen. Walter F. Kraus, commanding general of the Central Flying Training Command with headquarters at Randolph Field, visited at SPAAF. Both men expressed their pleasure at the efficiency of the training program at SPAAF, where hundreds of the Winged Commandos who set their big invasion gliders down in Normandy, southern France and Holland were trained.

LT. DONALD R. CORNELIUS TRAINING AT ALEXANDRIA, LOUISIANA, AIR FIELD

Second Lt. Donald R. Cornelius, navigator, of Floydada, will soon complete an intensive course in combat flying at the Alexandria Army Air Field, Alexandria, La., and in the near future he will go overseas to a combat area.

He is the member of a Flying Fortress crew trained by the Second Army Air Force, which has the task of readying four-engine bomber crews for overseas duty.

Listed among the instructors at the Alexandria Army Air Field are many officers and enlisted men who have seen action in every theatre of war. These veterans direct crews through training conditions that simulate actual combat, stressing teamwork, formation flying and high altitude missions.

The 29-year old navigator attended Texas Technological College at Lubbock for two years. He is the son of Mr. Ermin L. Cornelius, 120 E. California Street, Floydada, Texas.

LT. JOE D. MONTGOMERY IS WITH BOMBER FORCE STATIONED IN ENGLAND

An Eighth Air Force Bomber Station, England—Receiving his battle baptism in a recent Eighth Air Force bomber attack on the Focke Wulf Fighter Plane Factory in Berlin, Germany, Second Lieutenant Joe D. Montgomery, 26, of Floydada, co-pilot on a B-17 flying fortress, returned to describe his initial mission as "flakful."

The lieutenant remarked that, "the flak started as soon as we were over Nazi territory, but, by using evasive action, we were able to dodge most of it."

Lt. Montgomery is a member of the fortress group commanded by Colonel Frank P. Bostrom, of Bangor, Me., one of the many that are continuing to strike at Nazi war industries and troop concentrations even as allied ground forces penetrate the Borders of Germany itself. His group is a unit of the 3D Bombardment Division which was cited by the President for its historic England-Africa shuttle bombing of Messerschmitt Aircraft plants at Regensburg, Germany.

The Airman's mother, Mrs. Mary A. Dorsey, of Floydada, and his wife, Mrs. Edda Montgomery, lives in Anchorage, Alaska. Prior to entering the army air forces in October, 1942, Lt. Montgomery was employed by the U. S. Engineers, in Anchorage.

OBSERVATIONS UNDER WAR AT McDONALD OBSERVATORY

Austin, November 2.—Dr. Otto Struve, director of McDonald Observatory of the University of Texas, and its sister laboratory, Yerkes Observatory of the University of Chicago, visited in Texas recently, and reported on investigations being made at both observatories.

Six major observations are underway at McDonald, Dr. Struve says. The largest program is the study of the spectra of stars. Some five or six thousand photographs have been studied to see what they reveal of the chemical composition of the stars, their motion, and their expansion, the scientist says.

PAMPA SOLDIER WINS
SILVER STAR IN FARNCE

With the 28th Infantry Division—Private Morris A. Powell, litter bearer with one of this division's infantry battalion medical sections, has been awarded the Silver Star medal for gallantry in action against the enemy on August 1, in France.

Pvt. Powell's wife, Mrs. Jewell Inez Powell, lives in Pampa, Texas, and his mother, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Powell, lives at Route Two Floydada, Texas.

Pvt. Powell was one of several auxiliary litter bearers attached to the battalion medical section. These litter bearers were informed of a wounded officer and enlisted man who for approximately five hours had been lying 50 yards from our own lines and within five yards of a hedgerow behind which the enemy was securely entrenched.

Because of the dangers inherent in a mid-day operation of this type they were told that no one would order them to effect an evacuation of the wounded men. Despite intense enemy fire from mortars, machine pistols and a tank situated on the far side of a road running parallel to the hedgerow protecting the enemy position, Pvt. Powell and three companions formed two two-man litter teams and voluntarily undertook the hazardous task of evacuation across the open fire-swept field.

Because improvised litters and blankets were used, their personal dangers were further accentuated because of the necessity of walking upright at all times while carrying the wounded through the constant enemy fire. According to the citation "the extraordinary heroism and magnificent devotion to duty of Pvt. Powell and his three companions were directly responsible for saving the lives of the wounded officer and enlisted man."

To forget the past is okay—but don't forget to use it for the future.

GRUB CONTROL PROGRAM UNDER WAY IN TEXAS

Cattle grubs each year in Texas destroy enough leather to furnish shoes for a million soldiers and enough meat to feed nearly five thousand for a 12-month period. In view of these and other losses, the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service is waging a strenuous control program which already is underway in South Texas and will continue to late December in the northeastern section. A leaflet describing control measures entitled "Are Your Cattle Grubby?" just has been issued by the Extension Service and is generally available from county agricultural agents.

AIR-CRAFT AND AIR-CRAFT ENGINE TECHNICAL SCHOOL IS UNDER WAY

College Station, November 2.—One of the first applications of President Gibb Gilchrist's plan for the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas to bridge the wide gap between the semi-skilled worker and the highly-trained tech Air-craft Engine Technical School which has been under way here since August 15 for a full section of fifteen young men from about as many Texas communities.

This technical school is sponsored by the War Manpower Commission, and is conducted by the A. and M. Industrial Extension Service in cooperation with the State Board for Vocational Education. C. H. Groneman, of the Industrial Extension Service, is coordinator of the short course.

Twelve different phases of A. and A. E. mechanics are covered in the full 40-weeks' course, each complete within itself, Groneman said. As a result, new students may enroll at any time, provided they are American citizens, 16 or older, and preferably have at least three years of high school education.

In addition to the regular technical school, part-time training in the same subjects is being given to 43 civilian maintenance employees of nearby Bryan Army Air Field.

Students in the A&AE Technical School pay no tuition, but are required to furnish their own books. They are being accommodated in College dormitories and take their meals in the College dining hall at a nominal charge.

James W. Smith, licensed CAA aircraft engine mechanic, is instructing the short course, assisted by the Bryan Field personnel by Owen Northcutt.

It is unfortunate that it took a world war to make some Americans eat sensibly.

REFRIGERATION SHORT COURSE TO BE HELD IN FEBRUARY

A four day Food Refrigeration short course for about 50 state leaders of agricultural teaching and research in seven Southwestern States will be held at the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas in February. E. J. Kyle, dean of Agriculture, has announced.

Sponsored by the U. S. War Food Administration, this short course will involve key personnel of the U. S. Farm Security Administration, and the Extension Service, Experiment Station, Vocational Agriculture and the Agricultural States of Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

Immediately upon conclusion of the regional meeting, the Texas A. and M. College will stage another and more general food preservation short course for district and community leaders of Texas, Dean Kyle said. This is being done to take advantage of the lecturers and equipment that will be assembled for the first group.

It is planned to have leaders in the national food preservation field on hand to assist in conducting the short course. Manufacturers of food preservation equipment will be invited to demonstrate their current and planned postwar equipment.

Dean Kyle has appointed a committee to work out details and select the exact dates of the food refrigeration short course. Chairman is E. R. Alexander, head of the Department of Agricultural Engineering Department.

Flak Cuts the Target Out of Map of Flier

ROME. — Flying Officer Albert Derringer, of Pittsburgh, bombardier on a Mitchell medium bomber, was approaching a "Pin-Point" bridge target and took out his map for a last-minute check. Along came an antiaircraft shell and neatly clipped the pin-point out of the map.

Knocked Out but Keeps on Flying

Hit by Jap Bullet, He Flies Almost 300 Miles.

COLUMBUS, OHIO.—The strange story of a navy dive bomber pilot who—either "through God or by instinct"—flew his plane almost 300 miles after being knocked unconscious by a Japanese bullet was disclosed in an official navy memo to local Curtiss-Wright officials.

The pilot, Lieut. Comdr. John D. Blitch of Charleston, S. C., 30-year-old commander of a Curtiss Hell-diver squadron based on an aircraft carrier in the Pacific, was attacked by six Zeroes after his formation sank or damaged seven vessels of an enemy convoy. A few minutes later, the bomber formation broke off the action and headed back to the carrier. The formation had covered about 280 miles of the distance when Blitch's plane suddenly nosed down and crashed into the sea.

Blitch, who later was picked up after drifting more than 40 hours in a small rubber raft, said he knew nothing of what had happened from the time he was hit by the Japanese bullet until he was revived by water splashing into his cockpit as the plane began to sink.

"It was either God or instinct—probably both—that brought Johnny Blitch back from the grave," observed the carrier's chaplain.

Blind GI Says, 'Show Me Where to Shoot' and Dies

AITAPE, NEW GUINEA. — Just before he died, Pvt. George Klym of Gorham, N. D.—blind and comatose American soldier—pulled on the sleeve of a battalion hospital corpsman and said: "Don't move me. Just show me where to shoot."

With that the world of war slipped from him and it made no difference that his eyes had lost the light of life. The corpsman covered his face and went on to the next case.

Not 30 minutes before, Klym, standing midnight watch in a fox-hole outpost, fought off a Japanese "banzai charge" with an automatic rifle singlehanded until the rest of his outfit was aroused by the din and joined him to repulse the suicide attack.

In the dark all the Japanese could see was the blazing muzzle of Klym's gun and so they fired and charged at it. He took their fire, stood his ground and pumped bullets into the charging enemy. They shot out both his eyes and still he stood and fired. He was still firing when he went down. And he wanted to fire some more just before death intervened at the battalion hospital.

Jap Slain While Church Rites in Guam Go Ahead

AGANA, GUAM.—Strange things may be seen in Agana, ruined capital of Guam.

In a tent next to a ruined church, services were held recently with a score of men attending and a portable organ playing.

A squad of men, looking for a Japanese who had entered the town during the night, worked to within 50 yards of the church. There, in the midst of the hymn singing, they found the lone enemy. Shots drowned out the organ for a few seconds, and the Japanese lay still.

The organist never missed a note; none of the singers even turned around.

Sentry Calls 'Halt' but Bull Keeps on His Way

CAMP CARSON, COLO. — Sentry duty can sometimes result in a fellow gaining some impromptu knowledge. At least that's the opinion of Corp. Paul Tracy, of San Pedro, Calif.

Corporal Tracy was on night patrol recently when he saw a shadow. He shouted at the shadow to halt, and when there was no answer, advanced to claim his "prisoner."

The "prisoner" turned out to be an angry, full-grown bull, and Corporal Tracy did a quick job of climbing a nearby tree.

Suicide Fails, Lies 20 Hours With Broken Leg

WASHINGTON. — Her two suicide attempts having failed, Miss Phyllis Murray, 25, a government worker, lay in a clump of weeds for 20 hours with a broken leg without calling for help.

Miss Murray, daughter of James J. Murray of Pittsburgh, an official of the maritime commission, told officers she swallowed rat poison, and when it had no effect, jumped from a 100-foot cliff in Rock Creek park. Neither she nor her father could supply a motive.
