

Young Democrats Meet in Dalhart On May 29

DALHART, Texas, May 17.—"The valorem tax system in Texas is a disgrace," declared Dallam County Judge Wilson Cowen today. There are many other moot topics such as the Dust Bowl, poll taxes, natural conservation in the Panhandle, law enforcement, which should be discussed at the West Texas Young Democrats annual convention in Dalhart, Saturday, May 29. These issues are being discussed rapidly given.

Continuing on the ad valorem tax system, Judge Cowen said, "It shows high per cent of delinquency; it is unfair and in some cases discriminatory in valuations between counties and between sections of the county, because each county and therefore each section has a different method of equalization, each of which are valuations from a different basis."

This brings on a host of problems. The Older Democrats as well as the young ones should take a part in it at the coming convention in Dalhart. The tax situation is moving rapidly to a crisis.

The First Lady Recalls Her Youth

Writing her life story in a leading national women's magazine, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt recalls the awkward age of her youth. Speaking of this age, as illustrated by the photograph above, the First Lady observes, "I was tall, very thin, and very shy. My grandmother believed in keeping me young and my aunts believed in dressing me in a way which was perhaps appropriate to my age, but not to my size. I wore flannels from the first of November until the first of April, regardless of the temperature. The high button or laced shoes were supposed to keep your ankles slim."

A NEW GAME

For a Barnyard Frolic, hide peanuts beforehand in the place where the party takes place. Then divide the participants into two or more groups, giving each group the name of some barnyard animal—duck, chicken, pig, cow, etc. Each group has a leader. At a given signal all begin to look for the peanuts, but the finder cannot pick up a nut; only the leader can pick up nuts. The finder stands near it and makes the sound of his animal—"Quack quack" if a duck; "Cockadoodle doo" if a rooster, etc., until the leader comes and picks up the nut. Of course the group finding the most peanuts is the winner. If prizes are given, they should be something for the entire group—a bag of gumdrops, or lollipops, or something similar.—Frances E. Leet in The Progressive Farmer.

WHEN RAINDROPS MULTIPLY

Floods are simply raindrops, infinitely multiplied and concentrated quickly in a single channel. Department of Agriculture flood control specialists say that vegetative and mechanical methods of decreasing run-off and soil erosion automatically contribute to flood control. Some of the outstanding methods which serve this double purpose are crop rotations, contour strip cropping, terracing, contour tillage, check dams, grassed waterways, reforestation, controlled grazing and forest fire protection.

Drastic Reductions Overnight Telegraph Service Is Announced

Drastic reductions in rates for overnight telegraph service which will become effective June 1 will provide substantial savings to residents of Floydada, it was disclosed last night by Mrs. Hatley, local manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company. A tariff filed Saturday with the Federal Communications Commission at Washington, D. C., will reduce the cost of both short and long messages and cut the telegraph bill of the nation by approximately $3,000,000.

"The effect of these reductions," Mrs. Hatley said, "is that the charge for 25 words will be the same as, and in some cases lower than, the present charge for a 10-word night message and that long messages can be sent at relatively even lower rates."

"The 10-word night message will be discontinued and the initial charge for night letters will be for 25 words instead of for 50 as at present. The maximum charge for a 25-word night letter will be fifty cents, even for the greatest distances in the United States."

"We in excess of twenty five will be charged for in groups of five instead of ten, as at present. The rates start at an unprecedentedly low level and decrease progressively as the length of the message increases, resulting in added-word rates as low as one cent for five words for messages sent a short distance and, for night letters sent over the greatest distance from Floydada, 9 cents for five words in shorter messages and 3.5 cents for each five words sent in excess of 200. This is a new principle in rate-making and is designed to facilitate the use of the telegraph for all manner of business and social communications, no matter what length," Mrs. Hatley said.

Know Your Onions Says Ita Parrish Home Supervisor

A variety of economical recipes for preparing onions which are in nearly every garden at this season of the year are offered by Ita R. Parrish, Home Supervisor of the Resettlement Administration. Mrs. Parrish says:

"If there is one vegetable that has arisen from the ranks it is the lowly onion. One reason for the increased popularity of the once plebeian vegetable is that we now have varieties which are milder in flavor. Then too it can be prepared in a great many different ways. A few years back onions were served in three ways; green, boiled and fried. Today, we find ourselves eating them in a form so disguised that they are scarcely recognizable."

"Onions are healthful and usually inexpensive. It is advisable to feature them more often in menus. There are other ways of using them than in salad and meat loaf. They may be used in soup, scalloped, stuffed, pickled, or french fried."

Cream of Onion Soup

5 medium sized onions
1 1/2 qts. rich milk
1/2 c. butter
Pepper
2 T. prepared mustard
1/4 c. grated cheese
1 T. salt

Chop onions fine and cook in butter do not brown. Mix some of the milk with the flour to form smooth paste. Heat remainder of milk and stir in the paste. Add onions and seasoning. Serve with grated cheese on top of each serving.

Onion Tops

Use chopped green onion tops mixed with salad dressing for sandwich filling.

Add 2 cups of chopped onion tops to 1 c. of thick cream, 1/4 t salt and a bit of pepper. Serve with mashed potatoes.

Serve onion tops with French Dressing on lettuce leaf as a salad.

Add onion tops chopped fine to mashed or hashed browned potatoes a few minutes before serving.

Wilt chopped onion tops in butter. Serve on buttered toast sprinkled with cheese.

Add a cup of thin white sauce to a cup of wilted green onion tops for variety. 1/4 cup crisp bacon to 2 cup wilted onion tops.

Radio Picture Of Royalty Following British Coronation

Probate Judge Holds Will Filed April 29 Not Mrs. Edwards' of Pioneer Floyd County man in litigation; Appeal Will Be Taken from Judgment

A document filed on April 29 in the probate court, purporting to be the will and testament of Mrs. E. H. Edwards, wife of Tom W. Deen in a hearing held last Friday here.

Mrs. Edwards died on Christmas at Corpus Christi, after her husband and son Bruce had hurried her to sea level in an attempt to prolong her life. She was suffering from a heart affection. The will was returned here for burial.

The document filed, dated at Corpus Christi, Texas, March 20, 1929, purported to be the will of Mrs. Edwards, real personal to her daughter, Mary, Mrs. Fronie Mary Heath of Lubbock, except $1 each to Mrs. Edwards' sons, Bruce and Alfred, as witnessed by Helena Peters and Fronie S. Johnston.

On the judgment of the court given, notice of appeal to disprove was given by Mrs. Heath's attorneys, Wilson, Randal and Kilgus of Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Ayres represented H. E. Edwards, surviving husband of the deceased, and Alfred and Bruce Edwards, surviving sons, in the hearing.

The will, which is in custody of the probate court, but not filed in court as yet, is declared by H. E. Edwards in a deposition to be Mrs. Edwards' last will. In this will, witnessed by T. F. Houghton, now deceased, and B. B. Greenwood on April 30, 1917, Mrs. Edwards bequeathed her part of the estate to three children, Mary Fronie Edwards, Bruce Enis Edwards and Alfred C. Edwards, in like shares, leaving her husband, H. E. Edwards, executor of the will and directing that each child should receive his or her portion of the property becoming 21 years of age.

Water Conservation Study This Morning In Amarillo Meeting

Delegation From Floyd County At Meeting Called by Panhandle Water Conservation Authority

Four representatives of Floyd County left Floydada for Amarillo this morning where they are attending a session of the Panhandle Water Conservation Association called by Carl Hinton, secretary of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce and John L. McCarty, president of the association.

R. W. Cothorn, secretary of Floydada Chamber of Commerce, D. F. Bredthauer, county agent, Tom W. Deen, county judge, and J. M. Willson, Floydada director of West Texas Chamber of Commerce, make up the personnel of the Floydada delegation.

An effort to co-ordinate various and sundry plans of soil and water conservation in the panhandle area, and to set up an authority for the area, will be attempted, it was announced by Hinton this week.

Whether a definite governmental authority or a planning board is desired by the farmers, business and professional men industrialists of the section is one of the things to be determined, if possible, at the meeting, it was said. How to fit the plans for this area into the national flood control and soil conservation program will be studied.

The Panhandle Water Conservation Authority, recently created by act of the Texas legislature, is sponsoring the meeting which began at 10:30 this morning and will last until about 3 o'clock this afternoon. R. W. Cothorn, Floydada Chamber of Commerce, said.

"THE LORD'S ACRE"

The Lord's Acre Plan, a method of financing county churches being sponsored by the Farmers Federation of Asheville, N. C., is a religious movement so successful it is sure to spread. Says the progressive Farmer—

"The Lord's Acre Plan is putting the people in the church, young and old, creatively to work, developing a working church spirit. It is making it clearer through actual demonstration that only a working church can be fully receptive to the great teaching of the Bible and exercise a strong Christian influence on the individual, home, and community. As President James G. K. McClure, Jr., of the Farmers Federation puts it, 'The county church, in the opinion of many people the most valuable institution in America, has been the nursery of many of the most constructive movements of the past 500 years. It needs better support for its task of building Christian character and a Christian civilization. The farmer cannot subscribe much cash to his church but he can subscribe an acre of corn or an acre of potatoes. His wife can subscribe a hen and raise a flock of chickens. Every child in the family can undertake some project. In this way we may quadruple the country church income.'"

Many a man thinks he is wise because he has no children to expose his ignorance.

Protests To Star-gram Over 'Inflated Grain Report'

Notes Potishman

Fifty Million Bushels Too High For Plains Counties

With a good crop of wheat showing up in most of Floyd and other counties of the country, R. W. Cothran, secretary of the Floydada Chamber of Commerce, declared in a protest with the Fort Worth Star-gram over a bullish report it last week, a report credited to Potishman is "in all probability million bushels too high" on the plains area.

Mr. Cothran, released here, says a more careful survey of the Texas plains is demanded. He says not "over 3,000,000 acres" on the plains "that will produce 25 to 35 bushels per acre," then declares, the quotations taken from an interview in a issue of the Fort Worth Star-gram.

Congratulations to Floydada and Floyd County Graduates

Upon this important occasion we are glad to express our congratulations to the graduates of our schools over the county.

This store is proud of each of you and the accomplishments you have made. Your success reflects credit on our citizenship generally.

As you take your places in the ranks of farming, business or further schooling, we want to express the hope that continued success go with you.

White's Is The Rexall Store

Article of Leo Potishman page of the Star Telegram Friday, May 14th, and knowing the exact condition of the wheat situation of the South Plains area. I feel that necessity demands a more careful review of the crop prospects on the Texas Plains.

"With no desire to contradict or unjustly criticize any one, and yet with the ardent wish to see our great wheat producing counties neither over-estimated or under-estimated, I wish to say that there is not a wheat farmer in all these thirty-two Plains counties that does not know that there is not 3,000,000 Acres of wheat here that will average 25 to 35 bushels per acre."

The 60,000 acres of irrigated wheat on the Plains will not more than average 35 bushels per acre. And the dry-farmed wheat in the two best sections of the entire wheat belt, which includes Parmer county on the west part of the Texas Plains, and Floyd county on the southeast part of the Plains, will not average more than fifteen bushels per acre.

"It is generally agreed that the east part of Floyd County has the best wheat without irrigation of any place on the Texas Plains, and Floyd County can throw in her 20,000 acres of irrigated wheat with her 170,000 acres of dry-farmed wheat, and still will not average more than 16 bushels per acre for the whole county."

"I will leave it to the five thousand farmers on the plains to say if this is not a conservative report of the present wheat prospect."

"Mr. Potishman's report is, in all probability, some fifty million bushels too high. Besides, the 'one million acres' it is agreed was 'dead' will certainly not 'come back to life' if it was dead."

Sunday School Lesson

International Sunday School lesson for May 23.

THE WEAKNESS OF ESAU

Golden Text.—Every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things. I Corinthians 9:25.

Lesson Text.—Genesis 25:19-34; Printed Text.—Genesis 25:27-34; 27:41-45.

27 And the boys grew; and Esau was a cunning hunter, a man of the field; and Jacob was a plain man, dwelling in tents.

28 And Isaac loved Esau, because he did eat of his venison; but Rebekah loved Jacob.

29 And Jacob sod pottage; and Esau came from the field, and he was faint.

30 And Esau said to Jacob, Feed me, I pray thee, with that same red pottage; for I am faint: therefore was his name called Edom.

31 And Jacob said, Sell me this day thy birthright.

32 And Esau said, Behold, I am at the point to die; and what profit shall this birthright do to me?

33 And Jacob said, Swear unto me this day; and he swore unto him; and he sold his birthright unto Jacob.

34 Then Jacob gave Esau bread and pottage of lentiles; and he did eat and drink, and rose up, and went his way: thus Esau despised his birthright.

35 Gen. 27:41-45—41 And Esau hated Jacob because of the blessing wherewith his father blessed him: and Esau said in his heart, The days of mourning for my father are at hand; then will I slay my brother Jacob.

42 And these words of Esau her elder son were told to Rebekah; and she sent and called Jacob her younger son, and said unto him, Behold, thy brother Esau, as touching thee, doth comfort himself, purposing to kill thee.

43 Now therefore, my son, obey my voice; and arise, flee thou to Laban my brother to Haran;

44 And tarry with him a few days, until my brother's fury turn away;

45 Until thy brother's anger turn away from thee, and he forget that which thou hast done to him: then I will send, and fetch thee from thence: why should I be deprived also of you both in one day?

Time and Place. — The twin boys were born B. C. 1844. Eighteen years later Esau sold his birthright and Jacob's flight took place B. C. 1784. The twins, Esau and Jacob, were born, probably, at Beer-sheba, 50 miles from Beersheba.

Lesson Comment. Story of ancient setting is that of Jacob and Esau. Some references are not entirely clear, but the main elements of the story, especially its value for instruction in peace, honor and righteousness of today, are clearly marked. It is a document still very much alive.

Isaac had two boys, Esau and Jacob. Esau was a skillful hunter, an irresponsible man who liked to go chasing adventure, whereas Jacob was a quiet man, dwelling in tents, concerned more about his herd and about his prosperity than about his own ease or indulgence.

Jacob had plenty to eat, and he had cooked some savory pottage, when Esau came from the field, faint and hungry. Esau said to Jacob, "Feed me, I pray thee, with that same red pottage, for I am faint." It seemed a very simple request, but Jacob envied Esau, his elder brother, and said, "First sell me thy birthright."

The story, you see, has an old-fashioned setting. We do not talk like that today, and we do not quite understand how a birthright could be upset by so simple a transaction. Esau's reasoning was very simple and very easy. What use was his birthright when he was tired to the point of death? But Jacob was very exacting. He did not want any mere promises; what he wanted was a sworn agreement. So Jacob gave Esau some pottage, and Esau gave his rights to Jacob.

Borrowers Partners With RA, Declares Demonstration Agent

Definite Social and Spiritual Touch As Well as Economical in Rehabilitation Efforts

The Resettlement Administration through Ita R. Parrish, home management supervisor for Floyd County is assisting 50 or more families to attain a more satisfactory home life by showing the family how it may raise the level of living and the gradual development of higher standards of achievement.

"Only in recent months," Mrs. Parrish said, "has the public become aware of this personal, far-reaching work as a part of the Federal agency's varied program."

"The work of a home management supervisor," she explained, "is designed to meet a multitude of immediate needs and at the same time prepare its borrowers against future emergencies. The home management approach to the problem of farm living, however, is being made from the angle of meeting a need rather than from producing a cash income. To attain this goal families with whom home economists come in contact are urged to adopt and follow a live at home program. This means producing every possible item needed by the families and utilizing the maximum amount of home grown and home made products.

"Of course," Mrs. Parrish pointed out "We do encourage the sale of all surplus products, recommending that the income from such sales be used to purchase household needs. Many people do not realize the relationship between the Resettlement Administration and the farm families who borrow money. In so doing they become business partners with the federal government. Many of the services of the home management supervisor are of an entirely intangible nature. Much of the work which they do has a definite economic value. Much of it has a distinctly social as well as spiritual value."

Mrs. Parrish renders the following services to families who have borrowed money from the Resettlement Administration: Helps them to plan gardens which will meet the family needs; Helps them to determine the food needs of the family and what foods may be canned for use during the winter months with demonstrations on successful canning of these; Helps to plan the family's clothing budget, including an analysis of old clothing that may be used for wear or to make rugs, etc; helps to plan the family's furniture budget, pointing the way toward replacement or the purchase of new needs; points toward economy of fuel; gives new ideas on health practices; encourages satisfactory community relationship. Families are also aided in planning budgets whereby they may purchase household goods such as stoves, pressure canners, and sewing machines.

"Examples of how well the program is being received and how well it is working toward the desired end may be seen in the cooperation of the families in garden, poultry and other activities and their interest in carrying out the plans", Mrs. Parrish concluded.

his brother's keeper. Its lesson is very largely negative in its warning against weakness and greed. One would not wish to hold up either of these brothers as a good example to youth. The warning, rather, is against the weakness that destroys life's chances of success, and against the greedy and ambitious spirit that makes ignoble and unworthy the success this is won.

If we were to judge Jacob only by this incident, he would be a sorry figure, unworthy of all the sermons that have been preached about him. But just as there were better elements in Esau, in spite of his general weakness and instability, so Jacob has qualities that were not to be judged by his faults.

He was capable of repentance; he had a foundation of faith; and he had what Esau lacked—some elements of stability upon which civilizations can be built.

STRETCH YOUR MILEAGE

...with this 100% Custom Tailored Gasoline

Let's get right down to the facts. Let's talk about why and how Phillips 66 Poly Gas saves you money.

The reason is simple. Into every gallon of this new-type, cost-cutting gasoline, Phillips packs extra energy units by means of the patented POLYmerization process. The result is twofold. Your motor not only gets more power out of every gallon, but also delivers more miles.

But sudden changes in climate would endanger the economy and improved performance of Phillips 66 Poly Gas, if it were not 100% custom-tailored, matched in advance to your weather in accordance with U. S. Weather Bureau standards. Why 100%? Because Phillips pioneered the idea of custom-tailoring gasoline to break the vicious connection between changes in weather and changes in motor performance. Because Phillips has carried the process further and made it function more successfully. Because Phillips has greater facilities for custom-tailoring than any other refiner.

That is why no other gasoline, not a single one, is so accurately matched to your weather as Phillips 66 Poly Gas! The Orange and Black 66 Shield is the sign that you can get this improved gasoline which does more—but costs less.
