J. B. Wood Rode From Fairview Into Floydada For Church On Sunday

Fine Country of 1906-1907

Pleads For Helium

Back in 1906-7, J. B. Wood, now of Corpus Christi, but then a teacher at Fairview, knew this as one of the most beautiful countries in all his experience, and was back here again to have his recollections relived Wednesday. He spent the day in Floydada with his wife and tried to find some of the old timers he knew in those days. They were few, he found, but the loveliness of the country had stayed with it, even though many of those with whom he consorted in the old days had moved away, had died or had forgotten.

When he was here away back in those old days he taught at Fairview and recalls the Rushings, the Crabtrees, the Bullards and the Nickels. He boarded with J. A. Nickel, and on Sunday mornings would ride to Floydada for church at the "fine new church they had built over this way," pointing in the wrong direction as is usual with old-timers who come back to the scenes of their early recollections to find things turned around.

In more recent years Mr. Wood has retired from active business, giving his time to managing property accumulated in the passing years. More recently oil developments in the area around Corpus Christi have interested him. He was accompanied by Mrs. Wood and they wanted a paper that would tell them whether a new oil well they were watching had been brought in.

Worked on Ranches

Before he began teaching Mr. Wood recalls working as a hand on the V. A. Leonard ranch after a year with J. T. Pitts, "whose eldest son was named Joseph, and he also had a daughter, Miss Ruth, and two sons, John Irby and Douglas."

And a year he spent at Wake where he helped J. G. Norris run his post office before he decided to get an education. "I talked with Professor Glass at Emma and told him frankly I had forgotten most all I ever knew and did he think I could take up studying again with success." Mr. Glass told the cowboy applicant he at least had found out he didn't know a great deal and that was a good beginning. Professor Glass not only encouraged him to go ahead with his studies but gave him financial backing. That was before the teaching days at Fairview.

Four-Span Bridge At Blanco Canyon Crossing On 207

Materials Being Assembled And Excavations For Zero Grade

Four-span bridge across White river in Blanco Canyon with spans ten feet by ten feet to carry off flood waters will be built by the State Highway Department on their WPA project, under which grant they are rebuilding Highway 207 from the Floyd County line on the south to Floydada.

Materials for the structure are being assembled and the excavation at the creek crossing have been under way several days. The structure now being planned is to be of concrete. A plan for a rustic-type bridge, using native rock walls and soil fillers has been abandoned, it is understood.

The bridge abutments of rock-filled earth will be of such height as to make a zero-grade crossing across the valley of the canyon, ranging from two to five or six feet in height.

While workmen are busy on this job, the business of moving caliche from the north hill cut to the highway from Floydada south to the canyon also continues. Work was resumed Monday after being interrupted for several days by the rains and heavy roads. Between 30,000 and 40,000 yards of dirt, rock and caliche are to be excavated from this hill before the job is completed. When it is done and the leveling out process is completed on the north and south hills of the canyon, caliche base laid from the county line to Floydada.

Traffic had not been cut off from the highway route as late as Tuesday, but has been slowed down considerably on account of the work that is in progress.

Court Holds Bank Night Is Lottery

Criminal Appeals Tribunal Upholds Fine of Show Operator At Bonham

Blow To Theatres

Action of Court in Accord With Civil Appeals Court Decision

"Bank Night," figurative lamp post around which struggling small-city theatres of the country have clung during the past three years to keep their businesses going, was outlawed by a decision rendered yesterday in the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, according to dispatches from Austin.

This court of last resort in criminal jurisprudence confirmed a fine of $100 assessed against a picture show operator at Bonham, which went up on appeal, and coincides with an opinion recently written in the State Supreme Court in a civil case in which bank night as usual conducted was declared to be a lottery. In this last case the City of Wink and the Griffith Amusement Company were the litigants.

The Bonham case was a typical one of bank night operation, the report from Austin states. The patron received a $25 prize at the picture show when her name, previously placed in a register, was called at a performance which she attended.

Justice C. S. Lattimore, who rendered the decision, is quoted as declaring he did not think it would remove the plan from a lottery even if it were shown that some one outside the theatre had heard his name called, had entered and received the prize. The decision said, "The appellant (picture show operator) charged the patron 25 cents to see the show and for getting her chance at the prize; he determined the ownership of the prize by chance; he awarded the money to the winner."

Who is the loveliest, most personable girl in this area is the question that McDermott Post, American Legion, will attempt to answer in a contest on Monday night, June 21, at the Palace Theatre.

Plans for the contest were formulated at the meeting of the post Monday night, when it was arranged that the winner of the contest here should be sent to Sweetwater to a regional contest where a regional winner will be named for a sponsored trip to the Pan American Exposition and the Frontier Fiesta at Dallas and Fort Worth respectively, an expense-paid trip.

Details of how winners will be chosen, and arrangements for entering the contest will be in the hands of a committee from the American Legion organization and Jack Deakins of the theatre. Members of the Legion committee are J. C. Gilliam, L. T. Bishop and J. D. Porterfield.

Not just girls of Floydada but from the whole area surrounding will be given an opportunity to enter the contest, J. C. Gilliam, of the committee, said Tuesday.

At the same meeting routine affairs of the Legion were disposed of and reports were had from J. M. Willson and J. H. Reagan on the recent meeting of the executive committee in Waco of the Department of Texas, and the visit of Harry N. Colmery to this section recently, this report being given by Paul W. Conner.

McDermott Post will be represented in the district convention in Plainview June 19 and 20, this matter coming in for some discussion at the Monday night meeting. J. M. Willson is district committee man, and has been working with Ray Blakemore Post of Plainview in planning for the forthcoming event there.

Sunshine Brightens Wheat Harvest Prospects; Cotton Being Planted Over County

Farmers Replant Washed And Hailed Out Crops As The Soil Dries

Sunshine...the farmers and the wheat growers friend, after the continued rain, broke through the clouds Tuesday morning to bring hope and smiles to the farmers, wheat growers, and merchants of Floyd county.

Certainly the rain was more than welcome but the continued cloudiness and the threatening weather promised either more rain or even worse... hail, the enemy of all the farmers, therefore it was a relief to see the sunshine.

Wheat harvest is expected to progress rapidly. The first wheat was cut Tuesday afternoon, averaging approximately 17 bushels to the acre from nearly 10 acres. By Wednesday, barring more rainy weather, the harvest should be underway all over this area.

The farmers are taking advantage of the drying fields to plant their cotton and row crops of grain sorghums. Although a little late for cotton planting, with a reasonably late fall a good yield should result. Weeds and grass took advantage of the wet weather to gain headway on the crops. A number of farmers are busy this week killing weeds and cultivating the rain packed top soil.

Only seven tenths inch of rain has fallen since June 1 and that fell Thursday night, June 3.

Elmer Denson Very Ill Report This Morning

Elmer Denson of this city, is gravely ill in the sanitarium in Plainview this morning suffering from bichloride of mercury poisoning, but Marvin English, who visited him last night, leaving the sanitarium about 12 o'clock, said Denson had a chance to pull through.

Denson was found by passersby yesterday at about 11 o'clock just east of the city limits of Plainview on the Floydada highway. He was suffering intensely and was hurried to the hospital. He had gone to Plainview on business in connection with the planned opening of a new barber shop in Floydada for which repairs and changes on the interior of a west side building had been under way the past two days.

So Long, Hubby

Hearty farewell was this which George Palmer Putnam gave his wife, Aviatrice Amelia Earhart, a few seconds before she climbed into her $80,000 Lockheed Electra plane at Miami to start a projected 28,000 mile flight around the world. Accompanied by her navigator, Capt. Fred Noonan, Mrs. Putnam plotted an east-west course down to South America, thence to Africa, Asia, Australia and finally homeward to Oakland, California.

High Water Stops Traffic From The East Monday Night

Highway and Railway Bridges Between Paducah and Quanah Washed Out

Heavy rains in the area between Paducah and Quanah Monday night halted railway and highway traffic to Floydada from the east over Highway 28 and the highway from Paducah to Quanah Tuesday.

A two bent bridge on the Quanah, Acme and Pacific over an ordinarily dry gorge was washed out Monday night by a 4 to 6 inch rain that also did considerable damage to crops. Freight and passenger service was halted until Wednesday when both were resumed. However the washout had been only temporarily repaired the report said.

The washout occurred about 36 miles out of Quanah between Swearingen and Paducah. The passenger train was running only 10 minutes late Wednesday.

Two highway bridges between Quanah and Paducah were washed out by the same rain according to a report from Wichita Falls. Water covered Highway 28 between Paducah and Crowell stopping traffic from that direction.

Little or no hail was reported in the area of the washouts but further north and into Oklahoma a great deal of damage was done by hail. In some cases the hail loss was 75 percent and higher.

Paving Contract Let On Floydada-Motley County Line Highway

The asphalt seal coat contract for Highway 28 from Floydada to the Motley county line has been let to the Public Construction company for $10,522, according to an announcement from the State Highway department at Austin.

There is 16.2 miles of topping to be laid, according to the statement.

The local State Highway department had not been informed when construction would begin.

Work on Highway 207 continued at a slow pace due to the weather. Bridge building is exceedingly difficult because any digging done for bridge foundations immediately fills with water.

No date has been set for the completion of 207, and work is likely to continue up into the summer unless a change is made in the present plans.

First 1937 Wheat Sold On Tuesday

Trial Run of 9.9 Acres Near Floydada Nets Yield Of 17.5 Bushels

Grain Too Wet

Farmers Grain Company Purchaser, Red Cross, PTA Get Proceeds

Perhaps it can't be said that the wheat harvest in Floyd County is under way but certainly the first wheat has been harvested and marketed from the 1937 crop of the high plains of Texas.

Martin & Zimmerman Tuesday afternoon made a 9.9 acre trial cutting on their farm immediately southeast of Floydada a mile where a combine harvested 172.66 bushels of wheat in an hour or two of operations, taking 17.5 bushels per acre yield.

News of the first cutting of 1937 wheat on the plains spread fast and there were two or three dozen visitors out to see the wheels begin turning in what promises to be the county's biggest wheat crop since wheat was introduced in the area.

Farmers Grain Company purchased the first 49-bushel load hauled to town at $1.25 and the proceeds, the owners announced, will be divided evenly between American Red Cross, Floyd County Chapter, and the Andrews Ward Parent-Teachers Association. The wheat tested 58 pounds and was full green. Another two days of drying weather, however, would have seen the field ready to harvest and it is probable the owners will put the combine back into the field this week-end.

L. F. Martin drove the tractor on the first cutting. Dave and Slim Lewis operated the combine and L. H. Dorrell hauled the first load to the elevator. An eight-year-old combine was used and did a good job.

Cutting Too Wet

The harvest has been gradually moving westward the past two weeks and is in full swing in the area around Crowell with cutting also getting to be rather general in Motley County, first neighbor to Floyd on the east. However, reports indicate the farmers have been harvesting a crop that was entirely too green and wet and the wheat has not sold well on the market.

Production Looks Good

Tuesday afternoon's results on the Martin & Zimmerman wheat looked good for general production averages in the county this season. The wheat of black hull variety, had no smut whatever, was thin enough on the ground that a hat pitched out on it probably would have fallen through and had twelve mesh heads with two grains to the mesh. Such grain, measuring out seventeen and a half bushels per acre, would indicate that there are a good many thousand acres of twenty and twenty-five bushel wheat crops in the county. The larger area of the cutting was estimated carefully and the total production, of course, is exact.

Gradually a few more machines will be put into the fields and Monday is expected to see a half dozen trial runs. It will be ten days, however, before the movement of the crop will really get under way. Farmers are tuning up combines and tractors, getting trailers and trucks ready, and barring hail or heavy rains, will soon be in the harvest up to the ears.

J.C. Penney Ready For Business In Remodeled Store

The newly remodeled and repaired J. C. Penney Company store on the south side of the square has 2,500 square feet of selling space, according to its manager, Walton Hale.

J. C. Penney Company came to Floydada in November 1929. The doubling of their frontage and the remodeling of the interior makes the store one of the finest in the Panhandle.

The stock has been rearranged and the store is open for business. A complete line of men's and women's clothing is offered.

FEW GRANARIES NOW

When a good wheat crop, like the one now ready to be harvested, comes along it is a pointed reminder that times have changed in the run of twenty years.

MILLS HANDLE THE STORAGE

Without arguing whether it is a good or bad thing, the fact remains that the farmer has turned over the storage business to the elevators and mills.

GOOD MOSQUITO CROP

Along with a good wheat crop and good row crop season we are also to have a good mosquito crop on the plains.

NO GALVESTON MARKET

Some wheat people were rather hopeful that this year again, after a lapse of several years, the exporters would be in the market for the grain crop of the southwest in competition with the mills.

FOUR GRAIN MESHES

Whisper it, but there are three-grain and even four-grain meshes in some Floyd County wheat fields, and a good many meshes to the head.

HARD ON THE COWS

Rather facetiously a fellow said the other day it is going to take milk cows a long time to pay for the good wheat crop we are having this year.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON - Those hopefuls who look to Dr. Townsend for the answers for old age problems are encouraged by the thought that the third national convention of Townsendites to be held here late in July may give the movement new impetus.

Dr. Townsend and his devoted followers have not been very well pleased by recent developments.

In an attempt to borrow $5,000,000 on his personal promissory notes for loans of $10 and up, Dr. Townsend encountered the opposition of the Securities Exchange Commission.

Bitterness over this incident partially dictated the answer of Townsend clubs throughout the country that they would hold a national convention this summer in Washington's Powhatan hotel, which is located directly across Pennsylvania avenue from the SEC.

The doctor notified all those who had already advanced him money that unless they wished to have him keep it as a gift, their loans would be returned.

Depleted Wild Life Resources Spur Uncle Sam to Greatest Restoration Drive

ENLISTED on a far-flung front, Uncle Sam's agents are engaged these days in their greatest drive to restore the wild life of America.

Spurred by the steady dwindling of wild life in this country in the last 50 years, the government is setting out to save what is left and to build up these resources for the future.

Four government services combine to lead the battle. These are the United States Forest Service, the Biological Survey, the Bureau of Fisheries and the National Parks Service.

CHIEF duties face the forest service since more than 200,000,000 acres of federal lands are under its direction.

To achieve a vast restoration, therefore, Uncle Sam is launching this new offensive. "Shock" troops in this fight are the 800 rangers of the forest service.

Boys Acclaim Barbecue Picnic "Huge Success" And Lay Plans For Another

Sixty six were present for the annual 4 H club picnic at the city auditorium in Lockney Friday afternoon. The business meeting began at 2 o'clock.

A steak barbecue "with all the trimmings" was given for the boys at the fathers at 6 o'clock. County Agent D. F. Bredthauer presided over the barbecue and the boys were all agreeing that he could barbecue "something swell."

Officers elected at the business meeting for the coming year are Percy Tate, president; Lockney Curtis Kelley, vice-president; Paul Kopp, secretary-treasurer, and Robert Lee Smith, reporter, Lockney.

The members in the "one variety contest" elected officers at the meeting. Percy Tate, president; Curtis Kelley, secretary-treasurer, and Paul Kopp, reporter.

The Floyd county 4H cotton members made an outline of their program for the remainder of the season, also giving a report on work that has been done by the club in regard to the one variety cotton cooperative that was set up in 1936 at the Aiken 4H club.

This report will be sent to L. S. Johnson state agent at College Station, to have the club recognized as contestant for the Anderson-Clanton prize which will be offered in October to four boys in one county who make the best cotton record in 1937.

The prize is a trip to the National Cotton Congress in Chicago and the International Stock show with all expenses paid.

L. W. Chapman, assistant agent, took to the club on "How to Fill Record Books."

Eight fathers were present for the picnic: D. D. Boyles, Aiken; L. N. Clarke, Lockney; C. A. Cumble, Floydada; T. N. Clark, Lockney; Bert Bobbitt, Sterley; Ben Quebe, Lockney; Robert Smith, Jr., Lockney; and Henry Schacht, of Lockney.

Plans for another picnic to be held during the last of July or the first of August were made. Instead of a steak barbecue a "chicken fest" is being planned.

When Violence Flared On Steel Front

When the air had cleared of tear gas and gunpowder smoke at the scene above, in an open field near the Republic steel plant in South Chicago, police counted five dead and upwards of 100 injured as a result of a bloody clash between 1000 steel strikers and sympathizers and officers. The clash, shown graphically here, came after demonstrators attempted to march on the Republic plant which continued in operation despite a strike call of the C. I. O. Police quickly repulsed the marchers. The riot was the first blood spilled in the far-flung strike affecting Republic's plants in several states. Unions demanded a contract.

Clean And Pure Food Needed By Children To Fight Summer Ills

State Health Department Issues Warning to Parents and Offers Suggestions

AUSTIN, June 6—The season of the year when the most complaints are received on account of diarrhea and dysentery or "Summer Complaint" is here and the Texas State Department of Health has issued a warning to parents in regard to this and offers the following suggestions to prevent its occurrence among babies. The chief causes of diarrhea include impure milk, water and contaminated foods, overheating, fever from any cause, too much sugar or cream in the diet, overfeeding and underfeeding.

Mother's milk is the safest food. However, if other milk must be used, the supply should be clean and pure. The water should be clean, pure and boiled. Any other articles of food should be fresh and clean and no unsuitable articles of food such as cake and candy should be given.

If a feeding formula is used, it should be one prescribed by a physician and it must be prepared with extreme attention to cleanliness and kept cold until used. The baby should be fed at regular intervals and should not be forced to eat when he is not hungry. The baby should be kept cool and comfortable in hot weather, should not be over-clothed and should be given plenty of clean water to drink. Any infections which develop in the nose, throat, ears or other organs should receive prompt attention from a physician.

If diarrhea develops, feedings should be stopped or greatly diminished and an abundance of water should be given. Cathartics should not be given except on the advice of a physician. If the diarrhea does not improve within a short time, a physician should be called and a complete examination should be made.

The three F-s, flies, fingers and food are the three sources of danger to the baby. Flies carry disease germs to the baby and to its food. Fingers and hands that are not thoroughly washed before preparing the baby's food are likely to be germ carriers also. All milk and water that is intended for the baby should be boiled for five minutes, then carefully covered and kept in a cool place until used.

WILDLIFE SPECIALIST CLOCKS SPEED OF FOX

How fast can a fox run?
On a South Carolina road last winter, a gray fox answered the question with a burst of speed at the rate of 26 miles an hour for about 100 yards, gradually slowing to a speed of about 21 miles an hour at the end of a half mile.

Clarence Cottam, of the Bureau of Biological Survey, was inspecting wildlife areas in the Southeast, when the fox jumped ahead of his car.

Cottam interested in all phases of wildlife, tooted the horn to encourage the fox to extend himself, and, watching the speedometer, followed close. He found he had to throttle down as the fox lost speed after the first spurt.

How does the speed of this fox compare with the best efforts by men? Sprinting at 26 miles an hour the fox went the first hundred yards in a shade less than 8 seconds. The world record for the 100-yard dash is 9.4 seconds. At 21 miles an hour the fox would go half a mile in a little less than 1 minute and 26 seconds. The fastest half mile by a man is just under 1 minute 50 seconds.

An aerial map recently made of the Brazos River basin disclosed that one farmer had 140 acres of land that he didn't know he had. The farmer had been paying taxes on a section of land, or 640 acres, but the aerial map showed that his land holdings totalled 780 acres. This incident leads the Texas Planning Board to believe the exact area of Texas will not be known until an accurate aerial map is made of the State.

Blasting New Waterholes Spreads Stock Over Range

Blasting to check soil erosion may seem far-fetched, yet that is exactly what the Soil Conservation Service is doing in the John Day range country of northern Oregon.

Here there were only a few scattered water holes around which the soil was bare because of overgrazing and trampling. To distribute the livestock more evenly, the Service—with the aid of one CCC camp—blasted open more than 40 new springs among the hills.

At various places in the bottom land where there was seepage or other indication of water near the surface explosives also were used to blast open a new spring and create a small basin for collecting the water. The springs were then covered or fenced to protect them from the trampling animals. Trees were cut, hollowed out, and laid end to end as watering troughs.

Spreading the animals more evenly over the range thickens the forage cover which protects the soil against erosion and makes it more porous and absorptive.

In other sections of the western range country, the Service is cleaning out existing springs or changing fences to limit the number of animals watering at a hole. As in the John Day country, the springs are protected by fences or covering and watering troughs are built.

Northwest Is Last Big Area of Virgin Timber

Although it includes less than 2 percent of the Nation's area, the big timber region in western Oregon and Washington has about 35 percent of the saw timber in the country. Of the 35 million acres in the region, nearly four-fifths, or 29 million acres, is timberland. These acres contain 546 million feet of lumber.

These are highlights from the survey of forest conditions in the Pacific Northwest, now being made by the Forest Service. Western Oregon now has a greater area of virgin timber than western Washington, which in recent years has been cutting faster than Oregon.

In this big timber country, conditions are slightly different than in most of the previous areas of heavy cutting. Only a little more than half of the timberland is in private ownership. Nearly a half is publicly owned—nearly a third in National forests. These are managed to maintain a continuing supply of timber.

Fieldwork on the Washington and Oregon sections of the Nationwide forest survey is complete. For the country as a whole about two-fifths of the fieldwork has been done. When the record for all areas is in hand, foresters will have a complete inventory on which to base a forest policy which will best serve future needs. The survey will indicate what needs to be done to maintain adequate timber supplies and other forest values for all time.

Merchants Expect Increased Buying At Wheat Harvest

The continued rains over Floyd county the past week seem to have slackened business temporarily according to a survey made Monday. Clothing and mercantile establishments generally lost trade during the week but all reported a general upturn over the past six weeks. Rain Saturday week was the principal cause of the business decline the majority of the clothing merchants said.

An optimistic outlook was evidenced by the merchants interviewed. The coming wheat harvest promises to place money in the pockets of the farmers, and eventually lighten the loaded shelves in the business houses.

The grocery businesses were not as crowded Saturday because the majority of the customers had done their buying during the week while the fields were too wet for work, the grocers said.

Automobile and machinery agencies report a more rapid increase due to the coming harvest. The wheat farmers are preparing their machinery for harvest and in many cases buying new equipment.

A general upturn was noted in all business houses over the past six weeks. Many of the merchants are expecting more buying this year than in a number of years if the wheat crops are harvested without great loss.

Bankers Attend Convention In Amarillo Thursday

County Agent Tells How To Stop Insect Damage Economically

Serious damage to orchards and grapevines by insects is being reported to County Agent D. F. Bredthauer.

"Caterpillar damage in grapevines can easily be controlled by thoroughly spraying the vines with one pound of arsenate of lead to fifty gallons of water, to which should be added three pounds of slack lime. Under no conditions should the arsenate be used without the addition of lime as more or less serious injury to the foliage is likely to result, the county agent said.

"During the past week the green apple aphid has become very abundant in apple and ash trees, and in some cases are causing the leaves at the end of the branch to curl up into large knots. It is almost impossible to hit the aphid with any spray, therefore it is necessary to dip the ends of the branches where most of the aphid are found in a pail of spray material for Green Apple aphid, using 1/2 pint of nicotine sulphate to every 6 gallons of water in which has been dissolved 1/2 pound of soap. The water used to dissolve the soap should be hot," Bredthauer finished.

THE BROTHERLY LOVE OF JUDAH

Golden Text.—Let Brotherly Love Continue. Hebrews 13:1.

LESSON TEXT:—Genesis 44:1-45:15.

Printed Text.—Genesis 44:18-34.

18 ¶Then Judah came near unto him, and said, Oh my lord, let thy servant, I pray thee, speak a word in my lord's ears, and let thine anger burn against thy servant: for thou art even as Pharaoh.

19 My lord asked his servants, saying, Have ye a father, or a brother?

20 And we said unto my lord, We have a father, an old man, and a child of his old age, a little one; and his brother is dead, and he alone is left of his mother, and his father loveth him.

21 And thou saidst unto thy servants, Bring him down unto me, that I may set mine eyes upon him.

22 And we said unto my lord, The lad cannot leave his father: for if he should leave his father, his father would die.

23 And thou saidst unto thy servants, Except your youngest brother come down with you, ye shall see my face no more.

24 And it came to pass when we came up unto thy servant my father we told him the words of my lord.

25 And our father said, Go again, and buy us a little food.

26 And we said, We cannot go down: for our youngest brother be with us, then will we go down: for we may not see the man's face, except our youngest brother be with us.

27 And thy servant my father said unto us, Ye know that my wife bare me two sons:

28 And the one went out from me, and I said, Surely he is torn in pieces; and I saw him not since:

29 And if ye take this also from me, and mischief befall him, ye shall bring down my gray hairs with sorrow to the grave.

30 Now therefore when I come to thy servant my father, and the lad be not with us; seeing that his life is bound up in the lad's life:

31 It shall come to pass, when he seeth that the lad is not with us, that he will die: and thy servants shall bring down the gray hairs of thy servant our father with sorrow to the grave.

32 For thy servant became surety for the lad unto my father, saying, If I bring him not unto thee, then I shall bear the blame to my father for ever.

33 Now therefore, I pray thee, let thy servant abide instead of the lad a bondman to my lord; and let the lad go up with his brethren.

34 For how shall I go up to my father, and the lad be not with me? lest peradventure I see the evil that shall come on my father.

Time and Place.—The events of this less took place during the years of famine: B. C.—1716—to B. C. 1710. Joseph lived in Zoan, the capital city of Egypt. Jacob and his family lived near Beersheba in Pal-

Lesson Comment

In the interview of Judah, the edest son of Jacob, the story of Joseph reaches its highest point. Judah, Joseph's brother, we must remember, did not know of Joseph as the brother who had been sold into slavery in Egypt years before.

Judah, as a matter of fact, had a great deal to do with Joseph's being in Egypt. When Joseph's brethren had thrown him into the pit and intended to abandon him there, Judah had seen the caravan coming, and proposed, rather, that they should sell Joseph to this caravan going into Egypt.

It seemed like a merciful proposal in comparison to the abandoning of Joseph to a cruel fate in the pit; and some readers have supposed that Judah's motive was merciful, though he spoke of profit, so that he might influence his brothers.

At any rate, Judah had played a strange part in fate, and fate was playing him a strange part now; for Joseph, who was in Egypt by his act, was now the man of power before whom Judah was cringing with fear and subservience.

Assuming that Judah was not wholly bad, and may have developed in character during the years, one sees him in a favorable light in the episode, apart from his fear and cringing.

If he had sold Joseph into Egypt, he was now not willing to leave Benjamin there. He makes a plea concerning his father's old age, and the tragedy it will be if he goes back to his father, bereft of one son, to tell him that Benjamin, the other son of his old age, has been left in Egypt.

Judah's plea rises to its best as he proposes that he himself should stay as a bondsman, and the Benjamin should go back with his brethren.

One should perhaps speak of the backgrounds of the story, which are probably well enough known to Bible readers. The brothers had gone down on repeated visits to Egypt to find food that they might take back to famine-stricken Canaan.

Joseph had given instruction that as they were returning home with their sacks full, a silver cup should be put in Benjamin's sack. Then he had sent after his brethren, and when the cup was found there, Benjamin had been accused of stealing it.

It was all, of course, a clever ruse on Joseph's part to hold his brothers, and as an instance in the story, it leads up to that emotional crisis of his revelation of himself as the brother whom they had sold into slavery, now ready to deal with them not in revenge, but with magnanimity.

One need hardly stress the fine qualities and teachings that emerge in this story with such extremes of light and shadow. When one realizes the spirit of revenge that is still abroad in the world, one has reason to sense the vision and the moral quality of the writer who set forgiveness and magnanimity upon the highest pinnacle in this ancient story.

If men generally could catch even a small part of that moral and spiritual vision, how different this world would be! Wrongs could be righted and sins could be rebuked with a greater keenness and overwhelming power than can ever be manifested in doing evil for evil.

court apparently will affect bank night in Floydada, along with all those in every other city and town in the state. Bank nights have been held on Tuesdays for the past three years at the local theatre and each recurring week the performance has been attended by large crowds when the prize began to assume sizable proportions. Local theatre men have declared the plan has met with enthusiasm by the public and that its operation has been the means of keeping the local show operating during the period of depression, when otherwise it might have had to close. Many people are registered in the local bank night book, including a large per cent of the population in this and many surrounding communities.

sown broadcast. Spraying the Poison
This quantity of mash should be broadcast so as to cover about five acres. A good practice is to mix at night and sow early in the morning before nine o'clock since the hoppers do not actively feed until the dew dries up. If it is desired to kill hoppers in grass land, sow over the entire acreage to be protected. Where they are migrating from fence rows or pastures into cultivated crops, sow the fence rows on a fairly broad margin of the pasture, and also a broad margin of the cultivated crop with the mixture.

Amyl acetate is preferable in the formula but if it cannot be obtained, substitute six lemons for one ounce of the amyl acetate. This should be diluted with water as with other substances, but one should use both juice and rinds, grinding the latter in a fine food chopper. Do not place the mash in piles. Do not use lead arsenate. Use Paris green or white arsenic. Do not use cheap banana oil or bronzing liquids.
