Suites Confident Local REA Project Will Be Authorized

Lockney Publisher Sells This Area REA Commission

Rural Electrification For Power Is New Angle In Washington

Unit Cost High

Services Obtained by Floyd County Man Interest Members of Board

L. Suites, publisher of The Beacon, returned home today of this week from Washington, D. C., confident that eventual county farmers will see the realization of a federal electrification project.

Without further effort and without a continued interest determination on the part of interested farmers.

The idea of rural electrification caught on like wildfire all over the United States and for every purpose there are thousands of dollars in applications. Suites yesterday over the telephone, asked by a reporter what his county's application had some very interesting news with the electrification commission," Suites said. "They did not come up demanding a lot of things but simply presenting proposition on its merits. Our idea of rural electrification not for rural lighting but also for power for irrigation was a new proposal to us before the administration, our visit there was first to give them light on the of rural electrification sought. We have been dealing heretofore rural communities where the light and simple electric power is the extent of the need. It was our job to 'sell' the administration on our area and get it. It took us three days to get the board were very courteous, very anxious to know our needs, the new angle presented by County's application was one (See Suites back page)

Elder Smith Succumbs at Santa Anna

Rites For Pioneer Minister Held Sunday Afternoon At Lockney

Here Since 1890

Wide Range of Activities Marked Career of Long-Time Resident

The closing chapter of an interesting and useful career as a pioneer Floyd County resident for nearly fifty years was finished Saturday of last week when Elder C. W. Smith, pioneer minister, farmer and business man, succumbed in a hospital at Santa Anna, Texas, following an operation.

His death at the age of 82 was followed by funeral rites held Sunday afternoon at the West Side Church of Christ in Lockney, where Elder J. T. Corder, of Tulsa, and Elder Frank Copeland, of Lockney, conducted the service, followed by interment in Lockney Cemetery.

Survivors include eleven children, forty-nine grandchildren, and nineteen great grandchildren, children all being present for the funeral rites, except one daughter, Mrs. Cooper who was ill. Friends and co-workers from a wide area also attended the funeral.

Surviving children are Mrs. Bessie Cooper of Childress; Mrs. Edith Hall of Lockney; Carl Smith of Happy, Mrs. Laura Bedingfield of El Paso; Mrs. Elva Bradshaw of Anthony, Kansas; Mrs. Irene Pope, Mrs. Glenn Jackson, Mrs. Alma Holmes, Miss Alice and Milton Smith, of Mickey; and Mrs. Maggie Tinnin of Barwise.

One son, Burley, eldest child of the family, died in 1900, and Elder Smith was also preceded in death by his wife in 1910, who before her marriage was Annie Mickey, also a pioneering Floyd County family.

Grandsons of Elder Smith were active preachers. They were Harold and Carroll Hall, Dorrell and Jack Smith, Guerness Baker, R. V. Tinnin. Flower attendants were granddaughters, being Lola Mae and Ina Mae Bedingfield, Oleta Tinnin, Ann Baker, Mary Annie Hall and Emma Lou Pope.

C. W. Smith was a native of Holmes County, Mississippi, where he was born on June 6, 1855. His life of varied interests in this country included many years of live stock farming and merchandising, in which he engaged successfully, at the same time giving much of his effort to work as a minister of the Church of Christ. He preached for more than fifty years, and was one of the active organizers of the Lockney Christian College, which for many years was one of the few church schools in this section. He was active in business until a few months ago when his health failed.

Malting Barley Tests Show Up to Advantage on Potts and Harris Irrigated Farms

Sugar Beet And Sugar Beet Seed Experiments Also Promise Well

Two interesting farm tests conducted in the county this year by farmers who are experimenting to find money crops of higher potential income than the ordinary cotton, wheat and feed crops, were made by Becton Potts, southwest of Lockney, and Claude Harris, of Pleasant Valley, both of whom had eight acres of bright golden barley bred especially for malting purposes, although having the same feeding value as other barleys.

The Potts barley, harvested early last week yielded 76 bushels per acre, testing 46 pounds. County Agent D. F. Bredthauer this week had forwarded samples of barley from both farms to breweries. The Harris barley was harvested Friday of last week, production figures were not available. His barley was produced from Atlas barley seed grown at San Luis Obispo, California, bought from Charles Biogini, while Pott's barley seed came from the Great Western Malting Company at Vancouver, Washington. His are of the Hanchen variety. This variety sold in September of last year at $1.47 per bushel in Minneapolis, compared with $1.20 per 100 pounds, about the present price of ordinary barley on the market here.

Beet Tests Interesting The best test tracts scattered over the irrigation districts, some eight in all, continue to show up good. Growth is excellent in all the plots, Mr. Bredthauer said the first of the week.

At least one farmer in the county also is making experiments with the growth of beet seed. Beet seed are grown on second-year stalks of sugar beets. A sample in the First National Bank here this week indicated the seed are maturing satisfactorily and that the production will be excellent. Casey Yarbrough, who is on a T. L. & D. Farm is growing this seed crop. T. L. & D. has been interested in this type of experiment for a number of years. "One interesting thing about these experiments is the way these fellows take to them and work with us on them. In the case of both beet and malt barley experiments, however, the farmer is taking no chance because the barley is good for feed if it does not meet specifications of the malt makers," Mr. Bredthauer said, adding also that there's nothing better than sugar beets to make a horse sicken up and get fat.

Highway 28 Topping Job Completed Friday

Bridge on 267 Nears Completion As The Forms Are Knocked Away

Speed plus was shown by the Public Construction company in the laying of the asphalt-gravel topping on highway 28 from Floydada to the Motley county line.

The company made the claim that they could lay a mile of topping every hour with their specially designed equipment. This schedule was interrupted Monday when the asphalt supply failed. After two days of idleness, waiting on the belated asphalt shipment, the topping continued and was finished at noon Friday.

Trucks and other equipment were being loaded and prepared for movement Friday afternoon presumably to Canyon where the company is reported to have another topping job waiting them.

Work on Highway 267 continued at a medium pace. The forms were being knocked from around the concrete Friday while work continued in the cut north of the bridge. Little work was being done south of the bridge. Lack of equipment can be blamed for the slowness of the job between Floydada and Ralls. Undoubtedly more men and machinery are needed.

Council Has Talks About Light Plant

But No Official Action Taken And Results In Matter Not Disclosed

Survey Under Way

Vote Invites Tuco To Put In Writing Any Proposals They May Have

No official action was taken and no information given on the light plant discussions held at Tuesday night's session of the city council, but attendance of Engineer Cox of Cornell and Company employed by the city more than a year ago, and the fact that a survey of light consumption and probable support for a municipally-owned and operated light plant in Floydada has been under way for several days, affords proof that members of the council have not abandoned the idea of a municipal light plant.

Impatience has been expressed from several sources during the past several weeks at delay on the part of the city fathers in getting action on the proposal adopted in May 1936 by voters of the city. At that time a vote on the proposal of constructing a municipal plant and distribution lines in Floydada was given a huge majority. Members of the council, however, shortly after canvassing the returns of the election and declaring its results, announced they would make haste slowly. This spring all members of the council were re-elected without opposition.

Yesterday, acting on instructions from the council, Secretary S. E. Duncan declined to disclose for publication results of the survey made on consumption of electric energy, the proportion of favorable signs of questionnaires submitted or the form of the questionnaire or pledge. "When the council takes any official action of any sort they will undoubtedly spread the results of their decision on the minutes," he said. Until such time, however, he indicated he would not be in position to give information on the work and negotiations, if any, the council may be carrying on.

The vote in the spring of last year was approximately 80 per cent to 20 in favor of municipal light plant, financed by the pledge of $400 per month in city water revenues and revenues of the proposed light plant, but with the reservation that at no time would the property owners be called upon to pay for the plant through taxation or otherwise except from the above revenues. At that time it was unofficially estimated that $120,000 would be required to construct a plant and distribution lines that would serve the city.

Another interesting angle to the situation is afforded by the recorded vote of the council Tuesday night in inviting Texas-New Mexico Utilities Company to put in writing and submit to the council any further proposals that company may have for the city. The vote was prompted, it was said, by the fact that representatives of the company had informally indicated to members of the council they had further proposals to make as to rates here. One rate reduction was put into effect in the earlier part of this year by the company.

WHISTLE OF THE CURLEW

What is the very best and most infallible weather sign you know?

A halo around the moon with one, two or three stars encircled is a good sign of rain. Tarantulas traveling to higher ground is recognized as a good sign that moisture is to fall, heavy feathering on fowls and thick bark on trees that a hard winter is coming. A new moon that Indians' bow will hang on without falling is an indication that dry weather is in prospect.

And when the curlew whistles between dawn and sunrise there is to be a change in weather. In the fall or winter it may mean a norther, in the spring the same, but in the summer most, most likely a change from dry to wet.

The curlew's whistle has been heard in Floyd County in the past few days. The showery days we have had could have been predicted ten days ago infallibly. The curlew knows. Yes, there are curlews still in Floyd County. For the day when the sportsmen clean them out and we lose our best sign that a change in the weather is due.

POTASH TO PENNSYLVANIA

Do you have a potash deposit on your farm? Do you know of any of your neighbors who do have? There are no potash works here, nobody has been digging wells in these parts for wealth of this sort that may have been stored by nature under your acres or any of your neighbors. Then how does it come that potash is being shipped from Floydada to Pennsylvania?

The answer is that you have been hauling potash to the gins here and your neighbors to Lockney, Lakeview, South Plains, Dougherty, for a number of years to be burned up, part of it going into the atmosphere and the remainder as a potash deposit in the gin refuse pit.

Pennsylvania Dutchmen, maybe the Irish, any way Pennsylvanians, are digging into the ashes of burrs burned off your farm, paying the railways several dollars per ton to haul them to Pennsylvania, and after processing, sending these ashes down into the tobacco country as fertilizer for the lands peoples laid waste to there before the present generation was born, much in the same manner as we are laying waste to our farms in Floyd County now.

No wonder the northerners feel superior to Texans when they take "refuse" we cast off and make millions from it. No wonder they come to Texas and try to tell us how to pronounce Sam Houston's name.

WHAT IS A GRAVIMETER?

You read in The Hesperian last week, we hope, where the Gulf Refining Company, evolved from another Pennsylvanian's idea, plans gravimeter tests in Floyd County. Being in the oil business we assume the Gulf's tests have to do with oil or the possibility of oil, which, indeed, it does.

Gravimetry, Mr. Webster's dictionary tells us, is the process of testing the weight or density of materials. The oil man's gravimeter measures the weight or density of the earth above which we tread and paints a picture for the trained mind of convolutions the stratas below us take, of whatsoever kind.

Oil men would like to know if there is a connection between the oil fields of New Mexico and southwestern Texas and the oil fields of the north panhandle and the country east of the plains area. The gravimeter tests will furnish a part of the patient, plodding processes that will some day tell us.

The gravimeter, in short, measures gravity—the pull of the substances that make up the earth below us. Experience and wisdom will be combined to determine as best mortal man can what a provident nature has stored up beneath the glacial deposits or the former sea beds that we farm and call good or bad.

TWO ENVIABLE EDITIONS

Two enviable editions of two enviable newspapers reached the office of The Hesperian last week. One of these, The Canyon News, was occasioned by the dedication of Canyon's new post office. For many reasons it was a newspaper of outstanding merit, among these being, in addition to the news and advertising content, a "print" that was a credit to the craftsmanship of the panhandle.

The other edition which occasions this comment was published at Clarendon by The Leader. Full of historical and legendary lore, it afforded an insight into the history which sets the background, the tempo for present activities in this area. Donley County's fiftieth anniversary was the occasion for this special edition.

Congratulations, Mr. Warwick, Mr. Estlack, editors, respectively, at Canyon, at Clarendon. Iowa gave Texas an adopted son of whom we are proud; New Mexico sent us back an old boy that ought to have stayed in Texas to begin with.

GLASS HOUSES, GLASS PLANOS

Pianos that look like glass, pianos that you can see through, have been made, and are being taken seriously in some parts of this world. Novelty, toiletware, fountain pens of a transparent substance already are common.

Mr. E. I. Du Pont, whom our favorite street discussers like to cuss most fervently, has had it done. Taking plastics developed from cellulose (the fibrous parts of plants and trees including cotton) this rich man and his associates are making furniture of all kinds as durable as the wooden stool or baby cradle your great grandfather made and now an heirloom in your home perhaps. But Mr. Du Pont makes a stool or piano that you can see through, if you want that kind, and has a designer who thinks out and puts on paper the design—an added touch of beauty you note in transparent boxes for flowers, hats and other objects where an added touch of beauty is desired for an attractive article.

As long as you and I pay Mr. Du Pont for his thinking he cares little how much we cuss him in our unthinking way for being a rich man, a supporter of the Liberty League, an associate of Al Smith. Mr. Du Pont thinks and hires trained thinkers. In Texas we cuss and hire untrained cussers. Mr. Du Pont will be seeing us glass houses next. He knows how right now. He is waiting for us to get a long breath between cussing spells when he will have our names on the dotted lines.

NOW THIS GUY AGAIN!

As A Farm Woman Thinks

Nellie Witt Spikes

My yard is beautiful to me, but I know the man who does landscaping would lift his hands and murmur to himself, "Nothing right, not one thing as it should be." I snap my fingers and my answers to his murmurs would be, "Let those who want their yards landscaped, hire you, but as for myself, I shall follow my own ideas."

In front of our small house, my husband has built a porch of iron pipes and net wire. Four tall pine posts support this framework. A silver lace vine, covered with a foam of white flowers, a morning glory that twines in and out of the silver lace vine and opens its heavenly blue flowers amid the filmy white lace. (Such beauty takes one's breath). A Medea, loved from my childhood days, and a honeysuckle cover this porch. Concrete makes the floor. We eat our breakfast there these lovely summer mornings.

On one side of the cement walk, leading to the road, is a lawn of bermuda grass, on the west side is my flower garden. A low rock fence surrounds my yard, (or will when I can finish one side).

"Oh you have an Old English Flower garden," delightedly exclaimed Miss Fern from England, who was visiting friends in Floydada. "May I have a peep?"

Four o'clocks open their soft petals and smile at the Zinnias that have been blooming all day. Dahlias and Asters bloom side by side with Petunias and Calendulas. A deep red hollyhock poses in front of the white roses that dangles from the white roses. Old fashioned rose moss dangles with bright color. Zinnia gold and Marigold, Princess feather, and Indian Blanket, African daisies both red and orange march up and down in rows in my flower garden.

Soon there will be the glory of the Gladiolas, thirty-five in all. The coral bells ring their sweet rose bells, the golden glow tosses its bells of gold. The sky blue spider-weeds keep company with the wine-cup. Both of these transplanted from their prairie homes. Oh, could we ever have too many flowers or leave any out that will grow here?

I like to rub the soft petals of the Zinnia and put the Annual Phlox to my cheek. I like to take my flowers to the little church and to the sick people as well.

In the early morning, while I should be making my beds, I go to my flower garden, look at the flowers that have opened in the night. Gather fresh ones for my vases. I have never been able to work by rule. Perhaps it would be better to have a set time to work, a place for everything and have everything in its place. But I would forget where the place was, and anyway, I always have more things, (junk, my husband call it), then I have places. Life seems too short and too sweet to always wash dishes when the garden calls.

The past week was a lovely week. Each day a new joy. The postman brought me such nice letters. "Mother," writes my son Wilson, from his new home in Tennessee, "I want you to come. The rain is beautiful, falling on the trees." Wilson is still my little boy, even if he has an M. D. degree, a beautiful wife, and an adorable little girl, Patay, and a foreign mustache. "For many months, I have wanted to tell you how much I enjoy your chatty, cleverly done column," writes Mrs. Gertrude Friend Scoggins. A letter from my little nephew in Amarillo wanting to know if he were needed on the farm, and signed "Yours Truly."

And the daily newspapers and magazines, the newsy Hesperian, is there ever a dull moment in my life?

Friends from Floydada, Mr. and Mrs. Merrick and baby came late Sunday afternoon and finished the ice cream left from our dinner.

Friends and flowers and family filling a farm woman's days and heart with the sweetness and love. I thank my dear heavenly Father for this wealth heaped up and running over.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON.—The C. I. O. has grown so fast, that while it is a recognized rival of the A. F. of L. technically it is little more than its name implies, a Committee for Industrial Organizations.

The C. I. O. has no constitution and it has no national convention. It hasn't had time yet to settle the question of the future relationship of the international and local unions. There has been no time for these details in the short turbulent life of the organizing committee which has grown and spread rapidly and is sending down roots of a national central organization of labor unions. There no longer seems the slightest chance of a reconciliation with the A. F. of L.

The C. I. O. sprouted last March when in a full meeting authority was given for the issuance of certificates of affiliation to national, international, state, regional, city central and other local groups.

International unions affiliated have begun to pay per capita dues to C. I. O. Just as they used to pay them to A. F. of L. There are some 227 local industrial unions which have been chartered since March in various industries, but are covered by the 26 national and international unions affiliated with C. I. O. so they are responsible to the central C. I. O. and pay per capita dues to it.

Similar to the state federations or central labor unions of the A. F. of L., the C. I. O. has some 30 industrial union councils to which it has given charters.

Beginning with eight affiliated international unions, the C. I. O. now claims to be adding about one a week end about 10 local industrial unions every 10 days. Unofficially the C. I. O. claims about 3,000,000 members and says that's more than the A. F. of L. has.

It is expected that the C. I. O. will call a convention some time in late summer or early fall, to organize a national labor federation on a permanent basis.

Back in November, 1935, a self-appointed committee of heads of international unions, John Lewis, Sidney Hillman, and other prominent labor leaders, got together to promote industrial unionism and to take advantage of opportunities for organizing which they thought the A. F. of L. had neglected. Except for its policy of taking in and chartering new unions as part of its organization, the basic nature of the committee, has remained unchanged from its inception.

When the plans of the committee conflicted more and more with those of the A. F. of L. the committee and most of the unions is represented broke away from the federation.

The A. F. of L. has a complex constitution with a system of voting strength allotted to federal unions, city centrals and international unions which has been worked out over many years. So far, the C. I. O. has no such equipment. Many small local unions have affiliated with the C. I. O., but their relationship in voting strength has yet to be settled. The relationship of unions claiming the same field is complex and must be untangled. But this is in the future.

C. I. O. is still a committee, accepting new members as national and international unions and their leaders volunteer to join. But this group will not and cannot continue for long that way.

Now that trailers are being air conditioned there seems to be nothing left for the stationary home but paying assessments.

Looking back on the restrictions and pressure the British government has recently placed on the royal family, we agree Edward was right—there's no future in the job.

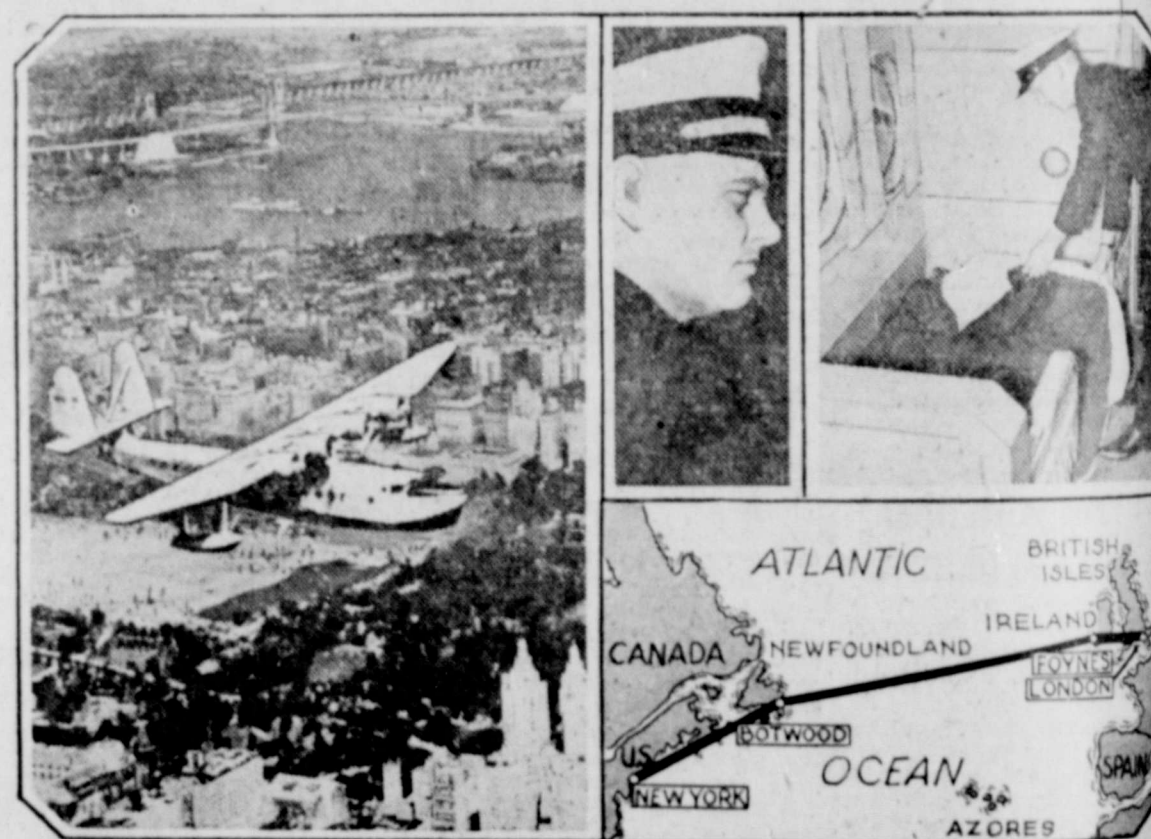

The paranoia, says an American doctor, is one with delusions of grandeur. But in Europe they call them dictators.

"Bigger, better fish" reported this year in Atlantic. Which shows that recovery has gone pretty deep after all.

These trans-polar flights look all right to us, but the Soviet pilots will need simpler names if they're going to popularize the trip.

'Strictly Business' Flights Over Atlantic Herald New Day in Commercial Aviation

Blazing a new trail through the airways, a clipper ship, of the type shown in the above picture soaring over mid-town New York, made the first successful "strictly business" flight over the Atlantic recently, by way of Botwood, Newfoundland, and Foynes, Ireland. Pan-American and British Imperial Airways are co-operating in making careful experiments for what is hoped to be a regular transatlantic passenger, mail, and freight service from New York to London. Capt. Harold E. Gray, above, commanded the huge Sikorsky flying boat which made the first flight. Pictured next is a member of the crew making up one of the berths, while below them is a map of the proposed route, and the one which the clipper ship followed.

A GIANT, four-motored Sikorsky flying boat slipped off its run-way at Port Washington, L. I., the other day, its engines humming a full-throated song of power. In a few seconds it gained altitude, pointed its nose to the northeast and roared off through the skies for Botwood, Newfoundland.

Lingering briefly at Botwood for refueling and inspection, the ship then headed out over the Atlantic Ocean, and winged its way to Foynes, Ireland. From there it was only a comparatively short hop to Croydon Field, London, and the first "strictly business" flight in the interests of commercial service from America to England had been completed.

Numerous flights have been made from America to different parts of Europe, each one indicating that some day it would be possible for regular commercial service to be established. Now with business and trade tie-ups more closely-knit than ever before, Pan-American Airways is attempting to demonstrate the time has come to take the first steps toward setting up this service.

However, there were obstacles to be overcome before even test flights could be made. Pan-American is conducting the experiment with British Imperial Airways, which gave rise to a question of international diplomacy.

In order to insure the greatest degree of safety in transporting passengers, mail, and freight, it was necessary to select coast-wise points at both terminals as the most vital links in the route. And Great Britain holds sway over both points—Botwood, Newfoundland, and Foynes, Ireland.

Much political red-tape had to be unwound before the two nations could agree on a working agreement, and that, only after British Imperial agreed to accept New York City as the final terminal of the system, instead of Montreal, as the English would have preferred.

For years Pan-American has been planning, experimenting, watching, and waiting for the day when it could actually begin operations. Already its giant clipper ships have spanned the Pacific, but that venture too, was completed successfully only after flight conditions and half a million experimental miles had been flown. Not until months of painstaking preparations had been finished did the China Clipper carry passengers and mail.

So it is with Pan-American's Atlantic service. Once again it will be a matter of trial and

Potatoes Good Crop For Irrigated Lands Indicated by Yields

R. E. Kenniston, 10 Miles West Lockney, Has Good Yield Ready For The Market Soon

That potatoes, grown commercially, is a good crop for irrigated lands in this area is indicated by the experience of R. E. Kenniston, among others, who lives west of Lockney ten miles.

Mr. Kenniston's yield last year was gratifying and an excellent market made the growth of the crop a successful venture financially. This year Mr. Kenniston and G. L. Kirk, of this city, are interested in a ten-acre field of potatoes on Mr. Kenniston's farm. The crop is now nearing maturity with a probable yield of 200 sacks per acre. Prices, however, are not so satisfactory this year and the net profit will not be so high, it now appears, Mr. Kirk said. Samples of the potatoes, of large and uniform size, were being shown by Mr. Kirk here following a visit to the farm of Mr. Kenniston. Considerable machinery and technical knowledge of how to grow and handle the potatoes is required for successful operation.

The crop will not be gathered for several days probably.

The body has been shipped to relatives in Houston.

Let's Talk About Clothes

DENTON, July 13.—Dame Fashion cannot get along without her sister, Lady Complexion Hints. The most glamorous or attractive costume cannot do nothing for a woman who has forgotten to take care of her skin.

During the past several years summer clothes have called for and been designed around dark skins, and those unfortunate who could not manage the tan had to apply dark creams and powder to keep in style. The trend this year is toward naturalness in skin make-up as in everything else.

To be fashionable today one must acquire a moderate tan, not black and not white, which is about the amount most people would get under ordinary summer circumstances anyway. This means that one can join in any sort of outdoor activity without fear, but that the long hours of arduous sun-bathing are no longer necessary.

If an over-dose of sunshine is received, the victim should take advantage of the three or four creams now on the market which really take the redness and pain away from the burn overnight. Then a generous supply of skin oil will help the inevitable dryness that follows.

If the skin is too white for that "sporty look," girls at Texas State College for Women advocate about ten or fifteen minutes in the sun every day. One should not apply a great deal of cooling cream after such outings for most of these lotions take away the tan along with the heat.

For the freckle problem cosmeticians have also come forward with a cream that, actually keeps these beauty-destroyers away, but the trick lies in applying it all during the day.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Shrader and daughter Betty Jeanne, left Friday for their home at Denver, Colorado, after a visit here with her sister, Mrs. J. G. Wood, and Mr. Wood. While here they made a trip to Frisco and visited relatives there.

For Wear On Beach

Screen star Claire Dodd selects a striking black circle jersey, one-piece bathing suit for summer sun-bathing and beach wear. Over it she wears a long white pique beach coat, set off with short puff sleeves, flared skirt and large patch pockets. Black and white sandals and a halo effect with braided string to keep her hair in place complete the ensemble.

RECIPES SUGGESTED FOR RELISHES AND PICKLES

BY MRS. ITA R. PARRISH

Pickles and Relishes

This year when materials for pickling seem more plentiful why not plan a variety for use with winter meals asks Mrs. Ita R. Parrish, of the local R. A. office who offers the following practical suggestions:

A sweet cucumber recipe that has been popular is made as follows: Make a brine of 1 gallon water, 4 c. salt. Put in cucumbers and allow to stand 1 week. Remove from salt water and soak in clear water about 24 hours. Make a solution 1 c. vinegar, 2 c. water. Let pickles come to boil but do not boil. Pack in jars and cover with boiling solution of 3 c. vinegar to 2 c. sugar, 1 T. allspice. Use pure cider vinegar so pickles will not get soft. Add no water to the last vinegar mixture.

Bread and Butter Pickles

25 large cucumbers
12 onions (medium sized)
1/2 c. salt
1 pt. vinegar
2 c. sugar
2 T. mustard seed (white)
2 T. ginger
2 T. turmeric

Let unpeeled cucumbers stand in water over night. Slice onions and cucumbers and place in pan with salt, no water, one hour. Rinse off salt and add other ingredients. Boil together until transparent. Pack into sterilized jars, seal.

Water Melon Rind Pickle
7 lbs. prepared rind, 3 pts pure apple cider vinegar, 4 oz. cloves, 2 sticks cinnamon, 1/2 oz. ginger root, 4 lbs. sugar.

Soak rind in lime water (1 T. to qt. of water) about 2 1/2 hours. Rinse. Combine sugar, spices etc. and allow to boil. Add rind and cook until clear and tender.

Sandwich Spread
1 Gal. green tomatoes—ground.
Let stand 20 min. with 1 c. salt sprinkled over. 2 lbs. green sweet peppers, 2 lbs. red sweet peppers, 6 large onions. Add to paste made from 3 c. sugar, 1 1/2 c. hot mustard, 1 T. turmeric. Cook and seal.

Corn Relish

1 doz. ears of corn
1 head cabbage
3 sweet red peppers
3 sweet green peppers
1 qt. vinegar
1 c. sugar

1 T. salt
2 T. mustard
1 T. celery salt

Cook the corn 3 minutes in boiling water to set the milk. Cook, cut from cob, combine with other ingredients and cook together for 20 minutes. Pack into sterilized jars and seal.

Dixie Relish
1 pt. sweet red peppers (chopped)
2 pt. celery seed
2 pt. chopped green pepper
1 qt. chopped cabbage
2 pt. celery seed
3/4 c. sugar
3/4 c. salt
1 qt. vinegar
2 T. mustard
1 pt. chopped white onions.

Quarrel peppers and soak overnight in brine made of one cup salt to 1 gal. water. Freshen in clean cold water and measure chopped vegetables. Add spices, sugar, and vinegar. Let stand in covered crock overnight. Pack in jars and process at simmering temperature 15 min. or cook before packing if preferred.

Peach Pickles
2 gal. peaches (peeled)
1 gal. sugar
1 qt. vinegar
1 T. cloves
2 sticks cinnamon bark
1 T. allspice.

Cook spicy syrup until thick and pour over peaches. Let stand overnight in syrup mixture which should be boiled. Drain off syrup and cook until thick. Add spices and pack into sterilized jars. Cover with syrup and seal.

Pear Pickles

1 gal. pears
2 qts. sugar
1 pt. water
1 qt. vinegar
2 sticks cinnamon
2 T. whole allspice (more if desired)

Wash, peel and cut in half. Remove core. Allow pears to stand overnight in syrup mixture which should be boiled. Drain off syrup and cook until thick. Add spices and pack into jars, seal.

SHEETS IN FIVE GROUPS—FROM PERCALE TO MUSLIN

Because they do not know there are five distinct classes of cotton sheets on the market—all intended for different uses—most women are unable properly to compare prices and qualities. The Bureau of Home Economics recently analyzed 25 fairly representative sheets grouped them as: Heavyweight muslin, lightweight muslin, light weight muslin, fine count, sometimes called "utility percale", and percale.

A percale sheet is a different material from the printed dress fabric called percale. It is the sturdiest of sheetings, the finest, smoothest, most beautiful, and usual most expensive. Percale sheets are light in weight, but are made closely woven fine combed yarns with a combined thread count of over 200 to the inch. They contain practically no sizing and wear well if used with reasonable care.

Heavyweight muslin sheets are chiefly used where they have earned hard wear as in institutions. The average homemaker wants a medium weight muslin sheet. Those with a finished thread count ranging from 70 to 80 in the warp and from 61 to 70 in the filling are satisfactory for ordinary use.

In general, lightweight muslin sheets with a low thread count are coarse and sleazy when the size has washed out. They wrinkle and discomfort the sleeper, and are neither comfortable nor durable. Often they shrink unduly. On the other hand, very heavy sheets are cumbersome to handle at home. If they go to a laundry to be washed by the pound they add to the bills.

In buying it is clearly impossible to compare a muslin sheet with a percale sheet on either a price or quality basis. Ruth O'Brien, in charge of the Bureau's textile research, believes it would be helpful to customers if manufacturers would establish minimum specifications for each of the five classes of sheets and put the classes on the label. To be ideal, a label on a sheet should give thread count, breaking or tensile strength, weight, amount of sizing, lengths and width, and whether it is a first or a second count.

DAFFODILS BLOOM EARLIER BECAUSE OF COLD STORAGE

Daffodils bloom in the garden for only a comparatively short season, but they are "in season" at the florist shops for months—chiefly the result of experiments by the Dr. David Griffiths, of the United States Department of Agriculture, by storing them at 50 degrees Fahrenheit or more in August and September just before planting them in the pots or flats in which they were to be forced in the greenhouse.

This is now a recognized method and dealers sell bulbs treated in this way for growing in greenhouses. Bulbs sold to home gardeners are not stored cold because it was promoted too early blooming in the garden, when flowers might be nipped by wintry weather.

Thanksgiving daffodils are possible, and it is comparatively easy to have plenty of fine quality daffodils by Christmas.

RUDDY DUCK FOILS ENEMIES BY SUBMARINE MANEUVER

Workers of the Bureau of Biological Survey are not roving naturalists, free to follow their own inclinations. They are assigned specific tasks of research, administration, and regulation. But many of the staff are keen nature students and trained observers, and they are only incidentally connected with their tasks in hand. For example, Clarence Cottam, specialist on preservation and improvement of feeding areas of wild fowl, tells the peculiar behavior of ruddy ducks he has observed on two recent inspections of the South Canadian coast. Instead of attempting to escape by flight when driven, they approached in a boat, these ducks submerged. They did not drive, many ducks do, but seemed ready to sink themselves by deflating going down with scarcely a ripple to mark their disappearance, then emerging some distance away.

Because the ruddy duck is a slow and heavy in rising from the water, Dr. Cottam believes it employs the submarine maneuver rather than flying as protection against natural enemies. The pied-billed grebe has a similar habit, in which it gets the colloquial name of "Singing Peter," but the tactics of the ruddy duck do not seem to have been recorded in the past.

Instead of going down, Lieutenant Adams went up, at Farnborough, Hampshire, England, and set a new world altitude record of 53,939 feet in a Bristol monoplane. ## Homer E. Minor Visits Friends In Floydada

Homer E. Minor, Texas-born, plains-reared, now a resident of Lexington, Kentucky, where he operates a magazine agency, is very much in love with his adopted home. He told friends in Floydada this week. On the plains for a vacation visit with his grand-parents, Rev. and Mrs. G. I. Brittain, Minor spent a half day seeing former school mates and friends here. Among these was County Clerk A. B. Clark.

Minor now is associated with W. Lacy Dixon, a former West Virginian, in the magazine subscription business, an ambitious enterprise which had its beginning when Minor was a child and took occasional subscriptions for magazines in the hope the publishers would send him some sample copies to read.

In spite of the fact he is a cripple, Minor, now nearing forty, has lived a much fuller life than most of his associates in the days of his residence in Floydada. He has visited forty-two of the forty-eight states in the union. A robust attitude toward life and his work are evident in his talk. Lexington is seventy-five miles from the Ohio River and he suffered little direct loss from the flood except 250,000 addressed envelopes caught in a truck when the rise came down the river and 200,000 folders of a special magazine offer that went down the river in a similar manner.

He is accompanied on his trip in his Cadillac super-eight by his foster sons, Paul and Howard Bellenger.

The Vacationists "Life-Saver" Is The Postcard

Great is the American institution—the postcard.

Without its gracious presence, how could anyone really enjoy a vacation?

Without its cheery message how could the stay-at-homes know how Pike's Peak looks in the moonlight, how many rooms the Ritz hotel has, or what style bathing suits were worn at Atlantic City in 1898 when the last series of postcards were printed.

Without its mocking reminder from the cigarstand how could the vacationist, dirty and weary after the 567-mile drive, remember that Aunt Mary hasn't been told of the wonderful trip. Only one more scratch of the fountain pen, and then the welcome bed.

Great is the American institution—the postcard.

Glad Snodgrass Is Rotary Club Speaker

Mayor Glad Snodgrass spoke to the Rotary club at its regular meeting Wednesday on his trip to Europe to attend the Rotary International Convention at Nice, France.

The whole program time was turned over to Mayor Snodgrass who gave his impressions of the convention and the way Rotary Clubs are regarded in European countries.

The United States had approximately 3,200 representatives at the convention to which 93 countries of the world sent representatives.

The Rotary is generally regarded very highly in Europe and in many cases the Rotary representatives were accorded courtesies generally denied regular tourists, it was said.

The club began taking its weekly luncheons in the Christian Church Annex this week after having been served alternate months at the First Baptist and First Methodist Churches since its organization in 1928.

MISBEHAVING STREAMS TAKE TOLL IN LOWLAND

Misbehaving streams cause an enormous amount of damage to fertile bottom-land farms, according to the Soil Conservation Service. Sometimes these streams wander out of their courses and cut new channels across fields and pastures; or they undercut the banks and eat back into valuable farmland or overlap the banks and leave heavy deposits of sand on unharvested crops.

At sharp bends streams are particularly likely to kick over the traces. At the outside of the bend where the thrust of the flowing water is greatest they usually gnaw away at the bank. On the inside they often deposit soil matter washed down from farther upstream.

In this way, a gravel bar is sometimes built up on the inside of the bend which tends to "shove" the stream farther toward the outside bank and increase the cutting on that side.

As part of its demonstration program of erosion control, the Soil Conservation Service is helping many farmers make these streams behave. On the outside bend of a stream where a considerable amount of cutting has occurred, Service engineers assist in building structures, such as jetties, which divert the flow away from the damaged area and give protective vegetation a chance to become established. Such trees as osier, willow, or dogwood are recommended for permanent protection.

Attracted by cries from the house, Wednesday evening about seven o'clock, Mrs. F. M. Covington, Dougherty, investigated to find her son, Jack, aged two and one-half years, lying on the floor with a badly broken leg. The child was given first aid treatment here before being carried to the Plaquemine hospital where he will be confined probably three weeks. The break is about ten inches below the hip.

Mrs. Covington didn't know how the accident happened, nor could the child tell. When she reached the scene of the accident, the child was sliding on the floor.

Last reports from him indicate his condition as being satisfactory.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Johnson from Plainview, visited relatives here Sunday guests of Mrs. Alta Johnson, Myrtle Wilkinson and T. B. Wilkinson and friends.

Sunday School Lesson

International Sunday School Lesson for July 18, 1937.

GOD ENCOURAGES A LEADER

Golden Text: The Lord will give strength to his people. Psalm 124: 8.

Lesson Text: Exodus 17: 9-13. Printed Text: Exodus 17: 9-13-15.

13 And Moses said unto God, He-hold, when I come unto the children of Israel, and they shall say unto me, The God of the Hebrews hath sent me unto you: what shall I say unto them?

14 And God said unto Moses, I AM THAT I AM: and he said, Thus shalt thou say unto the children of Israel, I AM hath sent me unto you.

15 And God said moreover unto Moses, Thus shalt thou say unto the children of Israel, The Lord God of the Hebrews, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, hath sent me unto you: this is my name for ever, and this is my memorial unto all generations.

16 Go, and gather the elders of Israel together, and say unto them, The LORD God of the Hebrews, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, hath sent me unto you, saying, I have surely visited you, and seen that which is done to you in Egypt: Exodus 17: 16-18.

17 And Moses said unto the LORD, O my Lord, I am not eloquent, neither heretofore, nor since thou hast spoken unto thy servant: but I am slow of speech, and of a slow tongue.

18 And the LORD said unto him, Who hath made man's mouth? or who hath made him dumb, or deaf, or seeing, or blind? have not I, the LORD?

19 Now therefore go, and I will be with thy mouth, and teach thee what thou shalt say.

20 And he said, O my Lord, send I pray thee, by the hand of him whom thou wilt send.

21 And the anger of the LORD was kindled against Moses, and he said, Is not Aaron the Levite thy brother? I know that he can speak well.

22 And also, behold, he cometh forth to meet thee: and when he seeth thee, he will be glad in his heart.

23 And thou shalt speak unto him, and put words in his mouth; and I will be with his mouth, and will teach him what he shall say.

24 And he shall be thy spokesman unto the people: and he shall be, even he shall be to thee instead of a mouth, and thou shalt be to him instead of God.

25 And afterward Moses and Aaron went in, and told Pharaoh: Thus saith the LORD God of Israel, Let my people go, that they may hold a feast unto me in the wilderness.

26 Time and Place.—The call of Moses took place near Mt. Sinai. When he returned to Egypt he went back to the court from which he had fled forty years before. The time is given as B. C. 1498.

Our lesson continues with the story of a leader, Moses, who was strengthened by God's inspiration at a time when he realized his own weakness and inadequacy.

We are told, sometimes, that the God of these ancient Israelites was a tribal God, and that they had not found the glorious conception that came in later Israel and in New Testament times, of a God of the whole world.

But it is something more than such a limited conception that we find in the representation of God as speaking to Moses. When Moses asks his name and how he shall know and tell his people of the divine reality, the reply is that he is to say, "I AM THAT I AM" unto you.

"I AM THAT I AM"—what a noble conception that is, conveying so magnificently the emphasis upon the living presence of God! This God of the Fathers is an everlasting

J. D. Reid Killed In Pen Escape Attempt

J. D. Reid, presumably of Floydada, a convict was killed Thursday in an attempted escape from the Eastern Penitentiary at Huntsville. Eight other convicts managed to escape under fire from the guards.

Four of the convicts were speedily recaptured but the others, in a stolen police car, had managed to remain at large in spite of poses and searching parties.

Reid was under a four year sentence for burglary and chicken theft and at the time of the attempted escape was driving a water wagon, according to dispatches from the daily press Friday.

Floydada officers arrested Reid in September 1936 and held him for Crosby county officials on the charge of theft from the prison. He was given a two year penitentiary sentence in the district court on that charge on October 14, 1936 and soon thereafter was delivered to the prison farm.

Floydada officers have not had any contact with Reid since that year according to courthouse records. The four-year sentence which he was serving was assessed from a county other than Floyd.

Reid's parents moved to lower Texas about a year ago from Floydada, according to the sheriff's office. The body will not be returned here for burial.

W. Smith Eulogized By Mrs. P. E. McCarty

Following Tribute Paid Life Of Deceased Pioneer Whose Death Occurred Over Week-end

"Greater love hath no man than that he lay down his life for his friends." In humble, Christ-like service, Bro. C. H. Smith, laid down his life upon the altar of love and duty to humanity.

Having known and loved this earnest and zealous Christian, all of his life, it is a sacred duty and privilege to pay tribute to his character and personality, which have been such faithful witnesses for God and such powerful blessings to his fellowmen.

For fifty years and more, he preached, "The unsearchable riches of Christ," in purity and simplicity of life, a fit temple for the indwelling of the Spirit, and gloried in, "the exceeding great and precious promises," that "make us partakers of the divine nature," and found solace and comfort in the dear old hymn, "The face of Him thou lovest, He's at thy side, Reach out thy hand and find Him, And Lo! the clouds have flown, He smiles on us who promised; Never to leave us alone."

Always, Bro. Smith reminded us that, "Beautiful hands are they that do, Deeds, that are noble, and true. Beautiful feet, are they that go; Swiftly, to lighten another's woe."

Beautiful faces are they that wear, the light of the heavenly Spirit, like the great apostle, Bro. Smith, fought a good fight—and at the Faith—Henceforth, there laid up for him, a crown of righteousness—and an house not made with hands, Eternal in the heavens. "Heaven is sweeter than before, since we have another assurance there." For—"As in Adam die, so in Christ, shall all be made alive," and "Death shall be swallowed up in victory." For, "Precious in the sight of the Lord, is the death of his saints." And "Blessed are the merciful for they shall obtain mercy."

"The Lord, Himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the trump of God; And the dead in Christ shall rise first; then we, which are alive and remain, shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air; and so shall we ever be with the Lord.—Comfort one another, with these words."

In our last interview with Brother Smith, he paid loving tribute to my parents, who shared his work in the Lord, and asked God's blessings on us all. He expressed his willingness to depart and be with Christ, if He willed it so.

The sorrowing throng attending his funeral testified to his life and labor of love. Yet, "we sorrow not, as others who have no hope." "Let our sorrow be turned into joy," for "Joy cometh in the morning." And our Lord "will turn our mourning into joy and will comfort us," so—believing, we rejoice with joy unspeakable and full of glory. "For we know, whom we have believed, and are persuaded that He is able to keep that which He hath committed unto Him against that day." "The great and notable day of the Lord."

The flowers and song service were beautiful—comforting—inspiring! "Asleep in Jesus, Oh how sweet, To be for such a slumber meet."

Bro. Smith leaves a lovely and lovable family of sons, daughters, grandchildren and great grandchildren to carry on the service of the Master. "When we are raised in glory, to meet our Lord in the air, Oh, joyful reunion with our loved ones!"

Our "Thanks be to God who giveth us the victory through Jesus Christ our Lord." For, "I am persuaded that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, or things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which passeth understanding, for of Him, and through Him, and to Him are all things. To Him be Glory forever, Amen."

Mrs. P. E. McCarty.

HOME OWNERSHIP

Home ownership is a symbol of security and success. A home of your own is insurance against fear and worry in your old age. Insurance statistics show that those who have provided for the "evening of life" live longer than those who have no thought of "the tomorrow."

I have some exceptional values in farm and city homes that can be bought with a small cash payment and convenient terms on the balance.

"Anybody can pay a fine, but few have opportunity to really study jail conditions at first hand." So saying, Miss Margaret Parker, of Pasadena, 21-year-old University of California co-ed, chose eight days in the San Jose, California jail instead of paying a speeding fine. However, three days in a cell convinced her that she'd carried her study far enough and agreed to pay the balance of the fine and go home. She is shown above eating a plate of beans, served up in a regular metal jail plate.

TO THE MOTORING PUBLIC

By reason of illness, I have been unable to devote any time during the past month to the enforcement of the City Traffic Ordinances. At the request of the City Council, and since I am able to attend to my duties again, I shall make an effort to enforce the Traffic Ordinances, and I would sincerely appreciate the cooperation of the public in the observation of the Ordinances. The policy of the City is not to harass the public, nor collect fines, but to exercise such amount of control over traffic as is necessary for public safety and convenience. The most frequent and also the most objectionable infractions are the following: Double-parking and center-parking on South Main Street and West California Street; Parking in alleys; driving at excessive rate of speed within the five limits—the speed limit is FIFTEEN MILES PER HOUR within that area, which includes the business district, and the speed limit elsewhere in the city is TWENTY MILES PER HOUR. Irregular parking at the curb either at the wrong angle or at irregular intervals.

MORGAN WRIGHT,
City Marshal.

Showers Are Partial And Sun Bears Down On County's Row Crop

More than half of the communities in Floyd County had "partial" showers to good rains during the past seven days, and in those which did not, have any moisture the report is that cotton and feed are still growing, but that a few more days like Tuesday and Wednesday with the sun bearing down and the temperature climbing will be disastrous to a row crop in the county.

Shelley and South Plains have had the best rains of the week, with about an inch each, Monday afternoon. The rain extended southward in diminishing quantity to within about seven miles of Floydada. "Looky" had little rain but an area northward from that city toward Pampa had a more shower. At Floydada all of an inch fell in the week, three "partial" showers" falling up crops principally to the south and southwest. Portions of Murray and Pleasant Valley had about three-quarters of an inch of rain Monday afternoon, and an area around Dougherty and southward had additional moisture.

Cleaning Job On Sams Test Well Is Delayed

Equipment to clean out the Sams test well on W. C. Sims farm had not arrived Wednesday afternoon, but it was expected by Saturday. If the C. L. Handley crew did arrive Saturday actual work on the well would not begin until next week, it was said.

Earlier attempts by the Pampa Pump company to develop the well above the 200 gallon per minute mark failed. There is a likelihood that the casing will be removed and a thorough job of cleaning will be done before another pump is set.

The equipment to be used on the well was delayed on another cleaning job, Mr. Sims said, and the operators had promised to notify him a day in advance when they were ready to move onto his well.

CHILD OF HOLLES MOTHER HAS INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Edna Marie Moore, 4 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Moore, of Bellevue, and former residents of Floydada, was stricken with infantile paralysis Saturday. The child is holding its own fairly well according to a message received here by relatives Wednesday.

Mrs. E. E. Boothe, a sister of Mr. Moore, accompanied by Mr. Boothe went Monday to be with the parents until the child is better. Mr. Boothe returned home Tuesday night.

Ready For Polar Hop Several Attend Legion Meeting Sweetwater

Martha Lee McCleskey, Local Secretary, is the hostess for the meeting.

Miss Frances Powell, of Stamford was first place in the third annual Water Festival, Beauty Queen and Sports Festival, held at Sweetwater Friday and Saturday, July 9 and 10. The event was a part of the entertainment program of the fifth division Legion Convention which was in session at Sweetwater July 10 and 11.

Floydada's contestant, Miss Martha Lee McCleskey, placed fourth in the contest. She was escorted by a group of Floydada friends who reported a very delightful trip. A tea and reception was given at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon for the visiting beauties and a dance at the Maple Hotel followed in the evening. The national colors of red, white and blue were used in all of the decorations and formed a very attractive setting for the event at the balling post.

Miss Powell was the second Stamford girl to take first place in the balling beauty contest at Sweetwater. She was crowned "Goddess of West Texas" by Frank N. Watson, assistant director general of the Pan American Exposition at Dallas. She was awarded a trip to the Pan American Exposition at Dallas and the Frontier Fiesta at Fort Worth. Miss Wynona Keller, of Striper, received second place and Miss Twilight Stewart of Mineral Wells received third place.

J. M. Wilcox, of Floydada, district superintendent of the 1937 division, figured prominently in the convention activities. Others from Floydada who attended the convention were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Gilliam, Mr. and Mrs. V. Williams and son, Virgil, Jr., Miss Elizabeth Hollingsworth, Messrs. Jim Bundy and Lee Carter, and Mrs. John McCleskey, mother of the Floydada entrant in the event.

HIGHWAY "SCENIC STRIP" SAVES FOREST GRANDEUR

Plenty of trees are what motorists see as they travel along the 21,000 miles of highways in the national forests. In places where logging is being carried on, the United States Forest Service reserves "scenic strips" along the main forest highways and forbids either timber cutting or certain types of building construction within view of the road. This strip allows the motorist to get a touch of the "forest primeval" even while traveling on a good road sweeping in broad curves and on easy grades. National-forest highways also are located to take in as many pleasing vistas and fine views of streams, lakes, and mountain peaks as possible. Behind the scenic strips there may be timber cutting under the "sustainable yield" policy of the Forest Service which requires lumbermen to cut selectively and to leave seed trees or young growth to renew the forest. If the motorist wants to see this kind of activity he can leave the main forest highways and take to secondary roads and trails. The Forest Service is convinced that the recreation and scenic values of the strips of unbroken forest are worth more to the public than the timber that might be cut along the roadsides.

WHEN ROCKS APPEAR

In hilly, rocky sections of the United States farmers often are heard to say that rocks in their fields "rise to the surface." Soil Conservation workers in the Department of Agriculture know this may be evidence that sheet erosion is removing valuable topsoil, the most productive soil on a farm. Freezing and thawing also are factors in bringing rocks to the surface. Strip farming on the contour—alternate bands of cultivated crops and those that do not need cultivation—is an antidote for fields in which erosion causes rocks to "rise to the surface."

Henry Alexander, of Amarillo, visited his mother, Mrs. W. H. Alexander, from Friday until today.

Mr. Butler had been delegated to represent some 800 to 1,000 farmers in the county in presenting the application that would result if successful in giving light and power to about two-thirds of Floyd County's area. The cost of the project here would be approximately $600,000, or $800 per farmer after eliminating that part of the plan that calls for a generating plant, whereas later in all sections of the county are being built for $100 to $200 per farmer. It was pointed out by Mr. Butler, giving an idea of the big job he had of presenting the plan and getting more than passing attention to it. While he is optimistic Butler is sure there is no probability of the project here being put over in time for 1937 crops. "We had conferences time after time in the seven days in the capital, but such matters grind slowly," the Lockney newspaper man said. "And the idea of making across more service through rural electrification is a new one and must have a chance to be viewed from all angles before we can hope for action."

It was Butler idea representatives from Floyd County might be called back to Washington most any time. While he is confident of the eventual outcome he is not so confident of immediate results.

Mr. Butler dispatch last week while in Washington left the impression he was not hopeful of the outcome of the project here for rural electrification. He said this week, however, he had in mind immediate prospects for immediate success and not the long run plan that people in this county are going to have to depend upon.
