WHAT OF THESE RENTERS?

One of the interesting things of the times in Floyd County is the plight of the renter who has been given notice the landlord wants his land for next year.

Anyhow, the renter can do one of three things—move to town and hope there'll be a job or a "program" of some kind that will get him and his some bread and meat.

AN OPTIMISTIC CUSS

Who knows but that an ill-nurtured body cast in the 1938 mould of destiny will be the leader of the 1965 mob that will spell the downfall of our form of government.

HOW WOULD THIS DO?

We just wonder how it would suit the people of Texas if the governor changed his mind and decided not to have a special session of the legislature this fall after all.

A statement very close to the truth is that the legislators cannot agree on the right means of raising more revenue, and at least some of them and the governor are not agreed, so a revenue bill might not be forthcoming from a special session.

LIFE'S UPS AND DOWNS

TAXES HAVE TO BE PAID BY YOU

Another good reason why there should be no special session for revenue raising purposes is that the tax finally adopted will be one least likely to fall directly on the people.

THEY SLOW DOWN BUSINESS

Travelers who return from sales tax states report that the different "funds" in those states have ample money on which to operate, and also this additional fact, that collection of sales tax from buyers slows down business, often as much as half.

Perhaps you have been convinced a sales tax is the fair way to collect money to operate a state government. If so, bear with your neighbors who oppose. The sales tax will be just another tax, an additional tax.

SHOES FOR THE BABY

Some of the neighbors are disappointed because they haven't had big rains, others that have had them are proud. Shoes for the "chillern," warmth for the winter, some of the good things of life, are part and parcel of the providential showers that fall on the just and unjust.

NOT SO ENCOURAGING

Those fellows at Washington, chosen to represent the people in the making of laws, must know more than we do about the future of farm prices.

NOT LIVE STOCK MINDED

Are we correct in assuming that Floyd County farmers, as a rule, are not live stock minded? Is it correct to say that even on home-owned and operated farms, live stock raising is engaged in only as a last resort against being driven from the land?

Landlords will have their wheat or their cotton or cash, according to their bent, and nothing can be done about it. But to farm owners we suggest live stock—sheep, cattle, horses, mules, most anything—will grow while you sleep, and make you money that plowing won't make nor will there be as much net profit in most anything else.

WASHINGTON LETTER BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON — Leaders of certain farmer and labor groups are happily planning a coalition party. A farmer's Non Partisan League is now planned to work in harness with Labor's Non Partisan League, a C. I. O. and A. F. of L. organization for political action.

Even the most optimistic of the farmer-labor organizers don't expect to have a party presidential ticket in 1940, but leaders of the movement believe there will be such a ticket in 1944.

The two groups are working closely together to help elect progressive candidates in 1938, and to take advantage of the anticipated break between conservatives and progressives of the Democratic party in 1940.

A conference probably will be held in St. Paul soon, and representation there by farm delegates, progressive congressmen and labor league men, may serve as a gauge of the political strength this coalition promises.

From Minnesota, Wisconsin, the two Dakotas, Nebraska and Montana there is spirit for a new political organization, and that each county of those states can produce a farmer who would be active in leadership.

Unfortunately for the new movement, it is widely believed that Labor's Non Partisan League is dominated by John Lewis and the C. I. O. But NPL claims that more than 50 members of its executive board are half of all its officials, that more than half of all its officials are A. F. of L. men and none of them has resigned.

Executive Vice President E. L. Oliver, who has been in charge of the league's affairs since George Berry quit as president, is an A. F. of L. member and former director of research for the A. F. of L. Brotherhood of Railway Clerks.

The other side of the picture is that Sidney Hillman of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers and John Lewis of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America are A. F. of L. union as president.

Labor's political strength was tested last year when many officials friendly to labor legislation were elected to office. As in the Populist, Granger and Bryan movement, farmers have shown in the past that they can organize effectively to get votes.

But the confidence of labor leaders and the few farm leaders who have formed an alliance may be destroyed if most farmers are found to believe that farmers and workers have fundamentally different interests.

A theory often advanced is that wage increases mean increased cost of goods farmers must buy, and higher food prices which farmers want mean lower real wages for workers. These differences may militate against any real political combine.

Those who have faith in a farmer-labor party argue that higher incomes for workers enables them to buy more farm products, and higher incomes for farmers enables them to buy more labor products.

They say both farmer and laborer can be made to appreciate that they have a common interest in obtaining the necessities of life at lower cost, that farmers with their problems of marketing and distributions, and workers with their problems of wages and hours should unite to eliminate waste, minimize profits and attack corruption and profiteering in business.

Except for the high optimism and the sincerity of its leaders, this latest farmer political movement has as yet little strength.

Science Hopes to Establish 'Lie Detector' as Sure-Fire Method of Combatting Crime

THE combined results of scientific and criminal research, plus the application of some advanced psychology, have produced what eventually may become the greatest aid to crime detection yet discovered.

Although not at all new, the apparatus called the "lie detector" has been coming into increasing use, not only as a means of establishing the guilt of a suspect, but also as a means of proving an accused person's innocence.

Dr. M. W. Marston, who made psychological studies of falsehoods at Harvard and Columbia universities as far back as 1914, probably was the first to conduct serious experiments with "lie detectors." Later research was done by John A. Larson of the Berkeley, Calif., police force, and Prof. Leonard Keeler of the Northwestern university school of crime prevention.

The mechanics of the lie detector, while the product of much thought and experimentation, are really simple. A tube attached to the subject measures his respiration and another records his blood pressure. It is a fairly well-substantiated theory of science and psychology that when a man is questioned, his brain transmits impulses which react on his breathing and blood pressure.

It is believed impossible for a man to control these automatic movements. Even if he refuses to answer a question put to him, his brain prepares the answer by transmission of these impulses.

Two needles trace the respiration count and blood pressure on paper as the test is made. As long as the suspect knows he is telling the truth, an even line is traced across the paper.

Deliberate lying, however, due to the action of secretions from the endocrine gland, will cause a distortion in the respiration and blood pressure, the result being a sudden irregularity in a tell-tale line.

The lie detector does not get false confessions by inspiring fear or pain. Rather its value lies in the work of a guilty conscience and the uncontrollable behavior of the glands which exert tremendous influence on human conduct.

Although courts of law have not accepted evidence based on lie detector tests as infallible, hundreds of cases have been decided by the tests. Gov. Henry Horner of Illinois granted Abe Rapaport, condemned murderer, his request for a lie test. The test was made the very night the doomed man was to be executed. The usual routine questions were asked to establish the normal rate of respiration and blood pressure. The line ran smoothly. When asked if he had actually killed the victim, Rapaport denied the charge, but the cold, remorseless lie took a jagged leap. Rapaport was electrocuted.

This excellent illustration of the lie detector in action shows Berkeley, Calif., police officials giving the test to Jerome von Braun Selz, who was held in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Ada French a year ago. The tube around his chest records his respiration, while the contrivance on his arm measures his blood pressure. Inset is Joseph Nelson, whose claim that he had found $135,000 in liberty bonds was backed up by the lie detector in Chicago.

First National Bank Installs New Check Camera As Safety Measure

Will Keep Picture Record Of Every Out-of-Town Check That It Handles

Providing a new service and protection for its customers, the First National Bank of this city Wednesday was completing the installation of a new Recordak System, a picture camera which will photograph all checks passing through the bank. Every check presented at the bank for cash or deposit will have its picture taken and a permanent picture record of the check will always be available for reference.

The operator does nothing more than keep feeding the checks into the slot at the top, in a steady stream, and the mechanism inside regulates the period of pause and then lets the check drop out at the bottom.

The machine handles about 100 checks a minute. Seven thousand checks are photographed on a roll of Eastman safety film, one hundred feet long and five eighths of an inch wide, which can be filed away in a very small space.

The photographic record not only protects the bank, but more important, it protects the customer. Especially is that true when cancelled checks have been lost or perhaps destroyed by fire.

When a returned check is lost, all the depositor has to do is go down to the bank and receive the film for the date the bank received the check. If the creditor is not convinced at that demonstration, or if it is impossible to have him present, a photostat copy of the check can be obtained from the bank forwarded to him.

Lions Hear The Boys Tell About Gathering At Chicago Convention

Floydada Lions Club in their two most recent meetings have heard their official delegate, past-president J. C. Gilliam, and members of the Lions' Cowboy Quartette, tell about the International Convention held in July at Chicago.

G. G. Glover and Roy H. Holmes, first to reach home, gave their versions at one meeting, to be followed by Woodrow Guthrie, Mr. Gilliam and Claude Hammonds. Of these four had rehearsed their stories which tallied minutely. Hammonds, however, took stage fright and told the whole truth, Thursday, it is said. Members of the club, after he broke down, insisted that he have all the time needed to "tell everything". Hammonds has a dry humor that is irresistible.

At today's meeting County Agent D. F. Bredthauer is scheduled to make an informal and unofficial discussion of some of the farm problems of the county, telling in particular of the soil conservation program in Floyd County.

Ralls Football Team To Train In Mountains

Coach Bill McWilliams, last year coach at Plomot, will take his Ralls Jackrabbits to Las Vegas, New Mexico for their pre-season training camp, according to reports released from that section.

Coach McWilliams visited that place last year with his bi-district champions from Plomot and if that is any indication the climate must be beneficial to South Plains football teams.

Thirty-five boys are expected to make the trip which will begin August 19. A preliminary meeting will be held August 15 at Ralls High school to lay plans for the trip and to indicate what each man must do. Players will be asked to furnish their own food supplies. The encampment is to last two weeks.

Ralls is expecting more football material this year than has been available in a number of years and the football fortunes of the Jackrabbits are expected to be even as much better.

Mrs. Marion Bosley has been very ill at her home north of town, for the past two weeks. She is slowly improving at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Gamblin, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Lawton Thomas of Amarillo, left Wednesday evening for Fort Worth and Dallas, where they will visit the Pan-American exposition.

Swim Team Off For Aquatic Wars At Lubbock Pool Today

The American Legion Boy Scouts will leave today at noon for Lubbock to compete in the swimming meet there. The meet will bring together some of the best swimmers from the South Plains at the Lubbock pool. The Boy Scouts outswam and out their opponents at the Tri-State meet at Plainview July 28 with a margin that they lost only one first place out of eight events and took a second and a third in that event. The victory at Plainview was a surprise since the Floydada boys had no chance to practice while the Lubbock boys and a number of representatives from other towns had pools available at all times for practice. John Harris, scoutmaster, went to Boaring Springs last Thursday to look over the pool and to get well acquainted with the pool. The scout boys took their bedding cots and tents and camped out during the three-day outing. Those who will make the trip to Lubbock are Captain Randolph Hodge, Joe Dick Moore, Frankie Jones, Gene Loran, Joe Arwine and Gene Wester, all Juniors. Two intermediates are to make the trip, Pat Collins and Nolin Haskell.

John Gravette, Long Time Resident, Dies

John Gravette, resident of Floyd County for the past forty-eight years, died Monday morning at 9 o'clock and the remains were interred in Floydada Cemetery Tuesday afternoon following funeral service at Harmon Funeral Home at 3 o'clock. Mr. Gravette was reared an orphan and was not definite as to his age. He believed himself to be seventy-two he told friends. He came to Texas from Alabama and was one of the early-day settlers to file on land here. The past several years he has lived at Sand Hill. Surviving are his wife and two daughters, who were here for the funeral. Mrs. Gravette being called home from a visit down-state by his serious illness. The daughters are Mrs. Bursless Holliday, of the county, and Mrs. Earl Ivey, of Denison. Mrs. Ivey was accompanied here for the funeral by her husband. Also present for the last rites were a nephew, Wilbur Wilson, who with Mrs. Wilson, was here from De Leon, Texas, to attend the funeral. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Condra, of Earth, and old-time friend of the deceased. Sand Hill neighbors served as pallbearers as follows: W. B. Tinnin, A. R. Hanna, Floyd Mickey, Robt. Weems, Leonard Pope, R. H. Pell. Flower attendants were Mrs. Robert Weems, Mrs. Will Massey, Mrs. Wes Martin, Joe Marie Owen, Mrs. W. W. Emert, and Mrs. George Jenkins.

Fire Business Better Fire Chief Reports As More Calls Are Made

The Floydada Fire Department has had a busy session the past week compared to the previous period of time. The last "big" fire was June 13, when the house belonging to J. H. Shurbet was destroyed on East Houston. From that time until August 3 the fire boys have confined themselves principally to practice and checkers. Last Tuesday however a grass fire at G. N. Shirey's home on East Mississippi brought the truck out, as well as a goodly portion of the town citizenry. The damage was slight as the flames were checked before they reached a building which was in the direction the flames were traveling. Mrs. Lon Smith reported a car fire Thursday afternoon but when the fire truck arrived the flames were out. Tuesday afternoon the down-town district was treated to a blaze behind Roy Holmes studio when flames spread from an outhouse to a sheet metal building that was nearby. The fire was quickly brought under control and extinguished before the damage was great. A car fire in the residential district the early part of last week was not reported although the car was reported later to have been destroyed. A number of residents nearby heard the horn blowing and one saw the flames but no alarm was sent in. The reports from the Texas A. and M. Fire School have arrived and Joe Browning scored 100 while Bryan Hinkle made 90. Earl Holt Fire Chief said these were "good grades for anyone's fire school" and twin sister, Ila.

Family Dinner Friday Will Mark Gathering Of The Howards Here

A big family dinner tomorrow at the home of Judge and Mrs. J. W. Howard in south Floydada, will mark a gathering of their children here this week. At that time all of the children and their families will have dinner together once more under the parental roof. Among the first arrivals for the re-union were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Howard, Jr., their son Lindell, and daughter Bernice, who arrived here Sunday night. A daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Miller, of Port, Oklahoma, also arrived the first of the week, and today Mr. and Mrs. I. Howard, of Longview, and Mr. and Mrs. John Howard and sons, of Brownfield are expected in. Mr. and Mrs. Murphy Chapman and family, of Lorenzo, and Mr. and Mrs. Orland Howard, of Dougherty and Mr. and Mrs. Alton Birchfield, of Cedar, are among the out-of-town children to be here, and Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Tye, of Amarillo. Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Howard and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Howard and sons, and Mr. and Mrs. Seaton Howard, all of Floydada, complete the list of the family to be present for the gathering tomorrow, which as nearly as possible is made an annual affair.

Temperatures Lower This Week But Crops Still Need Moisture

While temperatures have been somewhat lower this week in Floyd County with one or two "streaks" of cloudy weather and sprinkles to cool the atmosphere, the heat has been sufficiently noticeable. Yesterday and today the thermometer registered 103 degrees for the high of the week, but only one day, Monday the temperature has not gone as high as 100 degrees. On Monday the high was 99 degrees. Yesterday morning clouds and showers around reduced the heat to 73 degrees for the low since Monday. Crops in all sections of the county would be benefitted by rains and in many sections the need for more moisture is acute, farmers report.

Thus the editor of the Moreland Kansas Monitor: "I have been criticised quite a little by some of the town 'smart Alecks' for using poor grammar. Now I have three good reasons for this. In the first place, I don't know any better. Second, half of you wouldn't understand it if I did use it. Third, if I did speak and write correctly, I might be managing some big New York paper at a large salary and you farmers would lose the best editor in Graham County."

Mrs. Leonard

"My husband had gone to the hay fields, not expecting to return until late, so I decided I would take my two children and round up the cows and milk them. Victoria, my oldest child I pulled in a little wagon, and Ruben I carried in my arms. It was growing late, so I decided I had better leave Victoria in her little wagon to play on the prairie for a while so I could make more haste in getting the cows together. But night overtook me, and in my haste I had lost all sense of direction. There I was—with my tiny baby in my arms—hurrying from one mesquite to another, hoping that I might find my other child.

"I could hear the coyotes all around me, and my mind kept wandering to the tales I had heard my neighbors tell of the panther that had been killing their calves at night. I was frantic, but finally about twelve or one o'clock, I heard her crying and found her at once.

"Because I still did not know the directions, I had to make a windbreak of the little wagon and spend the rest of the night there trying to keep the children warm. Mr. Leonard had gone on to the hay camp for the night, so, of course, he had no idea of what was happening. It certainly was a scare, but only one of hundreds that happened in the early days."

Fought Prairie Fires
Other experiences told of the terrible prairie fires that used to spread over the whole country destroying everything in their paths. "I remember one that started after we moved to Sandhill. It started in Hale county, completely destroying the U. S. Wilkinson home and all of the Posey's sheep. Another time, the Frank Leonard family of Crosbyton were camping near our home until they found a new location. We worked for hours trying to keep the fire from their belongings, and the fire came so near that I could feel the flames on my back. Finally the great fire was stopped by plowing fire guards around our place. We were very fortunate that none of our things were ever burned.

Other adventurous reminiscences are the days of overtaking the wild horses, and the square dances at Uncle Hank's place where cowboys would come from all over the country, even Spur and Matador. These affairs lasted always from two to three days, and the fiddler was the busiest person at the affairs.

Other special events were the trips to Estacado to "breathing" and the arrival of the mail at the Old Rock House three times a week. The men had to make trips to Colorado City and Amarillo, often with ox teams, for fuel and other supplies. Trips to Amarillo usually took about a week or ten days. All clothing and household furnishings were ordered from mail order houses in Fort Worth and Dallas.

Trip To Old Mexico
"I remember in 1889 my husband went to Old Mexico to get our first horses. One man went with him and they took a pack burro with the essentials for such a trip—the frying pan and coffee pot. They were gone several months, but brought back 150 Spanish mares.

"The loco weed and sandstorms were some of our dreaded enemies. The weeds, not found extensively in this country any more, caused our stock to go crazy or blind and they had to be killed at once. We had two by four braces on our two-room house at Sandhill to keep our walls from blowing down during sandstorms. Our home there was on the site where the Greer home now stands.

"Other hardships were caused from the lack of a doctor or medical supplies. Our nearest doctor lived on the other side of Estacado, nearly twenty-five miles from our home.

"While living in Sandhill for five years, our neighbors were S. L. Rushing and family, Perry Merrill and family, the Wilkinsons, and a Mrs. Bruner. A Quaker girl from Estacado was the first teacher at the one room school house.

Teachers Listed
"Some of the teachers at the Blankens school house, where most of our children finished their schooling, were Miss Della Martin, now Mrs. Ray Ezell (I still get a Christmas card every year from her), Miss Vera O'Dell, George Mays, now of Crosbyton, Hal Murray, now of Crosbyton (his father was one of the early day editors in Estacado), and Miss Lillian Ernest. Our neighbors there with children in school were the Hank Smith's, the Hugh McDermitt's, the K. J. Matthews the died recently and was buried at Lakewood, and a Mr. Haines.

"In 1917 we moved back to Floyd, after living in Clarendon for ten years. I remember well our picnics then with the McLains, Surginers, Starks, Rushings, and Duncans. I ate my first wild turkey on the creek near Frank Leonard's place.

"Uncle and Auntie's Old Rock House looks just like it did fifty years ago, except for the late improvements and the big trees around it now. Then, instead of the fine pecan trees that are there now, were only hackberry bushes and mesquites. One of my most cherished memories is the day that Uncle Hank gathered a little bundle of alfalfa to send to the Dallas fair as a specimen of West Texas' products, and one of my most cherished possessions is an old buffalo hair mattress Auntie made for me after I married.

"Sometimes it all seems like a dream, the spry little lady concluded. "There are lots of things I'd like to forget but so many more to remember."

Hank Smith

(Continued from page 1) est, and the sing-songs which have become a feature of the annual program will be held. At 2 o'clock this afternoon a session of the association will be held in the new arbor completed last week and at this time talks from some of the old time residents will be heard. Newspapermen from a wide area are expected to be among those who attend to get the atmosphere of the pioneer gathering. The old-fashioned square dance will be indulged by the old settlers between formal sessions.

Shows, riding devices, dances and other amusements that are part and parcel of a big picnic gathering, are promised for the general public both today and Friday.

Sims Test

The hole now being drilled is the second on the Sims farm, the first having been abandoned when it was believed by Mr. Sims as inadvisable to attempt to clean it out for water production.

The week-end, it is believed, will see the hole drilled to its total depth of 300 to 320 feet, barring unforeseen difficulties.

Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Grundy returned home this week from Tucuman, New Mexico, where they had been for the past three weeks in company with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Barkley, Matador, and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Fryer, of Matador. The Fryers also returned home, Mr. and Mrs. Barkley going on to the mountains for a vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Ellis left Wednesday for their home in Vinson, Oklahoma, after spending several days here with Mrs. Ellis, parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Golleher.

Miss Luella Walter Buried At Lockney

Miss Walter was the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walter, who reside six miles northwest of Lockney. She was a graduate of Lockney High school. Her death followed an illness of more than a year.

Survivors are the parents, a brother, Melvin Walter, who lives northwest of Plainview, and a sister, Mrs. Ernest Wells, east of Lockney.

There is always the possibility that some unknown will come to the front and beat some regular out of a position. There may be a number of unknowns for the rural districts or there may be a new addition to the school since spring training that may show up to an advantage.
