Quarter-Million Bushel Mark Nearing As Harvest Continues

Harvest Is Late At Aiken, Barwise And South Plains

Some Fields Cutting Near 20 Bushels At Dougherty; Near 15 Bushels Here

According to a survey made late yesterday afternoon Floyd County has already harvested and hauled to the elevators approximately 248,000 bushels of wheat, or about 138 cars.

The survey shows that Dougherty has harvested about 20 cars of wheat since their harvest began. Observers there say that cutting is to be in full swing for another week. The best cutting heard of was of any large acreage was 20 bushels of wheat that tested 60.

Boothe Spur, the little station that set some sort of a record last year for shipping wheat, leads the elevators in the county again with approximately 40 cars ready to go to market. The harvest there is in full swing and is due to last some time of a week more with dry weather.

The three elevators in Floydada have received about 85 cars of wheat in the short time the harvest has been going around the city. Most of the wheat is coming from the east, south, and southwest with the north part delayed by green wheat.

The best wheat is cutting about 15 bushels per acre and testing 61. It might be said that Floydada is just beginning to get into their wheat harvest.

Lockney is just beginning. No cars have been shipped there but elevator men said that approximately four cars had been received and stored. Some wheat in that area has cut 15 bushels, however no irrigated wheat is ripe enough to cut.

Any wheat received this week is due to come from dry land farms. Aiken has received no wheat and reports that it will be the latter part of the week before they can begin to begin work.

The body of the 67-year-old president was placed in state in the Administration Building Monday afternoon. Members of the ROTC formed a guard of honor around the body as residents of the area passed through the arch of the building to view the body.

Fire Convention Draws Members Of Floydada F. D.

Amarillo Is Convention City For Fire Boys Of Texas This Week

Texas volunteer and paid firemen began to congregate by the hundreds in Amarillo early this week where the firemen are holding their sixty-sixth annual convention.

Business sessions were held in the municipal auditorium and attendance was compulsory. A dance was held at the Nat for the visiting firemen Tuesday night. Wednesday night a barbecue was held at the municipal auditorium where the business was held.

Principal speakers for the convention were Marvin Hall, state fire insurance commissioner, and H. B. Satterfield. It was revealed that 463 persons lost their lives in Texas fires last year, the majority of these deaths were among women and children. Speakers said that the greatest problem at present was that of the careless smoker.

Taylor, Harlingen, Galveston, and Austin are making bids for next year's convention. Seven towns were represented at the convention for the first time; they were Ralls, Brownville, Wink, Richmond, Bridgeport, Stamford and Garland. Fire boys from the Floydada Fire Department were Joe Browning, chief; Bryan Hinkle, captain; Aubrey Martin, assistant chief; Carl Rogers, assistant chief; Alva Redd, Virgie Shaw, Cecil Gould, A. E. Thomas, Otto Johnson, Willie Holt, and Jack Burleson.

Allotments Mailed To Producers

County Agent Gives Example Of 100-Acre Floyd County Farm On Allotment

Announcement was made this week at the county agent's office that the majority of the allotments had been mailed to the producers, with the exception of a few work sheets which will have to be split or combined for the 1938 program.

Due to the rush, County Agent D. F. Bredthauer said that it has been impractical to hold meetings in the different communities other than those where meetings have been held during the past two weeks.

Educational meetings will be held in the communities as soon as it seems practical, but until that time producers should contact the agent's office if in doubt as to any phase of the program, Bredthauer said.

Former Floyd Resident Pistol Victim At San Antonio Friday Night

G. B. Tittle, Jr., 24, former resident of Floydada 16 years ago while employed with the Re-Employment service, was found in a dying condition in a hotel room at San Antonio last Friday night by a bell boy who went to his room on a call for ice water, according to the Abilene News-Reporter. He died within several hours and the body was sent to Abilene for burial.

Tittle told the bellboy he was inspecting a pistol and was accidentally shot by it. He left two sealed notes, one addressed to his wife, one to his mother.

Tittle's home was at Refugio at the time of his death. Interment was made at Abilene at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Tittle, of Abilene, his wife and a small child survive.

Hopes High To Complete Hiway North

Garrett Tells Floyd Commissioners Plans Made Up For Contract North

G. M. Garrett, district highway engineer, told Floyd County commissioners Tuesday he confidently expected to accomplish three pieces of work in Floyd County this summer. They are:

(1) The construction of 8 to 12 miles of hard surfaced road north from Floydada on the highway to Silverton, contract for which he expects to be let in August as a farm to market project on which both state and federal funds would be expended;

(2) Construction of the 2.1 miles of Lockney loop west out of Lockney on Locust Street to connect with highway 28, which he said will be done by the highway department with their own equipment;

(3) Placing a seal coat on highway 207 south from Floydada to the Crosby County line, materials for which have already been contracted.

To Close Gap As a matter of information, Mr. Garrett told members of the court that the gap on 207 in Crosby County from the Floyd County line to Ralls will also be closed as quickly as possible. Contract for a portion of the work is being let and the remainder will be done as a WPA job sponsored by the State Highway Department.

Dr. Woods Pays Visit to Trustees Tuesday Afternoon

Dr. L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction, with G. D. Holbrook, deputy state superintendent, paid a visit to Floydada Tuesday afternoon to meet with trustees of rural and town school to explain the need for an improved and broadened educational program in the state.

Dr. Woods told the group which met in the County Court room that the signers of the constitution 151 years ago gave thought to the educational problem and made provision that the states making up the union be allowed to handle the matter.

"To have good citizens and preserve the democratic system which we have erected over these many years we must have well educated and trained persons," Woods said. He compared the educational program of dictatorial nations with that of the United States saying "There they teach what the few, the rulers and ruling class, want taught and nothing else; here, they teach what the people want taught, and the people are the many."

The need for more vocational training was explained. Dr. Woods said, "There is as much need to train people for agriculture, for mechanics as for law, medicine, or engineering because each trade after all is a means of making a living."

Dr. Wood is making his campaign this year for re-election as state superintendent.

School Funds Are Received At Supt. Office This Week

Final payment of all state aid was announced by County Superintendent Walter Travis. The sum sent from the department at Austin amounted to $4,171.

Besides the state aid fund the office received a check covering transportation for the year, amounting to $2,570. On Wednesday of last week the state apportionment check arrived amounting to $2 per capita or $2,566. This payment leaves $3 per capita yet to arrive from the state. The state apportionment is set at $22 per capita and to date $19 per capita has been paid by the state.

The state this year paid 69 per cent of teachers salary aid and 94.5 per cent of the transportation. The payments this year are believed to be the highest in percentage paid by the state since the new system was begun.

Drilling Starts Again On Montgomery No. 1

Drilling has recommenced on Montgomery No. 1, according to reports this week. Work is going forward again near the 5,000-foot level after another whipstuck was set at the 4,500-foot level. The reports say that drilling is slower than here-to-fore because of the chance of again getting the bit stuck.

Work has been going on the Blanco test since November but as yet no drilling has been done beyond the 5,100 level. A jinx seems to have hit the well and each time work gets below the 5,000 foot mark difficulties arise and finally climax with the hanging of the bit and another delay of from a month to two months.

The hopes are that no further delay will arise before the contract depth of 6,000 feet is reached.

C. W. Nickels Home At Mt. Blanco Burns

The C. W. Nickels home at Mt. Blanco was destroyed by fire Saturday night of last week, together with much of the household and personal effects of the family.

The loss is partially covered by insurance. S. F. Kreis, father of A. H. Kreis, F. A. Weigel an uncle and John Kreis, a brother arrived Wednesday from Knoxville, Tennessee to be here during the wheat harvest.

A. H. Kreis was optimistic about his yield this year. "Wheat is yielding from 16 to 18 bushels per acre," he said.

Glenn Armstrong, of Los Angeles, reached home Wednesday to find his mother, Mrs. W. W. Johnson and Mrs. Wanda Banker, daughters, are spending much of their time with Mrs. Armstrong. She is in the Plainview sanitarium.

SHEEP COME BACK FIRST

Sheep, then cattle, then hogs, seems to be the sequence followed by live stock when they stage a comeback in price after a slump like of which we have had the past several months.

Sheep raisers who have the knack of handling them say they are the most profitable thing they've ever used as money makers on the farm. This would suggest there are some people who never can learn how to handle sheep, which, we are told, is a fact.

To get away from programs and allotments, fine points of the agricultural law and things of that kind, sheep (or most any other kind of live stock as a major) might be worth studying.

Sheep and wool usually point the way to changes in conditions, especially to favorable changes.

TOMATOES ARE CHEAPER

While dealers and truckers have had a hard time getting good tomatoes to the people of the plains, down-state in the valley and in the red soil of East Texas the vines have shelled out a most wonderful crop which people all over the United States are eating at a price so low the raisers are not making money.

The story goes that the late crop in the valley is going to the canners for a price of $6 and $8 per ton, big, fine luscious tomatoes like we will have in the fall but have not at all now.

FATHER'S DAY SUNDAY

It has been difficult to get father to take Father's Day seriously, but the rest of the family seem to think it is a fair to middling good institution.

Father, somehow or other, is shame-faced about the matter. He probably knows too much on father. Most of us do, not so much sins of commission as sins of omission, as, for instance, the poor out he has made of making a living for a good wife and a fine family she is raising for him.

A LONG RANGE PROGRAM

This long range program of which the department of agriculture continues to talk and which has intrigued the man in the big cities as being a soft snap for the farmer—the butt of a thousand vaudeville and radio jokes—has begun to irk the small farmer and still appears to favor the large farmer. If we understand it rightly Mr. Jones and Mr. Wallace tried to remedy this condition but when the congress got through amending the farm bill the same situation faced the small man as ever—the tendency to make him a smaller potato while it made possible spreading out for the big men easier.

SAFETY HINT OF THE DAY

Road hogs do not live to get to the packing house.

However, the most unhappy thing about the practical application of the law in this part of the Lord's vineyard is that it is continuing to take men and their families off of the farms and head them toward relief and WPA jobs. It is really a serious matter.

Almost daily you hear of men being put off of farms (with a high recommendation to another landlord who does not want them either) to look fruitlessly about for a time, then advertise their stock and teams and harness and implements for sale, and after consuming the proceeds apply for a job on WPA or ask for relief funds.

This seems like it is all wrong and surely it must be.

ANOTHER REPORT AND FEE

Druggists of Texas received a missive this past week from the State Department of Safety in which they were advised that by July 1 they must have filed some kind of a form indicating their dealings in narcotics to obtain a license to continue to dispense narcotics on physicians' prescriptions. A fee of only fifty cents is required, the notice states.

Hedged in very considerably already by state and national law, here is another board or commission to whom the business man engaged in drug practice must report or be penalized. The estimable gentlemen who run the Department of Public Safety are exercising a prerogative delegated to them by the state legislature.

The fee of only fifty cents reminds most anybody who is responsible for the operation of a small corporation that once upon a time a very nominal fee was required for a state franchise tax report and that the report itself could be made by a country newspaper man with one eye shut. Now it takes a lawyer, an accountant and a bookkeeper to furnish their figures. Also, the least possible fee is $12 and a fine if you don't get under the wire in time with your report and the money. Perhaps none of this bothers big business. We have no experience along that line. But little business managers are getting jumpy. In the first place every official looking letter has a menace of some kind in it, a possible command to do something or other. And there's always that possibility the next one you get you won't have the money to pay the fee.

This is not complaining. It is stating facts. It is possibly, probably, for the welfare of the people as a whole. It certainly is not contributing to the welfare and happiness of the fellow who is having to jump through the hoop.

The feet do more work relative to their size than any other part of the body. It is hard to visualize the fact that when a man walks a mile he places an aggregate of 250 tons on his feet. Three out of every four adults in this country have some sort of foot trouble. The blame for this condition is largely due to incorrect footwear, but the jar incident to walking on hard pavements and floors is a contributing cause.

As A Farmer Woman Thinks

Nellie Witt Spikes

We look out over the place this morning and as the grass and crops need rain so badly it looks like a great drought is on. But reports from many sections indicate there has been too much rain. We see so little of anything at a time. We see the whole world by our own selves. Our own needs look so much larger than the needs of our neighbors.

Mrs. Hollums added a piece of black rock to my collection of rock souvenirs for the rock fence. There is a pocket in one side in which I shall put a cactus. Thank you very kindly, dear friend.

It is hard to stay in the house and wash dishes and hear the teakettle sing when just outside, the trumpet vine is flaunting orange trumpets to the blue sky and the mocking bird is pouring out his heart in the top of the ash tree. It is very uninteresting to sweep and mop hard floors when there is a soft carpet of green grass on the lawn and a good shade in the shade of a tree inviting you to leave unpleasant duties.

As I hurry after a bucket of water a whiff of petunias fragrant and sweet is on the air. A killdeer flies up from the water trough where he has come for a drink of water and a bath. He calls kill-dee-dee-dee as he leaves.

I leave my work to take a look at the garden. The beans are growing but need water. Black eyed peas must be planted. There are some weeds that I failed to get. Tomatoes are not doing so well. The sweet corn given by the experiment station is growing. It is a cross with June corn and the husk is supposed to be tough enough to discourage Mr. Worm his wife and numerous children from trying to cut through to the tender corn they like so well. And while I am out I will feed the little ducks. They are so cute, nine in all. They do not heed their mother's warning but run to me and eat the egg greedily. The white first then the yellow. Even ducks are "choosy," I see. I hope the old Muscovy mother does not bring them in the yard to paddle down my irrigation ditches. But the work inside must be finished and this column written in time for the mail.

FLOYD COUNTY 14 YEARS AGO

News items taken from files of the Floyd County Hesperian published in Floydada fourteen years ago.

ISSUE OF JUNE 19, 1924

Robert A. Garrett and Miss May Montague, both of this city, were quietly united in marriage Monday morning at nine o'clock. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride by Rev. J. Pat Horton, pastor of the First Baptist Church. A few of the intimate friends were present.

Early Tuesday morning the first carload of -1924 wheat, for Floyd County was shipped out of Floydada by the local unit of the Texas Wheat Growers Association. Special permission was obtained from the chief dispatcher of the Santa Fe Division and the car was billed out at 12 o'clock Monday night. It is expected that the car will arrive in Amarillo as the first carload of new wheat from the plains of Texas. The car was shipped by Marshall Grain Co. local shipper for the association and the car weighed 76,890 pounds.

Pronounced interest is being evidenced by the people of Floydada in the Beautiful Homes contest announced last week by the Hesperian. A number of residents have begun work on their front and back lots and with the close of July, Floydada may well boast of being one of the cleanest, if not the cleanest little cities on the plains.

Plans for one of the biggest booster trips ever made by Floydada are under way for the trade excursionist to be made June 25 and 26, Wednesday and Thursday of next week incident to the advertising of the Fourth of July Celebration and Barbecue of the American Legion at Floydada. J. G. Wood, C. A. Shockley and E. E. Boothe are a committee from the Chamber of Commerce to solicit, care and arrange for the details of the excursion.

Dr. and Mrs. L. V. Smith and little daughter, Emma Louise, returned Tuesday from San Francisco, California. Dr. Smith has been taking a post graduate course in Medical work at Leland Stanford Medical School for the past few weeks.

Lynch Davidson, candidate for governor, will speak in Floydada Monday, June 23, at 8:30 according to a wire received by the Hesperian this morning.

Floydada physicians report that the smallpox situation in Floyd County is well in hand. No new cases have been reported and it is hoped that the disease is stamped out.

Mrs. B. P. Woody had as her guest this week her father C. M. Craig of Graham, and Mrs. E. H. Wade, of Jayton. They arrived Sunday.

A noteworthy fact is the high test that Floyd County wheat is making this season. Practically all the new grain is in the number one class, only the first few loads falling below the 60 mark.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON — The threat of bumper crops to the administration's farm program is somewhat lessened by the function of a little known agency, authorized to buy and distribute surpluses, the Federal Surplus Commodity Corporation. Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace has recently asked the FSCC, which in 1935 became a bureau of the department he heads, "to make a thorough survey of the situation in each of the 48 states to determine whether additional supplies of farm commodities beyond those now being consumed are needed to keep families of unemployed workers adequately nourished and adequately clothed."

As in the case of the recently authorized purchase of nearly 125,000 barrels of surplus wheat flour which represents some 575,000 bushels of wheat, FSCC purchases are calculated to assist state relief, administrators in supplying the consumer needs of the unemployed, and at the same time put a wedge under prices that slide off as crop surpluses stack up.

Unannounced, but under consideration, is a plan for FSCC to buy cotton which will be used in comforter covers and bed ticking for distribution to the unemployed on relief. In 1937 the FSCC bought about $40,500 of cotton fabric when cotton production climbed to an all-time high of 41,000,000 acres.

Altogether in 1937 FSCC spent over $15,000,000, mostly on such foodstuffs as apples, beans, oranges, peas, potatoes, prunes, rice, milk, butter and eggs, oats, rice and figs.

Whether or not it will become the policy of FSCC to concentrate its buying power in those quarters where natural elements threaten to upset A.A.A.'s so-called "balanced economy" cannot be ascertained.

But the corporation is singularly adaptable to the need, which may become urgent, for further control over the agricultural controls already set up.

This is a piece of poetry written by my friend Mary Dean Waters that I like very much and think you will like it too.

Cowboys of Long Ago
Light of the western plain;
While at sunset's glow
Help me to fashion a dream
Of the cowboys of long ago.

Too young to remember
The plains, rolling and free;
The cowboy's staunch and true
In God's open country.

I see a cloud of dust,
I hear the bawl of cattle,
Hear the thud of many hoofs
And the chuck wagon's rattles.

It's an old time round-up;
The good old fashioned way,
Cowboys swearing, sweatin'
And riding all the day.

The cowboys rope whistles;
A steer comes to a fall.
The branding iron sizzles,
The steer struggles and bawls.

A round-up's full of danger
All in a good day's work,
Trouble and misfortune
But the cowboys never shrink.

Cowboys on the night herd;
Their songs float on the air.
A stampede has sent many
To the land of Over There.

There'll be a round-up
In heaven, and I know
We'll meet you there—
Dear Cowboy of long ago.

—Mary Dean, Dec. 14, 1935.

Editorial Briefs From Other Newspapers

We note with regret that it is reported that it will be necessary because of lack of funds, to reduce the working force under J. Edgar Hoover in charge of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. This, we believe, is a serious error on the part of the federal government. It is an announcement that will be hailed with joy by all gangsters. The cost of this department is little enough compared with its value as a law enforcing agency. It would seem in the light of the most elementary common sense, that with all the money the federal government is spending for every thing imaginable, that sufficient funds cannot be found to maintain this valuable department. The capture of one gang of kidnapers a year is worth easily all the department costs. —Foard County News.

We are in the midst of starting times. Never, perhaps, since the construction days following the Civil War have there been such depressed issues before the American public. And never has the well-being of the nation been so dependent on the right solution of these problems and on the manner in which the pending issues are met. "We are living in a day of destiny. And to live in a day of destiny and be unaware of it is a tragedy." —Liberty.

From time immemorial, Arles, France, has been the home of beautiful women. It is one place where feminine beauty is so general that it becomes monotonous. In the ruins of the amphitheater here may be seen the gladiator's cells and the cages in which the wild beasts were kept between their battles in the arena. At Montmajour, near Arles, is the famous abbey of the Benedictines, dating from the Tenth century. —Panhandle Herald.

June Foods for a Winter Dinner Table? Easy With Community Refrigeration

INDIVIDUAL lockers in community cold storage vaults, the newest development in making better foods available to rural people, are rapidly growing in favor from the Pacific coast to the Tennessee valley and through the south.

Customers rent food lockers in precisely the same way bank customers rent safety deposit vaults. They store in the lockers whatever foods they please, then go and get those strawberries for Christmas dinner or that side of beef they slaughtered last fall whenever they want it.

Usually the cage-like vaults, in rooms where the temperature is kept five degrees either side of zero at all times, are installed at creameries, country stores, or other places where farmers regularly gather.

THE new plan apparently started in Klamath Falls, Wash., with hunters requesting refrigerator space to preserve deer meat, wild ducks and even fish. Their wives soon saw the point and began to put fruit and vegetables with the hunting loot for quick freezing.

Quickly recognizing the value of this type of storage, the agricultural departments of the University of Idaho, Washington State College, and Oregon State College have been making experiments in pre-cooling and quick freezing to determine just what products are most adaptable.

Pioneering of the idea was done at Walla Walla, Wash., where the Dairymen's association now has more than 1000 private lockers in three plants. They run close to capacity, often with a waiting list. The Frozen Foods Lockers' Association of Washington, Oregon, and Idaho has 100 different storage locations.

In the south, TVA has encouraged such experiments as the means of encouraging wider use of electricity and the University of Tennessee Engineering Experimental Station has developed a "w-k-in" type of community refrigerator.

The Tennessee method has run more to a large storage room without division into separate lockers. A typical unit has accommodations for between 800 and 1000 pounds of meat and vegetables. Here it is a matter of refrigeration for those not having individual facilities.

Members of the co-operative refrigerator associations in Tennessee and Georgia districts have been able, in many cases, to arrange for installation of the refrigerators in village stores where they serve as a central "drawing card."

SOME of the northwest plants maintain a butcher or arrangement with local meat markets, enabling persons to have animals prepared for consumption before storage.

The rental plan is serving to bring freezing, refrigeration, and cold storage facilities within the reach of thousands who would not be able to maintain private home plants, and may, districts believe, help to put much-needed variety into the rural diet in sections where it all too often lacks vital elements.

Campaign to Continue on Unfit Autos

Highway Death Rate Figured Above That For Same Time Last Year

The State Highway Patrol will continue its fight on the high death rate of Texas highways indefinitely. The patrolmen will be on the lookout for unsafe vehicles on all highways.

Besides the regular patrol, the department has designated that the patrol stop in the smaller towns and cities at unannounced times and arrest all drivers whose cars have had lights, brakes, and other defects that might cause accidents.

These drivers are made to pay light fines and have the defects remedied. If this is not done the reports are sent in to the department and the drivers refusing to pay fines or have their cars repaired are brought before county court where a much heavier fine is assessed than in the city courts.

The department hopes to decrease materially the defective autos being operated on the highways by this safety drive. Since no fine may be paid or accepted without a reliable garageman's signature that the defect has been repaired on the officers car it is obvious that the public is seeking the cooperation of the garages.

A warning has been issued that drivers without license, either operators or chauffeur, are liable to fine and those who have lost or misplaced their license had better obtain duplicates before doing more

May Aleene died in the Methodist hospital at Dallas on Tuesday afternoon at 5:45. She had been in the Sweetwater hospital several weeks suffering from complications from a recent attack of influenza.

Deceased is survived by her parents, two sisters, Miss Ruth Palmer, a student at McMurray College, Abilene, and Mrs. E. H. Sheppard of Dalhart, one brother, George T. Palmer, Jr. of Dallas. All members of the family were present for the funeral rites except Mrs. Sheppard, who was unable to attend.

SHIRLEY JEAN BLEVIN SPRINTS FOOT IN FALL

Shirley Jean Blevins of Dallas, who is here on a visit with her mother, Mrs. A. C. Blevins, in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Greer, suffered a badly sprained foot in a fall of a windmill while at play with other children last Sunday afternoon.

Shirley Jean has not been able to walk since the painful accident. The department recently issued a "Handbook for Drivers" dealing with the various problems of driving on a highway and in towns.

This book of questions and answers have been distributed to patrolmen over the state and are being given to those drivers who desire to better understand the laws of the road. The book is issued with the hope that Texas drivers will join the "crusade on Death."

REV. TUBBS TO FAIRMOUNT

Rev. G. W. Tubbs will fill his regular appointment at the Fairmount Baptist Church Sunday, Sunday School service at 10 a. m.; preaching at 11 a. m. and evening service at 8 o'clock.

Time and Place: April 7, A. D. 30. The trial before the Sanhedrin, from 1 to 6 a. m. of Friday. Trial before Pilate from 6 to 9. During this period Jesus was carried before Herod, and back the second time to Pilate. The crucifixion took place on the hill of Calvary, just outside the northern walls of Jerusalem. It began about 9 a. m., and lasted till 3 p. m.

The tragedy and the glory of the crucifixion are described in the great hymn of Isaac Watts, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross,"—and this is as it should be.

Christ's death is certainly one of the most momentous events in the annals of history. In the words of Watts, when this happening is studied: "My richest gain I count but loss, and pour contempt on all my pride."

Let us survey a distinctly human aspect of the crucifixion.

The title of our lesson is "God's Suffering Servant." This is essentially what Jesus was in His life and in His death—the man of sorrows and acquainted with grief, manifesting in all that He did, and in all that man did to Him, the divine compassion and love that stops at nothing in its effort to redeem and save.

The human aspect of Christ's sufferings is further emphasized in the men who suffered with Him, a malefactor on either side. They were human, too. They felt the keen terror of the nails. But one is not so impressed with their situation or their suffering, for they were dying as many others have died under the operations of crude and raw justice, but a form of justice none the less.

The one malefactor railed upon Jesus, mocking Him and saying, "If Thou be the Son of God, save thyself and come down from the cross." The other met his tragic death in a different spirit, realizing that he and his fellow were suffering justly but sensing the purity and the innocence of the Christ who hung upon the cross between.

There in that sad hour were the raffraff of humanity, calloused to human suffering or even rejoicing in it with what is called today a sadistic passion, railing upon Him, wagging their heads, befooling their horrible execrations with a semblance of religion and reference to the temple. Uttering a deeper truth than they realized were those who said, "He saved others; himself He cannot save." They did not realize that it was that He might save others that He was unconcerned about saving Himself.

But there were others also surrounding the cross. There was the mother of Jesus and "the disciple whom Jesus loved." The mother had cherished in her heart from the day of His birth the momentous words concerning Him, but now in the hour of His sorrow, and her own, followed all the way to the cross, burdened and anxious, but with the intensity and persistency of a love that endured to the end.

But it was and still is the Christ on the cross who is the central figure, the suffering Savior, enduring all that He might fulfill the loving purposes of God dying in a very real sense that men might live.

22 And they bring him unto the place Golgotha, which is, being interpreted, The place of a skull.

23 And they gave him to drink wine mingled with myrrh: but he received it not.

24 And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, casting lots upon them, what every man should take.

25 And it was the third hour, and they crucified him.

26 And the superscription of his accusation was written over, THE KING OF THE JEWS.

27 And with him they crucify two thieves; the one on his right hand, and the other on his left.

28 And the scripture was fulfilled, which saith, And he was numbered with the transgressors.

29 And they that passed by railed on him, wagging their heads, and saying, Ah, thou that destroyest the temple, and buidest it in three days,

30 Save thyself, and come down from the cross.

31 Likewise also the chief priests mocking said among themselves with the scribes, He saved others; himself he cannot save.

32 Let Christ the King of Israel descend now from the cross, that we may see and believe. And they that were crucified with him reviled him.

33 And when the sixth hour was come, there was darkness over the whole land until the ninth hour.

34 And at the ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice, saying, Eloi, Eloi, lamasabachthani? which is, being interpreted, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?

Second Farm Bought Here Through FSA

Carrick Snodgrass Buys 240 Acre Farm Near Blanco Through Government

Claude C. Carpenter, director of the Farm Security Administration in this district, announced late yesterday that Mr. and Mrs. Carrick Snodgrass had purchased a 240-acre farm through the Bankhead-Jones Tenancy Act administration by the Farm Security Administration.

The farm purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Snodgrass is located in the Blanco community. The soil is average of the county, all tillable land except a small lake. The farm has a five-room bungalow house with barns, corrals and other improvements.

At the present price of farm and livestock products the estimated farm income is $1937 annually. The estimated cash expense is figured at $1330, leaving a balance of $607 to operate. Land payment, interest and taxes are figured in the expenses. Depreciation of machinery and buildings are to be deducted from the cash income.

The value of food produced on the farm is valued at $194 per year, which is to be added to the cash income in order to total the benefits.

It appears, according to the report, that the rents each year will repay the government loan made to purchase the farm and also the 3 per cent interest charged.

This is the second farm brought through the FSA within the month. Mr. and Mrs. James J. Smith bought the first farm for this county and the second in this area.

Mr. and Mrs. Snodgrass are both graduates of Floydada High School. Both have lived on the farm for a number of years as tenants. They have one daughter, Doris Elaine.

Man-Made God

While many Britons have been canonized abroad, only one attained the eminent position of a god amongst a civilized people. This was William Murdoch of Ayrshire, the discoverer of coal-gas for lighting purposes, says London Tit-Bits Magazine. When Naser-ed-Din, Shah of Persia, visited London in 1873 he was struck with wonder at the gas illumination in his hotel suite and asked to be allowed to visit the gasworks where it was generated. There, to his amazement, he learned that the inventor of gas was a man named Murdoch, for "Merdoch" is the name of the ancient God of Light of the Assyrians, Babylonians and Persians. He was positive that the Scot was a reincarnation of the Persian god and had a portrait of him enshrined in the royal palaces of Teheran and Kasr Kadjar, and from that period he figured as a diety in the religion of the Suffi sect of Persia.

No man lives unto himself alone. We need each other. Civilization is built on this primary truth. To be happy to be prosperous, to grow—we need the help and cooperation of our fellow men. You cannot prosper unless your neighbor does well. When we hurt our neighbor we hurt ourselves.—Miami Chief.

MACHINES UP CORN FARM PRODUCTION TWENTYFOLD

Machinery development, which has enabled man to use energy supplied by animals and tractors instead of his own muscles, makes it possible for the individual farmer, who a century ago could grow 5 acres of corn, to plant, cultivate, and harvest 20 times as much today.

Recent investigations by the United States Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the Iowa Experiment Station show that the modern farmer expends no more time or labor in producing 5,000 bushels of corn than did the farmer of 100 years ago in producing 250 bushels.

"Primitive cultural methods used by Indians were not a great deal different from those of today," says R. B. Gray, of the Bureau of Agricultural Engineering. "The difference is in the tools that are used."

In 1855, Mr. Gray points out, the corn farmer used a walking plow, a single section or "A" harrow, and a shovel plow for marking off rows. He planted by hand, covered the seed with a hoe, cultivated with the same one-horse shovel plow, and harvested by hand. With this equipment he needed 33.6 hours of labor to grow 1 acre of corn.

Thirty years later the farmer had the two-bottom gang plow, the disk harrow, a two-row planter, a two-section harrow, a single-row cultivator, but still harvested by hand. With this equipment he was able to grow and harvest an acre of corn with 15.1 hours of labor.

With the all-machine age of 1930 the farmer had available a tractor, a two-bottom gang plow, 7-foot tandem disk, four-section harrow and pulvizer, two-row planter, and a two-row picker or harvester. This cut the man-labor hours to 6.9 per cent.

Further improvements in machinery within the past 8 years—including four-row planters and cultivators and general purpose tractors—make it possible now to produce an acre of corn with 5 hours of labor, says Mr. Gray.

Are your cows switching flies or making milk?

THE SUMMER slump in milk production is not entirely a natural phenomenon. Cows that are eternally aggravated by flies don't have much time to graze and chew their cud and make milk. Fly time is milk-slump time.

Protect your cows from fly-torture with Dr. Hess Fly Spray. This product is both a fly killer and a fly repeller. It kills flies in the stable and it protects cows from flies in the pasture.

Dr. Hess Fly Spray has been tested as a fly killer and a fly repeller. Costs little to use. 1 half-gallon of milk, per test, on each milking, pays for the spray.

Preliminary Count of Votes Indicates All-Star Winners

Casting of Votes Moves Forward at Unusual Slow Pace

Deadline For Voting Set For Monday Night, June 20, By Committee

The committee appointed to count the All-Star team ballots met Monday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce office to make a preliminary count of the ballots cast to date in an effort to show those who have not yet cast ballots just how the wind is blowing so far as an All-Star team is concerned.

The committee composed of Herwin Strickland, Bill Hams, Walter Collins, and R. W. Cothran tabulated the votes cast to date and recorded the results.

Voting seems to be unusually slow considering the importance of this year's All-Star ten. Approximately 1,500 ballots have been distributed but an exceedingly small number have been returned to the boxes for counting.

Hurricanes Beat Out Spur In 12 Innings By Score of 12 - 11

Three Utility Men Help With Victory

Floydada took the measure of Spur in a matched softball game Friday night 12 to 11 in 12 innings of hard hitting ball. The majority of players representing were from Hagood's Hurricanes but Blondy Finley, Virgil Williams, and Ray Chapman were taken along to bolster the Floydada delegation.

A series of double plays, one unassisted by Carol McClung at first base, choked the Spur boys off time after time with men on base and a chance to either knot or win the game. Observers said that Floydada showed the best infield work all season.

Spur had a slow ball pitcher that pitched a "dead ball" according to players and it was almost impossible to hit out of the infield unless the ball was slugged dead center.

It is expected that Spur will return the visit sometime soon. Floydada players report that Wester Field is better lighted and a better playing field than that at Spur.

New Clipper.—Whipping the waters of Elliott Bay into a spray, the new Boeing-Pan American Airways clipper, colossal achievement of aeronautical design, is pictured above as it started a somewhat disastrous test run near Seattle, Wash. A few minutes later the plane heeled over, slightly damaging its right wing, which dragged in the water. After repairs, the four-motored craft rose sturdily in a second trial flight and covered a 75-mile area in 38 minutes. The clipper, which has accommodations for 74 passengers, will be used in trans-oceanic service.

Taylor Is Candidate For Commissioner Of Precinct Number Three

Having been solicited by a goodly number to run for Commissioner, I have decided to make the race for same.

I am not inclined to make a lot of promises to influence the voters, and having lived among the people of this community for nearly forty years, I believe they know that I will do my very best and I think that is all any candidate should offer.

On this offer, "To Do My Best," I am asking your support.

Respectfully, M. H. Taylor. (Political Advertisement)

DIFFERING TRAFFIC LAWS MAKE DRIVING DIFFICULT

The mere crossing of a State line may sometimes transform a safe and prudent driver into a lawbreaker and an unsafe driver—a natural result of the nonuniformity of traffic laws in the States. This is one of the conclusions in a study of traffic conditions and measures for their improvement which Congress directed the Bureau of Public Roads to make.

"It is generally accepted," says the Bureau in explaining this particular result of what it describes as chaotic nonuniformity, "that the manner of driving a motor vehicle becomes a habit and that the involuntary reflexes largely govern the handling and control of a vehicle by each individual. The involuntary response determines the reaction of the driver in emergencies. The driving habits of the individual, with few exceptions, are formed in a single State and a single community of that State." Uniform traffic regulations throughout each State—with local ordinances subject to approval by the State and enforced primarily by local officers in cooperation with the State—are recommended in the Bureau report, sent by the Secretary of Agriculture to Congress.

Decorating Clock Dials

It was not until late in the Seventeenth century that cast figures and chased work appeared on clock dials. The engraving on clock faces and the brass plates on the back were beautiful and artists were frequently employed to decorate them. Early in the Eighteenth century the makers began to inscribe their names on the dials, and it is at this time that Latin proverbs began to appear.

Allotments—

per cent of his cotton allotment, his payment will be figured at the rate of whatever acres he plants times 14 times the normal yield per acre times 24c per pound.

This producer is allowed 43 acres of general allotment, which means that he can have 43 acres planted in general crops such as wheat, barley, oats, maize, hegar, kaffir and other grain crops for harvest and these crops can be sold. This farm has 27 acres of soil conserving allotment which can be planted to sudan, cane or millet for hay or the sudan may be grazed.

There are other ways which the soil conservation acres may be treated. For instance, (1) It may be left idle and contoured or basin listed; (2) Devoted to cow peas and turned under after a good growth; (3) Strip cropping of soil depleting crop with fallow acreage may be used but the producer should bear in mind that the soil depleting crops such as maize or hegar will count as part of the general allotment. Only the fallow strip will be considered as soil conserving and this may be accomplished by planting this way: Plant 2 and skip 3 forty-inch rows; plant 2 and skip 4; plant 4 and skip 4, etc. If this is not clear, contact the county agent or assistant.

The Class I cotton payment for this farm would be 30 acres times average normal yield, his payment would be $72.00.

Too Late To Classify

CURTIS PUBLISHING Company has opening in this territory for three men with cars. We pay salary and commission. See Mr. Gilbreath evenings after 6 at 321 W. Kentucky St.

The Class I general payment would be 43 acres times the Index, an average of which is $1.00 per acre and would equal approximately $43.00. Wheat and grain sorghum are in the general allotment for compliance this year. There will be a wheat allotment this year for the purpose of computing the payment. Within the general allotment, the wheat payment would be the average number of bushels per acre times 12c times whatever wheat allotment is given within this 43 acres.

The Class II payment will be the 27 acres times 50c, making a total of $13.50, which is a Class II allowance. Two-thirds of this amount equals approximately nine units. When these units are made, the payment is earned. To make these units, any of the following methods may be employed: On part or all of the soil conserving acreage.
(1) One acre of green cover crop such as sudan, cane, or millet turned under after reaching a good growth.
(2) 200 feet of standard terrace built in 1938.
(3) 4 acres of contoured strip cropping.

(4) 8 acres of contoured listing or furrowing of cropland in preparing for crop.
(5) 8 acres of contoured row crop.

Additional practices, such as ridding of pasture land or contouring of pasture land may be used and specifications may be secured at the county agent's office.
Answers to questions being asked daily at the county agent's office are as follows:

- (1) Payment may be made if a producer has a cotton allotment and there is no cotton planted.
- (2) Land planted to cotton will be considered as devoted to cotton when bolls are first formed.
- (3) Land planted to cotton within the allotment and destroyed by flood or drought may be planted to grain sorghum and the producer still receive his cotton payment, provided he originally planted between 80 per cent and 100 per cent of his cotton allotment.

(4) In cases in which small grains are harvested and followed by cotton and the cotton reaches maturity, the small grain, if other than wheat, will not be reported. If the small grain is wheat, the acreage will be counted twice and reported as both wheat and cotton. Seeded wheat is classified as wheat unless designated by April 15 and plowed up by May 15 where it was designated.

(5) Alfalfa seeded prior to 1938 is not a soil depleting crop but on the other hand this land can not be used to make units in earning the Class II payment.

(6) The planting of forest trees is not a soil depleting crop and if the producer furnishes more than one-half of the total cost of carrying out the program in cooperation with the Forestry Service, he will receive one unit for each 2½ acres towards his soil building units. If the Forestry Service furnishes as much as one-half of the total cost of carrying out the program, no credit can be given towards the producers' soil building units.

(7) Producers should measure their farms and be certain of their acreage as adjustment of allotments will be made after compliance is checked.

MUCH RE-PLANTING ROW CROP LANDS REPORTED

Southwest of Floydada where the ground has been the driest of any section of the county, the row crops for the most part are up to perfect stands and growing off nicely. However, that area must have rain as soon as their wheat harvest is out of the way. Right now, all hands are watching the skies, and such as plains people like rain, are hoping for a few more perfect days for the wheat harvest.

Crops badly washed. Crops below the caprock are badly washed, but the excellent season and warm days will make a good stand of all crops shortly, barring more flood-like rains. Farmers have been very busy re-planting in most of that portion of Floyd lying under the hill and up into Briscoe and into Motley county, is the report that comes to Floydada.

In some portions of north Floyd County the rains were so heavy to and including last week that ground is still too wet for good planting conditions. However, many planters were getting into washed out crop land this week and the area will be re-planted in a short time.

WEED KILLING PLAN ALSO KILLS GRASS

One way to clear brush and noxious weeds from land is to turn in goats enough to keep the bushes stripped bare and the weeds clipped close to the ground until the roots starve and the plants die.

Unintentionally, a good many farmers follow practically the same plan in pastures they really want to keep productive, says A. T. Semple of the Soil Conservation Service. On their grasslands they pasture so many animals and for such a long season that the tops of the good grass plants have no chance to feed the roots and to store food reserves that the plants require for growth. The results is the death of the best grasses and a lowering of the grazing both in quality and quantity.

A thin cover of grass or weeds provides less feed and holds less of the rain that falls on the pasture. Semple points out. Close-cropped pastures are likely to go from bad to worse and to suffer erosion by wind and water. Farmers often are forced to reduce the number of animals that graze on the damaged grasslands, but they seldom reduce sharply enough and soon enough to allow the good grasses to recover and form a leafy surface covering to catch and hold the rain that will, in turn, promote a richer growth of grass.

When pastures have been over-grazed for several seasons and the plants have been thinned to an unproductive stand, it may be necessary not only to reduce radically the number of animals on the pasture, but also to give positive aid to recovery.

Pasture renovation aids may include one or a combination of the following measures: (1) Seeding to desirable grasses and legumes; (2) fertilizing—with complete fertilizer as a rule; and (3) mechanical aids to erosion control and water conservation. Contour furrows, incidentally, have proved one of the simplest and most effective of these mechanical aids.

NUTS—SHELLED OR UNSHELLED?

Whether to buy shelled nuts or nuts in the shell is often a problem to the housewife.

The Bureau of Home Economics gives some figures on this point in a new leaflet on nuts and ways of using them. The bureau believes that when the labor involved in cracking is considered, nuts purchased as kernels are cheaper per unit than nuts purchased in the shell. They are also less bulky and require less storage space, but nuts in the shell often keep better. Black walnuts and hickory nuts are usually sold shelled.

Three and one-half pounds of almonds in the shell, according to the bureau, make about 1 pound, or 3½ cups shelled. Two and a quarter pounds of filberts in the shell equal about 1 pound or 3½ cups of shelled filberts. To obtain a pound of shelled peanuts—3½ to 3½ cups—only 1½ pounds need be bought unshelled. Two and a half pounds of pecans or English walnuts in the shell equal about 1 pound of kernels, but the pecans will fill 2½ cups while the walnuts will measure 4 cups if in halves. Eastern black walnuts shell out to least advantage; it requires 5½ pounds in the shell to supply about a pound of kernels. The pound will fill 3 cups if the kernels are broken, of 4 cups if in halves.

The leaflet, "Nuts—And Ways to Use Them," may be had free, while the supply lasts, from the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

DEPRECIATION PUTS FARM BUILDINGS BEYOND REPAIR

Repairs, remodeling, and new construction of farm buildings are not making up for normal depreciation. This is true in widely separated areas, as shown by surveys made in Wisconsin, Kansas, Georgia, and Illinois, under the direction of the Bureau of Agricultural Engineering of the United States Department of Agriculture and the four State agricultural colleges.

Few people realize how bad the situation really is, according to the Bureau. "Many structures must be repaired at once or they will soon be worthless. Many have already deteriorated to such an extent that they are beyond repair. On the majority of farms, buildings have not been properly maintained since the postwar drop in farm prices in 1920."

The type and size of structure needed on farms also has changed considerably in many sections of the country. For example, in the Kansas township surveyed, farms have increased in size since wheat proved to a more dependable crop there than corn, alfalfa, and livestock. The type of crops grown has changed in other cases, and yields per acre of many crops have increased. As a result, there is great need for replacement or enlargement or other remodeling of many of the older buildings.

Wheat Harvest—

At Barwise an estimated three cars of wheat have been received. All of that was cut from dry land farms. The wheat there is cutting from 8 to 12 bushels per acre. Harvest is expected to get under way there in earnest by the first of next week.

Rains last night and this morning put a temporary stop to all harvesting operations. A half inch of rain fell at Floydada and immediately south and east the fall was around three-quarters. In the southwest portion of the county indications are that much-needed moisture was received. Other portions of the county report good showers. West, southwest, northwest, north and northeast of Floyd County in an immense area heavy rains fell. Lubbock reported 1.6 inches and Plainview a heavy rain.

South Plains report that about 5,000 bushels of wheat has been harvested there. A rain Saturday night dampened things but did no serious damage to wheat nor did it seriously delay planting or harvesting. Sterley is facing much the same condition as South Plains. The harvest is due to reach full speed there within a week or so.

ROTARY CLUB WILL HAVE NO MEETING NEXT WEEK

With much hustle and ado in the harvest fields, numerous vacationing members and some other members at the International convention in San Francisco, Floydada Rotary Club yesterday decided to have no meeting on Wednesday of next week. There are five Wednesdays in June and the club decided, under the circumstances, that four meetings would be sufficient.

Visitors include Arch Crager and Rev. H. H. Hamilton of Lockney, W. U. White had charge of the program. He presented John A. Stapleton in a talk on prevention and cure of tuberculosis.

City Crew Continues Repairs To Street

Continued work on topped streets in Floydada is being done with J. H. Tribble in charge of the work. About twenty blocks will have been covered by the repair crew before their work is finished.

The lipstick of Hindu women is pan or betel leaf chewed with chunam lime, which leaves the tongue, teeth and lips as ruddy as a sunset. Most distinctive item in the Hindu woman's make-up is the wafer stamped between her brows. This is not a caste-mark. When black, the wafer is made of burnt, powdered saffron, mixed with sandalwood oil; when pink, it comes from the dried and powdered "kumkum" flower, common in the land.—Briscoe Co. News

SHAKESPEARE MAXIM GOOD IN MOTOR AGE

The borrowing and lending of automobiles common as it is as a friendly courtesy, is not a safety first measure. Borrowing may be safe enough in some cases, but on the average it helps to build up the record of wrecked cars and of deaths and injuries in traffic accidents. The familiar quotation, from Shakespeare—"Neither a borrower nor a lender be"—is good counsel for the motor age, the Bureau of Public Roads finds.

In a study of the "case histories" of more than 800 fatal highway accidents, in which passenger cars were involved, the Bureau found more than 25 percent of the drivers listed as "friend of the owner." In comparison, only 41 percent of the drivers were listed "employee of owner" and only 2.2 percent as "relative of owner." Most of the "friend" drivers were borrowers.

Officials of the Bureau do not believe that anywhere near a quarter of the cars on the highways at any time are being driven by "friends of the owners." If this assumption is correct it means that borrowers have more than their proportional share of accidents.

Unfamiliarity with the car accounts for part of the increased danger to borrowers, passengers, other motorists, and pedestrians, says the Bureau, but the survey suggests that borrowers, as a class, are less responsible than car owners.
