Democrats Make Up Ballot For July Primary Election

Election Holders In 23 Precincts Named Monday

Name of Judge Bonner, Vernon, Ruled Received Too Late For Place

Floyd County democrats made the first move Monday preparatory to their vote on Saturday, July 23, for nominees for state, district, county and precinct officials.

The primary committee in session throughout the morning and part of the afternoon:

(1) Made up the ballot for the first primary, choosing places by lot for all offices from governor to county precinct chairman;

(2) Assessed the cost of the election against the various candidates after computing the probable cost of the same;

(3) Determined that a first and second primary should be held in this county;

(4) Selected the presiding officers for the various voting precincts in the county, twenty-three in number.

Every local and district applicant for a place on the ticket was given a place on the ticket, save and except Judge L. P. Bonner, of Vernon. In that instance the application was refused, based on a ruling from the attorney general's department in which it was held that a district office application mailed on the last day for filing to be made but which is not received on that date does not constitute a proper filing for a district office. A ruling from the state chairman held that the application so filed was proper and should be accepted by the county chairman, and the name placed on the ballot.

Presiding Officers Named
Following are the presiding officers named for the 23 voting precincts in the county:

West Floydada, No. 1, Lon M. Davis; Starkey, No. 2, J. K. Holmes; Almon, No. 3, E. E. Foster; Sand Hill, No. 4, G. C. Collins; East Lockney, No. 5, J. D. Higgins; Aiken, No. 6, Herman Stover; Providence, No. 7, Ben Brandes; Lone Star, No. 8, Herman King; South Plains, No. 9, W. E. Sims; Fairmont, No. 10, G. R. Tibbets; Cedar, No. 11, J. S. Lackey; Center, No. 12, Olin S. Miller; Baker, No. 13, George Stiles; Antelope, No. 14, S. M. Crawford; Lakeview, No. 15, B. L. Breed; Harmony, No. 16, G. L. Snodgrass; Goodnight, No. 17, J. W. Taylor; West Lockney, No. 18, W. H. Counts; North Floydada, No. 19, L. B. Williams; Dougherty, No. 20, O. W. Howard; Sterley, No. 21, B. A. Howell; McCoy, No. 22, John R. Gray; East Floydada, No. 23, John R. Maddox.

A death of local aspirants is responsible for a high per capita assessment, it was indicated for the session of the committee.

Following is the last of candidates for whom Floyd County electors will vote, as they will appear on the ballot for the first primary, including the thirteen gubernatorial candidates, a half a dozen lieutenant-governor candidates and all:

For Governor: Ernest O. Thompson of Potter County, Thomas Self of Houston County, W. Lee O'Daniel of Tarrant County, P. D. Renfro of Jefferson County, Tom F. Hunter of Wichita County, Clarence R. Miller of Dallas County, S. T. Brogdon of Erath County, Karl A. Crowley of Tarrant County, Joseph King of Harris County, Clarence E. Farmer of Tarrant County, William McCraw of Dallas County, Jas. A. Floydada Scouts To Make A Tour Of Northwest U.S.

Three Floydada scouts plan to make the 21-day camping tour through New Mexico, Colorado, and Wyoming to the Yellowstone National Park.

Thirty-three scouts and leaders from the South Plains council will encamp at Camp Post Saturday and Sunday, June 25 and 26, in preparation for the tour.

The complete route schedule has been made and every detail, including camping permits, swimming, and fishing. Health and safety have been worked out. Earl M. McClure, scout executive, will be chief camp director. He will be assisted by G. E. Wadzeck, scoutmaster at Spur, Frank Runkles, Lubbock scoutmaster, and H. I. Keifer, newspaper reporter, will also make the trip.

The boys from Floydada making the trip are James Wilson, Carl Minor, and Joe Dick Moore of Troop 37.

Survived. — When the would-be assassin, Joseph Zangara, fired shots at President Roosevelt in Miami more than five years ago, a stray bullet struck Miss Margaret Krus in the head. After wavering between life and death, the girl recovered and holds a job in a Washington bureau as a reward for her suffering. Miss Krus, who still suffers headaches from the accident, is shown above examining the hat with the blood-rimmed bullet hole which she was wearing when shot.

Dougherty Boy to Apply For His Lone Star Farm Degree

Record One Of Most Brilliant Ever Made In This Area, King Says Monday

Henry Hinton, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hinton of Dougherty, has made application for his Lone Star Farmer degree, W. A. King, vocational agriculture teacher, said Monday.

King said that Henry has one of the finest records in some respects that has ever been made in this area. He has had three years of vocational agriculture work, during which time his projects have been: first year, 32 acres of cotton, pig for pork production, and a sow for pig production; second year, 65 acres of cotton and one calf for beef production.

Projects for the third year include 60 acres of cotton, calf for beef production, 30 acres of milo, sow for pig production, and 40 acres of wheat. From these projects his records showed that he had made a total labor income of $913.34.

Other than his project work, he was an active member of his vocational agriculture class and the Future Farmers organization. He was a member of the Fort Worth meat judging team and a member of the Plainview dairy judging team. He also exhibited cotton and pigs and won prizes from his exhibits.

Henry intends to make his vocational agriculture and enter a farming partnership with his father and brother on their 1,600 acre farm. He graduated from Floydada High School this year.

Former F. H. S. Coach To Coach E. N. M. J. C.

R. P. Terrell, coach of Floydada High School from 1932 to 36 and coach at Matador High School for the past two years, has been secured as coach and athletic director of Eastern New Mexico Junior College at Portales, New Mexico, it was learned this week.

Terrell said that he had a one year contract with the college as coach of football, basketball, and track and also to teach physical education classes. He plans also to begin boxing teams next fall.

The college is five years old and is considered one of the best junior colleges in the southwest. It ranks third in New Mexico and in the first 15 junior colleges in the United States in scholastics. The registrar said that there were 500 students enrolled there last year.

For the first time in the life of the college it will be a member of a football conference, the Colorado Conference, composed of teams in Kansas, Colorado, and Oklahoma. About 40 boys reported last year for football and Coach Terrell said that he expected more material this year than last.

Important Ruling On Summer Fallow Heartens Growers

Agent, Committee Get Long-Sought Approval On Soil Depletion Practice

A fight for recognition of the practice of Floyd County wheat farmers in handling their lands during the summer by plowing under the stubble and re-plowing again before planting as good practice and not soil depleting, was won this week by county agricultural agent D. P. Bredthauer and the county agricultural committee.

A telegram from B. F. Vance, assistant administrative office in charge of the agricultural conservation program in Texas, to Mr. Bredthauer this week culminated the effort of the farm leaders, giving assent to their contention that plain summer fallow is not soil depleting as practiced in this county.

The effort was begun three years ago when administrative officials of the state, after placing Floyd County in the wind erosion area, insisted that, in order for the summer stubble plow up not to be classed as soil depleting, the land must be contoured, basin listed or strip cropped.

The telegram from Mr. Vance, received Tuesday, said: "Plain summer fallow will not be soil depleting provided it is protected from wind erosion by incorporating trash or stubble into surface soil if such (See Important Ruling, back page)

Attorney General's Office Spikes Plans For Boxing Tourney

Boxing plans for the Fourth of July went awry this week after consultation by mail with the Attorney General's office at Austin. After the attorney general's letter was received the Fourth of July committee the fight decided to cancel all plans.

The attorney general said in his letter that a school could sponsor a boxing tournament without fee or complication but that he doubted that a school could sponsor such an activity after it had dismissed for summer vacation.

If such entertainment was sponsored by the school only boys of school age and eligible for athletic competition could compete in it. If such contest were not sponsored by the school each entrant would be required to pay a $5 entrance fee (not returnable) and the sponsors would be required to pay a $50 state tax as well as taxes both state and federal upon the gate receipts.

The committee felt that under such circumstances any chance of making the affair a good one was obliterated because of the taxes and fees which would have to be passed on to the customers. On the other hand the school might have had trouble convincing the taxing boards that it would sponsor an affair of that sort after dismissing for the summer.

Plans are on foot to arrange some other entertainment to take the place of the ousted boxing tourney plans. Just what will finally hatch out has not been announced by the committee.

Entertainments scheduled are Harley Sadlers show which will be here for two days, political speaking by candidates for state, district, and county offices, championship softball games late each afternoon, old-fashioned street dance, and a public dance on the night of July 4. Permission has already been received from the city authorities to rope off portions of the city streets in order to obtain more room for visitors.

Montgomery No. 1 Hits New Depth

Montgomery No. 1 was drilling at a record depth Wednesday afternoon when the bit was recorded at 5,285 feet. This was 200 feet deeper than the bit has ever been before.

Members of the drilling crews were reported to be happy over the fact that no trouble had been encountered in the last 785 feet but that they would be happier if they hit something besides rock.

Drilling has been going forward steadily but somewhat slower than heretofore because of the depth and the two whipstocks in the hole. No delays or trouble has halted operations in several weeks.

The contract depth is 6,000 feet or about 715 more feet. It has been reported unofficially that drilling might be continued beyond the contract depth "if indications warrant."

Grasshopper Still Can Do Untold Damage to Row Crop Agent Bredthauer Declares

Menace To Row Crop Neglected While Farmers Toil In Wheat

With some communities of the county still showing little interest in control of grasshoppers that are now rapidly reaching the jumbo size the control of this pest has a very good chance of getting out of hand.

This is the belief of the county agent and his force who have been insisting for some weeks that sufficient control methods be put into practice to save the row crops.

Grasshoppers vary in type in various parts of the county. In some areas they are principally of the unwinged variety who some morning may start out like an army and take what is before them. In other sections the hoppers are winged and already are making real inroads on the prairies and pastures infested by them.

"Farmers are requested to take advantage of the grasshopper program at the earliest possible date. It might be a likelihood, if the position is not used by the latter part of the month that it will be transferred to other infested areas of the State," County Agricultural Agent D. P. Bredthauer said this week, commenting on the fact that many farmers who should be using the poison but are not due to the pressing demands of wheat harvest time.

At this time there is still an abundant supply of bran and poison stored at Floydada, South Plains and Lone Star mixing stations, he said.

"We believe that grasshoppers will be much more noticeable after wheat harvest than now as hoppers are migrating to the portions of the fields where tender growth exists. From now on the hopper can do an untold amount of damage to the row crops," Mr. Bredthauer's suggestion is as follows:

That producers scatter the poison bait at the rate of 20 pounds per acre for 150 feet surrounding his row crop. If badly infested, it may be advisable to cross check the field with 100 feet wide poison bait strips.

Anyone needing information can receive same by calling at the county agent's office or at the Floydada mixing station which is located in the basement of the Court House.

Work Project on Hiway North waits Commission Study

Members of the commissioners court who returned home Tuesday from Austin were hopeful but not overly confident that their effort would be successful to get a Works Progress Administration project of road building on the north end of public works for the highway department.

"Division Engineer Garrett had figures in the hands of the Austin officials on our proposal and the commission gave us every consideration," Commissioner Bass Cyfert said. "However, they did not make us any promises of a definite nature."

County officials at this time have two WPA projects going sponsored by the county. However, the expense of the projects is beginning to be felt heavily on the county road funds and the commissioners are beginning to be concerned over what disposition can be made to provide for the more than 100 men who are depending on this type of public works for their livelihood.

Judge Tom W. Deen and Commissioner A. S. Cummings and Mr. Cyfert made the trip to Austin. They went down Sunday, had their conference Monday and returned home Tuesday. Austin was full of delegations from all portions of the state in the capital to appear before the highway commission in their monthly meeting. Some of the delegations had as high as 150 men in them, the representatives of Floyd County said.

Early letting on the first $48,000 project north from Floydada is certain, the commissioners are confident from their conversations with the commission and their previous conference with District Engineer G. M. Garrett. The project which they hope to have approved is one that would carry the paving on to a point north of South Plains and afford some months of work for the WPA clients of the county.

Judge W. Coffey, Jr., of Silvertown appeared before the commission with the Floyd County delegation and urged the extension of the route on through Briscoe as early as possible.

Mrs. Armstrong Improving

Mrs. N. A. Armstrong is improving nicely although she will have to remain in the hospital for another week, perhaps longer, her sister Mrs. Johnson said Wednesday. Mrs. Armstrong was injured in a fall while on a picnic two weeks ago and has been confined in a Plainview hospital since.

Harvest Hits Peak In N. End County

Growers In South Areas See End Of Job By Middle Of Next Week

By Saturday wheat harvest in the north end of the county will be at its peak and by the same date or within 3 or 4 days afterward the job will have been completed in the south third of the county.

Too wet from Center, Muncy and Fairview north for satisfactory operations until Monday of this week, hundreds of combines stood in the fields serviced for action while the ground dried. But they were going great guns by Tuesday is the report from Muncy, Aiken, Lockney, South Plains, Sterley, Whiteley Switch. Cereal in the northwest corner still had some green wheat yesterday.

Yesterday afternoon a check on shipments, in the south end of the county where the bulk of the movement had been, showed around 375 cars billed out from Dougherty, Boothe Spur, Floydada and Barwise elevators, comprising something less than six hundred thousand bushels of wheat.

South and east and south and west from Floydada hundreds of wheat fields had been harvested and plows were going in many of the fields yesterday. A light shower late yesterday around Starkey stopped operations in that vicinity until today.

First cutting this week in the north part of Fairview and around Cedar gave better yields than were anticipated, while some fields around Barwise were giving a disappointing turn out. Best yields in the county are running 18 to 25 bushels and poorest yields around 6 bushels. Since last week the harvest weather has been ideal. Some additional demand for south plains wheat, all testing about 60, has come from millers in central west Texas and Oklahoma where heavy rains have cut the quality of the grain seriously. The better grade is needed for mixing.

Games and entertainment will be under the direction of Mrs. Jackson, following the games will come the chicken barbecue, high point of the afternoon, at 5 o'clock. Picnic guests are to speak to the group on whatever subject they care to select.

June 17th Plans Spoiled When Expected Visitors Fail To Make Appearance

June 17th plans of the local colored contingent went awry last Sunday, when many visitors expected from Matador, Ralls and Plainview failed to arrive and help carry out plans for a double-header ball game in the afternoon, preceded by a dinner celebrating emancipation day.

Several hundred spectators who had gathered for the expected ball game were disappointed. Plans are being made for a game next Sunday afternoon here.

Driver Is Killed When Truck Jumps Cliff on Caprock

Buck Riddle middle aged farm employee of Put Gilbert was fatally injured Saturday afternoon when the truck he was driving ran off a 30 foot bluff on the South Plains-Fiomot highway about 22 miles northeast of Floydada. A searching party gathered when he failed to show up after a trip to South Plains, and the body was not found until near midnight Saturday by Mr. Gilbert.

Deceased was dead when found and apparently the accident happened about 5 p. m. He was alone and the supposition is that he went to sleep while driving. The bed of the truck was demolished. He is survived by his widow and three children. He was a son-in-law of M. J. Tyron and has lived at Fiomot about eight years.

Interment was made in the Fiomot cemetery Sunday afternoon.

So good does the operation of a tract of land as an investment (as opposed to operating it as a farm home, a place to raise a family and make a living for them) look in recent years, what with subsidies and things of that kind to take out some of the risk, insurance companies are beginning to get interested.

WASHINGTON LETTER BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Agriculture Wallace has revised 1938 sugar quotas, but his action can't be described as oil upon the waters of sugar trade-New Deal antagonism.

Sugar brokers and processors, who are not farmers, bitterly refer to the existing market condition as "sugar's dark hour," and insist that the market is suffering from over-supply because the current quota is from 300,000 to 500,000 tons in excess of requirements for the year.

They admit that business conditions have curtailed consumption. It was for this reason that the department reduced total quotas 80,000 tons recently.

Sugar traders complain that it was the spirit of Congress to "maintain the domestic sugar industry as a whole," but officials of the AAA quarrel with this interpretation.

The act providing methods by which the secretary of agriculture shall determine quotas states: "The secretary may make additional allowances... to meet the requirements of consumers, so that the supply of sugar shall not result in average prices to consumers in excess of those necessary to maintain the domestic sugar industry as a whole."

Retail price of sugar has remained constant in an equation that might be compared to a slide-rule. With one end of the rule representing retail price and the other the world market price, the length of the stick may be divided into such variables as the return to the grower on his crop, labor wages, the profits of the processor, and government taxes.

The farmer is protected with benefit payments for which he qualified by adhering to quotas and paying his laborers a determined wage, so they in turn are protected.

AAA officials believe that his cool and sweet on a hot day as Mrs. Glad Snodgrass.

Headlines predict bumper crops. So if there are no floods, droughts, heat spells, cold spells, grasshoppers, crickets, or winds we'll hear no complaining this summer.

Farmers want to buy more of the goods that town stores have for sale for those things make for more comfortable living on the farm. Business men can prosper only when farmers are buying, for the farm market is too large and important for them to do without. Business men have been so accustomed to fairly stable prices in their own business that they are astonished to learn how great are the fluctuations in farm prices. Once they stop to think about the matter they agree that it is not only reasonable but highly desirable that farmers should control their supplies and their marketing in the interest of steadier prices.—Extension Service Farm News.

WASHINGTON — The Seventy-fifth Congress was almost ready tonight to pass into history. Sharing Service With The Living Christ

Golden Text: And they went forth, and preached everywhere, the Lord working with them. Mark 16: 20.

Lesson text: Mark 16: 1-8; 14-16; 19-20.

Printed text: Mark 16: 1-8; 14-16—

1 And when the sabbath was past, Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James, and Salome, had bought sweet spices, that they might come and anoint him.

2 And very early in the morning the first day of the week, they came unto the sepulchre at the rising of the sun.

3 And they said among themselves, Who shall roll us away the stone from the door of the sepulchre?

4 And when they looked, they saw that the stone was rolled away: for it was very great.

5 And entering into the sepulchre, they saw a young man sitting on the right side, clothed in a long white garment; and they were affrighted.

6 And he said unto them, Be not affrighted: Ye seek Jesus of Nazareth, which was crucified: he is risen; he is not here: behold the place where they laid him.

7 But go your way, tell his disciples and Peter that he goeth before you into Galilee: there shall ye see him as he said unto you.

8 And they went out quickly, and fled from the sepulchre; for they trembled and were amazed: neither said they any thing to any man; for they were afraid.

9 Verses 14-16—

14 "Afterward he appeared unto the eleven as they sat at meat, and upbraided them with their unbelief and hardness of heart, because they believed not them which had seen him after he was risen.

15 And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature.

16 He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that believeth not shall be damned.

19 '80 then after the Lord had spoken unto them, he was received up into heaven, and sat on the right hand of God.

20 And they went forth, and preached everywhere, the Lord working with them, and confirming the word with signs following. Amen.

Time and Place: The resurrection of Jesus took place very early Sunday morning, April 9, A. D. 30, the third day after his death, on the cross. The ascension was forty days later, May 18, from Mt. Olivet.

The open tomb is the triumphant answer to the tragedy of the cross. A revival of faith and hope was struck in the hearts of discouraged disciples by the knowledge that the Master had cheated the cross of its victim, that He was living indeed.

The glory of His resurrection, like the glory of His birth and the glory of that sad hour when His mother stood by the cross, is shared by women. What a remarkable place they occupy in all the beautiful story of the Master's life and death and resurrection—and all this coming out of a time when women had essentially an inferior social place and where, in general, they had little recognition. It is through the faith and courage of the women who went to the tomb and found it open that the disciples are called and brought into new faith and service.

And now that Jesus reveals Himself anew to these who had left all and followed Him, He gives them a deep and great commission. He no longer tells them to go into the village of Galilee and Judea, but He gives them a great and world-wide commission.

There is a vision and purpose that even the discovery of new continents only expands. He said to the disciples, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to the whole creation."

There have been great imperialisms in the world, imperialisms of might and power, the imperialism of Greece, the imperialism of Rome, the imperialism of later empires; but here is the great imperialism of love, service, and salvation, an imperialism that contemplates the reaching out to the whole world and all creation with the good news concerning God, and with the salvation that is able to transform cursing into blessedness through lifting men from sin into righteousness.

Here on this large and triumphant page we leave the quarter's studies in the life and messages of Jesus, as found in the Book of Mark. It is the climax of all our study and the climax of all our thought and effort. In a sense, also, it is no climax for when we attain a peak in sight, we see beyond larger peaks to conquer.

From these studies in the life of Christ, we turn back to the history of the early years of Israel. It was the heroic and prophetic life of Israel and its great leaders that prepared the world for the coming of the Messiah. In the study of the Old Testament we find the source and foundation of all that is best in the New.

The Old Testament scriptures were the scriptures that Jesus knew, and in which he was trained in that devout home in Nazareth in which he grew up, increasing in wisdom, and in favor with God and man.

Street Names Have Meaning
Venice" attempts to preserve everything connected with its history. Its great names may be puzzling, but once many of them indicated the occupations of their residents. Thus the Frezeria was so named because of the manufacturers of arrows who lived in it; the Spadaria because of its sword forgers; the Salizzada del Corabberri because of its breastplate shops; the Fusiere because of its spindle-makers.

The Calle degli Specchieri was called that because mirrors were sold there, and the famous Mercerie, which enters the Piazza San Marco under the clock tower, received its name because it was the economic center of Venice.

A carnival came to town, and the billboards for one of the shows read: "50 Beautiful Girls—45 Gorgeous Costumes." Three roustabouts and two puppers were trampled in the rush at the opening performance.

Outstanding service to the university forms the basis for election to the group, highest honor to be won by a man student at the university.

The initiation, held at the Lakeside golf club, celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization.

Morris now is on a trip to Chicago, from whence he will also go to New York city before returning to the west coast.

SCIENCE EXPLAINS THE "WHY" OF JELLY MAKING

One of the most exacting of the household arts is jelly making. Although it is a science in itself, most jelly makers have acquired the art not through science, but by their experience and the experiences of others.

A new bulletin by the Bureau of Home Economics explains the science back of many of the rule of thumb practices in jelly making—and at the same time is intensely practical. A copy of the bulletin—F. B. 1800—P—may be obtained free from the United States Department of Agriculture.

The right technique in making jellies and preserves reduces cooking time to the minimum to retain the color and much of the flavor characteristic of the fresh fruit, say the Bureau's expert jelly makers. They also point out that juice which has been canned and stored—up to about 6 months—will make jelly of good texture, if it is inconvenient to carry the jelly-making process through at the time the fruit is ripe. The color and flavor of the jelly may not be quite as perfect as that of jelly from fresh juice.

The new bulletin also explains why some fruits make better jelly than others; how to preserve color and flavor; causes for jelly failures; how to use pectin extracts, either homemade or commercial; and gives the distinctions between preserves, jams, marmalades, conserves, and fruit butters, with recipes for a number of products, under each of these heads.

Lovely Shower Compliments Recent Bride

Complimenting Mrs. Dale Selig whose wedding was solemnized June 10, a group of hostesses entertained Monday evening at 8 o'clock with a lovely shower at the home of Mrs. E. J. Barker.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mesdames Barker, L. G. Mathews, William G. Graff, Shorty Barker, Grady Freeman, Ben Morton, Byron Clark and George B. Marshall.

Summer flowers were used as decorations in the reception room. On arriving the guests were greeted by Mrs. Freeman and registered in a beautiful hand painted brides book, made by Mrs. Barker, presided over by Mrs. Morton.

Light refreshments were served, after the guests registered from an attractively arranged table. Mrs. Barker and Mrs. Graff served at the punch bowl.

Mrs. Marshall gave a toast to the bride as a miniature Conoco truck loaded with gifts was pulled in to the honoree by Master Bobby Doyle Westfall.

The guest list included about fifty-five friends of the honoree.

Motley Singers Meet at Matador Sunday, June 26

Organized Almost Fifty Years Ago, Group To Meet In All Day Gathering

MATADOR, June 21.—Matador will be host to the oldest organization in Motley County Sunday, June 26, when the Motley County Singing Convention meets at the high school auditorium at 10:30 a. m. for "singing all day and dinner on the ground." The organization, which meets semi-annually, was formed 47 years ago and has not missed a single meeting.

The group first met in a small building about one mile north of the present town of Whiteflat, the third Sunday in June, 1891. The other meeting is held on the 4th Sunday in October each year. Only two residents are now living in Motley County who were present at the time of organization. They are A. B. Echols and W. J. Whitworth. Mr. Echols declared that the lumber to build the combined church and school house, was freighted from Childress.

A cordial invitation is extended to singers everywhere to attend the meeting Sunday. An interesting program has been arranged and plans are being made to accommodate a large crowd.

Mr. and Mrs. Felix Pierce of Canyon and Ed E. Gendro of Tucson, Arizona were guests of Mrs. Pierce's mother Mrs. S. L. Rushing for dinner Tuesday evening and Tuesday night returning to Canyon Wednesday.

Little Nancy Ray Weathers of Tahoka left Wednesday for Lubbock to visit with her sister, Mrs. William R. Sewell and family. She had spent the past week here with her aunt, Mrs. O. P. Rutherford and family.

Believe It or Not girl is Mary Lane, pictured, one of the Lane Sisters, dance team with Harley Sadler's new show. She has been featured twice in Robert Ripley's column. First, because she walked 200 yards upside down, and second, because she was the first girl to sit on her own head. Those who have seen her, can readily understand and appreciate why Mr. Ripley singled her out. Miss Layne is not only a versatile dancer, but a clever ingenue as well, and takes active parts in many of Mr. Sadler's productions.

GRASS PROTECTS DAMS

North Dakota farmers have a simple, inexpensive method of protecting earthen dams—built for soil and water conservation—from erosion, according to the Soil Conservation Service. Where rock or other material is not available for riprapping, they plant prairie cord, or "well diggers" grass, on the dam and spillway. The grass grows profusely wherever there is abundant moisture, and provides excellent protection against washing.

Coniferous trees shed their oldest needles annually. These turn brown or yellow in the autumn and fall off. Usually they are two or three years old, and are farthest from the tips of the branches.—Ex.

SAM HOUSTON SPENT YEARS AMONG CHEROKEE INDIANS

Sam Houston, famed for his role in early Texas history, was frequently a champion of the Red Man. As a boy in Tennessee, Houston, upon his father's death, became friendly with the Cherokee Indians and spent several years with them as an adopted son of Chief Oolooteka.

Later, when he was governor of Tennessee, Houston resigned his office and returned to live with his Indian friends, writes Leslie Hartley in the Washington Star.

In 1830, and again in 1832, when he visited the capital to expose frauds practiced upon the Cherokees by government agents, Houston's six-foot-two figure in Indian clothes attracted a great deal of attention.

It was shortly after the latter visit to Washington that President Jackson commissioned him to negotiate treaties with the Indian tribes in Texas. Having decided to remain there, Houston was chosen commander in chief of the Texas army after the outbreak of the war for Texas Independence.

After the war troops he led had routed Santa Anna's force, Houston was elected President of the liberated state and later, when Texas was annexed to the United States, served first as senator and then as governor.

FOREST FIRE TOWERS AT STRATEGIC POINTS

Every minute saved in "spotting" the start of a forest fire means a saving of time, money, and timber. Just a few minutes may mean the difference between a blaze that can be checked by a single man or small crew and a big fire that will call for an emergency force. So the United States Forest Service is always trying to place its lookout towers in spots where the observers can get the quickest possible glimpse of rising pillars of smoke.

Lookouts note several conditions that affect smoke visibility. Distance is one; a small fire close by is as visible as a larger one at a distance. Background is another; the deep green of an evergreen forest usually offers clear contrast to a smoke column which might be almost invisible against bare earth or rock or the soft brown of a drying range area. The angle of the sun is important. It is easier to see smoke when the sun is "against" the observer and harder when the sun is to his rear. Thus in morning the observer has the best chance to see fires to the east and south, and in afternoon to the south and west. Early morning fires sometimes escape detection for many minutes because of an "inversion" layer of cool dense air that lies 20 or 30 feet above ground level. When smoke from a small fire reaches this layer it mushrooms out to the sides instead of rising and a fire may make considerable progress before smoke breaks through.

Quick-spreading fires are visible promptly, but this is a kind of aid to quick reporting that the fire fighters do not favor. That kind of fire is likely to continue spreading fast all the time that a crew is on the way to start suppression.

SMACKING ANSWER

In a fervent kiss of post-wedding happiness, Andrea Luckenbach, 18-year-old heiress to a million dollar estate and William Dobbs, 22-year-old butter and egg salesman, are shown above after they got married despite parental objections. After Andrea's father, Commodore E. F. Luckenbach, shipping executive, had refused to give his consent and the family minister had refused to perform a church ceremony, the couple used the home of a friend for a bridal chapel and were married by another minister.

WHY VOTERS MUST REGISTER

With the rise of large cities following the Civil war and the increase of immigration, election frauds became rampant. As early as 1860 Massachusetts enacted a registration law which was designed to prevent illegal voting as well as violence at the polls. The other New England states followed the lead of Massachusetts within a few years, but outside of this section registration laws were delayed until after the Civil war, when election frauds became so general that registration of voters was imperative. Between 1860 and 1890 practically all of the states adopted some form of registration of voters, though in a number of states the requirement was limited to cities.

CANNED CHEESE CAN BE INDIVIDUALLY WRAPPED

Latest developments in the ripening of cheddar cheese in cans makes it practical for retailers to offer rindless, mold-free, naturally ripened cheese in attractive consumer-size packages ready wrapped for sale to housewives. Dealers avoid shrinkage, mold injury, crumbling, and other wastes, and consumers enjoy these gains and the satisfaction of neat and pleasing packages of cheese with all the natural flavor.

Processing of cheese in the making of cheese spreads and other cheese products usually destroys much of the natural flavor. Packaging in individual wrappers offers to the cheese maker a better chance to build a reputation based on quality, say specialists of the Bureau of Dairy Industry, and so puts a premium on quality in cheese making. It also opens the way for more effective competition with other packaged foods.

The secret of successful canning of cheese lies in the fitting of the can with a one-way valve which Dr. L. A. Rogers, of the United States Department of Agriculture, devised several years ago. This valve lets out the carbon dioxide gas which cheese develops as it ripens, but does not let in air which causes mold. Cheddar cheese ripens naturally in these cans and there is no waste in shrinkage, rind formation, or drying.

Canned cheese was originally put on the market only in individual containers. A housewife had to buy a whole canful, whether it was a 12-ounce container or the 2-pound or 5-pound size. Now the dairy scientists have devised a way of packing the fresh curd in individual prints of any convenient size. The prints are packed in large valve-equipped cans for ripening.

For refilling, the specialists suggest that a 5-pound can holding 10 half pound prints makes a desirable distribution unit and costs much less than 10 half-pound cans. Dealers would keep the large cans of naturally ripened cheese in the refrigerator and sell the prints to individual customers.

Bridges Get "Tired Feeling"

Bridges may become tired and lose their strength, just as human beings do when overtaxed, states a report made to the American Society of Civil Engineers. The bridges affected by "fatigue" are those composed of huge steel framework. The steel may lose from half to two-thirds of its strength. But there's no need to worry. Loads sufficient to cause "that tired feeling" are unusual, and occur, according to the report, only a "few thousand times" in the life of a bridge. It's only when they occur millions of times that any bad effects result.

At a recent party, a game called for each participant to represent the title of some famous book or novel. One elderly lady (who copied the prize) appeared with a large picture of the Dionne Quintuplets pinned across her gown. She said she represented Sinclair Lewis' latest novel, "It Can't Happen Here."

NO SERIOUS INJURY TO FLOYDADA PARTY IN FAR WEST WRECK

Travel in the far west has its hazards a party of six Floydada people found out last week enroute to San Francisco when their car was side-swiped enroute and they were delayed in their scheduled arrival in that city.

Mrs. Bill Daily was slightly hurt but not seriously and none of the other occupants injured, the report reaching home says. Their car was badly damaged. They had reached San Francisco Monday. In the party are Mr. and Mrs. Daily, Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Guthrie, and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Wakefield.

They are at sessions of Rotary International in San Francisco, scheduled to reach home about July 1.

"TIRE-TUBE" TREATMENT PRESERVES FENCE POSTS

A tire-tube treatment for fence posts developed by the United States Forest Service is one of the simplest and cheapest treatments for preventing or retarding decay of wood. Treated posts of even second-rate woods will usually last as long as untreated posts of first-quality woods such as red cedar, tests by the Forest Service indicate. Zinc chloride is the chemical used as a preservative and costs of treatment are from 5 to 10 cents a post—less than a cent a year of service. The tire-tube treatment is particularly desirable where posts are made from trees growing on the farm. It must be applied while the post is fresh cut.

Fresh-cut posts are placed on the ground with the butt ends raised. The butts are peeled for a foot or more and a section of close-fitting old inner tube is slipped over each peeled section and tied tight with several wraps of strong cord. The open ends of the tubes are clamped to a bar above the butts.

The preservative solution is zinc chloride dissolved in nine times its weight of water or about 5 pounds of the salt for a five gallon mixing car. It dissolves readily in cold water. The solution is poured into the open ends of the tube and left until it has been absorbed, usually in 24 hours or less. The solution displaces the sap of the fresh cut posts.

Engineers at the Forest Products Laboratory at Madison, Wis., estimate that poor quality post timber such as aspen or sap pine will last from 10 to 15 years or longer if treated with a suitable quantity of zinc chloride. The engineers do not recommend the zinc chloride as the equal of creosote, but they emphasize that it is much cheaper and simpler and can be applied on any farm and at practically no expense for a treating plant.

The Forest Service estimates that American farmers now use from 400 to 600 million posts each year in building and rebuilding farm fences. Most replacements are the result of decay—an enormous waste in timber and labor. The national job of fence rebuilding amounts to a quarter of a mile for each farm in the country, according to Forest Service estimates.

STRAW MULCH A CHEAP WAY TO BUILD ORCHARD TOPSOIL

Orchard soils, like any other, must retain fertility to continue producing good crops. A majority of orchards are on sloping land, and thus susceptible to washing. A good cover crop, together with modified cultural practices, terraces, annual furrows, diversion ditches, sodded waterways, and perennial buffer strips are soil conservation practices used by many orchardists. Some orchards, however, have lost so much topsoil that it is difficult to grow a cover crop.

The Soil Conservation Service, working with cooperating orchardists in New Jersey, found a heavy mulch applied in the fall and plowed under in the spring is the cheapest and most practical means of regaining fertility. This should be repeated annually for 2 or 3 years. Where a straw mulch was used they found it necessary to add 15 to 25 pounds of nitrogen fertilizer to each ton of straw. When a legume mulch was applied the nitrogen was unnecessary.

Clean, Safe Milk Urged By Dr. Cox

Many Diseases May Be Transmitted Through Milk By Lack of Cleanliness

AUSTIN, Texas, June 23.—In view of the fact that Governor Allred has proclaimed the month June 9 to July 6 as Milk and Dairy Products Month, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, urges with this more extensive use of milk, that both producer and consumer be concerned as to its quality. The use of clean safe milk is a health measure.

Local interest in improved methods of producing wholesome milk has increased greatly in the past two decades and the striking advance in milk control has been responsible for the enormous saving in infant life.

Milk is perishable and especially during hot weather. To insure milk of good quality requires cleanliness, sterile utensils, protection against flies, careful bottling and maintenance at low temperature. The presence in fresh milk of large numbers of bacteria, due to unsanitary methods of production is a health hazard.

Among the diseases which may be transmitted through milk are tuberculosis, typhoid fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria, septic sore throat, undulant fever, diarrhoea and enteritis. Numerous milk-borne outbreaks of disease occur every year in this country and from the use of milk that might have been safe with proper care.

We should firmly insist that the milk we drink be carefully produced, so that we will have the maximum practicable protection along the line from the cow to the consumer.

Missing Man Returns After Four Months Absence From Home

Ralph V. Prindell, reported by his family as missing since February, returned home this week, the sheriff's department said this week. Prindell's family feared that he had met with foul play while he was on one of his long hauls with his truck as no word had been received from him since late in February when he left on a haul. An appeal to Sheriff Fred N. Clark and the subsequent investigation revealed that Prindell was last seen in Brownfield but from there the trail faded.

Mrs. Prindell gave the Hesperian her story and a description of her husband in April and since that time the sheriff's department had kept on watch for his return or reports as to his whereabouts.

Upon his return home Prindell told Sheriff Clark and Deputy Sheriff Hollums that he had run low on funds while away on the trip and had gone into New Mexico, Colorado, and Arizona in search for profitable trucking jobs.

There is rejoicing in the Prindell home—as always when a missing member returns to his family.

Many Homes Lost In Spite Of Effort But Also Many Saved

Clifford, Amarillo district manager of the corporation said in a statement released on that date. "Texas borrowers have paid back $16,718,651.36 or 16.2 per cent of their principal indebtedness, and 1,380 loans amounting to $2,595,304.69 have been paid in full." Continuing the statement says:

"In the Amarillo District there were originally granted 4,355 loans approximating nine and one-quarter million dollars; there have been 131 loans paid in full, the loans in four counties have been transferred to the San Antonio Division for more economic servicing. On May 30, 1938, in the Amarillo District, there were 3,710 active accounts, of which 2,822 accounts were entirely current or less than three months in arrears, while 736 other borrowers are meeting all current bills and making regular all monthly payments on their arrearages. rent or less than 3 months in arrears, while 135,773 other borrowers were paying their monthly bills and making regular monthly payments on their arrearages. Thousand of others are making payments that should shortly place them in the liquidating class. The Corporation owns 79,473 homes and has sold 11,482. Of the units owned, 86.5 per cent are rented, and rent collections average 97.2 per cent."

Center H. D. Club Meets With Mrs. C. A. Cumble

"Attractive home-made bedspreads" was the interesting subject given by Miss Ruth Grimes to the Center home demonstration club women, meeting with Mrs. C. A. Cumble Monday of last week.

Two types of bedspreads were discussed, the tailored and the dainty type. Those of the tailored type are to be made of monks cloth, blue denim, seersucker, chambray, and the dainty type, most preferred for girls rooms, of dotted Swiss, organdy or dress print materials.

Those who raise sheep may be interested in the wool spread which can be made by sending from twelve to fifteen pounds of wool to the mill.

Miss Grimes also gave a demonstration on the candlewick spread. This can be made on either the brown domestic or the colored sheeting as a background. Instructions were given on making, laundering and fluffing.

The council report was given by Mrs. W. B. Jordan, and chairman of each standing committee gave a report of their work.

Mrs. C. P. Corder, Mrs. O. S. Miller and Mrs. Wade Warren were elected as Center club representatives for the ladies chorus of Floyd County.

Games arranged by the recreation committee were enjoyed by the club. Present for the meeting were Mesdames W. B. Jordan, C. P. Corder, J. L. Montgomery, W. P. Sims, O. G. Mayfield, O. S. Miller, J. R. Austin, A. W. Anderson, E. L. Pettit, H. B. Mankin, J. E. Green, W. S. Mayfield, Wade Warren, C. M. Meredith, C. D. Rutledge; Misses Ruth Jordan, Bettie Jo Sims, and the hostess Mrs. C. A. Cumble. New members were Mrs. E. L. Pettit and Mrs. J. R. Austin. Others are invited to come join.

Miss Ruth Jordan will give the next demonstration at the home of Mrs. J. E. Green July 12.

Eightah From Decatah And How It Came About Told By Judge Terrell

Candidate for R. R. Commission Job, Remembers Exactly How It Came About

AUSTIN.—Decatur's number 1 citizen, C. V. Terrell, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, took time out from his campaign for re-election today to identify the creator of the craps shooter's famous character, "Ada from Decatur, County Seat of Wise."

It is the general impression that this now essential part of the craps shooter's vocabulary originated and spread to every dice game in the nation during the World War when the Texas soldiers in France wooed their luck by using it. Judge Terrell says that the soldiers in France may have spread it, but that a Decatur negro dishwasher named Walter Arthur originated it.

"Old Walter originated 'Ada from Decatur' in a negro crap game when he was in Fort Worth," Judge Terrell said. Walters wife worked for us when I was city attorney, at Decatur. There weren't more than 20 negroes in our North Texas town then. Years later, after the saying became popular, Walter told me about the way he hit on it. He was trying to throw an eight in that dice game, and he kept saying, 'Eight, eight, eight,' only he was trying so hard that he ran his words together and they came out, 'Ada, Ada, Ada'; one of the other negro boys in the game shouted, 'Look at that Decatur boy work for that eight.' It was then that Walter started asking for 'Ada from Decatur,' and on the spur of the moment added, 'County seat of Wise.'

Walter was an entertaining character, and all of his white friends turned out for his funeral. Knowing how well Walter was liked, and wanting some free advertising, the negro insurance salesman who had Walters policy made a speech about the way his company "ain't neveh wanted no law suits," and handed Walters' widow a check for the $500 policy right beside old Walters' grave."

Misses Mary Beth Whiteman of Brady and Frances Allison of Rockwood, student in Texas Tech, were week end guests of Misses Mary Anne Kimble, Maxine and Marilyn Fry and Gerry Gamblin.

Woodrow Guthrie, who recently finished a year of school work at Texas Tech, plans to spend the greater part of the summer in Floydada. He is employed with White Drug Company as sales clerk.

WINGS over Business

In 1803 it took Lewis and Clark more than two years to travel from Ohio to the Pacific Coast—on foot, and by canoe up the Missouri river and down the Columbia. Today, airplanes on regular schedules traverse the country in a few hours.

Our speed of doing business has been increased in the same ratio. And banks, with their checking and credit facilities, have been the "airplanes" which have given wings to business.

Without banking service, trade and finance would still be traveling in "covered wagons."

All-Star Teams Named By Committee for July Fourth

Rural All-Stars To Be Slight Favorite Over Floydada Boys

Managers And Utility Players Yet To Be Named By The Selected Players

A final count of the All-Star team ballots Tuesday afternoon by the vote committee indicated who would play in the Fourth of July All-Star game between the Rural All-Stars and the Floydada All-Stars.

The Floydada All-Star line-up as selected by the fans is Burl Holt, first base; Bill Daily, second base; P. Dunavant, third base; Blondy Finley, left shortstop; J. Young, right shortstop; Ray Chapman, Carol McClung and George Quirk, outfielders; Jim Curry and Bill Scott, catchers; Long John Smith, George Fry, Luder, and "Doc" Guthrie, pitchers.

The rural All-Star team will be made up of Tom Hart, first base; Sid Harper, second base; L. Hart, third base; Ham Smith, left shortstop; L. Gilliland, right shortstop; G. White, E. Gilliland, and L. Alexander, outfielders; T. Camden and Baxter, catchers; F. Cardinal, S. L. West, and Bradford, pitchers.

Little interest was shown in the Floydada voting but the rural communities showed more interest and considerable casting of votes, especially after the publishing of preliminary results last week. Floydada people seemed content to let things rock along after the first flurry of voting had indicated the general trend.

The men selected by the fans votes have yet to select their manager, who may either be a playing or a non-playing member of their league. The manager will then select five utility players from his league to strengthen his team further.

No time has been set by either group of all-stars to attend to the matter which must be taken care of before the game on the Fourth of July.

Samuel Rutledge of Amarillo spent Saturday night and Sunday with his parents Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Rutledge.

Mrs. David Carathers is visiting her mother Mrs. J. S. Chastain at Fort Worth this week.

Hurricanes and Bishop Motor To Play Final Game of Season

Hurricanes Lost To No Team In League

No matter who wins Thursday night the Hagood Hurricanes will have copped the League Pennant for the first half of the summer. Bishop Motor will however try to take the Hurricanes for a fall Thursday night in the final set of the first half.

Bishop's boys have dropped two encounters, one to Hagood's and one to the Lions, but all those defeats will be forgotten if they can mar the perfect record of the Dry Gooders who have eased through nine league games with wins.

The only losses by the Hurricanes have been by rural teams or away-from-home teams since nothing in the Floydada Twilight League was good enough to throw them for a loss.

George Fry Luder has pitched and won most of the games for Hagood but Carol McClung, right fielder, showed enough pitching stuff one game to pitch Hagood's into a shut-out. Jim Curry, manager of the Zephyrs, has built a good smooth working infield and a dependable outfield.

Bishop Motor depends on heavy slugging and good pitching to pull them through to a win. Their fielding is not so smooth but their bat power is heavier than that of Hagood's team.

See the last game of the season... it will be worth while.

Tell your merchant—he'll appreciate it—you read about it in The Hesperian.

Rotary Gets Cellar From Oden's Team

The Rotarians clinched their position in the league standings Monday night by losing a 28 to 12 affair to Oden's Chevrolets. The Chevrolets connected with everything that the pitching of Claiborne and Hale had to offer and what the Chevrolets didn't earn in the way of runs the fielding of the Rotarians donated. The in-field and out-field of the Rotarians had a great deal of "give" trouble and errors were plentiful.

Mayor Says: Enforcement of Traffic Laws are are

Your Responsibility

And that he has pledged to declare war on unnecessary deaths in traffic. One thing he stresses:

"If you get your mouth on the bottle, keep your foot off the Accelerator."

There have been killed in Texas the past year two thousand people and more than three hundred of these have been children and today the hospitals throughout the state are crowded with cripples ruined physically for life, due to unnecessary accidents in cities and on the highways. The time has come to think and act. The destruction of life and property on our streets and highways must stop!

I ask all Civic Clubs in Floydada with all schools in Floyd County to band together in a war council so that our laws will be popular, therefore, enforced regardless of who the driver may be or how much influence his people may have. Let's educate them that these laws are for the public. Let's tell them it isn't the smart or sportsmanlike thing to do to wobble over the center of the road or streets or try to make eighty, or drive without lights.

That some one run over and killed or crippled for life could be your mother, sister, father or child. If we benefit in saving one old man and woman or child, we will have succeeded.

If you really want to prevent death or injury to a fellow citizen, your children, even yourself, it is absolutely necessary that you actively support and encourage the enforcement of traffic regulations. By banding together and doing it with a smile, therefore, calling each others attention to violations of traffic lives, we can likely save the lives of some one in Floydada—Maybe your family.

Your Mayor, Glad Snodgrass.

Less Monthly Discomfort

Many women, who formerly suffered from a weak, run-down condition as a result of poor assimilation of food, say they benefited by taking CARDUI, a special medicine for women. They found it helped to increase the appetite and improve digestion, thereby bringing them more strength from their food.

Naturally there is less discomfort at monthly periods when the system has been strengthened and the various functions restored and regulated.

Cardui, praised by thousands of women, is well worth trying. Of course, if not benefited, consult a physician.

In 2 minutes and 4 seconds---

It took just 2 minutes and 4 seconds for Brown Bomber Joe Louis, pictured above, to batter Germany's Max Schmeling into a technical knock-out and erase the last bad mark on his fistic record. Der Maxie landed only one solid blow while Louis was tagging him with rights and lefts to the body and head to knock Schmeling down three times. Estimates placed the crowd at 80,000 but the gate receipts fell short of the million dollar mark which the managers looked so longingly for. All Germany was clustered around short-wave radio sets to hear the fight. After the one-round victory the Germans were thunderstruck and sat unbelieving at their sets. Louis is due to battle Max Baer in September, reports say.

a third during the past 16 years, according to surveys by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Reports from 1,374 cold-storage warehouses and meat-packing establishments for 1937 indicate a combined refrigerated capacity of 736,322,512 cubic feet compared with 543,572,892 cubic feet reported for 1,362 establishments in 1921. Used mainly for food storage, cold-storage warehouses report material gains during the past few years in the quantities of quick-frozen fruits and vegetables stored. These and other perishables go into storage during harvest periods for later use by manufacturers and individual consumers.

In public warehouses, more space is used for the storage of apples than for any other commodity. Eggs rank second in the amount of space consumed.

Agents Hold Agriculture Conference

Plans Made For Agriculture Organization In Floyd County at Meeting

Plans for agricultural organization in Floyd County were laid at a conference held Thursday, June 16.

Those present for the meeting were County Agent D. F. Breadthauer, Home Demonstration Agent Ruth Grimes, Paul Haines, extension economist in organization work; Miss Helen H. Swift, sociologist rural women's work; K. J. Edwards, district agent, and Miss Lida Cooper, district agent for women.

The afternoon was spent in collecting information in regard to organization from the seven communities in Floyd County from which representatives had been called for the conference.

It was learned that some sort of organization work existed in each of the communities, and it was the opinion of these representatives that a more systematic plan should be followed so that better results could be obtained.

Paul Haines accepted the invitation of the county agent and home demonstration agent to assist in setting up an organization which will be effective in all branches of agriculture. He will be in Floydada the week of July 18 to 23.

Miss Helen H. Swift will spend a week in the county August 8 to 13, assisting community organizations in setting up plans of work.

A committee was appointed to take care of preliminary organization work. Those on the committee are L. A. Williams of Harmony, Mrs. Edd Holmes of Sand Hill, Herman King of Lone Star, F. L. Brown of Aiken, Mrs. Clarence Brandes of Providence, and Mrs. W. H. Bethel of Campbell.

For Justice of the Peace Precincts 2 and 3: O. T. Prickett, C. C. Hackney, D. C. Lowe.

Important Ruling

The effect of the ruling heretofore in effect has been, according to the local committee's ideas, to penalize the wheat producer for following what appears to be the most logical method of handling the land. The practice followed incorporates the stubble, weeds and trash into the soil, and the second plowing also turns green vegetation under to help build up the soil additionally, according to the arguments put up by Mr. Breadthauer and members of the committee.

ENTOMOLOGISTS FORETELL APPEARANCE OF CICADAS

The cicada is one of the most interesting insects in the world. The mystery of this insect is the main point of its great interest, for it appears in countless numbers one year, then is not seen again in such numbers for many years—usually 13 or 17. When it is known that this insect spends the 13 or 17 years in slow development beneath the earth and emerges at almost the same spot where it entered the interest in this creature intensifies. One of the strangest things in nature, writes Frederic J. Haskin in the Washington Star, is that in spite of such extremely slow growth in their subterranean habitat, all the millions of individuals attain maturity and burst from the ground at almost the same moment. Although the adult cicadas take practically no food, the trees in which they lay their eggs, especially pear, apple, and peach trees, are severely pruned and in some cases damaged.

The cicada has been under investigation for more than 200 years and the appearance of the swarms is foretold by entomologists as accurately as eclipses of the moon are foretold by astronomers. The year 1868 was the greatest locust year in history. Periodically since then the country has been afflicted with these pests, although every year is a locust year in some part of the country.

The insect plague is visited upon nearly every part of the world, and has been known from early Bible times. St. John the Baptist is spoken of as having lived on locusts and wild honey. From the earliest times the tribes that dwell on or near the great deserts of Persia, Arabia and Africa have eaten dried locusts as food.

A farmer visited his son's college. Watching students in a chemistry class he was told they were looking for a universal solvent.

"What's that?" asked the farmer. "A liquid that will dissolve anything."

"That's a great idea," agreed the farmer. "When you find it, what are you going to keep it in?"

Lions Forget To Boo When Quartette Sings

Lions of the Floydada club were so pleased Tuesday noon to have their male quartette back with them and singing again they forgot to boo.

What safe driving can mean to Texas, what, in fact, it already meant to some communities in the state, was told by Judge L. G. Mathews in a report on the safety conference last week. Notables from all over Texas were present for the meeting as well as hundreds of plain citizens interested in reducing highway hazards. Concrete measures for conserving life and property are sure to follow the conference, he declared. Judge Mathews was at the conference as a delegate from the Lions club.

Resident Of Alberta, Canada, Visitor Here

A. Alexander, of Calgary, Alberta province, Canada, is a visitor in Floyd County with relatives.

Arriving here the first of the week, he has been the guest since of his brother, C. Alexander, and sister Mrs. F. A. Dickert. He will remain here for several weeks.

BREEDING HAS INCREASED WEIGHT OF SHEEP FLEECE

A century ago the average annual fleece weight of sheep was only about 2 pounds and wool production was concentrated in the North Atlantic States. Today the annual fleece averages about 8 pounds and wool growing is most important in Texas, the far West, and Ohio.

While some of this remarkable increase in fleece weights may be partly due to better feed and care, most of it is due to breeding sheep with heavier fleeces. Much of this research work has been carried out by the United States Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Animal Industry in cooperation with the States.

Wool ranks next to cotton in importance among the fibers. It probably has played an even more important part than cotton in spreading civilization where rigorous winters prevail. Until about 50 years ago, wool was the principal reason for the sheep industry. Now sheep farmers depend upon meat as well as wool to insure a profit from their flocks.

Columbia sheep—a Lincoln-Rambouillet cross developed for western ranges by the Bureau of Animal Industry—have at different times exceeded the Corriedales, Rambouillots, Hampshires, and Shropshires in weight of both fleece and lambs.

In cooperation with the West Virginia Experiment Station the Bureau has crossed native ewes of Hampshire type that averaged only 4 pounds of fleece with Corriedale rams. The offspring average around 8 pounds of fleece. Lambs from the same cross which weigh as much and grade as high on the market as lambs from the native ewes and dark-faced sires of the mixture.

Mrs. Scarponi (standing in swimming pool with water up to her neck): My goodness, Tony! Where 'sa da bambino?

Tony (beside her): Don'tcha worry I gotta heem by da han!
