FSA Official Party Inspects Tenant Purchase Act Farms

Local Committee Asks Continuance Of Program Here

Tour And Inspection Farm Tenant Act Homes Made Monday By Group

Monday high officials of the Farm Security Administration paid Floyd county a visit on a trip of inspection of tenant purchase farms selected.

In the group were director of Tenant Purchase program, Farm Security Administration, Paul V. Maris, Washington, D. C. State Committee Chairman for Texas, Colorado, Oklahoma and Kansas headed by chairman John E. Hill of Amarillo, Texas, Assistant Regional Director Ralph R. Will, State Director Wilson Cowen, State Director for Colorado and Kansas Fred M. Betz and Homer R. Robbins of Plainview newly appointed Director of Tenant Purchase program in Region 12.

The group apparently were pleased with what they saw. County Committeemen Joe E. Smith, Fred M. Battey and Oscar L. Allen, met with the group as did Claude C. Carpenter, supervisor for the Farm Security Administration in this county. In making a tour and inspection of the tenant purchase farms selected in Floyd county, it appears the state committee approved the farms selected. Selection of counties for Tenant Purchase program in Region 12, beginning July 1, 1938, is not definitely known to date. However, the local committeemen have asked for an appropriation for Floyd county to carry on the program for another year. It appears this request will receive careful consideration, although no commitments were made.

All-Day Picnic At Aiken Last Saturday Marked By Fellowship

Floyd county candidates will have a field day tomorrow when they journey to Lockney from various parts of the county to present their claims at the big two-day celebration to be staged there Friday and Saturday. They are scheduled to make speeches as a part of the program for the event.

On Friday night, then, the candidates go to the South Plains home demonstration club pie supper where another big crowd is due to hear them.

Saturday candidates of the county and precinct and some of the district candidates were present at Aiken for the all-day picnic sponsored by the Aiken Baptist Sunday school. The morning program consisted of reading and songs by the young people and talks by Pastor Malone of the church and Rev. W. V. O'Kelley, of the neighboring Methodist church.

A basket dinner featured the noon-day hour.

District candidates who were present and spoke during the afternoon were A. B. Tarwater, candidate for re-election as representative of the 120th legislative district, District Attorney John A. Hamilton, of Matador, and County Attorney Winifred F. Newsome, of Floydada, both candidates for the office of district attorney.

Mrs. Ed Holmes presided Friday night at Sand Hill where the home demonstration club prepared and served a delightful banquet in the school auditorium. County Judge Tom W. Deen responded on behalf of the candidates and other visitors. In addition to the candidates who spoke Lon M. Davis and J. C. Wester, Floydada business men, also talked.

FLORINE CATES ILL

The extra will be mailed to all subscribers. Increasing costs of services in connection with the usual election extra make it necessary for the newspaper to have all support possible to obtain to make it pay its way.

The extra will be valuable as a first-of-the-week advertising medium.

General news of the county and community will be included in the extra.

Celebration And Homecoming Marks Founding Of Mc- Coy Church In 1912

(By Mrs. Harry Jones)

The church met and was organized by Rev. G. W. Tubbs, July 10, 1912 with 13 charter members. Of this number, eight were present Sunday. They were Mrs. W. W. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Payne, M. W. Manning of Floydada was unable to attend and the whereabouts of Mrs. Beatrice Watson was unknown.

At 10 a. m. Sunday the services started with an address by Rev. Sidney Johnston with Sunday school followed by the 11 o'clock preaching by Rev. Tubbs who brought an interesting sermon as he did in the infancy of the church.

A most bounteous and delicious dinner was served at noon that was prepared by members of the church. During the noon hour a fine spirit of friendship prevailed with old and new friends meeting.

In the afternoon a song service began at 1:45 o'clock under the direction of G. C. Tubbs. Rev. J. M. Harder made an interesting address and was followed by a prayer by Mrs. O. M. Conway. Rev. R. C. Tension closed the service with a sermon in which he told of his work as pastor of the church.

Rev. G. W. Tubbs had preached in this community for a year and a half before the church was organized. The McCoy church and Farmer church of Crosby county, were to be advanced, found it to be a very constructive one and urged every man, woman and child interested in agriculture in the county to make an effort to attend one or more of them. Drowning Victim Is Taken To Goree For Funeral On Tuesday

Lloyd Bartlett and Companions In Boat That Capsized At Buffalo Springs

Remains of Floyd Bartlett, 26, who drowned Sunday afternoon at Buffalo Springs in Lubbock county, were shipped Monday to Goree, Texas, where interment was made Tuesday afternoon following funeral rites held at the First Baptist church. Funeral rites were conducted by the Baptist minister there, assisted by the Methodist minister.

A resident of Floyd county the past 4 years, Bartlett had been on an extended visit with a sister, Mrs. Floyd Meers of Southland. In company with companions he was riding in a boat that overturned. He became exhausted and failed to reach the bank, and companions were barely able to save themselves. Bartlett's body, clad in bathing trunks, was found several hours later.

Lloyd Bartlett was a son of B. L. Bartlett. He made his home with his brother, B. M. Bartlett, 4 miles west and 1 mile north of Floydada. He was a native of Knox county, where he was born August 23, 1911. Two other brothers, Pete of Strathmore, California, and Buster of Meadow, Texas, survive, and four sisters, Mrs. Floyd Meers, Southland, Mrs. Wayne Perry, Plainview, Daisy Bartlett, Goree, and Mary Jane Bartlett, Post.

The body was taken overland from Lubbock in a Harmon hearse, and Edwin Brazier of Harmon's had charge of the funeral arrangement. All the brothers and sisters attended the funeral rites except the brother living in California. Pallbearers and flower attendants were cousins of the deceased.

19 Meetings Planned For Farm Expert

Will Press Need For Organi- zation And Planning By Farm Areas

Economic conditions that exist today and the necessity to which they point for farmer organization and planning will be the theme of nineteen meetings in Floyd county next week when Paul Haines, extension economist, A. & M. college will fill a schedule of dates that is expected to reach every nook and corner of the county and touch a complete cross-section of the county's population.

Haines' tour begins Monday morning at 10:30 at Aiken and will wind up at Floydada in the district court room at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. He will be accompanied by D. F. Bredthauer county agriculture agent, and Ruth Grimes, home demonstration agent of the county.

The drive to carry the message of the farmers' need for proper organization for planning will not be confined to actual farmers alone but also to business men of the communities touched. As for instance, 3 of the nineteen talks will be made by Mr. Haines will be before service clubs in Floydada and Lockney.

One of Few Counties

"Floyd is one of the few counties in the State of Texas in which this intensive type of campaign will be carried on," D. F. Bredthauer said yesterday. "It possibly means the Extension Service has in mind making this a proving ground for the betterment campaign in our state as regards farm and home economic conditions. Why there should be a definite program for the farms and definite reasons for the program will be set forth by Mr. Haines."

Plans for the campaign were made a month ago when on June 16 a committee of farmers and farmers' wives met to discuss the possibilities of getting Mr. Haines here. This committee was composed of L. A. Williams, chairman of the county agriculture conservation committee, Harmony; Mrs. W. H. Bethel, Mrs. George Stiles of Campbell; Mrs. Ed Holmes, Sand Hill; Mrs. Herman R. King, Lone Star; Mrs. Clarence Brandes, Providence; O. L. Allen, Sterley; F. L. Brown, Aiken; Joe M. Smith, Campbell; Herman R. King and G. B. Johnston, Lone Star.

In a bulletin issued the first of this week by the county agent and broadcast over the county, together with the itinerary to be followed, it was declared this committee, which heard Mr. Haines outline the ideas (See MEETINGS, back page)

Attorney General's Ruling On Transfers For 1938 Given By County Supt.

List Of Teachers In Rural Schools For 1938-39 Is Announced

The attorney general's office at Austin this week rendered an opinion on applications for transfers, John Olsen, director of school census with the Department of Education at Austin notified Walter Travis, county superintendent, of the new ruling.

The letter said in part "you are advised, therefore, that said opinion holds that county superintendents must grant all requested transfers made by parents; and that any group of trustees which objects to the transfer shall file its objection with the county board. In the adopted rules and regulations of this division, you will note said protest must be filed with the county board of school trustees within five days after the first day of August, and the county board shall hear all protests prior to the 15th day of August of each year."

Previous to the attorney general's ruling it was believed that the county superintendent of schools could refuse a transfer under certain conditions since the state gives him certain discretionary powers. The new ruling clearly says that the superintendent has no such powers and that any protests must be carried to the county board before they can be refused, such protests being filed within a defined time limit.

The deadline for all applications for transfers is August 1.

No provision is made for "automatic transfers" for children whose grades are not taught in the home district. All children whose grades are not taught in another district must have transfer applications filed before August 1.

Tax Collections For Year Are Average But Below 1937's

Collections Reach 85 Per Cent On Last Year's Taxes, Houston Says

Tax collections for June were recorded as slightly above the average but far short of the collection for the same period last year, the Floyd County tax assessors office reported Wednesday afternoon.

Collections were reported as current taxes, $14,083.00; supplemental, $35.04; insolvent, $14.49; redemptions, $2,155.07, and cost, $30, giving a total of $16,297.70.

Collections for the period last year were current, $27,813.50; supplemental, $20.30; insolvent, $302.99; redemptions, $1,088.01, and cost $124, giving a total of $42,228.80.

It was believed that a smaller wheat crop and the fact that many delinquent taxes were paid last year was the reason for the smaller amount of collections.

School Collections Are Best in Years

Secretary Jim Houston of the Floydada school board said that tax collections in the Floyd County Independent School district were far beyond any year since 1929.

He said that over 85 per cent of last year's taxes were collected. The tax year runs from July 1 to June 30. Collections on current taxes reached $20,259, and delinquent tax collections reached $10,170 for a total of $30,429 for the year.

Unpaid delinquent taxes for the last tax year were $18,771 and a balance unpaid from 1937 tax year of $2,753 for a total of $22,524. Last year's unpaid tax record was higher, reaching to $28,909.

Rotary Club Holds Fathers-Daughters Meeting Wednesday

The Floydada Rotary club held its regular meeting Wednesday with a "Fathers and Daughters" affair. Fifteen or 20 daughters were present for the meeting.

County Agent D. F. Bredthauer will have charge of next week's program. He is expected to have a visiting speaker.

At the meeting of the directors of the club last Thursday evening D. W. Pyffe and Justice A. J. Polley were elected honorary member for a year. Ten years ago Pyffe was active in the organization of the club here and Judge Polley, until his removal to Amarillo, had been one of its more active members.

Municipality Will Ask For Loan, Grant

Power And Light Plant, Dis- tribution System Would Be Built

The City of Floydada will make formal application to the federal government for a loan and grant shortly for the purpose of constructing a light and power plant and distribution system.

Wheels were set in motion Tuesday night when the council passed a resolution to this effect and naming a committee which shall be authorized to furnish such information as is required by the government for the purpose. This committee is composed of S. E. Duncan, city secretary, Carl C. Cox, city engineer, and Ben P. Ayres, city attorney. The resolution recites that the loan and grant will be sought "to aid in financing the construction of a municipal power and light plant and distribution system."

The application is authorized to be filed by the committee named. Probably that the engineer and attorney will confer within the next day or two to make up the formal application was indicated yesterday at the city hall.

Data on all phases of the city's fiscal affairs, the plans the municipality has in mind as to construction, are required in the application.

DICKENS BOOSTER VISIT FLOYDADA WED. MORNING

Fifteen cars of Dickens boosters visited Floydada yesterday morning just before noon, passing out circulars and "telling the folks" about the big "to do" that is going to be held in Dickens July 21 and 22.

According to the circulars passed out there will be a carnival, square dances, modern dances, old fiddlers contest, young fiddlers contest, bicycle races, goat roping, and dozens of other events to attract the public.

Softball and candidate speaking will be squeezed in with the Old Settlers reunion.

Lockney Celebration Starts Friday Morning

Lockney will begin their postponed two-day celebration tomorrow morning. Most of the events will be held in or around the city auditorium.

The highlight of the program will be a parade Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. A picnic lunch has been planned for Saturday with each family attending bringing a basket.

The affair, one of the first to be held in many years, in Lockney, is expected to provide entertainment for a large number of Floyd county people. Committees have been working to make the affair entertaining and provide fun for the people that attend.

Six In Delegation To A. & M. College Monday

Six women were in the Floyd county delegation to the A. & M. college short-course being conducted this week at College Station.

The Floyd county delegations were Mrs. Ed Holmes, Miss Verle Miller of Sand Hill, Mrs. Bill Norman of Dougherty, Mrs. Tom Boyd of Antelope, Mrs. Clark Harris of Pleasant Valley, and Mrs. Carrie Snodgrass of Harmony.

The delegation was preceded by Miss Ruth Grimes, Floyd county home demonstration agent.

The women are expected to return within the week.

Methodist Pastor On Health Leave From Charge Here

John E. Eldridge, pastor of the First Methodist church of Floydada is on a leave from his charge for a period of 30 days or more, which time he will spend at Valdosta Georgia, and possibly undergo surgical treatment.

Local physicians have advised the treatment and, if this diagnosis is confirmed at a Valdosta hospital, it will be undertaken by the minister plans.

Action of the board of stewards of the church last week-end was followed by the departure of their pastor on Monday morning, when he was accompanied by Mrs. Eldridge. They will be guests at Valdosta of their son, Dr. F. G. Eldridge, and family.

Dr. E. E. White, of Plainview, will fill the pulpit of the absent minister Sunday and Sunday night. Arrangements are being made for the continuation of regular services of the church during his absence.

Commissioners Hear Health Unit Arguments From County Council

Court Can Better Answer Con- stituents Who Want Health Work After Budget In Considered

Commissioners of Floyd county, favorable toward the idea of a county health unit in principle, were loath to give the County Health council an answer Monday but promised the group a further hearing later in the year when their budgetary work is to be done, probably by August 15.

Dr. H. H. Puckett was asked by the health council to present their ideas to the county commissioners. He is district director of the Texas State Department of health. In the group were representatives from various portions of the county.

Possibility that help can be obtained for the program from other taxing units of the county was pointed to by the commissioners who indicated they plan to hold the tax rate down to present level the ensuing year if at all possible. Their budget will be made up late in August and adopted soon thereafter.

PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE

Interest of the citizenship in a county health unit is typical of the new line of thought which has grown up in the past decade or so as regards the prevention of disease, the preservation of health, the stamping out of epidemics. It all comes under the general head of public health service which, in Texas, is administered by the State Department of Health.

Instead of being seen as a novelty the day is not far distant when the county health unit—the active worker in the field to aid in raising the health level for all the people, poor as well as those able to help themselves, will be the rule rather than the exception.

DAMS WOULD HELP A LOT

Most of us can envision that time when such waterways as Blanco in south and Quitaque in northeast Floyd County will have dams across them to help hold water back at the source and prevent floods on the lower reaches of the big streams. At the same time the bodies of water formed by the dams can be utilized in many ways that will be worthwhile.

Park sites, recreation places, fishing sites, water supply for communities adjacent, more abundant water supply for live stock, besides raising the water level of the country, are some of the things that come into mind.

BLIND STAGGERS AND BRAIN TRUSTERS

Away back yonder when you were a kid in West Texas you remember how old Maud died of the blind staggers. Maybe you were hauling water from a neighbor's well while your daddy was trying to get enough freight hauling to pay for a windmill, or was working for the big ranch close by.

Anyway, old Maud kicked out a hole six or eight inches deep both front and back, and maybe chewed the barbed wire fence while she was at it. The blood made you sick and you felt mighty sorry for old Maud and had a pain somewhere inside about how you were going to explain to Pa about everything when he got home including how you came to feed her a lot of musty maize that made her take the blind staggers and die.

Now, at last your conscience can be relieved. You couldn't help it. Old Maud didn't die of musty maize that went to her brain. She had been bitten by something, probably an encephalomyelitis carrying mosquito or fly,—blood sucking insect.

Probably one of the teams that had been off freighting brought sleeping sickness back to your lot and old Maud caught it from them. Anyway, if away back yonder they could

Have had a screened in place for the infected animals, and could have treated her and given her vaccine, she would have had several years more of good, useful service, in all likelihood. So say the brain trusters down at A. & M. college, now that it is too late to be worth anything to your feelings.

SMITHS LEAD THE FIELD

One of the many interesting bits of fact that do not amount to anything after you know them, and have no significance any way, is that the American branch of the Smith family is in numerical superiority over all other family groups.

According to a survey, which was probably being conducted while the surveyors might as well have been doing something else, there are 470,190 Smiths on the list of the Social Security Board.

A fair second are the Johnsons, who have less than 400,000, and then the Browns come along with 253,750, the Williamses with 249,213, and the Millers with 238,980. The Jones are away down in sixth place with only 232,540. However, it must be admitted that the Smiths, the Schmidts, the Schmitzes and the Smythes are all bulked together with the regular variety of Smiths to give them the lead.

Of 39,000,000 listed workers there is one, of course, with the shortest family name. He or she carries the family name of E. The longest name on the Social Security Board's records is a guy whose name begins with X. The name is Xenegianekopoulos.

A GOOD CITIZEN FOR GOVERNOR

One of the outstanding citizens of the state of Texas is a candidate for governor. He is a man who has met and defeated the gas, telephone and light monopoly in his own bailiwick. He is a man who has whipped the hot oil runner in east Texas and made him pay his part of the taxes due the state of Texas.

Additionally, he is a man who has whipped hard-headed Mr. Ickes who wanted to take Texas' biggest industry—the oil business—and fasten on it a lot of bureaucratic rules and regulations that would be issued out of Washington. He is a man who has proven that at least one business in this state can keep its house in order without federal intervention.

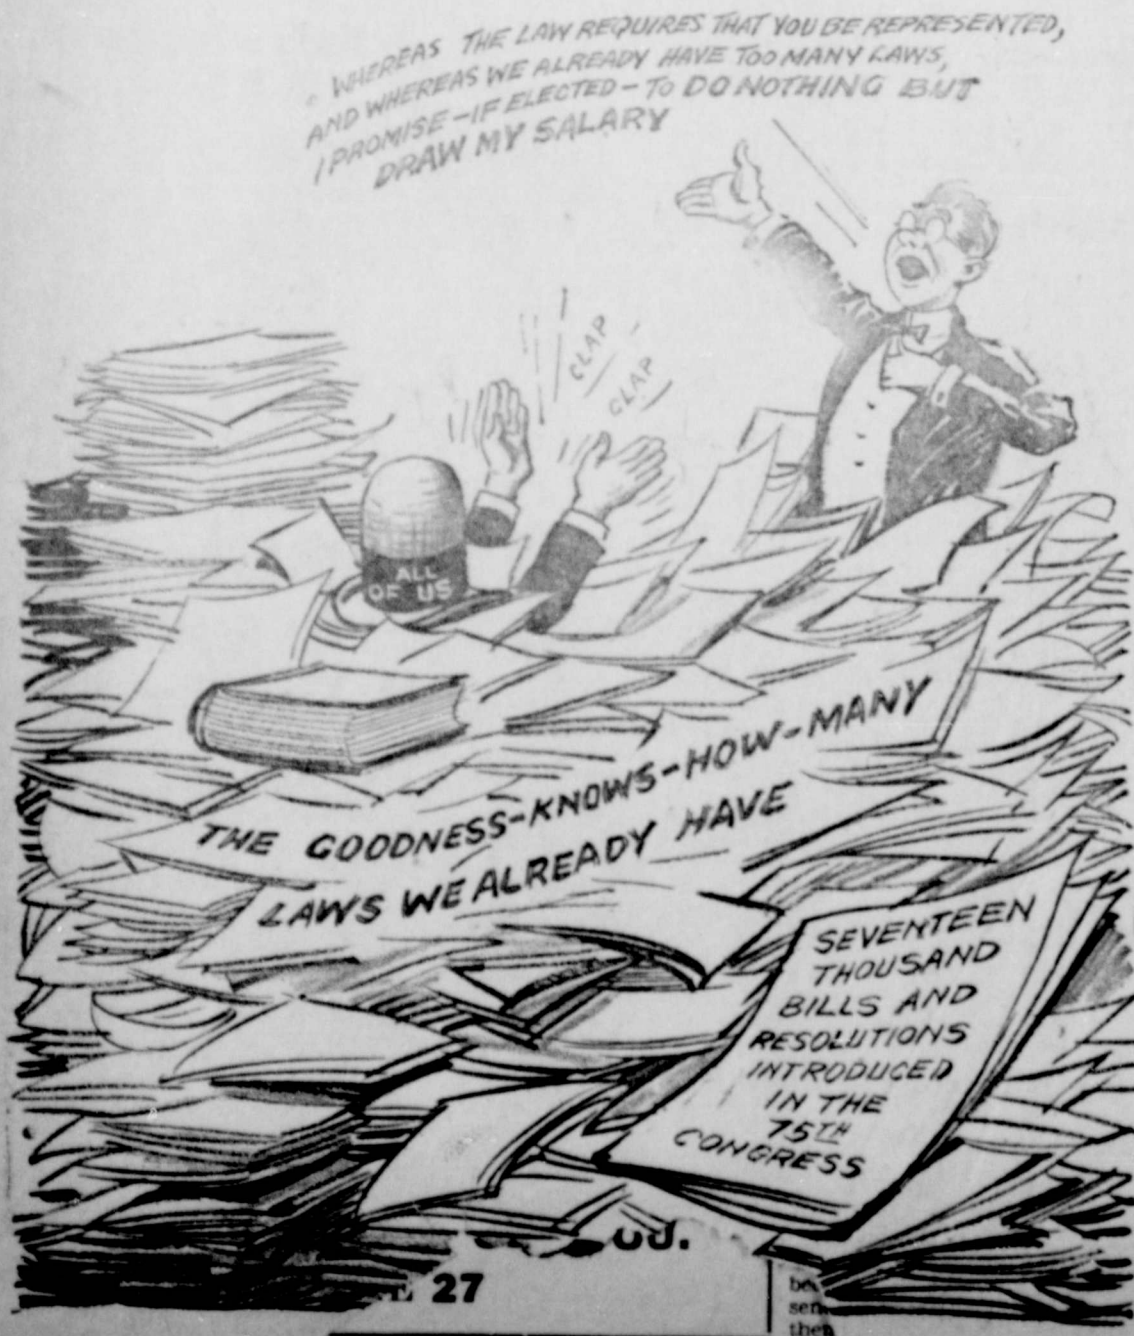

While other good men, aspirants for the same office, can talk about what they want to do for their fellow citizens, he can point to accomplishments that prove he has done. A maize-fed fellow, a good shoe shiner, a poor man who could be rich by turning his back and looking the other way occasionally—if that is the kind of recommendation you must have—a soldier who once laid down the most intricately perfect barrage of machine gun fire that has ever yet been devised in warfare. (See the war department records.) That is our candidate.

His name is Ernest O. Thompson. He is the high type of product which we claim the high plains air and sunshine of Texas can produce. He ought to be the next governor of Texas. We urge that if you are not married to some other candidacy you vote for him on July 23.

One way of looking on the bright side is to figure that by the time the furniture is all paid for, all the pieces will be genuine antiques.

Many people climb to considerable heights by remaining on the level.

THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE

As A Farm Woman Thinks

Nellie Witt Spikes

I feel like a stranger in my own home. The back porch that has held everything that could not come into the house, has been torn down. For 27 years I have stepped out on the vine clad porch from the back door. The sand and tumble weeds found lodging on the old gallery. The winter snow and sleet made it slippery for hurrying feet. It was too narrow for a sleeping porch and flies and mosquitoes made it an unpleasant place to sit. But I loved the orange flowers of the trumpet vine that clung on the lattice. We sat out there and watched the rain as it made a curtain as it fell from the roof.

Peaches and apples were dried on the roof of the porch. How your very being becomes woven into the things about you.

When the house is worked over a new service porch with windows of glass will take its place. But I will miss the old while I welcome the new.

Mrs. Hollums says that the four o'clock is a real pioneer flower it does not ask for much care nor much room in your yard. It takes less water and the evening and night is glorified with the sweet flowers beauty and fragrance. Pink and white, red and yellow no two blooms alike on the bush. We do not have to plant it, it takes care of all that. "Marvels of Peru," the seed catalogue calls it, and I can add, "Marvel of the Plains."

I like the smell of the freshly hung curtains. The smell of cloths taken from the line and folded. The beauty of a moon of gold setting in the west in a sea of blue—a bouquet of orange, gladiolus and spider-wort in a dull blue pitcher.

Well, we didn't get to see the president. When I was a child all that a president meant was a page in history as to number by in the spelling class. We might not have known our onions on those days of less slang, but we knew our presidents. Even though the president was to speak only a short distance away, the cows had to be milked, the calves fed, the sheep had to be penned so that the hungry dogs might not kill them. Chickens had to be put out of the way of rats.

George Smith and his daughter Evelyn Smith Loevis visited me yesterday morning. We had a grand time talking over the days of long ago and planning a reunion so that we might meet all our old friends again.

Evelyn is the secretary of the West Texas Old Settlers and I think it very fitting that a granddaughter of Aunt Hank shall preside at the registration noon and dispense the same gracious hospitality that made her grandmother famous.

To the homesick cowboy, the buffalo hunter, the cold and hungry carrier of the mail, Aunt Hank was hostess, mother, friend. No night was ever too cold nor was she ever too tired to give a welcome to the tired wanderer. Not only a welcome but a cup of coffee, a good meal and a good bed she provided.

FLOYD COUNTY 14 YEARS AGO

News items taken from files of the Floyd County Hesperian published in Floydada fourteen years ago.

(Issue of July 17, 1924)

A big picnic with a basket dinner at noon, is being advertised to be held at Petersburg Saturday of this week. The program will open at ten o'clock and will include various amusements as well as a big candidate speaking.

Three new homes have been started in Floydada during the past few days. C. J. Clements is building on South Main Street a residence which he will occupy when completed. E. C. Nelson Dr. is building a residence in the Price addition, and Misses Mollie and Lucy Crum are building on West Mississippi Street.

Plastering work is being done this week in the basement of the Smith & Smith sanitarium. When completed, this will finish up a few minor details of construction on one of the finest structures of its kind on the plains. The rooms on the lower floor, comprising the ward section, will be ready for occupancy at an early date.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Duncan and children left the latter part of the week for the mountains of New Mexico to visit with relatives during a vacation of some two weeks.

A marked upward revision of estimates of the total shipments of wheat from Floyd County this season is indicated by the total shipments already made, a lower estimate of the actual acreage in the county than was actually in wheat having been made earlier in the season apparently. Early season estimates of a 15-bushel average on approximately 50,000 acres of wheat land compare with an indicated yield of 22 bushels average on approximately 70,000 acres, for a total of approximately a half million bushels now indicate.

WASHINGTON LETTER BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON—The money paid out to farmers by AAA between now and election day should have a greater effect on purchasing power and business than on political fortunes.

Of the $275,000,000 that will be folded into farmers' pockets in that period, about $200,000,000 will go to cotton producing states. And most of them are solidly democratic, whatever the flow of gold from Washington.

Government experts have prepared confidential estimates indicating that something in the neighborhood of $145,000,000 will be paid under the regular AAA farm program in the next four months and nearly $130,000,000 under the cotton price adjustment program within the next five months.

The following states will receive the most money: Texas $46,576,000; Georgia, 18-$13,000; Alabama, 18,602,000; Oklahoma, 16,181,000; Mississippi, 15,000,000; Arkansas, 13,579,000; South Carolina, 13,463,000; Iowa, 12,000,000; Missouri, 11,165,000; Minnesota, 10,000,000; North Carolina, 9,512,000; Louisiana, 9,342,000; Tennessee, 8,150,000; Illinois, Kansas, Wisconsin, an dNorth Dakota, about $6,000,000 each, and California, $5,770,000.

Secretary of Agriculture, Henry Wallace says that it's up to the farmers to see that every family in the United States has enough to eat and wear and that it's especially important that unemployed families have adequate supplies of fruit, vegetables and poultry and dairy products.

Thus, as Wallace sees it, the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation is part of the larger farm program.

The FSCC has been going about its business of buying up surplus foodstuffs and distributing them to the destitute minus any fanfare. But with the corporation accelerating its program and WPA going into the market for $10,000,000 worth of men's and children's clothing to be distributed in the same way, it seems likely that the buy-and-give idea may play an increasingly important part in the national economic planning.

Evelyn Owen from Fairview gave me a lending hand yesterday. There were peaches to be cut in golden halves, covered with syrup and put in the jars. Beans had to be picked and prepared for canning. Dinner had to be prepared. Evelyn's hair is lovely, black and shining like satin. She told me of the grand trip the boys and girls of Fairview made. Cans of fruit and cans of vegetables, beds, young people, teachers packed into one bus. A bus that sped into old Mexico, stopped at the Carlsbad Cavern, wound over the hills and valleys into the beautiful Colorado. What a fine thing for the teachers to have done for youth! Thank you Evelyn, you gave me more than just a day's help.

Such a program has particular significance for the American farmer. The FSCC was organized primarily to help him by blocking disastrous price slumps; the help for the "ill-clothed and ill-fed" has come incidentally.

Instead of destroying surpluses—as was done with the famous "little pigs" under the early AAA—the idea is to stabilize prices by taking excess production off the market and giving food to the people who otherwise would be without.

In the last few months FSCC has bought or entered the market for 14,000,000 pounds of butter, 11,000 tons of early cabbage (915 carloads), 70,000,000 pounds of rice, 1,000,000 barrels of flour, more than 20,000,000 pounds of dry skimmed milk, 15,000 tons of raisins, 8,500,000 bushels of apples, 4,000,000 pounds of cheese, 31,000 tons of dried prunes, 250,000 gallons of cane syrup, 4000 carloads of potatoes, and 1,000,000 cases of canned peas.

Other FSCC purchases: Beans, eggs, cotton, grapefruit and grapefruit juice, onions, pears, frozen fish, oats, oranges, figs, turnips, tomatoes, walnuts and Swiss chard.

Beavers Are Still Hard Workers—Government Guidance All They Need

The powerful lower jaw that the beaver uses for cutting trees, showing the enormous incisor tooth (1) and the great flanges (2 and 3) for attachment of the gnawing muscles.

In California for instance there has been a great outcry against the beavers because they have spoiled irrigation projects. They dig ditches in the levees and block up the canals that are supposed to carry water around to crops.

Sometimes they dig their homes inside the levees; then when the high water comes, the levees go out and there is a lot of work and expense for the farmers. In one case a heavy ditching machine worked all day to dig drainage ditches—and the beavers came out at dusk and worked all night damming them up. The Fish and Game Commission had to be called to take the animals away to a place where their nocturnal gnawings would be of some benefit.

BUT for the most part the beaver does good work. Besides improving the Idaho grazing lands, his dams will be depended on to build up the underground water table and provide ponds deep enough for duck-breeding grounds.

Last year one small colony built 17 dams that now maintain a steady year-round flow in an Idaho stream that used to dry up every summer.

If the beavers weren't such self-effacing fellows, they'd be pretty proud of their part in American history. Beaver-trap-

Exploitation thinned their numbers, however, and soon they were near extinction. But with careful protection by state game commissions, they gradually came back and today they are found in substantial numbers in many states.

They have been put to work in many states too. Their dams, some of which are well-nigh engineering masterpieces, are built of trees cut down by their long, chisel-like lower front teeth, and of mud and stones carefully packed in place by their clever little front paws.

Banner Year For Gardens In Prospect

Practically All F. S. A. Borrowers Have Variety Of Fresh Vegetables

Indications are that this will be a banner year for gardens of families operating under loans from the Farm Security Administration, according to Mrs. Mary Watson Jones, home management supervisor for that agency in Floyd County. Practically all F. S. A. borrowers have a variety of fresh vegetables from their gardens. Green and English Peas have been canned and many women are now canning snap beans and peas. Pointing to the lack of dust storms and increasing moisture Mrs. Jones said many families are showing more interest in improvement of yards and have planted flowers, shrubbery and fruits as well as making repairs to their homes. Many families are getting out a few trees in spots near the home to provide shade and plots to serve as wind-breaks to protect fields and check erosion.

During the next month or six weeks canning demonstrations will be held at the homes of borrowers who need and request this service. Mrs. Jones said information on combatting garden pests and insects will continue to be distributed. Much stress is being placed on the keeping of active farm and home record books by all F. S. A. borrowers. Mrs. Jones believes these books would be a credit to any county, and she said that farm families are realizing more and more the dollar and cents value of food produced on the farm and stored or preserved for winter use. All F. S. A. borrowers in Floyd County have flocks of young chickens varying in size from fifty to six hundred according to their needs and equipment. One of these notable flocks is that of Mrs. James L. and Able L. Eaves who live near Floydada. Their present flock of young chickens is about five hundred and fifty.

Dear Alene--

You remember I told you that we were planning to buy an electric range? Well, we've bought a Westinghouse! It's the prettiest and easiest thing to keep clean you have ever seen. Actually, you can't realize how much cooler and cleaner my kitchen is now. No more hot, stuffy kitchens for me!

But of all the conveniences, I like the automatic oven best. Baking is simply a snap... of the wrist... and that's all. Everything just seems to cook itself.

So, if you are still interested in a new range, by all means, buy a Westinghouse Electric Range.

Love,

Trucks Play Major Role In Floydada

215 People Here Live Directly From Their Operation, Statement Says

Trucks play a major role in the business life of Floydada, even a greater part than is commonly thought. Briefly here is the story compiled recently by D. W. Pyffe: There are 215 people living from the direct operation of commercial trucks in Floydada:

Every three hours a produce truck calls on the groceries of Floydada; Every hour of the day there is a truck load of stock hauled from Floydada trade territory; Every hour of the day there is a load of gasoline delivered to this town and vicinity;

Taxes and Purchases
What the truck men spend for taxes for upkeep and for operation is indicated in the following compilation, given in round figures:

Total taxes paid per year	$39,000
Number of trucks purchased per year	33
Amount of purchase price	35,000
Number of trucks in use	50
Number of tires purchased per year to operate these trucks	535
338,000 gallons of gasoline consumed per year at a cost of	44,000
3,700 gallons of lubricating oil consumed per year at a cost of	2,560
Repairs and accessories purchased per year	9,500
Miscellaneous outlay	1,800
Outlay for trailer equipment per year	8,000
$300,000 in insurance carried at an annual cost of	6,000
60 drivers employed at an annual cost of	50,000

These trucks do an annual business of $211,000, according to the figures compiled, which Mr. Pyffe is sure are conservative and understated rather than over-stated the actual facts.

News Review Of The Week

Monday, July 4
NEW YORK—The Fourth was a day of aggression on the two battle fronts of the world. Insurgents in Spain claimed "new positions of great importance" after one of the fiercest battles of the war. Japan claimed destruction of practically all of China's first line of air fleet while France laid claim to the strategic Paracel Islands in the North China sea.

CHICAGO—Figures began to roll into the news offices of the nation this afternoon with their tale of death and injury. Violent death took at least 322 victims as the nation celebrated.

War Games Staged
GETTYSBURG—A new generation of fighting men deployed on the battlefield where the Union and Confederate forces clashed 75 years ago. At least 3,000 men took part in the parade in which Uncle Sam's newest fighting equipment was shown.

BERLIN—Berlin's American school fund found itself without a roof today after Jewish trouble with German authorities. Officials claimed that Jews were being educated in the school. It was admitted that Jews were being taught in order to take college entrance examinations so they could emigrate to the United States.

Tuesday, July 5
AMARILLO—All the publicity departments in the town went into high gear for Ernest O. Thompson and the forthcoming visit of President Roosevelt. Thompson, backed by the Amarillo News Globe, is due to throw a "shirt sleeve" rally along with "red" lemonade, etc. While the Thompson publicity department was boiling out copy, the Amarillo "World's Largest Band" was tuning up for the visit of President Roosevelt with a mixed solution of "The Eyes of Texas." Thompson is expected to adopt the "Largest Band in the World" and make W. Lee O'Daniel, flour mill candidate for governor, and his "Hill-Billy Boys" hunt for the high weeds.

LONDON—In a "Ho-hum what next" attitude reporters listened to the latest tale of woe issuing from the home of Countess Barbara Hutton Gaugwitz-Reventlow, heiress of the Woolworth 5 and 10 cent millions who married a Count. She claims her second husband demanded $5,000,000 for a divorce besides being enraged and tearful. The lawyers charges filled a column.

Bill McCraw Says
BEEVILLE—William McCraw, candidate for governor, kept the political ball rolling by telling Texas citizens that "good citizens would pay their poll tax." McCraw and his opponent, Thompson, seem scarred stiff of O'Daniel, a man who failed to pay a poll tax because a tax-assessor in Tarrant county forgot to write it down.

EVIAN-LES-BANES, France—The world's three greatest democracies, the United States, Great Britain and France, took the lead today in seeking havens for unwanted Jews and other political refugees from greater Germany.

Wednesday, July 6
COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia.—Former aspirant to the presidential job Alf M. Landon, took his swing at the New Deal today, joining the other Republican malcontents in their lambasting of Democratic policies. Landon swung his big club at New Deal spending and lending and claimed that WPA funds were going to buy "votes." He failed to explain how he "could do any better" than Roosevelt had done. Landon should stick to Maine and Vermont as his subject matter.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, former chairman of TVA and headline hunter since his ousting by President Roosevelt, bounced back into the news today challenging the right of President Roosevelt to remove him as chairman. No matter about the "challenge" Morgan is "out" and the nation don't give a "hoot" about his troubles since his case and action smells of "big politics" directed from Republican headquarters.

Japs Will Aid Germany
SAN DIEGO—Capt. Zira Hadano, commander of a Japanese training ship, asserted today that Japan was ready to go to war to aid Germany at any time that it was deemed necessary. The Captain did not explain how Japan expected to help Germany when their armies were all busy in China trying to strangle the Chinese Dragon.

SAN ANGELO—Pom F. Hunter, Wichita oil king, claims that it was his "original" idea to fight against ring domination of Texas politics. Other than this Hunter followed the regular channel of promising "a cut in expenditures" better government, benefits for the old people, and child welfare benefits.

Thursday, July 7
JERUSALEM—A growing shadow of death and destruction crept over the Holy Land this week as Jews and Arabs fought and an Arab force held a pitched battle with British troops in the desert sands. A rumbling of civil war has been growing louder for months and promises to break into the open at any time.

HOLLYWOOD—Buddy Rogers, movie star and band director, let his temper fizz today and knocked down a heckler who had fizzed the contents of a siphon bottle in his face during an engagement. Buddy had ducked an orange aimed at his cranium earlier in the evening.

No Pardon
TALLAHASSEE, Florida—The Florida pardon board refused today to commute the death sentence of Franklin Pierce McCall, condemned kidnaper, to life imprisonment.

WASHINGTON—The U. S. Patent office disclosed today that Henry Ford had been granted a patent on a new type rear engine automobile. Whether or not Ford plans production of the new type automobile is not known at present but it is expected that the new machine will appear within a few years.

Friday, July 8
CHICAGO—Senator James Hamilton Lewis warned foreign nations that propaganda agents and spies would be driven from the United States. Senator Lewis should know that at present the Secret Service announces that spies and foreign agents in the United States outnumber our FBI officers and secret service officers 2 to 1 and that the only punishment that our nation can deal out is deportation or a short term imprisonment for spies.

LONDON—Bombs burst and mobs howled as Anti-Jewish and Anti-Arab factions clashed in Jerusalem again. British efforts to restore calm were failing at almost every turn as Arab and Jew prepared for civil war.

Japs Held Back
SHANGHAI—The Japanese push up the Yangtze River hit snag after snag as the Chinese troops hid in swamp lands and cut down the invaders with machine guns and rifles. The river rose to flood stages and washed many of the Japs away.

AMARILLO—In an effort to do everything in the "biggest way" Amarillo is sewing on what is claimed to be the world's biggest flag for the Roosevelt visit. The stars and stripes will measure 42 by 28 feet.

Saturday, July 9
AMARILLO—Ernest Thompson arrived in the city last night. A crowd of 8,000 were on hand to greet him (he didn't have a hill-billy orchestra, reports said) according to the Amarillo Daily News. The News said it was the biggest rally ever held in Amarillo for a governor's candidate.

PORT CHESTER, N. Y.—Associate Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo of the United States Supreme Court died at the home of Justice Irving Lehman of the New York Court of Appeals today. Speculation became rife at once as to who President Roosevelt would pick to fill the new vacancy.

Ready For Flight
NEW YORK—Howard Hughes began warming up the motor on his hugh plane for his round-the-world flight. He will hop to Paris first on his publicity flight and then attack Wiley Post record.

AMARILLO—Everything is in readiness for the visit Monday of President Roosevelt and his members. The route through Amarillo has been chosen and approved by secret service officers. Every plan has been made to make the visit easy and safe for the President and the spectators.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond King left Sunday afternoon for Quitaque where they will make their home. He will teach vocational agriculture in the high school there this next school year.

NAME CANADA IS DERIVED FROM IROQUOIS INDIANS

The derivation of the name Canada accepted by our leading historians who have investigated the records makes it an Iroquois word, still surviving among them in the form "kanata," meaning a collection of dwellings, or a settlement. Cartier is one of his vocabularies of the Iroquois speech. Byars' mother, who calls a town (ville) Canada. Its evolution into our place-name Canada can be fully followed in the narratives of Cartier, wherein it appears first in his account of his second voyage in 1535, states a writer in the New York Herald Tribune.

Blanco Oil Test Is Shut Down For An Indefinite Time

Montgomery No. 1, Floyd county's oil hope, appears to have died as suddenly as it appeared.

Work ceased last week when the work depth was completed at 5,960 feet. As the drill stem was being removed in preparation for the shut down it stuck in the bottom of the hole necessitating a fishing job that was not completed until Monday afternoon.

Tuesday morning the crew began cleaning the hole and removing the machinery. Wednesday afternoon it was reported that the well had been cleaned and plugged and all movable machinery removed leaving only the derrick standing.

No final disposition has been made by the higher officials of the company. The derrick will remain on location until some decision has been made, whether the hole will be drilled deeper or abandoned.

Hard luck has dogged the well since late last January when the first fishing job was begun. Since that time almost half of the working hours were spent in fishing for lost tools or drilling around stuck pipe and drill stems.

EARTHWORMS ARE FOND OF MEAT, EAT SUGAR READILY

According to W. R. Walton, senior entomologist, United States Department of Agriculture, earthworms feed partly on the soil. They swallow great quantities of earth, from which they digest organic matter, both animal and vegetable. Their digestive apparatus is equipped with a gizzard-like organ by the aid of which they are able to grind up the tougher fragments of food. They are fond of either raw or cooked meat and will eat sugar readily. The mouth of the earthworm if devoid of teeth or other biting or gnawing apparatus, and consists of a simple sucking or grasping mechanism which is well supplied with powerful muscles. When an earthworm wishes to grasp any small object such as a blade of grass, it thrusts from its mouth an appendage which corresponds roughly to the tongue of a human being. This is used to oppose the snout of the worm just as one presses his thumb against his index finger, enabling it to grasp firmly any sanded object.

By use of this apparatus the earthworm is enabled to draw leaves or other objects into its burrows. Fresh leaves are frequently taken into the burrow, and the worm then moistens the innermost ends of them with a secretion from its mouth, which starts fermentation and soon renders the leaves sufficiently tender to enable it to tear off fragments for its food.

Earthworms crawl by means of alternate contraction and expansion of the muscular rings forming their bodies. In these movements they are helped by rows of very short, stiff bristles, placed along the sides of the body. They have no eyes, but are sensitive to light. They have no ears, but are sensitive to air currents and especially to the slightest vibration of the ground. Their eggs are placed in capsules, surrounded by a gelatinous food. Crows find these capsules a great delicacy. Not much is known about how and when the eggs hatch, but the young grow into adults in about three months.

SOS STUDIES WAYS TO CUT HIGHWAY EROSION DAMAGES

With soil erosion adding to highway maintenance costs from Maine to California, plans to cut down this damage are being developed cooperatively by the Soil Conservation Service and the highway departments of 32 States.

Eighty-one highway erosion control projects have been established in 21 States. Plans call for the establishment of similar projects in 11 additional States.

The work now going forward is no more than in the "laboratory" stage of highway erosion control. It involves merely the development, testing, and demonstration of erosion control measures along stretches of roadway varying from 1/2 to 2 1/2 miles in length. Measures which prove successful in these tests, however, may later be applied by State highway departments on a much wider scale.

Highway erosion damage is caused, according to the Soil Conservation Service, both by deposits of soil washed from adjoining farm lands and by direct erosion of cuts, fills, and embankments. A recent survey made by the Service in 16 southwestern Wisconsin counties shows that erosion on some roads may be responsible for as much as 36 percent of maintenance costs in any one year.

Control programs now under way are both vegetative and mechanical. Soil-holding vines, grasses, or shrubs are planted at erodible spots along the roadway. Deep, narrow ditches are eliminated in favor of wide, shallow vegetated waterways. Extension use is made of the drop-inlet culvert, which not only protects fills and embankments from erosion but also helps cut down soil washing on adjoining farm lands.

Service engineers list at least five advantages from highway erosion control work: (1) Prevention of damage to roads, (2) reduction of maintenance costs, (3) protection of roadside farm lands, (4) increased safety for motor traffic through elimination of ditches and other hazards, and (5) improvements in roadside appearance from protective vegetation over raw, unsightly cuts and ditches.

The highway erosion control programs of the Soil Conservation Service are being carried on with the advice and assistance of the Bureau of Public Roads and the Highway Research Board.

CENSUS BUREAU FURNISHES AGE PROOF TO THOUSANDS

Almost 140,000 persons were not sure of their age and asked the Census Bureau to supply proof during 1937. A majority of these persons were seeking to qualify for various forms of old age pensions and were unable to secure the necessary proof of age locally.

The Census Bureau has found it necessary to utilize the most modern equipment to meet the demands of the people for this essential information. First, a mammoth card file, one of the largest in the world, was set up containing the names and ages of all persons reported in the Census of 1900. Then specially built micro-film equipment was installed to photograph the old Census records which would otherwise be destroyed by constant handling.

It is interesting to note that all of our great historical heroes such as Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and others are in the movies in a sense because their names are now recorded in film as part of this project.

Goats Around Horses
Having goats around them does not keep thoroughbreds and harness horses more healthy, by preventing disease among them. This superstition, commonly held by race-horse owners throughout the country, goes back to the Middle ages when peasants believed the devil took the form of a goat when he visited, and kept goats in their stables, which were usually built into the house, to act as receptacles for evil spirits attempting to get into the residence.

How'd You Like to Land This? If you came home from a fishing trip with a bass like that pictured above, you'd have the laugh on the doubters. On second thought, maybe you'd just as soon let O. L. Sizelove have his 316-pound prey. The finny fighter pulled Sizelove's boat eight miles out to sea off Long Beach, Calif., and tore his tackle to pieces before the angler landed it.

SOMETHING ABOUT TUMORS AND CANCER AS VIEWED BY STATE HEALTH OFFICER

AUSTIN, Texas. — Definite increase in the number of persons dying from cancer makes the subject of tumors a timely one. A tumor is a mass of new tissue which is of no use whatever to the body. If tumors or their manifestations were more generally appreciated, much of the misery and many deaths could be eliminated, stated Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

The malignant tumor known as cancer may consist, as in the case of benign tumors, of any bodily structures such as fat, bone, connective tissue, superficial layer of the skin, mucus membrane and bodily organs. They grow rapidly and may establish secondary growths far from the site of the parent tumor by means of detached cells traveling in the blood or invading the lymphatics.

Where benign tumors are concerned, surgical removal usually results in permanent cure. However, in cancerous tumors surgery or irradiation (X-ray and radium) or a combination of the two, to be effective depends upon early diagnosis and prompt professional action.

While a number of cancerous growths unfortunately do not present early symptoms, many of the more common ones do. It is the deliberate or ignorant disregard of such early symptoms that has so decidedly occasioned the increase in cancer deaths.

The outstanding signals which justify a suspicion that cancer may be present, though not necessarily so, are: any lump; any unusual bleeding from any bodily opening; a persistent sore; and chronic indigestion.

To disregard these signs, which many mean cancer in an early and therefore curable stage, is to flirt with death. Most certainly it does not pay to take any chances with any kind of a tumor or manifestations that indicate the possibility of its existence.

The word "abracadabra" is the base of an old time "spell" used to overthrow evil spirits and cure fevers and other maladies. To be successful, the word had to be written in the form of a triangle.

There are four Broadways in Manhattan. The Broadway that starts at Bowling Green and runs on up to Albany. Old Broadway, from West One Hundred Twenty-fifth to West One Hundred Thirty-third street, East Broadway, which starts at Chatham square on the Bowery and runs to Grand street. West Broadway, which starts at Greenwich street and ends at Washington square. And over in Brooklyn, there's still another Broadway. Not one of the five resembles the other. Up in the Bronx is Peat-herbed lane. Downtown is Great Jones street. And I think this is enough for today. Possibly you do too.

$100,000 Prize List Announcement Texas State Fair

DALLAS, Texas, July 12.—Listing more than $100,000 in premiums for livestock, agriculture, poultry, textile, hobbies, and many other classifications, the premium list for the Golden Jubilee Celebration of the State Fair of Texas is now being distributed. It has been announced by Otto Herold, president of the state fair.

Premiums in Livestock and Poultry have been increased, and competition has been taken out of the country agricultural exhibits. Instead of having counties compete, each county exhibiting will be given $125,000. This will enable Texas counties to present the most complete picture of agricultural possibilities of the State ever seen. The premium list contains premiums which will be awarded individual farm exhibits, as well as 4-H Club Boys and Girls exhibits and Future Farmer exhibits.

Many new classifications are included in the premium list, such as the Hobby Show, the first annual All-Southwestern Newspaper Contest, the Flower Show, the Colt and Mule Show, and others.

LIGHTS OF NEW YORK

By L. L. Stevenson

Oliver Wakefield, English comedian on the Paul Whiteman program, was born in Zuziland. The name of his home town, Mahlabalaplani. Try that on your local speaker.... There are three Charley McCathys in the Manhattan telephone book. But no Edgar Bergen.... "Pins and Needles," produced and acted by members of needle workers unions, is showing now at, of all places, the Stevens theatre.... There's an L. L. Stevens on Forty-second street. Instead of writing a column, he gives beauty treatments. And some of his feminine patrons waste nickels by calling up and trying to make appointments with me. Because we're also neighbors in the phone as a long stretch of the imagination book.... A western state is building a new prison and taking motion pictures of important construction steps. Allen Prescott thinks they should release the complete film under the title, "A Stir Is Born." And I hope printers don't make "star" out of "stir."

Lynn Murray describes Hollywood on the Pacific coast.... A national forest preserve in Montana has this sign posted on the highway running through it, writes Jane Pickens, "Chaperone your cigarettes. They shouldn't go alone.... A columnist has achieved success, says Emil Coleman, when the size of his head.... Tony Wons' definition of an oyster: A fish built like a nut.... And nowadays, writes Arthur Godfrey, if you see a young woman with her hands clasped and her eyes rolled high you don't know whether she's about to offer prayer or a Susie-Q.... Oscar Bradley, the shortest orchestra leader in radio, has as his publicist, J. M. Josephsburg, the tallest press agent in radio.... Ruth Carhart collects cigar bands and has more than 400 bands....

A tough guy, prison pallo all over his face, walked into a Sixth avenue greasy spoon and looked around for the telephone, reports David Alber. He found it, fished around in his pocket for a nickel and dropped it in the slot. It was one of those dial-less phones and soon the operator's voice came over the wire.

"Number, please?" she asked.

"Say," yelled the tough guy into the phone, his voice registering indignation, "Noneya smart cracks. I been usin' a name for two weeks!"

If Walt Disney hadn't been turned down by an art editor, he would not have been forced to set up a studio in his father's garage where he befriended a mouse and got the idea for his famous Mickey.... There is a prize fighter by the name of Phil Baker.... To dance fans, Vincent Lopez is an orchestra leader. To wrestling fans, Vincent Lopez is former world's champion.... One of Jimmy Durante's best friends is Dr. James Stotter who has made a fortune shortening noses.... Roseland gets an average of $50 worth of flower orders each week. Because out-of-towners, picking up the telephone book, mistake a dance hall for a florist's shop....

One of Genevieve Rowe's out-of-town cousins was visiting her last week and expressed a desire to go to the aquarium.

"I'll be busy with rehearsals for the next few days," explained Miss Rowe, "so we'll have to put it off until next week."

"But we must go there today," insisted the cousin. "I've already noted in my diary that we were there today."

There are four Broadways in Manhattan. The Broadway that starts at Bowling Green and runs on up to Albany. Old Broadway, from West One Hundred Twenty-fifth to West One Hundred Thirty-third street, East Broadway, which starts at Chatham square on the Bowery and runs to Grand street. West Broadway, which starts at Greenwich street and ends at Washington square. And over in Brooklyn, there's still another Broadway. Not one of the five resembles the other. Up in the Bronx is Peat-herbed lane. Downtown is Great Jones street. And I think this is enough for today. Possibly you do too.

NEW METHODS SPEEDS UP TEST OF DURUM WHEAT

Production of durum wheat in this country 10 years ago amounted to almost 100 million bushels annually. But for the past 5 years rust, drought and shift to bread wheats have cut the average crop to 17 million bushels a year. American mills started importing durum wheat from Canada.

Some of the country's most popular dishes—macaroni, spaghetti, vermicelli, noodles, and numerous other foods that differ only in size and shape—are made from semolina, the purified middlings of durum. Semolina has more gluten and less starch than flour of wheat.

To maintain adequate durum wheat supplies, scientists of the United States Department of Agriculture and the North Dakota Agricultural Experiment Station are cooperating in the breeding of durum wheats for rust resistance. From certain crosses they obtained promising rust-resistant hybrid strains, but have not as yet recovered the excellent semolina qualities, particularly a creamy yellow color, of the susceptible parent.

Discovery through research by milling specialists of the Department of a new test may speed this end of the work. Formerly about 5 pounds of wheat were required to run a test which includes milling, mixing, rolling or kneading, resting, pressing, and drying. Now, by using a specially designed small mixer, miniature roller, and a laboratory hydraulic press, the scientists can run the test on about one-fourth pound of wheat. Instead of the customary tubular shape, the semolina is processed into macaroni discs, from which an analysis is easily made.

In wheat breeding, selections are made from single heads or plants. The new test, which requires only one-twentieth of the grain formerly needed, enables testing small samples of early segregating strains. By testing large numbers of such samples it is expected that the desired semolina and macaroni making qualities may be recovered. The new laboratory method simplifies and speeds up the testing work for quality.

TYPICAL AREAS

The following typical areas furnish examples of dual occupations of agriculture, fishing, mining, timber, manufacturing and other industries: Worcester County, Mass.; Hartford County, Conn.; Westmoreland County Pa.; Columbus area, Ohio, including Columbus metropolitan and non-metropolitan areas; St. Louis County, Minn.; Dorchester County, Md.; Somerset County, Md.; Dickenson County, Va.; McDowell County, W. Original Apostle Spoons

The original apostle spoons, of silver or silver gilt, were most popular from 1450 to 1650 and were the usual baptismal gifts during those centuries. The handle of the spoon terminated in a figure of one of the apostles, each bearing a distinctive emblem. Thirteen made a complete set, the Master spoon bearing an image of Christ or of St. Peter. Hayden's "Chats on Old Silver" mentions a record price of 4,900 pounds paid for a set, in 1903. Single spoons have brought from 30 to 100 pounds.

All Bats Have Eyes

Bats are quick to learn and can be trained sufficiently in two days to eat from the hand. These mammals are very clean, washing themselves with their tongues. The saying, "blind as a bat" is incorrect, since all bats have eyes and in all probability are merely dazed by sudden bright lights. Although bats' feet are undeveloped and unsuited for walking, their wings are so well equipped with exceptionally keen sensory nerves that they can whisk through pitch darkness without colliding with any object.

Coal Gas, Carbon Monoxide

Normally, coal gas is harmless. Only when it contains carbon monoxide is it deadly. It forms when coal burns with too little air, such as when furnaces have been banked at night, drafts tightly closed. Odorous, carbon monoxide warns only by increasing a victim's pulse, making his breath more rapid. But it confuses the mind, makes these symptoms unrecognizable. Artificial respiration is the first cure. Mere opening the windows is seldom sufficient.

Seems as though there was a little girl who was talking to her mother: "Oh, Mama, I saw the nicest man today."

"Who was he, dear?"

"He was the garbage man, Mama."

"And why was he so nice?"

"Well, Mama, he was carrying a can of garbage over his head to the wagon, and while he had it over his head the bottom came out and the garbage fell all over him, and he just stood there and talked to God all the time."

New Mexico Visit Affords A Thrill For Floydada Girl

Mrs. J. E. Higgins Visiting In Mountains Has Interesting Story

As some of your readers may be interested in this part of the world will write something of one of the oldest villages in New Mexico, San Miguel and other places.

This village was established about 400 years ago. The natives are Mexican, with a few French, one Arab and one American family, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Goar, friends of mine with whom I am visiting.

The plaza is about the size of the square of your town and the adobe houses are built around the plaza where the people live.

Where my friends live there are four large rooms in a row facing the plaza and an ell of one large room at the back. If the natives keep a cow or horse the buildings are joined on to the living quarters. Everyone has a bake-oven where their bread is baked. When bake-day comes a fire of cedar wood, (which is plentiful) is built in the oven and allowed to burn down to a bed of coals then drawn out. The bread is then placed in the oven, the door and ventilator closed. In about an hour the bread is ready to come out and I am told it is very good.

The Mexican (Spanish) women are very nice housekeepers and some of their homes are as nicely furnished as any home in Floydada. Farming is done on a very small scale. An acre or two of wheat, oats, corn and alfalfa, beans the main crop and chili is the average size farm. Some of the inhabitants don't farm or work at anything and yet they live and do well.

I came here June 25 and there has been nearly a week of rain. The sun is shining hot today but these adobe houses are cool, the walls are two feet thick covered with mud and some have tin on top of that.

The fireplaces are made of mud also. The inside walls are white as snow or are any other color you prefer.

The wheat and oats harvesting is very primitive. They use a curved blade to cut the grain, holding a handful then cutting until all is cut. It is then piled into a pen where it dries for a week or two, then about 15 head of horses are turned into the pen, a rider mounts a horse and drives these horses over the straw until the grain is trampled out. The straw is then lifted off, grain is taken to the river in baskets where it is washed then taken to the mill where it is ground into flour. A few small threshers are used here.

Sawmills are every few miles as there is plenty of pine and cedar trees. The mountains are covered with them.

The Pecos river flows on the east side of the plaza. There is fish there but I have not gone fishing yet as the river was on a rampage all last week. There isn't much to the town of San Miguel. It is two miles from the highway which runs from Las Vegas to Santa Fe. Ribera, our post office, is one and one-half miles north of here. There they have a railroad, store, school and a church.

The church is Catholic and is second oldest in the United States, the oldest being located at Santa Fe. The priest, lives here and has been here for the past thirty years. There is an old cemetery here that the present generation knows nothing about. None of their ancestors were buried here. It is estimated as hundreds of years old. I talked to a woman 68 years old that has lived here all her life.

English is taught in the schools and the younger people speak English but very few of the older ones do.

I have done quite a bit of mountain climbing since I've been here. Don't find it very hard work and was rewarded with a wonderful view from the top. People in the valley looked like ants from the top of the mountains. There is one more in this vicinity that I want to climb. I am told it is a half day's climb. It is the highest and is a level mesa on top with an area of 35 by 75 miles. Have to go 25 miles from here so I guess I'll ride.

A little Mexican has just been here with a fish to sell. It was about twelve inches long. The water in the river is swift and cold and very clear. There are mesquite here but they only resemble our mesquites in the way they bite.

The population of San Miguel county is 90,000. All the county officials are Spanish. My friend, Mrs. Goar, does mission work among the children every opportunity. Bibles are so scarce you can't buy one in Los Vegas. The religion is mostly Catholic. The priest rings a bell at 6 a. m. one at 12 a. m. and another at 6 p. m. The natives are supposed to eat at this time. There are other bells that only the natives understand.

July 3 a party of us went to Holy Ghost canyon which is 45 miles from here. You leave the pavement at Pecos, New Mexico. The road is gravelled and well kept. You travel between two mountains all the way up. There's only room for the road and the lovely mountain stream with summer cabins scattered all along the road. People who own these cabins use them to spend the summer months there.

The pines are lovely. They are about 100 feet high and the mountains are covered with pine, aspen and smaller shrubs. I thought I would twist my head off looking at all the pretty sights.

We gradually climbed up all the time but I don't know how high we got, but it was so high it seemed that my eardrums would burst. We stopped at a fish hatchery out of Pecos that was very interesting.

There are some mines (I can't tell the names of them), and Holy Ghost canyon road leads off from the road where the hospital for the mines are located. There are no cabins owned by individuals for the next 13 miles as this is government reserve. When you travel as far as you can in a car, you come to free cabins built with fireplaces in them where you can camp as long as you wish. No ice is needed here as the water is as cold as ice. I gathered wild flowers of 42 different varieties.

In these mountains are elk, deer,

TO MY FRIENDS IN FLOYD COUNTY

Judge Richard Critz of Williamson County is asking for reelection for his first full term to the Supreme Court. He was appointed a little over two years ago upon the death of Judge Pierson.

I have known Judge Critz intimately for more than ten years and have served with him for the past year. He is one of the best men and judges I have ever known. According to the Democratic custom he is entitled to reelection if he has made good, and I would appreciate all my friends voting for him.

Greer's Ideas On The Square Dance, O'Daniel

Ever see a fiddle? Floydada had one on the night of the Fourth. It was the old fiddler's contest and square dance. I like to hear the old fiddlers tunes, so I went to hear them. I never was so flabbergasted in my life. The loud speaker couldn't get the people to do a thing they asked them to. The loud speaker was a fine old boy but he was as flabbergasted as I was I think.

In my last piece I forgot to say, "Hurrah for W. Lee O'Daniel." I wish him to beat all of the other candidates put together, the whole compendium; that's how much I am for the Fort Worth mill and elevator man. I agree with him on everything except pensions. $30 is entirely too much. $20 is ample and $15 would do very well, but I would rather have $30 than nothing.

The other candidates want to leave it to a board or a bureau which is all wrong for if they could hear of a relative who had a little property they would say, "No, let his relative take care of him." O'Daniel says to give every one that is old enough, a pension which is right and proper.

Old Petition Bears Many 1910 Names

Construction Of A Brick School House Was Current Demand Of The Time

The name of many of the business leaders in Floydada as well as citizens and men about town in 1910 appear on a petition recently found by Clade V. Hall of Commerce, Texas, among his papers and forwarded to Mrs. Maud Hollums as of possible and probable historic value here.

The petition, dated April 26, 1910, asked the board of trustees of Floydada independent school district for an election to be held to determine whether the bond of said district shall be issued to the amount of $20,000 for the construction of a school building in said district of school material. Other needed work was included in the petition, such as the request for a levy of a tax to pay the principal and interest, the rate of interest (5 per cent) to be paid, etc.

The petition resulted in the practically unanimous vote of the citizens of the district for the bond issue and the construction of the building, which now stands in southeast Floydada, an excellent building if properly serviced but out of use for several years. Incidentally the bond issue matures in 1950, and the school board has the option of retiring the bonds at any time. Outstanding, J. B. Houston, secretary of the board says.

Mr. Hall does not recall, he told Mrs. Hollums, how he came to have the original petition in his personal effects nor how he overlooked it so long. It has many interesting names both to present-day and past-day residents of Floydada. The list calls the roll of many names important then in the community who have since succumbed to the ravages of time, and at the same time has numerous names of persons still actively engaged in business here. The list in full is as follows:

THE STORY OF DEBORAH
Golden, Text:—Who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdom for such a time as this? Esther 4:14.
Lesson Text:—Judges 5:1-5; 31.
Printed Text:—Judges 4:1-9, 12-14.
1 And the children of Israel again did evil in the sight of the Lord, when Ehud was dead.
2 And the Lord sold them into the hand of Jabin king of Canaan, that reigned in Hazor; the captain of whose host was Sisera, which dwelt in Harosheth of the Gentiles.
3 And the children of Israel cried unto the Lord; for he had nine hundred chariots of iron; and twenty years he mightily oppressed the children of Israel.
4 And Deborah a prophetess, the wife of Lapidoth, she judged Israel at that time.
5 And she dwelt under the palm tree of Deborah, between Ramah and Bethel in mount Ephraim; and the children of Israel came up to her for judgment.
6 And he sent and called Barak, the son of Abinoam, out of Kedesh-naphtali, and said unto him, Hath not the Lord God of Israel commanded, saying, Go, and draw toward Mount Tabor, and take with thee ten thousand men of the children of Naphtali, and of the children of Zebulun?

Evangelist Joe Trussell, of Brownwood, will sing for the Baptist revival in Floydada beginning next Sunday, on his second call from the church here to help in a meeting. The services will be held out-of-doors on the church lots facing Main Street.

7 And I will draw unto thee, to the river Kishon, the captain of Jabin's army; with his chariots and his multitude; and I will deliver him into thine hand.

8 And Barak said unto her, If thou wilt go with me, then I will go; but if thou wilt not go with me, then I will not go.

9 And she said, I will surely go with thee; notwithstanding the journey that thou takest shall not be for thine honour; for the Lord shall sell Sisera into the hand of a woman. And Deborah arose, and went with Barak to Kedesh.

12 And they shewed Sisera that Barak the son of Abinoam was gone up to mount Tabor.

13 And Sisera gathered together all his chariots, even nine hundred chariots of iron, and all the people that were with him, from Harosheth of the Gentiles unto the river of Kishon.

14 And Deborah said unto Barak, Up; for this is the day in which the Lord hath delivered Sisera into thine hand: is not the Lord gone out before thee? So Barak went down from mount Tabor, and ten thousand men after him.

Time and Place: 1296 B. C. Hazor, in the tribe of Naphtali, in extreme north of Israel's territory. Deborah lived on the confines of Benjamin and Ephraim, near Bethel. Mt. Tabor is in the middle of Palestine, in the plain of Jezreel.

In a sense, as the Israelites moved into the Promised Land, their enemies began to conquer them in some measure as they fell victims to the immoral worship and practices of the surrounding peoples.

"They did what was evil in the sight of Jehovah" and this evil led them into new dangers and corrupted their social and political life. So their course diverted from that of smoothness and prosperity.

Jabin, king of Canaan, and Sisera, his great captain, came threatening Israel with 900 chariots of iron, and for 20 years he oppressed the Israelites. Whence was relief to come? Joshua and Caleb, the courageous leaders, were dead. But now the rescue of Israel came in a great and remarkable woman, Deborah, who judged Israel at the time.

One might reflect upon the forcefulness of character of any woman, who would stand out so prominently and achieve such a reputation for judgment and integrity of purpose, in an age when woman's place was more in the realm of domestic drudgery and very inferior to that of man. But Deborah occupied a remarkable position of influence by sheer force of her character and personality.

She called on Barak, who seemed the chief hope of military defense of Israel, to raise an army of 10,000 men and to lead them to Mt. Tabor. She had strategy as well as courage. She had planned to lead the hosts of Jabin and Sisera into a place where Barak could fall upon them. Though he probably was a man of courage, Barak shared the people's regard for Deborah. He felt his own weakness in comparison with her strength, and he refused to enter upon the enterprise unless she would go with him. Along with her strength, Deborah evidently had a sense of humor, for she assured Barak that if she went with him the journey would not be for his honor as Sisera would be "sold into the hand of a woman."

It all happened as Deborah had planned. When Sisera heard that Barak was gone up with his army to Mt. Tabor, he gathered his host with his 900 chariots, of iron. It was Deborah's opportunity as she said unto Barak, "Up; for this is the day in which Jehovah hath delivered Sisera into thy hand."

What a noble woman! What qualities of faith and action! What a record in this Old Testament that places among its great prophets and leaders a woman to inspire men and women in after ages!

Such stories as this emphasize the amazing nature of the Bible as a book of reality and progress. Even in modern times "women's rights" have had to be fought for and have been won only by great sacrifice. Yet, here in ancient Israel is the example of a woman being put in an exalted place, and her character and achievement made the greatest thing in the national life.

HOW A BANK'S SURPLUS Protects Depositors

The surplus of a bank might be called its "second capital." It represents a part of its accumulated earnings which, instead of being distributed in the form of dividends to stockholders, has been turned back into the bank's resources as an added protection to depositors.

When a bank's statement of condition shows a growing surplus it is a good indication of a sound, conservatively managed institution.

GRIZZLY KING OF BEASTS; BROWN BEAR STANDS NEXT

The real king of beasts is the grizzly bear, with its close cousin, the big brown bear, sharing the title. The grizzly is the heaviest of all meat-eating animals. A lion or a tiger, contrary to the usual conception, is puny in contrast, weighing no more than a third as much as a big grizzly, writes Ding Darling in the Indianapolis News.

When the Lewis and Clark expedition went up the Missouri river at the beginning of the Eighteenth century they got into regions where the grizzly, or "white bears," as they called them, were a real menace.

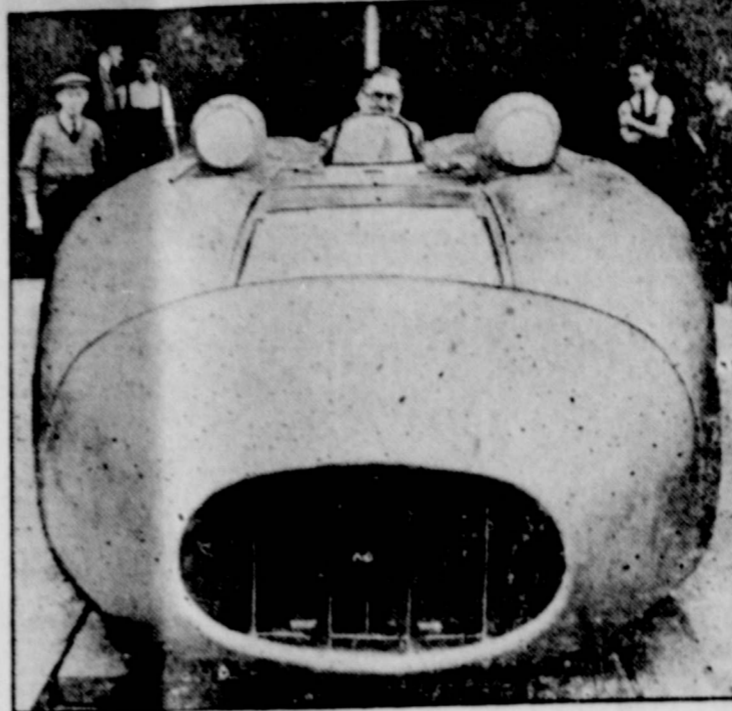

A muzzle-loading flintlock was a poor weapon with which to face half a ton of grizzly that had never learned respect for man and knew no rival.

Before the United States came into possession of California, the Spanish ranchers used to rope grizzly bears and make them fight wild range bulls in log pens. One time a grizzly was matched with a tiger on a barge in San Francisco bay and killed the tiger in a few seconds.

Grizzly bears fight among themselves. It is believed that the mortality among young bears which are killed by the older ones is a considerable item in reducing the bear population.

In Alaska, on Admiralty Island, the United States government has a large preserve to save from extinction the brown bear. There are silver-tips (the frontier name for the grizzly) in remote mountain wilderness country of the Northwest and a number in Yellowstone National park.

NATURE'S PIANO TINKLES IN DEEP JAMAICA CAVES

A "piano" tinkles deep in the Dry Harbor caves on the north shore of Jamaica, writes a Kingston, Jamaica, B. W. I., correspondent in the Philadelphia Inquirer.

This "piano" is a series of stalactites which, when struck, give out notes resembling those of tubular bells.

The caves are at Hopewell, between Runaway bay and Dry Harbor. They resemble closely the Roman catacombs or an early Gothic crypt and are also famous for their picturesque mineral incrustations. Shimmering shafts of light from above cut through the weird darkness, and here and there the roots of the ficus hang down and crawl along the floor.

Dry Harbor is 13 miles west of St. Ann's bay. It was here on May 4, 1494, that Columbus landed and took formal possession for Spain. The town received its name because no fresh waters or wells were there at the time.

Runaway bay is so-called because it was here that the last of the Spaniards left the island after surrendering to the conquering English.

Eternal Lamp to Man's Memory

In many parts of England, Wales and Scotland there are small gifts to the local poor, distributed through money left by some charitable gentleman. In many cases the idea was to prevent the gentleman's name from being forgotten. In Venice, however, there is a unique monument, says London Answers Magazine. In 1507 Pietro Tascari, a well-known Venetian, who was a baker by trade, was accused of killing a very close friend. He was convicted and executed. Soon after the execution certain facts came to light which clearly indicated that the dead man had in no way been connected with the murder. When it came public there were many riots and to soothe the public, the authorities ordered an Eternal Lamp in his memory, to be placed in front of a Madonna.

Mrs. J. B. Claiborne, Mrs. Clinton Fyffe and Mrs. Jim Hardgroves made a business trip to Lubbock Friday afternoon. Mrs. Ashley Lawson accompanied them on her way to her home in Post.

YES, WIFE I WILL

I had twelve bottles of whiskey in my cellar, and my wife told me to empty the contents of each and every bottle down the sink, or else—so I said I would, and proceeded with the unpleasant task.

I withdrew the cork from the first bottle and poured the contents down the sink, with the exception of one glass, which I drank.

I then withdrew the cork from the third bottle and poured the whiskey down the sink, with the exception of one glass, which I drank.

I pulled the cork from the fourth sink and poured the bottle down the glass, which I drank.

I pulled the bottle from the cork of the next and drank one sink out of it, and threw the rest down the glass.

I pulled the next cork from my throat and poured the whiskey down the bottle. Then I corked the sink with the glass, bottled the drink and drank the pour.

When I had everything emptied, I steadied the house with one hand, all the houses and bottles and corks and glasses and sinks counted, except one house and one bottle which I drank.

I counted the bottles, corks, glasses and sinks with the other, which were twenty-nine. But to be sure, I counted them again, and when they came by I had seventy-nine, and as the house came by a second time I counted them again, and finally had

The Nine Muses

The muses were, according to the classic mythology, the nine daughters of Zeus and Mnemosyne. Originally they were goddesses of memory only, but they came latter to be identified with individual arts and sciences. The nine, with their respective attributes were Calliope, presiding over eloquence and heroic poetry; chief of the muses; Clio, muse of heroic exploits and history; Euterpe, presiding over music; Thalia, gayety, pastoral life, and comedy; Melpomene, song, harmony, and tragedy; Terpsichore, choral dance and song; Erato, the lyre and erotic poetry; Polyhymnia, oratory and the sacred lyric; Urania, celestial phenomena and astronomy.

George Smith and daughter Evelyn Smith Lowrie visited in the J. Spikes home Monday. Evelyn is secretary-treasurer of the West Texas Old Settlers association.

BULL ASSOCIATIONS HELP FARMER WITH SMALL HERD

Many dairy farmers with small herds can't afford to keep a good registered herd sire. Even farmers with large herds, 20 cows or more, sometimes can't afford as good a bull as they would like to have.

The organization of cooperative dairy bull associations, in which several dairy farmers go in together and buy a good bull, provides a means for both groups of farmers to carry out herd improvement through better breeding, says Dr. J. F. Kendrick, in charge of dairy herd improvement work for the United States Department of Agriculture.

There are now 166 cooperative dairy bull associations active in the state with a total membership of 2,551 dairymen and own 734 registered dairy sires. Thirty-four of the associations were organized last year.

The older associations have had remarkable success over a fairly long period, says Dr. Kendrick. The oldest has been in operation for 28 years and 36 have been functioning more than 10 years. The associations are divided into three or more blocks of dairymen, with one bull to each block of breeders. As many as five blocks is desirable, as in the smaller groups bulls must be purchased more frequently to prevent inbreeding. In an association with five or more blocks a bull will usually spend his entire life in an association. In this way the association members can get the complete utilization of an outstanding proved sire.

SOUTH LEADS IN THE MILL USE OF COTTON

Fifty years ago, only one-fifth of the cotton spun in the United States was consumed in mills located in the cotton-growing States.

In recent years, however, more than four-fifths of the total mill consumption in the United States has been in the cotton-growing States, according to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture. North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia are the leading cotton-consuming States as measured in terms of mill consumption.

The cotton-growing States now have more than 70 percent of the cotton spindles in use in the United States.

Although practically all kinds of cotton goods are produced by southern mills, the proportion of coarse and medium fabrics is larger than in other States. Mills in New England are noted for their output of fine yarns and fabrics. This accounts in part, for the smaller consumption per spindle in the North than in the South. During the 5-year period ended with 1936-37, the average number of bales consumed per thousand active spindles in the cotton-growing States was about 285, New England, 125; and all others 270.

The shift of the mills to the cotton-growing States, the Bureau points out, has brought the farmer's market closer to him, and prices received by farmers are frequently higher at interior mill points than at ports.

Bids Sought By City On Another $5,000 Lot Refunding Bonds

City fathers of Floydada keep chewing away on the huge bonded debt of the municipality, aided by a fortunate turn in tax collections, both current and delinquent.

Tuesday night in their regular monthly session they instructed City Secretary S. E. Duncan to advertise in the New York Journal for $5,000 worth of the bond to be redeemed at a figure less than par. The bids will be received at the council's next regular meeting on August 9. Only refunding bonds of the issue of 1935 can be purchased according to the city's contract with Brown-Crummer Company, firm which negotiated the refunding plan and reduction of interest and principal for the period expiring on January 1, 1941.

McCoy Church

Mission points and decided to organize.

Rev. Tubbs, Rev. G. I. Brittain, who was then pastor at Floydada, and Missionary W. H. Forbes called a meeting that was held in the little one-room frame school house that was located just west of the present school building. Church organization was a new thing to Missionary Forbes as he had never been in a meeting of that kind. Rev. Brittain read the church covenant.

Rev. Tubbs was called as pastor, A. H. Manning clerk, D. F. Payne, Sunday school superintendent, Mrs. C. H. Payne, secretary. Rev. Tubbs served as pastor of the church for 11 years. He was loyal, true and faithful to his work.

He always had conference on Saturday morning before the third Sunday. People came in wagons, buggies and walked to services which were still held in the school house. Rev. Tubbs held and helped to hold 13 revival meetings in this community and it rained almost every time.

The time for the revivals was Friday night before the third Sunday in August and has only been changed twice since the church was organized. Baptismal services have always been held at the A. H. Manning home, now the Elmore Kelly place near Starkey.

In 1923 Rev. R. C. Tension, then a student of Wayland college, was called as pastor of the church. He was a young preacher out in the world to do all the good he could in bringing others to Christ. He came one Sunday but didn't give an answer as to whether or not he would accept the pastorate, saying he would let the church know later. The membership of the church got busy and with the pastor and congregation cooperating tried to make a go of this half time church. A new church building, the one that now stands, was built in the second year he was pastor. He served as pastor for three years.

In 1928, Rev. U. M. Lollar was called as pastor and he served three years and resigned because of ill health. Rev. Walker, now deceased, served one and one half years. Rev. J. M. Harder served one year and was called to another field. Several other pastors served during the interval that followed until the church two years ago called Rev. Sidney Johnson as pastor.

In December 1927 the church was dedicated to the Lord. The church has made fair progress in half-time work until 29 months ago when it was made a full time church with Rev. Sidney Johnson, pastor.

Present officers: P. H. Pharr, D. F. Payne and Claud Payne deacons; Harvey A. Tardy, clerk; L. H. Smith, Sunday school superintendent and Clara Smith, secretary. This is the only full-time church in the county association. The Sunday school enrollment is 108 with an attendance average of 80. Present membership of the church is 115 with an average attendance of 80.

Visitors from Brownfield, Plainview, Ralls, Sterley, Crosbyton, Floydada, Blanco, Lakeview, Dougherty, and other denominations of this community were present.

Little Miss Barbara Jean Belew of Shamrock came Saturday for a visit with her cousin, Mrs. Bill Dally and little daughter, Joan.

Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Carter, of Brownfield, were in Floydada and Lockney on business yesterday.

Mrs. E. E. Johnson has gone to Coronado, California, where she will spend the summer with Mrs. Ardrena Johnson and little daughter.

Distilled Spirits

Distilled spirits, whiskies, gins, and rums are produced by the distillation of the fermented mash of grains or sugar cane. Brandies are produced by the distillation of fermented fruit juices, principally grapes. The distilling of Scotch whiskey goes back several hundred years. It was started by Highland natives for their own use, according to an authority. They used barley which they malted and dried over peat fires. This produced its smoky flavor. There are five styles of Scotch whiskey.
